Drowning victim found

ROBIN STEVENS
Editor

The family of 36-year-old Trency L. Allen has finally begun the long and difficult process of healing that can only begin after a loved one has been laid to rest.

The shock of Allen's death was made even more difficult when it took more than three days of intensive searching to recover his body.

Allen was duck hunting on Sunday, Jan. 7, when he fell out of his boat and drowned while trying to retrieve a duck from Lake Barkley.

His body was finally found at approximately 9:50 a.m. on Jan. 10.

Hunters in the area at the time of the accident were unable to locate Allen.

The search, which was continued by TVA Police and Trigg County DES, was made even more difficult by freezing temperatures and short daylight hours.

Also assisting in the search were Jefferson County Police Department's Dive Rescue Team; Kentucky Fish and Wildlife; Kentucky Water Patrol; Knight Fire and Rescue; Rita Tinsley, D.V.M. and "Bella."

Convicted former attorney Tim Futrell suffered a pair of recent setbacks and a cloud of Trigg County accusations still hovers over his head.

In the past few weeks Futrell, a Trigg County attorney, had a shock probation request refused and a probation request denied.

Futrell is in the Christian County jail serving his 2 1/2 year sentence. He will complete the sentence in May of 1997.

The Arrowhead Golf Course received its first official residents last month, but they won't have to worry about their golfing handicaps.

Moving in first to their "patio houses" which adjoin the green and fairway of the new golf course's 12th fairway were Elma Everett and Elizabeth Turner.

The Arrowhead development has 300 houses in the works, but the two ladies are the pioneers. Their houses measure 1,000 square feet.

Steve Oliver, one of the owners in the Arrowhead housing developments, said there are about four more houses scheduled for tenants during the next month.

Other houses in the golfing development will measure, 1,800 square feett, 2,400 and 3,000.

Oliver said the golf course will be open by the first of May, depending on the weather. If the weather cooperates, golfers might see action by as early as April.

The real pioneer of this new development is Everett, a former resident of New Jersey, who likes the peace and quiet of Cadiz and Trigg County.

"I feel like a pilgrim. We don't have any cable TV yet," said Everett.

Everett was the first to move in among the hustle and bustle of construction. She lived in Hopkinsville, but she was a

GOOD NEIGHBOR

George Radford

George Radford is steeped in Trigg County school tradition and history.

In one form or another, Radford has been with the school system for 36 years, first as a student, then a teacher, coach, administrator and now the assistant principal.

Radford is a leader in Genesis Express and is a deacon in the Cave Springs Baptist Church.

"Bryan Radford, come on down! You are the next contestant on The Price Is Right!"

The applause was so loud, the newlyweds could not hear the announcement.

Then Chris Radford saw his first and last name on the card held by the studio crewman and nudged his wife, Carletta Cunningham Radford.

"He was the very first contestant they called," Carletta said.

Chris and Carletta are two of Trigg County's very own. Chris, son of Agnes and George Radford, graduated from Trigg County High School in 1988. Carletta, daughter of Alene Cunningham, graduated a year later.

The high school sweethearts announced their honeymoon plans at their Nov. 25 wedding reception. While in Los Angeles, they planned to visit the CBS Studios and hopefully become contestants on The Price Is Right.

At the time, the idea seemed so far-fetched, no one really paid attention to the couple.

On their first day in Los Angeles, Nov. 27, the couple found themselves at the studio faced with the news they would probably have to wait until the 4 p.m. taping of the popular game show.

"In order to be selected for the 1 p.m. taping, we were to have been at the studio at 8 a.m.," Carletta said.

They hadn't arrived until 10 a.m.

"Spending five to six hours sitting around and waiting for something like that on your honeymoon is by no means enticing," Carletta said.

The studio audience only seats 320 people. To their surprise, Chris and Carletta were selected for the early taping.

See Hollywood, Page A-3

Chris and Carletta Radford never dreamed their honeymoon in California would be so profitable.

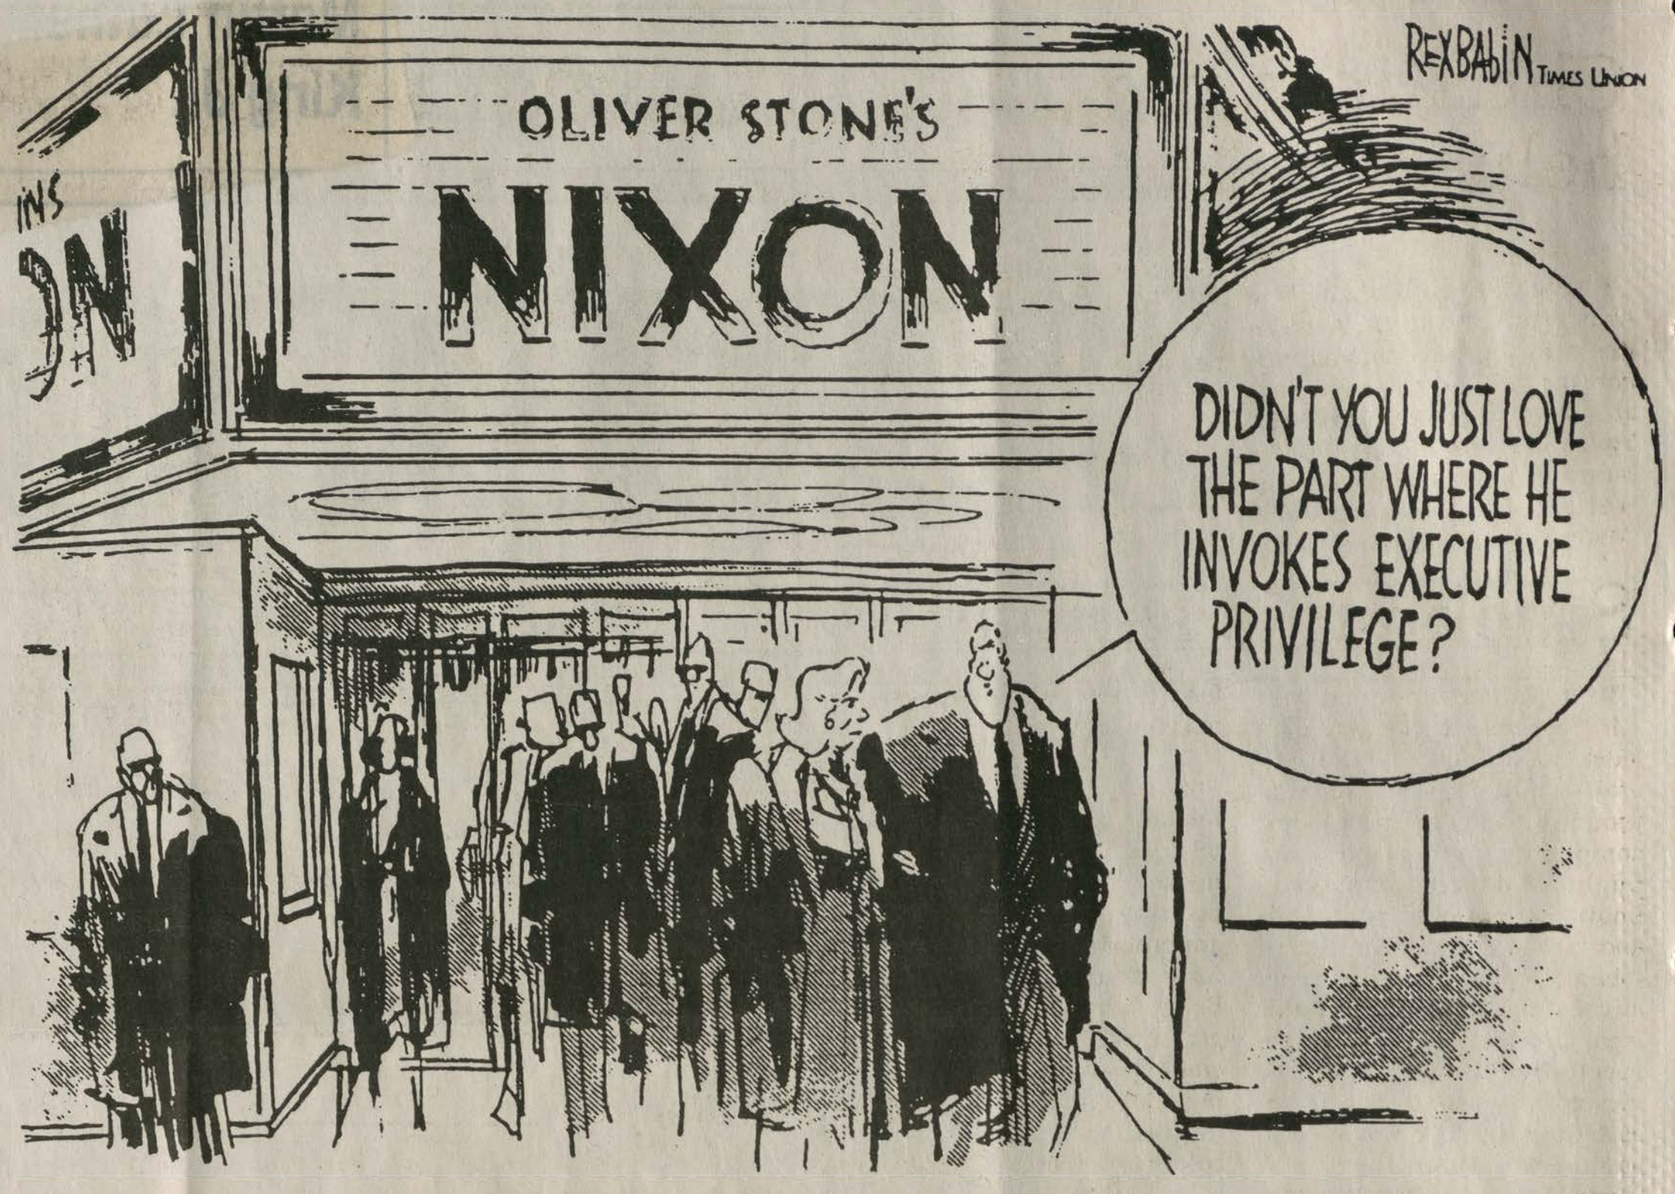
PERSPECTIVE



Discovered newspaper stirs up old memories

Just the other day

by Billy Rawls

William Page, of Hill-view Dr. — and formerly, Dry Creek— gave me temporary custody of an antique Cadiz Record that had been hidden away in a, likewise, antique ladies purse. That storage space, also, contained: old almanacs; WWII ration books; and other keepsakes. THAT Cadiz Record sparked my greatest interest.

It just happened to be an 1925 issue that the "Lawrence Brothers" may have invented when I was three years old, and going on four. Perhaps it was near the time when 'me'an' Charlie Hooks did our famous paint-job on 'Miz' Berta White's new 'Model-T' Ford.

Anyhow, pages one and two, and seven and eight were missing. I have no idea what the prime news of that issue was about. Maybe those missing four pages were important enough to be saved elsewhere, or maybe they were handy to make torches for lighting wood stoves and coal-oil lamps.

The following is only a little-dab of what the Lawrences considered noteworthy as of May 14, 1925. I have yet to read much of these rendered—and freshly machine-copied pages. There is little chance that you will ever get to know what else happened on that date. You may categorize the following under whatever head pleases you. Here are names of people that I once knew/or knew of: G. P. Thomas, Felix Wilkinson, Cleland White, Jr., Raymond Alexander and Dalton Allen (they were back in Cadiz after visiting New York City) —those boys got around; Guthrie Wallace, John S. Lawrence, Homer Perry came home from Louisville on account of the mumps; Hurley Gray, J. Locke Humphries, Frank T. Street and Frank, Jr.

Here is an ad that I had forgotten about: Metcalfe's Florist gave the dates and times they would display their flowers at Gracey, Cadiz, and Cerulean. When they came to Cadiz, there would be blooming beauties all over the walk in front of "J.W. Cowherd Co."

Here is an ad that makes me feel gypped: Roy "Shorty" Freeman once showed silent movies in a feed store on the South side of downtown Main St.—before I ever heard of "Fitch & Provo Shows." The first and only one that I remember seeing was about the "Little Dutch Boy of Flanders" who saved his nation by poking his finger in a hole of their dyke. Jackie Coogan played the hero. However, Roy's ad for "The Strand Theater" showed evidence of these movies—'picture shows'—"The Devil's Cargo" and "VIRTUOUS LIARS" that I did not get to see—even though the admission was only 10c and 25c.

This "Ford Motor Company" ad offered a NEW car for $260 at the "Garland Hooks Motor Co." Here are a few squibs that fit well with some of the above: "Talking pictures never became popular for the reason, no doubt, that the fellow sitting behind you always does it."—I must add that 'TV has now taken over.'

This one should be with the new car ad: "A lot of people have never learned that it is not always possible to have credit and an automobile at the same time."

They called it peer pressure

by Robin Stevens

© The Cadiz Record

They are 18 years old, and they have their whole lives ahead of them.

And they will spend what many people consider the best years of their lives in prison.

They are Frederick Morrow and Damien Darden of Guthrie, a little town in Kentucky not unlike Cadiz.

It took only four days in the courtroom to convict the two of the murder of Michael Westerman of Elkton in January 1994.

Morrow was the trigger man. He was only 17 at the time. One of his attorneys claimed he acted out of peer pressure.

"He felt peer pressure any 17-year-old might feel," the attorney said.

Peer pressure to kill? So many things are blamed on peer pressure — the way kids dress, smoking, drugs, alcohol — the list could go on forever. But murder?

I guess he thought that left him no choice but to fire four or five shots at Westerman's truck. I guess nobody taught him he always has a choice.

Even the saying "Nothing's certain in life but death and taxes" is not completely true. Death is certain, but everyone still has a choice of whether or not to pay taxes.

They just have to face the consequences if they choose not to pay them.

Morrow found that out about facing the consequences too late.

Our society has forgotten how to take responsibility for our actions. When something goes wrong, the first thing we do is lay the blame at someone else's feet.

It wasn't Morrow's fault he pulled the trigger. He was just holding the gun. The other people in the car made him do it.

Right?

I guess the jury didn't see it that way.

The racial implications of this trial may never be laid to rest. Westerman was flying a Rebel flag in the back of his truck. That and an alleged racial slur shouted from the moving truck supposedly incited the defendants to anger.

They forgot that the same constitution that guarantees their civil rights, which were won through such a long and hard battle, guarantees the right to freedom of expression — which includes racial slurs real or imagined and the flying of a rebel flag.

Morrow's mother reportedly lashed out at the trial judge and Westerman's family after she heard the verdicts. Of course she did. Who wouldn't? She is hurt and angry. Her baby boy was sentenced to prison. She has lost her son, too.

His aunt believes racism was involved, and I'm sure she's right. But if there was racism on one side of the incident, it was on both, which is a sad testimony to our society at a time so close to Martin Luther King Day.

But then, his aunt is angry and hurt, too.

And that's Frederick Morrow's fault as well. He is responsible — though not solely — for the death of Michael Westerman. He is responsible for the pain and anguish his own family is now going through.

As I was listening to the program at the Freedom March organized by Genesis Express on Monday, I began to wonder if something like that could ever happen in Trigg County. I hope not, but if we don't teach our children that they must take responsibility for their actions, then anything could be possible.

Martin Luther King Jr. said, "It's not how long a man lives but how well he uses the time allotted him." Maybe we should also remember that our children are ours to teach and nurture for such a short time. How well will we teach them in the time allotted to us?

