Good Clothing speaks for itself—to those who listen to reason. There is so much to be said for it, and so little to say for the other kind, except in the way of complaint. Ours is Good Clothing, and among the good things which can truthfully be said about it are: It never fades. Keeps its shape. Buttons stay on. Seams don't rip. Linings don't rive out. Costs a trifle more, but you are glad that you bought it. When you are tired of paying about the same prices for poor clothing, that we ask for good clothing, just try one of our Suits. If it does not come up to our representations, don't be afraid to test our guaranty; we will make it good to you. HACKETT, CARHART & CO. Men's and Boys' Clothing B'way & Canal St. New York.

IMPORTANT —TO— ICE -:- CONSUMERS. I have secured the privilege of selling the "Artificial Ice" manufactured by the Krueger - Hygiene - Ice - Co., NEWARK, N. J., and am prepared to supply the trade generally. Having it shipped to Rahway daily, in car lots, I am able to meet all demands for this desirable product. The water from which the ice is made is first filtered through granulated charcoal, prepared for this purpose only; then subjected to 240 degrees Fahrenheit, which absolutely destroys all bacterial life. This method of filtration and distillation renders the water entirely free from all impurities, such as is found in River and Lake Ice. Orders left at the office of Mr. Geo. Price, Main street, opp. Cherry, or Thos. Pierson, cor. Grand and Whitter streets, will have my prompt attention. Respectfully, H. A. FOULKS. may 22-2m

POETRY.

Latour.

If I should lean across the jasper wall
With heaven's own lilies on my bosom now,
And, white and radiant, let my cheek fall
Through voiceful calms upon this earthly brow;
If my low cries should reach you from the sky,
With moans for touches of his kindly palm—
Say! would you know how weakly I am and I
That kneel beside thee now so still and calm?

Or, if before you I should stand out
Where seraphims are standing fair and sweet,
And with my breath upon your cheek say:
"The way was long and lonely for my feet
What time I walked without you!" would you read
The secret of my secret soul aright
As he has read, who gladly sees in me
Of tenderest loves to lives—little to fight?

I dare believe it! To my wounded heart
I take this consolation when at night
The tidal waves that drifted us apart
For aye on earthly seas have kindly cast
Us safe on heaven's own shore and you will know
How much you wronged the soul that keepeth white
And clean its raiment for thy sake! And so,
Until that dear day dawns, sweet, "Good night."

—Hester A. Benedict.

Empty Arms.

God's blessing on the empty arms
That hold their labor in vain!
And bear the burdened ones
With cheerfulness and calm!

All honor to the willing arms
That lift the poor and lowly,
And teach us by their kind love
A lesson pure and holy.

And raptures for the clowing arms
That clasp with loving sweetness
A world of joy and tenderness
In beautiful completeness.

And rest unto the weary arms

Where darkness [illegible] reaper.

Creole and Puritan.

A CHARACTER STUDY IN THREE PARTS.

By T. G. DE LEON,

Author of "Four Years in Rebel Capitals," "Jung," "Cross Purposes."

DEDICATED TO THE HON. HENRY WATTERSON, IN MEMORY OF SCHOOLBOY DAYS, STILL UNFORGOTTEN, AS OUR SHADOWS LENGTHEN TOWARD THE SUNSET.

Copyright by J. B. Lippincott Company, and published by special arrangement with them.

Again Latour, almost reluctantly, called upon his horse. A brief burst of speed, with laboring flanks and straining muscles. Then he drew rein again, the escort not six hundred yards away.

But the soldier's eyes were not on them. They blazed steadily upon the sheik, with the brutal light of battle, and through the set teeth came the muttered words:

"Only one man—an old one, too!"

Closer swept the mare in circling swoop! Still in his steady stride the stately horse bearing his double burden.

Closer still, faint cries of Arabs cheering their chief's triumph; and Ahmed drops his leveled carbine, useless at that distance.

So close now the snap of the fluttering burnous is plain to Edith's ear, his dark face plain to both, as the sheik leans over his mare's neck and digs sharp stirrups into her sides.

To Ahmed's straining eyes the mare and horse seem in collision.

But Latour's eyes gleam into the Arab's, his left hand firm upon the rein, his right poising the heavy pistol.

Ten yards—five yards! The gleaming spear head close to Latour's breast; the sinewy left arm stretched to grasp his prey!

Suddenly the white horse rears, that upon his haunches, the firm forms brushing his forefoot as they crash by.

With lightning movement rises the pistol in the Creole's strong right hand. He lunges forward, and the butt crashes full upon the sheik's left temple!

On speeds the desert mare! Lower and lower upon her shoulder sinks the limp rider, falling at last prone upon the sand.

PART III—CHAPTER VII.

THE LETTER THAT CAME.

With a low cry the woman sank upon her knees.

The cavalry had deployed in open skirmish line, their speed unchecked, ere the foremost Arab had reined up to the fallen sheik and helped him rise. Saddle's stride had borne his riders through its lines.

The rally sounded. Ahmed was by his commander's side, crying devoutly:

"Allah kerim!" "God is great!"—adding in French, "Madame is safe—perfectly, I hope!"

But Lady Martindale, even as she answered that she was, pressed her hand quickly to her side.

"How thoughtless I am!" Latour exclaimed, and he spoke in Arabic to his orderly, who vaulted from saddle and knelt on one knee by Said.

Edith placed her foot upon the Syrian's knee and stepped to the sand, but its heat blistered her feet, and dizzy she reeled and pressed her hand again on her side.

Latour sprang from his saddle and supported her as he cried:

"To think that I forgot your head was bare!"

Hastily untwisting the veil from his helmet he fashioned it into a light turban, while the orderly, unrolling the cantle blanket, improvised a side saddle by twisting it about the pommel.

"I fear we are making a soldier of you too fast." Latour said. "But there is no shade nearer than the Tombs, and this is the best hat we can offer."

He lifted her to the saddle, with a faint smile for thanks, as Ahmed poured some cognac from a very Parisian flask, diluting it with water from the orderly's canteen. Ho! as the mixture was Edith drank the stimulant eagerly. Then she turned to Latour, saying low, in English:

"I owe you more than life! But it is very sweet to owe everything to you! How did you know?"

"I did not know, only guessed," he answered simply. "Those Arabs last night, Harris' riderless horse—Oh! captain," he interrupted himself, "send two men to scout the Shoubra road and notify Lord Martindale!"

"And Harris," Edith asked in French; "is he safe?"

Ahmed answered that he had sent him to Cairo behind a trooper, exhausted, but not hurt.

"Poor fellow! he fought desperately for me," she added. "He knocked down the Arab who seized my bridle, and another, before they struck him from his horse with a jade butt! Oh, how much my rashness has risked for you all!"

They were galloping toward the Tombs, one of the officers on either hand of the lady.

"It was a bold play for ransom, Ahmed," Latour said, "to capture Lady Martindale in the very shadow of the citadel. We shall have to teach these Bedouins a lesson."

"Well, you began 'at the head,'" Ahmed laughed. "It was a grand stroke, colonel! How the black old sheitan tumbled! But it was lucky I was out of range. I might have killed him, then—peril more war, and banishment for me to Fazoughli!"

Latour smiled at his junior's endorsement of his own view; but he spoke no more until the Tombs were reached, and blankets spread for the lady, on the very spot where she had stood the previous night. And soon after Lord Martindale rode up to the spot. He was badly wilted; and he rode ungracefully, though safely, with short stirrups and a stooping seat.

"So you found her, really!" he said, dismounting, to Latour and the young Turk. "Thanks! Awfully good of you to take the trouble! Deuced hot ride she must have had, though! As for Harris, you know, I'll discharge the booby."

"The 'booby' acted like—a man!" Lady Martindale said coldly, overhearing only the last words, and Latour, awaking to sudden anxiety as to their condition, strode off to the horses, leaving husband and wife alone.

Lord Martindale did not greet his spouse with much effusion. An American would have rushed upon her and a resounding kiss would have smacked on the desert air. A Frenchman would have clasped her to his breast, held her off at arm's length and scattered kisses profusely about the ruined Tombs. Lord Martindale loved Edith with an idolatrous worship, but her over imperious habit, with strange whims more apparent of later months, had forced him to the defensive. And now he only said, as he pulled his dump whiskers:

"Glad you are safe, my lady, really! Deuced strange freak though, and rather indelicate, I must say!"

A hot flush mounted to the woman's face. Her eyes quickly assured her that Latour was out of earshot; and the gleam in them grew cold as the ring in her voice that answered:

"It becomes the delicacy of the seventeenth Lord Martindale to greet his wife with a reproach, after leaving it to strangers to rescue her from deadly peril."

"Deadly stuff!" responded his lordship, with more candor than courtesy. "You've upset the garrison and made a nasty mess, you know. But where peril comes in, I can't see, really!"

"Of course not; you rarely do see!" the woman rejoined slowly. "But it was natural that there should be peril, and equally natural that you—should avoid it!"

The Englishman's red face grew scarlet at the unjust taunt; but he controlled himself by a strong effort as he answered:

"Edith! You know you do not mean!—"

"Precisely what I say," she interrupted quickly, but coldly. "I was captured by Arabs, torn from my horse, insulted! God only knows what the end might not have been, but for the—man who rescued me!"

Over his lordship's face incredulity, anxiety, joy, rapidly chased each other. He made as if he would speak; but wonder, replacing anger, kept back the words.

"However, my Lord Martindale," the woman went on quietly, but with a sneer in the low voice, "you have to thank him for more than that. Had he not come the Arabs would have made you—pay ransom!"

The man caught quick breath and stared at her a second before the cruel force of the insult struck him. Then the red surge swept over his face again, dropping suddenly out of it and leaving him ghastly pale. But he raised his head with quiet dignity, and only said:

"Enough of this, Lady Martindale."

"I am charmed that you agree with me—for once," she answered in a voice that might have spoken society commonplace in Vanity Fair. "Indeed, there has been not only enough, but too much of this—as I have urged when suggesting a separation. When I urged this before you called it a whim. But it is to your interest to listen now. You have said that my indelicacy compromises you here. You had best be careful that more than that does not compromise you before—your peers! Col. Latour!"—she raised her voice, calling quietly and cheerfully, "Lord Martindale thinks we should not detain you longer, and I am quite rested now."

The Englishman spoke no word. He lifted his wife courteously, even tenderly, to the improvised saddle. To Latour's query about his side of the quest, the peer replied:

"Struck the Shoubra road and could see no living thing, headed north again, when a tall Arab rode toward me from this direction, you know. The beggar was making signals. Couldn't speak any language, you see; but his pantomime would have shamed Drury Lane, really. Why, he actually asked if I was looking for a lady and a groom; and before I could answer told me they had ridden to the Shoubra palace. So off I galloped one way and he the other."

"Clever rascals, these Bedouins," Latour said with a smile. "That was the same fellow I saw at the Tombs; but he took me for a native."

"Sharp dodge, though," his lordship said. "And I gave the beggar a liberal bakchischch, too."

"What a pity!"

The words were naturally spoken; but Lady Martindale gave one quick flash of her eyes into her husband's face that bowled him out of the conversation until they reached the hotel entrance. Then Latour said to the lady:

"How wonderfully you have borne the heat, fatigue and danger! And you have eaten nothing since——"

He interrupted himself to throw his arm suddenly around her. Lady Martindale, with perversity truly fe

NATIONAL DEMOCRAT.

RAHWAY, N.J., JUNE 12th, 1891.

EIGHT PAGES.

Saturday, June 13th, the list of applications for tickets for the editorial excursion will be closed.

Says the Boston Herald (Ind.): "President Cleveland's observation that public office is a public trust is now supplemented by his remark that public extravagance is a public danger. They both hit the bull's eye."

George is hard on his employer, when he gives this very sarcastic cut in a squibbet, the sting of which like a wasp is at the end—it certainly does not apply where he endeavors to intimate:

"An unmuzzled watch dog, when thoroughbred, barks but seldom, and then scares the evil doer. But when it bites, it holds on like grim death. The growling it leaves to disgruntled and disappointed politicians."

MUZZLE YOUR DOG!

The usual proclamation by the Mayor concerning dogs and bathing has been posted and printed this week in the local papers. As there have been many mad dogs reported in different section of late, it is the determination to have the law strictly enforced, so that there will be no canine found muzzled or unled in the streets. The officers have already shot a number, and if any of our readers have dogs they desire to save they should at once comply with the requirements of the law. Bathers will also do well to notice the requirements, and penalties prescribed for violations of the ordinances in that respect.

George says: "Judge Hyer, that staunch Jacksonian Jeffersonian, promises, to 'make it warm' for some who have said unkind things of him."

We have not heard of any such "promise" nor the sayings of any "unkind things." The official above referred to certainly would not produce any such "warmness" in court, and if in an editorial way—well, his long experience in that capacity has taught him to be merciful to those who are not right in the head," either from "lacerations" of providential construction. So if there are any such who have indulged in the "unkind" occupation aforesaid, they need not wait with trembling the terrible heating process; that may be a matter of their "future" consideration, however.

THE UNION DEMOCRAT.

Next week we expect to change the name of this paper as above, according to authority received from the court, and will also change the size and change the form to eight pages. As the putting in of new machinery and other requirements for this change has necessitated a large expenditure, those who are indebted to us should realize the propriety of paying up at this time.

In this connection it may not be inappropriate to give a hint that it is considered the proper thing for members of the party to patronize their newspaper not only by their subscriptions, but advertising and job printing. Other local organizations as well as individuals, also are in the habit frequently of obtaining large space for announcements and reports, but, when needing anything that is to be paid for they go elsewhere. This should not be so.

WATER BONDS.

It is proposed to make any arrangement concerning the water bonds when they become due it is time that there was some activity in that direction. The old bonds will be due July 1st. Much time and care was given last winter by some of the city officials to get an act by the legislature authorizing the issuing of new bonds, but there were objections raised from different sources as to the wording of the act, which was changed a number of times, and now, it is reported, the Chancellor and members of the Supreme Court, are of the opinion that the act as finally passed is not constitutional. If this is so, there should be some steps taken at once to have an understanding with the Chancellor as to what can be done either to continue the old bonds or issue new ones, holding the old ones for the year until constitutional legislation can be obtained. It certainly is strange if there is no way that can be devised to reissue bonds when they become due without so much legal doubling.

BOARD OF FREEHOLDERS.

The regular monthly meeting of the Union County Board of Freeholders was held Thursday of last week. A request from Mayor Rankin and Comptroller Marion to have Newark avenue in Elizabeth improved as a county road was decided. Director Hubbard appointed the following standing committees:

Publication—Messrs. Thompson, Kyte and Trahon.

Discharge of prisoners—Messrs. Roll, Kyte and Bender.

Settle with collector—Messrs. Roll, Litell and Russell.

Auditing—Messrs. West, Thompson and Doty.

Lunacy—Messrs. Pierson, Roll and Briant.

Public grounds and buildings—Messrs. Howard, Pierson and Doty.

Jail inspectors—Messrs. Vanderbeek, West and Jones.

Stationery—Messrs. Littell, Vanderbeek and Briant.

Settle with sheriff—Messrs. Kyte, Thompson and O'Sullivan.

Miscellaneous accounts—Messrs. Kyte, Roll and Jones.

Legal questions—Messrs. Vanderbeek, Roll and Halday.

Elizabeth and Newbridge—Messrs. Littell, Bender and Halday.

Rahway drawbridge—Messrs. Howard, Thompson and O'Sullivan.

It was resolved to raise $200,000 taxes for the year, the same as last year.

Obituary.

Mr. Jeremiah Gartlwaite, an old and respected citizen, died at his residence on Grand street Monday evening, after an illness of about two weeks, in the 81 year of his age. He was born in Westfield township, and came to Rahway when a boy, following the business of shoe-weaving. Fifty-six years ago he married Mary Frieman, daughter of Roman Freeman, then a well-known resident of Upper Rahway, who survives him, also two sons and one daughter—Freeman, Oscar B. and Mrs. N. H. Carpenter. The funeral took place from the residence Thursday afternoon, conducted by Rev. G. H. Payson. Interment in the Rahway Cemetery.

A travelling machine shop attracted attention on our streets Tuesday. It consisted of a two-wheeled vehicle with all the attachments for repairing umbrellas, mending cutlery, etc., drawn by a fine-looking horse, and in charge of an elderly man, who went from house to house, announcing his presence by bugle calls.

We acknowledge the receipt of invitations to the commencement exercises at Bordentown Military Institute, Rev. J. H. Landen, president, June 19th to 25th.

BASE BALL.

RAHWAY DEFEATS THE WHITE PLAINS 11-1. KEELER MAKES TWO THREE-BAGGERS AND DILLON MAKES HIS FIRST ERROR.

THE home team put up another excellent game on Saturday. They met for their opponents the White Plains, of the city of that name in New York, and although the visitors played a good game they were "outclassed" as they say in sporting talk, the result never being in doubt after the first inning. Francis pitched an excellent game, but thirty-one men facing him and so sharp was the fielding of the home team that but one man scored, and but three were left on bases of the visiting team. But with all the victory two of Rahway's players left the ground utterly disgusted. One was Dillon, who had the first error charged to him since he has been playing here, and the other was Brunpenner who did not make a hit, a run, a put out, or an assist, although he tried hard enough for his best—well he wanted to, that's all.

Jim Reilly set the crowd laughing in the fifth inning when the whole opposing nine men tried to catch him between second and third, but he got away from them all and landed safely back on second.

The visitors had Powers to do the pitching for them and although his support was not of the best he kept the Rahways down to eleven hits, four of which were made by Keeler, the latter hitting him for a couple of singles and as many three-baggers. The home team started the run-getting in the second inning, Paasch, after making a hit and a steal of second, coming home on two passed balls. They added three in the third on a base on balls, two errors by Kelly and Keeler's single. They tacked on two more in the fifth on White's fumble of Jim Reilly's hit, Keeler's three-bagger and Murray's single. They piled on two more in the eight on Dillon's and Paasch's safe hits and good steals of both players; Dillon should have been out at the plate, but Reynolds failed to hold Kelly's throw. Three more were tallied in the last, Jim Reilly and Murray making clean hits while Keeler again drove the ball to the fence for three bases.

For the first three innings but nine men of the visiting team came to the bat. In the fourth White reached first on four bad balls. He was advanced to second on Kelly's hard hit to short. Francis then tried to catch him off second and threw wild, and he went to third; then Joe let his out curve get by him and White saved the visitors from a shut out by running home. In the sixth Baker, who had been loaned by the Haymakers of Hayville, to help the White Plains out, much to his surprise reached first on balls and he had his surprise number two when he landed on second. Another daring steal of third when a passed ball went to the back stop, but Francis threw to Daly and Baker was fast on third base, and despite the entreaties of the balance of the nine to take a lead he was not to be fooled and when the third man was out he still had his foot on the base.

White, who played short for the visitors, was small in stature but he could play ball for fair, and cut off several sharp hits of the home team.

The only trouble with the game was its one-sideness, and it will take a pretty good team to make it any other way, for the Rahways have a fine team and will give anybody's team a horse race.

Saturday the Greenpoints, Carr and Bowes are their battery—Francis and Reilly for Rahway.

The Greenpoints defeated the Rahways last year with Carr in the box.

It should be a fine game if the Greenpoints are up to their form of last year.

The Plainfield Press says the patrons there want a game with Rahway; but the management of the Plainfield Club was so careful early in the season to get "all the dates filled up" with the Actives, the Alerts, and the Shining Stars, that they cannot play the Rahways! Poor Plainfield!

Francis is pitching fine ball now.

Carteret Council Royal Arcanum is arranging a game with the doctors, of this city, the date for which has not yet been fixed. The R. A. nine selected are as follows: H. C. Wilson, E. Marsh, Geo. White, J. Scrimshaw, Geo. Bechler, F. W. Schuppman, J. H. Marbacher, Chas. H. Flatt, C. D. Ward, substitutes, H. F. Feist, J. H. Durand, G. R. Lindsay. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the Children's Home.

The Plainfield Press one day last week has the following in relation to a game between the Crescents of that city and the Rahways, which will doubtless find an echo in the minds of the lovers of base ball in this vicinity:

"The people of Rahway are as anxious as the people of Plainfield to see a couple of ball games between the teams of the two cities. Six of Plainfield's nine were taken from the Rahways—Jones, Gregg, McIndoe, Martin, Embery and Simmons—yet Rahway is entirely satisfied that she can beat Plainfield.

It is only such games that will arouse the enthusiasm of the people again. They want to see contests that will result in some glory over neighboring towns. The gate receipts of the Plainfield-Crescent games, prove this. Rahway is ready to cancel any present engagement, if necessary, to suit Plainfield. The latter should accept this offer at once."

To the Public.

To be or not to be? That is the question which must interest all lovers of base ball. For several years the people of Rahway have been treated (for a small compensation) to first-class exhibitions of our national game, the game being fairly well patronized until the present season. Why do they now lack interest? The management has done everything that could be done to produce a first-class team, that they have succeeded the public will not deny, for a more gentlemanly set of men among good ball players cannot be found. The manager, his assistant and the board of directors have worked hard and faithfully for the best interest of the association, have given their time when they ought to be attending to their business, and have spent dollars out of their pockets, where they have received cents from the treasury of the association, and "cuss words" from the public, generally speaking. The people may ask the question, Why have they done this? In answer we say, because we, as business men, think that the association is a good thing to have in Rahway. It brings people and consequently trade from other places, and keeps some of our own people at home who would otherwise go elsewhere on Saturday and spend their money; and we also think that the Rahway Athletic Association has done more to advertise the city of Rahway than anything else with the exception of the Rahway murder, and to say the least, it is very discouraging for the managers to go on the grounds on Saturday and have a first-class game put up to an audience of about two hundred uninterested (apparently) spectators with no more enthusiasm in them than in a nice wagon going to a funeral. In order to play good ball the teams need life; encourage them when good plays are made, show them that you appreciate what they are doing, and they will try to keep it up or do better. Some people remark that we have not had good base ball weather, which to a certain extent is true, but at the same time it did not prevent quite a number of good citizens journeying to Princeton last Saturday to see a game of ball where an admission fee of one dollar was charged, including grand stand, besides paying car fare. And it is also a well known fact that a still greater number paid their fare to Elizabeth to see a game played much inferior to that put up by the home team. We do not question the right these people have to go elsewhere and see games, we merely mention the fact to show that there is lack of interest among our townspeople for our own games. We are asked, Why don't you play Plainfield? We reply that we have used every honorable means to try and induce the Plainfield management to give us a game, or a series of games; believing that such game or games would create and revive a local interest in base ball that would be lasting; this interest would, no doubt, prove beneficial from a financial point of view for both teams. Hearing different talk regarding the Plainfield not wanting to play in Rahway, the president, manager and several others from the board of directors travelled to Plainfield, and met in consultation the managers thereof. We were received and treated courteously, but quietly informed that Plainfield had no open dates and could not under any circumstances give Rahway a game, but we have learned that since our visit they have made dates with Westfield. Now, if Plainfield is afraid to play the Rahway team, Rahway is willing to give them two runs on the blackboard to start with. The manager has scheduled only first-class teams to play with (there are only a few to choose from), and when they come with their best team they are expensive. The Greenpoint Athletics are to play here this week with their best team; they have always given Rahway a good game, and we have no reason to expect anything different now, Plainfield, notwithstanding, who charge the Greenpoints with putting up poor ball recently at Plainfield; there may be something back of this, for we were informed by the manager of the Allertons that Plainfield had offered him twenty dollars as a guarantee to take his team there for a game, which we offer he refused, on the grounds that it would be impossible to play his team for such a small amount of money, for after paying car fare there would be very little left for the players, and he would not take an inferior nine out under the name of the Allertons. To sum up, do the people of Rahway want base ball continued, if so support the team. To disband will be to revivify the adage that "You never miss the water till the well runs dry." To put aside our present first-class team and put in an inferior but cheaper team will, in our opinion, be sounding the death knell of the sport for this season at least; our people have been educated up to the point that nothing but first-class ball will suit them, and under these circumstances the cranks will surely shun us.

