Kennedy Dies of Assassin's Bullet; Johnson Declares National Mourning

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, felled like his President brother by an assassin's bullet, died early today. He never regained consciousness, never showed signs of recovery after a savage burst of revolver fire sent a bullet plunging into his brain — at the pinnacle of his own campaign for the White House.

President Johnson, the man who succeeded the assassinated President Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963, issued a proclamation calling for a day of mourning for the senator next Sunday. As Kennedy died, the man accused of shooting him was under heavy guard at a downtown prison hospital on $250,000 bail for a court appearance which had been scheduled Monday.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy, widow of the assassinated President, was in her brother-in-law's room when he died. Two of Kennedy's sisters, Mrs. Stephen Smith and Mrs. Patricia Lawford, were there, too. Salinger said three of Kennedy's 10 children were in an adjacent room and saw their father before he died.

all but a fragment in a vain attempt to save the senator's life. But Kennedy never rallied. "It was not a question of his sinking," Mankiewicz said, "but of not rising. He needed a rally and steady improvement in his condition, and that did not develop."

He Knew It Could Happen

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Robert F. Kennedy always sensed it would come some day. "I play Russian roulette every time I get up in the morning," he would tell friends. "But I just don't care," he said. "There's nothing I could do about it anyway."

Somber LBJ Seeks Causes of Violence

WASHINGTON (AP) — A somber President Johnson has named a blue-ribbon commission to seek the causes of violence in the land — violence that has now stricken Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. The chief executive expressed his shock and dismay over the shooting of Kennedy in Los Angeles and told a national television-radio audience last night that violence, murder and assassination must stop.

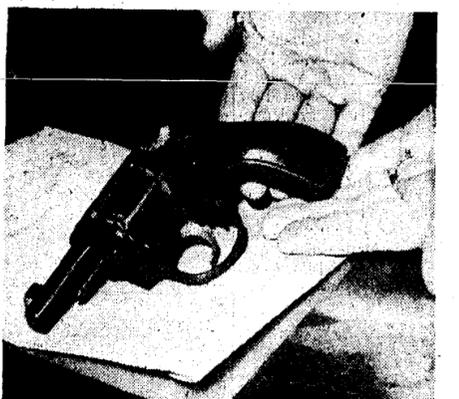

considerable force and intensity. He deplored the Kennedy shooting and praised the senator's "brilliant career of public service," his "uncommon energy and dedication." Johnson said there was a connection between hatred and lawlessness and the individual act of violence against Kennedy. But he said it would be wrong to conclude "that our country is sick, that it has lost its sense of balance, its sense of direction and common decency."

Expressions of Grief Pour Forth

LONDON (AP) — More expressions of shock, grief and horror poured forth today at news of the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Michael Ramsey, said in a statement: "I appreciate his work and his progressive views," said Lord Butler, former Conservative foreign secretary. "He was easy to deal with as he was so quick and receptive to all points of view. I am deeply sympathetic with his wife and family." Jeremy Thorpe, leader of the Liberal party, said: "The brutal and senseless murder of Sen. Kennedy has shocked the whole of Britain. America's

GUN RECOVERED — Los Angeles Police said this eight-shot .22 pistol was taken from a suspect in the shooting of Sen. Robert Kennedy. The suspect was identified by officials yesterday as Sirhan Sirhan. They said he and a brother, natives of Jordan, apparently came to the U.S. from Jerusalem. (AP Wirephoto)

He had a dark, brown drink, and he idly swirled the ice cubes with an index finger as he spoke, broodingly gazing out at the stars and the lights of towns below.

Wasn't he concerned, he was asked, about the perils of such wild crowds as he had attracted that day and nearly every day of his presidential campaign?

"No," the candidate said, "I just don't worry about that. There's no sense in worrying about those things. If they want you, they can get you."

Woman Burned

MATAWAN — Mrs. Margaret Phelps, 60, of the Marc Hampton Apartments, was reported in critical condition with burns this morning in the intensive care unit of Riverview Hospital, Red Bank. Police said the woman's clothing caught fire in the bathroom of her apartment at 3:30 p.m. yesterday. Her husband Robert, 66, put out the flames and called police.

The Arab world deplored the assassination, but the opinion was widely expressed that he died because of American policy in the Middle East, which the Arabs consider pro-Israeli.

At last the "murder of the Palestinian homeland" has been brought dramatically to the attention of the American people, said one Arabic newspaper in Lebanon.

Pope Paul VI was told of the death of the noted member of his Roman Catholic flock as he discussed Church business with a group of prelates in his Vatican apartment. He halted the meeting immediately, and the prelates prayed with him for Kennedy's soul.

The Pope was expected to say a Mass for Kennedy Friday.

Speaking for both the Church of England and for himself personally, the Archbishop of Canterbury expressed grief and horror over the death of the senator.

Negroes Relive Despair Of King Assassination

In the gunning-down of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy yesterday, many Negroes are reliving the sorrow and despair of two months ago, when a gunman ended the life of Dr. Martin Luther King.

In the Negro community, there is the belief that Sen. Kennedy, like Dr. King, was assassinated because he championed the cause of the black and the poor.

There is sorrow for the fallen leader. There is the pain of grief. There is the bitterness of hope lost, and especially among the young, there is the shattering agony of hope abandoned.

"He tried to help the Negroes, just like his brother did," said 17-year-old Nathaniel Beam of 203 Shrewsbury Ave. "There isn't anyone else. We're lost without him."

To 21-year-old Eileen Holmes, of 146 Leighton Ave., Red Bank, "Sen. Kennedy was a good man and he would have followed in his brother's footsteps and been a great president."

"Was for Negroes" "But he was for the Negroes," she said, "and everyone who is for the Negroes gets shot in the head. Lincoln was shot in the head. President Kennedy was shot in the head. Dr. King was shot in the head."

has special meaning to Negroes," Mr. Jones said. "He was a symbol of concern for the problems of the poor, the Negro and minority groups."

"We're a sick society and we should start taking a look at ourselves," declared Stafford W. Thompson, president of the Red Bank Area Branch of the NAACP. "Violence is part of our culture. We're intoxicated with violence, and with guns and with destruction. Human World Bank President Robert S. McNamara, a close friend of the Kennedys and a fellow Cabinet member in President John F. Kennedy's administration, made plans to return to the United States from Germany immediately. He and his wife had just arrived in Frankfurt, en route to Indonesia.

McNamara said Kennedy was "one of the wisest, most intelligent, most energetic and most compassionate political leaders in the Western world. It is a tragedy that he should be struck down in the prime of life."

He added that he prayed the shooting "will shock our people into a realization that they must act to cure the ills that have brought the tensions to our society."

Assisting the 'Hard Core Poor,' Objective of County Parley

By SUSAN SILVERSTEIN ASBURY PARK — The summer conference for the Mobilization of Monmouth County, sponsored by the Monmouth Community Action Program, Inc. (MCAP), was held at the Berkeley Carter Hotel here yesterday.

The conference brought together more than 100 representatives of business, industry, government, banking, labor, education and the clergy to discuss and devise means to aid the "hard core poor" of Monmouth County.

Summer employment for youths between the ages of 16 and 21 was of specific concern. The conference, lasting all day, was highlighted by guest speaker, Thomas H. Burress, 3rd of the Greater Philadelphia Enterprises Corp. He emphasized the needs of the Negro to advance through business opportunity. Mr. Burress explained that the Greater Philadelphia Enterprises Corp. was a local development company utilizing funds from private industry and federal subsidy to lend money at a very low rate of interest to the Negro community to buy and establish small businesses of their own.

"Today," he said, "the best position a Negro can hope to attain is a professional one. He can become a doctor, lawyer, a teacher or preacher. What is needed is a 'new Black middle class' with leadership coming from a Black business sector."

Such economic power, he said, is the most effective way for the Negro to assure himself a respected place in American society. The financial encouragement

3 Die in County In Car Crashes

MARLBORO TOWNSHIP — Miss Eileen Whittmore, 27, of Rt. 522, Freehold, was dead on arrival at Riverview Hospital at 1:15 a.m. today with injuries suffered when the car in which she was a passenger hit the Jersey Central Bridge on Rt. 520 here.

She was one of three persons killed in the county in auto crashes during the night. In Manalapan, two Englishtown youths died in a crash that ended a 100-mile-an-hour police chase.

County Medical Examiner C. Malcolm B. Gilman said Miss Whittmore died of multiple fractures and internal hemorrhage.

Police identified the driver of the car as Dorothy M. Slattery, 25, of 64 Duchess Court, Freehold. They said the accident occurred at 12:42 a.m. and the cause has not been determined.

The Morganville Fire Aid squad took both young women to the hospital. Miss Slattery was admitted with multiple abrasions and contusions. Her condition is listed as good this morning.

Police reported the car was a total wreck. No charges have been filed against Miss Slattery pending further investigation by Patrolman Joseph Walker.

The Freeman Funeral Home, Freehold, will be in charge of arrangements for Miss Whittmore.

The Englishtown youths were killed and a state trooper from Tenth barracks is in fair condition in Jersey Shore Medical Center, Neptune, after the crash on Rt. 33 in Manalapan last night.

State Police identified the dead men as the driver, Charles Fitzpatrick, 22, of Woodville Road, and his passenger, Bernard Jones, 19, of Sweetmans Lane.

Trooper Stephen Lakos is being treated for cuts and fractures. Dr. Gilman said the Jones youth was dead on arrival at 12:10 a.m. at the hospital. The cause of death was multiple fractures and hemorrhage, he said.

Mr. Fitzpatrick died at 1:40 a.m. at the hospital of deep cuts, multiple fractures and (See 3 KILLED, Pg. 2, Col. 1)

Shore's Reaction to Tragedy: Shock, Grief and Outrage

By DORIS KULMAN
"Where will it all end?"
The question was on many lips this morning as local residents awakened to learn of the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. It was a question tinged with sorrow and a pervasive sense of tragedy. Expressions of shock came first, and grief. And then, outrage, and the declaration that something must be done to stem the violence abroad in the land.

Almost everywhere, there is demand for strong gun-control legislation. "It's a horrible American tragedy," Monmouth County Freeholder Director Joseph C. Irwin said, "to have this happen to someone so dedicated to public service. It's hardly believable."

"Greatest Sympathy"
"We in the county feel great sympathy for the Kennedy family," Mr. Irwin said. "How terrible, how terrible," he added, "to have this happen to two sons."

Mr. Irwin said the flag at the county courthouse will be flown at half-mast until after Sen. Kennedy's funeral.

"Oh, no! Oh, no!" exclaimed Riccardo Torres, 102 Shrewsbury Ave., Red Bank, when told the senator was dead.

"I love that people, I love that people," Mr. Torres said, his voice trembling. "What they do for the workingman... always they do their best... 'This world is crazy,' Mr. Torres added.

Commuters waiting to board the train at Red Bank reacted with shock, and with support for stricter gun control legislation. To many, the senator's assassination is another symptom of the breakdown of law and order in American life.

"I'm shocked, as I was at the assassination of President Kennedy," Robert Herndon, Circle Place, Little Silver, said. "It's a terrible thing when a candidate can't run for office without fear."

"Too Tolerant"
Mr. Herndon said the country is "too tolerant of violence in the streets."

"It's an outrage, a real outrage," declared A. P. Hagen, Pine Drive, Little Silver. "This country lacks law and order and has for so many years. We should start enforcing the law."

"Did he die? How terrible!" exclaimed John Niles, Brookfield Farms, Lincroft. "We've come to be so case-hardened to shooting people," Mr. Niles said, "I hope this brings forth some strict firearms legislation."

Mr. Niles said he is a target shooter "and a gun nut" and "I'm all for the right to bear arms, but it's too easy to get them."

"Tragic, tragic," said Mrs. Pat Beagen, 139 White St., Shrewsbury, "strict gun control legislation should be passed."

"I'm sick to my stomach about this whole thing," said Mike Stosz, Eaton Crest Apartments, Eatontown. "Can't Believe It"
"I can't believe it, I still can't believe it," said Miss Pat Kelly, 85 Linden Place, Red Bank. "It's a real tragedy. That's all you can say."

"I feel bad, bad," Joshua Hughes, 79 Linden Place, Red Bank, said, scarcely looking up from the boot he was polishing in the shoeshine parlor at the station. "I sure can't help feeling bad. That man, he was a friend of everybody, but he was a friend of the Negroes, oh, yes, yes he was."

"I'm absolutely destroyed by it," Benjamin L. Becker, 48 Shadowbrook Road, Shrewsbury, said. "I feel as badly as I did when John Kennedy was killed. Why — why is it so easy for an idiot to shoot down such a gifted man?"
"We have to do something.

If a guy wants to kill somebody he will, gun control law or not. But we have to try to make it more difficult."
"My heart is broken," said Mrs. Pirie J. Maloney, North River Edge Road, Little Silver. "This is unbelievable. You wonder what's going to happen next, where it all will end.

"It's about time we had strong gun control legislation."
"We are losing our young leaders," Mrs. Milton Edelman, 444 River Road, Fair Haven, said, weeping. "It's a terrible thing, a deep tragedy, when a country loses its young leaders."
The Edelmans' 17-year-old son, Eric, a volunteer in the senator's presidential campaign, was looking forward to Monday's Madison Square Garden rally for Kennedy.

"Now it will be a memorial instead," he said.
The assassination of President Kennedy, Dr. Martin Luther King and Sen. Kennedy "all within the short period of five years, is a terrible blow to the morale of young people," the Fair Haven youth said.

And then, like many others, he asked, sorrowfully, "where is it all going to end?"

Death Removes Chief Humphrey Challenger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's death has removed in a tragic manner the chief challenger to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's quest for the Democratic presidential nomination.

With the New York senator's death, the fateful 1968 election year turned a fatal corner and left what many observers see as an uneven race between Humphrey and his fellow Minnesotan, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Although the Humphrey name has not appeared on any primary ballots, he claims to have built up a long lead by picking up delegates in the tough backstage battles in the nonprimary states while Kennedy and McCarthy were battling it out in primaries.

Many observers felt only the Kennedy mystique and dash could overcome Humphrey's strong base of Democratic "establishment" support among party leaders and labor unions. Humphrey and his aides had refused to speculate on the political impact of the Kennedy shooting and, along with McCarthy, clamped an indefinite moratorium on campaigning even before the senator's death.

"We think it's not only inappropriate to speculate," said a Humphrey aide, "we think it's offensive."

After the Kennedy shooting, a strategist said, Humphrey aides sent appeals to supporters asking that planned caucuses of Ohio and Michigan delegations, where the vice president hoped to nail down more support, be postponed.

And the strategist said, Humphrey called off plans to begin campaigning in New York for the Empire State's primary. He canceled a schedule calling for him to open his California campaign June 13.

McCarthy, returning to Washington Wednesday night, said he would confer with President Johnson and the vice president "before taking on other political activities of any kind."

hemorrhage, according to Dr. Gilman.

State Police gave this account of the accident:
At 11:15 p.m., Trooper Lakos gave chase to a car going west at high speed on Rt. 33. The car swerved into the police car, causing both vehicles to spin into the divider strip and hit a parked bulldozer.

The police car stopped, but the Fitzpatrick car shot ahead and rolled over several times.

State Police said both victims were on the revoked driver license list. The investigation is being conducted by Staff Sgt. Samuel Ferreri, commanding officer of the Tenth State Police barracks.

The Freeman Funeral Home, Freehold, will be in charge of arrangements for Mr. Fitzpatrick. The funeral for Jones will be under the direction of the Hulse Memorial Home, Englishtown.

take in their community," the expected trouble may be considerably offset.

The conference also featured four workshops discussing the problems of discrimination, adult-youth employment and training, police-community relations, and development. The workshops stressed the need to create intensive two-way communication between the members of the community and industry to better understand the mutual needs of management and the labor force.

Joseph E. Taylor, MCPA's executive director moderated the program.

Kennedy Dies of Assassin Bullet

The body will be placed on a train at 12:30 p.m. for the last journey to Washington. It is expected to arrive at about 4:40 p.m.

The funeral route will take the cortege past the U.S. Senate Office Building where Kennedy worked, and the Department of Justice, where he served as attorney general.

SATURDAY BURIAL

Salinger said Kennedy will be buried at about 5:30 p.m. Saturday in Arlington, probably at the hillside site where his brother's body lies.

Salinger said "all legal requirements" would be met before the body is removed from California. This apparently was in reference to an autopsy.

President Johnson said of Kennedy's death: "This is a time of tragedy and loss."

"During his life, he knew far more than his share of personal tragedy," Johnson said. "Yet he never abandoned his faith in America."

Kennedy was hit at least twice as his assailant emptied an eight-shot, .22-caliber revolver in a swift volley as he passed through a kitchen passageway at the Ambassador.

One bullet struck his shoulder and lodged in his neck, the other penetrated to his brain.

HUMPHREY APPEALS

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, in Washington,

expressed "profound personal loss" at Kennedy's death. "We have all lost a great American," he said. The vice president appealed that America may find the strength "to dispel the forces of irrational hate among us."

Kennedy's assassination brought presidential campaigning to a halt, as candidates suspended their search for political support. And it left the future Democratic picture in turmoil.

Kennedy's victory in California had pledged to him 172 delegates to the Democratic National Convention. They will represent California at the convention despite his death.

