Mail Delivery Is Considered

Little Silver Hears From U. S. Senators

Little Silver's mayor and council Tuesday night received communications from Senators Albert W. Hawkes and H. Alexander Smith stating their requests to make Little Silver postoffice a branch of Red Bank's.

The borough has requested mail delivery service in the borough, which could only be effected by making their present postoffice a sub-station of Red Bank.

Councilman Joseph Davidson was directed to attempt to repoint and purchase signs indicating entrance into the borough. The matter was brought up by William R. Reed of Branch avenue who suggested that contributions from residents be sought if the borough did not have the funds to thus advertise itself.

Mr. Davidson also was directed to investigate the drainage condition on Silverton avenue and to arrange for cleaning storm sewer lines in Silverwhite Gardens.

Ralph Ribustelli was granted permission to enlarge his liquor store to include the part of the building formerly used as a barber shop. The approval was given contingent on approval by the A.B.C.

Dr. Matthews Is Surgeon At N. Y. Infirmary

Eye, Ear, Nose, Throat Specialist Assists Dr. Stuart Craig

Dr. William Matthews of Shrewsbury, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, with offices at 139 Broad street, is spending his annual vacation as assistant to Dr. Stuart Craig of 135 East 65th street, New York city, one of the country's outstanding eye, nose and sinus surgeons. He expects to work with Dr. Craig until September, and at the same time is assistant surgeon at the New York eye and ear infirmary, an appointment he has just received. He will resume his practice here in September.

DR. WILLIAM MATTHEWS

A native of Red Bank, he attended public schools here and graduated from Brown college and Jefferson medical school, Philadelphia. He interned at the Episcopal hospital, Philadelphia, later becoming affiliated with the Women's hospital there, where he served as chief house physician under Dr. John B. and Dr. Harry C. Deaver. He did post-graduate work at the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat dispensary of the World's Eye hospital, Jefferson hospital, Episcopal hospital and the General hospital, Philadelphia, and studied at the New York Eye and Ear Infirmary, advancing to the position of assistant surgeon of that institution in 1927. He opened a practice here in 1928.

In 1932 he visited Europe for further study under Prof. M. Hajek, chief of Laryngo-rhin-otological at the famed University of Vienna, and under Prof. Wesel of the same university. He attended clinics conducted by Prof. Hajek, famous sinus specialist, as well as one conducted by Prof. Eisinger at Prague, Czechoslovakia. He also visited clinics at Paris and Naples.

On two trips to Bermuda Dr. Matthews was called on to operate in the King Edward VII hospital, the leading medical institution on the island. He became interested in eye, ear, nose and throat conditions there and found upon checking available records that during that time there had been but one major operation for sinus and two for mastoids, one of the latter being a case that had been turned over to him. He found that sinus trouble was rare among natives because of the climate, and that visitors invariably returned to the states for operations for the malady. As a result there were few physicians at that time specializing in sinus operations, and doctors visiting the islands were pressed into service.

In the United States, Dr. Matthews has attended clinics at New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and St. Louis. He is a member of the Association of the Blind of New York city, of which Dr. Conrad Berens is the head. Last summer Dr. Matthews was away from his practice three months, during which time he worked and studied eye, ear, nose and throat and plastic surgery at the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn.

His work in this section has attracted considerable attention throughout the metropolitan area. He is known also for his bronchoscopic work, having handled many unusual cases, such as removing open safety pins and other foreign bodies from the esophagus. He was recently appointed chief of staff for eye, ear, nose and throat at Monmouth Memorial hospital, and is a member of the staffs of Riverview and Fitkin hospitals. He is a member of the New Jersey Medical association, the Monmouth County Medical society and the Phi Alpha Sigma medical fraternity.

Woman Is Victim Of "Con" Game

Red Bank Resident "Taken" For $800

Mrs. Cornelia Eggelston of 18 Leighton avenue is out $800 and was a victim of what is known as the "pocketbook game." She was left on the street corner with a promise of $200, but minus $800 cash.

According to the story she told Red Bank police Tuesday morning she met two women at Broad and Monmouth streets Monday night. They asked her if she would change $800 for them into larger bills, promising to give her $200. Mrs. Eggelston went home and got the money. Returning, she met the women at Peters place, near Broad street, and gave them the money. A man was standing at the corner to finish the deal, but the two women who promised Mrs. Eggelston the $200 for changing the bills, rushed to the man, and a near-by car and drove away.

When Mrs. Eggelston discovered she had been "taken in," she reported the game to Officer William Patterson. Red Bank police believe the same women attempted a similar trick at Long Branch last week. At that time when the victim went home to get the money and call her husband about it, he said it was a "con" game and informed the police.

Sea Bright May Face Suit Over Garbage Contract

Council, 3 To 1, Upholds Torrey At Lively Session

The Sea Bright mayor and council were threatened with a legal suit Thursday night if they awarded the borough garbage contract to Frank E. Torrey of Sea Bright, said Ward Kremer, Asbury Park attorney, representing Joseph Stavola of Middletown, who Mr. Kremer claims, was the only bidder complying with the specifications of the contract.

Mr. Stavola held the borough garbage contract until July 17. After several hours of arguing, in which almost every citizen in the crowded borough hall said his piece, the council voted three to one to authorize the mayor to sign the contract. However, Mayor Thomas Farrell said he would not sign until the contractor produced the necessary permits for traveling, health and dumping.

Mr. Kremer outlined Mr. Stavola's case and said that his client was the only one able to comply with the specifications of the bid. Torrey got a performance bond, said the attorney, but has not told anyone where he is going to dump the garbage. Referring to the Highlands council meeting of last week, at which time Mr. Torrey was refused use of the Highlands incline, Mr. Kremer said that as far as he knew Mr. Torrey did not have a water-tight truck, a cover for the truck, the necessary writing on the truck, health permits or a place to dump the garbage.

The attorney said "We do not want to have to burden Sea Bright taxpayers, but if you award the contract to Torrey, the case will be brought to court, and I think that we will win it."

The other side of the picture was explained by George A. Gray, Sea Bright borough attorney. Mr. Gray based his case on three items: First, he said, neither Torrey nor Stavola had presented permits or proof that they could comply with the specifications at the time the bids were opened. Secondly, the attorney based the responsibility of the contractor on the shoulders of the borough by saying it was not up to a court to decide whether a contractor is responsible, but should be left to the opinion of the council. Thirdly, that in returning Mr. Stavola's check, which the contractor submitted, with his bid, meant that if the borough did not accept the Torrey bid it did not follow that Stavola would get the contract. Mr. Gray felt that new bids would have to be submitted, since both contractors in this case were on an equal footing because neither of them had presented proof of compliance. The check returned implied Torrey got the bid.

Mrs. Torrey then told the council that her husband's contract at $4,000 a year would save the borough $3,000 over a period of three years and that she did have a place to dump garbage, but doubted if Stavola was dumping legally in Middletown township.

After both attorneys had expressed their opinions, the discussion was continued for several hours by the citizens. At times the argument was sharp and bitter and punctuated with personalities. Mayor Farrell declared that Mrs. Benjamin Solomon, mother of Mrs. Torrey, was "out of order" after she had called Councilman Jacobson "names," and on the mayor's order she was escorted out of the room by Police Chief Bert Boyer.

An argument between Mayor Farrell and Councilman Jack White ensued, during which Councilman White questioned the motives of the mayor, and also Councilman Nells Jacobson for attending the Highlands council meeting to check up on Torrey. At that time Mayor Farrell and Jacobson told the Highlands council they would both sign the garbage contract if Mr. Torrey obtained permission to dump in Highlands for three years.

"Why didn't you go to Middletown to make a check on Stavola?" asked Mr. White. "Didn't you know that Jacobson's son-in-law, Highlands Councilman George V. Brown, knew the score before Torrey ever appeared at Highlands?"

"As mayor I am the one who will get all the blame if the garbage is not picked up," said Mr. Farrell. Later, in answer to a question by a member of the audience as to why all the wrangling about the contract, the mayor said it was a political move against him.

When it was evident that a showdown was in the making, Mr. Gray warned certain matters to go on record in the event of a suit. He obtained proof from various councilmen that Stavola and Torrey had health permits to travel through Rumson, Sea Bright and Atlantic Highlands.

A resolution, prepared by Mr. Gray affirming the contract awarded to Mr. Torrey July 17, was adopted by a vote of 3 to 1, Councilmen White, Lepore and Perrine and Councilman Farrell voting in the affirmative and Councilman Jacobson, in the negative.

Board Grants Use Of Field For Football Games

Red Bank Legion To Use Gridiron For Six Sundays

The Red Bank Legion, Inc., received permission to use the Red Bank high school athletic field Sunday afternoons for football. Permission was granted Monday night at a special meeting of the Red Bank school board. The contract, including the fees, will be straightened out at the next regular meeting of the board.

The Red Bank Legion, Inc., is composed of five members headed by Peter Pingitore. The group will become a member of the Shore Football league, which now includes teams from Rumson, Long Branch, Lakewood, Leonardo, Cliffwood and Fort Monmouth. Permission was given Monday night so the group could secure uniforms and make a schedule in the league.

Mr. Jacobus physical education instructor at Red Bank high school, is president of the league.

N. J. "Skip" Pingitore, secretary of the organization, told the board his outfit would use the field six Sundays from 1 to 5 p. m. In case the team wins the championship they would need the field an extra Sunday. He stated that Shrewsbury post, American Legion of Red Bank, will receive profits of the games but the rest of the receipts would be used to purchase uniforms and pay for other expenses.

Before permission was granted, however, the board discussed matters of insurance of players and spectators and Board President Leo K. McKee suggested that the matter be held over until Edmund J. Canzona, absent board member, was present before granting use of the field.

Mr. McKee, who had spoken with Mr. Canzona over the telephone before the meeting and that he was informed that the legal papers concerning the formation of the Legion corporation were not completed, however, Alston Beckman, Jr., who is familiar with the situation, asserted that everything was in order. The motion for the use of the field was submitted by George V. Bray and received complete approval of the board.

Extend Campaign For Hospital

Monmouth Memorial Drive To End Aug. 4

Leaders in the Monmouth Memorial hospital campaign for funds to meet financial needs of $125,000 have announced that the appeal will be extended until Monday, August 4, to give district chairmen an opportunity to cover their areas more completely and make their final reports. Although no quota has been set for the campaign, chairmen have received slightly less than half of the amount needed to carry on the hospital's services through the year.

A special mail appeal is being made in several areas of Monmouth county in an effort to reach homes which will not be visited by volunteer workers. The mail campaign is in the form of a special postage paid envelope that carries the picture of a child patient and the following message:

"Your help is needed. If you have not contributed to help Monmouth Memorial hospital as your first line of defense against disease—to help provide free health care for those in need—please give now!"

It is explained that contributors who mail their gift will receive the participating contributor's card as a receipt.

