The Mystery of a Hansom Cab

By FERGUS W. HUME

CHAPTER XIX.—CONTINUED.

In vain the crier of the court yelled, "Order!" until he was red in the face. In vain the judge threatened to commit all present for contempt of court—his voice being inaudible, it did not matter much—the enthusiasm could not be restrained, and it was five minutes before order was obtained. The judge, having recovered his composure, delivered his judgment and discharged the prisoner in accordance with the verdict. Calton had won many cases, but it is questionable if he had ever heard a verdict which gave him so much satisfaction as that which proclaimed Fitzgerald innocent.

"I knew that God would save you."

And Brian, stepping down from the dock a free man, passed through a crowd of congratulating friends to a small room off the court, where a woman was waiting for him—a woman who clung round his neck, and sobbed out:

"My darling! My darling! I knew that God would save you."

CHAPTER XX.

THE ARGUS GIVES ITS OPINION.

The morning after the trial was concluded the following article in reference to the matter appeared in The Argus:

"During the past three months we have frequently in our columns commented on the extraordinary case which is now so widely known as 'The Hansom Cab Tragedy.' We can easily say that it is the most remarkable case which has ever come under the notice of our criminal court, and the verdict given by the jury yesterday has enveloped the matter in a still deeper mystery. By a train of strange coincidences, Mr. Brian Fitzgerald, a young squatter, was suspected of having murdered Whyte, and had it not been for the timely appearance of the woman Rawlins, who turned up at the eleventh hour, we feel sure that a verdict of guilty would have been given, and an innocent man would have suffered punishment for the crime of another. Fortunately for the prisoner, and for the interests of justice, his counsel, Mr. Calton, by unwearied diligence, was able to discover the last witness and prove an alibi. Had it not been for this, in spite of the remarks made by the learned counsel in his brilliant speech yesterday, which resulted in the acquittal of the prisoner, we think very much if the rest of the evidence in favor of the accused would have been sufficient to persuade the jury that he was an innocent man. The only points in favor of Mr. Fitzgerald were the inability of the cabman Royston to swear to him as the man who had got into the cab with Whyte, the wearing of a diamond ring on the forefinger of the right hand (whereas Mr. Fitzgerald wears no rings), and the difference in time sworn to by the cabman Rankin and the landlady. Against these points, however, the prosecution placed a mass of evidence which seemed to conclusively prove the guilt of the prisoner; but the appearance of Sal Rawlins in the witness box put an end to all doubt. In language that could not be mistaken for anything else than the truth, she positively swore that Mr. Fitzgerald was indeed the man who met Whyte in Collins street between the hours of 1 and 2 on Friday morning, at which time the murder was committed. Under these circumstances, the jury unanimously agreed in the verdict, "Not guilty," and the prisoner was forthwith acquitted. We have to congratulate his counsel, Mr. Calton, for the able speech he made for the defense, and also Mr. Fitzgerald, for his providential escape from a dishonorable and undeserved punishment. He leaves the court without a stain on his character, and with the respect and sympathy of all Australians, for the courage and dignity with which he comported himself throughout, while resting under the shadow of such a serious charge.

"But now that it has been conclusively proved that he is innocent, the question arises in every one's mind, 'Who is the murderer of Oliver Whyte?' The man who committed this dastardly crime is still at large, and, for all we know, may be in our midst.

"There seems to be no possible clew discoverable at present which can lead to the discovery of the real murderer. The man in the light coat who got out of Rankin's cab at Powlett street, East Melbourne (designedly, as it now appears, in order to throw suspicion on Fitzgerald), has vanished as completely as the witches in 'Macbeth,' and left no trace behind. It was 2 o'clock in the morning when he left the cab, and, in a quiet suburb like East Melbourne, no one would be about, so that he could easily escape unseen. There seems to be only one chance of ever tracing him, and that is to be found in the papers which were stolen from the pocket of the dead man. What they were, only two persons know, and one knows now. The first, two were Whyte and the woman who was called 'The Queen,' and both of them are now dead. The other who knows now is the man who committed the crime. There can be no doubt in the minds of our readers that these papers were the motive of the crime, as no money was taken from the pockets of the deceased. The fact, also, that the papers were carried in a pocket made inside the waistcoat of the deceased shows that they were of value.

"Now, the reason we think that the dead woman knew of the existence of those papers is simply this: It appears that she came out from England with Whyte as his mistress, and after staying some time in Sydney came on to Melbourne. How she came into such a foul and squalid den as that she died in, we are unable to say, unless, seeing that she was given to drink, she was taken up drunk by some Samaritan of the slums and carried to Mrs. Rawlins' humble abode. Whyte visited her there frequently, but appears to have made no attempt to remove her to a better place, alleging, as his reason, that the doctor said she would die if taken into the air. Our reporter learned from one of the detectives that the dead woman was in the habit of talking to Whyte about certain papers, and on one occasion overheard to say to him, 'They'll make your fortune if you play your cards well.' This was told to the detective by the woman Rawlins, to whose providential appearance Mr. Fitzgerald owes his escape. From this it can be gathered that the papers—whatever they might be—were of value, and sufficient to tempt another to commit a murder in order to obtain them. Whyte, therefore, being dead, and his murderer escaped, the only way of discovering the secret which lies at the root of this tree of crime is to find out the history of the woman who died in the slums. Traced back for some years, circumstances may be discovered which will reveal what these papers contained, and once that is found, we can confidently say that the murderer will soon be discovered. This is the only chance of finding out the secret and of bringing the guilty man to justice. Search must be made in the direction of Whyte's mistress, and we hope that the police will do their utmost to find out the history of the woman who died in the slums. We hope that the hansom cab tragedy will have to be relegated to the list of those undiscovered crimes, and the assassin of Whyte will have no other punishment than the remorse of his own conscience."

CHAPTER XXI.

THREE MONTHS AFTERWARD.

A hot December day, with a cloudless blue sky and a sun blazing down on the earth, clothed in all the beauty of summer garments. Such a description of snowy December must sound strange to English ears, and a hot Christmas day must strike them as being as fantastic as the play in a "Midsummer's Night Dream" did to Demetrius, when he remarked of it: "This is hot ice and wondrous cold fire." But here in Australia is the realm of topsy turvydom, and many things, like dreams, go by contraries.

The Prettiby homestead of Yabba Yallook station was a long low house, with no up stairs, and with a wide veranda running nearly round it. Cool green blinds were hung between the pillars to keep out the sun, and all along were scattered lounging chairs of basket work, with rugs, novels, empty soda bottles and all the other evidences that Mr. Prettiby's guests had been wise and stayed inside during the noonday heat. Madge was seated in one of these comfortable chairs, and divided her attention between the glowing beauty of the world outside, which she could see through a narrow slit in the blind, and a new novel from Mullen's lying open on her knee. She was not looking well, for the trial through which she had passed had been very great and had left its impress of sorrow on her beautiful face. In her eyes, too, usually so calm, there was a troubled look, as, leaning her head upon her hands, she thought of the bitterness of the past year.

After Brian's acquittal of the murder of Oliver Whyte she had been taken by her father up to the station, in the hope that it would restore her to health. The mental strain which had been on her during the trial had nearly brought on an attack of brain fever, but here, far from the excitement of town life, in the quiet seclusion of the country, she had recovered her health, but not her spirits. Women are more impressionable than man, and it is perhaps for this reason that they age quicker. A trouble which would pass lightly over a man leaves an indelible mark on a woman, both physically and mentally, and the terrible episode of Whyte's murder had changed Madge from a bright and merry girl into a grave and beautiful woman. And Brian, he also had undergone a change, for there were a few white hairs now amid his curly, chestnut locks, and his character, from being gay and bright, had become moody and irritable. After the trial he had left town immediately, in order to avoid meeting with his friends, and had gone up to the station, which was next to that of the Prettiby's. There he worked hard all day, and smoked hard all night, thinking over the cursed secret which the dead woman had told him, and which threatened to overshadow his life. Every now and then he rode over and saw Madge, but only when he knew her father was away in Melbourne, for he seemed to have taken a dislike to the millionaire, which Madge could not help condoning as unjust, remembering how her father had stood beside him in his trouble. But there was another reason why Brian kept aloof from Yabba Yallook station, and that was he did not wish to meet any of the gay society which was there, knowing that since his trial he was an object of curiosity and sympathy to every one—a position which was very galling to his proud nature. At Christmas time Mr. Prettiby had asked a lot of people up from Melbourne, and though Madge would rather have been left alone, yet she could not refuse her father, and had to play hostess with a smiling brow and aching heart. Felix Rolleston, who a month since joined the noble army of benedicts, was there with Mrs. Rolleston, who ruled him with a rod of iron. Having bought Felix with her money, she had determined to make good use of him, and, being ambitious of a place in Melbourne society, had insisted upon Felix studying politics, so that when the next general election came around he could enter parliament. Felix had rebelled at first, but ultimately gave way, as he found that when he had a good novel concealed among his parliamentary papers time passed pleasantly, and he got the reputation of a hard worker at little cost. They had brought up Julia, Mrs. Rolleston's sister, with them, and this young person had made up her mind to become the second Mrs. Prettiby. She had not received much encouragement, but, like the English at Waterloo, did not know when she was beaten, and carried on the siege of Mr. Prettiby's heart in an undaunted manner. Dr. Chinston had come up for a little relaxation, and never gave a thought to his anxious patients or the many sick rooms he was in the habit of visiting.

A young English fellow, called Peterson, who amused himself by traveling; an old colonist, full of reminiscences of the old days, when, "by gad, sir, we hadn't a gas lamp in the whole of Melbourne," and several other people completed the party. They had all gone off to the billiard room, and left Madge in her comfortable chair, half asleep.

Suddenly, she started as she heard a step behind her, and turning, saw Sal Rawlins, in the neatest of black gowns, with a coquettish white cap and apron, and an open book. The fact is, Madge had been so delighted with Sal for saving Brian's life that she had taken her into her service as maid. Mr. Prettiby had offered strong opposition at first that a fallen woman like Sal should be near his daughter; but Madge determined to rescue the unhappy girl from the life of sin she was leading, and so at last he reluctantly consented. Brian, too, had objected, but ultimately yielded, as he was that Madge had set her heart on it. Mother Guttersnipe objected at first, characterizing the whole affair as "blarsted 'umbug," but she, likewise, gave in, and Sal became maid to Miss Prettiby, who immediately set to work to remedy Sal's defective education by teaching her to read. The book she held in her hand was a spelling book, and this she handed to Madge.

"I think I knows it now, miss," she said, respectfully, as Madge looked up with a smile.

"Do you, indeed?" said Madge, gayly. "You will be able to read in no time, Sal."

"Read, that?" said Sal, touching "Tristan: A Romance, by Zoe."

"Hardly!" said Madge, picking it up with a look of contempt. "I want you to learn English, and not a confusion of tongues like this thing. But it's too hot to do lessons, Sal," she went on, leaning back in her seat, "so get a book and talk to me."

Sal complied, and Madge looked out on the brilliant flower beds, and at the black shadow of the tall witch elm which grew on one side of the lawn. She wanted to ask a certain question of Sal, and did not know how to do it. The moodiness and irritability of Brian had troubled her very much of late, and, with the quick instinct of her sex, she ascribed it indirectly to the woman who had died in the back slum. Anxious to share his troubles and lighten his burden, she determined to ask Sal about this mysterious woman, and find out, if possible, what secret had been told to Brian, which affected him so deeply.

"Sal," she said, after a short pause, turning her clear gray eyes on the woman, "I want to ask you something."

The other shivered and turned pale.

"About—about that?"

Madge nodded.

She hesitated for a moment, and then flung herself at the feet of her mistress.

"I will tell you," she cried. "You have been kind to me, and I have a right to know. I will tell you all I know."

"Then," asked Madge, firmly, as she clasped her hands tightly together, "who was this woman whom Mr. Fitzgerald went to see, and where did she come from?"

"Gran' an' me found her one evenin' in Little Bourke street," answered Sal, "just near the theatre. She was quite drunk an' we took her home with us."

"How kind of you," said Madge.

"Oh, it wasn't that," replied the other, dryly. "Gran' wanted her clothes; she was awful swell dressed."

"And she took the clothes—how wicked!"

"Any one would have done it down our way," answered Sal, indifferently; "but Gran' changed her mind when she got her home. I went out to get some gin for Gran', and when I came back she was huggin' and kissin' the woman."

"She recognized her?"

"Yes, I s'pose so," replied Sal, "an' next mornin', when the lady got square, she made a grab at Gran', an' hollered out, 'I was comin' to see you.'"

"And then?"

"Gran' chucked me out of the room, an' they had a long jaw; and then, when I come back, Gran' tells me the lady is a-goin' to stay with us 'cause she was ill, and sent me for Mr. Whyte."

"And he came?"

"Oh, yes—often," said Sal. "He kicked up a row when he first turned up, but when he found she was ill, sent a doctor; but it warn't no good. She was two weeks with us, and then died the mornin' she saw Mr. Fitzgerald."

"I suppose Mr. Whyte was in the habit of talking to this woman?"

"Lots," returned Sal; "but he always turned Gran' an' I out of the room afore he started."

"And"—hesitating—"did you ever overhear one of these conversations?"

"Yes—one," answered the other, with a nod. "I got riled at the way he cleared us out of our room; and once, when he shut the door and Gran' went off to get some gin, I sat down at the door and listened. He wanted her to give up some papers, and she refused. She said she'd die first. But at last he got 'em, and took 'em away with him."

"Did you see them?" asked Madge, as the assertion of Gorby that Whyte had been murdered for certain papers flashed across her mind.

"Rather," said Sal; "I was looking through a hole in the door, an' she takes 'em from under her piller, an' takes 'em to a table, where the candle was, an' looks at 'em—they were in a large blue envelope, with writing on it. Is in and inkey—then he puts 'em in his pocket, and she sings out: 'You'll lose 'em,' an' he says: 'No, I'll always have 'em with me, an' if 'e wants 'em 'e'll have to kill me fust afore he gits 'em.'"

"And you did not know who the man was to whom the papers were of such importance?"

"No, I didn't; they never said no names."

"And when was it Whyte got the papers?"

"About a week before he was murdered," said Sal after a moment's thought. "An' after that he hardly turned up again. She kept watching for him night an' day, an' 'cause he didn't come got mad at him. I hear her sayin', 'You think you've done with me, my gentleman, an' leaves me here to die, but I'll spoil your little game,' an' then she wrote that letter to Mr. Fitzgerald and I brought him to our house."

"Yes, yes," said Madge, rather impatiently. "I heard all that at the trial, but what conversation passed between Mr. Fitzgerald and this woman! Did you hear it?"

"Bits of it," replied the other. "'I didn't spile 'im,' she kept on saying, 'cause the lawyer would be down on me for listening. The fust thing I heard Mr. Fitzgerald sayin' was, 'You're mad—it ain't true,' an' she sez, 'S'help me God, it is; Whyte's got the proof,' an' then he sings out, 'My poor girl,' an' she sez, 'Will you marry her now?' and sez he, 'I will; I love her more than ever now,' and then she makes a grab at him, and sez, 'Spile his game if you can,' and sez he, 'What's yer name?' an' she sez"—

"What?" asked Madge, breathlessly.

"Rosanna Moore!"

There was a sharp exclamation as Sal said the name, and turning around quickly Madge found Brian standing beside her, pale as death, with his eyes fixed on the woman, who had risen to her feet.

"Go on!" he said sharply.

"That's all I know," she replied in a sullen tone.

Brian gave a sigh of relief.

"You can go," he said, slowly; "it was to speak with Miss Prettiby alone."

Sal looked at him for a moment, and then glanced at her mistress, who nodded to her as a sign that she might withdraw. She picked up her book, and with another sharp inquiring look at Brian, turned and walked slowly into the house.

CHAPTER XXII.

A DAUGHTER OF EVE.

After Sal had vanished into the house, Brian sank into a chair beside Madge, with a weary sigh. He was in riding dress, which became his stalwart figure well, and looked remarkably handsome—but ill and worried.

"What on earth were you asking that girl about?" he said abruptly, taking his hat off, and tossing it and his gloves on the floor.

Madge flushed crimson for a moment, and then taking Brian's two strong hands in her own, looked steadily into his frowning face.

"Why don't you trust me?" she asked in a quiet tone.

"But it is not

LAWS OF NEW JERSEY.

(BY AUTHORITY.)

CHAPTER CXXVII.

A Supplement to the act approved May sixth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven, entitled "An act to amend an act entitled 'A supplement to an act entitled "An act for the incorporation of safe deposit and trust companies," approved April twenty-fifth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That none of the associations or companies mentioned in the act to which this is a supplement, whether they be companies or associations under the act entitled "An act for the incorporation of safe deposit and trust companies," or companies or associations incorporated by any other law of this state, shall be required by any officer or court of this state to give security upon appointment to or acceptance of any office or trust which they are by law authorized or empowered to execute, or to which they may be lawfully appointed or elected, or otherwise by law they are capable of being appointed; but any such company or association may be appointed to any and all such trusts and offices by any officer or court of this state without being required to give security for the discharge of the duties of such trust or appointment or office; the capital stock and accumulated surplus of such company or association to stand as security and to be held liable for the faithful performance of its duties and obligations under such trusts and appointments, and in other lawful contracts under the special powers conferred upon it by law, in preference to all other debts, demands, claims, obligations and liabilities whatsoever.

2. And be it enacted, That the second section of the act entitled "A supplement to the act entitled 'An act for the incorporation of safe deposit and trust companies,'" approved April twenty-fifth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five, which supplement was passed April sixth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five, which section is as follows:

"2. And be it enacted, That any association accepting trusts under the provisions of this act shall not be required to give security therefor, and in lieu thereof, its capital stock and its surplus shall be held liable in preference of all other liabilities, for the faithful performance of its duties under the trusts," shall be construed in accordance with the provisions of the preceding section of this act in that behalf, and that it be and is hereby amended accordingly.

3. And be it enacted, That it shall be lawful for any such company or association as is mentioned in the first section of this act, and if it shall deem it proper so to do, to create, by an increase of its capital stock for the purpose, a fund or funds to be specially set apart for and devoted to specially securing its liability in one or more of its branches of lawful business under its special powers, and such fund or funds, when so raised or created, shall be so devoted and set apart accordingly, and shall not be subject or applicable to any other debts or liabilities of the company or association, until those in the discharge whereof it or they are devoted, shall have been satisfied or shall cease to exist.

4. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 13, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXVIII.

An Act to authorize and enable counties in this state to acquire and improve lands for public works, and to maintain and regulate the same.

Whereas, In densely populated districts it is desirable in the interest of public health and for the general welfare that public parks should be established and maintained for the use and recreation of the inhabitants; therefore,

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That when two hundred or more persons, being freeholders or owners of land in any county, or any incorporated company or companies of this state owning lands in such county, the aggregate assessed value of which lands so owned by said persons and corporation or corporations is at least two millions of dollars, shall think a public park or public parks in such county necessary for the preservation of public health, and for the general welfare, it shall be lawful for the said persons to make application in writing to the court of said county, in open court having given previous notice for at least ten days of such intended application, and also of the day on which such application is intended to be made, under the hand of at least ten of said applicants, and set up at the public places in such county, and also published in at least two newspapers published and circulated in such county, and the said court, when applied to as aforesaid, on the proof being made that the said petition has been signed and that the advertisements have been set up and published according to law, on which the judgment of said court shall be final and conclusive, is hereby authorized and required to nominate and appoint five judicious and reputable freeholders, residents of such county, who shall constitute a board of commissioners, to be known by the name of park commissioners of the county in and for which such commissioners shall be appointed; provided, nevertheless, that the judge of said court shall not be present at the time and place which a notice of said application shall have been given, the matter shall be continued of course, until the next court day, when such judge shall be present; and provided further, that said court may, by order entered in the minutes of said court, adjourn the said matter from time to time, not exceeding in the whole a period of sixty days, and may cause such further public notice to be given as the judge of said court may deem expedient before appointing such commissioners.

2. And be it enacted, That the commissioners so appointed shall hold office for one, two, three, four and five years respectively, and that the judge of said circuit court shall designate the term of service for each of said commissioners, and thereafter, whenever a vacancy occurs in said board by reason of expiration of term of any of said commissioners, the said circuit court shall fill such vacancy by appointing a person duly qualified as aforesaid for a term of five years; nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the reappointment of any person to said office of park commissioner.

3. And be it enacted, That if a vacancy occurs in said board from any cause other than expiration of term of office, the said court shall fill such vacancy, and the person appointed to fill such vacancy shall be appointed and hold office for the unexpired term only.

4. And be it enacted, That said park commissioner shall receive no compensation for their services, except the commissioners acting as treasurer and secretary, who may receive such reasonable compensation as the other members of said board of park commissioners may designate, but all actual expenses incurred by them in performance and discharge of their duties shall be refunded to them, respectively, by the county, that each of the persons so appointed shall, before entering upon the duties of said office, make oath before an officer of this state duly authorized to administer oaths, that he will faithfully, honestly and impartially, in the interest of the public and of the people of the county at large, perform the duties of park commissioner in and for said county, which oath shall be filed in the office of the clerk of such county.

5. And be it enacted, That it shall be lawful for the attorney general, at the relation of any freeholder of such county, to file a complaint in the circuit court of such county against any or all of said park commissioners, charging them, or either of them, with neglect of duty, incompetency or misconduct in office, and thereupon the said circuit court shall have jurisdiction in the premises, and may order the person or persons complained against to appear on a certain day and answer such complaint, which order shall be served in such manner as the judge of said court shall direct, at least two days before the return-day thereof, and thereupon the said court shall proceed to hear and determine the said matter in a summary manner, and the person or persons adjudged guilty by said court shall be forthwith removed from said office of park commissioner.

6. And be it enacted, That said park commissioners shall appoint from their own number a president, a secretary and a treasurer; the treasurer, before entering upon the duties or his office, shall give bond to the county in its corporate name in such sum as may be fixed and determined by resolution of the board of chosen freeholders, with sufficient securities, conditioned for the due and faithful performance of the duties of said office of treasurer of said board, which bond shall be approved by the judge of the circuit court of such county and filed in the county clerk's office.

7. And be it enacted, That it shall be the duty of said park commissioners to select suitable sites for one or more public parks in their county; to ascertain from the owners of the lands so selected the price or prices at which the same can be purchased; to cause such lands to be surveyed, and careful estimates to be made by competent persons of the probable cost of improving such lands and making the same fit and serviceable for public park purposes; and also the probable annual expense of maintaining and keeping the same in order; and thereupon they shall make a report in writing, describing the location of the site or sites selected, the extent of each in acres, the price or prices for which the same may be purchased, the estimated probable expense of improving the same, and also the estimated annual expense of maintaining and keeping the same in order, which report shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county in and for which commissioners were appointed; they shall also cause a copy of said report to be published in at least five newspapers published and circulating in said county, at least once a week for three weeks successively; they shall also appoint a time and place when and where they will meet, and in connection with said report publish notices of such proposed meeting, at which meeting all persons who are tax-payers in said county and in said matter may appear and shall have a right to be heard before said commissioners, and said commissioners shall make at least two adjournments of said meeting for intervals of at least two weeks, and give public notice of such adjourned meetings, which notices shall be published in the same newspapers in which the above notice shall have been published, at which adjourned meetings all taxpayers of the county so desiring may be heard in regard to said matter, and at such meetings the said commissioners, or one of them, shall preside, and they shall have power to make and enforce all reasonable rules for the orderly conduct of such meetings.

8. And be it enacted, That after such meetings shall have been held, and taxpayers interested have been heard, the said commissioners shall have the power, if they, or a majority of them, deem it advisable so to do, from time to time, to enter into an agreement, or agreements, in the corporate name of the county, by and with the consent of the board of chosen freeholders of said county, for the purchase of one or more of the sites so selected, and said commissioners shall have power to improve the same for park purposes, and to that end to employ engineers, gardeners, mechanics, laborers, policemen, and other necessary servants, and to make reasonable and proper rules and regulations for the use and enjoyment of the same by the public as a place or places for recreation; provided, nevertheless, that the cost of acquiring said lands and of converting the same into one or more public parks, with all necessary improvements thereon, shall, in the aggregate, not exceed one per centum of the assessed value of all the property, real and personal, in said county, liable to taxation for county purposes; and provided further, that the entire annual expense of keeping in order, regulating and maintaining said park or parks, including the annual interest on bonds to be issued for the cost of such park or parks and the improvement thereof, as hereinafter provided, shall not exceed one mill on the dollar of the assessed value of all property, real and personal, in said county liable to taxation for county purposes.