Kennedy entered the race on March 16, four days after Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., demonstrated the breadth of opposition to the administration by holding Johnson to a standoff in the New Hampshire presidential primary. McCarthy is the candidate Kennedy defeated in the California primary.

Kennedy had just left the victory celebration when the assassin struck.

FIVE OTHERS HIT

Five other people were wounded, none critically, in the shooting in a kitchen passageway at the Ambassador Hotel at 12:15 a.m.

Mankiewicz read the 40-word statement to about 100 newsmen and cameramen in the briefing room. Then, he left the room. Reporters rushed for telephones to broadcast the news.

Kennedy had been in "extremely critical" condition since the shooting and the operation.

Kennedy had for eight years been a man of power in Washington. He served as attorney general to his brother, President John F. Kennedy, who was assassinated in Dallas, Tex., on Nov. 22, 1963.

He remained in the cabinet early in President Johnson's administration. Then, in 1964, Johnson eliminated him from the running for the vice presidential nomination by announcing he would not consider any Cabinet member for the ticket.

Soon afterwards, Kennedy resigned as attorney general, quit as a Massachusetts delegate to the Democratic National Convention, leased a home in New York and ran for the Senate.

Top of the News

SAIGON — South Vietnamese rangers crushed the last pocket of Viet Cong resistance inside Saigon today, the government's military headquarters announced. But mop-up operations continued on the northeast fringe of the capital, in the suburb of Gia Dinh.

The U. S. Command announced meanwhile that 438 Americans were killed in action last week, 12 more than the week before, and said 3,870 Americans were wounded, 1,183 more than the week before.

A spokesman said Cholon, Saigon's Chinese quarter, is "pretty safe now" after six days of fighting. "You can go in there now," he said. "There is no fighting in Cholon."

Military spokesmen said the rangers closed in from all sides and caught the last guerrillas trying to break out to the west. The government troops stormed a building, the last Viet Cong stronghold in the rubble Cholon section, and seized it.

19 McCarthy Delegates Seen

NEWARK — Delegates pledged to Sen. Eugene McCarthy were assured yesterday of 19 — and possibly 21 — of the 80 seats to the Democratic National Convention with the remainder going to uncommitted organizational candidates.

The two undecided spots were in the 4th District, comprising Mercer, Hunterdon, Sussex and Warren Counties. Ballot counting continued through the day.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes, who will head the organizational delegates at the Democratic Convention in August, described the outcome of the primary as "satisfactory."

"We predicted that McCarthy might win 15 to 20 delegates a few days ago," the governor added. "After all, there's been a good deal of McCarthy agitation."

Talks Bog, May Linger

PARIS—The Vietnam ceasefire talks were bogged down today in their longest recess so far, but both the United States and North Vietnam have given the impression that they want to keep the talks going indefinitely.

U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Ambassador Guan Thuy of North Vietnam talked for almost four hours yesterday in their seventh session in four weeks, made no apparent progress toward de-escalating the war, and adjourned until next Wednesday, largely at North Vietnam's suggestion.

They maintained his demand that all attacks on his country must stop before other issues are discussed. Harriman continued to call for North Vietnamese de-escalation to justify any further limit on American military operations.

Harriman made a probe to find out whether North Vietnam is in process of softening its position on ending the bombing. Thuy's first reaction was negative; he again asked when the United States would stop all bombing.

Declare Disaster Areas

NEWARK — Seven North Jersey counties ravaged by floods last week were officially declared disaster areas yesterday and made eligible for federal Small Business Administration loans.

The counties were Bergen, Essex, Middlesex, Morris, Passaic, Somerset and Union.

The SBA had announced Tuesday that the loans would be granted. Yesterday's federal declaration made the announcement official.

Pick Battleship Publicist

TRENTON — A group formed to publicize the achievements of the newly recommissioned United States battleship New Jersey announced yesterday that retired Navy Commander William S. Stuhr has been elected president of the organization.

The group is known as the State Society of the Battleship New Jersey. It was originally formed in 1943 and was just reorganized after the battleship was recommissioned in April.

Retired Army General John P. Read was elected secretary of the society, Col. Samuel Brink of the New Jersey National Guard was chosen corresponding secretary and state Treasurer John A. Kervick was named treasurer of the society.

Says Hazlet to Be Within Sewer Unit

HAZLET — This township will be part of a regional sewerage authority within 90 days, Mayor Joseph A. Morales predicted last night.

He said the authority may be comprised only of Holmdel and Hazlet Township, if Union Beach continues plans to go it alone.

Mr. Morales said the borough has scheduled a meeting with the Municipal Finance Commission Tuesday to discuss the possibility of financing a sewerage program.

The commission controls the finances of Union Beach because the borough is in receivership. Commission approval is necessary for any financial undertaking of the administration.

This township will also schedule a meeting with state and federal officials and Holmdel Township after the meeting with the commission.

The mayor said that verbal approval had been given to the concept of a two-town regional when it appeared Holmdel would not join the proposed three-municipality authority. Hazard yesterday the same circumstances could exist if Holmdel and Hazlet proceeded without Union Beach.

Offer Mass, Prayer In Shore Churches

By JANE FODERARO
Masses for the repose of the soul were offered this morning in Catholic churches throughout Monmouth County and, at the same time, religious leaders of all faiths reacted strongly to the most recent act of violence in California.

Msgr. Emmet A. Monahan, pastor of St. James Catholic Church in Red Bank, said "This is a tragedy we can't fully comprehend—one that eventually we, the nation, must do something about in regard to tightening law and order." The monsignor offered Mass this morning in the convent and said other services will be scheduled.

The Rev. Dr. Charles S. Webster, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Red Bank, stated: "The assassination of Robert Kennedy is surely a national tragedy. We must resolve that this young crusader for righteousness has not died in vain and that we advance the cause which he espoused — the elimination of hatred, bigotry, bitterness and misunderstanding that exists in our land. It is my fervent prayer that God will bountifully bless his soul and his loved ones."

At St. Dorothea's Catholic Church in Eatontown, The Rev. James M. Coyle announced that a Mass will be offered for Sen. Kennedy this evening at 7:30 and again on Saturday morning when a Requiem will be held at 8:30 before the funeral. Rev. Coyle said, "It seems that we have to wait for something to happen before any federal legislation is passed — as in the death of Dr. King, with a housing bill, and now with gun laws."

The Rev. Canon Charles H. Best, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church in Red Bank said this morning: "The assassination of Sen. Kennedy is a tragic expression of the tyranny of the individual, the loss of a sense of the centrality of law and the retreat from religious faith occasioned by the excessive liberal humanism of the American social and political scene."

Also in Red Bank, The Rev. Henry L. Morgan, pastor of the Pilgrim Baptist Church, said of Robert Kennedy, "He had great possibilities. I'm wondering what this world is coming to. We — my wife and I, and the congregation — are very, very sorry."

Despair

life has become unimportant to us.

"And the gun lobby seems to be so strong we can't get meaningful legislation to restrict the sale of weapons to make it difficult for unstable people to get a gun," Mr. Thompson said.

Noting the renewed move for federal gun-control legislation, he added, "People shouldn't have to be killed to reach the consciences of our legislators."

"A family has been robbed of their father," Mr. Thompson said, "and we sorrow with them. We express our deep, deep sorrow and sympathy for Mrs. Kennedy and her children."

"I can't believe it," said Mrs. Donna Warren, 212 West Bergen Place. "He was for the colored people. He wanted to help us."

"Sen. Kennedy was a good friend of the Negro, and every time someone wants to shoot him down," said 15-year-old Patricia Schenck, 104 Montgomery Ter., Red Bank. "It will be terrible now," terrible things will happen."

"The Negro and the down-trodden have lost another friend, as they lost Dr. King and President Kennedy," Curtis Murphy, 56 Bank St., Red Bank, a member of the Red Bank Board of Education, said.

"For us, Sen. Kennedy represented something that seems to be lacking from the present scene," Mrs. J. Alvin Parker, 312 Shrewsbury Ave., Red Bank, said "a kind of freshness and fairness, a really new look. We need to have a reassessment of values in our society."

Archbishop Cooke to Visit Ft. Monmouth on Tuesday

FT. MONMOUTH — The Most Rev. Terence J. Cooke, head of the Catholic archdiocese of New York, will visit here Tuesday, Brig Gen. Thomas M. Rienzi, commandant of the U.S. Army Signal School, told The Daily Register last night.

The archbishop, who succeeded the late Francis Cardinal Spellman, will be making his first visit to a military installation since assuming his new duties.

"We are deeply honored to have the archbishop come to Ft. Monmouth," Gen. Rienzi said.

The archbishop will celebrate Mass at 11:30 a.m. at The Signal School's outdoor auditorium. The general has invited county residents to attend. Archbishop Cooke will arrive here for an honor guard ceremony at 9:45 a.m. He will speak to the troops on the "Interrelationship of the Military Ordinate to the Department of Defense."

Gen. Rienzi said the archbishop has a close association with the military. He has the responsibility of helping bring Catholic chaplains into the Army, the general explained.

"Working so closely with Cardinal Spellman, who traveled far and wide to be with American troops, also has given the archbishop a deep appreciation of the American soldier," Gen. Rienzi continued. "He is a dynamic, knowledgeable, ecumenical Catholic leader."

Gen. Rienzi recently met Archbishop Cooke for the first time when he traveled to New York City to present a plaque to the Cardinal Spellman Service Club. This was the arch-

Archbishop Terence J. Cooke (left) and Brig. Gen. Thomas M. Rienzi (right) will be at the archbishop's first military function after being selected to that position.

Asks Full Marlboro Accounting To Dispel Empty Coffers Rumors

MARLBORO — Councilman Lawrence Youngman last night called for a complete account of township funds expended from Jan. 1 through May 31 in order "to dispel the growing rumors that Marlboro is running out of money."

Calling on Business Administrator Edward Ivins 3rd to have the figures ready for the June 27 council meeting, Mr. Youngman added that "if this thing is true, we've got to fix it—if not, we can refute it with facts and figures."

Over spending Cited
Mr. Youngman alleged that $49,000 already had been spent for resurfacing roads and an additional $42,000 worth of road supplies put up for bids, while the total road department budget for 1968 had been only $73,000.

Controversy developed between Mr. Youngman and members of the audience over the former's proposal to purchase the chapel across from the municipal building for use as a municipal court, meeting room and library.

The value of the property, which reportedly had been offered to the township Recreation Committee for $20,000, was disputed and council was urged to get a professional assessor's figure before taking action.

Against Bog Filing
Fred Von Rodeck asked Mr. Youngman to state his position on the Burnt Fly Bog issue, and was assured by the latter that he was opposed and would vote "no" on a regional landfill proposition. However, he felt that a sanitary landfill might be needed by the township itself.

"Council is in an investigative frame of mind, and should really investigate some of the business operations here," John Narzowich said. He claimed that a wrecker from Matawan had been called to service a local police car wrecked in an accident.

"We have local business people who are taxpayers who could perform this service," Mr. Narzowich added. He also suggested that council get an accounting of expenditures to "find out whether someone's going off on a drunken spree with the taxpayer's money."

Action on a subdivision and a variance for garden apartments was delayed until June 13.

Corporation Is Formed To Expand Air Service

WALL TOWNSHIP — Monmouth Airline Inc. has been formed as a new corporation to operate the expanding services at Monmouth County Airport.

Because of the increase in service, including regularly scheduled daily flights to Washington, D. C., and Boston, and airline service from the airport here on Rt. 34 to the three New York metropolitan airports, the new company has been organized by Edward I. Brown, owner and operator of Monmouth County Airport for the past 25 years.

Mr. Brown is the president of Monmouth Airlines, Inc. Devoted to the field of aviation all his life and a licensed pilot for 30 years, Mr. Brown has been the prime mover in the development and growth of the airport and the airline services here.

Accompanying the archbishop here will be the Rev. Robert McCormick, Catholic chaplain at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, and John Kelly, head of the Cardinal Spellman Service Club. Gen. Rienzi is a West Point graduate.

A luncheon will be held for the archbishop, to which Bishop George W. Ahr of the Trenton diocese has been invited to attend. "We also are hoping to have Rep. James J. Howard and county and municipal dignitaries here," the general added.

Also on Archbishop Cooke's agenda here will be a tour of the classrooms and the instructional facilities at the Signal School, considered to be one of the finest technical institutes in the nation.

"I know the archbishop is interested in vocational courses, computer - associated instruction and instructional television," the general said. "He is vitally concerned with education and perhaps what we have here may provide some idea for use in the New York diocesan school system."

Orientation Is Slated

MARLBORO — School superintendent Russell R. Wright last night urged that next year's kindergarten children and their parents attend an orientation program tomorrow from 2 to 3 p.m. at Central School.

Other forthcoming events at Central School will be a choral concert by the fifth and sixth grades Tuesday night at 7:30 and eighth grade graduation exercises June 19 at 8 p.m. Schools will close June 20.

In a spirit of community cooperation, the board voted to allow the Township Recreation Committee to use the grounds and bathroom and storage facilities at the Robertsville and Central schools from July 1 to August 23. An enrollment of 40 children is expected at each school.

A request from Mrs. John

Trach for Robertsville School for meetings was also granted. The Brownies will plant a tree on the school grounds next Arbor Day.

Ocean Judge Penalizes 3

OCEAN TOWNSHIP — Bruce A. Nielsen of Garden Drive, Oakhurst, yesterday was fined $300 on a charge of creating a disturbance and an added $50 for using offensive language to another person.

Municipal Court Judge Vincent J. Agresti also fined Catherine Hennessey of Spier Ave., Allenhurst, $10 on a careless driving count.

Jay K. Hatfield, Fourth Ave., Asbury Park, was fined $10 on a delinquent inspection charge.

Services Tomorrow For Leon Cubberly

LONG BRANCH — Services for Leon Cubberly, 92, lifelong resident here and retired architect, will be held 11 a.m. tomorrow in the Woolley Funeral Home, here. Burial will be in Glenwood Cemetery, West Long Branch.

Mr. Cubberly, who lived at 133 Morris Ave., died Tuesday in Monmouth Medical Center. Born here, he was the son of the late Albert and Emma Wright Cubberly. He opened an architect's office here in 1895 and later expanded his practice to Lakewood and New York City.

During World War I, he was an assistant architect and chief inspector for a Bristol, Pa., shipyard. He later assisted in the design and erection of the Guaranty Trust Building and the New York Times Building, both in New York. He also supervised construction of the Bordentown Reformatory and five buildings at Marlboro Hospital, as well as numerous other projects.

Mr. Cubberly was a member of the Long Branch Rotary Club, the Long Branch Lodge of Masons and St. Luke's Methodist Church, here. An ardent golfer, he was a member and former champion of the New Smyrna Golf Club in Florida and was a member of the former Elkwood Golf Club, Oceanport; Old Orchard Golf and Country Club, Eatontown, and the West Palm Beach Golf Club, Florida.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Florence Cubberly. The couple celebrated their 71st wedding anniversary Saturday.

4 Area Truck Drivers Cited for Safety Record

ASBURY PARK — Four area truck drivers were honored for outstanding safety records at a safety dinner-dance sponsored in the Berkeley Carteret Hotel by Bilkays Express Co. and Jersey Coast Freight Lines, Inc., of Newark and Neptune.

Louis Testino of 235 Freneau Ave., Matawan, recently named "truck driver of the month" by the N.J. State Motor Truck Association, was honored by his company, Jersey Coast Freight Lines, for his 23 years without a chargeable accident. Mr. Testino, who drives about 50,000 miles yearly, received a gift certificate.

Others honored are Herbert Wolfe of 2912 Buchanon St., Belmar, 22 years without a chargeable accident; John Duhigg of Middlesex Apartments, Matawan, 13 years; and Donald Eldridge of 118 Woodland Ave., Neptune City, 11 years.

The four area drivers were among 110 honored by Robert A. Kortenhaus, vice president of the companies, who congratulated the drivers and said their presence indicated they had performed their jobs outstandingly and had earned the gratitude of their employers, the industry and the public.

The Travelers of Hartford, leading motor vehicle insurer, awarded a plaque to the companies for their accident record, consistently 8 to 10 per cent below the national average for the past five years. Company vehicles are estimated to have logged about 20 million miles in the five-year period.

CUB PACK 331

HOLMDEL — The annual pinewood derby was the main feature of a meeting of Cub Pack 331. Sleek model racing cars, carved by the Cub Scouts from blocks of pine, were entered in a series of races for den and pack championships.

Trophies for pack winners were awarded to John Morrison, first place; Terry Gorman, second place; and Bobby Abate, third place.

Den winners were: Chris Becker, David Hempstead, and Robert Lagno, first place ribbons; Eric Hasemann, John Feathers, Chris Fenley and John Abate, second place ribbons; Richard Morley, Paul Klemmer, Joel Grimm, Jeff Schantz and Charles Rossell, third place ribbons.

Special awards for design and construction of cars went to Mark Tummarello, Greg Villarosa, Jimmy Stickle, Steve Paul, David Spencer, Andy Simonsen, Mark Fiederowicz, Jeff Waldron, Andy Schantz, Gary Kelman, Andy Whyte, David Kegley, Gary Fiederowicz, Eric Simonsen, Craig Spencer and Robert Laue.

