

Minstrel Jubilee Coming Thursday

Married Couples Bible Class to Hold Second Annual Affair
Thursday, February 28—54
Different Parts.

According to committee reports the minstrel jubilee which is to be presented by the Married Couples Bible class of the First Methodist church next Thursday evening, February 28, in the Red Bank Catholic high school auditorium, is expected to be as much a success as the previous annual affair.

Up to date close to seven hundred tickets have been sold for the presentation, "Southern Plantation Jubilee," which is being coached by Kenneth Brown. The curtains will be raised promptly at 8:15 o'clock. Providing the audience is large, the jubilee will be carried over another performance on the following night.

"The Wonders," a banjo orchestra, will furnish the music for the intermission and will assist in playing selections along with the singing and dancing. Mrs. Joseph Vailant will assist at the piano.

Fred Ayers, who has accepted the position of coaching the comedians, has his artists in fine form. The comedians will include Russell Hodgkins, Roy Ince, Roy Quackenbush, Charles Stillwagon, Harold Perry, Norman Whitfield, Joe Maloney and Alfred Marcellus.

A number of specialty numbers have been obtained and will be presented throughout the jubilee by Roger Wynne, Fred Ayers, Frances Schild, Myrtle Perry, Josephine Perry, Charles Cupples, George Washington, Frank Hally and Robert Reed.

The chorus, which will be heard in several Southern selections throughout the presentation, consists of Mr. and Mrs. John Pohl, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ayers, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Northcutt, Mr. and Mrs. William Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reed, Mr. and Mrs. William Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. John Dirke, Mrs. Norman Whitfield, Mrs. Roy Quackenbush, Mrs. Russell Hodgkins, Mrs. Roy Ince, Mrs. Roger Wynne, Mrs. Alfred Marcellus, Mrs. Harold Perry, Mrs. Walter McCoach, Mrs. Morton Pratt, Mrs. John Vanschoek and Kelly Wilson.

Y. M. C. A. Annual Election Tonight

Seven Directors to be Chosen for Three Years—Many Reports to be Rendered—Full Attendance Desired.

The annual business meeting of the Red Bank Young Men's Christian association will be held tonight at eight o'clock at the association headquarters at 1 Branch avenue. Immediately following the business session the monthly meeting of the directors will be held, to which the trustees have been cordially invited. It is earnestly hoped that a full attendance of both directors and trustees will be present.

At the annual business session the reports of the treasurer, general secretary, Westside branch, committee on constitution and nominating committee will be received and there will be election of seven directors to serve for three years.

The present officers of the association are John B. Allen, president, W. Strother Jones, first vice president, Theodore D. Parsons, second vice president, John H. Mount, treasurer and William A. Miller, recording secretary. The directors are J. N. Betts, Ralph Eckert, Henry E. Edwards, Hubert M. Farrow, Edwin C. Giffard, Frank P. Groff, Dr. Samuel W. Hausman, Leon N. Kelley, Theodore J. Labrecque, G. Howard Lippincott, Harry Malchow, John L. Montgomery, Dr. James W. Parker, Paul de la Reussille, Lester R. Ross and Richard T. Smith. The trustees are John S. Applegate, Thomas Irving Brown, Edwin Conover, Lester Edwards, E. Holmes, Philip T. Jelinek, Fred Oakes, Benjamin J. Parker and J. D. Tuller. Glenn P. Winkler is general secretary.

ON COLLEGE DEBATING TEAM John T. Lawley, Jr., Wins Signal Honor at Rutgers.

John T. Lawley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Lawley of Conover lane, in Middletown township, has been made a member of one of the two freshmen debating teams of Rutgers college. Each team has two members. To be eligible for appointment a freshman must have a high standing in studies, and the four deemed most capable were chosen from among the honor students. The team of which Mr. Lawley is a member had its first debate with a Pennsylvania university team last week, taking the affirmative side on the question that the United States should place an embargo on munitions to foreign nations. The Rutgers team won the debate. Mr. Lawley graduated from the Middletown township high school at Leonard last June.

Schulte-United Prizes Awarded

Miss Evelyn Beaman and Alex
Sweet Write the Best Essays on George Washington in Local English Classes Test.

Evelyn Beaman and Alex Sweet were declared the winners of the Schulte-United's George Washington essay contest for 8th year English classes of the Red Bank public schools by the judges, Miss Kathleen Bailey and Miss Margaret Thompson, according to an announcement made Tuesday morning and the winning essays were filed with the manager of the local Schulte-United store that afternoon.

The judges' decision awarded first prize to Miss Beaman with honorable mention to Lill Ivins and the first boy's prize to Mr. Sweet with the papers selected were excepted. It was a difficult task for the judges as the papers selected were exceptionally good and it made "honorable mention" necessary on account of close competition.

Awarding of the prizes donated by Schulte-United's Red Bank department store will be made at the Junior high school's Washington's birthday assembly tomorrow morning.

Miss Beaman is a member of Grade 8-B-2 and her essay was submitted without any editing appear elsewhere in this issue. The Register being glad to devote the necessary space to these youthful writers who have brought credit upon themselves and their school.

Bill Would End Fishing Industry

Measure Introduced by Senator
Camp of Ocean County Will
If Enacted Put Raritan Bay
Fishermen Out of Business.

Senator Percy Camp of Ocean county has introduced in the senate a measure which would if enacted destroy the pound net fishing industry in Raritan bay and in all other inland waters in the state. It would prohibit fishing with any net except drifting gill nets and fyke nets. Such nets could not be profitably used by the Raritan bay fishermen. The bill does not affect pound net fishing in the ocean.

The introduction of this bill has aroused a storm of opposition in Middletown township and other communities bordering on Raritan bay, where pound net fishing is an important industry. Pound net fishing is also largely followed in Ocean county and a movement is general that a representative of that county has sponsored such a measure. The township committee of Middletown township at its regular meeting Thursday afternoon passed a resolution condemning the Camp measure and requesting all members of the legislature to vote against it. Copies of the bill have been sent to the members of the legislature.

The pound net fishermen throughout the state are watching the situation closely. Almost every year measures are introduced which if passed would be injurious to them. None, however, has been so drastic as the Camp bill. The fishermen are so stringent that it will receive no support from anyone except Mr. Camp. However, they are on guard and they are prepared to send a large delegation to the state capitol and protest against the passage of the measure if it seems likely that the measure will be passed. Monmouth county representatives in the legislature have issued no statement as to how they will vote, but the fishermen believe they are against the bill because they have opposed such measures in the past.

The bill is as follows:

It shall be unlawful for any person at any time to use a net of any description in the inland tidal waters of the counties of Middlesex, Monmouth and Ocean, including the Atlantic and Cape May, except drifting gill nets with meshes not smaller than three inches and the length of said nets not exceeding thirty fathoms, and fyke nets with meshes not smaller than three inches and the length of said nets not exceeding thirty fathoms in length, and wings not exceeding fifteen feet in length, which may be used in said inland tidal waters from October fifteenth to May fifteenth, both dates inclusive of each year, but no fyke net, weir or wing shall be set within one hundred feet of any other fyke net, weir or wing, or extend more than one-third of the distance across a channel, or be set in such manner as to obstruct navigation, and it shall be lawful to use such nets with meshes not smaller than two and one-half inches and the length of said net not exceeding fifty fathoms from March 1st to May 1st, both dates inclusive, for the purpose of taking herring only. All pickerel, perch and other fish caught in said hauling seines shall be returned to the water without injury. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the taking of eels with eel pots without wings anchored or staked on the bottom of said waters or to the taking of crabs with nets not more than fifty feet long. Any person violating any provision of this section shall be liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars for each offense.

This act shall not apply to the Delaware bay and tributaries within the limits of Cape May county.

This act shall be enforced by the persons authorized by and in accordance with the provisions of an act entitled "An act to provide a uniform procedure for the enforcement of all laws relating to fish, game and birds, and for the recovery of penalties for violation thereof," approved March twenty-ninth, eighteen hundred and ninety-seven, and the supplements thereto and amendments thereof.

NEW STAFF SELECTED. School Publication Chooses New Editorial Officers.

The Round Table, local high school publication, under the supervision of Miss Hanna Johnson, journalism teacher, has selected an entire new staff for the publication of the school newspaper.

Evelyn White will handle the Junior high news, Helen Makris the Mechanic street news, Genevieve Curtis the Oakland street news and William Cannavo the River street news. Feature editors are Jane Runyon and Clinton Stratton, while Leonard Westerburg will handle the circulation and Clarence Beck the exchanges.

New Store Manager At J. C. Penney's

L. A. Osgood of Troy, Pa., Succeeds C. A. Norris Here—Mr.
Norris Goes to the Penney
Store at Troy.

The J. C. Penney store on Broad street has a new manager, who took charge of the place Tuesday morning. He is L. A. Osgood of Troy, Pennsylvania, who has been with the company for the past seven years and who was recently in charge of the company's store at Troy. Mr. Osgood plans to bring his wife and two children to Red Bank as soon as possible.

He succeeds C. A. Norris, who came to Red Bank three years ago from Vineland and opened the J. C. Penney store here. Mr. Norris will succeed Mr. Osgood at the Troy store. Mr. and Mrs. Norris left town Tuesday morning for their new place of business.

Mr. Norris devoted much of his time Monday introducing Mr. Osgood to many of the local people as he possibly could during the day. One of the calls was at The Register office, where Mr. Osgood was introduced to the various members of the Register's staff. Finally, Mr. Norris stated that he hated to leave Red Bank because not only did he like the place but that he and Mrs. Norris also had made a large number of acquaintances which have developed into real friendship. He said that being responsible for the opening of the Red Bank store was an additional feature of Red Bank's wariness and he wished for Mr. Osgood and family the same commercial and social friendships that had been exhibited to him and Mrs. Norris.

The Alcoholic Saturation Point

The Mayor and Council of Red Bank Decide That It Has Been Reached—No More Licenses to be Granted for Saloons.

No more licenses for saloons at Red Bank!

This is the only interpretation which can be placed upon the action of the mayor and council Monday night in refusing to grant a license to Mitrovian Hotel to sell alcoholic beverages at a store on Shrewsbury avenue which he bought about a year ago and which has been unused since that time. His application for a license was presented two weeks ago and refused on the ground that places for the sale of liquor to be consumed on or off the premises were so numerous that no more bars should be allowed.

Mr. Rogel applied for a hearing on the application and it was granted Monday night after the regular meeting of the mayor and council. The regular meeting required less than five minutes. It was one of the shortest on record. There were no reports, no communications and no remarks by citizens. The only business transacted was that of paying bills.

The hearing then took place. Mr. Rogel, who does not speak the English language fluently, was represented by his friend, John Kozak of Atlantic Highlands, who acted as interpreter. He said that Mr. Rogel had invested virtually all of his savings in the building which he had bought on Shrewsbury avenue and that he would be unable to pay the taxes on the property unless he could operate a profitable liquor business there. He said it was impossible to run any other kind of a business at this location profitably. He said Mr. Rogel had lived at Red Bank 27 years and that he was a good citizen and a taxpayer.

Mayor English and Mr. Parker said that the police had investigated Mr. Rogel's record and had found it to be honorable in every respect. Not a blemish had been found, they said. They declared that the application had not been turned down because of anything against Mr. Rogel, but because it was deemed unwise to have any more saloons. The mayor stated that if any of the saloon keepers should go out of business Mr. Rogel's application would again receive consideration and would probably be approved.

Mr. Rogel is a naturalized citizen and he exhibited his citizenship papers. He and his daughters, Mary and Helen Rogel, said they believed the application had been turned down not because of the reason stated but because of Mr. Rogel's nationality. They said the windows of Mr. Rogel's building had been broken by stones thrown by hoodlums. Mayor English and Mr. Parker said that Mr. Rogel and his daughters were mistaken in believing the application had been turned down because of Mr. Rogel's nationality. They said that no more licenses for saloons would be granted, regardless of the nationality of those who applied for them. If any saloon keeper went out of business, they said, then another license might be granted, but they were opposed to increasing the number of saloons, they thought the town had enough.

The saloon owners pay a license fee of $600. Mayor English and Mr. Parker said that in their opinion it would not be fair to these saloon men to cause more competition for them. They said there were other reasons why it would be unwise to increase the number of places for alcoholic beverages to be sold over town.

It was unanimously voted to refuse to grant the license. All the councilmen were present except Thomas M. Gopill, chairman of the police committee. He was detained out of town on business and he telephoned to Mayor English that he did not wish the hearing to be postponed on account of his absence. There are 35 places at Red Bank where alcoholic beverages are sold at bars. There are also two licensed club bars and 21 stores where liquor, wine and beer are sold. Red Bank last year received $20,200 in license fees.

Sale Of Three Fine Residences

Properties of Dr. G. W. Shera,
Gooseneck Point, Charles P.
Doelger and Mrs. J. Lewis
Hay, Jr., Change Hands.

Dr. George W. Shera has sold his residence property on the South Shrewsbury river at Gooseneck Point to Mrs. Margaret H. Bell of New York. The property has a frontage of 27 feet on the river and a depth of 325 feet. The entire river frontage is a concrete bulkhead, while the grounds are beautifully planted and landscaped.

The frame residence, erected about ten years ago by Dr. Shera, contains eleven rooms and three bathrooms, and there is a two-car garage attached. It commands a view of the river as far as Sea Bright, and is one of the most attractive homes in that area. Dr. Shera, who now lives in New York, occupied the place until a short time ago. The sale was made through the Joseph G. McCue agency of Rumson.

Another sale affected through the McCue agency was part of the former holdings of Charles P. Doelger on the Rumson road, adjoining the estate of J. Ford Johnson, to Chester S. Edwards of New York. The property consists of 24 acres, with a road frontage of approximately 500 feet. On the place is a ten-room residence, with all improvements. The new owner, who is associated in an official capacity with the Barrett company of New York, plans to occupy the property as his permanent home. For many years the property was owned by Lambert R. Ivins and later was sold by his widow, Mrs. Ann Ivins, to Mr. Doelger.

The estate of Mrs. John L. Hay, Jr., on the Rumson road, comprising five acres, has been sold through the McCue agency to Anthony L. McKim, a member of the New York Stock Exchange, who for the past year has been residing on the estate of Harry I. Caesar at Rumson. The residence is of the early American farmhouse type and contains ten rooms and four bathrooms. The grounds are attractively planted and landscaped and include a variety of very old shade trees. There is also a small pond. The property at one time was owned by Joseph Conover, and more recently was owned by Daniel F. Conroy, who maintained a large estate on the river bank at Fair Haven. Mr. McKim plans to make the property his permanent residence.

Boat Club Ready For Annual Dinner

Washington's Birthday Will Be Observed in the Usual Manner With a Turkey Dinner by the Monmouth Boat Club.

The stage is all set for the annual Washington's birthday dinner of the Monmouth Boat Club tomorrow afternoon. This affair is one of the important events on the club's social calendar and is always largely attended. Benjamin L. Atwater, generalissimo, and his gang have been working hard with the plans, and Ben hopes to make tomorrow's dinner the best of the history of the club. "Let's all throw aside our cares for the afternoon and join the gang at the club" aptly expresses the feelings of the committee.

Augustus M. Minton, who is president of the club and mayor of Fair Haven, will be toastmaster. Genial Gull will be there in all his glory. Al Dirhan has been designated as the official knocker.

As usual it will be a turkey dinner and there will be plenty for all, with lots of delicious dressing. The lucky winner will receive a silver cocktail set donated by the Gift shop of Monmouth street.

The members of the committee represent every company in the borough. Assisting Mr. Woodward on this committee are Fred Munde, George Moody, Walter Hamilton, Harold Dames, Lewis Hendricks, Jerry McConvey and Elwood Gramann. Fire Chief Joseph E. Fix and the assistant chiefs are giving the committee splendid co-operation.

Firemen Meet At Fair Haven

Four Hundred Members of County Association Gathered
Sunday in the New School Building on Willow Street.

George B. Muldauer, general agent of the Underwriters' laboratories at New York, was the principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Monmouth County Firemen's association Sunday afternoon at Fair Haven. The gathering was held in the new Willow street school and was attended by more than 400 persons. It was the largest turnout of the association in its long time.

Mr. Muldauer explained the manner in which electrical appliances are tested for safety and how the laboratories through these tests have reduced considerably the possibility of fires. Other speakers were John P. G. McPhee, executive secretary of the Red Bank Chamber of Commerce; Fredholm Fredrick, secretary of the Red Bank Fire Association; Joseph E. Fix of Red Bank, president of the association, presided.

After the business session a social time was enjoyed at the fire house, with the members of the Fair Haven fire company as hosts.

BUNCO PARTY AND DANCE.

Festivities to be Held for Atlantic
Township Sea Scouts.

A bunco party and dance for the benefit of the Sea Scouts of Atlantic township will be held tomorrow night at the Col's Neck schoolhouse. Elaborate plans have been made for the event and a large attendance is anticipated. The music for the dancing will be provided by Andy and the Four Aces. There will be prizes and refreshments. The scouts held a very successful party of the same sort last year and they hope to do as well tomorrow night.

Fair Haven House Rented.

Alfred N. Beadleston, Jr., of Rumson, has rented the Alex M. Smith residence on the west side of Hanco road, in Fair Haven, through the Joseph G. McCue agency. Mr. Beadleston, who is the son of Mrs. Julian McCue Little of Rumson, married Miss Sylvia L. White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. White of Shrewsbury, last Saturday.

Serious Childhood Problem Is Solved

One serious problem of childhood, that of keeping a child contented while he is having his hair cut, has been solved by Robert Nicolsa, proprietor of Bob's barber shop and beauty parlor, which recently moved into new quarters in the building on Broad street formerly occupied by Ye Gem shoppe.

In solving this problem, however, Mr. Nicolsa has run up against another. His trouble now is in inducing the child to leave the chair after the tonsorial services have been completed. The chair, which Mr. Nicolsa installed when he opened his new shop, is in the shape of an airplane. The child sits in the pilot seat and has a great deal of amusement in spinning about and being raised and lowered.

This is only a part of the latest type equipment which Mr. Nicolsa has installed in his shop.

Warden Ousted After Squabble

George C. Warren Association Becomes Involved in Case Through Inaccurate Newspaper Story—President Cleared.

Howard Lyell of Freehold, game warden for Monmouth county, who was recently suspended by the New Jersey fish and game commission pending charges, has been ousted by the commission, which met to hear the charges last Monday night. A large delegation from the George C. Warren sportsmen's association of Monmouth county, appointed for the purpose by Harry Y. Smith of Red Bank, president of the organization, attended the hearing to intercede for Lyell.

The local sportsmen's association became involved in the Lyell case when a county newspaper published a report that Mr. Smith had preferred the charge against Mr. Lyell which resulted in his suspension. The story, which was corrected the following day, stated that the Sunnyside and gun club of Red Bank had withdrawn from the Warren association in protest of Mr. Smith's action. Harry Estelle, a member of the Sunnyside club, stated that his organization was not affiliated with the Warren group, though many members of his club were also members of the Warren club.

The newspaper story that caused the trouble gave as the reason for Mr. Lyell's suspension the fact that he had turned one of two deer intended for the recent Warren association dinner over to the Red Bank Republican club for the Hoffman dinner. Commissioner Warren at the hearing announced that this had nothing to do with Lyell's suspension and subsequent ouster, the charges having been made previous to this incident and were concerned with events covering a period of thirteen months.

After the publication of the story, a special meeting of the Warren association was called and the session was held last Friday night in the Elks club on Broad street. Petitions for the reinstatement of Mr. Lyell were circulated among the members.

Mr. Smith flatly denied the truth of the newspaper story and said charges had not been made by him against Lyell. He said he had demanded a retraction. He read a letter from the fish and game commission which proved that he had not made any charges against Lyell and showed that he had been summoned to Trenton to answer questions concerning the shortage of venison at the Warren dinner. He had told the commission, he said, that only one deer had been delivered to the club. Lyell, who had been invited to attend the dinner, said he had been instructed by the committee to deliver two deer to the organization for the banquet, but had told Smith that he did not believe a large crowd would be present, and said he felt one would be enough. He said Smith had agreed to the proposal but this latter denied.

Captain R. V. R. H. Stout took the floor to commend Mr. Smith for the fine work he has done for the organization and others condemned the person responsible for the erroneous newspaper story, which they declared was the basis for the entire trouble.

The committee which attended Monday's hearing consisted of Captain Stout, Joseph Kennedy and Monte B. Jones of Red Bank, Edgar E. Fair of Haverhill, Romane Conklin of Asbury Park and Joseph Dempsey of Long Branch. The committee notified the commission that the Warren association had nothing to do with any charges that had been made or might be made against Lyell.

Fire Chiefs Discuss Sale Of Fireworks

Greater restrictions on the sale and display of fireworks formed the principal topic of discussion at a meeting of the Monmouth County Fire Chiefs' association Monday night at the fire house at Navesink. President Charles F. Williams of Long Branch appointed a committee consisting of William P. Scott of Middletown township, Thomas H. Mead of Red Bank and Richard Jensen of Keansburg to make monthly reports to the association on matters regarding the sale of fireworks.

Three new members were elected. They are Charles Meyer and Robert Graham of Middletown township and Charles Smith of Matawan. Joseph Schwark was appointed chairman of the committee to arrange part of the program of future meetings.

The meeting was largely attended and after a business session refreshments were served by the Navesink fire company. The next meeting will take place April 15 at Liberty house company fire house at Red Bank.

TO BROADCAST CONCERN:

Miss Terhune's Pupils Will be "On the Air" Next Wednesday.

A group of students from the piano studio of Miss Lillian Terhune, concert pianist, will be heard in a concert to be broadcast by Station WBRB next Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock. Former appearances of the students on these programs have aroused considerable favorable comment. These students are conducted in descriptive sketches, the stories of which are written by Miss Terhune, the music being played by the students. A Holland scene will be featured at next week's concert.

Miss Terhune's own piano recitals are broadcast every Wednesday evening at half past seven o'clock from Station WBRB. Miss Sylvia Aul, soprano, will be heard as guest artist next Wednesday. She will sing two Chopin Nocturnes to which Miss Terhune has written poems.

Mrs. D. C. Randolph of 83 Pearl street met with a painful accident Saturday when she tripped on a rug in her home and fell, injuring both arms. One arm was fractured and the other was badly bruised. She is confined to her bed under the care of a nurse.

