WILLED AWAY THE LAUNDRY.

Somewhat Peculiar Transaction, But It Went.

When a perfectly strange woman came for the soiled clothes three weeks ago the mistress of the house came to the conclusion that her own laundress had simply employed a new messenger, and made no comment on the circumstances. But when two weeks had gone by, and still the old laundress—known as Susan, no last name having been mentioned—did not appear, the mistress of the house felt that she would be lacking in her duty if she did not make some inquiry about her. "Where is Susan?" she asked the tall and bony structure who came for the clothes. "She has gone to Pennsylvania to live, yessum," returned this person, with composure. "She went to Pennsylvania some time ago, an' she lef' good-by fer yuh, but s'long es yuh didn't seem tuh notis I didn't say nuffin'." "But why didn't she come and tell me and allow me to make some arrangements about my laundry?" asked Susan's ex-mistress. "Well, she lef' yo' clothes tuh meh. She made a will an' lef' dem clothes tuh meh. Wese allus been good frien's, and so w'en she lef' she say I may wash yo' clothes long ez I wush tuh, an' dere wuz no use use worrying yuh 'bout it, now was dere!" To which moderate and sensible question the mistress of the house could only remain speechless. —Baltimore American.

BOTH OF THEM SATISFIED.

Business Man Had Joke and Book Agent Practice.

"I wonder," said the tall man in the suit of faded black, "if I could interest you in a new and cheap edition of the works of Anthony Trollope." "I don't know," answered the man at the desk. "Go ahead and let me hear what you have to say." The book agent began at once. "Every student of literature knows," he said, "that Anthony Trollope was one of England's great novelists. It is true, perhaps, that he wrote for a limited class." And so on, for ten minutes. "No," said the man at the desk, turning again to his work, "you haven't succeeded in interesting me a bit." "That's all right," rejoined the tall man in the suit of faded black, replacing the sample volumes in his valise with imperturbable composure. "I have just started out canvassing with these books, and I was only practicing on you."

WEDNESDAY EVENING, JULY 24, 1907

The case of Charles Ferdio, who was found guilty of manslaughter by the jury at Elizabeth on Friday and sentenced on Saturday by Justice Swayo to three years in the State prison, is very sad. If young Ferdio had not carried a concealed weapon, Fred Rush would be alive today and Charles Ferdio at liberty. But the fact that the jury, notwithstanding its sympathies with Ferdio, did their duty without question, is a matter not only of credit to them but of deep satisfaction to all who believe that he who takes the life of another should bear his just punishment, and that no jury has the right to subvert law by bringing in a verdict not according to the evidence.

It is possible without a touch of mere vindictiveness to approve heartily the refusal of the New Jersey Court of Pardons to show leniency to some of its petitioners. The public does not wish to hear that any of the Boschicter murderers have been let out in advance of the completion of their terms, nor is it desirous of having a creature who combined preaching and seduction turned loose again a day sooner than the law requires.—New York Tribune.

The subscriptions for the purchase of Clark's Lake for the town have reached a goodly sum. Fewer than a hundred have thus far subscribed. Where are the other nine hundred? Their help is needed.

The caption, "State May Lose Race," in an exchange, is amusing. The "loss" of something of no value to us, not in our possession, or likely to be, and not wanted, is not a very great "loss."

MOUNTAINSIDE.

A popular priced excursion up the Hudson to West Point on the steamer Sirius, under the auspices of the New Jersey Central, will leave Westfield at 8.55 a. m. on July 31st. Tickets are $1.00. This provides a beautiful trip for a little money.

Copies of the proposed building ordinance may be procured at the town clerk's office, in the bank building, after today (Wednesday).

Paint Buying Made Safe

All lead packed in kegs bears this mark

White Lead and Linseed Oil need no argument, no advertising to maintain themselves as the best and most economical paint yet known to man. The difficulty has been for the buyer to be always sure of the purity of the white lead and oil.

We have registered the trade mark of the Dutch Boy painter to be the final proof of quality, genuineness and purity to paint buyers everywhere. This trade mark appears on every keg of BASE BALL.

(Edited by G. A. Schaefer.)

Cherokee Indian Team Friday at 4 and 8 o'Clock —Two Games.

Manager Smith has secured something that ought to attract the attention of the people of our town. It is a team of real Cherokee Indians that are showing in the large cities of the State, and have been putting up a fast article of ball and defeating some of the best of teams.

Two games will be played—one at 4 o'clock and one at 8 o'clock p. m. on Friday. They bring with them the largest lighting plant carried by any show company. The grounds will be made light as day and all the plays can be plainly seen.

Come out and witness an innovation such as never before has been seen here.

The hard rains of Saturday morning caused a postponement of all games scheduled.

FOR PURE FOOD.

Miss Alice Lakey Addresses National Pure Food Association.

Among the speakers at Friday's session of the National Pure Food Association was Miss Alice Lakey, of Cranford, chairman of the food committee of the National Consumers' League. In the course of her address Miss Lakey said:

"It is a self-evident fact that the food law and the meat inspection law can never be fully enforced until there is in every home an alert, conscientious consumer co-operating in the work of enforcement. Today one cause of poor food is the average consumer's indifference.

