National Democrat.

RAHWAY THURSDAY JUNE 21 1866

Fun Fact and Fancy.

NEW YORK. A three in the bush a worth two in the hand.

Puppy-dogs a the cough teetotaller.

A young man in Vermont, bent on securing a partner for life, called on a young lady and invited her to ride. He made himself as agreeable as possible for the first few miles, and then, having mustered all his "manly courage," broached the subject in the following style: "Will you marry me? I like the sleigh-ride very well, and I like you very much." "No sir!" Gallant gentleman—"Well, get out and go home on foot then." The lady obeyed orders, and reached home in safety.

JOHN BULLMAN OR WAKEFIELD.—I rather like waterfalls.

I don't know whether I would run up to see one more than I have to, but I love kaster ice—but kaster ice is good for any ones in my system.

I don't like a lazy ness or no sort—not even in man-kesters.

I want a man-kesters lively.

But agit this is foreigns tew mi purpose.

I like waterfalls—they are easy and natural.

They attract all the sex.

Some they attack with great fury, while others they approach more like a sneer, working up slowly.

I saw one yesterdey.

It want no bigger than a small french turnip.

It had attack a small woman or only 9 summers duration.

She was full of recreation, and when she bounded along the sidewalk (it was on the west side of Saint Clair street, in the city of Cincinnati, fernenst Baker & David's yeller soap store) the waterfall histed up and down an easisting manner, resembling much the spective terminus of a bobtailed lamb in a great hurry.

I also saw another one pretty soon, which belonged to a mature matron.

The mingy were as 39 summers, her hair was white as flour (Perkins "A," worth 15 dollars a barrel, delivered but the waterfall was black.

I asked a bystander how he could account for that.

He said "it was younger."

I also saw another one pretty soon, which was the property of a gosher.

She was about 19 years old, and was as ripe as a 2 year peach.

She swept he street like a thing of life.

Men stopped to gaze as she passed, and put in a new glow on tobacco.

Little boys pocketed their marbles in a hurry.

Her waterfall was about the size or a korn barrel turned inside out.

It was inclined in a common skip net and flavored with sharp damonds of dew.

It blew in the city on Mon-day 7th inst. at 20 minutes to 4 o'clock.

But I rather like waterfalls.

I don't think it is a sin for they don't show no risk yet.

Is the language of the ancients, "Ye shall not muzzle the ox with the mouth of the stove, viz.—1866.

A doctor was asked to see a patient, from whatever cause, and you are doctoring him; then I keep on.

A servant girl fell against a hot stove in such a manner as to brand upon her arm the date which happened to be on the stove, viz.—1866. A doctor was sent for, who, however, happened to be absent, and in his place an assistant came; but when he saw the date he also fell against the stove!

A Philadelphia passenger by a steamsmaun's ship hailed out "Good morning, Mr. Thompson, Jack or Tom," as the case may be, and he's found. "Blind! did you mean?"

"Why, blind! was in the room he was in, and I thought he was in Heaven until you met me on my head all the while."

A physician passing by a steamsmaun's ship hailed out "Good morning, Mr. Thompson, Jack or Tom," as the case may be, and he's found. "Blind! did you mean?"

"Why, blind! was in the room he was in, and I thought he was in Heaven until you met me on my head all the while."

A servant girl fell against a hot stove in such a manner as to brand upon her arm the date which happened to be on the stove, viz.—1866. A doctor was sent for, who, however, happened to be absent, and in his place an assistant came; but when he saw the date he also fell against the stove!

Some lawyers are very cute, and what is more to the point, they may so say the truth, and yet their pocketbooks as purse-mouths speaker the floor before you.

"You here, Jones? How the dickens did you find out you was out?" "Follow my way out? What do you mean?" "Why, the last I saw of you, you were down senseless!" "Eh, we! I took out on a spree!"

Can some home-made ice on a cold night and wonder is a lower containing gelatine, which is a very good food for invalids, and a very good food for invalids, and a very good food for invalids, and

The National Democrat.

(FORMERLY RAILWAY REPUBLICAN.)

RAHWAY, THURSDAY, JUNE 28, 1866.

Another Message from the President

President Johnson, on Friday last, sent a message to Congress, in which he discs ses vs the act of the Secretary of State, in sending official copies of the Constitutional Amendment proposed by Congress, to the several States. He does not admit the doctrine that the amendment is valid without being submitted to the President for his approval, and he seems clearly that he does not approve of it.

The message gives no uncertain sound. It revives the confidence of the people in the President. It assures them that that the power of the Administration will be effectual in saving the Union, and preserving the constitutional rights of the States. The roar of cannon throughout the country testifies public approbation.

