

Two Road-Widening Surveys Given Approval by Local Council

The mayor and council Monday night asked for a state survey for the proposed widening of Riverside and Maple aces, which some officials have recommended to ease highway traffic through town.

The body also decided to investigate a proposal by Ensey M. White, superintendent of public works, for the widening of Harding rd., between Broad st. and the Branch and Hudson aces, intersection, also to remove a traffic "bottleneck."

On the Riverside and Maple aces, 35 program, council made it clear that it was acting only to permit an official survey to be made, not the job itself. Members want to learn just what the work will mean to property owners along the way and to the town.

The other program, Mr. White told newsmen, would broaden the Harding rd. roadway to 50 feet—the same as the widened section of Front st. It would require the rounding off of the points where Branch and Hudson aces, and Branch and Harding rd., meet—the former Y.M.C.A. and the high school properties—and the installation of a central island, as a modified traffic circle.

Councilman Thomas F. Oakley said he would favor the Harding rd. survey only if he had reasonable assurance it would result in an actual project. He said he has seen too much of the taxpayers' money wasted on surveys that didn't materialize. He also said that traffic experts say now that traffic lights are much better than traffic circles.

Mayor Katharine Eklus White called the Harding rd. traffic condition one of the most severe in town. And Mr. White told newsmen he considered it the "Number One job to be done in Red Bank."

Lincroft 4-H Wins 32 Prizes

LINCROFT—The local 4-H club members came home with 32 excellent awards from the Monmouth county 4-H fair last week-end at the Freshford race track. Members also received a "very good" merit award for their booth, arranged to represent a farm kitchen with an attached sun porch, planned as a sewing workshop.

On display in the club's "kitchen" were a variety of vegetables being prepared for canning, and cakes and other baked goods shown in an oven and in a refrigerator. Members worked on the "sun porch" at dressmaking and ironing. Two members, Abbie Ann Willigrodt and Rosemarie Braun, each received an "excellent" award in the dressmaking project. Abbie Ann won a prize in the fashion parade with a dress she had made.

Max Gould won nine "excellent" ribbons in the gardening projects, Richard Moore and Ashley Kraan two and Margaret Ring, Joyce Francisco and Mary Searles one each. Cathie Ring received four "excellent" ribbons in the flower exhibit, George Castelman two and Rosemarie Braun one.

Ann Hickey won two "excellent" ribbons in the cooking project, Julia Portin one, Rosemarie Braun won an "excellent" ribbon in the forestry group.

Other members receiving "very good" and merit ribbons were Betty Camenzind, Jane Holsey and Katrina Camenzind sewing, Morgan Kraan, Dorothy Osprey and Barbara Caryell gardening and flowers, Marjorie Antonides, Mildred Hall and Charles Whitel cooking and "Rusty" Merrill, Gerald Hickey, Charles Whitel and Ann Hickey forestry, Ashley Kraan won first place in one of the bicycle obstacle races.

Twenty members of the Lincroft and River Plaza Bicycle clubs will leave Monday by bus for the 4-H club camp at Stokes State forest in North Jersey. Planning to take the trip are Mrs. Thomas Kraan, Abbie Ann Willigrodt, Joyce Francisco, Julia Portin, Ann Hickey, Evelyn Laubmeister, Charles Whitel, Morgan and Ashley Kraan, Peter Whitel, Debra Jacques, Joseph Bogart, Sheila Becker, Russell Rauch, Bonnie Lee McLaughlin, Virginia Jacques, Sally Evered, Judy Osprey, Dorothy Fox and Ann Toni Citarella.

Agency Reports Sale of 3 Homes

Mr. and Mrs. Helmut Mayer of Perth Amboy have purchased a two-bedroom ranch type house at Middletown, it was reported this week by the Adams agency of 16 East Bergen pl. The house is situated on an acre of ground, surrounded by fruit trees. Mr. Mayer is employed by the Colonial Sand and Gravel company of Perth Amboy.

The agency also reported the sale of a Cape Cod house at Middletown to Harry E. Knight and Kenneth Burdick of Sea Bright, who have taken occupancy with their families. The five-room house has two potential rooms on the second floor, and breezeway and garage. It is situated on nearly an acre of ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curley of Holmdel have purchased a five-room house on Monroe ave., Shrewsbury. Constructed by Carmine Menna, the home consists of three bedrooms, living room, dining room and kitchen. Mr. and Mrs. Curley also have taken occupancy.

Council Is Split On Dog Controls

Council was split, almost to the middle, Monday night on a proposal to put a rigid ordinance on the books for the control of dogs. Even Councilman George A. Gray, who introduced the measure, said he did so with "deepest reluctance" and an appreciation of what it might mean "to fellow dog owners." Councilmen Harold Hurley and Everett C. Baynton voted "no," with explanations. Mr. Baynton said Councilman Harry Malchow, who wasn't there, also was against the restrictions.

No Enthusiasm
The vote carried three to two, but with a marked lack of enthusiasm.

Mr. Hurley said he was for some control measure to pick up stray dogs here. But he said he didn't want the borough to prey upon its licensed dogs which, he insisted, should have the right to be free on their owners' properties. Councilman Thomas F. Oakley said only a dog ordinance which was standard for all neighborhood communities would work.

Mr. Gray said the one in mind is like the one being considered and acted upon. "It's a uniform ordinance," he said. But Mr. Hurley said he thinks it is too severe. Mr. Oakley said he also believes a dog restriction can be effective only "if it has teeth in it and I haven't seen one yet that has them."

The ruling offered would require dogs to be kept on six-foot leashes when taken on walks, would bar barking dogs and would allow no dog to destroy or damage anyone's private property. It would set up a provision for the hiring of a pound master to enforce the law.

In another vote, council approved the exempt firemen's applications of Jesse Cook, John Allen, Calvin Carhart, Gordon Forbes, John Koleda, Ray Sergeant, and Lee O'Connor.

Fox's Gift Shop Has New Owners

Fox's Gift shop at 41 Monmouth st., has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brown. Noted for the large selection of Hallmark greeting cards, the shop's method of display has been copied by many of the nation's department stores.

The shop also features gifts, ceramics and costume jewelry. Mr. Brown formerly owned Breslow's Toyland in Newark. He and his wife intend to move to this vicinity. To announce their purchase, the Browns are giving away bridge, croquet and gin rummy score cards.

Gray Favors Shorter Working Week for Police

5-Day, 40-Hour Shift
Would Be Decided
By Council, Not Vote

Police here may get the five-day, 40-hour work week they have been seeking without having the public vote on the matter.

Councilman George A. Gray Monday night introduced an ordinance calling for the shorter work week—eight hours a day, six days a week, and the proposal appeared to receive majority support from the council.

Mr. Gray agreed with an estimate by Councilman Thomas F. Oakley that the reduced time of duty will require the hiring of four additional policemen, at the approximate total salary cost of $16,000.

Cites Other Examples

But Mr. Gray said the change would bring Red Bank into line with what some other municipalities—named Asbury Park and Little Silver—are doing for their police departments. He said the shorter week is becoming a standard pattern. And rather than have the voters decide the issue he said, "I favor taking the bull by the horns" and have council do it.

Mr. Gray would leave it to the police department's senior officers to decide what emergency required the services of more men on duty than at normal periods.

Council voted unanimously for this ordinance, but set a public hearing at its next meeting on public opinion on the matter may be heard before a final vote is taken.

Milk Advances One Cent Aug. 1

TRENTON—Retail milk prices in New Jersey will advance one cent per quart in all areas on all grades, effective Aug. 1, according to C. Wesley Armstrong, Jr., director of the Office of Milk Industry.

The seasonal price rise is in accordance with the order issued in April when the retail price of milk was reduced two cents per quart and the price paid to producers was lowered 80 cents per hundred pounds.

The entire increase in price will go to the producer with the dealer spread remaining the same as at present. Under the new schedule the producer price will be advanced to $5.87 per hundred pounds Aug. 1, an increase of 40 cents.

"Historically, there is always a decline in production beginning during the early part of July," commented Armstrong. "We are now experiencing such a decline. In fact, producer prices in surrounding markets were advanced July 1. Anticipating this situation I am confirming my order of Apr. 16, which calls for the increase of 40 cents per hundred pounds in the producer price."

Besides the one-cent per quart advance in the retail price, increases of one-half cent per pint and one-quarter cent per half-pint on all grades are effective Aug. 1. The O.M.I. director also announced that deposits on bottles will hereafter be confined to licensed stores.

OWV PAPER DRIVE SUNDAY

Members of St. James post, Catholic War Veterans, will conduct a paper drive Sunday afternoon. They ask that papers be bundled and tied and left at the curb. Proceeds of the drive go to the welfare fund which aids patients in veterans' hospitals and pays for other charitable work.

Scalzo Starts New Development

LINCROFT—Lewis Scalzo, builder, who recently completed the Victoria Heights development on Navesink River rd., Middletown township, has started work on his new development of 60 ranch-style homes on Newman Springs rd.

The homes, which will be constructed on half-acre plots with 120-foot frontages, will be priced from $17,000. The new project, to be known as Hill Top farms, is located near the entrance to the Garden State parkway.

The property was purchased through the Jones real estate agency of Lincroft.

Carpenter Given $23,435 Award

A judgment of $23,435.87 for total disability was awarded to John Vonella of Westworth ave., West Long Branch, against his former employer, Roger Abondandolo, at Workmen's Compensation court here last week.

Mr. Vonella was employed by Mr. Abondandolo as a carpenter. He injured himself when he fell ten feet from a scaffold, landing on his back on the ground.

Due to the accident Mr. Vonella suffered a broken back and paralysis of his legs. As a result the court found him to be totally and permanently disabled. He was awarded the maximum allowed under the Workmen's Compensation law of 450 weeks of compensation at the maximum weekly rate of $52, which was in effect on the date of his injury, Jan. 18, 1948. Mr. Vonella was also awarded compensation for temporary disability while he was under medical care of 162 weeks. The court additionally allowed Mr. Vonella $8,135.87 for medical expenses and legal fees incurred by him, making the total judgment against his former employer $23,435.85.

At the termination of the maximum period of 450 weeks allowed for total disability the court will enter a new judgment allowing compensation to Mr. Vonella, provided his condition is such that he is totally disabled and unemployed.

Mr. Abondandolo was a contractor, doing business in Long Branch in 1943, but since that time has left Long Branch and is now operating a business in Florida.

Since Mr. Vonella was injured he has spent time in two Veterans' hospitals, one in Virginia and the other on Staten Island, due to the fact that Mr. Vonella is an ex-serviceman, in addition to being hospitalized immediately following his injury in Monmouth Memorial hospital.

Mr. Vonella was represented at the hearing by Rocco Rivaschiera and Edmund J. Canzona of the firm of Parsons, Labrosse, Canzona & Combs.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Slattery of Wallace st. and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Barrow of Prospect ave., Little Silver, have returned from Chicago, where they attended the 30th annual reunion of the Rainbow Division Veterans. Mr. and Mrs. George Seaman of Holts, N. J., were elected national president and national auxiliary president.

Mr. and Mrs. Seaman are members of the Father Duffy chapter of the Rainbow division in New York city and of the New Jersey chapter as well. Both Mr. and Mrs. Slattery and Mr. and Mrs. Barrow are members of the New Jersey chapter. Mrs. Barrow is a past national auxiliary president. Mr. Slattery, Mr. Barrow and Karl Pullenmiller of Kearny were elected to the national executive committee. Mr. Barrow was appointed national treasurer for his fourth consecutive term.

Sarappo Buys Park Bar, Grill

RUMSON—Frank Sarappo of 46 Chestnut st., Red Bank, has purchased the Park Bar and Grill at 20 River rd. from Joseph Cioas and Fred Jordan. Mr. Sarappo has been operating the business since July 4.

Mr. Sarappo had been employed by the Bignund Eklus company of Red Bank from 1937 until recently. He was president of Local 203, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, four years, and had been a member of the executive board since 1937.

Mr. Sarappo is married to the former Miss Anna LoBlanc of Red Bank. Working at the Park Bar and Grill is Mr. Sarappo's sister-in-law, Mrs. Frances Velasco of 76 Monmouth st., Red Bank.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Services Sunday in New Building

The new First Church of Christ, Scientist, Broad st., designed by John T. Simpson, Red Bank architect, and built by Robert A. Hendrickson, Red Bank, will hold its opening services Sunday at 11 a. m. and 8:15 p. m.

The brick, New England colonial style building is 50 feet wide and 110 feet deep and has a seating capacity of 300 persons. The church is set back 75 feet from Broad st. and has a large parking lot at the rear. The church is designed to connect with a Sunday-school building to be built in the future at the rear of the present building. A driveway from Broad st. goes through the entire length of the property to Hudson ave. to provide for parking convenience.

The floor of the church auditorium is of tile. In addition to the platform, there are small rooms at the front of the building one for each of the readers and one for the organist and singer.

On either side of the narthex are cost rooms for men and women. Located on the second floor over the narthex are a board room, secretary's room and library.

The front and rear of the church are illuminated by floodlights.

The Red Bank church was started in 1915 when a small group of people interested in Christian Science held informal meetings in their homes. In Feb., 1916, the group decided to rent the lodge hall in the Elmer building at 54 Broad st. and held their first meeting there in Mar., 1916. The reading room and Sunday-school were started the following year.

The society continued to grow and in 1926 was incorporated as the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Red Bank. The present property at 209 Broad st., was purchased in 1929 and, after improvements were made, it was ready for the first Sunday service Apr. 6, 1930.

The reading room was moved to the former Broad Street National bank building where a window for literature display was provided. The reading room is now located at 42 Broad st. on the second floor of the Register building.

When it became evident that larger quarters would be needed, the society bought the property adjoining the church. The original church building was dedicated Dec. 26, 1943. Ground was broken for the new building in Apr., 1952.

The church holds Sunday services at 11 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. Sunday-school for children and young people to the age of 20 meets Sunday at 11 a. m. and holds testimonial meetings Wednesdays at 8:15 p. m. All authorized Christian Science literature may be read, borrowed or purchased at the reading room.

Harding Rd. Now A Through Street

In compliance with a county order designating Harding rd. at Branch ave. and Hudson ave. a through st., stop signs have been erected on Hudson ave. and Branch ave. at that intersection.

Police Chief Frank W. Reuther said police will issue warnings to violators this week, but will begin issuing summonses next week.

Rotary Hears Talk About India

The progress of present day India since gained independence from Great Britain in 1947 was discussed by Narayana Layan Ananthanarayanan of India at Thursday's meeting of the Red Bank Rotary club at the Molly Pitcher hotel.

When the Indian congress met after independence was gained, said the speaker, they framed the country's constitution after that of the United States. The feudal system, which was in effect before Britain took over the country, has been abolished. England, he said, permitted the system to exist because it was simpler to deal with a few landlords than with the entire population. He pointed out there has been no purge of landlords. The abolition of the system has meant only that the landlords have lost much of their land.

The country, Mr. Ananthanarayanan said, has instituted a system of universal education for children. Although it is almost impossible to educate the adult population, he said, every high school student, in order to graduate, must go to a village and teach at least ten persons the rudiments of reading and writing.

Reclaim Land, No Castle
Pointing to the food situation in India, the speaker said the country still imports ten per cent of its total food supply. The new government's agricultural program, he added, won't bear fruit for about five years. There is as much land per capita in India as in England can produce. He said there was a demand for 750 gallons per minute at times Saturday, while the pump can produce just 500 gallons per minute.

Council directed Borough Clerk Frank Bolen to inform Chief of Police Howard Manahan, director of the Civil Defense council, that he can authorize the contribution of $55 to the "Operation Skywatch" post at Atlantic Highlands. A letter from Walter Wynne, district director of Civil Defense, told the Civil Defense council here that the amount is an appropriation of $700 needed for improvements to the Ground Observer Corps post at the Atlantic Highlands harbor, among seven communities served by the post. This borough also was asked to provide personnel for one 24-hour watch at the post, which has maintained a "round-the-clock" watch since July 14, 1952.

Mr. Vonella was represented at the hearing by Rocco Rivaschiera and Edmund J. Canzona of the firm of Parsons, Labrosse, Canzona & Combs.

McCue Reports Sale of Choice Rumson Place

Broadway Producer
Tompkins Estate

The Joseph G. McCue agency, Rumson, reports the sale of the Frederic P. Tompkins property, situated on the east side of Navesink ave., between Rumson rd. and Harshorne lane, Rumson, to Robert Fryer of New York city, producer of one of the latest Broadway hits, "Wonderful Town."

The residence of brick and frame construction, slate roof, was bought by the seller in 1950 from Andrew J. Gallagher, who moved to Charlottesville, Va., where he acquired a large farm estate.

Mr. Tompkins made very extensive alterations and occupied the residence until last spring when he purchased the Edwin Stewart estate on the corner of Rumson rd. and Fair Haven rd.

It includes entrance foyer, large living room with fireplace, dining room, streamlined kitchen, powder room, and three large bedrooms, dressing room and two tiled baths on the second floor. The grounds comprise an acre of landscaped ground, including many specimen trees and shrubs, with over 200 feet frontage on Navesink ave.

The property is adjacent to the homes of Edgar W. Heller, E. B. Thorndike, Mrs. John L. Riker and Dr. Andrew P. Dedick. The new owner is now in possession and currently enjoying a vacation on Cape Cod.

Parents Form PTA
At St. Gabriel's

BRADLEYVILLE—The initial meeting of parents and teachers of the 1953 summer school instruction classes was held last week at St. Gabriel's Catholic church when a Parent-Teacher association was organized. Rev. John Nowak, pastor, stressed the need for parent co-operation for the children of St. John's of Marlboro and St. Catherine's of Everett parishes.

Officers and chairmen of the new organization appointed were Mrs. Harry Leitner, president; Mrs. Frank Becker, Mrs. Marcus Tremble and Mrs. M. Harold Kelly, vice presidents; Mrs. Harold Skouli, treasurer; Mrs. Albert Comply, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Collins, recording secretary; Mrs. James R. Hensler, program; Mrs. Harry Janssen, social hygiene; Mrs. Thomas McCarthy, membership; Mrs. Michael Harnyk, refreshments; Mrs. Marcus Tremble, hospitality, and Mrs. A. Lyle Leverich, publicity.

The executive board will meet tonight at the home of Mrs. Leonard Lathrop in Pleasant Valley, Holmdel, at 8:30 o'clock. The next P. T. A. meeting, at which all parents are invited, will be held Tuesday at the church at 8 p. m. Monthly meetings will be held the fourth Tuesdays.

Father Nowak also laid plans for the annual excursion to Rye Beach, N. Y., Monday, for children of the school, their friends and parents. The event will mark the closing of the season.

Teachers told of the substantial increase in attendance in the classes this year and of the spiritual needs of the children.

Red Bank Man Held
For Assault Attempt

Iving Reeves of 10 Wharf ave., Red Bank, waived hearing before Magistrate John V. Crowell Tuesday morning and was ordered held in $1,000 bail for action of the grand jury on a charge of attempted assault with a dangerous weapon.

The complaint was made by Patrolman Franklin White. Reeves is alleged to have chased Edward P. Kaney, Jr., of Cooper rd., Middletown township, with a knife and axe Monday night after an argument on Wharf ave. He represented by Patrolman W. Herbert Swanson.

McIntosh Designs Garden at Waldorf

NEW YORK CITY—Evergreens, holly and rare types of shrubbery can be found in the Park ave. entrance of the Waldorf Astoria hotel this week, site of the 78th annual convention of the American Association of Nurserymen.

The large garden—principal point of interest to the 2,000 delegates registered for the convention—is the product of the imagination of Stanley McIntosh of Little Silver, landscape architect for Turner Brothers Nurseries of Eatontown, and the work of Turner Brothers employees.

The garden is set up in five parts, four lining the sides of the lobby and one in the center. A fish pool adds to the attractiveness of the display, which contains all phases of nursery products. Then nurseries supplied plants for the garden. The A.A.N., oldest trade group of its kind in the nation, commissioned Mr. McIntosh to design the garden.

Official hottest-in-the-world outdoor temperature is 136.4 degrees once recorded in Libya.

Franchot Tone Stars in Play At Savoy Theater

'The Second Man' Begins Next Monday; 'Mr. Roberts' on Now

ASBURY PARK—Franchot Tone, motion picture, television and stage actor, will star in S. N. Behrman's comedy hit, "The Second Man," with Betay von Furstenberg heading the supporting cast, at the Savoy, the Walter Reade theater across from the railroad station here, Monday through Saturday, Aug. 1.

The fifth of a ten-week series of big-name Broadway hits inaugurated at the Savoy by Walter Reade, Jr., in association with John Huntington, "The Second Man" originally opened on Broadway under auspices of the Theater Guild, with Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne in the leading roles. Mr. Tone has been playing the lead role and receiving high critical praise for it in his recent road engagements.

Performances will be nightly at 8:40 from Monday through Saturday and at 2:40. "The Second Man" follows the current showing of "Mister Roberts," with Jeffrey Lynn, which plays its last performance Saturday. Following "The Second Man" will be another important play—Uta Hagen recreating her greatest Broadway success in Clifford Odets' "Country Girl," with Herbert Berghof and E. G. Marshall in the supporting roles. "The Second Man" is one of Mr. Behrman's most successful comedies and casts Mr. Tone in illustrious company. In addition to Mr. Lunt, one of the all-time greats of the American theater, playing the starring role, Britain's famed Noel Coward played the lead role in the London production of the play.

Mr. Tone has appeared in some 35 movies, many of which were top-grade hits, including "Mullin on the Bounce," "Every Girl Should Be Married," "Three Comrades," "Here Comes the Groom," with Bing Crosby, and most recently in "The Man On the Eiffel Tower," with Charles Laughton and Burgess Meredith.

Miss von Furstenberg, one of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's most promising starlets, has been in the headlines recently, having been linked romantically with Elizabeth Taylor's ex-husband, Nicky Hilton of the hotel chain. Her acting talents and her odd name also brought her early prominence when she was first breaking into Broadway and the television field, making her a Life magazine cover girl. She has appeared on numerous television dramatic shows and played most recently on Broadway in

"Second Threshold" and "Dear Barbarians."

The season of Broadway stage hits at the Savoy has won favorable comment from newspaper critics and the public, both on the quality of the shows and the excellence of the staking. The Shore Theatrical Guild reports also that the box office results have been excellent, with a successful week's grosses surpassing the prior week, indicating growing acceptance of the program as a new center of theater entertainment in the Jersey shore area.

Cpl. Gass Awarded Silver Star Medal

PORT MONMOUTH—Cpl. George H. Gass, U. S. Marine Corps, son of Mrs. Eva Gass of Briarcliff pl. here, received the Silver Star medal in ceremonies Friday at the Philadelphia naval base for "extraordinary heroism while serving with the First Marine Division in Korea."

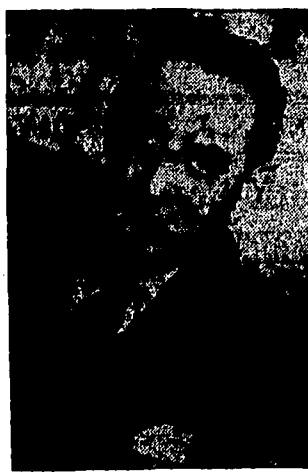

The medal was presented by Brig. Gen. Ion M. Bethel, commanding general of the Marine Corps supply depot at the base.

His citation follows: "For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action against the enemy while serving with a Marine infantry in Korea on Mar. 26 and 27, 1953. Serving as a fire team leader, Cpl. Gass displayed outstanding courage, initiative and devotion to duty. When his fire team reached the intermediate trenches enroute to counter attack a vital enemy held outpost, the unit became pinned down by devastating enemy small arms, mortar and artillery fire. Although his helmet and weapon were blown from him during the initial barrage, he courageously moved about the area evacuating his wounded comrades. As he raced about the devastated area throwing grenades at the foe, he shouted words of encouragement to the men and skillfully directed their fire. Although painfully wounded, he continued to direct the evacuation of his injured comrades until he himself was finally taken from his position. Cpl. Gass' gallant and courageous actions combined with his indomitable spirit served as an inspiration to all who observed him and was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

SPECIAL STAGE

OCEAN GROVE—A special three-tiered stage will be installed at the auditorium here for the Phil Spitalny all-girl orchestra and chorus performance Saturday, Aug. 1. It was announced this week by John S. Yeo, chairman of the special events committee of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting association, sponsor of the concert.

At Charity Ball

Guy Lombardi

The music of Guy Lombardi and his famous orchestra will be heard at the seventh annual Turt Charity Ball and Carnival at Monmouth Park Saturday night. All proceeds accrue to local hospitals and charities. "The sweetest music this side of heaven" is expected to attract a record throng to the seaside track for the event.

