The National Democrat.

RAHWAY, N. J., DECEMBER 9th, 1875.

"I DOUBTED HIM"

The Vienna Society in all the expansive kindness, which characterizes the Vienna people, seemed to have taken Mr. Bayard Taylor to their hearts. Wherever he went, he was received with the greatest cordiality and kindness. Wherever he went, he was the lion of the occasion. Wherever he went, he was the guest of the nobility and gentry. Wherever he went, he was the recipient of the kindness and courtesy of the people. Wherever he went, he was the recipient of the kindness and courtesy of the people. Wherever he went, he was the recipient of the kindness and courtesy of the people