Campaign chairmen have reported that the response to the community appeal has been good and that the delay in receiving many contributions is caused by the usual summer activities that take residents from their homes while solicitation is in progress.

negative. Councilman Robert Robinson was registered as not voting. The resolution, which reviewed the proceedings relative to the contract, pointed out that while both bidders stated they had the necessary permits, neither was able to produce the permits at the meeting Thursday night. The resolution also stated that while the clerk of the board of health had refused to inspect the truck, it was inspected by Councilmen White and Perrine, who found it was water tight pursuant to the specifications. Charles Morris, who built the truck body, told the council it was water tight.

The borough council of Atlantic Highlands Tuesday night officially granted Mr. Torrey permission to use the incinerator in that borough. Councilman Edward C. Curry said the permitting Torrey to use the incinerator would cut down on the payroll of Atlantic Highlands.

The borough council decided not to make a binding contract, but one that could be revoked by either party after a two-week period.

Borough Attorney John M. Pillsbury was instructed to prepare a contract to be submitted for approval at a special meeting tomorrow night. The use of the incinerator by two boroughs, explained Mr. Curry, would serve the same as a monetary gain for Atlantic Highlands since they would not be required to hire an extra man because one employed by Torrey would aid in burning the garbage.

At the same time, the council will give Mr. Torrey a dumping permit, the lack of which guided Mayor Farrell in not signing the contract.

Summer Theater Gets Ultimatum From School Board

Young Reports Unit Has Not Paid Rent In Four Weeks

The Red Bank Players, a stock company currently presenting plays at the Mechanic street school auditorium, were given an ultimatum by the school board Monday night.

Paul Young, district school clerk, reported to the board that the stock company has not paid its rent for the auditorium according to pre-arranged schedule and are in general causing a nuisance at the school. The board decided to give the players a few more days to correct their ways or they will be asked to leave.

According to Mr. Young, the stock company is continually making requests and just recently were granted permission to move from the River street school to their present location. Mr. Young stated that according to agreement, no smoking was to take place at the school, but reported that every evening the janitor was forced to sweep up cigarette butts. He added that empty soft drink bottles and particles of food were strewn about the auditorium and that the magician keeps the fowl used in his act, in his dressing room.

Feeling that the board might be out the rent money he explained that the company has not paid rent for four weeks and was to have paid it every two weeks. It was decided that the company must pay all back rent immediately. Edwin C. Holland, supervising principal, and Mr. Young were instructed by the board to follow up the matter.

Mr. Young said yesterday that the players would have to comply with the financial and other requests of the school board by Saturday night or the group would be asked to leave.

Boro's Finances Are Excellent, Says Auditor

Tax collections in the borough of Sea Bright were 88.73 percent of the total in 1946, reported Joseph J. Seaman of Perth Amboy, borough auditor, to the mayor and council at that municipality last Thursday night.

Mr. Seaman complimented the officials on the excellent condition of the borough's finances, stating that it was one of the best reports he has prepared among the municipalities he serves.

Taxes received by Collector Edmund W. Cline in 1946 amounted to $84,691.25. The cash balance on hand at the end of 1946 was $73,084.24, an increase of $18,976.63 over the previous year. The balance on hand has increased since the end of the year to $80,000 at the present time. The borough also owns U. S. bonds totaling $24,988.50.

In other business, a tavern license held by John Keenan for the Shrimp bar was transferred to Helmar Hansen and Mr. Keenan. Sol. Nelmark criticized the action of the council and requested that it be reviewed by the State Alcohol Beverage Control commission.

Permission was granted to Sea Bright Lions club to hold tag sales July 28 and 27 for the benefit of the New Jersey Blind Children's fund.

Stanley Renshaw, Harold Peters and George Mace were appointed without pay as special beach police.

The following payments to hospitals, set up in the budget, were authorized: Monmouth Memorial $100, Riverview $100 and Hazard $50.

Councilman Robinson, chairman of the police committee, suggested that 20-mile an hour speed limit signs be posted in the areas where the contractors are working on the new sea wall.

209 Children Enroll At Public Playgrounds

Activities Held At Branch Avenue And Athletic Field Centers

Through July 18, a total of 209 children have enrolled in the playgrounds sponsored by the Red Bank board of education. A report on the progress of the playgrounds during the two-week period ending July 18, issued by Solomon Popper, director of the program, indicates that on the average about 80 children are attending each day the two play centers located at Branch avenue and the Bergen place Athletic field.

At Branch avenue playground the special events featured during this two-week period indicated a peanut hunt in which about 45 children participated. Harry Poomas was the winner, with Louise Gilbertson a close second. Another special event which was greatly enjoyed by about 35 children were movies shown during one of the rainy afternoons. "Kiko, the Kangaroo", Charlie Chaplin and "Mee-nay, Miney, Moe" were the "stars" of these films. A pet show held at the Branch avenue playground proved entertaining and exciting. Plan Bagpipe Band In County

If the plans of five members of Clan Montgomery are fulfilled, there will be a bagpipe band in the county. According to Stanley McIntosh of Little Silver, piper of the clan, the band will be ready to fill engagements in three months.

At present, Robert Thomson of Keansburg, a former piper in the British army; Angus Hiegle of Union Beach, who played in a bagpipe band in upper New York state; William Napier of Keansburg, who played in a boy's brigade in Scotland; George Anderson of Union Beach, and Mr. McIntosh, are band members.

A drum section is in the making and four apprentice pipers are preparing for entrance in the band.

SLOW DOWN!

With all the rushing that folks do, it has perhaps occurred to you that there is not the slightest need for so much headlong, aimless speed. If life be treated as a race, it would be well to set the pace with this in mind—the race is long and those who finish must be strong.

Whether you drive constantly or infrequently, you will want your car to respond to the pace you set. To keep it running to your complete satisfaction, have it serviced by your Kaiser and Frazer dealer. LA FREDA SALES & SERVICE, 117 Monmouth Street. Tel. Red Bank 6-1702.

Mr. Lathrop, who was manager of the Electrical Manufacturers Public Information Center, New York, prior to his Girl Scout appointment, also is charged with national responsibility for the national convention and the plan of work enacted there.

A 1926 graduate of the University of California, Mr. Lathrop has had wide experience in newspaper work and in the public relations field for business organizations as well as for civic and welfare institutions.

A former reporter for the Wall Street Journal and other newspapers, he served as secretary and press representative for the late U. S. Senator Hamilton F. Kean from 1932 until 1934, when he was named advertising manager and director of public relations for the Jersey Central Power and Light company with headquarters at Asbury Park. He assumed his Electrical Manufacturers post in 1945.

During his business career he has been assistant to the president of the Development Service Corp., New York; publicity chairman of the Morris County Community Chest, Morristown; public relations director for the Pitkin hospital, Neptune; advertising manager for the Morristown First National Bank, and publicity advisor for the Children's Home, Westfield.

POLICE CO-OPERATION

Co-operation between the Rumson and Fair Haven police departments resulted in the arrest of John P. Hulsebus, 24, of Rome, N. Y., on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. According to reports, the Hulsebus car struck a vehicle owned by Leo Bertone of Belford, which was parked on Allen street, Rumson, Monday night. Several hours later after an alarm was sent out over the county police radio, Fair Haven Officer Carl Jakubec spotted the Hulsebus car, and summoned Rumson Patrolman Otto Pearl and Capt. William Zerr to identify the car. Hulsebus will be arraigned August 5 before Rumson Recorder Arnold Tulp.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

Robert A. Bradshaw of 24 Forman street, Fair Haven, was arraigned by Red Bank Recorder John V. Crowell Friday on a charge of embezzlement, filed by Donald Matthews, owner of Donald's laundry, Marion street. Bradshaw, who pleaded guilty to the charge, was sent to Freehold to await grand jury action. According to police, Bradshaw embezzled $420 from the laundry between June 1 and July 12.

Raised Marihuana "For Own Use"

After being informed by Vincent McCue, Red Bank attorney, that George J. Dorr, Jr., of Tinton Falls raised marihuana for his own use because of disability resulting from military service, Judge J. Edward Knight in the county court at Freehold last Thursday sentenced him to the Vroom building for the criminally insane at state prison for classification.

Dorr, who was arrested after hundreds of marihuana plants were found on his property, took to the dope, according to his attorney, to "soothe his own nerves," and was not operating a dope racket. The court was informed that Dorr suffered a 40% disability as a result of a neuritis. He first took to drink and was treated at Marlboro State hospital, said Mr. McCue, and since then has been using marihuana.

Judge Knight said he had been told that Dorr has appeared in Tinton Falls with his face painted, hair over his eyes and "in ridiculous attire."

The Shrewsbury River Yacht club at Fair Haven is disposing of a five-horsepower Atlas Royal outboard motor and a special built 14-foot rowboat on the co-operative plan. The proceeds from this venture will be used for necessary club improvements and for additional facilities for the comfort of the members, their families and friends. Shares are being offered for sale by club members and the disposal of the outboard motor and rowboat will take place at the club house Sunday, August 17, at 5 o'clock.

Fred R. Stroebe, chairman of the house committee, heads the committee in charge of this feature.

Pickle Tricks for PicnicsPICNIC FIXIN'S

With Plenty of Pickles

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS, Associated Press Food Editor

Almost everybody likes some kind of pickles on a picnic. Pickles are good to zip up all sorts of picnic food. Would you like to know a few new pickle tricks?

First try taking dill or big, sweet pickles to the picnic as is. Also bring sliced cold cuts. When you get ready to eat, the picnic food, wrap a cold cut around a pickle, fasten it with a toothpick and have a plateful of easy-to-eat, appetizing meat specials as the basis of your meal.

Pickle Potato Salad

7 medium sized potatoes
1/2 cup diced celery
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 hard-cooked eggs, diced
Salt and pepper
1/2 cup real mayonnaise
1/4 cup liquor from the sweet pickle jar
1/2 cup sweet pickle relish

Cook potatoes in boiling, salted water. Cool, peel and cut into cubes. Add celery, onion, eggs. Salt and pepper to taste. Mix mayonnaise, pickle liquor and pickles thoroughly. Combine potatoes and mayonnaise mixture, mixing gently.

Pickle Egg Salad Sandwich Filling
6 hard-cooked eggs
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup finely diced celery

Olive Fruit Salad
1 cup whole ripe olives
1/2 cup cottage cheese
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 tablespoon chopped chives
1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish
4 canned cling peach halves (or fresh)
Shredded lettuce
Paprika
French dressing

Cut olives from pits into small pieces. Blend with cheese, parsley, chives and pickle relish. When you get to the picnic, arrange peach halves, cut side up on beds of shredded lettuce. Cover generously with olive and cheese filling, sprinkle with paprika and serve with French dressing, which you have brought in its own separate jar.

All Berries Need Careful Handling
Berry time is here! That means plenty of blueberries, blackberries, and all the rest. But no matter what kind of berries you are using, remember they all need careful handling, says Mrs. Lorna K. White, Monmouth county home agent. This holds true in handling them after they've been picked and in canning or freezing.

When it is necessary to hold berries for several days or even a few hours, spread them out as much as possible so they don't mash or mildew. A large platter is a good thing to use, if you have room for it in the refrigerator. Then cover this with waxed paper.