High School Notes

The executive committee of the student council met at the home of H. Carl Kait, advisor, last Thursday evening at which time it was decided to discuss several topics at Monday's meeting. The topics discussed were whether insignia awards or certificates should be given to the student council members and the handbook for 1935, which will be finished before June. A college day in school was a suggestion made by Mr. Kait. The college day is when the alumni of the local high school who go to college come to the school and have different groups from the colleges tell the pupils subjects and other necessities required for entry to that college. A trip to Washington was brought up but dropped because of the June class of 1935 not having sufficient funds. Mr. Kait has made plans to take the student council to a legislative meeting at Trenton in the near future. At the next student council meeting new committee chairmen and committees will be chosen by Helen Ide, president. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

Miss Madeline Gates, dramatic teacher, presented an entertainment for the junior and senior assemblies last Thursday in honor of Abraham Lincoln. Descriptive scenes depicting Lincoln's life were acted by members of the club. One of these statues was to be chosen by William Holes, the sculptor, in commemoration of Abraham Lincoln, and to be placed in Lincoln Park. Those participating were William Holmes, Jack Hammel, Ann Gaskill, Lois Delatour, Rachel West, Marjorie Erickson, Helen Ide, Helen Mazza, Arthur Mayhew, Robert Woodward, Tony Stobies, Tony Trufilo, Robert Hess and Caesar Marshall.

Seven new members were elected in the boys' H-Y club at their last meeting. Kenneth Curdlin, president of the new organization, presided. The new members include Robert Jackson, Joseph Christman, Donald Osborn, Tom Lloyd, Fred Williamson, Richard Gorsuch and Stewart Powers.

Four violins, a clarinet and a trumpet have recently been added to the Red Bank high school orchestra. The new instruments were purchased several new selections for the orchestra with the money obtained from the recent concert. The orchestra has made its annual visit to the River street school, where it played several selections for the pupils.

The Girls' H-Y organization held a meeting last Thursday night at the "Y" house under the supervision of Miss Katharine Barney, at which time Carolyn Sherman, Lois Delatour, Virginia Hadden, Dorothy Conover, Audrey Noe and June McVey were inducted. Following a formal initiation refreshments were served. The informal initiation followed the supper.

An open basketball game was recently staged at the Freehold high school gymnasium between the girls of the county seat and the local high school girls. Mixed teams made the play for the morning, after which refreshments were served in the cafeteria. Those making the trip from here were Mary Burdick, Lillian Savage, Gloria Baker, June McVey, Phyllis Miles, Betty Goods, Virginia Elbert, Ruth Reamer, Dorothy Bartlett, Geneva Jackson, Shirley Marks, Ruth Jackson, Nancy Malchow, Eva Green, Adele Jordan, Vivian Helm, Elizabeth Boardman, Inez Zucco, Christine Carotime, Esther Levine, Rose Grand, Ruth Abram, Shirley Leon, Helen McKee, Millicent Chincock and Anna Sweet.

Jeanne Hackett obtained the highest score of 37 words per minute in the weekly typing speed test given last Thursday under the direction of Miss Hanna Johnson. Other high scores were Muriel Rath with 32 words, Victoria Blinco with 32 words, Florence Wooley with 31 words, Virginia Pace, Mary Soffel, Eleanor Noe, Gloria Bottagaro and Perry Gwynn, all with thirty words. Of this group Mary Soffel held an accuracy of 98%.

Marna Reuckhaus made the highest typing record for the week of February 19, 1935, with a score of 37 words per minute in the 12-A class under the supervision of Miss Leola Robinson, and made a record of fifty words per minute.

Henry Fisher's commercial geography classes have been making maps concerning the subject of their studies. "I like them good and bright," announced Mr. Fisher, and he got them bright. Maps containing all colors of the rainbow were received. The bulletin board has been stripped of all old maps, while the new and bright ones are being substituted.

George Strauss' economic class devoted an entire period this week to the discussion of the characteristics which should be found in a good husband.

Robert J. Patrick, patrol advisor, plans a few changes in the present patrol system. New members will be assigned positions and old members either changed or taken off the patrol. These changes are to occur because of the recent mid-year graduation.

H. Carl Kait, teacher of English and commercial law, has been giving his fifth period English class an assortment of original topics for compositions, such as "A Descriptive Story on Your Dinner Table" and "The Most Interesting Thing You Have Ever Read."

The dramatic reading classes under the direction of Miss Madeline Gates presented pantomimes before the class last Friday. The class was divided into groups of three and each group either revised an original plot or copied one from a book.

The 11-A English classes of H. Carl Kait have been studying descriptive compositions, their construction and correction.

The 11-A modern history classes under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Rogers are now studying the age of industrial revolution in Europe. In Miss Leonora Hodgdon's fourth period French class the book called "Le Petit Chose" is now being read. The story so far concerns the lives of three little French boys. Recently each pupil had to give an oral talk in French on their life environment, and a description of one of the three.

Many interesting talks were given. At the beginning of the week the class was required to write a composition in French of a conversation between two of the boys. Robert Clark wrote a very clever conversation, which Miss Hodgdon requested to be given in class in the near future. Robert Clark and Henry Hagerman will present it in an act to the class.

The commercial law classes under the supervision of H. Carl Kait are studying the fundamentals of contracts and also the statute of frauds, which deals with the contracts that have to be in writing.

The home room basketball eliminations began last Saturday morning in the high school gymnasium. The teams that compete for the basketball trophy will be picked after the elimination of the teams.

Johnson is being studied by the pupils of the 12-A English classes under the supervision of Miss Madeline Gates.

The members of the fourth period English class under the supervision of Mrs. Nora Strauss wrote essays on personal experiences.

The first period physics class taught by Leon Rex was entertained last Wednesday by a moving picture on refrigeration.

Junior High Notes.

Members of the 7-A class are to present a play entitled "An Evening at Mount Vernon" in chapel tomorrow under the direction of Mrs. Sarah Levy. The cast and students participating are: Alex Bogel as George Washington, Claire Laddard as Martha Washington, George Voorn as Daniel, Edward Miller as Colonel Knowlton, Warren Minton as Capt. Nathan Hale, Tommy Fried as Sergeant X, Colonial dancers include Marjorie Hewing, Lena Fredenburg and Betty Ritter. Minuet dancers are Jane Harvey, Angie Talerico, Julia Henderson, Jane Smith, Warren Minton, Tony deLorenzo, Barlow Lippincott and Redfield Sherman.

The 8-A and 9-B science classes under the direction of Mrs. Elsie MacLeod have organized scientific clubs and are planning a trip to New York in April.

The 8-A2 class had a very interesting debate Monday on resolved that "Stone is a better building material than wood." The affirmative team was composed of Raymond Rice, Edward McQueen and Roy Sharabba, while the negative team included Benjamin Sonopolsky, Edward Honimburg and Rudy Graf. The affirmative team was successful in winning.

The Boys' Junior H-Y club meeting was held Monday night, at which time officers were elected and new members admitted to the club. Following the meeting movies were presented by Howard Alexander. The new officers include Sigurd Thompson president, Philip Jacob vice president, Howard Alexander secretary and Fred DeMaria treasurer. New members include Theodore Woodward, Joe Valleau, Bert Ogden, Philip, Philip Jacobs and Gordon Forbers.

River Street News.

Mrs. Reba Miller's class has the largest number of pupils in the Good Writers' club in the entire River street school. They total 25 in all.

The class is also holding a contest to see who can write the best letter, after which the winner will compose and write a letter to the children in Italy.

On the third floor of the building Principal William J. Helm has had a picture showing the various methods used in cutting and carrying logs and lumber, framed to decorate the corridors. The entire picture is in six large sections, each showing a different method.

The children in Miss Bernardino's class have made a postcard office of wood and cardboard and it was used during St. Valentine week for distributing valentines. The children stamped, cancelled and did all the necessary work to be done in a postoffice. They also have learned the price of air mail stamps, ordinary stamps and other postal work.

All but two members of Miss Dorothy Metzgar's class are now full-fledged members of the Good Writers' club sponsored by A. N. Palmer.

The pupils in grade 4-A are learning to interpret Spanish rhythm. This is in correlation with their geography. Records are played and the pupils use tambourines with their interpretations. A few of the pupils are also learning to play on a home-made xylophone by sight.

Oakland Street News.

Miss Mary A. McCue, school principal and teacher of grade 6-A, returned to school last Monday week after an absence of five weeks, due to illness. Her class is now working on a Japanese unit. Two large panels depicting Japanese life have been drawn and colored on the blackboard by a committee of pupils in the class. A collection of Japanese articles will be placed on exhibit in the room and later in the term an original Japanese play will be given by the class.

A large book containing contributions from the kindergarten and each of the six grades has been compiled and sent to a school in Japan through the Junior Red Cross. The children tried to imagine how different a Japanese school might be from ours, and put in samples of all of their school work which they thought might be of interest, such as costumes of Indians, photographs of class doing, models, drawings, paintings, original songs and poetry, samples of penmanship, illustrations, designs, letters, maps and cover designs.

The 5-A class is working on a debate as to which is more powerful, fire or water.

Fair Haven Doctor Elected To Office

Dr. Edwin F. Stewart Made Vice President of New Jersey State Health Officers' Association.

Dr. Edwin F. Stewart of Fair Haven was elected vice president of the New Jersey State Health Officers' association at the conclusion of a two-day convention at the state house at Trenton Saturday.

Others chosen were A. C. Erickson of Long Branch president and William C. Blake of Princeton secretary-treasurer.

Elected to the executive committee were William H. McDonald of Trenton, Amos Field, Jr., of Kearny, George N. Golding of Verona, H. R. Nichols of Englewood, A. J. Krog of Plainfield, Dr. John N. Ryan of Passaic and Miss Marie Havison of Maplewood.

The association accepted an invitation from Dr. Maurice Brodie of New York university to co-operate in testing the new vaccine for infantile paralysis made from the spinal columns of monkeys that have recovered from the disease.

Dr. Brodie explained that samples of the new vaccine, first tried on human beings last July, would be furnished by New York city to hospitals desiring it.

The association members heard an address by Dr. Wade H. Frost of Johns Hopkins university, who said that preventive measures found most effective in the control of bacillary dysentery were similar to those employed against typhoid fever. Scrupulous cleanliness and care in feeding were listed as especially important.

WINNING BOY'S ESSAY.

Schulte-United George Washington Essay Contest.

"The Life of George Washington," Alex Sweet, Grade 8-B2, Junior High School.

George Washington is the American hero whose fame is not wholly accounted for by the record of his life. Like Lincoln the man was infinitely greater than anything he did. A military genius, he wrestled liberty from tyranny; a statesman, he helped evolve stable government from political chaos; a patriot, he refused a crown. Wisdom, patience, tolerance, courage, consecration to the righteous cause animated his every act; ingratitude, injustice and treachery never embittered him, but served to strengthen his character. He grew in dignity and in capacity to the need of his growing responsibility and power, but he never became arrogant; and ambition and opportunity never tempted him from the narrow path of honor.

Yet, after we have reminded ourselves of all his lofty virtues and his incomparable services, we have still not expressed the feeling we have for his memory. We are continually admonished to shape our lives and our conduct by the model he has established for us; and to think less of the reward, more of the duty well done.

The first president of the United States was of the fourth generation of the Washington family in America. His great grandfather came over from Yorkshire, England in 1657. That he was a man of education, property and good birth is proven by the fact that he took up a large tract of land in Westmoreland county, on the Potomac, laid out a tobacco plantation, acquired slaves, became a magistrate and a member of the Virginia House of Burgesses. This property was still in the family when George Washington was born, February 22, 1732, three quarters of a century later. He was the oldest of the five children of Augustine and Mary Ball Washington. He had, however, two older half-brothers. The oldest, Augustine, seems to have taken over the estate on the Potomac, and Lawrence to have acquired the Mt. Vernon property through his marriage with a Miss Fairfax. With his second wife and younger children, the father removed to a plantation on the Rappahannock, near Fredericksburg. It was here that Washington grew up, under the care of his mother, for his father died when he was eleven. He learned to read, write and cipher in a school kept by the sexton of the Parish church, and later, had private tutoring in geometry and surveying. It was to his wise, lovely, devoted mother that he owed his moral and religious training. Her favorite book was Sir Matthew Hale's Contemplations. It was filled with precepts and maxims, easily memorized and easily applied to daily conduct. From these Washington early compiled his maxims. When he died, his mother's book was found carefully preserved in the library at Mount Vernon.

As was the unjust custom of that time, very little provision was made for the younger children. Washington, Jefferson and Franklin, in forming our government, saw that this law of entail by which the poor inherited the estate of the broken Washington's older half-brother Lawrence, who was rich and influential, did everything he could to further his promising brother's fortune. A warrant as midshipman in the King's navy was secured for him, but his mother refused her consent for him to go to sea. He then fitted himself for an appointment as surveyor of Lord Fairfax's enormous grant of Virginia land. At sixteen he began this work, making his home ever after at Mount Vernon. The traits of character he had displayed in school and among his playmates now came out prominently. In the school-boys plays he had always been chosen captain because of natural ability to direct them. In games of skill he was the umpire for his fairness. He excelled in running, wrestling and horseback-riding. His schoolpapers were models of neatness and accuracy. Now he had to live afoot and on horseback in the wilderness; he had helpers to direct, inferiors to govern; and he had to make out survey records so complete and accurate that they would be accepted by public officials upon which to base titles to land. When he returned from three years of hardships and danger and exacting work in mountains and forest, he was a handsome youth of nineteen. He had his full height of six feet two inches. Slender at that time, he added weight with the years. In his later life his appearance was one of the greatest dignity and nobility. He had blue eyes, an abundance of brown hair and a clear, ruddy complexion. His manner was controlled, his speech well considered. Even as a stripling he was considered a man of such remarkable gifts and experience that at twenty-one he was made major of the Virginia militia at a time when the colonies were preparing for war with France, and was entrusted with a message to a French post, six hundred miles distant, by Governor Dinwiddie.

His journey was a severe test of character and capacity. It took him across unexplored mountains, through trackless forests infested with wild beasts and hostile savages. A treacherous Indian guide attempted to assassinate him. He narrowly escaped drowning when crossing the flooded Alleghany on a rude raft. He was looked upon as the rising hope of the colony, and in the French and Indian war he was made an aide-camp to General Braddock. His advice as to methods employed by the Indians in border warfare was ignored, and Braddock suffered a terrible defeat. Washington was the only mounted officer in the engagement who was not killed. Two horses were shot under him and he had four bullet holes in his coat, but he escaped unhurt. He wrote to his mother that he felt he had been preserved by providence for some great duty. The Indians believed he bore a charmed life. In 1758 he carried the British colors into the smoking ruins of Ft. Duquesne, and helped rebuild it as Ft. Pitt (now Pittsburgh).

When, at the end of the war, the speaker of the Virginia House of Burgesses formally thanked him for his military services he was too confused to speak. "Sit down, Col. Washington," said the speaker, "you modestly equal your valor and that is beyond praise."

Thus in 1758 the period of his youth came to a close. He had inherited the estate of Mt. Vernon on the death of his brother Lawrence, and he soon afterwards married a charming and wealthy young widow, Mrs. Martha Dandridge Custis. He never had any children of his own, but his hereditary duty, the education of the Custis children, the care of his large estate and numerous slaves; his office as vestryman in the Parish church; his social pleasure and his duties as a member of the House of Burgesses, which met twice a year in Williamsburg, occupied his time most agreeably for the next fifteen years. In accepting the call for the next duty was to publish a duty he was up to a very beautiful, complete and endearing domestic life for which no honors ever compensated.

In 1774 he was chosen a delegate to the First Continental Congress. Many remarkable men were there, Franklin and Jefferson and others, but Patrick Henry said, "In solid information and sound judgment Washington was the greatest of the delegates. It was at Mt.achussetts, where the battle of Lexington was fought in April, 1775, that he insisted a month later on the supreme command of the army being given to the Virginian colonel. When the appointment was offered him, he replied that he lacked capacity for so great a task. He refused pay for his services. He arrived in Boston late in June, after the battle of Bunker Hill. Beginning with an army of 17,000 untrained men, with few supplies, he had to attend, not only to his military duties but to serve fourteen masters—Congress and the thirteen colonies—and to persuade all of them to support his operations and furnish men and supplies. It was an experience to make a great man, to break a weak one. When, in March of 1776, the British were driven out of Boston, Washington had become a statesman and a military commander of the first rank.

Washington's fame as one of the greatest generals of history, as Frederick the Great called him, does not rest on the battles he fought. The greatest battle of the Revolution probably the decisive conflict that turned the tide of war—was the battle of Saratoga. Engaged on September 19, 1777, the British surrendered. Washington's retreat across New Jersey, the manner in which he turned and struck the pursuing enemy at Trenton and Princeton and then established himself on the heights of Morristown, overlooking New York; and the vigorous resistance to British occupation of Philadelphia at Chad's Ford and Germantown all marked him as a consummate military general. The winter of 1778 at Valley Forge, the delay of a fugitive Congress by General Gates, he held his strategic position, and held the starving, freezing army to its task. When, on the news of the French alliance, Philadelphia was evacuated to unite the two British armies in New York, Washington chased the enemy across New Jersey and shut them into New York. There he remained, watching, waiting on the Hudson; while the British carried the war to the south. They captured Savannah and Charleston and entrenched Yorktown, Virginia. Then, beginning an attack on the weak Garrison in New York, he made a forced march to which the British were not prepared, and they were forced to surrender. The British evacuated New York and returned to England. The Revolution had already begun. The Revolution had brought forward a score of able, patriotic men, but in the six weeks between the evacuation and the surrender, a federal government was established. Washington was the court of last appeal, his the deciding voice. "The office of president was cut to Washington's measure" is said by one historian. No one else was thought of. He was chosen unanimously in 1789 and again in 1793. A third term he refused, and thus established a precedent which no political party has since dared disregard. For eight years, and until the government was firmly established, he prevented the formation of political parties by Hamilton and Jefferson, allying himself with neither, but keeping both in his cabinet. Two years after his retirement he died at Mount Vernon on December 14, 1799. Chief Justice John Marshall, in moving the resolution of the immortal words: First in war, first in peace, first in the hearts of his countrymen.

His place is not less today because he shares it with Lincoln—one the creator, the other the savior of our country. We touch Lincoln at more points of human understanding and sympathy. He remains a warm personality. Washington's image tended once to grow remote and legendary. But we love and revere them equally. The road went to Washington was said by John Richard Green, the historian of the English people, when he characterized Washington as "The noblest figure that ever stood in the forefront of a nation's life." Tennyson's words as to Wellington apply even more to Washington: "Whatever record leap to light, he never shall be shamed." And with my word, "Washington the Father of our country" and my story.

Red Bank Girl Honored Last Friday by Number of Friends.

Miss Alma Howell was tendered a birthday party last Friday night at her home on Bridge avenue by a number of friends in celebration of her nineteenth birthday. The rooms were lavishly decorated and refreshments were enjoyed. Miss Howell, who is a graduate of the local high school and who is attending Ryder college at Trenton, will go into practice teaching at the Keyport high school next Monday. Miss Howell was the recipient of a number of gifts. An orchestra composed of friends at the party furnished the music for dancing.

Those attending were the Misses Gladys Ponz, Frances Baldwin, Jessa Thomas, Thelma Overy, Kitty Mulligan, Adelaide Mulligan, Pearl Ralph and Corinne Howell, Joseph Nebraska, Kenneth Goodall, Bud McGee, Patrick Mulvihill, Gene Gross, Chris Christensen, Paul Miller, Ray Emerson, Joe Griffith, Joe Van Clift, Bill Howell, Stacy Patrick and Ralph Mills.

Holy Name Group To Give Minstrels

First Annual Show of Federation to be Held Tomorrow Night in the Catholic High School Auditorium.

The first annual minstrel show of the Monmouth County Federation of Holy Name societies will be presented tomorrow night in the auditorium of the Catholic High School. The show was given recently in Asbury Park and was well received by an audience of 1,100. It is produced and directed by Eddie King of Asbury Park and numbers among the cast, members of Holy Name societies from all over the county. T. George E. Duff of Asbury Park, county spiritual director, is chairman of the show committee.

John J. Coughlin of Atlantic Highlands is president of the federation. George Rolfe of Spring Lake is vice president, James A. McMahon of Freehold treasurer and John H. Wernert of Belford secretary. Dancing will take place after the performance. Reserved seats will be on sale at the door.

Wants Lakehurst As Naval Air Base

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—In view of the loss of the U. S. S. Macon last week, Representative William Sutphin, who a few months ago had mentioned the likelihood of a new lighter-than-air craft to replace the Akron at Lakehurst, today declared that further activity in this direction was impossible until reports of agencies investigating the Macon crash were complete.

"The loss of the Macon," Mr. Sutphin said, "was a severe blow to lighter-than-air craft construction by our government. It must be that the secret of successful construction of these ships is still imperfectly known to us. Until we have made undeniable progress through further investigation and study, we cannot expect any expenditure for new airships."

When a new ship is eventually constructed, for Mr. Sutphin feels that it is inevitable that engineers will solve their present problem, it is likely that Lakehurst will be preferred to Sunnyvale for the first ship. Meanwhile, Mr. Sutphin has been making persistent efforts to have Lakehurst converted to a heavier-than-air Naval base, similar to Pensacola in the South.

"Airplane construction has reached the point where the effectiveness of this branch of the service is unquestioned," Mr. Sutphin said today. "The facilities at Lakehurst are enormous. By docking the hangar more planes than it is likely we will ever have could be housed and serviced in this strategically located base."

"I have conferred with the Navy Department," the Bureau of Aeronautics and the Naval Affairs Committee regarding expansion of Lakehurst as an air base. "We have a thousand acres of old field, and 800 acres recently cleared by the CCC boys, all easily convertible into a fine flying field."

"Such a conversion would be beneficial to Ocean County from an employment and housing angle, for each plane requires a crew of fifteen, including mechanics for servicing. It would benefit the nation in providing a strong arm of defense for the eastern seaboard and northern central hinterland, of the only kind effective in the defense of large cities. Further than this, naval fliers would be trained in meeting all kinds of weather conditions, which cannot be said of the beautiful Pensacola climate. Wars are not fought on pleasant afternoons, and if defense is to be effective all possible conditions must be met."

Fire at Bradley Beach.

Three stores in the Bradley Beach business section were wrecked by fire early Monday morning. The loss is placed at $15,000. Mr. and Mrs. E. Zielon, the only occupants of the apartment on the second floor, were compelled to leave with nothing but the clothes which they hastily put on.

Tragic Death Of Mrs. Walter Tuck

Former Red Bank Resident Died From Radium Poisoning at Her Home at Newark Last Week.

Mrs. Helen G. Phillips Tuck of Newark, formerly of Red Bank, died at her home Tuesday, February 12, from radium poisoning which she contracted while working for the United States Radium corporation of Orange. Double mastoiditis and blood poisoning developed from the radium poisoning, according to the death certificate. Mrs. Tuck had been operated on six times during the past four years and her teeth and jaw bones had been removed. In 1930 Mrs. Tuck sued the United States Radium corporation for $200,000. The suit was settled out of court for $10,000.