Don't spit, speak ole' Barry's language

Dave's World

by Dave Berry

© The Miami Herald

It is time once again for Ask Mister Language Person, the award-winning column whose motto is: "People judge you by the way you talk, especially if you spit on them. " In this popular feature -- the only language column endorsed by both Hootie AND the Blowfish -- we answer your common questions about grammar, vocabulary, punctuation, entomology and the U.S. Tax Code.

Today, as is our custom, we will start with our first question, which is:

Q. How come you always refer to yourself in the plural?

A. We have a huge intestinal parasite.

Q. Should people who cannot grasp the difference between "it's" and "its" be allowed to vote?

A. No.

Q. What about people who say, "Between you and I"?

A. We favor execution without trial.

Q. Like most people, I would like to use the words "parameters" and "behoove" in the same sentence but I am not sure how.

A. According to the Oxford English Cambridge Dictionary of Big Words, the proper usage is: "Darlene, it frankly does not behoove a woman of your parameters to wear them stretch pants."

Q. As an attorney, I wish to know the correct legal way to say, "I don't know."

A. There is no legal way for an attorney to say this.

Q. Thank you.

A. That will be $400.

Q. What is the proper format for a formal wedding invitation?

A. A formal wedding invitation should come in a squarish envelope, inside which should be several increasingly small envelopes accompanied by some sheets of what appears to be Soviet Union toilet paper. Also there should be various cards on which all the numbers are spelled out, as in "at Four O'Clock on the Seventeenth of June, Nineteen Hundred Ninety Six" and Two Hundred Ninety Eight Horbour Oaks Manor Court Drive Terrace, Next To The Seven-Eleven." This information should be written in a high-class style of penmanship so difficult to read that many guests show up in the wrong state.

Q. What are those weird strings of letters that have started showing up everywhere in newspaper stories, advertisements, TV shows, etc., the ones that look like "http/www/clamsucker.doo.wah"?

A. Those are code instructions to Dan Rather from his home planet.

Q. Please quote, in its entirety, a Washington state news item from the Oct. 31 issue of USA Today, sent in by alert reader Mary Louise Flanneary. (cq)

A. Certainly: "TACOMA -- Fish and Wildlife Services scientists plan to kill about 40 stocky, black sea ducks called surf scoters (cq) around Commencement Bay to find out why their numbers are declining."

Q. How can the public assist Fish and Wildlife Services with this effort?

A. Presumably the public, if it sees any surf scoters while motoring, should run over them.

Q. Did the Nov. 5 issue of the Richmond Times-Dispatch run a help wanted advertisement seeking applicants for management positions with a national restaurant chain?

A. Yes.

Q. What, exactly, did the headline say?

A. It said, " JOIN IN THE GROWTH OF HOOTERS!"

Q. If you do a column consisting primarily of random comical news items sent in by alert readers, so you still get all the money?

A. Yes. Here are some more:

-- Bill Jackson sent in a news item from the Nov. 3 Kansas City Star, which begins: "A small fire blamed on flaming croutons damaged a south Kansas City restaurant early Thursday morning."

-- Nando Amabile sent in a photo caption from the Oct. 9 Las Cruces (N.M.) SunNews, which begins: "Conlee Elementary School students dissect sheep eyeballs during Family Fun Night."

-- Kevin Cox sent in a sports story from the Nov. 5 Indianapolis Star, which begins: "Quarterback Jim Harbaugh put his tender groin through a light workout Saturday."

Smoking is serious

To the Editor:

In response to the Jan. 10th letter regarding proposed federal regulations of tobacco products, the writer makes some compelling points about the plight of tobacco farmers. I know that many of my friends and family are involved in the tobacco economy, and I am not advocating prohibition of this legal product. Yet, I must respectfully disagree with the viewpoint that smoking is not as serious a public health issue as alcohol, guns, etc..

Smoking is the leading preventable cause of death in the United States. Each year, approximately 500,000 Americans die as a result of smoking. Most smokers I know want to quit and regret ever having started.

Most smokers started smoking as children or teens, but the cigarette companies expect us to buy their ridiculous assertion that they are marketing only adults. Most promotional items ("Smoking Joe Camel" comes to mind) seem strangely juvenile for a product that is supposedly reserved for grownups.

In my younger years, I experimented with various forms of tobacco. Thankfully, I never got hooked. I do not wish to inflict personal judgment on smokers; I am probably as addicted to caffeine as they are to nicotine. Being "preachy" on this issue gets one nowhere, and I am generally quite tolerant of smoking in social settings. Yet, I can not in good conscience ignore the cold hard fact that cigarettes kill.

I am not a parent, but I work with youth in several different capacities. Parents can and should do a great deal to educate children about smoking, but only government can regulate the sleazy way that cigarette companies target children. This letter will not win me any local popularity contest, but I care enough about young hearts and lungs to take such a risk.

Sincerely,
Philip Wallace

"I'll never forget it. We were numbers 315 and 316. We barely made it," she said.

They never really thought their luck would be good enough to land one of them a spot on "Contestant's Row."

Once on Contestants Row, Chris had to correctly bid on selected items to actually be a contestant on stage. Out of four contestants, he didn't make it on his first try.

Or his second.

"It was a finger-nail biting experience," Carletta said.

On his third try, Chris successfully bid on a $1,600 necklace.

He found himself face-to-face with Bob Barker.

His game on stage was the Punchboard Game, one in which you get up to four chances to punch out a hole in a large board and pull out a slip of paper. Different amounts of money are printed on each slip.

"Once you draw out an amount, you can either keep it or put it back," Carletta said. "If you put it back, you have to keep the amount you draw later."

On his first try at the Punchboard, Chris pulled out $5,000.

The audience went wild.

Bob Barker asked Chris — using his first name, Bryan — what he wanted to do next.

Would he keep the money or give it up and try for even more.

Bob asked Chris what his wife would want him to do.

"Keep it!" Carletta yelled.

The audience agreed.

Chris knew there were bigger amounts of money to be won. But he also knew that he could lose the $5,000 and go away empty-handed.

The decision was a tough one.

"He put it back!" Carletta said, her voice still reflecting her disbelief even after 1-1/2 months.

"Bryan, I've never had anyone tell me to put back $5,000," Bob said.

But he did it anyway.

"After he put back the $5,000, the audience told him to pick a corner pocket," Carletta said. "So he punched the top corner and pulled out $10,000!"

Chris was a big winner on one of America's longest-running game shows. His chance at the Wheel to compete on the Showcase Showdown was not as fruitful. But at that point, Chris and Carletta were both so excited that it didn't matter.

Their experience is one they will no doubt re-live again and again as they recount their adventure for friends and family.

"News travels fast," Carletta said. "By the time we got back, people had already heard."

Although Chris and Carletta are now living in Louisville, this will always be home. Trigg Countians will want to make a point to set their VCRs for the show which will air on Jan. 26 on CBS.

long-time New Jersey resident, only 45 minutes from New York City.

The move to Kentucky was so Everettt could be close to her daughter, Elyse Wanke, a Trigg County resident, and her family.

Although she's not a golfer, Everett is going to make good use of the 12th hole, which she oversees from her back window.

An accomplished amateur artist, Everett plans to complete a painting of her neighbor, the 12th hole.

"The different greens should be really vivid," said Everett.

Her neighbor, Turner is not a golfer either, but she likes the small size of this "patio" neighborhood on Osage Drive.

"My house and yard were becoming too big. I liked to work in the yard, but I can't do that anymore," said Turner.

When Turner, a resident of Cadiz, moved into the new golfing neighborhood, she found a lot of interested friends who came out to take a peek at this interesting development.

The third person coming into the neighborhood, well-known organist Mae Perdue, will certainly add a new taste to the neighborhood.

That would be a taste of music since Purdue plans to fill the air over the greens with the sound of good music.

The golf course is starting to fill up even though a single golf ball has yet to be sliced into the bushes.

EXERCISE, EXERCISE, EXERCISE

Let's see...it's the third week of the year...now what were those New Year's resolutions? Someone has observed that the second day of January is the day that we discover it's easier to break a resolution than an old habit. Perhaps you're one of the many that included in your resolutions this year, the intention to exercise more and eat less. Have you noticed how this topic has become a hot issue recently on TV and in other media? All this emphasis on exercise and diet, brings to mind a statement by Paul; "For bodily exercise profiteth little" (I Tim. 4:8). WAIT! Don't move your exercise equipment into storage yet! Paul wasn't saying that exercise had no value whatsoever, but as one version translates, "for bodily exercise is profitable for a little" (ASV). Bodily exercise is of some value. As one older gentleman suggested, "not so much because it gives more quantity to life but because it may improve the quality of life." Paul's point, however, is that relatively speaking, the exercise of the spirit is of far more value than that of the body. He wrote, "exercise thyself rather unto godliness. For bodily exercise profiteth little: but godliness is profitable unto all things having promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come" (I Tim. 4:7, 8). Why is exercising thyself unto godliness of far more value? One may indeed improve the quality and even the quantity of this life but cannot escape death (Heb. 9:27). However, exercising unto godliness insures one of a life without end in perfect bliss and happiness rather than pure misery and endless sorrow.

So what is "godliness"? The Greek word literally means, "worship rightly directed." It involves both an attitude of reverence for God and the corresponding lifestyle. One writer defined it as "the respect for God's will and the moral way of life which are inseparable from the proper religious attitude to God" (Baucham, Word Biblical Commentary on Second Peter). As with the physical, obtaining that perfect spiritual physique takes diligence (II Pet. 1:10) and discipline. (I Cor. 9:25-27), or as Paul would say, that we "labour and strive" (I Tim. 4:10, ASV). One may wonder if all that physical exercise is really worth it, but all that spiritual effort is a sure thing. As you do those push-ups, jog around the track, and lift those weights, don't forget to exercise yourself unto godliness.

The DREAM LIVES ON...

ROBIN STEVENS
Editor

Martin Luther King Jr. had a dream.

The speech in which he shared that dream is perhaps one of the most famous speeches ever made. But he wasn't the only one with that dream.

Men, women and children all over the world share the dream of equality.

The men of Genesis Express, Inc., are carrying on that dream in Trigg County. They have begun what will surely become a tradition on Martin Luther King Day.

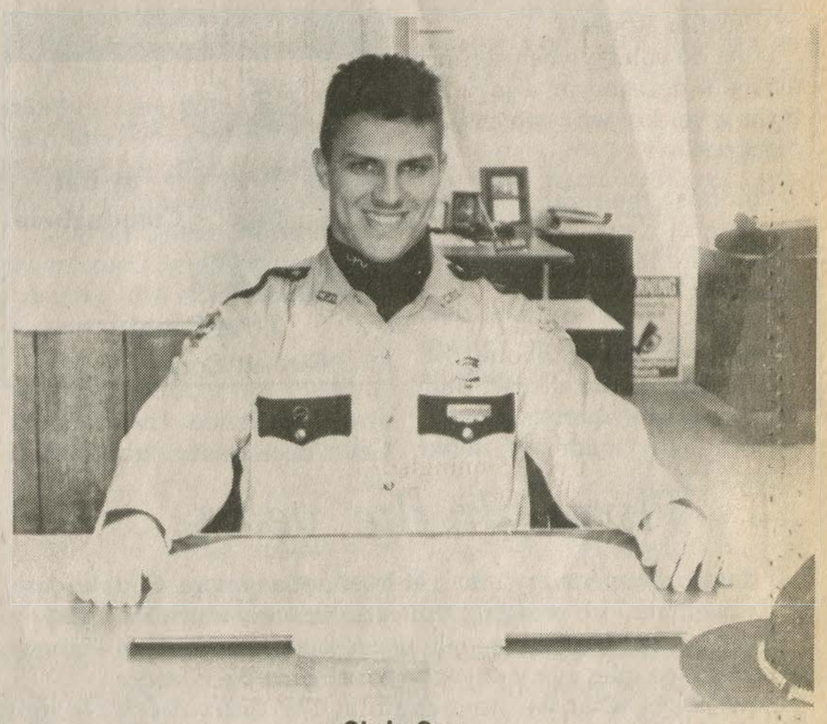
On the day set aside to commemorate the contributions of Martin Luther King Jr., a good crowd turned out for Genesis Express' first Freedom March despite the chilling winds.

A brief program preceded the March, which was confined to the track at Perdue Stadium by program organizers. Future marches may be held at more visible locations thanks to the full cooperation of the Cadiz Police Department.

Speakers for the event included Berlin Moore Jr., county judge executive; Police Chief Ray White; Bro. Tom Martin of

See March, Page A-7

Local citizens got a chance to "Walk a Mile for Martin" on Monday during a Freedom March commemorating the birth of Martin Luther King Jr. George Radford and Bobby Acree were two of the featured speakers. Most of those who attended the program participated in a one mile march led by the Revs. Jerry Bacon and Tom Martin.



Chris Cox

City's new officer was willing to 'pay' for job

SCOTT BURNSIDE
Staff Writer

Chris Cox had a good advertisement going for him when the Cadiz Police Department was looking for a new police officer.

He was so eager to become a police officer Cox was willing to take on his education at Eastern Kentucky University for free.

Cox was in the process of becoming a reservist police officer. His background had been cleared and Cox told police officials he would pay for his way through the police academy by working weekends.

Enter fate and providence.

Sgt. Ricky Pidcock suddenly left the police force and with Cox, Police Chief Ray White had an officer well on his way down the paperwork trail.

"I've always wanted to do it (become a police officer)," said Cox, who was laying floors and starting his own family when the police job became open.

"I liked it ever since I was a little boy," said Cox, who at 21 will be the youngest police officer on the seven-person police department.

Cox grew up in Canton and is a native of Trigg County. He wants to pay his community back for his safe childhood and comfortable atmosphere.

"I want to put something back in the community. I've always looked at Trigg County and Cadiz as a safe place to be," said Cox.

"Cadiz doesn't have as much crime and I want to help keep it that way," Cox said.

Cox is riding the streets in the daytime with field training officer Sgt. Duncan Wiggins.

He's getting a look at his dream face-to-face. So far it hasn't been a deterrent to his life-long dream.

"It's not the romance like you see on TV, but I didn't expect the romance," said Cox.

IT'S ON THE RECORD

WHAT CAN A PULMONOLOGIST TREAT FOR YOU?

Chronic Cough: A cough that has been present for a month or more is classified as a chronic cough. The cough is not a disease in itself, it is a symptom that something is wrong with the breathing system. The most likely causes of chronic cough are: lung cancer, bronchitis, bronchiectasis, tuberculosis and other lung diseases.

Emphysema: Emphysema is a condition in which there is over-inflation of structures in the lungs known as alveoli or air sacs. This over-inflation results from a breakdown of the walls of the alveoli, which causes a decrease in the way lungs work. Early symptoms include shortness of breath and cough.

Lung Cancer: Lung cancer is a disease marked by the uncontrolled growth of abnormal cells in the lungs. The abnormal cells may no longer do the work of normal cells, and they crowd out and destroy healthy tissue. Lung cancer is primarily caused by smoking. Symptoms of lung cancer include chronic cough, coughing up blood, wheezing, and chest pain.

Asthma: Asthma is a chronic, uncurable condition characterized by painful wheezing, coughing, and shortness of breath. Important tactics to take control of asthma include eating an adequate diet, taking prescribed medication, regular exercise, getting adequate rest, and finding a comfortable climate. While asthma cannot be cured, it can be managed.

Court of Appeals important step in appealing decisions

"Court of Appeals"

What do you do when a court makes a decision or a jury returns a verdict with which you disagree?

You have the right to appeal to a higher court.

What are the higher courts in Kentucky?

We have talked about the trial courts of the district and Circuit Court where decisions are originally made. We have also mentioned that District Court decisions are appealed to the Circuit Court.

But what court reviews the decisions made by the Circuit Court?