END MARINE BOOT TRAINING

LONG BRANCH—James H. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howell Brown, and Frederick L. Blankenhorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Blankenhorn, both of Long Branch, recently were promoted to private first class on completion of recruit training at the Marine Corps base, Parris Island, S. C. A former student at Monmouth Junior college, Blankenhorn was employed as a counter man by M. Grill company before entering the Marines. Brown is a former student at Long Branch high school.

Travis Awarded $32,911 Damages

MILWAUKEE — U. S. District Judge Robert E. Tenan last week awarded Harrison G. Travis, 37, of 1135 Ocean blvd., Atlantic Highlands, N. J., the sum of $32,911.65 as damages for not being reinstated to his pre-war job when he returned from service at the end of World War II.

The award is against the Schwartz Manufacturing Co., Two Rivers, Wis., and represents what Judge Tenan said Mr. Travis probably would have earned in commissions the first year back on the job.

Mr. Travis, who went into the army in Jan. 1942, as a first lieutenant and rose to the rank of colonel, contended that when he returned from service he should have been given back his job as Eastern sales manager for the Schwartz firm.

The company in its defense said that Mr. Travis, a West Point graduate, was not entitled to his former position when he was released from active service June 18, 1947, because he was an independent contractor.

Judge Tenan ruled Aug. 10, 1951, that Mr. Travis was entitled to his former job with the company. But when the firm and the Atlantic Highlands man could not agree on the figure for damages, Judge Tenan last week set the amount. Mr. Travis claimed he lost between $80,000 and $100,000 in commissions.

Relatives Visit Boy Scout Crawford

Frank W. Crawford, Jr., a member of Boy Scout troop 23 of Red Bank, who is participating in the National Boy Scout jamboree at the Irvine ranch near Santa Ana, Cal., had some surprise visitors Sunday—his grandmother, Mrs. Lavinia Crawford of Van Nuys, Cal., and his uncles and aunts. The scout is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Crawford, Sr., of Lincoln st., Headen's Corner, Middletown township.

With Mrs. Crawford were her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Loy Owen of Beverly Hills, Cal., and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Crawford of Burbank, Cal. All members of the family are former Red Bank residents. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Crawford and Mrs. Lavinia Crawford moved to California seven years ago and Mr. and Mrs. Owen have lived there the past 26 years.

Frank, Jr., will leave for home tomorrow, stopping at Philmont, New Mexico, where he will spend two weeks at the Boy Scout Explorer scout ranch in Cimmaron. He is expected home the second week in August. In letters to his mother the scout wrote of "having a fine time" and enjoying his visit with his California relatives.

Guernsey Produced 13,763 Pounds of Milk

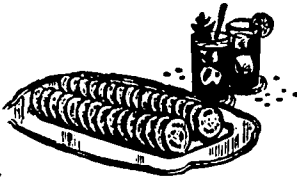

PETERBOROUGH, N. H.—A registered Guernsey cow, Hominy Hill Beryl, owned by Henry D. Mercer of Catta Neck, N. J., put 13,763 pounds of milk and 706 pounds of butterfat into the country's breadbasket. This is according to the official advanced registry record released by the American Guernsey Cattle club. "Beryl" was a junior two-year-old and was milked three times daily for 385 days. Guernsey cows on official test have steadily increased production over the years. The average cow in the United States produces only about one half as much as the average purebred Guernsey on official test.

The sire of "Beryl" is Fairlawn Peerless Dictator. Fifty-nine sons and daughters of the bull are listed in the Performance Register of the American Guernsey Cattle club.

Property Taxes Levied by Local Governments Rise to $464,512,173

NEWARK—Property taxes levied by New Jersey's local governments rose to a new all-time high of $464,512,173 this year, the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce revealed this week in its annual report on local property taxes. The 1953 all-purpose property tax levy on real and personal property exceeds last year's record by $31,255,305. The Chamber noted that this year's increase was substantially below the increase recorded in 1952 when property taxes rose $35,000,000 over the prior year's levy.

The State Chamber's study was based on a detailed analysis of the 1953 Abstracts of Tax Rates issued by New Jersey's 21 counties. The study was made by the State Chamber's department of governmental and economic research, and was made public today by James W. McGraw, research director.

The total property tax levy in Monmouth county for 1953 was $18,915,000 as compared with $18,915,000 for 1952. This was an increase of $1,998,000, or 11.81 per cent. The county government levy in this county was $3,515,000 for 1953 and $3,558,000 for 1952; the school levy, $8,512,000 for 1953, and $7,457,000 for 1952, and the municipal government levy, $6,888,000 for 1953 and $6,103,000 for 1952.

School Taxes Are High

In New Jersey general property taxes are assessed, levied and collected by the municipalities, not only for the support of municipal government but for county and school district purposes as well. Approximately 44 per cent of the 1953 levy is for school purposes, while 18 per cent will go toward the support of county government. The remaining 38 per cent, which includes a mandatory reserve for uncollected taxes, is retained by the municipalities. Since 1946 there has been no property tax in New Jersey for state government purposes.

The 1953 levy for local school purposes totals $204,362,000 as against last year's $185,808,000, an increase of $18,554,000, or 11 per cent. This means that almost 60 per cent of the total increase in property taxes this year was for local school purposes.

Taxes for municipal government this year total $176,450,000, an increase of $7,357,000, or 4.4 per cent over the 1952 figure of $169,103,000.

County taxes, including those levied for the support of county libraries, increased from $75,346,000 in 1952 to $83,690,000 this year. This is an increase of $8,344,000, or 6.8 per cent.

Valuations and Tax Rates

The total assessed valuation of real and personal property increased from $4,394,936,000 in 1952 to $4,600,223,000 this year.

The average property tax rate in the state for 1953 is estimated by the State Chamber to be $7.04 per $100 of assessed valuation. The state-wide average rate last year was $6.78 per $100. Of New Jersey's 565 municipalities, 452 have higher all-purpose tax rates this year than they did in 1952, while 106 have lower rates. The tax rates of seven municipalities remain the same as a year ago.

The State Chamber's analysis pointed out that 84 per cent of the total $464,512,000 1953 property tax levy is assessed against real estate and improvements, while 16 per cent of the total is borne by owners of tangible personal property. The remaining 3 per cent of the property tax is levied against the locally taxed real estate and improvements of railroads.

The 1953 levy on non-railroad real estate and improvements totals $389,172,000, and represents an increase of $26,898,000 over the 1952 levy.

Taxes levied on tangible personal property in 1953 total $62,173,000, an increase of $4,101,000 over last year's levy. In New Jersey tangible personal property is divided for tax purposes into household goods, farm stock and machinery and business personalty. The personal property of business consists of inventories, machinery and equipment.

New Jersey business pays by far the greater part of the personal property tax. In 1953 taxes levied against the tangible personal property of business total $50,975,000, and represent an increase of $3,211,000 over the 1952 levy against this class of property.

Taxes levied on household goods this year increased $840,000, and now total $10,318,000. In computing the tax on household goods allowance was made for the fact that New Jersey grants a $100 exemption on this class of property.

The 1953 levy against farm stock and farm machinery total $880,000, which represents an increase of $50,000 over last year's levy.

Railroad taxes levied at local property tax rates total $13,167,000 this year, an increase of $457,000 over 1952. Over 77 per cent of this tax is paid to Hudson county communities. In addition to local taxes the railroads pay about $4,500,000 annually in state taxes.

Over-All Tax on Business

Commenting on the breakdown of the property tax by taxpayers, Mr. McGraw stated:

"Data compiled by the New Jersey Commission on State Tax Policy as part of its exhaustive study of the New Jersey property tax indicate that business pays at least 41 per cent of the non-railroad real estate tax, in addition to the amounts paid by business on its tangible personal property. This indicates that business will pay $159,560,000 in real estate taxes alone this year, in addition to which it will pay almost $51,000,000 in tangible personal property taxes. When to these figures we add the more than $13,000,000 paid by New Jersey railroads we find that the tax contribution of New Jersey business to the local governments of this state totals $223,700,000, or slightly more than 48 per cent of the total all-purpose tax levy."

"This is a measure of the tax contribution which New Jersey business now makes to local governments in this state. Those who would attempt to saddle New Jersey business with the full cost of new expenditure programs consistently ignore the very substantial contribution which business is already making to government services. This very substantial business tax base—worth more than $223,000,000 to local governments this year—is the tax base that would be endangered by discriminatory new state taxes directed solely at business."

"Local government officials, including those primarily interested in the public schools, could think twice before risking the loss of tax rates represented by business in return for extravagant programs to be financed from Trenton."

'Blossom Time' Begins Monday At Music Circus

'Gentlemen Prefer

Blondes' Featured

Now through Sunday

NEPTUNE—"Blossom Time," the all-time favorite Romberg musical, opens Monday for one week at the Music Circus here located three miles west of Asbury Park at route 66 and Jumping Brook rd.

Margot Moser

In "Blossom Time," Romberg has taken the highlights in the life of Franz Schubert, the noted composer, and around this fabulous story has composed his best melodies, based upon airs by Schubert. Such famous songs as "This Is My Song of Love" taken from Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony," "The Serenade," "Tell Me, Daisy," and "My Springtime Thou Art" are a few of the melodies offered by this famous composer.

In the lead roles are Donald Clarke, a handsome actor with a fine voice, and Margot Moser, the princess of "Call Me Madam." In the role of Franz Schubert will be Paul Ukema. John Hensen, the dynamic young tenor who thrilled audiences in last week's "Student Prince" will once again display his talents. Mr. Hensen received heavy applause every night for his sensational voice. In the supporting cast are Hilda Kosta, Alex Alexander, the voices of the Singing Ensemble, Corps de Ballet and the Music Circus orchestra.

"Blossom Time," directed by

Old Union House To Feature Clambake

An old fashioned clambake will be featured at the Old Union House, Wharf ave., Sunday beginning at 5 p. m. Ray E. Smith, proprietor, this week announced that John Lyons, former chef at the Ship Ahoy in Sea Bright, will be "bakemaster."

Clams will be served in every imaginable style. That will include fritters, barbecue, deviled, steamed, chowder, broth, juice and cherrystones. Special sauces, corn on the cob, allied tomatoes and other "bake" specialties will also be available.

Termites are blind.

Surging Power with a Single Purpose

Turning into traffic, you call on the surging reserve of acceleration, surely, confidently. You are safely sure because you command the Red Ram V-8 engine that set new official AAA performance records.

SAFETY!

When you choose a car for your family, you call on your good judgment to obtain every measure of safety.

One safety factor you should certainly consider is the magnificent reserve of power that Dodge provides in the 140-h.p. Red Ram V-8 engine.

This power is there when you need it: For passing, for turning into highway traffic, for crossing intersections.

Dodge Power-for-Safety deserves your careful thought in selecting a family car.

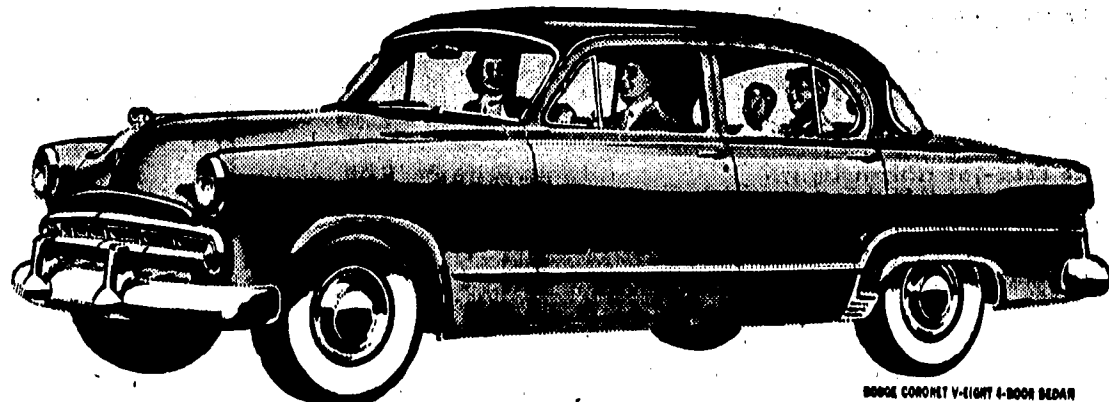

The cost of safety is very low: Dodge prices start below many models in the "lowest-priced" field.

Passing a truck on the highway, a touch of your toe brings instant, eager response. Dodge power reserve is a great safety factor.

Powerful brakes, capable of developing more than 700-h.p. in stopping power, team up with the Red Ram V-8 engine to bring you new mastery of every driving situation.

Poems

GOING STEADY

They meet one day at a soda fountain,
Decide they like each other;
He asks her for a number of dates,
Soon they're going together.
They establish their standing as a couple;
Their hearts are full of fun;
They know that they will always be Together, as if one.
Whatever one does, the other must do,
They're sure that they were fated;
Wherever one goes, the other must go—
They cannot be separated.
He dances all waltzes with only her,
He stays at her side all night,
Humming little snatches of their songs,
Wandering her, holding her tight.
She circles the floor within his arms,
Her head against his chest;
Wishing that she could always be Safe in this haven of rest.
He calls her up 'most every night
Just to hear her speak;
Wishing she were close to him
Dancing cheek to cheek.
She knows when he is due to call,
She hurries to answer the phone;
We hear his voice and breathe a sigh,
Thinking, "He's mine, my own."
They do not believe when people say
'Tis only infatuation.

To them it is real and vibrant and true,
A wonderful manifestation.
But soon the wonder begins to fade,
Like silver's tarnished hue.
Each silently asks, "Are you tired of me?"
"Am I still in love with you?"
They slowly start to break away
Admitting the others were right;
They blame their youth in believing the phrase
"Falling in love at first sight."
Then comes the search for someone new,
Their different paths they trod,
And the only memory of their love
Is in the book of God.

BUNNIES

There's a quiet little family living in a clump of grass.
The cutest little creatures that you have ever seen.
Soft, brown fur, and eyes so big and bright.
Big ones, little ones, tails just tufts of white.
Happy little family, in their hidden house of green—
Until November hunting days then, no more, our friends are gone.

Local Reserve
Trains at Wood

Four officers and nine enlisted men who form the nucleus of the 824th Signal Construction company, Red Bank Army Reserve unit, are participating in an active duty training which began Sunday and ends Aug. 2 at Camp Charles Wood, Eatontown, a subpost of Fort Monmouth.

This period will climax an intensive one-year program during which time the unit met four times monthly at 12 Broad st. for two-hour training periods. The training periods were divided into two parts, the first consisted of discussions on basic military subjects such as the manual of arms, care of weapons, military courtesies and customs, field sanitation, military drill, first aid and concealment and camouflage. In the second hour technical problems pertaining to the activities of a signal construction company were presented by personnel of the unit.

During the year, four outdoor training problems were conducted at Fort Monmouth to familiarize the personnel with the newest practices in line construction work. In addition, the unit had guest instructors from the officers' departments of the Monmouth Signal school.

Among the personnel of the 824th are employees of the New Jersey Bell Telephone system and civilian employees of the Signal Corps at Fort Monmouth. The company is commanded by First Lieut. Joseph Frank of Long Branch, who is employed at Fort Monmouth. Other Fort Monmouth employees are First Lieut. Edwin L. Brower, 21 Navesink dr., Monmouth Beach; First Lieut. Judson M. Terrell, Jr., 1116½ Fifth ave., Asbury Park; First Sgt. Carlton D. Bakley, Sr., 416 Harnell ave., Elberon; and M/Sgt. George Griggs, 89 Barker ave., Shrewsbury township. Personnel employed by Bell Telephone are First Lieut. Roscoe J. Norwood, Cliffwood ave., Eatontown; Sgt. Arthur D. Smock, 103 West Chicago blvd., Sea Girt, and Cpl. David T. Emmons, 409 Second ave., Bradley Beach.

Five other members of the unit who will attend summer raining are Cpl. William A. Cadigan, 739 Main st., Avon; Cpl. Lawrence R. DeVito, 111 Grand ave., Asbury Park; Cpl. William G. Lettsche, 1202 Second ave., Asbury Park; PFC Stanley A. Cain, 96 High st., Eatontown, and Pvt. William J. McCue, 57 Water st., Perth Amboy.

It is believed that pheasants were first taken to England by the Romans.

Estimate New Parkway Will Carry 30,583,000 Vehicles in First Year

TRENTON—Traffic and revenue studies made and reported by a firm of competent engineers discredited an erroneous and unsubstantiated opinion that the Garden State parkway will be a part-time pleasure route to seashore resorts and recreation areas, Bayard L. England, vice chairman of the New Jersey Highway Authority, said today.

Commissioner England, who also is treasurer of the Highway Authority, directed attention to the report submitted by Coverdale & Colglita, New York consulting engineers, to substantiate his contention and that of State Highway Commissioner Randolph J. Abbott, authority chairman, that the parkway will be a self-liquidating, year-around highway eventually serving millions of motorists annually over a distance of 165 miles between Paramus and Cape May.

The engineering firm, England emphasized, submitted its advance report on traffic and revenue studies of both the scenic route and the New Jersey Turnpike to a large group of bond and investment brokers who subscribed to the first $150,000,000 bond issue to permanently finance construction of the legislated route of the parkway.

The engineers estimate, the authority vice chairman pointed out, that the parkway will carry 30,583,000 vehicles during 1953, the first full year of operation. They also estimate the authority will collect a minimum of $11,703,000 in tolls, or about 38 cents per vehicle, from this same volume of traffic.

83,000 Cars Daily
Based on the estimated 30,583,000 vehicles using the parkway, this would mean a daily average of 83,000 vehicles using the scenic highway during the first full year of operation.

Traffic on the turnpike during its first year of operation, England explained, far exceeded original estimates of the same engineers. During 1952 a total of 18,239,527 motorists paid tolls for a daily average of 50,000 vehicles. The engineers originally predicted 3,400,000 vehicles would travel on the turnpike during the first year.

"This advance report by the traffic and revenue engineers discredits the basically unfounded claim that the Garden State parkway will be a part-time vacation highway only providing safe and rapid transportation to and from northern and southern New Jersey resorts and recreation areas," Mr. England said. "The parkway, as originally planned, will be a year-around modern highway serving millions of motorists annually. The report of the engineers sustains this opinion, one mutually shared by the commissioners and engineers of the highway authority."

Unlike the turnpike, an overall toll facility, motorists will be permitted to drive over certain local sections of the parkway without paying any toll, Commissioner England pointed out.

644th Guardsmen Have Busy Week

CAMP DRUM, N. Y.—Officers and enlisted men of the Red Bank and Assbury Park units of the 644th Tank battalion, under the command of Lieut. Col. Hans A. Kessler of River Plaza, Friday completed the first week of this year's summer camp training in armored maneuvers and were preparing to take advantage of the recreational activities afforded them by the Special Service office of the 60th Armored division.

This year's training has included operations preparatory to field maneuvers and specialist training in motor mechanics, communications, food service, transportation, personnel administration and supply. A special recruit training group was set up for men not qualified in the basic soldering techniques of dismounted drill and the manual of arms.

A boxing tournament was held Friday under the direction of First Lieut. William Dorney of Bergenfield. Referee was Sgt. Vince Martinez of Paterson, contender for the welterweight crown. The ring announcer was Rev. David L. Coddington, division chaplain. Entertainment was supplied between the bouts by the 50th Armored division band. Although the local units had no one entered, many of the men attended the tourney where, in the past, several men of the 644th have won division championships.

Visiting ladies of the division officers were received Saturday by Mrs. Donald W. McGowan, wife of the commanding general. During the evening a dance was held for the officers and their wives.

Sunday offered the widest range of activities for the majority of the men in camp. The day was begun with a full dress parade by all personnel of the division in camp. Outdoor church services led by chaplains of all faiths. The massed colors of the division were unfurled for the religious devotion. After the spiritual needs of the men were attended to the post took on a deserted look as 75 per cent of the men were allowed pass privileges, many of them going on tours planned by the Special Service office, to the scenic Thousand Islands of Upper New York state. For the men remaining in camp a field day was held and the soldiers competed for the commanding general's trophy and for awards presented to the winners of individual events. Competition was held in all track and field events and special military events were held to give the soldiers a chance to show what they had learned so far in their training.

A great deal of local interest was centered around the New Jersey National Guard elimination matches, Sunday, to pick a team to represent New Jersey Guard in the National Rifle and Pistol championship matches to be held at Camp Perry, O., from Aug. 20 to Sept. 7. High scorers from several non-divisional units were flown here by a National Guard transport to try to win a berth among the 14 men making the trip.

Four men of the 644th, Capt. Frank J. Frisela, CWO. James P. McKevitt, Second Lieut. William B. Little and Master Sgt. Brutus D. Applegate were entered, but up to the time of this release the final scores had not been determined.

Stout Assigned To Guard Unit

LONG BRANCH—First Lieut. Franklin E. Stout, a former resident of Long Branch, has joined the 156th Transportation battalion, Long Branch's National Guard unit, it was announced today by Lieut. Col. Frank N. Kaiser, commanding officer of the local unit.

Lieut. Stout, born in Long Branch in 1919, and graduating from Long Branch high school in 1937, is living with his wife and daughter at Castle Brook farm, Freehold. He will be assigned company commander to succeed Lieut. James A. Carton, adjutant, who had been acting company commander.

Lieut. Stout enlisted in the Army at Fort Monmouth in 1942. He was promoted to staff sergeant in August, 1944. He was transferred to Camp Beale, Cal., in 1945. He served as sergeant major for the 75th AAA Gun battalion in Hawaii with the rating of master sergeant.

He accepted a commission as a second lieutenant with the 64th Tank battalion in Red Bank in 1948. He was promoted to first lieutenant Feb. 1, 1951, and resigned from the Red Bank unit in September, 1952.

He is employed as administrative assistant in the wire branch at Camp Coles.

Million Dollar Eatontown Interchange Plan

TRENTON — Less than $2,000 separated the two low bids of six received Monday by the New Jersey Highway Authority for construction of a million dollar Eatontown interchange and a new dual highway connecting the Garden State parkway in the boroughs of Eatontown and New Shrewsbury, it was announced by Orrin de Nooyer, Authority secretary.

The new East-West Eatontown spur will be built between the parkway and the intersection of the Eatontown traffic circle and route 35. Grant ave. will be relocated to provide safer crossing of the feeder road. Wyckoff rd. and Hope rd. also will connect with the new highway.

A low bid of $948,723.80 was submitted for the contract by Frank Stamato & Co. of Lodi. The close second low bid of $948,466 was offered by George M. Brewster & Son, Inc., of Bogota.

Other bidders and proposals included Louis Zimmerman, Jr., of Hillside, $992,297.05; Villa Contracting Co., Inc., of Westfield, $1,087,933.25; Union Building & Construction Corp. of Paic, $1,090,771.25; and Peter W. Kero, Inc., of Lyndhurst, $1,135,005.25.

The contract also includes construction of a reinforced steel and concrete bridge that will carry the feeder road over the northbound roadway of the parkway approximately one-half mile east of Hope rd.

This crossing will form part of the interchange that will include the location of toll area 35 which will be built under a separate contract. Connections between the parkway and the Eatontown spur will allow motorists to enter or leave the scenic route in either direction.

Commissioner de Nooyer announced the bids will be studied by engineers of the Authority prior to awarding the contract for the work.

ARMY SALUTES SCHNEIDER

CAMP DRUM, N. Y.—Cpl. Harvey J. Schneider of Long Branch, assigned to the 309th Regiment of the 78th (Jersey Lightning) Army Reserve division, probably got the biggest birthday serenade in Camp Drum history when he celebrated his 27th birthday during a reserve summer field problem here.

The division band presented a concert to the regiment in their stunted-pine attuned bivouac area, pausing during its performance to musically salute Schneider, while hundreds of his regimental comrades supplied a background of words of "Happy Birthday."

The 78th is currently undergoing a two weeks' period of Army Reserve summer training, and will return to New Jersey July 28.

In all these important ways...

...IN POWER AND PERFORMANCE
Chevrolet's entirely new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine (named with Powerglide*) is the most powerful in the low-price field in gearshift models. You get the advanced 108-h.p. "Thrifty-King" engine. Both give brilliant new performance and greater economy.

...IN STYLE AND LUXURY
The sleek, low-lung beauty of this fine new car provides one more reason for Chevrolet's truly amazing popularity. The new Fisher Body provides roomy luxurious interiors, modern appointments and colorful, fine-fabric upholstery that can be matched only in costlier cars.

...IN EASE OF DRIVING
Entirely new Powerglide automatic transmission, with faster getaway and greater economy, eliminates the clutch pedal completely. And Chevrolet's new Power Steering* does 80% of the work... lets you squeeze in or out of tight spaces with wonderful new ease.

...IN ECONOMY AND VALUE
Chevrolet now brings you the most important gain in gasoline economy in its history! And, you save substantial amounts on overall upkeep, too. Yet with all its wonderful new things, Chevrolet remains the lowest priced line in the low-price field!