9. And be it enacted, That for the purpose of providing funds for the purchase of such lands and the improvement thereof as aforesaid, the said park commissioners shall from time to time, make written requisition on the board of chosen freeholders of the county for the amount required, and thereupon it shall be the duty of the board of chosen freeholders to issue bonds of the denomination of one thousand dollars each, payable in thirty years from the date thereof, to be known as county park bonds of such county, but the aggregate amount of such bonds shall never exceed one per centum of the assessed value of all taxable property, real and personal, in such county, which bonds shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding four per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, and may be registered or coupon bonds, they shall be advertised for sale by notices published in at least five newspapers circulating in said county, and sold to the highest bidder, but for not less than the par value thereof; the said bonds shall be sealed with the seal of the county, signed by the director of the board of chosen freeholders and countersigned by the county collector and also by the president of the board of park commissioners, and attested by the clerk of the board of chosen freeholders; they shall be numbered consecutively, and the number and disposition made of each bond shall be recorded by the clerk of the board of chosen freeholders in a book to be provided for that purpose and kept in said clerk's office.

10. And be it enacted, That all moneys received by the county collector from the sale of such bonds shall be paid over to the treasurer of the board of park commissioners, who shall safely keep the same until paid out on warrants ordered by a vote of a majority of said park commissioners, signed by the president and attested by the clerk of said board, and each warrant shall state on the face thereof the purpose to which the money therein specified is applied.

11. And be it enacted, That said park commissioners shall make and publish an annual report of all moneys received and paid out by them, specifying in detail to whom and for what purpose they were paid.

12. And be it enacted, That for the purpose of keeping in order and maintaining said park or parks, and to pay the interest on park bonds issued as aforesaid, the board of chosen freeholders shall annually appropriate sufficient sums for such purpose, which such sums so appropriated shall be designated county park tax, and raised, levied and collected in the same manner as moneys for other county purposes are raised, levied and collected, and all moneys raised for the purpose of keeping in order and maintaining said park or parks shall, as soon as collected, be paid to the treasurer of the board of park commissioners, to be used by said commissioners for the purpose for which they were raised, and such moneys shall not be used for any other purpose; provided said county park tax shall not exceed one mill on the dollar of the entire assessed value of all taxable property in such county.

13. And be it enacted, That all moneys realized from the sale of bonds issued under the provisions of this act shall be used by said park commissioners for the purchase of lands for park purposes, and for converting them into parks in the manner and to the extent authorized by this act, and such moneys shall be used for no other purpose whatever.

14. And be it enacted, That in case commissioners shall be appointed in any county or counties under this act, the preliminary expenses incurred by such commissioners in selecting sites, making surveys and estimates, publishing notices and holding meetings, as required by the provisions of this act, shall be paid by the board of chosen freeholders, the same having been duly certified by the president of said board of park commissioners; provided, such expenses in the aggregate shall not exceed the sum of two thousand dollars.

15. And be it enacted, That the bonds issued under the provisions of this act shall be redeemed in the following manner, that is to say, at and after the expiration of ten years from the date of said bonds the chosen freeholders shall make an appropriation over and above the sums appropriated for the care and maintenance of said park or parks, and for the payment of the annual interest on said bonds, a sum sufficient to pay one per centum of the principal of said bonds; provided, the entire amount appropriated for park purposes in any one year shall not exceed one mill on the dollar on the entire assessed value of all the taxable property, real and personal, in such county, which moneys so appropriated shall be raised, assessed, levied and collected, and thereupon the board of chosen freeholders shall give notice that on a certain day they will receive proposals for the purchase of so many of said park bonds as the money so raised will purchase, which notice shall be published for at least thirty days before the day appointed for receiving proposals, in at least five newspapers published or circulating in said county, and thereupon they shall purchase the requisite number of bonds at the lowest price offered; provided, they shall not pay more than five per centum above the par value thereof and the accrued interest thereon; and in case a sufficient number of said bonds shall not be offered at or below the price above specified, the moneys so raised for the redemption of said bonds or the residue thereof, shall not be used for any other purpose, but shall be deposited in some safe deposit company or other institution authorized by law to receive money deposits and to pay interest thereon, which institution to receive such deposit or deposits shall be designated by resolution of the said board of chosen freeholders, and the moneys so deposited and the interest which may accumulate thereon shall so remain on deposit until the same may be used for the purchase of said park bonds at or below the price above specified, or until the principal of said bonds becomes due and payable, and shall be then applied to the purchase or redemption of said bonds.

16. And be it enacted, That when the principal of said bonds becomes due and payable, the board of chosen freeholders of said county shall have power to appropriate a sufficient amount of money to redeem such bonds as shall not have been redeemed or provided for as aforesaid, and to cause the same to be raised, assessed, levied and collected, the same as other county taxes are assessed, levied and collected, or the said board of chosen freeholders may raise a sufficient sum of money for the purpose aforesaid by issuing other bonds to bear interest at a rate not exceeding four per centum per annum; provided, the same shall not be sold for less than the par value thereof; and provided, that in case such bonds should be issued under this section of this act, the said board of chosen freeholders shall cause a sufficient sum to be raised by taxation every year thereafter to pay or purchase at least one per centum of the said principal of such bonds, the same to be applied, deposited and used in the same manner as hereinbefore provided for the redemption or purchase of one per centum per annum of the first issue of said bonds.

17. And be it enacted, That any grounds or parks established under the provisions of this act shall be used for public recreation, subject to reasonable rules and regulations, to be prescribed by the park commissioners.

18. And be it enacted, That no refreshments of any kind shall be sold or partaken of within said park or parks, except at such place or places and in such manner as said park commissioners shall prescribe, and by such person or persons as shall be designated and permitted to sell refreshments by said park commissioners.

19. And be it enacted, That said park or parks shall be closed from sunset in the evening until sunrise in the morning for the use of the public, except on such occasions as the park commissioners may permit.

20. And be it enacted, That any person who shall violate any of the rules and regulations hereinbefore prescribed, or any of the rules and regulations to be prescribed by the said park commissioners, shall be deemed guilty of disorderly conduct, and it shall be the duty of every constable, and lawful for any other person, to apprehend, without warrant or process, any person found violating any of the said rules and regulations, and to take such person before any justice of the peace or police court of the county, and it shall be the duty of such justice to take the testimony of witnesses, hear and determine the matter, and if the person charged be found guilty he or she shall be punished for such offense by fine not exceeding twenty dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding ten days, or both, at the discretion of such justice, and all fines collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid over by such justice to the treasurer of the board of park commissioners, to be applied to the maintenance of such park or parks.

21. And be it enacted, That no beer, wine, brandy or any other alcoholic or intoxicating liquor shall ever be sold, drunk or partaken of by any person or persons in or upon said park or parks, and any person violating any of the provisions of this section of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, or both.

22. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 13, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXIX.

An act to amend section four of the act entitled "An act to secure to workmen the payment of wages in lawful money," approved March twelfth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That section four of the act entitled "An act to secure to workmen the payment of wages in lawful money," approved March twelfth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty, be and the same is hereby amended so that the same shall read as follows:

4. And be it enacted, That any glass manufacturer, ironmaster, foundryman, collier, factory man, employer or company offending against the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by a fine of not less than ten dollars or more than one hundred dollars for each and every offense, or imprisonment not to exceed the term of thirty days, at the discretion of the court.

Approved March 13, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXX.

A Supplement to "An act to legalize certain newspapers, the issues of which have been temporarily suspended," approved March third, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That section one of "An act to legalize certain newspapers, the issues of which have been temporarily suspended," be amended so as to read as follows:

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That such temporary suspension shall not be regarded as an invalidation of the legal age of said newspaper, but that upon their resumption of publication within twelve weeks of their suspension as aforesaid, such papers shall be considered, as to age, as dating from their first publication, and they shall be as fully entitled to the state and other legal printing the same as though such suspension had never occurred.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 13, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXXI.

A Further Supplement to an act entitled "An act concerning township officers," approved April twenty-first, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the legal voters of any township in this state, in which the township committee consists of five members, may, at any town meeting, by a majority of votes cast, pass a resolution directing that the members of the township committee shall thereafter be elected for the term of three years.

2. And be it enacted, That upon the passage of such resolution in any such township, the members elected therein for township committee shall, at their first meeting, determine by lot which two of said members shall hold office for the term of one year, which other two shall hold office for the term of two years, and which other one shall hold office for the term of three years; and the respective members shall thereupon hold office for the respective terms so determined, and at each succeeding town meeting thereafter in such township the number of new members of the township committee to be voted for and elected shall be such as to fill the places or place of the members or member whose term of office shall expire, and such members or member shall be elected for the term of three years, except in the event of a vacancy in the office of a member during an unexpired term, in which event the vacancy shall be filled for the unexpired term only.

3. And be it enacted, That all parts of acts which are inconsistent with the provisions of this act, be and they are hereby repealed.

Approved March 13, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXXII.

An act to amend an act entitled "An act to establish a system of public instruction" [Revision], approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That section seventy-seven of the act entitled "An act to establish a system of public instruction" [Revision], approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

77. And be it enacted, That for the purpose of maintaining free public schools there shall be assessed, levied and collected annually upon the taxable real and personal property in this state, as exhibited by the latest abstract of ratables from the several counties, made out by the several boards of assessors and filed in the office of the comptroller of the treasury, a state school tax equal to five dollars for each child in this state between the ages of five and eighteen years, as exhibited by the next preceding school census, which tax shall be assessed, levied and collected at the same time and in the same manner in which other taxes are assessed, levied and collected; but if the moneys received by the school districts in any township from the tax imposed by this section shall not be sufficient to maintain free schools for at least nine months in each year, then the inhabitants thereof may raise by township tax such additional amount as they may need for that purpose in the same manner as such taxes have heretofore been raised.

2. And be it enacted, That section eighty-one of said act be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

81. And be it enacted, That it shall be the duty of the county superintendent of each county to apportion annually to the districts and cities of his county the state school moneys, together with the interest of the surplus revenue belonging to said county, and such other moneys as may be raised for school purposes, upon the basis of the last published school census; provided, that all children residing in fractional districts, situated in two or more adjoining townships, shall be included in the census of that township in which the fraction containing the school-house is situated; and provided, that no district shall receive less than two hundred and seventy-five dollars, and that districts with forty-five children or more shall not receive less than three hundred and seventy-five dollars.

4. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 21, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXXIII.

An Act to provide for vacating dedicated streets, roads and alleys.

Whereas, Many roads, streets or alleys have been dedicated by the owner or owners of the land over which the same are laid, and have not been accepted by the public; and whereas, no sufficient law applicable to all municipalities is provided for relieving the land included in said roads, streets or alleys, from the burden of such dedication; therefore,

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That any road, street or alley which has been, or which may hereafter be dedicated by the owner or owners of the land over which the same is laid, may, before or after it is accepted by the public, be vacated in the same manner as any public road, street or alley; that this act shall apply to all cities, towns, townships and municipalities in this state.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 21, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXXIV.

An act relating to the sale of lands for unpaid taxes and assessments in this state, and proceedings in reference thereto.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That in all actions or proceedings in any court of this state, wherein the title to any land or real estate heretofore sold in this state for unpaid taxes or assessments, is shall come in question, the collector's deed or certificate of sale made or issued by the municipal officer or authority of the city, town, township or borough making such sale, shall be prima facie evidence that all acts necessary to the validity of such sale have been regularly and legally done and performed, so far as the said certificate shall recite such acts to have been done and performed.

2. And be it enacted, That hereafter, whenever in any city, town, township or borough of this state, any lands or real estate is or shall be sold for unpaid taxes or assessments, the officer who by law is by law to make such sale shall make or procure to be made, executed and delivered to the purchaser of such land or real estate at such sale, his executor, administrator or assigns, a deed or certificate of sale, describing therein the said lands or real estate so sold, which declaration or certificate of sale shall be signed and executed as now required by law, and such declaration or certificate of sale executed as aforesaid, shall be presumptive evidence in all courts and before all proceedings by or against such purchaser or purchasers, his, her or their legal representatives or assigns of the title of such purchaser or purchasers to the said lands and premises set forth in such declaration or certificate of sale; provided, that such designated, and of the regularity and validity of all proceedings previously had in reference to said sale; provided, nothing in this act shall be construed to affect in any way proceedings under chapter one hundred and twelve of the laws of eighteen hundred and eighty-six.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 21, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXXV.

A Supplement to an act entitled "An act for the construction, maintenance and operation of water-works, for the purpose of supplying cities towns and villages of this state with water," approved March twenty-first, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That section fifteen of the act to which this is a supplement, be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

15. And be it enacted, That any aqueduct company now in existence under any special charter in this state, and any company which has been incorporated under the provisions of this act, shall have the right from time to time, to add to and extend their works to such extent as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of its corporation, and for that purpose to take all such lands and divert all such streams of water, in the manner hereinbefore provided, as shall be necessary for that purpose; provided, that nothing in this section shall be deemed, taken or construed to empower or authorize any aqueduct or water company to supply or furnish water within the corporate limits of any city of this state owning or controlling its water-supply.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 21, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXXVI.

An act regulating appeals from special assessments in cities governed by a board of commissioners where an appeal has been heretofore given to three chosen freeholders.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That any person or persons having sustained any damage by dog or dogs, bitch or bitches, shall proceed to have such damages assessed according to the act to which this a supplement, and he, she or they shall present such certificate to the township committee of the township in which such damage was done, together with the certificate of the person or persons claiming to have sustained damages, stating the names of the owner or owners of said dog or dogs, bitch or bitches, if known; and if not, then that the said damage was done by unknown dog or dogs, bitch or bitches, which last certificate shall be verified by the oath or affirmation of the person or persons sustaining damage, before the Tuesday of September of each and every year, and the said committee shall on said day consider the claim so presented and order the assessor to assess such sum as shall be sufficient to pay the claims allowed by tehm, upon the dogs in said township as returned by said assessor.

2. And be it enacted, That neither this supplement nor the act to which this is a supplement, shall exempt the owner, possessor or harborer of any such dog or dogs, bitch or bitches, but he or she is hereby declared to be responsible for such injury, and an action of trespass may be brought or maintained in any court of competent jurisdiction by any person or persons sustaining any injury, for the full amount of the same, against such owner or possessor, and in which action it shall not be necessary to prove that the said dog or bitch was accustomed to commit the injury complained of or any similar injury; provided, however, that the presentation of any claim for damages to the township committee shall be a waiver of all claims upon the owner of such dog or bitch.

3. And be it enacted, That in case any claim for damages is presented and allowed by the township committee, the said committee may institute suit against the owner or owners of said dog or bitch in the name of and for the benefit of said township, in any court of competent jurisdiction, to recover the amount of damage so allowed by them.

4. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

Approved April 1, 1888.

CHAPTER CCLXXI.

A Supplement to an act entitled "An act concerning roads" (Revision), approved, March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That it shall be the duty of the township committee of the townships in the counties of the second class of this state to notify each road overseer, within one week from the time of his election or appointment, to go or send some competent person over his district on the first Monday in each month between April and October, and remove all improperly placed stones and all sticks, broken glass, unwarrantable wooden or iron hoops and any other rubbish whatsoever, from the several roads under his charge.

2. And be it enacted, That the service of such notice shall be made either personally or by mailing the same to the usual post-office address of such overseer; and in case of the neglect or refusal of such overseer to comply with the requirements of such notice, then upon the complaint in writing of any citizen of the county wherein such overseer resides, or such neglect or refusal, it shall be the duty of the township committee forthwith to employ some competent person or persons to go over such road district and to remove such rubbish as aforesaid, and to charge the expenses thereof to the road district in which removal is made, and the expense thereof shall be deducted from the road taxes due such district before any road taxes or moneys are paid by the township collector to his overseer for work done on such district.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 3, 1888.

CHAPTER CCLXXII.

A Further Supplement to an act entitled "An act to provide for the assessment of the costs and expenses of street improvements that lie between or run through two or more municipalities.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That hereafter in assessing the costs and expenses of street improvements that lie between or run through two or more municipalities in this State, the commissioners or persons appointed or authorized to make such assessments, by whatever name they may be called, after first taking and subscribing an oath faithfully to perform their duties in the matter, shall assess upon all the tracts or lots of land and real estate benefited by any such improvement, such proportion of the costs and expenses thereof as will be equal to the amount of benefits actually acquired by said lands and real estate from such improvement, proportioned equitably to the benefit each of said tracts or lots shall be deemed to acquire; and no tract or lot shall be assessed more than it is benefited and the excess, if any, of such cost and expense shall be assessed upon the municipalities between or through which said improvement shall lie or run, in the proportion that the total of the assessments, on owners of lands, of benefits in each of said municipalities bears to the sum of the total assessments of benefits on owners of lands in all of such municipalities, and shall be paid out of moneys raised by general taxation for that purpose; provided, however, that if any portion of the costs or expenses of any such improvement has already been raised and paid by such municipalities by general taxation under any provision of law, the amount or amounts so raised and paid shall not be included in any assessment provided for in this act.

2. And be it enacted, That the term municipalities shall be taken and construed, under this act, to include any city or cities, town or towns, township or townships, and all other municipal corporation whatever.

3. And be it enacted, That all acts, or parts of acts inconsistent with this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

4. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 3, 1888.

CHAPTER CCLXXIII.

An act to amend the first section of a supplement to "An act to establish and organize the state reform school for juvenile offenders," approved April sixth, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, which supplement was approved April second, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That when a boy under the age of sixteen years shall, in a court of criminal jurisdiction, by the verdict of a jury or on his own confession in open court, be found guilty of any crime, except murder, it shall be lawful for the said court, instead of entering judgment and pronouncing sentence according to law, to cause an order to be entered in the minutes that said boy be committed to the state reform school for reformation and instruction, pursuant to the provisions of the act to which this is a further supplement, and the supplements thereto; and a copy of said order duly certified by the clerk under the seal of said court, shall be a sufficient warrant for taking the said boy to the said reform school, and for his commitment to the superintendent thereof; provided, that such order shall be made or approved by a justice of the supreme court.

Approved April 3, 1888.

CHAPTER CCLXXIV.

An act concerning corporations of this State, and of other States, doing business in this State.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That it shall be lawful for any corporation of this state, or any other state doing business in this state and authorized by law to own and hold shares of stock and bonds of corporations of other states, to own and hold and dispose thereof, in the same manner and with all the rights, powers and privileges of individual owners of shares of the capital stock, and bonds or other evidence of indebtedness of corporations of this state.

2. And it be enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 4, 1888.

CHAPTER CCLXXV.

A Further Supplement to an act entitled "An act for the preservation of sheep," approved April twentieth one thousand eight hundred and forty-six.

Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That any person or persons having sustained any damage by dog or dogs, bitch or bitches, shall proceed to have such damages assessed according to the act to which this a supplement, and he, she or they shall present such certificate to the township committee of the township in which such damage was done, together with the certificate of the person or persons claiming to have sustained damages, stating the names of the owner or owners of said dog or dogs, bitch or bitches, if known; and if not, then that the said damage was done by unknown dog or dogs, bitch or bitches, which last certificate shall be verified by the oath or affirmation of the person or persons sustaining damage, before the Tuesday of September of each and every year, and the said committee shall on said day consider the claim so presented and order the assessor to assess such sum as shall be sufficient to pay the claims allowed by tehm, upon the dogs in said township as returned by said assessor.

2. And be it enacted, That neither this supplement nor the act to which this is a supplement, shall exempt the owner, possessor or harborer of any such dog or dogs, bitch or bitches, but he or she is hereby declared to be responsible for such injury, and an action of trespass may be brought or maintained in any court of competent jurisdiction by any person or persons sustaining any injury, for the full amount of the same, against such owner or possessor, and in which action it shall not be necessary to prove that the said dog or bitch was accustomed to commit the injury complained of or any similar injury; provided, however, that the presentation of any claim for damages to the township committee shall be a waiver of all claims upon the owner of such dog or bitch.

3. And be it enacted, That in case any claim for damages is presented and allowed by the township committee, the said committee may institute suit against the owner or owners of said dog or bitch in the name of and for the benefit of said township, in any court of competent jurisdiction, to recover the amount of damage so allowed by them.

4. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

Approved April 1, 1888.

CHAPTER CCLXXI.

A Supplement to an act entitled "An act to enable street-car or horse-car railroad companies to provide better accommodations to the public by using what is now known as the cable system for motive power on elevated roads," approved March twenty-sixth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That when any company or companies mentioned in the first section of this act to which this is a supplement, shall have determined to construct, maintain and operate an elevated railroad over the street or streets, highway or highways, in any city, town or townships in which by the said act they are authorized to construct, maintain and operate the same, and having obtained the consent in writing of the owner or owners of at least one-half of the lands fronting on or bounded by such street or streets, highway or highways through and over which such elevated road is proposed to be built, and having also obtained the consent of the municipal authorities of the city, town or township, in which such road is proposed to be built and such company cannot by agreement procure the consent of the owner or owners of the lands fronting on or bounded by such street or streets, highway or highways; shall be lawful for the said company to make application in writing under the oath or affirmation of some engineer or proper agent of the company or companies, to one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of this State, having given previous notice of at least ten days of such intended application, and of the place of the day on which, and the place where, such intended application is intended to be made, by advertisements under the hand of the president of said company, and set up ten public places in the county in which said road is proposed to be built, five of which notices shall be set up at public places along each of the streets, avenues and highways in and through which said elevated railroad is proposed to be built, and a like advertisement shall also be published in at least three newspapers published and circulating in such county, at least once a week for two weeks successively; the first publication thereof to be made at least ten days prior to the date of making said application; and the said justice when applied to as aforesaid, and due proof being made that the advertisements have been set up and published according to law, on proof of the publication of such notice in the manner and form aforesaid, and of the service of such notice on the owners of said lands, and of the posting of such notice on the said lands, and upon the hearing of the said parties interested, shall make a just and equitable estimate and appraisement of the value of the easements required for such elevated railroad, and an assessment of damages to each separate lot or parcel of land to be paid by said company for such easements or right of passage, and damages aforesaid to the owner or owners of each separate lot or parcel of land who have not consented to the building of such elevated road, which report shall be in writing under the hands and seals of the said commissioners or any two of them, to which shall be annexed a map or maps showing the route of such elevated railroad and each lot or parcel of land fronting on or bounded by such street or streets, and each lot or parcel of land shown on said map shall be designated by a number, and to said report shall also be annexed a plan of the structure, and a description of the structure, which report shall within ten days after the date thereof be filed in the county clerk's office of said county, and the said commissioners, within not less than fifteen days nor more than thirty days, shall meet at a convenient place in said county, and consider objections to said report, and said commissioners of the time and place of said meeting, and of the filing of said report, and of said objections to said report, by advertisements under the hand of the president of said company, and set up ten public places in the county in which said road is proposed to be built, and publish in at least two newspapers published and circulating in said county, at least once a week for two weeks successively; the first publication of which notice in each of said papers shall be made at least ten days before the time appointed for said meeting, and upon due proof being made that such advertisements have been set up and published according to law, on proof of the publication of such notice in the manner and form aforesaid, and of the service of such notice on the owners of said lands, and of the posting of such notice on said lands, and upon the hearing of the said parties interested, the said commissioners, or any two of them, shall make a just and equitable estimate and appraisement of the value of the easements required for such elevated railroad, and an assessment of damages to each separate lot or parcel of land to be paid by said company for such easements or right of passage, and damages aforesaid to the owner or owners of each separate lot or parcel of land who have consented to the building of such elevated road, which report shall be in writing under the hands and seals of the said commissioners or any two of them, to which shall be annexed a map or maps showing the route of such elevated railroad and each lot or parcel of land fronting on or bounded by such street or highway, and each lot or parcel of land shown on said map shall be designated by a number, and to said report shall also be annexed a plan of the structure, and a description of the structure, which report shall within ten days after the date thereof be filed in the county clerk's office of said county, and the said commissioners, within not less than fifteen days nor more than thirty days, shall meet at a convenient place in said county, and consider objections to said report, and said commissioners of the time and place of said meeting, and of the filing of said report, and of said objections to said report, by advertisements under the hand of the president of said company, and set up ten public places in said county at least ten days before said meeting, which advertisement shall be published and circulating in said county at least three newspapers published and circulating in said county, at least once a week for two weeks successively; the first publication of said notice shall be made at least ten days before the time appointed for said meeting; and thereupon said commissioners shall have power to adjourn said meeting or meetings, and said report may be recommitted to said commissioners, if they may deem necessary, and said commissioners shall have power to adjourn said meeting and the time and place appointed for hearing objections to said report, which notice shall be posted and published in the same manner as the notice before directed for the posting and publishing of the notice of the meeting of said commissioners; all objections to said report shall be made in writing and filed in the county clerk's office in the county where said road is proposed to be built, and the said commissioners, or any two of them,

...be it enacted, That said board shall ascertain and determine the width of the carriage-way and sidewalks of said road, and shall construct the said road of such width, and of such grade as the said board shall deem proper, by grading the same in such manner and according to such grades as the said board shall determine, by excavating and removing earth, rocks, trees, stumps, buildings and structures, and by disposing of such portions of said road to the best advantage, by filling low parts or otherwise in preparing the same for travel on such road; by building all culverts and receiving basins and such necessary sewerage and outlets of sewers, or by making connection with or use of public sewers or outlets that may be deemed necessary, or without the lines of said road, that such road may be constructed; the grades established by said authority (if any have been established) as near as conveniently may be done, so as to insure the easiest grade that can be, even grade through the entire road, and in case any grade be changed, compensation shall be made to the person injured by such change, by such alteration of grade, such damages to be ascertained in the same manner as is before provided in the case of other roads; said board shall have power to add at all times to improve and repair said road or any part thereof, and to add or improve lighting said road or any part thereof; and said board in constructing said road, and in making such improvements as aforesaid, may use the materials which said board is authorized to use for any purpose whatever, and which can be used for the purpose that may be found necessary, and may have the lines of said road, or may have altered by or under any municipality whatever.

