ALL LICENSES ARE RENEWED

Letters From Three Churches and W. C. T. U. Protest Against Action

ASSESSORS' REPORTS FILED

At the meeting of the council on Monday evening the question of granting the renewals of the liquor licenses of the town was the first item of business taken up. As it is the custom, objections to the granting of the licenses were invited and letters were received from the Session of the First Presbyterian church, the Official Board of the First M. E. church, and the trustees' committee of the Congregational church and also from the members of the W. C. T. U. Each objected to the granting of any licenses but two of the letters referred specially to two of the hotels claiming the location of these as a basis for their arguments.

Mr. H. C. Van Riper, of the Congregational church, addressed the meeting saying that his entire church endorsed the action of the committee in sending the resolution set forth in their protest. He said that personally he would like to see all such places closed. Dr. Loomis seconded the remarks of Mr. Van Riper and added that a vote on the subject had been taken by his entire congregation and that there were only four dissenting votes. He said the "Let well enough alone" policy was not a good one, that he had no personal feeling against those he protested, but that individual interest should not be considered against a community. He added that those in the business injure themselves and he was positive that if they could make a good, clean exit they would be glad to get out. In closing he said: "Don't be afraid of injuring two people instead of the whole community."

After the discussion the following licenses were granted: J. H. Willet, North Avenue Hotel, wholesale and and retail; J. Schlenger, wholesale; W. W. Mooney, retail; J. J. Schmitt, retail; T. Bordhering, retail. In reference to the latter hotel Chairman Affleck of the Police Committee stated that some people had the wrong idea about it that he had the hotel watched for a number of weeks and had found that it was conducting its business with the strictest regard for the law and at times closing before the regular closing time. He sai dthat if any one could prove that any of the hotels in town were violating the laws he would be the first one to vote against granting a license. The vote on these applications was unanimous.

Objections were received from Mrs. Muldoon, Eleanor K. McKee, E. F. Daniel, Linus Hetfield, H. C. Lockwood Co. and others on the improvement of West Broad street, but as these objectors did not represent a majority of the property owners the ordinance for this improvement was passed on first reading.

John T. Cox objected to the improvement on Osborn avenue but withdrew his objection on being told that not to make this improvement would interfere with the Broad street improvement as planned.

The only objection to the proposed improvement on First street from the

DATA ON PROPOSED SCHOOL SITE PURCHASE

Reply to Board of Education and Several Letters From Citizens For and Against it.

ELECTION, MONDAY, FEB. 24.

"Whom the gods wish to destroy they first make mad." We at least give credit to the editor of the Standard for trying to do his best to uphold a lost cause. The only trouble with him and the other advocates for the purchase of the property for a school building is that the issue is distorted so as to deceive the public. It is either this or else in ignorance do they wade. Possibly the best method to present the matter before a public which is hardly deceived by distortion of facts is to take up a recent editorial of the Standard which pretends to discuss the subject rationally.

The first paragraph is as follows:

"The High School site question seems to have gotten a very narrow position in the mind of the Leader man when he says that the only reasons he has heard or seen in support of the purchase of the new site is 'buying the land to support the Board and because it is likely to increase in value.' Now, if this is really a serious statement of fact, the Leader man deserves the sympathy of the public if for no other reason than because of his failing eyesight and hearing. He attended the public meeting on Tuesday night and played the role of chief interlocutor. He then heard the reasons why neither of his suggestions, that is that of an addition to the Washington school building or a separate building on the Washington Park site was considered practicable by the Board of Education. To the former suggestion he heard that the State School Code adopted last August prohibited additions to buildings that are not in themselves fireproof. The cost of fire-proofing the Washington School building would run far beyond the cost of the new site. To the Leader editor's other suggestion he received the reply that the filling and grading of the lot and changing the course of the brook together with the additional cost of ornamentation on all four sides of such a building made necessary because of the four prominent exposures would amount to almost as much as the cost of the proposed site and we would have lost the park in the bargain. Now, these were real inquiries and voiced the sentiment of the people, and they brought forth real answers amply supported by thought and reason."

We have reprinted this editorial in full because the arguments are so lame that it ought to make excellent material for votes AGAINST buying the property. There was no other argument advanced at the meeting in Washington School that was seriously worthy of consideration. The advocates of the purchase of the land under the leadership of Mr. Pierson, did not prove that an addition to the Washington School or a separate building was impracticable. They said so but they did not prove it. The advocates presented a plan which was not feasible, but possibly that was why they presented such a plan. If the Board proves that it is against the law to put an addition to the Washington School because of its not being fire-proof, it would seem very peculiar. It is not more than a year or so since Dr. Egel was supervisor in making such improvements to the school building that he, himself, considered it about as fire-proof as any building in town. If it is found that that money was spent uselessly then we are willing to agree that a building cannot be added. However, we believe that if the Board wanted to build an addition to the building there is no doubt but that the authorities could be convinced of the safeness of the building. If it is proven that the building is not safe, then it behooves the Board of Education to build one that is safe, even if it bankrupts the town. The architects Darsh and Joesely in their communication solve the question in their letter which is as follows:

Feb. 13, 1913.

Dr. Chauncey M. F. Egel,

Dear Doctor: Replying to your inquiry about the sketches we submitted for additions to the Washington School we will say that we in-

SCHOOL ELECTION NEXT MONDAY NIGHT FEBRUARY 24.

WOMEN MAY VOTE

The following letter received from Chauncey M. F. Egel, president of the Board of Education, explains his attitude in desiring the new school site:

To the Editor of the Leader:

I cheerfully comply with your request to state my reasons for favoring the purchase of a new school site instead of building an addition to the Washington School, as advocated two years ago. Then we needed grade accommodations and an addition to the Washington building would have furnished class-rooms for grammar pupils and the primary pupils now provided for in the Grant School. That addition would have taken the place of the Grant building, but would have made a high school necessary at some time.

I opposed the Mountain avenue site on account of the location and the uncertainty of the cost of the foundations.

The State requires that each high school pupil must be furnished instruction of a certain kind. A State High School Commissioner has been specially appointed to see that the law is complied with. If a district fails to provide satisfactory high school facilities or instruction he may order the withholding of all State money coming to the district or else close the school and order the pupils to attend in another school district. At present the State pays fully 60% of the cost of our high school.

According to the recommendation of the State High School Commissioner we will need at least two laboratories, four rooms accommodating 75 pupils each, ten class rooms of varying size and rooms in the basement and attic for drawing, domestic science and manual training. Building an addition to the Washington School to meet these requirements would necessitate the remodeling of this building with its solid brick partitions, and removing and reconstructing the stairways, the cost of this alone would pay half the price of the new site.

The plan proposed two years ago would not do for high school purposes at all. Also the new Building Code of the State Board of Education makes such regulations as to fire protection that an addition is not feasible. Furthermore, this town needs an Assembly Hall on the ground floor to seat at least 800 people. Frequently there have been requests for a thousand tickets to lectures. One hates to contemplate what would happen to the people in the crowded auditorium in case of fire. A new auditorium could not be provided for in an addition.

My change in attitude is due, you see, to changed conditions. Now that primary buildings are erected in every section of the town, the Washington building should be used for the lower grammar grades and the pupils attending the Prospect street school, if desirable, and a separate building meeting all high school requirements, be erected. The Prospect street school could then be sold and enough realized to buy the proposed site as well as a new primary site in the Brightwood sectin when needed.

The McKinley and Grant schols have been so built that they may be enlarged. The Lincoln, with an enlargement to the McKinley, will accommodate the primary pupils on the south side for years, therefore, we will not need to buy any more sites for a long time.

I favor the proposed site because the lot is big enough for the building needed now and with additions can take care of at least five times the number of high school pupils we have now; it is cheaper in the end than additions to the Washington building, which would not provide what we need; it would preserve the park as a playground for about 800 pupils; it would give opportunity to provide an assembly hall on the ground floor; it would make our town, from the point of educational facilities, as desirable as Plainfield, Elizabeth, Linden, Rahway, Roselle Park and Cranford, all of which have built or are building high schools with modern requirements.

MOVING PICTURES IN RELIGIOUS SERVICE

Innovation of Congregationalists and Baptists a Great Success

SALVATION IS FREE TO ALL

An audience comprising members of the Congregational and Baptist churches and non-church attenders, utilising the full capacity of the Westfield Theatre, welcomed Rev. Samuel Lane Loomis in the first of a series of illustrated sermons to be given every Sunday evening during Lent, on the Life of Christ.

Promptly at 8 o'clock Rev. C. J. Greenwood opened the service by announcing the singing of that famous hymn, "Coronation," the words being thrown on the screen, after which Mr. Greenwood explained, in a few remarks, that the object of these services was chiefly to attract those who do not identify themselves with any church.

After selections from an orchestra, composed of Mr. Robert Johnston, pianiste, Mr. Dudley Green, with the piccolo, and three High School violinists, Mr. Loomis addressed the people, opening his discourse with verses from the first book of John. Many beautiful illustrations were thrown on the screen, which Dr. Loomis described, telling the story of the birth of Christ and of his life, to the scenes on Calvary, and of His resurrection.

The second part of the programme was taken up with moving pictures, showing the Magdalene and her conversion, after which "Abide With Me" was sung as a closing hymn.

Next Sunday evening the second of this series of illustrated sermons will be conducted by the Rev. C. J. Greenwood, of the Baptist church, and will be held in the same place, Mr. Flagg very kindly donating the use of his building as heretofore. No admission is charged and no collection will be taken. It will be advisable to come early, for, judging from the indications at the first service, the building will be far too small to accommodate the audiences.