...IN FIRST PLACE POPULARITY
Again this year—as in every single postwar year—more people are buying Chevrolets than any other car. In fact, latest official registration figures show Chevrolet over 25% ahead of the second-place car. Nearly 2 million more people now drive Chevrolets than any other make.

*Optional at extra cost. Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine available on "Vagabond" and "Del Rio" models only. Power Steering is available on all models.

Average N. J. Farmer Is Almost 52 Years Old

The average New Jersey farmer is almost 52 years of age and has operated the same farm for 15 years, according to a report of the 1950 Census of Agriculture just received by John B. Lovett, supervisor of the New York district office of the U. S. Census Bureau.

New Jersey farm owners, on an average, are 8.5 older than farm tenants, according to the census report, which states the average age of farm owners as 52.9 years and the average age of farm tenants as 44.4 years. Among farm operators reporting on number of years of residence on the same farm, owners averaged 15 years and tenants averaged nine years.

Almost two out of five New Jersey farmers derived income from work off the farm according to the census bureau. Of 24,779 farm operators enumerated in the 1950 census, 8,567 reported work off the farm in 1949 and 27.3 per cent of these had worked 100 days or more off the farm.

250 Reservists Train at Fort

FORT MONMOUTH—Two weeks' active duty for approximately 250 Army reservists from throughout the state began last week-end with five units reporting to the post here for Signal Corps training under the Army reserve training program.

Among the units in the regional encampment is the 35th Signal construction battalion, the only affiliated group scheduled for training. The outfit comprises employees of the Jersey Bell Telephone company and the 68 Army reservists arriving here make up the largest unit in camp. Their headquarters is in Newark.

Other units are the 418th signal construction company and the 824th signal construction company, who with the 35th, are undergoing on-the-job training with post signal office functions. Another unit is the 324th signal service battalion.

The 800th electronic warfare countermeasures company from Red Bank is training with the electronic warfare center here.

Fifty-seven reservists are in the school staff and faculty group, which includes administrative and instructor personnel.

The 1043rd army reserve army service unit from New Brunswick has 80 men attending school here at Camp Wood. Set up as a counterpart of the Signal school here, the group attends basic and advanced Signal officers courses.

Training started Monday morning following orientation by the post commanding general. Earlier this month, nearly 300 reservists from New York completed similar training at Fort Monmouth. New England groups arrive for duty Aug. 9.

3 Colonels Take Final Salute

FORT MONMOUTH—A formal garrison review, honoring three retiring Signal Corps officers, whose combined service totals 113 years, was held at the post Saturday morning.

The three Army colonels making their final official military appearance were Col. Amory V. Elliot of New York city, Col. Edward A. Allen of Birmingham, Ala., and Col. Harry L. Vitthum of Baltimore, Md.

Col. Elliot's most recent assignment at Fort Monmouth was as commanding officer of the Signal Corps unit survey agency, while Col. Allen served as inspector general on the post. Col. Vitthum has been inspector general of the Signal Corps since Jan., 1952.

The colonels reviewed the troops in a parade. Taking part were the post drill team and the newly organized bugle and drum corps, plus the Fort Monmouth band.

Col. Elliot joined the 7th Infantry with the New York National Guard in 1912. He served overseas in World War I. Transferred to the Signal Corps in 1923, he served a good portion of time from then to 1947 with the Air Forces. During the last war he saw duty in North Africa and Italy.

In completing 37 years in the Army, Col. Allen also served as deputy president of the Signal Corps board here at the post and is the first technically qualified inspector general at this installation. He served in Europe in the last war and from Aug., 1948, to Mar., 1949 in the Far East command.

Prior to Col. Vitthum's duties in Washington, he was commanding officer of the Sacramento Signal depot. In 1918, Col. Vitthum served here, then Camp Alfred Vail, attached to the officers training battalion.

Two Long Branch Theaters Reopen

LONG BRANCH—The two Walter Reade theaters—the Paramount and Strand—reopened here Saturday night after being closed 12 days following the dispute over burlesque presentations at the Paramount.

Walter Reade, Jr., head of the theater chain, decided to shut down the two movie houses after the city commission held a hearing and reserved decision on whether to revoke the mercantile licenses of the theaters.

Paramount. It was the first time in many years that the city had been left without a theater in operation.

This started immediate action, and a committee from the Chamber of Commerce started negotiating with Mr. Reade asking him to reopen. After a week of discussion, agreement was reached Friday when the city commission at a special meeting decided to drop the revocation proceedings against the theaters. Mr. Reade then announced the reopening of both movie houses.

The burlesque shows were the center of considerable controversy since they were first announced by Mr. Reade. Religious and civic groups made public protests. Opposition had mounted so much that by the time the first show was staged, pickets marched in front of the theater. Then four of the performers and the theater manager were arrested. Finally, in its second week here, burlesque was dropped by Mr. Reade.

Mediation Board Reports on Strikes

Dr. Mason W. Gross, chairman of the New Jersey State Board of Mediation, announced today that the case load of the board during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958, was approximately the same as that of the preceding year. The number of strike cases closed (77) during the 1952-53 fiscal year were five fewer than during the preceding period. The number of workers involved in these strikes similarly were fewer than in the 1951-52 period. However, largely because of the extended telephone strike, the time lost because of strikes rose from 396,432 man-days in 1951-52 to 630,070 in 1952-53.

The board averted strikes in 158 labor disputes involving 43,221 workers. Although this represents 40 fewer disputes than in the preceding year, the time spent by the board's mediators in resolving issues was greater. This development reflects the national labor unrest during the past year and the resultant difficult negotiations.

Wages Major Issue
The number of disputes referred to arbitration rather than being settled on the picket line continued to rise. The board handled an all-time high of arbitration cases during the past year. The board closed 193 arbitration cases during 1952-53 as compared with 166 in the preceding year.

Wages was again the single major issue in labor negotiations. Wages was closely followed by related economic matters as welfare benefits and such fringe items as holidays, vacations, shift differentials and call-in pay.

During the past year the board handled 12 strikes in which the issue of representation was involved. The question of union security in former years a major issue, appeared as a dispute item in only 11 cases.

Labor organizations continued to initiate the referral of disputes to the board. Labor unions referred 311 of the 428 cases closed. Sixty-seven cases were jointly referred by management and labor; the board assumed jurisdiction on its own motion in 23 cases and the remaining 27 were referred by management.

During the past year, the board participated in the settlement of only three strikes involving public utilities; the telephone strike, a gas company in South Jersey and a small public transportation company. Seventeen other labor disputes involving public utilities were settled by the board's mediators.

Count 4,000 Craft Along Jersey Coast
TRENTON—More than 4,000 fishing and pleasure boats of various sizes and types were observed along New Jersey's Atlantic coastline, from Sandy Hook to Salem, during an aerial survey conducted July 4 by the State Fisheries Laboratory's marine inventory personnel under the direction of Roy Younger, The Division of Fish and Game, Department of Conservation and Economic Development, pointed out that this flight was one of several made in connection with the State Fisheries Laboratory's inventory of marine sport fisheries in New Jersey, a survey financed predominately by government funds.

The purpose of the inventory is to ascertain the relative importance of major game and pan species in the saltwater sportsmen's creels and to determine the relative number of species of fish which are caught throughout the year. The information thus obtained will be used, according to State Fisheries Biologist Roland F. Smith, to help formulate a plan for the more efficient management of New Jersey's saltwater fisheries.

Lincroft Officer at Camp Drum

Captain Edward D. Hopkins of Brookdale farm, Lincroft, adjutant of the 404th Military Government company, an Army reserve unit, explains a technical problem in administration to a member of the unit. The 404th is in summer training at Camp Drum, N. Y.

Capt. Hopkins is married and has two children, Ann and Lynn. He attended Utah State Agricultural college, University of California and New York university. He is employed in the fabrics sales division of E. I. DuPont de Nemours, Inc., at 350 Fifth Ave., New York.

Morganville
The Morganville first aid squad has been active during July answering calls to the scene of auto and farm accidents and the calls of local citizens for transportation to hospitals. Fifteen calls have been recorded since the first of the month.

The recent family picnic held at White Birch grove by the first aid squad was attended by 600 persons and netted $425. The coin-saver cards distributed during May are being collected. The money will be used for the purchase of new equipment.

Postmaster and Mrs. Welch are residing in their new home in Marlboro Gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Antle entertained at a beach party Saturday at Spring Lake followed by a picnic supper at Far View farm for their week-end guests, Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, Mr. and Mrs. E. Herbert Hibbe and children Gail and Steven, all of Bogota.

Miss Suzanne Becker, members of the Robertville 4-H club, had sewing and cooking exhibits at the 4-H fair at Freehold last week. Each girl received two blue ribbons and four red ribbons.

Robert Maruser spent the week-end with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Weglar, Sr., of Old Bridge.

Arlene Delbert celebrated her fifth birthday Saturday with a party at her home. Present were Mrs. Henry Doran and daughter Nancy; Mrs. L. Seber and children Bobby and Jeanie; and Arlene's sister Joanne.

Mrs. William E. O'Connor, Sr., and grandson, George Strate, Jr., of Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs. William E. O'Connor, Jr., and children Billy and Bobby of Fayson Lakes, N. J., were Monday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marx of Wickatunk.

Those who completed the Red Cross swimming course at Keansburg were Patty Preston, Gladys Pheasant, Mabel Beal, Carol Williams, Louise Williams, Adele Williams, Donald Zent, Sally Zent, Isabelle Demery, Anna Mae Guerin, Dorothy Spurgat, Carl Joseph Spurgat, Wayne Morris, Alice May Morris, William Brewer, Susan Quackenbush, Robert Quackenbush, Mary Ann Maur, Mary Marx and Fred Marx.

When the men and women of the Morganville church played softball last Thursday evening, the men were again winners. Those playing were Florence and Lucy Eckel, Betty and Mae Beal, Dorothy Spurgat, Frank Rogers, Dorothy Howardson, Joe Kelly, John Ludewick, Orvin Perrine, Sam Rogers, Matt Kelly, Ralph Babirsky, Kenny Miller, James Rogers, Bobby Howardson and Eddie Smith.

Leslie Woolley conducted the Sunday-school session in the Methodist church Sunday and Mrs. Bert Boyce was the pianist in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Lamberton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Meyers and children Susie, Nancy and Howard of Waukegan, Ill., were Friday visitors of Mrs. George Beal.

Walter J. Lamberton is on vacation from his position with Hanon-VanWinkle-Munning company in Matawan and Mrs. Lamberton is also enjoying her vacation from the Matawan bank.

The harvest home supper sponsored by the Women's Society for Christian Service of the Methodist church will be held in independent fire house Thursday evening, Aug. 6. The dinner will be served "family style" and the first table will be ready at 6 o'clock. A fancy table will be featured with Mrs. Elizabeth Pent in charge.

There are about 444,000 producing oil wells in the United States.

New Monmouth

The summer religious school of St. Mary's Catholic church closed Friday with a picnic for the children. Attendance certificates were awarded, prizes for achievement and project work were given and project work was on exhibition. Movies were shown in the church hall and games and races were played. After services in the church the children and teachers enjoyed a picnic lunch. The school opened June 22. Those who assisted in teaching were Sister Marie and Sister Michaela of Atlantic Highlands. William Bausch, seminarian, also Mrs. M. J. Maloney, Mrs. William Gul, Mrs. W. Juliette, Mrs. Frederick Kirwan, Mrs. Paul Naughton, Mrs. Gaynor Conlon, Mrs. George Brent, Sandra Craig and Mary E. Naughton.

Donald Gorbey of Wheeling, West Va., spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Walling and daughter Joanne. Linda VanNortwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter VanNortwick, celebrated her 12th birthday Saturday with her parents and a guest, Carol Krynicky of Port Monmouth, by attending the ice show at Asbury Park.

State Guaranty of Parkway Bonds
Results in Lower Interest Rate

TRENTON—The prediction that state guaranty of Garden State Parkway bonds would result in an interest savings of one per cent was realized in the award of the first $150 million of permanent financing of the New Jersey Highway Authority, according to Bayard L. England, vice chairman and treasurer.

The 2.998 per cent interest rate of the first bond issue is at least one per cent lower than could be obtained without state backing, in the opinion of the Authority's financial advisors, England said. As a result of the lower interest rate an estimated savings of approximately $3 million a year will be realized. If the same favorable rates can be obtained in December, when the balance of the Authority's bonds are scheduled for sale, a savings of more than $80 million in finance costs over the bond period will be realized, he added.

David G. Wakeman, Jr., of Drysdale & Co., acting financial advisor to the Authority, said: "Under market conditions of this period I doubt an issue of $150 million could have been sold without state guaranty. If it could the interest rate would certainly have been 4 per cent or more."

Prior to entering into its permanent financing the Authority operated on $28 million temporary loans, which will now be repaid from the proceeds of the first issue. Under temporary financing the Authority placed approximately 90 miles of the parkway under contract and a total of more than $70 million in construction is currently under way between Irvington and Absecon.

The Authority sold its first $150 million bonds to a syndicate headed by Lehman Bros., National City Bank of New York, Chase National Bank, Bankers Trust Company, First National Bank of New York and First National Bank of Chicago. Through affiliates, a total of 300 banking houses throughout the nation participated.

12 Barrier Gates
Under present construction schedules the Authority plans to have its first toll booth in operation by December. It will be located between Irvington and Union on the section now under construction.

According to plans, barrier, or across-the-road, collection stations will be used on the parkway except for a few locations where

Turf Ball Funds
Aid Many County
Charity Services

This Year's Event
To Be Held Saturday;
Lombardo to Play

OCEANPORT—For the past six years the Turf ball, main charity event of Monmouth Park Jockey club, has raised approximately $50,000 annually for Monmouth county charities. This year, the committee working on the event hopes to go over that mark.

The ball will be held Saturday night in Monmouth Park's spacious clubhouse. It is open to the public for dinner, the dancing to follow and a gay carnival. In keeping with the strict state law, there will be no chances or lotteries, but all the skill games of the midway will be in play, with a wide variety of prizes. Such things as a sterling silver service for eight, clothes from the workrooms of the nation's foremost women's dress designers, unusual items for home and garden and sets of luggage are among the prizes obtained by committee members.

One of the big attractions will be Guy Lombardo and his orchestra. A trio will play both during dinner and later. Dress is informal. Dinner will be served from 7:30 o'clock on. A large crowd is expected, not only of shore society, but from the metropolitan area as well. Besides funds raised at the ball, the Jockey club will make its own annual donation of $25,000.

Mrs. Philip Iselin is general chairman. "The importance of the charity ball throughout the county," she said, "is best reflected by letters of appreciation received from officials of organizations participating in the fund." She then outlined the organizations, hospitals and institutions and agencies for care of aged and children, which get Monmouth Park charity fund monies.

Riverview hospital of Red Bank has used allocated monies for the construction of its entire X-ray department. Monmouth Memorial hospital found the donation invaluable in starting construction of its recovery room project, while Pitkin hospital used its share for the construction of two patient rooms in the newly built wing.

The fund has been useful in other ways, also. The Family and Children's society of Long Branch reported that contributions had helped to make life happier for small children, paying for the boarding care of many during the past year. The Pollak clinic at Monmouth Memorial found such monies useful in the relief of the psychiatric needs of mentally disturbed patients and the Ranshoff Memorial fund provided for new research on the treatment of infantile paralysis.

Others sharing annually in the fund include the American Cancer society, Monmouth County Organization for Social Service, Brim Hill Home, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Red Cross and several other groups. Through them the sick, aged and infirm have been treated over the years, the charity fund providing the money with which to successfully combat the ravages of sickness and old age.

Assisting Mrs. Iselin as co-chairmen are Mrs. Townsend B. Martin, Mrs. Allison Stern, Mrs. Frederick C. Tatum and Mrs. Edward W. Scudder, Jr. The ticket committee is headed by Mrs. William Russell, Jr., with Mrs. Milton Erlanger as co-chairman. The program committee is in charge of Miss Isabelle Haskell, president of the Jockey club. Mrs. John Corson Ellis, another daughter of Mr. Haskell, is aiding her sister.

Other committee chairmen include Mrs. Edward M. Crane, Sr., flower committee; Mrs. David Marx, concession; Mrs. David Werblin, entertainment; Mrs. Lloyd Lawrence and Mrs. Horace Horner, decorating; and Mrs. Ira Haupt, Mrs. Allison Stern and Mrs. James Hauck, New York committee. Many others are giving liberally of their time and efforts in the interest of charity.

Report Shows 4,178 Parolees
In State Earned $6 Million in Year

TRENTON—The operation of paroling offenders from New Jersey correctional institutions and allowing them to serve parts of their sentences in the free community seems not only to be good social practice, but has a tremendous economic significance in the light of a report filed with Commissioner Sanford Bates, of the State Department of Institutions and Agencies, showing that 4,178 New Jersey parolees earned a total of $6,156,021.24 wages in one year.

Reporting these figures was Lieut. Col. F. Lovell Bixby, deputy commissioner for correction and parole in the institutions' department. Of the total of those on parole, 3,783 were males who earned $5,909,436.46 for the year, while 395 female parolees earned $246,584.78.

In addition to the actual earnings of parolees, other economic and social advantages have accrued, among them being the comparative cost of keeping an offender in an institution as against supervision on parole. It cost about $1,200 a year to maintain a person in a correctional institution, whereas parole supervision cost only $112 per parolee per year, somewhere between nine and ten per cent of the institutional cost.

Then again, Commissioner Bates pointed out in commenting on the earnings figures, many offenders have families who become public charges while the offender is institutionalized. Accordingly release of such an offender operates to remove from the public assistance rolls these family members, some of whom require support from the state board of child welfare while receive financial assistance from municipal welfare departments.

Parolees covered by the report were under supervision for various periods of time, about one-third the number for the entire year, others for lesser periods. The report broke the earnings down in four time periods in addition to those under supervision for the whole year.

Details showed: 1,345 males on parole for the entire year earned $3,785,794.09, 106 females on parole for the entire year earned $104,650.72, 899 on parole one-third year earned $221,984.78, 899 on parole four-six months earned $699,820.42, 894 on parole seven-nine months earned $859,998.45 and 344 on parole ten-eleven months earned $583,763.83.

Holy Name Holds
Encyclical Study

SPRING LAKE—Reaffirming the primacy of the father of the family by divine ordinance as the head of the Christian family, the executive board of the Monmouth County Federation of Holy Name societies announced today the start of its study of the Papal Social Encyclicals.

Holding that the father bears the chief responsibility of leading and directing his family into the ways of salvation, the board stated that at the same time it must be recognized that the influence of the mother is paramount in certain aspects of family life. The divine plan defines her status to be one of co-operation and full participation in the family council and its decisions.

Referring to the address of Msgr. William C. McGrath delivered last week to the apostles attending the Fatima Congress in Plainfield, in which he declared America a nation in revolt against God, Edward J. A. Fahy, president of the federation, explained that the Holy Name society had been established in the 13th century to combat a small heretical sect who denied the divinity of Christ. In the long history of the society it has constantly pursued its primary objectives of honoring "the True God" and developing the personal sanctification of the individual member.

Caravaners Visit Lutheran Church Here to Exchange Program Ideas

Three caravaners of the Luther League of America, conducted "workshops" on topic presentations, worship services, recreational programs and service projects Friday through Sunday with the youth group of Holy Trinity Lutheran church here. The primary purpose of their visit was to assist the local leaders in bettering their programs. As education is one such means, discussions and demonstrations were employed in the "workshops."

Two phases emphasized during the discussions were "Youth Like Variety" and "The Youth of the Church." Ideas were exchanged on how to vary the services and topic presentations to make them appealing and understandable to young people. Some such suggestions were employing the respective orders of worship of other denominations so as to compare differences, after which discussions would follow on why and how such interpretations of the glorification of God came about. Short plays and sketches were considered for bringing across such topics as "Christian Brotherhood" and "Wake Up or Blow Up," which would deal with the atomic bomb problem and its relationship with Christianity and government. Service projects of all sorts were thought of and evaluated in view of the fact that the church's future depends on the present youth who are capable of having an active part today. The results of these "workshops" will be reflected in the league's activities for the coming year.

The three caravaners who formed one of the 11 teams that are doing similar work throughout the United States and Canada, were Nancy Vaughn of Huntingdon, Pa., senior at Juniata college; Nancy Dickson of Spartansburg, S. C., freshman at Lenoir Rhyne college, and Glen Shackelford, Elkins, W. Va., a junior at Davis and Elkins college. At the present time, this team is in Lorain, O., after which they will proceed to Grand Rapids, Mich., and after that, they'll return to Ohio to attend the national convention of the Luther League of America at Miami university in Oxford. Two members of the local league, Fred Page, Riverside ave., and Fred Jacobson, 126 Branch ave., will also be present at the convention.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. Harold Hornberger, who is on vacation, the following members of the congregation assisted the league in this caravan stop, which was one of the approximately 200 made by the 11 teams: Walter Grubb, Edward Luckas, George Handzo, Mrs. Ada Wilmann, Mrs. Stephen Ruzicka, Mrs. Lynn Cross and Mr. and Mrs. F. Zellmann.

Keansburg Man to Face Hearing on Two Counts

William Bollinger of 80 Beacon Blvd., Keansburg, was released in $1,000 bail Monday morning by Magistrate John V. Crowell pending a hearing next Thursday morning on charges on indecent exposure and possession of lottery tickets.

The indecent exposure charge was made by Carol Lamoreaux of 16 West Front st., Red Bank. The incident is alleged to have occurred in a bus at the Red Bank bus terminal. The lottery ticket charge resulted from the finding of several Irish Sweepstakes tickets on Bollinger when he was searched at police headquarters.

ROLSTON WATERBURY
Pathfinder Magazine carried interesting news to everyone who owns an automobile. According to a recent article many attorneys are advising their clients to carry auto liability limits of $50,000/$100,000 if they are earning between $5,000 and $25,000 a year. This is because jury verdicts lately have been quite high. For incomes of less than $5,000, the suggested limits are $25,000/$50,000.

This advice makes sense because you might become involved in a serious car accident nearly any day. The only safe rule is to have PLENTY of insurance "riding" with you at all times.

The extra cost of the limits Pathfinder mentions is relatively small. Probably the little difference will surprise you.

For the average car owner, 50/100 limits add only $16.20 to the cost of an automobile liability policy. And 25/50 limits come for just $12.00 extra per year.

Follow the trail blazed by Pathfinder! Visit our office for complete automobile insurance protection.

Jehovah Group At Stadium

Twenty Jehovah's Witnesses from Red Bank joined 126,387 of their fellow witnesses at New York's Yankee stadium and at Traylor city, New Market, N. J. Sunday as their eight-day "New World Society Assembly" began. Present were delegates from every part of the United States, from Canada and South America. Delegates from foreign countries representing over 90 lands and islands of the sea were also present.

Raymond Bosworth, presiding minister of the local congregation of Jehovah's witnesses said, "It was gratifying to see such a tremendous attendance. The joy amply compensates us for our hard work at Traylor city and the many hours we spent in New York obtaining rooming accommodations for our visiting brothers from all parts of the world."

Witnesses from here spent week-ends and spare time in New York knocking on doors, asking if the householder had room for paying guests for the week of this convention. Over 62,000 accommodations were obtained in New York and the Traylor city arranged space for 31,000 persons.

Many of the witnesses here have been commuting to New York each day while others find it more convenient to join the huge gathering at Traylor city. Thirty thousand assembled there Sunday to hear the proceedings of the 21st graduating class of the Watchtower Bible School of Gilead. Just preceding the presentation of the diplomas, N. H. Knorr, president of the Watchtower society, gave a talk on "Gathering Men of All Nations Into One Flock."

Monday again found the general assembly tents packed as Mr. Knorr sounded the keynote of the entire assembly with the discourse, "Living Now as a New World Society." Each day, time is devoted to reports of the missionary work in foreign lands. Represented at this international assembly are 30 more lands than may be found represented in the United Nations.

For the benefit of delegates who cannot speak English, various foreign language meetings are provided. Arrangements have been made for the interpretation of the program for deaf-mutes that they too may enjoy the many Bible talks, demonstrations and discussions.

The climax of the assembly will occur Sunday when Mr. Knorr delivers the much-publicized talk, "After Armageddon, God's New World," at 4 p. m. Mr. Bosworth said, "All sections of the assembly are open to the public free and no collection is taken."

Pathfinder Magazine carried interesting news to everyone who owns an automobile. According to a recent article many attorneys are advising their clients to carry auto liability limits of $50,000/$100,000 if they are earning between $5,000 and $25,000 a year. This is because jury verdicts lately have been quite high. For incomes of less than $5,000, the suggested limits are $25,000/$50,000.

This advice makes sense because you might become involved in a serious car accident nearly any day. The only safe rule is to have PLENTY of insurance "riding" with you at all times.

The extra cost of the limits Pathfinder mentions is relatively small. Probably the little difference will surprise you.

For the average car owner, 50/100 limits add only $16.20 to the cost of an automobile liability policy. And 25/50 limits come for just $12.00 extra per year.

