Marlboro's Tax Assessor Is Defended

MARLBORO—Joseph A. Brodnjak, president of the Township Council, last night threatened to have John Dressler, Rt. 8, removed by a constable after Mr. Dressler made a statement denouncing Councilman Thomas A. Antisell.

A heated argument developed when Mr. Antisell defended Tax Assessor Mrs. Kate Jackson on charges that her own property had not been assessed accurately.

The action came at a Township Council meeting.

Mrs. Jackson was accused by R. Walter Johansen, Collier's La., Morganville, of paying taxes on 32 acres of land when owning 45, and adding rooms to her home on Ryan Rd. without changing the tax assessment.

Terming the proceedings "a politically inspired tempest in a teapot," Mr. Antisell added:

"There are two men in this audience—and I shall not name them—who injected Mrs. Jackson's religion into the arguments."

hansen's accusations. Then he offered the Township Committee's official position as contained in a prepared statement: "... Mrs. Jackson did erect a partition in the cellar of her home in 1962. "Last June, Mrs. Jackson's tax appeal was heard. . . . She was not appointed to office until the end of July.

"Based on these facts, we find no reason to pursue the charge any further. "As regards the reference to the discrepancy of acreage, the 1938 tax map indicates Mrs. Jackson's property to be 34 acres. The 1962 revised tax map shows the same property to be 32 acres. Therefore, our township records indicate the possibility that Mrs. Jackson was being over-assessed by 13 acres for many years. "This situation in no way reflects on Mrs. Jackson's conduct in office and in no way can be (See MARLBORO, Page 3)

NAMED TO COMMITTEE — County Juvenile Judge Leo Weinstein, left, gives oath to three new members of Keansburg Juvenile Conference Committee. New members are Joseph Walsh, William Di Maio, principal of local elementary school, and Rev. Newton W. Greiner, pastor of Methodist Church. Other members of committee, not shown, are John J. Anti-Poverty Program May Get Bogged Down

FREEHOLD — The bid of the Monmouth County Welfare Board to undertake an ambitious anti-poverty program may be in for a long run of red tape.

Applications for a total of $676,250 were announced Wednesday under two parts of a multi-part program now being administered by the U. S. Office of Economic Opportunity.

Ordinarily, local requests require a guarantee of 10 per cent local participation in actual costs or credits for services or facilities contributed.

The Welfare Board suggested that its 10 per cent be made up out of federal and state assistance already being paid to the county and for welfare recipients who would be beneficiaries of the local program.

Robert C. Wells, welfare director, said he recognized this request may complicate the application and might be a basis for rejection. If it is, he said, the board can consider a new effort along whatever lines the federal office suggests.

The director said that another condition of the application is that state Civil Service requirements be waived, so that the local agency may set higher standards in seeking personnel to administer the program.

The welfare board application is the second at the county level to have been made in Monmouth. Several weeks ago a non-profit private organization was created and applied for a planning grant and for designation as the county's Community Action Committee.

Sees No Conflict

Freeholder Director Joseph C. Irwin, a member of the welfare board who also is chairman of the Community Action Committee, said last night he sees no conflict in the two applications. They are aimed at different areas, and both would benefit the community, he said.

Mrs. Joseph Schofel, co-ordinator of the Community Action project, declined comment. She said she had received a copy of the welfare board plan only Enumerate Advantages These were the advantages that would accrue to Holmdel and the other upstream municipalities, according to Mr. Pike and Mr. Rich:

Consolidation into a larger treatment facility would mean lower per-unit operating costs; municipalities — other than Middletown — would be relieved of the responsibility of operating their own sewage treatment plants; and planning for construction and financing begun at an early stage would result in future savings for taxpayers.

The county's plan for the area, based on topography and natural drainage conditions, was referred to as the "Swimming River Basin" by Mr. Rich. It alluded to the Swimming River and reservoir located near the point where the main sewer line connection would be made on the Holmdel-Middletown boundary.

Both Mr. Pike and local officials acknowledged that financing will present problems. The public, as well as subdividers and developers here, could be assessed for sewerage costs well in advance of the program's actual institution, they said.

Time Required

Timing of the plan depends entirely on progress made toward the Middletown facility, Mr. Pike said. Estimates from several sources last night put final achievement of the regional system at five; eight, 10 or more years hence. Middletown officials were characterized as being receptive to the plan by Mr. Pike. He said the county has yet to approach the governing bodies in Colts Neck or Marlboro—but intends to do so in the near future.

He added that a reaction recently elicited from Colts Neck officials by newsmen indicated they might be "cool toward the idea."

Robert Kaercher, of the township's consulting sewer engineers, Havens and Emerson, New York, commented favorably on the proposed program. He said that "it holds a lot of promise from an engineering standpoint." However, he also anticipated that financing will be "a big point of discussion."

'Advance Of Needs' Mr. Kaercher pointed out that completion of the Middletown facility within five to eight years still could be "in advance of the township's needs."

The governing body, while showing interest in the program, made no official commitment to Mr. Pike.

Holmdel Reaction Favorable To Regional Sewer Proposal

HOLMDEL — Asking local officials to consider "an investment in the future," Charles M. Pike, director of the Monmouth County Planning Board, last night found reaction favorable here regarding the proposed regionalization of sewage treatment facilities.

Accompanied by engineer Herman Rich of Killiam Associates, county sewer consultants, Mr. Pike met with members of the governing body, local Planning Board and the health officer, Joseph P. Quail.

He outlined details of a plan to channel wastes from portions of Marlboro Township, Colts Neck Township, and 14 square miles of the southern part of this township into a treatment plant in Middletown Township.

Mr. Rich told officials that Middletown is "well into the preliminary planning" of an estimated $19 million treatment system culminating at a plant site in the northeastern part of the township.

Apportionment Plan Seen Getting Support

TRENTON (AP)—Support for the "1-2-4" reapportionment system was due to be voiced today before a public hearing (2 p.m.) of the New Jersey Legislature's Reapportionment Commission.

The plan would divide the state into 15 districts of equal population with each district electing one congressman. The districts would be divided in half, with each half electing a state senator, and into quarters with each quarter electing a state assemblyman.

Among those due to testify in favor of the 1-2-4 plan are the man who christened it, former State Sen. Wesley L. Lance; Joel R. Jacobson, president of the State Industrial Union Council, AFL-CIO; and State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr., R-Warren.

The hearing will be presided over by former Gov. Robert B. Meyner, chairman of the 12-member commission appointed by the legislature to draw up plans for Congressional redistricting and legislative reapportionment.

At least 20 witnesses had asked for permission to appear at the public hearing. Meyner said they could submit all the written material they wanted but would be limited to 10 minutes talk each.

The Commission has been given a Feb. 1 deadline, but has received an extension just in case it cannot make it. The Legislature is under orders from the State Supreme Court to reapportion itself by November in line with the U. S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" decisions. One member of the commission is Assemblyman William V. Musto, D-Hudson, the originator of the 1-2-4 plan. At least 20 witnesses had asked for permission to appear at the public hearing. Meyner said they could submit all the written material they wanted but would be limited to 10 minutes talk each.

Praises Plan Lance, who was the state's attorney in its unsuccessful attempt to stave off reapportionment, contends the 1-2-4 plan is simple and just. He said it is (See PLAN, Page 3)

Defeat Council Selection Attempt

LONG BRANCH — City Council voted down last night what will probably be a final effort to fill the recently-created council vacancy immediately by appointment.

Councilmen Vincent J. Mazza and Henry R. Clifton teamed in a resolution to direct City Attorney Louis R. Aikins render a formal opinion of whether council is required by law to endeavor to fill the vacancy instead of leaving it for the May 11 election.

Only Councilman Robert L. Penn joined them, however, and the measure was lost, 4 to 3. Councilwoman Lucy J. Wilson, who opposes an appointment at this time, was not present when the vote was taken.

Utermeyer Comments Mayor Milton F. Utermeyer contended that with the election so close it would be a waste of money to engage the attorney to research the issue now, particularly with the likelihood that the council couldn't agree on an appointment anyway. Mr. Mazza replied that money spent for the study would be well spent, "especially in comparison to some of the idiotic things this council has ordered researched."

It was the third time Mr. Mazza and Mr. Clifton attempted to get action on the vacancy created Dec. 29 by the resignation of Thomas L. McClintock.

In other business, council:

Received several commendations for City Manager James F. Roosevelt, Public Works Director James J. O'Neill, and city employees for efforts in regard to removal of Sunday's heavy snow from city streets. Councilmen agreed that enforcement of a new ordinance empowering police to tow cars from curbs was helpful. Mr. Roosevelt said more than 40 cars were towed.

Appointed Elvin R. Presley to the Library Board of Trustees. Reappointed John W. Guire to the Sewerage Authority for a new five year term.

Accepted a proclamation from the mayor deploring persecution of Jews in Soviet Russia.

Adopted a resolution of condolence to Mrs. Wilson's husband, Harry, whose father Russell Wilson, Haddonfield, died yesterday.

Seek Advice on Appointments

FREEHOLD — Freeholder Director Joseph C. Irwin said last night that appointment of assistant county attorneys probably will await recommendations of the county Republican Steering Committee.

The director, whose party holds a 4 to 1 majority on the board, said he believes one or more appointments will be made in the near future though, he conceded, county GOP Chairman J. Russell Woolley has not yet set a date for a Steering Committee meeting.

Political Leaders' Views Since the counsel posts would be considered patronage for the party in power, Mr. Irwin indicated, views of the political leaders are to be considered.

"I think this is a proper way for an organization to function," he said.

Red Bank Republican Chairman Edward W. Wise has been considered the leading candidate for appointment as number one aide to County Counsel John M. Pillsbury. Reports are that he would be chosen quickly if the matter rested solely with the four GOP freeholders.

Making Progress In considering patronage, however, the Steering Committee is likely to also view the over-all 1965 problem of selecting candidates for office as well as for appointments.

This is complicated by uncertainty of reapportionment. Until that is decided no one knows how many senators or assemblymen, for instance, the county will elect this fall.

Freeholder Irwin said that the board, including Democrat Eugene J. Bedell, is making good progress in completing the proposed 1965 county budget.

How are the Republicans getting along with the freshman Democrat, the first of his party to sit at the freeholder table in 30 years?

"Very well," said Mr. Irwin. "Gene Bedell is a fine gentleman, working for the good of the people of Monmouth County as are all of us. He is doing his part and we are co-operating very well."

Revised Raritan Plan Covers Many Subjects

By FRANK W. HARBOR

RARITAN TOWNSHIP—If the township's revised master plan is followed, there is little danger that taxpayers will have trouble finding ways to spend their money in coming years.

The report covers all phases of township planning except a municipal improvements program—which is being formulated—and a recommendation on whether to permit apartments in the township, now under study.

Recommendations in some categories are specific, in others, general.

In one instance, the Township Committee already has decided to ignore the master plan.

The plan recommends 27 to 36 fulltime policemen. It states: "According to the generally recognized standards of 1.5 to 2 police employees per 1,000 population," Raritan should have this size force.

Does Not Say

The document, prepared for the Planning Board of Herbert H. Smith Associates, West Trenton, does not say which "generally recognized standards" it refers to.

Snow Removal Plea By Poet Schlimmeyer

RED BANK — "Don't lean on the shovels, man 'em," was the advice this borough's public works director, Wilbert Schlimmeyer, had for residents this week.

In a street department press release, Mr. Schlimmeyer tried the poetic approach to get Red Bankers to comply with an ordinance requiring clearance of snow from sidewalks:

O, the snow, the beautiful snow, Filling the sky and the earth below, O'er the house-tops, o'er the streets, But snow on the sidewalks—there's an ordinance to meet!

The ordinance adopted last year requires persons to remove snow and cover ice with sand or ashes within 24 hours of daylight after it falls or forms.

The ordinance stipulates penalties including a $100 fine, a 30-day jail sentence, or removal by the superintendent of streets at the property owner's expense.

HIGHLANDS — The Lions Club has adopted a resolution turning over Kavookjian Field on Rt. 36 to the borough.

Mayor Cornelius J. Guiney, Jr., told The Register yesterday that many of the Lions are also members of the Living War Memorial Corporation, an organization which has been in charge of the field for more than a decade.

The mayor said that Benjamin Gruber, local attorney and member of the field committee, was "severely criticized" by Lions for approaching the Board of Education last week with a request that it consider accepting the land—rather than Borough Council—on the basis that a school board is non-political.

Mayor Guiney said Mr. Gruber had no authorization from the field committee to make such an offer to the school board.

The Lions also voted to request John M. Pillsbury, the borough attorney, to draw up title transfer papers deeding the field to the town "if Mr. Gruber doesn't take such action," Mr. Guiney said.

Voted In 1963 Earlier this month, John McConnell, president of the Living War Memorial Corporation, told council that, in 1963, the committee had approved a resolution deeding the field to the borough as a recreation area. The deed then was referred to Mr. Gruber, who had offered to execute it, Mr. McConnell said.

He added the field committee now has no funds with which to properly maintain the field.

Since 1963, the governing body and Mr. Pillsbury have been trying to determine what is holding up the title transfer.

In December, Mr. Pillsbury reported to council that Mr. Gruber claimed the War Memorial Corporation did not intend to deed the land to Highlands.