In Kentucky, our constitution states that, "In all cases, civil and criminal, there shall be allowed as a matter of right at least one appeal to another court . . ."

Therefore, if you do not like the decision made by District Court, you may appeal to Circuit Court. If you do not like a verdict or an original decision made by Circuit Court, you may appeal it to the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals is the first Appellate Court in Kentucky which deals solely with appellate matters. (Remember the Circuit Court tries original cases but also hears appeals from District Court.) The Court of Appeals in Kentucky consists of fourteen judges which are selected from various districts throughout the commonwealth. This number can be changed from time to time by the General Assembly. These fourteen judges are divided into panels of not less than three judges which go around the state listening to the various appeals from Circuit Court.

There is something very important to remember about Appellate Courts. They are restricted to reviewing the evidence as presented at the lower court. In other words, they do not hear new or additional evidence. If it doesn't get in in the lower trial, then it is not considered on appeal.

Basically, the Court of Appeals will read briefs submitted by the lawyers and in many instances, hear oral arguments as to why the lower court decision was right or wrong. It takes two out of three of the judges on the three judge panel to either affirm the lower court decision or reverse it.

Sometimes an Appellate Court will affirm a lower court decision in part and reverse it in part. For instance, in our criminal trials, we have a two stage process in Circuit Court. First the jury must determine guilt or innocence. If there is a determination of guilt, the second stage of the trial deals only with sentencing. The Appellate Court may find that there was no error in the guilt or innocence stage, but that there was error in the sentencing stage. They can therefore affirm the conviction but remand it back for a new sentencing hearing.

The same way with civil cases. The Court of Appeals may affirm a finding of liability in an automobile wreck, but send the case back for retrial on damages for some reason.

Two Court of Appeals judges are elected from each district, and serve a term of eight years.

Through the years...

It doesn't happen very often, at least not anymore. Couples just don't celebrate 75th wedding anniversaries very much these days.

When it does happen, people usually take notice. Paul Harvey recognizes couples every day who have "gone the distance."

Now, that's what we want to do at The Cadiz Record. If you know of a couple — your parents, grandparents or next-door neighbors — who deserves to be recognized for their long-lasting marriage (at least 50 years), we want to know about it.

Submissions should be received no later than Feb. 1.

Please send your submissions to: Golden Anniversaries, The Cadiz Record, P.O. Box 311, Cadiz, KY 42211. You should include their names, a phone number at which they can be reached, a photo if possible, and a brief history (wedding date and/or number of years married, maiden names, names of children, etc.).

Photos can be returned if a self-addressed stamped envelope is enclosed, or they may be picked up at The Cadiz Record office after Feb. 16.

Kids Say The Funniest Things

From the mouths of babes often come things so funny you just have to share them with everyone you meet. Well, now is your chance to share them with thousands of readers.

This year the Baby Brag Book will have a new feature. In addition to publishing baby pictures, we want to include the funny things your kids say and do.

You can send as many submissions as you like, but please remember we may not be able to use all submissions. Please try to keep your funny stories close to 75 words or less.

Submissions must be received no later than January 26, 1996. Please send them to: Funny Kids, The Cadiz Record, P.O. Box 311, Cadiz, KY 42211.

The Cadiz Record reserves the right to edit for space.

Cox, his family and most of his friends are supportive of his new career.

"There are a few of them that are a little nervous around me now," admits Cox, who says he wouldn't have any problem giving a ticket to a relative.

"If they are breaking the law they need to be given a ticket," pointed out Cox.

Cox won't have to pay for his Police Academy spot now. He'll probably make the usual trek to Richmond in March.

Card of Thanks

We appreciate so much the kindness and consideration of so many of you during the lengthy illness that led to the death of our beloved James Thomas Weaver on December 27, 1995. Dear friends and loving neighbors from Trigg and Christian Counties and our Cadiz community helped so much. It is impossible to list everyone by name, or to thank all of you in person, but you brought such a good feeling to all his family. Let us at least cite the following: the Cadiz Church of Christ; the health care professionals from St. Thomas Hospital of Nashville; E.C. Green Cancer Center in Hopkinsville; Lifeline and the hospice workers; and the nurses and staff of Trigg County Hospital who were all so good and showed so much love and human care as well as professional concern. We thank especially Dr. William Anderson for that love and concern, for treating our dear one as one of his own family, and for "doing unto another as Ye would be done unto." Friends and neighbors, you have touched our family with your bountiful love for this dear one who showed us all what it is to be a Christian man. We thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

From the Family of James T. Weaver and Mrs. Janie Weaver Palmer Family

Tisdale deploys to Kuwait

Army Staff Sgt. Daniel V. Tisdale has deployed on a 6 month training exercise termed Intrinsic Action at Camp Doha, Kuwait. The soldier is part of the 1,500 member Task Force 1-5 Black Knights from Fort Hood, Texas.

The mission of Intrinsic Action is to demonstrate the U.S. commitment to the security and stability in Kuwait and the Persian Gulf region at the time when Saddam Hussein mobilized Iraqi troops along the Kuwaiti border. The task force exercise prepares and ensures that the soldiers, armament, munitions, equipment and supplies are in top combat operational readiness status so as to establish a deterrence to any further Iraqi aggression in that region.

Some of the participants in the exercise include 1,500 U.S. Army soldiers, 1,100 ITT Corporation employees who maintain the combat readiness of a heavy armor brigade, and Kuwaiti Army troops.

The training exercise allows the task force to closely synchronize all battlefield operating systems, including artillerymen, engineers, infantryman and all other units which work together to accomplish their individual missions.

Tisdale, a section supervisor, is the son of Velma D. Carter of 504 Nelson Drive, Opp, Ala.

His wife, Donna, is the daughter of Lenard M. and Linda S. Robb of 14008 South Road, Cadiz, Ky.

General Manager Jan Witty and Circulation Manager Lori Ford of The Cadiz Record presented a check for $244 last week to Police Chief Ray White to support the D.A.R.E. program. A portion of the price of each subscription sold during a subscription drive was given to the program. Thanks to all who participated.

Cadiz Christian Church; the Rev. Jerry Bacon of Pleasant Hill Baptist Church; and Genesis Express members Bobby Acree and George Radford.

In remembering the contributions of King, both Berlin Moore and Ray White praised Genesis Express for their efforts to help the youth of our county.

"Martin Luther King would have stood here today and applauded the efforts of Genesis Express," Moore said.

"What these gentlemen do with the youth in our county is outstanding," White said. "They're good role models, and we all need to be good role models."

Bro. Tom Martin stressed that we should all work together to continue the work for which King lived and died.

"Martin Luther King said every person can be great because every person can serve," Martin said. "It's imperative for all of us to serve one another."

The Rev. Jerry Bacon added that work must continue to fulfill the dream of King.

"It is our dream as well," he said. "And this is our hope, our faith, our part of the dream — to improve our county and our community."

Bacon closed with scripture from 1 John 4:6-11.

"The Star Spangled Banner" and "Lift Every Voice and Sing," the National Negro Hymn, were also included in the program.

Long chase nabs driver on charges

Following an 11-mile car chase on Jan. 12, police were able to stop an Indiana man in Canton.

According to a state police report, State Police Trooper Nathan Kent spotted a vehicle driven by Kiho Byun, 32, of Oakland City, Ind., driving erratically on U.S. 68/80.

Kent's report said Byun was seen as he crossed the center line and fog line while traveling west.

Byun was stopped in Canton after police used a rolling road block. Other departments responding were the Trigg County Sheriff's Department and the TVA police.

The Indiana driver was charged with attempting to elude police officers and reckless driving.

Elsewhere, Trigg County Sheriff Randy Clark is investigating the theft of a radar detector and other items worth $90 from the truck of Jerry W. McGraw on the Cerulean Road.

McGraw reported the items were stolen from his truck on Jan. 9 while it was parked in his driveway.

On Jan. 14, City Police Officer John P. Moore arrested Joc D. Ware, 22, of Hopkinsville for drunk driving.

Ware was stopped on Main Street at the Cadiz United Methodist Church. He was also charged with using expired plates.

A blood sample was taken from Ware at the Trigg County Hospital.

jury on July 3 concerning charges of felony theft and forgery. After these convictions Futrell lost his attorney's license.

Futrell is serving his time in the Christian County jail because of a state program which prevents non-violent, Class D felony prisoners from being sent to the state penitentiary.

Charges facing Futrell, which were filed by a Trigg County grand jury in July 1991, include five counts of theft by failure to make required disposition of property over $100 and seven counts of second-degree criminal possession of a forged instrument.

Receiving a flood of supportive letters on Futrell, the Parole Board at first recommended parole for the attorney with offices in Cadiz and Hopkinsville.

However, a state parole board official was quoted as saying the board didn't know about the Trigg County charges. The parole recommendation was refused.

Trigg County Circuit Court Clerk Pat Wallace said her office is waiting for a trial date.

BUSINESS

New book publicizes ways to aid finances

Following two years of steady money-supply tightening, the Federal Reserve Board recently lowered a key interest rate, signaling that economists have replaced inflation as their No. 1 concern with that of a growing threat of recession.

Are consumers prepared for more difficult economic times? "A recordbreaking Dow, continuing high confidence levels and an ongoing expansion in consumer credit would indicate they probably are not," says Robert Heady, publisher of "The Bank Rate Monitor."

A new book co-authored by Robert Heady and Christy Heady, a syndicated financial journalist, discusses ways consumers can optimize their financial position in any kind of economic environment. "The Complete Idiot's Guide to Managing Your Money" is an ideal sourcebook to help consumers get their financial house in order now while the economy remains solid and their money-management flexibility remains high. The book contains a number of money-management tips, including:

• Pay yourself first—Write yourself out a check or have an amount electronically withdrawn from your bank account into an investment.

• Shop around for your bank— Avoid banks and thrifts that nickel-and-dime their customers by slapping fees on everything from talking to a teller on the phone to making a transaction on a rival ATM.

• Dollar cost average your way to wealth—Dollar cost averaging simply is investing a fixed amount of money on a regular basis into an investment, like a mutual fund or dividend-reinvestment plan. By investing with this self-disciplined financial strategy, you can slowly reach your long-term financial objectives.

• Invest as much as you can in a tax-deferred retirement account— By sheltering your investments from Uncle Sam until you retire, you can earn more in a tax-deferred account than a taxable account.

• Know how your credit applications are scored—This is one of the biggest secrets of the personal-finance world. The book explains the types of credit applications and who makes the grade on the basis of certain criteria.

The book clearly and concisely answers timely questions, like when to consider refinancing a high-interest fixed- or variable-rate mortgage, buying versus leasing an automobile, and identifying where to invest to protect your money while capturing growth at reasonable risk.

Published by Macmillan USA, the book sells for $16.99.

In 1972, Elwood and Clara Crisp along with son, Mike, opened Crisp Furniture and Appliances in an old hotel in downtown Cadiz with 18,000 sq. feet of furniture, appliances and electronics. As the business continued to grow the staff added June Knight and Todd Crisp, Mike's son, in the early eighty's.

In 1987, Crisp Furniture moved to 344 Main Street in East Cadiz, opening a new 12,000 sq. ft. showroom and added another showroom the same size the next year. In 1990, they added a warehouse next to the store after selling the building downtown. Two more of Mike's sons, Jason and Jon, joined the force, along with Todd's wife, Gayla. In 1993 a jewelry department was added. In 1995, Crisp Furniture opened a Broyhill Showcase Gallery.

Crisp Furniture carries a wide selection of furniture, appliances, electronics and fine jewelry, featuring brand names including Broyhill, Lane, Sealy, Sumter, Restonic, Whirlpool, Klaussmer, and many more. They feature many different styles and many different price points to fit any budget including 36 months to pay and 90 days same as cash.

Many things have changed since 1972, but at least one thing remains the same. Crisp Furniture believes that the customer is the most important person in their business. They believed it in 1972 and still do today. Their commitment is to give the people the best prices, the best service, and the best value they can find anywhere. They say, "Do this, do it everyday and people will keep on coming back," and they have.

Crisp Furniture Company appreciates all the business that's been given to them in the past and for those who haven't been in, stop in and have a look around and enjoy a hassle-free experience.

At Crisp Furniture, they believe you'll love the way they do business.

Sumner and Fourqurean wed in Candlelight Ceremony

East Cadiz Baptist Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Tamara Lynn Sumner and Mr. John Perry Fourqurean, Jr. on Saturday, Dec. 9, 1995, at half past six in the evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill H. Sumner of Cadiz. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Shemwell of Cadiz. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bayliss Sumner of Cadiz.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Perry Fourqurean of Cadiz. Maternal grandparents are Ms. Evelyn Dotson Newman of Owensboro and the late Mr. John F. Newman, Jr. of Owensboro. Paternal grandparents are Mr. John William Fourqurean of Gracey and the late Mrs. Corine Pace Fourqurean.

The Ceremony

The Reverend Harold Rose officiated the double-ring ceremony. Dr. William Rowlett said a special prayer after the wedding vows were exchanged. Nuptial music was provided by Mr. Clarence King of Cadiz, organist; Mr. Scott Mitchell of Princeton, pianist; and Mr. Ben Bruce of Cadiz, trumpet. Vocal selections for the ceremony, which included "Theme from Ice Castle," "The Rose," "In His Presence," "Holy Ground," and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Mrs. Jean Gross of Paducah.

For the evening ceremony, the focal point of the altar was a columnade decorated with large arrangements of fresh spider mums, proteas, ivory roses, and ivory and burgundy snapdragons. Sprengeri was cascading down the columns. There were two additional columns adjacent to the columnade that were decorated to accent the columnade. Two spiral candelabra stood on each side of the columnade.

The pews were decorated with hurricane lanterns which were decorated with tulle, spider mums, sprengeri, ivory and burgundy snapdragons and tied with burgundy bows.

The vestibule was decorated with gold lamé and a white wreath displaying gold snow ball blossoms, gold beads and white, ivory and gold ribbon. The windows were decorated with hurricane lamps. The guest register table was draped with a white Battenburg lace tablecloth. An antique candelabrum with ivy and burgundy candles accented the table with an angel and a photograph of the couple. The guest register was kept by Mrs. Ramelle Pigue Pyle and Mrs. Julie Lawrence, both of Bowling Green.

The Bride

The bride, blessed by her parents and escorted by her father, chose a formal pure silk candlelight gown. Her fitted bodice featured a sweetheart neckline outlined in an iridescent crystal beaded trim edged in pearls. Matching trim outlined the deep v'd waist in front and back. Large crystal motifs trimmed in pearls adorned the bodice front. Long straight sleeves formed deep pointed molds at her wrists. Crystal trimming finished the cuffs which were complimented with motifs cascading from the elbow. A designed portrait diamond accented the back view of the gown. The same iridescent crystal beaded trim flowed around the diamond, displaying the bride's back. The finishing touch was a double silk fabric bow fashioned at the back of the waist and the train fell to a chapel length.