...be it enacted, That all work done over and exceeding one thousand dollars, done or furnished in and opening, laying out, constructing, improving such road, shall be done and performed by contract after advertisement, in the following manner, the said board shall advertise for proposals for doing work and furnishing material for the whole to one thousand persons, for at least two weeks, and once in each week, in such one or more of the newspapers of such county as they may deem expedient, and shall award the contract or contracts to the lowest responsible bidder, or bidders, giving such security for performance as they may require, and shall have the right to reject any and all bids; and be it enacted, That if any proposal or proposals shall be accepted by said board, and the party or parties making such proposals shall refuse to do the work at the price bid by him or them for the interest of said road, or to do, and may refuse to do, and may refuse to do the work at the price bid by him or them for the interest of said road, and in case of such refusal the said board shall again advertise for proposals as above provided.

...be it enacted, That except to repair road, no horse, dummy or other power shall be allowed on such road, or thereof.

...be it enacted, That said board shall have the power to issue certificates of work in payment for work done or materials furnished, or any expense incurred in the execution of this act, and to fix such times and for such payments, such certificates shall be payable at such periods as shall be transferable in such manner as the board shall prescribe; said certificates of work shall be paid out of the proceeds of sale of bonds, as hereinafter to be issued and sold, and shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding six per centum per annum, and shall be payable within one year from the date thereof, as the said board may prescribe.

...be it enacted, That the entire cost of such opening, constructing and improving said public road in the county of Essex, shall not exceed the sum of ... dollars for lands taken and damages, and the sum of one million dollars for the construction thereof.

...be it enacted, That it shall be the duty of such board to maintain and keep in repair said road or any part thereof, and to keep the same in repair and free from ice and snow at all times and at all seasons of the year, at the expense of the public at large of such county, and to make such appropriation of moneys for such purpose as may be necessary, shall be raised in the same manner as other appropriations for other county purposes are raised.

...be it enacted, That the said county collector shall keep an account of all moneys received and expenditures on account of said road, separate and apart from the other expenditures of such county, such account shall be called the road account, and the clerk of said board shall on the first day of May and on the first day of each year, file with the clerk of the board, to remain as a public record, a detailed, itemized account of the moneys received and paid out of said road account in relation to such road, and such account shall be audited by said board, approved of and ordered to be filed as a record, and be kept in such manner, at the time aforesaid, file his report of the moneys received by him on account of the issue of said bonds or otherwise, and the same shall be sworn to by him before any one of said board, and shall be filed in the office of the clerk of said board, and shall be open to the inspection of the public during the business hours of every day (except Sunday and holidays), and copies thereof, certified by the clerk of such board under its seal, shall be evidence in all courts and places the same as the original would be if produced.

21. And be it enacted, That after the completion of the laying out, opening, constructing and improvement of said road, such board shall carefully preserve and keep in its office or the office of the clerk thereof, all surveys, map or maps, report or reports, record or records whatever, relating to said road and the course and location thereof, there to be and remain of record.

22. And be it enacted, That whenever in this act words importing to plural number are used in describing or referring to any matter, party or person, any single matter, party or person shall be deemed to be included, although distributive words may not be used; and when any subject, matter, party or person is described or referred to by words importing the singular number or the masculine gender, the several matters and persons, and females as well as males, and bodies corporate as well as individuals shall be deemed to be included, and these rules of construction shall apply in all cases unless it be otherwise specially provided herein, or unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction.

23 And be it enacted, That this act shall be deemed a public act and shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 6, 1888.

CHAPTER CCLXXV.

An Act to provide for certain improvements in the New Jersey state prison.

Whereas The supply of water at the state prison is inadequate for the purposes of that institution, and the quality thereof has been found by analysis to be such as to endanger the health of the inmates; and whereas, the system of sewerage and drainage is found to be defective, and not well adapted to the increasing necessities of the prison, as well as detrimental to the health of the inmates; therefore

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the board of inspectors and the warden and the keeper of the New Jersey state prison be and they are hereby authorized and directed to have such changes and improvements made in the system of drainage and sewerage as they may deem necessary, and to take the necessary measures to procure a sufficient supply of pure and wholesome water for the purposes of the prison, and to enable them to carry out the provisions of this act there is hereby appropriated for the purposes above named the sum of thirty thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, from which sum the expenses of the said work shall be paid by the treasurer of the state, on the warrant of the comptroller, upon the approval of the said board of inspectors, and supervisor and the keeper of the state prison, and the said board shall present to the next legislature a detailed report of their proceedings under this act.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 7, 1888.

CHAPTER CCLXXVII.

An Act to amend an act entitled "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act to provide for the regulation and incorporation of insurance companies,'" passed April twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That section one of the act to which this is a supplement be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows, viz:

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That any existing joint stock company incorporated by this state for either of the purposes mentioned in this act may, at any time after notice being given for three months in a newspaper of this state, published in the county where such company is located, and if no newspaper be published in such county then in a newspaper published nearest to the same, of such intention, and with the written consent of three-fourths in amount of its stockholders, or if a mutual company, or a mutual company whose charge has expired, with the unanimous consent of its trustees or directors, extend its original charter to the time specified by the provisions of this act, by altering or amending the same so as to accord with the provisions of this act, and filing a copy of the same so altered or amended, together with a declaration, under its corporate seal, signed by the president and directors, of their desire for such extension, and also the written consent of three-fourths in amount of its stockholders, and the unanimous consent of the trustees or directors as aforesaid to such extension, in the office of secretary of state; and upon the filing such consent, declaration and charter, the same proceedings shall be had as are required by the thirty-second section of this act; and any of the mutual insurance companies already chartered by the legislature of this state, or already organized under the general laws of this state, may, after giving ninety days' notice in three of the public papers of this state, change to joint-stock companies, by proceeding in accordance with and conforming their charter to the provisions of this act.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 9, 1888.

CHAPTER COLXXVIII.

An Act defining the powers of the mutual fire insurance companies of this state.

Whereas, Doubt exists as to whether the mutual fire insurance companies of this state have power under their respective acts of incorporation to make an assessment of assessments for a sum beyond the precise amount of existing losses and expenses, and it is found to be impracticable to make such assessments upon the numerous members of said companies to meet small loses and expenses as the same occur, the costs incident to the making of which would often exceed the amount of loss or losses to be paid thereby; for remedy whereof and for the better securing the meaning and construction of said acts of incorporation, therefore,

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That whenever the directors of any mutual fire insurance company shall have occasion to assess or settle and determine the sums to be paid by the several members of said company for loss by fire or damage by lightning, wind-storms or tornadoes, or for such incidental expenses as shall be necessary for transacting the business of said company, or either one or all of them, the said acts of incorporation shall be so construed as not to limit the amount of the assessment by the precise amount of existing losses and expenses, but the said assessment against the several members of said company may, in the discretion of said directors, exceed the amount of such existing losses and expenses; provided, the same is against each member in proportion to the original amount of his or their deposit note or notes, and does not exceed twenty per centum of said deposit note, and the surplus money, if any, collected upon said assessment over and above what is necessary to pay existing losses and expenses, shall remain in the treasury of said company for the payment of such further loss or losses and expenses as may thereafter accrue, according to the provisions of its said act of incorporation; and the same proceedings, rights and remedies for the collection of such assessment, and the notes of the members of the said company, upon default made in the payment of said assessment shall exist, as are given in and by their said act of incorporation.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall be deemed and taken to be a public act and shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 9, 1888.

CHAPTER CCXXXVII.

A Further supplement to an act entitled "An act concerning evidence" (Revision), approved March twenty-seven, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

CHAPTER CXXVII.

A Supplement to the act approved May sixth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven, entitled "An act to amend an act entitled 'A supplement to an act entitled 'I An act for the incorporation of safe deposit and trust companies,'" approved April twentieth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That none of the associations or companies mentioned in the act to which this is a supplement, whether they be companies or associations under the act entitled "An act for the incorporation of safe deposit and trust companies," or companies or associations incorporated by any other law of this state, shall be required by any officer or court of this state to give security upon appointment to or acceptance of any office or trust which they are by law authorized or empowered to execute, or to which by the act to which this is a supplement or otherwise by law they are capable of being appointed; but any such company or association may be appointed to any and all such trusts and offices by any officer or court of this state without being required to give security for the faithful performance of the duties of such trust or appointment or office; the capital stock and accumulated surplus of such company or association to stand as security and to be held liable for the faithful performance of its duties and obligations under such trusts and appointments, and its other lawful contracts under the special powers conferred upon it by law, in preference to all other debts, demands, claims, obligations and liabilities whatsoever.

2. And be it enacted, That the second section of the act entitled "A supplement to the act entitled 'An act for the incorporation of safe deposit and trust companies,'" approved April twentieth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five, which supplement was passed April sixth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five, which section is as follows:

"1. And be it enacted, That any association accepting trusts under the provisions of this act shall not be required to give security therefor, and the capital, its capital stock and its surplus shall be held liable in preference of all other liabilities, for the faithful performance of its duties under the trusts," shall be construed in accordance with the provisions of the second section of this act in that behalf, and that it be and is hereby amended accordingly."

3. And be it enacted, That it shall be lawful for any such company or association as is mentioned in the first section of this act, and it shall deem it proper so to do, to create, by an increase of its capital stock or for the purpose, a fund or funds to be specially set apart for and devoted to specially securing its liability in one or more of its branches of lawful business under its special powers; and such fund or funds, when so raised or created, shall be so developed and set apart accordingly, and shall not be subject or applicable to any other debts or liabilities of the company or association, until those in the discharge whereof it or they are devoted, shall have been satisfied or shall cease to exist.

4. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 13, 1888

CHAPTER CXXVIII.

An Act to authorize and enable counties in this state to acquire and improve lands for public works, and to maintain and regulate the same.

Whereas, In densely populated districts, it is desirable in the interest of public health and for the general welfare that public parks should be established and maintained for the use and recreation of the inhabitants; therefore,

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That when two hundred or more persons, being freeholders or owners of land in any county, or any incorporated company or companies of this state owning lands in such county, the aggregate assessed value of which lands so owned by said persons and corporation or corporations, is at least two millions of dollars, shall think a public park or public parks in such county necessary for the preservation of public health, and for the general welfare, it shall be lawful for the said persons to make application in writing to the court of the said county, in open court, having given previous notice for at least ten days of such intended application, and also of the day on which such application is intended to be made, under the hands of at least ten of said applicants, and set up at five public places in such county, and also published in at least two newspapers published and circulated in such county, and the said court, when applied to as aforesaid, or due proof being made that the said petition has been signed and that the advertisements have been set up and published according to law, on which the judgment of said court shall be final and conclusive, is hereby authorized and required to nominate and appoint five judicious and reputable freeholders, residents of such county, who shall constitute a board of commissioners, to be known by the name of park commissioners of the county in and for which such commissioners shall be appointed; provided, nevertheless, that if the judge of said court shall not be present at the time and place which in notice of said application shall have been given, the matter shall be continued of course, until the next court day, when such judge shall be present; and provided further, that said court may, by order entered in the minutes of said court, adjourn the said matter from time to time, not exceeding in the whole a period of sixty days, and may cause such further public notice to be given as the judge of said court may deem expedient before appointing such commissioners.

2. And be it enacted, That the commissioners so appointed shall hold office for one, two, three, four and five years, respectively, and that the judge of said circuit court shall designate the term of service for each of said commissioners; and thereafter, whenever a vacancy occurs in said board by reason of expiration of term of any of said commissioners, the said circuit court shall fill such vacancy by appointing a person duly qualified as aforesaid for a term of five years; nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the re-appointment of any person to said office of park commissioner.

3. And be it enacted, That if a vacancy occurs in said board from any cause other than expiration of term of office, the said court shall fill such vacancy, and the person appointed to fill such vacancy shall be appointed and hold office for the unexpired term only.

4. And be it enacted, That said park commissioners shall receive no compensation for their services, except the commissioners acting as treasurer and secretary, who may receive such reasonable compensation as the other members of said board of park commissioners may designate; but all actual expenses incurred by them in performance of the duties of their duties shall be refunded to them, respectively, by the county, that each of the persons so appointed shall, before entering upon the duties of said office, make oath before an officer of this state duly authorized to administer oaths, that he will faithfully, honestly and impartially, in the interest of the public and of the people of the county at large, perform the duties of park commissioner in and for said county, which oath shall be filed in the office of the clerk of such county.

5. And be it enacted, That it shall be lawful for the attorney general, at the relation of any freeholder of such county, to file a complaint in the circuit court of such county against any or all of said park commissioners, charging them, or either of them, with neglect of duty, incompetency or misconduct in office, and thereupon the said circuit court shall have jurisdiction in the premises, and may order the person or persons complained against to appear on a certain day and answer such complaint, which order shall be served in such manner as the judge of said court shall direct, at least two days before the return-day thereof, and thereupon the said court shall proceed to hear and determine the said matter in a summary manner, and the person or persons adjudged guilty by said court shall be forthwith removed from said office of park commissioner.

6. And be it enacted, That said park commissioners shall appoint from their own number a president, a secretary and a treasurer; the treasurer, before entering upon the duties or his office, shall give bond to the county in its corporate name in such sum as may be fixed and determined by resolution of the board of chosen freeholders, with sufficient sureties, conditioned for the due and faithful performance of the duties of said office of treasurer of said board, which bond shall be approved by the judge of the circuit court of such county and filed in the county clerk's office.

7. And be it enacted, That it shall be the duty of said park commissioners to select suitable sites for one or more public parks in their county; to ascertain from the owners of the lands so selected the price or prices at which the same can be purchased; to cause such lands to be surveyed, and careful estimates to be made by competent persons of the probable cost of improving such lands and making the same fit and serviceable for public park purposes; and also the probable annual expense of maintaining and keeping the same in order; and thereupon they shall make a report in writing, describing the location of the site or sites selected, the extent of each in acres, the price or prices for which the same may be purchased, the estimated probable expense of improving the same, and also the estimated annual expense of maintaining and keeping the same in order, which report shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county in and for which commissioners were appointed; they shall also cause a copy of said report to be published in at least five newspapers published and circulating in said county, at least once a week for three weeks successively; they shall also appoint a time and place when and where they will meet, and in connection with said report publish notices of such proposed meeting, at which meeting all persons who are tax-payers in said county and in said matter may appear and shall have a right to be heard before said commissioners, and said commissioners shall make at least two adjournments of said meeting for intervals of at least two weeks, and give public notice of such adjourned meetings, which notices shall be published in the same newspapers in which the above notice shall have been published, at which adjourned meetings all taxpayers of the county so desiring may be heard in regard to said matter, and at such meetings the said commissioners, or one of them, shall preside, and they shall have power to make and enforce all reasonable rules for the orderly conduct of such meetings.

8. And be it enacted, That after such meetings shall have been held, and taxpayers interested have been heard, the said commissioners shall have the power, if they, or a majority of them, deem it advisable so to do, from time to time, to enter into an agreement, or agreements, in the corporate name of the county, by and with the consent of the board of chosen freeholders of said county, for the purchase of one or more of the sites so selected, and said commissioners shall have power to improve the same for park purposes, and to that end to employ engineers, gardeners, mechanics, laborers, policemen, and other necessary servants, and to make reasonable and proper rules and regulations for the use and enjoyment of the same by the public as a place or places for recreation; provided, nevertheless, that the cost of acquiring said lands and of converting the same into one or more public parks, with all necessary improvements thereon, shall, in the aggregate, not exceed one per centum of the assessed value of all the property, real and personal, in said county, liable to taxation for county purposes; and provided further, that the entire annual expense of keeping in order, regulating and maintaining said park or parks, including the annual interest on bonds to be issued for the cost of such park or parks and the improvement thereof, as hereinafter provided, shall not exceed one mill on the dollar of the assessed value of all property, real and personal, in said county liable to taxation for county purposes.

9. And be it enacted, That for the purposes of providing funds for the purchase of such lands and the improvement thereof as aforesaid, the said park commissioners shall, from time to time, make written requisition on the board of chosen freeholders of the county for the amount required, and thereupon it shall be the duty of the board of chosen freeholders to issue bonds of the denomination of one thousand dollars each, payable in thirty years from the date thereof, to be known as county park bonds of such county, but the aggregate amount of such bonds shall never exceed one per centum of the assessed value of all taxable property, real and personal, in such county, which bonds shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding four per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, and may be registered or coupon bonds, they shall be advertised for sale by notices published in at least five newspapers circulating in said county, and sold to the highest bidder, but for not less than the par value thereof; the said bonds shall be sealed with the seal of the county, signed by the director of the board of chosen freeholders and countersigned by the county clerk and also by the president of the board of park commissioners, and attested by the clerk of the board of chosen freeholders; they shall be numbered conclusively, and the number and disposition made of each bond shall be recorded by the clerk of the board of chosen freeholders in a book to be provided for that purpose and kept in said clerk's office.

10. And be it enacted, That all moneys received by the county collector from the sale of such bonds shall be paid over to the treasurer of the board of park commissioners, who shall safely keep the same until paid out on warrants ordered by a vote of a majority of said park commissioners, signed by the president and attested by the clerk of said board, and each warrant shall state on the face thereof the purpose for which the money therein specified is applied.

11. And be it enacted, That said park commissioners shall make and publish an annual report of all moneys received and paid out by them, specifying in detail to whom and for what purpose they were paid.

12. And be it enacted, That for the purpose of keeping in order and maintaining said park or parks, and to pay the interest on park bonds issued as aforesaid, the board of chosen freeholders shall annually appropriate such sums for such purposes, which sums so appropriated shall be designated county park tax, and raised, levied and collected in the same manner as moneys for other county purposes are raised, levied and collected, and all moneys raised for the purpose of keeping in order and maintaining said park or parks shall, as soon as collected, be paid to the treasurer of the board of park commissioners, to be used by said commissioners for the purpose for which they were raised, and such moneys shall not be used for any other purpose; provided said county park tax shall not exceed one mill on the dollar of the entire assessment value of all taxable property in such county.

13. And be it enacted, That all moneys realized from the sale of bonds issued under the provisions of this act shall be used by said park commissioners for the purchase of lands for park purposes, and for converting them into parks in the manner and to the extent authorized by this act, and such moneys shall be used for no other purpose whatever.

14. And be it enacted, That in case commissioners shall be appointed in any county or counties under this act, the preliminary expenses incurred by such commissioners in selecting sites, making surveys and estimates, publishing notices and holding meetings, as required by the provisions of this act, shall be paid by the board of chosen freeholders, the same having been duly certified by the president of said board of park commissioners; provided, such expenses in the aggregate shall not exceed the sum of two thousand dollars.

15. And be it enacted, that the bonds issued under the provisions of this act shall be redeemed in the following manner, that is to say, at and after the expiration of ten years from the date of said bonds the chosen freeholders shall make an appropriation over and above the sums appropriated for the care and maintenance of said park or parks, and for the payment of the annual interest on said bonds, a sum sufficient to pay one per centum of the principal of said bonds; provided, the entire amount appropriated for park purposes in any one year shall not exceed one mill on the dollar on the entire assessed value of all the taxable property, real and personal, in such county, which moneys so appropriated shall be raised, assessed, levied and collected; and thereupon the board of chosen freeholders shall give notice that on a certain day they will receive proposals for the purchase of so many of said park bonds as the money so raised will purchase, which notice shall be published for at least thirty days before the day appointed for receiving proposals, in at least five newspapers published or circulating in said county, and thereupon they shall purchase the requisite number of bonds at the lowest price offered; provided, they shall not pay more than five per centum above the par value thereof and the accrued interest thereon; and in case a sufficient number of said bonds shall not be offered at or below the price above specified, the moneys so raised for the redemption of said bonds or the residue thereof, shall not be used for any other purpose, but shall be deposited in some safe deposit company or other institution authorized by law to receive money deposits and to pay interest thereon, which institution to receive such deposit or deposits shall be designated by resolution of the said board of chosen freeholders, and the moneys so deposited and the interest which may accumulate thereon shall remain on deposit until the same may be used for the purpose of said park bonds

16. And be it enacted, That when the principal of said bonds becomes due and payable, the board of chosen freeholders of said county shall have power to appropriate a sufficient amount of money to redeem such bonds as shall not have been redeemed or provided for as aforesaid, and to cause the same to be raised, assessed, levied and collected, the same as other county taxes are assessed, levied and collected, or the said board of chosen freeholders may raise a sufficient sum of money for the purpose aforesaid by issuing other bonds to bear interest at a rate not exceeding four per centum per annum; provided, the same shall not be sold for less than the par value thereof; and provided, that in case such bonds should be issued under this section of this act, the said board of chosen freeholders shall cause a sufficient sum to be raised by taxation every year thereafter to pay or purchase at least one per centum of the said principal of such bonds, the same to be applied, deposited and used in the same manner as hereinbefore provided for the redemption or purchase of one per centum per annum of the first issue of said bonds.

17. And be it enacted, That any park or parks established under the provisions of this act shall be used for public recreation, subject to reasonable rules and regulations, to be prescribed by the park commissioners.

18. And be it enacted, That no refreshments of any kind shall be sold or partaken of within said park or parks, except at such place or places and in such manner as said park commissioners shall prescribe, and by such person or persons as shall be designated and permitted to sell refreshments by said park commissioners.

19. And be it enacted, That said park or parks shall be closed from sunset in the evening until sunrise in the morning for the use of the public, except on such occasions as the park commissioners may permit.

20. And be it enacted, That any person who shall violate any of the rules and regulations hereinbefore prescribed, or any of the rules and regulations to be prescribed by the said park commissioners, shall be deemed guilty of disorderly conduct, and it shall be the duty of every constable, and lawful for any other person, to apprehend, without warrant or process, any person found violating any of the said rules and regulations, and to take him or her before any justice of the peace or police justice of the county, and it shall be the duty of such justice to take the testimony of witnesses, hear and determine the matter, and if the person charged be found guilty he or she shall be punished for each offense by fine not exceeding twenty dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding ten days, or both, at the discretion of such justice, and all fines collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid over by such justice to the treasurer of the board of park commissioners, to be applied to the maintenance of such park or parks.

21. And be it enacted, That no beer, wine, brandy or any other alcoholic or intoxicating liquor shall ever be sold, drunk or partaken of by any person or persons in or upon said park or parks, and any person violating any of the provisions of this section of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, or both.

22. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 13, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXIX.

An act to amend section four of the act entitled "An act to secure to workmen the payment of wages in lawful money," approved March twelfth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That section four of the act entitled "An act to secure to workmen the payment of wages in lawful money," approved March twelfth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty, be and the same is hereby amended so that the same shall read as follows:

4. And be it enacted, That any glass manufacturer, miner, quarryman, foundryman, collier, factoryman, employer or company offending against the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by a fine of not less than ten dollars or more than one hundred dollars for each and every offense, or imprisonment not to exceed the term of thirty days, at the discretion of the court.

Approved March 13, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXX.

A Supplement to "An act to legalize certain newspapers, the issues of which have been temporarily suspended," approved March twelfth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That such temporary suspension shall not be regarded as an invalidation of the legal age of said newspaper, but that upon their resumption of publication within twelve weeks of their suspension as aforesaid, such papers shall be considered, as to age, as dating from their first publication, and they shall be as fully entitled to the state and other legal printing the same as though such suspension had never occurred.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 13, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXXI.

A Further Supplement to an act entitled "An act concerning township officers," approved April twenty-first, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That in the legal voters of any township in this state, in which the township committee consists of five members, may, at any town meeting, by a majority of votes cast, pass a resolution directing that the members of the township committee shall thereafter be elected for the term of three years.

2. And be it enacted, That upon the passage of such resolution in any such township, the members elected therein for township committee shall, at their first meeting, determine by lot which two of said members shall hold office for the term of one year, which other two shall hold office for the term of two years, and which other one shall hold office for the term of three years; and the respective members shall thereupon hold office for the respective terms so determined, and at each succeeding town meeting thereafter in such township the number of new members of the township committee to be voted for and elected shall be such as to fill the places or place of the members or member whose term of office shall expire, and such new members or member shall be elected for the term of three years, except in the case of a vacancy of the office of a member during an unexpired term, in which event the vacancy shall be filled for the unexpired term only.

3. And be it enacted, That all parts of acts which are inconsistent with the provisions of this act, be and they are hereby repealed.

Approved March 13, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXXII.

An act to amend an act entitled "An act to establish a system of public instruction" (Revision), approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That section seventy-seven of the act entitled "An act to establish a system of public instruction" (Revision), approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

7. And be it enacted, That for the purpose of maintaining free public schools there shall be assessed, levied and collected annually upon the taxable real and personal property in this state, as exhibited by the latest abstract of ratables from the several counties, made out by the several boards of assessors and filed in the office of the comptroller of the treasury, a state school tax equal to five dollars for each child in this state between the ages of five and eighteen years, as exhibited by the next preceding school census, which tax shall be assessed, levied and collected at the same time and in the same manner in which other taxes are assessed, levied and collected; but if the moneys received by the school districts in any township from the tax imposed by this section shall not be sufficient to maintain free schools for at least nine months in each year, then the inhabitants thereof may raise by township tax such additional amount as they may need for that purpose in the same manner as such taxes have heretofore been raised.

2. And be it enacted, That section eighty-one of said act be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

81. And be it enacted, That it shall be the duty of the county superintendent of each county to apportion annually to the districts and cities of his county the state school moneys, together with the interest of the surplus revenue belonging to said county, and such other moneys as may be raised for school purposes, upon the basis of the last published school census; provided, that all children residing in fractional districts, situated in two or more adjoining townships, shall be included in the census of that township in which the fraction containing the school-house is situated; and provided also, that no district shall receive less than two hundred and seventy-five dollars, and that districts with forty-five children or more shall not receive less than three hundred and seventy-five dollars.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 21, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXXIII.

An Act to provide for vacating dedicated streets, roads and alleys.

Whereas, Many roads, streets or alleys have been dedicated by the owner or owners of the land over which the same are laid, and have not been accepted by the public; and whereas, no sufficient law applicable to all municipalities is provided for relieving the land included in said roads, streets or alleys, from the burden of such dedication; therefore,

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That any road, street or alley which has been, or which may hereafter be dedicated by the owner or owners of the land over which the same is laid, may, before or after it is accepted by the public, be vacated in the same manner as any public road, street or alley; that this act shall apply to all cities, towns, townships and other municipalities in this state.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 21, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXXIV.

An act relating to the sale of lands for unpaid taxes and assessments in this state, and proceedings in reference thereto.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That all actions or proceedings in any court of this state, wherein the title to any land or real estate therefore sold in this state for unpaid taxes or assessments shall come in question, the declaration or certificate of sale made or issued by the municipal officer or authority of the city, town, township or borough making such sale, shall be prima facie evidence that all acts necessary to the validity of such sale have been regularly and legally done and performed, so far as the said certificate shall recite such acts to have been done and performed.

2. And be it enacted, That hereafter, whenever in any city, town, township or borough of this state, any lands or real estate is or shall be sold for unpaid taxes or assessments, the officer whose duty it is by law to make such sale, shall make or cause to be made, executed and delivered to the purchaser of such land or real estate at such sale, his executor, administrator or assigns, a declaration or certificate of sale, describing therein the said lands or real estate so sold, which declaration or certificate of sale shall be signed by such officer, and be proved by law, and such declaration or certificate of sale executed as aforesaid, shall be presumptive evidence in all courts in all ejectment proceedings by or against such purchaser or purchasers, his, her or their legal representatives or assigns of the title of such purchaser or purchasers to the said lands or real estate in such declaration or certificate of sale designated, and the regularity and validity of all proceedings previously had in reference to said sale; provided, nothing in this act shall be construed to affect in any way proceedings under chapter one hundred and twelve of the eighteen hundred and eighty-six.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 21, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXXV.

A Supplement to an act entitled "An act for the construction, maintenance and operation of water-works, for the purpose of supplying cities towns and villages of this state with water," approved April twenty-first, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That section fifteen of the act to which this is a supplement, be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

15. And be it enacted, That any aqueduct company now in existence under any special charter in this state, and any company which has been incorporated under the provisions of this act, shall have the right from time to time, to add to and extend works to such extent as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of its corporation, and for that purpose to take all such lands and divert all such flows of water, in the manner hereinbefore provided, as shall be necessary for that purpose; provided, that nothing in this section shall be deemed, taken or construed to empower or authorize any aqueduct or water company to supply or furnish water within the corporate limits of any city of this state owning or controlling its water-supply.

4. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 21, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXXVI.

An act relating appeals from special assessments in towns governed by a board of commissioners where an appeal has been heretofore given to three chosen freeholders.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That where, in the act incorporating any town governed by a board of commissioners, or in any supplement to such act, an appeal from any special assessment has heretofore been given to any three chosen freeholders of the county in which said town is located, an appeal shall only lie hereafter to and be determined by three freeholders of the county in which such town is located, who shall be appointed by any justice of the supreme court of this state, either in term-time or vacation, which appointment shall be made upon the application of the party appealing, who shall give such board of commissioners five days' notice, in writing, of the time, place and purport of such application.

2. And be it enacted, That any provision contained in any act of incorporation or any supplement thereto referred to in the first section of this act, inconsistent with said section, be and the same is hereby repealed.

Approved March 21, 1888.

CHAPTER CCLXV.

A General Act for the assessment of the costs and expenses of street improvements that lie between or run through two or more municipalities.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That hereafter in assessing the costs and expenses of street improvements that lie between or run through two or more municipalities in this State, the commissioners or persons appointed or authorized to make such assessments, by whatever name they may be called, after first taking and subscribing an oath faithfully to perform their duties in the matter, shall assess upon all the tracts or lots of land and real estate benefited by any such improvement, such proportion of the costs and expenses thereof as will be equal to the amount of benefits actually acquired by said lands and real estate from such improvement, proportioned equitably to the benefit each of said tracts or lots shall be deemed to acquire; and no tract or lot shall be assessed more than it is benefited and the excess, if any, of such cost and expense shall be assessed upon the municipalities between or through which said improvement shall lie or run, in the proportion that the total of the assessments on owners of lands, of benefits in each of said municipalities bears to the sum of the total assessments of benefits on owners of lands in all of such municipalities, and shall be paid out of moneys raised by general taxation for that purpose; provided, however, that if any portion of the costs or expenses of any such improvement has already been raised and paid by such municipalities by general taxation under any provision of law the amount or amounts so raised and paid shall not be included in any assessment provided for in this act.

2. And be it enacted, That the term municipalities shall be taken and construed, under this act, to include any city, or cities, town or towns, township or townships, and all other municipal corporation whatever.

3. And be it enacted, That all acts, or parts of acts inconsistent with this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

4. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 3, 1888.

CHAPTER CLXVI.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the first section of the further supplement to "An act to establish and organize the state reform school for juvenile offenders," which supplement was approved April second, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That when a boy under the age of sixteen years shall, in a court of criminal jurisdiction, by the verdict of a jury or on his own confession in open court, be found guilty of any crime, except murder, it shall be lawful for the said court, instead of entering judgment and pronouncing sentence according to law, to cause an order to be entered in the minutes that said boy be committed to the state reform school for reformation and instruction, pursuant to the provisions of the act to which this is a further supplement, and the supplements thereto; and a copy of said order duly certified by the clerk under the seal of said court, shall be a sufficient warrant for taking the said boy to the said reform school, and for his commitment to the superintendent thereof; provided, that such order shall be made or approved by a justice of the supreme court.

Approved April 3, 1888.

CHAPTER CCLXVI.

A Supplement to the act entitled "An act concerning roads" (Revision), approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That it shall be the duty of the township committee of the townships in the counties of the second class of this state to notify each road overseer, within one week from the time of his election or appointment, to procure and some competent person over his road district on the first Monday in each month between April and October, and remove all improperly loose stones and all sticks, broken glass, timware, wooden or iron hoops and any other rubbish which, he may discover, from the several roads under his charge.

2. And be it enacted, That the service of such notice shall be made either personally or by mailing the same to the usual post-office address of such overseer; and in case of the neglect or refusal of such overseer to comply with the requirements of such notice, then upon the complaint in writing of any citizen of the county wherein such overseer resides, of such neglect or refusal, it shall be the duty of the township committee forthwith to employ some competent person or persons to go over such road district and to remove such rubbish as aforesaid, and such person shall order at least ten days' notice to be given of such intended employment for clearing said road, which notice shall be posted in the same manner as herein before directed for the service of such notice, and the notice of the meeting of said commissioners, and the objections to assess such sum as shall be sufficient to pay the claims allowed by tehm, upon the dogs in said township as returned by said assessor.

2. And be it enacted, That neither this supplement nor the act to which this is a supplement, shall exempt the owner, possessor or harborer of any such dog or dogs, bitch or bitches, but he or she is hereby declared to be responsible for such injury, and an action of trespass may be brought or maintained in any court of competent jurisdiction by any person or persons sustaining any injury, for the full amount of the same, against such owner or possessor, and in which action it shall not be necessary to prove that the said dog or bitch was accustomed to commit the injury complained of or any similar injury; provided, however, that the presentation of any claim for damages to the township committee shall be a waiver of all claims upon the owner of such dog or bitch.

3. And be it enacted, That in case any claim for damages is presented and allowed by the township committee, the said committee may institute suit against the owner or owners of said dog or bitch in the name of and for the benefit of said township, in any court of competent jurisdiction, to recover the amount of damage so allowed by them.

4. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

Approved April 1, 1888.

CHAPTER CLXXI.

A Supplement to an act entitled "An act to enable street-car or horse-car railroad companies to provide better accommodation to the public by using what is now known as the cable system for motive power on elevated roads," approved March twenty-sixth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That when any company or companies mentioned in the first section of this act to which this is a supplement, shall have determined to construct, maintain and operate an elevated railroad over the street or streets, highway or highways, in any city, town or townships in which by the said act they are authorized to construct, maintain and operate the same, and having obtained the consent in writing of the owner or owners of at least one-half of the lands fronting on or bounded by such street or streets, highway or highways through and over which such elevated road is proposed to be built, and having also obtained the consent of the municipal authorities of the city, town or township in which such road is proposed to be built and such company cannot by agreement procure the consent of the owner or owners of the lands fronting on or boudned by such street or streets, highway or highways, it shall be lawful for the said company to make application in writing under the oath of any officer of some engineer or proper agent of the company or companies, to one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of this State, having given previous notice for at least ten days of such intended application, and also of the day on which, and the place where, such intended application is intended to be made, by advertisements under the hand of the president of said company, and set up at ten public places in the county in which said road is proposed to be built, five of which notices shall be set up at public places along each of the streets, avenues and highways in and through which said elevated railroad is proposed to be built, and a like advertisement shall also be published in at least three newspapers published and circulating in the county in which said elevated road is proposed to be built, at least once a week for two weeks successively, the first publication thereof to be made at least ten days prior to the date of making said application; and the said justice when applied to as aforesaid, and due proof being made that the advertisements have been set up and published according to law, and which the judgment of said justice shall be final and conclusive, is hereby authorized and required to appoint under his hand and seal three disinterested, impartial and judicious freeholders, residents in the county in which said elevated railroad is proposed to be built, commissioners to examine and appraise the easements or right of passage required for such proposed elevated railroad upon and over the street or streets, avenue or avenues, highway or highways, in front of all lands, the owner or owners of which have not consented thereto and mentioned in the said application or petition, and to assess the damages sustained or which will be sustained by the owners or owner of each and every separate lot or parcel of land fronting on or bounded by any street, avenue or highway through, upon or over which said proposed elevated railroad is to be built, the owner or owners of which have not consented thereto as aforesaid; and said justice shall have power to fill any vacancy in said board of commissioners which may occur by reason of refusal to serve, by death, resignation or otherwise.

2. And be it enacted, That within ten days after their appointment each of said commissioners shall take and subscribe an oath or affirmation before such officer duly authorized to administer an oath, that he will faithfully and impartially examine the matters in question, and make a just and true report according to the best of his skill and understanding; which application or petition, order of appointment and said commissioners' oaths of office shall be filed in the office of the county clerk of the county in which such road is proposed to be built.

3. And be it enacted, That within twenty days after their appointment the said commissioners shall meet at some convenient place in such county, and they shall cause previous notice of the time and place of their said first meeting to be given by advertisements under the hand of said commissioners and set up at ten public places in such county, five of which notices shall be set up at public places along the streets or highways in and through which such elevated railroad is proposed to be built, at least ten days before the time appointed for said meeting, which advertisements shall contain a description of the route of such proposed elevated railroad, and also a statement that said commissioners will proceed to appraise the damage which the respective owners of lands along the route of said railroad, who have not consented thereto have sustained or will sustain by reason of the building and operation of said elevated road; and a like advertisement shall also be published in at least three newspapers published and circulating in the county in which said elevated road is proposed to be built, at least once a week for two weeks successively, the first publication thereof to be made at least ten days before the time appointed for said meeting, and upon due proof before said commissioners that said advertisements have been set up and published according to law, it shall be the duty of said commissioners to proceed to view and examine the lands fronting on or bounded by the street or streets, highway or highways through which such elevated railroad is proposed to be built, and after having heard the parties interested therein they shall make a just and equitable estimate or appraisement of the value of the easements required for such elevated railroad, and an assessment of damages to each separate lot or parcel of land to be paid by such company for such easements or right of passage, and damages aforesaid to the owner or owners of each separate lot or parcel of land who have not consented to the building of such elevated road, which report shall be made in writing under the hands and seals of the said commissioners or any two of them, to which report shall be annexed a map or maps showing the proposed route of said elevated railroad and each lot or parcel of land fronting on or bounded by any street or highway, and each lot or parcel lot or parcel of land through which it will be designated by a number, and to said report shall also be annexed a plan of such proposed elevated structure, which said report shall be signed by the signers thereof be filed in the county clerk's office of said county, and after filing said report, said commissioners shall give notice of not less than three nor more than thirty days, shall meet at a convenient place in said county to hear and consider objections to said report, and said commissioners shall cause notice of the filing of said report, and of the time and place of said meeting to hear objections to said report, to be posted in five public places in said county, at least ten days before the time appointed for said meeting, which advertisement shall be published in at least three newspapers published and circulating in said county, at least four consecutive weeks, the first publication of said notice shall be made at least ten days before the time appointed for said meeting; and upon due proof being made of such publication, and if said commissioners shall find any objections to said report, they shall make such amendments to said report as they shall deem just and equitable and right, which shall be paid by the company.

4. And be it enacted, That for the purpose of acquiring any lands, materials or other necessary things, and the easement or right of passage through or over such lands, highway, for the use or purchase of which such company cannot agree with the owner or owners thereof, such company may proceed in accordance with the provisions of the act to which this is a supplement; and be it enacted, That in case said company shall, within six months after the confirmation of said report, determine not to proceed with the construction of such elevated road, and file a notice to that effect in the clerk's office of said county, then, and in that case, said company shall not be liable to pay the money awarded to said owner or owners, but only such costs, expenses and reasonable counsel fees as are provided for in the fourth section of the act to which this is a supplement.

5. And be it enacted, That any railroad company now or hereafter incorporated under any law of this state shall have the same powers and enjoy all the privileges, rights and franchises conferred by this act and the act to which this is a supplement, and that the cars on such elevated road or roads shall be propelled by means of a wire rope or cable, to be put and kept in motion by stationary steam power located at such convenient point or points as may be necessary for the purpose beyond the limits of any street or public highway, or by electricity or by other motive power.

7. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act, be and the same are hereby repealed, that this act shall be deemed a public act and shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 6, 1888.

CHAPTER CCLXXII.

A Supplement to an act entitled "Supplement to an act entitled 'An act for the formation of borough commissions,' approved March seventh, anno domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two," which supplement was approved March twenty-first, anno domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the act to which this is a supplement be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That when ever it shall be deemed expedient to discontinue or abolish any borough commission formed under the act entitled "An act for the formation of borough commissions," approved March seventh, anno domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two, it shall be the duty of the chosen freeholder, or, if more than one, then one of the chosen freeholders of the township in which said borough commission is located, upon request to him in writing, signed by not less than one-third in number of the tax payers of the said borough commission (including such persons as pay a poll tax only), to call an election to decide whether said borough commission shall be continued or set aside, by notice in writing, which shall set forth the time and place of such proposed election, and stating the object of the said election to be voted on; continuing such borough commission, or to set aside such borough commission, which notice shall be set up at least ten days previous to the said proposed election, in three most public places within the limits of said borough, and published at least twice in a newspaper printed and published within said borough limits, if any, or, if none so published, then in a newspaper borough is situated; and the polls shall be opened at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon and closed at seven o'clock in the evening of the same day.

2. And be it enacted, That upon the dissolution of any of the aforesaid borough commission, the existing board of borough commissioners shall continue in office for the purpose of receiving all money due such borough commission, and of paying all debts and obligations outstanding against the same at the time of its dissolution; and any surplus remaining in their hands after the payment of all such debts and obligations shall be by them turned over to the township committee, to be by said committee expended within the limits of said borough commission as it before existed, for such purposes only as were before lawful to said borough commission.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 3, 1888.

CHAPTER CCLXXV.

An Act to provide for certain improvements in the New Jersey state prison.

Whereas, The supply of water at the state prison is inadequate for the purposes of that institution, and the quality thereof has been found by analysis to be such as to endanger the health of the inmates; and whereas, the system of sewerage and drainage is found to be defective, and not well adapted to the increasing necessities of the prison, as well as detrimental to the health of the inmates; therefore,

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the board of inspectors and the supervisor and the keeper of the New Jersey state prison be and they are hereby authorized and directed to have such changes and improvements made in the system of drainage and sewerage as they may deem necessary, and to take the necessary measures to procure a sufficient supply of pure and wholesome water for the purposes of the prison, and to enable them to carry out the provisions of this act there is hereby appropriated for the purposes above named the sum of thirty thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, from which and the expense of the said work shall be paid by the treasurer of the state, on the warrant of the comptroller, upon the approval of the said board of inspectors, and supervisor and the keeper of the state prison, and the said board shall present to the next legislature a detailed report of their proceedings under this act.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 7, 1888.

CHAPTER CCLXXVI.

An act to amend an act entitled "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act for the settlement and relief of the poor' [Revision], approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy four, which amendment was approved February twentieth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six."

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That section fifteen of the act entitled "An act for the settlement and relief of the poor" Revision approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, which said section as amended was approved February twentieth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six, be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

15. Be it enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the overseers of the poor of any township, with the approbation and consent of the major part of the inhabitants householders of such township, if they shall think it convenient and necessary at any public town meeting for that purpose met and assembled, of which timely notice shall be given in the usual manner, to build, purchase or hire any house or houses in such township, and also to purchase necessary materials for that purpose, out of the money provided or to be provided for the relief of the poor, and there to keep, maintain and employ all and every such poor person and persons, and to take the benefit of the work, labor and service of any such poor person or persons who shall be kept and maintained in any such house or houses, for the better maintenance and relief of such poor person or persons who shall be there kept and maintained; and in case any poor person or persons claiming relief of any township within this state where such house or houses shall be so built, purchased or hired, shall refuse to be lodged, kept to work and maintained in such house or houses, such poor person or persons so refusing shall be put out of the book where the names of the poor are ordered to be registered by virtue of this act, and shall not be entitled to ask or receive any relief from the overseer or overseers of any such township.

2. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith, be and the same are hereby repealed, and that this act take effect immediately.

Approved April 9, 1888.

CHAPTER CCLXXVII.

An Act to amend an act entitled "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act to provide for the regulation and incorporation of insurance companies,'" passed April twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That section one of the act to which this is a supplement be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows, viz:

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That any existing joint stock company incorporated by this state for either of the purposes mentioned in this act may, at any time after notice being given for three months in a newspaper of this state, published in the county where such company is located, and if no newspaper be published in such county then in a newspaper published nearest to the same, of such intention, and with the written consent of three-fourths in amount of its stockholders, or if a mutual company, or a mutual company whose charge has expired, with the unanimous consent of its trustees or directors, extend its original charter to the time specified by the provisions of this act, by altering or amending the same so as to accord with the provisions of this act, and filing a copy of the same so altered or amended, together with a declaration, under its corporate seal, signed by the president and directors, of their desire for such extension, and also the written consent of three-fourths in amount of its stockholders, and the unanimous consent of the trustees or directors as aforesaid to such extension, in the office of secretary of state; and upon the filing such consent, declaration and charter, the same proceedings shall be had as are required by the thirty-second section of this act; and any of the mutual insurance companies already chartered by the legislature of this state, or already organized under the general laws of this state, may, after giving ninety days' notice in three of the public papers of this state, change to joint-stock companies, by proceeding in accordance with and conforming their charter to the provisions of the act.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 9, 1888.

CHAPTER CCLXXVIII.

An Act defining the powers of the mutual fire insurance companies of this state.

Whereas, Doubt exists as to whether the mutual fire insurance companies of this state have power under their respective acts of incorporation to make an assessment or assessments for a sum beyond the precise amount of existing losses or expenses, and it is found to be impracticable to make such assessments upon the numerous members of said companies to meet small loses and expenses as the same occurs, the costs incident to the making of which would often exceed the amount of loss or losses to be paid thereby; for remedy whereof and for the better securing the meaning and construction of said acts of incorporation, therefore,

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That whenever the directors of any mutual fire insurance company shall have occasion to assess or settle and determine the sums to be paid by the several members of said company for loss by fire or damage by lightning, wind storms or tornadoes, or for such incidental expenses as shall be necessary for transacting the business of said company, or either one or all of them, the said acts of incorporation shall be so construed as not to limit the amount of the assessment by the precise amount of existing losses and expenses, but the said assessment against the several members of said company may, in the discretion of said directors, exceed the amount of such existing losses and expenses; provided, the same is against each member in proportion to the original amount of his or their deposit note or notes, and does not exceed twenty per centum of said deposit note, and the surplus money, if any, collected upon said assessment over and above what is necessary to pay existing losses and expenses, shall remain in the treasury of said company, to be applied in payment of such further loss or losses and expenses as may thereafter accrue, according to the provisions of its said act of incorporation; and the same proceedings, rights and remedies for the collection of such assessment, and the notes of the members of the said company, upon default made in the payment of said assessment shall exist, as are given in and by their said act of incorporation.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall be deemed and taken to be a public act and shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 9, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXXVII.