For Children Only Haik Kavookjian, formerly of Portland Rd., who now lives in Connecticut, deeded the field to the War Memorial Corporation, (See HIGHLANDS, Page 3)

Marlboro Mayor Cites Pride in Official Post

MARLBORO — Mayor Walter C. Grubb, Jr., addressed the Township Council last night and said he was "humbly proud to be associated with this government."

"I am proud," he continued, "of the number of sacrifices and the number of hours that officials have put in. As required by the Faulkner Plan, the mayor must report to the council and the citizens of the community."

"Tax collections here topped 80 per cent in 1964. It looks like we may be rid of the burden of uncollected taxes—$150,000 were collected in delinquent taxes."

"It is an honorable thing for us to look into the government after the first anniversary of the mayor-council plan. We must lay plans independent of politics to achieve maximum benefits."

"We have an ambitious program for next year. How well we do depends on how well we mutually co-operate with each other."

Order Man Held For Grand Jury

FAIR HAVEN — William Lee Durman, 23, of 24 Bay Ave., Highlands, was ordered held for the Grand Jury yesterday by Magistrate John V. Crowell on charges of breaking and entering and larceny.

He is being held in the county jail in default of $2,500 bail.

According to police, Durman was arrested yesterday and charged with breaking into the American Gas Co. service station, Cedar Ave. and River Rd., early yesterday morning.

Police said an undetermined amount of merchandise was taken from the station.

According to police, Patrolman Ronald McDaniel, while on patrol, found that a window had been broken in the station door.

Police said he had earlier spotted a car parked near the station and had stopped and questioned the driver (Durman). Durman drove off after being questioned.

Patrolman McDaniel put out an alarm for Durman after the entry was discovered and the subject was picked up by Highlands police.

Patrolman McDaniel was assisted by Patrolman Louis DiVito.

Award Denied In Mazza Suit

FREEHOLD — Superior Court Judge Elvin R. Simmill dismissed yesterday a claim for alleged unpaid services by Joseph Mazza, 15 Second Ave., Long Branch, a bulldozing contractor, against the Borough of Oceanport.

Mr. Mazza contended he was due $1,690 for fill dirt and bulldozing on borough property in August, 1962. The borough denied having authorized the work or having employed Mr. Mazza. Judge Simmill held the contractor had submitted no proof of the obligation.

Ronald D. Barrett, Asbury Park, represented Mr. Mazza. Thomas J. Smith, Jr., Red Bank, appeared for the borough.

Morals Charge Holds Man, 50

NEW SHREWSBURY — A 50-year-old Asbury Park man, charged with committing an indecent act with a 13-year-old boy here on Wednesday evening, was arraigned before Magistrate Marvin E. Schaefer yesterday and released in $2,500 bail pending a preliminary hearing at 8:30 Monday morning.

The man, Luther Atkins, of 1100 Sewall Ave., Asbury Park, was arrested at his home by Asbury Park and New Shrewsbury police on the complaint of the boy's parents.

Spotswood Boy Drowns

SPOTSWOOD (AP) — "I saw the little boy keeping his face on the ice to support himself. I didn't see the other boy."

These were Oakley McLaughlin's words in describing the rescue Wednesday of 5-year-old Joseph Jensens.

Joseph's brother, Robert, who would have been 3 years old Saturday, was unable to support himself and drowned in the icy waters of Matchponix Brook.

Police said the brothers had been sledding on a hill that runs down to the brook. The boys apparently ventured out on to the ice and it gave out beneath them.

McLaughlin, a 20-year-old graduate student at Rutgers University, was in his house at the time.

"I heard screams and ran out back to the brook," McLaughlin related.

"I waded out—the water was about 4½ feet deep—and grabbed the boy (Joseph). I got him back to shore and he pointed to a house where his mother was visiting."

He took the boy to his mother, who asked where Robert was. McLaughlin dashed back to the brook and then was joined in the search by several construction workers.

About an hour later one of the workers, Ronald Camp, of South River, recovered Robert's body.

Bids Referred

Bids for road department materials were referred to committee for study.

Council accepted the dump site of Earl Emmons on Texas Rd. for use two days a week at a price of $2,400 per year.

A parking ordinance for Rt. 520 will be continued to Jan. 28 because county recommendations haven't been received.

Council tabled action on the Board of Adjustment's proposal to grant a variance to Dominick Manzo of Matawan for a land-fill project. The property may in the future be used for a Green Acres project.

About this, George T. Saathoff, Marlboro Rd. commented: "Don't you think it would be better to get 90 acres of swamp land filled in before you make a park out of it?"

Council credited Miss Edna M. Netter, Marlboro industrial realtor, with finding a new tax rate for the township. Econopall, Inc., a pallet factory on Rt. 79, is the new firm. A Leroy Adams and Thomas Morrison are members of the firm.

Arthur Gottlieb Was Grid Iron Hero

NEW BRUNSWICK (AP) — Arthur Gottlieb, a hero of one of Rutgers University's most memorable football victories, died Tuesday night in St. Peter's Hospital. He was a cancer victim at the age of 46.

For the past 23 years he was a physical education teacher in the New Brunswick school system, last teaching at New Brunswick High School.

In 1938, as a collegiate half-back, his touchdown pass in the waning moments of a game against Princeton gave Rutgers a 20-18 victory.

The game was the one in which Rutgers dedicated its new stadium. It also was the second time Rutgers ever defeated Princeton. The Scarlet beat Princeton in 1869 in the first intercollegiate football game ever played, but then the Tigers ripped off 33 consecutive victories.

The winning play to break that streak was a 12-yard pass from Gottlieb to John (Moon) Mullen, laid.

Police said he was hurt when a car operated by Harvey S. Bedle, Jr., 61 Broad St., Keyport, struck the rear of another car in the parking area of the car wash. The impact of the crash caused the Bedle car to strike Mr. Pinto, police added.

Mr. Bedle was not hurt.

Variance Is Voided

FREEHOLD — Superior Court Judge Elvin R. Simmill has set aside a 1963 Marlboro Township zoning variance which had permitted a dog kennel in an industrial-residential zone.

In an opinion Wednesday, the judge upheld a suit by adjacent property owners Edgar Maghan, Sr., Edgar Maghan, Jr., and Benjamin Green.

The applicant, William B. Dooley, had won the variance from the former Township Committee, on advice of the Board of Adjustment, for a tract one quarter mile off Rt. 79.

Judge Simmill said the record failed to show sufficient special reasons why the variance should be granted.

"The court is loathe to make this determination as it can reasonably foresee possible curtailment of the development of the area."

"The court has no quarrel with the action of the board of adjustment and the township committee, as it feels that both bodies acted in good faith but on insufficient proof."

"Gratuitously, the court is inclined to the view that the municipality may be zoning by variance rather than by legislation."

Alfred Husted, 15, of Silverdale Ave. and Terry Crowell, 17, of 69 North Vale Ave., were found yesterday in Miami, Fla. Police Chief John H. Foster said.

Miami police had been alerted by the local department to be on the lookout for the two Red Bank High School students.

Patrolmen Reinstated In Ticket Issue

TRENTON (AP) — Nine North Bergen patrolmen who were dismissed from the police force for ticketing cars for sidewalk parking, against orders, were reinstated today by the State Civil Service Commission.

The patrolmen, who were at odds with North Bergen Public Safety Director James P. Nolan over salaries and other matters, were suspended last February and dismissed on July 16. All were charged with willful disobedience of orders and conduct contrary to good order and discipline.

They appealed their dismissal to the commission, which ruled the penalty was too severe.

Commissioner Jack Ballan said there was no doubt that they "willfully and deliberately disobeyed" an order from Nolan to stop issuing tickets to cars parked from 83rd street to 91st street for alleged sidewalk parking.

Nolan contended there were no sidewalks there. The patrolmen contended there were.

Ballan said it was "impossible and unnecessary" for him to determine whether the paved areas in question were actually sidewalks. But he said, "such disobedience by policemen or other civil servants cannot be permitted."

He concluded that "in light of the background of ill feeling between the director and these men" and because of their good records, their penalties should be reduced to six months suspension and that they be reinstated to duty immediately.

Snowfall To Continue

It'll be a great weekend for sled and snow shovels.

The snow which began dusting this area about 7:30 this morning will continue through today, tonight and tomorrow, according to William D. Martin, Long Branch Weather Bureau forecaster.

Mr. Martin would not estimate the total possible snowfall. Last Sunday's storm dropped a foot of snow here.

If you think it's cold today — just think back on last year. The wave of cold air from Canada which swept over New Jersey early this morning dropped temperatures here to 7 degrees at 3 o'clock. That is just two degrees higher than the record 5 degree low for this date — set last year.

Little relief from the cold wave is expected today. Mr. Martin predicted temperatures will remain in the low 20s, with a high of 25, and dip back into the low 20s tonight.

There will be 10 to 15 mile northeast winds today, increasing to 15 to 25 miles tonight and tomorrow, Mr. Martin said.

"This is a cold, however, and so far as I know, it's nothing more."

Three Residents Present As Board Adopts Budget

WEST LONG BRANCH — The Shore Regional High School Board of Education aired and approved its $645,285 budget for the 1965-66 school year last night with three Oceanport residents in attendance.

The budget reflects a $52,523 increase over the current year's figure.

The amount to be raised by taxation is $949,007, which will be apportioned between the participating high school district communities, and calls for a $38,912 increase in tax levy.

Residents of municipalities taking part in the school district are those of Oceanport, Sea Bright and Monmouth Beach.

Increases Show

Amounts to be raised in those boroughs by taxation are:

Monmouth Beach, $69,887, an increase of $1,177; Oceanport, $200,354, up $13,475; Sea Bright, $51,410, an increase of $2,225, and this borough, $327,955, up $22,033.

Of the four boroughs represented by the district, only three persons attended the public hearing.

They were Richard Considine, president of the Oceanport Taxpayers' Association; Mrs. Joseph Bryan of Arnold St., liaison officer between the Oceanport Parent-Teachers Association and that borough's Board of Education, and Mrs. Phillip Tucker, former regional school board member and former member of the Oceanport school board.

Mrs. Tucker and Mr. Considine commended the regional board on its budget.

Mr. Considine added that he commends the board on its "continued reasonable thinking." He said the school produces high caliber education at reasonable cost.

Trade School Budget Okayed

FREEHOLD — The Monmouth County Vocational Board of Education yesterday introduced its 1965-66 budget. It provided $120,000 to operate a two-year post high school graduate technical program at the former Nike missile base in Chapel Hill, Middletown Township.

Earl B. Garrison, county superintendent of education, and secretary of the vocational board said that the new program would be turned over to a Community College organization if one is ultimately established.

A Community College study committee, which has been in operation for a year, reportedly is planning a recommendation that a county program be established to function in the area of vocational and technical skills.

Under the plan, as outlined in the Register yesterday, the committee would reserve for Monmouth College, West Long Branch, all responsibility in the liberal arts field. The private institution, which is county supported, is eligible for state assistance in the Community College program.

Except for the two-year additional program, the vocational board's budget would show a decrease in planned spending though, according to Vocational Director Donald P. Hoagland, not in actual spending.

The budget total of $359,995 tops the current figure of $273,200. However, there is an unexpended balance of about $65,000 this year — largely because anticipated programs upon which the budget was built did not materialize.

The board expects that the new budget will be fully utilized and that no sizable balance can be anticipated for next year.

Included in the new program is operation of the first county vocational school at Long Branch. The building is due for occupancy next fall.

No public hearing is required by the vocational board on the budget. It is subject to approval by the Board of School Estimates, during the first two weeks of February — the date hasn't yet been fixed — and funds to support it are to be included in the full county budget which the Board of Freeholders will introduce Jan. 26.

Other Business

In other business yesterday, the board:

Contracted with the Wall Township Board of Education to accept a parcel of land near the township high school as the site of a county vocational building to be erected in 1967. The architect firm of Boyken and Moss, Raritan Township, was employed to draw plans.

Authorized Mr. Hoagland to confer with the Keyport Board of Education, at its request, Jan. 19 relative to participating at a future date in the county vocational program.

Adopted a policy requiring teachers employed by the county to retire at age 65.

Approved a policy of paying the full cost for teachers participating in the New Jersey Public and School Employees Health Benefits Plan. This will apply only to the individual teacher not his family coverage. The latter will remain a personal requirement.

James Burke, Sr., of 41 West Main St., was sentenced to 10 days in the Monmouth County jail for shoplifting at Foodtown.

the 1959 report, this should continue until the population reaches 22,000.

'Beyond 22,000'

"The fact that the North Centerville and West Keansburg fire companies are anticipating improvements to their present facilities indicates that fire protection capabilities may prove to be adequate well beyond the 22,000 population level."

On the subject of water, the plan makes no recommendation for the township to acquire the West Keansburg Water Co., even though the governing body has expressed a strong interest in such acquisition.

The report states that, with the completion of new water storage facilities by the private utility, it will be able to service the entire township.

The Township Committee already has started proceedings for the condemnation and acquisition of Bayshore Sewerage Co. On this subject, the report—though it was prepared before proceedings started—is silent.

The report asks for continued township acquisition of natural drainage easements in new subdivisions. But it does not outline specifications or make any specific recommendations on the matter.

Bonds Opposed

Although the Planning Board last month went on record against the Board of Education's proposed $2,297,000 bond issue—defeated at the polls Tuesday—the revised master plan makes these points:

Forty to 83 elementary classrooms must be constructed by 1974—and a total of at least 90 by 1984—if the township wants its elementary grades to be operated on full sessions.

The report recommends that Hazel School be abandoned by 1969, for educational use. The structure then could be utilized for office or storage space, it said.