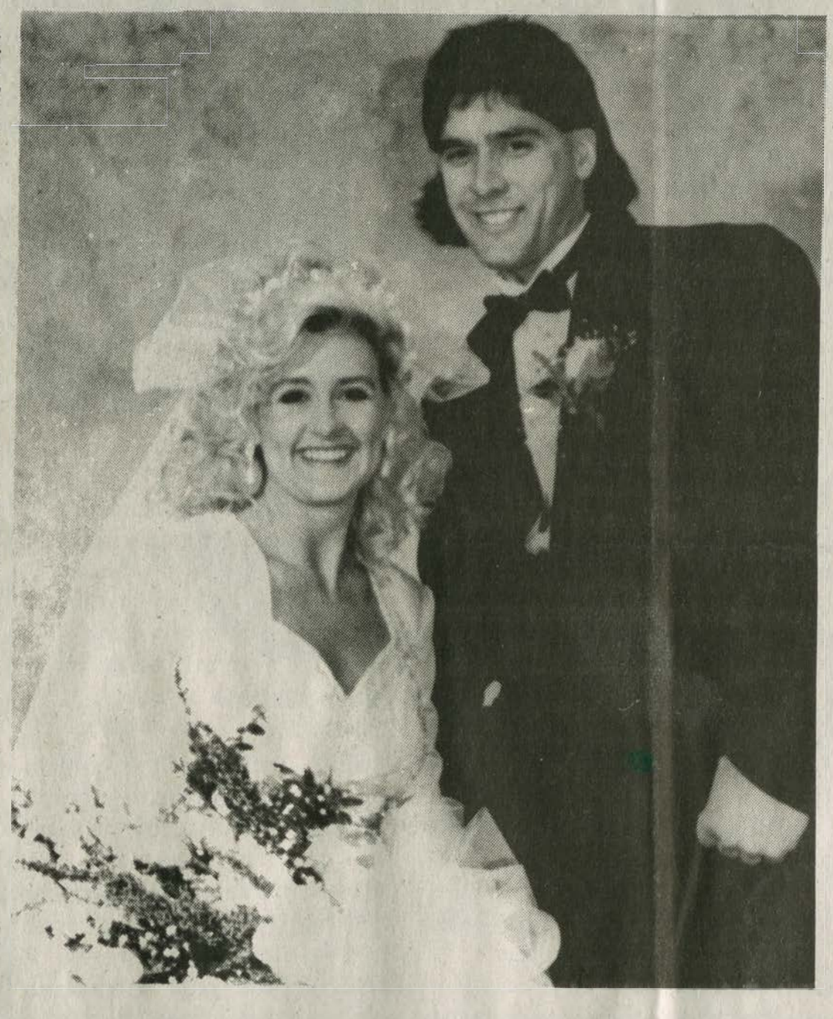
Her two-tiered veil of candlelight bridal illusion was secured to a halo of satin rosettes and pearl sprays. A gathered puff of bridal illusion finished the back and it fell to the bride's fingertips.

The bride carried a white and ivory arm bouquet of roses, baby's breath, and snapdragons with a touch of lavender heather. The bouquet was bound with a gold and ivory iridescent ribbon entwined with ivory tulle.

The bride carried her maternal great-grandmother's handkerchief and wore her wedding ring as something old. Something new was the bride's dress. Something borrowed was a charm bracelet from her mother that had her baby ring displayed. Something blue was her garter given to her by Mrs. Mary Ann Fourqurean, the groom's mother. For good luck, she put a new 1995 penny in her shoe that was given to her by Mrs. Lea Ann Lawrence and Ms. Beth Jackson.

The Attendants

The bride chose Mrs. Lea Ann Sanderson Lawrence of Lexington as her matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Donna Murphy Beane of Bowling Green, Mrs. Liz Fourqurean Hobgood of Owensboro, Mrs. Christi Ryan Turner of Louisville, Mrs. Drue Belcher Walker of Bowling Green, Mrs. Beth Stagner Sumner of Cadiz, Miss Beth Jackson of Fordsville, and Mrs. Heather Breeding Rogers of Bowling Green.



Mr. and Mrs. John Perry Fourqurean, Jr.

Each attendant wore a formal gown of burgundy velvet featuring long straight skirts. The fitted bodice featured an off-the-shoulder portrait draped neckline that was attached with a rhinestone pin. The skirt was emphasized in the front with an above the knee slit. Each girl had matching velvet gloves that extended to the elbow and burgundy velvet shoes to match. Each girl wore rhinestone earrings that were a gift of the bride.

They carried bouquets of white baby's breath with a touch of lavender heather encircled with loosely tied ivory tulle.

The flower girl was Miss Ann Michael Hobgood, niece of the bridegroom and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hobgood. She wore an ivory Victorian lace tea-length dress with a princess seamed bodice. Long puffed sleeves closed with pearl button cuffs and a bow sash. There were two honorary flower girls: Miss Natalie Hobgood, niece of the bridegroom and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hobgood and Miss Elli Fourqurean, niece of the bridegroom and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Fourqurean. They were dressed identical to the flower girl with the addition of matching pantaloons.

Ann Michael wore a barrette of baby's breath in her hair. She carried a sway of Christmas garland that was decorated with baby's breath, heather and tulle, which matched the bridesmaids. Upon entering the church, rose petals were place in the garland. As she walked down the aisle, she gently shook the garland and the rose petals fell.

The Bridegroom

The groom chose his brother, Mr. David Fourqurean of Gracey to be his best man. Groomsmen were his father, Mr. John Fourqurean of Cadiz, his grandfather, Mr. John William Fourqurean of Gracey, his brother-in-law, Michael Hobgood of Owensboro, his uncle, Dr. Mark Newman of Durham, North Carolina; and the brides brother, Mr. John Sumner of Cadiz. The ring bearer was Master John David Fourqurean, nephew of the bridegroom and son of Mr. and Mrs. David Fourqurean.

The honor of usher was given to Mr. Eddie Beane of Bowling Green along with the groomsmen.

The wedding was coordinated by Mrs. Lucy Helen Miller and Mrs. Joyce Bozarth, both of Cadiz. Mr. David Carter of Cadiz controlled the audio equipment during the ceremony.

The Reception

The reception was hosted by the bride's parents in the fellowship hall of the church immediately following the ceremony. The fellowship hall was decorated with colorful fresh flowers of spider mums, ivory and oceana roses, burgundy and ivory snapdragons, proteas, sprengeri and additional greenery in large white and gold vases. There were also pots of ferns, ficus trees and poinsettias displayed between the columns and around the fountain. The focal point was the bride's cake, displayed in a black and gold bird bath. The four-tiered cake had a basket weave frosting and was adorned with fresh flowers, baby's breath, greenery and gold tipped leaves. Between the third and fourth tier, there were four columns with fresh flowers cascading down and around the cake. Two gold birds highlighted the cake to symbolize the uniqueness. The groom's cake and table was centered with a two-tiered chocolate basket weave cake with frosted grapes and greenery. The punch and coffee was served in a silver fountain and coffee urn on each side of the groom's cake.

The hors d'oeuvres were on the opposite side of the room. There were a variety of hors d'oeuvres, fresh fruit and vegetables which were placed in one of the bride's gold leaf mirrors. Each of the tables displayed an urn or a woman with an urn of fresh flowers. The tables had gold lamé and mirrors to set the romantic mood. Fruited tea was served with the hors d'oeuvres.

Each guest table was decorated with a long burgundy ribbon down the length of the table and a white column with a votive candle and fresh floral arrangements accented the center of the table.

Piano music was softly played at the reception by pianists Mr. Scott Mitchell and Mr. Clarence King.

Assisting at the reception was Mrs. Kerri Lynne Thomas Stewart of Cerulean, Mrs. Angela Litchfield Thomas of Cadiz, Mrs. Teresa Calhoun Birdsong of Cadiz, Ms. Sonya Caldwell of Hopkinsville, and Mrs. Michelle Wallace of Evansville.

The bride made topiary trees to display the bird seed bags which were made out of gold lamé and were placed at the door as the guests were leaving. Rice bags were distributed by Miss Rachael Diuguid, cousin of the bride and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Diuguid, Miss Lynzee Birdsong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lance Birdsong of Cadiz; and Miss Ann Michael Hobgood, niece of the bridegroom and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hobgood.

Following a seven day Southern Caribbean Cruise visiting the islands of Barbados, Mayreau, Martinique, St. Croix, and St. Thomas, the couple will reside in Cadiz. The bride is employed by Merck Pharmaceuticals. The groom is the manager of Central Tractor of Hopkinsville.

Prenuptial Events

A bridal luncheon was hosted by Mrs. Julie Lawrence, Mrs. Ramelle Pigue Pyle, Mrs. Donna Murphy Beane, Mrs. Drue Belcher Walker and Mrs. Heather Breeding Rogers at Mr. and Mrs. Brad Lawrence's home.

A gift reception was given by Mrs. Marty Craig, Mrs. Leslie Fourqurean, and Mrs. Liz Hobgood at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hobgood.

A personal shower was hosted by Mrs. Wanda Thomas at the Kentucky Smoke House.

A bridesmaid luncheon was given by Mrs. Louise Sanderson and Mrs. Lea Anne Lawrence at the banquet room of Bartholomew's.

A gift reception was hosted by Mrs. Debbie Fuller, Mrs. Rhonda P'Pool, and Mrs. Melanie Green and the Baptist Young Women of East Cadiz Baptist at the home of Mrs. Rhonda P'Pool.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. John Fourqurean, parents of the groom, at Lake Barkley State Park in Cadiz.

Pryor and East United in Holy Matrimony on Dec. 9

Anne Creamer Pryor, Hopkinsville, and David Wayne East, Hopkinsville, were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony at 6 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 9, 1995 at Second Baptist Church in Hopkinsville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hulan Pryor, Hopkinsville. She is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Walton Pryor and the late Mr. and Mrs. Felix Grasty Creamer.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Wayne East, Hopkinsville, and the grandson of Mrs. Destelle Lancaster, Cerulean, the late Mr. Garnett Lancaster and the late Mr. and Mrs. Ed East.

The Ceremony

Dr. Robert L. Coons, Lebanon, cousin of the bridegroom, officiated the double ring ceremony. Bro. Kent Workman assisted with a prayer. Nuptial music was provided by Mr. Charles R. Jackson, organist, of Hopkinsville. Christmas music was played while guests were being seated.

Vocalists were Mr. Dale Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wilson, all of Hopkinsville. Selections included "Silent Night" by Gruber-Mohr, "Ava Marie" by Bach-Gound, "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach, "There Is Love" Tradition, and "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte.

"Trumpet Voluntary" by Clarke, "Cannon in D" by Pachelbel, and "Bridal March" by Wagner were used for the processional. The recessional was "Trumpet Tune" by Purcell.

The focal point of the altar was a 15-branch brass candelabrum flanked by two 7-branch candelabra ending in spirals. Magnolia foliage and gold ribbon were used on the candelabra. Two tree candelabra were used in front of the organ and piano. Clusters of red poinsettias surrounded all of the candelabra.

Garland swags were used on each side of the altar with wreaths and white Christmas lights. The foyer of the church was decorated with red poinsettias and a Christmas tree decorated in gold and ivory where wedding gifts were placed. The table for the guest registry was accented with red poinsettias.

Family pews were marked with gold ribbon and magnolia foliage.

The Bride

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a couture gown fashioned of silk shantung. The bodice was designed with a pearl-edged sweetheart neckline and long, fitted sleeves. It fell to a gentle basque waist on the sheath gown A detachable cathedral-length train decorated the bottom and flowed to the back of the gown. A decorative rosette accented the bow and the [illegible] plum at the top of the train. Embroidered lace enhanced with pearls and sequins completed the illusive sparkle of the gown.

The bride's veil was a crown-style with an open cap. Pearls and sequins enhanced the gentle scalloped front with a double pouf framing the face. In the back the length of the veiling fell to the waist with a cathedral detachable veil extending the length of her train as she walked down the aisle.

She carried an arm bouquet of calla lilies tied with gold and ivory ribbon.

The Bridesmaids

The bride chose Joanne Yancey Francis, Hopkinsville, to be her matron of honor. De Anna East, Hopkinsville, sister of the bridegroom, was her maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Catherine Cavanah Scruggs, Shawn Williams Richardson, ReGina McGinnis Morris, Cherie Kennedy Colley, all of Hopkinsville, and Beth Golladay Unfried of Oak Grove.

The attendants wore long sheath-style gowns of black velvet. Sheer black English silk organza covered the bodice and long sleeves. The yoke and cuffs were of black velvet. A row of black velvet buttons accented the backs. They carried arm bouquets of calla lilies tied with gold metallic ribbon.

The flower girl was Sara Elizabeth Pryor, Hopkinsville, niece of the bride and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Pryor. She wore a long, black, silk gown with a dropped waist. A bow decorated with rhinestones accented the left side. She wore a matching black bow in her hair. She carried a basket of white rose petals.

The Bridegroom

The bridegroom chose his father, C. Wayne East of Hopkinsville, to be his best man. Groomsmen were Jeffrey Hulan Pryor, brother of the bride; Todd Ramsey Morris; both of Hopkinsville; Gregory Wayne Pryor, cousin of the bride, Columbia, Tenn.; James Albert Fletcher; Samuel Randolph Colley, both of Hopkinsville; and David Alan Adams of Crofton.

Ushers were John Lewis Lancaster II, cousin of the groom, Cerulean; Jason Todd Hayes, cousin of the groom, Phoenix, Ariz.; Timothy Wayne Tooley, Murray; Jeffrey David Unfried, Oak Grove; James William Lathan Jr.; John Edwin Edwards, cousin of the groom; Jeffrey Lynn Francis; Robert Allen Gray; Frederick Stephen Morse; and Steven Randolph Bearden, all of Hopkinsville.

The ring bearer was Benjamin Michael Higgins, cousin of the groom and son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Higgins, Hendersonville, Tenn.

The guest register at the wedding was kept by Karen Wood Morris, Hopkinsville. The reception guest register was kept by Tana Tipton Edwards of Hopkinsville. Program attendants were Suzanne Arnold, Becky Hollaway and Cliff Joiner, all of Hopkinsville. Birdseed in a silver bowl was passed out by Lynsa Elizabeth Colley of Hopkinsville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Randolph Colley.

Mr. and Mrs. David Wayne East

The Reception

The bride's parents served as hosts of a reception at the Hopkinsville Golf and Country Club. The room was decorated with Christmas trees, Santas and poinsettias. The wedding cake was a five-tier satellite Italian cream cake with candlelight frosting. Each cake was centered with a nosegay of American Beauty red roses, English holly, pine, balsam and gold ribbon. The table also had a spray of magnolia foliage, red roses, English holly and balsam. Antique silver goblets, a gift from the bridegroom's parents, were used for the toast. The groom's cake, a three-tiered chocolate with ganache frosting, was decorated with chocolate curls and roses. A spray of pine, gold leaves and gold ribbon completed the decorations on the cake table. Punch was served from a silver punch bowl. A bouquet featuring American red roses, calla lilies, gold willow branches and sprays of balsam and pine was the focal point of the buffet table. On each side were antique candlesticks holding white tapers. Santas, Christmas trees and votive candles completed the decorations on the buffet table.

Music was provided for dancing.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Betty Lancaster Hays of Pembroke, aunt of the groom; Patty Cornelius Thalmann; Angie Goodrich Gibbs; Penny Atwood Jones; Shahrie Almy Smithson; Lisa Michelle Johnston; Debbie Pryor, sister-in-law of the bride, all of Hopkinsville; and Allegra Cansler Pace of Pembroke.

Wedding coordinators were Mrs. Patsy Stapp Tooley and Mrs. Mona Yancey, both of Hopkinsville.

Following a wedding trip to Maui, the couple will reside in Hopkinsville. The bride is employed by the Christian County Sheriff's Department, and the bridegroom is self-employed by East Construction.