Washing, too, should be done very carefully just before using them. Use a colander or strainer and always a very fine spray or water to prevent bruising. Another way to wash them is to place the colander in a pan of water and float the berries in this. Then carefully lift the colander from the water, drain the berries well, and they're ready to use.

Now to can berries, place them in clean, hot jars. Pour a hot sugar syrup over the berries and seal the jars according to the type of closure being used. Process in a boiling water bath for the recommended time.

Blueberries may be canned without sugar, syrup or water. Place the cleaned berries in a cheesecloth bag and blanch them in boiling water for 20 to 30 seconds, or until blue spots appear on the cheesecloth. Dip the berries in cold water, drain and pack them in hot jars as tightly as possible without crushing. Process the jar in a boiling water bath 20 minutes for pints and 25 minutes for quarts.

To freeze blueberries, simply place cleaned fruit in a moisture-vapor-proof carton, cover with 50% sugar syrup, seal and they are ready to deep freeze. For blackberries or dewberries, dry-pack 4 plus 1. This means use four pounds of berries to one pound, or two cups of dry sugar. A 60% sugar syrup can also be used.

Don't Misuse Electricity

Electricity can be a dependable and inexpensive servant in the farm home. But the way it is used and how the equipment and wiring are kept make the difference between a good servant and one that causes unnecessary accidents and fires, says Mrs. Lorna K. White, Monmouth county home agent.

Even the best wiring and equipment needs a little attention now and then. Watch for loose outlets or switches. Damaged or worn out fixtures, particularly electric cords leading to appliances or lamps, are danger spots in the farm home. Be smart and safe! Repair them immediately. If you have a toaster or any other piece of equipment which gives you a shock, be sure that it is fixed before it is used again.

You're inviting danger if you try to make a burned-out fuse work again. That is like tying down a safety valve on a steam engine. When a fuse blows out it is a sign that something is wrong somewhere. It may be an overloaded circuit, or it may be faulty wiring or defective equipment. Find out what warning the fuse is giving you. Then, after you have located and corrected the trouble, replace the burned-out fuse with a good one of the same size.

The electric iron that someone forgot to turn off is at the top of the list of household fire hazards. Form the habit of always disconnecting an iron, not merely turning it off before you leave it even for a few minutes. Minutes do stretch into hours!

Another hazard in the farm home is the extension cord that is hung over a nail or run through door cracks or under rugs. Don't have "corditis". Plan for plenty of outlets. Have more put in if you need them.

Even innocent-looking light bulbs can be dangerous fire hazards if they are allowed to come too close to clothing, draperies or other flammable materials. Watch the position of your lights.

National Farm Safety Week—July 20 to 28—is a good time to check your home, says Mrs. White. Find out what fire and accident hazards exist. Plan to eliminate as many of these as possible. Remember that carelessness on the part of any member of the family perils the lives and happiness of all.

Sort berries when you first buy them but don't cap them until just before using them. Spread them out on a platter, if they are to be kept for a few days or even several hours, and cover them with waxed paper. Store them in the refrigerator.

BLACKBERRY MOUSSE

(Recipe Serves Four)

1 1/2 cups blackberries
1/4 cup sugar
2 tablespoons corn syrup
Few grains salt
1 teaspoon gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
1 cup cream

Pick over, wash and hull blackberries. Reserve four of the largest and sprinkle remaining with sugar. Let stand at room temperature for one hour and mash. Rub through a sieve. Add the corn syrup, salt and gelatin which has been soaking in cold water and dissolve over hot water. Chill and fold in cream which has been beaten stiff. Place in individual molds and freeze without stirring. Garnish each mold with a berry.

RASPBERRY HARD SAUCE

(Recipe Serves Four)

1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup confectioner's sugar
1/2 cup raspberries
1 egg white
Work butter until creamy. Add sugar slowly and beat in raspberries. Fold in egg white which has been beaten stiff.

Home Economics Briefs

New Jersey home-makers report that the chief causes of home accidents are fatigue or carelessness, defective or misused equipment, poor or inadequate housekeeping and unsafe work habits. Each of these CAN be remedied.

To safeguard young children, never leave containers of hot liquids near the edge of a stove or table. Tiny hands can easily grab onto pots and upset them. Serious injury and even death often result.

Never wash berries until just before serving time. Place them in a pan of cold water and move them about gently. Then lift them out, drain well, cap and serve.

When you are making dresses of cotton or rayon, reinforce the waistline with a piece of cotton twill tape. This adds strength and keeps the waistline from stretching.

Summer squash lends itself as readily to stuffing as does chicken. So, if your family shows a lack of interest in this delicious vegetable, try it with your favorite filling, and watch the change in their attitude toward squash.

For Your InformationMore On Men's Shirts

One way in which the men of the family can eliminate unnecessary wear on shirt collars—particularly in collar attached shirts—is to slip the necktie into place before donning the shirt, thus avoiding the common practice of putting on the shirt, buttoning it at the neck, then forcing up the collar to put on the tie and forcing it back into position when the tie is in place.

Another tip for men in making shirt collars last longer is to specify only light or medium starching instead of heavy starching, which causes the fibers in the collar to be brittle and subject to early breakage no matter how much care is taken in folding the collar.

V.F.W. Endorses Loyalty Bill

Approves Legislation Before Congress

The bill in Congress, providing for dismissal of Federal employees of doubtful loyalty and screening of future applicants has been endorsed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

In explaining the V.F.W.'s stand on the bill today, Joseph T. Weeks, commander of Vernon A. Brown post, V.F.W. of Red Bank, said John C. Williamson, V.F.W. assistant legislative director, told the House Civil Service committee in hearings, "It is indeed a sad commentary of our times that such legislation is necessary."

While urging enactment of the bill, Weeks said, the V.F.W. spokesman suggested the following four amendments:

That lists of subversive or "front" organizations, which the bill would have the attorney general designate, be made public if persons were to be fired for belonging to such groups.

That charges of disloyalty be resolved to the point of "reasonable doubt." Under the present bill "reasonable doubt" is resolved in favor of the government. Weeks said Williamson pointed out that being branded as disloyal to the government is as serious as being declared a felon.

That information other than that pertaining to loyalty of the individual be withheld from the individual's agency chief. For example, a bad credit rating or arrest in a minor case uncovered during a probe should not be passed along to become prejudicial against the employee.

Approval of an appeals board, appointed by the President and ratified by the Senate, to reconsider decisions of the loyalty board.

Republicans To Hold Dance At West End

The Affiliated Republican club of Monmouth county is sponsoring a dance to be held tomorrow night at the West End casino. This will be the outstanding social event of the summer season. Music will be furnished by Marty Ames and his famous orchestra, as well as Argus and his rhumba band. A floor show will also be given of well known acts.

William B. Kirsch is chairman. It is expected the high ranking officials of the county as well as the state will attend. Dress is informal.

Rumson Soldier Lives In Jap Art Museum

Technician Fifth Grade Wilfred W. West, son of Mrs. Percy West of 24 Center street, Rumson, is now serving with the U. S. Army of Occupation in Southern Japan. He is assigned to the 58th Signal battalion located in Kyoto, world-famous "City of Shrines," where he is the team chief with the first construction team of the battalion. Members of the battalion are engaged in maintenance and care of all communication systems and equipment in the Kyoto area, in addition to carrying on other military duties as soldiers of the American occupation.

Quartered in one of the most ornate billets in Japan, personnel assigned to this unit can boast literally of "dwelling in marble halls." Prior to the war this building was one of the most exclusive museums of modern art in all Japan.

West, enlisted in the army in October, 1946, at Fort Dix. He arrived in Japan in December, 1946.

Presbyterian Group Has Picnic Supper

An outdoor picnic supper was held recently at the home of Mrs. Robert K. Bursley on North Sunnycrest drive, Little Silver, by members of the Young Women's Bible class of the Red Bank Presbyterian church. A general social period was enjoyed after the supper and games were played on the lawn.

A short business session was conducted by Mrs. Charles Gotschalk, Sr., president. The name of the organization was unanimously changed, and will now be known as the "Thursday Evening group." The young women will hold meetings the third Thursday of each month. Plans were also discussed for a bazaar in November. Mrs. Lilian Hagen of Sunnycrest was welcomed as a new member. There will be no meeting in August but plans are being completed for a dinner party Thursday, September 18.

Others present were Miss Norma Norman, Miss Frances P. Sherwood, Mrs. Reginald P. Lyman, Mrs. Harold Latta, Mrs. Louis Connors, Mrs. Mahlon Anderson Grimes, Jr., Mrs. Harry C. F. Worden and Mrs. Albert W. Worden.

The Season For Fairs

The season for community fairs is at its height. In general, the fairs conducted by volunteer firemen, veterans and other organizations are not netting the big profits of the last few years, but more and more communities and organizations are holding them every year.

In many communities they have replaced the harvest home suppers, which were a local social event as well as a reliable source of income for the sponsoring organization. Firemen's fairs which feature firemen's night for visiting firemen from miles around have done much to promote a closer and more friendly relationship among volunteer fire companies.

Fairs of this kind accomplish their purpose if they do nothing more than promote a community spirit of friendliness which is usually attained by groups of people working hard together for a common purpose.

The President's Veto

The New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce issues some interesting facts concerning President Truman's veto of the federal income tax reduction bill last week. The veto, not including corporations, cost New Jersey taxpayers approximately $120,000,000, which sum would more than pay the running expenses, excluding debt service, of the entire public school system in the state for one year; it is more than twice the operating cost of the entire state government, not including state aid to counties and municipalities; it is $6,000,000 more than the property taxes levied for financing the governments of all New Jersey municipalities during 1947, and it is estimated that the average tax loss for each of New Jersey's 1,110,000 families amounts to approximately $118.

The Chamber's statement adds, "It is highly unlikely that the billions taken from the American taxpayers by the President's veto of the tax bills will be used for debt reduction. Instead, all indications are that the money will be consumed by additional government spending which will increase the dangers of inflation.

"The cost of living today is 56 per cent higher than in pre-war 1940, but the cost of federal peace-time government is more than 300 per cent higher than it was then. President Truman's record peace-time budget of $37,500,000,000 for the fiscal year 1949 tells only part of the story of the Administration's activities this year in behalf of the spenders and against the American taxpayers. Since he submitted his budget to Congress in January, the President has sent nearly 200 additional supplemental requests to Congress for its approval."

Three Senators who voted to sustain the President's veto, have since been quoted to the effect that taxes can be reduced in 1948. If they can be reduced next year, then they can be reduced this year. As far as the cost of maintaining an adequate defense is concerned, the taxpayers will gladly go along with the President's recommendations, but it is a known fact that many government agencies, far too many, give no thought to economy. It is a known fact that these agencies, when the end of the fiscal year approaches, spend the people's money recklessly so as to use up the entire appropriation, for if any balance is left, they fear their appropriation will be cut correspondingly. The complex, overlapping, interlocking and whatever you may call it system of bureaus that infests our federal government (thanks to the New Deal) costs the taxpayers billions annually. Wiping out a lot of them would not only help the country financially, but it also would put an end to government by directives.

