FROM OUR SUBURBS.

SOUTH STIRLING.

The County Superintendent of Public Schools has called Union Village with Stirling Town and named the district South Stirling. The district is D. D. Bunting, Jay, of Union Village. He reports that he finds the school in the highest condition, excelling the school last in Tilly Town. The attendance of the school is 50. The attained in bookkeeping, history, arithmetic, spelling, grammar, geography, physiology, algebra, writing and deportment. In attitude and manner they have no superior in sight. An effort is being made to have an exhibition at the close of the present quarter.

WESTFIELD.

Henry Alpers has returned with his family from his monthly trip to Florida.

The Band of Hope will give their first entertainment this evening at the rooms of the W. C. T. U.

Judge A. P. Hodges is soon to leave our town. He is going to make his home for a while in Massachusetts.

The Town Committee will hold a meeting at the town rooms on Wednesday evening. The Health Board will meet there on the same evening.

The Court of Common Pleas has ordered the six commissioners to meet next Friday to review their work in regard to the laying out of North avenue.

Rock bear and bad rum made fools out of a great many last Saturday night, to judge by the noise and them staggering home in good all night. A number of them cannot obtain anything from the town licensed houses, but the distillery appears always ready for them and is most cheaper to get drunk on it seems; yet, the saloons are blamed for the result.

NEW MARKET.

Mr. W. J. Davis is erecting new scales near his coal yard.

A goodly number from the male portion of the Methodist Episcopal church turned out on mauve and repaired the fence surrounding the cemetery.

On account of the street strikes in Chicago the lumber ordered by Mr. Rogers for the completion of his building did not arrive as expected and the work will be somewhat delayed.

Certain ones in this place have suggested the placing of pump and several hundred feet of hose in a convenient place for use in case of fire. This is something our village has long needed and is worthy of our attention.

Wednesday night, April 28, a concert will be given in the First Baptist church by the Choral Union of Bound Brook, consisting of 50 voices, assisted by the Market Glee Club; the whole under the leadership of Prof. J. G. Burdick.

After May 1, a change will be made in the order of service of the Seventh-Day Baptist church of this place. Sabbath school instead of following the morning service will precede it and Bible study continued with a praise service will be held at three o'clock p. m.

At the regular meeting of the Literary Helping Hand Society, April 17, the following officers were elected for the ensuing quarter: President—Ed. J. G. Burdick; Vice President—Harry Dunham; Secretary—Ella Lorin; Treasurer—Maud Titsworth; Critic—Lil. E. Rogers.

The Seventh-Day Baptist church is now undergoing repairs. The ceiling is being papered, and the platform stood so as to accommodate members of the choir. Other improvements in the interior of the building will be made, and the whole work will probably take a week or two to be completed.

On Wednesday last our quiet village was thrown into a most unusual state of excitement by the announcement that a wedding, Miss Isabella Day, a young lady esteemed by her numerous friends in this place, and Mr. E. E. Alverson, of Dunellen, were the happy couple. They, however, were not the only ones made happy by the event. The juveniles in the village rushed to duly celebrate the affair and the heart of many a small boy was made glad by the music of fish-horns, tin pans, etc. An old corn shellerfitted in the road also did duty, and a very brilliant display was made by setting fire to tar barrels and become saturated in oil. The bride and groom immediately after the wedding left for Washington and will go from there to Canada.

Thrown from a Buggy.

Yesterday afternoon about five o'clock as Mrs. Wm. Clausen and her two-year-old baby of Manlapan were driving down drive about in a buggy by a man in the employ of Mr. Clausen, and when turning a corner near the Westwood Hotel the horse shied at an empty barrel standing in the gutter and overturned the buggy, throwing out the occupants. In the fall Mrs. Clausen received serious injury, while a large gash was cut in the face of the child. The driver also received an ugly wound on the right hand, caused by striking it on a sharp spike. The buggy was pretty damaged, and the horse was captured without doing further damage. The party was driven to their home and a doctor summoned and showed little injuries. Serious as the accident was, Mr. Clausen says the occupants of the buggy were fortunate to escape greater injury.

