A large leak has just been discovered in the financial affairs of Ohio. A million and a half of dollars that should have been paid in the State treasury, to meet that amount of the debt, about to fall due, is found to be missing, with a deficit of $500,000 last year on top of it. An honest Republican Senator is exposing the condition of his party friends in the Buckeye State. AMERICA RECONSTRUCTED.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A new pamphlet just published by the Catholic T. A. B. Union of New Jersey, contains a full report of the Convention at Elizabeth, May 1st, and much other matter of interest, especially to Roman Catholic Temperance men...

The late James Fisk's park carriage is to be raffled for in New Haven, Conn.

Three sets of twins have been born in Sea Bright since March 1st.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MATTER.

PRAYING PARROT.

Mrs. Jones had a large, green parrot, very talkative, and sometimes very noisy. Poll had heard her mistress read her prayers, and caught up short snatches of them. So when her mistress had visitors, Poll would become very devout and solemnly say, "O Lord have mercy upon us." "O Lord, forgive us our trespasses." "We are miserable sinners," and such like petitions and confessions.

One day, Mrs. Brown came to make a fashionable call on Mrs. Jones. She came in her splendid carriage and ... After passing the compliments of the morning, Poll broke out in her prayers, being just in the mood, and poured out all she had.

"O, Mrs. Jones, what a bird! I never heard anything like it! How delightful it must be to sit at home, and listen to the prayers of that beautiful creature! Why, I have a parrot, but I grieve to say, instead of praying, it uses naughty and profane words. I wish you would be so kind as to lend me your parrot for a little while; I have no doubt she would teach my bird to pray."

Mrs. Jones was but too happy to lend her parrot, and as this missionary left to go and win the heathen bird, she charged her to say her prayers often.

Poll went on this sacred mission, and ... was gone from home a few weeks, and when she got back, it was soon discovered, that she had forgotten her prayers, and that she would now swear like a pirate.

Was the result strange or unnatural? I leave my readers to make the application.—Dr. Todd, in S. S. Times.

A SCENE FROM LIFE.—A young man entered the bar-room of a village tavern and called for a drink. "No," said the landlord, "you have had too much already. You have had the delirium tremens once, and I cannot sell you any more." He stepped aside to make room for a couple of young men who had just entered, and the landlord waited upon them very politely. The other had stood by silent and sullen, and when they had finished he walked up to the landlord, and thus addressed him: "Six years ago, at their age, I stood where those young men now are. I was a man with a fair prospects. Now, at the age of twenty-eight, I am a wreck, body and mind. You led me to drink. In this room I formed the habit that has been my ruin. Now sell me a few glasses more, and your work will be done! I shall soon be out of the way; there is no hope for me. But they can be saved; they may be men again. Do not sell it to them. Sell to me, and let me die, and the world will be rid of me; but for heaven's sake sell no more to them!" The landlord listened, pale and trembling. Setting down his decanter, he exclaimed, "God helping me, this is the last drop I will ever sell to any one!" And he has kept his word.—Nat. Temperance Advocate.

At the opening of the Episcopal Convention at Burlington, the introductory sermon was preached by Rev. J. Stansberry, of Newark, who took his text from the eleventh chapter of Matthew, fifth verse, "The poor have the Gospel preached to them." During his discourse he said that classes in the Church should be abolished. No distinction should be made between the rich and poor; but he was sorry to say that this was not the case. If the fishermen of Galilee or the carpenter of Nazareth entered fashionable churches what sensation it would create, how unwelcome they would be received. He held that this was not wise, and that such practices would... It is our safety to obliterate all distinctions in the Church of God. In olden times distribution was made to every man according as it ought to have all things in common—one fold and one shepherd. He suggested some means for this consummation—first, the church doors must be open wide, every seat free, no sittings should be appropriated. Open the doors and sanctuaries to the poor; to well filled churches, and give laboring men and women ample privileges to worship their Creator. He hoped the day was not far distant when every soul shall feel he has a right in the Church of God. He said that they also needed a large and disciplined ministry and more ministers.

At a meeting of the committees from the various temperance organizations of the State of Albany held in Albany last week, resolutions were adopted substantially as follows:

First—That the failure of the Republican party to redeem its pledges to enact a local prohibition law places upon us the imperative necessity for immediate and decisive action.

Second—That the tendency of the leaders to cater to the lager beer interest, and thereby disrespect for the Sabbath, thereby imperilling our institutions, should arouse all moral, temperance and religious men to earnest opposition.

Third—That a convention consisting of one from each church, Young Men's Christian Association, temperance organization, and other organized bodies in favor of the Christian Sabbath and the suppression of the liquor traffic, be called to meet in Albany on the 24th and 25th of June next to consider and decide upon future action.

Fourth—Thanking the members of the Legislature who stood firmly by the Local Prohibition bill.

A bushel of corn will bring only fifteen cents in Kansas; while it is worth sixty eight cents in the city of New York. The difference... of the Railroad, for carrying the corn to market. While the farmers of the Great West are thus robbed, is it any wonder that they are establishing "Granges" to protect themselves?

Illustrating the relation of producers to railroads, and commission men and consumers, it is asserted that a farmer at Paxton, Ill., shipped one hundred and eighty bushels of potatoes to Chicago, and received $10.40 cents as his share of their value in market, which was $60—the railroad company and commission men absorbing five-sixths of the market value of his product.

Mr. Frear ... Hundreds of people have visited this remarkable cave, and witnessed the mysterious phenomenon of the cool current of air. No satisfactory explanation has as yet been given as to the cause.