Lions Clubs Plan Picnic for Blind

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS—Plans for an annual regional pilgrimage to Camp Happiness, the summer camp of the New Jersey Blind Men's association on Burlington ave., Leonardo, were discussed by representatives of three Lions clubs and the club here at a meeting Monday night at the Log Cabin Inn on Ocean Blvd.

The clubs—Middletown township, Highlands, Fair Haven and the host club—will sponsor a picnic at the camp Sunday afternoon, Aug. 30. Representing the clubs Monday night were Ed Corbett, John T. Lawley and James W. Davidson, Middletown township; William E. Lee, secretary, Highlands; and Ralph Pastine, president; Dr. Edward Stratton, chairman of the blind committee; Albert G. McCracken, former deputy district governor; and Wilfred A. McCracken, regional director for the blind, Fair Haven. Dr. Saul Rubin is chairman of the Atlantic Highlands club's blind committee.

Edward G. Walder, past district governor and chairman of the club's Sea Scout committee, Monday night appointed sub-committee chairmen: H. E. Donoghue, finance; James P. Phillips, advancement; Joseph Caruso, property; and Ray L. Taylor, transportation. Mr. Walder said the Sea Scout ship will be used for measuring and the repair of sails during the Atlantic coast Lightning championship regatta to be held off the yacht harbor here Aug. 1 and 2. The club has donated $25 for second prize for the regatta. Skipper Edmond Blom was a guest of the club Monday night.

The club will attend a Dodgers-Giants night baseball game Aug. 13 at the Polo Grounds. Joseph Romeo is arrangements chairman.

644th Team Has Busy Period

CAMP DRUM, N. Y.—The two staff members of the 644th Tank battalion communications team, Capt. Arthur G. Kidd and Sgt. John Croft, both of Red Bank, really had their work cut out for them on this year's two weeks' camp training period with the New Jersey National Guard.

Capt. Kidd, employed by United Fruit company of New York, has charge of all lines of communication used by the 644th, both in Camp Drum and in the bivouac area when the troops are in the field. He is aided in his job of supervising the work by Sgt. Croft, an electronic technician at Camp Evans Signal Laboratory.

The lines of wire and communications networks set up by these men carry the full load of organizing the teamwork of the battalion while it is in maneuvers. An important function of the communications section is the operation of a battalion message center which collects and co-ordinates messages of the command and prevents duplication.

Hook and Ladder Club Bake Sunday

PHALANX — Bidmar farm on Lincoln-Phalanx rd., owned by Philip L. Matthews, Jr., will be the scene Sunday of a stag clam-bake of the Navasink Hook and Ladder company of Red Bank's fire department.

James N. Dolg, chairman, announced that Leslie Lucas, proprietor of Nice Package Fishery, will serve the bake. The event opens at 10 a. m., with the main bake going on at 2:30 p. m. Tickets, which are limited to 125, are available from Hook and Ladder members. Arrows will be posted to aid motorists in locating the farm, which is reached from Red Bank via Newman Springs rd., making a left turn at the Lincoln inn intersection.

TO ATTEND CAMP

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS — Church school pupils of the Presbyterian church here will attend camp at Island Heights next month. Rudolph Quackenbush, an elder of the church, and Miss Mary Ellen Kraft will be leaders. The pupils are Lea Duitkin, Gail Oberlander and Betty Ann Phillips.

Matthews Bros.
To Open New Agency Tomorrow To Sell, Service,
English-Made Ford
And Jaguar Cars

Matthews Bros., local automobile dealers, will hold the grand opening tomorrow of their new show room on Newman Springs rd. at Henry st., opposite the H. B. Jones company, where they will handle the Consul and Zephyr, English built Fords and world famous Jaguar automobiles.

The firm comprising Philip L. Matthews, senior member, and Richard Matthews, who joined the firm in 1949 and Robert E. Matthews, who joined in 1951, purchased the new property this year from Elmer Brown of Oakhurst. A service garage was added to the rear and a new showroom to the front of a building which was included in the purchase.

The Zephyr and Consul, according to Philip Matthews, are designed and engineered in the United States and assembled in Great Britain. The Jaguar, one of the best known of the English automobiles, is the world's fastest production car, according to Mr. Matthews, and famous as the winner of a number of European road races.

Mr. Matthews said this week the service department of the new agency will carry a complete line of parts for all cars sold. The new line of automobiles will be serviced by specially trained foreign car mechanics, he added. The senior member of the firm stated, "We have installed the most modern equipment available and our skilled mechanics will continue to turn out the same high quality work for which we have established a reputation."

The Matthews Bros. firm will continue to operate their agencies in Long Branch, where they handle Hudson cars and on Newman Springs rd., where they are agents for Willys and other foreign cars.

Install Officers
At Lodge Session

Officers of Pride of Monmouth Council, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, were installed at Tuesday night's meeting by Miss Norma Norman, deputy state councilor, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Maynard. Inducted were Harry Downen, as councilor; Mrs. Myra Fox, associate councilor; Mrs. Gladys Jinch, vice councilor; Mrs. Bessie Bennett, associate vice councilor; Miss Ruth Pennington, guide; Miss Norma Norman, recording secretary; Mrs. Barbara Heyer, associate recording secretary; Mrs. Cora Downen, treasurer; Mrs. Luella Keane, financial secretary; Mrs. Olive Croynod, outside guard; Mrs. Harry Tatum, inside guard; Miss Pennington, trustee; and Mrs. Keane, pianist.

Miss Elizabeth Voorhees and Mrs. Margaret Martin were obligated as new members. Refreshments were served by the committee. The next meeting will be Tuesday night, Aug. 4.

Steppers Club
Gives Exhibition

NEW YORK CITY — Several members of the Shore Steppers Square Dance club gave an exhibition of square dancing Tuesday night at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel at a "New Jersey night" barn dance for members of the American Association of Nurses, who are holding a convention there. Stanley McIntosh, club caller and a member of the Nurserymen's association, was in charge. His Cornstalkers orchestra provided music for dancing. Members participating were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Dreihelb, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mattice, Mr. and Mrs. Bright Ketter, Misses Lea VanNote, Betty Hammerick, Patty Clayton, Carol Mattice, Mrs. McIntosh, Howard Ott, Robert Pilcher, Robert Whalen, Tom Higgins and Herman Price.

The Steppers club meetings will be resumed in October. David Tabor, of Oakton, president, asks those interested in joining the group to contact him.

'Restricted' Firemen's Fair Well Supported

HAZLET — John P. Wadington, president of the fire company, reports the annual fair received "excellent support by local merchants and public," and was a success. "Although the final figures will not be available for several days," Mr. Wadington stated, "the preliminary figures indicate that the fair was successful, in view of the many restrictions imposed on the usual operations. It is anticipated that the revenue derived from the fair will permit nearly normal operations for almost the rest of the year. Should it be necessary to operate a similarly restricted fair next year, however, the fire company would be forced to seek other sources of revenue."

Local Health Officer Opposes
Plan to Close Freehold Office

Vincent P. Horan, Red Bank health officer, this week disclosed that he has started a campaign to oppose plans of the state department of health to close the district health office at Freehold Aug. 31.

Mr. Horan has made his views known to Dr. Daniel Bergsma, state commissioner of health, State Sen. Richard R. Stout and Assemblymen Alfred N. Beadleston and Elvin R. Simmill.

Mr. Horan said the office at Freehold has been open 31 years, during which time it "rendered valuable service to all municipalities in Monmouth and adjacent counties." He added that the municipalities which will feel the loss most are those too small to employ professional health workers. To get the assistance formerly offered at Freehold, municipalities now will have to go to Trenton, he said.

Mr. Horan estimated the change will save the state about $4,000 a year. Fred L. Crocker, district health officer since 1942, and his assistant, James Davis, will be transferred from Freehold to Trenton.

In a letter to Mr. Horan, Dr. Bergsma wrote: "The administrative changes in the central district were made necessary by a cut in federal aid to the state department of health in excess of $200,000. Over $70,000 of this amount was cut from general health funds. It is this fund that paid for district office operations. We have been able to take over onto state funds the salaries of the professional staff of the Freehold office. However, we were forced to consolidate the support for members of the American Association of Nurses, who are holding a convention there. The new district offices will offer a closer link between local health departments and the administrative and technical bureaus of the department at Trenton."

Board Awards
Painting Contract

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS — The board of education here, meeting in an adjourned special session, Tuesday night, awarded a contract for painting the high school auditorium to Anton Halvorsen for $995. James P. Phillips' bid was $1,344.

The board will await a regular meeting before taking action on resignations announced Tuesday night by Herbert S. McIntosh, superintendent of schools. They were received from Dominic A. Leally, industrial arts instructor, who will teach at the Middlesex county vocational school, New Brunswick, and Mrs. Doris Kaufman, sixth and seventh grade teacher, who will join her husband in Germany, where he is serving with the Army.

The board will meet again next Monday night to receive bids on window repairs.

Wood Wounded
On Pork Chop Hill

LOCUST — Lieut. Steven H. Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Wood, Jr., of Navasink River rd., was wounded in action in Korea July 8 by grenade fragments, suffering injuries to both arms and legs and the loss of half his left ear.

Lieut. Steven H. Wood

His parents received a telephone call from him Saturday night from an Army hospital in Japan. They said he seemed to be in good spirits and is recovering nicely. An infantry officer, he received his commission at Fort Benning's Officer Candidate school in October, 1952. He had been stationed at Fort Ord, Cal., prior to leaving for Korea about a month ago.

Assigned to Company "F," 17th regiment, Seventh Infantry division, Lieut. Wood and a platoon of 30 men were sent to Pork Chop Hill to capture a "knob." The mission was successful, but the Communists counterattacked and the lieutenant and four of his platoon withdrew. Though wounded, he aided in directing the evacuation of the platoon members, all but two of whom—who were captured—reached safety.

A graduate of Hill school at Pottstown, Pa., and Princeton university where he received a bachelor of arts degree in June, 1951, he is listed in the Army the following month. After undergoing basic training at Fort Jackson, Miss., he applied for officer training.

Council Sets Up
Special Ruling
For Food Stand

By-Passes Zoning
Approving Lease

SEA BRIGHT — The mayor and council Tuesday night accepted $200 for a lease that will permit municipal beach bathers to walk into and buy refreshments at the Hut, owned by Emil Antkiw. The ultimate decision to do this was unanimous. But before it was given there was a lot of talk, both in the open and behind closed doors.

It was a tough one to make, because it was established that the stand—originally given a permit by the borough building inspector—has been operating about five years in violation of the local zoning ordinance.

Termed a Hardship
At the end of the meeting opinion was general that this was a hardship case, worthy of more than usual consideration. And it was ruled that the stand could operate this year only.

In making his case, George Bariscillo of the Frankel & Frankel law firm of Asbury Park, representing Mr. Antkiw, told of the merits of his client's case.

The lawyer said he agreed that the place is operating against terms of a 1949 zoning ordinance that set up a Jan. 1, 1948, date as a deadline for places of this type to be in business, under "non conforming use" provisions of that law.

But Mr. Bariscillo noted that when the Hut's original owner opened shop in July, 1948, although that violated the ordinance, he did so with a permit granted by the borough building inspector. And every year since then it has been kept open through the summer season without action by the borough.

Making Improvements
He said that only this year—right now—are toilet and water installations being made, by Mr. Antkiw, to conform with health rules here. He said Mr. Antkiw intends to close the place at the end of this summer.

Besides expenses involved in alterations, plus the $200 offer to the borough for the right of public access to his place, Mr. Bariscillo said there are other hardships. A young veteran with money problems now is running the place, he said. And stocks of refreshments have been purchased for the season, which must be "unloaded" to avoid considerable personal loss.

Borough Attorney George A. Gray was asked for an opinion on whether it would be legal to permit a snow fence to be removed and let bathers shop at the stand. Mr. Gray said that on a "puristic" basis "we cannot go against our own ordinance." Aside from that, he suggested, "we could sign an agreement." He said he didn't think the matter was one of "hardship within our ordinance" but one of "topography," because of its location.

Council's First Views
Councilman Charles Eilenberger—who eventually moved to grant Mr. Antkiw the lease he sought—was dead set against that at the start of the session. He had said that "if we have an ordinance prohibiting stands let's abide by our ordinance," and that "if an exception were made in this case, council hardly could prevent anyone else from getting the same privilege."

Councilman Neils Jacobsen, who said he was one of the officials who originally voted for the 1949 zoning ordinance, said he wanted the ordinance itself changed to conform to the condition "before I decide." Councilman Ralph W. Lawrence, who said he was a member of the zoning board of adjustment that drew up the ordinance containing the Jan. 1, 1948 "non-conforming use" provision, said the rule was prompted because "we had zoning violations all over town." Mr. Lawrence considered it "a thing of a violation that the borough is counterattacked and the lieutenant and four of his platoon withdrew. Though wounded, he aided in directing the evacuation of the platoon members, all but two of whom—who were captured—reached safety."

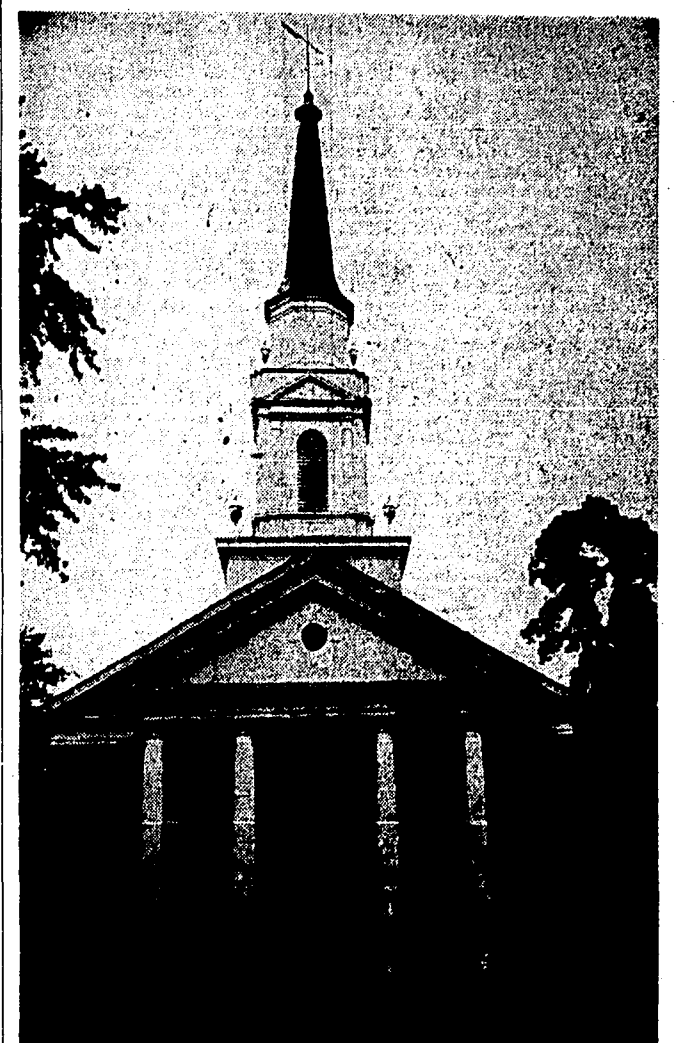

Service For Visitors
But Mayor George H. Krauss emphasized that the borough owes something to its visitors, in service and convenience. He noted that the Hut is located off a part of the borough beach 1,000 to 1,500 feet away from any other concession and said the beach's huge crowds of visitors should have some place to get refreshments without difficulty. He called Mr. Antkiw's concession "unobjectionable," particularly in view of present problems involved.

Mr. Eilenberger said he formerly had his own stand, but it was "knocked out" by the 1949 ordinance. He said he did not fight this because of that law. Mayor Krauss said: "It has been brought out that the mayor and council are breaking our own laws" by selling hot drinks at the pavilion. But he said: "If we didn't, we would not be giving our visitors proper accommodations." Besides, he said, Mr. Antkiw, to help local taxpayers, is doing something to help local taxpayers.

Mr. Lawrence asked if there was "any way we can help this man for this season?" To come to some understanding the group adjourned for a private talk. That lasted over a half hour.

Offer Resolution
When the men returned Mr. Gray read a resolution. It permits Mr.

Zoning Decision
Upheld at Rumson

RUMSON — A request by Louis Moran of Shrewsbury rd. that the planning board rescind the permission it granted Mrs. Ida Pettie last February to subdivide her three-acre property between Shrewsbury rd. and Pally's pond into two lots was turned down by the board Tuesday night.

Judge Thomas J. Brogan, representing Mr. Moran, argued no notice had been given by the board that it had granted permission to Mrs. Pettie to waive formal subdivision. He further stated there is not enough frontage on either the road or the river to build a house under the zoning ordinance. Mayor Francis J. Nary explained the property had 150 feet of frontage on both the water and the road and that the board had been legally advised that either can be considered as frontage.

Regarding the lack of notice about the subdivision, Mayor Nary explained that under section 15 of the state planning board act, a planning board can waive formal subdivision and the necessity of notifying adjoining property owners.

J. Sanford Shanley, chairman of the board, told Mr. Moran if he took exception to the board's decision he could appeal to the mayor and council. Pointing to Mayor Nary, Judge Brogan stated, "Here's the mayor. He voted for this." To this Mayor Nary replied, "You're aware the mayor doesn't vote with council except in case of a tie." He added, "I'll be glad to disqualify myself if you wish."

The board adjourned until its next meeting, a public hearing on an application by Mrs. Gertrude S. Pisciotto of Middletown to subdivide her two lots on the southeast corner of River rd. and Park ave. into three lots. The board postponed the hearing at the request of Neron Paulson, who owns property to the south of the property in question. Mr. Paulson asked time to obtain legal advice. Maurice Potter of Long Branch is representing Mrs. Pisciotto.

The board elected William B. Leonard vice chairman to succeed Albert A. Teeter, who resigned in May. Although Mr. Teeter's son, John O. Teeter, had been appointed to the board to replace his father, the vice chairmanship had been left vacant.

Antkiw to have a lease for this year. This will allow beach customers to enter his shop by going up steps on borough property. He, in turn, must make the place conform to health rules, keep persons without beach badges from entering the beach, and serve only from his stand. The lease was granted for $200 with the understanding it would apply to this season only. But first there was a pause. When Mayor Krauss asked who would offer the resolution no one spoke up. Then Mr. Eilenberger said that though it was he who fought first against the matter, "I'm man enough to offer this as a resolution, and if I could second it I'd do that, too."

Mr. Lawrence made the seconding vote. And council went along unanimously. Absent was Councilman Thomas Farrell who is ill.

Exhibit of Stamp
Clubs This Fall
At Asbury Park

Will Be in Session
At Convention Hall
Oct. 2d, 3d and 4th

The fourth exhibition of the Federated Stamp Clubs of Central New Jersey will be held at Convention Hall, Asbury Park, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 2, 3 and 4. The exhibition will open Friday night at eight o'clock and will continue until 10:30. On Saturday the hours will be 12:30 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. and on Sunday, 12:30 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.

As the show is being held in Asbury Park, much of the arranging is in the hands of the officers of the Monmouth County Philatelic society, which will meet at the Red Bank borough hall tomorrow night at 8:30 to take up matters pertaining to the coming exhibition. At last year's show, practically 50 per cent of the exhibits were placed by members of the Monmouth club.

This year's show will be in six sections, the first section containing 16 groups embracing stamps of the United States and possessions. Section II will embrace nine groups covering foreign stamps. Section III will be devoted to club exhibits, section IV to New Jersey postal history, section V non-competitive exhibits by invitation only, and section VI will embrace collateral material paper money and documents.

Morris Heads
CD Council

OCEANPORT — William N. Morris, Jr., was introduced by Mayor Edward C. Wilson, Sr., as the new director of the Civil Defense Council at a meeting of the Civil Defense First Aid auxiliary at the school Monday night.

William Brenn, auxiliary chairman, presided and stressed the importance of regular attendance and practice sessions. A film, "The Medical Effects of the Atom Bomb," was shown under the direction of Bernard J. Scaris.

At the next meeting, Aug. 17, a film showing the new method of artificial respiration will be shown with Frank Callahan of the first aid squad as commentator. All members have been urged to attend as the movie can be obtained only once for each community. There are a number of local people who are eligible to become auxiliary members having recently completed a Red Cross first aid course. They may be sworn in at the next meeting and receive Civil Defense cards and arm bands.

Members now include Mr. Morris, Mayor and Mrs. Wilson, Miss Mildred E. Wolcott, secretary, Miss Jeannette Conway, Mrs. Ewart Annett, Bernard J. Scaris, A. Johnston, Mrs. F. B. Davis, Mrs. John V. Hauser, Councilman Clinton W. Wood, Jr., Mrs. Emma Taylor and Mrs. William Brenn.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

Red Bank

Services in First Church of Christ, Scientist, 209 Broad st., are held Sundays at 11 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. Sunday-school meets at 11 a. m. Wednesday evening testimonial meetings at 8:15.

An explanation of spiritual healing and its practice will be included in the lesson sermon on "Truth" to be given in all Christian Science churches this coming Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Psalms: "Thou art the God of my strength. O send out thy light and thy truth: let them lead me." (43:2, 3.)

A further citation from the King James version of the Bible reads: "Mercy and truth are met together; righteousness and peace have kissed each other. Truth shall spring out of the earth; and righteousness shall look down from heaven." (Ps. 85: 10, 11.)

From the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the following correlative passages will be read: "The best sermon ever preached is Truth practiced and demonstrated by the destruction of sin, sickness and death. . . The thunder of Sinai and the Sermon on the Mount are pursuing and will overtake the ages, rebuking in their course all error and proclaiming the kingdom of heaven on earth. Truth is revealed. It needs only to be practiced." (Pp. 201, 174.)

NOTICE TO WATER CONSUMERS

Due to the prolonged dry spell and hot weather the increased consumption due to lawn sprinkling has placed a strain on the Company's facilities despite improvements to supply and distribution facilities made over the last two years at a cost in excess of One-Million Dollars. We feel that with the cooperation from the customers these present demands can be met.

We earnestly request the cooperation of our customers by following the ensuing schedule of lawn sprinkling. All customers residing in Borough of Bradley Beach, Neptune City Borough, Ocean Grove, Neptune Township, Interlaken, Asbury Park, and all of Ocean Township, are requested to sprinkle on odd numbered dates and City of Long Branch, Boroughs of West Long Branch, Deal, Eatontown, Fair Haven, Little Silver, Rumson, Monmouth Beach, Sea Bright, Shrewsbury, New Shrewsbury, Oceanport and all of Middletown Township on even numbered dates. Also if feasible sprinkle at other times than 6 P. M. to 9 P. M.

We feel that the above plan will allow the Company to maintain safe supply levels and at the same time allow usage of all water requirements by its customers.

Knights Hear Talk On Christian Symbolism

John D. Hackett of Rumson, manager and designer of vestments for the Holy Land Art company of New York city, explained the difference in vestments worn by priests of the Eastern and Western rites at a meeting Monday night of Red Bank council, Knights of Columbus.

Mr. Hackett, who also is council lecturer, exhibited vestments of both rites. Using charts for illustration, he also described the meaning of Christian symbolism. The next meeting will be Aug. 3 at 8:30 p. m.

Ants Picnicking

On Your Trees?

If ants are staging picnics on your trees, it's a good idea to check for the presence of aphids.

These small plant lice excrete a sweet, sticky fluid known as honeydew on which ants dine. While most ants don't harm your trees, aphids do.

Aphids suck juice from leaves and tender twigs, often causing leaves to fall prematurely in alarming numbers. Best way to eliminate ants, says D. F. Hayman, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., is to get rid of the aphids.

Too many home owners go after the ants first, pouring gasoline or kerosene about the base of an infested tree. Davey tree experts occasionally find ant trunks bark completely dead at ground level. Investigation often shows owners used tree-damaging chemicals to rout the ants. The Norway maple—a favorite hangout for aphids—is one of the major victims.

Only a few ant types—like the large black carpenter ant and the mound-building ant—are harmful to trees. Best control for them is ant bait, which can be bought at any garden supply house.

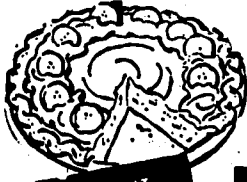

Nicotine spraying is a good aphid control. Since aphids reproduce faster than rabbits, it is advisable to spray over a wide area. Spraying only a few trees often won't do because aphids get around, and may quickly reinfest from unsprayed trees nearby.

Their most likely hunting grounds are such trees as the apple, arbutus, birch, black cherry, spruce, boxelder, birch, cypress, hawthorn, hickory, linden, pine, poplar, red cedar and tuliptree.

Sanitary Code Revised in State

RENTON—Revision of the New Jersey State Sanitary Code has been made by the State Public Health Council and copies of the revised code are being distributed this week to health departments and municipal officials.

