No Start Set For Erosion Control Plans

Army Spokesman Estimates Project May Begin In Two Years

NEW YORK — If officials of any towns along the Bayshore section of Monmouth County, N.J., have ideas that plans by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers for erosion and flood control will go into effect this year — they have another thought coming.

A corps spokesman told the Register yesterday that it could take as long as two years or more — and would at least be one year — before erosion work is started—and a big IF was attached to that.

"If," John Wrocklage, an officer in the corps' North Atlantic Division, 90 Church St., said, "the Congress appropriates the money after final approvals are obtained from the various federal and state agencies."

This Summer?

At a recent council meeting in Keanburg, one of the participating towns, an official expressed the "hope" that the program would get under way "before the end of the summer," pointing out that "another hurricane season will soon be here."

The estimated total cost of the project is $4,983,000. Participating municipalities would be Madison Township, Matawan Township, Union Beach, Keanburg and Middletown Township.

The corps earlier this month made public its findings and recommendations for the program, in a detailed brochure listing various beachfill, levee and jetty projects along the coastline.

This, however, was but the first step.

The 'Red Tape'

Mr. Wrocklage listed these additional steps:

- Review and recommendations by the Board of Engineers of the U. S. Rivers and Harbors Division.
- This review is now in process.
- Review and recommendations by Lt. Gen. W. K. Wilson, Jr., chief of the Army Corps of Engineers.
- Review and recommendations by the governor of New Jersey, the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development and its sub-agencies.
- Approval by the federal Bureau of the Budget.
- Approval by the secretary of the Army.
- Approval by the Public Works Committee of the Congress.
- And, finally, approval by the Appropriations Committee of Congress, and an appropriation of funds.

The corps official estimated that it would be "at least" three months before the proposals are even formally presented to the governor and New Jersey state agencies.

Costs Are Listed

'Didn't Tell Truth,' Castro Says

Tractor Offer Rejected

BULLETIN
KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Fidel Castro today rejected the latest offer of the Tractors for Freedom Committee, saying that the committee did not tell the truth when it stated Castro had changed his proposal in order to confuse public opinion, Havana Radio reported.

Castro was quoted by the radio as saying, however, that he was authorizing the same committee of prisoners who came to the United States to negotiate the exchange to return to meet with the Tractors for Freedom Committee and to explain the Cuban position to the American public.

The radio quoted Castro as saying that from the first he had clearly specified the number and type of tractors he wanted.

The committee already had ordered aides, barring a Castro acceptance, to return unopened more than 60,000 pieces of mail that had piled up in P. O. Box Freedom in Detroit. Most of the mail was believed to contain public donations which the committee had asked.

April Invasion

The deadline was established after Castro told a four-member team of agricultural experts the committee sent to Cuba last week that he had in mind 500 heavy-duty tractors worth $28 million when he broached a willingness to swap anti-Castroists caught in an abortive April invasion aimed at his overthrow.

West to Stand Firm in Berlin; Reds Blamed

Plan To Beef Up Defenses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The West is planning to step up its defenses in Europe as evidence of its determination to stand firm on Berlin.

High ranking officials, in reporting this today, referred to the seriously worded statement Secretary of State Dean Rusk made at his news conference yesterday. He blamed the Soviets for the tension in the world and restated the Western position on Berlin.

No Soviet action, Rusk said, can extinguish the right of the Western powers in Berlin. Western forces are to remain in the divided German city, he added, and no peaceful solution can be reached at the expense of Western obligations in Berlin.

"The United States and those associated with us are clear and firm about our obligations to ourselves and to the people of West Berlin," Rusk said.

No Fanfare

The Western powers, informants said, are planning to quicken the beefing up of Atlantic alliance forces in Europe and to increase their state of readiness. This will be done quietly and without fanfare but in a way that should serve as notice to the Russians.

The thinking behind this strategy is, officials explained, that Soviet Premier Khrushchev does not seem to have been sufficiently impressed by the warnings President Kennedy repeatedly has made. In the past, it is recalled, Russia often paid attention to a show of force where words were of no avail.

Meanwhile, the United States continues consultations with its allies on the U.S. reply to Khrushchev's June 4 aide memoire on Berlin. The consultations started in Washington last week when Foy D. Kohler, assistant secretary of State, and Patrick

Mitchell on Hand For GOP Dinner

SPRING LAKE—Three hundred Monmouth County Republicans (paid $100 each last night for a beef dinner to beef up the party's treasury and to hear their candidate for governor reassure them his broken leg would not impede an aggressive campaign.)

James P. Mitchell of Little Silver, the candidate, spoke from his wheelchair at the dais of the Monmouth Hotel dining room and declared:

"This broken leg (suffered three weeks ago in a fall at Camden) is only an inconvenience. The doctors will make me mobile in time for the campaign when it really gets rolling."

The former U. S. labor secretary was introduced by his Central and South Jersey campaign manager, Sen. Richard R. Stout of Monmouth.

Special Limousine

He was driven to the hotel from his room at Fitkin Hospital in a limousine with an elevator seat, and was accompanied by Mrs. Barbara Schmidt, the hospital's head nurse, and Kenneth Schaefer, a physical therapist.

J. Marshall Booker, president of the hospital and former finance committee chairman for the GOP in Monmouth, was toastmaster.

With him on the dais were county chairman J. Russell Woolley, recently elected chairman of the state Republican Executive Committee; Mrs. Katherine Neuberger, New Jersey national Rep. (See MITCHELL, Pg. 2)

$16,882 Bid OK'd For Play Area

RUMSON — Borough Council last night accepted a $16,882 bid from Shore Paving Co., Red Bank, for construction of the Lafayette St. recreation area. There was only one bid offered.

The work is expected to start soon. Each of three bids made last month were for more than $27,000, and all were rejected.

One change was made in specifications—asphalt surfacing will be used instead of special tennis court paving material.

Itemized costs were: Two tennis courts, $7,210; two gates and fences, $2,639; shuffle board court, $1,160; bituminous concrete walks, $660; horseshoe area, $100; drinking fountain, $250; multiple use area, for badminton, volley ball and basketball, $2,543, and miscellaneous items, $2,420.

Council President Charles B. Harding conducted the session in the absence of Mayor Peter Carmell. There was a 45-minute recess as council conferred with a consulting engineer, Joseph J. Novellino of Glen Rock and members of the Recreation Committee about the bid.

In Raritan School Plan Is Okayed

RARITAN TOWNSHIP — Residents yesterday approved a $650,000 bond issue for a school construction program by a margin of 5 to 1.

The vote was 647 in favor, and 133 against.

The approval will permit the Board of Education to get started on its planned long-range program designed to curtail and eventually eliminate double sessions.

With the $650,000, the board plans to:

- 1—Build a 16-room elementary school on the Pacific Park site, adjacent to the high school, for an estimated $400,000.
- 2—Add six rooms to the Middle Road School, at an estimated cost of $135,000.
- 3—Add four rooms to the new Cove Road School, to cost about $100,000.

The balance of the money will go for fees and contingencies.

September, 1962

Target date for completion of the 16-room school is September of next year.

The board will also attempt to complete the two additions by that time — but no later than September of 1963.

If present enrollment estimates hold up, the board will be able to take the seventh and eighth grades, and possibly the sixth grade, off double session after the 26 new rooms are completed. (See SCHOOL, Page 2)

Lost Proofs Found

Friend Finds Lovejoy's Manuscript

OCEANPORT — The manuscript and proofs of the next edition of Lovejoy's College Guide, lost June 16, have been found and returned to the author, Col. Clarence E. Lovejoy of 115 Horseneck Pt.

Richard Barbour, a college student and longtime friend of the Lovejoys, found the lost suitcase containing the valuable papers.

It was hidden in thick foliage near the railroad track in Shrewsbury, about 1,000 feet north of the Little Silver railroad station.

The area had been searched repeatedly, without success, during the week since the suitcase tumbled from the train. Col. Lovejoy had despaired of finding his papers, and had begun work to reconstruct the manuscript.

Graduate Student Mr. Barbour, a graduate student at Washington and Lee University, returned yesterday at 6:30 p. m. from his summer job at the New Jersey Trust Company in New York, changed into work clothes and set out with a sickle and a pole to find the suitcase.

An hour's close search brought success.

"We are overjoyed," Mrs. Lovejoy said last night. "The papers are all still legible and perfectly usable."

Planners Eye Plot at Bridge

LITTLE SILVER — The Planning Board will ask Borough Council to consider the purchase from the county of a small piece of land adjacent to the present Gooseneck drawbridge.

A new bridge is now under construction. Upon completion it is expected that the Seven Bridge Rd. approach to the bridge itself will be altered.

Board members, at last night's meeting, expressed interest in the borough obtaining the old roadway, once it is obsolete.

Recorded Road Costs Told For Bell Project

HOLMDEL TOWNSHIP — The Township Committee last night told local residents they will not have to pay additional taxes as a result of the proposed Bell Labs road project.

According to figures presented by the committee, total base cost of the program as revised last month, will be $776,123.

The committee will finance the project through a bond issue extending over 10 years at an estimated average total project cost of $83,000 per year, including an estimated interest rate of 4 per cent.

The bonds would be sold sometime in 1962 with the first bond payment due one year from the date of sale.

Due in 1963

By the time this first payment is due in 1963, Bell Labs is expected to have most of its first building phase (estimated at $20 million) completed, according to the report submitted by the governing body last night.

The report also stated that the Bell buildings will have an estimated valuation of $2,308,000 by Oct. 1, 1961, according to recent tax calculations.

This means, stated the report, that additional revenues from Bell for 1962 should amount to approximately $75,000.

The report went on to state that it could be expected that valuations for tax years after 1962 "will yield considerably in excess of the annual cost of the road program to the township."

Lawrence A. Carton, Jr., township attorney, estimated that Bell probably will pay about five times the amount it would be required to pay in 1962 by the (See HOLMDEL, Page 2)

FATAL VEHICLE — Station wagon driven by Paul Lietz, 62, of Breton Woods, crashed into a guard rail fence on Garden State Parkway at New Shrewsbury yesterday, killing the driver and injuring three passengers. Police used acetylene torches to open rear door. Front end of car was split by impact with metal fence.

Car Hits Guard Rail

Man Killed on Parkway

NEW SHREWSBURY — A Garden State Parkway commuter was killed last night, and three companions in his car pool were injured, when his station wagon was split at the front end after hitting a metal guard rail on the parkway here.

State police said the rail opened up the car through the grill, severely cut the driver, and drove him back on to the bed of the wagon where he was trapped more than 10 minutes. Police used acetylene torches to open the back end of the vehicle to reach the driver and free the passengers.

Dead is Paul Lietz, 62, of 18 Hickory Rd., Breton Woods, a production supervisor at Western Electric, Kearny. He was a member of the Brick Township Board of Adjustment and a former Coast Guard Auxiliary Commander at Breton Woods.

Fair Condition
 Frederick J. Beam, 64 No. Farigan Ave., Manasquan, was admitted to Monmouth Medical Center, Long Branch, for treatment of multiple cuts. His condition is fair.
 Paul Lindholm, 54, of 2602 Riv

O'Dea, 50, of 102 10th Ave., Spring Lake Heights, were treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises, and were released.

Trooper John Burke, of the Parkway State Police, said the crash occurred at 6 P.M. while Mr. Lietz was driving southbound near the Eatontown exit.

Survivors Listed
 The trooper said the station wagon apparently had been riding the shoulder of the parkway for several hundred feet before striking the guard rail. He said the driver may have fallen asleep. (See ACCIDENT, Page 2)

Marina, Beach, Industry

New East Point Offer

UNION BEACH — Alexander F. Bahrs, owner of A. F. Bahrs Co., Highlands marine contractors, and a former Highlands councilman, last night offered to purchase the 134-acre East (Conasconk) Point property for $16,000.

Borough Council took no action on the offer. In a letter to the governing body, Mr. Bahrs said that he would construct a marina, bathing beach, motel, swimming pool on the tract, and in addition would bring in an industrial plant.

He gave no further details, however. Six Months Mr. Bahrs said it would take about six months to work out specific plans, and asked that council give him an option on the property for that period of time.

Council decided not to option the tract at this time, in light of the fact that another firm, Cary Chemicals, Inc., East Brunswick, has offered to build a $9 million plastic plant at the site, providing a deepwater channel can be dredged in the bay.