THE ADIRONDACKS NEXT SCHOOL LECTURE

Alfred L. Hitchcock Will Present the Beauties of this Healthful Region at Washington School Next Friday Night.

What, in all probability, will be one of, and possibly the best of all the lectures presented by the Board of Education in the winter series of free public lectures, will be the one on the "Adirondacks," to be given on Friday evening, by Alfred L. Hitchcock, at the Washington School.

Mr. Hitchcock, who is a very capable and interesting speaker, will show with many interesting illustrated views thrown by the stereopticon on the screen the many glories of this region, and will tell of the beauties of its lakes and mountains, and of its many historic events. He will take his audience from the foothills aronnd Saratoga, New York, to its most northern point, where at this season of the year the thermometer ranges around the 50° below zero mark. He will show Saranac Lake and tell of the wonderful cures made there of the tuberculosis patients, with their outdoor living in that glorious climate. He will tell of the chase, and show the tired business man in the "back to nature" camp, with Indian and French Canadian guides, with the deer, moose and caribou as trophies of their success in this wonderful hunting place. He will also tell of and show the winter sports as enjoyed by the natives and visitors; of the splendid skating, skiing, hockey and tobogganing, and of the fancy carnivals, where beautiful castles are built of ice on the ice. In fact, he will present in full a knowledge of the Adirondacks by one who has lived among them and knows them.

For those who have not as yet secured tickets they may have them by calling at the Leader office, where the Board of Education has placed them for the convenience of the public.

ADVANCE CLUB TO MEET

On Friday evening of this week the regular monthly meeting of the Advance club will be held at the residence of Thomas Hutchinson, on Euclid avenue. Dr. J. J. Savits will read a paper on "Union County Flora and Fauna" and Mrs. Chas. MacDougall will read the paper on "Current Events." The usual musical program will follow the reading of the papers.

PARENT-TEACHERS TO MEET.

The Parent-Teachers' Association, of the McKinley school, will hold their regular monthly meeting in the McKinley building tomorrow afternoon. After the regular business session an entertainment will be given.

WESTFIELD PLAYHOUSE.

"Ladies Change."

Those who took the trouble of going to The Playhouse Monday night can be, and possibly are, grateful for the chance it gave them to see a first class comedy, one that is probably destined for a long run in New York. This play, "Ladies Change", by Mr. Donald MacLaren, is witty, there is no doubt about that, and it is not only cleverly devised, but breaks all the rules of modern playwriting, except as practised by certain Irishmen, by having lines that only the author himself could have supplied. Modern playwriting assumes that after a play is devised anyone can write the dialogue. That, according to the critics, is nothing at all. In this play of Mr. MacLaren's, the plot is not startlingly original; it is the way it is put together, the relation of the characters to the plot, and, above all, the author's intimate knowledge of these characters shown in their development and consistent dialogue and the wit that sparkles in the lines that make this comedy thoroughly enjoyable. This wit was broken only once—when Jack, in a lively colloquy with his sister, makes a reference to woman's suffrage, a reference that was out of harmony with the tone of the play. The audience felt this for the line did not get the expected laugh. The only other defect was the slow beginning. The play did not really start until Sylvia and her father hold a tet-a-tete or shall we quote Lucy and call it an "hors d'oeuvre" (Heaven only knows how she would spell it).

The story is of a girl whose father has arranged a marriage for her. To this Sylvia, the girl, naturally objects and suggests that she and her maid change places to give Sylvia a chance to study the young man. As the young man has arranged to change places with his valet for the same reasons, a very laughable comedy takes place, doubly laughable because of the excellent acting that gave full value to the most minute point.

Miss Norah Lamison, who played Sylvia, was splendid. She convinced us, as a great many of our actresses fail to convince us, that Sylvia really was a lady and the ease with which she took a vivacious and emotional part showed a thorough and competant training, another point scored in this age of mushroom stars. Besides this, she has a pleasing voice and a pretty laugh.

The laugh, however, that was one of the best things in the play was that of Mr. Alexander Frank (playing Mr. Esmond). It was so natural and spontaneous that you looked forward to seeing him throw back his head, while Jack Esmond (Mr. Harrison Ford) hugged himself with glee. Mr. Ford's fraternal tone was splendid. Mr. Lionel Bleinsler, as Vincent Stirling, the lover, had some of the hardest lines of the play to read, but in spite of the one or two stilted speeches that spoiled his part as a whole, he came off with flying colors. He was just the right kind of a lover for a nice girl. The love-duet between him and Miss Lamison was beautifully done, and although serious, very amusing. This was in sharp contrast to the other love duet—the one between the valet and the maid which was oozing with sentimentality and prolonged just a second too long.

The valet, Mr. Clifford Leigh, acting as the gentleman, brought down the house. His entrances were particularly good, and irresistable. He and Miss Caroline Greenfield, as the maid in her mistress' clothes, were exceedingly funny in their vulgarity. The other member of the cast was Mr. A. Berthelet, who adequately played the footman.

That Mr. Springer has been able and is going to secure such good plays and companies as this one and those scheduled to come, speaks well for his management; and let me add that he was not guilty of providing the poor music on Monday night. That was altogether an unavoidable mistake that will not happen again.

Cohan's Theatre—George M. Cohan to Have Farewell Performance on Broadway.

The last week of Mr. Cohan's wholesome American play, "Broadway" Jones at the Cohan theatre is announced. Mr. Cohan and his company are to go on a tour after Saturday (Washington's Birthday) Feb. 22, and the evening and closing performance on that date will commemorate two events; the end of exactly six months' run of "Broadway" Jones in New York, and Mr. Cohan's final apperance as an actor on Broadway. Mr. Cohan will present himself in this play in all the larger cities next season and then, as a player the American stage will see him no more.

Commencing Monday, Miss May Irwin under the management of Leibler & Co. will present at this theatre a new comedy entitled "Widow by Proxy," written for the exuberant Irwin by Catherine Chisholm Cushing.

* * *

Gaiety Theatre—"Stop Thief"

Cohan & Harris frankly announce that "Stop Thief" now at the Gaiety is a farce built for laughing purposes only. Carlyle Moore, the author of this much talked of about play, has not attempted to point a moral or teach a lesson, but he has constructed a farce that is so full of humorous lines, ridiculous situations and thrilling climaxes, that it keeps the audience in an alternate mood of laughing and guessing for two hours and a half, and when it is over they cannot for the life of them remember what it was all about, but they do know that they have had the laugh of their lives.

The Winter Garden—"The Honeymoon Express."

The talk of New Yorkers is now the production of "The Honeymoon Express," with Gaby Deslys, Al Jolson and a company of one hundred and fifty, which is at the Winter Garden, and which is apparently going to eclipse in popularity all the previous musical offerings at that playhouse. The reception of Mlle. Deslys on the opening night was nothing short of stupendous. When the little French artiste came to this country last year the crowds that flocked to see her were prompted mainly by curiosity. Now, even greater audiences come to see her from a genuine interest in her work, and a genuine appreciation of her piquant personality and truly remarkable beauty.

Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre is keeping up the pace it set some weeks ago with tremendous all-star 13 act bills and patrons of vaudeville may congratulate themselves upon the fact that they are securing quality at a minimum expense. Wilbur Hill, Whiting and Burs, Crouch and Welch, Edison Talking-Moving Pictures, Pauline Moran, Rumsell Trio and Blanche Sloan are the attractions.

A party of amateur players recently witnessed William Collier's performance at Wm. A. Brady's Forty-eighth street theatre where the popular comedian is appearing in "Never Say Die". Mr. Collier, of course, was unaware of the invasion until a very earnest young man gained audience with him between the acts.

"Please Mr. Collier," said the actor's visitor, "we are putting on some of your old plays, and I'm playing your role. Our stage director says that I haven't enough repose in the part; he insists that you are very quiet in your acting. And he tells us that one has to be quiet in manner in order to gain the proper effect. I've watched you through one act, and I can't tell, really, whether you're quiet or not. Do you wiggle much?"

"I don't know", Mr. Collier responded, "I really don't know. Say, which shoe do you put on first in the morning?"

"I can't say," the amateur replied, "what's that got to do with it?"

"It's the same way with acting. You do it—just do it, you know, but you can't tell just how you do it."

"The Road to Happiness."

"The Road to Happiness" is the title of the new play chosen by William Hodge as the successor to "The Man From Home," in which he has been starring for the past six years, and in which he will appear at this theatre Saturday, matinee and night, February 22, (Washington's Birthday).

Mr. Hodge's great success in his previous play made it difficult for him to relinquish the role of Daniel Voorhees Pike, which brought him country-wide popularity and a commensurate measure of monetary recompense; but his earnest wish to vary his work and to meet his audiences in a new role led him to seek a new vehicle. In this search he has read more than two hundred plays submitted to him by various authors and from this number he chose "The Road to Happiness," as the drama best calculated to gain the approval of his audiences. It is a comedy-drama with an appealing story of life in a village community. Its characters are the types known to every one conversant with village life and its story and incidents move along to the end with convincing fidelity to truth and naturalness. In presenting the play Mr. Hodge will have the aid of a large company which he himself has brought together, having chosen the individual members from his personal knowledge of the fitness of each one to the character assigned. Mr. Lee Shubert, under whose personal direction Mr. Hodge is playing, has given a complete equipment of scenic and other accessories and in every respect the production will be a notable one.

"BUSY BEES" MAKE $5.15.