In view of the foregoing facts the managers have decided to give the people first-class ball (for a while at least) and the price of admission will be as follows: General admission, 25c.; grand stand, 10c. extra; ladies' admission, including grand stand, 25c.; children under 12 years, 10c.; no extra charge will be made on holidays. The programme for the Fourth of July outside of the ball game will be very attractive. We now ask the people to patronize the home team.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

ATLANTAS VS. WEST BRIGHTON.

On Saturday Atlantas left this city shortly after noon in the "Madcap" naptha launch and sailed for Erastina where they played the Young Men's Catholic Union of West Brighton. Shortly after the call of "play ball" by the umpire our boys found they were playing ten men! The decisions of the umpire were so "rank," that in the fourth inning he was compelled to vacate and a substitute placed who seemed to be satisfactory. Mullins of the Y. M. C. U. played well at short and Roach's pitching for our home team was again noticeable, he striking out twenty men and his opponents making only five hits. After the first few innings our boys out played the Young Men at all points and no doubt would have won the game had it been for unjust decisions against them. Our boys are playing splendid ball but have not yet become expert enough to play ten men. The following is the score:

LITTLE GIANTS VS. 2D WARD ATHLETICS.

An exciting game was played on the East Rahway grounds Saturday afternoon, the opposing clubs being the Little Giants and the 2d Ward Athletics. Up to the end of the seventh inning the Athletics had the game well in hand, but in the eighth and ninth innings Gage, who was in the box for the Athletics, gave several men bases on balls, forcing in three runs. At this part of the game the Giants began to hit his delivery all over the field, and by the end of the eighth inning had six runs to their credit. Another batting streak in the ninth netted them three runs, while the Athletics drew a blank in their half. The feature of the game was a home run drive by Farrell, bringing in two men in the eighth.

SCORE BY INNINGS:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Little Giants,	2	1	0	0	3	4	0	6	3	—21
2d Ward Ath.	6	2	0	2	4	2	0	0	2	—18

Next Saturday the Little Giants journey to Elizabeth to try conclusions with the strong Americus club. This club defeated the Elizabeth Field Club last Saturday by the score of 21-10. Crane and Stoll will be the battery for the Little Giants.

LAWS OF NEW JERSEY.

CHAPTER XIV.

AN ACT to set off a portion of the township of Milburn, in the county of Essex, and annex such portion so set off to the township of Springfield, in the county of Union.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That all of that portion of the township of Milburn, in the county of Essex, described as follows, viz.: Beginning in the center of the east branch of the Rahway river at a point where the same is intersected by the north line of the old Newark turnpike road, running thence westerly along the said north line of said turnpike road to the center of the small stream known as Wades race, thence southerly down the center of said race, its various courses to the center of the west branch of the Rahway river, thence easterly and northerly along the center of the said east branch of the Rahway river its various courses, to the place of beginning; be and the same is hereby set off from the township of Milburn, in the county of Essex, and annexed to and made part of the township of Springfield, in the county of Union.

2. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed, and that this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved February 17, 1891.

Risley's Witch Hazel

Will relieve and cure a sprain, bruise or burn quicker than any other preparation. Sold by druggists at 25 cents, for an eight ounce bottle, and it is worth its weight in gold. Prepared by Chas. F. Risley, Druggist, No. 62 Cortlandt street, New York City. jun 5-3w

This week concludes the publication of the laws for the year.

Westfield.

As usual the Methodist church was filled to overflowing at the final concert of the Choral Union, Monday night.....Geo. Witke has given the contract to J. Townsend, to lay a flag stone walk facing his lot on Broad street, between John Ingram's and T. Love's stores.....The beaming countenance of Johnny McCann is missed from our streets. What's the matter with Gilby? Too warm weather for him?.....Children day Sunday 14th in the Presbyterian and Methodist churches.....On Tuesday night the borough committee made an extended report to the people of Westfield, favoring the adoption of a borough government. A minority report was also presented. After an elaborate discussion, the report of the majority was adopted. A committee of three was appointed to secure signature to a petition to the county court, to set a day for an election.....Hon. C. B. Ripley has a gang of "Macaron's" digging a ditch from the corner of Ross Place to several small lakes about 500 feet distant, in order to drain them. The people in the immediate vicinity appreciate the work.....Lloyd Harbison, a well-known citizen, died in New York, Monday evening. Interment in Fairview cemetery.....Miss L. Stacy, is an expert bicyclist.....The Standard office has swung its old campaign bunting to the breeze, in honor of "Glorious Fourth."..... Miss Anna Miller is in charge of the Free Reading Room.

Woodbridge.

The people of Woodbridge were very sorry to hear of the sudden death of Mr. Charles Levi, Sr., which occurred Friday. He was an old resident respected by all. He was 76 years old.....Mr. Marcus A. Brown is having a very handsome soda water fountain placed in his drug store.....Mr. H. Clark, who has been assistant postmaster for some time has given up that position to be the assistant freight agent.....The Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church, have issued their first edition of a monthly paper..... A great many of Miss Grace Valentine's friends went to New York last week to see her sail for Europe. She engaged passage on the "Teutonic" President Harrison's daughter-in-law was among the passengers..... Miss May Fink has been filling the place of Miss Hallock (one of the public school teachers) who has been sick.....Rev. Charles Noble of Charles City, Iowa, occupied the pulpit of the Congregational church last Sunday morning and the Presbyterian church in the evening. He was listened to with much pleasure by both congregations.....On Wednesday evening of last week, Rev. Charles Noble, gave a very interesting lecture in the Congregational church. His topic was "A trip to Yellowstone Park." The lecturer's remarks on his trip were very spicy. The choir of the church gave some very excellent music before and after the lecture, being assisted by the cornet played by Mr. F. Lawson, the piano by Miss Laura Dally, and the organ by the organist Mrs. Lockwood. Mrs. F. Turner sang "My mother's prayer" in a very pleasant manner.....The township quarterly meeting was held at Fairfield school house Tuesday evening of this week.

Clark.

Improvements are still going on. Fred. and Jos. Bitter are tearing down the old homestead, preparatory to building a new house.....The rains of the past week have started crops lively. It will be a close race for the next month between corn and weeds.....The voice of a solitary seventeen year locust was heard a few days ago. He is supposed to be spying out the land for the grand army which will make its appearance in 1894. Dr. Woodruff, while on his way to visit his patients in Rahway, encountered a large snapping turtle which was watching the cars go by on the L. V. R. R. After considerable manœuvering the doctor succeeded in catching him by the caudal appendage and with the assistance of George Crane coerced him in a sack. He disposed of him in Rahway. If you see an individual on Cherry street moving particularly lively you may know that it was he who bought the reptile.....Otis Wrigley, the young man who was accidentally shot by a companion last Thanksgiving day, has so far recovered as to be able to walk without a cane. Dr. Harrison of Westfield, has had charge of the case and deserves great credit for his skillful treatment.....The busy bee is now getting in his best work.....Mr. S. B. Lippincott, just over the line, is unusually active. So far Sam has managed to keep one eye open most of the time. His experience is somewhat similar to a legislative meeting: "Now the eyes have it, now the nose has it." HAYseED.

A Choice List of Summer Resorts.

In the Lake regions of Wisconsin, Northern Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa and the two Dakotas, there are hundreds of charming localities pre-eminently fitted for summer homes. Among the following selected list are names familiar to many of our readers as the perfection of Northern summer resorts. Nearly all of the Wisconsin points of interest are within a short distance from Chicago or Milwaukee, and none of them are so far away from the "busy marts of civilization" that they cannot be reached in a few hours of travel, by frequent trains, over the finest roads in the northwest—the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, and Milwaukee & Northern Railroad. Oconomowoc, Wis. Clear Lake, Iowa. Minocqua, Wis. Lakes Okobji, Ia. Waukesha, Wis. Spirit Lake, Iowa. Palmyra, Wis. Frontenac, Minn. Tomahawk Lakes, Wis. Lake Minnetonka, Minn. Lakeside, Wis. Ortonville, Minn. Kilbourn City, Wis. Prior Lake, Minn. (Dells of the Wisconsin). White Bear Lake, Minn. Beaver Dam, Wis. Lake Madison, So. Dakota. Madison, Wis. Big Stone Lake, So. Dakota. The Pen. R. R. New Summer Excursion-Route Book.

The Pennsylvania Railroad's Summer Excursion Route Book for the season of 1891, just from the press, is undoubtedly the most elaborate reference compendium issued by any railroad company in the world. The company this year has used new illustrations, printed on a very high grade of paper, while a decided departure from the old cover indicates the work is seen in the new one, which is beautifully illuminated, and would do credit to the brush of a Rossi, so clearly French is it in every detail. The new map embraces a territory from Canada to the Carolinas, from the British possessions in New Brunswick to beyond the Great Inland Lakes. When comparison is made with this volume of 272 pages, 100 illustrations, and over 1,500 routes, the book which enters its year of manhood this first day of June, 1891, and the tiny pamphlet of 24 pages and 62 routes issued twenty-one years ago by the Pennsylvania Railroad, and considered at that time a marvelous departure in railroad advertising, the growth is hardly credible.

COUNTY SCHOOL ROLL OF HONOR.—For month ending May 1891. Requirements, 10 per cent. in attendance and punctuality.

After having expended one thousand dollars for various medicines and with doctors, and growing worse all the while, I considered my case incurable. I was induced to try Dr. Dean's Dyspepsia Pills. After their use for 6 weeks I can eat meat without distress, a thing that has not occurred before for years. I believe I am cured, and yet it seems too good to be true. There is no doubt but that much of the sickness people complain of is caused by indigestion. J. W. DRAKE, Centre Market, Newark, N. J.

OUR ADVERTISING TERMS.

Gossipers are sometimes inclined to find fault with the liberal advertising charges, comparing them with what may have been said elsewhere, perhaps in our special department. In the first place, we do not encourage advertising among our patrons at any price, and charge 25 cents a line for each insertion. In our department we carry out the original idea, nearly as possible, that is One Cent a Word for each insertion, except when one wants more than one, when we make special terms. The majority of advertisings is not genuine business. Our editors will please make a note of this, and govern themselves accordingly.

Another strange idea some advertisers have is that they ought to have a lower ordinary rate than other people, because they use a ten dollar display, filling columns—the same as if out of sight, the merchant should throw in an extra yard of calico or packet of tea. We explain to such advertisers that their bargain is with the publisher, not with the reading public, except at may be a little referring to the selection of or a change in advertisements.

The usual Sunday afternoon temperance meeting will not be held next Sunday owing to the especial Sunday School exercises at some of the churches.

A load of hay, in charge of a German, capsized while turning into Main street from Milton avenue on Wednesday afternoon, on the way to George Ball's.

The members of Independence H. & L. Co., are arranging for their annual steamboat excursion, which will be to Long Branch, Grove, L. I., Thursday, Aug. 20th.

We have received from Messrs. G. Howard Cowie and Stanley Jones, students at Rutgers College, invitations to attend the annual commencement exercises.

President Long, of the Union County Board of Agriculture, exhibited at the meeting last Thursday a number of Indian arrow and spear heads ploughed up on his farm.

Mrs. Joseph W. Martin and Miss Daisy Romney, have been visiting Harry and Charlie Martin, who are attending college at Claverack, N. Y., it being commencement week.

Charlie Rollinson, son of Postmaster Rollinson, while playing ball on Friday last, suffered a compound dislocation of the thumb of his left hand, which was put in place by Dr. Daly.

The board of assessment commissioners has organized with Andrew Halliday as chairman and A. B. Cook secretary. Thos. Levy and Chas. E. Reed have been appointed as field men.

On Sunday evening, Rev. T. C. Mayham will preach a sermon on temperance in the Second M. E. church. He has the reputation of being a very emphatic speaker on that subject.

Those who see this notice Thursday evening are reminded of the entertainment of the Women's Relief Corps at the Opera House. The programme arranged is a very excellent one.

Robert S. Green, Jr., son of the ex-Governor, was admitted to the bar to practice as attorney by the Supreme Court last week, and on Saturday started on a six weeks visit to Europe.

Allie Chamberlain, the expert bicyclist, took a header at the Rahway Athletic Association grounds Friday last, bruising himself severely and breaking both his wheel and record by the fall.

Considerable sensation was stirred up in some quarters last week because J. H. Stull, a pattern maker at the Signal Works went away on his yacht on Monday and did not return until Saturday.

It does not appear to be generally known that the same parties that recently gave the Rahway Library Association $10,000, also gave the Rahway Cemetery authorities $5,000 for certain purposes.

It was expected that the 3d ward adjustment sale would be ready to advertise in this issue, but it has been deferred another week. Those who are still delinquent, will therefore have time yet to settle up.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendolin Leber, of this city, are spending a few days at Washington, D. C. One of the pleasures of the trip looked forward to will be the reception given by the President on Wednesday of this week, at which they expect to be present.

The Chancellor has decided against the city of Rahway in the claim for taxes against F. L. Sheldon and the Sheldon Company, whose assets were placed in the hands of a receiver—the grounds being that the levy on the property was not properly made.

At the annual meeting of the Rahway Christian Endeavor Union held in the 1st Presbyterian church on Monday evening, the 8th inst., the following were elected as the officers of the Union, for the ensuing year: President, Henry Woodruff; Secretary, Harry Waters, and Treasurer, Frank Potter.

Rev. Father McCooker, of St. Mary's R. C. church, this city, will enjoy a summer vacation this season. His health has not been good for several months, and he goes away for recuperation. This week he is visiting in his old parish at Newton. During his absence Father Bogan, of East Newark, will officiate.

The monument erected by the Odd Fellows of New Jersey in memory of the late Aaron B. Crane, past grand representative, will be unveiled with appropriate ceremony, on Sunday, June 14th, under the auspices of the lodges, and encampments of Newark.

There are some very unpleasant reports of indulgences of residents of this vicinity in pastimes on Sunday which are entirely unbecoming the sanctity which should prevail on that day, and the injunction to "Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it Holy" is thus disobeyed.

Last week we referred to the arrival of Mrs. E. T. M. Simmons and children from California, at her father's in this city, Mr. E. Mudcell's. We should have included Mr. Simmons, also, who, accompanied his family—our impression then being that he was detained for a time by business.

The second trial of John C. Raymond, for burning the Institute building at Iselin, closed abruptly Wednesday of last week, when he entered a plea of non vult. Judge McCormick, who was sitting for Judge Rice, sentenced him to State prison for three years and six months. He had been in the county jail two years.

Baggage Master D. R. Parker, wife and father, returned from their three weeks visit in Ohio and Indiana, Sunday last, all greatly benefitted by the change and rest. As it is about time for the summer exodus to the seashore, Mr. Parker's rest was opportune, as there is "a right smart" number of "Saratogas" to handle.

An animated discussion on "cuffs and collars and how to preserve their gloss" took place in Sam Wah's laundry Friday night last, between Rahway's Bill Nye and the Celestial tiator on manipulator. It was greatly enjoyed by those who stood without and heard it, all agreeing that Sam's points were well based.

Clarence Vescelius, son of William A. Vescelius, who recently left this city for Detroit, Mich., to engage in business with a firm of which his uncle is President, has been appointed collector and is doing splendidly. His friends hope for his rapid advancement in the future. He has been on business in Canada recently.

A box of Ayer's Pills has saved many a fit of sickness. When a remedy does not happen to be within reach, people are liable to neglect slight ailments, and, of course, if serious illness follows they have to suffer the consequences "A stitch in time saves nine."

Fire.

Shortly after three o'clock on Tuesday afternoon smoke was seen issuing from between the barn and tool house of J. Edward Marsh, St. George's ave. An alarm was given to the workmen on the premises, and they went soon at hand, but it was fully fifteen minutes before the fire was extinguished, and had it not been for a garden hose which was attached to the hydrant in the yard the damage would have been greater. The cause was supposed to be a spark from the furnace ignition some wood that had been placed there. The Fire Department was soon on their way, but they were of no use, as the fire was under control by the time they arrived. The damage was small.

William Custer, bartender at Giebelhaus' saloon, severely mashed his thumb with the mallet while tapping a keg to of beer last Thursday night. He went Dr. Cladek's to have the wound dressed. He bore the injury with great courage, probably due to the fact that he is a nephew of the late brave Gen. Custer.

Children's Day will be observed in the Second M. E. church on Sunday. At the morning service the pastor, Rev. T. C. Mayham, will preach an appropriate sermon; in the afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be interesting services by the Sunday school, including singing, recitations, address, etc. There will be the usual floral decorations.

The Baptist Home Society of North and East New Jersey has been recently organized, the purpose being to establish a home for aged and destitute Baptists. Mrs. J. R. Rollinson, of this city, is the corresponding secretary. The question of a location for the home is now being discussed, and Plainfield is prominently mentioned.

The water commissioners visited the works on Tuesday and found everything in excellent condition, for which they highly complimented engineer LaForge and his assistants, as well as superintendent Bunn for the care and fine interest shown. It is not expected that there will be no necessity for repairs to either machinery or buildings for a long time.

Officer Conger arrested Samuel Dawson on Wednesday for larceny of cherries, and he was held by Judge Trusler in bail of $50. Mr. Schlundt rents a house of Dawson's father, and has the use of the grounds attached, on which the cherry tree is situated; hence Dawson claimed the right to pick and take away the cherries, which resulted in the complaint and arrest.

Mayor Chamberlain has won in the Court of Errors a suit against Judah P. Berry, which went against him in both the lower courts. It was originally a judgment obtained by Mr. Chamberlain against John Yose, and while the officer went to sell the goods Berry, Yose's brother-in-law, claimed the property—hence the litigation which is now decided. City Attorney Berry was Chamberlain's counsel.

At a recent election of officers of the Baptist Sunday School the following were chosen: Asst Supt. A. Wilson; secretary, George L. Reed; treasurer, Stewart B. Moffett; librarian, William H. Rollinson; assistant, R. Avery. The superintendent was passed over, on account of the recent serious illness of superintendent Haverstick, who will be re-elected, it is expected, able to attend to the duty.

A horse attached to a wagon and belonging to Erastus Woodruff, while hitched to the post in front of Brown & Smith's drug store, on Wednesday, became frightened at a street band and commenced rearing, each time heading for the large show window of the store. Mr. Smith tried to quiet the animal, but while doing so was struck on the breast by the horse's hoof, and fell and was also bruised. The horse had by this time broken the tie strap and the hitching post, but was finally subdued.

Father Von Schilgen, the examiner of the Parochial Schools of the Diocese of Newark, examined the children of St. Mark's school this week, and expressed great pleasure and satisfaction at their progress both in the English and German studies, under the superintendence of Father Miller. The school will close June 29th, on which day Father Miller intends giving the children a nice cream festival.

The conference of the Union County Christian Endeavor Union will be held in the Second Presbyterian church, this city, on Friday evening, June 19. The local societies are making preparations to give the visiting societies a royal reception, and the exercises promise to be of great interest. Papers will be read by Miss Alice Spangenberg, of Plainfield; Mr. Williams, of this city, and Miss Middaugh, of Elizabeth. There will also be an address, reports and election of officers.

DeWolf Hopper, and his admirable co-erie of artistic singers, are drawing such enormous houses at the Broadway Theatre, New York City, that even the capacity of the immense playhouses is taxed to its utmost. "Wang," the amusing and gorgeously staged production from the pens of Messrs. Cheever Goodwin and Woolson Morse is well worthy of a visit to the theatre, as the large audiences in attendance nightly verify.

At the quarterly conference of the 2d M. E. church Monday evening there was a lengthy discussion on the question of securing a location for a new church. The preponderance was in favor of the corner of Main street and Milton avenue, the old Crowell-Hotel site—though there were some strong advocates of a location on Milton avenue west of the railroad. It was decided to adjourn to Monday evening, June 22d, to take final action.

Mr. Thos. C. Brady, the engineer at the Electric Light Works, lost by death his youngest child, a daughter, Sunday evening last, who died of congestion of the lungs resulting from an attack of the measles. Octavia was a bright little girl, and the pet of the households. Mr. Brady's bereavement is one of deep sorrow, and he has the condolence of a large circle of friends.

The trial of Wallace Laing for assault on Thomas Brady, election night, was put off for the term Tuesday, it having been deferred two days now on account of the illness of Mr. Brady, which prevented him from being in court, and the prosecutor stating that was the only case against the manslaughter indictment of Buckman and Jennie Wiley, and the Hatter embezzlement case which was to be tried Wednesday and Friday, and he did not think it wise to bring the jury back for the one case.

Alexander Williams, colored, of this city, was indicted for grand larceny in taking Harry Marsh's horse and wagon to Newark and disposing of it; and also for petty larceny in taking a pair of andirons from John Hewitt, and whose trials were put down for Tuesday, of Rahway, for pleas guilty to embezzlement in the former case, which the prosecutor was willing to accept as he thought it was the proper plea, and in the latter case he entered a nolle pros., as he thought the evidence of larceny was very meager. Sentence will be Saturday.

The Parkston, South Dakota, Advance, in its account of Memorial Day exercises, has the following reference to a former resident of this vicinity:

"Dr. E. T. Laing was introduced by Commander Doty and rendered an impressive and effective manner the poem "You Put no Flowers on My Papa's Grave." The doctor has taken a great deal of interest and spent much time in helping to make the Sabbath service here and the service at Ethan on July 30 as impressive and interesting as possible for which the "Old Boys" feel truly grateful."

Children's Day services will be held at the Baptist church on next Sunday afternoon. The following interesting exercises have been arranged:

Organ voluntary; invocation; singing, congregation; responsive reading, "The Source of Light;" singing, "Hours of Sunshine," school; scripture reading, "Some Festal Days;" recitation, "Child World;" recitation, "Little Things;" singing, "In God's Great Sunlight," school; responsive reading, "Triumph of the Light;" recitations and music by the primary department; singing, "Beautiful Sunshine," school; recitations, "The Church Spider," "God's Messages in the Flowers;" responsive reading, "The New Song;" singing, "Flowers of Sunshine," school; Grandma's Hour With the Hymns; singing, "Children's Day Anthem;" distribution of gifts from the school; address; responsive reading, "Joyful Praise;" singing, school and congregation; benediction.

What the Women of Rahway are Doing.

The wise women of this town are using "White Yankee" for cleaning their windows, looking glasses and silver ware—and why not? It not only saves labor, but saves the carpets, floor and window sills from becoming wet as in the old way and puts a polish on glass and silverware never before attainable. Use it once and you will never be without it. For sale everywhere; price 20 cents a box.