Fell from a Scaffold.

Clinton Isanson, a young son of Charles Isanson of East Third street, was yesterday afternoon engaged on a scaffold which surrounds the second story of the new dwelling house being erected on East Fifth street near Richmond street, when he lost his footing and fell heavily to the ground. Two of the employes of Frank C. Green, who were working at the time, raised the boy, who was partly stunned and bleeding from a cut in the face. It is thought that no bones were broken by the fall, but that he was more or less hurt internally there is but little doubt.

Sauerbrunn Sociable.

Last evening the annual Easter sociable of the Plainfield Sauerbrunn was given in their hall on East Second street. Large had taken the course were untiring in their efforts to arrange a program that would please both the young and old participants in the social affair, and to this end they very creditably acquitted themselves. A choice selection of music by the Mozart Band followed by a capital concert "topped the light fantastic" until the "small hours." Mr. E. E. Mandard contributed to the musical portion of the program by a well-rendered solo on the zither.

Medjuka.

Since Adelaide Neilson, no actress in any part of the world has equaled Medjuka in the role of Juliet in Shakspere's tragedy. Fortunate indeed was the Music Hall association in securing the eminent actress for this city. The play will be given off-with wonderful effect on the Monday of Medjuka's engagement. "As You Like It" may always be regarded as one of the most delightful comedies of Shakspere. No one can see Medjuka as Rosalind without being the recipient of a most pleasant entertainment and big money in exchange for the privilege of witnessing the performance of the play Monday night.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

There will be a special meeting of the Board of Directors and city pastors in the parlor this evening.

The committee of the Senior Society is urged to attend the meeting this evening, as important business will be brought before the meeting.

The members of the Junior Society, Bond Branch, were well entertained and instructed Friday afternoon last by Rev. Mr. Raymond, who told them many legends and stories about Good Friday.

The fourth entertainment of the course for men only will be held in the rooms next Monday evening, May 3, when Rev. Dr. J. L. Hart will talk on "Right use of leisure time," and we assure all our readers that this will be one of the most interesting and profitable well worth hearing. Admission free to all men.

PERSONAL.

Rev. Mr. Taylor of Park avenue has gone to Philadelphia.

Rev. T. Frame, editor of the Washington, N. J., Cabinet and Review, has taken up his residence in this city.

At the residence of Frank Day on East Second street last evening about 20 couples were present to take part in an evening social dance. Dancing, refreshments, and a good time generally was the verdict of those present.

Mr. H. Cunningham will leave his house on Ninth street, which he has sold to Mr. Brett of Brooklyn, on May 1st. Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham expect to spend the summer in Norway, Sweden and Denmark, and will probably remain abroad a year.

Francis C Schwartz died at his home in Eastchester, Westchester county, N. Y., on Friday, from typho-malarial fever. Mr. Schwartz was 27 years of age and has three brothers engaged on a small-lot which surrounds the second story of the new dwelling house being erected on East Fifth street near Richmond street, on which his father was engaged, when he lost his footing and fell heavily to the ground. Two of the employes of Frank C. Green, who were working at the time, raised the boy, who was partly stunned and bleeding from a cut in the face. WHAT PEOPLE SAY.

Important Suggestions.

EDITOR EVENING NEWS:—There is a city law established for the duties of a Health Inspector whose duty is to ascertain the existence of all nuisances injurious to the public health.

There is another law defining of nuisances to be abated, all stagnant water, manure, manure heaps, cesspools, etc., which constitute nuisances.

There is one more law providing for the housing of regularly appointed persons, to clean out such obnoxious nuisances, and prohibiting all others from doing so.

Then again another law exists preventing the licensed scavengers from depositing such contents anywhere within the city, without the written consent of Health Inspector.