No need to add further to the high school is cited.

The school board made it clear last month that it disagrees strongly with a number of master plan premises and recommendations.

While the planning consultant and school board agree on the basic need for additional elementary facilities, board members have charged that master plan enrollment projections are inaccurate—in some instances by as much as 25 per cent.

The master plan report estimates school enrollment in 1966 at 5,212, and in 1968 at 5,692.

Based on pre-school census, the school board estimates the 1968 enrollment at 5,753, and in 1968 at 5,868.

The board also has taken the position that the high school cafeteria must be expanded, music facilities increased, and an auditorium and boiler room added. It says Hazel School is structurally sound and can be used for educational purposes for many more years.

The master plan report notes these additional facts:

Population Rise Seen

—Raritan's estimated population now stands near 18,500, and eventually will reach 27,000 to 29,000.

—It still is a population of young people: only 14 per cent of residents are over 45 and 42 per cent are under 14. This explains the disproportionate school enrollment, which R. Thomas Jannarone, school superintendent, has called fantastic.

The single age group is 25 to 34. The median age is 25 years.

—Of the 4,586 workers in the township, 32 per cent are employed in Monmouth County, 16 per cent in Essex County, 14 per cent in New York City, and most of the balance in Middlesex, Hudson and Union counties.

Family income in Raritan is higher than the national, state and county average. The median figure is $6,800, as compared with the county's median of $6,413.

Some 420 families, representing 11 per cent of the total, are in the $10,000 to $15,000 range.

—Municipal (non-school) functions have increased almost 70 per cent since 1959, with the per capita cost up from $24.80 to $27.49.

However, because school and county costs have risen at a proportionately higher rate, the relative portion of total municipal-purpose expenditures has decreased from 28 to 24 per cent in those years.

construed as an abuse of her office."

The statement was signed by Councilman Philip Arnold, Mr. Antisell and Mr. Brodnjak.

At the last meeting of the council, Mr. Brodnjak refused to talk about the Jackson case until Mr. Johansen and Mrs. Jackson were present.

Absent last night was Mrs. Jackson.

The Register called Mrs. Jackson's home at 8:30 p.m., half an hour after the beginning of the council meeting. Albert Jackson, her husband, stated that Mrs. Jackson was asleep.

"She has been feeling badly all day and I wouldn't wake her," he said.

About 200 persons were present last night when Mr. Johansen asked Mr. Antisell if he (Mr. Johansen) was one of the two men accused by Mr. Antisell of being prejudiced against Mrs. Jackson because of her religion.

Mr. Antisell first declined to answer. Then, he said he was referring to Mr. Johansen.

Mr. Johansen answered, "Tom, I never said anything like that. There must be something wrong with your hearing. This will be cleared. I have many Jewish friends. This will be cleared."

Statement by Katz

Emil Katz, R. 79, member of the Board of Education, said this to the council:

"You know in your heart that you won't be able to sweep this under the rug. I'm shouting because you people won't let us participate in government."

"First we have our good mayor or telling us this is an inquisition. Then council was asked to set up a committee to visit the Jackson home. I asked Mr. Brodnjak on the telephone to designate a committee Dec. 13. I don't care if she improved her home by 50 cents, she should have put it on the books."

"Mrs. Jackson knew about the report tonight. She should have been here."

George T. Saathoff, Marlboro Rd., stated, "I think you people should make public the official records of the property."

Mr. Brodnjak explained, "There are quite a few things missing. I don't think we can find Mr. Johansen's record either."

John Narzowski, Buckley Rd., spoke:

"I pointed out to this governing body once before that I felt it should not dirty itself with this case. But, I am going to come up with another solution."

He then suggested an official investigation to eliminate political haranguing.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mr. Dressler again took the floor:

"First," he said, "I would like to apologize for losing my temper. I really don't think Tom Antisell and I would have gotten beyond the menacing stage. Our town has economic problems. I pride myself on being the political leader here. It seems in this case that Tom has out-needed me."

He added:

"Mrs. Jackson has conceded she has made an improvement. She has been allowed to escape taxation. She has a right to come into my home for assessment. Who has the right to enter her home?"

"Council has the right under the Faulkner Act to conduct a hearing. You are morally obligated to protect us. You have the unmitigated gall to say you talked to Mrs. Jackson and you accept her statement."

Gerald A. Bauman, chairman of the Citizens' Committee, vice chairman of the Planning Board and member of the Board of Education, then addressed the assembly, saying:

"I'd like to say that these charges are obviously politically motivated. The man who used to assist the tax assessor (Mr. Johansen) and the tax assessor (George Wendel) made the complaint."

"They must know that many people in this township have added minor improvements to their homes. They're throwing stones. These are nothing but a bunch of unsubstantiated charges that have been blown up. It's not the first time that one of these men has attacked a member of council for an obvious purpose."

When former assessor Wendel asked if Mrs. Jackson were accepting every one of his assessments, he repeated, "I didn't do my job." He said he had been unaware of improvements in the Jackson home when he assessed the property.

Joseph T. Grause, Red Bank, council's attorney, told Mr. Wendel earlier: "As the tax assessor, you should have entered the house to appraise the property."

President Brodnjak concluded the meeting by telling Mr. Wendel: "You created this situation. Now I think you should just let it lie."

Mother, Son Hurt in Crash

MIDDLETOWN — A mother and her year-old son were injured yesterday when their car crashed into a utility pole on Oak Hill Rd.

Mrs. Marion F. Crooks, 37, of 15 Laurel Ct., this place, was treated at Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, for a broken nose.

Her son Paul C. Crooks, 1, was treated for a scratch on the face.

According to police, Mrs. Crooks said she was going east on Oak Hill Rd., and that her car struck the pole when she pulled to the right to make room for a car coming in the opposite direction.

GOP Finance Chairman Named

TRENTON (AP) — John H. Ewing of Bedminster, the new finance chairman of the New Jersey Republican State Committee, says he intends to devote most of his time "to the problems of getting the Republican party out of the red."

Ewing's appointment was announced Thursday by GOP State Chairman Webster B. Todd. It is subject to approval of the Republican State Committee at its Jan. 19 meeting.

He succeeds Richard B. Sellers of Peapack-Gladstone, an executive of the Johnson and Johnson Pharmaceutical Co. Sellers will continue in his post as a member of the Republican National Committee.

Todd said he accepted Sellers' resignation reluctantly. Sellers said he resigned because of business obligations.

Ewing said that if his appointment is confirmed by the state committee he will immediately put considerable time into his new job.

"I intend to devote the majority of my time to the problems of getting the Republican party out of the red and to building up a sufficient surplus to carry out an effective campaign for governor this year," Ewing said.

The party debt is about $100,000, a GOP spokesman estimated.

Driver Charged After Accident

FREEHOLD TOWNSHIP — John R. Bushing, Dickinson Ave., Toms River, was charged with drunk driving and careless driving after his car collided with a bakery delivery truck on Rt. 9 at the Freehold Mall at 8:30 yesterday morning. A hearing is scheduled for Monday, Jan. 25, in township court.

Bushing was given a drunkometer test by State Police at the Howell Township barracks.

Trooper David Maxham, the investigating officer, said the Bushing auto crashed into the rear of the truck owned by the Ward Baking Co., Newark, as the driver was turning left from the highway into the shopping center. The truck driver was identified as Charles Chapman, Jr., Trenton.

Holmdel

Planning Board director to authorize Havens and Emerson to make a feasibility study of the program—and to preserve public ownership of drainage areas as called for in the master plan.

Possible costs to the township were discussed briefly. But no actual figures were given. Construction costs of an interceptor line running along the Holmdel-Colts Neck boundary, in the vicinity of Willow Brook and Rt. 520 would be borne by the township. It also would pay "an equitable share" of construction costs for Middletown facilities.

Mr. Pike said. Operating costs would be shared by all municipalities, possibly assessed on a per-unit-treated basis. A long-term bond issue was a mentioned possibility.

Others Feasible

While the county's plan now shows one main connection to the Middletown system, at the southeast corner of the township, a number of other connections would be feasible, Mr. Pike said.

Members of the governing body and planning board here indicated that a prime concern, in connection with the county's regionalization plan, will be the immediate determination of requirements to be imposed on developers for sanitary treatment facilities.

Committeeman Vincent Maneri said the Planning Board attorney and township attorney both are investigating the legal aspects of the township's requiring developers to install a dual system — septic tanks combined with laterals that later would tie into an interim package treatment plant and, ultimately, into the regional sewerage system.

Mr. Maneri added that the relative merits of septic tanks and package treatment plans should be carefully considered in connection with subdivisions, so that any precedents set in the near future will favorably affect overall planning for regionalization.

certain to conform with the U.S. Supreme Court's standards.

Dumont said he believes the 1-2-4 plan is the best suggested so far.

Jacobson endorsed the plan on grounds it would create a Senate of 30 members and an Assembly of 60 members, only slightly larger than the present 21-member Senate and 60-member Assembly. He opposed creation of very large legislative bodies where "anonymity of members often results in the election of nonentities and the triumph of mediocrity."

The only congressman due to testify was Rep. Frank Thompson, Jr., a Democrat from Trenton, who has submitted his own plan to the Commission. It is based on eliminating the present 12th District in Essex County and adding a new district in South Jersey.

David Friedland, the Jersey City lawyer who filed the successful suit to force the Legislature to reapportion, was due to be another witness.

Negro District

Former Democratic Assemblyman George C. Richardson, a Negro, asked to testify in favor of his plan to create a predominantly Negro district in Essex County. Other militant civil rights leaders due to testify were John F. Davis of the New Jersey chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Alvin Oliver of the Labor-Negro Vanguard Conference.

Donald S. Taylor, president of the Press Publishing Co. of Bethlehem, Pa., publisher of the Atlantic City Press, asked to appear in opposition to a sample plan drawn up by the Commission's chief researcher. The plan, drawn as an example of a Congressional district system which splits as few counties as possible, would combine Atlantic and Burlington Counties into one district. Atlantic is now in the Second District while Burlington is in the Fourth.

Asked to Appear

Others who asked to appear: Thomas Gangemi Jr., whose father seeks to run for mayor of Jersey City; Mrs. Joan Tierney of the Ridgewood Republican Women's Club; Mrs. Lillian Williams of the N.J. chapter of the National Society for Constitutional Security; John Bachalis of the Manufacturers Association; Joseph Harrison of the N.J. Committee for Fair Representation; Albert H. Acken of the State Chamber of Commerce; Charles Marland of the State AFL-CIO; Richard J. Coffey, president of the County Freeholders Association; Joseph F. Shanahan, chairman of the Essex County Citizens for Goldwater-Miller, and Charles Fields of the State Farm Bureau.

yesterday and wanted time to study it.

She observed that there is a possibility that if her group's request is approved, as she expects it to be within a few days, and it is designated the official county Community Action Committee, the welfare board's application may be referred back to it for formal study.

Under established procedure, she said, priority is given in Washington to requests which are approved by official Community Action Committees. At present there is no such unit in Monmouth but there soon may be one when her organization's bid is acted upon.

The Irwin-Schofel group's effort would be to assist local organizations in undertaking approved projects. Special emphasis is being placed on creation of pre-school programs in poverty areas. Mrs. Schofel said she is currently working with the Red Bank Board of Education in this direction.

The welfare board plan would create a Youth Corps to recruit, among welfare recipients, some 500 adults to be trained and employed on a part-time basis in a variety of fields where employment is regularly available.

Included would be a housekeeping corps of people who would be assigned to assist in the homes of the elderly, infirm, and disabled who, without such assistance, might have to be placed in nursing homes or hospitals.

Also the program would look to give specialized instruction to equip young men and women for the hotel and restaurant field, and men as service station attendants.

Volunteer committees of businessmen in many fields would be created to outline the course of instruction with emphasis on practical sides of work rather than professional college-type instruction.

Monmouth Regional's Budget Rise Questioned

NEW SHREWSBURY — "You cannot increase a budget of a million dollar non-profit school system by $231,000 this year with a program that at best only gives promise of a bigger increase in our real estate taxes."

So, in part, was the statement of Kenneth J. MacDonald, Jr., of 40 Wellington Dr. at the public hearing of the Monmouth Regional Board of Education 1965-66 budget last night.

Mr. MacDonald took issue with the action of the board in proposing to appropriate $155,000 from surplus to soften the tax impact of the new budget.

"Without proper maintenance of an operating balance for either capital outlay or fixed debt service," Mr. MacDonald went on, "such a course will deplete balances, and by 1967 we will be faced with an unprecedented increase in taxes."

Calls Step Wise

Norman J. Field, board president, explained that the board feels the $155,000 appropriation is wise and in the interests of the taxpayer.

"We feel that the full $231,000 would be a heavy burden on the community at this time," Mr. Field continued. "Therefore we decided, after a great deal of discussion, that an appropriation of $155,000 will bring it down to a level where the burden of the taxpayer will be nominal."

Mr. Field added that the board realizes the appropriation leaves the unappropriated surplus balances "just on the fringe."

"The fringe," according to Mr. MacDonald, will be in the neighborhood of $81,000.

The board's accountant Joseph Seaman of Perth Amboy, said the unappropriated balances would be at least $87,000, and may be considerably more.

Practice recommended by the State Department of Education would maintain the balances at 10 per cent of the budget, which totals $1,340,970.