"Not only is the consumer indifferent to the necessity of clean milk and wholesome meat, but he too often roundly denounces the new food laws as the cause of his increased living expenses. He is apt to overlook the fact that clean milk and wholesome meat mean a lower death rate, hence less expense for physicians' fees.

"Four years ago a milk crusade was started in a New Jersey town. The State inspector found seven polluted wells supplying local dairies with water, also one herd of tuberculous cattle. The cattle were killed; new wells dug. What happened? Did the grateful consumer thank the leaders of the crusade? On the contrary they were roundly denounced for the increased price of milk. Had the consumers been educated and known that polluted wells may mean typhoid and other ills they might have been less indignant.

"What good to enforce an ordinance compelling the dairyman to keep his milk at a certain low temperature when the careless consumer leaves it uncovered in a warm kitchen or unchilled icebox? Why go to the expense of enforcing public ordinances for the care of milk when the average consumer handles it as she would potatoes? The thoughtless consumer appropriates the poor milkman's bottles at all times of the year and uses them for all sorts of things. One thrifty consumer has been known to use the bottles for catsup containers when putting up the autumn tomatoes.

"The average consumer is not yet awake to the fact that tuberculosis may be conveyed to human beings through both dirty milk and meat that is diseased. At one of the stock yards in New Jersey where federal inspectors are maintained cattle that are rejected because tubercular have been bought by a cattle dealer, killed and sold for food. The dealer in this diseased meat sold it in five stalls in a New York market. The active work done by the New Jersey State Board of Health has now closed out his trade.

"Many States are erecting expensive sanatoriums where tuberculosis patients may be cared for. Why not cut off two channels of infection by excluding diseased animals from the State?

"One of the new plans of the league's food committee is the organizing of a State food committee of the Consumers' League of New Jersey. The specific work at first will be directed toward arousing the consumers as to the perils of dirty milk, filthy slaughter houses and diseased meat. If the movement succeeds in New Jersey it will be tried in other States.

"Do you not think that the aroused consumer will secure the passage and enforcement of a law that failed to pass at the last session of the New Jersey Legislature? Namely, a law to provide for slaughter house inspection. It is in this way that the committee hopes to rouse consumers, and it is to you that they look for inspiration and guidance."

AMUSEMENTS.

PROCTOR'S NEWARK THEATRE.

Despite the torridness of the atmosphere Proctor's Newark Theatre still continues to enjoy its customary large patronage. When the comfortableness of the auditorium, with its monster cooling apparatus, is taken into consideration, it is certainly the ideal amusement place—sans all the unseasons odors, sans insects, sans uncomfortable seats of the outdoor parks. The program arranged for the week of July 29th is no exception to the usual Proctor standard of "Refined Vaudeville." It includes Edwin Micander & Co. comedy sketch entitled "She Loves Me, She Loves Me Not;" Four Casting Dunbars, in an aerial act; Marion Garson, talented young violinist; Zisla and King, their burlesque of things magical, the Kratons (colored) hoop rollers; Italian Opera Trio, excerpts from the grand operas, and a new film of animated pictures will complete the program.

Sunday Trip to the Mountains.

It's cool in the mountains now. Take a trip on the New Jersey Central's popular priced excursion on August 4th to Mauch Chunk, for $1.50, or Lake Hopatcong for $1.00. Train leaves Westfield for Mauch Chunk at 9.12 a. m. and for Lake Hopatcong at 9.43.

Presbyterian Pulpit Supplies.

The following are the supplies for the pulpit of the Presbyterian church for August: August 4, Rev. Dr. Dunn, of Philadelphia; August 11, Rev. Mr. Flack, of Latrobe, Pa.; August 18, Rev. Thomas Sims, of Braintree, Mass.; Aug. 25, Rev. Mr. Waite, of this town.

Base Ball Saturday.

The New Jersey Central R. R. team will cross bats with our Westfield team Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. This team has a record of 12 games won and 2 lost, which will insure a fast game.

Col. E. L. Cole ran down from Block Island one day last week. He is as brown as a berry.

The Misses Kathryn Taylor and Edna Cox will spend the first two weeks in August at Broadhead, N. Y.

Mrs. Margaret Cannill, of Summit avenue, has gone to Eureka, Ill., to visit her sister.

Dr. Stearns and his family will leave on Monday for Elmhurst, Pocono Mountains, where they will spend the month of August.

Mrs. William Thompson, of South Broad street, was before Recorder Tomsey this morning on a charge made by Mrs. Samuel Kelsey of using abusive language. This being the first complaint against Mrs. Thompson, sentence was suspended on the defendant's promise not to let it happen again.

Bill Nye and Maartens.

The presence in this country of the distinguished Dutch novelist, Maarten Maartens, recalls the story of his election in the spring of 1895 as an honorary members of the Author's club of New York. When the name Joost Marius M. Van der Poorten-Schwartz came to the attention of the membership committee there was a gasp of astonishment. Finally the late Bill Nye came to the rescue with the suggestion that the first half of the name should be acted on at once, but that the last half should be held over until the autumn, when the weather would be cool.