By a supplemental provision of the law, the Board of Health establish the rate for the licensed scavenger's work and fixes a penalty for refusing to do the work at this price.

Such being the law, ought not the City Fathers make an amendment providing some suitable place as a dumping ground?

Might not the Common Council "farm out" the privilege to some enterprising party who could prepare underground pits for depositing such matter?

Would it not be an advantage to the property holder to have these pits located not too far from the greatest number of cesspools and privies? ANXIOUS CITIZEN.

The King and His Doctors.

A good story is told of King Ernest of Hanover. He was seriously ill, and saw numerous doctors, but he would not take any medicine. As any bottle or powder was brought, his majesty said, "Put it in the cupboard," and again and again it was "Put in the cupboard." At last the drop was touched. Starving patience were the only remedies resorted to. At last his majesty got his good turn, and began to feel that he could eat a good meal. He rang the bell, gave nature fung off the disorder, whatever it was, which had run its course. His majesty was up and dressed early, and at business. "Get all those bottles, powders, and pill-boxes out of the cupboards," he said, "and range them in a row round the room." It was a very small room, and they almost made a circle round the walls. The doctors came in, smirking and smiling, and congratulating the king upon being up again and looking so well. "Yes, doctors," said his majesty, "thank God it is so. But look—come in up. Don't you think if I had taken all that stuff I should have been dead long ago"—Foreign Letter.

Dana's Opinion of Editorial Scissors.

In editing a newspaper a pen is a necessary article; so is a pencil, inasmuch as it may at times be more convenient than a pen to write with. A pair of shears is also necessary. But what is most necessary is brains. Next to brains in value I estimate what call it, for want of better instinct, the sense of what news the public requires and what discussion will be most effective. Next after this come special talents and general knowledge; and after these, more knowledge, general and special, a newspaper man has the more useful he will be.

But with all these gifts and graces he won't accomplish much unless he also possess a sense of humor and an uncompromising love of truth and of the United States constitution.

A pair of scissors, however, is not as good as a pair of moderate-sized shears, and unlike scissors nor shears can make a journalist.—C. A. Dana, Editor New York Sun.

The Stranger Who Was Delighted.

Prince Gunther, of Sondershausen, had a theatre, but though a dramatist he was not quite so modest as the king of Bavaria, since he insisted on all the court and the citizens in his city being present at the performance. In his box were clay pipes, Rhine wine, and tobacco, so that if the play was dull and long the audience seemed to witness it comfortably. Noticing a stranger yawning through the piece, he asked him how he liked it. Being assured that it was delightful, and his only regret was that it was too short, the prince shouted to the actors, "Hey! hey there. Here's a Prussian major who wants to see the play again. Go get it through once more." And actor had strength again it was, the weary audience getting home some time near daylight.—The Argonaut.

THE SUGAR REFINERS.

THE POLICE PREVENT SEVERAL ATTEMPTS TO STOP WORKMEN.

Hundreds of Angry, Idle Men Hanging Around the Closed Factories—A Few Stones Thrown, but no Serious Damage Done—The Knights Disapprove.

BROOKLYN, April 27.—It was a lively day in the sugar house quarter. Several successful attempts were made to move sugar and molasses, accompanied by demonstrations that would have repeated riots had the police been very watchful. The firm of Mollenhauer & Sons had resolved to cart some goods yesterday morning. Their molasses is all the food of Horse Shoers. Thither Capt. Brennan marched a squad of police early in the morning, and by 8 o'clock they were distributed along the streets between Kent avenue and Bedford in front of Moller, Sierck & Co.'s sugar house at the foot of Division avenue. They were ordered to move on, but they seemed to have no place to go. Four mounted policemen were stationed in front of the refinery. At 8:30 o'clock Inspector Mackellar marched fifty men from Harrison avenue to the Mollenhauer's refinery, and then the carting began.