The President shows that the Representatives of the eleven Southern States have been deprived of a voice in shaping the Congressional propositions, and that the attempt to have it approved by the Legislatures of the States at extra sessions begins the people into an alleged approval of Congress.

The course he outlines seems, in fact, the fair inference to, that Congress was of the Radicals that the South should reject the Amendment, so as to give them a plausible pretext for indefinitely continuing to deprive those States of their constitutional representational least until after the next Presidential contest. The determination evidently is that unless the organs of the South are promptly to vote, the Union cause will be constitutionally restored.

The Newark Journal presumes from action in the Republican press of that city, that Governor Ward does not intend to call an extra session of the Legislature—but that the amendment will be made a subject for the political campaign. The reason of this is obvious. It is very doubtful if the amendment could be put through the existing Senate—and even if it could, when the Legislature came together it may be utterly impossible to do other things, not to speak of certain needs of the Executive, as the adoption of the amendment. It would further complicate the Sectorial question, and it might pass the Wet Bank bill!

Well so be it. We desire nothing better than to see the Union restored, the amendment, upon which to go before the people at the Fall election. All we ask is that the Radicals act the same fair, fairly, and not dodge it, and the out of it as they did last Fall.

When the Democrats asserted during the last campaign that the design of the leaders of the Republican party was to make a negro equal politically with a white man, the Republican papers of this State scouted the idea, and branded it as a copperhead falsehood. Now, what is the fact? The report of the Reconstruction Committee virtually declares that all persons born or naturalized shall be citizens, and that no State shall make any distinction in regard to political rights between native born and naturalized persons, and to the same extent that persons may be deprived of such political right, so shall the representation of such state be effected.

The Washington National Republican reveals in the following paragraphs a conspiracy of Radicals which, we have never doubted has formed a part of their secret policy all winter, and been the inspiring motive of their legislation:

It is nothing less than a conspiracy to overrule the Constitution under the guise of a new construction of the second paragraph of the first section of article 2 of that instrument, which is in these words:

"Each State shall appoint, in such manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in Congress."

The new construction is that no State is entitled to appoint any electors who shall not have Senators and Representatives in Congress at the time. Starting out upon this unsound hypothesis, the conspirators resolved that no Senators and Representatives from eleven States whose inhabitants were concerned in the recent rebellion should be admitted to seats in Congress until after 1868;

This rebellion is the key note to the obstinate refusal of Congress to admit to their rightful seats Senators and Representatives whose loyalty was never doubted, and to the organized opposition to Congress to what is known as the President's plan of restoration.

EXPERIENCE.—Hon. Ayres, Esq., was invited to a meeting of his journeymen, on Monday evening, and was surprised to find himself presented with a splendid purchase, purse, with a purse, whose contents he The presentation speech was made by ex-Field Engineer Wm. Wilson, Esq., who spoke of the relations of Mr. Ayres with his men in the field during the war, of his kindness to them, of his generosity, and of his great ability as a mechanical engineer. The speech was well received, and Mr. Ayres responded in a few appropriate words, thanking the donors for the gift, and for the kindness and courtesy of the past. He said he had been in business for twenty years, and had never had a strike among his men, and he hoped that the relations between them would continue as they had been in the past. He was not a man to make a speech, which was well and appropriately spoken, and he thanked

National Democrat.

RAHWAY THURSDAY JUNE 28 1866

Fun, Fact and Fancy.

If whiskers are avenged, the end is to the college of a pretty woman, than it frequently.

In spite of all that Parisians of people a [illegible]

What does a telegraph operator do when he receives the heads of important news? Wait for details, of course.

A man was sentenced to four years imprisonment for forgery. Another man was sentenced to ten years for uttering a counterfeit note. Which is bad, forging a note or uttering it?

A man who will marry a poor fellow on the ground that he is the man of his choice, is a fool.

Ladies, if you want a good husband, marry a man who has a good wife.

Cows possessing a Raving disposition are very dangerous.

A man who is a good husband is a good man.

Bitter Beaver.—The surrender of Lee and Johnston to the hands of our Government fairly turned the tables of a very popular game.

A Railway station at Cal Indy and is a very polite gentleman who was taking a civil leave communication—Post—"Is anything in it?" Steam, "Nothing, sir, but a little steam." Steam, "Is it a good one?" Steam, "Yes, sir, it is a very good one." Steam, "Well, I am what I call a high pressure." Steam, "Well, I am a high pressure." Steam, "Well, I am a high pressure." Steam, "Well, I am