Mrs. Tuck was the daughter of Thomas and Catherine Caubald Phillips and she is survived by her mother. She also leaves her husband, Walter M. Tuck, two sons, three sisters and two brothers. The funeral was held Friday morning at her late home and at St. Joseph's church, Newark, where a solemn high mass of requiem was offered. The interment was in the Holy Sepulcher cemetery.

Mrs. Tuck was the 21st employee of the United States Radium corporation to die from radium poisoning. Mr. and Mrs. Tuck and family moved from Red Bank to Newark several years ago.

Sea Bright Man's Will Probated

John Thorsen, a well known resident of Sea Bright, executed his will in 1915. His entire estate was bequeathed to his wife, Mary Thorsen, and she was named as executrix of the will.

Hannah C. Compton of Belford made her will in 1927. All of her estate was bequeathed in equal shares to Catherine A. Candee of New York, Mary C. Burr and Laura Ely of Freehold. The will stated that the bequests were made in recognition of the kindness and care she had received from them. The will named Catherine Candee and Laura Ely as executrices.

Samuel F. Hall of Ocean Grove in a will which he executed in 1932 made several cash bequests. They are: Albert G. Hall, his brother, $500; $1,500 to Walter L. Morgan of Wilmington, Delaware; $1,500 to Charles L. Morgan, also of Wilmington; $300 to Howard E. Morgan and also $300 each to William E. Morgan, Clarence H. Morgan, Mabel C. Graham, Annie Carter and Susan today, all of Delaware. All the rest of the estate was divided equally among Walter, Charles, Harold and Clarence Morgan, Mabel Graham and Anna Carter. The will appointed Taulman A. Miller of Asbury Park as executor.

Mrs. Julia T. Hanco of Asbury Park made her will last March. She made bequests of personal effects to her son, Taylor, and her sister, Carolyn F. Hanco. She left her granddaughter, Ruth M. Hanco, $200 and her niece, Mary M. T. Clark, $100. All the rest of her estate was divided between her son and daughter and she named her son as executor.

Henry Gavlin of Millstone township left his sister, Sarah A. Giloly, $500 in a will executed in 1931. All the rest of the estate was bequeathed to his sister, Mary E. Ellis, which included an undivided right in a property at Belmar. He named his sister as executrix of the will.

Edward A. Heyers of Upper Freehold township bequeathed $500 to his grandson, Edward Stewart. All the rest of his estate was left to his wife, Australia Heyers, and he named C. Gordon Heyers and E. Allen Heyers and his wife and daughter as executrices.

OFF FOR JAPAN.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Whitfield Are Bound For The Orient.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Whitfield of Jersey City, formerly of Red Bank, left by rail Sunday for San Francisco, where they will embark on the Hoover, a new steamship, for Japan, where they will go into the interior to visit the mills where paper is made by hand and machines. Mr. Whitfield is the owner of the Whitfield Paper Works of New York. He recently made a good of a hand-making paper machine to the Red Bank public schools. It is exactly like those used in Japan by the farmers' wives, who make paper at odd times.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield will make stops at Shanghai, Peking and Corea and will return on the steamship Resolute on the return of that boat from her world cruise. This will make Mr. Whitfield's fourth trip to the Orient and around the world and Mrs. Whitfield's third. Before leaving Mr. Whitfield sent the following letter to The Register:

"My secretary will advise where The Register can reach me, as I enjoy reading it and keep in touch with my home town."

MEETING POSTPONED.

Fire Police of Middletown Will Meet Friday, March 1.

As the regular meeting night of the Middletown township fire department fire police falls on Washington's birthday, the meeting has been postponed until Friday evening of next week, March 1. This is the second time this year a regular meeting has been postponed, the January meeting coming just after the blizzard, with so many Middletown roads blocked that the members of the fire police were unable to reach the Belford meeting place.

As a result of the postponement the members of the organization have not as yet been sworn in for duty, but arrangements have been made with Victor Grossinger, chairman of the police committee, to be present on March 1 for this purpose. However, Mr. Grossinger advised this week that a large number of fire police officers who have been appointed have as yet not filed bonds with the Middletown township committee as required, and he has requested all fire companies to have their appointees comply with this law.

AMUSEMENTS.

Strand Theater.

"Dangerous Corner," an R. K. O. Radio murder mystery picture, with a cast that includes Virginia Bruce, Melvyn Douglas, Conrad Nagel, Edith O'Brien Moore and Betty Furness, will be shown for the last time today. Based on a novel and play by James B. Priestly, the picture is said to be something different in the line of mystery dramas and points a moral that half-truths sometimes are better for the general happiness of all rather than the whole truth.

The story is told in retrospect. A man is found dead and the motive for his suicide or murder established. Nagel, being suspected as the killer, determines to find the real culprit. His search leads through a complicated chain of undercover romances, jealousies and intrigues and an eventual explanation of the tragedy.

The feature on Friday and Saturday of this week will be "The Private Life of Don Juan," a London film production released through United Artists, with Douglas Fairbanks in the title role. The picture was directed by Alexander Korda and in it besides Fairbanks are Merle Oberon, Blinnie Barnes, Joahn Gardner and Benita Hume.

The story of the film treats the great lover in rather cavalierly fashion and expounds the amusing theory that, deprived of his name and reputation by a trick of fate, Don Juan was no greater lover than the next fellow.

When an amateur who has been successfully impersonating the matchless philanderer is killed by an outraged husband, all feminine

Seville goes into mourning for the real Don Juan. Don Juan enjoys the "joke" until he realizes that the day of his conquests is at an end, for it is impossible to convince any of the women he approaches that he is not an impostor. After half a dozen disillusioning experiences he is finally compelled to go back to his wife.

"The Iron Duke," with George Arliss in the title role, will be the feature at the Strand on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Produced by Gaumont-British and released through Fox, the picture depicts the career of the Duke of Wellington, who conquered Napoleon at Waterloo. The historical scenes are said to be accurate and replete in splendor.

Carlton Theater.

"Under Pressure," a Fox film, with Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen again teamed, will be shown for the last time today at the Carlton theater. The supporting cast includes Florence Rice, Marjorie Rambeau, Charles Bickford and Siegfried Rumann.

Lowe and McLaglen are cast as "sand-hogs," men who build the vehicle tunnels under water. Because of the precarious nature of the work they devote only a hour a day to the job and spend the other 23 in spending their money and falling in love. They meet a girl reporter who is intrigued by the character of the men and their work.

"Wings in the Dark," a Paramount picture, with Myrna Loy and Cary Grant in the main roles, will be shown Friday and Saturday of this week. Miss Loy and Cooper are supported by Roscoe Karns, Hobart Cavanaugh, Dean Jagger, Russell Hopton, Matt McHugh and Charles Ely.

Grant plays the role of a scientific explorer of the air, a man who strives to make aviation safe by perfecting blind flying. When he is blinded in an accident, Miss Loy, the girl who loves him, helps him to carry on his work with money she earns in spectacular stunt flying.

Grant learns how she has been helping him; he leaves her rather than accept charity. But fate intervenes, and Grant, in a gripping dramatic climax, goes on a flight that saves Miss Loy's life and unites the lovers.

Will Rogers returns to the Carlton screen on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of next week in his latest picture, "The County Chairman," which was produced by Fox. The same stock players that appeared in other Rogers pictures, Evelyn Venable, Kent Taylor and Stepin Fetchit, as well as Louise Dresser, Mickey Rooney, Berton Churchill, Frank Melton and Robert McWade, are in the supporting cast.

The picture was adapted from George Ade's famous play of the same name and in it the cowboy philosopher is cast as a wily, lovable county boss, half diplomat and half rustic. He wins elections and arranges love matches with equal skill, and no one, not even his rivals, can resist him.

Stops Paper Sale.
Shortly after the Hauptmann jury retired last Wednesday, Freehold was awakened by the appearance of an extra edition of the Newark Evening News. An investigation was made disclosing that two lusty lunged newspaper vendors were selling the extra editions. A stop was put to the sales because the boys had no licenses.

Early American-English Air

The charm of an early American home with its imported English air is captured in this house of English architectural design.

The exterior is stucco, half timber and clapboards, battens shutters, shingle on the roof, and stucco chimney, all points of interest and all worked into an harmonious whole, at one with its setting of trees and the outdoors.

Entrance is through a small vestibule with closet for wraps. A door leads to a study or library, and another door leads to a living room 14x20 feet, with two exposures, a large fireplace, a door leading to the dining room and another to the service entry—points of convenience.

From the service entry one steps into the kitchen where a dining alcove has been placed in a light, cheery corner.

Three large bedrooms and a bath comprise the second floor. A good-sized closet is a feature of each of these rooms.

In contrast to the primitive appearance of our forefathers, the modern home builder has at his disposal modern materials which are available at reasonable cost. Once a design has been chosen, solid construction will add much to its charm and comfort.

The cubic contents of this house are 35,000 cubic feet, on which building estimates should be based.

MEETING FOR FARMERS.

Sweet Corn Growers Will Receive Valuable Information.

Any vegetable grower who has heard about sweet corn wilt or has had trouble with the blossoms dropping off the ears, or has had a poor come up of some of his vegetable crops, will have an opportunity to discuss these and other questions with a group of men who understand the answer to these problems. The County Extension Service has scheduled a vegetable growers' meeting to be held in the court house at Freehold on the afternoon of February 27 at 1:30 P. M.

Dr. Victor Tiedjens of the Experiment Station will discuss plant food relationships and the effect of organic matter and soil acidity on the use of plant food by the various vegetable crops. Dr. C. M. Haenseler, also of the Experiment Station, will discuss the plant diseases which have given trouble to our Monmouth county growers. Mr. C. H. Nisley, extension vegetable specialist will discuss varieties of vegetables, seed selection and the proper placement of fertilizer for vegetable crops.

Fruit growers of the county have had such a meeting with insect and disease experts every winter for several years and they always turn out enthusiastically to the number of 150 or 200.

The county agricultural agents believe that the same opportunity for vegetable growers to discuss their problems will result in just as good or even greater attendance. Don't be afraid to bring your questions to the meeting and be sure to tell your neighbors about it.

Awarded His Degree.

Degrees in courses were awarded 268 graduates of University of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Saturday at the mid-year convocation of the university council.

Among them was Morgan P. Collo of Red Bank, doctor of dental surgery.

Floods to Embellishment Charge.

Years Ago in and Around Red Bank

Incidents Cited From The Register of the Third Week in February, Twenty, Thirty and Forty Years Ago.

Forty Years Ago.

The farmers throughout the tomato section of Monmouth county were notified that the canneries would pay only $7 per ton, which was considerably less than the price paid the previous year. The reduction in price paid to the farmers was made necessary by virtue of the fact that more tomatoes were being canned throughout the county and competition in wholesale prices was very keen.

The Epworth league of the First Methodist church of Red Bank had a Valentine social and every person present got a souvenir heart pierced with an arrow. Special parts on the program were taken by Sarah Venable, Clara Cooper, William Hammon, Anella Morris, Sadie Elliott, Joe Conover, William Elliott, William Morris, Dawitt Carhart, Samuel Eustace, Arthur Wymbs, Mervie Elliott, Katie Conover, Sadie Longstreet, Lily Conover, Regina Holmes, Jennie Elliott and John Many.

E. Gerry Roberts and John Hoffmire were arranging to start a line of boats on the Shrewsbury river operating between Red Bank and Highland Beach. The boats were to be 55 feet in length and were to be named the Shrewsbury and the Navesink. They were to be similar to the launches Cur Mary and Jersey Lily, which had previously been used on the same route, and were to cost about $10,000.

Announcement was made that Monmouth Park race track was to go under the hammer at Freehold, with Henry S. White of Red Bank as master of ceremonies. Encumbrances aggregating nearly $500,000 were against the property.

An interesting debate took place at Little Silver on the question, "Resolved, That the right of suffrage be extended to women." Timothy White, Rev. Frank Moore and John Lippincott fought for the women and Frank Leon, Dr. W. H. Slocum and Joseph Blaisdell were "agin 'em." The judges, Captain John Borden, J. Elwood Harvey and W. C. Lippincott, decided in favor of giving the women the right to vote. Immediately one of the judges said he was always in favor of giving the women everything they wanted.

Mrs. M. A. Rappleyea of Morganville, while on a visit to Philadelphia, slipped and sustained a broken leg in the fall.

The Middletown and Keyport turnpike was still snowed up and people had to drive through the fields. The turnpikes, however, were kept open and travelers were complaining because they had to pay tolls without being able to use the roads.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dorsett were surprised at their home in Middletown by a group of serenaders, who came to give them a visit in celebration of their recent marriage. Gottlieb Metz, Fred Wilson and David Connolly led the serenaders. The young married couple were not quite so happy about the affair and they threw water and potatoes at the serenaders. The serenaders retaliated by decorating the front of the house with eggs.

James Wilson moved from Middletown to the farm at New Monmouth which had recently been bought by Charles Tindall from Edward C. Morford. Mr. Wilson was the village casket weaver and he moved his business to the new location.

There was a balance of $500 left over from the appropriation of Cooper's bridge and the freeholders transferred this amount for expenditure on smaller bridges in Middletown township.

Peter Stankiewicz, a Locust Point shoemaker, went to bed, leaving his oil stove burning. When he awoke in the morning he was blackened with oil soot and the walls of the room were so badly smoked that they had to be redecorated.

Charles Murphy's trotter Maude M. won three straight heats, racing to sleighs on the river before one of the largest crowds since the horse races conducted years ago by Thomas Richardson. Other horses in the heats were entered by Jacob Shutt, Edward Fenton, William Beffel, Michael Coleman and John Coffel.

The judges of the races were Borden Hance, John W. Stout, Jr., Charles Grossinger and Edward W. Throckmorton. Between the heats Will Conover, Red Bank speedster, ran 100 yards against time, doing the distance in twelve seconds.

Canvas-back ducks were being shot near Locust Point and W. Gaston Johnson of the Highlands was fortunate enough to shoot three wild geese.

In a skating race between William Collins and George Matthews on the Taffey pond at Keansburg, Collins was the speediest skater.

James Cooper, Jr., negotiated the preliminary transactions for the purchase of the property at Broad and White streets owned by Cooper and Spence. The price agreed upon was $10,000.

Shrewsbury township received $14.48 from Sheriff Woolley for the benefit of the poor of the township. The money came from fines for illegal liquor selling.

Some of the new electric light poles set up in Red Bank were so placed that they interfered with the operation of the fire hydrants and they were ordered removed.

John Elsie, who was engaged by the year to keep the clock in the Episcopal church steeple at Shrewsbury in repair, died shortly after he had been paid for a years service in advance.

Ellie Murphy won first prize in the spelling contest at the Tinton Falls village school and was awarded a large oil painting. Elizabeth Cook got second prize.

Mrs. Babina Hendrickson died at her home near Scobeyville. She claimed to have been born in 1789, and if this was a fact she was a bit older than "Uncle Jole" Field of Middletown, who at that time had the reputation of being the oldest person in Monmouth county.

The women of the Sea Bright Methodist church were making two quilts to be sent to industrial homes. Mrs. P. Hall Packer was in charge of the quilting.

Clayton Fields of Oceanport, whose foot was crushed while working with lumber at Belmar, was able to be about the village again.

At the semi-annual examination held at the Marlboro school, Annie Williams stood first and Allie Field second. Both had a general average well over ninety per cent.

Thirty Years Ago.

The social event of the season in Red Bank was the marriage of Miss Grace Estelle Davis, daughter of Postmaster Obadiah E. Davis, to Joseph Navarro Hance, third son of Robert Hance of Red Bank and a member of the firm of Hance & Sons.

The ceremony occurred at the home of the bride on Riverside avenue and over 100 guests were present. The bridesmaids were the bride's sisters, Elizabeth Davis and Miss Frances Parker, daughter of W. Tabor Parker of Little Silver. Herbert Davis, a brother of the bride, was groomsmen.

George Erick of Red Bank skated all the way from Red Bank to Long Branch by way of the two rivers. Mr. Erick was accompanied on the trip by Charles Stults of New York.

Daniel Polhemus of Eatontown, 73, slipped and fell on the ice in his yard and was rendered unconscious. His doctor regarded the case as quite serious.

Captain Peter S. VanBrunt died at his home on Riverside drive in Middletown township of paralysis. He was 73 years old and was one of the best known oyster planters in this section.

Myron V. Brown of Little Silver met with a sleighing accident. He was driving home from Fair Haven and in turning the corner at Hance road his sleigh upset and his horse ran away. Mr. Brown was dragged some distance and was considerably shaken up.

Three trotting races on the river attracted a great crowd of people. The first was a free-for-all, the second a 2:30 class and the third a 2:40 class. A Pers Shearman's Country Boy won the first, Luther Schanck's Jay Boy the second and Dr. Robert Dixon's Billy B. the third. The starter was Major Joseph T. Field and the judges were Charles McCue of Sea Bright and General John Sheehan of Red Bank.

The Edna M., an ice yacht owned by Charles Allen, Jr., made the ice yachting record of the winter by sailing at an average speed of a mile in one minute, 25 seconds.

Liberty Buss company's 25th birthday was celebrated with a banquet at the Germania hotel. The report was followed by speechmaking. The officers of the company were Joseph Hesse foreman, Harry E. Worthley first assistant foreman, Alonzo DeWitt second assistant foreman, Samuel G. Woolley secretary and Edward Longstreet treasurer.

Discussion number five in the school series was conducted by Mrs. Marion McDowell, extension specialist in child training and parent education, at the Oceanport Parent-Teacher association radio study group held recently at the home of Mrs. Ernest Limper at Pemberton avenue. Mrs. McDowell introduced Miss Edna Y. Bond, state chairman of health, who discussed "A Check-up On the School Child's Health Habits." Those present were Mrs. E. O. Nynander, Mrs. O. Lyons, Mrs. Louis West, Mrs. Charles Guillard, Mrs. C. Waters, Mrs. Horace W. Kirby and Mrs. Jerome Dymann.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the Oceanport church was held Tuesday afternoon at the Business Of The Rumson Council

Rev. William Calvin Colby Appointed Overseer of the Poor and Director of Relief—Public Hearing on Budget.

Rev. William Calvin Colby, director of the emergency relief committee of Rumson borough, was named overseer of the poor and director of relief at a meeting of the Rumson mayor and council Thursday night. The appointment was unanimously confirmed. Mayor Van R. Halsey submitted the name of Mr. Colby in a report he made on the emergency relief activities. In part his report is as follows:

It would appear to me that the best way to meet our problem is to concentrate the handling and responsibility of it in a single person, aided by an advisory committee. Such an advisory committee to be composed of a representative of each recognized organization in the borough which is now giving private relief. Each such organization would choose their own representative to the advisory committee and they would elect their own chairman.

"The functions of this committee would be to advise with the director of relief and to keep him posted as to the various persons receiving private relief from their respective organizations, as well as other matters pertinent to the general problem. This would prevent overlapping of relief and afford an orderly and business-like method of procedure. It is my belief that such a committee could be organized and would maintain a close contact with the director of relief of the borough and the director of relief of the county."

This plan meets with your approval. I respectfully offer the name of Mr. William C. Colby as overseer of the poor and director of relief. While I do not believe that the director of relief should receive a salary, I feel strongly that proper expenses incurred in the performance of his duties and reasonable secretarial help should be allowed him.

"I therefore recommend that to the salary of $200 a year as overseer of the poor, there be set up in the budget the sum of $500 to cover such expenses.

"Knowing full well the time and effort which the emergency relief committee have expended in the work they have done during the past year, I wish to thank them on behalf of the council and the people of the borough for their effective work."

Mr. Halsey appointed Councilman Robert G. Isley, Frank Nary, George R. Kuhn and Bernard V. Ryan on the special committee mentioned in his report.

Charles E. Cole of Freehold was re-appointed auditor and his salary was increased from $600 to $700.

A public hearing on the budget was held. Taxpayers were given an opportunity to express their opinions on the budget, but none was made. Final passage of the budget was held up pending the state legislature's action on relief matters. The appropriations in the budget total $125,541.85.

Mr. Colby in his report on relief matters stated that the application to the PWA authorities for authority to expend $2,500 on the new school grounds at this time had been definitely rejected. He reported that in January relief work was extended to 66 men. Day work and fuel was needed and he thanked Councilman Robert G. Isley for giving an abandoned water tower on his property for this purpose.

A letter from Will Ward commended the road committee on the way in which the streets were cleared of snow after the recent storm. He stated he had traveled 725 miles in the northern part of the state and failed to find a single town to compare with Rumson in this manner.

Councilman Kuhn objected to paying men in the road department to receive fixed salaries, time and a half overtime on the snow removal job. He said they should give their time gratis. Councilman Lewis T. Wilson, chairman of the road committee, said the borough has always done this in the past. He said the men worked from twelve to sixteen hours and he believed they should receive extra compensation. Mr. Ryan suggested straight time. Mr. Kuhn said county men did not get any extra pay for overtime. He said he did not oppose overtime pay to road employees who do not work steady and are paid on the hourly basis, but only to those who get their salaries regularly. It was decided to hold up the overtime pay on the salaried men while Mr. Wilson finds out how other municipalities pay their men under similar circumstances.

Clerk Jere J. Carew reported receipts of $425 from his office.

The recommendation of Mr. Wilson that the county purchase a Red Bank for the use of the road department was approved.

Councilman Francis Nary reported that the drivers and fire police of Oceanic hook and ladder company have been approved by the fire committee.

Founders' day was observed by the Oceanport Parent-Teacher association Wednesday evening at 8:00 P. M. at the assembly room of the school. Professor H. W. Moutz of Spring Lake was the speaker and Mrs. D. H. Karp, county chairman, and William Smith, superintendent of schools, were honored guests. The candle lighting service was conducted by officers of the association and members of the executive board. A short sketch was given by the Oceanport Dramatic club. Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Jerome Dymann and her committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Rudolph of Plainfield have as their guest their niece, Miss Pamela Smith of Tuckahoe, New York.

Word has been received of the marriage in Trenton of Miss Stella Morris.

Mrs. John A. Biel of Main street was hostess to the members of the Oceanport auxiliary of the River-view hospital at her home last Thursday. During the meeting the members folded cards, pressed for hospital use and more compresses will be folded at home by the members during the month. An all-day meeting will be held February 27 at the home of Mrs. Henry C. Tilton of Red Bank, when mending will be done for the hospital. A box luncheon will be enjoyed. Plans were made for a card party to be held March 21 at the home of Mrs. E. W. Wilby, Prospect avenue and Rumson road, Little Silver. The affair will benefit the auxiliary. Following the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Theodore G. Rowe, Mrs. E. W. Wilby and Mrs. Thomas O'Brien. Others present were Mrs. David Jones, Mrs. Russell E. Gilliam, Mrs. Martin J. Connelly, Mrs. H. L. Renne, Mrs. C. W. Hayhurst, Mrs. Henry C. Tilton, Mrs. H. Whitney Conrow, Mrs. J. L. Herbert, Mrs. Ralph Mauriell and Mrs. George T. Linton, president of the hospital executive board.