Advancement awards were presented to Robert Lagno, Chris Becker, Richard Morley, and David Hempstead. Webelos David Hempstead, Andy Simonsen, Charles Rossell, Gary Fiederowicz and John Abate earned the showman award.

On May 4, the pack toured the wildlife sanctuary at Sandy Hook.

Our Deteriorating Roads

1305 Parkside Ave.,
Trenton, N.J. 08633

To the Editor:

The tax program proposed by the state legislature's majority is as politically unwise as it is financially unsound. This program would have New Jersey expand its short-sighted and costly practice of using the gasoline tax as a financial crutch. Instead of spending receipts on our sadly neglected highway system, this package would boost taxes on gasoline and motor vehicles to support non-highway functions of government.

The proposed tax program contemplates throwing our deteriorating road system to the wolves. It calls for a sharp cut in the urgently needed highway bond issue and other road construction funds so that more of the state's highway user tax revenue can be shunted over to non-highway purposes.

This proposal could move through the legislature in a matter of days or hours, but the people of our state would spend years suffering from and regretting its ill effects.

Sincerely,
L. H. Ruppert

Peace or Devastation

12 Point Road
Little Silver, N. J.

To the Editor:

To Americans who are anxiously watching the discouraging progress of the "talks" in Paris, it must be increasingly apparent that the whole Communist bloc has no sincere wish for peace. In fact, it would not be surprising if the suppliers of North Vietnam were dictating every one of the words they speak.

One fact that has not been mentioned is that failure of both sides to make some fair concessions will result in the conversion of a lot of "doves" to "hawks" in our country.

When, if it does become obvious that we cannot achieve an honorable peace, then the American people will at last be united in the purpose of ending the war as quickly as possible. This means the complete and total devastation of North Vietnam — regardless of consequences. Short of total surrender, there can be no alternative.

This is something for all of us to ponder.
Sincerely,
Grandin W. Schenck

Firemen, Andrews Praised

186 Monmouth St.
Red Bank, N.J.

To the Editor:

Once again, as in the past, the Red Bank Fire Department has shown their ability and spirit through their efforts and devotion at the recent fire at 186 Monmouth St. The fire was held to a minimum and their quick work prevented it from spreading throughout. Also, their careful handling of the situation prevented damage in areas not near the fire.

Our thanks go to them and to Hampton Andrews, who turned in the alarm.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Rose Tomalino

EVENTS OF YEARS AGO

50 Years Ago

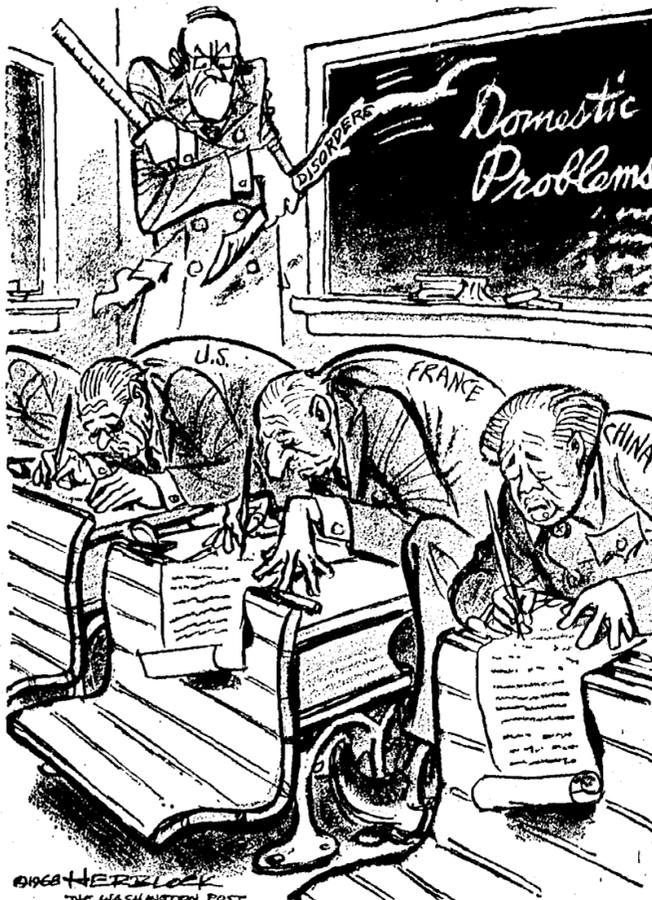

Tears and cheers mingled with pride and patriotic ardor at the Red Bank railroad station yesterday morning when 61 young men of this military district left for service in the Army at Camp Dix. The leave-taking was not impressive so far as the celebration itself was concerned, but the scenes which were enacted when the train pulled out from the station with its embryo soldiers ran the gamut of human emotions. One man who gave his only son to his country's services walked on board the train with his boy without knowing what he was doing...

Although a large number of written invitations had been sent out to residents of Red Bank to attend a local option meeting at the town hall, only seven persons turned out. Four were clergymen; one was Mayor Arthur A. Patterson and two were women. Rev. Lester G. Laggett, who initiated the movement to make Red Bank a dry town, was unable to be present on account of having a heavy cold.

"All right, for the good of the country, right wingers on this side, left wingers on this side!"

I will remember to do my homework.
I will remember to do my homework.
I will remember to do my homework.

A CONSERVATIVE VIEW

Lost in the Computers

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

Political philosophies do not run in a straight line from left to right. They run in a circle. At some point they meet, and conservative and liberal think as one. Such a point is steadily being defined in the matter of credit reporting services.

Michigan's Senator Philip Hart and New Jersey's Congressman Cornelius Gallagher, by any of the usual ratings, are about as liberal as they come. On the scorecards of the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education, both of them racked up a perfect 100 last year. Yet the two are engaged in studies of the credit business that every thoughtful conservative will applaud.

Both Hart and Gallagher accept certain premises. They agree that credit reports are vital to American business, and they have no idea of seeking to destroy the system. They also agree that computer technology cannot be stopped. The business of maintaining credit reports, like any other business, ought to be run as efficiently as possible. But they are convinced that new federal legislation is needed to control the terrifying monster that now is sleeping within the computer's womb.

IN POINT OF FACT, the existing system already causes deep concern. The Associated Credit Bureaus of America, Inc., composed of 2,000 local credit bureaus, already has accumulated credit dossiers on 96 million Americans. The Retail Credit Company of Atlanta maintains files in 1,600 offices. The Hooper-Holmes Bureau of Morristown, N.J., specializes in keeping tabs on poor credit risks.

The several companies are engaged in necessary work, but it is work that carries a fearful risk. For the labor of recording and retrieving credit data is ideally suited to computerization. Marvelous as they are, computers are not perfect. They err; or the humans responsible for the input make mistakes; and the individual who gets trapped in the coils of computer error is as helpless as the faceless victim of a Kafka horror tale.

Hart and Gallagher are accumulating thick files of letters from such victims. In Miami, a retired New York buyer, accustomed to living by credit cards, opened his August bill and found an unexplained charge of $120. He wrote for an explanation. In September he got another bill for $120, plus interest. He fired off another hot letter. October brought another bill. He sent a registered letter, return receipt requested, to a vice president of the company in New York. He got a rubber-stamped receipt; and in November, another bill arrived, this one bearing a peremptory warning.

BY JANUARY, the company had cancelled his account and recalled his credit card. It was February before the wild-eyed customer finally got a human being to listen to him. Then it was, oops, sorry; the computer had hit an extra zero. It wasn't $120. The figure should have been $12, representing an annual membership fee.

What had happened to the customer's credit rating in this period? He probably will never know. But preliminary investigation has disclosed some of the possibilities. All the computers knew was that Mr. X was delinquent in "y" amount for "z" months.

Gallagher's special subcommittee on invasion of privacy began its hearings in June. Hart's subcommittee on monopolies will schedule hearings later this summer. Next year, perhaps, some legislative answers will be proposed. That will be 1969, 15 years before 1984; and not a moment too soon.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

Retirement Financial Planning

By SYLVIA PORTER

"How big a nest egg should my husband and I, in our early 30's build up now to let us enjoy a reasonably comfortable retirement?"

"How should we invest our money so that it will provide us with safety as well as the largest possible income?"

"What are the best ways to stretch our Social Security and private pension dollars to make ends meet in this era of inflation?"

These questions dramatize how deeply "retirement conscious" this nation has become.

They highlight our growing awareness that a man retiring at 65 now has a life expectancy of 13 more years and a woman reaching this age can expect to live an average of 16 more years.

THEY UNDERLINE the increasing knowledge that today's living cost spiral is rapidly eroding the value of dollars earned and saved for retirement. This year alone, inflation could wipe out as much as $2 billion in the buying power of our elderly citizens. For many younger Americans, today's pace of price rises easily could cut the value of their retirement nesteggs in half.

Finally, they indicate how disgracefully little the nation's employers and unions are doing to prepare their employees and members for the financial facts of retirement. For the majority retirement still comes as a brutal shock, financially and emotionally.

The Nation's Burden of Guilt

"The nation bears a burden of guilt." That was one of many expressions by people in high public office around the world that followed the news that Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was critically, senselessly wounded by a gunman early yesterday in Los Angeles.

Today he is dead — and the world deeply mourns the passing of one of the most outstanding and vital young men on the American political scene.

The above quote is from Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, an opponent of Sen. Kennedy for the Democratic nomination for the presidency. He is but one of us who are stunned by this latest act of savagery. The rest of the world has reason to wonder what kind of people inhabit our land. Indeed, it is a reasonable subject for each of us to ponder.

The world's prayers and sympathies are extended to the Kennedy family, the famous members of which have suffered an inordinate amount of tragedy. They and we have not fully recovered from the assassination five years ago of President John F. Kennedy — and now this.

The President's death was caused by hatred — the same strain of venom that brought about the assassination so recently of the respected civil rights leader, the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King. It was this same hostility which strengthened the finger that pulled the trigger of the pistol, aimed at Sen. Kennedy's head.

Why cannot our leaders travel in their own nation without fear of abuse, or worse? The answer, of course, is that we have not found a cure for this hate sickness which threatens us all. With all our nation's ailments, none cries out more for solution than this.

This is a time of tragedy — for the Kennedy family, for the nation and for the world.

Senator Kennedy was a man who tried to erase the hate and the bigotry and the violence from the American scene. He was a man of compassion and deep individual commitment.

Anger and horror are the reactions of many to this recurring American nightmare. And it is understandable. But let it be a time also to renew our attempts to bring about nonviolent solutions to our many human problems. Perhaps this can begin to eliminate what has become our national shame.

No Real Surprises

The Senator McCarthy people gave it the old college try in Tuesday's primary election — but it wasn't enough to buck the strong state Democratic organization. The delegates pledged to the Minnesota senator were assured yesterday of 19 — and possibly 21 — of the 80 seats to the Democratic National Convention with the remainder going to the uncommitted organizational candidates.

Governor Hughes, who will head the organizational delegates at the Democratic Convention in August, said he was satisfied with the outcome of the primary. Still, the McCarthy backers should be satisfied, too. It was a good showing by a dedicated group of people banding to support an able candidate. We know we will hear more from them in the weeks ahead.

The uncommitted Republican slate of organizational delegates withstood some token opposition. The 40 GOP delegates, headed by Sen. Clifford P. Case wisely will send an uncommitted delegation to the national convention.

The Richard M. Nixon supporters, who staged a last-minute write-in campaign, claimed their candidate received more than 50,000 write-in votes. He was high man in the county also, with 3,169 votes in 180 districts. But, in the county as in the rest of the state, election workers are still tallying the vote.

In Monmouth, the stage was set again for another congressional race between incumbent Rep. James J. Howard, a Democrat, and Marcus Daly, a Republican. Mr. Howard, as we all know, has achieved a superb record during his years in the Congress. He has gained national stature — at the same time serving well the interests of the district. Republicans as well as Democrats have high praise for his ability and accomplishments.

A strong campaign had started in the county — but today it all becomes secondary as Monmouth residents join with the rest of the nation in mourning the death of Senator Kennedy.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Wants All Welfare in 1 Agency

By PAUL SCOTT

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Wilbur J. Cohen is proposing a "single, national welfare system" under a new name still to be selected.

The controversial Cohen has recommended privately to President Johnson that the new national system be completely financed by the federal government, which now pays approximately 60 per cent of the state and local welfare bill.

Under Cohen's plan, the thousands of state and local employees involved in the local welfare programs would be made "agents" and eventually employees of the federal government.

According to the tentative estimates prepared for the White House, the new national program would cost approximately $4 billion more a year than present federal grants for welfare programs.

In an effort to gain support for his revolutionary plan, Cohen is privately telling state officials that his program would free state money for other purposes, reduce red tape, end disputes about eligibility, and create uniform benefit standards.

As an added selling point, Cohen stresses that the all federal program would slow down the rural-to-urban migration that is now increasing city problems, especially the movement of Negroes into industrial areas.

It is also Cohen's contention that the plan would allow a shift of emphasis in welfare programs to more job training and more effective birth control programs. An all federal program, he states, would make it easier to make birth control information and devices available to all who want them.

Although the details are still being worked out, Cohen is saying privately that his national welfare proposal would be combined with features of the negative income tax and the guaranteed annual wage.

WIDENING INVESTIGATION — Recent evidence gathered by FBI agents in one of the most massive probes in the nation's history has forced serious investigation of these possibilities.

—That somebody close to King, or with in his own organization tipped off his assassin as to the civil rights leader's routine on the day of his slaying.

—That Ray was hired directly by certain black nationalists who paid him with money made available by foreign sources.

—That an international Communist "assassin squad" was involved in the slaying. Because of Ray's mysterious trips to Mexico and Canada shortly before the assassination, the entire U.S. intelligence operation, ranging from the Central Intelligence Agency to the Defense Intelligence Agency, has been pressed into the hunt for King's killer.

One CIA report indicates that Ray, who is linked to the murder weapon by fingerprints and ballistic data, may have visited Cuba during his Mexican trip, according to information furnished by a Mexican airline official.

The FBI assumption is that, if there was a conspiracy to kill King, those involved made arrangements to spirit their hired killer out of the U.S. to Cuba via either Mexico or Canada.

CHANGING TIMES — Probably the greatest irony of the probe of King's assassination is that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, one of the civil rights leader's severest critics when he was alive, is doing everything in his power to solve the case.

On the other hand, King's closest aides in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference are showing little or no interest in whether the killer is found.

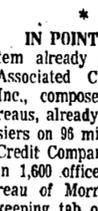

When the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, King's successor as president of the SCLC, presented a series of demands to Attorney General Ramsey Clark for the "Poor People's" campaign none of these called for more intensive effort to solve King's assassination.

According to persons who attended the meeting, nothing was said about King's death or the FBI investigation, although a number of the poor in "Resurrection City" had urged Abernathy to press for a more vigorous probe.

Congressional supporters of Hoover say there are a number of compelling reasons for Abernathy's silence. Most important of these is King's instruction to key aides of his Southern Christian Leadership Conference not long before his death that no verbal attacks were to be made against Hoover or the FBI for fear of counter action by the FBI director.

Successful Investing

By Roger E. Spear

Q—Our daughter is 5 years old and we would like to put $500 yearly into growth stocks to help finance her college education. We presently hold Westinghouse Electric. What do you advise?—J.M.

A—Your investment plan is quite feasible and through careful selection should pro- your purpose, particularly with time working in your favor.

For these earlier years I'd like to suggest one or two of the growing conglomerates because their broad industry diversification seems to offer some hedge against economic contingencies that could occur in a single industry. Two interesting companies come to mind, SCM and Ogden Corp., both listed on the New York Stock Exchange and reasonably priced in relation to projected earnings. SCM originally produced office equipment but through acquisitions - including Glidden, Allied Paper and Proctor-Silex—has reduced this segment to 27 per cent of total sales. Ogden, active in such diverse areas as shipbuilding, food, concessions, scrap metal, food processing and marine terminal operations, should report a good increase in earnings this year.

Westinghouse Electric has extended its earnings recovery into a fifth year and shares should be retained.

Q—My portfolio, chosen for growth in the coming decade, includes Am. Electric Power, Minnesota Mining, IBM, RCA, Merck and Johnson & Johnson. Would you switch Am. Electric to Georgia-Pacific? Please comment on the future of drug stocks considering recent government investigations.—G.R.

A—I will start with your last question. Unfortunately for the drug industry, it is a recurring target for political attack and with elections approaching, activity in this area will probably increase. Thus far, most of the damage has been psychological with little effect on company earnings.

Your drug issues have a well-established record of improvement and should be retained along with 3M, IBM and RCA. The switch you suggest seems consistent with your aims.

Hopefully, in a new peacetime economy, the existing need for new housing should bring a building boom and greatly benefit Georgia-Pacific.

(Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally, but will answer all questions possible in this column.)

Gen. Foster Gets Dual Command

FT. HUACHUCA, Ariz. — Brig. Gen. Hugh F. Foster Jr., commanding general of the Army Communications Systems Agency at Ft. Monmouth, N. J. has been named a deputy commanding general of the Army Strategic Communications Command. It has been announced by STRATCOM headquarters here.

Gen. Foster thus begins a dual role with STRATCOM, serving as its deputy commanding general for Systems acquisition while retaining command of the Communications Systems Agency.