The "Busy Bee Club," at a sale held recently at the home of Mrs. M. E. Newcomb, on Elm street, netted the sum of $5.15, which they donated to the Children's Country Home. Miss Helen Newcomb is the president of the club and Miss Margaret Faulkner is its treasurer.

One Six-Year Term for Presidents.

The resolution introduced in the Senate by Senator Works, of Cal., which extends the presidential term to six years and limits each president to one term has been passed by the Senate by the required two-thirds vote. Senators who have been hearing from home have all received the heartiest endorsement of this measure as the American people are bitterly complaining of too much politics and of presidents playing politics for a second term, instead of serving the country with all the statesmanship that they possess.

Poultry News

Official Organ of the New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement.

This is the night that Prof. Burger will deliver his lecture on "Artificial Incubation and Brooding." Through an error last week the date was incorrectly given. Don't forget this grand chance to hear something of vital importance and interest to all who are interested in poultry culture. The place of meeting will be Exempt Firemen's Hall, 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, and bring as many friends as possible.

If you don't have the time to attend to an incubator and desire to have the youngsters hatched out by an experienced poultryman, just drop H. M. Cubberly, of Plainfield, a card. He has installed a Mammoth Incubator and his prices are reasonable. He is a member of the Association and is thoroughly reliable in all ways.

Then again while on this subject. If you don't care to go as far away why call on C. J. Singer. Now, I don't know if Mr. Singer is going to do much outside hatching, but the chances are that he will accommodate as many of his friends in this vicinity as he possibly can. His big incubator is about completed and you can bank on the good square deal from Charlie. His orders for day-old chicks are always large, and he also hatches out a great many for his own flock, but he will spare a few compartments for the boys, all right.

This is generally the time that Martin Coddington has lots of setting hens for the boys, but they are laying pretty heavy just now and not getting broody so fast as in former years.

Health Inspector "Andy" Carney is not going to be caught this season and is getting out a batch of youngsters.

Don't forget to keep plenty of fresh water in front of the birds.

Walter C. Waldmann, the Springfield avenue poultryman, winner of the Sperry cup, and breeder of Houdans, will see that Union county will be represented by this breed next winter.

Keep plenty of green succulent food food before your flock.

If judicious mating and careful attention go for aught, the Barred Rock boys will do well to keep an eye on Mr. T. A. Pope.

See that your stock is kept well dusted.

J. B. Davis, one of the most popular members of the Association, will winter a big lot of layers next fall.

A tablespoonful of Epsom Salts in two quarts of water will do your laying stock a heap of good.

The Beech Crest Farm has added an experienced gardener to look after that branch of the plant.

Mr. Taverner recently brought sixty chicks out of eighty eggs, which is a good record for the first batch.

Eddie Marenghi starts up the incubator this week. Here's hoping the boy has good luck.

"Syd" Clarke, of Harmony Park, doesn't get twenty feet away from the typewriter these days. Business is booming and the results are becoming more manifest every day. If they don't buy up all his stock you can look for the biggest flock of White Orpingtons ever seen in New Jersey this fall. But it's safe to say that the plans for breeding will not go astray.

Keep strangers away from inside your laying yards.

E. R. Jarvis intends to have a much larger string the coming season. There is a healthy rivalry going on in the Barred Rock alleys, and I guess Jarvis will hold his own.

Dump old mortar and broken plaster in the yards.

Your Uncle Henry Holmes tells a funny story about a local breeder who claims to possess "atmospheric" knowledge of feeding to such a degree of ego, that he can make feathers grow in any direction he chooses. "He makes them curl up against their heads," asserts Y. M. H., "but of course it's a slip-up when they come out on the legs." Some kidder is your Uncle Henry, but swears he was told this yarn.

Sprout some oats. Splendid.

We surely will miss the Watts boys. Their cheerful disposition and progressive ideas were always acceptable.

Mr. G. H. Whitney reports that Hillside Farms have sold as many eggs and stock as they can spare this season. This shows good business.

I am in receipt of Ed. Parr's mating list. Looked well to read about that big cock bird. We know there are good blood lines behind this bird.

A hen's teeth are in her gizzard. Sand, gravel and grit are the teeth. Keep them sharp.

WESTFIELD'S FIRST SPEECHLESS BANQUET

Congregational Men's Club Introduces a Decided Innovation.

A large company of Westfield men attended the annual banquet of the Congregational Men's Club in the parlors of the church last evening. Rev. M. L. Stimson, President of the club, presided.

Contrary to the established program that prevails at formal functions of this kind there was absolutely no speechmaking. As a most acceptable substitute for the usual flow of oratory, the guests "listened with their eyes" to a variety of entertainment furnished by means of a powerful stereopticon. There were brief addresses by visiting guests from neighboring churches parodies on well known songs, jokes and gags involving members of the club, cartoons, daffodils, and at intervals some good singing accompanied by Mr. Walter B. Cosgrove at the piano.

As an indication of just what a 'speechless" banquet is like, here are some of subjects that appeared on the screen:

Signs of the Times

"Our eggs cannot be approached"—Hutchinson.

Sign on pasture fence just outside of Westfield:—

"Any man's or woman's cow caught straying in this pasture will have his or her tail cut off as the case may.—Owner."

Introductory address by Toastmaster Stimson:—

"I am glad to welcome so intelligent an audience here to-night (loud groans). I have been having trouble with my throat (cheers) and my doctor first advised me to go to Bermuda (great applause) but later he concluded that it would be better for me to remain in Westfield (a voice: 'Who is your doctor?'). As I was saying when I was so rudely interrupted, my doctor advised me not to speak to-night (uproarious applause), nor any night for several weeks (prolonged applause) and since I will be unable to speak to-night I am not going to permit anybody else to talk (great cheering) and so this occasion will be strictly a 'speechless' one. Right here I am reminded of a little story (a voice: "Cut cut the story"). Mr. Stimson continues, 'Well, anyhow, we have with us to-night Dr. Hayes who will speak about——— one minute."

Address by Dr. Hayes, "I love my Westfield, but oh you Madison."

When the cartoon were being presented the one showing the editor of the Leader climbing a step ladder to reach the ear of a prominent local politician—"His Royal Nibs"—the editor, was overheard to remark to the cub reporter: "Truly this brings me back to many years ago when as a boy like you, we almost had to do this imaginable stunt, to get the news."

The difficulty of securing real good after dinner speakers and the very large chance of getting one or more "lemons" on a program who will talk on some dry, uninteresting subject for an hour and a half, have driven more than onebanquet committee into mental decline. The success of the "speechless talk-fest" as initiated by the Congregational Men's Club last evening, has opened up an avenue of much needed relief both to dinner committees and to the unfortunate "diner-out." We bespeak for the "speechless" dinner a rapid and popular and successful career.

The inner man was taken care of first but this part of the story is left until the last owing to the fact that the dinner was prepared by Mrs. Ludlow and all the men of Westfield know that a better caterer could not have been selected, and this dinner was no exception to the general rule.

The young men of Mr. Kellogg's class acted as waiters and did their part, well, not a single accident, and everybody was served in jig time.

To Mr. Ellsworth belongs a good share of the credit for the novel entertainment. President Stimson welcomed the guests and he was ably assisted in this duty by Rev. Dr. Loomis, who had a pleasant smile and a handshake for all.

AN ATTRACTIVE WINDOW

Local gaent, J. J. Marsh, of the New York Telephone Company, yesterday completed the decorating of one of the large show windows in the Schaefer store, on Elm street. A telephone exchange and many extension phones are used in the exhibit. Mr. Schaefer is making a specialty of telephone orders and has engaged the services of Miss Miss Nelsen to take such orders and execute them in the store, making prompt and satisfactory deliveries.

20th ANNIVERSARY SALE

The Bamberger 20th Anniversary Sale, now in progress is the talk of New Jersey. And well it should be. Many weeks ago when we laid our plans for Anniversary we were reminded that it was to be the first Anniversary in the new store, and we were determined that it should far excel any other sale ever held in Newark. Our buyers have been "on a still hunt", so to speak, searching the country for merchandise that could be purchased underpriced. They have succeeded far more than we ever thought. We have seen case after case of this merchandise unpacked, and knowing the prices at which it was to be sold, we were astonished. We unhesitatingly declare this to be the greatest of all anniversary sales, and invite you to come and purchase liberally. Every department is chock full of real bargains.

NOTE—The Bamberger store will be closed all day Saturday, Washington's Birthday.

THE PRODIGAL JUDGE

By Vaughan Kester.

The most original, witty and lovable old vagabond that ever conferred picturesqueness on a community is in the foreground of this story. Erstwhile slave owner and cotton grower, ruined through a woman and through a friend he trusted, he is now shabby but undaunted. A creature of mellow, effulgent personality, he is, alas, dominated by liquid desires. He first makes you laugh and then admire him for his courtesy and the cool, courageous Southern manhood that still thrills his rotound figure.

Little Hannibal, a human derelict apparently of little account, yet pursued by men who that the knowledge of his existence means the loss of vast estates to certain parties, drifts to the Judge's doorstep, his sole earthly possessions an old "spo'tin' rifle," and a fifty-cent piece which he loans at once to the financially embarassed Judge.

Then you meet "Betty"—a coquettish, Southern girl, who enjoys her conquests among the boys, and stirs up jealousies, rivalries, and lovers' thrills—as all fascinating girls do.

Then Solomon Mahaffy appears, a cross-grained, pessimistic sojourner on the shores of time, who clings to the shabby, pompous Judge like a brother—and at last lays down his life for him.

