Nineteenth Annual Convention of the N. J. Editorial Association.

According to the statement of the Ohio Republicans we have no reasonable expectation of carrying that State. At the last gubernatorial election, the Democrats polled 300,000 votes and the Republicans 288,000, leaving a majority against us of 12,000. Our ticket will be composed of the best men we can find, and we will make a vigorous fight, but we have little hope of success. The Ohio Republicans have a very large number of Government officers, who will work and vote for their party, and we have no chance to compete with them in the use of money. We have a good ticket, and we will do our best, but we have little hope of success.

The United States Senate has passed the new bankrupt law, and it is now before the House. It is not the best law we could have, but it is better than no law at all. It will do much good, and we hope it will be speedily passed by the House and approved by the President.

St. Louis has been visited by a terrible tornado, which has caused the loss of many lives and the destruction of property. The Legislature of Missouri has adjourned without making any provision for the relief of the sufferers, and it is doubtful if any will be made during the present session of the Legislature. The Democrats have a majority in both Houses, and they will be blamed for the neglect to provide for the relief of the sufferers. The Legislature should have been called together for this purpose, and we think it will be, if the Democrats do their duty. The Legislature should be called together at once, and provide for the relief of the sufferers. The public will blame it if it does not do so.

The Democrats of Massachusetts have nominated a full ticket, and have adopted a platform which they stand upon. The Republicans have nominated a full ticket, and have adopted a platform which they stand upon. The Democrats have a good ticket, and we hope they will be successful. The Republicans have a good ticket, and we hope they will be successful. The Democrats have a good platform, and we hope they will be successful. The Republicans have a good platform, and we hope they will be successful. The Democrats have a good ticket and a good platform, and we hope they will be successful. The Republicans have a good ticket and a good platform, and we hope they will be successful.