All members of the governing body agreed that both offers must be carefully scrutinized to determine "what would be best for the borough as a whole."

Both Councilman William J. Langan and Mayor Harvey C. Eriksen, who are leaders of opposing factions, suggested that meetings be arranged immediately with Cary and Bahrs "to get more detailed plans from both concerns" thus enabling council to compare the two proposals from the standpoint of potential rates and other factors.

No Dollar Estimate Mr. Bahrs did not provide an estimate from a reliable standpoint, or state whether his proposal would also require dredging of a channel.

The Cary proposal would require only 100 acres of the tract, leaving the borough with 34 acres for other development.

Last year Mr. Bahrs proposed to build a marina on the Point, but did not follow through with the project.

Earlier this month, the Planning Board authorized preparation of an ordinance for consideration as to whether to rezone the Point for industry — as a result of the Cary offer.

Halt Rezoning? What will be done about this in light of the new Bahrs offer — is a matter of speculation. The board is expected to discuss the situation at a conference meeting Tuesday night, and may very well postpone the ordinance preparation until more details are obtained from both firms.

In other council business last night, a salary ordinance was introduced, as follows: List Salaries Clerk, $4,750; collector, $3,550; treasurer, $500; assessor, $1,200; engineer, $1,000 retainer plus fees; attorney, $2,000 retainer plus fees; water and road superintendent, $6,330; assistant water and road superintendent $4,725; clerk bookkeeper, $3,885; clerk typist, $3,255; welfare director, $700; magistrate, $1,950; court clerk, $1,050; building inspector, $600; plumbing inspector, $450; sanitary inspector, $600; police chief, $5,470; patrolmen, from $4,000 to $4,500, and road workers, from $1.75 to $1.90 per hour.

The salaries represent average increases of 5 per cent, in most cases. Public hearing will be July 13.

New Jersey News Briefs

By The Associated Press

JERSEY CITY — Former Hudson County Judge Thomas H. Brown has been awarded a yearly pension of $7,500 by the County Board of Freeholders. By its action yesterday, the board made Brown the first recipient of a pension under a special law passed by the state legislature and signed by Gov. Robert B. Meyner this year. The law provides that a candidate for a pension must be at least 75 years old. He must have been employed by a New Jersey county for 20 years and served as a judge for 15 of them. The law says that even if a candidate satisfies the conditions, the freeholders don't have to grant the pension. Brown, who lives at 23 Marine Pl., Deal, retired from county service in 1934.

JERSEY CITY — Residents of the Marion section have met to discuss ways of relieving racial tensions between the occupants of a housing project and surrounding neighborhood. The area was the scene of a street brawl Tuesday night during which two officers were stabbed. Patrolman Leo Callo, 29, was treated for a knife wound of the arm and released.

CHICAGO (AP)—Rather unseasonable coolness and widespread showers again dominated the weather picture in most of the northern and eastern sections of the nation today.

The principal shower band stretched across the Great Lakes region, the Ohio Valley and the New England states. Isolated showers were reported in the Texas Panhandle and in central Florida, but rain accumulation was light.

Scattered showers also fell over the Great Lakes and in Upper New England, Illinois and lower Michigan.

The Weather Bureau said a warming trend was on the way for most of the nation, but the early morning readings at Duluth, Minn., and Marquette, Mich., were 45. The coolest temperatures were mainly in the north section of the Great Lakes with the warm 90s and 100s noted in the southwest. Needles, Calif., reported 102 degrees.

In the South and the plateau region readings mostly were in the 70s and 80s.

School (Continued) The $850,000 proposal is the result of two defeats of a "pay-as-you-go" proposal earlier this year.

Because that proposal was turned down by the voters, the state sanctioned a bond issue. The issue will be for a 10-year period.

School officials said last night that construction bids will be received in the "very near future," as soon as specifications can be drawn up, and building started immediately thereafter.

Clear Youths Of Charges Of Vandalism

MIDDLETOWN — Two youths were cleared yesterday by Magistrate W. Gilbert Manson of charges of aiding and abetting in the damaging of a local high school teacher's car on May 23. Earlier this month, two other youths were given 90-day suspended jail sentences and put on a strict curfew by the magistrate for their part in the incident.

Charges were dismissed yesterday against James Kerrigan, 18, of Maplewood Ave., Leonardo, and George Ulaswich, 18, of Poricy La, River Plaza.

Magistrate W. Gilbert Manson dismissed the charges when no evidence was presented to show that the pair had in any way aided in the act of damaging the car of Robert Hughes, Nutswamp Rd., River Plaza.

The two other youths involved in the case are Alvah Jackson, 19, of 21 Walling Pl., East Keansburg, and Jack Preston, 18, Red Hill Rd.

Jackson testified yesterday that he threw a rock through the windshield of the car.

The Preston youth testified that he also threw a rock at the car. Both testified that to their knowledge, the other youths did not do any damage to the car.

Mr. Hughes testified that the damage to his car came to $211 plus $78 for use of another car while his car was being repaired. He said he saw three youths at the time of the incident, but could only identify Jackson.

Both Jackson and Preston also testified that Mr. Hughes shot at them with an air rifle after they threw the rocks at the car and fled.

Neither of them said they were struck by the pellets from the gun.

Jackson had told police that Kerrigan and Ulaswich were involved in the incident, Police Chief Earl N. Hoyer said.

The incident stemmed from Mr. Hughes sending Jackson out of a class for disciplinary reasons, police said.

In other cases, Mrs. Lillian Whiting, Manning St., River Plaza, was fined $10 for assault on her daughter-in-law during a dispute June 15.

Magistrate Manson reserved decision on a drunk driving charge lodged against John H. Kennelly, Jersey City.

Mr. Kennelly was arrested May 13 on Rt. 36 by Patrolman Albert Cook. He was examined by Dr. Marc Krohn, township physician, who ruled him under the influence of alcohol.

Mr. Kennelly testified that his car got a flat tire on Rt. 36 and that he got tired of waiting for a repair truck and drank some beer he had in the car.

George E. Ostrov, local attorney, represented Mr. Kennelly. William Siff, Millhurst Rd., Freehold, was ordered held under $500 bail for action of the Grand Jury on a charge of issuing two bad checks.

According to police, Mr. Siff allegedly issued bad checks for $48 and $256 to the Crown Tire Exchange, Rt. 36.

Robert Lee, 68 Union Ave., Belford, was fined $200 for assaulting John Appanel, Monmouth Ave., Fort Monmouth, on June 18.

Herbert Hunter, 953 Rt. 35, was fined $20 for assaulting his wife June 21.

Successful Investing Monthly Investor Building His Own Fine Mutual Fund

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—"I have been investing in common stocks via the monthly investment plan but am beginning to feel that I don't know enough about the market to continue this way. Would I do better in a mutual fund? What is your opinion of my present holdings which include Texaco, Heinz, Kimberly-Clark, and CIT Financial?" B.S.

A—The monthly investment plan, offered by the New York Stock Exchange, is one of the best ways I know of for the ordinary investor to acquire a good list of stocks. By paying a fixed sum each month, you are in effect "dollar averaging," and you protect yourself against putting all your funds in the market during a period of peak prices. However, the benefits of the plan are not fully realized unless you stick to it—regardless of market conditions—over a fairly long period. For a man who doesn't know much about the market, you have done all right for yourself. You've begun with conservative, high quality stocks, for all of which I have a high regard. You now have the nucleus of a pretty good little mutual fund of your own. Don't become impatient. You have made a very good start.

stock is subject to wide fluctuation, and on further recovery you would probably be better off with a more stable situation such as Pfizer (NYSE). Midland-Ross (NYSE) is a diversified firm which has shown little progress in recent years. I suggest that you switch this stock into ACF-Wrigley Stores (NYSE), a popular food chain which I feel has much better growth prospects. (Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but answer all questions possible in his column.)

Pick Allen to Unite Area's Radio 'Hams'

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. — Selection of John Allen, 51 Elm Pl., Red Bank, N. J., to organize a group of amateur radio operators in Monmouth County, N. J., who will be responsible for emergency communications in times of disaster, was announced here by the American Radio Relay League. F. E. Handy, communications manager of the league, said Mr. Allen has been assigned as an emergency co-ordinator by the National Association of Radio Amateurs. Mr. Allen operates Station WA2KRJ. In his assignment, Mr. Allen will bring together experienced operators within Monmouth County, carry out regular drills, establish operating procedures and establish liaison with officials of the Office of Civil Defense and Disaster Control, the police and fire departments, the American Red Cross and other agencies. The plan is to perfect arrangements for emergency radio communications by "ham" operators using both commercially powered and self-powered transmitters and receivers. The group is expected to stand ready to offer full assistance in any time of need, such as natural disasters or other catastrophes. When such events occur, said Mr. Handy, "it is amateur radio that comes to the rescue... often as the sole facility able to transmit messages calling on the outside world for aid." Beyond the local areas, he said, amateurs "must be prepared to act as outlets and relay points for emergency traffic." He said all this requires much planning and organization and that this is the duty to which Mr. Allen has been assigned.

Weekly Food Review

Shoppers who stick to the specials this week-end may come up with a main course that includes turkey or leg of lamb with potatoes and snap beans.

The appetizer might include cantaloupe, the salad iceberg lettuce and the dessert a fruit such as peaches, strawberries or blueberries.

Aside from regional variations, these are some of the items that dominate supermarket advertisements this week.

Other good buys include fried scallops in New England, fryers in the Middle Atlantic area, standing ribs of beef and pork in the Midwest and ground beef and cube steaks on the West Coast.

As an example of the drop in leg of lamb prices from a year ago, one chain of New York metropolitan area stores offer the cut at 49 cents a pound (oven-ready 55 cents), down from 69 cents (77 oven-ready) in the comparable week of 1960.

Trade sources say housewives—already paying less for many kinds of meat this year—probably will find certain cuts going even lower in the months ahead.

Chicago livestock men and packers predict production of beef, pork, lamb, veal and poultry for the remainder of 1961 will show an increase of about 8 per cent over the comparable 1960 period.

Poultry, however, may have reached so low a price that production could turn downward and, as a result, prices upward.

Pork bargains this week are mostly in loins which were reported down as much as 20 cents a pound from a week ago in some Midwest areas. Smoked shoulders are also featured by some stores.

Fresh vegetables carefully chosen can produce bargains. Considered best buys are turnip tops, snap beans, cabbage, iceberg lettuce, Eastern potatoes and radishes.

Good buys include asparagus, beets, celery, escarole and endive. Western lettuce, mushrooms, peppers, Maine and California potatoes, watermelon, parsley and corn.

Government sources say corn, however, seems to be pricing itself out of the good buys.

Joining strawberries, peaches and blueberries among the best fruit buys are bananas, mangoes, oranges, limes and lemons.

Fairly expensive this week are avocados, apricots, cherries, grapes, nectarines and raspberries.

Job Picture Is Brighter

TRENTON (AP)—Students and migrants will have the best chance in several years to find summer employment this year, the director of the N. J. Employment Security Division said yesterday.

Director Frank T. Judge made the prediction despite his previous announcement that the pickup in jobs for May was not as large as anticipated. Unemployment was 185,200 at the end of May. Judge said unseasonal weather conditions slowed the pickup, along with decreased activity in apparel and shipbuilding lines.

On the optimistic side, Judge also said that May was the first month in 1960 where long-term unemployment showed a decline. Only two areas of the state didn't follow the pattern of declining unemployment—Jersey City, which had an increase of 2,100, and Paterson, which showed no change. The Newark and Atlantic City areas had the best employment gains of 2,000 and 1,500 respectively.

Judge said "in June, labor demand will continue upward at a much faster pace than experienced either in April or May. Occupational skills most in demand will be carpenter, bricklayer, painter, pipe fitter, electrician, sewing machine operator, hand presser, machine presser, sales clerk, cook, waitress and harvest hand."

An Informed Citizenry

The citizens who attended the public hearing on Eatontown's master plan Monday (June 19) deserve praise.

Their presence alone was laudable; as Mayor Herbert E. Werner pointed out, the only way the full benefit of a master plan can be obtained is by participation of all segments of the population.

These 40 citizens, however, did more than just show up. Their questions and comments showed they had given thoughtful and careful study to the master plan and its proposals.