We meet them in the times of Andrew Jackson—primitive, turbulent, sentimental times, rife with courageous and romantic deeds; the days of heroes and scoundrels.

This splendid novel of life in Tennessee, with its whimsical old Prodigal Judge hero, is reputed to be at the present the most popular novel in America. A new edition has just been issued in the Grosset & Dunlap popular series.—F. H. Schaefer & Co. have this book for sale at 45c per copy.

INTERESTING BOOKLET.

The State Bureau of Shell Fisheries has a limited supply of a little booklet of value to housekeepers which will be mailed on request. It shows one hundred ways in which to prepare oysters in tasty, palatable and inviting fashion. With oysters at their present prices the cost of living can be measurably reduced by frequent reference to the recipe book. This will be mailed on request to the Bureau, at Trenton.

Looking over the county collector's report, just published, we catch this item under the heading of courts:

Geo. H. Shipman, judge, sitting day before election.....$40.00.

It was a fortunate circumstance that the Judge was able to do the work sitting. It might have been an expensive job had he been obliged to stand.—Washington Star.

FIRESIDE COUNCIL DOINGS.

A good attendance of Fireside Council members met Thursday evening and were honored by a visit from Grand Deputy J. E. Meisner and Regent Pierce, of Roselle Council.

Two applications were read and the 400 mark will be reached by the last meeting in March, and a banquet will be given in honor of the four hundredth member.

Tomorrow night a large delegation will take the 8 o'clock trolley and visit Roselle Council, Roselle.

George Cruttenden had charge of the entertainment and refreshments and did it in his usual generous style.

He first introduced the Hudson Trio M. C. O'Connor, Alex Brown, Walter Kelly, and for two hours they entertained the council with song dialect and character sketches and they were a scream.

Cigars were passed and enjoyed.

At Fireside's next meeting, February 27, the Westfield Orchestra will entertain the members.

PUGH CO. PLEASE AUDIENCE

The third entertainment in the seventh annual course of the Men's League was held in the First M. E. church last Thursday evening when a large audience was delighted with baritone and soprano solos, vocal duets, dramatic and humorous readings, piano numbers, violin solos and ensemble numbers by the Jess Pugh Company. Jess Pugh entertained as a dramatic reader of rare genius and voice, which was rich and melodious and of remarkable purity of tone, caused the audience to liberally applaud his work. Miss Emma Minnison, soprano, and Miss Clarissa Max, violinist and pianist, were heard at their best. The last entertainment of the Man's League will be held on Thursday evening, March 27, when Adrian M. Newens, monologist, will entertain.

LOYALS TO CELEBRATE

The members of Union Council, No. 5, Loyal Association of this town, are looking forward to the visit of the Supreme Counsellor, Supreme Vice Counsellor, supreme Chaplain, supreme Recorder, and two supreme representatives who will conduct the initiatory services for a class of eight or nine, on Thursday evening of this week. The Orator has made great preparations for the occasion, a special program being prepared and elaborate refreshments will be served. The council is favored by a visit from the supreme officers as a reward for the excellent record in obtaining new members, they having gained over 50 per cent. since July 1 of last year, the best record obtained by any lodge in the State. It is expected that there will be a very large attendance at the initiation.

VALENTINE SOCIAL.

The Home Guards Society, an auxiliary to the Woman's Home Missionary Society, of the First M. E. church, gave a Valentine Social at the home of Mrs. T. T. Harkrader, of Dudley avenue, last Friday evening. A very interesting and entertaining program was rendered consisting in part of vocal and instrumental music. Refreshments were served at the close of the entertainment. The decorations were appropriate to Valentine Day.

FINED TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS.

James R. Dary, a local hackman, was fined $25 in Recorder Springstead's court on Monday morning. Mrs. Van Housen, the agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, ordered a certain horse owned by Dary tied up in the stable for a certain length of time. The horse was being used before the time expired and Dary was arrested and fined as above stated.

KNOWLEDGE AND CARE OF SELF.

Dr. Thomas N. Grey, of Orange, gave his third lecture in this town on Sunday afternoon last. His subject was "Knowledge and Care of Self" and the lecture was especially for young men between the ages of 13 and 18. There was a large attendance and all those who were present were pleased with Dr. Grey and his interesting and instructive discourse.

SPEAKER ILL, MEETING POSTPONED

An account of the illness of Miss Lakey, president of the Consumer's League, who was to make the principal address, the meeting of the Social and Literary Circle of the First M. E. church, which was to have been held at the residence of Mrs. R. H. Collins, on First street, on Friday of this week, has been postponed for one week.

Do Your Own Thinking.

In the present controversy over a school site, it has been brought forcibly to our attention, principally through communications, that there are quite a few people in Westfield who permit someone else to do their thinking for them. We cannot say that these people are weak-minded, for that is not true. They are simply following an ancient custom where the king or ruler of a tribe did the thinking for the whole community. Today we elect men to govern us who are elected that they might execute the will of the people. If the citizens desire certain laws to be passed, or a school building built, it is the duty of those elected to follow the judgment of the majority. There are two sides to every business: the PROMOTION department and the FULFILLING department. Those who govern are essentially elected to supervise the fulfilling department.

We hope that the citizens of Westfield will be able to use their own judgment in regard to a school site. We have presented what we think and believe. It is and has been our desire that the purchase of that $11,000 lot be defeated because we are looking out for our welfare as we see it. Our welfare is that of the community, for we are a quasi-public institution.

We see no reason to be physically or mentally angry with Dr. Egel because he takes an opposite viewpoint. We know him to be a thinker for himself, because he is frank to change his mind when he feels that he has been in error. We continue to believe that W. A. Dempsey is the best school director Westfield has ever had, even if he thinks opposite on this point. Mr. Van Riper tells us that we impugn the honesty of the School Board because we disagree with it. We believe this to be the most narrow opinion an American citizen can have. Our citizenship beliefs, however, make us smile at the attitude of the proprietor of the Standard, whose attitude is that all citizens are fools if they do not believe his way. Yet it takes all kinds of people to make up a world.

Better Manners Desired.

Ordinarily the average citizen of Westfield is possessed of respectable manners. His attitude toward womankind is as it should be, but we have noted one instance where the men of Westfield become animals and think only of themselves or a game of cards. The gentlemen (?) who board the train for New York City, leaving the depot at 7:53, seem to forget just what the term "gentleman" means. As the train pulls into the station, hardly before it is stopped, there is a rush, not only for the smoker, but for the other cars, which reminds one of a panic of fire in a moving picture show. Not even a lady is considered in the rush for seats, and the consequence is that it is next to impossible for those coming from Plainfield to get off the train.

There is one young lady who comes to business in Westfield from Plainfield on that train, who has been the victim of this animal-brutalism. As she attempted to get off the car a rush of maddened men swept her aside, forcing her from the platform. A push hurled her down the steps and she was thrown to the ground with a badly sprained ankle.

It happened to be the 7:53 a. m. train on which this accident occurred, but it is nearly as bad on other morning trains, and we suggest that the commuters try to restrain this barbarianism in their nature and act with more courtesy to those who have the right to get off before they get on.

If you happen to be a commuter on one of the early trains, watch the animals tomorrow morning.

An Excellent Citizen.

Father Byer, of Westfield, has been called away from his Westfield parishoners to a larger field. It is not for us to comment upon his ability as a priest of his faith. His own people and the Bishop of his faith have signified their appreciation of his ability and his advancement is for the best interests of his church. He has been called to a larger field, where that ability can be utilized for the most good.

It seems too bad, however, that Westfield must be the loser and some other place the gainer in an example of sturdy citizenship. The religious activities of Father Byer were many and varied, but he ever found time to take a keen interest in civic affairs. He did not waste many words when he spoke, but he always said something which hit the spot, without frills to cloud the subject. He was a broad-minded citizen from the very beginning and his attitude did much to bring the relationship between Protestants and Roman Catholics a little closer.

The picture of Father Byer driving his well-known horse through the streets of Westfield or followed by the little black spaniel will long be remembered. Any man whose animals loved him as did those of Father Byer, possesses a character which is worthy of envy.

Father Byer knows that it is unnecessary for us to wish him success in these few paragraphs. It is the wish that is ever in our minds and in the minds of all who know him.

Who Pays For the Water?

Westfield and a few surrounding towns are put in a difficult status regarding the payment of water bills. In practically every other community about New York the owner of a building pays the water bills as a matter of course. There is no such understanding in Westfield and, unless the owner or his real estate agent stipulates in the lease just who is to pay for the water, there is always trouble between tenant and owner. This has happened so often that something definite in the shape of a regulation by the Water Company should be made. It is much to the advantage of the Water Company to have this matter settled. It will bring about a quicker payment of bills and not involve them in sometimes ridiculous controversies.

When a tenant engages to rent a house or apartment it should be understood definitely that the owner is to pay for the water. The amount of rent to be paid for the house should be arranged between both parties with this knowledge in view. It has happened very many times that after a tenant has signed the lease and the water bill comes in to him he learns then, for the first time, that he is expected to pay for the water. These matters seem somewhat insignificant to those who have not been disturbed by them but to have the question definitely settled, a rule made and understood by both parties to a contract, is greatly to the advantage of Westfield.

Editor Westfield Leader:

I have read with genuine gratification your able and timely editorial entitled "Twentieth Century Bigotry" upon the growing manifestations of fraternity among the various religious denominations in our great commonwealth and the passing away of old prejudices and misunderstandings.