The carting for Mollenhauer & Sons is performed by Mr. Moller, who took up the business at the death of her husband. Mrs. Dein appeared personally yesterday with her men, horses and trucks at the refinery, and announced her willingness to remove the molasses. She accompanied her men to the wharves, and acted as escort to the trucks as they returned to the refinery with the molasses. She seemed to have shown that there would be no interference with her work did she return to her home.

A number of Mollenhauer & Sons' striking employes returned to work yesterday morning. They with some new hands make a force large enough to work off the material which they left on the hands of the firm.

Mr. Palmer, who does almost all of the sugar refineries' coopering, notified his employes yesterday that he would prefer if there were no Knights of Labor in his employ that thy should quit. "Now is the time for Knights of Labor to show themselves," he said, "and they should do so by going from the shop."

Mr. Mollenhauer said yesterday: "We have lying on the wharf 4,000 hogsheads of raw molasses, worth about $40 per hogshead, or a total value of about $160,000. It is absolutely necessary for us to move these goods. In warm weather, exposed to the sun as they now are, the molasses will ferment and cause great loss. We shall try to get the hogsheads under cover. We also have two cargoes of raw molasses consigned to us to look after. If in the next week we can dispose of our present stock of goods, we can handle these; if not, we must store them at a heavy loss. Our men do not have to do the work the sugar men complain of, and they get all the pay they have demanded. Unless the sugar refineries start up we cannot run. We have no place for molasses into coarse sugar and supply them."

Several carts employed in moving sugar and molasses were distributed by stones being thrown at the drivers, but no serious outbreaks occurred, as the police were vigilant in keeping the crowds under control.

Edward I. Shields, a leading member of the Empire Protective association, yesterday pronounced the sugar house strike hasty and injudicious, and on the part of the Knights of Labor he disclaimed responsibility for it. He thought it extremely impolitic to induce men to strike before proper preparations had been made for it.

NO SETTLEMENT.

The Third Avenue Car Strike Still on With Full Force.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Before adjourning for the day last night the jury came into court and handed up a large batch of indictments. For a time it was thought that among these were some against the Third avenue strikers for the conspiracy of the Empire Protective association. This proved to be a mistake, however, as it was learned later that the grand jury had not yet finished its inquiry. No indictments will be found until all the evidence has been heard.

Just after dark last evening the Third Avenue Railroad company sent a gang of men to repair the track between Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth streets, where the fight occurred last week. A mob of about 500 striking drivers and trackmen was on the spot, and their leader told the foreman of the gang that they would not allow him to proceed. It looked as if there was to be a row when Capt. Gunner arrived with the reserves of the Fifty-ninth street station. He drove back the crowd, and policemen remained to protect the laborers.

Lawyer L. Gerlach, counsel for the Third Avenue Rail road company, was interviewed last night. In answer to the question as to whether the company would be willing to other conference meeting, he said he thought the meetings for the present virtually at an end. He did not are willing to take back any of our men who left by their own free will, of course subject to our selection, but under no circumstances whatever, no matter what may happen, will the company recognize the right of any body of men to dictate to them whom they shall or not employ. I must say the Knights of Labor are acting very foolishly if they wish to preserve their organization. If they were to come and to say that the strike was the result of a misapprehension, and having made a mistake, we must submit to the consequences of such mistake. The company would be received to their front rank in relation to both labor and capital did they recede now. Just look at the situation from another stand out. In order to take these men back in a company we would have to discharge the men now working. Now these men are willing to continue, and why should they be discharged? No. As I said before, no matter how long it may take, or in the natural course of events a question of time until enough men are found to fill all the vacant places. As to the old board of directors going out and the re-election of a new board, untrammeled by any promise, that is absurd, for the simple reason that the present board are about unanimously the owners of the stock of the company and could easily re-elect themselves. We have received from shareholders letters expressing their approval of our action in the matter, and even the bondholders express their willingness to forego their interest to aid the company. You may say again, under no circumstances whatever will the company retract from the present position, no matter how long it takes or how much money.