Mrs. Laura Tourtellot, of Norwich, Conn., has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Moses Turner, this city, during the past week.

Maj. Geo. P. Edgar, who has been for some months engaged in Washington, D. C., has returned to his home in this city for the summer.

A boat oar was found floating in the river one day last week, which can be obtained by inquiring at this office and paying for notice.

Mr. Wm. A. Vescelius, jeweler, has received three large cases for exhibiting his silverware, from the A. H. Revell Mfg. Co., of Chicago, Ill.

Stalwart officer Haley attracted unusual attention this week as he proceeded through the streets with a double barreled gun over his shoulder. He was "gunning" for dogs that did not appear in the costume provided by the Mayor's proclamation.

John Vance, the green goods man who operated in this city, was arraigned on Monday in the court of sessions and pleaded not guilty to two indictments—one for misdemeanor and one for false pretenses. The prosecutor stated it would be impossible to get the witness Maynor, from Virginia at the present term, and he would put the trial down for the third Tuesday of October. Bail was fixed at $1,000 on each indictment.

Vance asked to come before the court again Wednesday afternoon, when he retracted, and pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $500 which was paid and he was liberated.

Anniversary exercises were held by the Sunday school of the Second Presbyterian Church on Sunday afternoon last. The inclement weather kept a number away, although the church was well filled. The decorations were very beautiful, and the singing, led by Mr. James Dunn, was excellent. The programme consisted of singing, prayer, reading of the reports from the main school, the Six Readers of the Grand Street Chapel, presentation of Bibles and Testaments to those who had committed to memory the Short Catechism and those also who recited the introductory; remarks by the pastor, and responsive reading by the school. Services were not held in the evening, but a cordial invitation was extended for all to attend the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary services of the mother church, the First Presbyterian.

Mr. C. A. Bennett, general manager of the Freehold (N. J.) Gas Light Co., writes that three years ago they painted the tin and iron roofs of their gas works and electric light station, and also a large smoke stack and the boiler fronts with Dixon's graphite paint, and that the present condition of the paint is apparently as good as when it was first put on. He was much pleased with it that he recommended it to the county officials who have used it on all of the Monmouth Co. buildings to their entire satisfaction. The manufacturers, Jos. Dixon Crucible Co., Jersey City, N. J., claim that one pound of it will cover as much surface as two or three pounds of any lead, mineral, or metallic paint, and that it will last four or five times longer. The manufacturers will gladly send circulars explaining the paint.

The Rutgers College Preparatory School Glee Club, of which Mr. Stanley Jones, of this city, is a member, assisted by Mr. Smith, elocutionist, and Mr. L. Meyers, banjoist, of Jersey City, entertained a good audience at the street, high day school on Thursday evening of last week. A pleasing programme was arranged, and was carried out successfully as follows:

("The Tar's Song," Glee Club; banjo solo, Mr. Meyers; "Dance of the Nixies," Glee Club; recitation, Mr. Smith; "A Sailor's Dream," Glee Club; solo, A. W. Meyers; "Jack and Gill," Glee Club; recitation, Mr. Smith; song, "Old Black Joe," Glee Club; banjo, Mr. Meyers; serenade, "Peaceful be Thy Sleep," Glee Club)

All the parts were well rendered, and and double and triple encores were frequent.

A man from Newark was driving through this city Friday night last, with a horse and wagon, when he was met by a Mr. Dawson, who pantered him for a trade. Dawson represented his horse as an excellent one. The trade was made, but when the stranger reached the lower part of the city his new horse gave out and fell down exhausted. H. Dayt Crosby, agent of the Society of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals for this city, investigated and found the horse was about dying and called officer Dunham to shoot the animal, which he did in a very dextrous manner. Word was sent to Glazier, the "fat boiler" and his sent his ambulance and had the carcass removed before seven o'clock next morning. It was reported that the stranger proposed to proceed against Dawson for defrauding him, but we have heard of no steps yet taken. We did learn the name of the Newark man who said he was on the way to Philadelphia, proposing to "camp" along the way.

Sontonco Day.

A number of sentences were pronounced by the court of sessions at Elizabeth on Saturday, as follows:

Charles Partelloe, the young colored man who was employed for a time at Baird's restaurant in this city, and who shot another colored man named Chase, in a colored harber shop in Elizabeth, was found guilty on Friday of atrocious assault—was sentenced to two years in state prison, Judge McCormick stating in pronouncing sentence that those who carry pistols and commit such offences should always be severely punished.

Wm. Tice and Robert Parks, two boys, petty larceny, ten days county jail.

Jos. Higgins cruelly to a horse, by turning it out to run at large, fined $5, the representatives of the S. P. C. A. having asked for lenience, as they only wanted the man reprimanded that it might be a warning to others.

Michael O'Loughlin, a lad for stealing chickens, received three months in county jail.

George Price, of this city, was arraigned for assault and battery on Thos. Brady election night, having pleaded not guilty. Lawyer Lindsay appeared for the defense and stated that notwithstanding he had chosen not to go to trial, because he had not the money to expend for counsel fees, etc., he believed if the facts were presented to a jury he would have been acquited, as the complainant was the aggressor having rushed out of a barroom and struck Price while sitting on the railing of the porch, which the latter very justly, he thought, resented by striking Brady. The Prosecutor stating that such was about the facts as he had learned, in relation to Price, there being charges against others for beating Brady. On these representations sentence was suspended.

James Gaffney, an old offender, was sent to state prison for one year for assault and battery.

Harry C. Meeks and Jos. C. Foley, of New York, for passing forged checks in Elizabeth, were called up, when Prosecutor Marsh said he thought the court should make a distinction, as Meeks had openly confessed and saved the county expense, while Foley had "checked" it and kept the court engaged nearly a whole day trying the different charges against him, on all of which he was found guilty. Meeks is of good family and had a high recommendation from superintendent Hale, of the Manhattan Railway Co. In passing sentence Judge McCormick said he had no doubt this crime and disgrace was brought on him by keeping bad company and frequenting pool rooms, it having been learned that they made a business of following the races. Meeks was sentenced to two years and Foley to five years in state prison, Meeks' mother was in court and wept bitterly when he was called up. She had previously stated to members of the court that Harry had always been a good boy, and this was the first time he had ever got in trouble. She had brought him up well and always taught him to tell the truth, and he had done so even in this case. He had provided a home for her, she being a widow, and she keenly felt the disgrace this indiscretion had brought upon them.

To the Public.

I have received the full amount of the insurance on the death of my mother Mary Brennan, this day paid to me by John O. Tichenor, assistant superintendent of the Metropolitan Insurance Co., the amount being $128.

ROBERT BRENNAN.

Rahway, June 5, 1891.

BITS OF RAHWAY HISTORY.

Rahway Fort (Circle town).

This now quiet part of our city was once a busy mart, long ago known as Bricktown, and since given the more euphonious appellation of Rahway Port; it is still by many called by its old title. It derived this name because at one time it was noted as a shipping place for the millions of bricks that were annually made in and about Rahway. At that time every farm from "Dentzler's Point" to the Robinson branch of the Rahway river, had a brick yard, and all of the ancient lower part of New York City and old Tammany Hall were built of bricks manufactured in Rahway. Twenty sloops ran out of our river weekly carrying bricks. There were in those days three shipyards at Bricktown, numerous stores, etc., and it was a lively place generally, where the ancestors of some of Rahway's now influential and active citizens made their "pile." Brickytown was originally known as "Shotwell's Landing." It was settled by this family in 1708. The old house stood near the present residence of Mr. Edward Mays, about 100 feet from the river. Mary Shotwell (who died in 1768), was the wife of John Shotwell, the original settler. Her husband's grandfather was one of the earliest settlers of Elizabeth Town, and in a dispute with Governor Carteret, was obliged, in a novel trick that ensued, to throw the governor overboard in the Elizabeth river. One of his sons, John, was the original settler at Rahway Port. Abel Shotwell, Abraham F. Shotwell, deceased, Doctor J. H. Shotwell, and Jacob H. Shotwell, Esq., are all descended from the original settler of Rahway Port.

Abel V. Shotwell has in his possession the original will of Mary Shotwell, the widow of John. It is a quaint manuscript, written in a quaint but peculiar hand, and is oddly worded. It is dated the 10th month, 1776. One of the witnesses was Thomas Lattin, grandfather of Miriam Morrell, who kept a store in the old David P. Morrell building, which is now rapidly crumbling into dust, and is over 150 years old. A son of John Shotwell (the first settler), named Joseph, lived where the Union County Bank now stands. He was the great grandfather of Jacob H. Shotwell. At one time he owned all the land situated between the Robinson branch and the main branch of the Rahway river in Upper Rahway.

Jacob R. Shotwell was the possessor of the original deed which some time ago he presented to the New Jersey Historical Society.

The old Lime Kiln at Bricktown was built during this century by William Shotwell; who died long years ago. He was the owner of the brick yards on the "shunpike" just this side of the "pipe maker's." That region all about there is "pitted" and just in the rear of the chestnut woods (Gibby's) is a clay pit that was used as a dirt fort by the Continentals; the old brick yards are still visible. The old shunpike was built in 1810. It crossed the meadows near Bricktown and the river at Edgar's, where a bridge connecting the shore lines was built, having a toll house on the western shore that still stands on Edgar's dock. The father of our townsman, Abraham Turner, was toll keeper there, as was Major Tway. The shunpike was built by Thomas Edgar after the Essex and Middlesex turnpike, which was about 1808, to shorten the route (which, prior to that, was by St. George's road, originally known as Queen Anne's road, that was built, in 1704, on the line of the old Indian trail from Elizabeth Town point, passing through Upper Rahway and Milton), to New Brunswick, and it cut Woodbridge out. The bridge at Edgar's was carried away in a great freshet and never rebuilt. Boating parties may see remains of it near the mouth of the little creek opposite Edgar's dock, also the road along the southern bank that leads across the meadows to Grand street and hence to Elizabeth. The writer and Mr. Rudolph Rohrbach saunted out from Rahway Port a short time ago, and visited some of the old historical points. Mr. Rolph made some very clever sketches of what he termed "the ruins of Thebes," to wit, the Lime Kiln, Pottery, and Lamp Black Factory walls that have been standing. They are on exhibition at his store on Cherry street. A general quiet now prevails in that region once a hive of industry and thrift. The brick yards are all like the sturdy hands that moulded the bricks—no more. There are no stores, no shipyards, and no sloops lying moored at the docks. The Lime Kiln burns no more, nor does the Potter turn his wheel. The introduction of the iron horse and the road he traverses has, in conjunction with a more dense population, new towns, improved machinery, etc., thrown the region into anonymous desuetude, and its glory and renown has passed away. The docks, piles, are crumbling, and a general quiet prevails that would astonish those of a hundred years ago who toilet there, and cultivated that region, could they return from the bayond.

Back of the ruins of the old Lime Kiln is a knoll studded with numerous old fashioned headstones. The writer copied the inscriptions from a number of them, though some of them have withstood the elements for 150 years, quite almost effaced. There were eighteen in all. On the slabs, in most instances, amid wild rose bushes, brambles and briers (which tore his clothes and hands) are the following inscriptions: "W. W., 1768;" "Widow Phebe, relict of Dennis Morris, August 14th, 1812;" "David, son of Oliver and Jean Kelly, Feb. 12th, 1795;" "In memory of Elizabeth, daughter of Aaron and Rhoda Miller, Sept. 20th, 1803;" "John Morris, Feb. 23d, 1804;" "Rhoda, wife of J. M., who died June 5th, 1806;" "J. M., 1779;" "M. M., 1758;" "M. M., 1758;" "R. M., 1776;" "J. M., 1757;" "D. M., 1751;" "M. M., 1801." These people were the ancestors of Mrs. Andrew Jackson and Mrs. Fannie Cowie, wife of Lieutenant Cowie of the United States Navy. Mrs. Cowie, it will be remembered, had an ancient relic of Dennis Morris on exhibition at the recent fair given by the Young Men's Christian Association. The Morrises were very early settlers at Rahwack.

A Fad Sequel.

On May 15th we noticed in these columns the marriage by Justice Frazee, of Jane McCafferty, of New Market, to Thomas Jones, and the following is an unpleasant sequel we find in the Elizabeth Journal of Monday:

Reports were recently made to the county police authorities of numerous robberies of farms, poultry houses and granaries of farms in this, Middlesex and Somerset counties. The depredations have extended over six months.

On Sunday County Detectives Keron and Detective John M. C. Marr traced the thefts to Louis Wahl and August Arnold, who were living together in a small house near what is known as "The Oaks," midway between Metuchen and Plainfield.

The prisoners were taken to police headquarters in this city, where they were held until yesterday. Wahl is over fifty years of age. He persisted in his innocence, but Arnold, who is about twenty-five years old, frankly confessed to sharing in the thefts. Four weeks ago Arnold was married to a respectable young woman who lived with a family at Roselle as a domestic. She had no suspicion that her husband was engaged in such work, and her grief was pitiful to behold when Detective McGrail put the handcuffs on Arnold at police headquarters preparatory to taking him to the county jail. She threw her arms around the prisoner, kissed him and clung to him until she had to be gently removed by the officers and placed in Chief Tenney's room. There she became hysterical. Meanwhile her husband was taken to the jail.

When Wahl saw the grief of the young woman, he also made a confession and said he planned the robberies and "broke in" his youthful companion. The men were committed to jail.

Jones, Smith and "We."

"You seem to be always miserable, Mr. Smith, and I feel sorry for you," said Mr. Jones. "So I am," replied Mr. Smith; "life has no pleasure for me. Anxiety has robbed me of one-half my enjoyment, and remorse has got away with the other half."

"Say, Smith! We know what's the matter with you. You evidently have not a particle of common sense in your head or your heels either. You just take our advice. Go to 270 Greenwich street and buy a pair of Coward's Common Sense Shoes, and in an hour afterward you will feel like dancing a horn pipe, and kicking remorse out of doors, and spelling anxiety comfort.

Drowned.

Word was received in this city, Friday last, of the drowning of Chas. F., son of Mr. Ira C. Ayers, of the firm of Lufbery & Ayers, which occurred the evening previous, near Beatty Westmoreland county, Penn., where he was a student at St. Vincent's Abbey, a large institution of learning, having come there in October last for a course, of course, preparatory to the acceptance of a position tendered him in a bank in New York city. With a number of classmates he was bathing in the river near the college, and suddenly gave a wild cry and sank beneath its surface. Four hours later the lifeless body was recovered, carefully prepared for burial and placed in care of undertaker Stader to Elizabeth, where it arrived Saturday morning, the family of the college sending a classmate with the remains. The deceased was a son of Mr. Ayers by his first wife, who died about 15 years ago, since which time he had resided with his grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Dellert, at her request. The young man was aged 19 years, and was a favorite among his associates at the Port. He was a member of St. Michael's church and of St. Stanislaus society of the parish; also the Star Dramatic Association and the Autocrats. He is formerly a client under Street Commissioner Stratemeyer. The obsequies were held at Mrs. Dellert's residence Sunday afternoon, and were largely attended by friend and relatives, and the various organizations he belongs to, including companies of the 1st N. G. J. Rev. Father Marianus Beyer of S. Joseph's church, Chicago, Illinois, a personal friend of the deceased, officiated. Many floral offerings were very numerous. A large cross from the students of St. Vincent College, with the motto "Our Fellow Student." A pillow from the Autocrats, motto "Sympathy." A pillow with the word "Friend," from personal friends at the City Hall. A pillow from the Star Dramatic Association. A column from a lady friend in Newark, inscribed "In God's Care." A pillow from his beloved sister in Rahway inscribed "Brother." From the relatives of deceased a large pillow inscribed "Our Nephew." The saleslades at Hersh's store sent a large cross inscribed "Rest." A Mass for the repose of his soul was offered up at 8 o'clock in the morning by Father Quinlivan.

The remains were escorted to their last resting place in Mount Olivet cemetery by Company E, headed by its drum and fife corps and followed by a large concourse of friends.

The relatives and friends, especially the father and sister in this city, have the sympathy of the community in this sudden bereavement.

Union County Roadsters.

MIDSUMMER MEETING JULY FOURTH.

The Union County Roadsters and the Rahway Athletic Association have combined to give Rahway a big day on the "Glorious Fourth," in the way of games, etc. The games will take place on the grounds of the Association on Milton avenue, and will start promptly at 2 p. m. They will consist of bicycle and running races, and if the day is clear will be followed by a game of base ball by the R. A. A. vs. the Stars, of Newark.

The bicycle races will consist of two one mile club races open to members of the U. C. R. Gold medal to first and silver medal to second in each event. Handicapped to the handicapped by Games Committee to the U. C. R. Two one mile open races, open to all amateur riders—gold and silver medals. Two two mile races open to all amateur riders—gold and silver medals. Competitors to be handicapped by the A. W. official handicapper. Three-fifths of a mile, boy race—(Juvenile wheels)—open to boys 15 years of age and under. In this race three medals will be awarded and no entrance fee charged.

Dr. C. B. Holmes, president of the U. C. R. has donated two handsome medals to be competed for in this event and the club gives one.

Her campaign's just begun;
She'll flirt, and flirt, and flirt and flirt;
To her all men are sun.

And it often comes to pass
That are the frosts of fall,
She falls in love herself and then
To her the man is all.

BOOK OF THE LAW FOUND.

LESSON XI, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, JUNE 14.

Text of the Lesson, II Chron. xxxiv, 14-28. Connecting Verses, 14-16—Golden Text, Ps. cxix, 72—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

14. "Hilkiah the priest found a book of the law of the Lord given by Moses."

Hezekiah cleansed and repaired the temple and restored the true worship.

He was succeeded by his son Manasseh, who reigned fifty-five years, and for a part of his reign tried to do as much for the devil as his father had done for God; but being taken prisoner and carried to Babylon, he repented and became a changed man; and being restored to his throne and kingdom, he sought to restore the worship of the true God. His son Amon reigned two years and did evil. He was succeeded by Josiah, his son, in whose reign our lesson is found. He began to reign at the age of 8 years; when 16 he began to seek God, and when 20 he began to cleanse the land of idols. At the age of 26 he began to repair the house of the Lord (see vs. 1, 2, 8), and it was as the priest took the money from the receptacles in the temple into which the people had put it that this old book was found.

15. "I have found the book of the law in the house of the Lord."

Thus said Hilkiah, the priest, to Shaphan, the scribe, as he gave him the book. It is probable that this is the book referred to in Deut. xxxi, 24-26, and if so it would be nearly 900 years old.

16. "And Shaphan carried the book to the king."

As Shaphan went to report to the king concerning the accomplishments of the work he took the book with him, having first read it for himself (II Kings xxii, 8).

17. "They have gathered together the money that was found in the house of the Lord, and have delivered it into the hands of the overseers, and to the hand of the workmen."

18. "Hilkiah the priest hath given me a book. And Shaphan read it before the king."

19. "And it came to pass, when the king had heard the words of the law, that he rent his clothes."

By the law is the knowledge of sin (Rom. iii, 20), and as Josiah heard the law of the Lord he saw as he never had before how great the sins of the nation were. His heart trembled at the word, and therefore he was a blessed man (Isa. lxvi, 2).

20, 21. "Go, inquire of the Lord for me, and for them that are left in Israel and in Judah, concerning the words of the book that is found."

These men were appointed by the king to ascertain more fully concerning these words. Here is a priest and a king, but a prophet is wanted who will make plain the word of the Lord.

"Great is the wrath of the Lord that is poured out upon us, because our fathers have not kept the word of the Lord to do after all that is written in this book."

There is more than enough in any of the last six chapters of Deuteronomy, or in Lev. xxvi, to cause Josiah to have uttered these words; and it was manifest to all that many of these curses had already actually come upon the land and upon the people because of their sins.

22. "And Hilkiah and they that the king had appointed went to Huldah, the prophetess."

This was in the eighteenth year of Josiah's reign, or five years after Jeremiah began to prophesy (Jer. i, 2), and we wonder that they did not go to him. Zephaniah also prophesied in Josiah's reign (Zeph. i, 1), but for some reason the messengers go to Huldah.

23. "And she answered them. Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, tell ye the man that sent you to me."

These men were only the messengers of King Josiah; their business was to deliver the king's message correctly and carry back a correct answer. Happy are all messengers who are privileged to carry a "Thus saith the Lord."

24. "Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring evil upon this place, all the curses that are written in the book."

In Jer. ii, 12; vi, 19, the Lord calls heaven and earth to witness against the people because of their sins, and also in Isa. i, 2. In Jer. xix, 3, 15; xxxv, 17, He also repeats what He here says by Huldah, that He will surely bring evil upon them.

25. "Because they have forsaken me, and have burned incense unto other gods."

Many were the entreaties by Moses and Joshua not to forsake God, and solemn the warnings as to what the result would be if they forsook Him (see Deut. xxxi, 16, 17; Josh. xxiv, 20). All, yea that very thing they did, so that the prophets and Psalms are full of lamentations because Israel forsook the God of their fathers (Ezek. xii, 12; v, 7; ix, 12; xix, 8; xxiii, 9, etc.).

26. "And as for the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire of the Lord, so shall ye say unto him."

The evil spoken of was to come upon the ungodly people, but the Lord knoweth them that are His (II Tim. ii, 19), and no evil can befall them. Ezekiel saw in a vision a man with a writer's inkhorn, who was to set a mark upon the foreheads of those who sighed and cried because of the abominations done in the land; and when the destroying angel went forth he was to begin at the sanctuary, but not come near any upon whom was the mark.

27. "Because thine heart was tender, and thou didst humble thyself before God when thou heardst his words."

The Lord is nigh unto them that are of a broken heart. A broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise." God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace to the humble (Ps. xxxiv, 18; lvii, 17; Jas. iv, 6). He observes all who tremble at His word, and is ready to show Himself strong on their behalf (Isa. lxvi, 2; I Chron. xvi, 9). He hears the prayers of such. When we take heed to His word, and ask in accordance therewith, we may be sure that He hears.

28. "Behold, I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be gathered to thy grave in peace, neither shall thine eyes see all the evil."

Josiah was not to witness the sufferings of his people nor the desolation of his land. It was God's will for him that he should have a peaceful death and burial, while his spirit went to join the company of the redeemed who had passed over before him. That he died in battle was owing to his willfulness and his refusing to heed the words of God through Necho (chap. xxxv, 22, 23). We bring much evil upon ourselves which God would gladly spare us if we were only obedient. Let us humble ourselves to walk with God, and be in the fear of the Lord all the day long (Prov. xxiii, 17). Let us stand with the faithful few who seek to do right in the sight of the Lord. And may we be able to say sincerely, "The law of Thy mouth is better unto me than thousands of gold and silver."

Wonders

Are wrought by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor in restoring gray hair to its original color, promoting a new growth, preventing the hair from falling, keeping it soft, silky, and abundant, and the scalp healthy, and free from dandruff or humors. The universal testimony is that this preparation has no equal as a dressing, and is therefore indispensable to every well furnished toilet.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for some time and it has worked wonders for me. I was troubled with dandruff and was rapidly becoming bald; but since using the Vigor my head is perfectly clear of dandruff, the hair has ceased coming out, and I now have a good growth, of the same color as when I was a young woman. I can heartily recommend any one suffering from dandruff or loss of hair to use Ayer's Hair Vigor as a dressing."—Mrs. Lydia O. Moody, East Pittston, Me.