Surplus Feedback

Board member Joseph D. Liga of Eatontown asked: "Isn't it a fair thing to do to use the unappropriated balances for educational purposes? Isn't it better than raising taxes?"

He also reminded Mr. MacDonald that feedback into surplus will offset the $155,000 appropriation to some extent.

Surplus arises from funds budgeted, but not expended; and from state and federal aid received in excess of budget estimates.

About 25 residents attended last night's hearing on the proposed budget, which comes to vote Tuesday, Feb. 2.

Of the gross budget, $225,955 is to be raised by local taxes in this borough, Eatontown, and Shrewsbury Township. The figure is an increase of $2,704 over the current tax bite.

Since final assessment figures for the three municipalities are not yet available, no accurate estimate of the budget's effect on tax rates can be given, Mr. Field explained.

A special board meeting for final adoption of the budget is set for Tuesday.

Warwick Concerned Over County Traffic Deaths

SEA GIRT — "I have sad news—and I get tired of seeing a horrible pattern grow and grow."

In this way, W. Robert Warwick, county traffic co-ordinator, prefaced his report yesterday to the county Traffic Safety Committee at a meeting in the Pump House.

County traffic deaths for 1964 now total 72—the same as 1963's figure, Mr. Warwick said. Deaths in the state for 1964 stood at 1,068 as of yesterday, he added.

The co-ordinator explained that the state holds its year-end figures open until Jan. 20. All victims injured in 1964 accidents, who die before that date are counted in the 1964 total.

Pointing out that the 1964 state total represents an 11 per cent increase over the 1963 figure, Mr. Warwick reported that the national figure is also up about 11 per cent.

In the nation, 48,000 people were killed in traffic accidents in 1964, he said.

"Why aren't we alarmed?" the co-ordinator asked. "We would be if all these people died in any other way."

Indicative of people's indifference to the traffic toll is the state's finding that alcohol was involved in 56 per cent of New Jersey's fatal accidents in 1964, Mr. Warwick went on.

During Gov. Richard J. Hughes' holiday safety campaign, which ran from Nov. 20 until midnight, Jan. 3, there were seven traffic fatalities in Monmouth County, Mr. Warwick reported.

Three were killed when vehicles "ran off the road."

Three more died in head-on collisions when vehicles attempted to pass.

The other was an infant, killed by head injuries sustained in a fall from the seat of a vehicle involved in an accident.

In five of the seven accidents, the weather was clear. Three of the victims died between midnight and 3 a.m.; three more died in the early evening; one was killed in the daytime.

"It's interesting to note," Mr. Warwick said, "that the three head-on fatalities occurred on undivided highways. This is a selling point to keep in mind when business property owners object to median dividers."

Since Jan. 1, the co-ordinator went on, the pattern has become worse. Four people have already lost their lives in the county—double last year's toll at this time.

Little Silver Board Gets Bus for Child

LITTLE SILVER — The Board of Education last night awarded a $800 contract to Wagner's Bus Service, Long Branch, for the transportation of one child to a special class in Long Branch for the balance of the school year.

The contract was made conditional upon Wagner's meeting the board's insurance and bonding requirements.

Superintendent of Schools C. David Vanderhoof reported that a meeting will be held with mothers of kindergarten children in the Markham Place School cafeteria Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 27, at 1:15 p.m. to discuss the kindergarten program.

with the understanding that, if it was not used for the children of Highlands and kept in good condition, it would revert to him.

Mr. Gruber told The Register yesterday that the deed also stipulates that "if there is any transfer, or attempt to transfer the field, it would immediately revert to Mr. Kavookjian."

Not "Stalling"

"I haven't been trying to be difficult about this, and I haven't been stalling," stated Mr. Gruber.

"But," he said, "the way the deed is written, it would not be legal to transfer ownership of the field to the town unless Mr. Kavookjian were to sign a waiver, changing the transfer clause."

Council members have indicated that they did not ask for Kavookjian Field but had been asked to accept it by Ernest J. Vaughan, Jr., Recreation Commission chairman. They had planned to appropriate funds in the 1965 municipal budget for maintenance of the field and such programs as little league and pony league.

Would Clear Issue

However, the governing body stated that the field issue would have to be cleared up before the budget is introduced, sometime next month.

IFFT's Sales Up; Company To Expand

NEW YORK — Leroy Frantz, Jr., vice president and treasurer of International Flavors & Fragrances, Inc., has announced that sales for 1964 would be about $25,000,000, up approximately 11 per cent from sales in 1963.

Mr. Frantz also said that higher expenditures are planned for research as well as costs connected with development of additional technical and production facilities. These will tend to hold margins at their present level, with an increase in sales for 1965, estimated at 8 to 10 per cent.

The company maintains a plant in Union Beach.

Market Has Day Of Reshuffling

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market deck was reshuffled pretty thoroughly yesterday as recent strong suits were discarded and some neglected issues showed strength. Trading was heavy.

Of 1,379 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 578 rose and 524 fell. New highs for 1964-65 totaled 112 and new lows seven.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which had been down as much as 1.39 in early afternoon, ended with a small gain of .33 at 887.18.

Among gold-mining issues, Homestake rose 1/2. American South African Investment 1 1/2. Campbell Red Lake 1/2 and Dome Mines 1/2.

Texas Gulf Sulphur became the most active stock, rising 1/4 to 57 1/4 on 87,300 shares.

Kennecott advanced 1/4, American Smelting 1/4, Anaconda 1/4 and Phelps Dodge 1/4 — but International Nickel sank 1/2 and Cerro 1/2.

Among the 15 most active stocks, eight declined and six advanced, with General Motors unchanged.

Other leading motors took fractional losses except for Chrysler which sank 1/4 as traders bet on some nervousness over the fact that Chrysler's president, Lynn A. Townsend, had cut down his holdings of Chrysler stock by about one half.

Trading continued fairly heavy, with volume at 5.8 million shares compared with 6.1 million Wednesday.

Crowell-Collier, up 1/4 at 28, ranked as second most active stock on 78,600 shares but 43,200 shares of this came from a single block. Fractional changes prevailed among other publishing stocks which have showed strength lately on President Johnson's aid-to-education proposals.

Hudson Bay Mining rose 5/8 to 73 amid unconfirmed rumors of a mineral find. A company spokesman said he had no knowledge of any such new development.

Interchemical declared a 50 per cent stock dividend and the stock rose 1/4. Motorola gained 1/4 amid stock split rumors.

American Airlines rose 1/4 following record 1964 operations and amid reports of institution buying. Eastern Air Lines lost 1/4 and fractional losses were the rule among other issues in the group.

As drugs backtracked, Merck lost 1/4, Johnson & Johnson 2, Upjohn 1/4 and G. D. Searle 1/4. American Home Products bucked the trend with a rise of 1/4.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange but gainers narrowly outnumbered losers. Volume was 1.69 million shares compared with 1.77 million Wednesday.

Ground Broken For Yorktowne Shopping Center

MANALAPAN — Ground was broken this week for the Yorktowne Shopping Center, second in a series of complete facilities which will make the 800-home Yorktowne tract here a self-contained community.

According to Kevork S. Hovnanian, president of Hovnanian Brothers, developers of Yorktowne, grading has begun on the first 25,000-square-foot section of the 117-acre shopping center on Gordons Corner Rd. and Pease Rd., adjacent to Yorktowne, a mile from Rt. 9.

Construction of the new shopping facility, with parking for 500 cars, is scheduled to begin in early spring. Leo Berger of Brooklyn has been retained to design the center, which will be of early American architecture.

Negotiations are now in progress for business tenants, the developer said.

The initial facility introduced in Yorktowne's "total community concept" plan was the $750,000 Pine Brook Sewer Company, its own sewage and utility plant, which was unveiled last summer.

Yorktowne will also feature a four-pool swimming club, a recreation building, and a professional building. In addition, Hovnanian Brothers has made available at no cost, fully-improved land for Catholic, Jewish and Protestant houses of worship.

Yorktowne eventually will offer three schools, two of them built on 18-acre sites donated to the community by Hovnanian Brothers.

Multiple Listing Sales Top '63 by $8,889,298

Sales of residential properties in 1964 through the four Multiple Listing Services of Monmouth County showed an increase of $8,889,298 over 1963, a gain of 39 per cent and a record, according to figures released by the Monmouth County Board of Realtors with which the services are affiliated.

In 1964, the four services reported 1,448 sales, totalling $31,429,134, as compared with 1,100 sales totalling $22,539,836 in the preceding year. These figures do not include sales by brokers or the Listing Services, private sales by home owners, or sales by builders direct to home purchasers.

"Our figures show that all four listing services reported substantial gains over a year ago," said Kenneth L. Walker, Jr., president of the realtor board. "Multiple listing has been a boon not only to realtors, but to the buyers and sellers of homes. It has given brokers a much wider market, has helped sellers by accelerating the disposal of their properties, and has given buyers a much larger selection from which to choose in looking for a new home."

Individual reports of the four listing services are:

Shore Multiple (35 members): 1964, 635 listings, 315 sales, volume $5,275,186; 1963, 515 listings, 248 sales, volume $4,009,890.

Red Bank Area (40 members): 1964, 626 listings, 487 sales, volume, $11,856,518; 1963, 549 listings, 390 sales, volume $9,777,251.

South Monmouth (18 members): 1964, 567 listings, 283 sales, volume $8,431,450; 1963, 434 listings, 218 sales, volume $4,679,325.

North Monmouth (19 members): 1964, 579 listings, 383 sales, volume, $7,865,980; 1963, 485 listings, 244 sales, volume, $4,073,370.

QUESTION: Our patio has a concrete floor. It is cracked in many places, but the cracks haven't widened any in the last couple of years. At first I thought of patching up the entire floor, but now have decided I'd like to have a wooden rather than a concrete floor. To do this, I will have to take up the old concrete or can I put down the wood right over it? If the latter, how?

ANSWER: It is not necessary to break up and remove the old concrete floor, which would be quite a job. You can make a fine wooden floor on top of the concrete, but you must observe certain precautions to get proper drainage.

The first step is to attach strips of 2 by 4s to the concrete to serve as a foundation. Place the strips in a criss-cross pattern about two feet apart so that there will be strong support under the final flooring. The 2 by 4s can be attached either with concrete nails or a waterproof exterior mastic. The final flooring also can be 2 by 4s, although 2 by 6s may be preferred. These should be laid about one-eighth of an inch apart.

Presumably, the original concrete floor has a slight pitch so that water rolled off it. But if water tends to collect in one spot, it will still collect there after the wooden floor has been installed. To prevent this, use a cold chisel and a hammer to chop a tiny trench from the low spot to the lowest part of the patio, insuring proper drainage after the wooden floor has been put down.

In several cases, where water always collects along one side of the concrete floor, it may be necessary to lay drain tiles there to provide a means for the water to escape.

Wynkoop Buys Gilman Estate

Dr. Gilman, who is county physician, has purchased the 11-acre estate of Arthur E. Jones on Long Bridge Rd., in Colts Neck. Mr. Wynkoop is an interior decorator with an office at 89 Front St., Red Bank.

MIDDLETOWN—This Georgian colonial brick home of Dr. and Mrs. C. Malcolm B. Gilman, located on a four-acre river front estate at the southeast corner of Navesink River and Blossom Cove Rds. has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Burson Wynkoop of Symmes Dr., Manalapan, who will take possession this month. The purchase price is reported to be around $150,000.

L. August Verleger, representing Walker and Walker, Shrewsbury and Middletown realtors, was the broker in the transaction.

The main residence, which is three stories high, has 14 rooms and is considered a pure type of 18th Century Georgian architecture. Also on the property is a six-room cottage, which has been used as a doctor's office; a four-car garage with a four-room apartment above which was constructed after Dr. Gilman purchased the property; a horse barn and a boat house, with a marine railway. The grounds are landscaped and a strong bulkhead runs along the Navesink River.

All rooms in the main residence are large in size. On the first floor is a long reception hall 15 by 30 feet; a living room, 34 by 21; a dining room, 20 by 19; a music room or library, 15 by 18; a kitchen, 15 by 17, a servant's dining room and a sun room, 17 by 40 feet. There are four bedrooms, a sleeping porch and maids' quarters on the second floor, and four bedrooms on the top floor. The house has five bathrooms and four fireplaces.

Construction of the house began in 1920 and was not finished until 1922. It was constructed for Frederick C. Earle, then president of the Bank of Bayonne, by John Scott, a builder, who had no general contract but worked on a day to day basis. Steel beams and girders were used throughout. The original cost was reported to be well over $200,000. Mr. Earle occupied the house from 1922 until 1931 when he lost the home during the depression, and it was taken over by the state banking department, which held it for five years.

It was then acquired by the Louis Timelat family, which sold it to Dr. Gilman on Pearl Harbor Day, 7, 1941.

"If I had known what was happening at Pearl Harbor on the day that I closed the transaction, I probably would not have bought it," said Dr. Gilman the other day.

While the house itself has no historical significance, the area in which it is located was the scene of considerable activity in the Revolutionary War. Law Enforcement

By J. EDGAR HOOVER, Director,
Federal Bureau of Investigation

Law enforcement, by the very nature of its responsibilities, has always been a handy scapegoat for those who resent law and order and those who seek public sympathy on controversial issues. As a frontline representative of government, law enforcement often bears the brunt of criticism—just or unjust—leveled at constituted authority.