A PLAINFIELD man had stopped paying premiums on his Ordinary Life Insurance Policy two years before his death. Yet this policy was kept in force by

The Prudential

He had paid only $62.94 in premiums. His widow drew out $1,000. By the terms of the policy, if an Ordinary Policyholder stops paying premiums after a certain time, the Company will carry the risk for a fixed period afterwards, without further payment.

REMEMBER the true Saying
A Dollar in Time Saves Nine.

Wages of mechanics in all branches of the trades, as well as material of all kinds are now so high that owners of property must do all they can to keep down the repair bills. This cannot be done by allowing things to rust, decay and fall apart, but can be by using thought and common sense, and having everything which is out of condition made right again as soon as noticed. A short service of a carpenter, painter, plumber, mason or tinner NOW is likely to save you many dollars at some future time. Now that you are through with a furnace fire in your house, let us suggest that you have it well cleaned and the smoke pipe taken down. This will preserve the life of the furnace as well as the smoke pipe, and when fall comes around your Furnace is ready to give you the best possible service.

The charge against Laundryman E. Kerr B. Woodruff on Wednesday for assault and battery, preferred by John Krehoph, was dismissed for lack of evidence. It developed that Krehoph swore at Mr. Woodruff's wife, who complained of the man's throwing weeds on her lawn, and M. Woodruff, when informed of it, reprimanded the man, and when he became abusive slapped him. After his dismissal, Mr. Woodruff swore out a warrant against Krehoph for using profane language.

PARK FUND GROWING.

THE FUND IS NOW $907

Everybody Wants the Town to Have Lake--Everybody Should Get a Move On.

The way the people are responding to the appeals for money for the purchase of Clark's Lake for a pleasure park, for the town, is encouraging to the trustees.

More contributions are needed, however, and if the many who intend to do their part towards this desirable object will be prompt in sending in their subscriptions the amount will soon be raised and the lake turned over to the town. The subscriptions up to this morning amount to $907.

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. ANDREW.

International Convention in Washington, D. C., September 25-29.

The International Convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of the Protestant Episcopal Church, will be held in the city of Washington, September 25 to 29. Reports from all over the country show a marked activity and interest in this convention, and it is expected that it will prove to be the best convention the brotherhood has ever held.

Prominent among the speakers engaged, are John R. Mott, secretary of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A.; Robert H. Gardiner, president of the brotherhood in the United States; George A. King, first vice-president of the brotherhood in England; James L. Houghteling, the founder of the brotherhood; Hubert Carleton, the general secretary of the brotherhood; Edward H. Bonsall, of Philadelphia, president of the Philadelphia local assembly, the largest assembly; William A. Cornelius, president of the Pittsburg assembly; the Lord Bishop of London, and the Hon. Henry B. F. MacFarland, president of the board of commissioners of the District of Columbia. The convention committee expects at least twenty-five of the American bishops present as well as four from foreign countries.

One of the biggest meetings will be the mass meeting held on the Sunday afternoon, on the grounds of the Cathedral of Sts. Peter and Paul, which overlook the famous Potomac and the States of Maryland and Virginia. At this meeting, the Lord Bishop of London will be one of the speakers. The music and singing will be furnished by the vested choirs of the churches of Washington and a large number of the members of the Marine Band, also in vestments.

All men will be welcome to the meet*ings whether they are members of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew or not.*

Racing on Saturday.

The Fair Acres Driving and Riding Club will hold a matinee at the Plainfield Driving Park Saturday afternoon. The public are invited to attend this matinee, and as the racing committee have classed the horses very carefully this time some good racing may be expected. Races will start promptly at two o'clock. The following is a list of the entries: Class "A" mixed—Nellie Thomas, B. K. Waldron; Fred A., J. S. Irving; Hartwood Belle, J. B. Ostom; Rain View, George Conover; Albert D., Joseph Bertram; Pay Prince, J. Backdew. Class "B" mixed—Maud C., R. L. Edwards; Belle A., I. Smalley; Alonso, N. F. Smalley; Benj. Butler, S. Jackson; Star Dixie, T. Buntingham. Class "C," trot—Steve K., R. L. Kingston; Harcourt, C. C. Brewer; Abby Kelly, W. C. Smith; Katherine Dillon at Carlsey Boy, J. H. Greenagh. Class "D," trot—Filer, H. W. Evans; Meyette, M. M. Hedges; Mallie, N. M. Giles. Class "E"—Perfection, G. Ferguson; Prince B., Dr. Putler; Oscar Lake, Ed. Kinsey.

The Association will hold a race on Labor Day, with purses amounting in all to $401.

Killed by Flyer.

Willis E. Northeffer, of the New Jersey Central signal corps, was struck by a Blue Line westward express on Saturday afternoon just west of the Broad street crossing and so badly injured that he died while on the way to Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield. He was crossing the track from the switch tower to the tool box and it was found coal train drew his attention and he evidently did not see the approaching flyer. The pilot struck him, hurling him to one side of the train. His home was in Easton, Pa., where he leaves a wife, whom he had married less than a month ago. He was about 25 years of age.