Your words have the ring of the true Americanism, and were fittingly published in the Leader on the day devoted to the memory of the Great Emancipator, Abraham Lincoln. Every American citizen who carries in his heart any real conception of what four years of fratricidal strife cost the American people in hatred, bloodshed and destruction, during Lincoln's day, to save our national commonwealth from the treason and conspiracy that sought to rend it asunder, will endorse your indignant denunciation of the secret conspiracies of bigotry and irreligion which now seek to tear down the saving pillars of society and invite anarchy and chaos by re-invoking the passions and prejudices of by-gone days of stormy religious controversy.

During several visits to Westfield I have been edified by observing the broad and brotherly spirit manifested by the clergymen of your different churches toward each other. May that spirit always continue, and abundant success attend the religious, social and political leaders who constitute the best assurance of Westfield's progressive future.

Respectfully,
DAVID HEALY.

The Columbian Circle,
Westfield, N. J.

Editor Westefild Leader:

Dear Sir:—The regular meeting of the Columbian Circle was held in the club rooms, Elm street, last Monday evening, where attention was directed to the editorial which appeared in last week's issue of The Leader, headed "Twentieth Century Bigotry."

The reading of your able editorial elicited warm praise for your frank courageous protest and exposure to the public of Westfield, as well as your hosts of readers throughout the State of New Jersey, of the scandalous and malignant but yet industriously circulated sheet, known as the "Menace", with its scheming promoters disseminating foul and vile charges against the Catholic Church and its millions of American citizens throughout this great land.

Many of these Catholics are holding important positions of trust in various departments of the Federal, State and Municipal Governments of the country, in the Judiciary of the United States Supreme Court, Washington, D. C., in the halls of Congress, including the United Sttaes Senate chamber, as well as in the social, professional, educational, political, commercial and the military life of the nation, whether in peace or in warfare, sustaining American valor, defending the flag with their lives in many a hard fought battle and they would be ready to spread its folds again to the breese whenever it becomes necessary. While the villifiers and libelers of the Catholic citizens of America would doubtless be found wanting as all such cowardly conspiring vultures have been found through the ages.

While we believe that among the clergy of all denominations and the intellectual circles of the men and women of Westfield, there is no active sympathy of this scurilous publication, but we hold at the same time that a policy of silent indifference, might be wrongfully construed into tacit approval.

This consideration, Mr. Editor, adds new force and value to your splendid editorial and I, as secretary of the Columbian Circle, have been directed by unanimous vote of the members, to convey to you this expression of their hearty and grateful appreciation.

Very respectfully,
THE WESTFIELD COLUMBIAN CIRCLE,
Frank Tully, Secretary.

tended the additional rooms to be used as Grammar or Grade and not as High School rooms. If the new portions were used for High School purposes we are inclined to think that you would be obliged to build a new Auditorium, for we doubt if permission would be given for the High School to use the present one on the third floor. The law now amended (since the sketches were made) requires a fire-proof building where the Auditorium is on the third floor, and if a High School addition were built we think it would be regarded as a new building which could not use a non-fire-proof third story Auditorium.

Yours very truly,
EDGAR A. JOSSELYN,
CHARLES H. DARSH,

If the addition is required, it is ridiculous to assume that such additions must be "called" High School rooms. The architects plainly say that they could add a Grammar or Grade school, or imply so. Now, what is the difference whether it is called grade, grammar, insane asylum, or conservatory? If this is not satisfactory to the gentlemen, the auditorium, which is really good for nothing, could well be converted into class rooms, and an auditorium be provided for on the ground floor of an addition on one side of the present building. On the other side of the present building could be established the rooms for laboratories, as recommended by A. B. Meredith, the assistant Commissioner of Education.

Now, for the sake of argument, let us admit that the additions are not feasible. The Advocates tell us that it is impracticable to build a new building in front of the present structure, where there is plenty of room. They get around this by telling us that the course of the brook will have to be changed at an immense cost of $1,500 and that there will have to be filling in of the grounds at a cost of $6,000. It is very true that the tentative plans of a building such as the Board desire to erect, will not fit in. Bust must we have THAT building and no other? Is there any citizen so narrow in the common sense of architecture, even though he be a layman, who cannot with only a casual glance at the grounds plan a building which will not interfere with the brook or the present building?

Either one of the plans to utilize the present grounds is feasible, and a building can be made fit which will be servicable and a credit to the property.

The whole substance of the proposition is that SOMEONE WANTS TO BUY THAT LOT AND SOMEONE DOES NOT WANT TO HAVE ANOTHER BUILDING ON THE BIG TRACT OF LAND WHICH IS LYING IDLE.

The fact that the Standard and the other advocates tell us that the additional cost of ornamentation to four walls of a new building will cost as much as the lot, means, of course nothing. The idea is misleading. Will such cost exceed the cost of a retaining wall for the proposed lot, for the immense amount of grading and for arrangements to get light when obstructed by walls of an adjoining building. This argument really needs little attention, for a practical architect can soon solve such an easy problem, if it can be called a problem.

A later paragraph in the Standard accuses the editor of the Leader of jealousy because said editor did not get the commission to purchase the lot or acquire the option. The public will excuse us when we use the phrase, "It is to laugh." Does any person ever imagine that we dreamed of such a thing when the scheme belonged to Mr. Pierson? We did not accuse Mr. Pierson of making anything on the deal even after the purchase price was reduced $1,000 after the Leader's announcement. We have not thought of saying anything about ulterior motives. There was no reason for such a thought upon our part. It seems to be a case of "honi soit qui mal y pense."

The Standard editor suggests that the Leader "man" is suffering from a failing of the eyesight and hearing. If the Standard editor simply refers to what transpired at the Washington school meeting it may be true. We did not see and reason why the town of Westfield should spend $11,000 for a piece of property which is useless, nor could he hear any adequate reason why the property surrounding the Washington school could not be utilized, if a fair effort was made to do so. Of course he heard the plans of the board for the kind of a building which could not be used, but he did not hear anyone make an effort to fit the plans to utilization. The Standard editor and the advocates of buying the property probably hope that the public may be short of sight and hard of hearing on election day, February 24th, but they will be deceived; for the Westfield public is far too intelligent to be led about by the nose with excuses which are not reasonable.

Now will we ask Mr. Pierson and associates another question. Why should a high school with pupils 16 to 23 years of age be fireproof and the schools for youngsters who are less capable in fire excitement, be not fireproof? This is what Mr. Pierson desires. He wants to have a fireproof high school and a non-fireproof grade school. Is it reasonable?

There is another phase which should be touched upon again. Mr. Pierson says in his newspaper that "The Man Who Knows" should have been consulted. (Forget the sweet irony.) Why need the Board have gone to Mr. Pierson, Mr. Randolph or any other real estate man It is against public policy as all citizens know. The Board should have secured the options, and no one else. Star Chamber proceedings are not satisfactory in any public business dealings.

The playground proposition, of course, is a farce. In the first place Westfield is not a congested city and every home is more or less a playground There is plenty of light, air and country for all children even if we had to utilize every inch of the Washington school property. But this is not necessary. Without the least filling in, the present lot has plenty of room for the addition, new building, or two new buildings and then a playground besides. But what is to be done with the Peckham dump property? We always understood that this was to be eventually turned into a park with facilities for airing the children. Do we need playgrounds every few hundred feet? The playground excuse for spending $11,000 will not deceive the most gullible. If the Board cannot find an architect who will build a new building, or put on an addition so that the beauty of the present property will not be destroyed, we or a dozen others in Westfield, will find hundreds of architects who will accomplish what the Board says cannot be done, with ease and ability.

Mr. Dempsey, at a meeting of the Fourth Ward Taxpayers' Association, made a very sane remark which really shows the true condition of affairs According to the Standard, he said, "That the Board had gone into this question (that of putting on an addition) very carefully and that WHILE IT WAS NOT IMPOSSIBLE, IT WAS IMPRACTICABLE EITHER TO ADD TO OR BUILD A NEW SCHOOL ON THE WASHINGTON PARK." This takes the wind out of the whole argument. IT IS POSSIBLE.

Regarding the proposed lot, there is much doubt as to its feasibility as a place for a school. It is a hill with a heavy grade. We reprint what we said about it last week, and there has been no contradiction to the statements made:

"In conversation with an adjoining property owner, a Leader representative was informed that he (the property owner) failed to see how the property on Walnut street could be used for a school building, as the restrictions in the deed of this property call for only one family houses to be built on not less than fifty feet.

"Another property owner called the attention of the Leader representative to the fact that a retaining wall would have to be built all along the upper line of the lot to hold the high bank and that this wall, together with a nearby house would cut off the light from that side of any building erected on the plot; also since the lot is low on Walnut street, some difficulty would arise from the drainage of the adjoining property."

Last week, in the Leader, Mr. Chas. A. Springstead put forth an able argument from the standpoint of the teacher in the desire to separate the high school from the grade school. He says that the noise of the smaller pupils seriously affects the consentrative powers of the older ones. By a judicious arrangement of rooms in such additions as we have proposed, or in a separate building on the same grounds ,this difficulty is most easily obviated. It is simply a matter of management and is not serious enough for Westfield to spend $11,000 to rectify. It can be done without any expenditure. We ask the citizens of Westfield also to remember that this idea of using one building on a separate plot for ONLY high school purposes is to devote one big building to a very small number of pupils for many years to come. It might be ideal but it is far from economical. None of our graduating classes have numbered over thirty.