Admittedly, law enforcement has its shortcomings, as do all professions. Contrary to some viewpoints, however, it is not responsible for all the grievances with which it is charged. Furthermore, wholesale harassment of law enforcement is not an antidote for all the troublesome issues facing communities throughout the country.

A questionable move currently being championed in some localities is the establishment of civilian review boards to hear complaints against law enforcement officers. To a large degree, these panels would consist of appointed individuals who are generally inexperienced and uninformed in law enforcement and police administration.

When carefully considered, it is clear this drive for external boards is an ill-advised maneuver. It amounts to the usurpation of authority rightfully belonging to the police commander. It is a practice which could damage effective law enforcement and reduce the orderly processes of community life to petty bickering, suspicion, and hatred. The police executive cannot become a mere pawn of bureaucratic committees. He must have full responsibility for the performance, discipline, and control of his officers.

Valid objections to external review boards are too numerous and extensive to be shunted aside. Such panels represent a backward step for law enforcement toward ineptness and mediocrity. Moreover, one of the major weaknesses of these boards is their inherent political overtones. In many instances, appointments will be made for political expediency rather than merit, and every faction, clique, group and organization which has an ax to grind will demand representation. If there is one thing career police executives have learned over the years, it is that politics has no place in effective law enforcement.

The average law enforcement officer today is already saddled with greater responsibilities than he can fully comprehend and capably discharge. Society demands of the officer total compliance with the mandates of the law; however, it has yet to give him a clear-cut picture of what the law demands and what it forbids. Even those learned in the law cannot agree with certainty what powers the police officer possesses. Many times, his actions are adjudged wrong by the thinnest of margins in split decisions by the highest courts. He should not be subjected to public ridicule and penalized in salary, promotion, and personal career based on decisions reached by outside overseers to whom professional law enforcement and public protection may be of secondary interest.

Experience has shown that high selection standards, outstanding training, realistic pay scales, and advancement based on merit are fundamental principles of good police service. It is a pity that the efforts being wasted in promoting impractical review boards could not be applied to these proven elements.

These Days:

Reverse Twist in Carpetbagging

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Last autumn, as the senatorial campaigns waxed hotter and hotter in New York state and in California, at least a score of changes were rung on the subject of carpetbagging. The insinuating question, "Who sent him here?" may have been the straw that broke Pierre Salinger's back in his contest with the man who is now the junior senator from California, George Murphy. In New York, Bobby Kennedy managed to pull through; the charge of carpetbagging was sufficiently blunted by the incontestable fact that the Kennedy family had lived for a long stretch in the New York suburban areas of Riverdale and Bronxville when Bobby was growing up.

Allegations of geographical carpetbagging are only important insofar as they point to a likely deficiency in an individual's ability to represent his chosen area. In Britain, the cry could not possibly arise; constituencies there are permitted to pick their parliamentary representatives from anywhere. Dundee, a provincial Scottish city, used to send John Strachey, a sophisticated London Leftist, to the House of Commons to look after its own special interest in spinning burlap thread out of jute imported from India—and it is not recorded that Mr. Strachey ever let Dundee down. The cry of geographical carpetbagging, then, can be completely beside the point.

If anything important is going to be made of the issue of carpetbagging, a more important area of investigation lies in the propensity of certain senators to represent forces that lie entirely or mainly outside the geographical borders of their own native constituencies. This poses the problem of carpetbagging in reverse, with the body of the man staying home while he strays mentally, morally and spiritually. You would think, wouldn't you, that labor, for example, would get main support from big industrial states for repeal of the section of the Taft-Hartley Act that permits local right-to-work laws.

Curiously enough, however, you do not find Senator Frank Lausche of industrial northern Ohio running the ball for the AFL-CIO in the onslaught on Taft-Hartley's Section 14B. The AFL-CIO, looking for help in its anti-14B campaign, chose to pour money into pre-election support for Senator Ed Muskie of Maine, a state famous for its potatoes; for Senator Frank Moss of Utah, a state famous for sugar beets; for Senator Ralph Yarborough of Texas, a state famous for cotton, cattle and the automatic pumping of oil; and for Senator Galo McGee of Wyoming, a state famous for ranching. These are the men who, mentally and spiritually, are now representing the prime interests of the union workers of Detroit, Pittsburgh and Chicago.

This carpetbagging in reverse also applies to the issue of foreign policy as it affects our coastal areas. You would think, wouldn't you, that the senators from the Pacific Coast and adjacent regions would be especially alive to the danger represented by Red Chinese imperialism. After all, it is the freedom of their ocean that would be lost if the U.S. were compelled to desert the Far East and fall back defensively on Pearl Harbor and Wake. But who is in the forefront of the struggle to get the U.S. to withdraw from Southeast Asia? The leaders in this curious fight are Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, Senator Ernest Gruening of Alaska, Senator Frank Church of Idaho and Senator Mike Mansfield of Montana. They are the ones who pay no attention to General Douglas MacArthur's old warning about implacable Red Chinese imperialism drives, which are picking up renewed steam these days with the revival of the Communist Hukbalahap movement in the Philippines, the intensification of the Viet Cong campaign in South Viet Nam, the threat of Cambodia to move into the Red Chinese camp, and the desertion of the UN by Sukarno's Indonesia.

Inside Washington

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Central Intelligence Director John McCone is flatly contradicting the Johnson administration's pet thesis regarding the grimly deteriorating situation in South Viet Nam. The most pressing problem there, McCone holds, is military and not political.

Primary attention and effort should be concentrated on quickly achieving greater combat effectiveness against the increasingly more powerful and successful Communist aggressors, rather than laboriously trying to bring about a "stable government" among the feuding elements in Saigon.

These blunt views were voiced by the CIA head, due to be replaced soon, in his closed-door testimony before the Senate Armed Services Committee, which is conducting an extensive study of the ominous South Viet Nam dilemma.

While not directly challenging the administration's "stability first" policy, McCone left no doubt of his emphatic disagreement with it.

"As long as the battle for South Viet Nam is treated as a political rather than a military problem," he told the senators, "there is little prospect of establishing a stable government in Saigon. That is putting the cart before the horse. The key problem is military and not political, and the sooner that is realized and acted on, the better it will be."

Graphically underscoring his contention, McCone presented a detailed report on battle casualties and weapons losses in the past three years.

The grim figures revealed mounting South Viet Nam losses in both men and arms. Last year approximately twice as many troops were killed, wounded and missing as in 1962, and nearly three times as many weapons were lost.

In striking contrast, the Viet Cong made gains every year. In 1964, U.S. casualties were—136 killed; 1,022 wounded; 11 missing in action; 3 captured; 1,172 weapons lost.

WITHDRAWAL WOULD BE FATAL — Another foreboding development stressed by the Central Intelligence director is that the Communist aggressors now have better weapons and are operating in large organized units.

JIM BISHOP: Reporter
A Man With High Humor

One of the cheerful sides of flying is to listen to the captain address the passengers on the intercommunication system. Some are good talkers. Others are terse. A few do not speak at all.

On a recent Eastern Airlines flight to Florida, a poetic captain cut in to say: "On your right, ladies and gentlemen, is the Florida Gold Coast. If you own a home along this strip of beautiful sand, welcome home, you lucky people. If not, as a Floridian, I bid you welcome to the place of perpetual perfumed breezes, whispering palms, and sunny seas. Stay awhile. Don't go home."

It rocked me. Still, it has been topped. Keith Heaton, one of the best motion picture cameramen in the business, was aboard a Convair on Central Airlines when he noticed that the captain was a comedian. This, of course, is rare. The plane was flying to Dallas, and Heaton noted the name of the captain—Emmett Spinks—and noticed that the amusing jokes relaxed the passengers, and made them laugh.

"Good morning, ladies and gentlemen," he said. "This is your captain speaking. We would like to extend a most cordial welcome to each of you aboard Central Airlines Flight 141. As you know from reading the newspapers, the emphasis in the airline industry is now on entertaining the passengers."

"Some of the larger airlines feature movies while one airline has individual television for each passenger. We don't have very much money but we do have a little program planned for you this morning. In the old days, crews were required to report before a flight to review their emergency procedures, and study the weather."

"It isn't like that anymore. When we report to the airport, a dance instructor teaches us a soft shoe routine. Then a voice coach teaches us a couple of tunes. Then the company gag writer hands us a sheet with funny stories."

"Central Airlines doesn't have any movies, but I can show you a couple of snapshots of my kids eating peanut butter sandwiches. Later, the stewardess will sing two choruses of 'Bill Bailey.' Then I will read a woman's advice column to you. For a grand finale we will make both engines backfire while the entire crew sings 'Dixie.'"

"For those who do not care for community singing, we have arranged special entertainment. Every so often, Central runs what we call our Mystery Flight. The fun of this is that we do not tell the passengers where we are going until after we reach cruising altitude. For example, you have tickets for Dallas, but this Mystery Flight is headed for Las Vegas."

"We will arrive there in three hours. Before landing, the stewardess will pass out money for the slot machines. We want you to enjoy yourself . . ."

Keith Heaton was still copying the captain's words when he cut in again. "Thanksgiving is over," he said, "and Christmas will soon be here. My wife ate so much turkey that they have her on the critical list at Stenderella. Some of you husbands are worrying about what to get your wives for Christmas."

"Last Christmas, I bought my wife one of those fancy ballpoint pens. You know, the kind that writes on butter. All year she has been writing nasty notes on my toast. This year, I'm going to buy her a fur piece. Like a Davy Crockett hat."

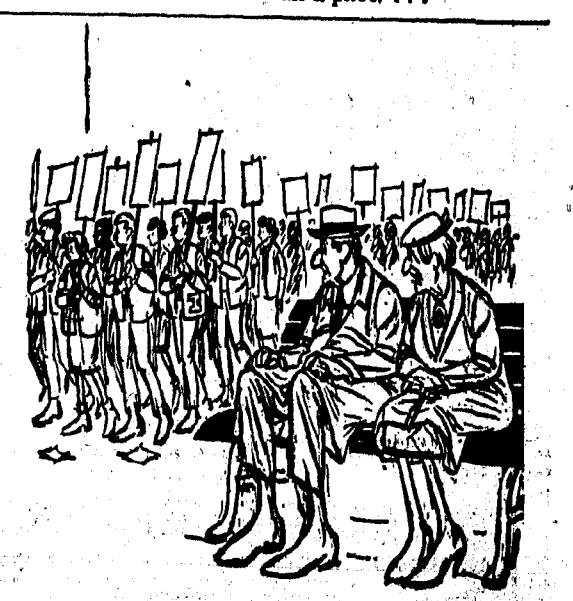

A few minutes later: "Kidding aside, folks, we are at our cruising altitude of 7,500 feet and making a ground speed of 240 miles per hour. The weather ahead is good and we will be in Dallas on schedule."

Some of the passengers seemed saddened by Captain Spinks' lapse into the dreary truth. In an hour, the skyscrapers of Dallas could be seen dead ahead in a haze of chocolate-colored ranches and spidery oil wells.

"Ladies and gentlemen," the captain said, "there is a large city ahead. We aren't sure whether it is New Orleans or Dallas. The best thing is to drop in and ask somebody. If it turns out to be Dallas, we would like to repeat our earlier statement: it has been a pleasure to have you aboard."

"We sincerely appreciate the business. Remember, the ticket you buy keeps my children in peanut butter. Permit me to leave you with a bit of homely philosophy which may stand you in good stead in the future. When things look really black, send them to the laundry."

Who called that comedian a pilot? . . .

"I was sympathetic until I read they were really protesting against old fogies. 'the establishment' — in short, our generation!"

Financial Planning for the Elderly

By SYLVIA PORTER

No matter how much our federal, state, local governments and a multitude of organizations do to provide financial protection for our elderly, in the final analysis the elderly must have the common sense to protect themselves.

The most liberal "medical care" bill Congress could conceivably pass this year will not protect the 65-year-old woman who, in fear or ignorance, wastes her precious Social Security benefits on quack medicines which are at best utterly useless. Nor will the toughest anti-fraud regulations completely wipe out the gypsies who have made America's 18 million over-65 citizens their number one target today.

The most generous boosts in Social Security pensions which Congress could conceivably vote in 1965 will not protect the 70-year-old man who decides to switch from a long-held safe stock paying him a comfortable dividend every year to a speculative "baby" paying nothing. Nor will the most rigid securities rules completely wipe out the borderline brokers who encourage America's elderly to buy and sell little blocks of stock at frequent intervals and thereby to fritter away their pensions in commissions on each transaction.

What the retired or about-to-be retired individual must recognize is the imperative need for knowing and following on his own the basic rules for sound family financial management in his senior years. As John J. Smith, publisher of "Harvest Years," puts it, "The average retired worker will have 25 to 40 per cent less income than before retirement. He must learn how to make a nickel do a dime's work."

The guides are actually excellent. Here are some of the most fundamental recently compiled by Harvest Years (a publication bought by many of the nation's leading corporations to be sent free to employees retired or approaching retirement).

Sample budget: The Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates that a "modest but adequate" standard of living requires a single older person to have at least $1,800, and a retired couple at least $2,500 a year.

For the "average" retired couple, the BLS breaks down a spending budget this way: housing, 36.4 per cent; food and beverages, 28.5 per cent; medical care, 10.7 per cent; clothing, 7 per cent; transportation, 5.4 per cent; other goods and service, 12 per cent.

Washington Dilemma

How to Cope

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wives of new Democratic congressmen have now been briefed on the problems, protocol and privileges of their jobs — they just have to find out how to cope with it all.