J. F. Cowperthwaite and family are at Old Forge, N. Y.

Company K, of Plainfield, will go into camp on Saturday. The noon train from Plainfield will stop here to take on Westfield members.

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING.

Miss Jarvis Becomes Mrs. Douglass --Will Reside in England.

St. Paul's church was the scene of a very pretty wedding at noon on Saturday, when Miss Anne Ellicott Jarvis, of this town, became the wife of Frank Douglass, of St. Mark's College, Chelsea, England. The bride's brother, the Rev. William O. Jarvis, of Liberty, New York, formerly rector of St. Paul's, officiated. The service was the simple, impressive and beautiful service of the Episcopal church. The maid of honor was Miss Ellen Douglass Jarvis, of Akron, Ohio, a niece of the bride, and the best man was Dr. Malcolm Douglass, of Philadelphia. The bride was given away by Francis Douglass, of Wilkesbarre, Pa. The bridesmaids were Miss Sarah Douglass, of Newton Highlands, Mass., and Miss Grace Douglass, of Wilkesbarre, Pa. The ushers were W. H. Douglass, of Newton Highlands, Mass.; Hunter Delatour, of Westfield; Ellicott Curtis and Gardon Boyer, of New York. The wedding music was played by the Rev. Sydney Cross, rector of the church. The decorations were green and white. The bride's gown was white voile. Her veil and the lace she wore date back to Washington's time and belonged to a relative of Miss Jarvis. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Her attendants wore white gowns and carried sweet peas. After the service a reception was given the bridal party at Miss Jarvis' home on Broad street. At 2 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Douglass left for a wedding tour, which will include Niagara Falls, Boston and other points. About the middle of August they will sail for England, their future home.

Ungerer—Gaskill.

The marriage of Mrs. Carrie Gaskill, nee Dougherty, of Elizabeth, to Harry Ungerer, of this town, took place on Friday, July 12.

SEWER BIDS ASKED FOR.

Town Council Takes Action on Sewer Outlet—Water Co. to Pay $10,000.

A special meeting of the town council was held on Friday night to consider the sewer outlet extension. The meeting was called at the instigation of Frank Bergen, of the Consumers' Water Company. This company is building a dam below the sewer farm and claims that the discharge from the sewer beds will contaminate the water in their dam. The company requires that pipes be laid, extending the outlet two and a half miles to Robinson's branch of the Rahway river below the dam. The water company offers to pay $10,000 of the expense, provided the work is done expeditiously. The offer was made in April and, although the council has been at work, it has not gone fast enough to suit the water company and Mr. Bergen threatened to withdraw this offer, unless something was done at the special meeting. The council, feeling that it is up against it, passed a resolution for a public hearing for August 5, and asked for bids at the same time. This is practically an acceptance of the water company's proposition. Public notice will be found in another column of this issue.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Abrams are spending the week at Asbury Park.

An adjourned meeting of the town council on Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Losee are in New York State for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Davis will leave for Norfolk, Va., on Friday.

It is reported that the morning offering for the Presbyterian church bell is between $600 and $650. It brings the expenditure to $1,150.

Joe Ferrard, an Italian, was fined $20 by Recorder Toucey on Saturday, for carrying on business in town without a license.

John Galbraith, of Plainfield, sentenced February, 1906, to three years in State prison for criminal assault, has been paroled by the Court of Pardons.

The members of the county boards of election for Union county, filed by Governor Stokes are Robert H. McAdams, Democrat; George Stewart, Republican.

INDIAN BALL TEAM COMING.

Cherokee Team Will Play Local Fans on Friday.

The local baseball managers have secured the noted Cherokee Indian team to come here on Friday afternoon and evening to play the home team. The afternoon game will be played at 4 o'clock. At night the grounds will be lighted up by 50,000 candle-power arc lights. This game will open at 8 o'clock. The Indians give a good "show" and have proved drawing cards in all the places where they have appeared.

The lineup for Friday:

Indians—Sitting Bull, jr., cf; Spotted Tail, 1b; Man Afraid of Himself, ss; Three Rivers, lf; Navajo, c; Big Beaver, rf; Red Horse, 3b; Scar Face, 2b, White Cloud, p.

Westfield—Tobin, cf; Moore, 1b; Carlstron, ss; Alberts, lf; Geiger, c; Smith, rf; McMahon, 3b; Moffatt, 2b; Ortlieb, p.

Will Not Be Open All Year.

The managers of the Children's Country Home "do not think the time is ripe for all-the-year-round work." "A partial heating plant may be installed" for the purpose of prolonging the season through October and making the house comfortable during the winter months for the matron and her family. The board objects to asking board, however, for when money is received for any inmate the home ceases to be a charitable institution and would be taxable.

Decision Set Aside.