The town of Westfield, like many private individuals, would like to have all the luxuries in the world. There are so many nice things that money could buy. We are to go into school matters, it means that the whole system of education must be gradually changed at a big cost and new grade schools must be built and other property bought. It is only sane to save where we can, and $11,000 saved now is not to be sneezed at. Just think citizens. We are non-officially informed that even if the county tax remains the same as last year, the new tax rate will likely be around $2.10 even without the new expenditures for school.

We would print in this issue a communication from Mr. Van Riper, did space permit and would be pleased to do so. It really requires no answer from us because all the points which Mr. Van Riper has raised have been repeatedly answered by us and he says little pertinent to the subject other than the theorical duty (?) of upholding whatever the School Board and Mr. Pierson desire the citizens to do.

These are facts. Digest them well and you will find no earthly reason to vote away $11,000 to satisfy a few gentlemen who are more theorical than practical.

YOUR OPINION AS TO THE VALUE OF LAND AND THE PURCHASE OF IT, OR NON-PURCHASE OF IT, IS AS GOOD AS ANY MEMBER OF THE SCHOOL BOARD, OR MR. PIERSON.

AN ADDITION CAN BE PUT ON THE PRESENT SCHOOL BUILDING IF IT IS DESIRED BY THE BOARD AND MR. PIERSON AND IF THEY WILL MAKE THEIR PLANS CONFORM WITH WHAT CAN BE DONE.

A NEW SCHOOL CAN BE BUILT IN FRONT OF THE PRESENT ONE WITHOUT CHANGING THE COURSE OF THE BROOK IF PLANS ARE MADE ACCORDINGLY.

THE ERECTION OF AN ADDITION, OR A NEW BUILDING WILL NOT INTERFERE WITH ANY PLAYGROUND PROJECT ALTHOUGH THE TOWN HAS OTHER NOW USELESS PROPERTY FOR SUCH A PURPOSE.

THE BEAUTY OF THE PRESENT PARK WILL NOT BE SPOILED BY SUCH ADDITIONS OR BUILDINGS.

A FIREPROOF HIGH SCHOOL AND A NON-FIREPROOF GRADE SCHOOL DOES NOT SEEM REASONABLE. WE DO NOT BELIEVE THAT THE PRESENT WASHINGTON BUILDING IS A FIRE TRAP, HOWEVER, BECAUSE IT WAS MADE VERY MUCH FIREPROOF UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF DR. EGEL.

LABRATORIES, MANUAL TRAINING ROOMS, OFFICES, ETC., INCLUDING AN AUDITORIUM ON THE GROUND FLOOR IS POSSIBLE IF THE BOARD WILL PERMIT AN ARCHITECT TO DRAW THE PLANS.

THE TOWN OF WESTFIELD SHOULD NOT ENGAGE IN LAND SPECULATION.

THE PROPOSED LOT HAS MORE DISADVANTAGES FOR BUILDING THAN THE WASHINGTON PLOT.

NO PAMPHLET PUBLISHED AND DISTRIBUTED BY THE BOARD OR MR. PIERSON WILL TELL YOU THE OTHER SIDE OF THE PROPOSITION.

IT IS FOLLY TO SPEND $11,000 WHEN THE TAX RATE WILL BE HIGH AND WE HAVE TO LOOK FORWARD TO BIGGER EXPENDITURES.

EACH FRACTION INCREASE IN THE RATE, NO MATTER HOW SMALL, TAKES SOMETHING FROM YOUR POCKETBOOK.

FOR YOUR OWN SAKE, GO TO THE SCHOOL MEETING AND VOTE TO STOP THIS IDIOTIC WASTE OF MONEY FOR THE PURCHASE OF LAND WHICH WE DO NOT NEED.

There is not the slightest doubt in our minds but that the citizens will overwhelmingly defeat the plan of the Board and Mr. Pierson. However we have presented our views to show the fallacy of the proposed purchase. Many citizens have shown us practical methods and even "Economist" in last week's Standard has a plan which the Board can hardly find fault with. It is as follows:

Editor of the Standard:

It is possible to build a high school and ground floor auditorium upon the present Washington school grounds.

We all know or can see that the ground is now below grade and a terrace effect about the school and I assume the diagonal walk indicates where the brook is piped.

To build a building upon such a plot with a ground floor auditorium, no grade digging or removing of the pipes is necessary; also only 3 sides of the new building need to have a finished appearance. The heating plant, etc., for the new building can be installed in the present school building or the proposed high school building (depends upon the plans). If installed in the Washington school building underground passage will be required for heating pipes. The proposed high school building should be carried near the tree lines bordering along sidewalk (but upon the school ground) and by the removal of the few inside trees a substantial square appearing building could be erected to supply the need of Westfield for all time as a high school. The building facing Elm street extending from tree line at Orchard street to that of Walnut street would answer to the present requirements—if not extend the building along both of the other streets which would make three sides of a hollow square. The rear walls of the building are allowed for extension to be made and require no finishing material only brick painted, so

CROSS LOCATED BY LOCAL POLICE

Chief of Police O'Neill and his associates, after hard work, located Rev. Sydney Cross in Montreal, Can., about a week ago. The January term of the Grand Jury found an indictment against the late rector and upon receipt of the papers Chief O'Neill immediately went to work on the job. The Chief had located Cross in New York City, but he skipped for Canada before the papers arrived. When located there and arrested he claimed to be a British subject and could not be extradited, which claim was partially confirmed by the extradition commissioner. However, should Cross come into the States again he will be subject to immediate arrest. Westfield Chief of Police is to be congratulated on the excellent way be handled the case

PATRIOTIC DANCE.

Miss Nettie Carnes, of South avenue, will be the hostess at a patriotic dance to be given in the Darby Garage Assembly Hall, on Friday evening of this week. About one hundred invitations have been issued. The hall will be decorated with American flags and the red, white and blue color scheme will be carried out as fast as possible.

Mountainside

The Borough Council held a regular meeting last Friday evening in the Borough Hall. All the members were present except Messrs. Eastman and Coles. A permanent committee, to take care of the interest of the Springfield road improvement, was appointed by the Mayor; this committee consisted of Messrs. Kitts, Robbins and Darby. The question of street and house lights for the borough was discussed at length and a meeting has been arranged with representatives of the Public Service Corporation at the office of Attorney Taggart on Saturday, March 1st, at which time it is hoped some definite plan will be formed. The question of establishing a boundry line between the borough and Springfield came up and it was arranged to meet members of the Springfield Town Committee on Sunday morning next, when the matter will be gone over thoroughly. A sinking fund commission will be appointed at the next meeting of the council, this committee will probably consist of Lloyd Thompson, L. Robbins and T. J. Kitts.

The Moutainside Union Sunday school will celebrate its forty-second anniversary Sunday afternoon, Feb. 23, at 3 o'clock. An interesting program has been prepared including an address by Rev. T. S. Molyneux, pastor of the Springfield M. E. church. A very cordial invitation is extended to all, especially to old friends and former members of the school.

YEOMEN DEFEAT JR.'S—NOW AHEAD OF WOODMEN

It was a jolly lot of rooters and ladies that sat on the side lines for the opening game of the Yeomen-Junior match last evening. Of course the ladies were fanning for Charley Ortleb and his Yeomen brothers to win and the Juniors did get an awful walloping handed to them. Gilmore sounded the wood for a 235 score, which put him in third place in the individual standing.

The second game looked a win for the Mechanics as they enjoyed a lead of 18 pins for six frames. Misses and splits played their usual parts for the Juniors thereafter and another defeat was theirs.

The final had as much life as could be found in a morgue, though the game was in favor of either team frame after frame until the eighth, when the Juniors were four to the good.

Shotwell came within two of a double century and his final tally gave one victory to his crestfallen associates by 10 pins.

These Yeomen victories put them ahead of their Woodmen enemies.

The Judge says the woodchoppeds will overtake them Friday evening, when they roll the Red Men.

ARCANIANS HAND WOODMEN THREE STRAIGHT DEFEATS

The much talked of battle between the Arcanum and Woodmen teams was fought to a finish Monday night, and all the winning honors were carried home by the Arcanum team.

The result of this match caused the nerves of the men to reach the high tension mark, and much in and out bowling was in evidence, as the low total scores show.

The Arcanians had a lead of 18 pins in the third frame of the opener, and at the sixth the Woodmen led the procession with 4 pins. Bad single pin misses by the R. A.'s gave the woodchoppers a 34 pin lead. Then the Forster crowd hit the timber in big chunks, and going in the tenth frame were two pieces of tree behind.

Miller finished with 194, beating Baker 16 pins. Splits by Beaman, Tobin and McMahon took the heart out of the Woodmen, while the Arcanians were rolling up a big lead, but Cox went mad and finished with 215, but his work went for naught, as the Arcanum won by 18 pins.

Baker was the big noise in the second game with Forster and McMahon coming up strong. My, how the woodchoppers' axes did miss those trees—14 swings went bad, and another bad beating was given them.

Then the night-cap engagement was on with the Snyder bunch well in the lead, and a lot of rooters fresh from The Playhouse attraction helped with the noise, as the Woodmen were 33 in the lead. Nelson then played the act of the villian, and stole the heroine with Brown as an accomplice, and much to the dismay of all present the Arcanum team quietly got away with the plunder by seven pins. LOYALS MAKE CLEAN SWEEP.

The palefaces of the Loyal forces routed and massacred the Indians Friday night and a small crowd witnessed this engagement. Very little interest was shown as all the totals were very low. METHODISTS LOSE SERIES TO THE PRESBYTERIANS

The Methodist five took another tumble last week when they went against the Presbyterians, who are at present rolling well, and the latter team won two of the three games.