Their keen questioning brought out much useful information. Both opponents and proponents of the plan took a moderate tone. There was a heartening atmosphere there of people working together and thinking together for the good of their homes and their community. The proposed master plan is the product of years of patient work by the Planning Board. It was apparent at the hearing that the board has done a fine job of keeping borough residents informed on aspects of planning.

It was also apparent that those citizens who came to the hearing had given the information on the master plan the serious attention it deserves. An informed citizenry is the basis of a democratic society.

Simply making information available to people does not, alone, make them informed people, however.

An informed citizenry can be created only by the citizens themselves and their efforts to read, listen, inquire and think.

Wherever a group of informed and thoughtful people is found discussing civic problems, as in Eatontown Monday night, then that community may hold high hopes for its own future.

Paint on the Tower

Does persistence pay?

If you ask the Red Bank Mayor and Council, a yes answer is certain to come forth.

It has been a long time since the governing body has tried to have the New York & Long Branch Railroad paint the gateman's tower at Bridge Ave. and Monmouth St.

Letters went to the railroad—and back came letters giving no definite answer.

But at Monday night's council meeting came the good word from the president of the railroad himself, Earl T. Moore, telling that the work would be done "during the latter part of the month."

We do not know what color the tower will be—but it really does not make any difference, we guess. Anything will be an improvement.

These Days:

The President's Dilemma

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Those who expect the President to act like a conservative Republican are asking too much from a Democrat with Fabian Socialist leanings. On the other hand, the Democrats who believe that President Kennedy will carry forward the ailing program of Harry Hopkins are also mistaken, for as idealistic as John Kennedy may seem to be, he comes of hard-headed practical stock.

Those who assumed that the President would be a figurehead under the captainship of his father, Joe Kennedy, misunderstand any father-son relationship. No matter how wise a father may be, a son naturally is a product of his own generation and will sooner or later go his own way. The Kennedy family is extraordinarily talented and close-knit and while it is interesting to note the loyalty of one member for another, it is not to be expected that they will all have the same viewpoint. Age, experience, temperament will affect them as every body else in this very complex world.

John Kennedy is likely to be an altogether different man in 1964 from what he was in 1960. Four years in the White House at a climactic period will not only influence his attitude but he is still young enough to grow intellectually as well as emotionally. He is not likely to become so set in his ways that he cannot adjust to the facts which confront him.

Case In Point Vienna is a case in point. He went to Vienna without a program on an exploratory visit with Khrushchev. He was undoubtedly advised that this was a smart thing to do by the negative-minded eggheads who may be specialists in particular fields but who lack imagination and far-sightedness. Vienna was a failure for John Kennedy in that Khrushchev used it to belittle him, but it was a success from the standpoint that Kennedy has learned that he cannot deal with Khrushchev by any standards with which he is familiar. Khrushchev is a liar, not diplomatically as Talleyrand might have been, but overt and direct.

Khrushchev is brutal and no conversation between him and anyone can be confidential because he regards the refinements of international relations as bourgeois absurdities like a white tie or patent leather shoes. Kennedy had to learn this for himself, apparently. He could have known it from Nixon's experience, from Hammarskjold's experience. But he wanted to see whether he could not succeed where others failed. Now he knows.

This was a costly search for knowledge, but it is worth the price if the President has learned who misled him concerning Cuba, Laos, and Vienna. Or if he was not misled, if he pursued his own course, he now knows from experience that he could not deal with Khrushchev; that communication with a Communist requires not only a different language but that the moral responsibilities of men are on a different basis in West and East.

An Advantage To have learned that early in his career will prove to be a great advantage to Kennedy. It will make him more suspicious and more cautious and he will observe who in his entourage seeks to lead him into a position which will destroy him politically and bring shame upon his country. It is likely that those who are responsible for the Vienna fiasco will not last long in this administration, although it is often difficult to fire men from important positions without losing face or developing a political scandal.

The President's dilemma now is how far he can move away from those who joined his campaign without political offense; how far will practical experience drive him from the ideological positions which he had accepted as correct during the years when he was a senator. He will have to reach a decision soon or his administration will suffer from indecision and if he decides on a firm policy, he will have to let those men go who cannot be trusted to carry forward a policy from strength.

John Kennedy unfortunately does not have too long to reach a decision. As Gen. MacArthur said to him: "The chickens have come home to roost" and he is in charge of the chicken house. Abraham Lincoln and Herbert Hoover were on the same spot almost as soon as they were elected to the presidency. They were elected at a climactic moment. So was John Kennedy.

TREES MAKE COMEBACK BOSTON (AP) — Forests have staged a comeback in densely populated industrial Massachusetts. By 1850, only about 30 per cent of the state's 5 million acres were still covered with forests. Trees began their march back as agriculture retreated with the opening of the West. The latest survey shows trees cover 65 per cent of the area of the state.

THE REAL SUMMIT!

Your Money's Worth:

To Tell the Truth

By SYLVIA PORTER

If President Eisenhower had been compelled by law to tell the nation in the spring-summer of 1960 that our economy was flashing signals of distress, the 1960 recession almost surely would not have spread as much as it did and hurt as many Americans as it did.

PORTER

For if Eisenhower had said in public at that time what was being said in private by informed sources in his own office as well as by alert leaders of business and labor the nation over, powerful pressures would have been set in motion to moderate and shorten the decline. Congress would have passed acceptable legislation long ago to aid our depressed areas and our long-term unemployed. Spending programs to make needed jobs and paychecks would have gone into operation a year ago. It's more than likely that short-range tax cuts to spur spending by consumers and investment by businessmen would have been put into effect—in the early stages of the 1960 recession.

But President Eisenhower did not acknowledge that our economy had slid into a recession right up to and through election day—and no law said he had to. Congress adjourned in the summer without having passed any important anti-slump legislation. Even after the recession had become unmistakably clear, the President's chief economic adviser declared that it was "bad" to talk about it—a "Papa Knows Best" attitude that was an insult to our intelligence and common sense.

Anti-recession steps were taken, yes—but not because Eisenhower asserted his leadership. The "stabilizers" already built into our economy went to work to prop incomes automatically; the Federal Reserve System on its own acted aggressively to ease credit to encourage borrowing; various government agencies accelerated spending via the "backdoor." As a result the 1960-61 recession turned out to be among the mildest of the post-World War II period—but it could have been even milder.

What makes this recent history newsworthy today is that a key proposal of the Commission on Money and Credit in its exhaustive report on our financial structure released this week would force future Presidents of the United States to do what Eisenhower didn't. Under the recommendation, the 1946 Employment Act would be amended to compel the President "to take a public position" and make specific moves when the economic indicators telegraphed "failures in the economy."

Just the fact that the President had to take a public stand would be, the CMC wisely concludes, a "political liability strong enough to induce him to exert himself to avoid it"—meaning to impel the President to try to moderate unfavorable trends before they reached the point where the law would force him to admit things had gone wrong.

In simplest outline, here is what the CMC proposes:

- 1. When the economic indicators flashed emerging trouble (it could be inflation or deflation but to keep this simple, let's restrict this outline to deflation), the President would have to issue a statement saying conditions were unfavorable and explaining the "factors in the economy contributing to the unfavorable tendency."
2. He would have to list the steps being taken by him and government agencies—including the Federal Reserve System—to improve the situation and explain seeming inconsistencies in any actions being taken.
3. He would have to recommend "any congressional action he deems desirable"—a vital directive which would strengthen his hand and enhance his authority.
4. "So long as the unfavorable tendency prevails," the President would have to issue these statements at least every quarter and make appropriate recommendations for action.

This proposal would put pressure on a weak President to act and would help a strong President to get action.

We are on the threshold of another breakthrough in control of depressions and inflations—and in this new phase, our President should have sharpened responsibilities which he cannot duck.

KNOW YOUR GOVERNMENT

Prepared by N. J. Taxpayers Association, 143 E. State St., Trenton 8, N. J.

TOGETHERNESS

Effects of New Jersey's population "explosion" and its residential, business and industrial growth are stimulating talk of municipal mergers, or at least the sharing of governmental services by adjoining municipalities in the interest of economy.

Mergers among its municipalities or annexations of adjoining territory have not been popular in the past in New Jersey. However, informal discussions recently have focused attention upon the question in a number of areas as municipal officials and citizens, perturbed over mounting tax bills, seek ways of reducing local government costs.

This has been particularly true, points out the New Jersey Taxpayers Association, where urbanization has jumped across "city limits" into adjoining townships. Rather than separating "town" from "country," these municipal boundary lines have become obscured and notable principally as the points at which services of one governmental unit end and those of another begin—frequently with duplication of manpower, equipment and costs.

Advantages

Advantages of crossing artificial boundary lines to extend mutually-needed police, fire, education, sanitation and other services on a collective basis were cited recently by Col. John M. Fasoli, of Bound Brook, active in local and state civic affairs. In a talk before Somerville area leaders, he suggested that municipalities could benefit through area-wide co-operation to provide some services on a joint basis.

"The avoidance of duplication, improvement of quality and quantity of service which would result, would be well worth our efforts to say nothing of the taxes we could do without," he declared. He suggested that if abolition of town boundaries, with election of district representatives to a common council, was "too bold" a step, that these municipalities instead could increase services by "contracting to provide for each other."

He concluded: "Citizens of our towns must meet the community challenge of the day by crossing boundary line barriers, sitting down with each other, spotting their problems and needs for services, then working out their solution in spite of the boundary line, co-operatively and constructively."

HAS OWN FIRE TRUCK

HOPATCONG, N. J. (AP) — Richard Saffin, a veteran financier, has spent $500 on an item which he hopes he never has to use. Saffin spent the money on a 1958 fire truck which Denville Township was replacing. It will be used to keep brush fires on Saffin's 1,200-acre estate under control until firemen arrive.

Saffin, senior partner in the New York investment firm of Boland, Saffin, Gordon & Sautter, says he is "deathly afraid" of brush fire. He said five years ago a brush fire flared out of control and burned for a week. Saffin says that despite the speed of firemen, "once a fire gets started, it's hard to put out."

HEAVY DEPOSIT

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — John C. Seidler, a William and Mary sophomore, wheeled his deposit into a bank in a trash can carrier — 20,070 pennies weighing 135 pounds. He thereby won a bet from a friend at Massachusetts Institute of Technology who wagered he couldn't fill a five-gallon bottle with pennies from spare change and a part-time job before the summer vacation.

JIM BISHOP: Reporter The 'Little Owl'

They retired George Joannides—the little owl of the New York Police Department—a few days ago. He had put in 35 years, but he didn't look it. He is a neat alert man, blinking wisely behind shell glasses and he wears a pearl gray fedora with the brim up.

His last assignment was out of the 20th Squad on West 68th St., which embraces the piers, the elegant decay of Riverside Dr., the jungles of Amsterdam Ave. and the switchblade sector of Central Park. His partner was Dan Fogarty. Dan is big; George is small. They drove a small inconspicuous car over the rutty snows of winter and down the high canyons blistering with the heat of summer.

Like all policemen, this team made its good hits, and its misses. They pulled no miracles and put their faith in hard work. I went out with them on a night tour one winter evening and Dan Fogarty stopped in two drugstores to buy nipples.

Joannides shook his head sadly: "He's always buying nipples," he said. "His kids have to use a special kind, I guess." They made a stop on 72nd, near the Drive. A stout European woman met them on the eighth floor. She had been robbed of a ring with a two karat diamond.

George went through the bedroom, where the jewelry was, with his hands clasped behind his back. He touched nothing. Dan examined all the windows and the two doors. The woman stood wringing her hands. Fogarty went out in the hall and locked the door. He took a stiff piece of celluloid out of his pocket and opened the door by sliding it down the crack.

'Considerate'

"You need a better lock than this," he said. Joannides came out of the bedroom. "The considerate burglar," he said. The considerate burglar had been operating on the west side. He disturbed nothing, and always took but one item of jewelry out of a box. He left the others, hoping the one ring would not be missed for a day or two.

This gave him getaway time. George made notes, talked to the woman, and left. Fogarty reported the case in to the 20th, and an alarm went out. They knew the man they wanted.

The second stop was a bar off Broadway. They double-parked and went inside. It was a dim place with a juke box and some booths. The detectives worked fast. Fogarty beckoned a girl in lavender toreador pants into a booth. Joannides, hands clasped behind under his topcoat, nodded to a Greek chef and walked back into the kitchen.