Testing For Alcohol

The Harger breath test, a simple, portable and accurate apparatus for the rapid measurement of alcohol by analysis of breath, has come in for its share of publicity lately in the nationwide campaign to combat drunken driving. The Harger test is manufactured at Red Bank by the Stephenson corporation of Broad street.

Blood and breath tests have been adopted by several states and are under consideration by the New Jersey state legislature to be used by those municipal police departments who believe in them. The tests in general are not compulsory.

With the tests the non-drinker and the mild drinker are spared the embarrassment of an unjust arrest. The tests result in a much higher proportion of guilty pleas and a higher percentage of convictions in cases which go to trial.

Police have trouble proving that obviously guilty drivers were under the influence. The possibilities of illness, taking of medicine and of injury in the accident are used as successful defenses to enable the guilty to go free. Chemical tests of blood, urine or breath show definitely whether there is sufficient alcohol in the blood stream and the brain to cause intoxication. Their use eliminates guess work by showing whether a drinking driver has enough alcohol in his system to be legally under its influence.

Chemical tests have been approved by the American Medical association, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the International Association of Chiefs of Police and the National Safety council.

The National Safety council contends that, "Chemical tests of body fluids or breath should be used in all cases where influence of alcoholic liquor is suspected. A level of alcohol in the blood above 0.15 per cent should be considered as definite evidence that the person is under the influence of alcohol from the standpoint of motor vehicle operation."

The average person who has drunk six to seven ounces of whiskey or six to seven bottles of beer will show a level of alcohol in the blood of close to 0.15 per cent and should not drive a car.

The Educator And Safety

No one is in a better position to render the youth of this nation a great and humanitarian service than is the educator planning driver education in the high school. The need and value in driver training lies squarely in the fact that traffic accidents are not the result of some inevitable fate, but are caused by human failure.

Youth is inherently disrespectful of danger. This is not a weakness, but is a typical trait of the human being, particularly so of young Americans because of the freedoms they enjoy. Unfortunately, however, they too often dissipate their reckless, adventurous spirit through the operation of motor vehicles at high rates of speed and in taking chances with safety.

Traffic accident experience has proved that young drivers, 16 to 20 years of age, are involved in five times as many fatal accidents as are drivers in the 45-60 age group. These facts are indicative of an alarming situation which carries a clear-cut challenge to the high schools of the nation.

To offset our tragic annual loss in lives and property in traffic, we strongly urge acceptance of the principle, based upon the considered opinion of those with long years of experience in accident prevention, that the most effective medium for achievement of a permanent reduction of traffic accidents lies in teaching high school boys and girls the intelligent and safe use of the automobile. The formative years of youth present the greatest opportunity for development of proper driver attitudes and manipulative skills.

A learned educator has stated: "The chief function of the high school is to teach our young people to do better those desirable things which they are going to do anyway." Driving is not only a desirable activity, but a necessary one in our economic life.

Bill Of Rights For Labor

Commenting on the Taft-Hartley labor bill, Representative Ralph W. Gwinn said: "The framers of this bill of rights for labor believe that when union men take back their own unions and manage them for themselves without fear of management or labor bosses, industrial peace will come. That is the hope in the return of freedom under this bill."

That is a sound statement—and a sound definition of the purposes of the bill. It precisely stipulates that union members have the right to know how much money their union has and what it is used for. They have the right to choose their union officers by secret ballot in free elections. They have the right to select as their bargaining agent the union they want—not the union that is forced on them. They have the right to a fair hearing, before an impartial board, whenever they may believe that either the employer or the union is discriminating against them.

The bill does not deprive labor of any right which is consistent with American principles and the public welfare. It does, on the other hand, reaffirm that the individual worker has basic and vitally important rights of which he cannot be deprived by either unions or industry. It is aimed straight at the union racketeer boss—and at the exploiting employer as well.

The measure is in the interest of the rank and file—of the millions of men and women who make up America's working force. It may not be perfect. It may need early revision in some particulars. But it is based upon the sound principle that free labor must be safe-guarded—and that the intolerable abuses of power of some labor leaders, no less than of some employers, must be stopped.

NUISANCE IN THE AIR

It won't be long now before legitimate transportation is crowded out of the air. And the airplane, hailed as an advanced form of travel, will be converted into a common nuisance.

That, at least, is the trend in this area. Yesterday we had occasion to complain of stunting pilots who endanger life and property below by showing off their daring and lack of good sense, by indulging in stunts over crowded areas. But their antics are not the only annoyance in the skies. There is also a trend to convert the sky into a gigantic talking billboard.

What with blimps flashing advice on the purchase of an automobile, planes pulling streamers with a sensational message on how to avoid sunburn, and other aircraft pouring out smoke to inform the sweltering populace on the virtue of fur coats, we had hoped that the limit had been reached. But now the ears as well as the eyes are offended. From aloft comes a raucous voice advertising something or other to shatter whatever peace has not already been disturbed by the drone of airplane motors. Most communities will not permit sound trucks without a permit, but apparently it is permissible to make as much noise as possible if you are not on the ground. —Asbury Park Evening Press.

VACATION BUSINESS

The Department of Commerce estimates that by the end of the year, Americans will have spent from six to ten billion dollars on vacations.

Fifty-five million of us, well over a third of the total population, will visit at least one of the summer resorts. Some 18,000,000 swimming suits will be sold. In department stores alone, women are expected to spend more than a quarter of a billion dollars on sportswear.

In reservations for a summer vacation the demand will exceed the supply. During the war years—when gasoline was rationed, rail travel was unpleasantly crowded, and anyhow, we were asked to stick to essential jobs—many resort accommodations were allowed to deteriorate.

With building materials so scarce and building labor so high, there hasn't been enough rebuilding to accommodate all those who want to go away this summer. Prices won't be what they used to be, either.

Catering to vacationers and tourists has become big business. Even ten years ago there were some 13,500 tourist courts or camps, comprising 180,000 rental units, accommodating tourists alone. In New Mexico tourism has become the most important single industry of the state, and even in heavily populated states like California and Pennsylvania it isn't far from being the largest single source of revenue. —Oakland Tribune.

SWINDLERS GRAB $500,000,000

A $500 million annual swindle is being imposed on the people of this country by fakes, thieves and crooks who are parasites living off the gullibility and friendliness of American housewives.

These are the men and women who prey upon the public with fake stocks, bonds and merchandise and in the interest of charities which do not exist.

There isn't a single reason why the American people should permit the fakers from swindling them out of their hard-earned money. The people themselves are to blame for doing business with strangers who promise everything and give nothing. Get-rich-quick schemes are thriving today as a rebound from the war. And there still are a lot of suckers falling for the ideas.

When a man or woman comes to your door, don't have pity or mercy on him or her. If he or she is soliciting for charity, be sure you know of the charity and that you know the solicitor. If someone tries to sell you something at your door, investigate first and if the salesman can't deliver, call your Chamber of Commerce Better Business bureau, call local authorities, the police department or the county attorney. They are interested in these people, even more than you might suspect. A great many of these solicitors have records which are shady enough to warrant police investigation.

Don't be a sucker! The same swindlers who try to sell you non-existent goods, stocks or bonds, are in the charity rackets, too. They fake up a high-sounding charity which appeals to the emotions. Watch these people! Maybe they only want a dime or a quarter, but they'll take anything from $1,000 up, depending upon your gullibility! Don't let these swindlers trade you out of your goods, stocks and bonds, or anything else that you own. They are smooth talkers and can sell non-existent iceboxes to Eskimos.

There are a lot of suckers left in this world. Don't you be one. It certainly isn't complimentary to the American people that they lost $500 million every year to swindlers. —Wichita Beacon.

A LOGICAL SOLUTION TO PROBLEM

The Town Commission's decision to install 715 new parking meters in the town's all-day parking lots should be met with widespread approval, but already there has been some protest registered against the plan.

In the first place, meters are being placed in the all-day parking plazas to prevent the cost of this program from becoming "a burden on the taxpayer." Installation of meters in these plazas will eliminate all-day parking, an evil existing in virtually all four of the present areas, but particularly in The Crescent Plaza.

HOW MANY YEARS BAD LUCK?

Montclair is far ahead of most suburban municipalities in providing off-street parking facilities, and hardly a day passes without queries from nearby towns concerning the local program. Such off-street plazas cost money, but the revenue derived from some 300-odd meters in Bloomfield Avenue, Church and South Park Streets during the past ten years has offset the cost of financing the purchase and improvement of the four improved areas—The Crescent Plaza, Watching Plaza, Upper Montclair Plaza and at the Walnut Street Station of the Erie Railroad. Montclair receives approximately $18,000 per year from the present meters.

The ordinance just introduced by the Commission, which will be given a public hearing on Tuesday night, July 29, calls for an appropriation of $60,000 to pay for the 715 new meters.

As Commissioner Alan W. Hastings, Director of Public Works, points out, metering of The Crescent Plaza for three-hour parking would eliminate all-day parking and with a turnover of two and a half cars daily, provide parking space for the streets for a total of 420 cars, as against 130 at present.

With space for 433 cars in the present four areas, the Commission is planning three more such off-street areas, Maple Plaza, Fuller Park and Glenridge Avenue. Local commuters will be interested in learning that the town proposes to levy a fee of $10 per year for all-day parking in lots adjacent to railroad stations, with a $20 fee for out-of-town commuters from Montclair stations.

It is sound financing to have meter revenue pay for the cost of providing off-street parking. This is a long-range program and we feel certain that with increased traffic congestion such a project will reap dividends manyfold. —Montclair Times.

WHERE MUST WE STOP?

So congressional approval has now put the United States into the International Refugee Organization. We are heartily glad to see this overdue step taken and American moral responsibilities toward the refugees recognized.

But during the debate preceding approval, not opposition developed to further American aid to peoples abroad, and it was repeatedly asserted: "We must stop somewhere."

This reflects a serious concern by many Americans—a concern voiced by Herbert Hoover and some others—that the United States shall not bankrupt itself in the process of helping to get the rest of the world on its feet. But too often it is assumed that limits must be put on American aid at the point where it might cause a pinch in American life. Behind this is the casual assumption that a sound American prosperity is possible in a bankrupt world.

A country that is living, producing and eating as the United States is, that is talking of reducing its taxes (if not this year, then next), that has the world's markets clamoring for its goods, needs to fear chiefly the bankruptcy of its own wisdom. It is wisdom to recognize that American no less than world interests—and the two are in reality one—demand that the emphasis in American aid be put not on its limits but on its speed, efficiency, adequacy, and enlightened purposes.—The Christian Science Monitor.

AGE OF ADVERTISING

When, as now, 60,000,000 persons in a vast nation where the name of God is invoked publicly as often as that of democracy have no church affiliations, the church itself must adopt drastic measures. Not so long ago, a house of worship that emblazoned its name in electric lights was looked upon with awe. The preacher who dabbled in political affairs was somewhat suspect. The bishop who got as much publicity as a diplomat seemed to many to be betraying traditional dignity.