There was nothing to the first game but Baker, who pinned a perfect game with six strikes and four spares for 232. Dr. Gill rolled 199, the best score of the evening outside of Baker's.

Wittke was the goat in the second match, and made but one spare for nine frames, and his misses were responsible for the white church losing the second game by 12 pins. Sanders missed his spare in the fourth frame, which had he made would have held his team safe.

Everybody was so tired during the final game very low scores were posted. The Presbyterians were winners by 41 pins. Score.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

Friday night the Woodmen are going to try for all three with the Red Men.

Next Monday the Loyals and Arcanum meet and it's a cinch it will be three for the R. A.'s.

Morton put down the wood for a count of 257 Saturday afternoon. Why don't you mark like that in a league series, George?

Tonight is Westfield night at Thum's alleys, Broadway, New York. Twelve teams have gone to the city.

Gus Ryff rolled his first league game Friday night and retired after his 86 score in the second.

The remarkable scores of Baker and Cox were followed by two very low ones.

Westerberg and Tobin had a duel engagement. "Westy" winning by one pin.

The gloom that hung over the face of the Judge caused angry words to be spoken and missed spares did it.

Well, these three helped a whole lot and puts the Arcanum nearer the top.

When the next list of averages is printed our readers will see a close battle in the first ten men for the prizes.

"Germany" Shafer is rooting "all the way all the time" for the Arcanum team. Too had the other teams have not some rooters as loyal.

AGAIN!—THAT'S ALL!

Did anybody esy the Plainfield Courier-News bunch could bowl? If they did they should see Sweeney and tell him. The story is short and sad rom the Plainfield end. These knights of the pins and picas had the idea that the Leader bunch were easy and had a story all written for today's paper of how they put it all over Westfield; the language that aporting writer used was fierce, it is said it burned a hole in his pocket (we wanted them to give it to us, but they didn't want such things said about them.) But—just look at the score—and remember this is the second time these proud and haughty type-slingers have fallen before the Leader aggregation. Lack of space prevents us from going into the details of the game, but Capt. Koechlein, of the Plainfield crown, is still using that peculiar hook ball to the amusement of the bystanders; when it remained in the house it was very effective.

BASKET BALL

ALPHA SIGMA VICTORIOUS OVER THE MONARCHS

The Westfield High School team played under the name of the Monarchs Friday night, owing to the cancellation by the Dunellen five. The crowd was much smaller than the previous games, and the club must have better patronage or the club will have to abandon basket ball.

The High School team put up a snappy game and must be given much praise for the way they held the Alpha Sigmas. Dallas and J. Elliott were the local stars.

This week the Pilo Club will be the attraction and a fast game is looked for as much rivalry exists between these clubs. Dancing will follow the game.

It's Worth More than it Costs You

OF COURSE you admit the value of the automobile for any one who has to go from one place to another—and wants to get there and back quickly. We all agree on that point.

The cost of the automobile is what is worrying you, maybe.

You wonder is it worth the money—to you.

Have you ever noticed that when a man buys an automobile, and, after using it, either in his business or for pleasure, or for both, sells it, always buys another one?

Yes? Well, that's the answer.

Buy an automobile, find out that its price is an investment rather than an expense, and you can't do without it. You wouldn't want to.

Because you will have found that the car is worth more to you than it cost you, that it has added to your capacity of doing business, that it made one hour do the work of three, that the store, the theatre, the folks ten miles away, have suddenly become your next-door neighbors, that it has given a store of health to you and your family.

Which automobile?

The Overland—because it is the best value that money can buy.

Whatever your notions are as to what an automobile should be to do justice to your requirements, whether you value power, comfort, impressive appearance, low cost of upkeep, or the kind of durability—Overland durability—that makes the possession of a car a source of downright satisfaction, you can't afford to consider any automobile without first investigating the new Overland.

Won't you come and take a look at it. Compare it with others. Let us give you a ride in the big, fully equipped Overland; it involves no obligation on your part. Then draw your own conclusions.—That's all.

Mr. Phelps, president of the Fourth Ward Taxpayers' Association, called at the Leader office and said that the statement in the Standard that he was in favor of the board's idea IS NOT SO, and that he is willing to uphold the board in all matters as a rule, but he does not see at the present time the necessity for the purchase of more land, as he does not feel the finances of the town will warrant it.

We also publish his remarks in introducing the board at the meeting of the Fourth Ward Taxpayers' Association last Thursday evening, verbatim:

The members of the school board are elected by vote of our citizens. Likewise the purchase of a plot for the erection of a school must be sanctioned and voted on by our voters. Our present school board, in their good judgment, deem it necessary at this time to purchase a plot for the erection of a high school. They have selected a plot and obtained an option on it, at the corner of Walnut and Elm streets.

Our State laws require certain things in our schools that must be lived up to. Schools must be built in future according to those laws to be fire-proof and sanitary. To make the Washington school fire-proof and sanitary to comply with the law in order to build additions for a high school, as has been suggested, would cost $6000 or $7000, according to the school board, or within a few thousand dollars of the purchase price of a new plot. Also by erecting a high school on the plot in question would conserve to the school system the present Washington school grounds for playgrounds, at the same time furnish a campus for the new high school.

I think that I have outlined to you gentlemen the proposition the school board has endeavored to put before you and have asked you to vote on the 24th inst.

It is up to you TO USE YOUR OWN GOOD JUDGMENT IN EXERCISING YOUR RIGHT TO VOTE.

Editor Westfield Leader:

Sir:—Anent the present school question, it appears from a statement read by Dr. Egel at the school meeting last week that the facilities for grade pupils will soon be inadequate, and that an additional grade school building must be planned for now.

If the Washington school building is such a fire-trap that a prominent insurance man of Westfield refuses to attend the lectures there with his wife, and would not permit any of his companies to place insurance on the building if he could help it, the Prospect street school house must be about as fire-proof as a brush heap by comparison.

As this building is likely to be condemned, why not anticipate the authorities, demolish the structure now and use the site for a high school?

A fire-proof steel skyscraper could be erected there which would serve as a high school building for many years. The site is large enough for such a building. A playground with the High School is a superfluity. Pupils do not use it. They don't have time. There is something fundamentally wrong with the existing system of education, which is not peculiar to Westfield nor New Jersey. Pupils are compelled to carry stacks of books home with them and to prepare nearly all their lessons at home. They go to school to recite, and they can recite in recitation rooms in a fire-proof office building as well as in a two-story building located in an ...park. Pupils here are less pro... ...than in rural schools where they go to school to study and recite, and where boys do more work before and after school than a hired man will do in Westfield.

The triangle park on Mountain avenue, which was whittled down to a mere nucleus and its shade trees destroyed, and which is of little value to the town, would also afford an ideal site for a high school. It would be worth more for such purpose than it is for a beauty spot to adjoining property owners.

In ten years the writer's taxes increased 78 per cent, with four per cent increase in valuation.

As a business proposition, a man can purchase a farm within the New York commutor zone, keep an automobile to take him to and from the railroad station, and have excellent school facilities for much less outlay than it will cost him to own a small home in Westfield.

In the matter of further increasing our taxes let us make haste slowly.

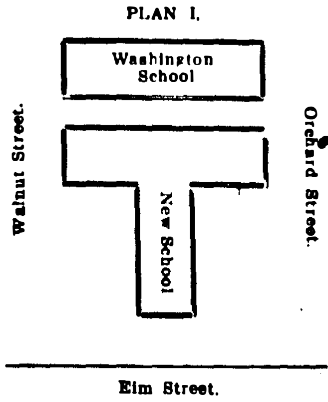
TAXPAYER.

Editor of The Leader:

Like all good Westfielders, I take much interest in our present school question.

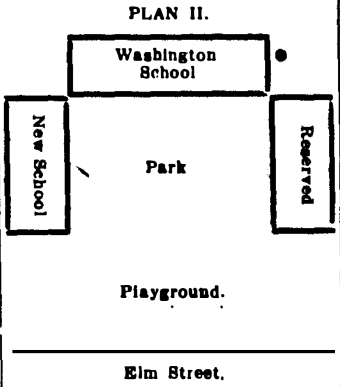
While I am not in favor of acquiring new property as long as we have land on hand that can be used to advantage, I do not think it a good plan to erect a new school in the middle of Washington Park in front of the present school, as outlined in plan I and suggested by the board.

PLAN I.



First, this would obstruct the view of our present handsome school building. Second, we would have to change the course of the brook, and, third the remaining land would be left cut up in a rather bad way.

PLAN II.



Would it not be possible to build the new school in the upper corner of the park, as outlined in Plan II., and use the lower corner for a further school or a gymnasium and auditorium, if we have to have one? This would give us even more room for building without obstructing the present school, and we could keep clear of the brook. The remaining land also would be left in better shape for a park or playgrounds.

Yours truly,
K. B.

Editor of the Leader:

In your issue of last week, in a report of a meeting held in Washington school building, on Tuesday evening last, to consider the question of purchasing the lot, corner of Walnut and Elm streets, for a site for a High School building, I am reported as saying "After having conversed with a number of people, I find that nine out of every ten have made up their minds to vote against the proposition, and that they thought the meeting was entirely unnecessary and a waste of time." Those, or words to the same effect I certainly said, but they were said as an introduction to the remark that these nine out of ten people should have the benefit of the information which we had received from the members of the Board of Education at that meeting.