The action was directed by Maj. Gen. Walter E. Lotz, STRATCOM's Commanding General, to further streamline management policy for Systems Acquisition and recognizes the close relationship between STRATCOM's Headquarters staff here and the Communications Systems Agency, a major subordinate command.

Officials here said Gen. Foster's appointment emphasizes the Army's role in the implementation of the worldwide Defense Communications System.

Born in Brooklyn, N. Y., where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh F. Foster Sr., still reside, Gen. Foster is a veteran Signal Corps officer who graduated from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point in 1941.

Gen. Foster, a former Commander of the STRATCOM Signal Group in Korea, holds the distinction of serving on the faculties of both the Military Academy at West Point, and the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

School Without Fire Alarms Now Facing State Aid Cutoff

TRENTON — State funds will be withheld from school districts which fail to comply with the requirement to install fire detection systems, the State Board of Education decided yesterday.

These seven schools in four Monmouth County districts were included among the 90: Liberty, Elberon and Conrow Schools in Long Branch, Grammar schools one and two in the Sea Bright school and the Hurley School in Wall Township.

The board has consistently refused to extend the September deadline for the installation of the detection equipment. Local districts have had five years in which to comply with the regulation.

The Matawan schools are both slated to be demolished as part of a new construction program recently approved by voters.

As of May 1, the state board reported, provision had been made to comply with the requirement in all but 90 of the state's 2,235 schools.

The resolution approved by the state board authorizes the commissioner of education to withhold state aid from districts which have not complied by Sept. 11. The resolution states that the aid may be withheld "until such installations have been completed or the school district shall have submitted an appropriate plan to the State Board of Education and secured its approval."

Van R. Halsey Again Heads Hospital Fund

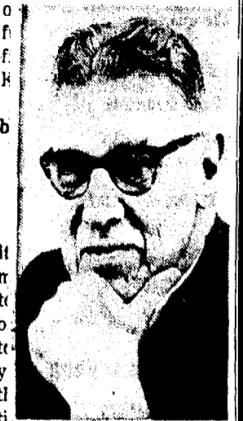

NEW YORK — Van R. Halsey, limited partner in the investment firm of Carlisle & Jacquelin, has been named chairman of the hospital trustees division of the 80th annual campaign of the United Hospital Fund of New York.

He is an honorary trustee of the Excelsior Savings Bank in New York City. Mr. Halsey lives in Rumson, N. J., of which he is former mayor.

Mr. Halsey is organizing the fund-raising efforts of more than 700 prominent businessmen who are trustees of fund member voluntary hospitals, and of doctors affiliated with the hospitals.

Beginning Sept. 20, they will seek money to aid the fund's 78 member hospitals extend their community health services in order to reach those who are lacking high quality medical care.

The United Hospital Fund's goal is $3,000,000. The fund appeal is Mr. Halsey's second as hospital trustees division chairman. He is treasurer and a member of the board of trustees of St. Luke's Hospital Center, a fund voluntary hospital.

Borough, Chief
Are Being Sued

FREEHOLD — A Rumson man has filed suit in Superior Court here in behalf of his infant daughter who was injured in a Monmouth Beach automobile accident in March, 1967.

The action was filed by attorney Daniel J. O'Hern, Red Bank.

James C. Lovell, 60 Bellevue Ave., Rumson, named the borough of Monmouth Beach and its police chief, Charles J. Hornbostel as defendants. Also named were Raymond P. Stoecker and Ernest Stoecker.

The suit charges that Chief Hornbostel negligently parked the police car on the north side of Ocean Ave., obstructing the roadway. It also charges that Raymond P. Stoecker, driver of the car in which the child was a passenger, operated his vehicle in a negligent manner when he drove it into the chief's car.

Flower Guide: 20-Year Effort

By WILLIAM SANDFORD

Five years after word got around that a wildflower volume in the Peterson Field Guide series was in preparation, I decided not to wait any longer, bought another guide. It's just as well. I'd have waited another 15 years for the Peterson. Now that it has finally appeared on the shelves, the "Field Guide to Wildflowers" has caused quite a stir — mostly pro but with a con note here and there from the botanical purists.

This work deviates from accepted academic format in that plants are presented not in any taxonomic order but according to — of all unscientific things — color of their flowers. Whether you like the deviation, the fact remains that it will permit a lot more beginning wildflower students to identify a lot more plants in a lot less time. And that's what it's for.

The color coding idea is not new. One of the oldest guides in my collection is a paperback using the same outline. It even has the colored page edges used again in the new Peterson as index marks. It proved handy, even though it was only a slim sampling of the available local flora.

FLOWER OF NORTH — Red trillium, above, is more common in the Kittatinny ridges north of us than in the shore area. This one was photographed last week in northern Maine. John Burroughs called it wake robin and named a book for it. New Peterson wild flower field guide uses both names. (Register Staff Photo)

The present volume, discussing 1,293 species in 84 families, adapts the visual system to a more ambitious work. Its range is northeastern and north-central United States and small adjacent areas of Canada. It is still, admittedly, not complete. Dr. Peterson feels it will cover at least 95 per cent of a student's finds afield within that range. I think 99 per cent would be a more accurate figure for the average student.

THE PROBLEM of relationships of the species is met by a system of family symbols and printed family names. The symbols key to a 25-page section of brief annotations on each family.

Why should a field guide take 20 years to produce? The introduction by Dr. Peterson gives some idea of the frustrations, exasperations and just plain sweat-of-the-brow work that went into the effort to produce a guide that would be different and fill a need that hadn't been met by its many predecessors in the field of flowering plants. The result, I think, succeeds.

The snags arose early in the preparation. An artist chosen to do the illustrations, was unable to secure release from another publisher, and Peterson himself set about the task of traveling about the country finding the necessary specimens and doing the 1,344 drawings that appear in the book. It must have been a Herculean task in a relatively strange field for the ornithologist. But the result is a happy one. The color plates and the fine drawings — as in his now famed bird guide — are as good as any I've seen.

The problems inherent to botany — multiplicity of species, disagreement among authorities, variation within species and hybridization that confuse identities, to mention a few — plagued the project. After co-author Margaret McKenny completed the first draft of text, covering 650 species, the authors decided coverage was not complete enough. They would double the number of species. That meant changing the entire format to match each illustration plate with a brief text on each species shown on the facing page.

PETERSON CITES an example of the lack of agreement. One of the two standard works on botany (Gray's Manual) recognizes 32 species of the genus Antennaria (pussy-tails) while the other (Britton and Brown) lists only six and considers all the rest just varietal forms of those.

We can accept the academician's word — and that of Peterson himself in the current volume — that the proper way to learn systematic botany is by learning to use the keys and mastering the technical description in Gray or Britton and Brown. But the book to stick in your pocket when venturing afield is the Peterson. For systematic orientation, there's time enough when you get back home to consult Gray or, to avoid some of the technical difficulties of the big volumes, a simpler one like Ricketts' "New Field Book of American Wild Flowers."

You won't need a field guide for Saturday's field trip of the Monmouth Nature Club at Bowman's Hill, Pa., near Washington Crossing. The great array of wild flowers which is the park's chief attraction is adequately identified and marked. The group will meet at 9 a.m. in the parking area at the tower atop the hill. Resident birds of the area will be a secondary feature of the outing.

Innocent Verdict Returned by Jury
FREEHOLD — A verdict of Innocent was returned yesterday in favor of Emmett C. Ford, 1100 1/2 Springwood Ave., Asbury Park.

He had been accused of atrocious assault and battery on Silas Robinson, 214 Borden Ave., Asbury Park, last Aug. 20 in that city.

The case was heard by Superior Court Judge Clarkson S. Fisher. Assistant Prosecutor John W. Aplegate presented the state's case. The defense attorney was Harry Kaplan.

400 Attend Confirmation At Shalom

MATAWAN TOWNSHIP — More than 400 people attended the first Shavuot Confirmation Service held at Temple Shalom.

The confirmands, in white gowns, and holding candles, led the procession to the Bema. The Havdala service, ushers out the Sabbath, was conducted during the procession, after which the Shavuot service began.

The eight confirmands were Meredith Ilong, Peggy Yules, Arnold DeMonte, Jeffrey Kahn, Christopher Pollak, David Rothman, Fred Wersan and Michael Wolkis. They conducted the service which included original prayers, written by them for this occasion.

The class valedictorian was Arnold DeMonte, who addressed the congregation. Rabbi Henry M. Weiner's sermon was "To Confirm or Reaffirm." The confirmands then presented their gift of a Torah cover to the temple, and received gifts of Bibles from the sisterhood. Mrs. Paul Zukerman, president, made the presentation.

A kiddush sponsored by the parents of the confirmands followed the ceremony. The arrangements for the service were under the direction of Mrs. Alan Fishman and Mrs. Edward Israel of the ritual committee.

Distasteful Transplant 'Firsts'

By PAUL KEY, M.D.
The "Heart-Transplant" Club seems to have replaced the "Atomic-Power" Club in the realm of international prestige. Not so long ago, the United States, England and Russia had "the bomb," and other countries were clamoring for entry into the select group.

Currently, South Africa has become the first power to accomplish a heart transplant, followed almost immediately by the entry into the competition of the other "powers," most recently including Brazil. Certainly heart transplant for health purposes is a goal to be preferred over atomic energy for purposes of war. But the development of this type of competition in medical science and medical practice has some notably distasteful features.

The goal of medicine must be the improvement and prolongation of the life of the individual and of the race. In the process of the development of new medicines, new techniques, and new procedures, it is inevitable that some individual patients will suffer. This will occur, not because any deliberate attempt is made to harm them, but because suitable techniques have not been developed to the point where they are completely helpful. So before a new medical procedure reaches the status of a useful, reliable technique, it will have been performed on many patients who won't have been helped.

Finally, after much effort in what must truly be called trial and error, a reliable method will be evolved. Thereafter, most of the patients will benefit from the procedure when it is performed. This is the pattern of the progress of medical technology.

There is some indication that this acceptable pattern is being violated in the case of transplant operations lately. It is beginning to appear that organ transplant operations are being done at least as much to attain entry into the "Transplant Club" as for the benefit of the individual patient or of science in general.

In the latest procedure at this writing, performed in Brazil, a heart and a kidney were removed from a "donor," and transplanted separately into two recipients. It seems most unusual that the exact set of circumstances needed for organ transplant was present in duplicate in two separate patients, so that this procedure was medically justified.

After all, to have awaiting transplant at one hospital a patient who needs a heart transplant and another who needs a kidney is a little unlikely to begin with.

To have the tissues of both of these patients compatible with those of the donor stretches the credibility a bit more. And the necessity of having trained teams for both heart and kidney transplant techniques further complicates the procedure.

There remains, of course, the possibility that all of these requirements were incompletely fulfilled or worse, as might happen if there was any pressure at all on the surgeons to become the first to perform two organ transplants from the same donor at the same time. Certainly one would like to hear the exact medical details of this particular medical "first."

In dealing with the individual patient, his welfare must be the first consideration. No medical procedure at all should be attempted for any patient unless it can be justified on the basis of benefit to the patient. Heart transplant should not be considered unless the life expectancy of the recipient can be improved.

There would, for example, be little justification in performing such an operation on an 80-year old man. Such a patient has outlived his life expectancy by 80 anyhow, and must have much deterioration elsewhere besides in the heart.

To perform a transplant with its attendant risk on an 80-year old offers no benefit to the patient so should not be attempted.

Perhaps in some era when the life expectancy might be 150 years, organ transplants for octogenarians might be acceptable. At present, organ transplants for the older patients can offer the patient no benefit.

They can offer for the surgeon a "first" for the history of medicine, however. Since the welfare of the patient, rather than the reputation of the surgeon, is the purpose of all medical care, it should be hoped that we will not hear of transplants for the oldest, the youngest, the shortest, tallest, prettiest or most talented patients, but only for those with the greatest need.

In the United States at least, patient oriented medicine is the rule. Here is the vote of one doctor that we continue to consider the welfare of the individual as the first goal in medical care.

Pick Agency Sues Boro, Two Firms

FREEHOLD—The Pick Agency of Sea Bright filed a Superior Court suit yesterday charging breach of contract by Sea Bright, the Insurance Company of North America and by the William H. Hintelmann Agency of Rumson.

In his suit, John T. Picknally Jr. of 1488 Ocean Ave., Sea Bright, of the Pick Agency, charges that Sea Bright failed to pay insurance premiums of $12,872 and the agency's commission of $2,027.42.

The suit states that Pick was the authorized agent for the Insurance Company of North America under a Nov. 1, 1962, agreement. It adds that on June 17, 1963, the firm entered into an agreement with the insurance company and with Andrew B. Keating and paid the insurance company $8,000 and got all the policies and accounts Mr. Keating had.

The Pick Agency, between Jan. 1, 1967, and Jan. 1, 1968, renewed various accounts up to Jan. 1, 1971, said the suit, but Sea Bright has failed to pay it the premiums.

The Insurance Company of North America on May 1 assigned policies and bonds from the Pick Agency to the William H. Hintelmann firm, and the suit contends, the insurance company informed the Pick Agency that all policies were transferred Feb. 23, 1968. The suit was filed by Ernest F. Picknally of Camden.

Successor to Clausen Selected by Board

FREEHOLD—The superintendent of the Plumsted Township Schools, Frank E. Kane of Mount Holly, was named to succeed Dr. Erling W. Clausen as the superintendent of the borough school system.

Dr. Clausen resigned to become superintendent of the Berkeley Heights Schools July 1. His new position will mean a salary increase of $8,000 over his current salary of $14,200. Dr. Clausen has been superintendent here 4½ years.

Mr. Kane was elected by the school board May 29, and will be officially appointed to the post Monday. He will begin July 1.

Mr. Kane is married and the father of four daughters.

The new superintendent received his BA degree from King's College, Wilkes Barre, Pa., and his MA from Rutgers University, New Brunswick.

He served as administrative principal at Pemberton Borough three years before going to Plumsted.

He is a Korean War veteran and served three years in the Marine Corps. He is a major in the U. S. Army Reserve and National Guard of New Jersey. He also is director of the Tactical Department of the New Jersey Military Academy, Sea Girt.

Karmel Show at Old Mill

TINTON FALLS — Matawan artist Philip Karmel opens his second exhibition at the Old Mill Gallery, Sycamore Ave., with a reception Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. The exhibition of 25 oils will continue through June 29.

Mr. Karmel's first one-man show was concerned with mostly pure design. In the current exhibition he has moved toward a less simplified approach and his work has become colorful and vibrant. His yearly visits to Mexico are credited for the new brightness of his palette and the dramatic handling of his paintings of the American scene.

Ocean Council Okays Fund To Repay Developers' Fees

OCEAN TOWNSHIP — Township Council has approved a measure which provides an emergency appropriation of $61,300 to settle five litigations brought against the community by developers.

The suits stem from a former township rule that developers were required to pay $300 per dwelling unit planned into a school fund. The payments, since ruled illegal, date back eight to 12 years.

Negotiations were made to settle the litigations late last year and early this year. The needed funds were not provided for in the current budget.

The funding resolution provides for a 10-year note to pay the settlements.

The developers, located throughout the state and some of which are defunct, were awarded these amounts: Mintwood Homes, Inc., $600; Dina Construction Co., $1,200; Forrest Park Manor, $17,500; Graner Corp. $8,500, and Pioneer Development, Inc., $12,500.

Council also gave final approval to a plumbing code revision which provides for inspection of sewer connections and sets a $10 fee. The measure was introduced last month.

Also approved was a recommendation by the local Zoning Board that Angelo and Evelyn Gatta be permitted to convert an existing building at Rt. 66 and Hillside Ave. into a restaurant and apartment.

A council resolution also approved a liquor license transfer from Wanamassa Pharmacy, Inc., Wickapecko Drive, to Shop-Rite Liquors of Oakhurst, Rt. 35.

Liquor license renewals for 13 bars, five package stores, and three clubs also were approved.

Keansburg Dissidents Act to Block Renewal

KEANSBURG — Two years shy of a decade, and nine days shy of the official ground breaking, the urban renewal project in the borough seems once again headed toward a grinding halt.

Former Mayor Louis Collichio, a principal in restoration of the blighted beach area, dropped a bombshell before Borough Council last night when he announced that his bipartisan club, the Lets Save Money for Taxpayers (LSMFT) association will institute a taxpayers' suit calling for a work stoppage against the principals, Bonafede Associates and the Local Public Agency (LPA), because of alleged misconduct.

Mr. Collichio called the three-member council, consisting of Mayor Leonard S. Bellezza and Councilmen Alphonsus McGrath and Harry Graham, "demagogues" and accused them of "stuffing the project down the throats of the taxpayers."

Mr. Collichio told the council he had sent a registered letter to three officials of the Housing and Urban Development Agency six weeks ago requesting a public forum on alleged deficiencies and false records in connection with the project.

He asked Mayor Bellezza whether any of the officials had requested a public meeting because of his letter.

The mayor replied, "Not to my knowledge."

"Financial Undoing"

Mr. Collichio then called the development the "financial undoing of Keansburg," terming the 10 per cent of rents collected at the apartment complex in lieu of taxes "a mere pittance."

"We will go before the Grand Jury concerning the lying, the chicanery, the deceit and the misconduct of the council," Mr. Collichio said.

After the meeting he said that his group will file suit early next week in an effort to halt the ground breaking ceremonies scheduled for next Saturday.