Mrs. Mattie Fowler of this place, who is spending the winter at St. Petersburg, Florida, states in letters and postal cards to relatives and friends here that influence is very prevalent in the neighborhood where she is living. She is in good health herself and she expects to return to her home here early in the spring.

Mrs. Arthur Jones is on the sick list with a severe cold.

Dewey Williams has bought a Plymouth automobile.

Mrs. Elizabeth Megill, who lives with her daughter, Mrs. John Jones, is confined to the house with sickness.

Mr. Bakeman returned to his home at Owego, New York, Saturday after having spent two weeks with his son, Frank Bakeman.

Miss Anna Dowd has been visiting relatives at Freehold.

Youth Is Accused Of Striking Father

Elmer Thompson of Shrewsbury, student, colored, arrested on a complaint made by his father, John Thompson, of the same address, which charged the young man with striking his parent and using abusive language, was sentenced to serve thirty days in the county jail at Freehold by Recorder Harry Klatsky in police court Monday. The arrest was made by Constable Thomas Hackett, who took the prisoner to Freehold.

When young Thompson had been arrested some time ago on a similar charge, Recorder Klatsky had ordered him to stay away from his father's home. The latter had stated that he did not want his son around the house. The latter denied the truth of the new charge, declaring that his parent was not of sound mind. He said he had not been home the night his father said he struck him.

WINNING GIRLS' ESSAY.

Schulte-United George Washington Essay Contest.

"The Return of George Washington," Evelyn Beaman, Grade 8-A, February 14, 1935.

Jerry sat at his desk at home, thoughtfully chewing the end of a pencil and trying hard to keep awake. It was getting late.

"Jerry," called his mother from another room, "What are you doing?" "O, gee, mom," replied the boy, his eyes blinking, "I've got to write a composition on the life of George Washington, and I don't know what to say. I know he was born on February 22, 1732, in an old-fashioned farm house in Virginia, and that he was the first and bravest man that ever lived and that he was a soldier, statesman and patriot. It says so here in this encyclopedia, but—"

Here Jerry yawned and his head sagged. His eyes closed and the voice of his mother, as she tried to make a helpful suggestion, sounded far away.

Suddenly a strange feeling came over the boy. He was no longer at his desk at home; instead, he was standing in a crowded street, watching a figure in uniform of blue and buff, sitting on the handsomest horse that Jerry had ever seen. He was tall, stately, dignified, noble in face and to Jerry appeared to be a soldier all through.

"Who is that?" inquired Jerry, in an awestricken tone, to a boy of his age, who was standing beside him. "That," replied the other boy, "is George Washington, the 'father of our country.' I heard some one say that he has returned to his country to see what progress we have made since he led us to independence. Doesn't he look fine?"

The figure in the continental uniform glanced in Jerry's direction. "Look!" exclaimed Jerry, "he is coming our way."

The man on horseback made his way to where Jerry and his new friend were standing, and slowly dismounted from his horse.

"Ah," said General Washington, "you must be the modern youth I've heard so much about. You are indeed fortunate. In my day we did not have your advantages. We had no radio, no automobiles, no telephones and no movies. We did not have the fine schools you attend, nor did we have the efficient teachers that you have."

With a kind smile, the soldier remounted his horse and passed down the street.

"I read," remarked Jerry to his friend, "that Washington never told a lie. And he was a fine soldier, too. He fought with the English against the French and Indians before King George began oppressing the colonies. Then he rose up as leader of the Continental forces, and after many years of hard fighting, won our freedom."

"And," said the other boy, "they made him the first President of the United States, and he was one of the best. He took his oath of office in a building called 'Federal Hall' on Wall street, in New York, and he knew just what to do to make this country strong and prosperous."

Jerry took up the narrative. "After he served four years, the people made him President again for four years. And they would have elected him over and over again but Washington thought that if he served for the rest of his life it would be like a king ruling."

"Then," continued the other boy, "Washington went back to his home in Mount Vernon. One day, while he was riding over his estate, he caught cold and died two days later, December 12, 1799. He was mourned all over the world."

"The capital of the United States is named after him," declared Jerry, "and there is a big monument there, called Washington monument."

"Listen!" cried Jerry's friend, "someone is calling you. It sounds like Washington. He is coming back."

Jerry listened intently.

"Jerry!" cried the voice again. "Jerry!"

The boy stirred and then lifted his head. The voice grew stronger. Jerry blinked and looked around him. He was back in his room at home and his father stood over him.

"Jerry," he said, "I heard you tell your mother you had a composition to write about Washington. You had better get started. It is getting late; you must have fallen asleep. Do you need any help?"

Jerry sprang to his feet. "No," he answered, "no, I don't need a bit of help. I know all about Washington. I was just talking to him."

Jerry's father started, then smiled and went back to the paper he had been reading. Only the sound of the scratching of Jerry's pen, as he wrote, could be heard.

Spring Is Near.

First evidence of the approaching spring season during the past few days has been the spring seed catalogues from Eastern nurseries, which are flooding the mails, and on Tuesday morning the first spring shipment of day-old chicks was received at the Red Bank postoffice. These are surely the harbingers of spring and it probably will be only a short time before robin red breast will be with us, as there is no frost in the ground, and the garden worms are making their appearance.

Held For the Grand Jury After Stabbing

William Calver of Leonard street, charged with atrocious assault and battery upon Adolph Alvino of Locust avenue, was held for the action of the grand jury under bail of $1,000 after being arraigned before Recorder Harry Klatsky in police court Monday morning. His parents furnished bail.

According to Alvino, Calver during an altercation in a saloon on Monmouth street conducted by Patrick Kennedy, Alvino was stabbed behind the right ear with a pen-knife which he says was wielded by Calver. The latter denied that he had done the stabbing or that the knife was his.

Mr. Kennedy told the court that he was too excited during the melee, which occurred on Friday night, to notice who had used the knife, which was found on the floor after Sergeant James Sheedy had been called to the scene. Alvino was removed to Riverview hospital for treatment and Calver was placed under arrest. He was held under bail for a hearing last Saturday but the hearing was postponed until Monday and when the case was called it was announced that Calver had waived a hearing for the grand jury.

Four witnesses, Charles Poole and Robert Finn of White street, William Cosentino of Bergen place and William Johnson of Monmouth street, said they did not see Calver use the knife. All will be called to testify before the grand jury.

County Holy Name Mass Tomorrow

The annual memorial mass of the Monmouth County Federation of Holy Name societies will be held at ten o'clock tomorrow morning in the Church of the Holy Spirit at Asbury Park. Bishop Moses E. Killey of Trenton will officiate. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Joseph McCaffrey, chaplain of the New York police department and pastor of the Holy Cross church in that city. Assisting at the mass will be pastors of Catholic churches in the county. Twelve hundred Holy Name men from the nineteen societies in the county will attend.

A MEDITERRANEAN CRUISE.

"Horse Billiards," Magic Lantern Slides and Other Amusements.

The first American pleasure voyage to the Mediterranean, forerunner of the scores of present-day cruises, had as a passenger Mark Twain, the century of whose birth is now being observed, and whose experiences on the trip are told in the book "Innocents Abroad."

"Horse billiards," dominoes, magic lantern exhibitions, charades and occasional dances to the music of an asthmatic melodeon, a clarinet and a leaky accordion provided entertainment for the 68 passengers. They embarked in June, 1897, for the Mediterranean, the Holy Land and Egypt, ending the voyage with a "short time with our friends the Bermudians." Their ship boasted even a physician, although few boats carried a ship doctor at that time.

During the day, Mark Twain wrote, there was "much smoking and sewing, though not by the same parties." On the main deck in front of the chicken coops and cattle, passengers played "horse billiards," a colloquial name for the modern game of shuffle-board. The chickens and cattle mentioned were carried along to be slaughtered for fresh meat, as refrigeration was not then known.

Evenings were short. At eight o'clock everyone went to an upper cabin for prayers and hymns, after which the entire party sat down to record the events of the day in voluminous journals and diaries.

Several times a photographer in the party gave magic lantern exhibitions, advertising that he would "show the passengers where they would eventually arrive." Quite by accident the first picture he threw on the canvas was of a cemetery.

A mock trial of the purser, who was accused of stealing, charades, checkers and a club to discuss places on the itinerary were other diversions that proved highly successful. Someone even attempted to organize a debating club, but "it was a failure," according to Mark Twain.

SCALDED TO DEATH.

Richard S. Sebring of Point Pleasant fatality injured in explosion.

Richard S. Sebring, thirty, of 100 Forman avenue, Point Pleasant, was scalded to death in the boiler room of the S. S. Pan America late last Thursday, following an explosion of a steam pipe.

A newspaper man, Mr. Sebring, formerly of Montclair, had signed on the ship as assistant refrigeration engineer for a 42-day cruise to South America. The liner was docked at the pier of the Ford Motor company plant at Edgewater and was scheduled to sail Saturday.

Mr. Sebring was one of four men in the boiler room at the time of the explosion. The other three escaped by a stairway, but Mr. Sebring dashed up a stairway leading to the top of the boiler and was scalded to death before aid could reach him.

The Point Pleasant man was a reporter and feature writer for the Ocean County Leader and also was a correspondent of the Asbury Park Press and the Standard News association.

WHEN IS EXPENSE ECONOMY?

By A. G. Phillips, Formerly Professor of Purdue University.

The price of anything and the cost of doing business is paramount in the mind of every poultry keeper. Which is more important, price or cost? Certainly they are not the same thing. We are often prone to base a decision relative to a purchase or investment solely upon the original price, due, in most instances, to limited average finances; thus the ultimate cost is disregarded.

In growing pullets, every penny spent is an investment. You are spending pullets, every penny spent is an investment. You are spending money now on a proposition that you hope will bring you a profitable income in the future. Immediate financial returns are not expected. It is not the cost of the baby chick or the feed purchased that is most important. It is the cost of the mature pullet or the profit from winter egg production that should control our program of operation.

A good philosophy regarding the question of cost might be as follows: Do not worry about the cost of success—worry about the cost of failure. It is not the cost of what you do that hurts, but the cost of what you do not do. It is not the cost of the chicks that grow properly that makes a failure out of the poultry venture; it is the cost of the chicks that die or do not grow properly. The cost of the pullets that cannot lay is without limit.

The price of a baby chick and the price of feed for it are not the measuring sticks to use in making any decision that has to do with an important investment, such as a laying pullet. A chick of good health and vigor, with high egg production breeding behind it, cannot be produced or sold at a low price. Any other kind of chick would be expensive at any price. The same is true of starting or growing meaters.

A young chick will consume about two pounds of feed during the first six weeks of its life. What influence does the feed have upon the cost of its growth? If one feed is priced at $3.25 per hundred pounds and another at $2.75, would it not be wise to save an investment of fifty cents per bag of starter? Using the higher priced feed will increase the cost of growing a pullet just exactly one cent, or one dollar for one hundred pullets. If the higher priced starter will be the means of producing better growth and less mortality, the cost of the mature pullet kept for laying will be less than if the cheaper starter were used. In such a case a lower priced feed would increase "cost."

In 1935 good chicks will be priced at a higher figure than they were in 1934. In order to be sure that they are a good investment and that the cost is not too high next fall, it will pay to take no chances with any feeding program that does not include quality. Possibly a chance can be taken with cheap or low priced chicks, but certainly not with those that are of good quality. Economy is not expressed in price but in the final cost.

BLUE SUNOCO
MOTOR FUEL

Never before has any such sensational test been dared! Even in the teeth of a blizzard BLUE SUNOCO snapped the Ford motor into life at the touch of the starter. This is the same motor fuel you obtain at any BLUE SUNOCO pump. Get a tankful, it is still the most convincing test of all!

UNFOLDS REMARKABLE AVIATION POSSIBILITIES

This flight proves that in the near future non-sinking motor boats can be flown to distressed vessels, armored cars landed in inaccessible desert regions for exploration or power boats launched for exploration in the upper reaches of uncharted tropical rivers. In addition, ambulances can be rushed by air to devastated communities; wartime tanks secretly dropped behind enemy lines and motorboats flown into hitherto inaccessible polar areas.

THIS OIL HELPS QUICK STARTING

An important factor in this quick-starting test was Mercury-Made Sunoco 20-W Motor Oil. Sunoco 20-W lubricates instantly every friction surface and remains fluid at zero temperatures, permitting the starter to snap over the motor without "drag."

Ritzau Guilty On Four Counts

Former Globe Hotel Proprietor and Four Others Convicted on Liquor Violation Charges—
To Be Sentenced Monday.

Herman Ritzau, Shrewsbury township committee member and former proprietor of the Globe Hotel on East Front street, and four workmen on his farm, Riverdale and Cloverdale, who were indicted last summer by agents of the state alcoholic control board, were convicted by a jury before Judge Harry Truax at Freehold last Monday.

Ritzau and the other defendants, John Bruno, Joseph Ziegler, David Daly and A. George Cook, are all at liberty under bond. They will be sentenced on Monday. Their trial began last Friday and closed at three o'clock on Monday when the jury retired to deliberate. The verdict was announced 25 minutes later.

The five faced three charges of illegal manufacture and possession of unregistered stills and two of illegal possession of alcoholic beverages. State agents testified that they found four thousand-gallon stills on each of Ritzau's farms as well as a large quantity of alcohol.

Ritzau testified that he had leased the large barn on the Riverdale farm to John J. Williams for the manufacture of fertilizer and a plot of land near the river to Frank Mack for picnic grounds. Edward W. Wise, Red Bank attorney, stated that he had drawn the leases. Mr. Ritzau admitted on cross examination that he had visited the farms almost daily but said he did not know of the existence of the stills.

The other defendants likewise denied any knowledge of the presence of the stills. Ziegler said he was employed as an electrician. It was Ziegler, agents testified, who was serving as look-out on the night of the raid, and who pulled the switch outside one of the barns that stopped the motors and apprised the men inside of the coming of the raiders.

Frederick M. Pearce of Metuchen represented Ritzau and Joseph Matice of Asbury Park was attorney for the others.

John J. Quinn For District Attorney

Senator A. Harry Moore Comes Out for Him and This is Believed to Assure His Appointment Within a Few Weeks.

According to a story issued yesterday by the Associated Press, John J. Quinn of Red Bank has the backing of Senator A. Harry Moore for the position of United States district attorney for New Jersey. The story infers that Mr. Quinn, who is on a vacation sojourn in Florida, will be appointed to the position within a few weeks. The article is as follows:

United States Senator A. Harry Moore was prepared today to press for the appointment of John J. Quinn of Red Bank as United States district attorney for New Jersey.

JOHN J. QUINN.

Senator Moore recommended Mr. Quinn's appointment yesterday and declared he would seek a conference with President Roosevelt at the earliest opportunity. The proposal came at eight o'clock. Commander Donald H. Hart of the American Veterans' association and a state representative of the American Legion will debate the prepayment of the adjusted compensation, commonly known as the bonus.

It is the hope of the veterans that everyone interested in these subjects will attend. There will be no admission charge to these affairs; the veterans only ask the attendance of the general public to encourage their organization to continue a program that concerns the committee of the American Legion would like the public to know that their hall is available for the discussion of subjects that have local, state or national appeal. The Freehold post sponsors a Girl Scout and Boy Scout troop, assists their less fortunate comrades in hospitals and helps destitute veterans and their families. It is their hope that the general public will come to know them better through using their home and attending these public meetings on subjects of concern to the taxpayers.

SODALITY TO HOLD DANCE.
The Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary at St. James's church of Red Bank will hold their annual dance on Friday evening, March 1, at St. James's auditorium. Today Hoyt's orchestra will provide the music. Prizes for the novelty dances will be awarded and refreshments will be served.

Charles Doerr's Dead Body Found

The Remains of East Keansburg
Youth, Who Perished Three Months Ago, Cast Up by the Sea at Sandy Hook Sunday.

The dead body of Charles Doerr, Jr., aged nineteen years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doerr of East Keansburg, was found Sunday by coast guardsmen on the ocean side beach at Sandy Hook. On November 30 Charles and William Markstein, aged twenty years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Markstein of East Keansburg, went duck hunting during windy and rainy weather in a canoe on Raritan bay.

When they did not return after several hours a search was started. The East Keansburg First Aid squad by coast guardsmen on the ocean side beach at Sandy Hook. On November 30 Charles and William Markstein, aged twenty years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Markstein of East Keansburg, went duck hunting during windy and rainy weather in a canoe on Raritan bay.

Two days later some of the members of the squad found the canoe at Staten Island. About two weeks afterwards the dead body of William Markstein was discovered encased in ice near Port Monmouth.

As time passed Mr. and Mrs. Doerr became satisfied that their son was dead and they gave up hope that the body would be recovered. The guardsmen who found the corpse were unacquainted with the youth and they took the body to John W. Flock's morgue at Long Branch. It was in a decomposed state and the only clothing that remained were the remnants of a pair of trousers and a pair of black silk socks. Laundry marks on the socks convinced Mr. and Mrs. Doerr that the body was that of their son. Besides his parents the youth is survived by a sister, Charles was born at Newark.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at half-past one o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Markstein, parents of the other young man who was drowned. The interment will be in Hollywood cemetery at Irvington, in charge of Undertaker Harvey Bedle of Keyport.

A short time ago Mr. Doerr gave a dinner for the First Aid squad of East Keansburg in appreciation of their efforts to find his son. At the conclusion of the feast he made a gift of $25 to the squad.

The Snow Mystery Still Unsolved

F. G. Jaudy's Question Unanswered—However, Mr. Jaudy Thinks That on the Whole
the Work Was Effective.

F. G. Jaudy, who is engaged in the automobile accessory business on Monmouth street, states that he has not received an answer to his question of who had charge of removing snow at Red Bank. He says he was told last week by Councilman Kenneth M. Weyck, chairman of the street committee, that the answer would be forthcoming if asked for at the next council meeting. Mr. Jaudy was primed to ask the question, but he did not ask Mr. Weyck when the next council meeting would be held. It took place Monday night. Mr. Jaudy not knowing this was not present and the answer to his question has not yet been given.

Last week a county daily newspaper quoted Mr. Jaudy as having criticized the manner in which snow removal work was done at Red Bank and as having said that "it is the old army game, just passing the buck." Mr. Jaudy states that no reporter of the newspaper in question interviewed him and that some of the remarks attributed to him by the newspaper are entirely without foundation, including the one about "passing the buck." He says he did try to find out without success who was in charge of the work and that he did find fault because Monmouth street was neglected. He feels that as a citizen and taxpayer he was entitled to definite information instead of receiving a "runaround."

On the other hand Mr. Jaudy states that he believes that on the whole the job of removing the snow was done at Red Bank at small expense to the taxpayers. He says the work was done much better here than in most other places, including the municipality where the daily newspaper in question is published and that it would behoove this publication to pay more attention to its own home town affairs instead of putting words in his mouth which he never uttered. He says that he has been informed that about 25 hours without rest to scrape and otherwise clear the streets of snow and without extra compensation and that too much credit cannot be accorded to them.

But he wants his question answered and he wants more attention paid to Monmouth street the next time there is a snowfall.

Veterans' Party At Globe Hotel

Everything All Ready for Festivities to Be Held Tonight by Vernon A. Brown Post—Turkey Dinner and Dancing.

Vernon A. Brown post of Veterans of Foreign Wars of Red Bank has completed preparations for its dinner and dance tonight at the Globe hotel. An elaborate repast will take place, with turkey as the principal dish. One of the features will be a period of speechmaking, during which the principal address will be made by Col. Harry C. Thomas, father of Lowell Thomas, the famous radio newscaster. His subject will be "George Washington and Military Events of Today." Other speakers will be John P. G. McPhee, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Red Bank, and Rabbi Arthur Hershorn.

J. Webster Linson, county commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be the toastmaster. After the dinner an entertainment and dance will be given. Music will be provided by the Kentucky Mountaineers. The sale of tickets has been limited and will discontinue after five o'clock this afternoon. Tickets may be bought at the Globe hotel or from Henry Sanders, commander of Vernon A. Brown post, at his garage on Broad street, Shrewsbury. The committee in charge of the event comprises James Kaufman, chairman, George Pettie, James Glendinning, Alfred Casten and David Tundalski.

BOCKBEERFEAST.

Special Brew Will Be Usher in Ceremoniously at Gus's Cafe.

A bockbeerfeast will be held at Gus's Silver Bar cafe at 26 West Front street Saturday night, March 2, at seven o'clock. The menu will consist of bockwurst and sauerkraut and roast turkey with the usual fixings. Music and entertainment will be provided. This will mark the opening of the bockbeer season in Red Bank. The sale of tickets has been limited to one hundred.

Mothers to Hold Card Party.

Drive Planned To Collect Taxes

Freeholders Must Meet Bond and Interest Charges of $550,000
by March 15—Conference to be Held Wednesday.

In as much as the county of Monmouth will have to meet bonds and interest charges amounting to more than $550,000 by March 15, a concerted drive will be made to secure some of the taxes now due to the county. Director Frederic P. Reichy announced at the meeting of the board of chosen freeholders Wednesday. He introduced the subject and urged that a conference of municipal officials and the board be held at the court house next Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Clerk Cole was directed to notify the municipal officials.

Director Reichy spoke briefly of the proposed county police radio system. His suggestion that a conference with the committee of police chiefs and board members be held at the court house on Wednesday morning at 10:00 o'clock, was approved by the board.

A number of funds received by County Purchasing Agent Smith were opened at the board meeting and awarded according to the agent's recommendations. The Atlantic Supply company of Red Bank was awarded the contract for both fuels—101,000 gallons of No. 2 furnace oil for the court house, and 250 tons of No. 1 buckwheat coal for use at the welfare home. Other bidders on the fuel oil and their quoted prices per gallon were as follows: Burns Brothers, Bradley Beach, 56¢; Hess, incorporated, Asbury Park, 55¢; but the bid was irregular because of insufficiency of certified check; Barron Petroleum company, Tennen, 55¢; Crew-Levick company, Philadelphia, 55¢; Sinclair Refining company of New York city, and the Warner-Quinn company of Long Branch both quoted prices which would fluctuate. The Atlantic Supply company bid 55¢ per gallon.