Prenuptial Events

An engagement party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Unfired at their home in Oak Grove. A barbeque was given by Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Henderson at their home. Mr. and Mrs. Smith Broadbent III served as hosts of an Italian dinner at Fair Acres. Mr. and Mrs. Billy Tooley and Tim Tooley gave and "It's the Real Thing" party at Lake Tandy. Dr. and Mrs. Jerry Hart were hosts of a cocktail party at their home. A personal shower was given by Mrs. Jeff Francis, Mrs. Paul Richardson and Mrs. Jason Scruggs at the home of Mona Yancey. Mrs. Johnny Lancaster, Mrs. Tim Rawlins, Mrs. John Lancaster II, Mrs. Robert Hayes and Mrs. Destelle Lancaster served as hosts of "Hats Off to Anne" at the Lancaster home in Cerulean. A calendar shower was given by Mrs. Fred Price, Mrs. Todd Price, Mrs. Michael Higgins and Mrs. Robert Hayes at the Hayes home in Pembroke. A harvest supper was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Hal Johnson and Dr. and Mrs. Sam Traughber at the Johnson's home. Mrs. Ray Cobb gave an autumn afternoon gift tea at her home. A miscellaneous shower at the Dudas home was hosted by Roberta Dudas, Mrs. Frank Dudas Jrs., Mrs. Robert Coons and Mrs. Innes Mackillop. Mr. and Mrs. Randy Colley gave a memories party at their home. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Elliott were hosts of a Christmas feast at the Log Rest. Mrs. Herman Wooten, Mrs. Buddy Boyd, Karen Wooten, Mrs. Wesley Pryor and Mrs. Pat Manning were hostesses of a bluegrass barbeque at the Pryor's burley barn. A bridesmaids luncheon at J's on Main was given by Mrs. Randy Colley. A bachelorette party was hosted by the bridegroom's sister, De Anna East. Todd Morris hosted a bachelor's party. J's on Main was the site of the rehearsal dinner given by the bridegroom's parents.

Credit card interest plans pull at wallet

Homemaker Tips

by Elaine Clift

Extension Agent for Home Economics

It may be time to do a check on the terms of your credit cards. If you pay your total balance due each month, you don't have to worry about the interest charges. If you carry a balance due, you should read the fine print on your bill and your credit card agreement to determine what method the card issuer is using to calculate the interest on the balance.

There are five main ways that various card issuers calculate the interest on your accounts with a balance due. The difference in interest charge by each methods varies.

One of the most expensive ways of calculating the interest is the two-cycle average daily balance method. In this method, the daily average balance over the two previous billing periods is calculated. The result of this method is that, in essence, you are paying interest on large balances even after you have paid the balance down to a much lower amount.

This method has the greatest effect on people who carry a balance now and then. Thus, if you used your credit cards during the holidays and are now paying off the balance due, you will be paying back interest on the purchases. It is like adding on one month's extra finance charges.

Any credit cards that you have that use the two-cycle average balance method of calculating interest are the ones that you can best use by paying the balance in full in each month.

Other methods of calculating interest include the average daily balance method for one billing period, ending balance method, previous balance method and the adjusted balance method.

The adjusted balance method is the least expensive method for calculating the interest on a credit card. Many credit card issuers offer a 25-day grace period. If you pay your balance within the grace period, there is no finance or interest charge.

It is important for you to be aware of the way the interest is calculated. It could be a place to help plug some of the spending leaks in your spending plan. If you carry a large balance, and the interest for that credit card is calculated on one of the more expensive methods, make plans to bring that balance to zero.

You might even shop for a different type of credit card that will cost you less money to use it.

If you would like more information ask for HE 5-111: How Finance Charges Are Calculated on Credit Card Accounts at your local County Extension Office. Educational programs of the Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service serve all people regardless of race, color, age, sex, religion, disability, or national origin.

Kids Say The Funniest Things

From the mouths of babes often come things so funny you just have to share them with everyone you meet. Well, now is your chance to share them with thousands of readers.

This year the Baby Brag Book will have a new feature. In addition to publishing baby pictures, we want to include the funny things your kids say and do.

You can send as many submissions as you like, but please remember we may not be able to use all submissions. Please try to keep your funny stories close to 75 words or less.

Submissions must be received no later than January 26, 1996. Please send them to: Funny Kids, The Cadiz Record, P.O. Box 311, Cadiz, KY 42211.

The Cadiz Record reserves the right to edit for space.

Through the years...

It doesn't happen very often, at least not anymore. Couples just don't celebrate 75th wedding anniversaries very much these days.

When it does happen, people usually take notice. Paul Harvey recognizes couples every day who have "gone the distance."

Now, that's what we want to do at The Cadiz Record. If you know of a couple — your parents, grandparents or next-door neighbors — who deserves to be recognized for their long-lasting marriage (at least 50 years), we want to know about it.

Submissions should be received no later than Feb. 1.

Please send your submissions to: Golden Anniversaries, The Cadiz Record, P.O. Box 311, Cadiz, KY 42211. You should include their names, a phone number at which they can be reached, a photo if possible, and a brief history (wedding date and/or number of years married, maiden names, names of children, etc.).

Photos can be returned if a self-addressed stamped envelope is enclosed, or they may be picked up at The Cadiz Record office after Feb. 16.

Snow prompts poem

Poetry Moments

by Don Hunter

Snow - Snow!
Let it snow, let it snow!
The weather was frightful
The warmth was delightful!
No school! - No school!
Now the house is frightful!
How to get them out in the snow?
Dress them warm and out they go!
Even if the wind does blow!
Find the sled, down the hill,
now up the hill to go again.
Slick hills and up the speed,
caution to the wind they don"t heed.
Some one watches over them, as they must.
After hours of up and down,
cold winds, red cheeks, wet things.
Almost tuckered out and winded.
Home they come, for mom and dad,
their warmth and love.
Down on the bed all warm and snug, off they go - to dream of what they had done, and learned.
In the snow!

Hairstylists dish out recipies along with cuts

KELLY HOLDER

Cut. Color. Rinse. Bake on 350 degrees for 20 minutes?!

While customers have been receiving hair-care and beauty advice from two of Cadiz friendliest hairstylists, they have been collecting some tips of their own.

Among the varied topics of interest that are bound to come up in between the blow drying and shag cuts, food will always prevail. Just as their customers are sure to take advantage of Tiffany and Lynn's haircare expertise, they are taking note of the delicious recipes shared with them.

The following recipes that they have contributed are favorites from their own customers. Tiffany has included two *low-fat recipes as well as one fat-free recipe. Lynn's Up-All-Night Sweet Rolls are perfect for overnight guests, she says. Her Coconut Cake is terrific using lowfat ingredients. The Barbeque Burger is perfect for a quick, effortless meal.

I hope you will enjoy these recipes and remember to share them with others as well.

Tiffany Sivills and Lynn Parrott
Lynn's Hair Studio

Italian Beef

8-10 lb. Sirloin tip roast
1 jar dry italian seasoning
1/2 tsp garlic powder
13-15 beef bouillon cubes

Cover roast with dry italian seasoning, sprinkle garlic over roast, then slow cook in oven or crock pot with 1 cup of water. Usually cook 6 hours or more. After beef cools, shread or slice thin and return to liquid, adding bouillon cubes (usually in crock pot on low for 4-6 hours.) Serve beef over thick italian bread that has garlic, butter and plenty of melted mozarella cheese.

Lynn Parrott

Barbeque Burger

1 lb. ground beef
1 medium onion
1 tbsp. mustard
1 tbsp. vinegar
1 tbsp. sugar
1 tbsp. worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup katsup
salt and pepper to taste

Brown ground beef and onion. Drain and add all the ingredients and simmer for 25 minutes. Serve on buns. Nice, quick meal.

Tiffany Sivills

Taco Soup

2 lbs. lean ground beef
1 med. to large onion, chopped
1- 28 oz. can diced tomatoes
1- 15 oz. can tomatoe sauce
1- 15 oz. can pinto beans
1- 15 oz. can whole kernel corn
1 env. taco seasoning

Brown beef and onion, drain if necessary. Add tomatoes and their liquid and tomatoe sauce. Drain and rinse beans and corn, add to beef mixture. Add taco seasoning, bring to a boil and simmer about 20 minutes. This will be a thick mixture, so stir frequently. Serve topped with grated cheese, dollop of sour cream, chopped avocado or chopped tomato. Will serve 8-10. Leftovers freeze well.

Lynn Parrott

*One Pan Potatoes and Chicken Dijon

4 medium potatoes
1 lb. boneless-skinless chicken breast
2 tbsp. vegetable oil
1/4 cup Honey Dijon barbeque sauce

Slice potatoes 1/4 of an inch and chicken 1/2 of an inch. Microwave or bake potatoes until tender. While potatoes cook, brown chicken breast in oil for 5 minutes. Add potatoes and mix until brown. Add sauce and toss until heated thoroughly.

Tiffany Sivills

*Chicken Pot Pie

1 can white chicken breast
1 can cream of potatoe soup
1 can peas and carrots
salt and pepper
2 pie crust

Mix chicken, soup and vegetables and spoon into pie crust. Cover with second pie crust and bake on 350 degrees for 30-40 minutes.

Tiffany Sivills

Up-All-Night Sweet Rolls

1 dozen frozen Parkerhouse rolls
1 stick margarine
1/2 cup pecan pieces
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 small pkg cook and serve butterscotch pudding

The night before serving, melt margarine and pour in warm tube or bundt pan. Sprinkle in pecan pieces and brown sugar evenly. Arrange frozen Parkerhouse rolls in pan. Sprinkle dry pudding over frozen rolls. Put into cold oven and leave overnight. In the morning, carefully remove pan from cold oven, preheat oven to 350 degrees. Bake 18-20 minutes or until done. Remove from oven and immediately invert pan on plate. Carefully remove pan from rolls.

Lynn Parrot

Fat-Free Chicken Dumplings

4-6 boneless-skinless chicken breast
1 pkg fat-free flour tortillas shells
2 tbsp. chicken bouillon
1 can cream of chicken soup (optional)

Boil the chicken breasts and let cool. Pull apart and recover with water. Add bouillon and soup-bring to a boil. Slice Tortilla shells into thin strips and drop in. Cook 15 to 20 minutes.

Government issues popular investment

Are you looking for a high level of current income from one of the world's most popular investments? If so, consider U.S. government securities or mutual funds that invest in these issues.

U.S. government securities are no strangers to investors. Not only have they been in existence since the days of the American Revolution, but several trillion—with a T—dollars are currently invested in them.

In fact, more money is invested in U.S. government issues than in all Fortune 500 companies combined.

There's good reason for the popularity of U.S. government securities. For one, they provide a steady, reliable source of current income. It's reliable because the income is generated by the U.S. government, one of the most stable entities in all the world.

As a result, U.S. government securities are among the safest investments in the global financial marketplace. No U.S. government issue has ever defaulted or delayed payment of interest or principal when due.

How to Buy Them

You can invest in U.S. government securities by purchasing them separately, but the investment minimum can be steep: $10,000, sometimes as much as $25,000. With such a relatively high minimum, most investors find it difficult to create a diversified portfolio of these investments. As a result, many turn to mutual funds that invest all or most of their assets in U.S. government issues.

U.S. government mutual funds are typically managed by full-time investment professionals who actively monitor the markets to identify attractively priced individual securities. What's more, these portfolios are generally diversified among numerous securities—far more than most individuals could ever afford to own by themselves. When assets are spread among different securities, risk is also spread, which may help reduce price volatility.

As with most income mutual funds, all distributions, such as dividends and capital gains, can be automatically reinvested in additional shares. This enables your money to take advantage of the benefits of compounding, one of the simplest ways to build assets over time.

With most funds, shares may be redeemed (sold) any business day at the then current net asset value without charge. The price that you receive, of course, may be higher or lower than your original investment.

U.S. government securities—and the funds that invest in them—may be suitable if you require a steady flow of regular income to meet fixed expenses. They may also be appropriate if you require a conservative investment for building wealth over time.

Free trees offered for new Arbor Day members

Ten free flowering trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during January 1996.

The free trees are part of the nonprofit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

The ten trees are 2 White Flowering Dogwoods, 2 Flowering Crabapples, 2 Golden Raintrees, 2 Washington Hawthorns, and 2 American Redbuds.

"These compact trees were selected for planting in large or small spaces," John Rosenow, the Foundation's president said. "They will give your home the beauty of lovely pink, white, and yellow flowers — and also provide winter berries and nesting sites for songbirds."

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between February 1 and May 31 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to twelve inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

Members also receive a subscription to the Foundation's bimonthly publication, "Arbor Day," and The Tree Book with information about tree planting and care.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 contribution to TEN FREE FLOWERING TREES, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by January 31, 1996.

Hamburger Corn Casserole

1 lb. ground beef
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 can cream of chicken soup
1 can whole kernel corn
1- 6oz. egg noodles
2 cups bread crumbs
1/2 cup melted butter

Brown ground beef and boil egg noodles. In a large bowl, combine soup, noodles, ground beef and corn. Mix and pour into a large casserole dish. In a separate bowl, mix bread crumbs and butter and spread on top of noodle mixture. Place into a 350 degree oven for 20 minutes or until brown.

Coconut Cake

1 white cake mix
12 oz. frozen coconut
2 cups sugar
12 oz. sour cream
8 oz. cool whip

To make filling:
Mix sugar, sour cream and thawed coconut. Chill.

Prepare two layer cake as directd on box. Cool layers, then slice each horizontally. Mix 1 cup of filling with 8 oz. cool whip and reserve to frost top and sides of cake. Use 1/3 of remaining filling between each of the four layers. Frost top and sides, then seal in tupperware and refrigerate for 3 days. *This is also great with lowfat or fat-free ingredients.

Eagles starting major revival

Golden Pond, KY - Once an endangered species, the majestic bald eagle has made a startling comeback in recent years. Pesticide bans, habitat restoration, and efforts such as the highly successful "hacking" program at TVA's Land Between The Lakes (LBL) have helped our nation's symbol toward the road to recovery.

LBL has been a favored wintering spot of migratory bald eagles for years; the addition of a small but growing resident population is an encouraging sign, say biologists. "Bald eagles are still a threatened species, but cooperative efforts back in the 1980s have shown significant results," said LBL Wildlife Biologist, Steve Bloemer.

"One reason LBL is such an appealing spot for eagles, as well as other migratory birds, is the habitat LBL provides: 170,000 acres of virtually undeveloped land, surrounded by two huge lakes. There's an abundant food source, as well as undisturbed nesting sites."

January and February are prime months to view these majestic birds, as LBL hosts more than 100 wintering eagles. "And with trees bare of their leaves for the winter," Bloemer added, "the birds are more viewable than at any other time of year."

LBL provides many guided tours to view bald eagles in the wild. A Day With The Eagles boat cruises are plarmed for Jan. 20 and 21 and Feb. 10 aboard comfortable, heated cruise boats. LBL staff are available to answer questions about eagles and eagle recovery efforts. A Day With The Eagles van trip is scheduled for Feb.11 and a Last Chance Eagle Viewing van tour is planned for March 2.

Additional eagles programs are offered by Kenlake and Lake Barkley State Resort Parks.

Special fees and reservations are required for all programs. For more information or to make reservations, call (502) 924-1325 weekdays, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Hunters training crucial

As hundreds of Kentucky's hunters reminisce about their hunting adventures of the past season, others will sit idly by unable to share similar stories. If they had planned ahead, they'd have a tale or two to share. However, they procrastinated and as a result were unable to go hunting this season.

"Why could they not go hunting?" you ask. They did not complete a hunter education course.

Kentucky law mandates that all hunters born on or after Jan. 1 , 1975, must carry a valid hunter education course completion card and the appropriate Kentucky hunting license. Most other states have similar requirements.

To get a course completion card, hunters must complete a 10-hour class hunter education course and pass the concluding written exam. The class covers topics such as hunter ethics, wildlife identification, first aid and survival skills, archery, muzzleloading, modern firearms and ammunition.

Hunter education instructors schedule at least one, and sometimes only one, class per county each year. If you wait until the last minute, you may find the only available classes are on the other end of the state!