I accepted the partial quotation by the Leader as a little pleasantry, and was disposed to give the matter no further thought, but I find that so many persons have taken the matter seriously, I am obliged to ask you to kindly permit me to say that my whole purpose in speaking upon the occasion, was to try to establish the necessity of using some further means to reach the ears of the voters upon the question of buying the lot above mentioned.

I was surprised to find so few people at the meeting, and I believed the reason the voters remained away, was simply because very many of them had already made up their minds how they should vote, and wished to hear nothing further on the subject.

I was convinced by the arguments produced by the members of the Board of Education that the proposed purchase of the said lot should be made, as a matter of economy, to say the least; and I suggested that the information which had been given out at the meeting, by the members of the Board of Education, should be incorporated in a pamphlet, and that said pamphlet should be sent to the voters throughout the town.

Very truly yours,
HARRIS C. RUSH.

New York, Feb. 18, 1913.

Westfield Leader:

Gentlemen—As a hard working mechanic, I shall offer my idea of the purchasing of the new school site which is at the present time an important issue. It seems if one would take the time to walk and examine the present Washington school site, and also the new site, which the Board of Education intends to purchase. It would only take one glance to satisfy his or her mind, that the can get along with what we have.

According to the diagram of the Washington school site, we have approximately 78,000 sq. ft. of unoccupied school property, upon which we are now paying taxes. The new site in question contains about 37,000 ft. If we construct a building covering the entire frontage of Elm street and returning 160 ft. on both Orchard and Walnut streets, we would still have 3,000 sq. ft. or more for playgrounds, which if used at intervals, would accomodate all the pupils in the old as well as the new school.

To build upon the old school would not be practical. If we must have a new school let us use the property of which we have possesion. If the town should purchase this new site, the grade of Elm street at this point, would mean the second story of the new shool would be on grade with the foundation of the adjoining premises, which would mean dark and unsanitary rooms on that side of a new building. I don't think Westfield could afford to give the school board any more appropriations.

I'm the father of six children, well satisfied with the education they are receiving. I hope that this matter will be set aside for at least two more years. As for purchasing the new site it is not worthy of consideration at all.

We don't need it and can get along without it. Keep your taxes down. Give the children more out-door exercise and they will be more rugged and better to battle the way of the business world.

Yours truly,
MECHANIC.

ANTI-TRUST BILLS RUSHED THROUGH

G. O. P. Members Again Attack Wilson's Measures.

SUFFRAGISTS OUT IN FORCE

[Special Correspondence.]

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 19—Bowled over by what they termed "Governor Wilson's steam roller," the Republicans found their opposition to the anti-trust bills, which were passed by the house yesterday, to have little effect. As agreed in a conference with the executive Monday, the house Democrats followed the lead of the majority in the senate and lined up solidly for the "corporation busters" yesterday. This ratification of the measures was the final step before sending them to the governor for his signature, and the proceedings were hurried in order to have the official seal placed on them early.

Vituperation was piled on the head of the governor by the G. O. P. representatives because of the way he was able to marshal his forces and ride over the protestants despite their squirming. Senator Edge expressed the sentiment of a number of his colleagues when, as they were suffering the sting of defeat, he shouted, "Thank God, New Jersey is to lose the man who would place the state on such an unfirm basis!"

The senate paved the way for the bills last week, and after meeting the governor Monday the assembly determined to report them immediately in their body. This was done Monday night, and they were placed on second reading the same evening. A fight that duplicated that waged in the senate followed.

Richards Leads Attack.

Assemblyman Richards of Atlantic City, minority leader, led in the attack. But he did not make any progress as the Democrats had decided that the bills should not be changed or modified. The amendments proposed were those which the Republicans maintained would eliminate the dangerous features of the bills. They provided that the measures should not apply to price fixing agreements among farmers in joint selling of crops; that they should not affect agreements of manufacturers to fix prices with retailers on their product; modified the personal penalty clause making directors of corporations personally liable for violations of the statutes. Unless such changes were made, Mr. Richards asserted, small business would be crippled and corporations would be driven out of the state.

The minority leader also introduced a resolution requesting the state board of assessors to furnish the assembly with the number of corporations to be affected by the bills, the revenue derived by the state from them and the probable amount the state would lose by their enforcement. The paper was tabled by the vote of the majority. Assemblyman Adams of Mercer, Republican and labor leader, tried to have the bills amended so as to keep them from applying to the fixing of wage scales between manufacturers and labor organizations, which he held they now do.

After they realized that they could not bring about the changes the Republicans were more mild in their opposition when the measures reached the third reading yesterday and voted for those they regarded as "reasonable," as had been done in the senate by the G. O. P. contingent.

Governor Dodges Suffragists.

Another varied experience was added to those of Governor Wilson yesterday when he abandoned the executive office and spent the day in a private apartment in the capitol, where he was safe from the suffragists and antis who thronged the statehouse. In his secluded haven the executive spent his time in dictating to his stenographer.

The hearing on the resolution to grant women the ballot was held in the morning by a joint committee of senate and house, and that fact accounted for the great outpouring of the fair sex. Even the spacious assembly chamber was none too large for the hundreds of delegates who came from all parts of the state. The halls were filled with them, and they made an odd sight as they walked along the streets of Trenton two by two, their yellow pennants conspicuously displayed.

All the standing space on the floor and galleries of the assembly chamber was quickly taken, and in their enthusiasm many of the delegates forgot their accustomed decorum and climbed to window sills and others stood on chairs and desks in order to hear and see the speakers.

The governor did not expect the greeting that he received as he entered the statehouse. No sooner had the revolving door closed behind him than a crowd of the women antis made a group about him. They explained to the president elect that they were perfectly willing to let their husbands do their voting for them and represent them in public affairs. Then Mrs. Robert Howe of Paterson took a pink rose from her coat and handed it to the governor. As he accepted it graciously he remarked, "Ladies, I am surrounded." Then he went on to his office.

To Regulate Theaters.

More stringent regulations for theaters are under discussion in the senate, and from present conditions it appears that the church representatives will be lined up against the amusement promoters. A hearing was started yesterday on Senator Leavitt's bill to allow boards of education to appoint censors for the playhouses, but the interest was so great that it was determined to continue the arguments two weeks from now. A bill making necessary a written agreement from parents for another person to take a child to a theater was discussed and will be reported by the committee.

The senate has passed the house bill for the incorporation of Seaside Heights, Ocean county. More than a dozen women cornetmakers have appeared before the house committee to prevent the passage of the bill which would prevent the members of their sex from following the occupation which they now fill.

Assemblyman Hennessy's constitutional convention bill was indorsed after a long debate by the Democratic lawmakers who held a conference with Governor Wilson yesterday. This action was taken after incorporating into the bill a provision designed for the protection of the smaller counties, which have opposed the measure through fear that a new constitution might be proposed providing for the election of senators by districts on a population basis. The latter would throw the control of the state to the larger cities of North Jersey. While leaving undisturbed the present population basis in the convention, the compromise that was reached provides that on any proposition in the convention involving a change in the system of representation in the legislature each county is to have only one vote. This will leave the balance of power as it now stands.

It is regarded as practically certain, however, that some bill will be passed taking the jury appointments out of the sheriffs' hands.

A hearing on jury reform bills was also conducted yesterday by the assembly judiciary committee, and the charge was made by several of the speakers that grand jury drawing in New Jersey is under political control, dictated to the sheriffs by the party bosses for protection of those whom the bosses do not want indicted.

The senate has adopted the resolution of President Fielder for an investigation of the affairs of the New Jersey Home For Disabled Soldiers at Kearny. The paper calls for a joint committee of four persons to do the probing, two to be appointed by the president of the senate and two by the speaker of the house. There has been friction at the home for some months between the board of directors and General H. Ward Grubb, the commandant in charge of the institution. Counter charges have been made and a scandal was threatened for a time.

Amendments are to be made to Senator Nichols' bill for the granting of pensions to dependent widows as a result of a hearing conducted on the measure. The opposition was led by representatives of societies for the protection of children and was directed at the way in which the measure was drawn and not at the object which it seeks to accomplish.

WOMANS' CLUB DECIDE NOT TO HAVE CANDIDATE FOR BOARD

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Woman's Club, held yesterday afternoon, it was decided not to put a candidate in the field for the office of school trustee this year. The committee felt that they had worked very successfully brough their advisory committee, to the board, and that they would try this method for another year. It is probable that the ladies will take the question up again next year.

The Uniformed Rank, Company G, members of the Garwood Council, No. 309, Jr. O. U. A. M., installed the following officers at a meeting in Turn Hall, on Monday evening of this week. Capt. Wm. C. Meaner, First Lieut. R. Watt; Second Lieut. W. McMannus. These officers were sworn in by Mayor Oheler, of Elizabeth, assisted by Capt. Dauncey, of Co. B., Elizabeth. The installation was well attended, and much interest is being shown in the advancement of the order.

The man who ought to buy your property is as anxious to find you as you could possibly be to find him, and as he doubtless reads the advertisements "you'll be meeting him half way" if you advertise.

OVERCOME BY GAS.

R. F. Mitchell, who lives with his wife at 571 Cumberland street, was found unconscious in his room at about 10:30 Monday night, by Harold Lambert, who has a room at the Mitchell home.

When Lambert returned to the house he found the front door open and the gas jet in the hall turned on full; the draft from the open door carried the gas through a ventilator into the room in which Mr. Mitchell was sleeping and when found he was unconscious from the fumes.

Dr. Decker was summoned and the patient revived. Mr. Mitchell is suffering from a stroke of paralysis, and it is probable he will be sent to a hospital.