The Atlantic Supply company was also low on their bid of $450 per ton. The bid of the Hess, incorporated, was lower, $435 per ton, but like the Hess, which accompanied the oil bid, the certified check was not for the required amount, so the bid had to be rejected. John M. Laird, Tennen, was the only other bidder, at $464 per ton.

The settling of plans of the Greene avenue bridge at Brielle came a little closer on Wednesday, when a delegation from the municipality informed the board that the majority of the residents wanted the bridge repaired or replaced. There have been many arguments on the point. At various positions being presented to the board, both for the repair of the bridge and for its abolition. Even at the meeting on Wednesday all the representatives present were not agreed. Councilman Harold Hoffman presented the side for those who want the bridge maintained, and Edward J. Walsh, representing the Brielle realtors, spoke against keeping the bridge unless it is equipped with a draw or that it be given adequate clearance above high tide. Disputations of this kind in only the fact as to whether or not the people wanted the bridge continued, and finding that they did, the board would continue with the plans for its repair in accordance with the finances available. It was apparent that if Director Reichy had not definitely closed off Mr. Walsh, that the entire argument would have been resumed and reviewed at that time.

Three communications from Brielle on the bridge question preceded the verbal expressions of the same nature. Director Reichy referred the matter to the bridge department and County Engineer John P. Hogan. The board was complimented for the speedy and thorough way in which it cleared the highways following the recent snow storm, in two communications. One was from Charles R. Zacharias of Allenhurst, and the other from Walter P. Brown of Oakhurst. Director Reichy thought it very pleasant for the board to receive a compliment once in a while.

Public man for the freeholders, caused such a political furor at the last meeting, presented his resignation Wednesday and the board accepted it. He explained that he had secured a better position doing research work at Washington, and would leave for it on March 1.

A request from the township of Holmdel was granted, when the board adopted a resolution providing for the taking over of Arrowsmith Mill road and South Laurel avenue as county roads, subject to the approval of the State Highway department.

A resolution was adopted providing for the issuance of $550,000 in anticipation bonds, with details left in the hands of County Treasurer Naughton.

The session closed with the reading of the bills.

AUXILIARY MEETS.

Fire Women Plan For Bunco Party
At Relief House March 14.

The Women's auxiliary of the local fire department met Monday night at the Relief house on Drummond place and made plans for a bunco party to be held Thursday evening, March 14, at the Relief firehouse. Mrs. Gertrude Woodward is chairman of the affair and she will be assisted by Mrs. Fred Menden and Mrs. Minnie Oraberg.

Over twenty members of the auxiliary were present. Following the regular business session cards and buns were played after which refreshments were served.

HENRY GREEN'S TRIAL.

Red Bank Man's Fate Will Probably Be Decided Today.

The trial of Henry Green of Red Bank begun at Freehold Tuesday and it is still in progress. It is expected that it will be concluded today. Mr. Green is charged with having shot and killed his wife last fall. He claims that he shot her in self defense after she had wounded him. He was a hospital patient several weeks. The first grand jury which considered the case did not indict Mr. Green, but he was indicted by another jury later.

Mr. Green had been employed by the borough of Red Bank seven years, first with the street department and later at the sewage disposal plant. He had a good record prior to the shooting. Street Superintendent Robert Pierce, Ensign M. White and several other residents of Red Bank have testified as character witnesses in favor of Mr. Green.

Annual Every Member Canvass

Red Bank Methodists to Call Upon Their Members and Endeavor to Get More Church Activity.

The annual every member canvass of the Methodist church of Red Bank will be held Sunday afternoon, February 24, when everyone whose name appears on the church records will try to be reached in person by some group of canvassers, whose mission it will be to take the message of the church to each individual member.

According to an announcement it is desired that every member be a contributor with prayer, presence, gifts and service and an increased benevolent budget fulfilled.

According to the statement just made public, only 25 per cent of the members of the church are attending Sunday morning worship, eighteen per cent attend Sunday evening worship, 55 per cent attend the weekly prayer service and twenty per cent attend the church school. Only six per cent work in the church school. There will be an extra effort made to get not only an increased attendance, but also increased service in the church school, missionary groups and young people's groups. The budget of current expenses for the church has been made public and it will be necessary to raise $250 for the local church work with an additional $750 for the benevolent budget for world service.

Society Holds Annual Dinner

Ladies' Night of the Monmouth
County Horticultural Society
Last Night Was Attended by 130 Persons.

The 39th annual ladies' night and dinner of the Monmouth County Horticultural society was held last night at the Roosevelt Tea room at Little Silver and was attended by 130 persons. A turkey dinner was served during which short talks were given by members and guests. Harry A. Kettel was toastmaster. After the dinner, games and dancing were enjoyed, with Joseph Kennedy acting as master of ceremonies. Music was provided by Hackett's orchestra.

Happy and amusing reminiscences were related by some of the speakers who have been members of the society many years. Mr. Kettel and W. W. Kennedy, who are the only living charter members, recalled the early days of the organization. William Turner, who has been a member since 1901, told of the ten silver cups donated to the society by Bertam H. Borden of Rumson, in memory of his wife, Mrs. Mary Owen Borden. One cup is to be awarded each year to the person receiving the highest number of points at the society's annual show. The first cup was awarded last year.

Remarks were also made by Percy H. Hicks, president of the society; John Tanner, president of the Elberon Horticultural society; William Norman, president of the Monmouth-Elberon branch of the National Association of Gardeners; Rev. William Calvin Colby, pastor of the Rumson Presbyterian church; William McIntosh, William Porter, Michael Corbush, Frank Edgington, Harry Collins, L. B. Jones, Percy H. Radford, T. B. Nestler, William Williams, W. H. Waite, Charles Chamberlin and Ted Hastings. At the gathering were three generations of the Kennedy and Turner families, the grandfathers being W. W. Kennedy and William Turner.

The committee in charge of the arrangements was composed of Frank T. Edgington, chairman, John Dirake, Charles Bynes, Alex Perival, James Kennedy, Joseph Kennedy and Charles Rice.

DONATE RACING TROPHY.

Charles K. Straus, senior member of the Straus Company department store of Red Bank, has offered a trophy to the Monmouth ice boat club to be awarded to the boat owner whose craft makes the third best showing in this season's races.

Mr. Straus was a very close friend of the late James T. Clayton, who was vice commodore of the North Shrewsbury iceboat and yacht club and appreciating the deep interest Mr. Clayton had in ice yachting has prompted Mr. Straus to help encourage these younger skippers in their winter pastime.

Brotherhood Day Services Sunday

Jewish and Protestant Congregations to Unite in Holding Services at Baptist and Reformed Churches.

Brotherhood day will be observed by Christians and Jews in two Protestant churches this Sunday afternoon and evening. The first service will be held at three o'clock in the afternoon in the Baptist church. The other service will take place in the Reformed church at 7:30 o'clock. The day is being observed throughout the nation. It was inaugurated last year by the National conference of Christians and Jews. Rabbi Arthur Hershorn of Congregation B'nai Israel and Rev. W. Carmen Trembath, pastor of the Reformed church, led the movement in Red Bank last year. The object is to mobilize the forces of goodwill and to promote common effort on the part of religious groups to promote human welfare and good citizenship.

The speaker at the afternoon session in the Baptist church will be Rev. R. B. Hershorn of Asbury Park, a brother of the local rabbi. The program will be as follows:

Prayer.....Harold A. Laro
"Call to Worship".....Rev. R. B. Hershorn
Invocation.....Rev. W. C. Trembath
Hymn, "America, the Beautiful"
Responsive.....Rabbi Arthur Hershorn, leader
Choir selection.....Rev. A. L. Baner
Offering and doxology
Choir selection
Hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers"
Hymn, "O Beautiful My Country"
Benediction.....Rabbi R. B. Hershorn
Rabbi Hershorn of Red Bank and Rev. Mr. Trembath will address the meeting in the evening at the Reformed church. The rabbi will read passages from the Old Testament in Hebrew. John Zagala, violinist, will play the traditional Jewish melody, "Eli, Eli," and the senior choir will present an anthem, "The God of Abraham Veritas." Miss Pearl Ralph will be in charge of the musical program.

The only clue that Mr. Fix had was supplied by a chauffeur who is employed by the owner of an estate near the Reiman property. On the afternoon the crime took place the chauffeur saw an automobile parked in front of the Reiman place. The chauffeur noticed that the automobile had a license having four numbers, but he could not remember only the first three numbers. This was the only information which he could furnish to Officer Fix. The policeman got in touch with the motor vehicle department and made a copy of the license of every automobile having the three numbers in question.

Mr. Fix worked on the case day and night. He ran down many false leads and got out warrants for a number of searches which proved unavailing. In making the searches there were two things which the officer looked for particularly. One was a two-man saw and the other was a searchlight in such a bad state of repair that it would fall apart unless held in a certain manner. These were the only articles of small value taken by the thieves, and Mr. Fix believed that the guilty parties would keep them for their own use.

The clue of the three numbers plus other things led the officer to believe that it would be worth while to search William Leuck's house. Leuck is 41 years old. John Maletto, who lives with him, is nineteen. Maletto was married about a month ago. The search warrant was drawn up by Justice Meese at midnight Saturday. When Mr. Fix called on Maletto and Maletto of his purpose in coming to their home they expressed amazement and indignation. They said they were innocent and that it was outrageous to search their residence. The search was made nevertheless, and in the cellar Mr. Fix found evidence which convinced him that he was on the right track. Part of this evidence was a two-man wood saw, which was a flash light, a well apart from the officer pressed the button to turn the light on. Mr. Fix was unable to find the silverware, but he felt that the two things which he had found were sufficient to cause the arrest of Leuck and Maletto.

The two men were led off to the township jail at Campbell's Junction, protesting that they were innocent and that they would take court action to obtain damages for false arrest. They have been in the night jail. They gave information to the police authorities, as a result of which a large part of the booty was found hidden in the cellar of Leuck's house. Recorder Meese committed the two men to the county jail without bail.

Dance at Elks.
A dance will be given by the Red Bank Towners under the auspices of the Red Bank Athletic association at the Elks club on Broad street tomorrow night. Thomas Hackett and his orchestra will furnish music for dancing. Charles Bruno is chairman of the affair.

Correction.
The report that Fred Langendorf of Lincoft was fined on a charge of reckless driving as the result of an automobile accident at Freehold was not true. As a result of an investigation of the accident made by the police, Mr. Langendorf was found not guilty.

School Business In Middletown

State Inspector of Accounts Says Money Was Illegally Used to Make Payroll Payments—William A. Steinhilber Praised.

Payments of salaries to principals, teachers and janitors and of money due to bus contractors were made by the Middletown township board of education last Thursday night. The school employees are now paid up to January 15 and the bus men are paid up until February 1.

The board used $25,000 received from the state to make these payments. It received $6,000 from the township committee and took action to use this money to pay off defaulted obligations on bonds and interest. According to a report made by John S. Mount, state inspector of school accounts, such obligations are arrears since July 1, 1934, to $67,024. His report said that in the past money obtained from the township to the amount of $44,871.28 had been illegally used to meet payroll obligations when it should have been used for debt service purposes. Hereafter, if the recommendations of the report are carried out, no money from the township can be used for payroll until the arrears on bonds and interest has been paid in full.

Members present at the meeting were Mrs. Adeline Moffat, the president, Oliver Williams, Curtis J. Walling, John Spencer and Julian M. Parker. Mr. Mount's report about the board of education having used township money illegally to pay salaries and compensation due to bus contractors when such money should have been used for debt service brought on a discussion about a payment of $25,000 to the Teachers' Annuity and Pension fund last summer. This payment was authorized by Mrs. Moffat and she was subsequently severely criticized by a majority of the members of the board for this action on the ground that the money should have been used for payroll obligations. At that meeting, a motion was passed that the action in question was illegal.

Mrs. Moffat claimed at the time that this criticism was unjustified, and at the meeting Thursday night she pointed out that if debt service obligations had continued to have been paid this one for $35,000 was the board of education would not be subject to the criticism made by Mr. Mount. She expressed gratification over the fact that state school taxes had been paid in full. After every such payment the board of education receives from the state the equivalent of ninety per cent of the money paid. Money is saved by reason of interest not being charged on taxes in arrears.

Mr. Mount's comments with regard to money being used illegally to make payroll payments were as follows:

The financial condition of the district as far as receipts of district taxes and state school tax for current year is not good. A very large amount in current bills and debt service are still unpaid.

At the close of the school year, June 30, 1934, there was due from the township $44,871.28. This amount has now been received, but here are debt service payments in arrears of $67,024 since July 1. In other words the board has illegally diverted taxes certified for debt service to other accounts. $22,153 of such funds were used before July 1, 1934, and $44,871 since that date (less the amount of cash now in hand, $6,000.46). Your inspector insisted upon the district clerk placing to the credit of the bonds and interest account all of the tax arrears received since July 1, 1934, viz. $44,871.28.

Mr. Mount in his report praised William A. Steinhilber for the manner in which he is performing his duties as district clerk. His comments were as follows: "Mr. Steinhilber assumed office July 1, taking over the incomplete records and reports of his predecessor. He has done well in straightening out these matters, and is trying to follow the law in the performance of his duties. A few things are yet to be done to bring the records up to date. There is a tremendous amount to be done which includes the survey of maintenance, and the sure of the co-operation of the board and he will become an invaluable official."

Mr. Mount made the following statement with regard to the duties of Joseph Johnson as custodian of school money:

Custodian's record—This record is in the district clerk's office and no entries of expenditure made since September 5, 1934. The entries which have been made were evidently made by the district clerk. The entries of no value. The custodian is not complying with the law because of non-performance of his duties.

It is recommended that the custodian take his financial record to his own office and make or have made the entries to complete the work. It is further recommended that no further compensation be paid him until he completes his record and files monthly reports as prescribed by law. The bank report in his annual report to the board and the superintendent of schools as of June 30, 1934 was not correct. The actual cash balance of that date was not correct. It should have been $1,156.82 more. There was an error of $194.25 and the omission of the balance in the "CWA" account of $602.37. An entry for this amount was made on the District Clerk's record giving effect to a perfect reconciliation as of January 31, 1935.

Other salient features of Mr. Mount's report follow:

Minutes—The minutes are well written with marginal notes and an index in the making, but they are loaded with discussion that usually has no proper place in a record of proceedings. The board has recently required stenographic notes made of everything said in the meetings. The minutes of the last meeting require about a dozen pages. There are also several pages of pasted in newspaper clippings. Such clippings are decidedly no part of the proceedings of the board.

It is recommended that a scrap book be provided for such stuff and that the minute book be no longer used for such a purpose.

A minute file is being kept as suggested in the accounting directions. "Stuck Room"—This room is in good condition and delicate machinery ready on proper regulation. To make this feature complete a perpetual inventory is desirable.

Organization—The organization chart adopted by the board is wrong in that it places the district clerk under the supervision of the supervising principal.

Expenditures—Accounts—The confused condition in which certain internal accounts were found two years ago has been cleared up. The district clerk is handling the athletic funds and Miss Elizabeth Schnoor is treasurer of the other funds. She is bonded for $3,000.

Budget—Hereafter an account has been taken of state aid for charitable pupils ($45 per) which includes pupils residing on federal property (Sandy Hook). The amount to be received this year is $5,670 and the amount that will be due next year will be about the same, but no account was made of this in the 1935-6 budget.

Business Manager—Quoting from the minutes, Mr. Steinhilber was appointed district clerk and business manager. The law does not provide for a business manager in this type of district, therefore said title should not be used officially.

Accounting—The financial records up to June 30, 1934, are not complete, and the annual report does not agree with the records. No attempt was made by me to complete said records, yet this should be done. There were more—just how much is not yet determined, claims outstanding than were reported. All such must be recorded as costs for the current year.

The posting of the cash payments to the purchase order record has not been done this year. A number of other features desirable in a district of this size are being kept, including the check book, a good knowledge of business practice.

The bond register cannot be found. The clerk has compiled a card register of all outstanding bonds. Officials are properly bonded. Financial monthly reports are in conformance with law.

Books and supplies are not standardized.

Bids are advertised for only in part. Budget—Amount for regular school supplies for the year is $3,500. Contract awarded for $2,102.06. Requisitions are in for a possible $1,200 to $1,500 more, indicating original specifications were for only partial needs. No bids submitted for manual training or janitor supplies if minutes are complete. The budget for these two items are $3,000 and $1,000 respectively. It appears that too much has in the past been purchased in open market.

It is recommended that advertisement be made for bids on all supplies necessary for balance of school year.

Orders are issued by the district clerk and a check system used for supplies received. It is recommended that the triplicate orders used as a check sheet be attached to the respective claims for payment and for filing.

Insurance has recently been re-purchased and policies standardized, based on a recent reappraisal of insurable values.

Payroll Account—In September this account showed a free balance of 97 cents. This should be handled the same as the surplus in the Coupon account.

Payrolls are not being certified as required by law.

Flower Men Gather At Rumson

Monmouth County Society Holds Regular Meeting—Reports and Schedules Given for November Chrysanthemum Show

The Monmouth county horticultural society held its regular meeting last Thursday at their club rooms in Rumson. Percy Hicks, president, presided at the meeting. A report was given by the executive committee regarding the November chrysanthemum show, which will be staged on November 7. Schedules were given out at the meeting.

The committee on rules for monthly competition gave its report and divided competition into three classes: Class A, for 1,500 feet of glass and over; Class B, under 1,500 feet of glass; Class C, no green house at all. Each exhibitor must exhibit at least five times a year.

The ladies' night committee reported that there was so far 100 reservations for the dinner.

The judges for the evening's exhibit were Joseph Kennedy, Fred Piper and William H. Waite. The scoring was as follows:

Presidents: Golden Daffodil, ninety points, judged by Charles Rice; freebie, Ruth Chatterton, 95 points, judged by Charles Rice; Ranunculus, eighty points, judged by Percy Hicks; stocks, Brail's Column, 95 points, judged by Percy Hicks; narcissus, King Alfred, 65 points, judged by Percy Hicks; and narcissus, King Alfred, judged by James Kennedy, 95 points.

The general comments on the exhibit for the evening were that they were among the finest and most perfect blooms that have been staged in some time.

Fred Piper of Livingston, who is with W. A. Maude, presented a very interesting talk on chrysanthemum culture.

W. W. Kennedy, Sr., who has just celebrated his 83rd birthday, and who is a life member of the society, was present, as was Harry Kettel, a member for forty years.

From all indications the coming flower show next September will be quite an elaborate affair as there is quite some interest brewing at this time.

William H. Waite of Eatontown, who is an authority on dahlias, will be the speaker at the next meeting of the horticultural society, which will be held on March 14.

FELL THROUGH ICE.

Two Local Boys Get Soaked As Boat Breaks Through Weak Ice.

Two local boys escaped injuries or possible death Tuesday morning while sailing along the north Shrewsbury river in their home-made ice boat when their craft suddenly plunged through weak ice.

The boys, Eugene Patterson, Jr., of Linden place and Harry Boskey, Jr., of Whitley street, climbed to safety. Outside of a soaking they suffered no other ill effects.

Education Board Member 29 Years

Joseph W. Thompson Will Have Rounded Out That Number of Years of Service for Middletown Township in April.

Twenty-nine years of free public service as a member of the Middletown township board of education. That is the record which Joseph W. Thompson of Linden place, Eatontown, will have in his term next April. He was not a candidate for re-election to the board last week, declining to run on the ground that he had done his bit and that it was up to others to carry on. Only a few other members of Monmouth county boards of education have as long a record of continuous service.

JOSEPH W. THOMPSON.

Mr. Thompson was in a reminiscent mood last week when he talked over his school board experiences with a Register reporter. He was first elected in 1906 to fill the unexpired term of his father, the late William H. Thompson. It was only a few years prior to that time that the board of education was instituted to function as it does today. In those bygone times before Joseph W. Thompson was elected Middletown township had no board of education. Instead there were school trustees, three for each district where a schoolhouse was located.

It is difficult for young people to realize how different the schools of that period were from those of today. Those were the days of the "little old red schoolhouse." Every village and almost every little hamlet and crossroads settlement had a school. There were more schoolhouses in Middletown township then than is the case now. Every district was mapped and the people of each section elected three trustees to run their school. No transportation was provided at public expense.

The public school system was just beginning to change from the "little old red schoolhouse" era when Mr. Thompson first took office. At that time the late Thomas Wilson of Port Monmouth was president of the board. The late "Squire" Henry Taylor of Middletown village was secretary of the board and most of the meetings were held at his home. At that time the board of education had six members. In addition to Mr. Thompson, Mr. Taylor and Mr. Wilson they were Dr. William Patterson of Chapel Hill, Albert Runyon of Belford and Edwin Maxson of Navesink.

The meetings seldom lasted more than a few minutes, said Mr. Thompson in his talk with the reporter. Mr. Wilson was always in a hurry to get through. He was a road overseer and he wanted to get the meetings over quick so that he could get back at work on the roads. He impressed me as an able and conscientious public servant."

In 1907 the late Melvin A. Rice of Leonardo and William Hop of Belford were members of the board of education. Mr. Wilson was defeated. Mr. Rice is the father of Irving Rupp, who for fifteen years has been a member of the board and who succeeded his father.

Mr. Thompson had his first experience against opposition in 1908 when he ran for re-election. The election was held at Belford and approximately 1,000 votes were cast. Middletown township had a much smaller population than present and only men could vote. The number of ballots cast comprised a much larger percentage of those eligible to vote than any school election which has since been held. Mr. Thompson received more votes than any other candidate. He has always proved invincible at school elections. Usually he has been unopposed.

When Mr. Thompson first became a member of the board of education, the entire annual cost of running the schools of the township was less than $20,000. "How different that seems from today," said Mr. Thompson in talking with the reporter.

Mr. Thompson said that credit for modernizing the school system of the township was due to Mr. Rice more than to any other single individual. "I came to the school time and not had an objection, that country boys were hard to deal with he would have made out all right here."

At one time there was trouble at the school because of a disagreement between a woman teacher and a woman janitor. The teacher and the janitor wrote derogatory remarks about each other on the blackboard after school was closed. Mr. Thompson, while planting or cultivating his crops, frequently received notes worded "come to the school time and not had an objection, that country boys were hard to deal with he would have made out all right here."

Mr. Thompson enjoys good health and looks younger than many persons less than his years. He takes a keen interest in school affairs and is proud of the record made by the Middletown school system. The Register reporter who interviewed him thought that he recalled with special gratification the part that he took with Melvin A. Rice and Lewis S. Thompson and other public-spirited citizens in reorganizing and modernizing the township school system.

though not related, were warm friends and intensely interested in school work.