The LPA and the developer were to meet with the Federal Housing Administration in Newark this morning to close formally the sale of the 17.2 acre parcel.

Highlands Board Eyes Split School Sessions

HIGHLANDS — "Next year we'll have to do some serious thinking about split sessions." This conclusion was set down last night before the Board of Education by Administrative Principal Joseph J. Czarniecki after an analysis of projected pupil enrollment.

Split sessions are out of the question for the upcoming school year despite heavy enrollment in the third and fifth grades, he said. Funds are not budgeted for an additional teacher and the required extra supplies.

"But in one or two years the situation will be critical, and we'll have to do something," he added.

One of the reasons he suggested for the increased enrollment is that fewer families are planning to send their children to parochial school because of higher tuition costs.

County School Superintendent Given New Three-Year Term

TRENTON — Monmouth County Superintendent of schools, Earl B. Garrison, will begin his sixteenth year in that post, July 1, having been reappointed by the State Board of Education yesterday to a new three-year term.

Mr. Garrison's salary, the maximum for county superintendents, will be $19,916 annually.

"I'm pleased that the Commissioner of Education, Carl L. Marburger feels I've done a good enough job to stay with it," Mr. Garrison said of his reappointment.

Asked to select educational highlights of the past 16 years in Monmouth County, Mr. Garrison cited the development of the Monmouth County Vocational Schools, the start of the county college and the study of perceptual differences made by his office.

Mr. Garrison now believes it is time to reconsider the way our public school programs are structured and the "stratification" of students in these programs.

He asks whether we may not need to challenge the more able students to accept some responsibility for the education of their less able classmates.

Mr. Garrison is a graduate of Trenton State College. He received his master's degree at Teacher's College Columbia University. He headed the Bradley Beach school system before he was appointed to the county post.

Tipsy Driver Among Seven Penalized

RED BANK — Municipal Court Judge William I. Klatsky yesterday fined Francis A. Dougherty of Holmdel Road, Holmdel, a total of $225 and handed down a two-year suspended sentence for driving while under the influence of alcohol. He also was fined $30 for leaving the scene of an accident.

In other traffic violation cases, the judge fined Donald Gilmartin, 9 The Terrace, Middletown, $30 for allowing an unlicensed driver to operate a vehicle. Diane Kolas of 73 Hialeah Ave., Middletown was fined $55 for driving without a license and another $50 for leaving the scene of an accident.

Also, Richard W. Rogers of 50 Queens Drive, Little Silver, was fined $25 for speeding; Franklin D. Parker, 87 Jackson St. Fair Haven, $35 for speeding; Kenneth W. Williams of East Orange, $25 for careless driving; and Samuel Ostrander of White Street, this place, $20 for parking in a loading zone.

Marlboro Officials Act to Bar Recall

MARLBORO — An effort to block a recall election against two Purpose and Principle Coalition councilmen will be heard before the Appellate Division June 17.

This action will stop the clock and prevent the township clerk from setting a date for the special election until after the appeal is heard.

The order was obtained by Herbert Bierman for Council President George E. Creevy and Councilman Alfred L. Storer, both the subjects of a recall petition circulated by the opposing Citizens Committee coalition.

The petitions maintain that the two councilmen acted contrary to the best interests of the residents of the township in matters of planning and zoning.

Mr. Bierman plans to attack the entire recall election statute in his appeal, contending that the law is unconstitutional.

Superior Court Judge Elvin R. Simmill overruled all motions by Mr. Bierman concerning the question of constitutionality since this issue wasn't raised at the Superior Court level.

Judge Simmill, after a hearing, ruled that the recall petitions were valid and directed that the township clerk proceed according to law.

Ask Sears Intercede On School Funds Cut

TRENTON (AP) — The chairman of the Joint Legislative Appropriations Committee has been asked to intercede with his committee on behalf of the Department of Education which seeks restoration of $800,000 cut from its 1968-69 budget.

Sen. Harry M. Sears, R-Morris, was asked by George F. Smith, president of the state Board of Education, and State Education Commissioner Carl L. Marburger yesterday to reconsider the cuts made in the department's budget for the coming fiscal year.

"I can't help but feel that the appropriation committee was not informed of the facts when it made the cuts," Smith had said earlier at the regular monthly board meeting.

The committee announced May 29 it had eliminated a $300,000 proposal to establish three research demonstration centers from the department's budget, reduced the department's salary fund by $100,000, abolished nine currently filled executive positions in the department, and made other cuts.

"These cuts in some respects almost emasculate our efforts to do our job," Smith said at the board meeting.

Five of the positions abolished by the committee were in vocational education. They previously had been funded in part by the federal government. The committee also eliminated two positions in the commissioner's office and two in the office of pupil transportation.

The New Jersey State Federation of District Boards of Education also has voiced support for restoration of the funds and asked all 59 school boards to protest the budget cut.

Man Arrested In Death Crash

MIDDLETOWN — Alfred Fornicola, 31, of 391 MacArthur Ave., Long Branch, was arrested yesterday and charged with causing death by auto. He was released in $2,500 bail and awaits a hearing.

Mr. Fornicola is charged in a bus-car crash which occurred May 28 on a Middletown jughandle when Albert Steinberg, 66, of 101 Green Grove Road, Keyport, was fatally injured. Mr. Fornicola was the driver of a bus owned by Boro Busses of Shrewsbury, in collision with the Steinberg car.

Boy, 5, Struck By Automobile

FAIR HAVEN — James Hawkins, 5, of 83 Parker Ave., was struck by an automobile near his home last night. He was treated at Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, and released.

Police said the car, driven by Joseph Tuzik of 60 Church St., was moving slowly down Parker Ave. when the boy rode a bicycle into the street in front of the car. No summons was issued. Patrolman Peter J. Hart investigated.

Palette Talk

Simpson, Pioneer in Optics

By ELEANOR MARKO

The Marshall Simpson show is a visual memorial to his contributions to the aesthetics of space, form and color.

The collection of paintings currently in the Middletown Township Main Meeting Hall, Kings Hwy., is a mini-retrospective of particular interest to art scholars and is thought provocative as well, to the casual viewer.

The Middletown artist who died in 1958 at the age of 58 was avant garde in his spacial concepts and geometric experimentations in abstraction, an essential art form of the 20th century. Son of the distinguished Red Bank architect John T. Simpson, who designed the Red Bank Presbyterian Church at Tower Hill and the Christian Science Church, among other edifices, Marshall Simpson left his mark of encouragement toward innovations on many budding artists. His friendships here in the township and those that surrounded him as a teacher at Newark School of Fine and Industrial Art became so important that his influences are still felt.

"He was a pivot for communication among artists and students. His house was a place to go—where the action was," said John Brzostowski of River Plaza, an artist-teacher who was a student of Mr. Simpson at the Newark School and a young member of the circle of artists here in the area which included Ruth Campbell, Dorothy Warden, Virginia S. Montgomery Hammond and her husband Richard Hammond, Henry T. Gulick, who was the beloved self-taught artist after retiring as a Middletown farmer, was to remember Marshall for his sound advice to "never take lessons."

A sounding board for new ideas and a counselor, Mr. Simpson was an excellent teacher and conversationalist.

"He was a buffer from forces attacking you," Mr. Brzostowski explained. "And artists need this," he added, citing Mr. Simpson's support of artists in experimental developments.

Mrs. Simpson, who continues to live in the snug colonial house her husband designed on Kings Hwy. across from an apple orchard, was a companion and hostess to the growing circle of friends and art activities in her home here and in New York and Europe. Mr. Simpson was born in Jersey City and lived in Newark. The couple moved to Middletown in 1936-37 and immediately her husband, "a city boy became mad for the country," she said.

The landscapes in the current show are some of those that are left after swaps, sales, museum acquisitions and what Mrs. Simpson said her husband considered as "wonderful wedding presents." The message of the artist and his infinite concordance with nature, especially the wooded areas which surrounded them, is sentimentally realistic. His personal style for landscapes is academic and evidences his concern for concepts of space. His brush technique is masterful in underpainting with no heavy buildup of oils. Light and dark renditions and textures are subtle and suggest the gentle nature of this man, who was to leave this naturalism for linear abstractions. These experiments,

Mrs. Simpson said, started in the early 1950s. A graduate of Choate School, Mr. Simpson attended M.I.T., majoring in chemistry. "He spent more and more time at the Boston Museum and less and less in classes," Mrs. Simpson said, and so he decided to turn to serious study at the Art Students League in New York. The artist's interest in science never was abandoned. His new course was toward optical illusions and the problem of spatial arrangements, balance and weight, surface tensions and movement. These subtlety of relationships of tone and color values were created in collaboration with Roslyn Middleman of Plainfield, who is now Mrs. Neil Smerlison and lives in Philadelphia. Her paintings, including "Double Mirror" owned by Mr. Simpson's close friend Paul R. Smith of Atlantic Highlands, and which is the largest work in the current exhibition, were arrived at mathematically. Flat rectangular shapes superimposed one on top of another and organized to give a sensation of space without the illusion, became sophisticated compositions in the early history of American abstract artists. They were shown in New York galleries, including Bonestell, Rose Fried and John Heller.

"He was never cavalier about what they were accomplishing," Mrs. Simpson said about her husband. Often, she said, when she gently reminded him that they saw promise and importance in his work and that he should keep some record of their procedure, she said he admonished her that this was not his concern and that "the paintings will have to stand on their own." And for those who continued to seek out a meaning or symbol, he was to repeat time and again, "Just look at it."

That's the message we carry here. The paintings ask only a frank response to color and form. No meaning is demanded. Mr. Simpson painted what his eyes could see—and then beyond, which is an American "DOUBLE MIRROR", a 36 by 48-inch oil by Marshall Simpson, is included in the new exhibition at Middletown Township Meeting Hall open to the public daily through June 21. Painted in collaboration with Roslyn Middleman, the work, more than 20 years old and from the collection of Paul R. Smith, Atlantic Highlands, is considered an avant garde American development in optical phenomena.

Ganey Heads Art Festival

RED BANK — Joseph P. Ganey, 123 Eaton Crest Drive, Eatontown, was named chairman of the Red Bank Festival of Arts set for June 29 in Marine Park. He is secretary of the Greater Red Bank Jaycees, co-sponsors of the event with the Red Bank Parks and Recreation Department. The event, the oldest outdoor annual exhibition in the county, is open to all artists. They will vie for some $500 in prizes, including the $225 first prize for professional painting in addition to the keepsake silver bowl of The Daily Register. This year marks the 10th year the bowl will be presented by The Register.

Joseph P. Ganey

It has been won by Janet M. Schippert of Spring Lake, who this year has received her M.F.A. at Catholic University, Washington, D. C., and will now enter professionally.

Mr. Ganey, a consumer market sales representative for Eastman Kodak Co. in South Jersey, with headquarters in New York City, joined the Red Bank Jaycees in October, 1967, and served as chairman of the 1967 Jaycees Christmas Shopping Tour. He majored in finance at St. Bonaventure University, Olean, N. Y., where he received a bachelor of arts degree in business administration.

Mr. Ganey has named Daniel Dorn Jr., 14 Northvale Ave., Little Silver, chairman of reservations. He was 1967 chairman of the festival. Entry applications are now available, he said, at the offices of The Daily Register, the Red Bank Recreation Commission and Dorn's Photo Shop, all in Red Bank. The commission is mailing entries to all entrants in last year's show.

Forms must be completed and returned to Mr. Dorn by June 24. Categories include professional painting, all media; amateur painting, all media; sculpture, professional and amateur, and photography, professional and amateur, and junior painting, all media, grades 1 through 12.

Exhibitors are due June 29 at Marine Park between 8 and 9:30 a.m. The show opens to the public from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and presentation of awards will be at 4 p.m.

The Borough of Red Bank Purchase Award also will be presented for the fourth year. An oil by Herman A. Dasler, Keansburg, was chosen for the permanent collection last year and in 1966. The first purchase award went to Wini Smart of Freehold. All paintings are local scenes.

Top prize winner last year in the professional painting class was Red Bank artist Yvonne Aubert for a moody watercolor "A Long Ago."

Maris Is Subject Of George Segal

SHREWSBURY — The Guild of Creative Art tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. will present a George Segal sculpture at its Gallery, 820 Broad St.

Segal calls this piece "Seated Man With Glass—Valdi S. Maris," his model being the guild's own artist-teacher. The sculpture will be on exhibit through the month of June, in conjunction with the Guild's "Pop-Art Show."

In 1960 Segal almost accidentally hit upon the idea of juxtaposing his plaster figures with relevant parts of existing environments. While placing one of his figures on a real chair, he was struck by the powerful presence of that chair as well as by the resulting diffusion of focus.

One's attention was no longer directed to the figure in its own right, but rather one saw the figure in context, suddenly in relation to a situation. The second important breakthrough came when George Brecht gave him some plaster-impregnated Johnson & Johnson medical bandages.

Segal immediately wrapped himself in these bandages, had his wife put on the plaster and thereby became his own first model. Thus, with "Man Sitting at Table," George Segal had found his medium and could claim to have made his first complete and authentic sculpture.

George Segal's first one-man-museum show, has just concluded at the Museum of Contemporary Art in Chicago.

AAPL 32d Exhibit

SPRING LAKE — The 32d annual exhibition and sale of paintings of the New Jersey Chapter of the American Artists Professional League opens June 28 here in the Warren Hotel. It will continue through Labor Day. Artists who wish to exhibit are asked to bring their work June 14 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., on June 15 from 9 a.m. to noon. Cash awards and ribbons will be presented. Jurors will be Ted Goerschner, Point Pleasant; Maxine Clark, Brielle, and Roy Ells, Chatham. Entry blanks and prospectus are available from Mrs. Mary Keim Tietse, AAPL president, 35 Broadview Ter., Chatham. Exhibiting artists are invited to attend the opening luncheon June 20 at noon. There will be a painting demonstration by Miss Chris Koczwar.

expansion of the astonishing influence of Mondrian and van Doesburg's de Stijl which in 1920-25 began in Belgium and swept to Germany, France and Eastern Europe. Architecture and topography are deeply influenced today by de Stijl (The Style) and Mr. Simpson can rightly be considered one of the American pioneers of pure abstraction. Although his paintings in the show are more than 20 years old, they are the avant garde of the Op art popularly named in the last few years. The advertising world embraces this mode of expression. And, as a matter of fact "Herringbone" by Mr. Simpson was once "blown up" to billboard size for a New York newspaper and "Double Mirror" in an ad for Celanese.

Discuss Oceanport Community Swim Pool

Mr. Boyle discussed the Lions Club's survey of swimming pool costs, construction and operation.

The Lions' study was undertaken in recognition of the need for additional recreational facilities in Oceanport, Mr. Boyle said. The club plans a borough-wide survey to determine residents' interest in a community swimming pool.

William Lawson, adult recreation chairman, said the evening adult recreation program, held three nights a week in the Maple Place School, is being discontinued for the summer. The program will be resumed in the fall.

Anthony Racioppi, activities chairman, reported on plans for the summer recreational program for children, July 8 through Aug. 16. It will be held both at the community center playground and the Wolf Hill School. Mrs. Sheila Dunn was employed as director

Girl Picked For Army Nurse Unit

FT. MONMOUTH — Miss Lorraine M. Rippey of 5 Allen Ave. has been selected by the Office of the Surgeon General to participate in the Army Student Nurse Program leading to service in the Army Nurse Corps.

Miss Rippey has completed her sophomore year at the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing and will continue to attend the university under the Army scholarship. She will enter the student program in September, will be commissioned in the Army Nurse Corps in December of her senior year and will be called to active duty upon graduation.

During the past two summers, Miss Rippey served as a nurse's aide at Circle Terrace Hospital, Alexandria, Va. This summer, she plans to be a nurse's aide at Monmouth Medical Center, Long Branch.

Miss Rippey is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. George E. Rippey. Col. Rippey is the commander of the U. S. Army Satellite Communications (SATCOM) Agency and Army project manager for satellite communications' research and development.

County Firemen Opposing Discriminatory Practices

LONG BRANCH — The Monmouth County Firemen's Association will convene again June 24 in Atlantic firehouse, Broadway, at 8 p.m.

The association, with 70 members present, last month supported legislation which prohibits discrimination in volunteer fire departments.

They added the following statement:

"The firemen's association does now favor, and has always favored, a policy that any person qualified to be accepted into membership in any volunteer fire company, be accepted without any discrimination because of race, color, religion or place of national origin."

James Ellis, of Union Beach, co-chairman of Monmouth County Fire College, reported 355 new students and the greatest total enrollment ever, 930, for this season.

Summer School Outlined At Monmouth Regional

NEW SHREWSBURY — At a meeting of the Monmouth Regional High School Board of Education, Dr. Patrick Parenty, superintendent, described the proposed summer school program.

Elaborating on the six-week program, to run from June 24 to Aug. 2, Dr. Parenty said it was developed "to provide full service to the sending communities, and has been divided into two parts, enrichment opportunity and review subjects. Students will be able to take courses for credit or non credit as well as to make up courses failed during the regular school year."

Dealing with the specifics of the program Dr. Parenty said that review subjects will give students the opportunity to erase a failure or simply to enrich and strengthen their knowledge. No credits will be given to any student who misses more than four class hours.