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources currently has 45 hunter education classes in 23 counties scheduled for next year.

The hunter education course is free. For information on dasses, call 502/564-4336.

Crankbait fishing good tactic for bass catches

When Guy Eaker goes fishing this time of year, he takes more than the box of spinnerbaits he's famous for using. He also takes crankbaits.

"In the autumn when bass are feeding actively, a crankbait matches the baitfish more accurately than other lures, and that can really be important," explains the Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff angler.

"Crankbaits are also great lures to use because they allow you to cover a lot of water in a hurry, and you can choose different lures to work different water depths."

One of the most important aspects of crankbait fishing, Eaker points out, is using the proper lure for the depth of water being fished. The majority of the time, these lures are most effective when they are hitting the bottom.

"Even though crankbaits may look like baitfish or crawfish, I still believe they get a lot of reflex-type strikes," he explains, "and reflex strikes seem to occur most often when lures are doing something erratic, like ricocheting off stumps or bouncing off the bottom.

"This is true for most lures, but especially so with the diving crankbaits. If you can't feel your lure digging along the bottom, you need to change to another model that dives deeper."

The Evinrude pro notes that depth can also be controlled to some extent by changing line sizes. Switching from 17 pound test to 12 pound test, for example, will allow some crankbaits to run a foot deeper while changing to a much heavier line will keep the lure shallow.

"You use line to control depth when crankbait size is critical and you have to match the lure to the baitfish size, or when your retrieve speed is important," says Eaker. "Otherwise, you can change to a different lure size.

"One of the reasons we use deep diving crankbaits in very shallow water is not only to keep the lure in contact with the bottom, but also to match baitfish size. Another reason is because we can fish larger lures much easier in the brush.

"The longer bill of the larger crankbaits helps deflect it over limbs and branches."

Rod selection can also be important in overall crankbait success, according to the North Carolina pro. Eaker's choice is a medium/heavy action that has a complete parabolic bend, rather than just a flexible tip.

"A rod that is too stiff will actually pull the hook from a bass, especially when you have it close to the boat and don't have much line out," he says. Outboard Marine Corporation's new Silent StartTM Variable Speed electric trolling motors offer an infinite number of speed settings. Unlike other trolling motors, Silent Start Variable Speed trolling motors start at whatever speed setting the operator desires but with no jarring initial power surge that disrupts fishing or frightens bass. The 24 volt units are available with either 41 or 56 pounds of power thrust.

Bacon receives SIU scholarship

CARBONDALE, IL -- Treneverlyn Devon Bacon, of Cadiz, has been awarded a scholarship for Fall 1996 and Spring 1997 to attend Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. Bacon, a May 1996 graduate of Trigg County High School, has been selected to receive the SIUC Grant Award which will cover $250 of tuition charges each semester for which the award is granted.

Bacon, the mother of Oshea Bacon, the daughter of Pamela Bacon, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Iven Boyd, has received the following honors, awards, and recognitions: Wildcat of the Week, Outstanding Achievement in Applied Biology, and Outstanding Achievement in Accounting II. Bacon plans to study Accounting at SIUC.

Recipients of the SIUC Grant Award are selected from a pool of applicants who rank in the top ten percent of their high school class or who have an ACT (American College Test) composite score that places them among the top ten percent of their peers nationwide.

School board looks at discipline days jump

In their first scheduled meeting of the new year, the Trigg County School Board began to look at the problem concerning a jump in the number of discipline days.

Meeting on Jan. 15, the school board was told that days lost by students due to discipline, suspension or expulsion have doubled.

Superintendent Jim Wallace told board members there were 737 days of suspension reported for students in all three schools for the first semester.

During the same period last year only 370 days were lost. Wallace said the numbers were up for both middle and high school.

According to Wallace suspensions of students prevent the system from receiving state money because the student isn't present. He also said it prevents the student from being instructed.

"It's a dramatic, but it's not unique to us. Others are going through the same thing," Wallace said.

During the meeting a middle school student was expelled for the remainder of the year due to violations of the discipline code.

This was the third student expelled for this fiscal year. Last year a total of three students were expelled for the entire year.

The board also received a report from the architect about plans for expansion, which include a new middle school building, new field house and renovation of other facilities.

Board members were told by architect Jim Humphreys that the total package could cost anywhere from $7.7 million to $8 million.

Wallace said board members would be encouraged during their next meeting to enter the second design and development phase.

Discussion was also held on whether to include the fifth grade in the prospective new middle school building.

Wallace said to include the fifth grade means almost a $1 million increase in the middle school building cost.

In a report from the state's STAR program, it was recommended the school investigate implementing an artist-in-residence program for 1996-97.

The board voted to enter the program, which would cost the school system $7,500, but only if they received a grant from the state.

The next school board meeting will be held Jan. 22 at 7 p.m. at the Board of Education office.

Officials reschedule snow-outs

Trigg County Athletic Director Taylor Sparks lately has been working overtime on the telephone

Thanks to a couple of snows and some bad weather the Trigg County basketball teams have been stopped dead in their sneaker tracks.

Sparks has had to re-scheduled nine games that have been postponed.

One game that was postponed, a home game with Lexington Christian on Jan. 6 probably won't be re-scheduled.

"If we get another batch of bad weather we're looking at the possibility of losing games," warns Sparks.

Trigg County varsity teams haven't played since Dec. 29.

Sparks has solved part of his problem by combining boys and girls' varsity games into one-night doubleheaders.

Most of the rescheduled games are going to be slated for Saturday dates. One that was already on the schedule was a Todd County road contest. It was slated to be held Saturday at Elkton.

"We don't want to lose our district games," said Sparks. The Fifth District seeds its post-season tournament so all the games between district rivals are important.

Plus, Sparks notes these district battles are also big attendance gates.

Many of the girls' re-scheduled games are now doubleheaders. Head coach Buddy Sivills has moved several middle school girls up

Snow break gives 'Cats needed time

The Trigg County Wildcats boys' basketball team is trying to use their unexpected "snow break" as a spring board to success.

Before snow and bad weather hit the Wildcats' schedule with a "thud" the boys' team was an undesirable 1-6 after many experts were expecting a glittering season.

The team was hit by a series of injuries, discipline problems and other woes, not to mention bad weather.

Trigg County has not played since the Trigg County Invitational on Dec. 28-29. Trigg County lost two games during the tournament.

Head coach Mike Wright believes his team should be recovered from that bad situation.

"We've had some intensive workouts and the kids have got a good spirit about them," said Wright, who himself was trying to recover from a pick-up game of basketball played with the players of his team during an afternoon in which the school was dismissed early.

"We're still optimistic of what we can achieve this season," said Wright.

Two starting players, guard Anthony Mayes and forward Carlos Acree, have left the team.

Mayes left in anger after being taken out of a game in the tournament. Acree, a highly-touted football player, has decided basketball is not his sport.

Another player, sophomore guard Kelvin Grubbs suffered a shoulder dislocation, and probably won't be back with the team. A potential starter, Lamar Radford, has yet to play because of an injury suffered in football and most likely will miss the whole season.

"It's been something to rally around," said Wright.

Another starter, 6-foot-6 center Kevin Thomas has returned from a knee injury. That injury came in the first game of the season.

Thomas is now playing with a brace.

"Thomas is getting stronger on his knee," said Wright. "I'm proud of Kevin's toughness. He's come back quicker than thought he would.

"This snow break came at a good time for us to revamp our team. We're adjusting and learning our new roles.

"We've been working hard on defense in practices and now we need to do it during a game

Wright said another thing which has lifted his spirit is the reaction around town.

"People have recognized that we're trying to do the right thing," said Wright.

Trigg County snaps break with victories over Cards

SCOTT BURNSIDE
Sports Editor

After a super-long break both Trigg County varsity teams celebrated their first encounters in the new year with victories over Livingston Central.

In the girls game a spirited defense and hustle gave the Trigg County girls (3-2) a 59-39 victory over the Lady Cardinals (0-11).

The boys broke a five game losing streak as they used an explosive first quarter from guard Chris Sparks to defeat Livingston Central (0-8)

Boys Game

Sparks scored 15 of his team-high, game-high 29 points in the opening frame. That gave the 2-6 Wildcats, who haven't played since Dec. 29, a 26-11 lead after the first quarter.

This explosive streak by Sparks was partially caused by a talk between the junior star and his head coach Mike Wright.

"I talked to Chris about being aggressive offensively early," said Wright after the game.

Sparks missed his first three-point shot, but he was fouled on the effort. Putting a 93 percent free-throw shooter at the free throw line was a mistake as the guard sank three straight. Sparks was off on his foul shooting for the night, hitting only 7-of-10.

The guard finished the game with four three-point shots and all of them came in the first quarter.

"My shot was going in for me but my teammates were finding me," said Sparks.

Both Sparks and Wright praised the play of freshman point guard Lemar Northington, particularly his passing in the breakaway first quarter.

The victory was especially sweet for Wright, whose team has gone through a streak of injuries and a spate of players (three) leaving the team.

"The kids who are left are solid kids and they gave us a fantastic effort tonight," said Wright.

The Wildcats shot 68 percent in the first half (17-of-25),

Hall of Fame open to Wallace

SCOTT BURNSIDE
Sports Editor

Jim Wallace's trainee is in the Kentucky Track and Cross Country Coaches Association Hall of Fame, and now Wallace will receive the same honor.

Of course the trainee was George Radford, who went into the Hall of Fame in 1993. He is now the Trigg County High School assistant principal.

"He was my mentor," admits Radford, who thinks it's about time Wallace was recognized.

Wallace has risen farther along the educational track and is now the Trigg County Schools' Superintendent. He is slated to be inducted in the track hall of fame on Jan. 19.

"You never expect to be recognized, especially since it was so long ago," said Wallace.

The induction ceremony will be held Jan. 19 at the Kentucky High School Athletic Association offices in Lexington. A hall of fame banquet will also be held in conjunction with the affair.

Even though Wallace hasn't been an active coach in running events, Radford points out "he's always been a friend of track."

When a coach can't make a track or cross country workout, it is often Wallace who runs the practice.

When Trigg County had its first home track meet in several years, Wallace was the starter.

Wallace began his association with the running sports when he became the Trigg County cross country coach in 1967. His cross country teams were regional champions in 1976 and they were regional runner-up five times.

The track coach's whistle came on Wallace's neck in 1969 when he helped start the girls' program along with Ann McCrosky.

Wallace won the regional crown in track for six straight years. In 1973 his team was runner-up at state.

The boys' cross-country program was started strictly as an exercise method for the basketball team at Trigg County.

"I grew to really love track and cross country both," explained Wallace.

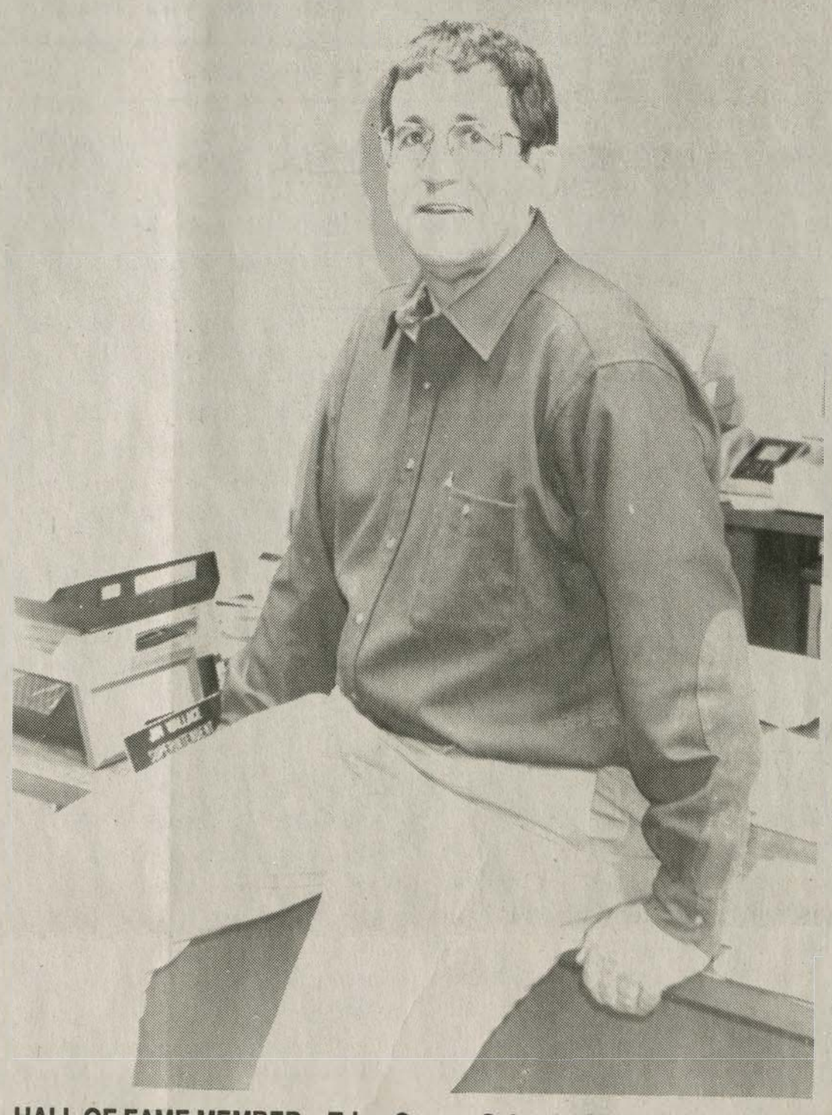
"After I got involved in it, it really intrigued me and I got interested," pointed out Wallace, who describes himself as a self-educated track coach.

In 1972 and '74 his girls' team won the state title.

During the years 1978 through 1985 Wallace assisted Radford as the long distance runners' coach. Trigg track teams won five state titles during this stretch.

"He certainly helped some of my good athletes," said Radford.

Now it would be tough to separate Trigg County High School from its running events.



HALL OF FAME MEMBER _ Trigg County Schools' Superintendent Jim Wallace will be inducted into the Kentucky Track and Cross Country Coaches Hall of Fame Friday evening.

"It's so important because it complements all your other sports. They are individual sports, but they've also got the team support," explained Wallace.

Victories

while holding Livingston to a miserable 21 percent (8-of-26).

Near the end of the first quarter, the Wildcats led 21-6. They padded that lead to 24 points late in the third quarter.

Wright's team cooled off in the second half and foul problems put three starters on the bench.

That allowed Livingston to scrap back to within 11 points early in the fourth frame.

However, the Wildcats threw together an 8-2 streak. Livingston's tactic was limited to fouling in the fourth quarter. They sent Trigg County to the line 36 times and the Wildcats hit 22 (61 percent).

Livingston had 23 free throw chances, sinking 13 (56 percent).

Center Kevin Thomas had his strongest game for the Wildcats following his return from knee surgery in December.

Thomas hit 17 points as he battled a physical Livingston frontline.

Forward Craig Wilson was next in line with nine points.

Livingston Central had a pair of players in double digits. Neal Stafford scored 14, while Richard Henson had 10.

Girls' game

Because of his limited personnel numbers, girls' coach Buddy Sivills has not used pressing defenses lately.

That changed against the Lady Cardinals as Sivills employed a 2-2-1 press out of the old UCLA game book to knock Livingston Central out of the lead and take control of the game.

Leading the scoring way for Trigg was Calandra Boyd. The senior guard had 18 points. Forward Cathy Foster tallied 14 and center Marlo Thomas had 8.

Livingston Central led for most of the first half until Trigg's press began to give them fits.