"Some time ago my wife's hair began to come out quite freely.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

not only prevented my wife from becoming bald, but it also caused an entirely new growth of hair. I am ready to certify to the statement before a justice of the peace."—H. Heisebeck, Lewisburgh, Iowa.

"Some years ago, after a severe attack of brain fever, my hair all came out. I used such preparations for restoring it as my physicians ordered, but failed to produce a growth of hair. I then tried, successively, several articles recommended by druggists, and all alike fell short of accomplishing the desired result. The last remedy I applied was Ayer's Hair Vigor, which brought a growth of hair in a few weeks. I think I used eight bottles in two years; more than was necessary as a restorative, but I liked it as a dressing, and have continued to use it for that purpose. I believe Ayer's Hair Vigor possesses virtues far above those of any similar preparation now on the market."—Vincent Jones, Richmond, Ind.

THE Bravest Soldiers OF '61.

A Wonderful Book made from the records of the War Department.

CONTAINING

TY. PAGE ENGRAVING

T. P. Rodenbough U. S. A.

Of the 1,772,200 Men enlisted in the Union Army and Navy, 1861-1865 THERE HAS BEEN

Were recognized by the War Department as coming under the Act of Congress, July 12, 1862, for distinguished bravery, which gave them the United States Medal of Honor.

Many of these thrilling stories, told by the heroes themselves, are wonderfully interesting. That the records of their heroic deeds are almost unknown, and have been buried in the pigeon holes of the War Dept., and in the recesses of their own breasts, seems astonishing.

Those who read this book will glory in it. It is an 8vo volume of over 800 pages, with 100 excellent illustrations. It ranks of its time and deserves a place in every library.

Third Annual Message

OF HIS EXCELLENCY

ROBERT S. GREEN

GOVERNOR OF NEW JERSEY,

TO THE

LEGISLATURE--SESSION OF 1890.

To the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

GENTLEMEN—In obedience to the Constitution, I have the honor to communicate to you the condition of the State, with my recommendation of several measures which I deem expedient.

THE FINANCES.

The financial condition of the State for the year ending October 31st, 1889, is shown in detail by the reports of the Comptroller and Treasurer.

From these reports the following summary is obtained:

STATE FUND REVENUES.

The State Fund received during the year from sources properly called revenue the following amounts:

From State tax on railroad and canal property		$938,515 59
From tax on miscellaneous corporations
Tax payable in 1889	$199,069 70
Tax payable in 1890 next year	23,725 33
		222,795 03
Fees for filing articles of incorporation: From insurance companies, &c.		49,573 68
From State Prison receipts		64,267 22
From dividends		18,870 00
From judicial fees		13,597 11
From official fees		18,230 55
From other sources of revenue		2,055 84
Total revenue		$1,327,905 02
It became necessary, in order to meet urgent demands, to make a temporary loan		150,000 00
Balance on hand October 31st, 1888		169,940 48
Total amount		$1,647,845 50

The disbursements for the fiscal year for the State Fund were as follows: On account of

Public debt	$90,000 00
Charitable and reformatory institutions	352,162 49
State Prison, &c.	324,260 53
Civil government, including Legislature	237,373 88
Military	123,516 04
Printing laws, &c., in newspapers	59,123 45
Printing and binding reports, pamphlets, &c.	44,022 92
Home for Feeble-Minded Children	47,100 31
Sanitary, &c.	78,446 03
Miscellaneous	49,843 32
	$1,405,849 02
Balance on hand October 31st, 1889	$241,996 48

The amount of disbursements includes payments on account of special appropriations, as follows:

Enlarging State House	$26,156 02
Trenton Insane Asylum	20,000 00
Morris Plains Asylum	12,000 00
Veterans' Home	27,186 98
Gettysburg Monument	9,549 89
Rockton and Kearny Statues	8,157 50
Celebration of Washington's inaugural	4,697 25
Laboratory at Agricultural College	4,632 46
New York Boundary Commission	3,006 41
Feeble-minded Home at Vineland	2,000 00
Special committee on Fisheries	500 00
Portrait of ex-Governor Parker	500 00
Appropriation to General William Truex	500 00
	$118,886 49

Leaving disbursements on account of current expenses, including $90,000 paid on the public debt | $1,286,962 53

The item of disbursements on account of military, of $123,516.04, includes expended for cloth, uniforms, &c., of which one-half will be deducted from future allowances to the regiments, and also $3,361.35, expended for camp equipage and like articles which continue in use from year to year.

The whole of the balance to the credit of the State Fund, October 31st, 1889, has been required to meet disbursements, appropriations and payments to the Sinking Fund for debt maturing January 1st, 1890. This latter amount was $60,889 instead of the usual payment of $90,000.00. There has been paid since October 31st, the sum of $12,812.11 on account of appropriations to the Soldiers' Home, in payment for work completed there. In consequence of these and other demands it has been necessary to continue the temporary loans which amount to $400,000.

The estimated ordinary receipts for the year are:

From railroad taxes	$950,000 00
From miscellaneous corporations	275,000 00
From State Prison earnings	60,000 00
From dividends and other sources	50,000 00
	$1,335,000 00
Balance on hand October 31st, 1889	241,996 48
	$1,576,996 48

Besides these estimated receipts there are several contingencies under which the State may reasonably expect to receive considerable sums of money during the year.

There is an unadjusted claim of a considerable amount against the Morris Canal and Banking Company or the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, its lessee, for taxes of back years, which has been the subject of much consideration, and which, it is hoped, may be soon satisfactorily adjusted by the action of the State Board of Assessors.

No conclusion has yet been reached in the case of the State against the Morris and Essex Railroad Company, the Delaware Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company, lessee, and which, under the act of 1887, was submitted to arbitrators, one to be selected by the company and the other by the State. I am, however, able to report that the testimony has all been taken, and that arguments of counsel on both sides are being submitted upon the controlling points in difference between the company and the State. We may look for a speedy decision of the questions which will settle the rights of the parties and furnish the rule upon which the computation of the amount to be paid is to be made. This latter work, in view of the exhaustive examination of the accounts already made, can take but a short period, and we may look, therefore, for a speedy adjudication of this claim, certainly before the adjournment of the Legislature. The claim of the State amounts to $1,165,099.10 as of December 31st, 1887. This includes all classes of charge objected to by the company. If, however, its objections, other than those which go to any recovery, should all be allowed there will still be due the State, without interest, $287,841.38.

There is now pending before Congress a bill to refund the tax paid by the State at the outbreak of the war. Such a bill was passed by both houses of the last Congress. In the event of such a bill becoming a law New Jersey would be entitled to receive $382,613.90.

The estimated disbursements for the year are:

For public debt	$126,278 00
Charitable and reformatory	303,080 47
Courts, State Prison, &c.	335,000 00
State government	203,000 00
Military	120,000 00
Publishing laws	70,000 00
Printing and binding	45,000 00
Blind and feeble minded	47,000 00
Scientific and sanitary, &c.	77,500 00
Miscellaneous	43,141 53
	$1,370,000 00
To pay temporary loans	400,000 00
	$1,770,000 00

Besides these ordinary disbursements, there remains to be provided for, of appropriations made in former years, the following amounts or balances:

Trenton Lunatic Asylum	$20,000 00
Morristown Asylum	18,000 00
Home for Disabled Soldiers	22,813 04
State Capitol	18,489 47
Reform School	11,000 00
State Prison, drainage, &c.	30,000 00
Deboraton at New Brunswick	25,367 54
Purchase of camp ground	80,000 00
Enlargement of clerk's room Assembly Chamber	5,000 00
Publication of early records	6,000 00
	$236,670 05
	$2,006,670 05

The financial condition may be summarized as follows:

Ordinary estimated receipts	$1,576,996 48
Possible receipts	750,000 00
		$2,326,996 48
Against this there are necessary disbursements of	$1,370,000 00
Temporary loans	400,000 00
Unpaid appropriations	236,670 55
		$2,006,670 55

SCHOOL TAX AND SCHOOL FUND.

The total amount of receipts from State School Tax during the year, including balance on hand October 31st, 1888, was $1,870,055.00: the whole of which was disbursed to the several counties of the State.

The total receipts of the School Fund during the year were:

From income	$340,614 55
From securities paid off	132,182 95
		$472,797 50
Balance on hand October 31st, 1888		303,435 98
Total		$776,233 48
Disbursements, including $242,159.38 invested, were		446,328 65
Balance October 31st, 1889		$329,904 82

The securities and cash of this fund were as follows at the end of the fiscal year, at par:

Railroad and bank stock	$146,500 00
United States bonds	481,500 00
Railroad bonds	17,000 00
State bonds	115,000 00
City and county bonds	668,000 00
Bonds of school districts	161,782 50
Bonds and mortgages	700,875 00
Riparian leases	978,246 81
Real estate	114,500 00
	$3,386,404 31
Cash	329,904 82
	$3,716,309 13

The Legislature in 1867 made a grant of certain lands under water in Jersey City to the Morris Canal and Banking Company, said grant being by metes and bounds, for which the said company or its successors or assigns were to pay annually the sum of $25,000, having a right under the said act to pay into the treasury of the State, at any time, the sum of $357,142 in lieu of said annual payment, it being the capitalization thereof at seven per cent. The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company as the lessee of the Morris Canal and Banking Company, on the twentieth of December, 1869, paid into the treasury the sum of $357,142 referred to in this grant. They also, under the fourth section of the act of March 31st, 1869, (Rev. p. 983) desiring "a paper capable of being acknowledged and recorded, made by and in the name of the State," conveying the land so granted to them by the act of 1867, with the benefits securing by the fourth section of the act of 1869, paid the further sum of $48,900, being the consideration mentioned in said section. They also, at the same time paid an accrued rental amounting up to that date, to $23,767.12. The $357,142 is included in the item of riparian leases amounting to $978,246.81 in the above enumeration, which item should be reduced by that amount, and it should be added to the item of cash, to which should also be added the sums of $48,900 and $23,767.12, together with the further amount of $2,800 received from a grant made since the end of the fiscal year, making the amount of the securities, leases and cash on hand belonging to the School Fund at the present time $3,790,876.25 at par value. As the market value of many of these securities is largely above par, it is estimated that the fund at present exceeds $4,000,000.

A moment's consideration shows that this fund is assuming dangerous proportions. It has already exceeded the amount required to answer any purpose which was originally contemplated by which can be practically attained. The amount expended for the maintenance of the public schools is now over $3,000,000 per annum, a sum which of course can never be produced from the income of a fund, and which must consequently be raised largely from a School Tax. The tax is not now an onerous one; is cheerfully paid by the people of the State, and serves a most useful purpose in maintaining the public interest in the successful operation of the schools. Why, then, should the State go on disposing of its lands under water, and accumulating the proceeds in the fund, when it is in debt for the building of its insane asylum, and when the crowded condition of the State Prison demands relief, either by the erection of an intermediate reformatory or additional buildings, and when the asylums, the Reform School, Industrial School for Girls and Home for Feeble Minded absolutely require more accommodation for the unfortunate or the wayward, which pressing necessities might be met by the application of such revenue to their demands?

RIPARIAN COMMISSIONERS.

The principal of the grants, leases, and leases, turned into grants during the year ending October 31st, 1889, amounts to $225,986.32. The amount paid to the State during the year as rental on leases made by the Legislature or by the Commissioners, was $57,519.60. The principal of grants and capitalization of leases for lands disposed of from the commencement of the system to October 31st, 1889, is $3,849,583.18. The amount received for rentals during the same period is $1,041,520.59.

There has been, since the end of the fiscal year, paid into the treasury, not included in the above, $75,155.12, and there is pending before the commissioners for action, transfers which represent a principal amount of $64,314, and grants or leases ready for delivery, but not delivered, $55,337.15.

STATE FUND.

The securities of the State Fund are reported as:

1887 shares of the stock of the Joint Railroad and Canal Companies of the par value of	$188,700 00
Centennial stock	74,116 67
Bonds of the several counties of the State for the surplus revenue of the United States deposits	764,670 44
Nominal amount of fund	$1,027,487 11

I again call the attention of the Legislature to the fact that this last item of bonds of the several counties refers to certain instruments made by the counties respectively, acknowledging receipt of so much money, with a promise to repay it when it shall be called for by the United States. The other item of Centennial stock represents the contribution made by New Jersey to the Centennial in 1876. Both of these so called securities are entirely valueless as assets, and should not be carried on the books, and published from year to year as available property of the State. Some provision should be made directing their classification as items of property held by the State Treasurer, but should no longer occupy the misleading character of securities of the State Fund, and swell to the amount of their par value the apparent resources of the State.

There are two bonds of one thousand dollars each still in the hands of the Treasurer, and which were left with him by the Treasurer of the Children's Home at its discontinuance. In the absence of any law he is without authority to use or make any disposition whatever of them, and I renew my former recommendation for the passage of a law turning these bonds over to the State Fund.

The balances of the several funds October 31st, 1889, were:

State Fund	$241,996 48
School Fund	329,904 82
Local railroad tax	1 70 95
	$571,972 25

SINKING FUND.

The Commissioners received, for interest and rent during the year, $26,564.43. They received for real estate sold, $7,300. The total receipts for the year, including the amount of annual appropriation from the State and balance on hand October 31st, 1888, were $208,669.40. There has been a loss on the sale of real estate over the cost of the same, during the year, of $4,749.97. The Commissioners have paid $102,000 of the principal of the debt during the year. There was paid, on account of interest on bonds, $76,254. The total payments were $186,554.97. Balance cash on hand October 31st, 1889, was $22,114.93. The total amount of the Fund is $577,653.27. This includes $3,995 for interest undollected; $212,060.22 for real estate at its cost, and $6,066.44 for amount due on decrees of foreclosure. How much of the first and last items may be collectable is uncertain, and the actual value of the real estate cannot be ascertained, except by sale.

ELECTION REFORM.

Each party is pledged in its platform to some measure of ballot reform. Let it not fail in a struggle for party advantage or in an effort to secure the adoption of some cherished system. If the subject is to be approached and dealt with in the spirit of partisanship, and not in that of patriotism and statesmanship, if parties are to divide upon matters of detail, we may be no nearer the solution of the problem than we were one year ago. There is danger to be apprehended from too determined insistent upon one or another scheme or plan, from an unwillingness to accept some immaterial feature, or an unyielding assertion of some particular provision.

The zeal displayed by some in the uncompromising demand for certain provisions, not necessary to correct the admitted evils, excites the suspicion that they aim not so much at reform in the ballot as to strike at the organization of the political parties. The success of such an effort, if possible, is not desirable. The existence of parties is a necessary incident of a representative government. Difference of opinion as to the policy to be pursued in the administration of public affairs, among people who have, by the right of suffrage, the power to direct that policy through chosen representatives, naturally brings those of the same thought together. The success of a party as a rule depends upon efficient organization. A tidal wave of popular opinion or excitement will occasionally sweep one party from power and carry another into the control of affairs, but success generally depends on the united intelligent action, which is the result of thorough organization. It is fashionable for theorists to decry the operation of so-called political machinery. While it is true that it may sometimes be employed to improper purposes, yet its legitimate use is attended with beneficial and desirable results; the elucidation of principles; the dissemination of argument; the ascertainment of those entitled to vote; the correction of registry; the prevention of fraudulent voting and getting out the vote; that vigilance, which is the "price of liberty," are the attendant fruits of a well-ordered, healthy, active, efficient party organization. An eminent jurist has recently said: "To them (parties) we look for that activity in the advocacy of opposing views; that watchfulness over the assertion of authority; that open debate as to the course most conducive to well-being; essential to the growth of public institutions. That voice of the people which, when duly given and properly ascertained, directs the action of the State, is largely brought to declare itself through the instrumentality of party." To maintain its organization each party will earnestly strive, and no party man can be expected to honestly favor measures which tend to impair or destroy its efficiency.

Whether the evils, which all admit to exist, can be corrected by the adoption of systems in force elsewhere, may depend much upon the conditions which exist here. The ballot is no experiment with us; it has long been in use in this State in the exercise of the right of suffrage. It is hampered with no property or educational qualifications; it depends on manhood and citizenship. Certain incidents have attached themselves to the use of the ballot here which cannot, in any innovations, be disregarded. In correcting one evil we must not inaugurate another. The ballot must be free as well as secret. In every country where the people, under the guise of an election, have deprived themselves of important rights, the machinery of such election has been under the active control of the government in matters of detail, and such result has come from the abuse of that power. While no danger of such extreme results may exist, evils of a lesser magnitude may be fastened upon the body politic by the same abuse. Provisions which make the choice of the voter dependent upon the action of State officers are not to be adopted without grave consideration and efficient restraints, and not at all, unless ample provision is made for the failure of such officer to fully perform the duty imposed upon him by law.

All are agreed as to the evils which ought to be corrected; the means to effect such result can be devised if we are willing, without blind, subserviency to our own plan, to examine and select the one which is least objectionable, is best suited to our system of government, and which gives best promise of securing a pure, free and secret ballot.

The end to be sought is legislation which will secure the ascertainment of those legally entitled to vote; the prevention of colonization and the impersonation of the voter; the selection of competent, honest election officers; the prevention of intimidation and the corrupt use of money, and the absolute certainty that the ballots of the voters only are deposited in the box and are honestly counted and returned. If these results can be obtained all that properly relates to ballot reform is accomplished; any other aim is outside of pure reform and for some ulterior end.

Great stress is laid upon the assumption that these results have been practically reached in England and her colonies, where the so-called Australian system is in force. With some it seems to be regarded as a panacea. Without petition, the use of the official ballot and the isolation of the voter, but it must also be borne in mind that in all the countries where these favorable results have been obtained, other laws have also been in force, directed to securing a correct and comprehensive registry, preventing personation, securing honest election officers, requiring publicity of election expenses, as well as providing, by summary proceedings, for the judicial examination of charges impeaching the election on the ground of fraud, corruption or intimidation, with power to annul the election by the determination of judicial officers. These laws are of a stringent character, and there is no doubt but that their rigid enforcement has, at large, if not a controlling, share in the correction of the evils at which they are aimed. We cannot confidently expect the same result from the adoption of any one of the remedies.

In the attempt to adapt these remedial laws to our elections, it must also be remembered that in England and in the colonies there are certain provisions regulating the use of the ballot, the effect of which have an important bearing upon the results obtained, but the adoption of which would be unwise here, because they violate our system of suffrage, and undermine the principle on which it is based. These provisions relate to the identification of the ticket with the individual who votes the same, so that it can be ascertained by investigation how each man has voted—a feature and procedure which at once destroy the secrecy of the ballot.

In some of these countries, also, certain property and other qualifications are required, with reference to certain elections, while in Massachusetts an educational qualification exists, which applies to adopted citizens, and which limits the right of suffrage to those who can read and write the English language. These difficult conditions must be considered in deciding upon the adoption of any system which is to be accepted, on the ground of its successful operation elsewhere.

All seem agreed on the plan that the voter, while preparing his ballot, should be provided with the means of doing the same alone, and the prevention of solicitation within a certain distance of the polls. These provisions give the voter an opportunity to prepare, arrange or select just such ballot as he desires to vote without interference from any one, and protects him, so far as any mechanical or physical arrangements are possible, from the intimidation which has been the attendant aid of intimidation and corruption. I had faith in the use of the official ballot as a corrective of corrupt practices, but I am not blind to the serious objections which are urged to its exclusive use as a legal ballot. It is the constitutional right of every citizen of this State to vote for whomsoever he sees fit, for any elective office. This right exists up to the moment of casting his vote, and it should not be restricted by provisions which require a nomination of the person through certain forms of procedure, to be made days or weeks prior to the election. Neither should it be hampered by intricate provisions, depending upon the proper discharge of duty by public officials, with reference to details which involve the choice of the individual for whom the citizen desires to vote. In countries where it has been adopted and used, so far as I have been able to ascertain, the election has been confined to the use of a few officers. It has never been in operation where the number of offices to be filled anywhere nearly equals the number which we, in this State, every spring have to vote for in our townships and cities. The trial ticket printed during the last session of the Legislature demonstrated that the use of the official ballot might be cumbersome, in consequence of its necessarily large size.

The effect of this official ballot to prevent corruption is theoretical, proceeding on the assumption that no one will risk his money unless he knows how the party votes. The evidence as to its practical corrective effect on the corrupt use of money is far from satisfactory; while its exclusive use, so far from preventing the evil, may by fraud, be turned into an aid to the corruptor. If one ballot can, by any means, be taken from the polling place and put into the hands of the person engaged in buying votes, he is enabled to mark the ballot as he wishes, give it to his purchased voter, who, by bringing out the fresh one he has received, thus furnishes the evidence that he has voted as he agreed to do, and so on until the purchasable element has been voted, and each proved that he has kept his corrupt bargain. Many plans are suggested to prevent this fraud, all of which contemplate a marking of the ballot, but the most effective one seems to be that of numbering the ballot, a practice which identifies the ticket with the voter and destroys its secrecy. The greatest barrier to working this fraud lies in the vigilance and honesty of the election officers; but if there is one judge who is corrupt, the machinery can be at once put into operation. The futility of all laws, as preventive remedies, if the election officer is dishonest, is shown in the case of the Queen against Birdsall, 1 Q. B. D., 425.

In Connecticut they have adopted the use of an official envelope, in voting. The compulsory use of an official envelope has long been recognized as a useful measure in the prevention of election frauds. To be of any benefit, however, its use must be compulsory, for if not required, the corruptor or intimidator may require that it should not be used; and any one using it is at once credited with desiring to conceal the way he has voted. As it does not appear to be generally understood, it may be well to describe the use more in detail. Counterfeits are rendered well nigh impossible by having the paper for which the envelopes are made contain a water-mark. The envelopes are made and furnished by the State in such numbers to each election district as may be necessary for the number on the registry, with a small percentage in addition in case of accident or mistake; the voter is required to put his ballot in the envelope which he receives from the election officer, and vote it as thus enclosed; and the election officers are required to return and account for all envelopes furnished them not found in the box.

Many theories connected with the administration of law seem justified, on argument, as promising the very best results, which, on trial, are found to be defective, if not entirely useless, to accomplish that for which they are intended. On the other hand, measures which seem to be open to serious objection are found, on trial, to accomplish not only more than was expected, but all that could be desired. Three years ago the State adopted a ballot-box, a sample of which was exhibited, and which, from its trial, seemed to give reason for the claim that its use in election districts would render some crimes well nigh impossible. Whether from defective manufacture, or difficulty in keeping the same in order, or from some other cause, the use of this box in many parts of the State has been discontinued, and some fraudulent practices are even charged as having been perpetrated with the aid of this very box.

The desire to use the official ballot seems to be widespread; it is possible that its use may by experiment be found not to be inconvenient, and to effect results which are claimed for it, but for the reasons stated and others which can be urged it should not be the exclusively legal ballot to be voted. There is nothing to prevent the trial of the official ballot, and also the official envelope at the same time. Experiment would very soon demonstrate whether it was wise to continue the use of either, or both, or only one.