A Further Supplement to an act entitled "Act concerning evidence" [Revision], approved March twenty-seven, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That all transcripts of returns of deaths, marriages and births made by any physician, clergyman or other person, according to law, to any municipal health or local board of health or any municipality in this state, authorized by law to receive such returns; or transcripts of the record of such return recorded by such board, and made as hereinafter directed, shall be received as legal evidence in any court of law or equity in this state.

2. And be it enacted, That such transcripts shall be a copy of the return as originally made, or a copy of the record thereof as recorded by the clerk or registrar of said board, and shall be signed by said clerk or registrar and by him certified to be a true copy of said return or record, and that thereupon such certified transcript shall be received as prima facie evidence of the matters and facts therein stated.

3. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act be and same are hereby repealed.

Approved March 21, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXXVIII.

An act to amend an act entitled "An act for the better protection of manufacturers and bottlers and dealers in mineral waters, beer, ale, porter and other beverages," approved March eleventh, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the first section of the act of which this is amendatory shall be and is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That all manufacturers of and dealers in mineral water, beer, ale, porter or any other beverage whatever, and also all druggists, producers and bottlers of and dealers in liquors or wines, having or using bottles upon which his, her or their name or names, mark or marks, shall be respectively marked, stamped or impressed, may file in the office of the clerk of the county in which the business of any such manufacturer, dairyman, producer, bottler or dealer is conducted, or in the county wherein the principal office or depot of any such manufacturer, bottler or dealer shall be located doing business in the state for manufacturing or bottling out of this state, a description of such boxes or bottles, and of the name or names, mark or marks thereon, and may cause the same to be published for four weeks successively in a daily, weekly or other newspaper published in said county.

2. Be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 21, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXXIX.

A further supplement to an act entitled "An act to provide for drainage and sewerage in densely-populated townships, in which there is a public water-supply," approved the fourth day of March, anno domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That in any township in which a public water-supply has become or shall hereafter become so dense as to average not less than one thousand inhabitants to the square mile of the territorial area contained in such township, and in which a supply of water for public or domestic use is furnished or shall be furnished from water-works, it shall be lawful for the township committee to provide for drainage, and to cause to be constructed a system of sewerage or of drainage, or both.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 21, 1888.

CHAPTER CXL.

An act to provide for addition to the assembly chamber and the enlarging of the clerk's room of said chamber.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the governor, treasurer, comptroller and attorney-general of this state shall be and they are hereby empowered to enlarge the room now occupied by the clerk of the assembly, and to tear down and rebuild all necessary walls and foundations, and to make such arrangement of the interior as may be convenient, and to expend for said purpose such money as shall be necessary, not exceeding five thousand dollars, which moneys shall be paid on the requisition of the said officers by the state treasurer, on the warrant of the comptroller.

2. And be it enacted, That said work shall be commenced immediately after the final adjournment of the present session and completed before the next session of the legislature.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 21, 1888.

CHAPTER CXXXI.

A supplement to "An act concerning corporations," approved April seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the state of New Jersey, That it shall be lawful for the members of any mutual association or corporation heretofore or hereafter incorporated or organized under or by any law of this state, to provide for and create a capital stock of such association or corporation, upon the consent in writing of all the members of such association or corporation, and to provide for the payment of such stock, and to fix and prescribe the rights and privileges of the stockholders therein.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 21, 1888.

CHAPTER CXLI.

An Act to provide for the payment of a compensation of one hundred dollars to Thomas Kircher, a door-tender of the house of assembly, of the session of one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That there shall be paid by the treasurer of the state, upon the warrant of the comptroller, to Thomas Kircher, the sum of one hundred dollars, for services rendered as door-tender of the general assembly, session of one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven.

Passed March 21, 1888.

CHAPTER CXLVII.

A Further supplement to "An act respecting conveyances" [Revision], approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

Whereas, Commissioners of deeds in and for this state, in some instances, have, through inadvertence or mistakes, contributed to take acknowledgments and proofs of deeds, mortgages and other writings, after their term of office had expired, or after their commissions had become void by reason of removal out of the township, ward or district in which they resided at the time of their appointment, and innocent persons may be subjected to loss or injury thereby; therefore,

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That all acknowledgments and proofs of deeds, mortgages and other writings, taken by commissioners thereof, heretofore taken or made before or by any commissioner of deeds in and for this state, whose term of office had expired, or whose office had been vacated, or whose commission had become void at the time of taking such acknowledgment or proof, and the records of such deeds, mortgages and other writings are hereby confirmed and made valid and legal and effectual to the extent that the same would have been valid legal and effectual if the term of office of the commissioner who took such acknowledgment or proof had not expired, nor his office been vacated, nor his commission become void as aforesaid.

2. And be it enacted, That this act being a public act, shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 22, 1888.

CHAPTER CXLVIII.

An Act to empower certain police officers to take bail in certain cases.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That hereafter whenever any person is arrested for the commission of any offense except intoxication, for which any police justice, recorder or justice of the peace now has power to impose a fine or imprisonment, it shall be lawful for, and shall be the duty of, the sergeant of police or other police officer in charge of any station-house to which any such person may be brought under arrest, for the commission of such offense, to take bail of not less than one hundred dollars, for the appearance of such prisoner before the police justice, recorder or justice of the peace before whom the said prisoner is to be arraigned.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take place immediately.

Approved March 22, 1888.

CHAPTER CXLIX.

Supplement to an act entitled "An act to provide for the better security of life and limb in cases of fire in hotels and other buildings," approved March seventeenth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That all persons owning, leasing or in any manner having charge or control of any hotel or boarding house, or any public school, or other public building, intended for the assembling of any number of persons or any other building in which guests, students, employees or operatives, or any persons whatsoever, do lodge or assemble, shall provide and maintain, or are steadily or casually at work or do congregate, when any such buildings are three or more stories in height, or any such buildings three or more stories in height, occupied by, or built to be occupied by, three or more families above the third story, such owners or lessees, or other person having charge or control of said buildings, shall provide all such buildings with a permanent means of egress or escape therefrom, which shall be so arranged that in case of fire the occupants can be readily reached by the persons occupying the third and higher floors.

2. And be it enacted, That it shall be the duty of the fire inspector or superintendent of buildings or any city, town, borough or township in the state, or the mayor or common council, board of aldermen or other governing board of any city, town, borough or township of this state, by whatever name such municipality may be known, in case there is no fire inspector or superintendent of public buildings in such city, town, borough or township, to designate the number of and kind and manner of the erection of such exits or escapes, to be erected upon any of said buildings, shall give notice in writing to the owner or lessee, or the person having charge or control of such buildings, specifying forth in detail the number and kind of, and the manner in which said external fire escape or escapes is or are to be erected, as required by said fire inspector or superintendent of buildings, or by ordinance of said municipal authorities, or by resolution of said municipal governing boards.

3. And be it enacted, That any violation of this act, or neglect to comply with such notice to put up said fire escape or escapes, within thirty days after said notice is received, shall be deemed a misdemeanor and any person convicted hereof shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three hundred dollars, in the discretion of the court; and any person or corporation failing to comply with the provisions of this act, or to comply with notice for damages in case of death or personal injury sustained by reason of the absence of such exits or fire escape, or in case of fire breaking out in any building upon which there shall be no such effectual fire escape, and such action may be maintained by any person now authorized by law to sue, as in other cases of similar injury.

4. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately, and that all acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed.

Approved March 22, 1888.

CHAPTER CL.

A Supplement to an act entitled "An act for the formation of borough governments in seaside resorts," approved March twenty-ninth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That all boroughs heretofore incorporated under the act to which this is a supplement, embracing within their corporate boundaries an area exceeding two square miles, where there has been held one or more elections for the purpose of electing borough officers, and where the officers so elected have held and exercised their several offices, be and the same are hereby confirmed and declared to be legal and effectual to the extent that the same would have been valid, legal and effectual if it had been legally incorporated.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 22, 1888.

CHAPTER CLIV.

A further supplement to an act entitled "An act for the government and regulation of the state prison," passed April twenty-first, one thousand eight hundred and seventy six.

Whereas, By reason of the great increase in the number of convicts in the state prison, it is found impossible for one moral instructor or teacher, now provided for by law, to fulfil all the requirements of the office; therefore,

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the board of inspectors of the state prison, when in their judgement it shall be necessary, shall be authorized to employ for such time and at such compensation as they shall see fit, a clergyman of good repute and standing to act as additional teacher and moral instructor to the convicts in the said prison; provided that the annual compensation to the moral instructors of the said prison shall not exceed the sum of two thousand dollars.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 23, 1888.

CHAPTER CLV.

An act to authorize and improvement companies having authority to purchase and enjoy a ferry or ferries, to sell and transfer their franchise or franchises of operating a ferry or ferries and the property connected therewith.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That any corporation organized under any law of this state for the purpose of laying out and improving such lands as it is authorized to own or purchase, and having power under its act of incorporation or any supplement thereto, to purchase and enjoy ferry rights, shall have power whenever the directors of such company deem it advisable to separate such ferry rights from the other property and franchises of such company, to sell and transfer its franchise of owning, operating and enjoying a ferry or ferries and all its property, real and personal, connected therewith or appurtenant thereto, to any other corporation organized or to be organized under the laws of this state, authorized by law to transact the business of transporting goods, merchandise or passengers by water, at such price and upon such terms as may be agreed upon by and between the directors of said two corporations, and to receive payment therefore either in money, property or in the capital stock of such purchasing corporation; and after such sale and transfer it shall be lawful for the corporation purchasing such franchise or franchises and the property connected therewith or appurtenant thereto, to possess and enjoy the same as fully in all respects as the corporation selling the same by its charter or any supplement thereto is authorized to enjoy such rights and franchises; provided, however, that this act shall not apply to any corporation unless such corporation shall first and as a condition precedent to the exercise of any power granted by this act, file in the office of the secretary of state an agreement, to be approved by the governor and attorney-general, that all rights of exemption from taxation and from privileges and advantages arising from any law or contract, if any there be, establishing any special mode of taxation of any such corporation, and the further agreement to be bound by any general law of this state now in existence or that may hereafter be passed, taxing such corporations as are now authorized to be taxed by the legislature of the state under any general law, and further agreeing that the exercises of any power granted by this act shall not in any way affect the rights of the state, if any there exist, to take the property of such corporation under any existing law of the state, and agreeing further that all laws affecting such corporations shall be subject to alteration or repeal by the legislature.

[illegible] enacted, That this act shall [illegible] and shall take effect [illegible]

Be it enacted [illegible] the cause [illegible] thereto.

[illegible] ate and General [illegible] New Jersey, [illegible] the board of [illegible] county of this [illegible] authority of municipalities [illegible] charge for [illegible] cross [illegible] toll is charged or exacted, as [illegible] free public bridge, it shall be lawful for said chosen freeholders, by gift or purchase for one dollar or other there nominal consideration, to acquire such bridge; and thereafter said chosen freeholders shall be, and hereafter shall be, fully invested with all the powers of arrest, without warrant, in any place within the state of New Jersey, any boy or boys committed to said school who shall leave the same without first obtaining a legal discharge therefrom and to convey said boy or boys back to said school.

2. And be it enacted, That the said superintendent may, whenever he shall deem it necessary, appoint in writing any of the subordinate officers or employees of said school, not mentioned in the preceding section, as special officers to seek after and to arrest any boy mentioned in the last appointment who may have escaped from said school, which special officers shall have the same powers for the particular case in which they may be appointed as are given in the preceding section to the superintendent, visiting agent and family officers.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 23, 1888.

CHAPTER CLVI.

A Further supplement to an act entitled "An act to provide for the drainage of lands," approved March eighth, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That section one of an act entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide for the drainage of lands,'" approved March eighth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, which supplement was approved March eighth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the board of managers of the geological survey may, and it shall be lawful for said board, at any time to add to, alter or amend any system or plan of drainage for any tract of land which is subject to overflow from freshets, or which is usually in a low, marshy, boggy or wet condition, which said board may have heretofore adopted and filed in the office of the clerk of the supreme court, or which said board shall hereafter adopt and file in the office of the clerk of the supreme court; but such addition, alteration or amendment shall first be submitted by said board to the supreme court of this state and approved by it upon such reasonable notice to the persons interested, by publication in the newspapers or otherwise, as said court shall direct; every such addition, alteration or amendment, after being adopted by said board and approved by said court, shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the supreme court, and thereupon such addition, alteration or amendment shall become and be a part of the system or plan of drainage to which such addition, alteration or amendment relates, and shall be executed by the commissioners appointed by the supreme court, as if such addition, alteration or amendment had been incorporated into and formed a part of the original system or plan.

2. And be it enacted, That any owner of land assessed for drainage under the act to which this is a supplement, who may not be injured by reason of any drift of wood or accumulation of gravel or other substance or obstruction casually produced upon the lands of another in the channel of any ditch, stream or water-course for the conducting of the drainage of the land which his land shall have been assessed, after three days' notice previously given to the owner or occupant of such lands as if they are occupied, and if not occupied, then without such notice, may enter thereon with such assistance as may be necessary, and then and there remove such drift, gravel or other obstruction; but any person so entering shall remain liable as at common law for any injury done to the rights of the owner or occupant of such land which might be avoided in the removal of such obstruction, and shall not remove off of the land upon which such drift or obstruction may be situate, any of the substances composing such drift or other obstruction.

3. And be it enacted, That the chosen freeholders of any county are authorized to cause to be removed from any river or water-course within their county which has been improved under the provisions of the act to which this is a supplement, any drift, timber, gravel-bed or other obstruction (except mill-dams or water works) that may impair the efficiency of any such improvement, whenever in their opinion such removal shall be conducive to the public health, or shall be advisable for the better protection of any county road or bridge, and the expense of such removal shall be a county charge.

4. And be it enacted, That whenever any improvement made under the provisions of the act to which this is a supplement requires to be repaired, or when any water-course or river which has been improved under the provisions of this act shall have become obstructed, any five owners of lands which have been assessed under the provisions of said act, and which shall be injured by such want of repair or obstruction, may apply by petition to the board of geological survey, setting forth a description of the work necessary and desired, with an estimate of the cost to be incurred, whereupon, if the work shall seem to the said board to be of sufficient importance, they shall investigate the application, and in case they shall approve the same shall report to the next term of the supreme court, setting forth what repairs are needed and what obstructions require to be removed, with a survey and plan of the necessary work and with an estimate of the cost thereof, which report shall be considered by said court on such reasonable notice to the persons interested, by publication in the newspapers or otherwise, as said court shall direct; if such plan shall be approved by the court, the said court shall proceed to appoint three commissioners to execute the same who shall proceed to carry it out and to raise money by the issuing of bonds if necessary, and to assess the cost upon the lands benefited by the improvement in proportion to the benefit received, and they shall proceed, in making such improvement and assessment and in the raising of the money therefor, in the manner as the commissioners appointed under this act to make the original improvement, and shall possess all the powers of the commissioners so appointed for the carrying out of said plan.

5. And be it enacted, That it shall be lawful for the commissioners appointed under this act, or under the act to which this is a supplement, with the approval of the board of geological survey, to contract with the owner of any mill-dam or water works for the construction and maintenance by such owner of flood-gates and for the use of the same to carry away the water in times of flood or freshet, and any contract so made shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the supreme court, and shall be enforced from time to time as may be necessary, by the attorney-general at the request and in the name of the board of geological survey, by bill of equity or such other remedy as may be appropriate.

6. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 28, 1888.

CHAPTER CLXV.

A supplement to an act entitled "An act to provide for the assessment and payment of the costs and expenses incurred in constructing sewers and making other improvements in townships and villages," approved April twelfth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the state of New Jersey, That the clerk of the county wherein any improvement is situate, as provided for in the act to which this a supplement, upon receipt of warrant issued by the clerk of said act, shall record the same at length in a separate book provided for the purpose of recording assessments, and shall properly index the same, which book shall be at all times open for public inspection free of charge; and the said clerk shall receive for the said record and entry of every one cent for each name in said assessment, to be paid by said board of commissioners; and it shall be lawful for said clerk, in making searches, on request, for unpaid assessments, to charge ten cents per year for each name so searched against.

2. And be it enacted, That in case said board of commissioners shall desire to have any assessments heretofore made and filed in said clerk's office recorded, it shall be the duty of the clerk to record the same in manner aforesaid in said book of assessments.

3. And be it enacted, That upon payment in full of any assessment made by virtue of the act in which this a supplement, the board of commissioners who shall receive the same shall give to the person paying such assessment a certificate of satisfaction signed by said board or the majority of commissioners and signed by their treasurer, which certificate shall be sufficient evidence of the payment of such assessment, and that upon presentation thereof the clerk of the county wherein said improvement is situate shall satisfy such assessment by making a memorandum of such payment and the date of the same on the margin of the record of said assessment in his office, opposite the name of the person and lot so assessed, and file such certificate in his office, by virtue of which satisfaction so made as aforesaid, the lands and tenements shall thereafter be free, cleared and discharged of and from the lien of said assessment.

4. And be it enacted, That the person paying any assessment as aforesaid, for which a certificate shall be given, shall pay to such board of commissioners the sum of ten cents for each such certificate so made as aforesaid, and also pay to the clerk of the county who shall satisfy said assessment of record, the sum of ten cents.

5. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act be and the same are hereby repealed, and the same are hereby repealed, and this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 23, 1888.

CHAPTER CLXVI.

An Act to provide for the appointment of clerks of the grand jury in certain counties in this state.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That hereafter upon the application of a majority of the board of chosen freeholders it shall be lawful for the court of oyer and terminer in the counties of this state where the business shall require made by law, to appoint a clerk for the grand jury under the seal of the court, who shall hold his office for the term of one year, unless sooner removed by the court, the salary to be fixed by the court, but in no case to exceed the sum of one hundred dollars per year.

2. And be it enacted, That the said salary of the said clerk shall be paid by the collector of the county, quarterly, upon the certificate of the prosecutor of the pleas.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 23, 1888.

CHAPTER CLXVII.

An Act amending "An act for the formation of borough commissions," approved March seventh, eighteen hundred and eighty-two.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That section two of an act entitled "An act for the formation of borough commissions," approved March seventh, eighteen hundred and eighty-two, be amended to read as follows:

2. And be it enacted, That it shall be the duty of the chosen freeholder, or if more than one, then of one of the chosen freeholders of any township in which it is proposed to form a borough under this act, upon presentation to him of a petition for that purpose, setting forth the name and boundaries of the proposed borough, signed by persons owning at least one-half in value of the taxable real estate in the limits of the proposed borough as the same appears upon the assessor's duplicate of the township, to call a special election, to be held at some convenient place within the said proposed borough by notice in writing under his hand, which notice shall contain an accurate description of the name and boundaries of the proposed borough, and state the object of said notice to be to vote for or against the incorporation of the said proposed borough under the provisions of this act, which notice shall be set up at least ten days previous to the said proposed election, in five of the most public places within the said proposed borough limits, and published at least twice in a newspaper printed and published within the said proposed borough limits, if any, or, if none so published, then in a newspaper printed and published in the county wherein said proposed borough is situated.

2. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 23, 1888.

CHAPTER CLXVIII.

An Act to prevent the shooting, trapping or hunting of English hare for the term of three years.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That it shall not be lawful to shoot, trap or hunt with dogs any English hare for the space of three years from the approval of this act.

2. And be it enacted, That any person or persons violating this act shall pay a fine of twenty-five dollars for each offense, or in default of fine, shall be imprisoned for a period not exceeding sixty days, when tried and convicted before any court of competent jurisdiction.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 23, 1888.

CHAPTER CLXIX.

An Act concerning cities, towns and boroughs.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the state of New Jersey, That it shall and may be lawful for the common council, board of aldermen or other governing body of any city, town or borough in which there is now no fire department under the control of such city, town or borough, to order assessed and raised by taxation annually, in the same manner that other taxes in such city, town or borough are required to be assessed and raised, any sum not exceeding one-fifth of one per centum on the total assessed valuation of the taxable property in such city, town or borough, for the maintenance of a fire department; to be under the control and government of such city, town or borough, and no limitation of the amount that may be raised by taxation in any such city, town or borough imposed by any prior law, general or special, by way of percentage or otherwise, shall in anywise be applicable to the taxes hereby authorized, nor shall this act be construed to limit or curtail any power to raise a larger sum that may now be authorized by any existing law.

2. And be it enacted, That to provide or the purchase of suitable lands, houses, apparatus and other property to be used in any such city, town or borough for fire purposes, it shall be lawful for the common council, board of aldermen or other governing body of such city, town or borough to issue bonds to an amount not exceeding the rate of one thousand dollars for each one thousand inhabitants of such city, town, or borough, said bonds to be issued in sums of five hundred dollars or multiples thereof, to be denominated fire department bonds, to be payable not later than ten years from date of issue, to bear interest at not exceeding six per centum per annum, to be signed by the mayor, or, in his absence or inability, by the presiding officer of such city, town or borough, impressed with the seal of such city, town or borough and attested by the clerk thereof, and not to be sold for less than par; provided, that the amount of any and all unpaid bonds of any such city, town or borough heretofore issued under authority of the same for the fire department purposes shall be deducted from the amount hereby authorized, and in such case this act shall be construed to authorize any such city, town or borough to issue further bonds for the excess only after such reduction.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 23, 1888.

CHAPTER CLXX.

A Supplement to an act entitled "An act to provide for licensing boats, jackets and other vehicles, and the owners and drivers thereof, and also huckisters and peddlers of merchandise and provisions, or persons soliciting orders for the same thereof, by incorporated camp-meeting associations, and for other purposes," and also to enable such associations or seaside resorts to prescribe penalties for the violation of any of their ordinances, by laws, rules or regulations," approved March seventeenth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the board of trustees, directors, commissioners or other corporate authorities of any incorporated camp-meeting association or seaside resorts in this state governed by a board of commissioners shall have power within the premises of such camp-meeting or seaside resort, to make, establish, publish and modify, amend or repeal ordinances, rules, regulations and by-laws for licensing and regulating carmen, porters, hack, cab, omnibus, stage and truck owners, and drivers, or owners or drivers of market wagons, garbage wagons, baggage wagons, milk wagons and carriages and vehicles used for the transportation of passengers and merchandise, and boats upon the lakes, and premises of said corporations used for the transportation of passengers, and also hucksters and peddlers of merchandise and provisions, or persons soliciting orders for the same thereof, and to prescribe and construed to require a license from any person or persons selling or exposing for sale produce of their own growing; and to fix the rates of compensation to be paid to them, and to prohibit unlicensed persons and vehicles from acting or being used in such capacities, and to impose a license fee or license fees therefor, and the fees for such license may be imposed for revenue.

2. And be it enacted, That section two of said act be, and the same is hereby amended so that the same shall read as follows:

2. And be it enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the said board of trustees, directors, commissioners or other corporate authorities of any such incorporated

JOSIAH.

Ther' lived a chap whose only aim
Was to be called a flyer;
An empty-headed ass his name
Was, to be brief, Joeler.

He once engaged a maid to cook,
And costly things he'd buy her;
Which she pronounced "delightful sport,"
Which much upset Jo's sire.

For he declared it was a sin
Such costly things to buy her;
"I'll not supply you with the tin,"
Thereat arose Jo's ire.

But useless 'twas to grow enraged
When gifts he did deny her;
She cried, "No longer we're engaged."
His name was then Jo-sigher.

Day after day of love denied,
He ambled sadly by her;
His speeches would the maid deride,
For wealthier Jos-eye-her.

At last one day he took his gun
And cried, "Farewell, Marier!
Ah, ha!" he yelled, "this life is done."
Fliz, bang! O, ho, Jo's-higher!

EARLY RISING.

"God bless the man who first invented sleep!"
So Sancho Panza said, and so say I;
And bless him, also, that he didn't keep
His great discovery to himself; nor try
To make it—as the lucky fellow might—
A close monopoly by patent right!

Yes, bless the man who first invented sleep,
(I really can't avoid the iteration;)
But blast the man, with curses loud and deep,
Whatever the rascal's name, or age, or station,
Who first invented, and went round advising,
That artificial cut-off—early rising!

SUNDAY-SCHOOL LESSON.

THE WONDERFUL PILLAR.

LESSON IX, THIRD QUARTER INTERNATIONAL SERIES, AUG. 26.