Today, however, many faiths are aware that times have changed. They know that old-fashioned methods of attracting new recruits to the faith lack universal appeal. They realize that the church must be militant in a high-pressure age full of unvarying competition.

The National Council of the Protestant Episcopal church has decided to launch a vast advertising campaign, aimed at the non-shipwrecking 60,000,000. Few businesses of today would keep heads above water without advertising. The wares of religion as well as the wares of commercial marts have to be brought to the attention of busy folk. And if the religious wares are attractive enough, if they offer something that mod-

FREE DANCING AND GROUND PRIZES NIGHTLYTraffic Officers Show Teen Aged Safety Rules*Part Of National Highway Program To Save Lives

Roscoe L. West, chairman, National Commission on Safety Education, recently stated that a million and a half new drivers will get behind the wheel this year. Almost all of them will be teen-agers in their third or fourth year of high school. Unless the nation's educators responsible for the training of these youths recognize the importance of safety education, the new drivers will be a million and a half potential menaces to life and limb on our streets and highways.

Not only is there a responsibility for establishing driver education in the schools, but it is important that once such courses are inaugurated they be conducted in such a way as to enhance the interest of the students. The most desired type of training is actual behind-the-wheel instruction with dual-control training automobiles. Many school systems cannot yet afford such equipment, however. For them there is an alternative in conducted tours of safety and traffic agencies.

Field trips have a terrific effect on the teen-agers' minds. They see people actually working on meaningful problems. The facts are there before them, and seeing is believing.

Teen-agers are much more interested in taking an active part in things they know about and understand. This basic principle can be applied to their present record in traffic accidents. They may be aware that their records as drivers is the worst of any age group, and that casualties are mounting at a serious rate, but they aren't going to feel personally responsible for bettering their traffic record unless they have an understanding of what the traffic problems are and what can be done to solve them.

A well planned field trip might open the eyes of teen-agers and show them how they can improve their record. Let them see how their city or state copes with the traffic problem.

There are several city offices or state departments that would be well worth visiting on such a field trip. A few of the more important are the traffic court, the highway department, the traffic engineer's office, and the accident record bureau.

While considering such a project, it is well to be informed about the sorts of things encountered in viewing traffic problems "from the other side of the fence."

In the highway department, plans are being drawn and studied for new construction and improvement of existing roads. Data on traffic volume, origin and destination of traffic, costs of right-of-way and materials, and selection of routes to be built or improved may be seen by and explained to students.

If it is a state highway department, there may be a materials testing laboratory where, following experimentation, decisions are made about how road beds may be laid and what surfacing the roads should have for durability and safety. The equipment, methods and costs have a direct bearing on traffic safety.

To improve motor vehicle travel, almost every state and many large cities employ traffic engineers whose main job is to make streets and highways safer and more efficient for the drivers who use them. Here are spot maps showing where and how different types of accidents have occurred. The traffic engineer is generally responsible for installing traffic control signals, signs and pavement markings. These activities are directly related to the interests of new or would-be drivers in the teen-age group.

State motor vehicle departments, highway patrols, and local police departments usually have accident record divisions where information on all reported accidents is available for study and use. Here is data on the number of traffic accidents by type, location, and persons involved. Much other information, such as weather and road conditions, cause of accidents and types of vehicles involved, is tabulated in the accident record division for a variety of uses.

In the traffic court the details of serious traffic accidents are given a public hearing, with statements from those involved in an accident and witnesses who saw it or were on the scene shortly after the accident occurred. Hearing a traffic case as it is tried in court, is a very valuable experience for the teen-ager.

The opportunities for teen-agers to see "traffic safety in the making" are many and varied. Any resourceful teacher can, through projects such as are suggested here, provide valuable learning experience.

SAFETY TIP OF THE WEEK.

Did you have eggs for breakfast? Lots of people do—eggs taste good, they're good for you, and besides, they're quickly prepared when you're late for work and time is precious.

Lives are precious, too. In the three minutes or so while your breakfast eggs were boiling, at least two pedestrians were killed or injured somewhere on the nation's highways—or maybe in your community. While you were eating, another ten or more met with disaster.

Chances are 3 to 1 those victims were in a hurry—they took the short way across the middle of the block, instead of the safe way at the crosswalk. They stepped out suddenly from behind a parked car, instead of looking both ways to see if the road was clear, or waiting until the traffic light turned green.

National Conservation Bureau safety specialists report that impatience is the nation's Number One highway killer. Time is precious—sure! But not enough to pay for it with a life.

Highlands Officials Testify At Hearing

Mayor And Councilmen Explain Why They Favored Closed Plant

Highlands Mayor A. Meade Robertson and Highlands Councilman Louis Loder, Jr., during final deposition hearings in the borough water case Monday, testified they were not given or promised any financial or other benefits for awarding the borough water plant contract to the Layne company of New York.

Theodore D. Parsons, Red Bank attorney, at whose office the testimony was taken, represented the Layne company and John M. Pillsbury represented the borough of Highlands. While Judge Ward Kremer of Asbury Park represented Raymond Travls, president of the American Drilling company, unsuccessful bidder, and the Highlands Property Owners' association.

The hearings chiefly concerned a resolution on the minutes of the borough of Highlands in which the borough ordered Engineer Craig Finnegan to prepare alternate specifications for the water plant.

Councilman George V. Brown, chairman of the water committee, said he voted for the resolution but did not feel it limited the alternate bid to the Layne company but felt it did require the bidder to plan for a closed-type plant.

Councilman Brown said he had visited various plants in the county and this, plus reports from several engineers, helped him to decide that a closed type plant was the best for the borough.

He explained that after the first bids were all recalled because they exceeded the amount the borough wanted to spend, Mr. Travls's bid was not considered because it did not answer the specifications of the alternate bid. Councilman Brown emphasized the poor water situation in the borough and stated that complaints were being received every day. Under the present open system now in operation in Highlands, he pointed out the tanks only contain about ten feet of water and present a dangerous situation in case of fires. He felt a closed type system would solve the problem in this respect and also in the respect that it would eliminate criticism from the state board of health for not keeping the whole plant closed to keep out waste matter.

He explained that during last summer, water from Atlantic Highlands was secured to aid the allegedly poor Highlands condition.

During cross-examination by Judge Kremer, Mr. Brown said he visited several plants before making his decision and that contact with Layne officials was not the reason why he preferred a closed system, which is manufactured by Layne.

After Judge Kremer read the resolution from the borough minutes in which no mention, he claimed, had been made eliminating the open-type system for bidding, Mr. Brown admitted that the resolution permitted bidding by a company presenting an open-type plant.

After Mr. Brown said he knew several plants in the county were of the open type but stated this was because they were out-moded, Mr. Kremer brought out the fact that the Property Owners' association had asked for the removal of Mr. Brown from the council on the ground that he is no longer a resident of Highlands. Both Mr. Parsons and Mr. Pillsbury objected to this statement, but Judge Kremer felt the objections were out of order because Mr. Brown, in not being a resident, could not have the good faith of the borough in saving its taxpayers money in the awarding of the contract.

"Do you feel, Mr. Brown, that an extra $8,000 (the difference in the Layne and American Drilling company offers) was justified in being spent for a closed-type system?"

"Yes. We had a closed-type plant in mind when we thought the whole thing out".

Mr. Brown said that the Goff report, (a report by an engineer submitted to the borough), the advice of Mr. Finnegan plus his personal visits to other plants helped him make his decision in choosing a closed-type plant.

Mayor Robertson related how he has received many phone calls and letters from residents protesting the water situation in the borough. He told of the reports of the state board of health which requested that all parts of the plant had to be covered. The reports submitted to the borough and personal consultations with engineers and members of the borough council led him to feel that the closed-type system would be the best for the borough.

When asked by Judge Kremer if he felt the resolution called for bids on an open-type system, the mayor answered, "I would be crazy if I wanted an open-type system." Judge Kremer then told the mayor that he would not spend $71,000 for two wells from the American Drilling company but would spend $69,000 for one well from Layne.

Councilman Loder testified that the present Highlands plant was out-moded. He said he wanted the plant to be closed and did not vote for anything that would permit bidding on an open-type plant. He denied that he voted for anything that would eliminate all bids but that of Layne and concerning the resolution said he was not familiar with the wording. "I did not think the resolution meant that," said the councilman.

After denying that he had received or had been promised any financial benefits for voting for the Layne contract, Mr. Loder said he had studied the water situation before he was elected councilman at the first of this year.

A decision in the case, the testimony for which has taken several months, is expected to be handed down in August.

Higher Train Rates Asked

Examiner Burton Fuller recommended Saturday to the Interstate Commerce commission that Jersey Central and other applicants receive all the increases in rates which they are now seeking at public hearings in Newark.

If the recommendation is accepted by the I.C.C., shore commuters will be confronted with a 15 to 25 per cent increase monthly in ticket costs. A tentative rate comparison showed that the rate on a first class ticket to a point on the New York-Long Branch railroad now $14.50, would be $18.80.

Examiner Burton asked the I.C.C. to permit the increases to become effective in five days' notice, but there was no indication when the commission would act.

Watson Labs
To Show Planes

Part Of Exhibit
On Air Force Day

The opportunity of inspecting many of the planes of the Army Air Forces which took part in the crushing of Germany and Japan during the last war will be offered visitors to the air show being sponsored by the Watson laboratories of the Air Material command at the Monmouth county airport, Route 34, Wall township, on Air Force Day, Friday, August 1. On the field and open for inspection will be at least one B-17, better known as the Flying Fortress; a P-51 fighter, a C-46 and several other ships of various types. These planes will be set up so that visitors may go all through the planes and personally inspect the cockpit, gunner's positions and other parts.

There also will be many interesting exhibits of radar, radio and electronic equipment rarely shown to the general public, and actual demonstrations of C.A.A. landings, interceptor systems in actual operation and many radio radar and navigational guides.

The show will get under way at 1:30 p. m., and invitations have been extended to high-ranking national, state and local dignitaries.

Union Beach Council To Sell 52 Lots

A tract of 52 lots in the Morning-side avenue section, borough owned, will be offered at public sale either by bulk or individual lots. It was decided at the meeting of the Union Beach mayor and council Thursday night.

An offer of $1,500 has been received for the tract. The public sale will be conducted at the next council meeting August 7. Following Councilman Paul Kolodziej's suggestion the resolution adopted for the sale was changed to incorporate the plan of selling individual lots as well as the whole tract, whichever is greater, and subject to confirmation of the council.

Councilman Edwin Haug urged the immediate sale of all property held under lease and Acting Mayor George Pickering, although stressing that such a plan needs careful consideration, stated that the borough shouldn't be in the real estate business and should get out of it as soon as possible.

Council approved the election of five new members: Rudolph Cherny, Bernard W. Chenoweth, John Kaluzinski and Fred W. Pohke, Union Beach Fire company, and Henry Hardy of Harris Garden Hose company.