It is claimed for the use of the official envelope that it prevents the use of duplicate and tissue tickets, and the crime known as "ballot-box stuffing," unless it be accompanied by the crime of making a correspondingly false, poll list. And right here we are confronted with the fact that many of our election crimes and abuses, particularly such crimes as "ballot-box stuffing" or false count, could not be committed if the officers of election were honest, vigilant and intelligent. If, on the other hand, our boards of election officers are corrupt, ignorant and inattentive, we may look in vain for honest elections to be brought about by mechanical or physical means. The use of the Government plan and the practical exclusion of the public, will only afford increased facilities to dishonest judges to carry on fraudulent devices.

In England, and the colonies where the system which is now so popular, is in force, the elections are conducted before an officer, who is either the most important person in the community, or one selected by the highest civil authority. In these countries also the greatest attention is paid to the registry lists, some two months prior to an election being devoted to the making, correcting and perfecting the list of voters. The greatest publicity attends all the proceedings, and every person has an opportunity to intervene for the purpose of securing a correct list, the final action taken being the result of a judicial examination of objections and claims to the right of persons on the list to vote.

Another important factor of the system in effecting the reforms claimed is the statute known in England as the Corrupt Practices Act. It was passed as a consolidation and amendment of existing laws in 1854, being chapter 102 of the 17 and 18 Victoria, and in 1883, was amended and enlarged by chapter 57, 46 and 47 Victoria, known as "the corrupt and illegal practices prevention act." These laws define, with great minuteness what shall be held to be corrupt or illegal practices embracing almost every known form of influencing a vote save by argument, and restricting the amount and limiting and defining the objects for which money may be legitimately expended in a political contest. Not only are the objects and amounts specified, but the persons who can lawfully spend money in elections are limited; no money is allowed to be paid after fourteen days after election, and every one, including the candidate, is required, within thirty-five days after an election to make a declaration, specifying with particularity what sums he has received, and from whom, with an itemized account of how the same has been disbursed. This statement is required to be published in two newspapers in the county within ten days after it is made. A failure to make it deprives a party of his right to his office until made, and a false statement subjects one to loss of office, to indictment, and on conviction to punishment for perjury. There are also provisions for a judicial enquiry by election court composed of two judges, or by a commission appointed for that purpose, of allegations which impeach the election for fraud, corruption or illegality. In addition to these investigations conducted on the motion of the public prosecutor, a defeated candidate or any one or more voters may, by petition to the High Court of Justice, contest the election of the person returned, which question is tried by the election court. If on the trial it is found that corrupt or illegal acts have been practiced by the candidate or his agent or by others with his knowledge, consent or approval such finding or judgment avoids the election, and the party found guilty is committed for action by the Grand Jury and trial in case of indictment. These proceedings are summary and are continued from day to day until finished. The effect of an adverse finding is to disqualify the party from holding the office either under that election or a subsequent one for several years.

While this act relates to parliamentary elections, its provisions are applied to municipal elections by the act of 1884, 47 and 48 Victoria, chapter 70, and what are practically the same statutes also exist, I believe, in the colonies.

We have, therefore, as parts of the system, as indicated by the English law, not only the Ballot Act of 1872, 35 and 36 Victoria, chapter 33; but the Registry Act of 1878, 41 and 42 Victoria, chapter 26, and the Corrupt and Illegal Practices Prevention Acts of 1854 and 1883.

As to the relative effect of these acts it is said in a note to Wigmore on the Australian Ballot System, page 19, speaking of the official ballot, "as to preventing bribery it is not such a success as we should like; it has done a good deal; nevertheless, the most of our bribable electors, especially in the country, make it a curious point of honor to vote the way they have been paid to. The Corrupt Practices Act is far and away more effectual than the ballot."

I have gone thus fully into this question, not to deter the experiment of any factor of the system or its equivalent which may appeal to the best judgment and does not infringe any constitutional right, but to give the reasons for my opinion that no radical or satisfactory reform can be effected by the adoption of any plan which does not secure not only the isolation and protection from interference of the voter in preparing his ballot, but also honest, competent, vigilant election officers; a comprehensive and correct registry law universally applied; a limitation of election expenses and their complete publicity, and summary proceedings enquiring into the conduct of the election, which will deprive a person from the enjoyment of office procured by corrupt and illegal practices.

While our constitutional provision makes each House the final judge of the election of its own members, a judicial inquiry into the election of members of the Senate and General Assembly might be had under laws providing more comprehensive and summary proceedings, to investigate charges of fraud, corruption and intimidation, with a determination thereon by judicial officers, as to which of the candidates under the evidence is entitled to a certificate of election.

With reference to other elections such laws can be passed and made effective, but care should be taken that the proceedings and determination of the investigation, be conducted before the party is installed into office, and such event should be postponed until a decision of the charges. Attempts have been made to enact such laws which are now on our statute books, the value of which is questioned in consequence of some such oversight, which raises a doubt as to their constitutionality.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

A concurrent resolution, proposing amendments to the Constitution of the State, was passed by the Senate and General Assembly at the last session.

It originated in the Senate, and was afterwards passed by the House. The amendments were entered on the Journal of each House, with the yeas and nays taken thereon. They were published, as required by the Constitution, and the same are respectfully referred to you for action. It is, of course, competent for this Legislature to adopt any, or all, or none, of these proposed amendments.

The first proposes to strike out that clause of the Constitution which prohibits the Legislature from passing any private, local or special laws regulating the internal affairs of towns and counties. The second proposes to strike out the further provision as follows: "The Legislature shall pass no special act conferring corporate powers, but they shall pass general laws, under which corporations may be organized and corporate powers of every nature obtained, subject, nevertheless, to repeal or alteration at the will of the Legislature." The attention of the Legislature has been repeatedly called to the difficulty which the first provision referred to above has entailed upon different municipalities of this State. A reference to the session laws will show that a large part of the legislation of each session has been devoted to the passage of general laws seeking to remedy existing evils or meet local wants, and an examination of the reports will show that a large portion of the time of our Supreme Court, and the Court of Errors and Appeals, has been taken up in the consideration of the acts which have been passed, so as to provide relief without violation of the constitutional inhibition. In a great number of cases the effort of the Legislature has proved unsuccessful, and localities and municipalities which are laboring under provisions which entail hardships upon the inhabitants, seem to be without remedy, as no proper classification can be made without including places which do not require the particular legislation sought for by others.

In my judgment, relief can be obtained for the municipalities by the first amendment. The second proposed amendment would re-empower the Legislature to pass special laws conferring corporate powers, with the restrictions that they should not be exclusive, and should

CHAPTER CCLXIV.

An act to amend an act entitled "An act to provide for sewage and drainage in incorporated townships in which there is a public water supply," passed April fourteenth, one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the title of the act to which this is an amendment be amended to read as follows: "An act to provide for sewage or drainage, or both, in incorporated townships in which there is a public water supply."

2. And be it enacted, That section one of the said act be amended to read as follows:

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That in any incorporated township in this state in which a supply of water for public and domestic use is furnished or shall be furnished from water works, it shall be lawful for the board of township committee or other governing body of such township to provide for, obtain, and cause to be constructed a system of sewage or drainage, or both.

3. And be it enacted, That section two of the said act be amended to read as follows:

2. And be it enacted, That it shall be lawful for the said board of township committee or other governing body of such township to cause to be made surveys, plans and estimates by competent engineers and mechanics, sufficient to demonstrate a practicable and efficient system of sewage or drainage, or both for such township, including the disposition of house sewage, or waste or both.

4. And be it enacted, That section three of the said act be amended to read as follows:

3. And be it enacted, That it shall be lawful for the said board of township committee or other governing body of such township, whenever in their opinion the public good demands it, by ordinance or ordinances, to cause sewers or drains, or both, to be constructed from time to time in such township, or any part thereof as they may designate in the ordinance or ordinances, which the said board of township committee or other governing body may for that purpose adopt and pass.

5. And be it enacted, That section nine of the said act be amended to read as follows:

9. And be it enacted, That the said assessments for benefits shall be a lien upon the lots and parcels of land respectively assessed from the date of the confirmation of the report thereof, except the assessments for prospective benefits, which shall only become a lien as hereinafter provided; that it shall be the duty of the board of township committee or other governing body of such township, in which such improvement shall have been made, to cause a copy of the report of the commissioners making such assessment duly certified by the clerk of the county in which said township is situated, to be prepared and delivered to the township collector of such township, who shall enter the same in a book to be kept in his office for that purpose; and said collector shall give notice for four weeks in some newspaper circulating in said township, that said report has been delivered to him, and requiring payment of the several sums assessed against any owners of lands and real estate for such improvement within thirty days from and after the confirmation of said report by the circuit court of said county; and in case said assessment shall remain unpaid at the expiration of thirty days from and after the first publication of said notice, the said assessment shall draw interest thereupon, from and after that time, at the rate of one per cent. per month, except the assessments for prospective benefits, which shall draw interest only as in the manner hereinabove provided; and the said board of township committee or other governing body of such township, shall have the same remedies and rights to enforce the payment of said assessments as they have to enforce the collection of taxes in such township, and by like proceedings; provided, that the township committee shall have the power to make the said assessment for benefits payable by instalments, instead of in the manner hereinbefore described, and in such case the owners of lands specially assessed may pay said assessments in such yearly payments, not exceeding ten, as the township committee may determine, with legal interest thereon, from the date of said commissioners' report, the interest on the whole assessment to be paid annually; the first of which said annual payments shall be made within three months after confirmation by said court of the report of said commissioners, and upon failure to make any of the annual payments or any instalments of the interest upon the assessment when due, the whole of said assessment shall become and be immediately due and payable and the notice to be given by the collector, as above provided, shall be to that effect; provided, that any party assessed shall have the privilege of paying the whole of any assessment with the interest at one time.

6. And be it enacted, That section twelve of the said act be amended to read as follows:

12. And be it enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the said board of township committee or other governing body of such township to keep the sewers or drains or other works which may be constructed under the provisions of this act, in repair and working order, and to make, establish and enforce regulations and conditions as to the management and use of the same and as to connections therewith, and they shall have the power to enter into agreements with private persons or corporations for the use of said sewers or drains, under such restrictions as said board of township committee or other governing body of such township may impose, and to establish a price to be paid for such use and to collect the same; provided, that all moneys received from the use of said sewers or drains shall be applied to the payment of the debt incurred in building the same and the interest thereon.

7. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed and that this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 17, 1891.

CHAPTER CCLXVI.

A supplement to an act entitled "An act for the publication of the law and chancery reports" (Revision), approved February twenty-eighth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That section two of the act entitled "An act for the publication of the law and chancery reports," approved February twenty-eighth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

2. And be it enacted, That said reports shall be printed by said law and chancery reporter respectively at their own expense, upon good paper to be approved by the secretary of state; and whenever a number of said reports shall be printed, the said reporters shall each deliver to the superintendent of the state house and adjacent public grounds four hundred copies thereof, for which the treasurer shall pay each reporter per number such sum as shall be fixed by the chancellor and chief justice of the supreme court.

2. And be it enacted, That section ten of the said act to which this act is a supplement be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

10. And be it enacted, That the superintendent of the state house and the adjacent public grounds shall on the receipt of said reports, after retaining one copy for himself, cause the residue to be distributed under the direction of the governor, as follows: to the governor of this state, two copies; to each member of the legislature, one copy; to the state librarian, to be deposited in the state library, twenty copies; to the department of state of the United States for the congressional library, four copies; to the governor of each state and territory in the United States, one copy; to each senator and representative in congress from this state, one copy; to the chancellor in this state and each judge of the supreme court and of the court of errors and appeals, one copy; to the secretary of state, clerk of the supreme court, clerk in chancery and attorney general, superintendent of public instruction, the state board of assessors, adjutant general and quartermaster general, for their respective offices, each one copy; to each county clerk, register and surrogate in this state, for their respective offices, one copy; to the New Jersey lunatic asylums and state prison, each one copy; to the librarian of the New Jersey historical society, for the use of said society, one copy; to the librarian of each incorporated college the Burlington library and the Newark library association, for the use of their respective libraries each one copy; to each incorporated library association in this state which has a law library at the county seat of the county in which the same is located, one copy; to every library provided by the board of chosen freeholders of any county of this state at the court house of such county, one copy; the remainder to be reserved subject to the order of the legislature.

3. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

4. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 18, 1891.

CHAPTER CCLXXX.

An act to amend an act entitled "An act concerning sheriffs" (Revision), approved March twelfth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the fourteenth section of an act entitled an act concerning sheriffs, approved March twelfth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, be amended so that the same shall read as follows:

14. And be it enacted, That the sheriff of every county of this state shall have the custody, care, keeping and charge of the jail or jails within such county, and of all prisoners in such jail or jails; and he shall be entitled to have and receive of and from the county the following fees: For every person committed to jail for any cause, twenty-five cents; and for every such person discharged therefrom, twelve cents; he shall be responsible for the conduct of any keeper whom he shall appoint for the same, except where the board of chosen freeholders of any county may have appointed, or may hereafter appoint a warden or keeper of such jail; provided, however, nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent the board of chosen freeholders of any county from appointing at any time a warden or keeper of such jail or jails.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 18, 1891.

CHAPTER CCLXXXI.

An act relating to the appointment or election of attorneys or solicitors in certain townships and municipalities in this state.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That in every town, township, police, sanitary and improvement commission and borough in the counties of the second class, in this state the police justice, attorney or solicitor of said town, township, police, sanitary and improvement commission and borough, appointed or elected after the passage of this act shall hold their office for the term of three years, and upon the election of said police justice, attorney or solicitor the township committee, or the governing board of the town, township commission or borough shall determine and fix the annual salary of said police justice, attorney or solicitor during said term of office.

2. And be it enacted, That the police justice, attorney or solicitor appointed or elected as aforesaid may be removed from office by resolution of the governing body of such town, township, police, sanitary and improvement commission or borough for malfeasance, nonfeasance, disability or other good cause shown upon complaint in writing to the governing body of such town, township, police, sanitary and improvement commission and borough setting forth such cause, and supported by one or more affidavits of the truth of the facts therein alleged; provided, that no such removal shall take place until the person sought to be removed has had an opportunity to be heard in his defense, nor, unless a majority of all the members of such governing body shall vote for such removal.

3. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed and that this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 18, 1891.

CHAPTER CCLXXXII.

A further supplement to an act entitled "An act to regulate fees," approved April fifteenth, one thousand eight hundred and forty-six.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That from and after the passage of this act the sheriffs of the several counties in this state shall be entitled to demand and receive for the services hereinafter named the following fees as compensation, to wit: for serving every writ of attachment, three dollars and fifty cents; for serving every execution against goods or lands and making an inventory and return, three dollars and fifty cents; for mileage on serving every writ on which mileage is now allowed by law, four cents out and in for every mile of travel to be computed from the court house; for serving writs or process in cases requiring personal service on defendant, twenty-five per centum in addition to the fees now fixed by law for such service.

2. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed and that this act shall be deemed a public act and shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 18, 1891.

CHAPTER CCLXXXIII.

Supplement to an act entitled "An act respecting the prerogative court, and the power and authority of the ordinary," approved April sixteenth, one thousand eight hundred and forty-six.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That it shall be the duty of the register of the prerogative court to record all wills, proofs, probate, letters testamentary issued thereon and inventories hereafter proven, and in cases now pending in the prerogative court or the fore the ordinary, and all accounts of executors, administrators, trustees and guardians, letters of guardianship and letters of administration hereafter issued, and filed or allowed by the ordinary, and all decrees, decrees and other papers of a similar nature which are now required by law to be recorded in the surrogates' offices of the respective counties; and for all official services the register of the prerogative court he shall be entitled to charge and receive the same fees as are now allowed by law to the surrogates of the several counties of this state for like services; provided, that all expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of this act shall be paid by the register out of the fees so collected.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately, and all acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith, be and the same are hereby repealed.

Approved April 18, 1891.

CHAPTER CCLXXXIV.

A further supplement to an act entitled "An act respecting the orphans' court, and relating to the powers and duties of the ordinary and the orphans' court and surrogates" (Revision), approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That every inventory hereafter made of the estate of any deceased person, residing in this state at the time of his death, shall be exhibited, proved and filed in the office of the surrogate of the county in which said deceased resided at the time of his death, and that the account of every executor and administrator hereafter rendered shall be filed, stated and settled in the surrogate's office of the county in which the testator or intestate resided at the time of his death, and reported to the orphans' court of such county for settlement; and in all cases where any will has heretofore been admitted to probate, or letters of administration have heretofore been granted by the ordinary, it shall be the duty of the executor or administrator before filing such inventory or account as herein above directed, to file in said surrogate's office a transcript of the will, and probate, or of the letters of administration duly certified by the register under the seal of the prerogative court; and hereafter when any will shall be admitted to probate, or letters of administration shall be granted by the ordinary, a transcript of such will and probate, or of the letters of administration duly certified as aforesaid, shall within thirty days thereafter be filed by the executor or administrator in the office of the surrogate of the county in which the testator or intestate resided at the time of his death; which transcripts shall be recorded in such surrogate's office, and the same fees shall be allowed for the recording thereof as are now allowed for recording wills and the proofs thereof; provided, nevertheless, that the inventory of any administrator pendente lite appointed by the prerogative court shall be exhibited to the register of said court, and his account settled before the ordinary in that court.

2. And be it enacted, That the fees for auditing and reporting the accounts of executors, administrators, guardians, trustees and assignees shall be as follows, namely: on estates not exceeding five hundred thousand dollars, as heretofore; where estates exceed two hundred thousand dollars, the court allowing the account shall have power to determine the fees on such excess; provided, that such further and additional fees may be allowed in any case as the court shall think reasonable.

3. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

Approved April 18, 1891.

JOINT RESOLUTION NO. III.

Joint resolution accepting the sum appropriated, and the trusts imposed, and authorizing the governor to receive said money for the uses and purposes of an act of congress approved March second, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one, entitled "An act to credit and pay to the several states and territories, and the District of Columbia, all moneys collected under the direct tax levied by the act of congress, approved August fifth, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one.

Whereas, by an act of congress approved March second, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one, entitled "An act to credit and pay to the several states and territories and the District of Columbia all moneys collected under the direct tax levied by the act of congress approved August fifth, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one," there is appropriated to each state a sum equal to all collections by set off or otherwise made from said State or from any citizen or inhabitant thereof under the act of congress approved August fifth, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one, and the amendatory acts thereto, and whereas, it is provided that there be added to the sums or any part thereof, credited to each state, such sums as have been collected by the United States from the citizens of such states or any other person, either directly or by sale of property, such sum shall be held in trust by such state for the benefit of those persons or inhabitants from whom they were collected, or their legal representatives; and it is also further provided that no part of the money thereby appropriated shall be paid out by the governor of any state or territory, or any other person to any attorney or agent under any contract for services now existing or hereafter made, between the representatives of any state or territory, and any attorney or agent, now, therefore,

1. Be it resolved by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the sum appropriated by the act of congress, to the state of New Jersey, out of the trusts imposed by said act be accepted in full satisfaction of all claims of this state against the United States on account of the levy and collection of said tax.

2. And be it resolved, That the governor of this state be, and is hereby authorized to receive said money for the uses and purposes aforesaid and subject to the trusts aforesaid; and he is hereby further authorized, to execute receipts, vouchers or other instruments in writing, and do such other matters and things as may be necessary to the acceptance of the sum appropriated under the provisions of said act, and the trusts imposed in full satisfaction of all claims of this state against the United States, on account of the levy and collection of said tax, to do and perform all other acts in behalf of this state which may be necessary or proper in order to enable this state to receive the full benefit of the provisions of said act.

3. And be it resolved, That this joint resolution shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 26, 1891.

JOINT RESOLUTION NO. IV.

Joint resolution authorizing the governor to provide a suitable assembly chamber and committee rooms for the transaction of public business, and appropriating money to defray

LAWS OF NEW JERSEY.

[BY AUTHORITY.]

CHAPTER CXLV.

An act for the formation and government of boroughs.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the inhabitants of any district in this state containing an area of not more than two square miles and taxable real estate of the amount of not less than one hundred thousand dollars, and which area resides, during any portion of the year, a population of not less than two hundred, may become a body politic and corporate, in fact and in law, whenever at a special election to be called for the purpose, as hereinafter provided, it may be so decided by a majority of votes of the electors of said proposed borough who are qualified to vote at elections for school and township officers.

2. And be it enacted, That it shall be the duty of the law judge of the court of common pleas in and for the county in which said proposed borough shall stand, and if such county have no law judge, then it shall be the duty of the justice of the supreme court appointed to hold the circuit court in said county, upon presentation of him of a petition for that purpose, setting forth the name and boundaries of the proposed borough, signed by persons owning at least one-tenth in value of the taxable real estate in the limits of the proposed borough, as the same appears upon the assessor's duplicate, to call a special election to be held at some convenient place within the said proposed borough, by notice in writing under his hand, which notice shall contain a accurate description of the said proposed boundaries of the proposed borough as fixed and established by the judge, as provided for in section four of this act, and state the object of the special election to be to vote for or against the incorporation of the said proposed borough under the provisions of this act; which notice shall be set up at least ten days previous to said proposed election in five of the most public places in the said proposed borough limits, and published at least twice in a newspaper printed and published within the said proposed borough limits, if any, or if none is published, then in a newspaper printed and published in the county wherein said proposed borough is situated.

3. And be it enacted, That before any such judge shall make an order for the special election provided for in the preceding section the petitioners or some of them shall prove to the satisfaction of the judge to whom such petition may be presented that public notice has been given of the intention to present such petition by publication for at least two weeks, once in each week, in a newspaper circulating in the limits of the proposed borough, and also by posting in at least ten public places within the said limits a copy of said notice, which notice shall state briefly the time and place when and where the petition is to be presented and the boundaries of the proposed borough.

4. And be it enacted, That any citizen of the township within the limits of which the proposed borough is to be created, shall be allowed to appear before said judge and object to the making of the order for such special election, or to request that the proposed boundaries be enlarged, diminished or changed, and that the said judge shall on the same day or some other day to which he may adjourn the hearing of said petition, proceed to hear the whole matter, and shall have the power before granting the order, to amend the petition by enlarging, diminishing or changing the boundaries of the proposed borough within the area provided for in the first section of this act, as to him shall seem best for the public interest; provided always, that it shall appear to him by petition or written consent to be attached to and filed with the original petition that persons owning at least one-tenth in value of the taxable real estate within the limits of the boundaries of that portion of the territory which may be added by the enlargement of or left out by diminishing the boundaries of said proposed borough, have consented or agreed to such change in the boundaries.

5. And be it enacted, That the said judge shall append by writing, under his hand, a clerk and two inspectors of said election, who shall be freeholders and legal voters in the said proposed borough, and who shall hold and conduct the election provided for in the following section of this act; the polls shall open and close at the same hours as at general elections in this state, and the election shall be conducted as nearly as may be, in like manner as general elections are conducted; the ballots cast shall contain the words "for incorporation" or "against incorporation," as the case may be; at the close of the polls the said clerk and inspectors shall canvass the votes cast, and if the majority of said votes shall be for incorporation they shall certify the result of said election, and the number of votes cast for and against, under their hands, to the clerk of the county wherein said borough is situated, to be filed in his office, and from the time of filing said certificate in the office of the clerk of the county aforesaid the inhabitants of said borough shall be a body corporate, in fact and in law, under the name of "the mayor and council of the borough of ——," and by said name shall have perpetual succession, sue and be sued, prosecute and defend in all courts of law and equity in the same, as a common seal and alter the same at pleasure, and purchase, hold and convey real and personal property for the use and benefit of said borough.