Everything about the development of the township school system did not go so smoothly as the initial proposal to build new schoolhouses at Middletown village, Lincroft and Belford. Hot elections took place with regard to building schoolhouses at other places and also with regard to the election of school board members. They were attended with varied results, sometimes one side and sometimes another side winning. Throughout all this turmoil Joseph W. Thompson was a staunch champion of Mr. Rice. In the end the entire reorganization of the school system was effected.

"One of Mr. Rice's greatest abilities was that of converting enemies into friends," said Mr. Thompson in his talk with the reporter. "I have seen his entire ticket defeated," he continued, "but within a year or so the members who were elected to oppose him were the strongest advocates of carrying out his policies. I have never met anyone else who had this quality to such a great degree."

The high school was built at Leonardo and bus transportation came into vogue. At first this transportation was of the horse drawn type and the contractors received $2.00 per day, yet this should be done. There were more—just how much is not yet determined, claims outstanding than were reported. All such must be recorded as costs for the current year.

The posting of the cash payments to the purchase order record has not been done this year. A number of other features desirable in a district of this size are being kept, including the check book, a good knowledge of business practice.

St. James Church Lenten Services

Blessing of Ashes on Ash Wednesday, March 6—Services on Sundays, Wednesdays and Fridays—Pre-Lenten Events.

Special Lenten services will begin on Ash Wednesday, March 6, at St. James' church. Before the eight o'clock mass the blessing of ashes will take place. The ashes will be distributed in the afternoon at half past two o'clock for the convenience of school children and others who find it impossible to attend mass or the evening service. The service in the evening at eight o'clock will consist of the Rosary, a sermon appropriate for the occasion, benediction and distribution of ashes.

During Lent there will be services Sunday, Wednesday and Friday evening. The Sunday evening service will consist of the holy hour of adoration and benediction. Stations of the Cross will be given Friday evenings at eight and Friday afternoons at half past two o'clock. This devotion is one of the most characteristic of Lenten devotions. At the Wednesday evening services the "Question Box" will be answered. Parishioners are invited to place in the question box questions on doctrine or practice which they wish explained.

Plans are under way for two pre-Lenten social events. The first is the annual social of the Young Ladies' sodality on Friday evening, March 1, in the Catholic high school auditorium. Misses Regina Ansbro and Rose Marks are in general charge and are assisted by Misses Catherine Gray, Helen Curley, Dorothy O'Brien, Bernadette Emmons, Margaret Curley, Monica Emmons, Mary DeMarla, Mary Gause, Mary Herden, Anna Mae Lang, Virginia Laurino, Mary Morris, Amelia Marks, Catherine Morris, Tillie Nestler, Loretta Sample, Margaret Salmon, Mary Relas and Loretta Valentine.

The other event is a sauer kraut supper on Tuesday evening, February 25, the eve of Ash Wednesday. It will be given in the high school auditorium under the direction of the Rosary society. The day before Ash Wednesday is known as Shrove Tuesday and in European countries is a day traditional for its "big meal" before Lent begins.

The supper menu will consist of roast pork, sauer kraut and all its trimmings. The process will be used to procure new vestments and requisites for the altar in St. James' church. Mrs. Lawrence Roche is chairman of the supper committee.

Elks Auxiliary Holds Card Benefit

One hundred and fifty persons attended a card party given Monday night by the ladies' auxiliary of the Elks lodge for the benefit of the Elks' fund. The party was given at the parlors of the Elks lodge. The Elks lodge is a well-known institution in the community. The ladies' auxiliary is a group of women who are active in the lodge's affairs. The card party was a success and the Elks lodge is grateful to the ladies' auxiliary for their efforts.

The new teacher arrived at the Red Bank depot by train and Mr. Thompson was there to meet him with his horse and wagon. "The minute that I saw him I felt he wouldn't do," said Mr. Thompson in talking with the reporter. He started off by saying that he was afraid he would not make a success of his job. The country boys were rough and unruly and that he would be unable to control them.

"I tried to reassure him. I told him that no teacher had had trouble with the boys and that I felt sure he would have no trouble."

Mr. Thompson's forebodings about the teacher proved justified. The new schoolmaster lasted less than half a day. He opened school by telling the pupils that he expected explicit obedience to the rules. A short time later one of the boys got into trouble because of trivial infraction. The new principal attempted to punish the boy. He wrestled him around the floor, tearing his coat among other things. The boy was big and husky. He fought back, but the principal was too much for him and eventually he got the best of him. The victory the principal left the pupils angry by leaving the room and never returning.

Straight from the schoolhouse he walked to Mr. Thompson's home, packed up his belongings and left. "I am through, I am through, I can never get along here," he said when Mr. Thompson asked him why he was leaving. "I learned afterward that he proved very successful later as a teacher at a city school," said Mr. Thompson in his talk with the reporter. "Under the school time and not had an objection, that country boys were hard to deal with he would have made out all right here."

At one time there was trouble at the school because of a disagreement between a woman teacher and a woman janitor. The teacher and the janitor wrote derogatory remarks about each other on the blackboard after school was closed. Mr. Thompson, while planting or cultivating his crops, frequently received notes worded "come to the school time and not had an objection, that country boys were hard to deal with he would have made out all right here."

CHRISTENING PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Calandriello Hold Party Following Christenings.

Gertrude Calandriello, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Calandriello of Linden place, was christened Sunday afternoon by Rev. Joseph Donnelly at the St. James' church.

Following the christening Mr. and Mrs. Calandriello entertained a number of friends and relatives in celebration. Singing and dancing were enjoyed after which refreshments were served.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Calandriello and children, Mr. and Mrs. Vito Calandriello and family, Patrick Calandriello and Miss Ann Calandriello of Red Bank, Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Calandriello of Shrewsbury, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mazza of Eatontown, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Giambrone of Long Branch, Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Ludwig and Max Ludwig of Staten Island.

Boys can make extra pocket money by advertising in the Register's advertising columns.

PROTECTS PUBLIC.

Mutual Grocery Store Replaces Rotted Window Frames.

For the protection of the public Manager Elmer E. Smith, Jr., of the local Mutual grocery store on Broad street, has recommended to his authorities that new frames in his show windows be replaced for the old rotted wooden frames formerly holding the windows.

Mr. Smith in an acknowledgment was permitted to have new frames replaced and at the present time work is under way. Two large metal window frames are being installed and Mr. Smith feels more certain now that there will be no casualties.

Church Violator On Trial Sunday

Lester Whitfield to Be Tried for Violation of Church Obligations—S. B. Tuthill to Preside as Judge.

One of the most sensational trials ever to be brought up before a church congregation will be staged at the Methodist church at Eatontown Sunday night, February 24, at which time Lester Whitfield, a member of the church, will be brought to trial for violation of the church obligations.

As to whether Mr. Whitfield will be convicted or acquitted lies in the hands of S. B. Tuthill, vice president of the First National Bank of Eatontown, who will preside as judge, and his jury. Subpoenas for jury duty are being sent out to a panel of more than two hundred members and friends of the church who have been holding rehearsals for the past week for this most interesting mock trial.

Rev. Louis M. Case, pastor of the church, will be the prosecutor and Professor Fred G. Steelman, supervisor of the Eatontown schools, will head the counsel for the defense. Daniel S. Morris, Long Branch District Manager for Swift and company, holds the position of court clerk. Court attendants are Misses Isabelle Kenna and Clara Roberts.

Witnesses called for the prosecution are Mrs. Fred G. Steelman, Miss Mary Dennis and Albert Smith. The defense will present Harry Dennis, John T. Bateman and Clara Roberts.

The charge on which the "prisoner" will be tried is the violation of Paragraph 517 in the Book of Discipline in which the church member "promises to be loyal to the church and uphold it by my prayers, my presence, my gifts and my service."

The entire procedure will be a presentation of the duties and obligations incumbent upon church membership. It will abound in humor yet touch the depths of human emotions in its portrayal of the weakness and indifference of many in the church.

This religious mock-trial will introduce a series of special services of inspiration and culture planned to coordinate religion and good citizenship. The trial will emphasize the duty of the average citizen to his church and community. The prisoners will offer as his defense many of the well-known excuses for failure to fulfill the obligations incumbent upon the good citizen and church-goer. The prosecution will endeavor to demonstrate the futility of successful community life except through a universal loyalty to religion and the church.

Court of church relations have distributed a number of subpoenas signed by the official board and Rev. Louis M. Case, pastor.

The Long Branch entry Imp got off to a wonderful start and, for a few minutes, it seemed to the on-lookers that it was all over but the shouting for the Long Branch aggregation. But it was not long before the victors saw their boats being overtaken by the Red Bank craft, and after a real shipwreck contest the Pirate, with Captain Fisher at the helm and Dorian Allaire at the sheet, romped home an easy victor by the fast time of 54 minutes. The Eskimo, sailed by Ex-Mayor William H. R. White, with Oscar Brand as sheet tender, finished a minute and 45 seconds behind her sister craft. The Long Branch entries did not fare so well in the event. The Snow Flake, crossing the finish line two minutes and the second behind the winner. The Imp was forced to withdraw on account of being overturned. The Snow Flake was sailed by Homer Selder and Everett Gillingham, and the Imp by F. Bliss Price and William Duryea.

Beta Beta Nu Club Organized

The newly organized Beta Beta Nu card club of Sea Bright held its second session Friday night at the home of Mrs. Edward Brown on Ocean avenue. The club will meet Friday nights at the homes of the members. Officers chosen were Mrs. Philip MacAdams, president, Mrs. Thomas Farrell vice president, Mrs. Edward A. Brown treasurer and Mrs. Edward Hess secretary.

The members are Mr. and Mrs. Philip MacAdams, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Farrell, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rossbach, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. John Foreblade, Mrs. Amelia Costello, Al Anderson, Mrs. E. deValley, James Hamilton, Mrs. Ethel Johnston, Gus Hansen, Mrs. Josephine McLaughlin, Ben Brady, Miss Josephine Hess and Miss Alvina Hess.

Tomorrow night's meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hess.

TO ASSIST POOR.

At the adjourned meeting of the Eatontown mayor and council Friday night the governing body after a long session with Charles Riddle, overseer of the poor, announced that an agreement had been arrived at and the citizens who were dependent upon the borough for help would be given more consideration and more funds would be provided in accordance with the size of the families.

It was announced that the PWA funds would be available shortly and work given those in need. The council had agreed, the mayor said, that the Emergency Relief Administration would not be appealed to as was the case last year and which worked out disastrously, and they have since decided to handle the poor relief through the borough's overseer.

The confirmation of a liquor license to Joseph Tomlinson and Wilbur C. Gardner for the Roadside Inn on the Neptune highway was made.

Men's Meeting Tonight.

At the February meeting of the newly organized Men's association of the Red Bank Methodist church, which will be held tonight, Thomas Irving Brown, publisher of The Red Bank Register, will be the speaker. The interest shown in this new organization of the church and the gratifyingly enlarged the group promises to soon add one more to the several active organizations of the church.

Nip And Tuck In Ice Yacht Series

Red Bank and Long Branch Clubs Each Have a Leg on America's Championship Pennant—Bad Sailing Conditions

The ice yacht races for the championship pennant of America for Class A yachts are under way. They are being held here at Red Bank and the winner of two races will decide the famous event. As it stands now it is a leg and leg with the Red Bank and the Long Branch clubs anxiously awaiting the next start to decide the contest, each club having captured a race in the three-race series.

The pennant, which is held by the North Shrewsbury Ice Boat and Yacht club of Red Bank, was successfully defended last year by the new Marconi rigged yacht Pirate, sailed by Delford M. Fisher. She and her sister yacht Eskimo, both owned by George Gilling and George Ruppert, are the defending boats this season.

The challengers from the Long Branch Ice Boat and Yacht club are Vice Commodore F. Bliss Price's Snow Flake and Captain Elmer E. Smith's Imp.

The initial event of the series was started last Thursday morning under sailing conditions that made it impossible to finish the race of twenty miles, eight times around a triangular course of two and one-half miles. In an hour and fifteen minutes, Commodore Augustus M. Minton of the Red Bank club and his regatta committee started the race, and after three laps had been sailed they saw that it would be impossible to sail the race within the prescribed time limit and the race was called off with the Long Branch entry, the Imp, leading the local defenders, which were well astern.

A heavy rain began during the race, which seemed to harden the surface for a time, and although a race was not expected to be sailed in the afternoon, the Long Branch boys, by virtue of the wonderful showing their craft made in the morning thought they had things to say. They were backed up by Commodore Minton to call a race during the afternoon.

The Commodore complied with their request in a real sportsman-like manner and sent the boats to the line in a dreaching rain and a stiff wind.

The Long Branch entry Imp got off to a wonderful start and, for a few minutes, it seemed to the on-lookers that it was all over but the shouting for the Long Branch aggregation. But it was not long before the victors saw their boats being overtaken by the Red Bank craft, and after a real shipwreck contest the Pirate, with Captain Fisher at the helm and Dorian Allaire at the sheet, romped home an easy victor by the fast time of 54 minutes. The Eskimo, sailed by Ex-Mayor William H. R. White, with Oscar Brand as sheet tender, finished a minute and 45 seconds behind her sister craft. The Long Branch entries did not fare so well in the event. The Snow Flake, crossing the finish line two minutes and the second behind the winner. The Imp was forced to withdraw on account of being overturned. The Snow Flake was sailed by Homer Selder and Everett Gillingham, and the Imp by F. Bliss Price and William Duryea.

The rain and mild weather caused the boys to lay off racing from Thursday afternoon until Monday afternoon when, after a quick freeze the night before and with stiff gale from the west, the boys and their craft were called to the line for the second race of the series, and it was a thriller. Probably no race ever held here, with the possible exception of one of the races last year with the Rumson Country club boats, has given the skippers and the spectators such excitement.

From the very start it was seen that the boat with the best luck would take the race. The boats all went to the line under full canvas and it was surely a test of real nerve under the conditions at the start.

The boats got off to a fast start and as they passed away it was immediately seen that each skipper would have his hands full keeping his boat on the wind and it was just so, for they had a mighty hard time of it making the mile and a quarter to the first turning stake. The Pirate and the Eskimo seemed to like the going best and they made a quick getaway. The Imp had no more than started when she began to slip and took a merrymaking which smothered the edges of her runners before she had gone 200 yards. The Snow Flake did likewise a short time thereafter. The Pirate took the lead at the first turning stake, and the Red Bank boys thought that the pennant was in the bag. The Pirate open the gap and was away out in front at the home stake on the turn for the third lap of the twenty-mile journey. This favored her a lot, although in a short distance from the home stake the Pirate was overtaken by the Eskimo and she was stuck and overturned. As the rules state that a boat must be righted by her crew, it was almost a physical impossibility to right her in time to continue and she was withdrawn, with victory almost in her grasp.

In the mean time the Eskimo was having her own trouble and she was stopped and a reef was taken in her main sheet. This favored her a lot, although in a short distance from the home stake the Pirate was overtaken by the Eskimo and she was stuck and overturned. As the rules state that a boat must be righted by her crew, it was almost a physical impossibility to right her in time to continue and she was withdrawn, with victory almost in her grasp.

It was announced that the PWA funds would be available shortly and work given those in need. The council had agreed, the mayor said, that the Emergency Relief Administration would not be appealed to as was the case last year and which worked out disastrously, and they have since decided to handle the poor

Church

Every member canvass day will be observed Sunday by the Methodist church. Seventy members of the congregation will visit the entire membership of the church at local and distant budgets for the term beginning on the first of March.

A workers' supper, at which the members will be assigned to specific districts and given further instructions, will be held tomorrow night at 6:30 o'clock at the church.

The subject of the sermon to be given by the pastor, Rev. Albert L. Banner, at the morning service this Sunday will be "Loyalty to Jesus and the Church." At the evening session the pastor will preach on the theme, "A Design for Living." The music for the day will be in charge of Mrs. Theresa Willey. The senior and junior choirs will sing at both services.

Other meetings in the morning include a class session at nine o'clock and Sunday-school at 9:45 o'clock. The Epworth league will hold a devotional meeting for young people at seven o'clock at night.

F. Howard Lloyd, editor of The Standard and former superintendent of schools in Middletown township, will address members of the Men's club of the Reformed church at a dinner meeting to be held tomorrow night.

His address will be devoted to the life of George Washington. There will be a program of music and motion pictures will be shown.

The Men's Bible class will meet at 9:30 o'clock on Sunday morning to discuss the subject, "The Political and Religious Problems of Jesus' Time." The pastor, W. Carmen Trembath, is the teacher. The regular morning service will be held at 10:40 o'clock.

The final sermon in the series, "The Present Outlook of the Gospel," will be given at the morning service at eleven o'clock in the Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. Edward W. Miller. The guest speaker at the evening service at 7:30 o'clock will be Dr. Randolph Howard, former president of Judson college at Rangoon, Burma, India.

The Men's league will meet Monday night at eight o'clock at the church to make plans for the annual church dinner to be given on Thursday, March 28.

The Philathea society served a covered dish luncheon Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. May Hugg, Mrs. Eugene Magee, Mrs. Joseph Harrison and Mrs. Meyer.

The monthly meeting of the Baptist church will be held on Wednesday night of next week. The budget for the new church term will be submitted for discussion.

"Christ and a Demoniac" will be the subject of the sermon to be given in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning by the pastor, Rev. John A. Hayes. In the evening he will preach on the theme, "The Value of Vision."

Eighty persons attended the fellowship supper last night. Robert Worden gave several saxophone solos. The devotional service was led by Rev. Mr. Hayes. The supper was served by the Women's Missionary society with Mrs. John B. Allen as chairman.

"Mind" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 24.

The Golden Text is: "Behold, the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom; and to depart from evil is understanding" (Job 28:28).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty; for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou shalt exalt thy head above all" (I Chronicles 29:11).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We lost the high significance of omnipotence, when after admitting that God, or good, is omnipresent and has all-power, we still believe there is another power, named evil" (p. 460).

Pleasing Program At Men's Forum

Dr. Otto Nathan Spoke Here Last Sunday—Dr. D. C. Cline Will Speak Next Sunday—Both Princeton Men.

The address by Dr. D. C. Cline of Princeton university on "Taxation Reform in New Jersey," which was to have been given before the Men's Forum of Red Bank last Sunday was postponed until Sunday, February 24, in order that the Forum might hear Dr. Otto Nathan, also of Princeton, last Sunday. Dr. Cline's subject for next Sunday is a most timely one as the question of new forms of taxation in New Jersey is now before our state legislature. It is not known what position Dr. Cline takes on the sales tax and other forms of new taxation which are now being discussed but it is known that Dr. Cline is thoroughly posted on the problem of taxation. Dr. Cline is a member of the Department of Economics of Princeton university, had a large part in the preparation and publication of the Princeton Survey and has recently issued a small pamphlet on "Executive control over state expenditures in New Jersey." Such a lively topic as Dr. Cline will present is expected to draw a good attendance next Sunday.

Those present at the Men's Forum last Sunday afternoon enjoyed a special treat as they listened to Dr. Otto Nathan, formerly advisor to the German Government on economic problems and now Professor of Economics of Princeton university. Dr. Nathan's subject was "Problems of World Recovery." He began by saying that we cannot formulate the problems of recovery until we accept at least three fundamental truths regarding world economic problems. The first of these is the fact which experience has proven namely, that economics and politics are closely connected. It was Dr. Nathan's belief that most of the monetary steps taken by the present administration were taken for political reasons as much as for economic ones. If economic problems could be completely separated from political ones, steps toward world recovery might be simpler but we have to realize that this cannot be done. The second fact which must be taken into consideration is that economics is speaking the world is one unit. It is impossible for one nation to recover while other nations struggle in the midst of depression. In the third place it must be admitted as a fact that up to the present no unified international action to fight the depression has been taken. Without such international action upon the problem recovery will be greatly delayed.

Dr. Nathan went on to state three steps which he felt must be taken in order to secure international recovery. In the first place the nations must somehow achieve a stable international currency exchange. The present situation with some countries on gold and some of it entirely unsatisfactory and will delay recovery. Dr. Nathan laid great stress upon this point. The second step towards recovery would be the restoration of international trade through the withdrawal of quotas and the lowering of tariffs. Dr. Nathan didn't belittle the difficulties in this realm but insisted that world recovery was not possible without the restoration of the international exchange of goods. The last step that Dr. Nathan insisted upon was that serious attempts must be made to secure greater economic stability and thus to do away with business cycles. Dr. Nathan didn't have time to suggest in detail the steps that should be taken to accomplish this last object but he did seem to feel that there were ways whereby greater security could be attained.

At the close of Dr. Nathan's talk several questions were asked which were answered with great clearness and brevity. All those present expressed a desire that Dr. Nathan return again to Red Bank in order that the same subject might be discussed at greater length.

Weddings.

White—Beadleston.

The wedding of Miss Sylvia Lawrence White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loomis Lawrence White of Sycamore Farm, Shrewsbury, to Alfred Nash Beadleston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julian McCarty Little of Rumson and the late Alfred Nash Beadleston, took place Saturday afternoon at St. George's Episcopal church at Rumson. Owing to the death last autumn of the bridegroom's stepfather the ceremony was a private affair and was attended only by relatives and intimate friends.

Rev. Albert Wilson of Greenwich, Connecticut, a former rector of St. George's, officiated. The bride was attired in a gown of cream satin with a rose point lace collar. Her tulle veil was arranged with a rose point cap and she carried white orchids, lilies of the valley and white freesias.

Attendants to the bride were Mrs. James O'Gorman, matron of honor; Miss Laura Nelson, maid of honor; and Mrs. Bayard Stout and Misses Rosalie and Noel Nelson, Mary Reed, Christine Knapp and Anna Richardson. They were dressed alike in gowns of tulle, made in V-neck jacket effect with full puffed sleeves, the full skirts ending in a short flared train. They also wore wide-brimmed Schiaparelli hats turned up in front.

The best man was Barclay Cook of Paterson and the ushers were William and Lawrence White, J. Hartley Mellick, Edward P. Moore and Ogden Hammond of New York. After their wedding trip the couple will live on Hance road, Fair Haven.

A granddaddy and the late Mr. and Mrs. William S. Fanshawe, the bride made her debut two seasons ago. Mrs. Fanshawe, her maternal grandmother, was Miss Jessie, Jerome of the noted Jerome family. On her father's side she is a granddaughter of Mrs. M. Lawrence Keene and the late Frank White, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Loomis White. The bride attended Miss Chapin's school in New York and the Shipley school at Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania.

Mr. Beadleston's grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Ebenezer Beadleston and the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clark Hazard. He attended St. Paul's school and was graduated from Yale university. He is a member of Rumson Country club, Racquet and Tennis and Yale clubs.

Meglio—Romano.