Text of the Lesson, Num. ix, 15-23—Commit Verses 15, 16—Golden Text, Ps. xlviii, 3—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Condensed from Lesson Helper Quarterly, by permission of H. S. Hoffman, Philadelphia, publisher.]

This fourth book in the Bible, called the Book of Numbers, tells us in the first chapter of the numbering of the people after they left Egypt, and in the twenty-sixth chapter of the second numbering, thirty-eight years later. At the first numbering there were 603,550 men of war (i, 46); at the second numbering there were 601,730 men of war (xxvi, 51); but in the last numbering there was not a man of them whom Moses and Aaron had numbered at the first, except Caleb and Joshua (xxvi, 64, 65); all the 603,548 had died in the wilderness because of their sin in murmuring against God (xiv, 26-31).

V, 15. "On the day that the tabernacle was reared up." That was on the first day of the first month of the second year; then this cloud which had already proved their guide, their shield and their avenger covered the tabernacle, and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle. (Ex. xl, 17-34.) So also, when the temple was completed, the cloud of glory filled the house. (II Chron. v, 13, 14.) It was a visible manifestation of the presence of God.

"The tent of the testimony," because in it was the ark of the covenant containing the two tables of testimony; the law testifying to the righteousness which God demands, and the blood upon the mercy seat testifying to the salvation from the consequences of a broken law and to the righteousness which God provides.

"Fire, until the morning." To give them light (Ex. xiii, 21). He spread a cloud for a covering, and fire to give them light in the night (Ps. cv, 39). Thus they had continual light, the sun by day and the pillar of fire by night. Jesus said: "I am the light of the world; he that followeth Me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life"

"Until the morning" is an expression that always arrests my attention, since I have been led to live day by day looking for Him, loving His appearing. Then shall be "the light of the morning without clouds," when the upright shall have dominion over the ungodly, and when the joy shall come that ends all weeping, because the morning star has arisen (II Sam. xxiii, 4; Ps. xlix, 14; xxx, 5; Rev. xxii, 16). Are you in sympathy, dear reader? Does your heart say: "My soul waiteth for the Lord more than they that watch for the morning; they that watch for the morning; and in His word do I hope." (Ps. cxxx, 5, 6.)

10. "So it was alway." "Lo! I am with you alway." "He hath said: I will never leave thee nor forsake thee, * * * for He is Jesus Christ the same yesterday and today and forever.

17. "Israel journeyed. * * * Israel pitched their tents." Nothing had Moses or Aaron to say in this matter, the cloud decided all. The soul that now waits upon God sincerely desiring His guidance and His will in all things will surely be guided by His word and His providence as plainly as Israel was by the cloud; only be sincere and be just as willing to stay as to go, or to go as to stay. Be warned by Jer. xlii, xliii; be comforted and established by Ps. xxxii, 8; only dissemble not in your heart.

18. "At the commandment of the Lord." Twice in this verse, twice in verse 20, and thrice times in verse 23, do we find this expression in our lesson: just seven times, signifying a perfect obedience. The same is noticeable in Ex. xl, 19-32, in connection with the erection of the Tabernacle. "If ye love me, keep my commandments;" "if ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love;" "this is my commandment, that ye love one another" (John xiv, 15; xv, 10, 12); see some of the words of Him who was in all things the perfectly obedient one. If we would know the joy and comfort of the spirit dwelling in us, we must be cheerfully willing and obedient; as Jesus said that He came not to do His own will, nor seek His own glory (John vi, 38; viii, 50), we must be able in some measure to say the same if we have His spirit dwelling in us.

19. "When the cloud tarried long." If it was a very pleasant place, an Elim and not a Marah (Ex. xv, 23-25), we may suppose they would be content to tarry as long as God pleased; but if the surroundings were not agreeable, how trying it must have been to tarry long in such a place. We often think we are content with the will of God and even take delight in it, but He who reads the heart proves to us, by some change of circumstances or by asking us to tarry long in unpleasant surroundings, that self is still unsubdued in us.

20, 21, 22. "When the cloud was a few days, * * * from evening unto the morning; * * * two days or a month or a year." How uncertain of the future, how dependent upon God, how impossible to make plans for the morrow! And yet are not we taught that we can only go here or there, and do this or that "if the Lord will?" Jas. iv, 15. Fancy a visit to the camp of Israel and an introduction to Moses, the great leader of the Lord's hosts. We ask him, how long do you propose remaining at this encampment? With eyes turning toward the pillar of cloud he replies, I know not. Which way will you journey when you do leave here? With eyes still fixed upon the cloud come the same reply, I know not. Where will your next camping ground be? and again the same meek reply, I know not. And yet you, Moses, are leader of this great host! No, not I, but Jehovah, who dwelleth among us in the Tabernacle, and whose glory you see in the cloud. He redeemed this people, He careth for them, He will lead us to the promised inheritance, and we have only to trust and obey Him.

Rather too lame a life for the busy man of today; but what will you, O busy and self confident one, do with this command? "Acknowledge Him in all thy ways, * * * lean not unto thine own understanding." Prov. iii, 5, 6.

Reserve Force of Middle Age.

We—at least persons who have passed middle age—have only a certain amount of reserve force, and all that we draw upon in hurries is abstracted from that which should be distributed through the remainder of life. The secret of longevity is probably skill in so economizing the reserve of vital energy as to make it last out an unusual period. Persons who begin unusual exercise in youth may adapt their constitutions to the habit, and may thereby hold on to their full term of life; but this cannot be done safely if one waits till mature age before beginning.—Public Opinion.

An ingenious New York truck driver has taught his terrier to ride horseback, in order to guard the team and prevent any familiarities with the horses. A piece of carpet is thrown over the horse's back, so that the small dog may secure better footing, and the rider balances himself well and seems to enjoy his ride.

LAWS OF NEW JERSEY.

[BY AUTHORITY.]

CHAPTER CLXXX.

A Further Supplement to an act entitled "An act for the formation of borough governments," approved April fifth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That section one of the act entitled "A further supplement to 'An act for the formation of borough governments,'" approved April fifth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight, which further supplement was approved April first, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the mayor and council of boroughs organized under the act to which this is a further supplement, shall have power and authority by ordinance to lay out, open, extend, alter, widen, straighten and vacate streets, roads avenues and highways, whether the same be dedicated or otherwise obtained to and for public use, and also to grade, pave, gravel, macadamize or otherwise improve any street, road, avenue, public square or place within the borough; and when for either of the objects or purposes aforesaid it is necessary to take undedicated lands, then to treat with the owner or owners of the lands so to be taken and pay for the same such compensation as may be just and right; and if the mayor and council are unable to agree with such owner or owners, or by reason of legal incapacity, or the absence of any of such owners, no agreement can be made with them, then commissioners, appointed as hereinafter provided, shall estimate and fix the damages such owners will sustain; provided, however, that application in writing, describing the nature, kind and extent of the work or improvement desired, signed by the owners of at least one-quarter of the lineal feet of land fronting on the street, avenue, road or highway so proposed to be opened, laid out, extended, altered, widened, straightened, vacated, graded, paved, gravaled, macadamized or otherwise improved, be first presented to the mayor and council.

2. And be it enacted, That the legal voters of the boroughs organized under the act to which this is a further supplement, shall at each annual election for mayor and councilmen elect an assessor and collector of taxes for the borough; provided, that an assessor and collector shall be elected at the ensuing annual election in March, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight, in case this act takes effect in time to allow the borough clerk to give public notice that such officers are to be elected thereat, at least five days before such annual election.

3. And be it enacted, That the term of office of such assessor and collector shall commence on the first day of May after such election and continue for the period of one year thereafter.

4. And be it enacted, That the said assessor shall be a member of the county board of assessors and shall possess the same duties as assessors of the several townships of this state, and he shall, on or before the third Tuesday of August in each year, deliver the duplicate of such assessment to the mayor and council for revision, addition and correction, as provided by law.

5. And be it enacted, That the said collector shall possess and perform all the powers and duties of the collectors of the several townships in this state, and in addition thereto he shall collect, have, hold and receive all moneys assessed or raised by taxation or assessment for any and all purposes within the borough and also all fees for license, fines, penalties and other moneys in any way belonging to the borough, and which said taxes, assessments and moneys of any kind and nature, except only school moneys, shall be held by said collector and be paid out by him only upon the warrant of the mayor and council, signed by the mayor attested by the borough clerk with the corporate seal affixed, which said warrant shall, among other things, state the fund against which drawn, and be dated the day upon which the same was ordered issued by the mayor and council; provided, however, that it shall not be lawful for the mayor and council to order warrants drawn on the collector except at a regular meeting or an adjourned regular meeting, and that all meetings of the mayor and council shall be held within the borough.

6. And be it enacted, That the said assessor and collector shall receive such yearly compensation for their services as the mayor and council shall by ordinance fix and determine, and which compensation shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which such officer was appointed.

7. And be it enacted, That vacancies in either of said offices shall be filled for the unexpired term only.

8. And be it enacted, That the collector shall give such bonds or other security for the faithful performance of his duties as the mayor and council shall require.

9. And be it enacted, That the said assessor and collector shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, take and subscribe an oath to well, truly and faithfully discharge and peform the duties of their offices, which oath shall be filed in the borough clerk's office.

10. And be it enacted, That the assessor shall assess all bonds and real estate by streets, and he shall not lump together separate tracts or parcels of land belonging to the same individual or corporation.

11. And be it enacted, That the said collector shall keep in his office in a book provided for the purpose, an alphabetical list of the names of the taxpayers within the borough, together with their postoffice addresses, so far as he can ascertain the same.

12. And be it enacted, That the mayor and council shall have power and authority to issue borough bonds for the following purposes, to wit: Macadamizing streets, roads and avedues; building borough hall, fire engine houses; laying and constructing sewers and water-works; provided, however, that before any such bonds shall be issued, a petition requesting the issue of such bonds, specifying the amount to be issued and the purposes for which they are to be used, shall be presented to the mayor and council at a regular meeting thereof, signed by at least one-fourth of the legal voters within the borough; and the mayor and council shall, upon receipt of said petition, fix a time and place for the consideration thereof, and for hearing arguments and allegations for and against the issuing of such bonds, which shall not be less than twenty days after its receipt, and shall cause the borough clerk to give notice thereof by publication in the papers printed and published in the borough, and by posters set up in at least ten public places within the borough, one of which shall be at the postoffice therein; and in case, after such consideration and hearing, the mayor and council shall determine that it shall be expedient to issue said bonds, then said mayor and council shall cause a resolution specifying the amount to bonds to be issued, as the object for which they are to be used, to be submitted to the legal voters of the borough, by causing said resolution to be written or printed on ballots, underneath which shall be written or printed "for the above resolution," or "against the above resolution," which vote may be taken at the annual election or a special election to be called by the mayor and council for that purpose; provided, in case the said resolution be submitted at the annual election, such resolution and said underwriting or printing may be written or printing may on the ballots used at each election, but if at a special election then the ballots shall contain only such resolution and underwriting or printing.

13. And be it enacted, That the mayor and council shall cause the clerk of the borough to give at least twenty days' notice of any such special election, specifying the time, place and object of such election, which notice shall be given in same manner as notice of the annual election is given; and the result of such election shall be certified in the same way and manner as the result of the annual election.

14. And be it enacted, That in case a majority of the voters cast shall be in favor of the issuing os such bonds, the mayor and council shall issue such bonds and use the same or the proceeds thereof for the purposes expressed in the resolution; provided, however, that no bonds shall be sold or otherwise disposed of under par; and further provided, however, that the amount of bonds and improvement certificates of every name issued shall never exceed, in the aggregate, ten per centum of the assessed valuation of real and personal property within the borough.

15. And be it enacted, That there shall be apportioned to the borough by the proper officers its just proportion of the state and county taxes to be raised therein, and the same shall be paid to the county collector by the borough collector under warrant of the mayor and council.

16. And be it enacted, That all taxes shall be and become payable on the twentieth day of December, in each year, and that in case any taxes so excessed or levied upon or on account of any real estate, shall be and remain unpaid and in arrear for the space of six months after the said twentieth day of December, then and in that case it shall be the duty of the mayor and council to proceed to collect the same by issuing their warrant to the borough collector for the sale of lands or real estate on account of which such taxes were so levied and assessed, in the same manner and to the same effect, in all things, as provided in and by an act entitled "A further act concerning taxes, making the same a first lein on real estate, and to authorize sales for the payment of the same," approved March fourteenth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine, and the several supplements thereto.

17. And be it enacted, That any person or persons paying his, her or their taxes after the tax duplicate shall have been delived to the collector of taxes and prior to the twentieth day of December, in the year when same becomes due and payable, shall be allowed a discount at and after the rate of six per cent. per annum from date of such payment to the aforesaid twentieth day of December.

18. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts, both general and special, inconsistent with the provisions of this act, be and the same are hereby repealed, and that this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 23, 1888.

CHAPTER CLXXXI.

An act for the incorporation of associations to encourage the purchase of homes and to facilitate the payments therefor.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That any number of persons not less than seven may associate themselves together for the purpose of enabling occupants of lands and other persons, to purchase the land or to borrow money thereon of said association by mortgage or otherwise, on the terms and conditions and subject to the liabilities prescribed in this act: the aggregate amount of the capital stock of any such company shall not be less than one hundred thousand dollars, the whole amount of which as fixed, shall be subscribed for, and fifty per centum thereof actually paid in, before such company shall commence business.

2 And be it enacted, That the persons so associating shall, under their hands and seals, make a certificate which shall specify the following matters:

I. The name they have assumed to designate such company, and to be used in its business and dealings;

II. The amount of the capital stock as fixed by them, and the number and par value of the shares;

III. The names and residences of the shareholders, and the number of shares held by each;

IV. The period at which said company shall commence and terminate; which certificate shall be acknowledged or proved as required of deeds of real estate, and recorded in the office of the secretary of state, and upon being so recorded said association shall be a body corporate, entitled to all the rights and privileges, and subject to all the liabilities as such under the laws of this state; and said certificate or a copy thereof duly certified by said secretary of state shall be evidence in all courts and places.

3. And be it enacted, That any association created under this act shall have full power and lawful authority to lend money and to secure the payment thereof and of interest thereon, in monthly or other periodical instalments extending over any number of months that may be agreed upon, giving credit at the end of every year during the existence of a loan, for all payments made and received on account of the principal; and interest shall be chargeable on the amount of such principal remaining unpaid at the beginning of such year at the legal rate per annum, but shall be payable monthly, or at such other periods as may be agreed on, and no interest received from any borrower by reason of such payments shall be deemed or taken to be usurious; provided, that the excess shall in no case be greater than three-quarters of one per centum per annum.

4. And be it enacted, That any association created under this act shall have the further lawful power and authority to undertake, for a consideration and upon terms to be agreed upon by the parties, to call the indebtedness of the borrower and to surrender all evidence thereof in case the borrower shall die before he or she shall have paid his or her indebtedness in full; provided, that the instalment of principal that would have fallen due next after the day of the death of the borrower, and all other charges due, by agreement, between the parties, shall be first paid in full to the leader by the personal representatives of the decedent.

5. And be it enacted, That the business of said association shall be conducted by a board of directors of not less than seven in number, who shall be stockholders, and shall be elected annually, at a stockholder's meeting to be provided for in the by-laws of the association, and the board of directors shall elect from their number a president, and shall provide for the election and appointment of such officers and agents as may be necessary.

6. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 23, 1888.

CHAPTER CLXXXII.

An act to provide for the purchase of sites for the erection and equipment of armories in cities of the first and second class, and making appropriations therefor, and to provide for the taking of real estate for such sites by commission in case the same cannot be purchased by agreement.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the members of the military board of the state of New Jersey for the time being, be and they are hereby appointed and constituted a commission for the purpose of this act, to select and purchase, on behalf and in the name of the state of New Jersey, a plot of ground in each of such cities in the state, of the first and second class where there are now or hereafter shall be established regimental or battalion headquarters of the national guard, suitable for the purpose of an armory, and if such lands or any part of them shall be obtained by agreement with the owner or owners thereof, said commission shall acquire the title thereto by the exercise of the right of eminent domain in proceedings duly taken and had under and in accordance with the provisions hereafter specified.

2. And be it enacted, That in case the said commission shall not be able to agree with the owner or owners of any site they may select, or in case the owner or owners of such site be non compos mentis, or be under age, or not to be found, in either of such cases the said commission shall be authorized to apply to any justice of the supreme court, setting forth the facts in the case, and said justice is hereby authorized to empower the commission to proceed to take such site or sites by condemnation, under such rules as he may prescribe, and said commission shall thereupon proceed to estimate the just and true value of the property desired to be taken for such site, and the damages, if any, to be suffered by the owner and owners thereof by reason of such taking, and shall make a report thereof, under oath, to the justice aforesaid, who shall fix a short day when he will hear any objections to such report, of which due notice shall be given to the parties in interest in such manner as the justice shall direct, and on said day or on such other day as he may fix, the said justice shall proceed to hear any objections to such report, by parties in interest in the property proposed to be taken, and he shall then confirm said reports, or send it back to the said commission for correction or alteration, and shall fix some other short day when he will again receive the report of the commission, when the same proceeding shall be taken as before, and when the report of the commission shall have been confirmed by said justice it shall be filed in the office of the clerk or register of the county, and the said commission shall thereupon have full power to enter upon the lands and premises in question, and to take possession of the same in the name of the state of New Jersey, first making tender to the owner or owners thereof of the amount awarded therefor, or in case the owner or owners be under age, or non compos mentus, or not to be found, or absent from the state, then by filing in the office of the comptroller of the treasury of the state a certificate, setting forth the sum or sums to which any such owner is or may be entitled to receive for such lands and premises.

3. And be it enacted, That the county collector in any county in which any such city is located, whenever a written notice shall be served upon him by the aforesaid commission, stating that lands have been contracted for or purchased, or the title thereto has been acquired as above directed, shall forthwith notify the board of chosen freeholders of such county of the action of the commission, and the said board of chosen freeholders shall set apart for the use of the said commission out of any moneys in the county treasury the amount stated in said notice as required by said commission; and in case the said board of chosen freeholders shall not have moneys enough on hand to meet such appropriation, then it shall be the duty of such board to issue bonds in an amount sufficient to meet such appropriation, at a rate of interest not exceeding four per centum per annum, and payable in whole or in part in not more than fifteen years from the date thereof, and to advertise for proposals to sell the said bonds to the highest bidder for an amount not less than the par value thereof; the said moneys when so appropriated, or proceeds of the sale of such bonds, shall be retained by the said county collector, and shall be by him paid out upon the written requisition of the aforesaid commission, by which it shall be applied to the payment of the amount of the purchase price or cost of said land and any damage for awards or compensation which may be made under the proceedings to acquire said title and the cost and expenses of acquiring said title, and the grading, filling, excavating, draining, paving and fencing of said lands, and the interior completion and also the equipping and furnishing of said armories, drill rooms, company rooms and store rooms when built, and any expenses incident to the carrying out of the provisions of this act, the entire cost of which in each city shall not in the aggregate exceed the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars.

4. And be it enacted, That whenever the lands above mentioned shall be purchased or the title thereto shall have been acquired in the manner aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the said commission forthwith to proceed to obtain, by competition or otherwise, plans and specifications for the construction of a suitable armory, drill rooms and store rooms, including suitable apparatus for heating and lighting the same, the entire cost of which said armory, drill rooms, company rooms and store rooms, in each city, and the apparatus for heating and lighting the same, shall not in the aggregate exceed the sum of seventy thousand dollars, which sum is hereby appropriated for that purpose for each city in which such armory shall be erected; and the comptroller is directed from time to time to pay the same, or as much thereof as may be necessary for the aforesaid purpose, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, on the written requisition of the said commission; but no expenditures except for plans and specifications and for printing notices shall be made as provided in this section, until the title to a suitable site for such armory in such cities respectively, free from all incumbrances, certified by the attorney general to be sufficient and in due form, shall be vested in the state of New Jersey, nor until a contract or contracts for the completion of such armory, drill rooms, company rooms and store rooms and necessary fixtures within the limits of this appropriation shall have been executed as herein provided.

5. And be it enacted, That when said commission shall have procured suitable plans for an army to be erected on such site, and shall cause such armory to be erected, with suitable drill room, company rooms, store rooms and all other necessary and proper appurtenances for the best accommodation of the national guard of such city, and shall cause the grounds to be suitably graded, drained and otherwise prepared for such armory.

6. And be it enacted, That the work afore said shall be done by contract, to be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder or bidders, after not less than two weeks' public notice of the time and place when and where bids therefor will be received, at which time the bids shall be publicly opened, but the commission may reject any or all of the bids and advertise anew for bids; and the commission shall prescribe in the advertisements and in the contracts to be entered into for the erection of such armories or doing any work pertaining thereto, such conditions as they shall deem most for the interest of the state.

7. And be it enacted, That said commission shall have power to employ proper and capable persons to superintend the erection of any such armory as aforesaid, and such clerical and other aid as they may need in the performance of the duties herein imposed on them.

8. And be it enacted, That for the payment of any expenditure herein authorized the comptroller of the treasury shall draw his warrant on the state treasury, and the state treasurer shall pay the same from time to time as the said commission shall certify to the comptroller to be necessary, and to such persons as they may designate, but not more than one hundred thousand dollars shall be drawn from the state treasury in any one year for the purposes aforesaid.

9. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 23, 1888.

Luxuriant Hair
Can only be preserved by keeping the scalp clean, cool, and free from dandruff, and the gray in a healthful condition. The great popularity of Ayer's Hair Vigor is due to the fact that it cleanses the scalp, promotes the growth of the hair, prevents it from falling out, and gives it that soft and silky gloss so essential to perfect beauty.
Frederick Hardy, of Roxbury, Mass., a gentleman fifty years of age, was fast losing his hair, and what remained was growing gray. After trying various dressings with no effect, he commenced the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "It stopped the falling out," he writes; "and, to my great surprise, converted my white hair (without staining the scalp) to the same shade of brown it had when I was 25 years of age."
Ten Years Younger.
Mrs. Mary Montgomery, of Boston, writes: "For years, I was compelled to wear a dress cap to conceal a bald spot on the crown of my head; but now I gladly lay the cap aside, for your Hair Vigor is bringing out a new growth. I could hardly trust my senses when I first found my hair growing; but there it is, and I am delighted. I look ten years younger."
A similar result attended the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor by Mrs. O. O. Prescott, of Charlestown, Mass., Miss Bessie H. Bedloe, of Burlington, Vt., Mrs. J. J. Burton, of Bangor, Me., and numerous others.
The loss of hair may be owing to impurity of the blood or derangement of the stomach and liver, in which case, a course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla or of Ayer's Pills, in connection with the Vigor, may be necessary to give health and tone to all the functions of the body. At the same time, it cannot be too strongly urged that none of these remedies can do much good without a persevering trial and strict attention to cleanly and temperate habits.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by Druggists and Perfumers.

ESTEY
SAVE MONEY
by purchasing the best Piano. Do not decide what make to get until you have investigated the claims that are made for the Estey Piano. The patent repeating action used in these pianos makes them superior to all others, but besides this there are many other improvements that are not found in other makes. The immense business now being done in these pianos all over the world, and the surprising increase in the demand for them proves that there is something in their construction that is worthy of investigation. HIRE'S
IMPROVED ROOT BEER
PACKAGES.
PACKAGE MAKES FIVE GALLONS, 25 CENTS.

This preparation has steadily grown in public favor during the past ten years, unti to-day it is used in every part of the United States and Canada, and a portion of the old world. Its popularity and wide-spread sales have induced many imitations to appear in the market. The manufacturers thereof, regardless of any merit their article may have, hope to share some of the success and profit on the reputation of Hires' Improved Root Beer Packages that we have so extensively advertised.
The tons of roots, barks and berries, which are collected in the season of their full development, that enter annually the composition of Hires' Improved Root Beer, have alone by their intrinsic valve given it national distinction and fame.
The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nearly adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of women's peculiar maladies.
"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription" is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the most aggravated and obstinate cases which would afford their skill, prove it to be the most potent remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect specific for woman's peculiar ail

The storm Tuesday night prevented a meeting of the Common Council.

The annual press dinner will take place on the Waverly Fair Grounds, next Wednesday at 1:30 p. m.