6. And be it enacted, That on the second Tuesday next, after the filing or the certificate of the result of the election aforesaid in the office of the clerk of the county, the legal voters of said borough shall assemble at the place where the election provided for in the next preceding section was held at the hour of seven o'clock in the forenoon, and those so assembled may, by a viva voce vote, proceed to elect a judge and inspectors to conduct the election for charters hereinafter named, which said judge and inspectors, having first taken and subscribed an oath, or affirmation honestly and impartially to hold and conduct said election, shall forthwith open the polls for the election of officers hereinafter mentioned; and the said election shall be by ballot, and shall be conducted in the same manner as election for members of the legislature are conducted; the persons voting at said election shall be those who are qualified to vote at elections for members of the legislature in the townships wherein said borough is situated; the polls shall remain open until seven o'clock in the evening, and at the closing of the polls the judge and inspectors holding said election shall canvass the votes cast and certify the result, with the number of votes cast for each candidate, to the clerk of the county wherein said borough is situated, and shall also deliver a copy of said certificate, under their hands, to the clerk of the borough.

7. And be it enacted, That there shall be chosen at said election one mayor, who shall be keeper of the borough seal, and hold his office for two years; four members of council, one mayor and members of council shall be one body corporate and politic in deed, fact, name and law by the same style and title of the mayor and council of the borough of ——; and also a borough clerk (who shall perform all the duties required by law of the clerks of townships inconsistent with the provisions of this act), one assessor, one collector (who shall be borough treasurer), three commissioners of appeal in cases of taxation, one judge and two inspectors of election and one poundkeeper, any two of which offices for such term as is now or hereafter shall be provided for similar officers in townships; provided, that at the first meeting of the council after the first election held under this act the members of council shall divide themselves by lot into two classes; the term of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the first year, the term of the second class at the expiration of the second year, so that two members of council shall be elected annually after the first election, to hold their office for two years; and if vacancies happen, by resignation or otherwise, the person or persons elected to succeed to the vacancies shall be elected for the unexpired term only.

8. And be it enacted, That there shall be held annually after such election on the second Tuesday in March, in each and every year, at the place so said borough for such of the officers named in the next preceding section whose term of office shall have expired or whose office may have become vacant, and such annual election shall be subject to the laws regulating township elections.

9. And be it enacted, That in addition to the officers above provided for there may be appointed by the council one borough marshal, one surveyor, one collector and one superintendent of public roads, and such so many policemen and other officers as shall be deemed necessary by said council, who shall hold office for such time and perform such duties as are or may be fixed by law or ordinance of said council, and in conflict with law, provided for.

10. And be it enacted, That within twenty days after the time for any subsequent election changing the boundaries or annexing additional territory to the original borough fixed by this act, the clerk shall publish the result of such election, and shall file an official certification of such election, and the boundaries fixed by it, in the offices of the secretary of state and of the clerk of the county in which the borough is situate, which certificate shall be signed by a majority of the members of council elected.

11. And be it enacted, That all officers elected or appointed by virtue of this act shall, within twenty days after their election or appointment, and before entering upon the duties of their offices, take and subscribe before some person duly authorized by law for such purpose, an oath or affirmation faithfully and impartially to discharge the duties of their respective offices, and upon neglect of any of the said offices shall be deemed and declared vacant; all such oaths or affirmations shall be filed in the office of the clerk.

12. And be it enacted, That such officers as the council shall require shall, before, and from time to time, give bonds to the borough in its corporate name in such sums and with such sureties as the said council may require and approve for the faithful performance of their duties.

13. And be it enacted, That the mayor and members of council of such borough shall constitute the council thereof, shall hold an annual meeting therein on the next Tuesday after the annual election yearly and every year, and such other meetings as they shall by ordinance direct and appoint; the mayor shall preside at such meetings and have a vote only in such cases where there is a tie, and in the absence of the mayor the members of council shall appoint one of their number to preside pro tempore; and when met, said council shall have power to make and adopt such ordinances, rules by-laws and regulations, and in general to do and perform all such other acts as are provided for and warranted by this act; and that three members shall constitute a quorum of said council, and it shall be the duty of the mayor, when necessary, to call special meetings of said council, and in case of his neglect or refusal, then it shall be lawful for any three members of said council, at such time and place in said borough as they may designate, to call any special meeting of said council, and to authorize the mayor, in the cases of special meetings, notice shall be given to all the members of said council in person or left at their place of residence.

14. And be it enacted, That in case of vacancy happening in any office created and made elective by this act, by death, resignation, removal or otherwise, except in offices of election on the day of election, it shall be filled by said council at their next meeting thereafter, and the said appointee shall continue until the next annual election and no longer, and the person or persons appointed to fill such vacancies shall be entitled to the like compensation and be subject to the same responsibilities and penalties as if elected at the annual election as aforesaid.

15. And be it enacted, That the mayor, clerk, judge and inspectors of election, collector, assessor, commissioners of appeal and poundkeeper shall respectively possess the powers and perform the duties of like officers in any township in this state, so far as shall be consistent with the provisions of this act; and in addition thereto the borough clerk shall attend all meetings of the council of said borough, keep a record of all their proceedings, and record the same in a book to be provided for that purpose, and in like manner record all ordinances passed by the council, and shall do and perform all such other duties as the said council shall from time to time prescribe; and the powers and the duties of the treasurer of said borough shall be the same as collector of townships of the state, and such other powers and duties as are provided for in this act, or shall be conferred by the borough ordinance of said council.

16. And be it enacted, That it shall be the duty of the collector, who shall be borough treasurer, to receive, collect and pay out all moneys due or belonging to said borough, whether for taxes, assessments, arrears of taxes or otherwise, and safely keep and disburse the same under the direction of the council; and shall pay out the same only upon the warrant of said council, signed by the mayor and countersigned by the clerk, and no warrant on the borough treasurer shall be authorized except in pursuance of an order of said council passed at a stated meeting and entered on their minutes; and such warrants shall be made and numbered payable to the order of the person or persons to receive the same, and shall specify for what purpose the amount therein mentioned is directed to be paid; the said treasurer shall keep a record of the proceedings affecting the revenue of said borough, and shall make an annual report on the first Tuesday in March, or oftener should the council require, and publish in a newspaper printed in the county in which said borough is situate, if any there be, a detailed and true statement of all moneys received into the borough treasury, and of all moneys paid out from from the commencement of his official year to the date of the aforesaid, and file a copy with the borough clerk.

17. And be it enacted, That the said council shall have power to pass, enforce, alter and repeal ordinances to take effect within said borough for the following purposes, viz.: to lay out, open, vacate, alter, regulate, pave, flag, macadamize, extend, clean, repair, refill, establish, alter and regulate the grade and grading of all streets, avenues and roads, and cause the same to be maintain and establish the grade and boundaries of all streets, public alleys, roads and sidewalks in said borough, and also to regulate the grade of all improvements by houses or otherwise; provided, that no ordinance shall be passed which shall not be altered except by consent of the owners of two-thirds of the frontage this affected by such ordinance; for regulating the health and protection of whole trees; for preventing or removing all obstructions, encroachments, nuisances and nuisances, or any of them, from the streets, roads, highways, sidewalks, alleys, or crossings, and to cause the same to be removed; and establishing the boundaries of all streets, alleys and sidewalks in such borough; for causing the forty-eighth section of the boundaries of such borough to be accurately surveyed and mapped; for regulating and preventing the paving, graveling and laying sidewalks in such borough; for preventing and removing all obstructions and encroachments on any street or street crossing, caused by any railroad company or its agents, for preventing persons from injuring or injuring river or ripen the sidewalks, except when necessary to cross the same with horses, teams, carts or carriages of any description; for lighting the streets and alleys in said borough; for preventing or regulating the running at large of horses, mules, goats, geese, dogs and swine; for preventing the immoderate riding or driving through or along any of the streets, and preventing disturbances, breaches of the peace or disorderly conduct in any street, alley, house or place in such borough; for the erection of fountains and statues, and for sinking and regulating pumps; and to prohibit the throwing of any squirrel or enclosures of such borough; for the extinguishing of fires; for regulating fire engines, hook and ladder companies; for regulating the keeping of gun powder and other combustible or dangerous material; for the cleansing of chimneys and regulating the same; for appointing policemen, regular or special, watchmen and marshals, constables, and prescribing their powers, duties and compensation; for establishing and regulating one or more public pounds; for providing for the impounding of all stray beggars; for erecting, repairing and regulating a pound; and generally, all such ordinances, rules and regulations, which further shall be necessary for the government of said borough, and not inconsistent with the laws of this state.

18. And be it enacted, That it shall be the duty of the collector, who shall be borough treasurer, to receive, collect and pay out all moneys due or belonging to said borough, whether for taxes, assessments, arrears of taxes or otherwise, and safely keep and disburse the same under the direction of the council; and shall pay out the same only upon the warrant of said council, signed by the mayor and countersigned by the clerk, and no warrant on the borough treasurer shall be authorized except in pursuance of an order of said council passed at a stated meeting and entered on their minutes; and such warrants shall be made and numbered payable to the order of the person or persons to receive the same, and shall specify for what purpose the amount therein mentioned is directed to be paid; the said treasurer shall keep a record of the proceedings affecting the revenue of said borough, and shall make an annual report on the first Tuesday in March, or oftener should the council require, and publish in a newspaper printed in the county in which said borough is situate, if any there be, a detailed and true statement of all moneys received into the borough treasury, and of all moneys paid out from from the commencement of his official year to the date of the aforesaid, and file a copy with the borough clerk.

17. LAWS OF NEW JERSEY.

(BY AUTHORITY.)

CHAPTER CCXVII.

An act concerning bonds given by municipal officers or employees for the proper performance of official duty.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That hereafter all bonds now or hereafter required to be given by any municipal officer or employee for the proper performance of official duty, whether given directly to a municipality or to some officer or department thereof, shall be recorded in the office of the clerk of the county in which any such municipality may be situated, provided, that the governing body of such municipality shall so direct, and copies of said bonds duly certified by said clerk, under the seal of office, shall be received as evidence in any court of this state, and be as good and available in law as if the original bonds were then and there produced.

2. And be it enacted, That upon application made in writing to the justice of the supreme court who shall hold the circuit court in any county wherein any such municipality is situated, or by or on behalf of any such municipality or by or on behalf of any citizen and taxpayer thereof, alleging that the condition of the bond of any officer or employee of such municipality has been broken, said justice shall make such investigation touching the truth of such allegation as he shall think proper, and, in his discretion, may order suit to be brought upon said bond for the benefit of such municipality or of the officer or department thereof for whose benefit the bond is given.

3. And be it enacted, That nothing herein contained shall invalidate bonds not recorded as herein provided, and application for an order for the prosecution of any such bond may be made in the same manner as if the same were recorded.

4. And be it enacted, That any bond given by any officer or employee of any municipality in this state for the proper performance of official duty, whether given directly to a municipality or to some officer or department thereof, and whether recorded or not, may be prosecuted as heretofore without application to a justice of the supreme court.

5. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 14, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXIX.

An act to provide for the appointment of commissioners for the promotion of uniformity of legislation in the United States.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the governor of this state shall, within thirty days after this act shall become a law, appoint three commissioners at law of this state, who shall constitute a board of commissioners with power to examine, consider and report how far it is wise or practicable to assimilate the legislation of the various states on the subjects of marriage and divorce, insolvency, the form of notarial certificates, or other subjects in which uniformity or assimilation may seem to them to be wise, practicable or desirable, with power in their discretion to confer with such commissioners or officers of other states as have or shall have like power, and especially the commissioners lately appointed by the state of New York for the same purpose, and to make report to this or any subsequent legislature of this state, whether any and what action should be taken.

2. And be it enacted, That said commissioners shall hold office for two years, and shall serve without compensation; and any vacancy in said board shall be filled by the governor.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 14, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXX.

An act relative to the payment of arrears of taxes and assessments and the interest thereon in incorporated cities.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That at any time within one year after the passage of this act, any person or persons may pay to the collector of taxes or other person authorized to receive the same, in any corporated city in this state, the amount of any tax or assessment laid upon any real property belonging to any such person or persons, laid or imposed prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety, and now remaining unpaid, together with interest thereon at five per centum per annum, to be calculated from the time interest is properly chargeable thereon to the time of such payment, together with the actual expenses thereto before incurred by any such city for the enforcement and payment of said taxes or assessments; and the collector of taxes, or person authorized to receive the same, shall make and deliver to the person or persons making such payment a receipt therefor, and shall forthwith cancel the record of such tax or assessment; upon such payment such tax or assessment shall cease to be a lien upon the real estate or property, and shall be deemed and taken to be fully paid, satisfied and discharged, and there shall be no right to any further interest or penalty by reason of such tax or assessment not having been paid within the time heretofore required by law, or by reason of any statute passed requiring the payment heretofore of any penalty or interest of seven per centum upon any unpaid tax or assessment; provided, however, that nothing in this act contained shall authorize the receipt, under the provisions of this act, of any such taxes or assessments in cases where lands and real estate have been sold for taxes or assessments and bought in by any other person than the city in which said taxes and assessments are laid, or some officer for the use of such city; nor shall any lien upon real estate for such taxes or assessments be released or affected, nor shall any sale of any real estate for taxes or assessments, or the delivery of any certificate or declaration of sale or deed therefor, be stayed by anything in this act contained; and provided further, that the provisions of this act shall not become operative in any incorporated city until the common council or other governing body having charge and control of the finances of such city shall, by resolution, authorize the collector of taxes or other person authorized to receive taxes, to receive and receipt for the same under the provisions of this act.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 14, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXXI.

An act enabling township clerks to take affidavits in township business.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That hereafter it may and shall be lawful for the township clerks of the several townships in this state to take affidavits in all cases concerning township business.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall be a public act and shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 14, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXXII.

An act to regulate the price of legal advertising.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That it shall be lawful for all officers and boards of any county or municipality of this state to pay for official advertising in the daily newspaper published in cities of the first and second class, at the rate of ten cents per line for the first insertion, and five cents per line for each subsequent insertion; provided said daily newspapers shall be duly authorized to publish the said advertisement, and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall apply to the publication of the session laws of this state, and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed as requiring or authorizing the inserting of any advertisement in any newspaper not now or hereafter authorized by law to publish the same.

2. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts, public or private, that conflict with the provisions of this act, shall be and are hereby repealed.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall be deemed a public act, and take effect immediately.

Approved April 14, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXXIV.

An act respecting the election and terms of office of the clerk, and collector or receiver of taxes in certain towns, boroughs and townships.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That in all towns and boroughs, and in all townships having a population of ten thousand inhabitants or over according to the last census, the terms of office of the clerk, and collector or receiver of taxes hereafter elected or appointed therein shall be the period of two years, and all persons who shall be hereafter elected or appointed to said offices or any of them shall hold office for two years, and until their successors in office shall have been duly elected or appointed and shall have duly qualified; and any legal votes of any such town, borough or township shall be eligible to the said offices of clerk or collector or receiver of taxes.

2. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts, general, special, local, public or private inconsistent with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 14, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXXV.

An act to secure the payment of laborers, mechanics, merchants, traders and persons employed upon or furnishing materials toward the performing of any work in public improvement in cities in this state.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That any person or persons who shall hereafter as laborer, mechanic, merchant or trader, in pursuance of, or in conformity with the terms of any contract for any public improvement made between any person or persons and any city in this state authorized by law to make contracts for the making of any public improvement, perform any labor or furnish any material toward the performance or completion of any such contract, made with said city, on complying with the second section of this act, shall have a lien for the value of such labor or materials or either, upon the moneys in the control of the said city, due or to grow due under said contract with said city to the full value of such claim or demand, and these liens may be filed and become an absolute lien to the full par value of all such work and materials, to the extent of the amount due or to grow due under said contract, in favor of every person or persons who shall be employed or furnish materials to the person or persons with whom the said contract with said city is made, or the subcontractors of said person or persons, their assigns or legal representatives; provided, that no city shall be required to pay a greater amount than the contract price or value of the work and materials furnished, when no specific is made in the performance of said work by the contractor.

2. And be it enacted, That at any time before the whole work to be performed by the contractor for the city is completed or accepted by the city, and within fifteen days after the same is so completed or accepted, any claimant may file with the chairman or head of the department, council, board or bureau having charge of said work, and with the financial officer of said city, notices stating the residence of the claimant, verified by his oath or affirmation, stating the amount claimed, from whom due, and if not due, when it will be due, giving the amount of the demand after deducting all just credits and offsets, with the name of the person by whom employed, or to whom the materials were furnished; also a statement of the terms, time given, conditions of his contract, and also that the labor was performed or materials furnished to the said contractor, and were actually performed or used in the execution and completion of the said contract with said city, but no variance as to the name of the contractor shall affect the validity of the said claim or lien.

3. And be it enacted, That the financial officer of said city shall enter the claims in a book kept for that purpose by him, called the "lien book;" such entry shall contain the name and residence of claimant, the name of the contractor, the amount and date of the filing and a brief designation of the contract upon which the claim is made.

4. And be it enacted, That no lien provided for in this act shall be binding upon the property therein described, unless an action be commenced within ninety days from the filing of the same, and a notice of pendency of said action be filed with the financial officer of the city.

5. And be it enacted, That the lien shall attach from the time of filing thereof to the extent of the liability of the contractor for the claim preferred upon any funds which may be due or to grow due to said contractor from said city under the contract against which the lien is filed.

6. And be it enacted, That any claimant who has filed the notice mentioned in the second section of this act, may enforce his claim against the said fund therein designated and against the person or persons liable to the debt by a civil action; actions to determine or terminate said liens may be commenced by the contractor or said city in any court of competent jurisdiction.

7. And be it enacted, That the plaintiff must make all parties, who have filed claims, the contractor and, the said city, parties defendant, and as to all parties against whom no personal claim is made, the plaintiff may, with the summons, serve a notice stating briefly the object of action, and that no personal claim is made; but all parties who have filed claims under this act, may, by answer in such action, set forth the same, and the court in which the action is brought may decide as to the extent, justice and priority of the claims of all parties to the action.

8. And be it enacted, That the court in which the action is brought shall determine the validity of the lien, the amount due from the debtor to the contractor, under his contract, and from the contractor to the respective claimants, and shall render judgment, directing that the said city shall pay over to the claimants for the work done and the materials furnished in the execution of said contract or contracts, whose claims or liens it shall hold to be valid and just, in the order of their priority as determined by said court to the extent of the sum found due to said claimants from their contractor, so much of said funds or money which may be due from said city to the contractor under his contract, against which the lien is filed, as will satisfy their liens or claims, with interest and costs, to the extent of the amount due from said city to said contractor; the judgments rendered under this act may be enforced by execution and an appeal may be taken therefrom in the same time and manner as in civil actions.

9. And be it enacted, That in case of successive liens or a number of liens in favor of different persons, their rights and priorities shall be determined as follows: persons standing in equal degrees as coliaborers, or various persons furnishing materials, shall have priority according to the date of the filing of their liens; when several lien notices are filed for the same demand, the judgment shall provide for the proper payments according to priority, so that under liens filed, double payments shall not be required.

10. And be it enacted, That when separate actions are commenced, the court in which the first action was brought may, upon the application of said city, consolidate them.

11. And be it enacted, That costs in all actions shall rest in the discretion of the court and shall be awarded to or against the plaintiff or defendants, or any or either of them, as may be just.

12. And be it enacted, That nothing contained in this act shall be construed to impair or affect the right of any person to whom any debt may be due for work done or materials furnished, to maintain a personal action to recover such debt against the person liable therefor.

13. And be it enacted, That the lien may be discharged as follows: first, by filing a certificate of the claimant or his successor in interest, duly acknowledged and proved, stating that the lien is discharged; second by lapse of time, when ninety days have elapsed since the filing of the claim and no action shall have been commenced to enforce the claim; third, by satisfaction of any judgment that may be rendered in actions to foreclose said liens or claims.

14. And be it enacted, That the term "contractor," as used in this act, shall be construed as meaning the person with whom the contract with the city is made, his assigns or legal representatives.

15. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately; but nothing herein contained shall affect the validity of any claims or liens upon moneys due or to grow due under contracts made by cities prior to its passage; all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the terms of this act are hereby repealed.

Approved April 14, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXXVI.

An act to provide for the repaving, repairing and improvement of paved streets in cities of this state.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That it shall be lawful in any city of this state for the board having charge and control of the finances thereof to appropriate and set apart annually, with the consent of the mayor, for the period of six years from the date thereof, out of the license fees received in such city for licenses to sell spirituous or malt liquors, one-half thereof for the repaving, repairing and improvement of paved streets in such city, and said moneys so appropriated shall be disbursed, applied and expended for such purposes exclusively by the board or department of such city charged with the duty of paving and repairing streets, and by no other board or authority nor for any other purpose whatsoever.

2. And be it enacted, That all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed; and be it enacted, that this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 14, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXXVII.

An act to amend section one of the act entitled "An supplement to an act entitled 'An act for the settlement and relief of the poor,'" approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, which supplement was approved June twentieth, one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That section one of the act entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An act for the settlement and relief of the poor,'" approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, which supplement was approved June twentieth, one thousand eight hundred and ninety, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That any person or persons who have or who shall have lawfully resided in any township of this state for the period of ten consecutive years, shall be considered as legally settled in said township; provided that this act shall not be so construed as to give a legal settlement to any person or persons hereafter of any home for feeble-minded, home of old people, home for the homeless, nor to any person who may be or may have been maintained by the overseer of the poor of any township, city or borough during said ten consecutive years.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 14, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXXIX.

A supplement to an act entitled "An act for the more easy partition of lands held by copeners, joint tenants and tenants in common," (Revision), approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That in all proceedings now or hereafter pending for the partition of lands held in severalty of the undivided shares thereof is so limited over in the manner specified in section twenty-five of the act (Revision) to which this a supplement, a sale thereof may be made upon an order or decree of the court of chancery, whenever it shall be made to appear to the court that the tract or tracts of land or real estate in question are so circumstanced that a partition thereof cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners or persons interested in the same.

2. And be it enacted, That in all partition proceedings wherein the sale of lands limited over shall hereafter be decreed by the court of chancery, and there shall be an executor, trustee or administrator cum testamento annexo appointed by any last will and testament or by virtue of the order or decree of any court and by the terms of such will, such executor, trustee or administrator cum testamento annexo has authority to collect and receive the rents and issues of all or any part of such lands during the lives of any person or persons named in such will, but has no power to make sale of said lands or any interest therein upon such executor, trustee or administrator cum testamento annexo giving bonds to the ordinary (in the same manner as now required upon the granting of letters of administration) in the offices of the clerk of the court wherein said will was proved, or from which he received his appointment as such trustee or administrator, then it shall be lawful for the chancellor to decree that the proceeds of sale of any lands or interest in any lands to which said executor, trustee or administrator cum testamento annexo was entitled to the rents and profits shall be paid over to said executor, trustee or administrator cum testamento annexo, to be by him held and invested according to the law concerning other trust funds and the income thereof paid and applied by him to the persons entitled to the rents and profits of said lands which said moneys represent; and upon the death of the persons so entitled to such income, to pay said principal sum to the persons entitled to the same under the provisions of said will.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 14, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXXX.