The revision, which is the result of study and research made over a period of two years by medical and other advisory committees and groups of health officials, was adopted June 22 following public hearings. Originally authorized by the Legislature in 1915, the authority for the enactment of the code was placed with the public health council in the State Health Department Reorganization Law of 1947. Revision of the code marks another step in the reorganization of New Jersey's state health administration.

The revision of the code reflects advance in knowledge that can be applied in the prevention of many diseases.

An entire new chapter is devoted to control of X-ray machines and other sources of radiation. Regulations have already been promulgated under this chapter by the state health department.

The regulation requiring the shielding of X-ray machines and other sources of radiation will prevent owners and users from being exposed to excessive dosage of radiation.

A control program for making dairy herds free from brucellosis is embodied in the regulation requiring that milk sold in the state come from dairy animals free from brucellosis after Apr. 1, 1954.

New regulations governing certain laboratories doing public health laboratory tests are also included in the revised code.

Revision of the list of diseases which local boards of health are required to report to the state department of health and which physicians are required to report to local reporting officials eliminated chickenpox, German measles and mumps from this list. Reporting of these diseases to local reporting officials may be required by local ordinances.

Dr. Carl E. Weigle, Assistant Commissioner of Health, stated that reporting of these diseases was discontinued because it is not important for the safety of the health of the community to know when and where these diseases are occurring. Children ill with these diseases should be under medical care, but isolation and quarantine measures are of no value in controlling the spread of these diseases. Because adults are seriously affected, early exposure of otherwise well children should be encouraged so that they may have the lifetime immunity which usually results from childhood infections, he advised.

Nurse Resigns At Rumson

RUMSON—The resignation of Mrs. Edna Howie as a staff member of the Public Health Nursing association of Rumson, Sea Bright and Fair Haven was accepted at a meeting of the board of directors Monday at Rumson borough hall. Mrs. Howie is moving to South Jersey.

Miss Mary Byrnes, who is carrying on the association nursing services during the summer leave of absence of Mrs. Iris Wilson, also a staff nurse, gave her report. In June the nurses made 110 visits, and during the last week of schools in the service area conducted vision tests on 106 children.

Mrs. John Miller and Mrs. Robert G. Inley, association president, will make a study of the children's dental needs of the three communities. Mrs. Jerrold Meyer suggested that the association apply for state aid to carry on this program.

Mrs. Bennett Vroman said that 470 annual appeal letters had been mailed and that 117 contributions had been received.

Fashion Show Winner

Abbie Willgerodt of Lincroft receives $25 U. S. bond as first prize in fashion show at the county 4-H club show last week at Freehold. Entrants made their own clothes. Making the presentation is W. W. Nicholas, president of the Farmingdale Kiwanis club.

Questions and Answers To Vets' Problems

Q—I'm a World War II veteran back on active duty, and my National Service Life Insurance policy is under waiver. Will I get my insurance dividends all the same?

A—No. National Service Life Insurance policies do not participate in dividends during the period when such premium waiver is in effect.

Q—Will my service at the U. S. Military academy at West Point count toward my entitlement for Korean GI Bill training?

A—No. The time you spent as a cadet at West Point does not count toward your entitlement for training under the Korean GI Bill. The same rule applies to those who attend the U. S. Naval academy in Annapolis and the U. S. Coast Guard academy in New London, Conn.

Q—I am a disabled World War II veteran, and I've just finished Public Law 16 training. Will V.A. now find me a job?

A—The law does not give V.A. responsibility for finding employment for disabled veterans. However, if you wish V.A. will refer you to an appropriate state or federal employment agency for this purpose.

Q—What happens if a Korean veteran doesn't apply for GI term insurance within 120 days after his separation from service. Is there any chance of his getting it after that time?

A—No. Under the law you must apply and pay your first premium within 120 days after you leave the service. If you wait longer than that, your chances of getting the insurance are gone for good.

Original 'Karl Franz' Views 'Student Prince'

Howard Marsh of 62 East River rd., Rumson, right, who starred as "Prince Karl Franz" in the original Broadway production of Sigmund Romberg's "The Student Prince," is pictured with Mrs. Marsh and a friend, George H. Moss, also of Rumson, at last week's presentation of the "Prince" at the Neptune Music Circus. Mr. Marsh also played lead roles—among others—in "Showboat" and "Blossom Time." He was at the Music Circus three weeks ago to see "Showboat" and undoubtedly will be on hand for one of next week's performances of "Blossom Time." That Romberg favorite opens Monday night under the "Big Top" and plays through Sunday, Aug. 2.

Norcross Freed
Of Death Charge

NEPTUNE CITY — Magistrate Robert V. Layton dismissed a complaint Thursday night against Harold Norcross, 22, of 109 Hudson ave., Keansburg, who was charged with causing the death of his wife, Mary, in a motorcycle accident June 24.

Mr. Layton ruled there was insufficient evidence to warrant holding Mr. Norcross for the grand jury after hearing three witnesses, none of whom saw the accident.

Mrs. Norcross was riding on her husband's motorcycle when it skidded as he turned from Gray pl. into Evergreen ave. She was thrown from the motorcycle as it turned over, and then it fell on her. Mrs. Norcross was taken to Fitkin hospital, where she died a few days later.

The complaint against Mr. Norcross was signed by Police Chief Forrest Cottrill, and the state's case was presented by Assistant Prosecutor Charles Frankel. Mr. Norcross was represented by Benjamin Madnick, Asbury Park.

Among the witnesses was Sgt. Edward Schumacher, who arrived at the scene shortly after the accident. He said no witnesses could be found to testify to the speed of the motorcycle, the condition of the road or as to any criminal negligence by Mr. Norcross.

Keansburg

The fifth anniversary of St. Margaret of Scotland guild was held at Buck Smith's restaurant recently. A farewell party was also held for Mrs. Mary MacGowan, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Thomas Canavan, the past three months. Mrs. MacGowan left last week to return to Scotland. The 89th birthday of Mrs. Walter Barnes' mother and 85th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Flannigan also marked the occasion. The guild meeting was held at St. Ann's auditorium Thursday when a report was made on the recent trip to Canada by Mrs. Walter Barnes. There were 44 members and friends making the trip by bus. They visited Niagara Falls, Buffalo and Canada and stopped at the Shrine of American Martyrs, Aurdsville. The next meeting will be Aug. 20.

A delegate and alternate were appointed to the National Encampment of the VFW in Milwaukee at the meeting of the auxiliary of post 1363 Thursday. The delegate is Mrs. Frances Mebus and alternate Mrs. Agnes Ellefsen. The birthday of Mrs. Hale Moran was celebrated. Attending were Mrs. Verita Aalbus, Mrs. Helen Thacke, Mrs. Beatrice Ryan, Mrs. Martha Ruhman, Mrs. Shirley Sachs, Mrs. Elaine Hencock, Mrs. Moran, Mrs. Mebus and Mrs. Ellefsen. The next meeting will be Thursday, Aug. 6.

Plans were made at a meeting of the auxiliary of the No. 1 fire company Tuesday to assist the firemen in holding a circus at the baseball grounds Aug. 18. The women met with the firemen Tuesday to complete plans. Mrs. Myrtle Josephson was appointed chairman. Mrs. Donald Conroy co-chairman, with all members assisting. Several members were measured for uniforms at the meeting. The hostesses were Mrs. Louise Andrews and Mrs. Maye Adams. At the meeting Aug. 11, hostesses will be Mrs. Donald Conroy, Mrs. Margaret Forrester and Mrs. Joan Hughes. Others attending were Mrs. Doris Kronenberger, Mrs. Verita Aalbus, Mrs. Martha Ruhman, Mrs. Lillian Kahlof, Mrs. Genevieve Kile, Mrs. Hazel Murray, Mrs. Pauline Jackson, Mrs. Doris Walling and Mrs. Bertha Pester.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gottlieb and friends of Brooklyn were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bort and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward White and family and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alexander and family of Jersey City and George Breault and son George of Bayonne spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. Maurine Alexander of Ramsey ave.

Mrs. Douglas Paulke, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Knellgrove, Mrs. John McCarthy and daughters, Karen and Donna, and Mrs. Abbie Bohwahl took a boat trip to Rockaway Beach last week.

Mrs. Mary Luback, Mrs. Bertha Walter, Mrs. Mary Carr, Miss Annie Carr, Mrs. Dooley and Miss Amelia Wentworth attended the business meeting of the Star of Monmouth 83, Daughters of America, of Freehold last week.

Tommy Elliott Wins at Wall

WALL TOWNSHIP—Tommy Elliott scored a clean sweep at Wall stadium Saturday night, copping his performance with his second 25-lap victory of the stock racing season.

Elliott stole the lead from Parker Bohn, Freehold, in the 21st lap of the main event after being pressed all the way by the county seat driver. Bohn also was working on a clean sweep, but had to settle for second place in the main run of the evening. He finished about four lengths behind the winner.

A five-car pileup between the third and fourth turns halted the event in the seventh lap. Bohn was running in front of the 22-car field at the time of the pileup. The crackup forced Bill Chevalier, Sayreville; Bill McCarthy, Red Bank; Frank Myroncuk, New Egypt; Bill Bentley, Laurence Harbor, and Charlie Birdall of Point Pleasant, out of the race. Only Bentley remained in competition.

Elliott was just behind Bohn on the restart and he stayed there as Bohn moved through the field of cars. But between the third and fourth turns of the 21st lap, Bohn lost ground in the race. He was hemmed in and couldn't find an opening as Elliott zoomed ahead.

Elliott was the victor in the third heat and the second semi-final and Bohn had copped the first heat and the first semi-final.

Chevalier took the consolation, but had tough competition in scoring the victory. His car and one driven by Al Pomponio, Lakewood, locked together between the third and fourth turns in the second lap. Their vehicles blocked the track and the race was stopped. It was halted a second time when two other cars tangled in front of the grandstand.

Results:
First heat, 10 laps—Parker Bohn, Freehold; Bill McCarthy, Red Bank; Charlie Dyer, North Bergen. Time: 2:52.86.
Second heat, 10 laps—Al Keller, Green Acres, Fla.; Dick Davis, Manasquan; Tommy Elliott, Bloomfield. Time: None.
Third heat, 10 laps—Tommy Elliott, Red Bank; Bill Chevalier, Sayreville. Time: 2:52.48.
First semi-final, 12 laps—Parker Bohn, Al Keller, Bill Tanner, Newtown, Pa. Time: None.
Second semi-final, 12 laps—Tommy Elliott, Howie Long, Red Bank; Dick Davis, Consolation, 10 laps—Bill Chevalier, Dick McGill, Neptune; Ray Baxter, Fatsale. Time: None.
Feature event, 25 laps—Tommy Elliott, Parker Bohn, Al Keller, Frankie Schneider, Lambertville, Dick Davis. Time: None.

Don Monahan, Atlantic Highlands Hurler, Tosses No-Hitter to Win, 3-0

Don Monahan, chucking for the Atlantic Highlands nine in the Monmouth County American Legion Baseball league, turned in the fifth no-hitter in the circuit Thursday when he stopped Belmar, 3-0, on women's Memorial field.

Monahan pitched a no-hitter, while sending five batters back to the bench by the strikeout method. Only three Belmar batters got on base—Bob Mendenhall and Mort Miller on passes in the first and sixth chapters, respectively, and Gene Schildknecht on an error in the fourth.

Mort Miller, in losing, held the Atlantic nine to a pair of hits—a double by Ronnie Bahr and a single by Monahan's main trouble, was wildness. He walked seven, fanned three and hit one batsman.

The victors broke the ice in their first licks. Art Raikie walked but was forced at second by Ken Ralph. Frank Gaskill walked and Ralph scored on Frank Stavola's fielder's choice.

Atlantic Highlands completed the scoring in the second frame with a pair of tallies. George McGowan received a free ticket to first, Bahr doubled and Monahan singled.

In other encounters, Matawan trounced Long Branch, 9-0, and Oakhurst took a 9-5 decision from West Long Branch.

Matawan scored in every frame as the Huskies racked up the shut-out victory. Bob Pittius gave the Branchers only two hits, struck out ten and gave up three walks.

The victors started out in the first inning with a pair of markers on a single by McQuarrie, a pass to Collins and a stinging single by Vince Vinc.

Oakhurst stretched the margin to 5-0 with a three-run sprint in the second inning on singles by Wolf, Pittius, a walk to McQuarrie and singles by Collins and Vinc.

The Huskies completed the scoring with two runs in each of the third and fourth chapters.

Oakhurst wrapped up its victory over West Long Branch in the third inning when the victors chased over eight of their nine runs. Trailing, 3-1, at the end of the second Oakhurst was sparked in the big inning by Lou Dileto's home run.

Signaleer Hurler Fires No-Hitter

BAYONNE—A Fort Monmouth pitcher who arrived at the post last week, made a sensational debut with the Signaleers Friday afternoon by hurling a no-hit, no-run game.

Ossie Grasso, 20-year-old Summit right-hander, who received a $25,000 bonus on signing with the New York Yankees organization, hurled his way into the "Hall of Fame" in blanketing Bayonne Naval, 3-0, at the losers' ball park.

The fireballing twirler struck out 18 batters and issued but one base on balls, which was to the first batter in the game. Over the nine innings, the Monmouth outfield did not have a putout.

Reporting in this week from Fort Sam Houston, Tex., where he was pitching with the Brooks Medical Center team, Grasso, in his outstanding start, struck-out the side in the second, fifth, seventh and ninth innings.

Meanwhile, Fort Monmouth made the most of six hits of Vic Garcia by scoring single runs in the second, third and fifth frames.

Don Scheffhuth led off the second with a hit to center and took second on the outfielder's bobble. Two outs later, Bob Babits scored him with a single to left.

In the third frame, Dutch Hagdorn opened with a walk and the next batter was safe on a Bayonne error. First baseman Don Luft then singled Hagdorn home for Monmouth's second run.

The final run off Garcia came in the fifth when Luft led off the inning with a home run out to left field.

Luft's circuit blast was the only extra base hit in the game as Monmouth won its 16th game in 23 starts.

Over the route, Grasso faced but 31 batters, and only one runner reached third base. That was in the opening inning on his lone pass to lead-off batter Jack Esler, who was sacrificed to second, and went to third on an infield out.

Freehold Track Luring Horsemen

FREEHOLD—Lured by an unprecedented purse distribution and 50 days of uninterrupted racing, horsemen have Racing Secretary George Enslin burning the midnight oil at the raceway here.

Despite the fact more than 100 new stalls have been constructed since the close of the 1952 meet, which wiped all records from the books, Enslin has found the demand for stall space far exceeds the supply.

Among the applications, which have exceeded 500, are a group of newcomers who promise to add much to the 50-day meeting which opens Aug. 8 and continues through Oct. 12.

Among the newcomers who already have been allocated space is Danny Murphy's Dean Patch, a six-year-old trotter, which won recently at Palmesville in the sparkling time of 2:07. Shortly after that effort Murphy declined an offer of $7,500 for his brilliant performer.

Len Applegate, who has come up with some good trotters, also is among the favored ones on Enslin's list. He now has his stable at Vernon Downs but will be heading this way within the next fortnight. In the Applegate string is Tommy Mite, which came down on the head end at Palmesville in the good time of 2:09.

Another addition will be Al Green of Paducah, Ky., who will bring four head, including Frisky Hal, a recent winner at Roosevelt raceway.

Wilson Wins Penguin Race

Battling a field of ten Penguins, Skipper Dave Wilson led the pack Sunday afternoon in Monmouth Boat club's Penguin race on the Navesink river.

Getting off to a late start failed to curtail Pilot Wilson and his craft, Cold Feet. Once his sail caught a good puff of wind, Wilson gained on the leading boats and took a good-sized margin as he rounded Fisher's point.

Stiff competition was offered by Don Zifchak, who challenged the leader throughout the race.

Hot enough for a Hottentot? Remember... it's always winter in your refrigerator that's why Ballantine Beer is deep-brewed for flavor that chill can't kill

Ballantine brews for flavor! For lightness, yeast for dryness, of course! But first, last, and always, Ballantine brews for flavor. The fine, full flavor of the world's choicest grains and hops is brewed so deep in this beer that chill can't kill it. Every glass just brims with flavor.

Now cold do you like your beer? Good and cold, if you're like most people. Beer is usually served at temperatures ranging from 38° to 42° Fahrenheit.

Ballantine Beer is deep-brewed to hold its flavor at whatever temperature you like best!

Keansburg Pupils to See Giants-Cardinals Play

KEANSBURG—The track and field committee here will be host to 120 school children at the Giants-Cardinals baseball game at the Polo Grounds today.

Pupils from Keansburg and West Keansburg grammar schools and from St. Ann's parochial school will make the trip. Buses will leave from the Keansburg school this morning.

Harvey Haddix, southpaw pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals, was accidentally hit by a boulder blast when his wife and child were in the car. He carried two pellets in his body.

Timely Notes On The Great Outdoors

BY STEW VAN VLIET

SOMETHING NEW HAS BEEN ADDED

During the past few days things have been happening with lightning speed along the water-front.

Following the sudden arrival of vast schools of bluefish at the Mud Hole, where chumming the sun and moon

Stew VanVliet around, is paying off in a big way, school tuna, "The Sport of Kings," is active in the area of the Mud Hole.

For some time this reporter has been forecasting a heavy return of horse-mackerel to the waters off the Jersey coast. We based our reason because of the exceptionally big run of whiting and ling, which afford excellent feed for these torpedoes of the sea. Now, to help matters along, thimble-eye mackerel, the Piece-De-Resistance to a tuna, have appeared on the scene in great numbers, making doubly certain that the blue-fins will be here in ever increasing numbers for the month of August.

TROLLING FOR SCHOOL TUNA EXCITING SPORT

If you have never trolled for the "torpedoes of the sea," bounding over the waves at 15 to 20 RPMs, you have something to look forward to.

It is one of the most exciting and thrilling sports we have ever indulged in. The lures are generally red and white feathers, which are kept bouncing in the white water about 50 to 100 feet behind the boat. When one of these streaks of lightning connects, combined with the speed of the boat, you are in for the thrill of your life.

Many boat captains use a big red and white plug called a "leaser," trolled within six or eight feet of the boat. Others, in order to create more commotion in the water, hang a bucket over the stern. The more the water is churned the better the tuna like it. Tall outriggers play an important part in a successful school tuna trolling trip. The outriggers keep the feathers bouncing on the fourth or fifth wave, smack in the white water.

TUNA ARE UNPREDICTABLE

Like most species of top water, so-called game fish, tuna are unpredictable when it comes to striking a trolled lure.

We had our first contact with these fighting demons of the sea several years ago when they invaded the Jersey coast in swarms. Fishing aboard the Sally II, private boat of Capt. Charley Gallagher of Red Bank, we caught a lot of tuna that year. Often all four lines would be loaded. The tuna we caught we never saw on the surface.

Other times we trolled through acres and acres of surfacing fish without a strike.

We recall a trip we made the following year aboard Jerry Meyer's boat, Jeremiah, out of Sea Bright, skippered by the late Ray Saxe of Long Branch, one of the best big game fish guides of his time.

A group from Newark had chartered the Jeremiah for a go at tuna, and Jerry asked us if we would like to ship as first mate. This was some ten years ago, and one of the things we remember is that we did not receive a tip from the charter guests, so the only conclusion we could draw is that we must have been a poor mate.

From the southern end of the Mud Hole we trolled southeast until we were opposite Manasquan inlet. On the way south we went through miles of surfacing tuna. They broke water all around us within ten feet of the boat, but they would not strike a trolled lure.

SALT WATER SPORTSMEN

We have tried to define a true sportsman and have written articles on sportsmanship. For lack of a better definition let us say that a true sportsman is a guy who gives the other fellow a 50-50 break—whether it be fish, fowl or animal.

We have been a staunch advocate of light tackle for salt water game fish. In fact, we were one of the pioneers on the Jersey coast of fresh water casting outfits for surf fishing and some of the old-timers Little Dick Kroil, Frank Perez and other members of the famous Highlands Anglers club will recall, when we outfitted them two to one with our fresh water bait-casting outfit.

In July, 1936, Field and Stream magazine published a story I wrote, "Plugging the Surf." To quote, in part:

"The method most commonly used by surf anglers is to equip themselves with a surf rod measuring from six to ten feet in length, an extension or spring butt, a butt holder and a free-spool reel containing 300 yards of line, varying in size from 9 to 21 thread.

"However, some one is always trying to improve on the old methods, and I happen to be one of these.

"For our rod I selected a True Temper five and a half-foot tip, Shakespeare Service, no drag, level wind reel and top water plug. With this outfit from the surf I accounted for 70 striped bass in one year, weighing up to 30½ pounds.

"The first week in October, 1935, is one that I will always remember to my dying day. It happened this way. The wind was west, and I decided to make a try for strippers from the surf at Port Hancock. I arrived at the beach at about 8 p. m., and found that I had it all by myself, as there was not a fisherman in sight. In walking along the beach to my favorite spot I noticed fish breaking in close to the shore. I ran to the water's edge at full speed, thinking that they were weakfish, but found later that it was a school of big striped bass, which had a school of silver mullet corralled near a jetty.

"Selecting a floating plug I made a cast into the school of mullet. No sooner the plug hit the water there was a terrific explosion, and I was fast to a stripper which headed straight out to sea at a great speed. The battle lasted for a long time, and finally, when he was tired, my problem was to beach him in a high surf. Slowly I was able to turn his head toward the shore, all the while keeping as close to him as I could. Then with the help of a large wave I slowly backed up on the beach. Holding him with the rod tip I waited until the wave receded and then ran down and straddled him with my knees. I held him like this until the next wave broke over me and I was able to get my fingers into his gills and drag him high and dry.

"I won't attempt to describe each following catch. Suffice it to say that in all I beached nine bass with a total weight of 188½ pounds. The heaviest weighed 30½ pounds.

"During a lifetime devoted to hunting and fishing throughout the entire United States I can honestly say that the finest sport which I have ever indulged in is being fast to a scrapping greenhead in the surf."

SPINNING TAKES OVER

All this took place years before spinning entered the field. This light outfit bids fair to making a heap of salt water sportsmen out of meat-on-the-table guys.

Today light tackle for salt water game fish is coming into its own. Every day there are more and more converts to the cause of true sportsmanship. Some are even a step ahead of the spinning rod. Fly rods and salmon rods are tangling forces with the choppers of the surf. It isn't hundreds of fish they are bragging about but what sport they had on six-pound test line and three and a half-ounce fly rods.

We had a go at Mud Hole blues last Saturday aboard the private boat, Ellen O., Capt. Ray O'Neill, Sr., out of Pullins Yacht Basin, at Rumson. We did not come in with a boat load, but I still wear a grin no one had more sport catching 34 scrappers than we had.

Capt. Ray invited several of us, including Les Seely of Eatontown, Frank Seeland, Rumson; George Maxfield, Tinton Falls; Dan Hagaman and the writer for a sportsman's chumming trip at the Mud Hole.

It was the first time we had to try out our new spinning outfit. Capt. Ray used a salmon rod, George Maxfield stuck to a 3½-ounce fly rod, while the rest used light bait casting rods.

It was some of the sportiest blue-fishing we have ever had. When a fish was hooked, often he would leap into the air and shake his head. The water was so clear that you could see every movement he made in his wild dashes for liberty.

We lost many fish, mostly because they were not hooked well. It is hard to set a hook on a big fish, using such a light rod. Since then we have found what our mistake was. We used too large hooks. What you need is a 1/0 hook, sharpened to a needle point. That is good to note that charter boat captains are promoting light tackle for salt water. Capt. Otto

Methot Sails Chantey To Neat Championship

June Methot, Sailing for Monmouth Boat Club, Wins Lightning Crown

LAKE WALLENPAUPACK, Pa.—June Methot, Monmouth Boat Club, skippering Chantey, won the three-race series over the week-end to cap the Metropolitan District Lightning championships here.

Joe Hoffee, Nyack, N. Y., took second honors while at the tiller of RoJo, while Ed Waters, also of M.B.C., brought his Revenger home in third place and Charlie Allaire, another local skipper, finished fourth in Magic.

The top three boats in this district eliminations qualified to compete in the Lightning International to be staged at Buffalo in September. Miss Methot and Waters, by placing in the first three, will give Red Bank two representatives in the annual classic.

The first race was sailed in extremely light air. Neil Clifton, skippering Manana and representing M.B.C., sailed out to an early lead at the first mark with Allaire in the middle of the fleet. Miss Methot and Waters were perilously close to last.

On the second leg, which was sometimes a beat, sometimes a run in the variable air, Miss Methot evidently picked up a slight breeze and passed Clifton to take over first place. As the boats rounded the final mark a fair wind sprang up, and Miss Methot held her lead to win handsily, with Hoffee moving in to take second. Both Waters and Allaire were well back, but worked into third and fifth respectively.