The chef had been behind the bar at 8 a.m. He was washing glasses. The girl in the toreador pants had knocked on the glass door. The Greek asked what she wanted. A glass of water, she said. The chef unlocked the door and gave her the water.

A few minutes later, a young man had come through the glass door with a gun. He had waved it at the chef and asked him for the money in the till. The girl had stifled a scream with her hand.

George Joannides left the chef in the kitchen. He came out and nodded to Fogarty. Dan left the girl, and the two men conferred on the stories they were getting. It was a Mutt and Jeff picture. They nodded and George went back to the kitchen and asked the chef to come with him to the 20th Detective Squad. The chef looked sad. He took his apron off and folded it.

Worked Together

Dan told the girl he was bringing her in. She started to cry. It was an old story and the detectives filled in the missing parts as they left for the car. The girl worked with the holdup man. They worked bars in the early morning. The girl looked sexy and, when she saw a man alone behind a bar, she asked for water.

A holdup always followed. The chef heard the story and shook his head. He admitted that, after he gave the girl the glass of water, he had made advances. Then the young man had come in with the gun. The lesson had cost the Greek $145.

The girl said that her boy friend told her to stay around the bar. In that way, she could tell him how the police were doing. He was, in fact, waiting for her in their apartment now. An alarm went out for him.

Joannides and Fogarty put their prisoners in the car and George turned the key in the lock. The car wouldn't move. A priest stepped off the curb, looked in and growled: "You going some place?" George Joannides tried to be sociable. "Back to the squad room, father," he said pleasantly. "If I can get this crate started."

"You'll have to try another automobile," the priest said. "This one is mine." It was Fogarty laughed until his eyes were moist. George kept mumbling: "It looks just like ours, and how come he's double-parked?"

They retired the little owl of the New York Police Department a few days ago. Somewhere a young patrolman has been given a new detective's shield. He's going to need a lot of experience to become another Joannides . . .

Favors Public Beach in County

FREEHOLD — One of the great laments of the County Board of Freeholders is the lack of a county-owned ocean bathing beach. Freeholder Director Joseph C. Irwin said Wednesday.

Such a beach, to be available without charge to county bathers, would be further justification for the large amounts of money the county spends annually for beach protection all along the coast, he said.

Mr. Irwin declared that use of public funds to safeguard private property is legal as long as the improvement also benefits public property "directly or indirectly." But there would be greater justification, he added, if the county actually had its own beach facilities for public use.

The director said the county has not yet given up on its hopes of obtaining a strip of beach on Sandy Hook from the U. S. government.

PAROLE DUE
TRENTON — A Middletown man sentenced to serve two to five years for manslaughter will be released from prison shortly, the state Parole Board has announced. Sam Collins of Middletown will be paroled after serving a term beginning Jan. 29, 1960.

Half Staff Flags Asked For Kuhn

RUMSON — Borough flags will fly at half staff today in memory of George R. Kuhn, who died Monday.

Services will be held in the Worden Funeral Home, Red Bank, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Kuhn was a councilman here for nine years in the 1930's. Until his death at the age of 84, he was the oldest member of the Oceanic Hook and Ladder Co., which he had served since 1899.

Borough Council last night observed a moment of silence after voting to lower flags in Mr. Kuhn's memory today.

Asking Bids For Bulkheads

RUMSON — Borough Council last night approved specifications for new bulkheads at Grant and Lincoln Aves., and called bids to be opened at its meeting July 13.

A total of 130 feet of new bulkheading will be required at the two locations. Council also confirmed Roderick Maine as a police patrolman. He has completed his probationary service.

Renewed were liquor licenses for one club, three package stores and 10 taverns, one of which has "broad package privileges."

A minor subdivision was approved for Anastasia and George M. Kircher, Bingham Ave., to straighten a lot line, and sell a section of the property to a neighbor.

"ASTRO-GUIDE" By Ceean

For Sunday, June 25

Present—For You and Yours . . . Thoughts may turn to the past and nostalgic memories move you to call on old friends or neighbors. Take time to read the newspapers, listen to the radio, talk with people. Learn more about the world around you. Newspaper ads will also interest you as you'll be able to locate something for which you've been searching.

Past . . . Fingers indeed came before forks. It was only 331 years ago (June 25, 1630) that Governor John Winthrop introduced the table fork to America, bringing it to Massachusetts in a leather case with a bodkin and a knife.

Future . . . We doubt that it will catch on, but a "blur-rite" key will be offered to be added to the regular keyboard of a typewriter. When you aren't sure of the next letter in a word, you'll push the special key and it will type a neat (?) blur!

News of Religion:

The Gnostic Sect

By WILTON WYNN

CAIRO (AP) — An ancient Egyptian religious sect believed that if the rib had stayed inside Adam's chest, mankind would have been spared a lot of misery. This sect believed that so long as the woman was inside Adam's chest, there was no death and the world was a paradise. But separation of woman from man was one of the "mistakes" in a bad job of creation that brought no end of trouble to the world. The primitive people who held these ideas were known as "Gnostics" and were considered heretics by other early Christians. Scholars have discovered the theorizing about Adam's rib in Gnostic "gospels" found 13 years ago in a monastery near Nag Hammadi in upper Egypt but only now being fully studied. There are hints in these writings that suggest the Gnostics may have practiced ceremonial mysticism and perhaps engaged in mysterious sexual rites. These writings are in the Coptic (Old Egyptian) language, and scholars consider them among the most important historical finds in many years. Most of the writings are now in the Coptic museum in Old Cairo. Dr. Pahor Labib, director of the museum, says publication of "Jesus said: When you strip off your clothing without being ashamed, and take your garments and put them under your feet . . . then you will see the son of the living one and you will not fear."

The "It Started With Eve" theory is found in the Gospel of Thomas which implies that a woman cannot enter the Kingdom of Heaven until she becomes like a man.

Translation

This idea is reflected in a section translated for the Associated Press by Dr. Labib: "Simon Peter said to them: Let Mary go out from us, because the women are not worthy of the life."

"Jesus said: Behold, I shall lead her, that I make her a male; so that she also may be a living spirit, resembling you males. For every woman who becomes male, she will enter the Kingdom of Heaven."

Filson notes that the creation of woman from man was considered the "fall," and not the Biblical version of eating the forbidden fruit. The Gospel of Philip records that "He who created (the world) intended to create it so that it would be incorruptible and immortal. He failed and did not achieve what he had hoped."

The mistake of creating a woman from Adam's rib was a big part of the shortcomings of creation, according to the Philip document.

Filson writes that in old Gnostic traditions Philip was the apostle charged with writing down Jesus' sayings and recording his deeds. The manuscripts found at Nag Hammadi date back to the fourth century, AD, but they appear to be copies of Greek originals which may have been written as early as the second century. The sect itself became extinct in the early Christian era.

Today's Business Mirror:

Savings Grow Fatter

NEW YORK (AP)—Individual savings are getting fatter. And merchants are getting restive. Retail sales have risen slightly in recent days after barely holding even with last year through most of 1961 so far. But total savings have risen much faster—at a greater rate, in fact, than any time since the 1958 recession. People have the money—and many are holding onto it.

Something has to give, the merchants figure. And when the consumer starts buying again in his old free-wheeling way, the recovery now centered largely in manufacturing will be confirmed. Even more reassuring to the retailers, especially those handling durable goods, will be the time when consumers return to the good old American way and the volume of new installment debt starts to swell.

But when? Some count on summer weather to soften up the buying instincts. Others think that the real recovery will follow Labor Day, when vacation expenses are out of the way, and jobs may be more plentiful and seem safer.

DAWSON
If you doubt that savings have been increasing, because your own haven't or may have shrunk, here's the official figures of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

It says they went up by $5 billion in the first three months of 1961, or $1.8 billion more than in the like period a year ago. Since then the various recipients of individual savings—banks, savings and loan associations, insurance companies and mutual funds—report the trend has continued.

Some retailers thought sales of big ticket items were sticky because people were putting their money into the stock market. But the SEC says that except for investment in mutual funds and U.S. savings bonds the holdings of securities dropped by $1.1 billion.

Sale of Stocks
Brokers also have noted that in recent weeks holders of small amounts of stock have been selling rather than buying, leaving much of the stock market support to the institutional investors.

Both the saving and the buying patterns have varied widely across the nation, as economic patterns often do.

Areas which felt the recession in industry most have naturally seen the biggest drop in retail sales, and the greatest inclination among those with disposable incomes to pay off their debts, eschew new ones, and save what they could lest they, too, be caught in the unemployment wave.

Many merchants are now reporting that with lengthening work weeks retail sales have revived. But the pickup often has been in soft goods.

As bad weather released its hold, gains in sales of such durable goods as autos have been reported.

Vacation resorts in this country are reported optimistic of a big summer season, based on increased reservations. But so far, reservations for overseas vacation travel have been trailing a year ago.

Incomes Rise
That the total of individual incomes is rising isn't disputed. It is profiting from rising employment, longer work weeks, increased wage scales in many industries. The total in May was at a record annual rate of $413.7 billion. Retail sales, however, trailed the year ago figure.

The switch from saving more of those incomes to spending more of them is yet to show up in the statistics—or in many scores, for that matter.

SEC's Report
If you doubt that savings have

Religion Today

Buddhism's New Vigor

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press

Buddhism, for centuries a passive religious giant, is stirring today with new vigor. It has captured wider interest in this country.

And in the Far East, it is raising increased challenges to Christianity, yet strangely, many of the modernized Buddhist ways appear modeled on Christian patterns.

"They've been stimulated by the Christian example," says Rev. Dr. Wallace C. Merwin, head of Far East foreign missions for the National Council of Churches. "Nationalism also has been a decided factor in the resurgence."

Although Buddhism traditionally has shrugged off worldly affairs as unimportant, it now displays a mounting concern. The emphasis on aloof, placid meditation is now coupled with a call for diligence and deeds.

"Buddhism has developed a much more aggressive policy, particularly in Southeast Asia," said Olivier Beguin, of London, general secretary of United Bible Societies, recently returned from a study tour of the Orient.

"In some sectors, it has taken fare services for the poor, promotional literature, social-action programs—a change from the older tendency to renounce mundane matters.

In some of its branches, notably in this country and Japan, it has acquired other Christian-type approaches unused before—pulpit preaching, congressional meetings, hymn-singing, "followship" hours, Sunday schools, youth groups and camps.

CANVAS awnings

ENJOY ROOMS FROM 8 TO 15 DEGREES COOLER WITH OR WITHOUT AIR CONDITIONING, FANS, OR BLINDS

Once summer heat gets inside your home, it takes more equipment, more money to reduce room temperature. Air conditioning units work harder at greater expense... fans going full speed circulate warm air... and window blinds, while eliminating sun glare, allow sun heat to come on through.

The smart thing to do is to keep those sun rays outside. Stop them with canvas awnings before they enter your home. By screening out 75% of the sun's rays, rooms stay degrees cooler, interiors fresh and unfaded. Order your canvas awnings now and enjoy cool summer living. Call for a salesman to come by, or pay us a visit and see our wide selection of colors, fabrics, and awning designs.

Adlai to Report To President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson reports to President Kennedy today that economic and social unrest are on the march in South America.

Stevenson will temper this sober note with the observation, however, that increasing "official awareness of the needs for economic and social reform and progress" and the growing menace of communism.

Kennedy sent the U. N. Ambassador on a whirlwind tour of all 10 South American countries to get a sounding on the administration's alliance for progress program. Stevenson's mission also was to find out what kind of reception the Communist-oriented Castro regime in Cuba was getting.

"We found a tremendous interest and hope in the alliance for progress," Stevenson said on his arrival last night in Washington. "The conviction is universal that more rapid social and economic development is imperative."

And, on communism, Stevenson said: "If there was any idea that communism in Cuba is only a problem for the United States, I believe we dispelled this illusion."

Stevenson said he found meager support for the Cuban prime minister but "a broad feeling for social reform."