Mrs. Hubert Humphrey, wife of the Vice President-elect, facing an unfamiliar job after 16 years as a congressional wife, says she's had to seek advice, too. She went to the top-ranking and senior political wife, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, and passed on what the First Lady told her: "Get good help."

And, it came as no consolation to some 50 wives from the states of New York to Wyoming to learn from Mrs. Margaret Price, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, which launched the Jan. 8 and 13 briefings.

"No group of women have more demands on them than wives of elected public officials," Newcomers' Dilemmas

The dilemmas of the newcomers, which they found pleasure in sharing, include such problems as that of Mrs. David S. King, who said her family, with eight children aged 3 to 20, had to use sleeping bags while awaiting the moving vans from their home-state of Utah.

Everything from getting lost in the Capitol to finding houses and baby sitters was discussed by the wives and it wasn't clear whether they gained more from advice of veterans or commiseration with each other.

One congressman's wife said she has considered taking out the telephone.

In addition to the usual problems of newcomers settling into Washington life, they found themselves here amid the chaos of the inaugural, with unusual numbers of constituents to entertain.

But, the advice-givers — congressional wives who have been through it and survived — strongly urged the newcomers to take part in all phases of the capital's life.

Cite Advantages
And, they cited some of the advantages that come with being married to a congressman:

Parking areas in the city "For Congressional License Only" may be used, including special free parking areas at airports.

They can dine, along with constituents, in the "Members Only" restaurants at the Capitol and arrange for private entertaining there.

The famed Botanical Garden will help them with their flower arrangements.

And a good bargain to watch out for is the periodic "unwanted books" sale by the Library of Congress, which gives Congress members first chance to buy volumes for homestate libraries.

Mrs. Hale Boggs, wife of the Democratic whip from Louisiana, told how some of her homestate libraries were started from such sales.

They can use the branch post-offices in House and Senate. But, beware! That free postage "Franking Privilege" belongs only to Congress members. Wives must buy their own stamps.

Round Toe Shoes Are Back Again

NEW YORK — This year's spring shoe drama spotlights toes in the round.

On the loveliest leather footwear, announces Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America, toes have curved and widened to a smart, comfortable new line. From party to play to work-a-day shoes, the rounded "crescent" holds the center of the arena.

Happily, women have elected to return the curve to fashion, and their footwear is no exception. With the once popular "point" all but shoved off-stage, the rounded crescent shares its audience with a few supporting players. There's the squarish "blunt," mostly in suit and walking shoes; the wide flat "duck bill," breezy and young; and of course, the completely open toe.

The lower the heel on her new shoes, the wider the toe is apt to be. As the heel rises, a balance is maintained by narrowing the shoe tip.

Hopping back to the heel, heights remain at mid-level for most informal and dress footwear. Where heel shape is concerned, however, variety has never been greater. In casual and tailored shoes, women favor the popular set-back heel — either chunky or slim. Other casuals include the block heel, stacked leather heel, and low rounded heel.

Dress heels, for the most part, are slim and mid-height. They may have a pinched-in curviness, an underslung grace, a semi set-back look. However, fashion independents will be able to find low flat heels on very elegant leather shoes for the most formal occasions.

Report Top Democrats Against New Taxes

TRENTON — Powerful state Democratic leaders have told Gov. Richard J. Hughes they will oppose any type of broad based tax this year — an election year. "Perhaps next year we'll go along with such a tax," they said.

Man Fined For Assault

KEYPORT — Robert Epps, Prospect Ave., Cliffwood, and Edward Reid, 74 Highland Ave., Matawan.

Magistrate Kleinberg fined the following persons $3 each on careless driving charges.

Betty Piech, Daners La., West Kearsburg; Marjorie Conception, Box 284, Cliffwood, and Anna Smith, 21 Beers St., this place.

Wilson A. (Snowflake) Bentley, the Vermont farmer who spent years photographing snow crystals, made some 6,000 microphotographs of snowflakes. His pioneering studies have become a standard reference for meteorologists.

The governor is pushing for passage of a broad based income tax — but would go along with a sales tax if the majority of the legislators preferred such a plan. The Democratic chiefs who are worried over what effect a tax platform would have on the re-election campaigns of their senators and assemblymen informed the governor other sources of revenue should be found for the upkeep and improvements of essential state projects. They failed to name the sources.

Despite the leaders' position, there are legislators who will continue to back Hughes' income tax plan.

One of them is assemblyman Patrick J. McGann, Jr., Lincolnton, who is certain an income tax would be less a strain than sales tax.

The Register learned the governor is upset over the attitude taken by several of the Democratic leaders.

"The whole gist of the matter is that the leaders feel the governor is risking his own chances of re-election by even whispering about a broad based tax," one Democratic lawmaker told this newspaper.

"They are afraid that if he goes down to defeat he will take some of the legislative candidates with him. Personally, I believe

Foreign Relations Unit Post Going to Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., has been tentatively assigned the Republican vacancy on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, it was learned Wednesday.

Case has been trying to get a post on the Committee for years. He will give up his seat on Armed Services.

The decision means Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., considered a leading GOP foreign policy expert, probably cannot get a seat on the Committee for at least another two years. Case has more seniority than Cooper, former American ambassador to India.

almost at once. After that, it would only be a short time before the remainder of Southeast Asia would go neutralist and then Communist. India, Thailand, the Philippines, Burma, would all go in quick succession.

"We would soon be pushed out of the Western Pacific back to Honolulu. That would be the short-term effect. The long-term effect would be even worse."

In response to questions regarding other areas and developments, McCone told the senators:

Russia is going to great lengths to perfect a giant missile capable of carrying 50 to 60 megatons (equivalent to 50 to 60 million tons of TNT) nuclear warheads. Also Soviet missile testing has greatly increased since the signing of the nuclear test ban in 1963.

No secret Russian atmospheric nuclear tests have been detected, but the Red are constantly conducting underground tests.

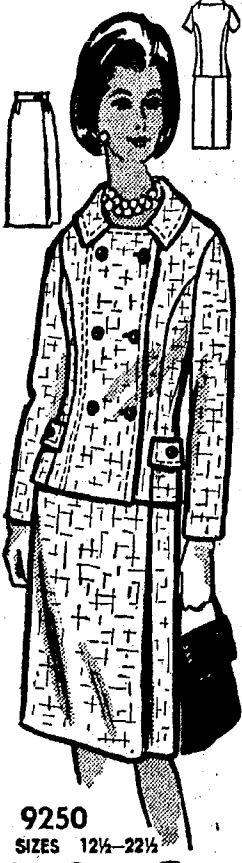

The CIA is still uncertain who the real new rulers of the Kremlin are. No determination has yet been made of the exact roles of Premier Kosygin and First Communist Party Secretary Brezhnev.

The primary objective of Khrushchev's successors is the same as his—Communist domination of the world. That has not been changed, and there is no likelihood it ever will be.

McCone's successor is still not selected. The only decision so far made by the President is to replace McCone with a "name" rather than a "technician."

INAUGURAL FLASHES—Harold Stassen, one-time "boy" governor of Minnesota and since then candidate for various other jobs, including president, will be on hand for the Johnson inauguration and related ceremonies. In addition to buying two $25 tickets for the inaugural ball, Stassen also has purchased two tables for the Minnesota Society's pre-inaugural party in honor of Vice President-elect Hubert Humphrey. . . . Venezuela's Foreign Minister Borges, in a Caracas broadcast, stated "a visit by President Johnson is in the forefront of our national expectations." Borges gave no indication when such a visit is likely, but was emphatic that "it will mean closer ties between our two countries."

Charter Boat Owners Seek Tax Exemption

By NELSON BENEDICT
BELFORD — Ways and means of exempting their vessels from the personal property tax were explored by professional boatmen at a meeting here last night.

Relief, in this particular case, did not appear to be an instant away.

Party and charter boatmen, together with commercial fishermen, now contend they are the "outs" and recreational boatmen are the "ins," where the personal property tax is concerned.

The Legislature made a successful last-ditch effort to remove pleasure craft from the tax lists as provided by Chapter 51. Owners of vessels of the sort were nevertheless warned to anticipate a registration act some time this year.

Not Mandatory
Professional skippers are well aware of the fact that under provisions of the Bonner Act, their documented boats are not subject to mandatory registration by the state.

In light of recent developments, the professionals now are commencing to feel that it might be wise to accept "voluntary" registration on the premise that by doing so, they would automatically be exempted from the personal property tax, as when an all-embracing registration act is considered by the Legislature.

At least one South Jersey legislator, Sen. Charles Sandman (R-Cape May) already has indicated he would be receptive to sponsoring a registration measure with broad classification of boat types and uses.

As discussed at Belford last night, the bill Sandman is considering would establish this schedule of annual registration fees:

Class A boats, 0-16 feet, $2.
Class 1 boats, 16-26 feet, $3.
Class 2 boats, 26-40 feet, $10.
Class 3 boats, 40-65 feet, $20.

Compelling arguments were advanced in support of the concept of scaling registration fees on a basis of hull length rather than engine horsepower.

Not all members of the Legislature are convinced commercial boats should receive the same exemption from taxation as now do pleasure boats.

One member of the Assembly told The Register:

"These people are basically small businessmen and, as such, should pay the same taxes as do all other small businessmen. . . I wonder about the constitutionality of exempting any small, privileged group from what is essentially a broad-based tax."

Conversely, professional boatmen are openly questioning the constitutionality of legislation which denied to them tax benefits extended to other boating interests.

Long Study Seen

A boat registration bill of one kind or another will almost certainly pop up in the Legislature within a matter of weeks, but present indications are that final action in the matter probably will come only after months of deliberations and debate in Trenton and elsewhere throughout the state.

Supporters of the Sandman formula for boat registration, incidentally, suggest that the mechanics of actual registration could be facilitated by providing decals of different colors for the various classes of boats.

Fees would be collected and decals issued by municipal clerks to eliminate backlogs of unprocessed registrations at state agencies.

All of which still remains very much in the area of pure conjecture, but it is clearly evident the professionals are determined to enjoy the same tax benefits as do their pleasure boating brethren.

Federal Aid for Holmdel Hospital Still in Doubt

TRENTON — The proposed Bayshore Community Hospital, Holmdel, is back in the running for federal Hill-Burton construction aid money. However, it appears now that this facility is far from the top of the list of favorites for such assistance.

Dr. Lloyd W. McCorkle, commissioner of the state department of Institutions and Agencies, told The Register yesterday that this year — for the first time — projections on population growth will be used in establishing priority for federal hospital aid.

In addition, he said, a survey is under way and should be completed by September. His is a study of patient origin areas in the entire state.

Arthur E. Brown, assistant

Changes Possible
He cautioned, however, that new figures could show changes throughout many areas of the state — and could fail to change present priority ratings.

He said the survey of patient origin is being made to either confirm or change systems of establishing priority now being used.

While the figures may be outdated, he said, they may prove to be valid and reasonable in determining where additional hospital beds are needed.

Mr. Brown said there is some $3 million worth of new construction aid sought by "acceptable applicants" during the current fiscal year. Allocated by the federal government for New Jersey is a figure slightly in excess of $3 million.

He said Bayshore Community Hospital's application is not acceptable because priority ratings, based on the present districting system, indicate there is not a need for additional beds in this area.

The assistant chief explained that acceptable applicants failing to receive funds this year do not automatically remain at the top of the list for 1965-66 fiscal year funds.

New applications must be filed

Clarence S. Gale

Gale Now Colonel In The Reserves

RED BANK — Clarence S. Gale of 16 McLaren St., has been promoted from lieutenant colonel to colonel in the U. S. Army Reserves.

Col. Gale, the 1964 Republican candidate for mayor here, was commissioned upon graduation from North Carolina State College in 1937 and entered active service as a student at Fort Monmouth in 1941. He served in Australia, New Guinea and the Philippines and attended the Army's Command and General Staff College before his separation in 1945.

As a reservist he has served as executive officer of the 35th Signal Battalion, a unit sponsored by the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company where he is employed as a personnel supervisor, and as an instructor for the Reserve Center at Fort Monmouth.

Rumson Gets Petitions On Land and Lights

RUMSON — Two petitions of opinion from most of the residents affected. A group from the area near River Rd. and Popomora Dr. registered objection to any contemplated subdivision of property owned by Mrs. Minnie Willey at the southwest corner of that intersection. Mayor Charles Callman said he knows of no application pending.

Shrewsbury Motorist Loses Appeal

TRENTON (AP) — A motorist convicted of careless driving on Reckless Place in Red Bank lost an appeal before New Jersey's second highest court Thursday.

Charles Van Over of Shrewsbury was convicted in Monmouth County Court last May.

Patrolman Franklin White testified that Van Over drove his car "zig-zag fashion" down Reckless Place in Red Bank so another car couldn't pass.

Van Over contended he wasn't zig-zagging, that he was merely attempting to go around an automobile pulling out of a parking lot.

The Appellate Division of Superior Court said the trial judge gave greater weight to the testimony of the policeman than to Van Over or three of his corroborating witnesses.

The Appellate Court said it agreed with the lower court's ruling that Van Over's defense had "volume, but not quality."

Get First Patients

TRENTON (AP) — The Woodbridge State School, an institution for 1,000 severely retarded children, has begun receiving its first patients.

The State Institutions Department said Thursday that the first arrivals are transfers from other state institutions for the retarded.