Sunday morning's race commenced in a light, but discernible easterly wind, and Allaire, working well to weather, took over an early lead. As in the previous day, the air dropped completely and Waters and Hoffee went to the front with Allaire third. The final leg saw Allaire drop to leeward, slip past Hoffee and hold his position to win the drifter with Waters fourth. Miss Methot, well back until the final mark, also took a leeward course to salvage a third.

In the afternoon's final race, the Lightnings started in a moderate southwest breeze. Hoffee moved out in front with Miss Methot second, Waters third and Allaire about tenth.

On the first spinnaker run, Allaire stormed into third position and held off Waters' challenge on the reach. On the second weather leg, both Miss Methot and Waters started to move and at the mark were in first place and third, respectively, with Hoffee second and Allaire fourth. Over the final leeward leg to the finish, a thunderstorm arose, drenching the contestants, raising the wind to a gale and causing two boats to be struck by lightning. In Reut of the Mar Des II out of Highlands basin returned with a party of spinnakers. They landed 32, the largest weighing seven pounds. That's real fishing, fellows.

Rumson Youth Cops Two-River Marathon Race

Paul Peterson Cops Event in 40:55 In His Craft Hep Cat

PLEASURE BAY—Paul Peterson, Rumson's youthful boat skipper, purred his Hep Cat to victory in the third annual Two-River marathon between Long Branch and Red Bank and return Sunday afternoon.

Sponsored by the Long Branch Ice Boat and Yacht club, the race got under way from Jack Van Deman's Pleasure Bay marina on the Shrewsbury river to Irwin's Yacht Works on the Navesink river.

Peterson, who finished second last year, won the event to gain a leg on the Asbury Park Press trophy. His victory was a complete surprise as his Hep Cat was powered by a Johnson motor and was in the lowest rate class, 7½ h. p. trimmer the larger ten and 25 h. p. craft, Peterson was the first Long Branch Ice and Yacht club member to win the championship.

The Rumson youth took the lead about five miles from the finish. He was timed in 40:55, considerably slower than the 30:37 record time set in 1952. The winner averaged 34.02 miles per hour.

Second place was taken by John Boland's Junior, a 25 h. p. Mercury seaman skiff. The third boat to finish, Flying-Hi, owned by Jules Distel of Lincroft, carted off the trophy for its division. The Flying-Hi, a Sid-Craft powered by a Mercury motor, toured the course in 43:12.

Thomas P. Smith brought his Song Bird, 12-J, into fourth spot in the time of 47:01. Smith, who hails from Westfield, used a Mercury 10 h. p. motor to power his Revere runabout.

In the 10-BU runabout class, Rhett Boynton of Red Bank in Sea Bees took third place behind the winner, Distel, and second place victor, Smith.

An accident marred the start of the race. Boats owned by Frank Hoffman and Dave Rieman, Long Branch, collided and were so badly damaged they could not start.

Three of the boats missed the turn to the Navesink river at Sea Bright and continued to Highlands

Shrewsbury Post Tags Neptune

Husky Bud Dupree, who banged out four for four, sparked a 9-4 Shrewsbury post victory over Neptune last week in the Monmouth County American Legion Junior Baseball league.

The Bankers jumped off to a fast start in the first inning by chasing over five runs. Ronnie Riddle, Bill Dowlen, Frank Maloney, Nick Panfen and Dupree singled in the initial frame to chase starter Bob Graville, who also walked Jim Sigler, Bucky Moran and Joe Driscoll.

The victors scored three runs in the fourth and a lone tally in the fifth to complete their scoring.

Hotel, Motel Directory Out

TRENTON—A new "Directory of Hotels and Motels in New Jersey" is available from the promotion section of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development, report officials of the department.

The New Jersey Hotels Directory lists more than 200 registered hotels, lodges, inns, and motels throughout the State. An outline map of New Jersey on the inside cover shows principal towns and cities represented, major routes facilitating recreational travel to these centers, and exit points on the New Jersey Turnpike.

Listings in the directory include number of rooms available and American and European Plan minimum rates. Hotels only open a few months of the year, and those offering special plans, such as Continental plan (breakfast only), and modified plan (including two meals) are indicated.

These are by no means all of the hotels and motels serving vacationers and transient visitors in the Garden State. The directory includes only member hotels of the New Jersey State Hotel Association, and all are pledged to uphold high standards of courtesy, cleanliness, and comfort maintained by the association.

Compiled by the New Jersey State Hotel Association, the directory is distributed free from the association's headquarters in Newark, and from the state promotion section of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development, 520 East State st.

Hazlet

The Boy Scout drive for funds is being conducted in Hazlet, with Ernest E. Peseux as chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. William Urstadt are on a trip to Michigan, Niagara Falls and other points of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Maher have returned to their home on Long Island after spending two weeks at their other home on Bethany rd.

Mr. and Mrs. William McCormick, Jr., and children spent the weekend in Rochelle Park with relatives. The Hazlet fire company was called out to extinguish a grass fire and a fire in a chickenhouse belonging to LeRoy Clark on Bethany rd. The fire was caused by sparks from a train, as reported by Chief Malcolm W. Peseux. The fire in the chickenhouse was put out before much damage was done.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pearce of Aberdeen, Md., and William Hinson of Asbury Park visited Harry S. Cowles and family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Warnock and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rathbone recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Ira Rathbone and family at State Line, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Jensen Mason and children, Gladys and William, are on a trip to Florida, where they will visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nappi and children are vacationing in Virginia.

Broccoli Makes Good Fall Crop; Bees Help Lima Bean Production

FREEHOLD—Broccoli for either market or processing is a good fall crop for a strong soil where the grower will follow recommended cultural practices, including insect and disease control. Well-developed seedlings should be set into the field so that strong plants with plenty of side shoots may develop to produce a high yield.

This crop will produce better yields on the heavier types of soil which hold moisture. If lime has been applied just previous to planting, or the pH is above 6.5, it will be well to have at least 20 pounds of borax included in the fertilizer. Broccoli, like cauliflower, requires available boron in the soil. If this crop follows an early potato crop where the pH is below 5, then one-half pound of sodium molybdate per acre should be applied, either in the fertilizer or sprayed on the plants after they are field set.

On the fairly heavy soils cultivation should not be more often than is necessary, but when you do cultivate, use a single-tooth mid-way between the rows and go to a depth of from eight to ten inches to break up the soil and to allow the air and water to enter, advises M. A. Clark, county agricultural agent. Broccoli respond to irrigation during dry weather. During certain seasons it is necessary to irrigate to produce a paying crop.

As cool weather approaches, with the possibility of normal rainfall, a sidedressing of from 400 to 600 pounds of an 8-8-8, or a 10-10-10 commercial fertilizer will help to produce a green color and make the broccoli flowers more tender and of higher quality.

BEES AND BEANS
Bees help increase lima bean production, advises Mr. Clark. Beans are self-pollinating, and in addition may be cross-pollinated by bees, he says. Dr. Ordway Starnes, Rutgers entomologist, reports an experiment in which several colonies of bees were placed within flight range—about one mile—of a field in which several plantings of lima beans were made. Bees of each planting were caged in several areas. Some of the cages admitted bees and others kept them out.

It was found that where bees could get to the plants, more pods were produced, and these pods contained more beans. The resulting increase in production on all plantings where bees were available amounted to more than 30 per cent.

Many Monmouth county lima bean growers are fortunate in having small fields with wood lots nearby, which may contain wild bees or neighbors who have bees. Growers where fields are large and wild bees not so abundant, could consider bringing in bees in an effort to increase production.

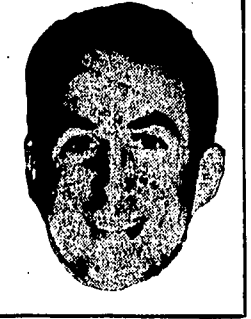

Insecticides for bean pest control should be used early so that applications will not be necessary during peak of blossom, when pollinators are most active.

EGG ROOM CONDITIONS
Conditions under which the poultryman works in grading and packing his eggs have much to do with the time it takes to do the job and the quality of the finished product.

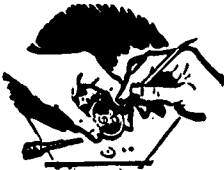

Richard O. Rice, associate agricultural agent, suggests an egg room that is large enough to accommodate all equipment and cases and still leave room for the free movement of workers in handling eggs and cases.

Ventilation is needed to insure free circulation of fresh air. Adequate lighting helps the poultryman to be sure that he is packing only clean, sound-shelled eggs. The job can be made easier by arranging equipment so that work flow is from right to left as the poultryman enters the room with eggs. Holding space for baskets of eggs and cleaning equipment can be at the right of the door. Next, should be the grader. Cases for packing should be at the rear of the operator, in front of the grader.

During the summer it's important to have humidity of 80 to 85 per cent in the egg rooms, especially when the temperature goes up beyond 65 degrees.

Township Committee Acts on Water Shortage and Train Curtailment

MIDDLETOWN—Acting on complaints of lack of water for hours at a time in various parts of the township, the township committee yesterday instructed Clerk Howard W. Roberts to arrange a meeting with officials of the Monmouth Consolidated Water company.

In addition to seeking a solution to the low pressure, the committee will also discuss the advisability of having the company apply to the Public Utility Commission for an amendment to its tariff so that it could ban the use of lawn sprinklers during specified hours.

This was suggested by Mr. Roberts, an attorney, after Committee member Walter J. Bills reported that police have asked residents to discontinue use of sprinklers until after dark. He said the co-operation has helped somewhat but since there is no ordinance to enforce the sprinkler ban, police have no power. When he suggested the possibility of such an ordinance, Mr. Roberts advised the committee that since the municipality does not own the water supply it could not pass one.

Mrs. Robert Gore appeared personally and said that three days last week there was no water for four-hour periods. Mrs. Irving T. Bartlett wrote a similar letter. Both live in Middletown Village. Committee member Frank F. Blaisdell, who acted as chairman, suggested the meeting with water company officials.

Oppose PUC Suggestion
The committee went on record as opposed to a suggestion by the PUC that the Central Railroad of New Jersey study the advisability of discontinuing its Bayshore line, which runs between Highlands and Keyport. The committee said it felt such action would be against the public interest and passed a resolution requesting the railroad officials to meet with municipal officials before making any decision.

The suggestion to cut out the line and transport passengers from the Bayshore to main line stations at Red Bank, Middletown and Matawan was included in a PUC decision in which it allowed the railroad to discontinue two trains daily on that line. Mr. Roberts said he feels that permission was "merely a trap" toward abandoning all trains on the Bayshore line.

Freeholders Give Their Position On Rent Controls

Municipalities Using The New Provisions Must Share Costs
FREEHOLD.—Municipalities in this county desiring rent controls may have them, but they will have to pay the bill accruing to the county.

This was disclosed yesterday at a special meeting of the Board of Freeholders. To comply with the law, the freeholders will appoint a rent control agency for the county—provided there are municipalities desiring controls. In addition, accommodations, facilities, equipment, supplies and clerical, stenographic and other assistance will be furnished by the county. If but one person is needed to operate the office, the top salary will be $2,500 a year. If two or more are needed, the top salaries will be $1,000 each.

If it proves that rent controls are desired, a county rent control review board will be appointed. Members of that board will not be paid—except expenses—but the cost of furnishing facilities, etc., will be part of the bill the participating municipalities must pay.

Municipalities must adopt resolutions if controls are desired. They may begin or leave the program at will.

Still Being Studied
"The board, of course, must perform its legal obligations under this law and will take such action as may be necessary."

"The first step is the designation of the county rent control agency. The next step is to provide the accommodations and facilities, etc., to carry on the work. The next step is to set up the county rent control review board."

"One of the uncertain factors is how extensive an operation will this law involve. A great many municipalities in Monmouth county have done away with rent control. The board believes that some still have it."

"The big question is how many municipalities will adopt rent control. Due to this uncertainty, it is difficult for the board to establish the necessary administrative personnel and office facilities in keeping with the number and size of the municipalities electing to adopt rent control."

Law Ends in '54
"There is also the fact that the law expires Dec. 31, 1954, and that would also be a factor in setting up the operation of this agency. While the municipalities that operate under rent control will be obliged to reimburse the county for the cost of this operation, still the board believes that whatever machinery the board is required to set up, the same should be as economical as possible."

"The board is giving the matter thorough study and if it is necessary to designate the agency prior to July 31, 1953, the board will hold a special meeting in order to do this. Otherwise the matter will come up for definite action at the meeting Aug. 5, 1953."

"In setting up the county rent control review board, one member must be appointed from the landlord group. The Board of Freeholders will welcome the recommendation of three names from the Monmouth County Realtors association from which the board could decide upon the member representing the landlord group and will also welcome the nomination of any names from any organizations in the county representative of the tenant group."

"The board, of course, reserves the right to make all selections from such nominations as it has the direct responsibility of making the appointments."

Anti-Speed Drive Ordered by Morris
EATONTOWN.—Traffic problems reached their peak here the past week-end according to Councilman Fred S. Morris, who last night told mayor and council an intensive drive by speeders is being launched today by the police department.

The drive will cover the entire borough, he said, but particular attention today will be given Maple ave. In addition, two streets will be closed in an attempt to cope with "short-cutting" race track motorists. Police barricades are being placed on Clinton ave. at Wyckoff rd. and on Elton pl. at Broad st.

Mayor to Break Ground For Jennie Parker Manor
HIGHLANDS.—Mayor Charles Hattenbuehler will turn the first spadeful of earth during groundbreaking ceremonies next Wednesday night at 7 o'clock for Jennie Parker Manor, the 30-unit, $300,000, low-cost housing development to be erected here on the site of the former municipal incinerator at Neversink and Water Vicks aves.

Borough officials and other residents have been invited to take part in the ceremonies. Mrs. John Ickwicz, executive director of the municipal housing authority, said yesterday.

Meyner 'Roasts Troast' in County Tour

Baptize Mrs. Lemon, 90, With 4,639 'Witnesses'

KEANSBURG.—Mrs. Sylvia Lemon of this place—whom'll be 91 in November—was the oldest of a record 4,640 Jehovah's Witnesses baptized yesterday by total immersion in Riverside Cascade pool at 134th st. and Broadway, New York city.

Exclaimed Mrs. Lemon: "It was fine. I feel good. I love the water."

The five-hour mass baptism found a man, woman or child entering the pool every three seconds. Before the immersion, about 50,000 Witnesses, who are attending the eight-day World Society Assembly, heard Charles A. Steel, a Brooklyn minister, speak on baptism at Yankee stadium. Yesterday's attendance set an all-time record for the sect: 76,186 later jammed the stadium and 56,625 overflowed to tents and trailers at New Market.

'Acreage' Owners Hit 'Land Grab'

CRAWFORD'S CORNER.—Thirty residents of Holmdel township, who said they represented more than 150 "acreage" owners, Tuesday night held an open forum at the township hall here to protest the "wholesale land grab" they declare the Garden State Parkway Authority is trying to accomplish.

The property owners—whose "acreage" is sought by the Parkway Authority—claim that offers of one-third valuation of their land are being made by Parkway officials. Larry Taylor said examination proved that 90 per cent of lands needed for other state highway projects has been secured through agreement and ten per cent through condemnation proceedings.

Residents protested the manner and procedure of assessments from outside this area who have set values on needed lands. They have agreed not to accept offers made by parkway officials and anticipate litigation, a stop they say they're forced to take in view of the lack of negotiation for the lands. It's take the price within five days or else, they declare.

In the event the state seeks condemnation of the lands, suit is filed in Superior Court, with the state depositing with the court a cash amount contended to be a fair amount for the land. The court then appoints three condemnation commissioners—one real estate man, a lawyer and a layman—to set a value on the property.

Commuters Seek Funds for Appeal
KEANSBURG.—The Bayshore Commuters association will seek funds to appeal the decision of the board of Public Utility commissioners to allow Jersey Central lines to curtail passenger service on its Bayshore branch. The organization, which plans to file an appeal within a few days, will ask the more than 1,500 commuters using the branch to contribute to a fund to be used for filing costs.

Certificates incorporating the organization were signed by William Metcalfe of Leonardo, president, three officers and four trustees, at a meeting Monday at the Knights of Columbus hall on R. 30 here.

George Gifford, delegate of the local Brotherhood of Trainmen, and Charles J. Sheridan, Jr., state representative of the Brotherhood, told of proposed time table changes.

William Harnett of Belford was appointed publicity director, and Chris Hagenrother of East Keansburg chairman of the membership committee. The association will meet Monday, Aug. 3, at the Knights of Columbus hall.

Farmers, Imperiled by Drought, Find Comfort in Today's Rain

Weather—always the number one conversation place—has taken a serious tone the past few days, but this morning's rain is expected to ease the talk about drought which has been building up for more than a month.

William D. Martin, Jr., at the Long Branch Weather Bureau today forecast that the rain will end tonight. At Freehold Richard Rice, associate county agricultural agent, said that—if the forecast holds true—some crops will partially recover.

Mr. Rice stressed, however, that "pretty serious damage" already has been done. He said county farmers have lost a considerable amount of crops and that corn and tomatoes have definitely been retarded. He added, though, that the relief brought by rain should help farms to recuperate. A favorable point, he said, is that the land should get full benefit because the rain has been soft and steady, permitting the water to penetrate and lessening the erosion dangers of heavy storms.

Some Wells Dry
Though not generally critical in the county, quite a few wells have run dry, causing serious problems to some farmers and home owners who do not have "city water."

Monday night's rain did little good. While it did a fair job of flooding Red Bank and blowing down numerous branches, such nearby communities as Shrewsbury, Fair Haven and Little Silver received little more than sprinkles.

In a check of the Col's Neck area, varying degrees of damage had been reported. Ernest Orgo, who has a nursery on Freehold-Eatontown rd., says a pond which normally has 5,000,000 gallons of water nearly went dry. At the Charles D. Flock & Sons farm the report is that irrigation saved the potato crop, but the dairy cattle pasturage of 125 acres may be lost.

Irrigation Helped
John Ripley, owner of Brookside Dairy farm, has no pasture left, but he says the well, holding up Harvey Drebbel, manager of Hominy Hill Dairy farm, said although the pasture had nearly dried up, installation of irrigation pipe "retarded" it. He added the farm's 400-foot well has been adequate.

William Miles, Atlantic township committeeman, urged continued precaution in burning trash. He said residents should keep watch when burning anything, making certain sparks do not spread to dry grass. Burning trash should be surrounded by earth rather than grass, he points out.

Officials still ask that lawn sprinkling be held to a minimum, because most wells are low. In rural housing developments homes are close together, and since wells usually run in the same vein, a hose used at one home will lower the water for those adjoining.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maxson of Denville farm, Jerseyville rd., with 23 Aberdeen Angus and two dairy cows, say their pasturage had dried up and they are feeding dry hay which was supposed to have been used next winter.

Roberts to Represent Keansburg In Protest to Rail Curtailment

KEANSBURG.—Borough council Tuesday night authorized Borough Attorney Howard W. Roberts to represent the municipality in proceedings to prevent Jersey Central Lines from further curtailment of service on its Shore branch from Matawan to Highlands.

Council's action followed receipt of a petition, bearing the signatures of 31 residents of the borough, from the Bayshore Commuters association, incorporated, asking council to have its attorney assist in an appeal to be filed in Superior court against a decision of the board of public utilities commissioners, which last month granted a railroad petition to reduce service. The petition said 1,500 commuters use the Shore branch.

Councilman Martin C. Lohsen, who attended a meeting of the commuters association Monday night at the Knights of Columbus hall on R. 36, said merchants here will co-operate in a drive for funds being conducted by the association to meet litigation costs. Francis J. Bodon, an association member, told council that he has been appointed to solicit merchant contributions.

Officials to Confer
An early conference with the Middletown township committee will be sought by council here in effort to determine proper action in reference to a proposal to change the township-borough boundary line on Atlantic ave. The street is part of Middletown township, but houses on its west side are part of the borough.

Mr. Roberts suggested the conference after council heard a letter from William G. Lloyd, who represents residents of the street. They renewed a request for the hard-surfacing of the street, and protested dust raised by passing traffic. The borough, which does not own the street, has refused improvement, and the township committee, Mr. Roberts said, has failed to take action because it receives taxes from only one side

Election July 31 to Decide Fate of $300,000 School

LITTLE SILVER.—Voters here will go to the polls Friday, July 31, in a special board of education election to determine whether or not the board can add $75,000 to the $225,000 already approved for a new grammar school.

As outlined last night at a "community meeting," voters will decide on two proposals. The first will ask for an additional $50,000. The second will ask permission to transfer $25,000 from surplus to the capital building account.

Though the $50,000 will exceed the borough's legal borrowing power by $41,440, the proposal has the blessing of the mayor and council, the state commissioner of education and the state department of local government.

The board invited representatives of 18 organizations in the borough to last night's meeting. Following presentations by board members for a discussion period, Member Earl Jacobo asked if there were objections to the proposals. None were voiced, the general opinion being that the representatives would help the board in its campaign for voter approval.

The proposal for the new school as outlined by Lester W. Taylor, president, was that $300,000 will permit construction of a 13-classroom building and accessory rooms. Previously, the $225,000 was expected to provide the "shell" of a 12-room building with but seven rooms completed. Actually, the bids received indicated that the shell and only two rooms would be completed.

Mrs. A. Edwin Burdge described the enrollment trend and said the board now needs seven additional rooms. Charles A. Thompson, principal, told of the problems which must be met with half sessions. Mr. Jacobo outlined the financial picture. Rev. James W. Marshall, pastor of Embury Methodist church, opened the meeting with a prayer.

Of the 13 rooms planned, it was predicted that all will be in use within five years.

Invited to the meeting were representatives of the Parent-Teacher association, Citizens association, Community club, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Y.M.C.A., Women's club, Junior Women's club, Ladies' Auxiliary of the fire company, the fire company, League of Women's Voters, City Defense, Embury Methodist, St. John's Episcopal chapel, borough council, planning board and zoning board of adjustment.

Lombardo Band To Play at Ball
OCEANPORT.—Guy Lombardo's "sweetest music this side of heaven" will be heard Saturday night at the annual Turf charity ball and carnival at the Monmouth Club clubhouse. Dancing, starting at 9 o'clock, is open to the public, along with a glittering midway and other attractions. Dinner will be served at 8 p. m.

Charge Dismissed; 2d Driver Not Guilty
SHREWSBURY.—Magistrate Morris Lane, Jr., dismissed a charge of failing to permit a vehicle to pass against Donald F. Wylie of Housatonic, Tex., and found Willis Wardell of Clarkston, N. C., not guilty of the charge Monday night when a complaint then was signed against him.

Moses Henth, whose address was not available, charged Wylie with not permitting him to pass. But Wylie Monday night said he had not been driving that day; had loaned his car to Valdeil. The complaint against Wylie, therefore, was dismissed. A complaint then was signed charging Wardell with the offense. He was found not guilty when Heath testified that he had tried to pass but had not sounded his horn.

Mr. Lane postponed until Monday night a charge against William H. Mills of Leighton ave. Red Bank, that his driver's license had expired. In order, Mr. Lane sought additional witnesses when the charge was filed Monday night.

10 More Parkway Suits Are Filed

FREEHOLD.—The New Jersey Highway authority this week filed ten additional condemnation suits for Monmouth county properties sought for the building of the Garden State Parkway.

The ten properties sought are in New Shrewsbury and Matawan boroughs, Middletown, Holmdel, Raritan and Wall townships. The state has offered to pay $236,182 for the properties, but the offers have been rejected by the owners.

These newest suits bring to 35 the total of condemnation actions filed in Monmouth county for 88 properties. The state has offered to pay $663,311 for all of these properties.

Condemnation proceedings are filed after the property owner rejects an offer made by the Highway authority for the land. The Superior court then appoints three commissioners in each case to appraise the property needed by the state and to determine whether the authority bid is a fair price.

The latest suits filed are: New Shrewsbury—Alfred Chapman, $81,435; James O. Pickering, $3,850.

Middletown township—Lovett's nursery, $41,571; Milton A. Finley, $9,626.

Holmdel township—Alfred C. Poole, $20,940; Gulesippe Casola, $8,866; Anthony J. Mittrick, $3,711.

Matawan—Henry Ott, $500.

Wall township—Ingo and Hedwig Alexander, $52,414.

Fire Alarm Bids Received
EATONTOWN.—Bids were received by the mayor and council last night for a new fire alarm system, but action on them will not be announced until the Aug. 12 meeting.

Offering to supply the equipment for the system—which will include 13 boxes—were the Superior American Fire Alarm division of Ansley Electronics, Inc., of Meriden, Conn., $5,085, and Gamewell company of Newton, Mass., $5,242.50.

Gamewell did not bid on the installation costs, but Superior American offered a price of $2,970. The only other bidder for installation work was Everett W. Brower of Red Bank. His figure was $4,565.

After receiving to look over the bids Councilman Ralph L. Lewis announced the motion to hold up the award of contract to permit further study.