Boyd stepped up her scoring late in the second quarter as she scored five straight points in Trigg County's 7-0 run, which gave the Lady Wildcats a 23-20 advantage with 90 seconds left in the half.

Trigg County led 24-22 at halftime.

Part of Trigg County's troubles were foul problems. The Lady Wildcats 6-0 center Thomas got three fouls in the first two minutes of action. That sat her out for major chunks of both halves.

The Trigg press generated 10 turnovers in the third quarter and Livingston only scored three field goals.

Trigg County began the second half with an 8-2 boost and by the end of the quarter they were ahead 39-26. A wild three-point shot at the buzzer cut that lead to 10.

"The defense picked up in the third quarter. The girls were loafing and walking down the court in the first half," said head coach Buddy Sivills.

That third quarter outburst was enough cushion for the Lady Wildcats, who haven't played since Dec. 15.

Holly Chandler and Keely O'Byne had 11 and 10 points respectively for the visitors.

Reschedule

to the varsity and junior varsity levels.

The rescheduled games are as follows:

•Jan. 20, boys game at Covington Villa Madonna.

•Jan. 25, girls doubleheader at Fort Campbell.

•Jan. 27, girls doubleheader at home with Caldwell County.

•Feb. 3, boy-girl varsity doubleheader at Crittenden County.

•Feb. 10, home boy-girl doubleheader with Lyon County.

•Feb. 17, home boy-girl doubleheader with Crittenden County.

Todd Co. defeats Wildcats on road

ELKTON, Ky. -- A smothering defensive effort took the air out of Trigg County's offense here Saturday as host Todd County won a 77-56 victory.

Todd County fired out to a 13-2 lead in the first quarter, but Trigg County bounced back to tie the contest, 18-18. The Wildcats were only down 40-35 at halftime.

However, the Rebels erupted once again in the third quarter, rolling out to a 50-37 advantage. The Wildcats couldn't fire back this time.

Heading up the 3-7 Rebels were Mike Wells and Jamie Wells. Both are brothers of Austin Peay State University basketball star Bubba Wells. Mike Wells scored 21 points, while Jamie totaled 14.

"Their defense just overwhelmed us. It was the best defense we've seen this year," noted Trigg County coach Mike Wright.

The Wildcat slid to 2-7 following the road loss.

Center Kevin Thomas topped Trigg's scoring with 18 points, while Chris Sparks had an off-night, scoring only 15.

Wildcats' latest SEC win shows UK's class

Sports in Ky.

by Bob Watkins

Labeled the league's second best team, Mississippi State proved something important in its 40-minute, 28turnover fire drill against Rick Pitino's team last week. Kentucky is to the Southeastern Conference in '96 what Secretariat was to those other guys at Belmont Park in '73.

This race is for Place Show and who gets the NCAA at large bids.

Anybody notice Miss. State Coach Richard Williams tried to employ a Dean Smith stratagem against UK? State's coach opened with a Rodrick Rhodes defense. Just as North Carolina lured Kentucky into a stampede by offering Rhodes any shot he wanted on the perimeter, Mississippi State invited Antoine Walker into quicksand.

Walker was too savvy and the Wildcats too varied on offense. And the defense was superb enough to stuff a gag in the partisan crowd's mouth. Walker stuck to Da Coach's gambit of pulling defender Dampier out of the paint and the rest is history.

Postscript: Yo, Erick Dampier, is your real name Benoit Benjamin?

PT, RHYTHM & WINS!

Playing time, points, rhythm, smiles and wins.

It is a delicate drama, each element with its own tributaries, architect Rick Pitino has macro-managed so far this season.

Playing time. Even with a marquee schedule, Da Coach has divvied up enough minutes among five starters and as many substitutes to keep eight players in double-digit PT and the assist column in bloom. All this while keeping Tony Delk on pace to postseason honors and a good place in the NBA draft

PT is an area that brings to the fore UK's chemistry. A feather in Pitino's cap that Mark Pope, Derek Anderson and Jeff Sheppard are satisfied as subs while each knows he would be a starter on most any other team on Kentucky's schedule.

Rhythm. Pitino's coaching artistry is no better in evidence than here. His substitution patterns have been scrupulously well timed, not only not interfering with game flow or even sustaining it, but adding something each time. The right player for the right matchup at the right turn in a game.

For the purist these chess moves from the seemingly frenzied little general on the sideline have been a marvel to watch.

Smiles and wins. Direct correlation, one to the other. Questions waitng for delicious answers—can UK keep hitting on all cylinders? Can the Wildcats get better? Midseason indications are 'yes' on both counts.

Footnote: Through Saturday Kentucky had won 12 in a row which is two shy of a 14game roll during the Wildcats last march to an NCAA championship in 1978.

DIS 'N DATA

It is mid-January, almost nickname time for UK's basketball team. How about Platoon?... If Tony Delk is to become the highest scoring guard in UK history he must overtake legendary Louie Dampier's 1,575, right? Wrong. It's less well known Ed Davender (1984-88) with 1,637.

A round of applause please, for KHSAA officials who decided to restore 1,078 points to Jaime Walz's total, putting the Highlands star back where she belongs, within range of becoming Kentucky's all-time scoring leader. Walz is fewer than 150 points behind current record holder, Hall of Famer Geri Grigsby. I've never understood how a player's varsity totals can arbitrarily be reduced in the first place. Did she or did she not score the points in question in high school varsity competition? Simple.

Teevee cover. For word economy and play recognition and description without primadonna screams and silliness, the best television broadcasting team for college hoops today is ESPN's Brad Nessler and Clark Kellogg, with Tom Hammond and Larry Conley (Jeff Pilot) second, albeit a distant second.

Nessler reports the game, knows the flow and does not overstate what he/we see. Kellogg, despite an irresistible lean to underdogs (and a deep down disdain for UK basketball, going back to days when Joe B. Hall was recruiting him), the ex-Ohio State star overcomes his temptation to be cute (mostly), and gives the game call a nice 'this ain't rocket science' touch using hip-hop palaver, a dash of humor, and a terrific laugh. Nessler and Kellogg work well together.

Name of the week: Angel Pigg, basketball star at Ballard Memorial High School.

Talent Drain Continues

University Heights 6-10 basketball standout Lamont Barnes is being recruited by and is leaning to signing with Temple. If Barnes signs with John Chaney (excellent fit), according to analyst Rick Bolus's ratings, he could be the sixth of top eight in-state high school players to commit to out-of-state universities.

Dan Langhi (Marshall Co.) has signed with Vanderbilt; Daymeon Fishback (Greenwood) with Auburn; Bart Miller (Meade Co.) with Marquette; Matt Montague (Male) with Brigham Young; Ray Cunningham (Central) is being courted by Minnesota.

Odd men out among the top eight? Isiah Victor, 6-9, of University Heights remains uncommitted; and Tim Couch (Leslie Co.) will attend the University of Kentucky on a football scholarship.

MOE WILLIAMS

At the time star running back Moe Williams announced his decision to forego his senior year at Kentucky, making himself available for the NFL, only one other underclassman running back said he was coming out, Leeland McElroy of Texas A&M.

AfterWilliams announcement, count 'em, five other underclassmen running backs added their names to the list before last Wednesday's deadline. A list that already includes Heisman Trophy winner Eddie George, looks, uh, crowded. Forecasters believe all will be chosen ahead of Williams leaving one to wonder about his bargaining power, what sort of contract he can expect to sign.

CHEERS. There was one intelligent decision made in the rush to riches however. Warrick Dunn, star running back at Florida State and 'head of his family,' said he would stay in school another year, get his degree, then pursue a professional football career.

BILL CURRY DISAPPOINTMENT

Kentucky's head football coach Bill Curry's position in Moe Williams' decision to leave UK early was a disappointment. Graciously accepting the young star's decision was predictable, but Curry failed to seize the moment and sound bite opportunity. Facing cameras and microphones and having been in the NFL, he should have warned of the pitfalls of squandering tax-payer financed education opportunities and promoted the longrange merits and goals his employer represents.

READERS (RIGHT) WRITE

Brad Cundiff, E-Mail writes to share a bit of cybergossip: "Apparently Andrae Patterson is unhappy at Indiana and has been considering a transfer at season's end. A school he is considering - UK. My source said not to be surprised if Kentucky is the only school Patterson is considering."

COMMENT: Could be. But, 41 points and 19 rebounds in wins over Ohio State and Wisconsin last week can have a magically healing effect on a 20-year-old with psychic bruises administered by haranguing Bob Knight. Some people call it growing up.

David Fisher of Louisvlle is trying to locate Ed Beck, starting center on Kentucky's 1958-59 NCAA championship basketball team. Fisher has a print of that UK team, autographed by all its members, except Beck.

"I decided if I can somehow reach Mr. Beck and obtain his autograph, I would donate the print to the future UK Basketball Museum," Fisher writes. "I the '58 champs would deserve its own section in the museum. (The print) would be a good background display piece."

COMMENT I: Mr. Fisher's generosity, offering to donate the UK print to the museum is most admirable. If anyone can help him locate Rev. Ed Beck (last known address in Colorado Springs, Colo.) please contact David Fisher at 1317 Oak Hill Rd, Louisville, Ky. 40213.

PARTING SHOT

Ex-Atlanta Falcons coach Jerry Glanville on the impact of an inch of snow on that city: 'They've got one plow, and it's in Savannah, to be used to keep the beaches smooth."

And so it goes.

You Can Join the Arbor Day Foundation and Get 10 Free Flowering Trees

▶ Nonprofit foundation sponsors Trees for America campaign

Ten free flowering trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation.

The free trees are part of the nonprofit foundation's Trees for America campaign.

The ten trees are 2 White Flowering Dogwoods, 2 Washington Hawthorns, 2 Golden Raintrees, 2 American Redbuds, and 2 Flowering Crabapples.

"These compact trees were selected for planting in large or small spaces," John Rosenow, the Foundation's president said. "These free flowering trees will give your home the beauty of pink, white, and yellow flowers–and also provide winter berries and nesting sites for songbirds."

The flowers of the White Flowering Dogwood (Cornus florida) are large and showy in the spring. Dogwoods' green leaves turn purple in the fall. Their glossy red fruits provide food for songbirds during the fall and winter.

"These free flowering trees will give your home the beauty of pink, white, and yellow flowers–and also provide winter berries and nesting sites for songbirds."
— John Rosenow, President Arbor Day Foundation

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting in your area, February through May in the spring or October through mid-December in the fall, along with enclosed planting instructions. The six to twelve inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

Members also receive a subscription to the Foundation's bimonthly publication, Arbor Day, and The Tree Book with information about tree planting and care.

America needs more trees

The United States has lost a third of its forest cover in the last 200 years.

Our towns and cities should have twice as many street trees as we have today.

We need more trees around our homes and throughout our communities. We need more trees to protect our farm fields and our rivers and streams. To provide wood for our homes and a thousand products we use every day.

Trees help conserve energy

Trees cool our homes and entire cities in the summer, and slow cold winter winds. Shade trees and windbreaks can cut home utility bills 15-35%.

Trees clear the air we breathe. They provide life-giving oxygen while they remove particulates from the air and reduce atmospheric carbon dioxide.

Trees along rivers and streams help keep the water clean. Trees reduce the risk of flooding. Planted as field windbreaks, they fight topsoil erosion.

Trees provide food, shelter, and nesting sites for songbirds.

Trees increase property values, and make our homes and neighborhoods more livable.

You can help by planting trees. Join today, and plant your Trees for America!

Planting trees is a positive step that you can personally take to improve the environment.

AGRICULTURE

Armchair farming... now's the perfect time

Agriculture Notes

by John Fourqurean

County Extension Agent for Agriculture

FIRESIDE PLANNING

This is the ideal time to do some armchair farming, fireside planning or what ever you want to call it. In your attempt to do this however, you need to make sure you are equipped with the right tools (information) to adequately do the job.

CROP VARIETY SELECTION

If you haven't already stopped by the Extension Office to pick up your copy of the corn and or soybean variety trail results, you should get a copy before making a decision on the varieties to use. You can also get a copy at your favorite agribusiness as we have supplied them with copies for your convenience.

TOBACCO CROP PLANS

We have results of trials conducted by the University of Kentucky on varieties as well as other practices such as on time topping, fertilization, foliar feeding, sucker control, insecticides and others.

A couple of quick points: On time topping trials compared four stages of flower development (Bud, 10-25% flower, 50-75%, and 100% flower) and production peaked out in the 10-25% flower development stage with nearly 3000 pounds per acre in this test compared to 2700 pounds at full bloom.

Another money saving test result was the use of foliar fertilizers. The tests used varied rates of two different products compared to no foliar fertilizer used. The no foliar test yielded 60 pounds per acre more than where foliar fertilizer was used, so save your money.

IRS AND YOU

ALong about this time of year we get concemed or should get concerned about farm records. However, we should be concerned throughout the year from what these records could be showing us. But for IRS purposes, if you need a good system to keep your farm records on, stop by the Extension Office and get a copy of the Kentucky Farm Record Book. they only cost $3.00 and your tax preparer will love you.

Also, get a copy of the Farmers Tax Guide. These are free and will tell you everything you need to know.

APPROACHING POINTS OF INTEREST

All farmers involved in actual production of tobacco in Trigg County need to keep Thursday night, January 25 in mind. This will be our annual Tobacco meeting date. If you qualify, you need to call the Extension Office (522-3269) by Thursday, January 18 and let us know who's coming (especially if you plan to eat). The program is sponsored by the University of Kentucky, Cooperative Extension Service, and U.S. Tobacco Company-Hopkinsville Plant. Extension Tobacco Specialist and other industry representatives will be on hand to discuss production, quality, outlook and new innovations.

KY-TN TOBACCO EXPO

A joint adventure of Kentucky and Tennessee on all aspects of tobacco will be held at the Sports Center in Springfield, Tennessee, January 30, from 1:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m. All area producers are invited.

WEST KY TILLAGE DAY

The West Kentucky Conservation Tillage Day annual meeting will be in Hopkins County this year at the Razpah Temple in Madisonville, February 5, 8:00 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The program is sponsored by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, NRCS, FSA and other Agriculture Conservation groups.

PRIVATE PESTICIDE CERTIFICATION

Local farmers who have Private Pesticide Certification licenses that expired in 1995 will have an opportunity to renew those in the near future. The exact date had not been set, pending new procedures in the training and certification process being received. More to come on this later.

Burley tobacco survey

Burley tobacco growers in Kentucky will be surveyed during early 1996 as part of the annual Farm Costs and Returns Survey. This comprehensive survey will be conducted by the Kentucky Agricultural Statistics Service and will give growers the oppurtunity to tell National and State policy makers what it costs to produce burley tobacco. USDA uses results from the survey to establish cost of production estimates which are then used in the administration of the tobacco program. Tobacco economic and extension specialists here in Kentucky have played a major part in designing the questionnaire. Grower sample is small and producers contacted are urged to cooperate even though the survey is expected to take better than an hour to complete.

A separate group of Kentucky farmers will be asked to provide financial information whether or not they grow burley tobacco. This survey taken across the Nation measures the financial condition of agriculture.

All farmers selected to participate will be notified early in February by the Kentucky Agricultural Statistics Service in Louisville, Kentucky. The surveying should by completed about mid-March. Voluntary cooperation of farmers is essential and good response will ensure that Kentucky farmers are represented in the National picture. All information on individual operations is held in the strictest confidence.

Annual tobacco meeting scheduled for Jan. 25

Arrangements have been made for you to enjoy a winter tobacco informational meeting with a sponsored dinner. This is for anyone in Trigg County that is involved in the production of burley and or dark tobacco.