Miss Fannie Meglio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Meglio of Holmdel, and Joseph Romano of Brooklyn were married Saturday afternoon at St. Joseph's church at Keyport by Rev. John P. Burke. Miss Rose Meglio, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Misses Anna Meglio, Josephine Alaisco, Mary Calise, Grace Lucarelli, Edith Fenell and Theresa Deandio. Dominick Lubrano was best man. Theresa Nespoli, a niece of the bride, was flower girl and Anthony Meglio, a cousin of the bride, was page.

The bride wore a costume of white lace, with a picture hat to match, and she carried calla lilies and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was gowned in a costume of blue lace and she carried tea roses.

After the ceremony a largely attended reception was held at the Barton hall room at Perth Amboy. The bride received many fine gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Romano are spending their honeymoon in Connecticut. They will start housekeeping in a new bungalow near Holmdel on the Matawan-Freehold road.

Schanck—Lambertson.

Miss Helen Hunt Lambertson, daughter of Mrs. Mary D. Lambertson of Freehold, became the bride of William G. Schanck, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Schanck of Colts Neck Sunday afternoon, February 10, in a ceremony performed at the bride's home by the Rev. F. A. Langwith of Colts Neck. Miss Frances Lambertson and David S. Lambertson, Jr., sister and brother of the bride, were attendants.

The bride wore an aquamarine crepe dress and a corsage of sweet peas. The maid of honor was attired in a beige crepe dress with a corsage of sweet peas.

After the ceremony a supper was served to the members of the immediate families.

The young couple have started housekeeping at Red Bank, where the bride is employed in the business office of the New Jersey Bell Telephone company. The groom is employed by the Second National Bank and Trust company at Red Bank. Mr. and Mrs. Schanck are living on Branch avenue.

High Honors Won By Local Kennel

Mrs. Florence B. Ilich Acclaimed Outstanding Breeder of Collies in America Following Sensational Wins Last Week.

To a Red Bank woman, Mrs. Florence B. Ilich, owner of Bellhaven kennels at Locust avenue on the Shrewsbury river at Red Bank, goes the distinction of having wrested from the late J. Pierpont Morgan the title of outstanding breeder of collies in America.

The unofficial title of collie breeding monarch was bestowed upon her by dog experts and newspapermen following her sensational conquests at the Westminster Kennel club's fifty-ninth show at Madison Square Garden in New York last week. Mrs. Ilich won nineteen awards.

Arthur E. Patterson, writing for The Herald-Tribune, declared that "not even the famed dogs of Cragston ever matched what Mrs. Ilich's beautifully-coated, hard-boned and grand-moving prize winners did on the next to final day of the show. Almost 100 per cent dominance of this popular breed was here when Dr. Henry Jarrett handed out the last blue ribbon, the nineteenth to the New Jersey breeder for the show.

"Few records," the article continues, "have been left untouched by Mrs. Ilich. In a dozen Westminster shows she has sent up the best of breed winner ten times. Twice she has had the working dog group victor. And her greatest accomplishment of all was the unprecedented feat of piloting a puppy through its classes to best in show in the 1928 Westminster—the unforgettable triumph of Champion Laund Loyalty of Bellhaven.

"What is the story behind this woman? Is it one of courage and genius or is it one of money and luck? The former is more applicable to the case. Mrs. Ilich had no such income to call upon as had the master of Cragston in his heyday as the premier collie breeder. Still, with the limited resources, she had available, she bought England's best, showing rare judgment and great nerve. And she triumphed with that start and has known only two years of even partial defeat.

"One of the chief reasons for Mrs. Ilich's success," the article goes on, "is her handler, Mike Kennedy, who has no peer in the handling of these long-coated shepherds. When Bellhaven Black Lucason went up for best of breed, it was the fifteenth such Westminster triumph for Kennedy, he having won five before he joined the Bellhaven system.

The story of Mrs. Ilich's success is taken up by Nan O'Reilly in the New York Journal, who states that "more than two decades ago an attractive girl named Florence Bell lived in the exclusive Park slope section of Brooklyn. She owned a pet collie which was her constant companion.

"Today Mrs. Florence Bell Ilich of Red Bank, New Jersey, ranks as the outstanding breeder of collies in the country. She made a clean sweep at the Madison Square Garden show, winning no less than nineteen ribbons, topped by a grand champion rosette.

"Mrs. Ilich owns Bellhaven, located on the Shrewsbury, where the kennels practically overhang the water. And it is to this location, with its resulting moisture, that the former Brooklyn belle (no pun!) attributes a great deal of her success with collies famous for their coats.

"It is a paying proposition, this dog breeding," at least Mrs. Ilich found it so since 1922, for it has enabled her to put two sons through college, one Princeton and the other Yale. Her family is a real doggy clan, as her sons and her young daughter are just as interested in the kennels as she is.

"Her most famous champion was Lucason of Ashland of Bellhaven, now here for exhibition purposes only. She owned the only collie that ever won best of show in 1929—Laund Loyalty of Bellhaven—when he was less than a year old.

"That was the time when one of the meanest tricks in the world was played on Mrs. Ilich for on the final night of the show she received a telegram saying her son had been killed in an accident. The wire was a phony, apparently the brilliant idea of some one who was jealous of her success."

A great deal of space has been devoted in the metropolitan press to Mrs. Ilich and Red Bank. One paper stated that "unquestionably the most striking event of the show was the phenomenal string of victories secured by Bellhaven kennels in collies. This fancier," the story continues, "often has monopolized the major awards in this breed, but never did she take so many places as was awarded to the grand string of 22 collies that she put into competition."

A summary of Mrs. Ilich's wins follows:

Working dogs—Champion Bellhaven Black Lucason, first.
Best brace—Bellhaven Standard Bearer and Champion Bellhaven Lector, first.
Novice, first—Lucason of Ashland of Bellhaven, third.
American bred dogs—Bellhaven Standard Bearer, first.

Fire Damages

Rumson Market

Fire Monday night gutted the meat market of Stephen D. Anthony on River road, Rumson. Policeman William Zerr, trying the front door of the place on his rounds, discovered the blaze and turned in the alarm. The firemen did excellent work but were unable to save the stock or equipment.

The origin of the blaze is unknown and an investigation of the cause is being conducted by Fire Chief Joseph Duryea and Police Chief Henry Kruse of Rumson and County Fire Marshal Charles Harvey. The damage is estimated at several thousand dollars and is covered by insurance.

Community Clinic Director Tells Meeting of PTA—Plans Made for Bunco Party.

"One child out of twenty born in a year in the United States is likely to end in a mental institution, recent statistics show," was the statement made by Dr. George S. Stevenson, director of the Division on Community Clinics of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene, at the combined meeting of the Mechanic Street and Junior-Senior Parent-Teacher association last Thursday in the junior high school auditorium.

The subject of Dr. Stevenson's talk was "Today's Child in Tomorrow's World." "We know that three things will take place in tomorrow's world," he said, "there will be people, and the child must be able to get along with these people; there will be changes constantly taking place, to which he must adjust himself; and there will be a greater delay in vocational maturity, but his emotional and physical maturity will be the same."

"In order to judge tomorrow, we must consider what yesterday's child has to face in today's world. Individuals are more important now; the world is becoming 'child centered'; that is, the child is of far greater value than before; there are eight times more high school graduates than in 1870; the child is now considered a human being, not going through a process of preparation for adult life; today's child is faced with the problem of social failure—mental delinquents, dependents, mental problems."

"Therefore the best we can do is to provide skill for the child, and with this skill a broader point of view. The school curriculum must be broadened in the schools. There must be organized activity. There must be mental health for parent and teacher, because the force of their personalities is perhaps stronger than the subject matter of their teachings. The child will become more and more critical of parents and teachers, so there must be parent education as well as teacher education."

During the short business meeting preceding the address, Mrs. Samuel Hausman, chairman of the Child Welfare committee, announced that the next bunco party for parents and children, the proceeds of which will go to child welfare, will be held on Saturday, March 16, in the high school gymnasium.

Following Dr. Stevenson's talk, refreshments were served by the members of the faculty, under the direction of Mrs. B. L. Katsin, chairman of the hospital committee.

Colt's Neck News.

A birthday surprise party was given for Mrs. F. Alvin Langwith at the parsonage of the Reformed church one night last week. The "surprises" were the members of the consistory and their wives. They brought refreshments with them. Included a huge birthday cake. The usual pastimes were enjoyed and everyone had a delightful time. Other present besides Rev. and Mrs. Langwith were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moreau, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Buck, Mr. and Mrs. William Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flock and Mrs. Archibald Reynolds.

Sixty-five members of the Sewing club of the Reformed church enjoyed the club's annual covered dish supper last week at the home of Mrs. S. Conover.

Charles D. Flock is improving from an injured arm which he received about two weeks ago in an accident on his farm.

At the Reformed church Sunday morning Rev. F. Alvin Langwith's sermon topic will be "Winning the World."

In the evening a service will be held in commemoration of the anniversary of the Boy Scout movement. The scouts will occupy special seats and take part in the service. Mr. Langwith will deliver a discourse on "Manly Religion."

Mrs. Samuel Conover is confined to the house with sickness.

A communion service will be held at the Reformed church Sunday morning, March 3.

Edward Hebel, Jr., who has been sick with pneumonia, is now well on the road to recovery.

Rev. and Mrs. F. Alvin Langwith were visitors at Elizabeth last Thursday.

Miss Mabel Willett has returned from a sojourn in Florida. She made the trip by boat.

The bus which transports the high school pupils of Atlantic township to and from Red Bank was hit by a car last week. No damage was done and no one was hurt. A fix seems to be pursuing the bus. It has been in accidents four successive weeks.

The pupils and teachers of the public school exchanged valentines last week. They had a "postoffice" for this purpose.

The members of the township committee of Atlantic township and the road employees have received many compliments on the condition of the roads after the recent snow storm.

Folks who do a lot of traveling in that part of the state say that the thoroughfare in this township were better than in most municipalities.

Atlantic township is emerging from the winter season with a record of having provided plenty of food, clothing and shelter for persons who are in unfortunate circumstances because of unemployment or feeble health. The township receives no funds from the Emergency Relief Administration and the work of aiding the needy is looked after by Walter D. Fields, the overseer of the poor. Mr. Fields has found work for a number of the unemployed both on township jobs and with private parties. He states that both his work and the cost to the taxpayers have been greatly lessened by the help of the Atlantic-Holmdel Social Service organization. He says that credit is especially due to Miss Williams, the nurse for the association. With the advent of spring the relief load will be lightened because of jobs on farms.

William Cottrell, Clarence Willett and Edward Sherman are now tied for first place in the pool tournament being held by the fire company. It is expected that the tournament will end within a few days.

Forty persons attended a meeting of Atlantic grange last week at the Colt's Neck schoolhouse. Games and refreshments were enjoyed. The grange will hold a dance for its members and friends at the schoolhouse Friday night, March 8.

The Sewing club of the Reformed church will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rezeau Conover to finish making a quilt.

A meeting of the Atlantic-Holmdel Social Service organization was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Carroll W. Barclay.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Amie G. French is complainant and Jersey Trust Company, of New Jersey, and others are defendants, you are required to appear and before the fifteenth day of April next, or before the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a certain mortgage given by Moe Gordon and Sophie Gordon, his wife, Joseph Siegel and Amie Siegel, his wife, to Walter G. French, dated the thirtieth day of March 1925, on lands in the Borough of Shrewsbury, in the County of Monmouth, and State of New Jersey, which mortgage was duly assigned by Second National Bank and Trust Company of New York, N. Y., Executor of the Last Will and Testament of Walter G. French, deceased, to said complainant by assignment dated January 10, 1928; and you, Vorlone Corp., a corporation of the State of Wisconsin, are made defendant because you hold a judgment against Jersey Coast Cleaners and Dryers, Inc., which owns the lands described in said mortgage; and you, Maurice Callus, are made defendant because you are one of the holders of a mortgage plaintiff's end mortgage.

Dated February 13, 1935.

Trenton Poloists Win In Play-Off

With both teams being chalked with a win, the Red Bank Troop E poloists last Sunday afternoon traveled to the 12th Field Artillery in order to polo field at Trenton where they clashed mallets with the Trenton poloists and were defeated 11-7. Being rated as probably the best riding players in this vicinity the Red Bank poloists, who are trying to arrange plans to enter in the Nationals, went to Trenton to engage in the final of a two out of three game series. The combination of Dwyer, Wise and Zager got off to a poor opening period when Dwyer went through his opponents' defense and scored their only tally in that quarter but later was called for a foul and was forced to give up half a point.

Lieut. James Lemp of Trenton tallied five goals in his opening period while Lieut. Wilson scored one. Two fouls were committed by the Trentonites and they were forced to give up the point scored by Lieut. Wilson. Four more fouls were committed by the Red Bankers in the second period after scoring four goals, while their opponents netted three goals to lead at half time 8-2.

Still trying to make a come-back in the third period, the Troop E poloists swung into action and tallied five goals in that chunker but again Jackie Dwyer was called for his fourth foul of the afternoon. However, the Red Bank defense tightened in that chunker and held their opponents to two goals. Two fouls by Capt. McGowan and Lieut. Lemp in the final period let the Trentonites with a tally of one goal while Frankie Wise of Troop E trio scored a tally but again Dwyer was caught cutting his opponents' pony and was penalized half a point.

Dwyer of Red Bank tallied six goals but had five fouls called against him, making his score 3½ goals while Wise, No. 2 man for the Red Bank team, tallied five goals and was nipped for one foul, making his total 4½ goals. Walt Zager, back for Red Bank, was held scoreless and was called for a foul in the second chunker.

Lieut. Lemp of the Field Artillery tallied 7½ points to lead his team in scoring.

Schneider Team Loses Two Games

Tilton Dairy Ends Winning Streak of Marketmen and Reduces Their Lead in Pin Loop—Utility and Clothiers Tied.

The Tilton Dairy team, by defeating the Schneider Market pinmen in two out of three games on Monday night, put an end to the Marketmen's winning streak and reduced their lead in the Red Bank Bowling league from six and one-half games to five and one-half games.

Monday was a night of upsets. Not only did the Dairymen, who are in eighth place, defeat the league leaders in a majority of the matches between these two teams, but the Gardeners, who are third from last, turned on the crack Boynton & Boynton team, defeating them in three straight games, and the Navesink pinmen wrested two out of three games from their heretofore superiors, the Professional Men.

The Utility and Clothiers are now deadlocked in second place. The Allen Shoemen, who last week were fourth, slid down into a tie for fifth place with Leonardo and Eaton town advanced into their old place. The Commercial Chauffeurs are fourth.

The standing of the teams, including the games rolled Monday night, as compiled by Secretary Walter Schroeder, follows:

STANDING OF THE TEAMS.

Tonight—Utility vs. Sigmund Eisner, Shrewsbury Farms vs. Postoffice. Tomorrow—Shoemen vs. Leonardo, Clothiers and Insurance vs. Jersey Central. Monday—Jersey Central vs. Commercial Chauffeurs, Schneider's Market vs. Sigmund Eisner, Gardeners vs. Postoffice, Leonardo vs. Professional Men.

Dillon of the Allen team, Menzopane of the Clothiers and Tuttle of the Schneider team at the end of the twenty-first week of the league's present season last Friday were still first, second and third, respectively, in the individual standings.

Dillon and Jim Acerra, the latter a member of the Utility team, were tied for the greatest number of strikes, 280, in all. Tuttle and Acerra, later a member of the Schneider team, were tied for second with 274. Elgrin of the Eisner team led for the number of spares made thus far this season, he having made 317, while Ming of the Chauffeurs was second with 302 and E. Chassey of Eaton town was third with 294.

Carlton theater ticket winners last week were Alex Curchin, Jr., of Boynton & Boynton, who made the high total of 600 for three games; Louis Acerra, later of Utility, who scored 584, and Vanhook of Leonardo, who made 645. Menzopane and Acerra each rolled 257 in single games during the week and were two of the three Strand theater ticket winners.

Curchin, Jr., was the other, he having made a score of 247.

The averages of the ten leading pinmen, who have taken part in fifty or more games, as compiled by Secretary Schroeder, follows:

Averaging 911 for the three games, six points below their season average, the Schneider Market team fell behind the Tilton Dairy team on Monday night in two out of three games. The Dairymen averaged 940 for the set, which is 43 points above their team average. The Milkmen topped the nine hundred mark in all three matches, rolling an even thousand to win the final contest. The Marketmen got off to a bad start, rolling only 886 to lose by seventeen pins. The Tilton pinmen then broke a thousand and won the third match by 72 points. Scores of 223 by Walter, 205 and 214 by G. Grob and 202 by Dwyer, respectively, gave the Dairymen the victory. Trolley Marketmen, Perri, Jones and Tuttle, rolled 202. The scores:

FARMERS!

J. I. CASE Announces

Their 1935 Improved

All-Purpose Tractor

and New Motor-Lift Implements
"Easy On—Easy Off"

This New two-row Case tractor cultivator was especially designed and built to meet the needs of New Jersey potato growers, although it is, of course, equally desirable for beans, peas, corn, tomatoes and other crops grown in rows from 28 to 48 inches apart. The features of this cultivator when added to the outstanding advantage of the Case "CC" Tractor... speed, ease of handling, power with reserve, and widely adjustable wheel spacing... make an ideal outfit for the grower who appreciates low cost operation.

This new cultivator is Strong and Rigid, yet Easy to Attach and Detach; has Front Mounted Gangs; Parallel Lift and is Easy to Operate. Tractor differential brakes, operated by handy foot levers, permit extremely short turning and also assist in steering on side hills or rough ground.

Cultivating wheels with narrow rims and long steel spade lugs are regular equipment. Wheel Fenders and a swinging drawbar are also Standard.

Our first car load is now rolling, including both Rubber and Steel wheel equipment, Cultivators, Weeders, the Orchard Model, etc.

Benefit Held For Girl Scout Troop

Entertainment Given Monday Night by Young Folks Under the Direction of Presbyterian Women's League.

An entertainment for the benefit of Girl Scout troop 24 was given on Monday night by the Presbyterian Women's League in the Presbyterian church chapel. Young folks participated and the program consisted of orchestra selections, two sketches and a pageant. One hundred persons were present.

Selections by an orchestra opened the program. In the group were Frances Hackett, piano; Jean Hackett and Peter Galata, violin; James Kennedy and Buddy Van Note, piano accordions; Bobby Worden, saxophone; and Henry Scudder and Everett Burdge, trumpet. Donato Anness was director.

One sketch, "Cupid's Burglar," had Harriet Wood, Jack Clark and Jack Hammell in the cast, while Phyllis Miles and Arthur Mayhew gave the other sketch, "The Office Boss." A Hawaiian guitar duet was rendered by Barbara and Victor Balnes.

The pageant, "Parade of the Stars," consisted of impersonations of stars of stage and screen. The scene was a broadcasting studio and the announcer was Arthur Mayhew. The first "star" was Bobby Worden, who impersonated Paul Whiteman, and directed the orchestra as they played "The Isle of Capri."

Other impersonations were Mariha Hayes as Shirley Temple, June McVey as Jean Harlow, Florence Pettengale as Ruby Keeler, Helen Moran as Katherine Hepburn, Barbara Balnes as Thelma Todd, May Flanagan as Greta Garbo, Joyce Goodspeed as Dolores Del Rio, Jack Schooley as Gene Raymond, Ruth Sniffen as Joan Bennett, Thelma Nelson as Janet Gaynor, Beryl Snyder as Kay Francis, Doris Fowler as Myrna Loy, Jeanne Matthews as Alice in Wonderland, Rachel West as Ginger Rogers, Larry Holmes as Fred Astaire, Jack Hammell as Dick Powell, Bill Holmes as Jimmy Durante, Joyce Snyder as Madge Evans and Evelyn Wyckoff as Grace Moore. In the grand finale all the stars appeared on the stage as Evelyn Wyckoff sang "One Night of Love."

On the committee were Mrs. Arthur Mayhew chairman, Mrs. Theodora Brown, who had charge of the make-up; Mrs. Leon Kelley, who had charge of the music; Mrs. Albert W. Worden, Mrs. William Brevoort and Mrs. George Wagner, leader of the troop.

Mrs. Lenora Spitz

wife of Frank F. Spitz of River road, Fair Haven, died suddenly last Saturday morning of a heart attack. She had been in poor health for some time but was able to be about and was confined to her bed only a few hours.

Spitz was born at Fair Haven and had always resided in that borough. She was the daughter of the late Stout and Emma Smith Bennett Holmes. She had been a member of Fidelity Council, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, of Fair Haven for many years.

Besides her husband, she is employed on the Atlantic Highlands estate. Mrs. Spitz is survived by a sister, Mrs. Estelle Pike of Fair Haven. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at her late home, with Rev. W. Carmel Trembly, pastor of the Reformed church, officiating. The bearers were Captain Edward Little, Arthur and George Sickles, George A. Hawkins, police M. Little and Roy King. Police escort for the cortege was furnished by Chief Joseph Herdson. Burial in charge of the Worden funeral home was in Fair View cemetery.

Mrs. Catherine Quigley

widow of Dennis Quigley, died Monday morning at her home on Chestnut street of paralysis. She had been ill since Friday of last week when she suffered a stroke.

Mrs. Quigley was 69 years old and had resided in this section nearly all her life. She was born at the age of one year. She is survived by five daughters, the Misses Mary, Colette and Esther Quigley, and Mrs. Leon Burdge of Red Bank, and Mrs. Elizabeth Burns of New York; three sons, Timothy Quigley of Newark and John and George Quigley of Red Bank; three sisters, Mrs. Henry Hardy of Marlboro, Mrs. John Fields of Red Bank and Mrs. Edward Brannigan of New York, and a brother, Cornelius Crozier of Red Bank.

The funeral was held this morning at nine o'clock at her late home and at ten o'clock at St. James church where a solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by the rector, Rev. Dr. John B. Mount & Son, was in Mount Olivet cemetery.

William M. Davison, Jr., of Markham road, Little Silver, died early Tuesday morning in the Monmouth Memorial hospital. He had been under an operation for appendicitis two weeks ago and was removed to his home on Wednesday of last week. He suffered a relapse Tuesday and died shortly after being taken back to the hospital.

Mrs. Davison was 29 years old. He was a member of Liberty hose company of Red Bank and last season played on the Red Bank fire department baseball team.

Besides his parents Mr. Davison is survived by three brothers, Raymond, Leon and Arthur Davison, all of the city and two sisters, Mrs. Frank Clayton of Fair Haven and Mrs. George Purdy of Little Silver.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the funeral parlors of R. R. Mount & Son on West Front street, with Rev. John Blair, pastor of Little Silver Methodist church, in charge. Burial will be in Evergreen cemetery.