Subjects in this category will include English, world civilization, United States history, biology, mathematics, Spanish and French.

Enrichment courses, with no credit, will include driver education, French literature, physical education, remedial mathematics and language arts.

Enrichment courses with 2 1/2 credits will include band, clothing instruction, ceramics, electronics and electronic construction and testing and personal typing.

Enrichment courses with five credits will include marine biology which includes field trips and an ecological study of marine animals and plants of the shore area.

Registration for these courses is now open and will continue until June 24. No charge will be made to residents of the district. A fee of $50 per course for non residents will be payable on registration.

Dr. Parenty concluded that progress reports will be sent to parents at the end of the first three weeks of the session and another report will be sent at the end. Copy of this will also be sent to the student's principal.

Robertsville School Reading Aid Is Financed by the PTA

MARLBORO — Classroom and remedial reading teachers at the Robertsville School will have the help of a new film strip machine next year, thanks to the Robertsville Parent-Teacher Association.

Leo J. Scully, Sr., president of the Board of Education, said last night that the purchase of the machine was made possible by the PTA's donation of $400.

The board last night hired these three teachers for the 1968-69 school year:

Mrs. Sara L. Faline, of Scotia, N.Y., to teach third grade at the Robertsville School, at $7,900; Miss Karen M. Palmer, West Long Branch, girls' physical education, at $7,300; and Mrs. Karen Beigelman, New Brunswick, second grade at Central School, $7,000.

The board also hired George L. Hartosy, Marlboro, as a school custodian from July 1 to June 30, 1969, at $4,200.

Salaries Authorized
Almoses Harris, eighth grade science teacher at the Central

School, will represent township schools at the 1968 Summer Regional Science Curricular Study Committee for three weeks at a salary of $375.

A salary of $15 per day for up to 20 days this summer was authorized for the new cafeteria manager, Mrs. Caroline Zienowicz, to set up the cafeteria in the Robertsville School.

The following contracts were awarded:

Forpat Stainless Steel Co., Elizabeth, installation of a kitchen in the Robertsville School, $23,789.

Marzo Contracting Co., Madison Township, for paving of roadways and parking area at the Robertsville School, $16,200.

W. J. Patten Co., Perth Amboy, 1968-69 janitorial supplies, $5,697.09.

Agway, Inc., Syracuse, N.Y., number two fuel oil at .1129 cents per gallon, and Monmouth Petroleum Co., Englishtown, number four oil at .0865 cents per gallon.

Land Sale Accord Ends Marina Issue

KEANSBURG — The former borough owned marina, subject of litigation because of alleged failure to make improvements called for in the sale deed, has been restored to the tax rolls at an assessed valuation of $145,000, and the suit dropped, Borough Council announced last night.

Borough Attorney Howard A. Roberts revealed that Andora Corp., principal owners of the much debated marina, have agreed to accept $40,000 for slightly more than two acres of land needed in the overall hurricane protection project, while at the same time accepting the higher assessment, retroactive to Jan. 1.

Mr. Roberts said he feels the marina principals have made $50,000 worth of permanent improvements at the site, although some were made after the deadline date. This, he said, was not the fault of the owner, as title problems followed the formal closing.

In the original deed, the owners were compelled to make improvements by December of last year or the property would revert back to the borough.

The borough contended in its suit that the corporation had not made the improvements and sought to recover the marina through default.

The council introduced an ordinance appropriating $8,000 for

Asks Council Take Stand on Dredging

HIGHLANDS — David Feldman, president of the Baymen's Protective Association, last night asked the lame duck Borough Council to take a definitive stand on proposed dredging of the federal and state channels here by the U.S. Dredging Corp. of New York City.

In a special meeting April 10, council reserved decision on a proposal submitted by the dredging firm to deepen both channels without harming the clam-rich sandbar between them. Decision has remained reserved ever since.

"I was hoping council would take some action tonight that we could take to the meeting Monday," Mr. Feldman explained.

"Council never endorsed their (the dredgers') project—that was our answer," Councilman Frank J. Hall declared. "Then we can say council does not endorse the project?" the clambers' president insisted.

"We have never endorsed the project," Mr. Hall repeated.

Mr. Feldman explained the clambers organization, representatives of area boatmen, who generally favor the dredging, Assemblyman Joseph Azzolina, R-Monmouth, and Commissioner Robert A. Roe of the state Department of Conservation and Economic Development will meet on the project in the commissioner's office in Trenton at 11 a.m. Monday.

The clambers, who oppose dredging of the state channel, "want to have some points to make at the conference," Mr. Feldman said.

The meeting with Commissioner Roe was arranged by Assemblyman Azzolina.

Other clam business was not acted upon by the three members of council present last night. A recommendation from the Planning Board urging amendment of the zoning ordinance to permit clam depuration plants in the waterfront area was referred to the newly elected council, which takes office July 1.

Also referred to the new council was the question of cession of a portion of Rt. 36 bordering Highlands properties on Navesink Avenue.

Sewer Discussion
Council will invite the councilmen elect to accompany them to a hearing Monday, June 17, in Freehold in the offices of the county Planning Board. Regional sewer proposals for the county, including the Highlands-Atlantic Highlands regional agreement, will be discussed.

Highlands representatives, including Mayor John A. Bahrs,

Injured Motorist Sues Long Branch

FREEHOLD — A Superior Court suit was filed yesterday against Long Branch and one of its employes for injuries a Maryland man suffered last year in an auto accident in Long Branch.

In his suit, David Brown Jr. of Laurel, Md., charges that his car, which was traveling west on Central St., near Liberty St., in Long Branch, was struck May 25, 1967, by a vehicle operated by Anthony Lopreti, a Long Branch employe, which was traveling south on Liberty St.

The suit charges Mr. Lopreti with negligence.

George M. Chamlin of West Long Branch represents Mr. Brown.

Return of Books Asked in Hazlet

HAZLET — The Phyllis Olin-sky Memorial Library has announced that boxes for the deposit of overdue library books will be placed in the halls of township schools today and tomorrow and next Thursday and Friday.

The library asks that all overdue books be dropped in the cartons provided. No fines will be charged.

Halpern Fines Three

Judge Harold Halpern yesterday fined Lawrence I. Chandler, First Ave., Asbury Park, $10 for contempt of court and $15 for speeding.

He also assessed Jack Dushy, Brooklyn, $25 for careless driving and Clemmie Tindell, Newark, $10 for operating a commercial vehicle on Ocean Ave.

Awards Dinner Set June 24 by SADC

SHREWSBURY — More than 600 tickets have been distributed for the annual awards dinner June 24 of the Shore Area Development Committee.

The dinner, at which 14 Monmouth County residents will be honored for their contributions during 1967, will be held at Rod's Shadowbrook, here.

Kendall H. Lee, committee chairman, said ticket sales to date have been gratifying. The committee, he said, is seeking a speaker of national prominence.

The ticket and program committees held a joint meeting Wednesday at the home of Jack Keaveney, chairman of the program committee, Garden Road, here.

To be honored at the dinner are Michael Slovak, for community service; Dale B. Otto, community service; Rep. James J. Howard, highways; Duncan C. Thecker, urban affairs; D. Louis Tonti, culture; Ronald Kornegay, sports; Joseph C. Irwin, county college; Maj. Gen. William B. Latta, military-civilian relations; Milton Untermeyer, rail transportation; Mr. Lee, civic affairs; Kervork Hovnanian, housing; C. Carroll Barclay, commerce, and John T. Lawley, regional sewerage.

FIREMEN TO MEET

LINCROFT — The Monmouth County Firemen's Association will meet next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Lincroft firehouse to discuss civil disorders. Fire chiefs and their assistants are invited to attend.

On Campus

Students in the High Point (N. C.) College fine arts department presented the annual commencement program of music May 12 on campus. Among the participants was Miss Linda Carolyn Klog, 330 Prospect Ave., Little Silver, whose piano selection was Sonata Op. 10, No. 3 by Beethoven.

Antique Shop Opens Saturday

FAIR HAVEN — The opening of The Tinker's Dam antique shop has been set for Saturday from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., it was announced by the proprietor, Miss Bonnie Anderson, Rumson.

Miss Anderson said the shop will feature select antiques and objets d'art from sources all over the world, including traditional American items but with special emphasis on antiques from Britain and Europe, where she has traveled extensively.

Miss Anderson is a recent art education graduate of the University of Miami (Fla.). The Tinker's Dam shares quarters with Viscardi, Craftsmen, at 769 River Road, Fair Haven, and will be open 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

KENNELLY HONORED — Former Judge Francis X. Kennelly, left, was honored last night at a dinner at the Molly Pitcher Inn on completion of his three-year term as Red Bank's municipal court judge. Bidding farewell are Mayor John P. Arnone, center, and former mayor, Benedict R. Nicosia, who appointed Judge Kennelly.

Fond Farewell Goes To Judge Kennelly

RED BANK — When the judge left the bench this week, he by no means left the court room.

Judge Francis X. Kennelly completed his appointed three-year term as Red Bank's Municipal Court judge, with the post going to Judge William I. Klatsky. But Judge Kennelly will continue to appear in court, as he has since he entered the bar in 1955, as a trial lawyer in Jersey City.

The out-going judge was honored last night by a group of friends and associates at a dinner in the Molly Pitcher Motor Inn on completion of his term. Yesterday, he looked back on a "rewarding" experience, praising everyone who made it easy "to maintain propriety."

'NEVER ANY PRESSURE'
"There was never any pressure from groups," he said. "Everyone expected impartiality . . . and it was a great pleasure to be unhampered in exercising independence."

The former judge said he had been especially pleased to be able to carry out a program that has been urged by the U.S. attorney general, the state Supreme Court and all judicial agencies, that of releasing suspects in their own recognizance whenever possible. The measure is designed, he said, to help avoid holding persons in jail for unnecessarily long periods when they are unable to post bail.

"I don't recall that any person was held for more than 12 hours without a preliminary hearing," he said.

Judge Kennelly, who held night sessions of court, said he also held preliminary hearings on the average of three mornings a week and on weekends in order to expedite this procedure.

He stated, moreover, that he was pleased to have worked with "such extremely competent people" as Raymond Tufts, court clerk, and Mrs. Barbara Lewis, who assists him, as well as the entire police department and the borough attorney.

In addition to his law practice, (with the firm of O'Mara, Schumann, Davis and Hession in Jersey City), the judge plans to concentrate on a number of civic and church activities in which he is involved.

He is vice chairman of The Pastoral Council of the Trenton Diocese of the Catholic Church, president of the Monmouth County Federation of Holy Name Societies, and chairman of the Interfaith Study Group of Red Bank. He is also working on a new project with the Revitalization Corps here and serves on the board of the new Off Broad Street teen program. Judge Kennelly lives at 8 Highland Ave. with his wife, Gertrude, and two daughters.

Howard Asks for Hearings On Joint Crime Committee

WASHINGTON — Citing civil disturbances throughout the country as well as U. S. Senate testimony about organized crime, Rep. James J. Howard D-N. J., today urged that hearings be scheduled on a House Joint Resolution he has introduced calling for the formation of a bipartisan Joint Congressional Committee on Crime.

"I am proud that the last two Congresses have passed important anti-crime legislation to help our local law enforcement agencies, and I also feel that the Congress must declare still another massive war on crime," Mr. Howard added.

Mr. Howard introduced his legislation on Jan. 17, 1967, a week after the first session of the 90th Congress convened. A number of other representatives and senators, both Democrats and Republicans, have introduced identical or similar bills. Mr. Howard made his request in a letter to Rep. William Colmer, D-Miss., chairman of the House Committee on Rules. The committee has not yet acted on the resolution.

"The resolution would establish a committee composed of seven members of the House and seven members of the Senate, to be appointed respectively by the Speaker of the House and the president pro tempore of the Senate," Mr. Howard said.

"In both cases, no more than four members would belong to the same party and the purpose of the committee would be to make continuing studies and investigations of all aspects of crime in the United States," Mr. Howard added.

"Those of us who support this legislation, both Democrats and Republicans alike, are acutely aware that crime is our most serious domestic problem, and that riots are only one type of crime," Mr. Howard remarked.

Alluding to the need for a Congressional investigation of organized crime, Mr. Howard pointed to testimony given late last month to a U. S. Senate Committee.

"The testimony showed that organized crime, through the use of loan shark operations, is taking over legitimate businesses, and that it earns billions of dollars annually from loaning money at interest rates ranging from 100 to 1,000 per cent," Mr. Howard said.

"This testimony, as well as the fact that organized crime is deeply involved in narcotics traffic, prostitution and various forms of illegal activity, is dramatic testimony to the fact that such a congressional investigation of organized crime is long overdue," Mr. Howard remarked.

"In the United States today, there is a murder every hour, an aggravated assault every 2.5 minutes, a burglary every 27 seconds, and crime costs America $27 billion a year," Mr. Howard said.

He said another section of the Joint Congressional Committee on Crime would be to "study the causes, effects and remedies of civil disturbance."

Mr. Howard said there are hundreds of sources of information regarding crime, but that the United States lacks a single clearing house capable of evaluating this information and turning it into coherent legislative proposals.

'Church of the Presidents' Restoration Plan Launched

LONG BRANCH — Local, state and federal officials yesterday initiated the restoration of St. James' Chapel, Ocean Ave., a former Episcopal church known as "The Church of the Presidents" in a move to refurbish the edifice as the Long Branch Historical Museum and to employ senior citizens as craftsmen for the job.

The structure, erected in 1869, was last used as a church in the early 1940s. Its abandonment by the church, although it is today known as "America's Westminster Abbey," due to the fact that six American Presidents have worshiped there, has led to its gradual deterioration.

Recognized as an American landmark, the chapel has become an historic site and is the target of the local historic unit for restoration as an educational and recreational site for American and foreign visitors.

Seeking aid in sponsoring the program, the historical group found that the federal and state farmers union has secured the backing of the U.S. Department of Labor by way of hiring senior citizens to work on such refurbishing projects under the government-sponsored Green Thumb Program.

Local units, such as the Monmouth County Association of Senior Citizens and other member groups of Monmouth Community Action Program, Inc., offer to furnish the manpower. State level officers of the Green Thumb Program work as liaison personnel between the local, state and national agencies to secure an 80-20 per cent annual contract.

The federal agency furnishes 80 per cent of the cost in actual cash. The state and local agencies guarantee that, at least 20 per cent of the project's cost will be met "in kind" such as professional advice, and other considerations.

Benefits Seen
Under the program, Long Branch will secure a museum and retain a national landmark, while sustaining the area's economy at federal level funding.

Edgar N. Dinkelspiel, Long Branch, is president of the local unit. Joseph R. Kenny of Trenton, is state director of the program and George E. Meagher is the national director.

All the officials, including Jack Newman, representing the U.S. Department of Labor, attended yesterday's kick-off of the museum project.

Local men employed at the site on a three-day per week basis are Thomas J. Rooney, Otto W. Janeck and Harry Brothers, all of Atlantic Highlands; John Sandstrum, of Leonardo; Luigi Tomaso, Eatontown, and Leonard Farming of Oceanport.

Another man is to be named to the slated seven-man work crew.

Sponsoring museum memberships are open to the public, according to Mr. Dinkelspiel.

Walks Bond Codes Pushed In Hazlet

HAZLET — The Township Committee last night introduced two ordinances which, if adopted, would authorize bond issues to finance construction of sidewalks on S. Laurel Ave.

One measure calls for a bond issue of $8,075 for construction and a second is for $6,650 to finance the acquisition of easements.

Public hearings on both will be June 25.

The South Laurel Ave. sidewalk program follows the township's efforts to construct walks along hazardous and well traveled roads. Projects are now nearing completion on Middle Road and Beers St.

Reporting progress of these projects, Committeemen Raymond Ansett said one problem is anticipated on Middle Road where the sidewalks must zig-zag to avoid the Reform Church of Hazlet.

The sidewalk, if continued in a straight line, would cut through the vestibule of the church. Mr. Ansett said discussions are under way with church and county officials to decide if anything can be done to remedy the situation.

The committee rejected the bids submitted by contractors for construction of sidewalks along Beers Street. They said the bids were in excess of the township engineer's estimate and would be readvertised.

The body also approved a contract to the C. H. Robertson firm of Freehold, for $14,435 to purchase a backhoe for the road department.

Disadvantaged Pupils' Summer Training Slated

TRENTON — A summer vocational program for migrant and other disadvantaged students, to be operated in the Long Branch schools, was approved yesterday by the state Board of Education.

The board okayed an allocation of $10,138 — 50 per cent federal and 50 per cent state funds — for an "Introduction to Vocations" program to serve a minimum of 30 students, boys and girls, 12 to 16 years of age.

The proposal was developed by Dr. Margaret Blair, director of the Introduction to Vocations program for the state Division of Vocational Education, with the assistance of Westry Horne, state coordinator of migrant education.

In addition to the introductory program, Dr. Blair has developed a summer vocational program which is also planned to operate at Long Branch, serving similarly disadvantaged youths age 14 to 16.

A primary aim of both programs, Dr. Blair says, "is to show these youngsters that they do not need to spend the rest of their lives picking someone else's potatoes."

The proposal for the programs states — they "will attempt to expose the student to as many job areas as possible."

Built into both programs is training in reading and arithmetic. Students will be in school from 8 a.m. to noon — longer on trip days — and will receive a daily breakfast at school.