Judge Atwater set aside the conviction of John Schmitt, jr., on Saturday, on the ground that the conviction did not recite the evidence taken and the papers did not show the value of goods less than $25. It will be remembered that Schmitt was fined $5 and costs for malicious mischief on July 4th in firing off a cannon, with other boys, damaging a trolley car. The fine could not be imposed under the act, unless the damage was under $25. There was no evidence as to the amount of the damage.

MRS. EDWIN FRANCIS KILLED.

Thrown From Trolley Car in Attempting to Alight.

Mrs. Eleanor Francis, wife of the late Professor Elwin Francis, for ten years principal of the schools of this town, was thrown from a trolley car on Pennsylvania avenue, Rosebank, S. I., at 10.30 on Saturday night and died at her home in Clifton two hours later, with*out regaining consciousness*.

Mrs. Francis, and her daughter Dorothy, who lived with her mother, had been out with a party of friends and were returning on a trolley car. As they were alighting near their home she was thrown to the ground, striking on the back of her head, causing concussion of the brain. She was carried to her home where she died.

Mrs. Francis moved from here to Rosebank last spring. She had lived here for over twenty years. Professor Francis died in November, 1901. She is survived by four children—Mrs. L. C. Gan*zel and Harold Francis*, of this town, Edwin A. Francis, of Allenhurst, and Dorothy Francis, of Rosebank.

The funeral was held at St. Paul's church at 2.30 yesterday afternoon. Interment at Fairview. The pallbearers were Robert H. Sumner, Adolph and William Ganzel, and Mr. Butcher, of New York.

Died From Heat.

Charles Daval, aged 62 years, died suddenly at his home, Embree Crescent, on Monday night. As he had had no physician, County Physician Westcott was notified. He thought that the death was due to the heat and gave permission for burial. A wife and several children survive. The funeral was held at the Daval home on Monday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. Sydney Cross, of St. Paul's Episcopal church. The services were both in English and in French. Interment at Fairview.

Dr. Laird is spending his vacation in Michigan.

TWO MURDER TRIALS ENDED.

The jury in the case of the State against Edna Rash for the murder of her husband, on trial when the LEADER went to press last week, came in with a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree. Saturday, Justice Swayze sentenced her to 20 years in the State prison. The only question in the jurors' minds, it is said, was whether it should be for first or second degree. There was no question as to guilt of course. Councilman Berner, who was on the jury with Councilman Fink, of this town, was so sick during the trial that it had to be suspended for a time, while Mr. Berner was treated by an Elizabeth physician.

Charles Fordio, who shot Frederick Rash on the night of June 9, thinking that Rash who was running towards his home was after him, was found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced by Justice Swayze to 3 years in State prison. Fordio is 32 years old, Rash was 19.

Samuel D. Winter was foreman on the Fordio trial; other Westfielders on the jury were Clarence B. Smith and Charles Clark.

Auditorium Dedicated.

The new auditorium for the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp, erected by David Hand, as a memorial to his sons, David and Irving, was opened on Sunday afternoon with fitting services, with a large audience present. The building is 60x125 and will seat 500. The exercises consisted of singing by the children, addresses by George A. Chapman, John D. Lazaun, David Hand, the donor, and others. The Rev. E. M. Rodman conducted the religious exercises. A collection of $25.45 was taken. Last year 1,671 children and 568 mothers—2,219 in all—were entertained. The expenditures were $1,326 and 60 cents for each person brought out. The outlook is good for this year.

Mrs. Ball and daughters have returned from Asbury Park.

Fine Watch, Clock, Jewelry and Eye Glass Repairing.

For Over Sixty Years.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over 60 years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Sold by druggists in every part tle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Nnmber 1098.

PROPOSALS FOR FLAGGING.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Council of the Town of Westfield, on Monday, Aug. 5, 1907, at eight o'clock P. M., at the Town Rooms, for furnishing and laying about 4,000 lin. ft. of 4 ft. flagging, 2 in. thick.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check for $300.00, drawn to the order of the Town Treasurer, of the Town of Westfield, as an evidence of good faith, and a bond of $2,000.00 will be required to guarantee the faithful performance of the contract.

Specifications may be examined and blank forms of proposals may be obtained at the office of A. W. Vars, Town Surveyor, corner of Broad and Elm streets, Westfield, New Jersey.

The Council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Origin of Peculiar Name.

The curious name of the anesthetic "stovaine" is due to its discoverer, M. Fourneau. M. Fourneau was anxious to perpetuate his own name in connection with it, but as the anesthetic was of the nature of cocaine and no compound resembling that could be contrived out of "Fourneau," he translated the name into its English equivalent of "stove" and added the necessary termination.

Origin of Drinking Healths.

The too common custom of "drinking healths" had a most curious origin. In the days when the Danes invaded it in England they had a very common habit of stabbing Englishmen in the throat when drinking. To avoid this villainy a man when drinking would request some of the sitters-by to be his pledge, or surety, while taking his draught. Hence the custom.

Masculine Deceit.

Man is more easily allured by the grace of the gown than the grace of the mind, although he would have you think otherwise, and will hold forth with considerable emphasis on the text that no man ever knows what costume a woman has on, nor is he at all concerned with the shape of her hat, or the way she does her hair!—London Madame.