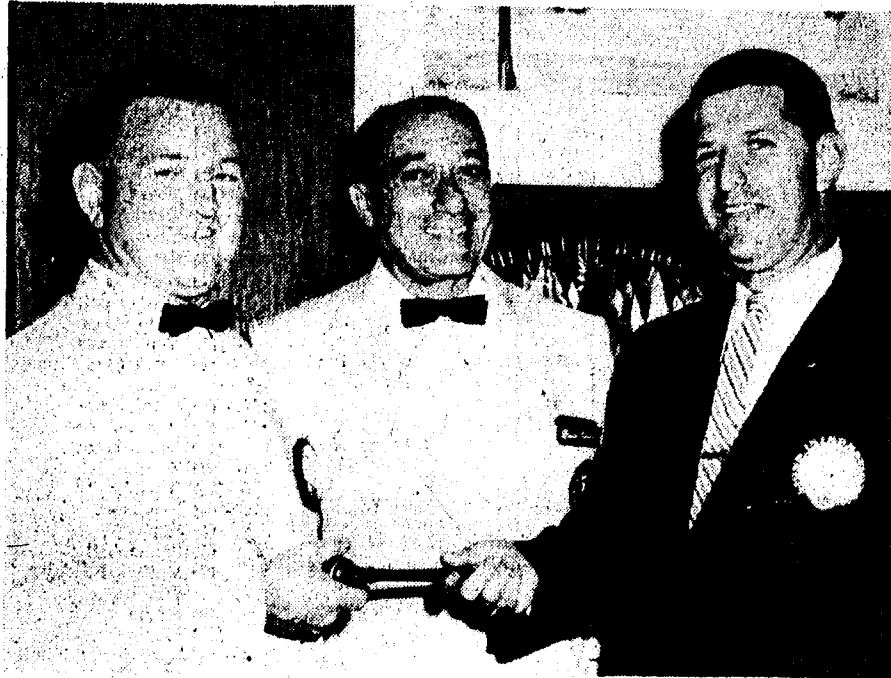

Earlier, in a brief stopover in Puerto Rico, Stevenson said the economic and social situation in Latin America had deteriorated since his long journey south of the border last year.

"The poor and hungry man, awakening to the knowledge of a better life, will not stand back and wait forever," Stevenson remarked.

The ambassador said he would withhold details of his report to Kennedy until he saw him this morning.

Sense of Urgency

"But," Stevenson added, "I can say now that I will tell him there is a growing sense of urgency in South America—a feeling that free men must find a way to develop more quickly the enormous human and material resources of our hemisphere, and to see that the benefits of that development accrue to the ordinary man."

Long Branch Parade Set

LONG BRANCH — More than 1,000 persons are expected to march and 75 pieces of apparatus—pumpers, trucks, ambulances and rescue wagons—to roll in the 1961 parade of the Long Branch Fire Department tomorrow, starting at 3:30 p.m.

The parade, for which Mayor Paul Kiernan will be one of the grand marshals, will follow a morning program of competition in fire fighting arts by various Monmouth County companies in the Long Branch Stadium. These events will open at 9 a.m.

Marchers and equipment will assemble at the intersection of Broadway and Oakwood Ave., and proceed along Broadway to Second Ave., turning right and continuing to Chelsea Ave. There will be left turns there and at Ocean Ave. As the parade makes its way to the stadium, music will be by 10 or more bands.

Refreshments will be served at the stadium.

Irvin (Bob) Miller, general chairman, said that "represented will be every volunteer fire company in Monmouth County as well as a few from adjacent counties."

First aid squads and fire auxiliaries from the area also will send in units and equipment.

County-wide Parade

This will be the first county-wide parade of this kind held in this city in more than 10 years. Mr. Miller estimated it will take at least two hours for all participants to pass the reviewing stand at Broadway and Third Ave.

Among events for the inter-municipal fire fighters at the stadium in the morning will be competition in hose-laying and ladder-raising. Trophies will be presented for the best times made.

Assisting Mr. Miller will be Lyle Cooper, Melvin Kaplan, Kenneth Yale, Robert Volmer, Carl Blair, Samuel Juliano, Robert Cornell, Harry Vineburg, William P. Beatty, Al Clark, William D. Midgeley, Frank E. Tomaini, J. Webster Lane, Gus Borcher, Harry Wait, George Van Winkel, Jr., Howard Smock, Paul F. White, Allen Griffin, R. Barry Kamm and others.

Judge Sets Decision In Fair Haven Suit

FREEHOLD — Superior Court Judge Gene R. Mariano said yesterday he would render a decision in the suit by a group of Fair Haven residents against Allen Brothers, Fair Haven builders, the week of July 10.

He said the structure would be a principal building and thereby require a 10-foot rear setback.

The structure, he said, has only a five-foot rear setback and no front-yard setback.

William R. Blair, Jr., Fair Haven borough attorney, termed the proposed structure an accessory building and said that as such it conforms with the zoning ordinance.

Robert V. Carton, Asbury Park attorney for Allen Brothers, said he felt that the building permit was valid and that it complies with the borough's ordinance.

Construction was started on July 20, 1959, following the adoption of a revised zoning ordinance the previous May 25.

The proposed building, which is L-shaped, would have a 172-foot wall, eight-feet high, facing on Smith St., a residential area.

In February, 1960, Judge Mariano ruled in favor of the defendants. The case was then appealed to the Appellate Division.

Judge Mariano had ruled that the plaintiffs had not filed suit within the required 45 days, but the Appellate Division sent the suit back to Superior Court to be tried on the basis of the building permit itself—whether it had been voided by the 1959 ordinance of the borough of Fair Haven.

Charges of Arson Bring Indictments

FREEHOLD — The Monmouth County Grand Jury yesterday indicted a Middletown and two Rumson men on charges of arson.

The three were named in indictments that were handed up to Superior Court Judge J. Edward Knight.

Prosecutor Vincent P. Keuper said that Peter W. Hennessey, 19, of 28 Allen St., and Frank McGirr, 21, of 24 Washington St., both Rumson, and John T. Coyle, 19, of Swartz Dr., Middletown, were charged with setting fire to a large storage barn April 9 on the property of Dr. A. J. Pisani, Bellevue Ave., Rumson.

Mr. Keuper said that Hennessey and McGirr are also charged with setting fire to a chicken coop April 2 on the property of Lewis Stern, Rumson Rd., Rumson.

Charles Rommell, 19, of 721 Front St., Union Beach, was indicted on a charge of atrocious assault and battery.

According to the prosecutor, Rommell is charged with attacking his wife Carol, of 50 Osborne St., Keyport, and Warren Hughes, of 902 Fifth St., Union Beach, on May 4 in Union Beach.

Thomas J. Robinson, 35, Eldorado Motel, North Bergen, was indicted on charges of breaking and entering and larceny.

The prosecutor said that Robinson was charged with breaking into the home of Gaetona Parisi, of 262 Broad St., Matawan, on Aug. 24, and stealing articles valued at $250 and, on the same day, taking $5.00 from the home of Joseph Carroll, of 264 Broad St., Matawan.

On Nov. 8, Robinson is charged with breaking into the homes of Michael Morosko, 2 Miriam Pl., and John Pury, 11 Miriam Pl., Matawan, and taking $44 and $40 respectively, according to Mr. Keuper.

Keyport Man

The Grand Jury also indicted Mauro Briscese, 20, of 87 Manchester Ave., Keyport, on a charge of breaking and entering with intent to steal.

According to Prosecutor Keuper Briscese broke into the Field Furniture Co., West Front St., Keyport, on March 12, but he added, nothing was reported stolen.

Frederick W. Walker, 24, of 35 Court St., Freehold, was indicted on a charge of breaking and entering and larceny.

Final Approval Seen Housing Bill Passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today had most of what he asked from Congress in the fields of housing and urban improvements.

The House last night passed a multi-billion dollar bill including all but one of his major recommendations. The Senate has passed a similar one.

Next week, conferees will adjust the differences and both houses will vote once more on the product—but there is no longer any doubt of approval.

House Democrats said the bill passed there calls for $4.9 billion spending in programs of various length, mostly four years. Republicans who fought hard but unsuccessfully to whittle down the measure denounced it as a $9 billion-plus extravagance. The Senate bill has been tagged at $6.1 billion.

To hold enough Democratic conservatives in line, House managers of the bill sacrificed one Kennedy recommendation—federal housing administration insurance of 40-year, no down payment loans on houses costing up to $15,000. The House instead provided 35-year loans and 3 per cent down payments. The Senate has voted 40-year loans, but down payments up to $555.

The roll call results show why concessions were considered necessary.

A much whittled-down Republican substitute for the housing bill was defeated 215 to 197, by 39 Democrats and 7 Republicans crossing party lines. The vote on final passage was 235 to 178, with 38 Democrats joining the minority, while only 25 Republicans voted for the bill.

Presumably, more Democrats would have crossed over had there not been concessions.

The final House bill provides, among other things:

- About 100,000 additional units of public housing.
- Much liberalized FHA insurance provisions on home improvements, designed to stimulate modernization of old houses.
- $2 billion in grants for slum clearance and urban renewal over four years, $500 million less than the Senate version.
- $500 million for loans for community facilities such as sewers, $450 million more than the Senate bill.
- $1.2 billion, over four years, for college dormitory loans.
- $100 million for housing for the elderly.

Subdivision Is Approved

LITTLE SILVER — The Planning Board last night approved a minor subdivision permitting the transfer of four tenths of an acre between two Harding Rd. residents.

The plot, which Winn M. Rose, secretary, said had approximate dimensions of 25 by 70 feet is to be sold by Henry G. Herley, 521 Harding Rd., to George and Eileen T. Brittingham, 499 Harding Rd.

The additional property will give more space to the immediate surroundings of the Brittingham house.

Mass Transit Amendment Is Defeated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House yesterday failed to pass a New Jersey-supported amendment which would have included a mass transit program.

The amendment, offered by Rep. William T. Cahill, R-N.J., and supported in a speech by Rep. Florence P. Dwyer, R-N.J., was rejected by a voice vote.

It would have authorized $150 million to finance pilot mass transportation projects and to provide loans to railroad with unprofitable commuter routes.

The amendment had been incorporated in the housing bill passed by the Senate earlier this month.

One of the objects of Cahill's amendment was to help South Jersey, threatened with proposed abandonment of the Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore lines' passenger service.

The railroad has applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission to discontinue its century-old service from Philadelphia to Atlantic City and other shore communities.

Cahill said yesterday that he and a group of rail union officials had urged federal authorities to consider the human factor in the proposed discontinuance.

Would Seek Expert Aid on Subdivisions

LITTLE SILVER — A Planning Board member last night suggested the board seek the advice of a professional architect when considering subdivisions applicable to commercial structures.

Paul Bragar, vice chairman of the board, admitted his proposal was sparked by the efforts of the Shrewsbury Planning Board to esthetically control the design of commercial structures on Rt. 35.

Other board members agreed to take his recommendation under consideration.

Mr. Bragar said Gerald Barba, Shrewsbury architect, had offered his services to the board for a nominal fee. Mr. Barba is architectural consultant to the Shrewsbury board.

The services of an architect would be useful when the board wants assurance that a building is architecturally correct and conforms with the character of a particular zone, he indicated.

Mrs. Eleanor G. Huson, chairman, pointed out that there are existing ordinances by which esthetic control of buildings can be enforced.

In another matter of esthetics, Mrs. Huson reported the progress of the beautification committee.

She displayed a rendering of plans for changes in plantings around the Borough Hall. A number of trees and shrubs near the front entrance to the building need to be replaced, she said.

The plans include an extension of a walk which will run from the southerly parking lot which adjoins the property of the Little Silver branch of the Monmouth County National Bank.

The committee hopes that in the future the memorial, now in the center of the intersection of Prospect Ave., and Church St., will be moved to the northerly portion of the lawn in front of Borough Hall.

Mrs. Huson pointed out that the committee has been meeting for about two months and has not yet formulated final plans for the project.

HAPPY MOTORING — Diane C. Giersch of Red Bank, Miss New Jersey in the Miss Universe contest, accepts keys to 1961 Buick which will transport her to all official pageant functions. William Macomber, assistant zone manager of the Buick Motor Division, makes presentation in front of Bob White Buick agency, Monmouth St., Red Bank.

Marlboro Official Wants Entire Stretch Of Rt. 9 Widened

MARLBORO — Committeeman Millard B. Lamberson called for the complete dualization of Rt. 9 at last night's Township Committee meeting.

Mr. Lamberson said he felt the state should widen the highway its entire length rather than the one-mile area it intends to carry out from Rt. 18 to Rt. 520.

The committee took no action on the suggestion after Committeeman Joseph Lanzaro reported that the county Board of Freeholders was studying road conditions on Rts. 9 and 520 and Tennent Rd.