The pupils will have exploratory experiences in business education, home economics, industrial arts and science.

In addition to trips to the Long Branch area, journeys to the Longwood Gardens, Kennett Square, Pa., Smithville Inn, Absecon and the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, have been planned for both groups of students. Each trip will seek to acquaint pupils with the many occupational opportunities available. At Longwood Gardens, Dr. Blair reports, there are 365 job categories, all of them ways of "earning a living with the earth."

The vocational program has been budgeted at $15,000, with all of the funds expected to come from the federal government.

Dr. Blair paid compliments to Donald Hoagland, superintendent of the Monmouth County Vocational Schools, with whom she has been working in developing the plans.

Long Branch schools staff members who helped develop the proposal, included the assistant superintendent, Milton Hughes; high school principal, John Dugan; guidance counselor, William Waldier, and Superintendent William Meskill.

He is working toward a master of science degree in education and has studied at the University of Puerto Rico, Universidad Autonoma de Mexico, Rutgers and Monmouth College.

Brother Corry, who teaches French and Spanish, designed and supervised construction of the school's language laboratories. He has also developed elaborate systems of testing and class sectioning and scheduling.

Outside the classroom he serves as a student counselor coordinator for a number of community service projects, directs a student exchange program with Mexico City and a teacher-exchange program with Columbia. He is also a leader of a student summer study program in Europe.

New College President Outlines Major Goals

LINCROFT — What was just a dream a few years ago yesterday began to take on the first dimensions of reality.

The dream was for a community college in Monmouth County. Yesterday, it came alive as its new president set forth long-range goals and specific plans when he spoke before the county's League of Women Voters at the Lincroft Inn. The 75 members of his audience, who came from league branches in Red Bank, Middletown, Matawan and Asbury Park, were among the original dreamers of such an institution.

Dr. Ervin L. Harlacher, president of Monmouth Community College, described the unique function of the new venture, a college that "tailors programs to meet the needs of each individual" — whether the student prepares to transfer to a four year liberal arts college, or wants to develop a skill for a certain job. . . or, as an adult, wants to continue the learning process. . . or, at any age, requires individual counseling.

'Open Door Policy'
While admissions will be based on an "open door policy," with the minimum requirement of a high school diploma, the president said, "We do not intend to become a baby-sitting institution. The emphasis will be on excellence, so each student can achieve at the highest possible level.

"The college will judge itself on what it accomplishes with the student, how much contribution he will be able to make — not on the caliber of the student when he arrives."

Dr. Harlacher stated that the community college is the "biggest bargain" in education today. Not 63ly are students able to live at home, reducing cost to families, but it also costs the state far less. He said that 80 per cent of all freshmen and sophomores in the country today are enrolled in community colleges.

Getting down to specifics,

Seek Hit-Run Car

KEANSBURG — Police here have issued a county alarm for a 1965 Ford Falcon that reportedly left the scene after hitting a pedestrian near 144 Beachway at 10:32 last night.

Police identified the pedestrian as Norman R. Franks, 19, of Second St., West Keansburg. He was treated at Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, for abrasions and contusions and released after treatment.

Patrolmen Harry Schaeffer and Eugene Bennett are investigating.

Fisherman's Feast $3.50

Dr. Harlacher said that 760 full-time students will attend Monmouth College next September with three-quarters of their tuition paid by the fledgling community college. He reported an agreement has been reached with the four-year college in West Long Branch as an interim measure, providing students with educational opportunity until the county's program can be launched.

Must Meet Standards
"Our students at Monmouth College," he emphasized, "must meet their standards and requirements during this period." He said he is hopeful that the new college will get under way with its own faculty and temporary facilities in December, 1969. The doctor said the physical plant of the college, to be built on a 226-acre tract on Newman Springs Road here, should be completed in 1971 or '72.

During a question period, Dr. Harlacher said he hopes to attract faculty members from all parts of the country. He added that, in formal education courses, instructors will be required to hold a minimum of a master's degree.

Dr. Harlacher flew from Michigan to give the speech. There he continues to serve as president of Oakland Community College until he assumes his duties here. (Mrs. Charles Bellin, program chairman, introduced him as the only man in the U.S. to be president of two colleges at the same time.)

Dr. Harlacher reported that he and his family will move to a home in Shrewsbury next week, but he will continue to spend several days a week in Oakland for the time being. His office, which opened May 15, is located at 765 Newman Springs Road, here.

Variations on a Chinese Theme

Strathmore Cook Creates Her Own Recipes

By MARGOT SMITH

MATAWAN TOWNSHIP — Strathmore's Maureen Schnappauf, (Mrs. John) of 83 Warren Drive, is very fond of Chinese food. Her taste for it, developed in numerous visits to many Chinese restaurants, has led her to develop her own recipes for the dishes she loves best.

Trial and error, sometimes with the help of her sister, have resulted in a group of recipes with an unmistakable tang of authenticity.

The electric fry pan comes in handy for most of these, for it allows accurate temperature control, important with cornstarch base sauces.

The bacon-water chestnut tidbit Maureen offers is a good one for spur-of-the-moment entertaining. Keep the canned chestnuts on your emergency shelf, and canned bacon, too.

FRIED RICE (Serves 4-5 adults)

2 cups cold (cooked) long grain rice (not fast-cooking rice)
 1/2 pound pork shoulder, leftover or raw, cut in small pieces
 3 eggs, beaten
 1/2 cup diced scallions (green onions)
 lettuce
 soy sauce
 garlic powder (about 1/4 teaspoon) salt and pepper
 few teaspoons oil

Cook rice in morning (or better yet, night before). Refrigerate all day or overnight.

Heat oil in large frying pan (be sure not to burn). Add leftover pork and heat a few minutes. If raw pork is used, be sure to cook until pork is thoroughly done.

Push pork to side of frying pan and put in scallions and lettuce. Cook until lettuce and scallions are soft, not burned (low heat).

Raise heat and add beaten eggs. Scramble quickly and lower heat immediately. Slowly add rice and mix with pork, eggs, lettuce and scallions. Slowly add soy sauce to taste. Season with garlic powder, salt and pepper. Leftover chicken may be substituted for pork.

SHRIMP WITH EGG SAUCE (Serves four adults)

1 1/2 pounds butterfly shrimp (cleaned and deveined)
 1 cup scallions (green onions) cut in small pieces
 1 clove garlic (cut in small pieces)
 2 small eggs, beaten
 1 cup liquid in which shrimp is boiled
 1 cup water

cornstarch, soy sauce, salt, MSG and a few teaspoons salad oil

Cook cleaned shrimp in boiling water and reserve some of the liquid.

Heat oil in large frying pan. Cook scallions until soft (be sure not to burn) and add garlic. Slowly, add one cup shrimp liquid and one cup cold water to which three tablespoons of cornstarch are dissolved.

Heat until boiling and stir constantly, so cornstarch does not lump. If not thick enough, add more cornstarch mixture. Have liquid boiling and slowly add beaten eggs.

Lower heat and add shrimp. Season with salt, MSG and a little soy sauce, if desired. Serve over white rice.

CHICKEN CHOW MEIN (Serves 4-5 adults)

1 chicken (3 pounds)
 1 cup celery (cut in large chunks)
 4 large onions (cut in large strips)
 1/2 can bean sprouts (drain liquid)
 1/2 can bamboo shoots
 1 can water chestnuts (sliced)
 1 cup cooked or canned mushrooms cornstarch
 soy sauce
 salt and MSG
 chicken stock oil

Cook chicken in water until tender (reserve broth). Let chicken cool. Remove and discard skin. Cut meat into long strips.

Heat a few tablespoons oil in large frying pan and fry onions and celery until soft, not brown. Add two cups chicken broth and heat to boiling. Add about three tablespoons cornstarch that has been dissolved in one cup of cold water. Stir constantly so cornstarch does not lump. (Add more cornstarch dissolved in cold water if mixture is not thick enough.)

Add cut-up chicken, water chestnuts, bamboo shoots, bean sprouts, mushrooms and season with soy sauce, salt, and MSG.

Serve over fried rice and Chinese noodles.

ORIENTAL HORS D'OEUVRES

2 cans water chestnuts
 3/4 pound thin sliced bacon

Cut each water chestnut into two or three pieces. Wrap each piece in a half slice of bacon. Bake at 425 degrees about 20 minutes, or until bacon is crisp. Drain on paper towels and serve with tooth picks.

CHINESE DISHES HER SPECIALTY — Maureen Schnappauf of Strathmore did a lot of experimenting before her fried rice and chow mein tasted just right. Now, she calls her recipes "fool proof."

Gayle Rose Is Bride

MIDDLETOWN — Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Gayle Irene Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Rose, 39 Highview Circle, to Dennis R. Metnick on Sunday afternoon in Henninger, N.H.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Schule of Henninger in an outdoor ceremony at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Calvin Hooker. The bride was attended by Mrs. John Schule, and Joel Barton Cohen, Parsippany, was best man. A reception for the immediate families followed at the Colby Hill Inn in Henninger. Mrs. Metnick attended C.W. Post College, Long Island, N.Y., and is a senior at New England College, Henniker, majoring in elementary education. Mr. Metnick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel I. Metnick, 263 Passaic Ave., Passaic, also is a senior at New England College, majoring in English. Before entering NEC, Mr. Metnick served with the Army Security Agency in Europe and the Middle East and was employed by the Commercial and Financial Chronical, New York.

After a wedding trip to Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Metnick will reside in Henniker.

Ann Landers

Teenager Discovers a Family Secret

Dear Ann Landers: I am a teenage girl with a problem as big as the world.

My mother told me when I was a little girl that she had been married for a short time (when she was very young) to a man who didn't treat her right. She divorced him and married my father.

Yesterday I was going through my father's desk to find an insurance policy he asked me to get for him.

I ran across two sets of divorce papers. It seems that my father was also divorced. His first wife's name was one I had never heard of before. This divorce took place the same week my mother got her divorce. I want to ask my mother about it but I don't know how. Do you feel I have a right to know or should I just keep quiet and hope one day she will tell me?

—CONFUSED AND BITTER
Dear Confused: Children are entitled to know about previous marriages of their parents. Don't ask your mother—ask your father. I've said it before and I think it bears repeating. Skeletons, when they fall out of a closet, make some rather embarrassing sounds. Are you listening, folks?

Landers

Dear Ann Landers: May I respond to "Single and Glad Of It"? She wrote as follows: "Show me a man, either single or married; sick, well or dying, who would turn down sex and I will happily eat the Sunday edition of the New York Times."

I would like to say, "Start nibblin', dear heart." I married a man who has the sex drive of a dead battery. My sisters drew the same kind.

You suggest that these "disinterested" males go to a doctor and find out what is wrong. A fine suggestion, but what if they won't go? Furthermore I am 99 per cent certain that the problem is not physical but mental. My "dead battery" is healthy as a horse. I can't recall the last time he had a headache.

What about this, Ann Landers? Am I right or wrong? —BABY IT'S COLD IN THE HOUSE

Dear Baby: You are probably right. The vast majority of "disinterested" men have no organic problem. But it's always advisable to go to a physician and make sure.

When no organic problem is present a husband should accept the fact that he has an emotional problem. He owes it to his wife as well as to himself to see a therapist and get rid of the hornet in his helmet.

Dear Ann Landers: I'll come right to the point. I am dating a very interesting girl. Susan is brainy, witty and we have a terrific time together—just talking. Her conversation crackles and snaps and pops. But there is a problem: Her neck is always dirty. This is not a gag. I'm dead serious. What's your advice?—BIG ERN

Dear Ern: Silence can be effective. On Calvin Coolidge it looked good. But in a situation such as this, it's dumb to keep quiet. Tell Susan her jewelry appears to be discolored; her neck and you hope she'll scrub a little harder.

If she's as bright as you say, she'll clean herself up.

How far should a teen-age couple go? Can necking be safe? When does it become too hot to handle? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting—What Are The Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

PAPPA SHOWS BEST — Jockey Howard Grant guides Pappa Steve across the finish line to win yesterday's Select Handicap at Monmouth Park. The winner paid $6.60, $3 and $2.40. On Pappa Steve's tail are the favorite, Clever Foot (2), and Laughing Bill (9), which picked up the place and show spots, respectively.

Pappa Steve Wins Select

By HY CUNNINGHAM
OCEANPORT — Pappa Steve, ridden by Howard Grant, was the winner of the $22,265 Select Handicap, feature race at Monmouth Park yesterday.

Pappa Steve left the starting gate the second favorite at 2-1, and returned his backers $6.60, $3 and $2.40. Under the wire second was the 6-5 favorite, Clever Foot, ridden by Joe Cul-liver. Third was Laughing Bill, with last year's riding champion, Jorge Velasquez, in the saddle. Clever Foot paid $2.60 for place and $2.20 for show. Laughing Bill brought a $2.80 show price.

Pappa Steve, owned by Stephen B. Wilson and trained by Ray Metcalf, won $14,706 of the gross take. It was his fourth win in 10 starts.

The six-furlong distance was covered in 1:09.2, just off the track record for the Select. The record is held by Decathlon and Primonetta at 1:08.2.

Jockey Grant held Pappa Steve in third most of the way, and was third by a length and a half at the quarter pole. Coming into the stretch he went out front by two, kept his pace, and went under to win by a length and a half. Clever Foot beat Laughing Bill by a head.

Rhubarb, 4-5 favorite in the seventh, with Charles Baltazar riding, won for a $2.40 win price, but also caused a $10,840 minus show pool. Several big bets on the favorite caused the pool.

thereby gained Horse of the Year Honors.

The third race yesterday at Monmouth was the first ever run out of the new turf chute, a novelty in the East. Only Hollywood Park and Del Mar in the West are equipped with turf chutes similar to the one at this park.

Golden Mustang, ridden by Ray Broussard, found the course to his liking by winning the race with a drive down the grass stretch. Some Bully, Menotti riding, was second, and Misty Wave, Eugene Monacelli in the saddle, finished third. The winner returned $11.40.

It was a good victory for Broussard; but he ran into sad news later. Broussard, who rode Virinome, was suspended five days (June 7-12, inclusive) for careless riding in the stretch, causing interference that resulted in a disqualification in the eighth race Tuesday.

The chute also had action in the ninth race with Grant bringing home Sunny Voyage for $31.40 on a duce win ticket.

Grant had a triple for the day, with C. P. Sanborn posting a double on the trainer's side.

A crowd of 12,807 wagered $1,503,084.

Seaver's Safety Spurs Mets, 4-2

CHICAGO (AP) — Pitcher Tom Seaver's leadoff single ignited a three-run fifth inning as the New York Mets handed the Chicago Cubs a second straight defeat, 4-2, yesterday.

Seaver, limited to a starvation diet of just 19 runs in his first 11 starts, picked up his third victory and his first since May 16. A five-time loser, the Mets' youthful righthander needed relief help from Cal Koonce to nail down the victory.

Seaver left the game in the eighth when he pulled a muscle in his left side while pitching to Ron Santo.

After Seaver's single, Cleon Jones followed with his second double. Ken Boswell fanned for the first out, and New York loaded the bases when catcher Jerry Grote was walked intentionally.

Glenn Beckert fumbled J.C. Martin's roller for an error, Seaver scoring. Jones got across on Ed Charles' force play roller, and Ron Swoboda's single scored Grote.

Veteran Ernie Banks broke an 0-for-19 hitting slump with a one-out homer in the Cubs' sixth. Banks' blast off the left field catwalk screen was his ninth of the season, and No. 451 of his career. It was also Banks' 900th extra base hit.

The Mets' four runs were the most they have scored for Seaver since opening day, April 10, against the Giants in San Francisco in a 5-4 loss.

The Mets added their fourth run in the seventh on Grote's double and Charles' single.

After Billy Williams doubled for the third time and Santo singled in the eighth, Koonce took over. Banks' single scored Williams, but Lou Johnson bounced into a double play. After Randy Hundley walked, Santo was out at the plate when he attempted to score as Koonce's pitch got past Grote. He was thrown out, Grote to Koonce.

These fine throughbreds have met twice. Dr. Fager out-gamed Damascus in the one-mile Gotham last spring, but Damascus turned the tables on Dr. Fager in the Woodward, run at the Haskell route, and thereby gained Horse of the Year Honors.

The third race yesterday at Monmouth was the first ever run out of the new turf chute, a novelty in the East. Only Hollywood Park and Del Mar in the West are equipped with turf chutes similar to the one at this park.

Golden Mustang, ridden by Ray Broussard, found the course to his liking by winning the race with a drive down the grass stretch. Some Bully, Menotti riding, was second, and Misty Wave, Eugene Monacelli in the saddle, finished third. The winner returned $11.40.

It was a good victory for Broussard; but he ran into sad news later. Broussard, who rode Virinome, was suspended five days (June 7-12, inclusive) for careless riding in the stretch, causing interference that resulted in a disqualification in the eighth race Tuesday.

The chute also had action in the ninth race with Grant bringing home Sunny Voyage for $31.40 on a duce win ticket.

Grant had a triple for the day, with C. P. Sanborn posting a double on the trainer's side.

A crowd of 12,807 wagered $1,503,084.

Yanks Win On Pepi's Power, 7-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Pepitone drove in six runs with a grand slam homer and a two-run triple, leading the New York Yankees to a 7-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins last night.