A request received from an artist for permission to paint the Natco settlement in the borough was granted. Councilman John J. Muller reported that the "stop-atreet" signs have been received and are being placed around the borough.

PLOWING UP THE FAIRWAYS:—Jack Welsh is now assistant to Jim Martyn at Rumson Country club. The change was effected Monday. In his place at Old Orchard is Ray Daley, former assistant at Colonial Terrace. Ray will continue as night professional at Colonial's driving range. . . . When the season's prizes are awarded at Old Orchard, Arthur Harry should be in for a special award. Rain or shine, he is on hand and he generally gets to the course before the golf shop is open. . . . The fourth annual prom member tournament at Deal Golf club goes Saturday. It has drawn the state's best professionals and is a real party for the big Calcutta at Spring Lake August 10, when the top prize in the country will be on hand. . . . Five were tied for Sunday's kicker's at Old Orchard. They were Cap Frank Downs (91), Dr. Leon Relander (91), Joe Coles (89), Mike Strollo (83) and John "Chubby" Eager (90). . . . Qualifying round for the club championship of Colonial Terrace starts Sunday. Lm Cesario, pro at that tricky layout, will arrange pairings. Award will be the Cello Gonzalez Memorial trophy. He is the late builder and founder of Colonial. . . . Jack McGalliard zipped around Old Orchard Sunday for a nifty one-under-par 71. . . . Father Leo Cox, a trap shot artist if we have ever seen one, continues to be a threat in the George Sullivan trophy tournament.

RED BANK'S AQUABELLE, 15-year-old Maureen O'Brien, Saturday night added another championship to her list of swimming laurels, this time as state champion in the senior women's division for 50-meter free style. She will defend her other senior state title, 100-meter backstroke, Sunday at Planders.

Remarkable thing about Saturday's victory is that Maureen has been practicing free style but three weeks. In annexing the crown at Lake Mohawk, it marked the second time she has been in any competition in the free style.

Jim Reilly, veteran swimming instructor at Rutgers university, has coached the youngster since January. His enthusiasm about her aquatic possibilities is abundant and sincere and he is quick to predict great things for her.

In coping her most recent title, Maureen thrilled her coach and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William O'Brien of Front street. Her time was 34.5, a bare two-tenths of a second better than her nearest competitor in a field of 18. In winning, she showed the heart of a champion and the stamina which is the fruit of persistent practice over a period of many months.

Maureen should be in fit condition for Sunday's competition. She has recently participated in meets in several parts of the state and has added seven more medals for firsts in them. Her collection of awards is now getting near the size requiring cataloging. The Sports Register joins with all the Red Bankers rooting her in to a successful defense of the title she won last summer.

IT IS A SHAME the Rotary-Lion softball game held a week ago yesterday at the annual Rotary clam bake could not have been performed before a larger audience. . . . The inter-club contest had so many highlights, and so much scoring, it would require reams of paper to record them. . . . Unforgettable items, however, included Bill Sherwood's home run. There was some discussion as to whether or not Bill's clout was added to extra-base length via Lion errors, but Sir William, at least, is certain it was a legitimate belt. . . . The Lions lost, 21 to 2, more or less, but they uncorked a triple play which should prove the source of conversation at least one Tuesday night in the future when that club meets at Molly Pitcher. . . . Mink Heller, at shortstop, nabbed a liner and bobbled it like a professional jugster until the ball fell into Frank Fingert's mitt. . . . Fortunately, Frank was standing on second for the force-out and his peg to first caught the runner off the sack. The Heller gymnastics might have been improved had there been a dance band handy, but it cut playing time by a good hour, nevertheless. Bill Bradley now realizes that the umpire decides on foul balls. He learned after he let Charlie Gallagher's single to left field go for a homer. A couple benchwarmers told us they thought Bill was simply trying to test Charlie's endurance. . . . Gene Bush was much too effective as a hurler for the Rotarians, but he was ably supported by heavy-hitting pinch-hitters V. P. Wilkinson, Danny Dondi and Judge John V. Crowell. . . . The Lions would have liked to let Jim Humphreys pitch the entire game, but they feared darkness would prevent ever getting to eat the loads of clams, fish, chicken and lobster on hand. . . . Ed Conway proved he had a good throwing arm, but he didn't particularly care where he-heaved the apple.

MONMOUTH PARK:—Best advice we have heard are the pleas being sent Monmouth Park to increase the values of their purses and stake races. Undoubtedly when next year's condition book is prepared, track officials are going to boost some of the antes. Anything conservative will be a waste of time, because it is almost getting so that $100,000 is about the only sure way to draw the best in horse flesh. Week-day races should have purses big enough to attract more better-regarded stables, sending some of these fugitives from a milk wagon back to proper pasture.

Before Monmouth Park opened, there were plenty who looked upon the beautiful plant as a spot where undesirable characters would have a field day. That thought has neither been substantiated nor completely erased in two seasons of operation.

It is known that on some days the gee goes ran according to form and on others were strictly haywire. That is something the most sincere track official cannot correct. It is also realized that a losing bettor couldn't be made happy if Stevens gave Scotch and sodas away for ripped-up mutual tickets. Unfortunately, no one is able to ask a horse if he feels like running a race on a particular day. They tell us there is always that seed piece of speculation which reached to making a bet on a horse. It does not, however, that a reasonable request to state officials and track operators would be one asking for the institution of a system to assure horses being in condition when they take to the track. It is no secret that "three-legged" animals have struggled around the Oceanport oval.

Horse racing is the sport of kings, a type personnel of which there is an ever-growing scarcity. To replace royalty, a lot of two-dollar bettors have eagerly answered the call to all. The should realize the old words of wisdom about horse bettors dying broke and that betting is a difficult way to make a living. Some do. It would give the others consolation if every suspected case of inconsistent running or lackadaisical riding were given a determined investigation, with the findings well publicized.

INCIDENTS AND INCIDENTALS:—The Red Bank Legion has been granted use of the high school athletic field for Sunday football this fall. It is good news, because it means that Red Bank will definitely field a team in the Shore Football league. . . . Rumson Veterans meet the Newark Westside Bears at their high school field Sunday. The Vets have a four and four win-loss count. . . . Mitty Aschettino must have felt wonderful Sunday when he was tagged out as his Braves were starting a rally to down the Towlers. It was the start of a triple play. . . . With radio announcers like Sam Taub still getting work, fight reporters never need worry that their efforts will go un-read. His calling of the Zale-Graziano scrap puts sports broadcasting on a par with those advertising jingles. . . . Ed Campanella of Rumson won the 91-cubic-inch hydroplane event in the Wisconsin Yacht club regatta in Philadelphia. . . . "Gay" Porter is an avid, rooter for the Laid's Three Star baseball team, a club made up mainly of Red Bank high school players. . . . Rumson Police Chief Henry Kruse tells us someone removed a tennis net from the Sea Bright Lawn Tennis and Cricket club. . . . Hearing that the horse Oklahoma was shot following the second race at Monmouth Park Saturday, one "regusted" daily-double ticket holder asked: "How come they let those other dogs off?" . . . That dew which descended on Monmouth Park Saturday, morning certainly left things mushy. . . . A study in faces at the track is nearly as good sport as watching the races. It is even better fun if you are afflicted with picking the ones we do. . . . Alex Wojciechowski, the football great, amazed at the number of winners a "Chinese" bettor would have had a week ago yesterday. Four long shots hit the wire first and another placed. That system is to give each post position a letter of the alphabet, in order, until the first letter of the horse's name is the same as the letter you have called. . . . Cliff Ukelele Ike Edwards has his Ukulele Lady tied up at Regan's in Sea Bright. A converted PT boat, it is drawing plenty attention.

ATTENDANCE AT FRIDAY night's polo match in Asbury Park was surprisingly good, an indication that the sport has caught on with shore residents and visitors. The patrons were generous in their applause and enthusiasm about the tight battle presented them.

Particularly interesting was Warren Truesdell's announcing over the public address system. He is well qualified to explain the game, being a former player, one of the nation's authorities on the indoor game and a member of the executive committee of Essex troop, center of indoor polo activity in the state for many years.

Those who have visited Essex armory undoubtedly recognized his voice, for he regularly announced matches there. He also refereed many of their more important contests. His description of the action and his explanation of the game were first rate. General comment from the grandstanders was that he handled the mike in expert fashion.

The Jersey Shore Polo club has booked several good matches, including tomorrow night's when the home Beacombers three-time tangles with the hard-riding team from Harrison, Pa. It is high-type teams continue to visit Asbury Park high school, as it appears they will, localities will be making polo a permanent entry in their sports date book.

President Amory L. Haskell of the Monmouth Park Jockey club reports a growing interest in the ball, from which all receipts are to accrue to organized charities within Monmouth county. Several hundred tickets have been sold. In addition to the admission price, other revenue will be raised through the sale of parterre boxes at $100 apiece. It is hoped that a sizeable sum will be raised for hospitals and other worthwhile organizations. The ball will start at 6 o'clock, with dinner and dancing continuing until 2 o'clock in the morning.

Public Showing Of Children's Work

At the Red Bank Public library on West Front street there is a very nice exhibit this week, open to the public, showing the work of the children at the Bible school recently held at the Methodist church grounds on Broad street, which was open for all denominations and which was well attended by children from the age of 4 to 10 group. The school was continued for three weeks under the direction of members of the different churches, who generously gave of their time and knowledge to make the Bible school a pleasing entertainment, as well as useful to the children. They were shown how religion came to the primitive man through worship of trees, stars, sun, hills, etc., up to the Creator God. They were also taught about the different countries, their products and what each country contributed toward making our lives better.

The exhibit also has a fine relief map of the United States, showing each state and what is principally grown and raised in the various states of the union.

Monmouth 'Cap Saturday Tops Season's Racing

Classy Field To Run
A Mile And A Quarter
For $25,000 Reward

The $25,000 Monmouth handicap, most important race of Monmouth Park's season, which ends Wednesday, climaxes the successful program at the seaside oval.

A total of 50 of the nation's thoroughbred greats have been named for the rich mile and a quarter race Saturday, including Assault and Stytle. A meeting between these two would not only tax the widespread facilities of Monmouth Park, but likely cause the state of New Jersey to bulge at the seams. Officials of the course are not anticipating any such race, however; it is merely a question now as to which one will accept the issue Saturday afternoon.

Against them may be pitted such as W. L. Brann's grand mare, Galorette; Joe Brown's Brown Mogul; Elmendorf's farm's Polynesian; Glen Riddle's double-barrelled threat of the Shaker and War Trophy; Mrs. Walter M. Jefford's Natchez and Mahout; Mill River stable's Miss Grillo; D. A. Murphy's Concordian; R. N. Ryan's Talon; Sanford Stud Farm's Round View and other top-notchers.

It promises to be one of the finest fields to ever parade postward at Monmouth Park, and in keeping with the revival of the race a year ago when Lucky Draw prevailed at the direct expense of Stytle.

Monmouth Park is racing furiously towards its close, with only nine days of the record-breaking season remaining. The unparalleled facilities of the grandstand and clubhouse have attracted ever-growing crowds, and with the main dishes still remaining on the turf table, brand new marks are certain to be recorded before the close.