Henry Lentz

Heart disease was the cause of the death of Henry Lentz of East Keansburg, who passed away very suddenly early Monday morning. He was complaining of a pain near his heart and a few moments later he died before a doctor could be summoned. He was 57 years of age and he had lived at East Keansburg seventeen years, moving there from Newark, where he had been employed at a leather factory. He was one of the best known residents of East Keansburg and his death is mourned by a host of friends. He is survived by his wife and by children, the latter being John Lentz of Campbell's Junction and Mrs. Joseph Mulrain, Henry Lentz and Miss Mildred Lentz of East Keansburg. The funeral was held yesterday at the house and the service was conducted by Rev. Edward Fuhrmann of St. Stephen's Evangelical church of Newark. The interment was in Fair View cemetery, under the direction of Harvey Bedie.

Mrs. Louis Rapp, Port Monmouth lost one of its best known residents Friday night in the death of Mrs. Nellie Rapp, wife of Louis Rapp. Her death occurred very unexpectedly from heart trouble and was a great shock to her relatives and friends. She was 57 years of age and she had lived at Port Monmouth twenty years, moving there from Newark. She is survived by a daughter and six sons. They are, James Wright of Hillsdale and John Charles, George, Richard, William and Harry Rapp of Port Monmouth. She also leaves a brother, Richard Trembley of East Orange. Mrs. Rapp was a member of Star of Bayside council of Daughters of America of Keansburg.

The funeral was held at the late residence of Mrs. Rapp Monday afternoon, in charge of Rev. W. S. Wainwright, pastor of the Methodist church of Belford. The body was cremated at Linden.

Edward T. Johnson

The funeral of Edward T. Johnson of Sea Bright, who died on Wednesday of last week, was held last Saturday afternoon at his late home with Rev. Henry P. Folger, Jr., pastor of the Sea Bright Methodist church, in charge. The bearers were Edmund Cline, Thomas H. Perry, William F. Kuhn, James F. Miller, Richard Rodney and Victor Perotti.

The Sea Bright lodge of Odd Fellows, of which he had been a member for many years, conducted a service at the cemetery with Allen Johnson as noble grand and Charles Ellinger as chaplain. Mr. Johnson was also a member of the Red Bank lodge of Knights of Pythias. Burial in charge of the Worden funeral home of Red Bank, was in Glenwood cemetery at West Long Branch.

Samuel W. Anderson

o'clock at the Worden funeral home on East Front street with Rev. Albert L. Baner, pastor of the Red Bank Methodist church, in charge. The bearers, all members of Portland council, Junior Order United American Mechanics, of which Mr. Anderson had been a member for many years, were George Despreaux, Richard Conrad, E. G. Conover and Richard Byron. The services of the lodge were held at the cemetery with Mr. Conrad as counselor and George Snyder as chaplain. Burial was in the family plot in Inlay's hill cemetery, near Inlaytown.

Miss Marion Bennett

died suddenly Monday morning at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary Bennett of Prospect avenue. She was 35 years old.

Miss Bennett was born in Red Bank and attended the public schools here. Besides her mother she is survived by her father, Raymond, George, Harold, James and Gerald, and three sisters, Mrs. Julia Erwin, Mrs. Edward Kane and Miss Helen Bennett, all of Red Bank.

The funeral was held this morning at ten o'clock at her late home and at eleven o'clock at St. James church, where the rector, Rev. Dr. John B. McCloskey, celebrated a solemn high mass of requiem. Burial in charge of John B. Day was in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Morris H. Heidelberg

a resident of Sea Bright for the past twenty years, died suddenly early last Sunday afternoon at his home on Ocean avenue of a heart attack. He was 72 years old.

Mr. Heidelberg was born at Philadelphia. For many years he was a hat manufacturer, his plant being located at Baltimore and his office in New York. He retired from business a little over a year ago.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Ethel Loew Heidelberg, Mr. Heidelberg is survived by a sister, Miss Clara Heidelberg, who lived with him.

The funeral was held yesterday morning at his late home and burial, in charge of the Worden funeral home of Red Bank, was in Glenwood cemetery at Brooklyn.

David Blum

of Long Branch, real estate man and former Central Railroad engineer, died last Friday in the Beth Israel hospital at New York. He was an active member of the Republican party and was affiliated with the Long Branch Republican club, the Railroad Men's Republican club of Monmouth county and the Affiliated Republican clubs of Monmouth county. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at the Flock funeral home at Long Branch with Rabbi Arthur H. Hershorn of Red Bank in charge. The bearers were Abraham Bergman, Arthur K. Kohn, Arnold J. King, William O'Hagan, Milton Siegfried and James Curbeam. Burial was in Monmouth fields cemetery at West Long Branch.

Louis M. Case, former pastor of the Eatontown and Tinton Falls Methodist churches, assisting. Burial will be in the family plot in Fair View cemetery.

Fort Monmouth Visited By Pupils

Headed by William H. Rhodes, faculty director, forty members of the Allentown high school, Allentown, N. J., made a tour of inspection to Fort Monmouth on Wednesday, February 20.

The visitors were conducted to the signal school where Captain John H. Heath, Signal Corps, and First Lieut. R. P. Lyman, Signal Corps, demonstrated the apparatus used by the Signal Corps in training soldiers of our army as radio electricians and radio operators. Of particular interest to these students was the code room where the actual technical operations in this training is conducted. In this room is a battery of telephones which permits the student operator to progress from the most elementary to the most advanced stage in radio operation. The students visited the Signal Corps Hospital Pigeon Lofts where Thomas Ross, army pigeon expert, in a short talk acquainted the students with the methods used in the developing and training of the prize winning strain of homing pigeons maintained by the Signal Corps at Fort Monmouth. The visitors were also given a demonstration of the correct method of fastening a message to the leg of the bird by means of an aluminum message capsule used by the Signal Corps for this purpose. First Lieut. H. C. Hine, (Capt.) Signal Corps conducted the students through the barracks of the 1st Signal Service Company.

Included in the party were Ruth Holmes, Helen Storms, Pauline Tamm, Carrie Brink, Anna Polnseth, Anna Harjunt, Evelyn Booth, Olga Henny, Caroline Bates, Inez Heusser, Elizabeth Buck, Katherine Levandowski, Frances Livingston, Marie Murphy, Inez Smith, Naomi Scott, Dorothy Probasco, Rose Przybylski, Rose Freedman, Elsie Eldridge, George Monro, Charles Bullock, Nonie Smith, William Ray, Alvin Peterson, Leo Estel, Wilbur Childers, Leo Carhart, Milton Probasco, Anthony Wiksio, Paul Levanduski, Norman King, Albert Boland, Alvin Prentowski, Joseph Jones, Sam Yotrofsky, James Yoon, Thomas Higgins, Herbert Armstrong.

Death Narrowly Averted

Elmer H. Christy of Hillsdale, who had been living for the past few weeks in a furnished rooming house on Wallace street, is at Riverview hospital in a serious condition after having swallowed two tablets of a potent antiseptic containing bichloride of mercury.

The groans of the man were heard by another roomer in the house, who immediately notified Policeman Frank Reuther, who was on duty on Broad street. Reuther notified headquarters and the man was removed to the hospital in a department car driven by Policeman Gilbert Dahlgren. His condition is said to be serious.

Christy, who is employed by the Material Men's association, which has an office on Broad street, was treated at Hazard hospital last week and recently for an injury to his head received in an automobile accident.

New Beauty Shop

The new Beauty Beauty Studio at Campbell's Junction near Belford will open for business next week.

Hospital Benefit Plans Progressing

According to reports made Tuesday night at the weekly meeting of the Lions club at the Elks home, the campaign being waged by practically all the civic organizations and clubs of Red Bank and vicinity for the benefit of Riverview hospital at Red Bank by the disposal of a new Ford V-8 sedan on the co-operative plan is meeting with great success. Regulations for over 2,000 books at one dollar each were made at the first meeting Thursday night of last week and since then about 1,000 more reservations have been taken. On Friday afternoon a meeting was held at five o'clock at a meeting held at the Jersey Central Power and Light company's office at 99 Broad street. All those interested in the project are greatly cheered by the enthusiastic response met on all sides and by the large demand for books of shares. A number of friends and organizations who took books last week have applied for more books.

At the completion of the campaign the first 25 persons who sell the largest number of shares will receive honorable mention, and of this group the first five will receive special awards. Special stress has been made of the fact that the entire proceeds of the project, except the barest nominal expense, will go to the hospital.

Theodore P. Moore and Lester R. Ross, co-chairmen of the campaign, have stated they are deeply grateful for the one hundred per cent response of clubs and organizations in this most worthy effort and they believe it will be a great success.

The campaign was inaugurated last week at a dinner meeting of the Lions club, which was attended by representatives of practically every civic organization in the borough. It was announced that Morris Jacks, manager of the Carlton theater, where the selection of the awards will be made, has agreed to donate the net proceeds received at that performance to the fund.

Edwin R. Conover, president of the Lions, was in charge of the meeting and introduced Mr. Ross, who explained details of the plan. Talks were also given by Rev. Edward W. Miller, pastor of the Baptist church, James H. Mattenlee and John P. Mulvihill, secretary and treasurer of the Lions and vice president of the board of trustees of the hospital. An address of welcome was made by Mayor Charles R. Engle.

DURAND OBJECTS

Says County Can Afford Expense of New Publicity Director.

Rebuking the Monmouth county board of freeholders for their action which "needlessly increased the expense of the county," Senator Durand in a letter to Frederick P. Reichley, director of the board, pointed out that the county can afford any additional cost of operation. Senator Durand said that he was amazed to learn of the creation of a publicity director, "to furnish the newspapers with suitable copy." He reminded Reichley that the taxpayers were forced last year to assume the additional cost of a purchasing department, with needlessly increased expenses.

Senator Durand's letter in full is as follows:

February 16, 1935.
Frederick P. Reichley, director,
Board of Freeholders,
Monmouth County,
Freehold, New Jersey.
Dear Fred:

I note with considerable amazement that the board of freeholders has established a new member of its official family, known as a publicity director, whose duty it will be to furnish the newspapers with suitable copy, thus increasing the expense of the county.

The cost of this employee in salary may not be great, but if he is to carry out any comprehensive plan he must have funds to work with and the county can afford no additional cost of operation. With the state and every other county government striving to reduce the expense of operation it is beyond reason for Monmouth county to talk of increasing its expense by the creation of a publicity director, who will be spending money for publicity.

The taxpayers of the county have been forced to assume the cost of a purchasing department, introduced under your direction, which needlessly increased operating costs. It appears to me that the members of the Board of Freeholders are elected and paid to transact the business of the county and that they should be willing to assume their duty when they accept the office. Just why they should delegate their duties and authority to paid office holders, particularly in the case of increased incomes and unpaid taxes, is beyond my comprehension. May I commend to your attention the budgets of the municipalities of our county which have almost invariably reduced their cost of operation.

Sincerely yours,
Frank Durand.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATIONS.

Mrs. Grandin VanNote of Wanamassa and John S. Tilton Honored.

A double birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Tilton of Eatontown in honor of John S. Tilton in celebration of his first birthday and Mrs. Grandin VanNote of Wanamassa in celebration of her 27th birthday on Saturday night.

Two birthday cakes decorated the table, which was attractively trimmed by a pink and blue color scheme with tall pink and blue candles in silver holders. Cards and other games entertained the guests until a late hour when refreshments were served. Both were the recipients of a number of gifts.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Tilton, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Schanck, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Tilton, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schanck, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Schanck, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schanck, Mr. and Mrs. George Schanck, Mr. and Mrs. Grandin VanNote, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Schanck, Stanley Schanck, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Anderson, Mrs. Mary Lambertson, Miss Camilla Matthews, Miss Johanne Mining, Miss Myrtle Ayres, Miss Elizabeth Ziegler, Miss Marion Schanck, Charles Schanck, Ernest Schanck and Harold Schanck.

Steinbach-Kresge Opens Fourth Floor

The first major step in a remodeling program now under way at the Steinbach-Kresge store in Asbury Park has been completed with the opening of a completely modernized housefurnishings department on the fourth floor of the shore establishment.

A project that has provided work for scores of the North Jersey shore building craftsmen for the past six weeks, has won the approbation of the several thousand persons who have visited it since the completion. Equipped with modern designed fixtures finished with a soft ivory tint with applegreen trimming and one of the few department store floors in this country which can boast of an abundance of daylight, every convenience for the selection of the type of merchandise which it features has been considered.

Taking in the entire fourth floor, it includes a china section, a complete houseware department, a paint and wallpaper shop, a gadget shop, where all those "wife-savers" so dear to the heart of housewives are displayed and demonstrated.

At the east end of the floor, adjoining the popular daylight paint and wallpaper shop, is a spacious section given over to lamps, which have been moved up from the third floor.

New departments added include an electrical shop which offers nationally known makes of electric refrigerators and small appliances.

ENTERTAIN CLUB MEMBERS.

The Misses Parro of Little Silver Hostesses to F. O. S. Club.

Miss Angeline and Lucia M. Parro of Willow Drive, Little Silver, were hostesses to the F. O. S. club at a spaghetti dinner given last night at their home.

The table decorations were in keeping with Washington's birthday with the centerpiece being a cherry tree, and a replica of Washington crossing the Delaware. After the dinner cards were played. The winners were Mrs. Nora Connolly of Middletown and Mrs. Katherine Herndon of Fair Haven.

The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, February 27, at the home of Miss Miriam Downs of Red Bank. Besides those mentioned other members present were Mrs. Harvey Little, Jr., Mr. Raymond Planagan and Mrs. John P. Kelly.

In College Lecture-Recital.

Miss Anna T. Hallanan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hallanan of Rumson, is one of nine physical education students of the New Jersey College for Women at New Brunswick who will take part in a lecture-recital, "Modern Dance Movements," Saturday night. Miss Hallanan is treasurer of the college Physical Education club and a member of the class soccer team. She will be in the chorus of the junior show next month.

Checker Tournament.

A checker tournament open to all will begin Wednesday night, February 27, at the Oak Tree country club between Eatontown and West Long Branch. The tournament will be continued on March 6 and 13. The challenger will be an expert from Pittsburg. Entrants have been requested to bring their own checkers and board. Further information may be obtained by telephoning Long Branch 3537.

Party at Community Center.

Sixty persons attended a George Washington's birthday party given Tuesday night by the Ladies Hebrew society at the Community Center on Riverside avenue. Miss Fanny Rosin gave a short history of Washington's life and then played several piano selections. Songs were rendered by George Ostrov. Cards were played afterward.

Cruising for Two Weeks.

Catherine Applegate, daughter of Mrs. Winifred Williams of Fair Haven, and Evelyn Farber of Winfield, Long Island, sailed on the George Friday for a fourteen-day cruise. They will visit Panama, Nassau, Kingston and Colon.

DEATHS.

EVANS—Edwin T., beloved father of Mrs. Harry C. Coleman of Tinton Falls, died on February 20 at Riverview hospital.

Relatives and friends are respectfully invited without further notice to attend the services to be held Sunday afternoon, February 25, at 2:30 o'clock at the Worden funeral home, East Front street, Red Bank. Interment will be made at Fair View cemetery, Hendler's Corner.

The Gettysburg Of The World War

Like an irresistible grey tide the German hosts were rolling on toward Paris in June, 1918. The war-worn French soldiers had held them back until their aeried ranks had been shattered and their morale had all but vanished.

Battered and disheveled, the poilus stumbled and retreated until their withdrawal became almost a rout. Despair lined their faces, while their hearts were heavy at the bitter prospect of defeat.

Suddenly re-enforcements appeared from somewhere, but the newcomers failed to revive the flagging French spirits. Why hope for victory now when apparently all was lost? Who could stay that human avalanche that swept mercilessly forward destroying all in its path?

But these newcomers were imbued with a new spirit. They belonged to the gallant Second Division which had already received its baptism of fire and they were ready, eager, to come to grips with the enemy. In that gallant division, composed of both marines and army men, were raw recruits and gray-haired veterans. In their veins flowed the blood of scores of alien races welded together into a common nationality in the great American melting pot.

Some were about to write their names upon the imperishable records of the war. Inconspicuous among them was a slim little man who had served his country for nearly half his forty years. His name was Ernest A. Janson.

Six bitter days of fighting found the Marines still clinging tenaciously to their hold on Belleau Wood. Objective after objective had been taken and the 49th Company, Fifth Regiment, was attempting to secure its position on Hill 42.

Gunnery Sergeant Janson saw twelve of the enemy, armed with light machine guns, crawling toward his group. Giving the alarm, he rushed toward the hostile detachment, bayoneted the two leaders, and forced the others to flee, abandoning their guns. He was badly wounded. This singular act of bravery by the middle-aged, diminutive marine was probably unsurpassed by any individual act of valor in Belleau Wood.

Nations heaped their honors upon Janson. In addition to the American Medal of Honor and Navy Cross, he was awarded the French Medaille Militaire, the Croix de Guerre with palm, the Italian Cross of Merit, and the Montegrino silver medal—the latter a rare distinction among World war awards.

The war had become history twelve years later when Janson died in a hospital at Brooklyn, N. Y. His passing marked the end of a hero of the World General Pershing once called, "The Gettysburg of the war."

Hospital Patient.

Mrs. Mary Jackson of Hillsdale, near Atlantic Highlands, was removed to the Monmouth Memorial hospital at Long Branch yesterday in the Atlantic Highlands first aid squad ambulance.

How to Control Weeds.

In a sense farming may be called a warfare against weeds. Some farmers win the battle—while others are finally overcome. The importance of keeping weeds controlled cannot be emphasized too strongly and it takes intelligent planning to overcome these enemies.

The cost of weeds to the American farmer is a great many millions of dollars yearly. Weeds materially reduce crop yields, injure the quality of the crop, increase the cost of harvesting and threshing, rob the soil of fertility and moisture and decrease the value of the land.

The first and most important step in weed control is to plant the best possible seeds. It is important to purchase seeds that are clean and tested so that they are free from weed seeds. Cheap seeds are often the most expensive seeds that can be purchased and may cause years of work and trouble.

Prevention of weeds maturing on the farm is absolutely essential to a weed elimination program. The annual and biennial weeds if not allowed to go to seed will disappear and the perennial plants, lacking nourishment from above, will also have their root system weakened. Tillage when plants are young, mowing, sheep pasturing, burning and chemical spraying are all methods which can be used to keep weeds from maturing. In the case of perennials a combination of mowing and cultivation is essential to get results. Weeds must be prevented from being brought to the farm. Threshing outfits, weeds in hay and straw, which is purchased often introduce weeds on the farm and should be carefully watched.

If the program of good seed is used, weeds prevented from maturing, perennials cultivated and weeds kept from being brought onto the farm, any farmer can conquer his weed problem. Lack of continual work allows many a weed eradication program to fail just as it is about to be successful.

Community Dinner And Open Forum

Plans for the community dinner and open forum, being sponsored by the Red Bank Chamber of Commerce, have been completed. This affair will be held at the Red Bank Elk's club, next Wednesday evening, February 27, at 7:15 sharp.

Following dinner, Samuel Magee, secretary of the Elizabeth Chamber of Commerce, will deliver a short talk, and the meeting will then be open for discussion of community affairs.

Non-members, as well as members are invited to attend and take part in the discussion. The cost of the dinner has been kept low, only sixty cents, to enable everyone interested in the development of the community, to attend.

Interesting discussions on topics of local interest are anticipated, and the committee of the Chamber of Commerce sponsoring this event look for a large and interested attendance. Tickets may be secured at the Chamber of Commerce office or from any of the following committee members:

Sea Bright News.

(The Red Bank Register can be bought in Seabright at the stores of Morris Weisman and H. Lebowitz.)

Despite the stormy weather the annual dinner Thursday night for the benefit of the Methodist church was a success. The affair was attended by 240 persons and 205 suppers were sent out. Jack Fichter was head waiter, and the other waiters were Herbert Fowler, Larry Fowler, Marvin Fowler, John Lindsay and Paul Covert. Final reports will be received at a meeting of the supper committee Thursday night, February 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Nelson of Center street are the parents of a son born Sunday at the Monmouth Memorial hospital at Long Branch. The infant weighed 9½ pounds. Before her marriage Mrs. Nelson was Miss Audrey Dillione.

The Sons and Daughters of Liberty lodge will hold a radio party tomorrow night in Dowd's hall. Mrs. Harry Sage was tendered a shower Monday night at the home of Mrs. Claude Minardi on Church street. Thirty guests were present. The evening's festivities wound up with a supper.

The Parent-Teacher association will hold a card party Wednesday night, February 27, in the schoolhouse. Mrs. Roy Stone is chairman.

A waiter's frolic will take place tomorrow night at George and Charlie's lobster house. Music will be furnished by Eole's orchestra. Mrs. George Krauss returned home last week from a cruise to South America.

Miss Hilda Jacobson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Jacobson, was removed to a Brooklyn hospital last week for treatment for an infected arm.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellenberger have moved from South Beach to Center street.

According to word received here, William Ostling and Lars Anderson are making good catches of shad in the South. They will return home in April.

Navesink News.

Plans are progressing for the Epworth League's annual minstrel show which will take place Thursday night, February 28. Tickets are being sold at William Swan's store. Adam Worth of Elberon, father of Mrs. Lester A. Sicks of this place, died early yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fulcher of Strathmore, near Atlantic City, are returning here to live. They have rented Mrs. Mary Stearns's house on Monmouth avenue and will move in about March 1. Mr. Fulcher is attached to the coast guard service and has been transferred from Strathmore back to Sea Bright. Mrs. R. L. Williams, who has been spending the past three months with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Swan, left Sunday for her home in Arkansas.

James Patterson, son of Mrs. Annie Patterson, celebrated his ninth birthday with a party Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. Hollis Hart, who now lives at Newark, preached Sunday night at the Navesink Methodist church. The annual banquet of the Epworth League will be held March 11. Donald Johnson is in general charge of the arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nelson of Brooklyn were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Selenger.

Hazlet News.

The regular monthly meeting of the Hazlet Teacher-Parent club was held at the school on Thursday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. "The Admiral knew his gasolines when he chose this lubricated Tydol"

"You said it! She's greased lightning
...even at 60° below"

WE DON'T merely add "me too!" to the many gasolines claiming faster starting... We give you evidence why the cold-proof lubricant built into Tydol gasoline aids faster starting. The dry spots of cold, upper motor parts are instantly lubricated and protected when you step on the starter. The special lubricant also acts as a solvent in ridding your motor of old carbon formations and preventing new... You not only get a faster start but a safer start... And equally important—there is no premium in price.

31,000 miles at 60° below

The Byrd Antarctic Expedition is now on its way home. Its tractors and planes having successfully covered 31,000 miles, using Tydol gasoline and Veedol Motor Oil exclusively. No wonder Tydol and Veedol make the ideal winter combination for good driving.