What Is the Charm?

This advertisement appeared in a Swiss paper: "Hotel in a most picturesque site, a distance of a hundred meters from a police station. A physician is attached to the establishment, in which an abundantly supplied American bar presents such attractions that very few customers leave it of their own free will."

Beneficent Work.

Work is the true friend and consoler of man, raises him above all his weaknesses, purifies and ennobles him, saves him from vulgar temptation and helps him to bear his burden through days of sadness, and before which even the deepest griefs give way.—M. Caro.

WHERE THE DRUMMERS STOP

Stories of Odd Hotels.

I recall one hotel down in the southland which had one of the most primitive bills of fare in the world, writes E. E. Crossland, in the Chicago Tribune. The colored boy appeared at the elbow of the guest morning, noon and night, and his simple inquiry covered the entire ground:

"How you laik yoh aigs?"

Indeed, the south until within the last decade, and in some spots still, furnishes the limit in the hotel line. I remember one evening in March down in Kentucky, I had driven 25 miles over mud roads, and, arriving at the hotel, which appeared tolerably comfortable, I inquired if I could get a hot bath, and, to my delight, was informed that I could. A fine rain, half snow, was falling and a high wind blowing. I went to the room, disrobed, and, throwing a bath robe around me, followed the negro boy down the corridor. Pretty soon we emerged on to a latticed back porch on the second story and in a latticework that was covered with vines in midsummer stood a bathtub, into which the boy had dumped two buckets of hot water.

The latticework was open, and even the flaring lamp, sizzling as the snowflakes struck it, revealed me to half the neighbors. I gave up the luxury of the bath and retreated in as good order as possible.

One of the oddest hotels I ever struck was up in the lumber district of upper Michigan. I hit the town one election night, and found the place crowded with loggers from all up and down the river. There was one hotel, a small board affair. The office and dining-room occupied one side, the kitchen was a leanto in the rear and one long bedroom extending along the entire side of the hotel completed the outfit. A double row of cot beds with heads to the wall made the furnishings, and yet there was only about room enough for a third of the visitors in town to sleep. Along about nine o'clock I decided to retire, and the proprietor after looking me over curiously and evidently debating inwardly, assigned me to a bed, and I tumbled in.

At midnight every cot was filled and half the pickled log rollers were snoring, when, suddenly and without a trace of warning, every cot was overturned, the occupants dumped on the floor. The sleepers arose, put on what clothes they had removed before retiring and started out without comment. I was dazed for a minute and then began to kick to the boss, who stood in the doorway and yelled: "All out!"

"What the dickens does this mean?" I demanded, hotly.

"First shift turning out," he explained, and as he did so a line of men marched in and retired, while those who had slept in the first shift slipped away to the near by saloons. At three o'clock the second shift was dumped onto the floor and at six, when the third shift was dumped, I paid the boss one dollar extra to let me turn in and sleep until eight.

In earlier days, when I was selling farm machinery in western Kansas, I struck some queer hotels, but the oddest of all was owned and operated by a genius named Richards in a little village in Sheridan county, 15 or 20 miles from Hoxie.

Richards was a queer character, and his specialty was invention. He had invented more worthless things than any man in the country. Almost everything he made would work, but they all required more time and labor than the things he tried to improve on. His barn lot and barn, as well as his little onestory hotel, were filled with things he had invented.

He put me to bed in a small room, perhaps eight by ten, with one small window, and one extremely narrow door. I noticed as he showed me into the room that the place seemed to have double walls.

I retired. The night was sultry and close, but after a time I fell asleep. Sometime during the night I was awakened by a jarring, a rumbling, and the thought flashed into my mind that a cyclone had struck us. I leaped out of bed and ran to the window. A sickening sensation of falling came over me. Everything was dark. I jammed my arm through the window and my fist struck solid earth. I was terror stricken, but with a jar the movement ceased, and with a few minutes we began to ascend again and stopped suddenly. A gust of wind struck me and as I was about to climb through the window Richards opened the door and asked:

"How did she work?"

I demanded an explanation.

"Cyclone," he said, cheerily. "Took the calf barn and two haystacks and part of Dobb's barn and his windmill. I thought it was going to hit us and let you down."

The next morning he showed me the mechanism. Every sleeping room was really a double room, the inside being like an elevator, and he had rigged weights and counter weights until by pushing a lever he could drop all the sleepers in the hotel down into the cellar until the cyclone passed.

It Made a Difference.

Tomson—I hear your engagement with Miss Boodle is off. How did it happen?

Jimson—In strict confidence, my friend, she got mad because I stole a kiss.

"I don't see why that should provoke her—when you were engaged."

"Well, you see, I stole the kiss from another girl."—Exchange.

Will Never Dress Like Men.

"Will women ever dress like men?" asks a New York columnist. No. Even if they were trousers they would want to put them on by holding their heads up through from under.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Keep Out Dust.

Tack a piece of cheesecloth over the screen in your pantry window and see how much dust you can keep out; wash the cloth when needed.