Van Nostrand-Allen In Rumson Finals

Dr. James G. VanNostrand and Bruce B. Allen Saturday will battle it out for the president's cup at the Rumson Country club. Dr. VanNostrand having gained a berth in the finals by disposing of Phil Greene, two up. Mr. Allen reached the last bucket by defeating Dr. C. J. MacGuire, three and two.

Clement L. Despard, club president, is expected to make the presentation following the 18-hole match. The winner will get a year's possession of the trophy and one leg of the cup, three wins being required for permanent possession. "Jeff" Mellor retired the previous trophy by scoring his third win last summer.

Mrs. Nathanson Wins At Old Orchard

Edith Nathanson topped the efforts of the Old Orchard lady golfers Tuesday by copying the handicapped kippers' tournament, while Rainee Weinstein took low gross honors.

Mrs. Nathanson was closest to the chosen number—38—with a 64-25-39. Mrs. Weinstein had 42-10-32 for the low gross.

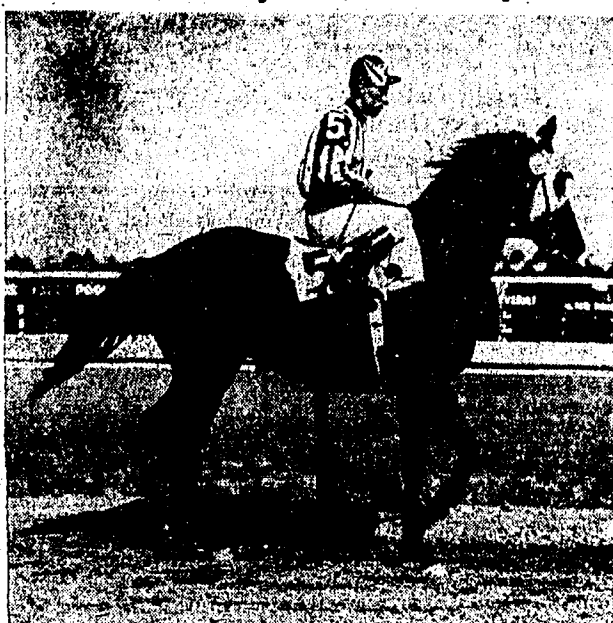

Others competing were Mrs. Joseph Rudnick, Mrs. George Sullivan, Mrs. Dan Sullivan, Mrs. Jennifer L. Frankel, Mrs. L. Phillips, Mrs. Elsa Nangel and Miss Ann Foegle.

To Try Saturday

Elmendorf farm's fleet Polynesian will make an effort to carry his blistering speed over the mile and a quarter of the $25,000 Monmouth handicap Saturday at Monmouth Park. The great sprinter was sent distances of a mile and a 16th and a mile and an eighth in the Long Branch and Omnibus handicaps, respectively, which he won, tying the track record in the Long Branch at 1:45.3 and setting a new record in the mile and an eighth run with 1:50.3.

Monmouth Bettors Set New Records

Far Eclipse Figures
For The Short '46 Meet

Record-shattering attendance and mutual play continues at Monmouth Park. A fair comparison can now be made with the inaugural 1946 meeting, which ran 28 days, an abbreviated season necessitated by inability to open the course on its scheduled date. A total of 332,655 persons turned out for that meeting. During the first 28 days of the current season that figure has been tilted to 407,212, an increase of 74,557, or 22%.

In as much as "money makes the mare go," the play through the mutuels also shows an interesting comparison. The "handle" in 1946 for the entire 28 days reached $24,016,843, for a daily average of $857,744. The current play for the same period is $31,276,518, for a daily average of $1,116,941, an increased mutuel of $7,259,675, or 30%.

Since July 4, when the season officially opens along the North Jersey shore, the play has dropped below the $1,000,000 figure on only one day, while the $1,221,267 which poured through the machines Monday set a record for the day. The only record from last year remaining is the handle for one race, which reached $288,653, and this figure is expected to be eclipsed on the Monmouth Handicap field of stars next Saturday afternoon.

Legion's Night Ball Set For Thursday

Shrewsbury post, American Legion, next Thursday night will present the Red Bank Towners baseball club against the Freehold Gullstons at the Red Bank high school athletic field.

Johnnie Calandriello, member of the Legion's committee arranging night games in this borough, stated this week the game would go on at 9 o'clock. Both clubs are contenders in the Jersey Shore Baseball league's senior National division, even though neither club enjoys the one-two positions they held last year when the Towners were crowned shore champs by taking the Gullstons in the playoff games.

Laird's Three Stars Down Robertsville

Laird's Three Stars handed the Robertsville nine a 9 to 1 defeat Sunday on the Colt's Neck school field as they prepared to play host to the invading Branchport Eagles this Sunday on the home field.

Albie Duncan and George Capra combined to do the heavy hitting for the winners, each collecting two for three.

Pennsylvania 3 In Asbury Polo

To Exhibit Jumpers
Tomorrow Night

Phil Smith, Ray Harrington and Billy Reber will take the field for the Beauchamp team of the Jersey Shore Polo club tomorrow night at Asbury Park high school stadium when the Asbury threesome plays host to the North Shore Polo club of Harrisburg, Pa.

S. B. Ickes, business manager of the local poloists, said yesterday that a jumping exhibition will feature the mid-game session. Louis D. Kelly of Allenhurst, well known in the horse show circuit, will have some of his classiest mounts on exhibit, and Phil Smith and Ray Harrington will show some of Rube Williams' jumpers.

The North Shore team, just returned from competition in Middleburg, Va., will be made up of heavy hitters Don Hempf, Don Hensch and Jim Crothfield. Noted for hard riding, the visitors are expected to be given stern opposition by the home squad.

Another Protest Filed In Ball Loop

Jersey Shore Baseball league officials have another protested game to consider following Sunday's play and once more it is the Long Branch Green Sox-Freehold Gullstons who are involved.

Green Sox Manager Johnny Penta stated intentions of filing a protest on this week's game which his club lost, 4 to 3. The play involved was the last one of the game. It concerns Dave Cashlon's sliding home in the ninth inning. The plate umpire called him safe at the time, but reversed his decision after conferring with the base umpire. Arguments piled on arguments and the chief arbiter once more changed his ruling, allowing the Cashlon run to count.

PICNICS ARE FUN, BUT...

SUMMER picnics are swell, but there's a lot to be said for good old civilization, too.

For instance, you've learned by now that it's best not to trust brook water or untested wells when you're out camping.

But when you furnish your picnic basket with a thermos of clear sparkling water from your home faucet you know you can rely on its purity and good taste.

The quality of your city water is guaranteed by frequent analyses. That's why, when you drink city water, you're sure it's pure.

Rotary Cogs

Today's program of the Red Bank Rotary club at their luncheon meeting at the Molly Pitcher hotel will be given by a group of young people known as the Methodist Youth Caravan. The caravan consists of four college students and their adult advisor, and is one of 90 such groups working during the summer on a voluntary basis without any financial remuneration to put on inspirational youth programs. The program should be very interesting, as the caravan, no doubt, will have important ideas on the problem of young people.

Local Young Man Enters Dickinson

Gilbert F. Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Bennett of 119 Maple avenue, was one of 28 students who entered Dickinson college, Carlisle, Pa., last month. He began his college career in the last summer session being conducted by Dickinson.

Summer sessions were begun in 1942 as a wartime measure to aid men students complete as much of their college education as possible before being drafted. Decreasing interest among the students, mostly veterans, caused the board of trustees to terminate the terms with the present one.

Mr. Bennett was graduated from Rumson high school and served 24 months in the army before entering college. As a member of the army air forces, he served 11 months in France with a communications outfit.

First Flight Scores Monmouth Oaks Win

Classy Whitney Filly Boosts Total Winnings To $147,215 In Two Years

C. V. Whitney's First Flight yesterday afternoon at Monmouth Park continued the torrid winning pace she has set in the past two years by romping in to win the $10,000 mile and a sixteen-month-old Monmouth Oaks by two lengths. Eddie "Banana Nose" Arcaro was aboard the classy three-year-old, which has earned $147,215 thus far in her career.

Yesterday's net value was $9,000, bringing her 1947 total to $12,250. The victory marks the seventh win in eight outings, her only loss coming when she was second to Eternal War May 18, 1946, at Belmont Park in her second start at a five-furlong sprint. The 18,970 patrons who bet $224,493 on the race put the lady at one to two odds. Her supporters received $3.10, $2.70 and $2.80 across the board.

Letting Merry Lass and Irlsen set the early pace, old "Banana Nose" held fourth place at the mile pole, urging the three-year-old daughter of Mahmoud-Fly Swatter at the turn into the back stretch, pulling out to take the lead on the turn into the home stretch. Eddie's bid, off at 80 to 1, and with Jockey Johnny Adams on top, offered a game challenge in the final furlong, but First Night had it easily. In third was Whipaw, a 35 to 1 shot, which beat out such notables as Merry Lass, Dorothy B. Jr., and Irlsen.

In the second feature of the day the $3,500 The Regret, On March thrilled the patrons by taking the lead at the start and holding it the entire mile and sixteenth route. The four-year-old gelding returned its backers the net prices of $44.50, $17.50 and $9.40.

In the fifth race the bettors made the George D. Widener filly, Flying Meteor, an even-money choice, but the young girl turned in a disappointing performance, taking the early lead only to fold midway. Curvaceous won the sprint, with two local horses taking second and third. Woodland farm's Picture Card made a late dash to snare place position and High Ground stable's Brown Fox, a 50 to 1 outsider, came in for third.

Jockey Johnny Adams again was the daily double winners. In the first it was Abbie's First and in the second it was Liquid Lunch. The DD paid $24.10.

In the nightcap, Jimmy Stout lost, sharing riding honors with Adams when Bobby Strange fled an objection. Stout was aboard the favorite, Azimuth, and Strange was on Carriaghat. The foul was obvious, Stout having cut in front of the charging Carriaghat at the 70-yard pole. The judges allowed Strange's objection, giving Azimuth the place slot.

In the fourth, Jockey Nick Jemas was given a scolding by Petty Cash, which threw him in the starting gate. The ambulance removed Jemas from the track to the track hospital, where his condition was reported as not serious. Petty Cash was scratched.

For the day, $1,582,581 poured through the mutual machines.

State House Letter

Trenton, N. J., July 24—(AP)—The statehouse retained its comparative calm this week, but there was plenty of action at the New Jersey Constitutional convention in New Brunswick.

When Paul Essex county delegate, threw one of these pot-totally-unexpected bombshells into the revision proceedings Tuesday when he charged that a highway lobby was engaged in an "Organized campaign of propaganda and pressure" to influence the convention.

A former president of the New Jersey Committee for Constitutional Revision, Paul said road builders, contractors, and producers of highway machinery were seeking to "attain their purpose through this convention" after "having failed to achieve their ends through the legislature." He contended that the highway lobby was trying to have incorporated in the Constitution a provision against diversion of highway funds.

