PREFACE.

The sixth volume of the Directory is presented by the publisher in the belief that it will be found reliable in all its parts. The territory covered is the same as heretofore, i. e., Orange, East, West and South Orange, Bloomfield and Montclair; but more patient painstaking labor and expense has been bestowed in its preparation than ever before, and the result is to be observed in the increase of the number of names in the book—between 1,500 and 2,000 having been added—and by the addition of a large amount of matter that will be both of interest and value to its patrons. Other interesting matter was also in course of preparation, and was only omitted on account of the delay in publication that it would entail.

The canvass for names made it apparent that the growth of the Oranges in the year past has equalled that of any year in the past decade. New names were encountered in every part of the district, and to the credit of the whole locality be it said, the new comers are nearly all of a thrifty and cultured class, calculated to build up the wealth of the community and sustain good institutions. There have been many changes from house to house, and it was found, too, that there have been a large number of removals out of the place entirely. Most of these were single men and were either hatters or laborers, who were probably induced to leave by the stagnant condition in the hatting trade.

Care has been taken to reduce the number of errors to the minimum, but with no less than 50,000 opportunities for mistakes it is probable some have eluded our vigilance, while others find their way in through no fault of those engaged in the work.

With the rapid growth of this entire section, the necessity of a thorough system of numbering the houses becomes more apparent. Much valuable time is lost in the search for families for the want of numbers, and often delays of hours and days in the delivery of goods to householders occurs from this cause. The fact that it could be thoroughly done at trifling cost makes the local governments the more censurable for not causing it to be done.

By reference to the census figures given in another department it will be found that in 1880, in the city of Orange, there was a population of 13,206. It is estimated that at the present time these figures have been increased to 15,200. In East Orange, in 1880, there were 8,349 people, and the estimated number is now 10,600. The other towns have all had a healthy growth, but probably have not reached a per cent. of increase quite so large.

DR. MEIGS CASE'S

Spinal Apparatus.

[See leading article in MEDICAL RECORD, New York, Dec. 27, 1884.]

This apparatus applies to the treatment of Spine Disease the principle of extension, already well established as a most efficient method for the cure of diseases of the joints. With this it combines these additional requirements in spinal cases: Relief from the weight of the head and shoulders (without casting the burden on some other part of the body); the straightening of the curves (by means of the traction exerted by the weight of the body itself); and opportunity for exercise without restraint under these favorable conditions.

The results of daily exercise in this apparatus quickly demonstrate its utility. The patient improves rapidly in strength and height, the muscles concerned in maintaining an erect position are developed and invigorated, and a few weeks will frequently show a greater gain than can possibly be reached by months of treatment with the restrictive appliances in general use. For price, directions for measurement and use, and other information in respect to this apparatus, apply to