Small School Tax Boost Is Shown in Little Silver

LITTLE SILVER — The Board of Education last night adopted a tentative budget of $852,741.15 for the 1965-66 school year. Board members predicted it would increase the local tax rate less than one cent per $100 of assessed valuation.

The total budget is up $41,315.30 over last year, but the board appropriated some $40,000 in surplus funds to ease the tax bite. The total amount to be raised in local taxes is $691,251.15, just $4,494.30 more than the $686,756.85 tax levy for the current budget.

A public hearing will be held Monday evening, Jan. 25, at 8 p.m. in the Markham Place School cafeteria.

The budget appropriates $785,830 for current expense; $17,730 for capital outlay and $49,181.15 for debt service.

The 1964-65 budget appropriated $751,477 for current expense; $9,630 for capital outlay and $50,318.85 for debt service.

The biggest increase is in teachers salaries—$354,225 in the proposed budget compared to $324,600 in the current spending schedule. The increase provides for normal salary increments and also will put all teachers here on the salary guide, Marshall Thompson, the board's secretary, said.

Of the $17,730 appropriated for capital outlay, approximately $7,000 is earmarked for installation of a closed circuit fire detection alarm system in the Markham Place School, Mr. Thompson said. He said the board hopes to have the new safety system in and working by September.

The state Department of Education has ordered the systems installed in all schools by September, 1968. The Point Road School is exempted from the requirements, because it is a one-story building with each classroom having direct access to the outside.

Normal increments raise the appropriation for salaries in the school's health department from $8,650 to $11,800.

An increase in the number of high school children and an expanded field trip program will raise the transportation expenditure from $7,900 to $9,400, Mr. Thompson said. The appropriation for teaching supplies is up $2,850 from last year's $7,000. There is a $2,340 drop in the appropriation for contracted maintenance services—$6,110 in the proposed budget compared to $8,450 in the current one.

Another School for Holmdel Needed Now, Says Landers

HOLMDEL — Board of Education President John J. Landers confirmed it—another school is needed here.

Mr. Landers, at a public hearing last night on the proposed school budget, reported that a new building program will be one of the first orders of business for the new board after its organization Feb. 15.

He said between that time and the end of February the final, updated report of Rutgers University school survey would be on hand for use in planning.

The board meanwhile, with a unanimous vote, adopted its first million dollar budget without a change.

based upon an expected enrollment of 1,245.

"But," he cautioned "though this is the best prediction we can make, no member of this board will be willing to hang his hat on the figure. We hope we'll be right."

Defending Dr. W. Donald Walling, director of the survey, he said:

Growth Continues
"His figures, at first, appeared too high. Later it looked as though we were hitting his figures on the nose. Indications now are that growth will be higher than the survey's projections." Based on recent acceleration in population here, Dr. Walling requested time extension for due date of his final report.

Victory Dinner Set Jan. 23

RED BANK — If ticket sales are any criterion the Monmouth County Democratic Victory Dinner Saturday, Jan. 23, will be the largest ever sponsored by the party in this area.

The affair will be held in the Sea Girt Inn.

"I expect an overflow crowd to turn out to honor our winning candidates and party workers," Democratic County Chairman Paul Campi, Little Silver, said last night.

He said the 1965-66 budget is to the dinner committees, Chairman Campi came up with an innovation. He named dozens of county Democrats to the ticket, program and usher committees.

Among the guest speakers will be Gov. Richard J. Hughes; U.S. Sen. Harrison A. Williams, and Rep. James J. Howard, Wall Township.

"The pre-dinner plans are running smoothly," Mr. Campi remarked. "I just hope everyone doesn't want to dance at the same time after they finish the roast beef. That would create a problem."

Sea Bright Councilwoman Cecile Norton is ticket chairman, and State Committeeman Paul Kiernan, Long Branch, heads the program activities.

Among those on the program committee are Middletown Democratic Chairman William Himelmann; Kearsburg leader Benjamin Andreach; secretary to the county board of elections, Mrs. Kathryn Campi said.

Open Dumont Headquarters

NEWARK (AP) — A group seeking to put State Sen. Wayne Dumont, Jr. in the governor's chair next November has opened its statewide headquarters here.

Bernard F. Rodgers, executive director of the Dumont For Governor Committee, said the group was composed of businessmen, lawyers and others "who hope to persuade Dumont to run."

He said the committee leased a suite in the Hotel Douglas here Tuesday and was now in the organizational stage. Its first goal, Rodgers said, is to get the 60-member GOP screening committee to recommend Dumont's nomination.

Dumont, 50-year-old Warren County senator, was an unsuccessful candidate for the nomination in 1957 and 1961. He has not said whether he will seek the nomination this year to run against Democratic Gov. Richard J. Hughes.

Dumont is an outspoken advocate of a broad-based tax, preferring a sales tax.

In Trenton, Dumont said Thursday

Former Mayors To Keep Unit Membership

NEWARK (AP) — Some 300 former mayors will be permitted to remain as associate members of the New Jersey Conference of Mayors under a rules change approved Thursday by the Conference board of directors.

Mayor Henry Patterson of Princeton, Conference president, also announced that Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City will be one of the guest speakers at a meeting of the organization at Princeton University on May 14.

The board of directors also awarded a testimonial plaque to former Mayor J. Raymond Manahan of Morristown, a former

$3 Million School Budget Adopted By Matawan Unit

MATAWAN TOWNSHIP — The regional school district's population stands at 21,000.

Of that number, 10,400 are registered voters.

Of these, only 21 appeared last night for a public hearing on the Board of Education's proposed $3 million budget for 1965-66. That is less than one-quarter of one per cent of them.

A puzzled, and somewhat discouraged board, convened the meeting in the 600-seat high school auditorium at 8 o'clock, answered half a dozen questions, voted to adopt the budget, and went home.

It took just a few minutes. Three or four spectators who came late missed the whole show.

Donald T. Day, Lochlea Club officer, failed in his bid to get the board to reduce the amount for additional bus transportation.

On a special ballot question, voters will be asked whether they want the board to spend an extra $86,000 for transportation.

If the question is approved, the board will change its policy, reducing walking distance for children in kindergarten through sixth grade to half a mile, and 1½ miles for children in grades seven through 12.

The $86,000 would include $10,000 for the hiring of a transportation co-ordinator.

Mr. Day said last night $86,000 is too much.

"It will be defeated unless the amount is lowered," he predicted. He asked for a three-quarter to mile-and-a-half or a mile to mile-and-a-half program, the former costing about $48,000 and the latter, $28,000.

A board motion to table the entire question failed, and on the final vote to place the $86,000 question on the ballot. There were three dissenters, board members Harold J. Dolan, Edward J. Ledford and William Davis.

Mr. Dolan said that over 10 years the new transportation policy—which calls for the riding of about 2,500 more students to school—will cost $1½ million.

The proposed budget totals $3,037,845, an increase of $536,240 over the current year.

The budget, as proposed (not including the $86,000), would produce an estimated rate hike of 26 cents in the township and a drop of five cents in the borough.

The amount to be raised by taxation is $2,137,105, a hike of $430,052. Of this total, the borough will be required to raise $56,896, and the township $1,473,108.

Other categories in the proposed budget.

Current expense, $2,600,971, compared with $2,198,263 this year.

Capital outlay, $79,340, as compared with $45,284 this year.

Debt service, $357,534, as compared with $258,058 this year.

The teacher salary account is hiked from $1,616,506 to $1,892,295.

On Zoning Ordinance

Two Public Meetings Slated at Highlands

HIGHLANDS — The Planning Board will hold two public meetings at Borough Hall, including plans to explain and hear comments from the public on a proposed zoning ordinance before submitting it to Borough Council.

The meetings, to be held Jan. 27 and 28, will deal with different sections of the borough.

First Meeting
The first meeting will pertain to all of the town north of the hill area, or that portion between the entire length of Bayside Dr. and the railroad bed, and from the Water Witch Ave. to the Rt. 36 bridge, north to the shore.

The second meeting will concentrate on the hill area, or all of the municipality south of Bayside Dr. and the railroad bed to the Middletown boundary.

Long Branch Project Funds Are Approved

WASHINGTON — Democratic Rep. James J. Howard, D-3d Dist., N.J., yesterday announced the federal government will grant an additional $151,897 for completion of a 100-acre urban renewal project along the Shrewsbury River in Long Branch, N.J.

He said the project, now in its final stages, will provide for 160 one-family residential development and 270 garden apartment units.

The plans include four parks to be developed by the city of Long Branch and an $8 million commercial development and marina being financed by private interests.

Rep. Howard said the federal appropriation brings the government's participation in the renewal project to $1,397,474.

For Saturday, January 16

Present—For You and Yours... Do nothing that would undermine the foundations of established social and family affiliations. Your desires may clash with your budget. Don't do anything that you would regret tomorrow! A party in P.M. may not turn out to be as enjoyable as anticipated. Leave as early as you tactfully can.

Past... A century ago New York teachers did more than just teach. They filled lamps, cleaned chimneys, and carried coal. But their extra effort did not go unrewarded — if they did their jobs satisfactorily, a pay raise of 25c a week was awarded!

Future... A survey shows that leading firms are planning an increase in capital expenditures which would bring the 1965 total to more than $48 billion — compared with the record $44 billion spent on plant and equipment in 1964.

Redistricting Problem—Some Solutions

By JOHN KOLESAR

TRENTON (AP) — The New Jersey Legislature's Reapportionment Commission is embarking on a hunt for that most elusive of political goals — an impartial congressional district plan.

The goal is especially important now, because revised congressional districts appear to be the key to the commission's entire reapportionment plan.

Former Gov. Robert B. Meyner, who heads the 12-member commission, has set up a fairly clear plan of attack:

1. Draw up 15 new congressional districts with equal populations of about 400,000. Try to split as few counties as possible.
2. Use these districts as the basis for electing two state senators each, making a Senate with 30 members, compared with the present 21.
3. Use the counties, or maybe the districts, to elect an Assembly of about 60 members.

Sounds Clear

This all sounds fairly clear and logical, compared with the usual muddle that surrounds the reapportionment problem. But it has its complexities.

Obviously, the whole plan rides or falls on just how good the new congressional districts are. If they are a hodgepodge of county fragments, they would not be very useful as the basis of a legislative reapportionment.

If the districts are gerrymandered in favor of the Republicans, Democratic Gov. Richard J. Hughes will reject them. If the Democrats gerrymander the districts, the Republican legislative majorities will reject them.

Meyner says he sees no signs that anyone on the commission wants to gerrymander the districts. That takes care of only 12 people, however. Among the remaining six million in the state, a few might not be so impartial.

Six Proposals

The Meyner Commission has already received half a dozen proposals for drawing new congressional districts and expects to get a lot more Friday when it holds a public hearing at the State House.

The formula for drawing up a redistricting plan is beginning to take shape: Draw your own district the way you like it and then bend the rest of the state around it.

The basic problem in congressional redistricting is the fact that the last complete job was done in 1931 by a Republican Legislature intent on electing Republicans to Congress. That gerrymander has worn through in several places and actually benefits the Democrats in several places.

For instance the First District (Camden, Gloucester and Salem Counties) is Republican and has a population of 545,000. The 13th and 14th Districts, two Democratic strongholds in Hudson County, have a combined population of 512,000.

Meyner said last week that it is generally agreed that the over-representation in the northern half of the state must be eliminated by creating a new district in the southern half.

But Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., a Democratic congressman from the 10th District (part of Essex and Hudson Counties) has drawn up a redistricting plan which keeps the north-south division at its present balance.

He does this by drawing up districts in South Jersey that are overpopulated by a total of 217,000 people. At the same time, his North Jersey districts are underpopulated by as much as 14 per cent each. However, Rodino's plan has one major advantage — it wouldn't change the political tone of any present district. And it has some personal advantages — he would give up Republican Glen Ridge for Democratic areas of Newark.

Shift 12 District

Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., another Democrat from the Fourth District (Mercer and Burlington Counties), proposed a plan which makes the all-important shift of one district from North Jersey to South Jersey. The disappearing North Jersey district is the present 12th in Essex County.

Thompson's plan was drawn up last year when former Rep. George M. Wallhauser, a Republican, was retiring. Thompson figured if you have to do away with a seat, make it coincide with the retirement of its occupant. But now the seat has been won by a Democrat and Thompson may no longer be interested in elimination of the 12th District.

The Rutgers University Bureau of Government Research drew up a redistricting plan in the late 1950s and one portion of it became law — when New Jersey won a 15th congressional seat after the 1960 census, Middlesex County became the new district. The rest of the plan makes relatively slight changes in the present setup. It too has a tendency to leave the South Jersey districts overpopulated.

Essex Revamp

Former Assemblyman George C. Richardson, Negro leader of a Democratic faction sometimes at war with the party in Essex, proposed revamping congressional districts in Essex to make one district predominantly Negro.

The most radical new plan was proposed by Jerome U. Burke and William H. Everett, two Republican Assemblymen from Essex County. Their plan splits counties all over the state.

Among its other features, the Burke-Everett plan puts Trenton in the same district with part of the City of Camden and creates another district running across the center of the state from the Delaware River south of Phillipsburg to the Atlantic Ocean at Sandy Hook. Their plan would divide Burlington County among three different districts. While the commission wants congressional districts with equal populations, it wants to do it without splitting counties into fragments. They asked their own researcher, Samuel A. Alito, to draw up a sample of such a redistricting plan.

Small Deviation

Alito tried it and found that population deviations were smaller than those of any other plan submitted.