Road Maintenance

Mr. Lamberson expressed the township's wish that the county take over the maintenance of Rt. 520 from Rt. 79 to Rt. 9. He added that it is a through road and the county does maintain the section from Rt. 79 to Red Bank.

Mayor Charles T. McCue appointed Joseph LaMura, John Sweeney, Frank Rappa, and Mr. Lamberson to the building committee.

John Tergis reported to the committee that the newly reorganized industrial committee has started several projects to attract industry to the township. He also said the committee was trying to find the location of the proposed extension of Rt. 18.

This new route, he added, will be a real drawing card to industry as it will go from Rt. 9 through the township to New Shrewsbury.

The Manzo Construction Co., Matawan, was awarded a contract for $3,196 for the resurfacing of parts of Texas Rd.

DAMP OUTING — President Kennedy, cigar in hand and using crutches, braved inclement weather in Washington without raincoat or hat on his way to a yacht cruise with Japanese Premier Ikeda Wednesday. The President came down with a "mild virus infection" and accompanying 101.6 degree fever during the night. He canceled all his White House appointments yesterday. (APWirephoto)

Kennedy Goes Back to Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy declared himself the winner today in a bout with virus. He resolved to get out of bed and back to work.

Kennedy, usually on the go constantly, was sidelined all day yesterday by a mixed bacterial and virus infection that hit him in his sleep. On the advice of White House physician Janet Travell, he stayed in bed.

By late afternoon, Dr. Travell reported he was "making a very nice recovery," was feeling much better and his temperature was normal. It had jumped to 101.6 degrees at 7 a. m., but under an attack of drugs had retreated to the normal 98.6 four hours later.

After checking him over again at 4 p.m., Dr. Travell told reporters the President had "a lot of zip" and had demanded to know: "How much longer do I have to hang around here?"

Enforced Rest

Kennedy was then undergoing his enforced rest in his bedroom in the first family's White House living quarters. He had dozed at times during the day, sitting up in his pale blue pajamas to consume three bowls of chicken broth.

Yesterday was the day set for Kennedy to demonstrate recovery from his back injury by scrapping the crutches he had been required to use since June 9. He scrapped them—but not in the fashion intended. He awoke from his sleep at 1:30 a.m. with a sore throat and fever. He promptly called Dr. Travell, who hurried over from her home in the Georgetown section of Washington.

Follows Instructions

The 44-year-old President followed her instructions—but impatient to be up and around—clashed slightly with her on plans for today.

Dr. Travell told a news conference it would be all right for the President to see people "on a limited schedule" upstairs in the executive mansion. But Kennedy already had sent over word that he planned to work partly in his quarters and partly in his office in the west wing of the White House.

In the Movies

Area Residents Break Into Pictures

MIDDLETOWN — What's all this about it taking years of toil and effort to break into the movies?

With the current shooting of scenes for the film version of "The Miracle Worker" here, some township residents are "getting into pictures" via the back door.

One of them is Noreen Ann Gill, year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew J. Gill. She spent four days "on the lot" recently filming two brief scenes in which she plays the baby sister of Helen Keller, a central figure of the plot.

One group given bit parts had a geographical advantage which led to their "breaking into pictures." They are employees on the Sydney McLean estate on Oak Hill Rd., where some of the scenes were shot last week. They are Mrs. Mae Gaines, Frank Moss and Louis Everett.

Three Gillville La. children also became movie folk rather suddenly—Barbara Campbell, 6 and twins Dennis and Dana Fisher, 8, having fallen into juvenile roles.

An adult resident of the same area, George McGee, Tompson Hill Rd., also was put to work in recent shooting.

Even a four-footed area resident—a mule owned by Nick SanFilippo of Hazlet—also was called upon in the film directors' search for local "talent."

State Chamber Elects Eaton

NEWARK (AP) — Charles A. Eaton Jr., vice president of the Fidelity Union Trust Co. Newark, was elected president last night of the New Jersey Chamber of Commerce.

Re-elected were Albert H. Acken of Orange, executive vice president, and W. Paul Stillman of Fair Haven, treasurer.

William Holden: II

By BOB THOMAS (Second of two articles on William Holden)

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The voice had the familiar, warmly American tone. But William Holden seems to have an added quality of worldly awareness.

I hadn't seen him in three years. During that time he had chosen, like many creative Americans in the 1920s, to be an expatriate. But unlike the Hemingways and Fitzgeralds, his absence has brought storms of protest.

Bill Holden prowled his hotel suite and explained why he has changed his residence from Toluca Lake, Calif., to St. Prex, Switzerland.

Some of his arguments were familiar—that the central Swiss location gives him more home life between his farflung enterprises (a safari club in Kenya, radio station in Hong Kong, acting jobs all over). For instance, he will stop off home between finishing "Counterfeit Traitor" here and starting "The Devil Never Sleeps" in London.

That's what interests me; that's where I think I can do some good," he said. "The stories I look for are ones that show an American in an international situation. They're the ones that make money, and I'm not out to make producers lose."

'Holiday Lodge' In Brave Attempt

By HAL HUMPHREY

HOLLYWOOD—About the only strictly new show to be seen on TV this summer is "Holiday Lodge," a film comedy series opening on CBS June 25 in the Jack Benny half-hour.

It stars Wayne & Shuster, the Canadian comics who first invaded us about four years ago and found a home away from home on the Ed Sullivan show.

At that time, Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster both stated that only an idiot would attempt to do comedy on TV every week.

"So, meet the two newest idiots," says Frank Shuster.

"But how come you gave in?" I ask.

"We have a greedy agent," confesses Johnny Wayne.

Although there is no doubt is some truth to that latter statement, both comics saw this summer series of 13 episodes as an opportunity to study film techniques, something they've never done before.

Options on Options

"We're looking on this as a kind of Fulbright Fellowship," says Wayne, laughing. "Where else could we study on somebody else's money?"

The money in this case comes from Jack Benny's J & M Productions. Benny gets the double advantage of a summer replacement and a new series, if "Holiday Lodge" should click and go into full series.

"We're not convinced yet," says Wayne, "that this is a hit. It might sink lower than a return, but we're fighting to save it. Also, you should see our contract. There are options on the series, so far. They should shoot it."

20-Year Team

In their 20 years as a comedy team, this is the first time Wayne and Shuster haven't written their own stuff. All of the shows they did for the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. (radio and TV) were written and produced by them.

"Our problem at the moment is to convince the writers that we don't want to be like everybody else," says Shuster. "We're trying to keep some satire in the series, but when we go down that line, somebody comes along and says 'Watch it, fellows, that esoteric stuff doesn't go on TV.'"

Neither Wayne nor Shuster is quite sure what such a crack means when applied to them. They've been killing Canadian audiences for a long time, and 30 appearances on Ed Sullivan's show since 1958 seem to have found many followers of the "esoteric" in this country.

Comical Sidekick

In "Holiday Lodge," Wayne and Shuster are recreational directors at a vacation retreat. Maureen Arthur, a cute blonde, plays Wayne's girl friend. The boys are kind of bugged at being given a comical sidekick (Charlie Smith). It's like hauling that load of coal to Newcastle.

Both Wayne and Shuster do a lot of kidding around on the set. It relieves the tension for them. They are particularly amused by the phony Hollywood terms of endearment which males freely use to address each other.

After a scene which neither of them especially cared for, Wayne shouted (to Shuster), "Sweetie, how'd you like that?"

"Just great, baby, just great," countered Shuster, feigning a gushing enthusiasm.

"And you know what, Sweetie? We're gonna get an Emmy for speed for that scene, too," shouted Wayne, leaving most of the others on the set realizing they'd just had their legs pulled.

Wayne and Shuster aren't intimidated by the fear that "Holiday Lodge" could be a flop, so they just might make it.

"Look, we've got our homes and careers in Toronto," says Wayne, "and there's no extradition there for comics. We can flop here, run across the border and nobody can get us."

TV Highlights

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Although the quantity is small, TV highlights during the next few days offer plenty of variety for viewers.

"Person to Person," CBS' venerable program which has been among the missing this past season, pops up tonight as a summer replacement series (10:30-11:00 EDT) in its old time spot. The three Crosby brothers, Philip, Lindsey and Dennis, will be the first celebrities visited.

NBC has a new children's show, "Pip the Piper" bowing in Saturday morning (9:30-10). The network's "Nation's Future" that night (9:30-10:30) ought to be especially interesting. Presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger; Harrison Salisbury of the New York Times; Aleksei Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia, and Mikhail Karlamov, chief of the Soviet Foreign Ministry's press section will debate freedom of the press.

Jane Morgan, the singer, will make her dramatic debut on Monday night's episode of "Peter Gunn" (ABC, 10:30-11). On Tuesday night (7-7:30) ABC will start its "Focus on America" series, programs developed by local TV stations during the season. The first is a study of the beginnings of the cattle industry made by an Oklahoma City station. Later that night NBC will show "Dr. B.," (10-11) a documentary about a day in the life of a small-town physician.

Shirley Booth and Gene Raymond will start in Wednesday night's Steel Hour (CBS, 10-11), "The Haven," a drama about a threatened marriage. On Thursday night there's NBC's "Groucho Show," starring the mustached Marx brother in a game show now coming to the end of a long run (10-10:30).

10 in Field for Tomorrow's Lamplighter at Oceanport

Beau Prince Is Entered; Brass Knuckles Scores

OCEANPORT — Tomorrow's $20,000 Lamplighter Handicap heads an attractive program as Monmouth Park heads into the third week-end of its season with the track staff hoping for a break in the weather.

Rain dampened crowd enthusiasm for the second straight day yesterday and the attendance of 13,546 and handle of $1,225,093 were considered good under the circumstances.

Turf action saw S. D. Gottlieb's Brass Knuckles, running in the favorite's role, cop the best of the day, the Cane Club Purse. Ridden by Steve Brooks, Brass Knuckles took the measure of Four Way Ranch's Light Quantum by a decisive four lengths. Conrad Heckmann's Mon Uncle Jules was third.

The favorite covered the sloppy

Carry Back To Run Solo At Monmouth

OCEANPORT (AP) — Mrs. Katherine Price's Carry Back, America's leading 3-year-old, will make his first public appearance tomorrow at Monmouth Park since failing in his triple crown bid in the Belmont Stakes on June 3.

Trainer Jack Price will gallop his Kentucky Derby-Preakness winner over the Monmouth track between the first and second races.

Carry Back has not engaged in serious work since coming out of the Belmont with an ankle injury, but has galloped regularly for the past five days. Price said this morning that he appears to have made a complete recovery.

Price added that he has revised plans for Carry Back's return to the races.

"I want to give him as much rest as possible after his hard campaign this spring," Price said. "So I will skip the Dwyer Handicap at Aqueduct (July 15). He'll make his next start in an overnight race at Monmouth and then start in the Choice here (Aug. 2). After that, he'll go in the Travers at Saratoga."

Price also indicated that he is still seriously contemplating running Carry Back in the world-famous Prix De L'Arc De Triomphe at the Longchamp course in Paris in October. The "Arc" is Continental Europe's most significant and richest race, at 1 1/2 rain-shrouded six-panel course in 1:12 3/5 and returned a $4.80 win mutual.

Brooks is in a spirited duel with the recently highly successful Walter Blum for leading rider honors at the local oval. Blum rode the second-place horse, Light Quantum.

Snapping Up The Snappers

RED BANK — Balt those illest Snappers are running heavy in the Navesink!

This was the report of M. Harold Kelly of Lincroft, general manager of The Register, following an outing aboard his yacht yesterday afternoon.

"I just couldn't imagine what all those 'bilps' were that I picked up by sonar when I sailed over near Blossom Cove Rd. in Middletown," he said. "They were that thick, dancing all over the screen."

Upon arrival back at Irwin's Yacht Works, here, he said Joseph C. Irwin advised: "They are fish, small bluefish, snappers and they've come in strong. The fishermen are busy pulling them in."

Ramblers Lead Lincroft Little League By 3 Games

LINCROFT — Twin victories by the league leading Ramblers exhibited somewhat less than his normal control, Muesig made up for it by driving in the tying and winning runs for the win, the first to fall victim to the heavy bats of the Ramblers.

While Jeff Muesig was hurling his fourth straight win of the season, dependable Jim Matthews delivered several timely hits to lead the loop leaders to an 8-3 triumph.