In other business council threatened to suspend the license of Van's Trailer park unless maps of the layout are filed as required by ordinance. Councilman James N. Wolcott, Jr., said the park owners have been given several postponements, and that council should be prepared to act against the park if its maps are not in order by the next meeting.

Councilman J. Spencer Patterson said work on extending the parking lot has been held up in order to have a survey made of the Throckmorton ave. lot to be improved.

Residents having lots overgrown with weeds and brush will be notified by Borough Clerk Andrew G. Becker that—unless immediate action is taken—the borough will do the work and assess costs. The minimum charge will be $40.

Councilman Wolcott said the road repair work is nearing completion, making it one of the earliest dates the roads have been surfaced.

Council received Motor Vehicle department permission to enforce its ordinance prohibiting the use of trucks over ten tons on Maple ave., Clinton ave. and Lewis st.

Man Says Wife Married Him Just to Get to U. S.
FREEHOLD.—Mrs. Paola Procopio Piscitelli, Buena Vista ave., Rumson, has been named defendant in a suit filed here in matrimonial division of Superior court in which her husband, Carlo Piscitelli, 149 Garfield ave., Long Branch, is seeking an annulment.

The husband contends that Mrs. Piscitelli has never consummated their marriage, performed in Italy Mar. 16, 1952, and that she wed him only so that she could get into the United States.

The suit, filed by Edward F. Juska, Long Branch attorney, contends that Mrs. Piscitelli was unable to get into the United States in any other way and so the marriage "was fraudulently entered into for the sole purpose of bringing the defendant to the United States."

Weather Report
Rain ending tonight, with high of 75, low of 65. Tomorrow fair with high in the low 80's. Fresh southwest winds today, becoming gentle northwest tonight and fresh to moderate northwest tomorrow.

Completing a marathon, day-long, tour through Monmouth county, Robert B. Meyner, Democratic candidate for governor, came here last night to "roast Troast," and blast Jersey Republicans for "being all things to all people."

Mr. Meyner, pushing aside a microphone to let his own voice be heard, spoke to a crowd of over 200 in the ballroom of the Molly Pitcher hotel, and hit the Republicans on a number of issues, among them: patronage, bingo, big-time gambling, law enforcement, striped bass fishing and highway building.

He didn't seem to show it. But, for him, it was a very busy day, starting with an 8 a. m. breakfast at Freehold and, after visits to a half-dozen towns, ending up here with an address that ended more than ten hours after his day began. At each place he had words for the Democrats and, but definitely, against the Republicans. He reminded all that he'd be back, that this was but the start of his election drive.

'Candidates Night'
It was a sort of candidates' night affair at the Molly Pitcher last night. Preliminary talks were given by assembly candidates Harry Bennett of Belford and Samuel M. Fisher, Jr., of Middletown, and Freeholder candidates Henry Giordano of Long Branch and Stephen J. Remson of Manalapan township. Giving the introductions was Mayor Katharine Elkus White of Red Bank who, herself, was introduced by Commissioner Paul Kiernan of Long Branch, Democratic state committeeman.

The big introduction was saved for Mr. Meyner. She called him "tough" and commended him for his record as both a lawyer and legislator. Mr. Meyner comes from Phillipsburg.

The Democratic candidate suggested that, perhaps his audience here didn't want "another course of roast Troast." "It's Troast for breakfast," he said, "and Meyner for governor." But, roast Troast he did, and Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll along with him. He said openly that "it's time to throw the rascals out."

'Troast, Phantom Candidate'
Mr. Meyner said that Mr. Troast repeatedly had ignored his invitation that the two candidates speak together, on the same stages, to the people of the state. He called the Republican a "phantom candidate" for failing to attend meetings where he put in an appearance, and said Mr. Troast is playing the role of being "all things to all people."

But, for the main part, the Democrat leveled his guns against Gov. Driscoll and his administration, which he said has a record "which justifies a defeat in the general election."

Bingo playing at firemen's fairs and various affairs given by charitable organizations, has been an issue since the state constitution was reformed in 1947, he said. By one means and another, Gov. Driscoll kept the public from voting on it through 1952 when he vetoed a legislative bill favoring it, said Mr. Meyner.

Much of the address was given to crime in Bergen county. Mr. Meyner said the Republican administration on got "excited" about conditions there after the investigation by Sen. Estes Kefauver.

And, he asserted, when Nelson Starnier, who Trenton sent there to "clean things up" got "too close" to the answer of what was going on "he was fired."

"For two and a half years the administration called Starnier a fine man. For the last six months he served he was a bad one."

Recalls Adonis Case
Mr. Meyner said that the Driscoll administration has kept from the public facts concerning stories he said concerned dealings of Republican officials with Bergen county gangsters, including one Harold Adonis, former employee in the governor's office, who, Mr. Meyner said, received a fund of $228,000, for political purposes.

"We don't know the facts," he said. "Who got the money? In what way can we learn such things is to get a new executive."

On striped bass fishing, Mr. Meyner accused Gov. Driscoll of having, one year, obtained services of scientific experts who said it was all right for net fishermen to catch them, and the next year a statement from a Princeton man that, as sportmen insisted, net fishing should stop.

The whole game, he said "was how to win votes."

And, in the whole, Mr. Meyner said the Driscoll administration has failed to solve the problems of free highways, better school support, syndicated gambling and law enforcement.

'Won't Stand Test'
"They tell you of the wonderful things they do, but it won't stand the test of public opinion."

Mr. Meyner said what he wanted was "better government, with both major parties well represented in the state—a 21-county party."

In his talk, Mr. Fisher, of Middletown, said he credited President Eisenhower's 1952 election sweep to too much politics by Washington Democrats, "too many minks, too many deep freezes and an outstandingly famous general" to oppose them.

But, in the same light, he said, "the days are becoming as the symbol of Trenton as much as the minks represented Washington a few years ago. He said Jersey Republicans have a split personality—"

Supreme Court Names Mrs. Vreeland, Dr. Herrman New Jury Commissioners

TRENTON—Mrs. Milton A. Vreeland, King's highway, Middletown, and Dr. William G. Herrman, 1000 E. Driscoll, Tuesday by the Supreme court as the new Monmouth county jury commissioners.

The commissioners are appointed by the high court under a new law signed Monday by Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll which takes the appointive power from the governor.

Mrs. Vreeland and Dr. Herrman will succeed Herman L. Epstein, Bradley Beach, who held the job ten years, and William H. Jordan, Long Branch, a commissioner seven years.

Under the law, one Democrat and one Republican is chosen from each county. Mrs. Vreeland is the Democratic choice and Dr. Herrman the Republican. Their terms will run for one year, expiring June 30, 1954. Monmouth county has been without commissioners since June 30 because Governor Driscoll did not make any appointments for the year 1953-54, pending action of this bill.

The duties in the $500 a year position are to supervise the selection of county grand and petit juries.

Mrs. Vreeland, nee Virginia Farrington, was born in Springfield, Mo. She married Milton A. Vreeland, a native of Matawan, and they have lived in Monmouth county about 23 years, residing in Red Bank before making their home in Middletown. She is the mother of two boys, Peter, 16, and Richard, 9. Mrs. Vreeland attended Vassar and was graduated from the University of Missouri School of Journalism. She is a past president of Red Bank Region, League of Women Voters, an officer of the state league, and a member of the American Association of University Women.

Dr. Herrman has practiced medicine in Asbury Park for 34 years as a specialist in radiology, and is a past president of the New Jersey Medical Society. He was formerly president of the county Medical society and chief of medical service for civilian defense in World War II. He is a veteran of World War I.

Heat No Barrier As Meyner, Troast Prep for Battle

Democratic Candidate Wants to be 'Known,' GOP Fights Optimism

By JAMES P. HACKETT

TRENTON (AP)—This is the time of year when it usually is too hot to talk about politics, but this year it is different.

New Jersey's gubernatorial candidates—Democrat Robert B. Meyner and Republican Paul L. Troast—have thrown tradition and hot weather to the winds. Both have taken lessons from last year's Presidential campaign.

Meyner doesn't want to be in the same position as Adlai Stevenson, who began his campaign for the Presidency virtually as unknown to national politics. Meyner wants to be well known throughout the state when the campaign gets under way after Labor day.

Troast doesn't want anyone in his party to get the idea it can ride into the governorship on the coattails of President Eisenhower. He is out to do so on a state basis what Eisenhower did on a national level—get all the echelons of the party into high gear by Labor day.

Ryan By-Passed

You'll find Meyner addressing civic, fraternal, farm and other groups. For example, he met last night at Freehold with the Central Jersey Farmers Co-operative association, comprising farmers in Monmouth, Ocean, Middlesex and Mercer counties.

You'll find Troast talking to Republican county committees as part of a summer swing around the state.

Meyner talks about the issues his party has developed for the campaign, topmost, of course, alleged political corruption in Trenton.

Troast talks of the need for good organization work from the smallest election district up through to the state committee.

Meyner works out of a small office in Trenton, Troast has a campaign staff set up in a large suite in the Essex house in Newark.

Neither candidate has given much attention to Millionaire Clemen-tis J. Ryan, of Alamuch, Ryan, who has financed for several years a private crusade against him, has taken a page from the political book written by State Senator Malcolm S. Forbes (R-Somerset).

Forbes, unsuccessful candidate for Republican gubernatorial nomination, set up more than 100 citizens' clubs to help roll out the vote for Eisenhower in the 1952 primary election. Then, when he was candidate for the gubernatorial nomination himself, Forbes organized similar clubs.

Ryan has a staff at work organizing citizens' clubs. The millionaire, who was a delegate to the Republican national convention in 1948, said he became the Democratic candidate for governor this year. He was one of four who were considered by Democratic leaders before they eventually selected Meyner.

Anglers Happy

Sportsmen hurried this week to Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll signed into law, all the while that will prohibit commercial fishermen from keeping striped bass caught in gill nets of five inches or more.

The state's anglers for years have sought to make the striped bass a game fish in New Jersey. They got part way there in 1951 when a law was passed permitting commercial fishermen to keep striped bass only between Feb. 1 and April 30.

The new bill knocks out the exemption period and the striped bass presumably now can be caught and retained only by anglers.

Driscoll's Future

Gov. Driscoll is looking forward to being a private citizen. He has said so privately for almost two years, but no one would believe him.

The governor is going to Seattle, Wash., at the end of the month to attend the national governors' conference. This could be his last fling at anything with a national political flavor for some time.

Driscoll has been interested in clearer definition of the relations between the states and the federal government. He has felt the federal government for too many years has been interfering in state rights.

It could be that the governor will devote some of his time to writing out his ideas on federalism. But such activity will have to take second place to law practice.

Whether he will put out his own shingle in Camden or at Haddonfield, or form a partnership with some friends still has not been revealed.

Driscoll has said he'd like to show up at the inauguration of the next executive and say: "Well, brother, you got it. Now that are you going to do with it?"

Oceanport WSCS

Holds Luncheon

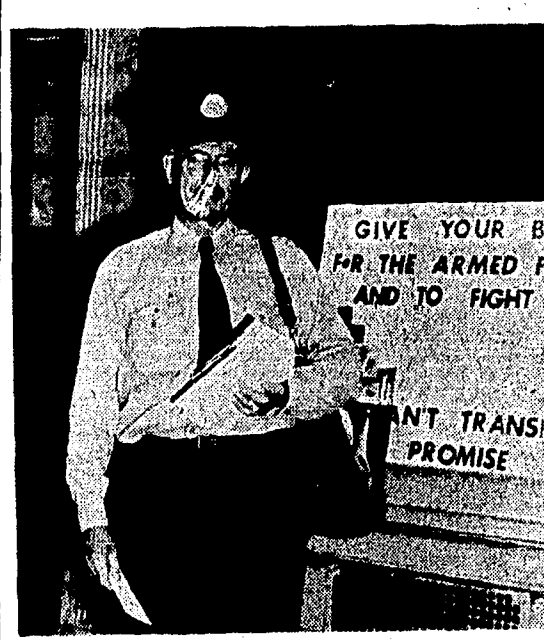

OCEANPORT—Mrs. Robert S. Judge and Mrs. Lloyd N. Siskles were hostesses Monday at a covered dish luncheon of the W.S.C.S. of the Methodist church in the church hall.

The group quitted in the morning and held a business session in the afternoon with Mrs. George C. D. Hurley, president, in charge. Mrs. Charles Walling, Sr., chairman of the recent rummage sale, reported the sale netted $32. It was reported that instead of the August luncheon, all members will donate $2 each to the society.

The group will sponsor an apron social Sept. 14 in the church hall. Mrs. John B. Hulse is in charge of arrangements.

Also present at Monday's meeting were Mrs. Robert S. Judge, Mrs. Percy Riddle, Mrs. Edward M. Perry, Mrs. Charles Van-Brick, Mrs. Hulse, Mrs. Charles Quinn, Mrs. Belle Gibson, Mrs. John W. Franks and Mrs. Fred Kneer.

Letter Carrier to Retire

Is the son of the late Hulda H. and Howard C. Ely. He was a resident of Red Bank a number of years before moving to Tinton Falls. His present home is on Tinton ave., New Shrewsbury.

Mr. Ely is a member of Shrewsbury post, American Legion, of Red Bank, and of the National Association of Letter Carriers.

Concert to Highlight Selections From 'HMS Pinafore,' 'Martha'

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS—Selections from Gilbert and Sullivan's "HMS Pinafore" and "Martha" will highlight this week's concert by the municipal band here Sunday at 8 p. m. at the yacht harbor.

The band will be conducted by Pasquale Acquaviva of Red Bank. Director Joseph Schena of this place this week announced the following program: "The Avenger" by King, "The Sunny South" by King, "The Victor" by King, "Sullivan's Operatic Gems" arranged by Brockton, "The Anvil" by Farlow, "The Joy Riders" by King, "The Kiss" by Ardit, "The Rifle Ranges" by King, "La Paloma" by Yrabier, "Falling Leaves" by Serey and "Triumph" by King.

The concert will open with "The Star Spangled Banner" after the band marches along the borough's main thoroughfare to the bandstand at the yacht harbor administration building. The band leads the singing of "God Bless America" to close each concert.

Manson Fines 3; 10 Pay Bureau

MIDDLETOWN—Magistrate W. Gilbert Manson last night fined three motorists $25 for careless driving and $25 for leaving the scene of an accident.

Manson fined Thomas Omborn of Shrewsbury $5 for careless driving and Frank Westbrook $2 for driving without a tail light.

The following fines were paid to violations bureau this week: Ernest Ferreria, New Rochelle, N. Y., Donato V. Perna, Newark; Robert A. Banner, Jersey City, and Alan Smith, Oakhurst, $5 each for speeding; Joseph A. Barrett, Irvington; Joseph F. Lerch, Jr., Neptune, and William Crilly, Harrison, $5 each for passing a red light; Howard Hollander, Orange, $5 for failing to stop to the right; Howard Lannon, New York city, $5 for careless driving and $5 for driving without a license; Ernest Marroccoli, Newark, $5 for speeding. Costs of $3 were added in each case.

WEDDINGS

O'NEILL-GRIGOR

Miss Helen M. O'Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Neill of White rd., son of Mrs. and Mr. Frederick Doleschal of Patterson ave., Shrewsbury, were married July 12 at St. James Catholic church by Rev. Joseph Bluchoff.

A reception for the immediate families followed at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride wore a street-length dress of white organdy, trimmed with blue sequins and styled with long neckling which had a Peter Pan collar. She wore a white starched lace veil, and carried sprays of gladioli and pink roses on a prayer book.

Miss Noreen O'Neill, the bride's sister, was maid of honor, and was dressed in a blue silk costume with a matching taffeta picture hat. She wore a corsage of pink gladioli. William Goslaw of Shrewsbury was best man.

The couple left on a Southern wedding trip and will make their home at Clarksville, Tenn., where the bridegroom is a corporal with the Army paratroopers at Fort Campbell, Ky. The bride's traveling dress was navy blue trimmed with white pique.

The bride is a graduate of Red Bank Catholic high school and was a secretary with Anderson Brothers of Red Bank. The bridegroom was graduated from Red Bank high school.

Meyner Lashes

rest of the week they receive gangsters in their homes at midnight." Mr. Fisher said the Republicans accepted money from gangsters to finance Gov. Driscoll's last campaign and called the Driscoll administration one of "crime, corruption and confusion." He said it's time the G. O. P.—"Greedy Old Party"—was driven into retirement.

His running mate, Henry Bennett of Belford, said he was for charitable bingo games, against water pollution, for more state aid for education and for establishment of a state medical school.

Hits at Freeholders

Henry Giordano of Long Branch, a lawyer, running for freeholder, said he wants to find out just why there's been such general agreement on measures passed by that board. "It's been as though one person has been behind every measure," he said.

His running mate, Stephen J. Remsen of Manalapan township, said the Democrats pledge the building of the kind of organization that "can hold up its head and fight back until we win."

That's what happened last night. But that was only part of the day spent in taking Candidate Meyner through the county.

At a luncheon at the Berkeley-Cortez hotel, Asbury Park, Mr. Meyner scolded the Republicans for what he said was failure to give Jersey citizens an opportunity to vote on the bingo question.

He said G. O. P. legislators had been guilty of indifference and delaying tactics on the bingo issue, and that ultimately Gov. Driscoll vetoed the bill for a referendum.

"At the same time," he said, Republicans closed their eyes completely to organized gambling in this state.

Mr. Meyner said Mr. Troast closed the bingo question until his primary opponent, Malcolm Forbes, made an issue of it. Referring to Mr. Forbes' campaign slogan, "The Bosses Say No, What Do You Say?" Mr. Meyner said there were many things G. O. P. bigwigs didn't like. He implied there was much mudslinging in the contest, and asserted: "All the Democrats have to do is play back the records of Forbes during the campaign."

"Unbossed, Unwound"

Mr. Meyner called himself "unbossed and unwound," and said he could restore self respect to the governor's office.

Earlier, at a news conference, Mr. Meyner said he is making a tour of the state's 21 counties to meet Democratic leaders and the public for advice that will enable him to do a better job.

As to education, Mr. Meyner said he was opposed to any state income or general sales tax to provide more state aid. He said more money could come from a reorganization of state departments and expenditures and a plan for state tax revision to "eliminate inequalities." If this isn't enough, he said, he might consider a corporation tax.

Mr. Meyner called "aband" and "unwashed" Republican plans to have the state ask Washington to give to the state federal tax money to alcoholic beverages and gasoline

Mrs. Carroll chose a cocktail-length Caribbean green chiffon gown for the wedding, with a natural colored straw hat, trimmed with dark green, and a corsage of orchids. The bridegroom's mother wore navy blue Chantilly lace, with a small powder blue feathered hat and a corsage of orchids.

For her wedding trip to New England, the bride was attired in a classic styled suit of navy blue with matching accessories. The couple will make their home at Jan farm, Freehold, where the bridegroom owns and operates the Jaz Poultry farm.

Mrs. Scaturchio was graduated from Highland Manor school at West Long Branch and studied ballet at the Swoboda and Celli schools in New York city. For the past three years she has conducted the Margery Carroll School of Ballet in Red Bank, which had studios in the Carlton building and on Maple ave.

John M. Scaturchio of Jersey City, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Frank A. D'Amato of

Atlantic Coast Lightning Championships
To Be Held Aug. 1-2 in Sandy Hook Bay

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS—The 1953 Atlantic coast championship regatta for Lightning class sailboats will be held in Sandy Hook bay off the yacht harbor here in a three-day series Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 1 and 2.

Charles Allaire of Lightning 70 of Red Bank's Monmouth Boat club will defend his Atlantic coast title in a new boat, "Valhalla," in a new boat, "Magic." Monmouth Boat club will host to Lightnings from Maine to Florida during the two-day regatta, held here through the co-operation of the Atlantic Highlands yacht club and the municipal harbor commission.

Trophies will be awarded by the Atlantic Highlands yacht club, the Atlantic Highlands Lions club and borough merchants. The regatta prize will be awarded by Henry Stadler, commodore of the Atlantic Highlands yacht club, and second prize by the Lions club. Pennants will be awarded to the first three boats in each race, and crew prizes to the first, second and third crews in the regatta.

The race course is an area roughly bounded by Sandy Hook, the naval ammunition depot pier at Leonardo and the million-dollar marina here. Thousands are expected to witness the races from observation points along Ocean blvd. on Mt. Mitchell and from spectator craft.

Resumption of Racing

The first race will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, Aug. 1, and the second and third at 10:30 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. the next day. The regatta will mark the resumption of yacht racing on one of the most famous courses in the east. Local racing began about 1875, and was continued for more than 50 years. Transatlantic racing started in 1896, the "Henrietta," the "Fleetwing" and the "Vesta" began their mid-winter race here to England for a $50,000 purse and in 1905, the all-time record for crossing under sail was established when the "Atlantic" crossed the finish line off Sandy Hook 12 days, four hours and one minute after leaving England in the 11-yacht race for the German Kaiser's cup. The best-known of all yachting trophies, the America's cup, was defended on the course here in 1930. The regatta every time it was challenged in the United States between 1870 and 1920.

The former Sandy Hook boats pier, now known as the Monmouth Park Jockey club pier, north of the marina, at one time was the property of the New York yacht club, which maintained a clubhouse at the far end for use only during America's Cup races.

Yachtsmen claim ideal conditions for racing here. The water is held deep and unobstructed, with a minimum depth of 14 feet at low water. The course is protected from ocean currents by Sandy Hook. But the Hook, low and sandy, offers no barrier to fresh southerly breezes which invariably come in from the ocean on summer afternoons.

A Pleasant Land

Alfred Just described Sandy Hook bay as a "good land to fall in with and a pleasant land to see." He was first mate of Capt. Hendrick Hudson's "Half Moon" and so described the bay in his log in 1609.

Entries from many of the top-ranking boats of the 84 Lightning fleets based along the Atlantic coast have been received. Fleets will enter two boats, and the host fleet three. Ed Waters, last year's runner-up, who, in his "Reverend," last week qualified for the international championships at Buffalo in September, and June Methot, whose "Chantey" recently topped the Lightning class in the 1953 Red Grant regatta at Raritan bay and who won the Metropolitan district championship in Pennsylvania last week-end to become eligible for the international, also will represent Monmouth Boat club.

Among other boats for the title are Harry Shiple of Lavettville, 1953 state champion in "Dayrader"; Magnus Pedersen of Nyack, N. Y., three-time former Atlantic coast champion, in "Valhalla III"; John Tiegland of Spray Beach, 1951 international champion, in a new boat, "Seductress II"; John Orelup of Bay Head, 1952 state champion, in "Javelin III"; Charlie Dore of Spray Beach in "Shady Lady"; Jim Carson of Medford in "Sparks"; Henry Abreu of Chelsea, N. Y., 1949 Atlantic coast champion, in "Fiesta II"; John Walton of Brigantine in "Dead Eye"; Joe Hoffee of Nyack in "Ro-Jo"; Palmer "Pim" Epler of Nyack in "Spray"; Sam Knox of Connecticut in "Hot Canary"; Dave Shay of Shore Acres fleet in "Renegade"; Bob Adams of Barnegat bay in "Bandit" and his sister, Marge Adams in "Whirlwind II"; John Wardell of Bay Head yacht club in "Ranger" and Phil Schumacher of Lake Wallenpaupack, Pa.

Fireworks Display

Sea Scouts of the ship Joshua Barney at the harbor here, under the leadership of Skipper Edmond Blom, will man three whaleboats, now berthed at Spermaceti cove, Sandy Hook, for dinghy and other service. The Sea Scout ship will be used for sail-measurement and repairs. A highlight of Saturday's activities will be a fireworks display sponsored by the harbor commission and borough council here. Housing will be provided for about 150 contestants through the efforts of a joint committee.

Members of the regatta committee—comprising fleet 70 and the Atlantic Highlands yacht club—will meet tomorrow night at 8:30 at the club here to review plans for the event a week distant. The regatta committee of the club met last Friday to discuss its preparations. Present were Mayor Waldron P. Smith, John J. Kozak, Jr., president of the Lions club; Councilman Everett C. Curry, a member of the harbor commission; Paul Joy, vice commodore of the club; William N. Gaskill, rear commodore; Bertram Kessler, secretary, and D. A. Caruso, treasurer.

Contestants will begin to arrive about noon Friday, July 31, for registration, boat inspection, sail measurement and launching. An informal get-together will be held at 7 p. m. Skipper will meet Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at the clubhouse. A warning gun will be fired at 2:30 p. m. and the race will be under way at 2:30.

Dinner-Dance Saturday

Social activities will include a dinner-dance Saturday at 7:30 p. m. at the yacht club here in the $50,000 administration building for contestants, their guests and members and guests of the Atlantic Highlands club, Monmouth Boat club and the Harbor commission.

Warning guns will be fired at 10:20 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. Sunday for the second and third races. Trophies will be awarded at the conclusion of the third race.