Nel Stottlemyre, touched for consecutive homers by Harmon Killebrew and Tony Oliva, went all the way with a six-hitter for his seventh victory.

Pepitone's fourth career grand slam and his second against Dean Chance, Minnesota's starter, came in the first inning. Horace Clarke opened with a single and Roy White and Mickey Mantle walked before Pepitone unloaded.

In the fifth inning, White and Mantle also walked and raced home when Ted Uhlaender missed a diving catch of Pepitone's liner and it rolled to the center field fence for a triple.

The Twins' runs came in the top of the fifth when Killebrew opened with his 11th homer and Oliva followed with his sixth.

Seaver left the game in the eighth when he pulled a muscle in his left side while pitching to Ron Santo.

After Seaver's single, Cleon Jones followed with his second double. Ken Boswell fanned for the first out, and New York loaded the bases when catcher Jerry Grote was walked intentionally.

Glenn Beckert fumbled J.C. Martin's roller for an error, Seaver scoring. Jones got across on Ed Charles' force play roller, and Ron Swoboda's single scored Grote.

Veteran Ernie Banks broke an 0-for-19 hitting slump with a one-out homer in the Cubs' sixth. Banks' blast off the left field catwalk screen was his ninth of the season, and No. 451 of his career. It was also Banks' 900th extra base hit.

The Mets' four runs were the most they have scored for Seaver since opening day, April 10, against the Giants in San Francisco in a 5-4 loss.

The Mets added their fourth run in the seventh on Grote's double and Charles' single.

After Billy Williams doubled for the third time and Santo singled in the eighth, Koonce took over. Banks' single scored Williams, but Lou Johnson bounced into a double play. After Randy Hundley walked, Santo was out at the plate when he attempted to score as Koonce's pitch got past Grote. He was thrown out, Grote to Koonce.

Miss Castleman Is Golf Winner

LINCROFT — Ladies of Tomahawk Golf Club held a three-blind holes tournament yesterday, with Suzzy Castleman the winner with her 54 card.

Genny Piccola and Sheila Reeder both had 59 in the runner-up position.

Low net went to Barbara Frunzi, 38, second was tied with Dot Peck and Velma Nolan, both at 39.

Bunky Lemmon had low puts with 14.

Seaver left the game in the eighth when he pulled a muscle in his left side while pitching to Ron Santo.

After Seaver's single, Cleon Jones followed with his second double. Ken Boswell fanned for the first out, and New York loaded the bases when catcher Jerry Grote was walked intentionally.

A Simply Grand Evening

It was a simply grand evening for Joe Pepitone and Dave Johnson but not so good for Buddy Bradford.

Pepitone drove in six runs—four of them with a grand slam home run—leading the New York Yankees to a 7-2 romp over Minnesota last night.

Johnson also tagged a grand slam and Baltimore belted California 7-1.

But Bradford was $5 lighter in the wallet as the first victim of Eddie Stanky's campaign to wake up his Chicago White Sox. The Sox bowed 1-0 to Cleveland and Bradford was the only player to violate Stanky's new Golden Rules.

In other American League action, Detroit nipped Boston 5-4 and Washington clipped Oakland 3-1.

In the National League, New York dropped Chicago 4-2, Cincinnati walloped Atlanta 10-0, Philadelphia shaded San Francisco 2-1, St. Louis dropped Houston 3-1 and Los Angeles slipped by Pittsburgh 2-1 in 10 innings.

A single by Brooks Robinson and two walks loaded the bases for Baltimore against California's Clyde Wright in the fifth inning and Johnson sliced a 315-foot homer just inside the right field foul line.

Curt Motton had homered earlier for the Orioles and Jim Hardin coasted with a five-hitter for his seventh victory.

Bradford failed to score a runner from third base with less than two out—one of three sins Stanky had decided will cost the White Sox $5 for every violation. The others are failure to advance a runner who reached second with less than two out and failure to advance a runner in a bunt situation.

The ground rules were installed after Chicago had dropped 3-2 and 2-1 decisions at the hands of the Indians. The improvement was not immediately noticeable.

Stan Williams was in almost absolute control until the eighth so Stanky didn't have much chance to put his system to work. Duane Josephson opened with a pinch double and Russ Snyder advanced him on a fly ball. But Bradford bounced out, invoking the fine, and Sandy Alomar, off the hook with two out, struck out, ending the inning.

Mike Paul and Hal Kurtz bailed Williams out of a ninth inning jam—no fines incurred, though—to complete the shut-out.

Jose Cardenal drove in Cleveland's only run with a second inning single after Duke Sims had doubled.

Frank Howard boomed his 21st homer of the year, carrying Washington to its victory over Oakland. Howard's two-run shot in the sixth inning landed some eight rows up in the left field stands at D. C. Stadium and snapped a 1-1 tie.

Two Boston errors and a wild pitch helped Detroit to four runs on only two hits in the seventh inning and a comeback victory over the Red Sox.

Denny McLain won his ninth game with Joe Foy's error helping the Tigers get started in the seventh and Rico Petrocelli's wild throw allowing two, the tying and winning runs, to score.

The Houston Astros pulled a sneaky trick on the red-faced St. Louis Cardinals and wound up with as much to show for it as the Pittsburgh Pirates, who caused their own embarrassment.

Blue Jeans Start Early

KEANSBURG — The baseball season is just about untracking itself but in the Greater Keansburg area the Blue Jeans Football Committee headed by William Mahoney is already charting out an ambitious program for the pigskin campaign.

Mahoney announced that the Blue Jeans, participants in the Elwood Walker Football Conference for two years, have joined the Jersey Shore Pop Warner Football Conference this season. And, what's a football team without cheerleaders. So Mahoney has secured the services of four women members of the Blue Jeans to assist in fielding two cheerleading teams.

Mrs. Joan Paolocelli and Mrs. Carol Butka will coach the Varsity yell squad and Mrs. Eileen Taylor and Mrs. Irene Moylan will handle the "Pee Wees." Candidates for the cheerleading squads between 9 and 14 years of age can register for tryouts on Saturday between 1 and 3 p.m. at the William Hughes Memorial Building, 10 Church St.

A second registration date is Saturday, June 22. When registering for registration, cheerleaders are requested to wear sweaters and either slacks or shorts.

Both teams will cheer at eight regularly scheduled games in the Northern League's "B" Division. Mahoney also said that both teams will be equipped with new uniforms.

Know Ashe's 'Weaknesses'

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Danilo Carrera, nonplaying captain of the Ecuadorian Davis Cup tennis team, says that Arthur Ashe, leading United States cup player, "has some weaknesses — and we know them."

The teams meet in the American Zone finals Friday through Sunday at the Charlotte Coliseum.

"Our players can't match them (the United States players) in power, but we know how to play them," Carrera said last night. Ecuador defeated the United States 3-2 in the zone finals in Guayaquil last year, Ashe losing both his singles matches.

YMCA Slates Sailing Course

ASBURY PARK — The Shore Area YMCA will sponsor a sailing course on Wednesday evenings starting on July 10 from 7 to 9 p.m. for a total of eight lessons or 16 hours of instruction.

Students must be at least 14 years old. The course will be instructed by Rick Gallagher on his 26-foot fiber glass sloop, "The Buccaneer," out of the harbor in Atlantic Highlands.

The course will cost $35 and will consist of: safety, maintenance, and operation of a sail boat.

Union Beach School Board Now to Seek a Supervisor

UNION BEACH — In the wake of abolishment of the $12,840 per year position of vice principal, the Board of Education has voted to begin interviewing applicants for the position of elementary supervisor.

The newly created position is open to any individual holding a standard elementary teacher's certificate who has earned a Master of Arts in Education and who can show proof of three successful years of teaching experience.

The position, funded through the teachers salaries' portion of the budget, carries the responsibility of aiding the administrative staff in developing districtwide instructional programs and making recommendations for the school budget.

Duties begin in September on a 10-month contract basis. Salary will be determined by the proper step on the teachers guide plus an increment to be determined at a later date.

Board secretary Donald Ostrander said after the meeting the maximum salary on the guide for the position is $10,800. He would not speculate on the increment.

It was pointed out by Erich P. Nurnberger, a resident, that the board has not acted on the resignation of Vice Principal Daniel B. McKeown. Mr. McKeown submitted his resignation in February.

Board president James McKittrick told Mr. Nurnberger that formal acceptance of the resignation would only be formality because the job will no longer exist after the school year.

Mr. Nurnberger asked if Mr. McKeown would be retained by the board in another capacity. "I honestly cannot tell you at this moment," was Mr. McKittrick's reply.

Asked after the meeting whether Mr. McKeown was in line for the new position, board member Thomas Corrado said that Mr. McKeown has gained teaching tenure in the school system and must be offered a job.

Mrs. Martha Oeffner, former teacher and presently a member of Citizens for Better Education, attacked the board on its policies, challenging board members to point out where policies were ever adopted in official minutes.

Superintendent Leo V. Fallon said that official policy was printed in a booklet distributed to board members in September, 1967 and later read into the minutes.

Mr. McKittrick and Mrs. Oeffner engaged in a brief debate over the recent state evaluation of the school system.

Mrs. Oeffner contended she had to write the state to get copies of the report because they were not available locally.

Mr. McKittrick said that if a copy was given to one individual in the borough then 6,000 other residents would be entitled to one. The board felt that copies should be distributed to the area newspapers for

REFRESHED — Harry H. Neuberger, first vice president of Riverview Hospital's board of governors, yesterday addressed registered nurses who completed refresher course after having been inactive in the profession for varied amounts of time. With him are, left to right, Mrs. Russell Mass of Red Bank, Mrs. Samuel I. Griesmer of Colts Neck, Mrs. William Griffin of Middletown and Mrs. William Bennett of Fair Haven. (Register Staff Photo)

16 RN's Complete Riverview Course

RED BANK — Sixteen registered nurses who had been inactive for varying lengths of time (two to 26 years), received certificates yesterday after completion of a 180-hour refresher course at Riverview Hospital. At ceremonies in the hospital's board room, presentations were made by Miss Ruth Wallace, director of nurses. William T. Gill, associate administrator, and Harry H. Neuberger, first vice president of the board of governors, addressed the group. Instructors were Mrs. Beverly Deneff, and Mrs. Alleen Jo Williams. Riverview's third refresher course was designed to bring inactive nurses up-to-date in nursing theory and skills, and inspire confidence and enthusiasm. The nurse's close relationship to the patient, and increasing responsibility for him were emphasized in the course. The statewide refresher program is conducted by the Hospital Research and Educational Trust of New Jersey under a federal grant from the Manpower Development and Training Act. Also cooperating in the program are the Vocational Division of the New Jersey Department of Education and the New Jersey Division of Employment Security. The course covered all aspects of nursing in the modern community hospital. New electronic equipment was demonstrated, physicians and technologists lectured, and medical films were presented. Clinical experience was gained in most of the nursing units of the hospital, in medical-surgical areas, obstetrics, pediatrics and the intensive and coronary care units. Care of the cardiac patient was stressed. A field trip was taken to Deborah Hospital at Browns Mills, with a tour of the hospital facilities and making rounds with the staff on patients who had open heart surgery. Women who completed the course are Mrs. William Bennett, Fair Haven; Mrs. Robert

'Head Start on High School' Is Approved by State Board

FREEHOLD TOWNSHIP — The "Head Start on High School" program proposed by the Freehold Regional High School Board of Education has been approved by the state Department of Education and will receive federal funds to operate this summer, the high school has announced. Funds will be made available under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. "Head Start on High School" is designed for seriously disadvantaged students who will be entering the ninth grade of the district's high schools next September. The main objectives are to provide these students with an opportunity to improve basic skills so that they may cope more effectively with the high school curriculum and to help them develop a positive attitude toward high school in particular and education in general. The approximately 100 students who will be participating have been selected by the district's guidance staff with the cooperation of the constituent elementary schools from which the students will graduate this June. The program will be conducted at Freehold High School from July 1 to Aug. 13 and will operate from 8:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. It will include remedial instruction in English, reading and mathematics, supervised recreation and instruction in individual athletic skills, guidance counseling, and a social studies project which will involve the study of the contributions of minority groups to American society. Field trips to selected sites which have educational, cultural, and recreational value are an important feature of the program. Light snacks, lunches and transportation will be provided to the participating students. A careful evaluation of the effectiveness of the program will be made by the professional staff and school administration during its operation and upon its termination. This evaluation is required by state and federal authorities.

2 Juveniles Apprehended After Crash

WALL TOWNSHIP — Two 16-year-old boys were turned over to Plainfield juvenile authorities on charges of possessing stolen property after Holmdel State Police apprehended them yesterday when their car crashed into an embankment on the Garden State Parkway. Trooper William A. Martin, investigating officer, said the youths were traveling in the southbound lane when the driver apparently lost control of the vehicle, causing it to leave the road and strike the dirt embankment. The two boys fled on foot and Trooper Martin, patrolling in the area, spotted them as they left a wooded area. The car is owned by Mrs. Ethel Brown, of Plainfield, where it was stolen Monday afternoon.

5 Area Boys to Attend Trooper Youth Week

WEST TRENTON — The fourth annual Trooper Youth Week will be held at the New Jersey Police Academy, Sea Girt, June 16 through June 22. Among the 76 11th grade boys participating in this program are the following Monmouth County students: Clifton McNish, 1510 Sewell Ave., Asbury Park, attending Asbury Park High School; Chester Scott Riley, 21 Leonard Ave., Atlantic Highlands, who attends Henry Hudson Region High School; Charles A. Calhoun, 409 Course Road, Neptune, from Neptune High School; Thomas Maneti, 21 Buttonwood Place, Hazlet, attending Raritan Township High School; Alex Wilkinson, Oak Tree Lane, Rumson, attending Rumson-Fair Haven Regional High School. The boys were selected from schools throughout the state by school authorities on the basis of character, scholarship, and physical ability. The program includes a full week of simulated police training at the academy, lectures, films, demonstrations and practical exercises paralleling the academic and physical training required in the preparation for a law enforcement career. Each boy will be expected, upon his return to school, to report on his experiences to the student body.

Concrete Plant Battle Continues

FREEHOLD — The battle over a proposed bituminous concrete batch plant continued Tuesday when objectors began testimony before the Zoning Board of Adjustment to refute that given by witnesses for the applicant. Dosch-King Co., Whippany, made application for the plant to the board in February. Residents of the Orchard St. area, the proposed site, retained attorney Marvin E. Schaefer to oppose the application. Mr. Schaefer began his rebuttal of testimony given during the six hearings it took for Dosch-King to present its case. The list of rebuttal witnesses is expected to be a long one. Residents claim the plant will create noise, odor and dust problems.

Man Pleads Guilty To Theft of Car

FREEHOLD — Richard Smith, 3 Colonial Ter., North Long Branch, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of stealing a car in Freehold Township last Oct. 1. Sentencing was set by County Court Judge M. Raymond McGowan for June 14. Assistant Prosecutor Solomon Lautman represented the state. Public Defender Thomas Spinello appeared for Smith.

CLASS PRESIDENT Roger H. Lyman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald P. Lyman Jr., 18 Park Lane, Fair Haven, was elected president of his class of 1970 at Moravian College, Bethlehem, Pa., where he is majoring in English. He is an alumnus of Rumson-Fair Haven Regional High School.

Bridge Advice

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD
You're entitled to a comfortable feeling if the odds are in your favor, but don't relax too much. Make allowance for a long shot coming in against you.

South took the diamond opening, led out the ace of spades and then continued with the king of spades. The odds were slightly better than 2 to 1 that the five missing trumps would break 3-2, but in this case the trumps broke against the odds. South was down one when he had to lose two trump tricks.

When West dropped the ten of spades on the first round of trumps South didn't have to rely on the odds. He could have made the contract against the actual 4-1 trump break.

Leads From Dummy
After the first rounds of trumps South leads a heart to dummy's jack and returns a trump from dummy. East must put up the jack of spades since otherwise South would try a finesse with the nine. (The finesse would be safe since the trumps would break 3-2 if West could beat the nine.)

When East plays a spade honor, South must play the trick. East leads a club, and South must put up the ace on the theory that East would not lead the suit if he had the king.

Declarer next leads out the ace and king of hearts, discarding the losing club from dummy. The odds are that East will hold three or more hearts.

As it happens, East does follow suit to the hearts. Now South ruffs the queen of clubs in dummy and returns the last trump. No matter what East does, South can win both the king and nine of trumps. The rest of South's hand is then good.

DAILY QUESTION
Partner opens with two spades (forcing to game), and the next player passes. You hold: S—Q J 8 6 H—9 7 4 D—Q 5 C—J 8 5 2. What do you say?
Answer: Bid two notrump, the negative response. You can show your excellent spade support later, but your first job is to show that you have a poor hand. (Some experts would jump to four spades, if their partnership agreement is that this kind of jump shows good trumps but neither an ace, king nor singleton nor void anywhere in the hand.)

Senior Citizens to See Film About Ireland
KEANSBURG — The borough Senior Citizens Club will view a film about Ireland at a meeting Wednesday, June 19, at 2 p.m. in the community room of Granville Towers. The film is being presented through the courtesy of Mrs. Margaret Lynch.

The club is formulating plans for a bus trip to Atlantic City. Mrs. Margaret Convery maybe contacted for information.