The front of Hermes' new building, on Cherry street, is an excellent imitation of brick, with stone trimmings.

Remember the picnic of Independence Hook and Ladder Co No. 1, at Eckert's Grove, on Saturday, Sept. 1st.

The German Presbyterian Sunday School turned out in full numbers and had a fine time at their picnic at Boynton Beach, on Monday

Mr. Charles Avery has been putting steam pipes and radiators through his building, including dwelling and store, on Cherry street.

Mr. Frank Holiday has had so many requests to sprinkle different streets that he has been compelled to put on another sprinkling cart, with a single horse.

Tax Receiver Brown, through his deputies, is stirring up the delinquent taxpayers quite lively and considerable of long standing personal taxes is being collected.

Mr. J. Frank Ellis, one of our old and well known citizens, died about 5 o'clock on Wednesday morning. He had been troubled for some time with a paralytic affection.

The Asbury Park Spray, of Tuesday, has the following: Dr. Fred. W. Oliver, a physician and druggist of Rahway, and prominent young society man, again stopped at the West End.

The annual reunion of the survivors of the old 14th N. J. Vols., will be held this year at Asbury Park, on Sept. 19th. They will be the guests of C. K. Hall Post G. A. R., and the occasion will no doubt be a pleasant one.

The Arion Society, of Newark, (with a membership of 700), the crack singing organization of the state, is going to Highland Beach, the new excursion resort, on the 26th. There will be music in that vicinity about that time.

We have received a number of papers from our former merchant-townsman, Alex. Shevits, who is now at San Rafael, Cal., and from cards enclosed we learn that he is proprietor of boot and shoe and furnishing goods store there.

A number of young men had some difficulty at the residence of Jacob Davis, the junkman, last Thursday night, and Davis made a complaint against them for assault and battery. Two of them, it is said, became alarmed and left the city.

One of the most violent rainstorms for years raged in this section Tuesday afternoon and night. A large quantity of water fell, and the streets were flooded for a time in the evening. The weather commenced clearing shortly after midnight.

Carriage makers will find matters of peculiar interest in Mr. Rayner's letter to day. It shows how high protection taxes them, restricts their sales and confines their business. Free raw materials means, "more men wanted," more comfort in the family, and more money in the pocket.

The clerks at the grocery stores report a large sale of Tulip soap.

Mr. Henry Helms, for some time engaged with John Fetter, as a butcher, died on Tuesday, of typhoid pneumonia, aged 23 years.

A case of small pox is reported in East Rahway—a child—and the health authorities have taken all precautions against a spreading of the disease.

A nine of ball players of this city accompanied the excursion to Asbury Park on Wednesday and were defeated 6 to 4 by the club of that place. A previous game resulted in favor of the Rahway players, and a third contest is being arranged for, we understand.

The funeral of Mary E., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Coffey, of East Rahway, which took place on Tuesday morning, was very largely attended. She was a very bright and amiable little girl, and very popular among her schoolmates at the Washington School.

"The Babies on Our Block." There were more accessions to the Democratic party on Tuesday night, in this city. Three boys "first saw the light," on Main street—one at Michael Whelan's, No. 96, one at Mr. O'Reilley's, No. 98, and one at Prof. Corrado's, at No. 80. These "infant industries" will have to be "protected," but they do not require a war tariff! A tariff for revenue will be all that is necessary for them.

Friday of this week is "Governor's Day" at the camp at Sea Girt, and many from this vicinity will no doubt want to visit the camp on that day. A good opportunity is offered by the excursion of Lincoln Post G. A. R., of Newark, which is advertised in another column, and which will stop for passengers in this city.

Ex.Surrogate James J. Gerber was married to Miss Alice A. Buzby at the residence of the bride's parents, Elizabeth, last Thursday evening. The wedding was private, and the happy couple started on their wedding tour with the kindest wishes and congratulations of their hosts of friends. Many handsome presents were received.

Lawyer L. B. Treadwell, who recently went with his family, from this city to Westchester county, N. Y., to spend the summer, with some idea of not returning, like nearly all others who once live here, has decided to return, his family having become attached to this city, he has taken the Underhill house, in East Rahway, from the 1st of September.

We dropped in at Capt. Charles A. Young's pleasant Hotel Belvedere, Asbury Park, Saturday night, and found him busy attending to his numerous guests. His house was completely filled, and he had to refuse about fifty applicants that evening. Among those domiciled with him we noticed ex-Councilman McKenzie and family, Miss Ludlam and Master Waldo Berry.

Drake's Veteran Zouaves will have a grand dress parade and drill at Boynton Beach, Friday afternoon and evening of this week. They will fire their gatling gun at the rate of 1,000 shots a minute, and there will be music and dancing. The Zouaves will parade though Rahway, on the way to the Beach in the afternoon—"dismounting" from the wagons at Lambert's hotel. They will no doubt have a pleasant time and attract many visitors to the Beach. Tickets of admission will be 50 cents.

Mrs. Harriet Woodbury, widow of Wm Woodbury, of Augusta, Ga., died last week in her 83d year. Mrs. Woodbury was a resident of Westfield for more than a quarter of a century. She was identified with the benevolent enterprises of the town and a member of the Presbyterian church. She was a lady of the old school—courteous and benevolent to friends and strangers and a most devoted mother and grandmother. She died at the residence of her son-in-law, ex-Surrogate Addison S. Clark.

The North American Caledonian Association will meet at Albany, N. Y., August 30th, continuing until September 2d. For the benefit of visitors the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets from Philadelphia to Albany, August 28th and 29th, good to return until Sept. 4th, $6.50 for the round trip. On the occasion of the unveiling of the Burns Statue excursion tickets will be sold August 29th and 30th, good to return until 30th, at $5.85. Round trip tickets will be sold from Trenton, New Branswick, Rahway, Elizabeth, and Newark on same dates at corresponding low rates

During the heavy fall of rain last Tuesday, a party of four young men sitting in a store on Cherry street, heard a whistle that apparently came from one of our factories. It was a long continued sound and finally one of the young men contended that there was a fire somewhere, and started out to look for it, while he was endeavoring to locate it, the others were divided in opinion as to whether it was really a fire, or the new whistle on the Johnson Signal Co's Works. Finally, after all their theories were exploded, one of the party who had been watching about the premises found the whistle (?) It was the water faucet!

The Sunday School of the 2d M. E. church had a fine day for its excursion to the seashore on Wednesday, though the great storm which extended well into the night before, no doubt caused many to give out going, who had not time to prepare when the pleasant weather appeared Wednesday morning. There were about ten car loads of the excursionists and all had a pleasant time—except some of the ladies lost their pocket books, and think there was a pickpocket somewhere. We understand all expenses were covered, and considerable surplus realized, which makes it the only excursion of the season that has been so fortunate.

CAMP GREEN.—The 2d Brigade N. G N. J., to which is attached the 3d regiment, including Co. F of this city, went into camp at Sea Girt on Saturday, and all hands are having this week the varied experience of camp life, the unpleasant heavy rains especially making a not very enjoyable condition. There has been considerable slight sickness, and we notice that Corporal Fred. Pierson had to be taken to the hospital on Tuesday. Friday is "Governor's Day," and there will no doubt be a large crowd in camp. A reception is to be held in the evening at the hotel, to which Gov. Hill, of New York and Gov. Beaver, of Pennsylvania, have been invited.

Paymaster Compton, of this city has been designated as general Quartermaster during the encampment, and has his hands full.

The troops will break camp on Saturday.

Several soap drummers were in town last week, but they all left disgusted, for, as one of them remarked, "you can't sell anything in this town but Tulip soap."

MORE PENSIONS AND BOUNTY.—A gentleman representing Milo B. Stevens & Co., can be seen during day and evening at the Sheridan House, Elizabeth, Friday, Aug. 24th; City Hotel, Plainfield, Saturday 25th; McCormick's Hotel, New Brunswick, Tuesday 28th; Rahway House, Rahway, Wednesday 29th, and Hotel Central, Perth Amboy, Thursday 30th, by persons desiring information concerning pensions, bounties, etc., or having claims which they may desire to have prosecuted by said attorneys. aug-17-2w

"It is just splendid for flannels," says a Rahway lady, speaking of Tulip soap.

White man, sometimes, "am mighty uncertain," so is the installment business. It is said that in Orange, some parties went to Europe, and left their keys with their very, very, kind next door neighbors, who not only offered to take charge of the keys, but very obligingly volunteered to open the house and air it and clean it up once in a while. The parties of the first part made their trip, had a jolly good time of it, and a week previous to starting home, received a very polite letter from the parties of the second part with the keys enclosed, stating that they were going to Sweden on a pleasure trip and would start a week sooner than they expected to, therefore they forwarded the keys, hoping they had enjoyed themselves and assured them that they would find the house thoroughly "cleaned out on the return." When the parties of the first part reached their home they were astonished to see that the landlord had placed a sign upon the building, "For sale or to Let." No sooner had they crossed the threshold than the story was told. All was gone! The kind neighbors of the second part had informed the landlord that the parties of the first part had concluded to extend their tour, and ordered the party of the second party to move all of his goods to his former residence in New York, also to say that when he returned from his trip he would settle for the balance of the year's lease. The parties being first-class, it was supposed to be all right. These kind neighbors had left lots of fine furniture in the adjoining house, but there was no consolation from this, as it had been bought on the installment plan, and the furniture dealer was then carting it back to his store, with the happy thought of getting it back, with wear and tear and cartage out!

At an informal meeting of the Vestry of St. Paul's church, Rahway, held at the office of E. B. McGuckin on Saturday evening, August 18, 1888, the Rector, Rev. Levi W. Norton having announced the death of Lewis Drake, M. D., the venerable Senior Warden of the Parish, the following minute was unanimously adopted by the Vestry and ordered to the records of the Parish:

WHEREAS, God in his wise providence has taken from our midst at a ripe old age, the loving, gentle, thoughtful christian friend, the long time Senior Warden of this Parish, LEWIS DRAKE, M. D., the only living link which bound this Vestry continuously from its first organization in 1836, we his associates, do bow in submission to God's will, looking upward in faith to a glad reunion in the general resurrection in the life of the world to come.

Resolved, That we will attend his funeral in a body and cherish his memory, as a devout, prayerful church-going christian man.

Resolved, That we tender our deep, true sympathies to the surviving member of his family, and relatives, and commend them to the loving watch care of God who never fails those who put their trust in him.

Attest: E. B. McGUCKIN,
Secretary Vestry.

THE FRIENDS' CENTENNIAL.—The centennial of the old Quaker church in Plainfield was celebrated on Monday, according to the programme published in our last, there being many old members of the society present, not only from this section, but from a distance. Judge Nathan Harper presided and opened the exercises by reading an interesting history of the old church, on Peace street. In the front of the building is an ancient date board bearing the figures 1788. The sides of the building are shingled, but have received a coat of modernizing paint recently. Within no other frescoes than those of time have ever adorned the braces, joists and doors, and the same old board seats, upon which the dedicators sat one hundred years ago, are there, but few of the friends who crowded the little primitive building were the plain, rich, but quaint costume of the sect, although the dressing was simple and Quaker like. Without, in a three-acre lot that surrounded the meeting house, were mounds with low headstones more than a century old. Judge Harper in his sketch said, among other things, that the society was organized in 1721, but it did not build this house until 1788. It is the oldest building of any sort standing in Plainfield.

THE WESTFIELD MURDER.

Circumstances make it look pretty dark for Baldwin who was arrested on suspicion for the murder of Miller. Last week a statement of some citizens was published, setting forth that Baldwin had confessed to them that he had burned Miller's satchel, which was left in the barn where Baldwin worked, but he endeavored to make it appear that he had done so for fear he would be suspected. Since then, however, officers Keron and Marsh have made further investigation and found the remnants of the satchel in a closet near the town hall. The leather portions had been apparently cut away and the frame bent together. Baldwin was informed by the officers where the satchel had been found and he acknowledged throwing it there. Those who have not believed that he could be guilty begin to have doubts as to his innocence now.

Saturday last was a great day at Florida Grove. The grounds were crowded by visitors from Rahway, Elizabeth, Amboy, Woodbridge, Bound Brook, New Brunswick, Plainfield and the surrounding country. Down on the river the fishers fished, and the crabbers crabbed, and the bathers gamboled in the sand. Up on the bluff there were sweat-boards and fortune-wheels and thimble-riggers galore to tempt the humble sixpence of the guileless rustics; while the merry-go-round, and the beer jerkers, and the ice cream venders, and the tin-type man did a rushing business. Over in the dancing pavilion there were many graceful dancers, excellent music and a genial floor manager. The lunch tables were covered with the substantial contents of picnic baskets, and the way the good things disappeared was a sight to behold. Everybody was good-humored and inclined to make the various attractions "a source of innocent merriment." Truly, it was a great day for Florida.

The machinery is in operation in the building already erected by the Johnson Railroad Signal Co., and other buildings will soon be put up to answer the requirements. Dwellings will also be needed for the mechanics, in that vicinity, and Mr. Johnson says a dozen or so will be speedily wanted. Some of our citizens have signified a willingness to form an association to join with the Forest Park Co., to erect a number of suitable dwellings in eligible locations, and it has been suggested that certificates of $500 be issued to raise a capital stock of $12,000 or $15,000 to erect ten or a dozen of such dwellings, which will doubtless be a seven or eight per cent. investment. Any one desiring to take some shares in such an enterprise can consult with either Jos. T. Mead, E. S. Savage, or the editor of this paper.

THEIR BUSINESS BOOMING.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at Brown & Smith's drug store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases, quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted.

FUNERAL OF DR. LEWIS DRAKE.

The obsequies of the venerable physician Dr. Lewis Drake, whose death we noted last week, took place on Sunday afternoon, the services being held at St. Paul's church, where for so many years the deceased worshipped. Prior to the services at the church the remains of the deceased were viewed by many of our citizens at his late residence, and between the hours of three and four there was a continuous line of those who for the last time wished to look upon all that was mortal of Dr. Drake. Brief services were held at the house, and at 5 P. M., the pall bearers, Messrs. Thomas M. Martin, Henry Simmons, Sr., Philip E. Tufts, Isaac Vanduzen, Edmond B. McGuckin and Lawrence J Keefe, constituting the vestrymen of St. Paul's church, bore the remains of their late Warden to the hearse, which, followed by a long line of carriages conveying mourners and friends, wended its way to the church, on Irving street. Long before the arrival of the funeral cortege the church was filled with citizens, and a mornful silence reigned as the funeral procession entered the vestibule, broken only by the low organ dirge and the reading of the opening burial service by the Rector, Rev. L. W. Norton, as the casket was borne up the aisle to the space before the chancel. During the ensuing services the choir of the church rendered the Doctor's favorite hymns—"Just as I Am," and "Abide With Me;" and for the funeral hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee." At 5:30 the services at the church were concluded, and just before six, the bell that so oft had called the Dr. to worship, tolled his age, and, followed by a long line of coaches, his body was conveyed to Hazelwood Cemetery for interment. Most of our city physicians attended the funeral services at the church, and followed the remains of their veteran brother to their last resting place.

The burial at the close of day was according to the request of the deceased, and the Bible, in the perusal of the pages of which he had so often found comfort, was also by his request, placed under his head for a pillow.

THE LEE BROTHERS' ESTATE.

The disposition of the $350,000 estate of Frazee Lee, as referred to in our last, in his will, is likely to lead to much litigation, as is the case with most large estates, especially when there is a considerable amount left to institutions, to the exclusion of the legitimate heirs. About $300,000 of the estate being left to the Scotch Plains Baptist church, the heirs who got little or nothing, are naturally indignant, and caveats have been filed by some of them, including the two uncles referred to below, who, it is said, are to be represented by Mr. Lindabury, of Elizabeth, and the Randolphs, by Mr. Berry, of this city. The following is the list of heirs as reported in an article in the Plainfield Times:

An interesting legal point is likely to arise over the estate. The nearest heirs of the brothers under a decision of our courts, are two uncles who live in Panwood township. One is Ezra D. Hetfield, aged 92 years, and the other is Daniel Hetfield, aged 89 years. The legal decision referred to is one by Chief Justice Beasley, and is as follows:

If there is but one collateral in the degree nearest to the person dying seized, such collateral will take the whole estate; thus a single uncle or aunt will take a preference to, and to exclusion of several cousins.

There is quite a family of first cousins who are interested in the disposition of the estate, and most of them live in this vicinity. They are as follows:

Children of Uncle Henry—Jane Sweeny, Mary Pound, (both of Brooklyn), Charlotte Allen, (North Plainfield) Ann H. Cleaver, (Scotch Plains), Carmon R. Hetfield, (Brooklyn).

Children of Uncle Jonathan—Henry Hetfield, Hetty M. Garthwaite, Sarah Flanagan, (all of Rahway).

Children of Uncle Ezra—Ogden M. Hetfield (Dunellen), Phebe M. Hetfield, (Farwood), Rebecca B. Bonnell, (Lyonsville, Pa.) Charlotte Park, (South Plainfield), Mary Jaegers, (North Plainfield), Fanny Miller, (Westfield).

Children of Uncle Daniel—Wm. Hetfield, Sarah E. Terry, (both of Panwood), Jacob Hetfield, (Plainfield).

Children of Aunt Sarah (Lee) Ross—James Ross, (Plainfield), Moses L. Ross, (Newark), Mary Shipwell, (Brooklyn)

Children of Aunt Esther (Lee) Randolph—Joseph C. Randolph, (Newark), Wm Henry Randolph, (Newark), Harriet Demmings, (Westfield).

Children of Uncle Samuel—Thomas Lee, (Panwood), Ann Hetfield, (Westfield.)

Two other first cousins are Samuel and Aaron Bonnell, of Lyonsville, Pa.

"SLAUGHTER OF THE INNOCENTS."—Early on Tuesday morning as our citizens began to move about the streets they were somewhat surprised to see numbers of dead dogs lying in different places—some of them family favorites. It appears that the dogs must have had a sort of a "picnic" during the night and became quite hilarious with their yelping and barking as they went about in flocks; it is generally suspected that some annoyed resident, whose slumbers were thus disturbed, resolved that some of the canines, at least, should not survive to give him or her another night's annoyance, and, hence a dose of poison was in some way administered to them. We hear of as many as nine being "gathered in" by the "grave diggers" employed by Health Inspector Lambert. Among the unfortunates was the little dog which accompanied David Lobb in all his perambulations about the city, and "Dave" is very much depressed by the sad and sudden taking off of his pet. Those who have dogs which they value will no doubt be more careful in muzzling and keeping them in.

The Plainfield Times still carries the names of Harrison and Morton at its head, but cannot become reconciled to the Republican platform, as appears by the following from its last issue:

There was a time not long since when Republican leaders were not afraid to declare their opinions upon the question of revising the tariff schedule. Eugene Hale, of Maine, for example, not very long ago had the courage of his convictions and spoke as follows on taking the duty from salt:

I believe there is no one question about which the reflection of millions of people day by day is so decided as it is in declaring that there should be no tax upon this article of salt. I believe this article should go upon the free list; that the monopoly which has obtained heretofore for the Onandaga Salt Works—as great and complete as any monopoly ever granted by the Tudors in England's most despotic times—ought to cease.

This is genuine Republican thunder, and we do not think the Democrats ought to be allowed to steal it. That is what the Times is making so much fuss about in its insistance that Republican leaders shall stand boldly by the party's old doctrine of tariff reform.

Why do the women of this State use more Tulip soap than all other soaps combined? Because it is the best soap in the market.

FOR FIRST PLACE.

A great amount of political engineering will be done by friends of candidates to secure for their man the first place on the ticket, and the best man will probably secure the coveted place. Then if indorsed by the majority of the people, the election is assured. Electric Bitters has been put to the front, its merits passed upon, has been indorsed, and unanimously given the first place among remedies peculiarly adapted to the relief and cure of all Diseases of Kidneys, Liver and Stomach. Electric Bitters, being guaranteed, is a safe investment. Price 50 cents and $1 per bottle at Brown & Smith's drug store.

$21,000 FOR CHARITIES.

The charitably-inclined readers of this paper will be much interested in the following

"ANNOUNCEMENT.

"We have decided to distribute among the charitable institutions within a circuit of twenty-five miles from New York City Hall the sum of Twenty-One Thousand Dollars, pro rata, as per the number of our "German Laundry Soap" Wrappers held by each institution on the First day of November, 1888. Committee to distribute this donation to be selected by institutions holding ten thousand or more Wrappers."

This takes in Rahway, it being within 25 Miles of New York.

CAUTION.

Many charitably-disposed persons were DECEIVED last year by IMITATIONS of our German Laundry Soap, and therefore such wrappers were not counted. Ask for

GREAT DEMOCRATIC GATHERING.

Representatives of the young Democracy of New Jersey assembled in great numbers in Trenton on Wednesday for the purpose of forming a State League, and the business being continued on Thursday, we therefore have not time to give an account of the proceedings this week.

Hon. W. B. Gourley, of Paterson, presided at the temporary organization and made a telling speech, and Hon T. W. Morris, of Freehold, was made permanent chairman, the usual committees on organization, resolutions, etc., having previously been appointed.

Union county was represented as follows: vice president, John S. Crowell; rules, L. F. Wadsworth; organization, John J. Mathews; credentials, James S. Kelly. J. L. Crowell was also made one of the vice presidents of the state league, Geo. John Watts Kearney, son of Gen. Phil. Kearney, being president.

Wednesday evening a grand mass meeting was held in Taylor Opera House, presided over by Senator McPherson, at which Hon. R. Q. Mills made a two hours' speech, and addresses were also made by Hon. Wm. McAdoo and others.

The greatest enthusiasm prevailed and thousands went away unable to find room in the hall, which was crowded in every part.

A number of parading clubs and numerous brass bands were in attendance.

The Jacksonian Legion of this city was represented by J. L. Crowell, C. H. Lambert, Frank Crane, Geo. L. Reed and Jos. F. McCoy.

Highland Beach,

ON THE SANDY HOOK PENINSULA,

The New Excursion Resort.

Select, quiet and delightful resort.
Grounds, no liquors. No nuisances.
Unexcelled surf and still bathing at all tides.
Unsurpassed rowing, sailing and crabbing.
Great drives, walks, groves and hills.

The New Jersey coast nearest to New York has been made available to excursionists by a large restaurant building, a bathing pavilion, several hundred bath houses, dancing house, stores, swings and other similar structures. The place is domestic in its appurtenances of an excursion resort. Special attractions for small family excursions. The Shrewsbury dinner, served to any number, at from 50 cents to $1 per agement.

For time and dinner rates, or other information, apply to the Superintendent at the Beach or to Jno. J. Joy or at the New York office, 449 Broadway, or of Railroad Companies.

[illegible] N. Y. Star says: "Highland Beach is the first station after leaving Sandy Hook, on the Jersey Southern branch of the New Jersey Central Railroad. The journey down by this beautiful bay was a fitting prelude to one of the most delightful days I ever spent. The beach here is quite narrow, not more than 300 yards wide, and lies about half a mile from the mainland, from which it is separated by an arm of the bay called the Shrewsbury River, which is crossed just at the station of a bridge. It lies just under the Navesink lights, and the hills upon which these lights stand form a background of the deepest and most beautiful green, a positive pleasure to look upon. On the ocean side the view was equally charming, hundreds of yachts, steamers and sailing vessels constantly passing and repassing, lending variety to the scene. A first-class bathing pavilion has just been completed, which contains accommodation for hundreds of bathers. The whole beach has been graded up. Bathers have a choice of surf or still water bathing. An extensive and well stocked fleet house has been built, and the natural facilities of the place in every way improved. The fishing is first-class. A seven course-fish dinner for the small charge of $1. Cannot be equalled on the coast for three times the money, all the fish for which are caught within half a mile of the depot. Many new cottages are being built, and I predict for Highland Beach a brilliant future, which it richly does not attain it certainly deserves." $1 15-mn

Democratic State Convention.

The Democratic voters of the State of New Jersey, and all others desiring of uniting with them in the effort to secure a continuance of pure, economical and constitutional government, as given to the country by the present Democratic administration, are requested to meet at such times and places as may be designated by the several county, city and township committees, to elect delegates to the Democratic State Convention, to be held at Taylor Opera House, in the City of Trenton,

On Wednesday, the 26th Day of September, 1888,

AT TWELVE O'CLOCK M.,

For the purpose of placing in nomination nine electors for President and Vice President of the United States.