Former Senator Wesley L. Lance of Hunterdon clashed with Paul on the attack against the highway lobby, holding that it was a fundamental right of all persons to voice their views before the convention.

The exchange threatened to erupt into an open fight on the question, but William T. Read, chairman of the taxation and finance committee, averted such a development when he moved to have Paul's resolution against the lobby referred to his committee.

Paul said the "highway lobbies" fought to the bitter end against the use of highway funds for relief.

"While men, women and children were hungry, the road construction interests sought through every means at their command to withhold the only money available to them," he said. "Now they seek to promote their own selfish financial interests through a provision in the fundamental law."

The state floated a bond issue during the depression to meet emergency relief needs and used highway funds to amortize it.

Paul also attacked an attack on pressure tactics to veterans' groups. He warned veterans' groups "they also should think and act as citizens first and should not seek special advantages contrary to the best interests of the people as a whole."

Meanwhile, the committees of the convention were completing the writing of tentative drafts "in order to submit them to public hearings before general debate begins at the convention."

Farm News

Be Sure Cows Have Good Water Supply

When a cow drinks plenty of water, she will eat lots of roughage, including pasture. In the opinion of Enos J. Perry, extension dairy specialist at the College of Agriculture, it is most important for a dairyman to be sure his cows drink plenty in warm weather.

Streams run through most New Jersey pastures, but where they don't, it will pay to arrange for cows to have access to water, preferably in the shade. Perry points out that in Kansas many a farmer has reported good summer profits from hauling a tank of water on skids daily to a shady spot on the field.

Studies have shown that cows simply refuse to walk to the barnyard for water, until one o'clock in the afternoon. Every dairyman knows how quickly most cows will eat after they have had a drink, and that they will drink more, warmed water than spring water.

Law Governs Youth Workers on Farms

Here are a few reminders to farm employers who expect to hire youth for farm work during the summer.

Employment of children under 12 is illegal, according to state law. Youth 12 to 16 years of age must have agricultural work permits to be employed legally at farm work during the summer. They are limited to 10 hours of work a day. John C. Taylor, state emergency farm labor supervisor, College of Agriculture, Rutgers university, who furnished this summary, points out also that youth in the 12 to 16 age group are prohibited from operating power-driven farm machinery.

Raspberry Anthracnose

At the end of the raspberry season, the final spray for the control of anthracnose disease should be applied, warns County Agent Clark. This spray is 6-6-100 bordeaux to be applied immediately following the harvest season.

Since this season has been favorable for the anthracnose organism, it is quite possible that some fields will have a heavy infection unless sprays are applied.

This disease will cause weakening of the canes and cause them to be more susceptible to winter injury. A heavy infection will cause a reduced crop not only by the injury to the canes, but also by infecting the fruit.

Anticipate next year's crop by spraying this season at the end of the harvest.

Know Farm's Danger Spots

One of the aims of National Farm Safety Week, now being observed, is to have every farm family take time out during the week for a discussion of how they can live and work safely.

The family might learn these things:

1. What hazards menace their lives at home, at work, and on the highway.
2. What each member of the family can do to eliminate as many of these hazards as possible.
3. That education on the part of every member of the family is the key to safety.
4. That safety is particularly a family affair because, unlike the city dweller, the family is so closely associated with the actual operations of farming.

Lime on Poultry Farm Helps Stop Disease

Heavy rains this year have been a factor in the increased number of outbreaks of coccidiosis and blackhead in growing flocks, according to Leslie M. Black, Extension specialist in poultry husbandry, College of Agriculture, Rutgers university.

In many cases slimy areas will be noticed around shakers where birds gather, especially during unpleasant weather. That's the time to spread hydrated lime freely wherever bare ground appears and slith spots are noted, says R. O. Rice, associate agricultural agent. Lime will not harm birds, no matter how often it is used.

Atlantic and Ranger Alfalfa Highest in Test

The Atlantic and Ranger varieties of alfalfa produced the highest yields for the first cutting from the test plants on the J. Wilbur Huff farm at Andover, N. J., says Atlantic produced 3,941 pounds per acre of air dried hay and Ranger 2,904 pounds. Buffalo, Oklahoma and Northern Common produced approximately 2,300 pounds per acre, and Kansas Common and Argentine, about 2,200 pounds per acre.

Watch For Tomato Aphids

Be prepared to control tomato aphids if weather conditions favor their rapid multiplication. The damage which they can do will depend largely on their number, Natchez and some years have to reduce the number, but this condition may not exist this year, so control measures should be taken, warns County Agent Clark.

A one per cent rotenone dust with a wetting agent will give control. A 4 per cent nicotine dust applied when the temperature is 70 degrees or above, or a nicotine spray containing one pint of nicotine sulfate, six to eight pounds of sodium potassium oleate soap (40 per cent) to 100 gallons of water will also control these pests. Apply material thoroughly so that every insect is hit or entering cover.

Cabbage Worms Are Common

Thousands of butterflies flying over cabbage, cauliflower and broccoli fields are laying eggs which later will hatch into worms and cause considerable damage to cabbage foliage. These small worms are half-grown by dusting with a mixture of 20 parts of calcium lead arsenate mixed with 80 pounds of hydrated lime. During the latter stages of plant growth, especially for cabbage, use of the arsenicals must be discontinued, says M. A. Clark, agricultural agent.

A one per cent rotenone dust should replace the arsenical after the cabbage has started to head. Under severe infestations of cabbage worms early in the development of the head, a thorough application of a three per cent DDT dust may have to be used.

Blight on Melons and Cucumbers

Melon and cucumber leaf blight may continue to cause considerable damage to these fruits as they are harvested. The only satisfactory control for this disease is to use copper fungicide in liquid or dust form, advises Richard O. Rice, Associate agricultural agent.

For a liquid or wet spray, a 3-5-50 homemade bordeaux mixture is recommended and for a dust, a 25-75 mono-hydrated copper lime dust. These materials may be purchased already mixed. Closely follow the recommendations for application, as given by the manufacturer. Remember dust containing sulfur never should be used on vine crops. Many New Jersey cucumber and melon growers stop spraying or dusting when the vines begin to fall in between the rows. This is really the time spraying should begin because it is from this time on that the greatest danger from leaf spot disease is experienced and the time when the plants need the most protection.

Side Dress Lima Beans Necessary

Fordhook variety of lima beans requires more nitrogen than other varieties to mature a heavy crop, according to the Monmouth County Extension Service. A side dressing of 200 to 300 pounds of nitrate of soda, 180 pounds of sulphate of ammonia, or 100 to 125 pounds of ammonium nitrate to the acre applied along the row and cultivated into the soil will supply this needed nitrogen. Chicken manure spread between the rows and cultivated into the soil also will help to keep the plants of this popular variety of beans growing well.

Rotary Hoe Available

The rotary hoe is an especially valuable piece of equipment for growers of larger acreages of sweet corn, snap beans, lima beans, peas and other crops grown on soils which have a tendency to form a rather hard crust. As a crust breaker, the rotary hoe has no equal, says C. H. Nisley of Rutgers. It will pulverize top soil and kill small weed seedlings, up to the very stalks of the plants.

The cultipacker is another implement which every vegetable grower should use. It is especially valuable in packing the soil after plowing when the ground is dry. It produces a firm seed bed, bringing soil water to the surface to help germinate seed and start young seedlings.

The Meeker smoothing harrow, used by most market gardeners and vegetable growers partly takes the place of the larger cultipacker.

YOUR GARDEN This Week

By Dr. Charles H. Conhore Rutgers University

We now have to think of frost if we are growing vegetables. If you are growing beets, carrots and turnips for storage, do not delay getting the seeds in, as the planting should have been made about July 15.

If your first killing frost does not come until September 15, you can still sow snap beans and make a crop, although it will not be as large as a normal one because of cool nights. Sowings of leaf lettuce may be made up to August 1.

Cabbage and cauliflower plants that were set about July 1 should be kept growing. Perhaps they need liquid fertilizer now. The name is true of tomatoes and especially of pole beans, either lima or snap. These should have liquid fertilizer about every three weeks to keep them in good growth and production.

The second generation of squash vine borers appears about July 20, so keep the leaf stems (petioles) dusted with rotenone dust. This should keep them from control. A weekly dusting with rotenone dust controls cabbage worms, Mexican bean beetles and a number of other insects.

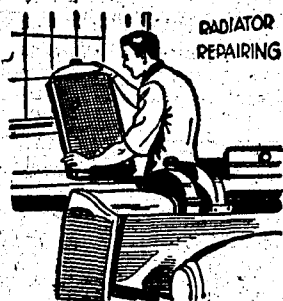

Seeds of perennial flowering plants may be sown now. It is also a suitable season for sowing seeds of biennials, such as foxglove, hollyhock, Sweet William, Canterbury bell, etc. A biennial in our hot climate is the garden nasturtium. The seeds of this are not ripe now, and best results are obtained by sowing as soon as possible after ripening.

Reports are that a 5 per cent D.D.T. dust or a spray of D.D.T. will control thrips and corn borer on gladioli. As this material is new, follow the directions on the package.

Tomato blight has been found at several points in the state, so gardeners are advised to start protection. Use a dust containing 7 per cent copper every 7 days or a commercial spray containing copper every 10 days. These can be purchased at garden supply houses.

*The Hammond Solovox
Adds Orchestral Effects
To Your Piano*

With your right hand you pick out a tuneful melody. Your left hand plays the accompaniment on the piano keyboard. The Solovox keyboard spans three octaves. Actually it plays over a range of six octaves—four tone selectors enable you to choose the range in which you wish to play—bass, tenor, contralto or soprano. Press all four tone selectors and you can have an organ-like effect—or with string tones, the effect of a string quartette, with your piano. Attaches easily to your piano. It does not interfere with the normal playing of the piano. Come in and try it.

Without Painful Backache
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly once they discover that the cause of their trouble may be their kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people about 15 pints a day.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, setting up acids, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Don's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 60 years. Don's give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Don's Pills.

At Convention Hall

CARMEN CAVALLARO
Carmen Cavallaro, the Poet of the Piano, and his orchestra, who will appear at Convention Hall, Asbury Park, through to July 20th, brings with him concert selections which are performed with an artistry and finish which proves without a question the versatility and talent of his unusual group.
Carmen and his boys try to play music the way the composer would want it to be played. Instead of trying to do strange things to it. Both his piano solos and his orchestral arrangements are played with an effort to be popular with both dancers and listeners. His expressive pianistic and musicalian-ship of his bandmen blend into the background for romance.
He has played in many of the leading hotels, his most recent this year being the Biltmore and the Astor. He has appeared in many of the theaters, and after his engagement at the Convention Hall he opens at the Paramount theater in New York City. He has also been a guest band over the air. Many of his broadcasts have come from station CBS, which brings him to you over the air waves this week from the Convention Hall.
Carmen has a unique hobby of collecting calling cards. He has in his collection cards from senators, ambassadors and his system for getting them is to have his patrons write their request on the back of their personal card.