The second place Wildcats were next to face the Ramblers and in an all-out effort to slice the Ramblers' lead to a single game, they sent their ace right hander, Art Paulina to the mound. Muesig was again given the pitching assignment for the Ramblers.

Reds Take Two-Game Lead, Dodger Series Starts Tonight

Associated Press

After a month-long, three-way jam at the top, there's finally some daylight showing between the leaders in the National League race as the Cincinnati Reds take a two-game lead into the opener of a three-game series with the visiting second place Los Angeles Dodgers tonight.

The Reds, winning eight of nine, padded their lead with a 7-5 victory over St. Louis last night after the Dodgers had lost 7-5 to the Chicago Cubs. Milwaukee dropped third place San Francisco four games behind by whipping the Giants 8-6.

That two-game lead by the Reds may not be much, but no leader has had a bigger bulge in almost four weeks in the NL. And it's the first time all season that the third place club has been more than three games away from the top.

Pittsburgh in Fourth

Fourth place Pittsburgh is six games behind, after whipping Philadelphia 5-1.

The Reds, out hit 8-6 by the Cards, came from behind with two unearned runs in the fourth inning, then wrapped it up with a three-run sixth off loser Larry Jackson (3-7). A sacrifice fly by Gordie Coleman brought home the deciding run in the sixth for the Reds, while Frank Robinson drove in three runs, one with a homer, for 10 RBI in five games. Bob Purkey (9-3) was the winner, with relief help from Jim Brown in the eighth.

George Altman, Billy Williams and Jerry Kindall each hit home runs and drove in two runs as the Cubs beat the Dodgers for only the third time in 12 games. The Dodgers, who had homers by John Roseboro, Daryl Spencer and Duke Snider, blew a 4-1 lead in this one. The Cubs, after losing five in a row, cracked a 5-5 tie with two runs in the eighth on a triple by Al Heist, Williams' single and a sacrifice fly by Altman. Barney Schultz (1-1) was the winner and Dick Farrell (5-5) the loser, both in relief.

Braves Sweep Giants

The fifth place Braves, winning four in a row for the first time, hammered five home runs, two by Frank Thomas, while putting away a three-game sweep over the Giants. Thomas drove in four runs, bringing the winner across with a single in the fifth. Frank Bolling, Hank Aaron and Gino Cimoli hit the other homers—the first for Cimoli since 1959.

Right-hander Bob Buhl (4-5) was the winner, but gave up two home runs by Willie Mays and needed relief help in the ninth from Don McMahon. Mays now has 16 home runs for the season, and 10 have been against Milwaukee. Juan Marichal (4-4) was the loser.

Two home runs by catcher Smoky Burgess drove in the Pirates' first four runs. Both shots were off John Buzhardt (2-8), who hit Burgess with a pitch in his third trip to the plate and was handed an automatic $50 "beanball" fine by umpire Chris Feldekous. Burgess weathered the plunking, but then left the game when a foul tip caught a finger on his right hand. Bob Friend (8-7) was the winner, blanking the Phils until the ninth, when they scored an unearned run, and pitching his first complete game in 13 starts since April 19.

RB Open Tennis Starts July 9

RED BANK — The Red Bank Open Tennis Tournament for 1961 will begin July 9 on the Marine Park Tennis Courts.

Rain Washes Out Carleton Loop Games

NEPTUNE — Another rain storm, another washout was the only news again last night in the Ed Carleton Memorial Baseball League. This time the Keansburg-Neptune tie fell under the weatherman's ax. League Commissioner "Red" Pierson says the contest will be made up July 3.

Tonight's game between Oakhurst and the Long Branch YMCA has also been postponed because the Long Branch High baseball diamond now rests under several feet of water.

"What we need is a lifeguard, not an umpire," says Pierson. The contest has been rescheduled for July 7. Also rescheduled was Wednesday's Asbury Park-Rams game which now will be played June 27.

A's Boss Loses Battle Of Bombs

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Charles Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics surrendered to the city — and the neighbors — yesterday in the battle of the bombs, even though, he said, it ruined his psychological strategy in the playing field.

He agreed, for the second time, to shoot off fireworks only before night games, never during or after the contests.

Finley started the season with fireworks after every night game. After a month of the continuing blasts as late as midnight, neighbors descended on city officials. Finley and General Manager Frank Lane agreed to hold pyrotechnic demonstrations before 8 p.m. thereafter, but both issued statements making it clear they thought they were being treated unfairly in having their noisemaking activities curbed.

Then came the firing of field manager Joe Gordon Monday and installation of Hank Bauer as his successor. In the first game under Bauer, in the Yankees as foes, the A's won 4-3 with aerial bombs bursting after each A's homer. Two back-to-back homers won the game in the ninth inning.

"There's method in my madness," Finley said after the uproar from the neighbors started. "The idea is that you get the pitcher half groggy when one guy hits a home run, then finish him off with the bomb." — Nolewise, that is.

But after the city officials passed he buck to the Council, which in turn was deluged with phone calls, telegrams and letters from irate neighbors, Finley capitulated.

But, he added wistfully: "I love fireworks. I loved them when I was a kid, and I love them now and I will love them until I'm dead."

Diving Course Offered In Edgewater Pool

SEA BRIGHT — William C. North, 34 Campbell Street, River Plaza, will conduct a skin and SCUBA diving course beginning July 7 at the Edgewater Beach pool here.

The course is designed to provide basic instruction for beginners and for those completely unfamiliar with the sport.

Classes will be held for eight weeks on Thursday evenings from 8 to 10 o'clock and will include one hour of demonstration and theory and one hour of practical pool experience.

Students will have the opportunity to use all basic diving equipment including diving lungs and exposure suits.

Special training will be given in spear fishing and wreck diving as practiced in New Jersey waters.

Confusion Haunts 2 Hunts Named Ken

CINCINNATI (AP) — Many times one person is mistaken for another and mixups in identical names can lead to problems especially if they both happen to be Major League baseball players.

This has been the case of the Hunt boys—both named Ken Hunt. There's a Ken Hunt with the Cincinnati Redlegs and another Ken Hunt who plays the outfield with the Los Angeles Angels.

Yankees Have the Top Stars, Close In on AL Leadership

Associated Press

What with Whitey Ford the top winner in the majors, and Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle 1-2 in home runs, about the only thing missing these days is a top seat in the American League pennant race. And they could grab that this week-end.

The second place Yankees are just one game behind Detroit at the moment. And while the Tigers open a four-game struggle at Cleveland against the third place Indians tonight, the Yanks play the first of three at Minnesota against the ninth place Twins, who have lost seven in a row to New York.

12th for Ford

Detroit retained its slim edge over New York, and moved three games ahead of idle Cleveland, with a 6-4 victory at Washington last night. The Yanks romped 8-3 at Kansas City with Ford winning his 12th and Maris crashing his 27th homer.

Baltimore battered Minnesota 8-2 and Boston got past the Los Angeles Angels 3-2 in the only other AL games scheduled.

Maris hit a pair of doubles and a single in addition to the homer, a three-run shot off loser Norm Bass (4-6) that capped a five-run second inning for the Yankees. It was Maris' 15th home run in June, three shy of the major league record for one month set by Rudy York of Detroit in 1937. Roger drove in four runs for the night, tying the Norm Cash of the Tigers for the major league lead with 59.

Tigers Win

Ford (12-2) ran up his second six-game winning streak of the season, but needed relief help from Luis Arroyo in the eighth after blanking the A's on three hits through seven innings. Whitey gave up six hits altogether and walked three while fanning nine, upping his AL leading strikeout total to 93.

Consecutive doubles by Rocky Colavito and Cash cracked a 4-1 tie in the seventh inning for the Tigers, who twice had to come from behind before handing the Senators their sixth straight defeat. Colavito also homered, leading off a three-run second inning, after Washington had taken a first inning lead on a two-run homer by Billy Klaus. Terry Fox (2-0) was the winning pitcher, blanking the Senators on three hits in four innings of relief. Bennie Daniels (3-4) was the loser, also in relief.

Gus Triandos drove in five runs with three hits, two of them doubles, as the Orioles beat the Twins and southpaw Jim Kaat (2-7), Mill Pappas (3-3), pitching his first complete game since April 29 after a bout with arm trouble, was the winner. He allowed eight hits, but had a shut-out until Harmon Killebrew hit a two-run single with two out in the seventh.

There were 15 bases on balls, but only five hits in Boston's squeaker at Los Angeles. The Red Sox, behind the two-hit pitching of Rookie Galen Gisco and winning reliever Mike Fornieles (5-3) won it on a third-inning single by Chuck Schilling. Ryne Duren (2-8) first of three Angel pitchers, was the loser, giving up all three Boston hits.

Syracuse and Navy will play a home and home football series beginning with the first game on Sept. 18, 1965 at Annapolis.

Young Star Gets Second Start Tonight

KANSAS CITY, (AP) — Lew Krausse Jr., the Kansas City Athletics 18-year-old $125,000 bonus sensation, will make his second major league pitching start tonight against the Boston Red Sox.

And he'll have some distinguished fans rooting for him. Former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman plan to attend the game. The A's report a heavy advance sale and predict a crowd of at least 27,000.

The 6-foot, 172-pound righthander, just recently graduated from Chester, Pa., high school, can hardly be expected to improve on his professional debut last week's 3-hit, 40 shutout over the Los Angeles Angels.

For one thing, the opposition is likely to be a bit tougher tonight. The Red Sox, including power-hitting Jackie Jensen, are in fourth place in the American League race. Los Angeles is in the cellar.

Against the Angels, Krausse displayed a sharp-breaking curve ball and a hopping fast ball.

The A's pitching coach, Ted Wilks, has been working with Krausse this week on his change of pace, teaching him to throw it with the same motion as his fast ball.

But, otherwise, Wilks says he hasn't done much with his prize pupil.

"I believe in leaving a good machine alone," Wilks said. "He has the best rotation on his curve ball I've ever seen."

Krausse's parents and a brother also will be on hand tomorrow night. His father, Lew Krausse Sr., one-time A's hurler, saw last week's game but Mrs. Krausse remained home.

Young Krausse then was worried that by the time his mother got to Kansas City he would be on his way to the minor leagues.

That, of course, was his comment before the Los Angeles game.

Mrs. Joel Johnson took the honors for low putts, sinking 14.

SURF, FIELD AND STREAM

Timely Notes on the Great Outdoors
By NELSON BENEDICT

You never know what you might catch in Raritan Bay. Robert Hines, Matawan, and Dominic Ferrante, Keyport, were fishing in the bay recently aboard a 20-foot outboard skiff. They were anchored two miles off Union Beach.

Good anglers Hines and Ferrante were ready and willing to cope with almost anything and/or anything which might happen to swim in their direction, but they were admittedly taken aback when something with fur instead of scales huffed and puffed toward their skiff.

The "something" was a deer, a doe with an estimated weight of 100 pounds. The animal presumably had quit Staten Island the hard way. It was swimming straight across one of the busiest waterways in the world to sanctuary in New Jersey.

RARITAN BAY 'CATCH' — Robert Hines, of Matawan, left, and Dominic Ferrante, Keyport, rescued this 100-pound doe from Raritan Bay two miles off Union Beach. They were fishing aboard an outboard skiff when they lassoed the almost-exhausted deer.

Hines and Ferrante rose to the occasion. They lassoed the doe and manhandled her into the boat. The deer was subsequently liberated, alive and kicking, on the farm of Hines' mother, Texas Rd., Matawan.

About the only thing more potentially dangerous than a live deer aboard a small craft would be a mako shark, and it was a near-visit by a mako which last Saturday made their annual outing a memorable one for members of Sea Bright's South Beach Sporting Club.

The Sea Brighters were chumming for bluefish on Klondike Bank aboard Capt. John Bisso's Lucky Mae of Sandy Hook Bay Marina, Highlands. They were catching blues, not too many, to be sure, but enough to warrant the twin expenditure of chum and time.

Just when the fishing became really promising, the mako invaded the slick. Capt. Bisso said it was the largest of the species he had ever seen. To South Beach S. C. anglers, it was like a nightmare suddenly coming to life.

After driving the bluefish out of the chum spread, the shark toiled up to within a few feet of the stern. It took five hook baits and wrecked as many rigs. South Beach president Jocko Curran of Fair Haven extemporized on the spot with a short length of wire leader.