Mark your calendar now for Thursday night, Jan. 25, 1996, for the annual Trigg County tobacco meeting. It will be held at the Complex Convention Center on Hwy 139 and will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Dr. Bill Maksymovicz, University of Kentucky Tobacco specialist will be the main speaker along with industry leaders including your meal sponsor, U. S . Tobacco Company in Hopkinsville.

Remember, this is for those involved in producing tobacco in your operation. Information brought to this meeting will be for the benefit of producing quality tobacco and for the continued future of tobacco as a cash crop in your operation. We hope to see you there. Please call 522-3269 and let us know how many will be coming so that adequate food will be prepared. Please call by Thursday, Jan. 18th.

ALL MY CHILDREN: Michael was suspended from school by discussing his sexual orientation in class. With advice from Adam, Scott agreed to join with Laura to help save Michael. Junior saw Liza kiss Tad. While trying to get information on Liza from Marian, Kinder fielded a call from a drug company Gloria had contacted to check on him. Later, Gloria was stunned when Dimitri said he was ending his investigation of Dr. Kinder. Julia realized Anita wanted to use her apartment for sexual liaisons with Bobby. Wait To See: Michael is in increasing danger.

ANOTHER WORLD: At the hospital, John fought to save Carl, who rallied and told a horrified Vicky that Grant killed Ryan. Andrew stalked Morgan and harassed Courtney. Cass was upset with Cecile for thinking more of her own publicity than of Maggie's well being. Sharlene packed and left the Frame farm. Gary detailed to Gabe his own history of the mysterious prisoner. Although she had promised to go on a family vacation with Grant, Vicky's suspicions about him grew when she read the ballistics report about the night Ryan was shot. Wait To See: Grant has another surprise for Vicky; Maggie has a surprise for someone close to her.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: Lisa appreciated John's brusque response to Lucinda. Later, Lily, Lucinda, Tom, John and Lisa learned the plane carrying Damian, Margo, and Sam flew into bad weather and disappeared. Emily was devastated by what she found in Jef's apartment. At the hospital in Maryland, everyone waited to learn who the two survivors were. Meanwhile, Carly blasted Mike for using her while he still loved Rosanna. Rosanna, in the meantime, rushed to comfort Scott about Sam. Wait To See: A tragic ending leads to a new beginning.

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL: Mike swiped an invitation to Brooke and Ridge's wedding so that Sheila could learn the location. Later, Brooke devastated Sheila when she ordered her to stay away from her and her family. Mike vowed to avenge Sheila's humiliation. Maggie warned Jessica not to rush into anything with Sly. Stephanie and Ridge both yelled at Brooke after learning she had seen Sheila. Wait To See: Brooke is in for a shock that could change her life.

THE CITY: Tess went to the party she ordered Sydney to throw for her. Malcolm pressured Sydney to introduce him to Jared. After a heartbroken Tony told Steffi to go with the man she really loved, she left with Cooper. Malcolm's continued interest in Jocelyn threatened her relationship with Alex. A reporter overheard Frankie and James telling Angie how they felt about the importance of the African-American family. Unforeseen circumstances keep Sydney and Nick from their planned rendezvous atop the Empire State Building. Wait To See: Malcolm's hold on Jocelyn grows stronger.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Bo and Hope began the courting process again. Lexie discovered that Celeste had been making large donations to the orphanage in Aremid. After hitting his head in a fall, Stefano saw the woman in the portrait come to life. Vivian hired Gregor to date her and make Victor jealous. After learning from Hope that Jack let Jude go to save her, Jennifer rushed to thank him. Jack spotted the matchbook and asked if he can keep it as a possible clue. As Stefano struggled to recall his past, he was struck by lightning. Wait To See: Kristen's faith in John is tested again.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: Lucy was unaware that Katherine had been abducted by Damian. Felicia told Simone about Georgie's persistent fever. Alan and Monica grew closer as Jason seemed to be coming out of his coma. Damian left a groggy Katherine to be found by the police. Later, Garcia announced Damian was missing. A test of a bloodstain on Katherine's shoe matched Damian's blood found at the lakehouse. Lucky's gambling plunged him into debt and potential trouble. Ned learned Lois' plane was missing. Wait To See: Katherine finds herself unable to prove she's been framed.

GUIDING LIGHT: Alan-Michael realized Reva's sketch was of Brent. Meanwhile, in the abandoned lighthouse, Lucy awoke to find Marian staring down at her. Hawk upset Reva by saying Josh still loved her. Later, Reva promised to divorce Josh but only if she gets custody of the children. While Bridget fantasized about being a family with Hart and Peter, at the Jessup farm, Hart faked hypothermia to persuade Dinah to hold him close to warm him. Frank was stunned when he went through the personal effects of the woman found at the docks. Wait To See: Reva's anger provokes a new problem with Josh.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE: Judge Fitzwater released Viki when Clint accepted responsibility for her. Dorian helped Blair through a painful delivery of baby Starr. Blair, who blamed Marty for causing her to go into premature labor, planned revenge against her. Bo tried to get Patrick to remember something more that could incriminate Bass. Viki visited Victor's mausoleum and heard her alters' voices for the last time before shutting the door on them. Patrick was upset when Bo asked Marty to come to the cabin to work on the sheet music. Wait To See: A new clue about Bass could backfire on Patrick.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS: Matt went to Chris to learn how much Amy might have told her. Shaken by Stan's AIDS-related death, Keesha learned he carried the virus while they were together. Aware that she would have to have a presurgical HIV test, Keesha asked a dermatologist to remove a mole. Olivia, meanwhile, told Nathan she wanted them to have another baby soon. Matt got into Amy's hospital room disguised as a doctor and when she reacted negatively toward him, he tried to calm her with kisses, but only managed to make her recall he raped her the night she shot him. Wait To See: Nick's freedom might be delayed.

PRIME TIME WITH KIDS

by Donna Erickson

Illustrated by David LaRochelle

Welcome a new year of family life with the promise of unlimited possibilities of growing together and creating memories. In between routine chores, obligations and work, snatch moments with your kids. Whether you catch each other's undivided attention for a minute or an hour, capturing these interludes of life fills the soul with meaning and pleasure.

None of these memory builders will keep the socks sorted or the fridge stocked, but they will make the time you spend with your kids count.

* Be an expert in lightheartedness. Let loose and act silly; after all, children's humor is silly! Laugh at knock-knock jokes even if you hear the same every day.

* Take nature walks, not to rush but to take it easy. Let your child guide you. Look at all there is to learn. You won't be in a race to get anywhere.

* Get messy. When you can't beat 'em, join 'em! Get your hands dirty, throw yourself in the fray and see a playful world through kids' eyes.

* Keep imagination alive. Not everything is as it seems. Think of the crazy creatures created by the child's mind in all of us: heffalumps and hungry caterpillars, gargoyles and trolls; a whole zoo of fantastic images to be discovered.

* Bend the rules of routine, ponder wonders, savor hugs and say bedtime prayers. These shared memories are the glue that keeps families together.

Ask Your Doctor

by Dr. E.R. Allen

What are some things I can do to reduce the risk of high blood pressure?

Here is a list of 5 factors that affect blood pressure (helps to lower blood pressure).

1. Exercise - Most experts suggest aerobic exercise for 20 to 30 minutes at least three times a week to lower mildly elevated blood pressure. Begin with a gradual program: if necessary, substitute walking.
2. Potassium - High intake appears to lower high blood pressure slightly. Eat three or four servings of grain products, fresh fruits and vegetables daily to maintain potassium intake.
3. Calcium - Extra calcium may lower high blood pressure. The best source is green vegetables, Calcium Citrate tablets are also good. We don't recommend too much milk products, as the type of calcium is not the best, there's not much fat and the extra mucus creates some sinus problems.
4. Vegetarian Diet - Lowers high blood pressure, perhaps because it is low in sodium and high in potassium, polyunsaturated fat, and fiber.
5. Polyunsaturated Fat -(corn, soy, safflower oil) lowers high blood pressure in some cases. Despite potential benefits, daily intake should be more than 10 to 12% of total calories.
6. I feel most important is to have a chiropractic examination to correct any subluxations, (nerve impingements) that can create stress.

PACK-O-FUN Just Kidding

Kids in the KITCHEN

Snow Cones

GET READY...
- A bowl full of clean snow
- 1 envelope unsweetened drink mix
- 2/3 cup sugar

GET SET...
Ask an adult to help you get the snow.

GO!

Stir drink mix and sugar together in a small bowl.

Add water by tablespoonfuls, stirring after each addition, until mix has a syrupy consistency.

Fill a cup or a bowl with snow. Spoon the syrup over the snow.

Eat & enjoy!

January Fun Fact

Besty Ross is generally credited with having sewn the first flag in 1775, under direction from George Washington. She was born in Philadelphia on January 1, 1752.

Quiz

What is the Land of the Midnight Sun?

Answer: Far to the north, near the North Pole, is the land where the sun shines 24 hours a day during the summer. During the winter in this part of the world, the sun never shines at all.

BRIGHT IDEAS

Ask an adult to help
- To make children's cardboard games and puzzles last longer, coat them with shellac or decoupage.
- The next time you cook over an open fire, soak the outside of the pot for easy cleanup.

The ADVENTURES of Barry & His Friends

by Bill Stephani

Let's follow the river," said Barry, not letting Jack know that he was worried. They followed the river upstream around several bends.

"Wook! There's a wooden bridge over the river!" cried Jack. "Wet's cross over!"

When they were halfway across, Jack stepped on a board that went "Boing!"

Startled, they both jumped high into the air.

"Wait a minute!" exclaimed Barry. Then he counted . . . 8, 9, 10, "Boing!"

"Eleven! Mr. Tickle-Twister's been here!" Barry shouted.

"It's the eweventh board from both directions," added Jack. "I'd sure wike to know why he thinks number eweven is funny!"

Just then Barry said, "Look, there's a house up the river bank! We'd better go up there and find out how to get back home before it gets dark."

The house was gray and had a very steep roof. They walked up to the front of the house. Jack thought he saw the number eweven—I mean eleven—on the chimney, the windows, the door and the fence. "I must be imagining it," he thought.

Jack rang the doorbell, then jumped back in surprise when he heard:

"I like squeaks and boings and squawks
Come on in . . . the door's not locked."

A bearded, kind-looking man opened the door and said in a friendly voice, "Hello! I'm Tom Tickle-Twister. This is my wife Tess. I'll bet you belong to the Winklesneezer family."

"Yes," said Barry, "We do. I'm Barry Bear. This is Jack Bunny. And we're lost."

"How can your names be Bear and Bunny and Lost all at the same time?" asked a smiling Tom.

"No, you don't understand, Mr. Tickle-Twister," said Barry. "Our last name isn't Lost. We just don't know the way home."

"Oh, I know," he said with a twinkle in his eye, "I was just teasing. Don't worry, I'll show you the way to the Winklesneezers.' It's not far."

"Mr. Tick-o-Twister," asked Jack, "How come you wike the number eweven so much?"

"Please call me Tom," he replied. "The number eleven is special and fun for Tess and me. Our parents were born here on November 11, 1911. That's 11-11-11. Tess and I have eleven brothers and sisters. We had two children, and then we adopted nine more. That made eleven. All of our children were born on the eleventh—in eleven different months. Tess and I have been in eleventh heaven since we met," he chuckled.

Tess blushed, then said, "You boys came by just at the right time. Tom is making a rope for the bridge down below. He really could use your help."

Tigers and pussycats.

There's this about that!

Harold Rose, pastor
East Cadiz Baptist Church

Weatherwise, the year 1996 came storming through our lives like the proverbial lion. The first week of January was even more than a lion, it was tiger; a tiger could whip a lion any day!

This brute roared through our holiday's afterglow like a wild thing unleashed. It's icy breath froze us in our complacency as it's frozen fluff immobilized those not blessed with four wheel drive.

As the snow piled up and the thermometer dropped, all plans for the weekend were off. Those of us fortunate enough to have warm fires and cozy beds retreated from the frigid fury of the January tiger with cups of steaming coffee and hot chocolate.

We have an old proverb about the month of March. If it comes in like a lion then it's out like a lamb. Remembering this always helped me contend with cold March winds, late snow flurrys and long nights. We could put up with March because April was not far behind.

But, March is a bunny compared to January. Wouldn't it be nice if the same proverb applied to our current frosty adversary? In like a tiger, out like a pussycat. If we could believe that, it would help us cope with whatever other frigid astonishments are in store.

"Those of us fortunate enough to have warm fires and cozy beds retreated from the frigid fury of the January tiger with cups of steaming coffee and hot chocolate."

Our cute little proverbs, however helpful, may or may not be true. March can come in like a lion and leave like a bear. January's frozen tiger may be a whole family of frosty felines by the end of the month and not a pussycat in sight.

So often, circumstances in life appear as tigers trying to destroy us. Even Christians experience terminal illness, lost jobs, misunderstanding, conflict, distrust and even jealousy. People even hate us because of our Christianity. Life is not a bed of roses and there are times when we are tempted to give up to the brutal attacks of life's tigers.

The bible has this good word to strengthen us which is better than any cute proverb: "For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us." (Romans 5:18)

We'll have tigers in our lives from January to December. Count on it. But after December and life's tigers have done their worst, there is eternal springtime for the believer; no tigers are allowed after life's December.

God will take care of tigers then, and the news is even better: He gives us strength to handle them now, even in the Januarys. In his strength and power, they all become pussycats.

Please read Philippians 4:13.

INVITATION FOR BIDS

The Cadiz Housing Authority will receive sealed bids for new central cooling systems for Project KY 42-3 located in Cadiz, Trigg County Kentucky as set forth in the Contract Documents.

Bids will be received until 2:00 P.M. C.S.T., prevailing time on the 6 TH of FEBRUARY, 1995, at the office of the Housing Authority (PHA), 51 Lincoln Street, Cadiz, Kentucky 42211 at which time and place all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Proposals shall be submitted on the Bid Forms provided and shall be clearly marked on the exterior of the envelope:

"SEALED BID'

CENTRAL COOLING SYSTEMS
PROJECT KY 42-3
CADIZ, KENTUCKY

Proposal forms and contract documents, including plans and specifications, are on file at the office of the Housing Authority.

Copies of the documents are available and may be obtained at the office of the Housing Authority, by depositing a check in the amount of $25.00 payable to the Cadiz Housing Authority. Such deposit will be refunded to each contractor who submits a bid and returns the plans, specifications and other documents in good condition to the Housing Authority within fourteen (14) days after bid opening.

In accordance with Clause No. 9, Bid guarantee, of the Instructions to Bidders, all bids must be accompanied by a negotiable bid guarantee in the form of a certified check or bank draft, payable to the Cadiz Housing Authority, U.S. Government Bonds at par value, or a satisfactory bid bond executed by the Bidder and acceptable sureties in an amount equal to five percent (5%) of the bid. The surety company must be authorized to do business in the state where the project is located and must be acceptable to the Government. If the bid guarantee is not submitted with the bid, the PHA will reject the bid.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish and pay for satisfactory 100 percent performance and payment bond or bonds or furnish a 20 percent cash escrow or a 25 percent irrevocable letter of credit to the Housing Authority all in accordance with Clause No. 10, Assurance of Completion, of the Instructions to Bidders.
Attention is called to the provisions for equal employment opportunity and that payment of not less than the minimum salaries and wages as set forth in the Specifications must be paid on this project. Any State Rate that exceeds the corresponding Federal Rate is inapplicable and shall not be enforced.

Representations, Certifications and Other Statements of Bidders, Form HUD-5369-A shall be submitted with each bid.

The Housing Authority reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any informalities in the bidding.

No bid shall be withdrawn for a period of sixty days (60) subsequent to the opening of bids without the consent of the Housing Authority.