The basis of representation will be one delegate for each two hundred Democratic votes, and one for each fraction of the same, over one hundred cast in each election district at the last Gubernatorial election in this State. But each district shall be entitled to at least one delegate.

George Pfeiffer, Jr., Benjamin F. Lee, James Inglis, Jr., Gottfried Krueger, Allan L. McDermott, Daniel F. Crean, Jonathan H. Blackwell, Manning Freeman, Joseph W. Ballentine, Holloway W. Hunt, James Smith, Jr., John Edelstein.

The first election under the local option law takes place Friday of this week, in Cumberland county, which is a strong temperance locality, and it is generally believed the election will result favorably for the temperance people.

Free whiskey, free tobacco, free bogus butter and free importation of pauper labor are some of the things the Republicans have declared for. Anything that will assist the capitalist to fill his coffers at the expense of the people.

The Summit Record asks if the Democratic clubs of Union county are actively at work distributing documents, etc. We can answer for the Jacksonian club of young men of this city—that they are doing good work in that direction.

"Rascals in the Navy Yard," cries the New York Tribune, but it fails to add that this is the result of the tenure of office act, which prevented the Democratic administration from turning them out, without positive and circumstantial proof of their guilt.

"There is no use of making laws for the protection of capital, as capital will protect itself," says Mr. Blaine. That is very true. Capital has protected itself long enough with the high tariff, and now the workingmen must be protected with a reduction of war revenues.

The Tariff Reform Club of South Camden, numbers 185 members. It is composed of persons interested in the labor movements. John Doerr, heretofore a prominent Republican, is President, and of the 185, 111 are Republicans, all of them have pledged to support Cleveland and Thurman.

We are informed of a number of heretofore substantial and well known Republican citizens of this vicinity who have declared their intention of supporting the Democratic nominees for President and Vice President, as they cannot follow their party leaders in the false tariff doctrines promulgated in the Chicago platform.

And now comes the man who went back in the musty past and found the fourth plank in the platform, on which Grant was nominated in 1868, to read as follows: "It is due to the labor of the nation that taxation should be equalized and reduced as rapidly as the national faith will permit." Twenty years later they have forgotten equalization and want reduction on whisky.—Washington D. C. Post.

The New Brunswick papers contain an advertisement from a Connecticut firm, offering employment to the men whom the New Brunswick Hosiery Company had discharged "for want of work" caused by the Mills bill. This proves the hollowness of the New Brunswick Company's claims and will probably deprive it of some very valuable hands when it gets ready to quit lying and go to work again.

Ex-Judge Wheeler made his $50 easily on Saturday night. He was advertised to exhibit his stereoptic on "poppy-show" on the gentle question in Washington Hall, for which exhibition, it is stated, he receives $50 a night from the high-protection monopolists, and the prospect of an office if Harrison is elected, which he failed to get under Cleveland; but the Republicans of Rahway are not yet enthusiastic enough to brave the storm which was raging at the hour, and the ex-Judge dismantled his paraphernalia and calmly departed.

The foolish charge of Free Trade brought against the Democratic party by Mr. Blaine has had the effect of inducing the Catholic News, an influential paper published in New York, and which had remained neutral in the campaign, to announce its support of the national Democratic ticket. The News sets forth with vigor the fact that free trade has nothing to do with the campaign, but that the question is, "Shall the people continue to pay war taxes after a quarter of a century of peace, and have hundreds of millions of the people's money glutting the treasury and tempting to public corruption and wastefulness?" On this issue the Catholic News proposes to make an earnest fight for Democracy.

INDIANA'S MANUFACTURING BOOM.—That the people of Indiana, and the manufacturers themselves, do not believe in the truth of the predictions of the protectionists of ruin to the manufacturing interests of the country by the passage of the Mills tariff reform bill is proved by the records of recent incorporations in that State. Since the President's message, which was the inciting cause of the Mills bill, was delivered to Congress last December, one hundred and twelve manufacturing establishments, with an aggregate capital of $9,000,000, have been incorporated in Indiana. Every one is supposed to be "protected," and if the Mills bill were menacing such disasters to the American industries as the Republican organs are claiming, these moneyed men would scarcely be willing to invest in these enterprises.

THE DICTATOR!

The Republican Solons of our Senate are still tormented by that exasperating Mills bill. Their unhappy condition is intensified by the proclamations of the "uncrowned King,"

When he landed on our shores and unfurled his standard in Madison Square, he decreed that the Shibboleth of his subject should be Protection: high and higher if need be. This was a great annoyance to Senators already perplexed by questions of Cleveland and customs, taxation and whiskey; questions that they found difficult to weld into shape attractive enough to beguile the people to vote for a restoration of the Republican dynasty.

But when he reached his own principality of Maine, he raised the banner a few pegs more and proclaimed the immunity and protection of "Trusts." Here's a greater annoyance to the perplexed Senators. He makes it palatable to the nobility and gentry, by telling them that it's—"English, quite English, you Know"—that it is so much approved in England, that no citizen will consent to attend his own funeral, without assurance that the obsequies shall be conducted by a well organized undertakers' "Trust."

His new proclamation declares that "Trusts are private affairs," with which neither citizens or government have a right to interfere. Great blocks of individual or corporate wealth may combine to curtail product, reduce wages, abuse labor or advance prices, without responsibility to law, or even supervison—except such as may be needful to keep cashiers and clerks from emigration to Canada.

The "linseed oil trust," may carry prices from 33 to 62 cents per gallon: the "steel rail trust," may advance from $26 to $40 per ton: and the "sugar trust" may raise us a cent a pound, which the N. Y. Times, computes, will tax the people $31,000,000 a year for the benefit of Messrs. Sugar Trust & Co! In effect, capitalists may combine to stimulate robbery, by such methods and to such extent as may promise most profitable result.—and it's nobody's business (!) The uncrowned King says so!

If, however, working people combine, on strikes, or to boycott the brewer, the baker or the candlestick maker, then comes in the law, the vigilant policeman, the open station house and the anxious penitentiary.

Queer, isn't it! Prisons and punishment provided pleatifully for the poor people—but for the rich! nothing, of the kind, Sir!—and the King says so! If you've money enough you may drive people to poverty, penury, harlotry, starvation. Serves 'em right; they are used to it. But don't bother rich men in their schemes for wholesale robbery. The law is powerless, and justice is blind—yes, blind as a bat, and the King says so!

Blaine has always been true to his own. He has his faults. The shady woods he has passed through is full of 'em. But he has always been faithful to Jim Blaine and constant in his adoration of money.—"which is the God of his idolatry."

Meanwhile the "listening Senate" listens, and is startled from perplexity to alarm. The manifestos of the King are dictatorial and must be heeded. There's a

"Dyonisius in the Senate House, and
No one to oppose him!"

He kicks a plank out of the Chicago platform, and giddy Republicans appland him. He tramples on the leaders and traditions of the party like a gigantic Jumbo, and each step raises him higher in Republican estimation. It is natural enough, a nation or a party which outlives its principles is ready for a dictator.

A political party must have great principles or leaders, or both. The Republican party has subsisted for years on past recollections, money bags and office holders. Past recollections are played out, and so are their office holders. Naturally the party turns to an intrepid leader who dares make the fight on money bags alone.

Very soon Blaine will be the whole Republican party, and the whole Republican party will be Blaine. Then what becomes of the presidential aspirations of Sherman and Allison and Alger, and the smaller schemes of the smaller fellows. Truly a Senator's life is not always a happy one.

Blaine is playing a strong game, but the Senators can win it if they have the courage and patriotism. Let them hurry up, and pass the Mills bill. That will wind up the session, the campaign and Jim Blaine—all at once. It would give Mr. Harrison a needed rest from hand-shaking and speech making, and make Mr. Cleveland feel as comfortable as a settled minister.

Let's see how "high protection" affects Rahway.

Carriage making is one of its most important industries. On every material used in the building of any vehicle from a dirt cart to the most elegant carriage, the builder is taxed. Lumber, iron, steel, leather, cloth, paint, varnish—everything "protected," that is, taxed. To be sure the builder may say, he is not taxed—his customer pays it, in the price of the carriage—but the tax hinders sales, and restricts business. The cheaper he can buy materials, the cheaper he can afford his finished work, the more carriages he can sell, the more workmen he must employ. There is increased demand for both carriages and workmen.

The carriage builder and his workmen are further taxed; on their sugar, salt, rice and coal; on their clothing, whether of wool, cotton or linen; on the silk gown for his wife, and the knit goods for the baby. Even a spool of cotton or a skein of thread is taxed for the benefit of the millionaires of "O. N. T." or "Mile-end."

This is what protection does for the carriage men and "citizens generally" of Rahway. Protection means for Rahway, simply and only, taxation. The little city is daily contributing her little share to the great golden stream flowing to Washington of $9,000,000 per month, and probably an equal amount for the benefit of "Protected interests!"

American carriages, by their lightness, excellent workmanship, and elegant finish, have pushed their way into almost every nation of the world, in spite of needless taxation at home; made more cheaply, this export trade could be largely augmented.

A friend writes from the exposition now being holden in Barcelona, Spain:

"The few specimens of American carriage work are greatly admired. The only sleigh, is sold to a Russian lady, at a price fanciful as the cost of Russian sable in New York. The road wagons are the delight of the Spanish youth,—and the Dons too,—and the ladies, old and young, are enthusastic over the carriages, the beauty of style, the comfort of the interior, and the perfection of the appointments. They delight to get in one door, and out the other, resting a moment to test the cushions and the springs (—) imagining probably how she could turn up her nose at Donna Higuiras—if it were only her "owney own"

Large sales for future delivery could be made, but the severity of the cost stops orders. There's a high duty on such articles here, but if you manufacturers would invoice at a fair moderate price, the Spanish government could be quickly persuaded to reduce their tax. Even a Spanish alcalde could see, that three carriages at half present rates of duty, or six at a quarter, would bring more money to their Treasury, to say nothing of increased fees and stealings.

Rahway manufacturers who prefer taxation and a "home market," to free business, and the whole world for customers, should, like the ostrich, poke their heads under a wing—and vote the Republican ticket.

THOMAS J. RAYNER.

A PRETTY KETTLE OF FISH.

ARE THE REPUBLICAN SENATORS FREE TRADERS?

The Republicans have been howling vociferously at the Democrats "Free Trade," because they desire to make a slight reduction in the tariff in the interest of the masses of the people, to prevent the accumulation of the tons of specie in the vaults at Washington which we witnessed recently, as referred to in these columns, and to put that money in circulation among the workingmen. The Baltimore Sun has the following excellent and truthful article on this subject:

The determination of the caucus of Republican Senators to frame a tariff bill to be passed as a substitute for the Mills bill is pronounced by the New York Tribune "a fatal blunder," as it amounts to a confession, contrary to the national Republican platform and the assertion of the party's leaders in the House, that the tariff does after all need reforming. It has been declared over and over by Republican writers and orators that tinkering with the tariff is unnecessary; that the law is all right as it is, except as regards the taxes on whiskey and tabocco, which should be wholly repealed; that the surplus ought to be consumed on public buildings, fortifications, pensions and the like, and, finally, that the Mills bill, which reduces the average tariff tax of 47 per cent. by only 7 per cent., is a free-trade measure and not to be tolerated. The principle of protection is involved, it has been held, in keeping the tariff taxes at their present figure, because if a 7 per cent. reduction, or any reduction is allowed now, a movement will be inaugurated which must ultimately land us in free trade. The argument was a strong one to the protectionist mind, for it was plain that if it was once conceded that the masses of the people had a right to withdraw any part of the bounty they are bestowing on protected manufacturers, it would not be long before they would want to withdraw it all. Yet here is the Republican majority of the Senate proposing to lay its hand upon the sacred tariff schedules, and actually proposing to add to the free list articles that now pay a duty of $6,000,000 a yard. A sub-committee has, in fact, been for weeks at work upon a bill, and will have the hardihood, it is said, to introduce and try to pass it. If the Mills bill must be attheatized as "a free-trade measure" and "an entering wedge" because it reduces tariff taxes 7 per cent., what is to be said of the Senate bill when it proposes a reduction of 4 to 9 per cent? Will it not also be a "free-trade" document, and be the thin edge of an "entering wedge?" Will it not assail the "principle of protection" as efficiently as if it proposed a 45 per cent. reduction? If not, are Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Mills the great sinners they have been painted? The questions thus raised by the determination of the Republican caucus evidently weakens the logical strength of the party's position as regards the tariff. No big fight can be made on the difference between a 7 per cent and a 2 per cent. reduction of a 47 per cent. tariff tax. The admission of the necessity for a 2 per cent. reduction concedes the only principle involved. It pours contempt also on the Republican platform, which says: "We favor the entire repeal of internal taxes (on whisky and tobacco) rather than the surrender of any part of our protective system." As a matter of expediency, apart from the principle involved, it is not clear to some Republicans whether the Senate caucus is not wiser than the framers of the party platform. The New York Tribune, as we have already said, condemns the Senate substitute bill as a "fatal blunder." but the New England Home Market Club favors it, and the national Republican executive committee has voted its approval. The committee did, it is true, reconsider this vote afterwards, and at present is pondering the pros and cons. but it is clear that the committee, protectionist as it is to the core, is of opinion that the party's platform was unwisely drawn. Whatever the fate of the bill in the Senate, the production of it changes the question before the country. It is no longer, "Is it permissible to reduce our tariff taxes?" but "How much shall the tariff taxes be reduced?" A confession having been thus made that the Democrats of the House were all along right as to the propriety of some tariff reform, the country will be apt to conclude that they are most likely to be right as to the extent to which it should go.

We last week briefly referred to the formal withdrawal from the Republican party, of Congressman Ashbel P. Fitch, of the Harlem district, N. Y., but had not space to quote his reasons for such withdrawal, which he gives in the following terse language:

"My reason for this resignation is that I am not willing to advocate or support the new doctrines upon which the party managers have decided to make this campaign.

"I am in favor, as were Garfield, Arthur an Folger, of a reasonable revision of the present tariff in the direction of decreasing the cost of the necessaries of life, and of supplying American workmen with cheaper raw materials for manufacture. I believe that such a revision will increase wages and production in this country, and will lighten somewhat the heavy load of poverty and hardship which so many people in our city carry hopelessly from year to year. I am also absolutely opposed to any reduction of the tax on whisky. In a few months after the repeal of the internal revenue tax, there would be more distilleries than there are school houses in Harlem, and on every business block in our district a bucket-shop would, with profit, sell whisky bought at wholesale for twenty-five cents a gallon, for three cents a glass.

"The Republican party leaders have determined to make a campaign in which the expression of views, such as those above indicated, shall be described as free trade attacks upon American industry, and those who hold them shall be credited with a burning desire to aid the British workingmen, whom they have never seen, as against their own friends, and countrymen. Mr. Blaine's keynote for the campaign, applied to our district, is that we are from now till November to accuse the Democratic and revenue reform business men in Harlem, who, in private life, are in partnership with us in all commercial, charitable, social and religious affairs, of being engaged in a conspiracy, inspired by England, to ruin their own country and degrade their fellow citizens. I have no desire to take part in such a campaign. I fancy that England has in this district about as many adherents as China has, and that the voters who will vote this fall in Harlem and Yorkville for a revision of the tariff are as sincere friends of American industry as any of us are. And I very much prefer, if necessary, to be in a minority for the rest of my life rather than to make a successful campaign on what seems to me to be ridiculous and unfounded misrepresentation of the efforts and motives of my neighbors."

The N. Y. Star referring to this letter says:

There is a constant stream of Republicans going over to Cleveland and tariff reform. Every day brings intelligence to Democratic Headquarters of new and important accessions. The proportion thus far among the seceders is three Republicans to one Democrat, thus showing the hollowness of the Republican claims that their party is solid and united for the Chinese cheap labor and high tariff candidates. Not alone in New York, but in Indiana, Illinois, California, and even in Blaine's own State of Maine, have the causes that led to the withdrawal of Mr. Fitch from the party operated to induce scores of leading Republicans to sever their old affiliations and cast their political fortunes with the party of progress and tariff reduction.

The people of Rahway appreciate a good thing when they see it, and that is why they all use Tulip soap.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF CHOSEN FREEHOLDERS OF THE COUNTY OF UNION.

[OFFICIAL.]

ELIZABETH, N. J., Aug. 2, 1888.

Regular meeting of the board of chosen freeholders of the county of Union, held on Thursday, Aug 2, 1888, at 2:30 o'clock P. M.

Present—Director Hubbard and Freeholders Briant, Doty, Howard, Houston, Jones, Kyte, Kleinhans, Pierson, Roll, Thompson, Van Saun, Wright, West, Whaley—15.

Absent—Freeholders Donahue and Vanderbeck—2.

The minutes of last meeting (omitting list of bills ordered paid) were read, and on motion approved.

COMMUNICATIONS.

STREET DEPARTMENT,
ELIZABETH, N. J.,
July 28, 1888.

To the Honorable the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County:

GENTLEMEN—At a meeting of the City Council, held July 19, 1888, the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That the Street Commissioner be and is hereby directed to notify the Board of Freeholders to relay the flagging on South Broad street across the Broad street bridge.

Hoping your honorable body will attend to this matter as soon as possible, I remain yours respectfully,

M. M. MATSON,
Street Commissioner.

On motion of Freeholder Wright received and referred to County Attorney.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

From Committee on New Providence bridge:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union:

GENTLEMEN—The committee appointed to report upon the advisability of replanking the bridge crossing the river at New Providence would respectfully report that they met at the bridge on Saturday, July 14, 1888.

Present—Freeholders Burke, Coucher and Dr. Crane, of Morris county, and Vanderbeck, Kyte and Jones from Union county. After examining the bridge it was the unanimous opinion of both committees that it needed replanking and so voted.

BRADFORD JONES,
Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Roll the report was received, recommendation adopted and committee continued unanimously.

From committee on Linden avenue bridge, Linden, N. J.:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

GENTLEMEN:—The committee appointed to consider the necessity for a new bridge over Linden avenue near the residence of Geo. W. Baker, would respectfully submit that after careful examination and in consideration of the promise of the road district to raise the road some three feet in accordance with the recommendation of your committee, they are of the opinion that the present structure is utterly inadequate to carry off the water and protect the roadway and ajoining property, and should be replaced by an iron bridge, at least ten feet wider than the present bridge, they would therefore recommend that such bridge be built at a cost not exceeding twenty-eight hundred dollars.

Very respectfully
WM. T. WEST,
GEORGE. W. DOTY,
ROBERT G. HOUSTON,
WM. J. THOMPSON,
Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Roll report was received and recommendation adopted and order placed on file.

From Committee on South avenue bridge, Westfield, N. J.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

GENTLEMEN:—Your committee on South ave. bridge, Westfield, respectfully report that they have examined the premises and do not deem it advisable to take any action at the present time.

JAMES T. PIERSON,
WILLIAM HOWARD,
GEORGE W. DOTY,
Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Thompson received and ordered placed on file.

Freehold West moved to take the report of the public building committee in relation to altering and extending jail from the table.

Carried.

On motion of Freeholder West the report was received, and recommendation adopted by a unanimous vote.

RESOLUTIONS.

By Freeholder Roll:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to examine as to the cost of building new bridge over stream near Campbell's Paper Mills, between the counties of Union and Essex.

LOCAL BASE BALL NOTES.

REPORTED BY J. M. AITKEN.

THE RAHWAYS DEFEAT THE LEES AFTER A HARD STRUGGLE.

The attendance at the game on Saturday afternoon last, between the home team and the Lees, one of the best amateur teams in Brooklyn, was rather slim. Several things combined to bring this about, viz., the poor exhibition of the previous Saturday, the cloudy sky, and the many attractions elsewhere. Those who were present, however, witnessed one of the closest and most exciting games ever played in this city; the fact that the home team were able to score a victory in the ninth inning, after two men were out, is ample proof of this assertion.

When the home team took the field there was a general murmur of surprise among the spectators, the reason being that three of those hardy ball-tossers, the Browns of Woodbridge, were on the nine. Lufbery was spending his vacation at Asbury Park, Bowman playing at short, and Charlie Brown being on second. Arthur Brown was in right field and Dave in left. They all played good ball, Charlie at second playing his position in splendid style.

The visitors were a well-seasoned lot of men, and played good ball. They were slightly handicapped in that their battery had never worked together before, the reason for this being that the pitcher was an ex-professional brought out to defeat the Rahways. And he came very close to doing it, too. The umpiring of Mr. Johnson was very erratic. He seemed to think that when he gave a poor decision against one team he must even things up at the first favorable opportunity, and by following this line of action he created a good deal of disatisfaction. Generally, however, he gives good decisions.

D. Brown opened for the Rahways by sending a hot grounder to Heiberger, who threw him out at first. Simendinger fanned the plate three times and resumed his seat on the bench. Bowman was disposed of at first by Heiberger. Collins, the first man up for the visitors, struck out. Corocan put up a little fly to short left field and reached first safely, going to second when Keenan threw wild to first after capturing Keegan's foul tip. Heiberger sent a grounder to Bowman, who threw to Bradley to catch Corocan, but he was too late and both men were safe. Diedrich ended the inning by a fly to C. Brown.

In the second, C. Brown flied to Diedrich. Gregg sent what appeared to be a safe hit to the same fielder, but a fine throw sent the ball to first ahead of him. Bradley's foul fly was taken by Suplich. When the visitors came to the bat, Gregg settled down to work and struck out Worth and Smith, Chambers being retired on his grounder to Simen.

In the third the Rahways began the run-getting. After A. Brown and Hunt had been retired at first, Keenan was given a base on balls, stole second and third, and crossed the plate when Suplich muffed D. Brown's third strike. Simendinger struck out for the second time. For the Lees, Suplich failed to reach first on his grounder to C. Brown; Collins hit safely to right, and Corocan did the same to left: Keegan put up a little fly which Bowman let fall and then made a double-play, but the umpire would not allow it and called the batter out. Heiberger went out, Gregg to Simen.

The home team scored again in the fourth. C. Brown was sent to first on balls, stole second, and scored when Bradley made a clean hit to centre. The Lees were quickly disposed of without a run.

Neither side scored in the fifth, the features being a double play by Collins and Chambers and a splendid stop and throw of a hot grounder by Bradley.

In the sixth, Simendinger made a safe hit to left and stole second, but the next three men were soon retired. The visitors scored their first run. Corocan sent a grounder to Bowman and reached first on the fumble; Gregg threw very wild to Simen a moment later and the ball was lost in the crowd, Corocan scoring. Keegan foul-tipped out. Gregg failed to stop Heiberger's hot liner, and a base hit to left and a steal put a runner on second and one on third with only one hand out. But Gregg was equal to the emergency and retired Worth and Chambers on strikes.

The Lees took the lead in the seventh. After Bradley and A. Brown had been thrown out at first by Worth, and Heiberger had run into the crowd and made a fine catch of Hunt's foul fly, some good base-running and errors by Keenan, Gregg and A. Brown enabled them to score two unearned runs, and the spectators grew uneasy, and more so when both sides were retired without a run in the eighth.

C. Brown opened the ninth by going out on a bounder to Chambers. Gregg rapped a two-bagger to right, and went to third when Heiberger muffed Bradley's corkscrew fly. Bradley stole second, and A. Brown flied out to Keegan. Then Hunt came to the rescue with a scorcher between third and short, bringing in both runs. Keenan struck out.

No visitors were retired one-two-three, and the game was won. Following is the score:

When it was proposed to make a colored delegate to the Republican state league a vice president of the convention at Asbury Park, the president of the state league, Wilbur A. Mott, declared the motion "unconstitutional." Yes, it is "unconstitutional" in the eyes of Republicans to give the colored voters any privileges except to be the "hewers of wood and drawers of water" for that party. When any Republican offices of honor or emolument are to be disposed of, no colored man need apply.

DEATHS.

COFFEY.—In this city, Aug. 18th, Mary E., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Coffey.

Farewell, dear sister Mamie
You have from us departed;
Out of this world of sin and woe
To that bright home in Heaven above.
Farewell; till we meet again
In the sweet folds of light—farewell!