Curran succeeded only in making the shark mad. It cleared the surface of the water in a vaulting leap which resulted in sudden evacuation of the Lucky Mae's sternsheets. Leading the parade to the bow was Register staff man Tom Bly. He won the impromptu foot race in a photo finish against some impressive competition.

The decision on the part of Tom and his fellow club members to provide the shark with all the sea room in the world was understandable. With the possible exception of an orca, or killer whale, there is no more formidable creature in the sea than a big mako shark — and this, believe us, was a big one!

The Sea Brighters were perfectly content to call it quits for the day after their experience with the shark. They had 19 bluefish and a newly-acquired aversion to becoming chummy with a shark which Spanish-speaking people appropriately enough refer to as "El Denturo," meaning "the toothy one."

Factually speaking, the mako shark is a game fish. It is recognized as such by the International Game Fish Association. Not even a marlin or a tarpon can compete with a mako when it comes to plain and fancy aerial acrobatics.

Day before the Sea Brighters had their come-uppance, Thomas F. McCarthy, an Allenhurst sportsman, caught a 340-pound mako. He fought the shark for 55 minutes on 80-pound-test line. It jumped five times during the course of the battle.

Just before a mid-week spell of thoroughly nasty Southeastern weather put a crimp in all coastal fishing operations, bluefishing had started to look pretty good. Chummers were starting to connect, and trollers were catching lots of blues on Shrewsbury Rocks, in

Palmer, Geiberger Lead Western Open

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Par in today's second round of the Western Open golf tournament should look a good deal less like a holiday turkey after a boarding house dinner.

Tea markers were moved back to normal placing after 61 sizzling players in the 149-man field gorged themselves on sub-par scores to start the $30,000 event yesterday.

Already money-heavy Arnold Palmer of Miami, Fla., and ex-university of Southern California golfer Al Geiberger took the biggest bite. They led the field with 6-under-par 65s.

The 6,750-yard Blythfield Country Club course plays to a par of 36-35-71.

Marr Has 67
Bunched in a six-pack one stroke

12 Have Eagles
Palmer also missed only two greens, dug his way from one trap, smashed four times out of the rough, carded six birds and needed only 29 points for his 34-31-65.

It was a day of surprises, starting with tournament officials, without prior notice, moving tee markers forward on several holes. "I was like playing a different course," said Barnum.

It was a day in which Muskegon, Mich., pro Ray Sruba fired the single hole high score of eight. That came on the 525-yard, 14th hole—a par 5—which became an eagle's nest for pros Jack Burke, Eldon Briggs, Bert Weaver, Bob McAllister and Gordon Jones. It was a day in which McAllister had six consecutive 3's on the back nine.

18-Holers Play At Beacon Hill Despite the Rain
LEONARDO — Neither rain nor wind nor soggy grounds stopped the final qualifying round in the 18-hole group of the Ladies' Golf Championship at Beacon Hill Country Club yesterday.

Mrs. Stanley Savage shot the day's low gross, an 89. Low net was Mrs. Ira Miller's 73. One stroke behind came Mrs. Robert Squillaire with second low net of 74.

Mrs. Squillaire also sank 28 putts, the day's best total.

The first round of the championships will be played next Thursday.

Bluefishing still looks like a good bet for weekend trollers, particularly if the wind shifts off into the Northeast. The Rocks merit a try. If the fish aren't biting there, they may be more cooperative in the Mud Hole or the Acid Water.

Also worth more than a passing glance is the development of some solid fishing for big striped bass along the edges of Ambrose Channel and in the near vicinity of Romer Shoals Light. A dozen or more bass weighing up to 46 pounds were unboated at Highlands yesterday.

A majority of the bass caught in that area in the past several days were hooked on bugeye buckettails which anglers jigged close to the bottom. Plugs, bunker spoons and surgical tube lures were effective to a lesser degree.

Pete Pauels, Rumson rowboat liveryman, is high on the status of Navesink River fluke fishing. According to Pete, fluke have moved into the upper river in strength. Small blues and school strippers are on the available list in the Navesink, too.

Probably champion river bass angler of the early season is Sgt. George Chandler of the Fair Haven Police Department. Although George himself is singularly uncommunicative on the subject, he and his guests are credited with having caught more than 100 bass during the spring run.

Chandler, you know, is the angler who caught that "$25 fish" in the Navesink, a striper which had been tagged in the Mullica by a Philadelphia line manufacturer last April. In addition to fattening his purse, Chandler further proved that not all the bass which winter in the Mullica and Great Bay migrate to New England waters for the summer.

McKinley And Dell Raise U.S. Hopes for Wimbledon

LONDON (AP) — Chuck McKinley, 20-year-old rising tennis star from St. Louis, emerged as favorite today to win the Queen's Club Tennis Tournament, last big tuneup before next week's Wimbledon Championships.

And the American players, so lightly regarded that only two were seeded for Wimbledon this year, were all even in numbers with the highly-regarded Australians going into today's semifinals.

McKinley, Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., and 18-year-old Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., all advanced to the semi-finals at the expense of Australian opponents yesterday. The U. S.-Australia rivalry continued today with McKinley facing Bob Mark and Dell meeting Bob Hewitt.

In the women's semifinals, Miss Richey, ranked No. 3 in the United States but unseeded here, faced tall Christine Truman of Britain and Margaret Smith, the Australian women's champion, took on Britain's Ann Haydon.

The stocky, aggressive McKinley, who emerged from the junior ranks to win a place on the U.S. Davis Cup team and No. 4 ranking in the U.S. last year, took the favorite's role when he overwhelmed Roy Emerson of Australia yesterday 6-2, 5-7, 6-4. Dell advanced when Rod Laver, the favored Aussie, withdrew because of a touch of influenza.

McKinley was seeded eighth and Emerson fourth for Wimbledon. But from yesterday's play, it appeared their positions should have been reversed. Emerson simply couldn't cope with the American's whistling first serves, his exceptional mobility and his streaking backhand returns.

Miss Richey, suffering from a painfully strained back but still able to move swiftly about the court, turned back fifth-seeded Lesley Turner of Australia 6-3, 1-6, 6-2.

She said her back hurt every time she moved, but "I just decided I wouldn't let it worry me."

Aussie Hopes got another setback when Jan Lehane was ousted by Miss Haydon 7-5, 7-5 and Miss Smith had difficulty beating South Africa's Renee Schuurman 6-4, 8-6.

The only American eliminated was Bill Bond of San Diego, Calif., who found Mark's services and drives harder and more accurate than his own and went down 6-3, 6-1. Hewitt beat Eduardo Soriano of Argentina 4-6, 6-4, 7-5.

In 10 years, Coach Tom Swayze's Mississippi baseball teams won 155 games and lost 73 for a .680 percentage.

N. L.'s MR. 'K' — The strike-out king of the National League, Sandy Koufax, Dodger southpaw, also is the winningest pitcher in the senior loop this year with 10 victories to date. Sandy has fanned 10 or more batters 25 times in his seven-year career with the Dodgers, and in 1959, against the Giants, he whiffed 18 to tie an all-time major league record held by Bob Feller.

If a flashlight is placed in front of a person's eye, the pupil will get smaller. If the pupil remains the same size then the doctor thinks of a number of conditions which might be responsible and he makes examinations to determine which one it might be.

At one time it was thought that this test was fairly conclusive proof that the person had syphilis. True, it can exist when someone has had this infection. Now, however, we know that other conditions can cause this inability of the pupil to react to a strong light.

This symptom may be found in cases of multiple sclerosis, diabetes, virus infections, arteriosclerosis particularly in old age, tumors in the brain or it may be the result of a concussion of the brain.

This is one of the tests doctors perform routinely when giving a physical examination.

157 Get Diplomas At Eatontown

EATONTOWN — J. Edson Allen, president of the Board of Education, presented certificates to 157 eighth grade graduates in exercises at Myer Hall, Fort Monmouth, Wednesday evening.

Virginia Usnick won the Eatontown Women's Community Club award for highest scholastic standing among the girls of the class. This was presented by club president, Mrs. Mary Saunders.

The Lions Club award for highest ranking boy was presented to William Henderson by Kenneth Hampton.

Second place scholarship awards went to Michael Porter and Stephanie Abbott. These were given by the Jubilee Squares, a local folk dancing group.

Daniel Kaufmann presented American Legion citizenship awards to George Severini and Brinah White.

The American Legion spelling awards went to John Shinoskie of the eighth grade and to seventh grader Brian Sullivan. The latter award was accepted for Brian by Charles H. ## Did You Ever Need "Some Tender Loving Care?"

I am the most neglected member of your household, and I frankly need a little attention - "some tender loving care."

I've been working very hard for you for many months - night and day - and just about now, I'm all tuckered out, so please listen to my story.

We would both be better off if you would call those nice people at Dixon Oil Company and have them send their qualified Service Representative to put me back in shape for the next season. They will clean me, adjust me, inspect and service me, and also Save You Money. I'll be able to give you cleaner and more efficient heat at less expense, and I'll be better off because I won't have to work as hard.

Their prices are very reasonable, and when you enroll in their Fuel Club Plan, the cost is less than 8c a day. So, please call them, they can give me what I need the most - that "tender loving care."

Their telephone number is SHadyside 1-7250.

Gratefully yours,

Bridge Column

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When you have more high cards than are good for you the remedy is simple: get rid of what you don't need.

Milton C. Work, the great auction bridge authority, often used today's hand in his lectures to bridge teachers.

"West opens his fourth-best spade, Work would explain to his audience, "and South wins with the ten. Declarer must develop the diamonds, and East wins a diamond with the jack. East naturally returns a spade, and West defeats the contract with the rest of the spades."

Then Work would turn aside, as though to look at his papers. Meanwhile, the assembled bridge teachers would be buzzing and tittering. Finally, some brave member of the audience would suggest that South should make his contract by allowing West to win the second diamond with the queen. Then West would be unable to attack the spades profitably.

ACTS CONFUSED. Work would look at the hand on the blackboard as though confused. Meanwhile, the teachers would chortle at having caught the old gentleman in a mistake. But then Work would turn back to the audience and ask, "Do you mean to say that anybody here would fail to throw the queen of diamonds from the West hand when South leads the king?"

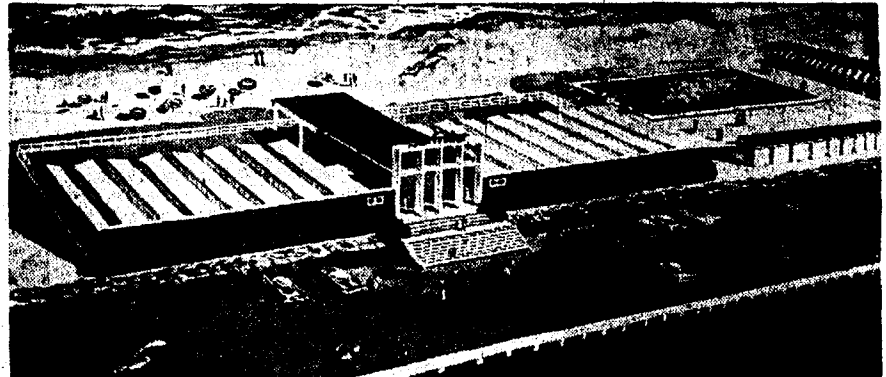

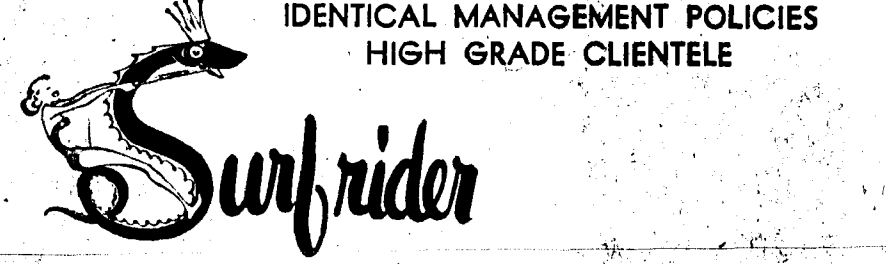

There was always a dead hush when this question came. And then they all saw that West should get rid of that embarrassing queen and that then everything would work out just as Work had originally described it.

Work always brought the house down with his little act. It's still a good hand a good play after all these years.