Answer Letters Promptly.

To disregard letters which we receive is a source of keen disappointment to those who think enough of us to write us. We should answer them out of courtesy if for no other reason. After we have made the effort for this reason several times the chances are that we will continue the correspondence for the pleasure it gives us, for there is no denying that it can become almost as much of a pleasure to write them as every one owns it is to receive a bright, breezy letter.

Village Swallowed Up.

Reports from Zavidovic, Austria, state that a village near the River Krivag, consisting of 30 houses, began to sink quite suddenly one morning recently. By degrees the whole hill on which the village stood disappeared under the ground. At the first signs of the sinking the inhabitants fled. The catastrophe is no doubt due to volcanic action.

Concrete Houses.

It is possible to build a house today, and such houses have already been constructed, which shall be entirely of reinforced concrete, except for such minor items as doors and window frames. This, says the Cement Age, makes a house which is entirely unburnable from within and practically unburnable from without.

Oh, Ask Something Easy.

Is this nation founded in love of liberty, made generous by the plethora of its wealth, lifted to grand heights by the freedom of individual thought and itself the highest concept of government yet born to earth, to stand time's ministering angel among world powers, the big brother to the poor an dthe weak?—Denver Republican.

"Love Buttons" In Vogue.

When you see a man wearing a photograph button in his coat lapel you may be pretty sure that he is either engaged or married to the lady whose portrait adorns him. Instead of wearing an engagement ring it has become the fashion among certain classes of men to wear "love buttons."

Weighted Curtains.

"If you want to keep your little half curtains down," said the bachelor girl, "put shot in them. Either make little bags of it and put them in the bottom hem or put a lot of shot in loose. That's the way they keep the little curtains down in all the bathrooms of the big hotels these days."

Elusive Financial Roguery.

Financial history has made it painfully clear that no imaginable laws will abolish the successful efforts of a clever rogue. More invested money is lost by incompetency inside the law than by roguery outside it.—Electrical Industries.

Need Awakening.

Though men are accused of not knowing their weakness, yet perhaps a few know their own strength. It is in men as in soils, where sometimes there is a vein of gold, which the owner knows not of.—Swift.

To Foretell Wet Months.

Place 12 onions in a row on Christmas day, name each after a month and put salt on their tops. Those on which the salt is melted inside of 12 days will be wet months, according to Long Island weather science.

Nationality and Crime.

Little more than one-half of the persons arrested for crimes in New York city were born outside of this country. According to numbers they stand: Italy, Russia, Germany, Ireland, Austria, England.

Sad Plight.

Eating in restaurants has driven many a man into matrimony, declares the Delineator, and living in hoarding houses and hotels later has driven many a man out of matrimony.

Faithfulness.

There is nothing possible to a human greater than simple faithfulness. And the word stands out as the hopeful, possible thing about our lives.—Maltbie D. Babcock.

Sound Slang.

Of all the slang expressions with which we are afflicted today, observers the Railroad Man's Magazine, the two that mean the most are, "It's up to you" and "On the job."

Where They All Yawn.

Boston has a man who cannot yawn without dislocating his jaw. He should be thankful he doesn't live in Philadelphia.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

In Deadly Panama.

It is said that there are more men buried to the square foot along the line of the Panama canal than in any other part of the world.

Strength from Resistance.

Every evil to which we do not succumb is a benefactor. We gain the strength of the temptation we resist.—Emerson.

Proper Incubator Heat.

In hatching chickens artificially the extreme heat used in the incubator should not exceed 104 degrees Fahrenheit.

No Monopoly In Vanity.

There is just as much man vanity in the world as there is woman vanity, only it hasn't been so well advertised.

Small Flow of Tide.

The tide of the Mediterranean on the Algerian coast never exceeds three and a half inches.

Twice Have Sacked Moscow.

The Chinese have twice sacked Moscow—once in 1237 and again in 1293.

Speech and Silence.

I have often regretted my speech, never my silence.—Publius Syrus.

Egotistical M. P.

The average member of parliament, though not a thing of beauty, is a joy forever. He is so human, so delightfully human. Talk to him in the lobby about anything—the solar system, golf, the new theology, the binomial theorem, unrest in the Balkans, or what you will—and the honorable gentleman within five minutes will have brought the conversation round to himself. He cannot help it—egotism is his native air.—M. A. P.

Indian Discontent.

The awakening of Asia, due to a great extent to the efforts of the British themselves, now threatens to cause them serious trouble. Each separate case of disorder in India is in itself not of much consequence, but taken together they bear witness to a deep and widespread discontent which breaks out, now here, now there, in very significant eruptions.—St. Petersburg Novoe Vremya.

Hint For Vacationists.

It is not generally known, says the Hospital Review, that flies and mosquitoes dislike the odor of lavender. A teaspoonful of oil of lavender to which is added enough alcohol to make a saturated solution, sprayed around the room and on the bedding will effectively keep away flies and mosquitoes while the odor of lavender is perceptible.

Enormous Increase In Value.