An act to provide means to increase the fish production of the waters of this state.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That for the purpose of continuing the work of stocking the waters of this state with food fishes, there is hereby appropriated the sum of five thousand dollars, which, or any portion thereof necessary, shall be paid by the state treasurer, on the warrant of the comptroller, with the assent of the governor, to the commissioners of fisheries of this state upon their requisition, to be by them expended in defraying the cost of leasing and maintaining a hatchery, and of procuring, hatching and distributing valuable food fishes to stock the rivers, streams, lakes and ponds of this state, and for such other purposes as they may deem advisable to restore and increase the fish production of the waters of this state; provided, that one thousand dollars of this appropriation be expended for the propagation of shad in the Delaware river; and provided, that for all moneys expended by said commissioners vouchers shall be filed with the comptroller, verified as said comptroller shall direct.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 15, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXXXI.

A further supplement to an act entitled "An act relative to the court of pardons," approved January eighteenth, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That it shall be lawful for the court of pardons to grant to any convict now or hereafter undergoing imprisonment in any of the penal institutions of this state, a license to be at large, upon such security, terms, conditions and limitations, in all respects, as to the said court, shall seem proper, which said terms, conditions and limitations shall be endorsed upon or annexed to such license; such convict shall continue to be legally in custody after the granting of such license, and shall be liable to be taken at any time and returned to the place of punishment to which he or she was originally sentenced, as hereinafter provided.

2. And be it enacted, That such license shall be signed by the governor, or person administering the government, and attested by the clerk of said court; a duly certified copy thereof shall be deposited with the keeper of the prison or other penal institution in which such convict is confined, and shall be a sufficient warrant to the keeper for permitting such convict to go at large.

3. And be it enacted, That the court of pardons, or the governor, or person administering the government, when said court is not in session, shall have authority, at any time, in his or their discretion, to revoke any license granted under this act; and it shall be the duty of said court, or of the governor, or the said court is not in session, to revoke any such license whenever it shall come to his or their knowledge that the person holding the same has violated any of the terms, conditions or limitations thereof, or any penal law of this state, or of any other state, or of the United States.

4. And be it enacted, That such revocation shall be made by an order in writing, which shall state the reason therefor, and shall be signed by the governor, or person administering the government, and filed with the clerk of said court; upon the filing of such revocation, the governor or person administering the government shall issue his warrant for the arrest of the holder of such license, and his or her return to the place of leased thereunder; said warrant may be served by any person authorized to serve criminal process in any county in this state; the holder of such license, when returned to the place of confinement from which he or she was released thereunder shall be detained therein according to the terms of his or her original sentence; and in computing the period of such confinement, the time between his or her release upon such license and return to said place of confinement shall not be taken to be any part of the term of sentence; if the person for whose arrest such warrant is issued is confined in any prison or penal institution of this state, the officer to whom said warrant shall have been delivered shall deliver the same to the warden or keeper of such penal institution or prison, and the said warden or keeper shall, until the expiration of said present term of imprisonment in that institution, return him to the institution from which he was discharged on license, or if the discharge on license was from the same institution, then shall detain him therein according to the terms of his original sentence as aforesaid.

5. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 16, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXXXII.

An act to amend an act entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation of associations for the erection and maintenance of hospitals, infirmaries, orphanages, asylums and other charitable institutions," approved March ninth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the third section of the act entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation of associations for the erection and maintenance of hospitals, infirmaries, orphanages, asylums and other charitable institutions," approved March ninth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That any three or more persons of full age, a majority of whom shall be citizens of and residents within this state, who shall desire to associate themselves together for the purpose of the care, cure, nurture or maintenance of sick, injured, infirm, aged, indigent, deaf, dumb, blind, idiotic or insane person, or of orphans, half-orphans or destitute children, or for the training, education, instruction or preparation of persons, male or female, to act as nurses, or for any two or more of such purposes combined, may make, record and file a certificate in writing, in manner hereinafter mentioned.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 16, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXXXIII.

A supplement to an act entitled "An act for the construction, maintenance and operation of systems of sewerage in cities, towns and boroughs," approved June thirteenth, one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the second section of the act of which this is amendatory be amended to read as follows, provided, however, that the provisions of this supplement shall apply only to cities of the third class in this state:

2. And be it enacted, That such persons desirous of forming a company for such purposes shall make, sign and acknowledge, before some officer authorized to take such acknowledgment of deeds, a certificate in writing, which shall state the corporate name adopted by the company, the amount of the capital stock, the term of its existence, the number of directors, the names of those who shall manage the affairs of the company for the first year, or until their successors are elected and qualified, and the name of the city, town or borough in and for which such sewerage system is to be constructed and the business of the company carried on; such certificate shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, together with the consent in writing of, and the terms and conditions or conditions upon which the consent has been granted by the corporate authorities, if any, of the city, town or borough in which such sewerage system is to be constructed.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 16, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXXXIV.

An act enlarging and extending the powers of incorporated towns in this state governed by boards of commissioners and of certain officers thereof.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the police justice of any incorporated town in this state governed by a board of commissioners shall hold his office for two years, and shall have jurisdiction to, and is hereby empowered, on oath, affirmation or affidavit, made according to law, that any person or persons has or have been guilty of a violation of any of the ordinances of the town, to issue process, either in the nature of a summons or warrant, as to him may seem most advisable, against the person or persons violating such ordinance, which process shall, when the nature of a warrant, be returnable forthwith, and when in the nature of a summons be returnable in not less than three nor more than five days; that such process shall state what ordinance the defendant or defendants named therein has or have violated, and, in what manner the same has been violated, and then, on return of such process, or at the time to which the police justice shall have adjourned the same, the said police justice shall proceed to hear testimony and to determine and give judgment in the matter without the filing of any pleadings, and the said police justice shall, if judgment be rendered for the plaintiff, forthwith issue execution against the goods and chattels, and against the body of the defendant or defendants; and the said police justice shall be further empowered to inflict fines, not exceeding the sum of twenty dollars, on such persons as shall be convicted before him of vagrancy, disorderly conduct, breach of the peace, or in his discretion, to order such persons to be committed to the county jail or town lock-up for any period not exceeding thirty days; provided, that in all cases when the fine or penalty shall exceed ten dollars, or where the punishment shall be imprisonment, there may be a trial by jury, to be conducted as in cases now triable in courts for the trial of small causes; police justices shall also have power to cause any person or persons who shall be found guilty of a violation of the ordinances of the town, and who may refuse or neglect to pay any penalty imposed, to be committed to the county jail for a period not exceeding thirty days; and the police justice shall be present at the station-house, or other place provided by him by the board of commissioners, at such hours each day as the board shall designate; and the police justice shall have the same powers in criminal matters, within the territorial limits of the town, as are possessed and exercised by justices of the peace of this state; all fines, penalties and license fees collected by him shall be paid to the town treasurer.

2. And be it enacted, That any member of the board of commissioners during his term of office, and any marshal or assistant marshal, and any policeman of said town, shall have the power, on witnessing any breach of the peace or any violation of a town ordinance, to forthwith arrest and take into custody, without warrant, the offender or offenders, and to take said offender or offenders before the police justice of the town for a hearing.

3. And be it enacted, That every conviction for violating a town ordinance had before the police justice, either with or without a jury trial, may be reviewed by appeal to the courts of common pleas of the county in the same manner and upon the same terms as appeals are or may be taken from courts for the trial of small causes, and in case a judgment appealed from shall be imprisonment, the said police justice, or any judge of the court of common pleas, may admit to bail the party appealing during the pendency of his appeal; but no judgment for the violation of any ordinance shall be reversed for any imperfection, omission, defect in or fault of form, nor for any error except such as shall or may have prejudiced the defendant in maintaining his defense upon the merits.

4. And be it enacted, That the officers empowered to serve process issued by the police justice shall be, besides the constables elected, are appointed within the town, the marshal, assistant marshals, and the policemen of the town, and that said process shall be returned in the same manner, so far as circumstances may permit, as warrants in courts for the trial of small causes are returned, and the defendant or defendants named therein shall, at the police justice's discretion, be at liberty to adjourn the hearing of the charge made, and so order, as nearly as may be, in the courts for the trial of small causes, in the amount of the penalty named, in the process or in any proceedings brought for the recovery of the same, with such authority as may be approved by the police justice, unto the town, by its corporate name, for his or their appearance on the day to which said hearing may be adjourned, and in default of such appearance, the said parties may be prosecuted and collected in the same manner as the same might have been if the said recognizances had been taken in a proceeding in courts for the trial of small causes.

5. And be it enacted, That the board of commissioners may by the ordinance, or ordinances, to be passed, adopt, alter, modify or repeal ordinances to take effect within the town, for the following purposes: To manage, regulate, protect and control the finances and property of the town; to make and adopt an assessment map or maps whereby to describe lands assessed for taxes or improvements; to ascertain and establish the boundaries of all streets, highways, public lanes and alleys in the town; to regulate, clean and keep in repair the streets, highways, lanes and alleys in the town, and to prevent and remove all encroachments, obstructions and encumbrances in and upon all streets, highways, lanes and alleys, sewers, drains and water courses; to prescribe the manner in which corporations or individuals shall exercise any privileges granted to them in the use of any street, highway or alley, or in digging up any street, highway or alley for any purpose whatsoever; to direct and regulate the planting, rearing, trimming and preserving of ornamental shade trees in the streets, parks and public places of the town, and to authorize or prohibit the removal or destruction of such shade trees; to name and number the streets, houses and lots in the town; to provide for and regulate the removal of snow or ice from the sidewalks and gutters of lands or by the owner of any lot of land fronting on a public highway and to provide for the ascertainment and payment of just damages and compensation to owners of property destroyed in such cases; to regulate or prohibit the use of firearms and the carrying of any kind; to erect, provide, repair and control a town hall, police and station houses, lockups, and such other buildings as may be necessary for the use of the town; to provide a second conviction within six months of a violation of any such ordinance, shall be a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars or imprisonment in the county jail or town lockup, not exceeding three months; to license and regulate carmen, porters, hackmen, cab, omnibus, stage and truck owners and drivers, carriages and vehicles used for the transportation of passengers and merchandise, goods or articles of any kind, and to require the owners to mark vehicles in such manner as the board of commissioners shall designate; and to license and regulate auctioneers, common criers, pawnbrokers, junk shop keepers, sweeps and scavengers; and to prohibit unlicensed persons from acting in such capacities; to license and regulate peddlers, hawkers and hucksters; and no license granted for any of the aforesaid purposes by any other authority shall be valid, except license granted by the governor to hawkers and peddlers; to fix the penalty where the same is not fixed or provided for by this act for the violation of any ordinance; and the said authorized to be passed, which penalty shall be a fine not exceeding twenty dollars, and, in case of non-payment thereof, imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days; to provide for, establish, regulate and control a fire department, and to establish rules for the government thereof (whose members shall be exempt from all duty in time of peace, and from serving as jurors in courts for the trial of small causes), and to provide engines and other fire apparatus, and to designate the manner of appointing and removing members of the fire department; to provide for the government of the fire department and the care and repair of the engines and other fire apparatus, and for the purchase of necessary supplies by a board of fire commissioners, consisting of five members, to be appointed by the board of commissioners who shall hold office for two years, and who shall receive no salary; and to further provide for the payment of the lawful debts contracted or incurred by such fire commissioners; provided, that the enumeration of powers made in this section shall not have the effect of excluding or repealing all other powers that may have been already conferred upon any board of commissioners, either by virtue of the act under which said board of commissioners originally derived its powers or any supplement thereto, or by virtue of any public act thereto, or by virtue of any public act heretofore passed and not in this section specified or mentioned; and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall in any wise conflict with any of the provisions of an act entitled "An act respecting licenses in cities, townships, incorporated towns, incorporated boroughs or police, sanitary and improvement commissions, and incorporated camp meeting associations, and to repeal certain acts," approved March thirty-first, one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

6. And be it enacted, That the board of commissioners shall have power by resolution to appropriate and raise by taxation moneys for the following purposes:

For lighting the streets of the town;

For the support of the police department;

For the maintenance of the fire department;

For regulating, cleaning and keeping in repair streets and highways;

For repairs to public buildings;

For the relief of the poor;

For water for the extinguishment of fires;

For the payment of interest upon the debt of the town and such part of the principal as shall from time to time become due and payable;

For the sinking fund required to be raised;

For the general and incidental expenses of the town, including the printing and publication of the minutes of the board of ordinances, and such other matters required by law to be published;

For the support of public schools; and no appropriation shall be made or ordered for any other purpose, except by a majority of the voters of the town voting at an annual town election, or some special election called in the manner provided in the act incorporating such town, or some supplement thereto.

7. And be it enacted, That the board of commissioners may appoint two discreet and suitable persons, one to act as town assessor, and the other to act as town collector, who shall hold their offices for one year, and until their successors are appointed; provided that such appointment shall not be made in towns where such officers are elected by the people.

8. And be it enacted, That the assessor shall assess, and the collector collect the taxes in the same manner as the assessors and collectors of townships in this state are required by law to assess and collect; and in case of non-payment of taxes the said collector shall proceed to enforce the collection thereof in the manner now required by law of township collectors in this state, in the act entitled "An act concerning taxes," approved April fourteenth, one thousand eight hundred and forty-six," and the various supplements thereto; the powers of the collector under this section shall apply as well in cases where taxes have been already assessed, as in cases where assessments are made after this act takes effect, and no tax heretofore assessed shall be deemed illegal or uncollectable because no certain method for its collection shall have been provided before the passage of this act; and it shall be lawful for the collector, in making out his list of delinquents, under the provisions of section three of the act entitled "A further supplement to an act concerning taxes (Revision), approved April fourteenth, one thousand eight hundred and forty-six," which supplement was approved April seventeenth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, to include all past due taxes upon any mortgage or mortgages, or the debt or debts secured thereby, which shall have remained due more than sixty days, whether the same shall have been assessed in one or more years or not, and if, for any reason, any mortgage or mortgages shall not have been included in any such list, a supplementary list may be issued, which shall have all the effect of an original list.

9. And be it enacted, That in case of vacancies happening in any elective office, including the board of commissioners, by reason of death, removal, resignation, refusal to serve, or other cause, except in the case of election officers, on the day of election, it shall be filled by the board of commissioners at their next meeting thereafter, and such appointment shall continue until the next annual election, and no longer, and no such appointment shall be made by any retiring board of commissioners, any provision in any act, incorporating any town embraced under this act, or any supplement thereto notwithstanding.

10. And be it enacted, That the board of commissioners may, by ordinance or resolution, require the owners or occupants of lands fronting on any street to lay sidewalks, or set curbings and gutters, or either, in front of, or near to the same, or to repair, or relay or reset any sidewalk already laid, or curbing and gutter, or either, already set, and if the same shall not be done within thirty days after written or printed notice so to do served on any such owner or occupant, such board of commissioners may cause the same to be done, and the expense thereof, with interest and costs, may be recovered by such board of commissioners, by suit in their corporate name or in the name of the town treasurer against such owner or owners as for so much money, due for work performed and materials furnished by said board for such owner or owners or occupant at his or their request, or may be assessed as a tax on such lands and shall be a lien thereon prior to any mortgage or other lien or incumbrance thereon, and be collected as other taxes are collected.

11. And be it enacted, That the board of commissioners shall have power to borrow money temporarily in their corporate name, on the name of the town, in anticipation of appropriated revenues, not exceeding in amount one-half of such anticipated revenues.

12. And be it enacted, That the board of commissioners shall have power at any time to direct a special election to fill any vacancy that may occur in their body.

13. And be it enacted, That the board of commissioners shall appoint three discreet persons, residents and freeholders of the town, to be commissioners of assessment, and who shall hold their offices for three years, and the said commissioners shall make all assessments for improvements of every kind under this act; provided, that any two of such commissioners of assessment shall be interested in the matter of any such assessments, the board of commissioners shall appoint some discreet and impartial freeholder or freeholders, resident in said town, to act in regard to such assessment in lieu of such commissioner or commissioners of assessment interested therein as aforesaid; and every report of assessments made by commissioners of assessment shall be accompanied by the oath or affirmation of such commissioner making the same that he is not interested, directly or indirectly, in the matter of the assessment, and that he has performed his duties in relation thereto honestly, faithfully and impartially to the best of his ability, skill and understanding, which oath or affirmation the clerk of said town is hereby authorized to administer; and the said commissioners appointed under this act shall determine among themselves by lot which of them shall serve for one, two and three years respectively, and thereafter, annually, one commissioner shall be appointed to serve for the full term of three years.

14. And be it enacted, That the board of commissioners shall have power, and they are hereby authorized by ordinance to lay out, open, straighten, widen and extend any street, avenue or highway or any part or section thereof, and to make and appropriate for such purpose any necessary lands and real estate upon making compensation to the owners thereof as hereinafter provided, to provide for grading and altering the grade of streets and avenues in the town, and filling, macadamizing, guttering, curbing, bridging, planking, graveling, paving and repairing the same; to make and adopt a general plan of sewerage and drainage for such town or any section thereof, conformably to which all appurtenances of public drainage shall be made; to provide for the building and constructing of public sewers and drains, and for taking land and real estate for building same.

15. And be it enacted, That streets shall be laid out, opened, straightened, extended, widened or otherwise changed as to their boundaries, in the following manner, and not otherwise; a petition in writing, signed, by ten or more freeholders, resident in the town, and owning land in the vicinity of the improvement desired, shall be presented to the board of commissioners, setting forth accurately the improvement desired; and the petitioners shall deposit with the treasurer such sum of money as the board shall direct, being sufficient to cover the expense incurred in case such improvement shall not be ordered; if the board shall favor the petition, the same shall be referred to the commissioners of assessment, and a surveyor not interested in such improvement, who shall thereupon make a map of such improvement, showing the real estate to be taken therefor, in the judgment of said commissioners of assessment, will be specially benefitted thereby, designating each lot and parcel on said map by a number; said commissioners of assessment shall also ascertain, so far as practicable, the name of the owners of such real estate to be taken and property to be benefitted, and the interest of each of the owners of real estate to be taken, and which such names or estates are not known they shall so report; they shall also appraise the value of the interest of each known owner of real estate to be taken, and the damage to be done to such owner, by taking the same; and where the estates in any plot of land are unknown, they shall appraise the value of, or the damage done to the fee simple; said commissioners of assessment shall also estimate all other expenses likely, in their judgment, to attend the completion of the improvement; said commissioners of assessment shall also estimate the amount likely to be realized from the sale of any buildings, or parts of buildings, required to be taken, on account of such improvement, and shall so determine the probable net cost or making the improvement; this probable net cost they shall then assess upon the land to be specially benefitted in proportion to the benefit to be received; thereupon they shall, under their hands, make a report of the facts ascertained, and of the appraisements, estimates, determinations and assessments made by them concerning such improvement, and shall file such report and their map with the clerk of the town within thirty days after the reference to them, or within such further time as the board of commissioners shall grant; thereupon the said clerk shall cause a notice of the filing of the said map and report to be printed in the official newspaper of the town, or, if there be none, in a newspaper published in the county and circulating in the town, for the period of two weeks, which notice shall contain a general description of the improvement intended, of the land to be taken, and of the land to be assessed therefor, and shall state the time and place when and where the board of commissioners will meet to hear and consider any objections to said report or to the improvement, which may be presented in writing; said clerk shall also, within said period, cause notice to the same effect, to be posted at points not over three hundred feet apart, the whole line of said improvement, the time appointed for hearing such objections being not less than ten days after the expiration of said period of two weeks, and shall also, within the said period, serve a copy of such notice upon resident owners of real estate affected thereby; but, the omission of the clerk to serve such notice shall not invalidate any of such proceedings; and all objections at such time and place presented in writing the said board of commissioners shall consider and adjudicate upon, and the awards of assessments made in such report may be corrected accordingly, a copy of which corrections signed by the chairman of the board of commissioners, shall be filed with the said clerk within twenty days after the expiration of said period of two weeks; if such board of commissioners shall then determine to make such improvement, notwithstanding any objections to the same, the said board shall confirm such report, with the corrections, if any, and pass an ordinance ordering said improvement to be made and completed in such manner as the board of commissioners may direct under the supervision of said commissioners of assessment; provided, the said board of commissioners shall not proceed to make such improvement if the owners of the property subject to more than one-third of the assessment for the improvement shall remonstrate against the same being made; the board of commissioners shall also pass a resolution directing the several sums awarded to be paid to the persons to whom the awards are made for real estate taken and damages sustained in making such improvement, and upon the passage of such resolution the fee simple of such real estate to be taken shall be vested in the town; provided, that where the commissioners of assessment shall have reported the names or estates of the owners shall direct the sum or the award on account of such plot to be paid to the owners thereof, when and as their interest may appear, and any such owner or person interested in such lands may, by bill in chancery, according to the practice of that court, have the said sum distributed, or in whole or in part paid over to him as law and justice may require; after the completion of such improvement the commissioners of assessment shall which the said purchaser may have paid, chargeable on such lands, tenements or real estate, and which he is hereby authorised to do, with interest thereon at the rate of fifteen per centum per annum in addition thereto; and the certificate of the treasurer of the town stating the payments and showing what lands, tenements or real estate such payment is intended to redeem, shall be evidence of such redemption; any mortgagee shall have power to redeem at any time until the expiration of the six months' notice therein specified; no mortgagee whose mortgage shall have been duly recorded before sale for any tax or assessment, shall be affected by such sale until six months' notice, in writing, shall have been given to him, either personally, or if not to be found in such town, then such notice shall be deposited in the post office in such town, directed to him at his last known place of residence (or at the post office nearest thereto), but nothing therein contained shall be so construed as to impair the lien created by such tax, assessment or sale; and provided, the same term of time, for which any land, tenements or real estate so sold as aforesaid, shall not commence, nor shall such purchaser, or those claiming under him, have a right of possession of said lands, tenements or real estate until the two years limited for the redemption of the same shall have expired; and the said purchaser, or those claiming under him, shall, at the expiration of the time limited in such declaration of sale, quit and surrender the said lands, tenements or real estate, in as good state and condition as when he entered thereon, natural wear and accidents excepted; provided, also, that such sale may be adjourned or postponed from time to time, or suspended, as the board of commissioners, or their committee appointed to attend such sale, may direct; and provided, that if at any sale of lands, tenements or real estate, for the assessment of taxes, the whole or any part thereof shall remain unsold for want of bidders, then it shall be lawful for such board of commissioners, or such committee to adjourn sale not less than thirty days, nor more than sixty days; twenty days' notice at least by publication for two weeks and posting shall be given as aforesaid of such adjourned sale, and if at such adjourned sale there shall be no purchasers for lands, tenements or real estate, or any part thereof, then it shall be lawful for the treasurer of such town to purchase such lands, tenements or real estate for any term not exceeding one hundred years, for the benefit of the town, subject to the same redemption herein provided for; provided, also, that all money paid for the redemption of such lands, tenements or real estate as aforesaid, together with all taxes and assessments paid by any mortgagee or judgment creditor, shall be a lien upon such lands, tenements or real estate for the amount so paid, with interest at the rate of seven per centum per annum, and such lien shall have precedence over all other liens on such lands, tenements and real estate; provided, further, that a complete record of all taxes and assessments shall be kept in the town clerk's office, which record shall contain the time when such assessment and taxes were laid, the time when they were paid (and if the property has been sold therefor), the time of such sale and to whom sold, and if redeemed, when and by whom; it shall be the duty of the town clerk to enter in a book to be called "record of sales," a minute of all declarations of sales, and to give certificates of search in relation to liens to any person or persons applying for the same, and to cancel such declarations when the property for which they were given shall be redeemed, on the certificate of the town treasurer of such redemption, and to file such certificate in such clerk's office; it shall be the duty of the treasurer to make out two certificates of all property redeemed, one for the person redeeming and one to be filed in such clerk's office; it shall be lawful for the board of commissioners to sell, assign and transfer any declaration of sale or any term in lands purchased for the benefit of such town as aforesaid, or any portion of a term, for such price as the board of commissioners shall or may think proper.