Alito managed to get by with splitting only one county — Gloucester, excluding those counties which are too large to be included in one district.

He deleted one of the five districts now allotted to Hudson and Hudson Counties. Unlike the Rodino and Thompson plans, he did not lump Bayonne and Elizabeth in the same district.

The biggest changes from the present setup were the combination of Burlington and Atlantic Counties into district and tying Mercer, Hunterdon, Warren and Sussex into a Delaware river-front district. A variation of the plan would create a Mercer-Somerset district and a Morris-Hunterdon-Warren - Sussex District.

Politically, the Alito sample would give each party six relatively safe seats with three toss-ups (using 1962 election returns in which Republicans won an 8-7 margin on the state's congressional delegation).

The Alito samples were not drawn up as redistricting plans. They were intended only as impartial examples of what could be done while still sticking close to the county system.

The sample plans may have the fatal flaw of being so impartial that no one wants them.

Patient Still At Large But Fails in Court

FREEHOLD — Robert W. Hernandez, who walked off the grounds of Marlboro State Hospital Saturday during a four-day recess in his hearing in Superior Court for release from the hospital, failed to appear Wednesday when his case was scheduled to resume.

Superior Court Judge Elvin R. Simmill directed that the application be dismissed.

Waiting for Hernandez, if he arrived, were a score of sheriff's officers who surrounded the Court Houses and watched every door. Since they had been advised of testimony early in the hearing that Hernandez has "homicidal tendencies," they were heavily armed.

Sheriff Joseph A. Shafio, complying with Judge Simmill's instructions, had directed his officers to escort Hernandez to the court room to carry on his hearing if he did appear.

But the 46-year-old former Toms River man didn't show up at all.

If and when he is returned to custody, he will have to start all over again to challenge the commitment by Ocean County Judge Albert Larrabee last month.

Hernandez had a history of arguments with Toms River police for two years and twice, while under arrest, had been committed to the Vroom Building for criminally insane at State Prison, Trenton.

In his latest encounter in December, Judge Larrabee sent Hernandez to Marlboro on a basis c/o Long Branch High School.

of examination of local doctors. He had been picked up after having signed himself out of a veterans hospital in South Carolina and was contesting the right of the police to have taken him in custody and examined.

Since his escape special police guards have been assigned to Larrabee and Ocean County Prosecutor William H. Huber, they will continue on duty until Hernandez is returned to the hospital.

Asking Bids For Marlboro Post Office

PHILADELPHIA — Postmaster General John A. Gronowski yesterday announced that competitive bids will be asked for the construction of a new post office in Marlboro Township, N.J.

What the Post Office Department wants, he said, is a building to be located on the south side of School Rd., 200 feet west of Rt. 79. The successful bidder would build it according to government specifications and lease it to the department for 10 years, allowing an option for a 20-year renewal.

W.B. McGovern, regional real estate officer, at Newark, is now leasing bid forms. They must be sent back to him before Wednesday, Feb. 17, at 2 p.m.

Save 1964 for your children.

"What was it like to be alive in 1964?" Today, when last year is still almost close enough to touch, it's easy to recall everything vividly. But think back a few years. Remember 1954? Remember its moods, color, minor madneses and major events? Probably not. The year has faded into the flat dimensions of a history book. In a few years 1964 will be just as difficult to recall, just as impossible to describe to our children.

To recapture all the high drama, low comedy, the events of lasting importance of 1964, The Associated Press announces a new and unique book.

It's called The World in 1964: history as we lived it. It's available through this newspaper.

The World in 1964 is a 300-page annual report covering the condition of the planet in this monumental year. It recalls vividly the stories that captured headlines in the worlds of science, sports, politics, entertainment, religion, civil rights, war and more. It's a brilliantly written book, crammed with the year's best news photos, many in full color.

For its historic value alone, The World in 1964, is worth its small price of $3.00. But there's more. It includes a valuable almanac, too, with basic facts about the U.S., foreign governments, sports records, business information, births, deaths, marriages, and that scarcest of all items, an up to date world map.

Here is truly a remarkable book that will interest everyone now, and will keep growing more valuable to you, your friends and your children.

Books may be reserved now before printing begins and will be mailed in February. Order now, by filling in the coupon and mailing it today to this newspaper.

Tidelands Bill Vetoed By Hughes

TRENTON (AP)—Gov. Richard J. Hughes vetoed a bill Wednesday which he said would surrender state title to tidelands worth more than $100 million.

The bill, sponsored by Assemblyman William T. Hering, R-Ocean, was aimed at clearing up title questions about thousands of acres of land. Much of the land ostensibly is owned by private citizens and corporations but may actually belong to the state, under the doctrine that the state is the original owner of all property between high and low tide marks.

Hughes said he realizes that title questions have held up development of areas like the Hackensack meadowlands. But he said Hering's bill gives up far too much.

A state commission headed by former Gov. Robert B. Meyner is studying the tidelands ownership problem now, Hughes said, and its report may help solve the problems.

Hughes also vetoed five other assembly bills which were sent to him by the former Assembly speaker Alfred N. Beadleston, R-Monmouth, forcing him to act by Wednesday. Hughes said he agreed with the objectives of several of the bills, but Beadleston's action did not allow him time to work out necessary amendments.

One of these was sponsored by former Assemblyman Clarkson Fisher, now a Monmouth County judge; Assemblyman Irving Keith, both Monmouth Republicans, and Hering.

It would create a new category of assault and battery, with a maximum penalty of three years in prison.

Hughes said the idea of that bill is good. He said a new category is needed between simple assault and battery and atrocious assault and battery.

But he said the bill has the effect of downgrading penalties for atrocious assault. He proposed that a more carefully drawn measure be submitted.

In Teaching Brain Injured Child

Regular Classes Best, Specialist Tells Group

OAKHURST — Brain injured children can be educated in regular classrooms if there is a teacher with specialized training available to provide the supplementary help the youngsters require, Harold Ruvin, associate professor of special education at Jersey City State College, said here Wednesday night.

"The average teacher doesn't understand the brain injured child. She is not always in a position to meet the child's needs. And she doesn't have the time or training to develop the special techniques necessary," Prof. Ruvin said.

He addressed about 60 persons at a meeting of the Monmouth-Ocean County section of the New Jersey Association for Brain Injured Children in the Oakhurst School, Monmouth Rd.

Employment of trained "itinerant teachers" within the school system to assist with the instruction of these physically handicapped youngsters would make it possible to keep many brain injured children out of special classes, he said.

"And I would a hundred times rather see a child in a regular class than in a special one," Prof. Ruvin said.

"Particular Bias"
"That is a particular bias of mine," he added.

Specialized teaching for the brain injured is so new a field "that educators are not sure what to do, and there are very few guide lines," said Prof. Ruvin.

The educator also is a director of the federal training program in special education at his college.

Because brain injured children have limited spans of concentration and tend to be hyperactive, many authorities advocate a highly-ordered classroom environment to protect the youngsters from overstimulation and to keep distractions at a minimum.

While useful with some children, this tightly structured approach "can be the worst thing in the world for others," he asserted, adding:

"It is useful in managing behavior, and in gaining control of a class, but in terms of learning it is doing a disservice to the children," he declared.

"Must Understand"
The teacher who works with brain injured children must understand the specific areas in which each individual child functions, and then must set realistic goals for progress, Prof. Ruvin emphasized.

He said the children should be encouraged to use as much sensory approach to learning as possible, and should be exposed to competition under very carefully controlled conditions.

Prof. Ruvin cautioned against the establishment of unrealistic goals.

"Each of us has the highest aspirations for our children," he said, "but we have to recognize that not all children in special classes will achieve as much as we hope for them."

Cites Dishonesty

"In some ways, we have been dishonest," Prof. Ruvin declared. "Sometimes special classes have been organized and sold to boards of education on the premise that we'll be able to put the children back into regular classrooms. Well, some of the children won't make it. And not enough of us as parents are beginning to recognize that."

Prof. Ruvin declared that it is "the responsibility of the school to give parents guidance and counseling" to help them understand their child's abilities and limitations.

"If the school doesn't do it, who will?" he asked.

The state college professor said that job training programs for those brain injured children who do not go on to college "can be worked out with vocational high schools."

"That is a job for an organization like this," he told the local group, "working as individuals, you don't stand a chance."

Prof. Ruvin called upon parents to make the education of the brain injured child a co-operative venture of the home and school. He said that by establishing a routine, helping the child to succeed at chores, and anxiety-producing situations, parents can reinforce the work of protecting the youngster from the teacher.

As the association uses the term, the brain injured child is a normal youngster who, because of brain damage, has specific learning difficulties in some areas and average or above average ability in others. Damage to brain tissue is irreversible, but other portions of the brain can be trained to take over the functions of the damaged portion — much as persons who have suffered a stroke learn to walk and talk again.

PTA Hears Postmistress

MORGANVILLE — Mrs. Douglas Alt, postmistress here, spoke on procedures used by the post office in combating distribution of pornographic materials to young people through the mail. At the Parent-Teacher Association meeting Jan. 4.

Mrs. Alt urged parents to concern themselves with what their children receive in the mail and to report any questionable material to the authorities. A film, "If the Mail Stopped," depicting the work of the Post Office Department, was shown.

At the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. James Denton, the membership was urged to attend the Marlboro Township Board of Education budget hearing Jan. 13.

Mrs. Frank Cullens reported a membership of 101. The attendance award was won by Mrs. Gail Bressler's first grade.

The next meeting will be a joint meeting with the Central School PTA, to be held Monday Feb. 1, at Central School, Wickatunk at 8 p.m. Candidates for the Marlboro Township Board of Education will attend.

Wants Drinking Age Raised

TRENTON (AP) — State Sen. Nelson F. Stamler, R-Union, asked Parent-Teachers Associations in New Jersey Wednesday to back a drive to persuade New York State to raise its drinking age from 18 to 21.

Stamler also accused New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of referring to himself as "a man of conscience and principles" but doing nothing to raise the minimum drinking age in New York.

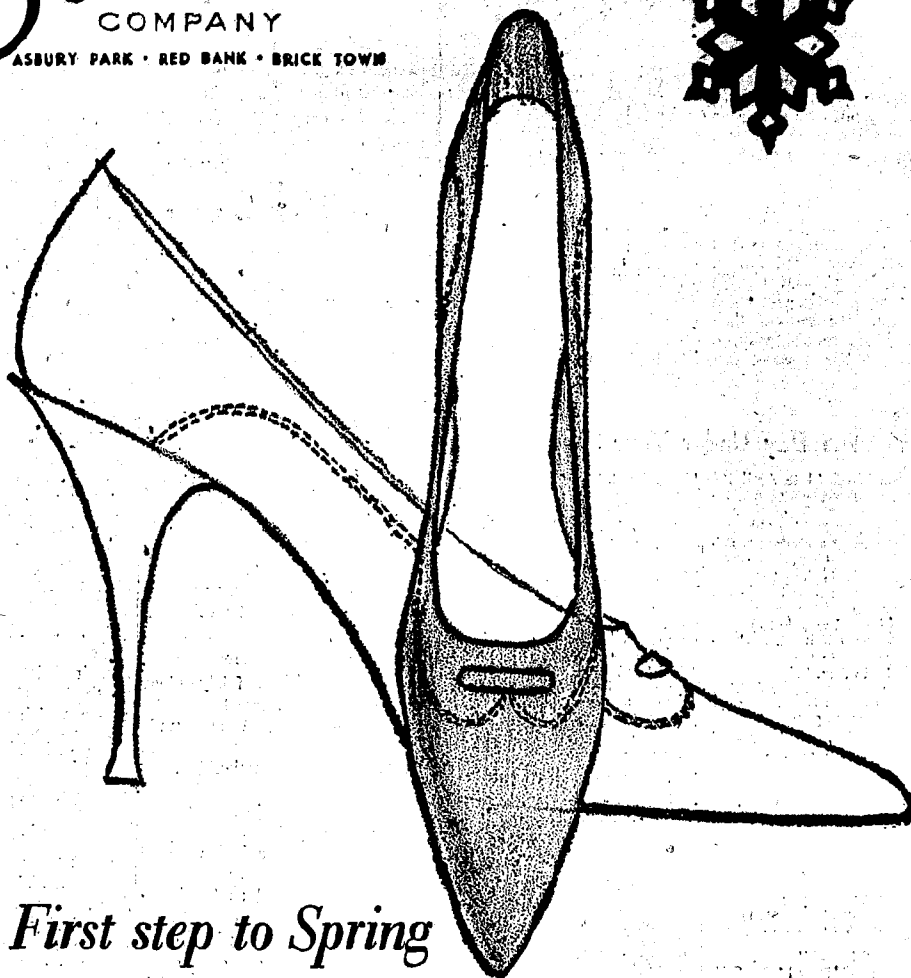

Rockefeller is a Republican, as is Stamler. The Union County senator is considered one of many contenders for the GOP gubernatorial nomination in New Jersey.

Stout, Beadleston Named To Positions

TRENTON — State Sen. Richard R. Stout (R-Mon.), West Allenhurst, has been named to the Senate Judiciary Committee, which determines whether to confirm gubernatorial appointments. Sen. Stout also was named chairman of the Senate Highways Committee.

In an important committee appointment in the lower house, Assemblyman Alfred N. Beadleston (R-Mon.), Rumson, was named to that body's Education Committee. Beadleston, a former speaker of the house, sponsored the Beadleston Act, which provides for public education of handicapped children.