The value of the farm lands along the Union Pacific increased by more than $2,500,000,000 in the five years 1900 to 1905. The United States census figures an aggregate value for 17 states in 1905 as $8,241,782,861, while in 1900 it was only $5,692,230,872. This is an advance of nearly 45 per cent.

A McCarthy Epigram.

Justin Huntly McCarthy can write epigrams when he chooses, as well as descriptions of love and of fighting; as, for example, this bit of succinct wisdom, which he puts into the mouth of Lewis the Eleventh, in Needles and and Pins: "Never explain; many a bad explanation spoils a good case."

Music Good For Liver.

Where the trouble is physical, such as failure of an organ, indigestion, congestion of the liver and so on, strong, firm, martial music will give best results, according to Dr. Latson, editor of Health Culture. For this class of treatment the key of C major is particularly recommended.

Dreary Guest Chambers.

"Who does not remember the guest chamber in some old country house, a place with damp sheets and an atmosphere like that of a vault? Such rooms are hotbeds of neuralgia and pneumonia," writes Dr. William S. O'Birge in Health.

Life's Little Embarrassments.

It is always embarrassing to a girl when she goes into a fashionable shoe store to buy a pair of boots and cannot remember for the moment which stocking it is that has the hole in it.—Somerville Journal.

Relics In British Museum.

A hoard of nine gold bracelets, found in a pit-dwelling of the seventh or eighth century B. C., in a field near Rexley Heath, have just been placed in the Gold room at the British museum.

Germany's Lead Pencil Exports.

Germany exports more than 3,000,000,000 lead pencils every 12 months. They are shipped to foreign countries at the rate of over 10,000,000 a day, counting six days to the week.

Gossip.

"Some men," said Uncle Ebe, "blames women foh gossipin' an' den turns around an' listens to all de neighborhood news dey wives kin git together."—Washington Star.

All In a Name.

Thomas Justice, colored, was up for trial and he said to the judge: "For de Lawd sake, Mister Jedge, don't gimme what my name call for!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Had Origin In Icebergs.

The origin of the Great Banks of Newfoundland is said to have been in the boulders carried down by icebergs. The bank is 600 miles long and 120 broad.

Gladstone's Library.

Gladstone's library is now accessible to all, as the St. Deiniols library at Hawarden, erected at a cost of $300,000. There are 37,000 volumes, largely on theology.

That Uneven Floor.

If you wish to cover your floor with linoleum and the boards are warped, fill the uneven places with sand and your linoleum will not become worn.

Poverty Stricken Greece.

Greece is said to be the poorest country of Europe. Her total wealth amounts to $1,000,000,000, or about half that of Switzerland.

Cut It Short.

Considering how little of value most people have to say, it takes them a surprisingly long time to say it.

Many Pigeons In Chicago.

It is estimated that 10,000 pigeons live inside of the downtown loop district of Chicago.

Sayings of Childhood.

A little girl of three years was given a bag of peanuts by her father. She helped herself to one and being unable to break the shell, she said: "Papa, will you please unbutton this peanut for me?"—Chicago Tribune.

Plain Language from H. James.

It is observable, I think, the world over, writes Henry James in Harper's Bazar, that the poor are kinder to the poor, in proportion, than the rich themselves are, or even than the rich are to the rich.

To Clean Kitchen.

When walls or ceiling are papered with oil cloth or painted, put on washboiler of water and close doors and windows, and boil the water until walls and ceilings are wet with steam. Take a long-handled scrubbing brush or broom, tie a soft rag and wipe your walls. This will save lots of time and trouble.

Wise, and Wiser.

He is a wise man who knows when to stop. That you have heard before, save the Business Arena. He is a wiser man, though, who knows when not to stop—who pushes a good thing through until the vines hang heavily with the golden dollars that are his just reward for efforts hard, untiring.

All Must Yield.

Obedience is our universal duty and destiny; wherein whoso will not bend must break; too early and too thoroughly we cannot be trained to know that "would," in this world of ours, is a mere zero to "should," and, for most part, is the smallest of fractions even to "shall."—Carlyle.

The Chugs.

"Jadduh," said Mrs. Chugwater, wiping her spectacles, "baseball must be an awful cruel game. This paper says a man named Smith was pounded all over the lot. And I guess it must have been true, for it says that in the next inning he died on second base."

Norwegian Leper Asylums.

There are in Norway no fewer than 20 leper asylums, but each contains only ten to 15 beds. They are situated in country places, and the style of living followed in them is similar to that of an ordinary family in moderate circumstances.

The Coronach.

The coronach, or mourning for the dead, is still heard in many parts of Scotland as well as Ireland. It is a weird chant, cries of lamentation being mingled with remonstrances addressed to the departed for leaving his friends and relatives.

Sound Advice.

Step out firm and free. Hold your head up high, and be proud of yourself. You are as good a man as anyone on the field if you will let yourself be. Think that, and act up to it.—"Bobby" Abel, in "Boys' Life."

The Value of Ridicule.

"A man," said Dr. Johnson, "should pass a part of his time with the lowest, by which means anything ridiculous or particular about him might be presented to his view and corrected."