G. N. Bull of fleet 70 is general chairman of the joint committee for the regatta. Committee members include William L. Bennett, chairman, and George W. Bentley, Kenneth Smith, Sr., James Wolf, Jr., and Howard Ungerer, Sr., Monmouth Boat club, race committee; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hatch, fleet 70, and Tom Noonan, Atlantic Highlands Yacht club, entertainment; Joseph P. Dender, chairman of the Harbor commission, launching and buoys; Mr. Allaire, boat inspection and weighing; Rod Gorman, fleet 70, lunches; Mr. Curry and Bob Wood, fleet 70, mooring and docking; Miss Methot, publicity; Neil Clifton, fleet 70, registration; R. M. Keator, fleet 70, sail measurement; Mr. Stadler, Mr. Caruso and H. L. Christian, Atlantic Highlands Yacht club, and Borden Hance, fleet 70, patrol and spectator boats, and dinghy service; Mr. Stadler, Mr. Joy, Mr. Caruso, Mr. Curry, Mr. Gaskill and Mayor Smith of Atlantic Highlands, and Harvey Schenck, fleet 70, trophies; R. B. Lippincott, Jr., fleet 70, direction signs, and Mayor Smith, Mr. Caruso, Mr. Curry and Harvey H. Bowles, Atlantic Highlands Yacht club, and John Spurdie, fleet 70, housing.

Post Swimmers Retain Title

FORT MONMOUTH—Winning nine of 11 events, Fort Monmouth easily defended its title yesterday afternoon in the eighth annual First Army swimming and diving championships at the victors' field house pool. The winning Monmouth swim team compiled 75 points to beat runner-up Fort Dix by 40 points, while Camp Kilmer, which had the only other two individual winners, finished third with 19 points.

In yesterday's events the Signaleers won the first seven races on the program, giving them eight in a row, as Johnny Maderias had won the three meter diving event for Monmouth the day before. Of Monmouth's nine first places, Harry Shearer of Euclid, O., was the only swimmer to win two races. The ex-swimmer from Bowling Green captured the 100 and 200 free-style events. He also was on the winning 400-yard free-style relay team and placed second in the 400-yard free-style event.

In its overwhelming triumph in the swim meet Monmouth started out with an easy victory in the 300-yard medley relay as Bob Kucny, John Quigley and Chuck Harris, team coach, set a new pool record at 3:12.

Shearer followed with his win in the 200 free-style and Pete Galtone won the closely contested 50-yard free-style as the Bristol, Conn., swimmer at 25.7 beat out Harold Appleby from Fort Dix and Springfield, Mass.

Coach Harris won another first for the Signaleers in the 150-yard individual medley, timed at 1:48.8, another pool record. Harris, who hails from Dunsuir, Cal., was formerly on the University of California swimming team.

After Shearer's victory in the 100 free-style, Quigley, from Michigan State, and a native of Saginaw, Mich., won the 100 back stroke at 1:06.2.

Kucny, who hails from Kenosha, Wis., and a former competitor with Wisconsin university, kept Monmouth's streak intact by capturing the 100-yard breast stroke and another Signalmen, Ralph Young of New York city, finished second.

While Alex Adamowicz had won the one meter diving event Monday, Carl Yates of Princeton gave Camp Kilmer its other individual title as he won the 400-yard free-style event. He swam the distance in 4:55.6 for another pool record.

In the finale for the afternoon Kucny, Harris, Galtone and Shearer won the 400-yard free-style relay race for Monmouth, with a winning time of 3:55.5, to set another pool mark.

Fourth place in the meet went to Fort Jay with eight points, while Fort Hamilton had two. Fort Stoumen did not score, while Fort Devens did not have an entry in the finals.

Monmouth 'Cap Slated Saturday

MONMOUTH PARK—The eighth modern-day running of the Monmouth Handicap Saturday promises to attract a field of no less than seven route runners, with a possibility that as many as ten will come out of the starting gate.

A huge field of 51 nominations closed the stake race, however, all others have side-stepped the stern issue. This year's running is worth $30,000 added, richest of all the Monmouths, with a winning share of approximately $24,000.

Deflection of the high weights, some new racing in the Middle-lands and others sidled with a vast assortment of equine injuries, may leave the post of honor to Twin Oaks Stable's Pasatiempo at 113 pounds. A recent winner over the grounds, his training moves have been excellent and he is completely ready for the mile and a quarter run.

The Putnam Stable's Combat Boots, second to One Hitter in the Monmouth of 1952, is coming back for another shot at 112 pounds, while other in the field may be Joseph M. Roebing's Closed Bell at 111, Jaclyn Stable's Closed Door, 110, Constance Morabito's My Celeste, 110, only mare in the race; Joseph Caveno's Joey Boy, 108, and John S. Kroese's Again 2d, 104 pounds.

Two possibilities are the King Ranch's High Scud at 108, and William Ziegler, Jr.'s Blt O'Fate, 106, although no word has been received from either stable by Racing Secretary John Turner, Jr.

Previous winners of the Monmouth Handicap include Lucky Draw, Round View, Tide Rips, Three Rings, Greek Ship, Arise and One Hitter. The track and stakes record continues to be held by Round View, who stepped the ten furlongs in a brisk 2:01 1-5.

Gets 2 to 6 Years For Sex Offenses

FREEHOLD—County Judge J. Edward Knight fixed state prison sentences of two to six years Tuesday for Leon G. Jackson, 34, of 97 Hurley st., Keyport, for two charges of sex delinquency.

William Johnson, 48 West Bergen pl., Red Bank, pleaded guilty to stealing $500 worth of copper piping from the Estey Motor Products company, Red Bank, July 12. A not guilty plea to the same offense was entered by Henry Coy, Apple st., New Shorebury.

IDEA BRINGS $70

FORT MONMOUTH—A check for $70, along with a letter commending her idea under the Suggestions Award program as a saving to the government, has been presented to Mrs. Elizabeth A. Sweetser of 37 Oceanport ave., Long Branch, by Brig. Gen. Wesley T. Sweetser, commander of the Signal school department. Mrs. Sweetser won the award on an adopted suggestion that a single lesson plan for examinations and critiques be used in school's officers' department. The idea will result in an estimated annual saving of $1,800.

George Kell, third baseman for the Boston Red Sox, tied a major league record by plying 187 games at third base in 1950.

Gov. Alfred Driscoll Signs Striped Bass Bill

With legislators and sportsmen looking on, Governor Driscoll signs the highly controversial striped bass protection bill, which illegalizes nets in inland waters. Left to right are State Senator Bodine, (R., Hunterdon); Assemblyman Beadleston, (R., Monmouth); William Mackey, president of the New Jersey League of Salt Water Anglers, and Assemblyman Saiber, (R., Essex).

TRENTON—On Tuesday, July 21, 1953, history—conservation and economic history—was made in the state of New Jersey when Governor Alfred E. Driscoll, with a stroke of his pen, caused the Beadleston-Saiber Striped Bass Bill A-104 to become the law of the land. This law will end all netting of striped bass in the inshore waters of the state. It will be a great and lasting service to the people of New Jersey.

To celebrate the successful conclusion of a well and hard-earned victory, officers and members of the New Jersey League of Salt Water Anglers from all sections of this state, and from Pennsylvania, together with the co-sponsors of the bill, Assemblyman Alfred N. Beadleston and Samuel Saiber, Republican candidate for governor, Paul A. Troast, Senator Samuel Bodine and others gathered at the State House to witness the signing of this history-making bill.

During the luncheon prior to the signing of the bill, William J. Mackey, president of the League, thanked the governor for his decision to sign it and also complimented the officers and members of the League for their untiring efforts in helping to put this law on the books.

Especially did he thank Assemblymen Beadleston and Saiber, who played such a big part in its success.

Governor Driscoll, in his remarks, stated that he has always been a true sportsman at heart and a staunch advocate of conservation. Said the governor, "I have always loved the thrill and challenge of the chase in the great outdoors."

Following the signing of the bill Mackey called a short meeting of the officers and members present. "We must never for one moment," said Mackey, "relax our efforts to keep this law in force. By all means we must keep the New Jersey League of Salt Water Anglers a powerful, dynamic and ever-growing organization."

Among representatives of the League from Monmouth county besides President Mackey, were Capt. Otto Reut, Walter Schoeller, William S. Frank, Joe Grande, Tony Rizzo and Harry Goldenberg.

Stout Rides Tuscany Home in Rumson 'Cap

Jockey Takes Mount Under Wire By Good Margin! Eatontown Last

MONMOUTH PARK—S. M. Platorio's Tuscany, with Jockey Jimmy Stout up, came back to win his second big stake race in seven days when the winner of the Salvatore Mile last week chalked up the $15,000 Added Rumson Handicap yesterday afternoon.

Tuscany, with Stout at the reins, ran a mile in the Salvatore Mile in record-breaking time and yesterday toured the six furlong feature in 1:10.4 clocking.

Blue Rhymer, owned by J. L. McKnight and ridden by Bobby Stevenson, for a short spell looked like it was the horse to beat. The Rhymer came out of the gate and led most of the way around the oval until the final turn, when Tuscany was given the green light by Stout. Gaining ground at a rapid pace Tuscany took the lead at the three-quarter pole to dash under the wire one and three-quarter lengths in front of Blue Rhymer, who gave way to the winner.

Tuscany paid $480, 3.00 and 2.60, while Blue Rhymer brought its backers a neat $8.40 place price and $4.80 for show.

Aceful, owned by F. Ambrose Clark and ridden by Sammy Boumetis, finished third to pay $4.

Greentree stable's Northern Star won the Rumson 'Cap in 1952. Eatontown, owned by Mrs. Alfred Roberts of Eatontown, and a recent victor in the Fleetwing Handicap at Jamaica, disappointed a huge local following when the best the local horse could do was to finish last in the six-furlong field.

Sanford Stud Farms' Mackville, with Jockey Eaby up, capped Monmouth Park's hurdle race yesterday. Mackville, a 4-5 favorite, was held back by Jockey Eaby until the home stretch and then once the colt was given his head, he galloped to an easy victory over Splen, owned by C. Mahlon Kline.

Yesterday's attendance hit 21,231 with the mutuels machines clicking to a tune of $1,987,689.

First race—Claiming, Purse $3,000. For maidens three years old and upward, six furlongs. Tell Iris (Batcheller) $8.20 4.40 3.20. Plentiful (Lynch) 3.40 2.60. T-Formation (Regalauto) 4.60.

Second race—Purse $4,000. For maidens three years old, five and one-half furlongs. Alinea (LeBlanc) $8.00 4.40 4.00. Hope (O'Brien) 12.20 8.60. Sunrise Siren (Wall) 5.00.

The daily double paid $42.40 on numbers two and nine.

Third race—The Ocean, Purse $4,500. Three-year-olds and upward, about one mile and three-quarters (Over Hurdles). Mackville (Eaby) $3.60 2.50 3.40. Splen (Ferral) 5.50 4.60.

Fourth race—Purse $3,000. Claiming. For three-year-olds, one mile and a sixteenth.

Menawa (Hewitt) $5.00 3.40 2.60. Mrs. Mac (Regalauto) 14.40 5.40. Yankee Beau (LeBlanc) 2.80.

Fifth race—Purse $4,500. For two-year-olds, five and one-half furlongs. Dear Brutus (Adams) $4.20 2.60 2.20. Right Bit (James) 3.40 2.40. Gosh (Hewitt) 2.40.

Sixth race—Go Clara Maass Memorial Hospital, Claiming, Purse $4,000. For three-year-olds, six furlongs. Judge M. (Stevenson) $4.40 3.40 2.60. Bye And Bye (O'Brien) 4.40 4.40. Dinner Winner (Burr) 3.80.

Seventh race—The Rumson Handicap, $15,000 added. For three-year-olds and upward, six furlongs. Tuscany (Stout) $4.80 3.00 2.60.

Testimonial Dinner Honors Wade Tonight at Jumping Brook C. C.

NEPTUNE TOWNSHIP—A space limited crowd of 200 will honor Horace Wade, publicity director of Monmouth Park tonight at Jumping Brook Country club when he'll be tendered a testimonial dinner by his friends connected with thoroughbred racing.

Mr. Wade, who recently resigned as publicity director of the Oceanport oval, has been at the helm of the publicity department since 1946 when the track first opened its gates, the same year that Atlantic City inaugurated racing in Southern Jersey.

Since being "bossman" of Monmouth's publicity department, Mr. Wade moved Monmouth Park up to compete with the biggest tracks in the country with his tremendous knowledge of racing. His columns, feature stories and other articles have been printed in thousands of newspapers as well as magazines.

Being in his eighth year as publicity director, Mr. Wade's ideas and novelties in promoting the local track, have been recognized throughout the east as well as other sections of the country. Because of his numerous ideas and "frats" in promotional programs, other tracks have used Monmouth Park as a pattern in improving their parks.

Willie Ratner, Newark Evening News turf writer and boxing columnist, will act as toastmaster, and Jimmy Hafferty, track photographer, will be in charge of entertainment.

Philip H. Iselin, treasurer of Monmouth Park Jockey club; Lou Cunningham and "Muggins" Feldman, of the publicity department of the Atlantic City track; Dick Connell, president Hazel Park, Detroit, Mich.; Joe Williams, executive sports editor of Scripps-Howard newspapers; Sol Rosen, Triangle Publications; Charles Sheehan, secretary of the New Jersey racing commission, and several officials of Gulfstream Park, Hallandale, Fla. Mr. and Mrs. Edward I. Wade, parents of the publicity director, made a special trip from Florida this week to attend the testimonial.

Duva at Fort Monmouth With Army Service Unit

EAST KEANSBURG—Capt. Edward A. Duva of 137 Ocean ave. is on two weeks' temporary duty at Fort Monmouth for summer training with the Signal corps under the Army reserve program. He is assigned with the 1043d Army service unit, New Brunswick, one of five units from New Jersey regional encampment, comprising about 260 reservists.

The summer training assumes on-the-job duties with post functions and operations in training areas that include signal construction, radio, photo, long lines and communications support. The 1043d is attending the basic and advanced signal officers course of the signal school.

In civilian life, Capt. Duva is a supervisor of inspection for Western Electric company.

PHILIP L. MATTHEWS

Something revolutionary is happening on the American road scene and a lot of people are starting to notice it. Simply it's this: there is a definite trend away from large, over-stuffed gas-eaters. More and more people are being attracted to moderate-size, economy-conscious automobiles.

I go along with this trend! I think it makes sense. Today's traffic conditions practically dictate a moderate-size, snappy performer that can get out of traffic fast, is easy to park, is economical to run and maintain.

I have picked the new English-built Fords—the Consul-4 and the Zephyr-6—as the cars best equipped to satisfy this growing demand. I have staked my business future on them by opening a showroom and service center here on Newman Springs Road, Red Bank.

When you come in to see the beautiful new Consul and Zephyr, here's what I can show you: Low purchase price.

The Consul 4-door sedan delivers in Red Bank for $1,695 including local and Federal taxes; the more powerful Zephyr for slightly more.

Compact, sensible size...both cars are full-size, yet have no waste overhang on either end. Low maintenance costs...my English-Ford-trained mechanics can tell you all about this. More miles to every gallon...English-built cars have been famous for economy for years. Surprisingly good power...the horsepower-to-weight ratio gives fast pick-up, high cruising speeds. Superior roadability...European-type suspension hugs the road, makes for safer driving. Relaxing, easy operation...the full legroom, well-placed controls add up to tireless driving. Distinctive appearance...ultra-modern styling will make you a proud owner.

But I have talked enough. Now let me demonstrate! Come to my showroom and drive the Consul and Zephyr-Six yourself. Then you'll see what all the talk is about. Incidentally—if you travel a lot, you will find dependable Consul-Zephyr service at all Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers coast to coast. Prices subject to change without notice.

Officials, D. A. R. Tour Twinlights

HIGHLANDS — Mayor Charles Hatsenbuehler, chief borough and service club officials and members of six Monmouth county chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution toured the Twinlights here Tuesday afternoon.
Conducted by Lieut. John E.
Klang of the Coast Guard, group commander at Sandy Hook who is charged with the supervision of the famous landmark, the group made the tour to become acquainted with the condition of the light in preparation for maintenance plans. The borough will make application to the General Services administration for the lighthouse for maintenance as a historic monument.
George Fennan and Albert Wilson of the New York office of the G. S. A. showed a photograph of a deed executed May 21, 1845, by Peter W. Schenck. He sold three hilltop acres to the government for $100 for the site of the light. The officials said buildings, outbuildings and other improvements cost $48-000.

Lieut. Klang, leading the group through the boarded building by flashlight, showed three apartments for lighthouse keepers and their families. Visits also were paid to the north and south towers up rusted, winding staircases. Lighting apparatus has been removed from the towers. One lens is in a Boston museum. Visitors marveled at the spectacle of the aerial view of Sandy Hook, New York city and Long Island.

Chapters of the D.A.R. represented Tuesday were: Trenton, Asbury Park, Monmouth, Red Bank; Shrewsbury Towne, Shrewsbury; Richard Stockton, Ocean Grove, and Governor Livingston, Spring Lake.

Magistrate Kleinberg
Fines 10 Violators
KEYPORT—Five motor vehicle violators were fined last night for careless driving by Magistrate Seymour Kleinberg.

Assessed were Stanley Kulka, Canada, $5; Joan Petro, Elizabethtown, $5; Miguel Soliman, $10;
Cornelius Carmen, Cliffwood, $10; and Talm Austin, Matawan, $18.
Others fined were Joseph Roznowski, Westfield, and Jerry Corrente, New York, $6 each, charged with excessive speed; Frank Evans,
New York, $6, passing on the right, and Jerome Kuzek, Newark, $6, for following too close. William Miller of Rutherford, was fined $10 for not complying with his conditional license. He was charged with driving without his eyeglasses.

Little Silver
Susan Edelman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edelman, Point rd., celebrated her 11th birthday
Monday at Camp Matilonequey, Medford.

Mary Beth and Jean Nevins of Montclair are visiting their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Gordon Pagdin, Point rd.

Mrs. J. B. Drew and daughters
Jessie and Virginia, Point rd., visited last week with Mr. and Mrs.
Philip MacKay, former residents here, at their home at Ship Bottom, Mr. Drew and sons Robert and Jerome, Jr. joined them
Thursday for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Butler of Brooklyn spent the week-end with Mr. Butler's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Butler, Roslyn ct.

Juanita Libovsky, daughter of
Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Libovsky, Monroe ave., was hostess at an outdoor barbecue Saturday evening for 40 friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lauber, Jr.,
Point rd., visited Tuesday with Dr. and Mrs. F. G. Carlestead, Jr., of Palmyra, Md., who were visiting with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Carlestead, Jr., of Toms River. Both families will visit with Mr. and Mrs. Lauber tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cotten and children Lois, David and Jim, Prospect ave., have returned from a motor trip to the west. They took the southern route to Estes Park
Y.M.C.A. conference center in Colorado, visiting en route with Mrs.
Cotten's brother-in-law and sister,
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Worstall, and her mother, Mrs. Harry Shepherd, in Pittsburgh, Pa. They also visited
Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Brounley in Cincinnati, O., former residents here. At Estes Park they spent 12 days horseback riding and hiking through the Rocky mountains. They toured Yellowstone National park and Penny Lake, returning home via the northern route through Cook City, Red Lodge and Sault Ste. Marie to Toronto, Canada. From there they spent several days with Mr. Cotten's parents,
Mr. and Mrs. Burdell Cotten in Buffalo, N. Y. On their trip they covered 6,000 miles.

Mrs. Albert Perley of 30 Winfield dr. is a medical patient at Riverview hospital.

There Are Finishes For Hardwood Floors
If your hardwood floors need to be done over or if you are so lucky as to have a brand new floor, there are some basic facts about finishing you ought to know, whether you are going to have the job done or do it yourself, says Mrs. Lorna K. White, home agent for Monmouth county.

One of three treatments can be used on hardwood floors—shellac, varnish or penetrating seal, Mrs.
White says. Each method requires that the floor be smooth and free from any previous finish, including wax. Open grain woods, such as oak, require a filler before the surface finish. Shellac dries quickly and gives a soft sheen. Three coats of shellac thinned with denatured alcohol are recommended.
Sand between each coat.

Floor varnish is a hard finish.
It will stand a lot of traffic but the entire floor will need refinishing when the most used areas wear off.
Two or three coats give longer satisfaction than one, but the time necessary for drying each coat before sanding lengthsens the time the floor is out of use.

A penetrating floor sealer is a resin type finish that penetrates into the floor itself, and toughens the wood fibers. It will wear off only as the wood itself wears away.
It can be patched without refinishing the entire floor, Mrs. White urges you to follow the manufacturer's directions carefully for applying the finish you select. A polishing wax, either liquid or paste, adds beauty and protects all wood floor finishes. Build up a wax covering with two or three thin coats.
Polish each application to a hard dry finish.

Will It Shrink? Maybe Not—Look at the Label
With the current interest in washable clothing, it is heartening to note the many new processes being developed to prevent shrinking or stretching of fabrics.

Pre-shrinkage of cotton fabrics is not new, but more and more cottons are being treated with a commercial process which guarantees that the fabric will not shrink more than one per cent. There are other shrinkage processes used on cottons which reduce shrinkage, but not to such a great extent.
Check the label before you buy.
What will a three or five per cent shrinkage do to the fit of your dress?

Mrs. White reports that permanently washable rayon fabrics are now available with claims that they can be washed in a machine or by a commercial laundry with no more than two per cent shrinkage. Mrs.
White suggests checking the label for information concerning shrinkage and recommended methods of laundering. There are several new finishing processes and each requires its own type of care.

Wool fabrics are coming in for their share of experimentation, too, so far as shrinkage is concerned, and the agent. It is important that wool fabrics not only retain their approximate original size, but also that they do not mat or felt during laundering.

The new shrinkage processes are of many different types, both chemical and physical. Each fabric treated will carry a label stating the facts. The type of garment and the kind of wear it is to get will determine whether or not you need or want a washable fabric. You will also want to decide whether you will use a washing machine or wash the garment by hand.

Most of the new man-made fabrics are washable with little or no shrinkage. But before putting the garment into water, make sure that it is so styled as to be washable.

Highlands Officials Tour Twinlights

Merrily We Roll Along

By Harold Jacobson

Dear Skaters:
Here is another of my letters to you which will concern many of you. It will deal strictly with the dress rules you may expect in September.

I shall dwell a little on the matter of appearance because so few ever really think about theirs. Where one person is capable of reading your character in your face, a hundred read it in your get-up.

I have had the pleasure of visits from many notable persons, doctors of business men, doctors, lawyers and preachers, and the skaters never noticed them unless they skated into them because they were in their way. But one Sunday evening, many years ago, Herbert Daisley and Barbara Killip, both national champions, stopped in and I persuaded them to give my skaters an exhibition. They put on their skating costumes and came down stairs and stood around for only a few minutes when the skaters came around just to look at the costumes. You see, they looked their job, and I did not have to explain to the skaters that this was the real thing in skating. Of course, when a fellow gets to the point where he is something in particular, he doesn't have to care because he doesn't look like anything special; but while a young fellow isn't anything in particular, it is a mighty valuable asset if he looks like something special.

We have been a bit careless lately due to the unusual weather, but beginning September the rules will be back and a wee bit more severe than usual.

The F.T.L. Bureau

Bob and Nancy Graham, we see you are still in the groove after not skating for six and a half years. Come again soon.

JoAnn Stalker and Bob Graham, we liked that fancy ending to the ten-fourteen step. Please do it again soon.

Harold—it is not Joan B. and B. H. it is Mary Miller and Bobby Hodgkiss.

Why doesn't Lenny come skating anymore? I miss you. (Joan.)

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Blom of Rumson gave a party at the rink Saturday for their children Kiki and Larry. The guests were Jere Rutberg, Jim Lu, George Rigney, Don Kerr, Jim Ward, Mrs. Charles Rice, Bill Kerchner, Billy Boyce, Frank Walters, Bob Hubbard, Colby Dill, John Kordorff, Clipper Wise, Mrs. Betty Reinhart, Karey and Lynn Roessler, Mary Thalvis, Diane Collis, Linda Zerr, Barbara Krause, Karen Kiley, Cathy Granit, Carolyn Blom, Pat Ruhl, Laney Rush, Carol Reinhart, Joanne Alessandron, Olga Wise, Irene Thompson, Joan Halleran and Isabelle Rice. The rink was decorated in blue and yellow, games on skates were played and refreshments were served.

Nancy MacCloud, where have you been keeping yourself?

Barbara H., do you still have a crush on M. C.?

Arnold F., you are getting better every time you skate.

Andy and Dick, where have you been keeping yourself?

It has been nice seeing Theresa back skating after being away for two years.

You still have time to submit a name for the new club. Remember there is a valuable prize for the one whose name is submitted.

We are sorry to see you go Carol but it will not be long before you are back with us again. God bless you.

We miss seeing Tommy Hendricks around. He's in camp for two weeks.

We're glad to see Bobby H. and Mary Miller together again.