27. And be it enacted, That the assessor shall complete his assessment and present his books to the board of commissioners for examination on the third Monday in September, annually, and the board shall complete their examination of the same by the first Monday in October; immediately thereafter the collector shall give notice as required by section ten of the tax act, and within thirty days thereafter the collector shall make the demand and give the notice as required by section eleven of the tax act, and the day fixed by him for the payment thereof shall not be later than December twentieth.

28. And be it enacted, That all general laws and statutes of this state heretofore passed relating to incorporated towns shall be and they are hereby made applicable to any town embraced under this act, except in so far as the same may be inconsistent with or repugnant to the provisions of this act, provided, that nothing in the act shall apply to, affect or include any street, road or highway that is now or may hereafter be under the charge, direction, management or control of any county public road board in this state, whether created or organized under or by virtue of any general or special act of the legislature.

29. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 16, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXXXV.

A further supplement to an act entitled "An act concerning the settlement and collection of arrearages of unpaid taxes and assessments and water rates or water rents in cities of this state, and imposing and levying a tax, assessment and lien in lieu and instead of such arrearages, and to enforce the payment thereof, and to provide for the sale of lands subject to future taxation and assessment," passed March thirtieth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That section five of an act entitled "An act concerning the settlement and collection of arrearages of unpaid taxes and assessments and water rates or water rents in cities of this state and imposing and levying a tax, assessment and lien in lieu and instead of such arrearages, and to enforce the payment thereof, and to provide for the sale of lands subject to future taxation and assessment," passed March thirtieth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six, be and the same is hereby amended so that it shall be and read as follows:

5. And be it enacted, That the comptroller or other collecting officer shall, on the receipt of the purchase money or any sale or of bonds in lieu thereof, as provided by this act, execute and deliver to the purchaser a certificate of such sale, which shall contain a covenant on the part of the city to refund the amount paid for said lands in cash, where cash was received, and to return the bonds or obligations, where bonds or obligations were received, without interest, in case the title conveyed by said sale shall prove invalid; upon surrender of the said certificate of sale and proof of service of the notice thereof as hereinafter provided, upon the owners and mortgagees of the said lands and premises, the comptroller or other collecting officer shall, after the expiration of six months from the date of such service, execute and deliver to the purchaser at such sale, his heirs, devisees and assigns, a deed for said lands and premises, which shall be sealed and attested by the clerk of the city and proved in the usual manner; and such purchaser, his heirs, legal representatives or assigns shall take a good and sufficient title to the property sold in fee simple absolute, free of all encumbrances (except taxes, assessments, water rates levied after the confirmation of said report, and except sewer assessments made and levied under the provisions of an act entitled "An act to authorize cities to construct sewers and drains and to provide for the payment of the cost thereof," approved March eighth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two, when the sewer assessment on the land sold was not included in the report of the commissioners), of which the said deed shall be presumptive evidence in all courts and places, and in any proceedings or actions to be by such purchasers, his heirs, legal representatives or assigns, taken, prosecuted or defended for the recovery of the possession of the property so sold as aforesaid, or in the establishment or defence of his or their title, shown as aforesaid by such deed, the title shall not fail or be defeated by reason of any irregularity or formal defect in the procedure taken under this act, upon which the sale shall have been made or the title conveyed as aforesaid, or by reason of any illegality in fixing and adjusting the tax, assessment and lien to enforce which said sale was made or in the proceeding for collecting the same; provided, the property sold was liable at time such tax, assessment and lien was fixed and adjusted, to the imposition of a tax, assessment or lien in respect of the purposes for which such tax, assessment and lien was fixed and imposed, and it does not appear that any substantial injury was done to the owner of the property by reason of the irregular or illegal manner or method of fixing, imposing or collecting said tax, assessment and lien; the city may be a purchaser at any sale of lands under the provisions of this act, with the same right, title and effect as any other purchaser, and the certificate of sale to the city shall be delivered to the mayor, who shall, on behalf of the city, cause notice of the sale to be served on the owners and mortgagees of the lands so purchased, as provided in this act; upon proof of service of the notice and expiration of the period for redemption, the city shall be entitled to a deed for the property the same as any other purchaser; in all cases where any lands shall be bought by the city, as aforesaid under this act, it shall be lawful for the common council or legislative body of the city, with the consent of the board or body having charge or control of its finances, to sell and assign the certificates of sale or to sell and convey such lands, or any part thereof, by a good and sufficient deed, to any person or persons, and accept either money or bonds or obligations of the city in payment therefor, on such terms, as may be agreed upon and with or without warranty; provided, that if sold at private sale, the price for the land shall not be less than the amount due the city thereon when purchased.

2. And be it enacted, That the second section of the supplement to said act, approved April eighteenth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

2. And be it enacted, That the common council, board of aldermen or other body having control and management of the finances in any such city, may, by a majority vote with the approval of the mayor, increase the salaries of the city surveyor and the city counsel, if deemed by them, to an amount not exceeding one thousand dollars each per annum above that already paid to such officers, such increase to take effect from the time of the passage of any such resolution, and to continue so long as such officers perform duties under the said act.

3. And be it enacted, That the said commissioners of adjustment appointed under said act of which this is a supplement, if they have not heretofore included in their reports the assessments for sewer improvements made and levied under an act entitled "An act to authorize cities to construct sewers and drains and to provide for the payment of the cost thereof," approved March eighth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two, and the supplements thereto, upon the lands mentioned in their reports, shall make separate report or reports of all such sewer assessments due prior to January first, one thousand eight hundred and ninety, and of the lands on which they are due and unpaid; and such assessments when reported by the said commissioners, and their report or reports confirmed by the court, shall be collected in the same manner, and the conveyance of the lands on which they are due and unpaid have the same force and effect, as the other taxes and assessments are collected and lands sold therefor under the said act of which this is a supplement; the said commissioners shall include in their report of such sewer assessments the original amount and interest thereon, and may also subdivide any such assessment and correct all errors and irregularities in any original assessment; all such reports shall be filed and the same proceedings had to confirm the same as for reports of taxes and other assessments under said act.

4. And be it enacted, That the provisions of the act extending the powers of the commissioners so appointed to assessments made since the passage of the act to which it is a supplement, shall not be operative and in force in any city of the state until the provisions of said act have been accepted by the common council or other governing body of such city by a formal resolution approved by the mayor of such city and passed by a vote of not less than two-thirds of such legislative body.

5. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act, be and the same are hereby repealed, and this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 16, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXXXVI

An act to amend an act entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An act for the formation and government of boroughs,'" approved March twelfth, one thousand eight hundred and ninety, which supplement was approved June thirteenth, one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That section one of the supplement to which this is amendatory be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That in addition to the offices provided for in the act entitled "An act for the formation and government of boroughs," there may be appointed by the council or borough marshal, one surveyor, one solicitor and one superintendent of public roads, and such and so many policemen and other officers as shall be deemed necessary by said council, who shall hold office for such time and perform such duties as are or may be by law or ordinance of said council, not in conflict with law, provided for.

2. And be it enacted, That all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed, and that this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 16, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXXXVII.

An act to authorize street railway companies incorporated by or under the laws of this state to merge and consolidate their corporate franchises and other property.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That it shall be lawful for any horse or other street railway incorporated by or under the laws of this state to merge and consolidate its corporate franchise and other property of any horse or other street railway company in the same county incorporated by or under the laws of this state, which merger and consolidation may be effected in the same manner provided by the statutes of this state for the merger and consolidation of horse railroad companies.

2. And be it enacted, That such consolidated company and its real estate, franchises and other property shall be subject to taxation, and shall be assessed in the manner provided by law from time to time for the taxation and assessment of the real estate, franchises and other property of horse or other street railway companies in this state.

3. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 16, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXXXVIII.

An act concerning consolidated cities and towns and annexed townships, and regulating the manner of such annexation and consolidation.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That whenever one or more townships or any part thereof shall be annexed to or consolidated with any city or town by or pursuant to any general or special law, immediately upon such annexation or consolidation taking effect the charter of the city or town to which such township or township shall be annexed or added and the supplements thereto, and all general laws affecting the same, and ordinances and regulations of such city or town shall extend to and have the same force and effect within the territory of the township or townships so annexed to or consolidated with such city or town as the same shall have therefore had within the original limits of such city or town; and the charter or charters of any township or townships, the entire territory of which shall be annexed to or consolidated with the territory of such city or town and the supplements thereto, shall be deemed and taken and are hereby declared to be repealed immediately upon such annexation or consolidation taking effect; provided, that such repeal shall not operate to affect any right which any such annexed township or any person shall have acquired under or by virtue of the law or laws so repealed; and provided further, that all ordinances and regulations of such annexed township or townships so far as the same may be consistent with the charter and ordinances of such city or town, shall continue in full force and effect until the same shall be lawfully repealed, rescinded or altered by the proper municipal authority of such city or town.

4. And be it enacted, That the persons resident within the territorial limits of such city or town and of the territory of the township or townships annexed to or consolidated therewith and their successors upon such annexation or consolidation taking effect, shall be, as a municipal corporation, under and by the corporate name of such city or town, and they are hereby declared so to be absolutely and completely vested with all the lands, tenements, hereditaments, property, rights, causes of action and estate whatsoever, both at law and in equity, in possession, reversion or remainder, which at the time such annexation or consolidation shall take effect shall be vested in or of right belong to such city or town and to such annexed township or townships; provided, that nothing in this act contained shall affect any suit or suits which shall be pending at the time of such annexation or consolidation in the name of such city or town or of any such annexed township; and the collection of all taxes and assessments of all such annexed townships standing at the time of such annexation or consolidation, shall be effected in the manner prescribed by the respective charters, ordinances and regulations of such annexed township or townships.

2. And be it enacted, That such city or town to which such township or township shall be annexed shall be liable to pay the bonded and other indebtedness of every township so annexed thereto, which indebtedness shall be ascertained in the manner hereinafter provided; all paupers chargeable to any township, the whole territory of which shall be annexed to or consolidated with such city or town, shall be chargeable to and shall be supported by such city or town.

4. And be it enacted, That on the Monday after any such annexation or consolidation shall take effect a committee of three to be appointed by the board of aldermen, common council, town council or other governing body or board of such city or town, and a committee of three to be appointed by the township committee of the township or townships which shall be annexed to or consolidated with such city or town, shall meet in the city hall or town hall of such city or town, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, and shall then and there, or as soon thereafter as may be, proceed to state an account of all the property, real and personal, all debts, dues and demands, all judgments, recognizances and claims, and all liens, actions and rights of actions belonging to any township so annexed or consolidated, and to state the fair value of the same to the city or town council, common council, board of aldermen or other governing body or board of such city or town; and also to state an account in like manner of all the debts outstanding of any township or townships annexed or consolidated with such city or town, all which property and debts shall thereafter become and be the debt of the whole city or town as consolidated, and for the final payment thereof the faith of the city or town thereby consolidated and the property thereof, as well as all the property of the township or townships annexed or consolidated, shall stand pledged; if any member of any committee so appointed as heretofore provided, shall neglect or refuse to attend such meeting, then those members of such committee so assembled may act as fully as if all were present; provided, it shall be lawful for a majority of the whole number of such joint committees to adjourn such meeting from time to time, not exceeding one week.

5. And be it enacted, That all commissioners of deeds, justices of the peace and constables resident within the territory of the township or townships annexed to such city or town shall continue to hold their respective offices until the expiration of their respective terms, and all police officers of any such township so annexed or consolidated with such city or town shall continue to hold their offices and to exercise the functions and powers thereof as provided by the ordinances, charter and regulations of such city or town, and under the command or order of the police thereof, until their successors shall be regularly appointed by the proper municipal authorities of such city or town; until their successors shall be chosen, and while they shall remain in such positions they shall receive from such city or town the same pay that they shall have received from the township of which they were officers before such annexation or consolidation.

6. And be it enacted, That upon the presentation to the common council, town council, board of aldermen or other governing body or body of such city or town to which such township or townships shall be annexed and consolidated, of a petition signed by twenty-five or more qualified electors, resident within the township annexed to or consolidated with such city or town, setting forth the fact of such annexation or consolidation and praying that the territory so annexed or consolidated with such city may be divided into wards, such common council, town council, board of aldermen or other governing body or board forthwith shall appoint a time not less than ten nor more than twenty days from the date of the presentation of said petition to such municipal body as aforesaid, and a place within such city or town when and where said municipal body will meet and act to hear and consider such petition notice of which hearing and the time and place thereof shall be published at least six times in at least one daily newspaper published or circulating in such city or town, and such notice shall be posted in at least ten of the most public places of the township or townships annexed or consolidated with such city or town; at the place and time so appointed, or at a time to which such hearing shall be adjourned, the said common council, town council, board of aldermen or other governing board or body of such city or town, upon being satisfied of the truth of the matters contained in such petition, shall, by resolution, appoint from the qualified voters being resident freeholders within the enlarged boundaries of such city or town five commissioners to divide the territory of the township or townships so annexed or consolidated with such city or town into wards and to perform the other duties required of them by the provisions of this act; before acting the said commissioners shall take and subscribe to an oath or affirmation to well, truly and impartially perform their duties as such commissioners, which oath shall be taken before and filed with the clerk of the city or town aforesaid; the said commissioners shall at once proceed to divide the territory of the township or townships so annexed or consolidated with such city or town into wards in as fair a manner as may be, and shall make such divisions with reference to population and territory as to them shall seem best, and shall complete such divisions within ten days after their appointment; provided, if the commissioners shall neglect or fail to make such division within ten days after their appointment, it shall be the duty of the common council, town council, board of aldermen or other governing board or body of the city or town to which such township or townships shall be annexed or consolidated forthwith to make such division, when the boundary lines of the wards of the territory of the township or townships so annexed or consolidated with such city or town shall have been settled and defined by the commissioners or by the common council, town council, board of aldermen or other governing board or body of the city or town as aforesaid, such commissioners, common council, town council, board of aldermen or other governing body or board of such city or town shall prepare triplicate written descriptions of said boundary lines and shall annex to each description a map of the said boundary lines, to which shall sign their names thereto, and shall file one of said copies and maps in the office of the said clerk of such city or town, another of such copies and maps in the office of the clerk of the county in which such city or town shall be situated, and the third of the said copies and maps in the office of the secretary of state, and a map of the said ward lines shall be recorded in the city or town atlas of such city or town; and from and after the date of filing such descriptions and maps in the said offices, the boundaries of the wards of the territory so annexed or consolidated with such city or town shall be described and delineated in said descriptions and maps; if any of the said commissioners shall fail or refuse to qualify or act, or shall die or become ineligible, the fact shall be certified by any of the acting commissioners to the common council, town council, board of aldermen or other governing board or body of the city or town to which such township or townships shall be annexed and consolidated, and the said common council, town council, board of aldermen or other governing board or body or its successor or successors shall appoint a proper person to fill such vacancy; in acting under the provisions of this act the commissioners may adjourn their sessions from time to time, but no such adjournments of the commissioners shall be for a longer period than one week; the said commissioners, while actually in session, shall each receive the sum of five dollars for each day, which said moneys shall be paid to them out of the treasury of such city or town.

7. And be it enacted, That as soon as may be after the division of the territory so annexed or consolidated with such city or town into wards as aforesaid, the officers or body who so divided said territory into wards shall divide each of said wards of said city into as least two election districts, and shall designate a polling place in each of said districts, and shall appoint for each district a judge, two inspectors and a clerk of election to conduct the special election hereafter provided for; and they shall thereupon forthwith the clerk of the city or town a writ, signed by themselves or a majority thereof, which writing shall describe the boundaries of the several election districts within the territory so annexed or consolidated with such city or town, and shall state the names of the election officers so appointed by them for each of such districts and the offices to which they shall have been severally appointed; as soon as the paper shall have been filed in his office, the clerk of such city or town shall give notice of a special election to be held in the territory so annexed or consolidated with such city or town at least ten and not more than twenty days after the publication of such notice for the election of officers; and he shall publish with such notice a description of the boundary lines of the election districts of the city or town and the names of the election officers in each district; such notice shall be published at least three times in two or more of the daily newspapers published in said city or town, and shall be posted for at least five days before the election in at least ten of the most public places in the ward or wards of said city or town annexed or consolidated with such city or town.

8. CHAPTER CCXXXIX.

An act in reference to cities of the fourth class.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That in cities in this state of the fourth class it shall be lawful for the city council, board of aldermen, or other governing body having charge and maintenance of streets in such cities, to provide by ordinance for the paving, trunking or otherwise improving any of its streets.

2. And be it enacted, That it shall be lawful for such governing body to assess and collect from property owners a proportionate part of the cost of paving streets fronting their property, not to exceed one-half of such expense, when two-thirds of the property on any street or block shall have been represented in petition to council asking for such improvement, and said council or governing body may apply to the circuit judge for the county in which such city is situated for the appointment of three commissioners to determine and assess the benefits upon the real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvement, and said judge is hereby empowered to appoint such commissioners under such rules as he shall prescribe in an order to be by him made; said commissioners shall be sworn and shall determine and report under an order of said judge the benefits assessed upon each parcel or lot of real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvement, and the amount so fixed and assessed by them against each lot or parcel of land shall be and remain a lien thereon until paid to the order of the city proportionate amount thereof, which, according to the ordinance providing for said improvement, is to be borne and paid by the owners of the real estate peculiarly benefited by said improvement when and upon which proportion is paid, the lien shall be cancelled.

3. And be it enacted, That it shall be lawful for council for the purpose of securing proper drainage, to cause to be made such change in the existing street grades as may be found necessary, and to compel property owners to conform to such grades, and all grade lines shall be given by a city surveyor and known as a permanent grade, and when so established and paved no property owner shall be liable for further expense that may be caused by any change of grade.

4. And be it enacted, That it shall be lawful for such governing body for the purpose of defraying expenses incurred in such street improvements, to issue bonds payable in not less than one or more than twenty years in any sum or sums not exceeding two hundred thousand dollars.

5. And be it enacted, That it shall be lawful for such governing body to cause to be levied annually a special tax not to exceed ten cents per hundred of assessed valuation, which amount so received shall constitute a sinking fund to be used only for the purchase or payment of said bonds.

6. And be it enacted, That no provision of limitation of indebtedness contained in the charter of any city shall in any way interfere with any of the provisions of this act.

7. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 16, 1891.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the board of aldermen of any city of this state having the appointment of a city clerk for said city shall have power and it shall be their duty to fix the compensation of such city clerk, and the board of finance or board having control of the custody and finances of such city shall provide the moneys necessary to pay said compensation.

2. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and they are hereby repealed, and this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 16, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXLIII.

An act to amend a supplement to an act passed April twenty-eighth, one thousand eight hundred and ninety, which supplement is entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An act for the preservation of clams and oysters,'" approved April fourteenth, one thousand eight hundred and forty-six, and the supplements thereto.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That it shall be lawful for the township committee of any incorporated township of this state, by resolution passed at one of their regular meetings of said committee, to order that the owners of lands upon which assessments for dragging or curbing, or both, have been placed in compliance with the provisions of the act and the supplements and amendments thereto of which this is a further supplement, may pay such assessments in such equal yearly installments, not exceeding ten, with legal interest thereon, as the said township committee shall determine; provided, that any party assessed shall have the privilege of paying the whole of any assessment or any balance of installments with accrued interest thereon, at one time.

2. And be it enacted, That in case any installment of any assessment mentioned in the previous section shall remain unpaid for thirty days from and after the time when the same shall have become due and payable, the whole assessment shall become and be immediately due and payable, shall draw interest at the rate of one per centum per month, and shall be collected in the same manner as is provided by the act of which this is a supplement for other past due assessments.

3. And be it enacted, That every assessment made as heretofore provided shall be and remain a first and paramount lien upon the lot of land described in such assessment until the same and all installments of the same with the accrued interest thereon, shall have been paid and satisfied.

4. And be it enacted, That all collections on account of said assessments or the interest thereon shall be applied to the payment of the township obligations issued by the said township committee, in payment of the cost of the improvements for which said assessments were made, and for no other purpose whatever.

5. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 16, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXLVIII.

A further supplement to an act entitled "An act respecting conveyances," approved March twenty-second, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

Whereas, Certain commissioners of deeds in and for this state in some instances have through inadvertence or mistake continued to take acknowledgments and proofs of deeds, mortgages and other writings after their term of office had expired, and inasmuch as such person may be subject to loss or injury thereby; therefore,

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That all acknowledgments or proofs of deeds, mortgages and other writings and the certificates thereof, heretofore taken or made before or by any commissioner of deeds in and for this state, whose term of office had expired or whose office had been vacated or whose commission had become void at the time of taking such acknowledgment or proof, and the records of such deeds, mortgages and other writings are hereby confirmed and made valid and legal and effectual to the extent that the same would have been valid, legal and effectual if the term of office of the commissioner taking such acknowledgment or proof had not expired nor his commission become void as aforesaid.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Approved April 16, 1891.

CHAPTER CCXLIX.

An act to authorize the construction, curbing and paving of sidewalks and crosswalks in townships, approved May ninth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four.

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That it shall be lawful for the township committee of any incorporated township of this state, by resolutions passed at one of their regular meetings of said committee, to order that the owners of lands upon which assessments for flagging or curbing, or both, have been placed in compliance with the provisions of the act and the supplements and amendments thereto of which this is a further supplement, may pay such assessments in such equal yearly installments, not exceeding ten, with legal interest thereon, as the said township committee shall determine; provided, that any party assessed shall have the privilege of paying the whole of any assessment or any balance of installments with accrued interest thereon, at one time.

2. And be it enacted, That in case any installment of any assessment mentioned in the previous section shall remain unpaid for thirty days from and after the time when the same shall have become due and payable, the whole assessment shall become and be immediately due and payable, shall draw interest at the rate of one per centum per month, and shall be collected in the same manner as is provided by the act of which this is a supplement for other past due assessments.

3. And be it enacted, That every assessment made as heretofore provided shall be and remain a first and paramount lien upon the lot of land described in such assessment until the same and all installments of the same with the accrued interest thereon, shall have been paid and satisfied.

4. And be it enacted, That all collections on account of said assessments or the interest thereon shall be applied to the payment of the township obligations issued by the said township committee, in payment of the cost of the improvements for which said assessments were made, and for no other purpose whatever.

5. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.