Random Shooting.

ST. LOUIS, April 27.—Yesterday morning Frank Murphy, of Company A, Sixth regiment, who was doing sentry duty in the Ohio and Mississippi yards, East St. Louis, called to a man who was prowling around the cars and ordered him to halt. The intruder had a rock at him. Murphy fired upon his assailant who escaped unhurt. In the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy yards two men were seen lurking cautiously around some box cars and were fired upon by the sentries, but they seem to have escaped without injury.

THE SECRET OUT.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Gladstone Much Relieved by the Action of Greece.

LONDON, April 27.—The sensation by Greece to the Demands of the powers for peace, is said by Mr. Gladstone's friends to be one of the most fortunate things for him that could happen at this juncture of affairs. Gladstone has been in great fear that a war between Greece and Turkey, undertaken in defiance of England's demands, would have greatly embarrassed the government ability to deal with his opponents at home. The attitude of the Greek government will remove this danger, which Mr. Gladstone has himself fully appreciated. There is not the less true because of the undoubted fact that the peaceful turn of Grecian affairs will be but temporary. The time consumed in negotiations for the Greco-Turkish dispute will be sufficient to allow for the completion of Mr. Gladstone's domestic campaign and for the acceptance or rejection of his Irish measures by that subjects be construed by parliament, without subjecting them to the chance of perishing by an overthrow of the ministry on a question of foreign policy. As to the ultimate action of Greece, it may be said on authority of an attache of the Greek legislation here, that if arbitration is consented by the Ottoman government, it will be because they are convinced that the award of any unbiased arbitrators must be in favor of the Hellenic unsurpassed provisions of the Berlin treaty, giving the dallying Hellenic provinces back to the mother country. Failing this, said the informant, Greece will continue her demands upon Turkey regardless of any protest by the powers, for she will never rest under the injustice now perpetrated upon 7,000,000 of her rightful subjects, by their chain under the onerous yoke of Turkish oppression.

POWDERLY CALLS A MEETING.

A General Assembly of Knights to Meet in May.

NEW YORK, April 27.—General Master Workman Powderly has called a general assembly of the Knights of Labor of the United States and the Dominion of Canada to meet in Philadelphia on May 11. This is a special meeting of the general assembly to consider the general labor troubles throughout the country, and the proposed legislation with reference to the system of arbitration in disputes between employers and employes.

The delegates who attended the general assembly at Hamilton, Ontario, in July, 1885, will continue in office as delegates at the forthcoming assembly. The regular annual general assembly, at which new delegates will be chosen, is to be held at Richmond in October next. No representatives of other labor organizations than Knights of Labor will be admitted to the convention. One of the special subjects to be considered is the causes, circumstances, and unsatisfactory results of the Missouri Pacific strike, and another object of the meeting is to perfect the organization of the Knights of Labor, with a view to more effectually centralizing it.

Mr. Powderly is expected to arrive in New York this week. While the business which brings him here is not known, it is said that it in no wise relates to the Third avenue strike, as he intimated that he will take occasion while here to disclaim for the Knights of Labor any responsibility for the strike at the sugar houses in Williamsburgh, which, it is said, has no sanction from the order.

Senator Payne's Charges.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Senator Sherman received Office the report of the select committee to investigate charges of bribery in connection with the election of the Hon. Henry B. Payne to the senate. Mr. Sherman will lay the report before the senate. He has delayed action for a day to give his colleague notice of what he proposed to do. Mr. Payne has not made up his mind whether he would ask for an investigation or wait for a report from the committee on privileges and elections, to which the matter will be referred.

To Be Tried for Inciting Disorders.

BRUSSELS, April 26.—M. Fuisseaux, the author of the "Catechism du Peuple," which was the principal agent in bringing about the strike, will be prosecuted for inciting disorders and insults to the king. His brother, a barrister, who resigned his seat in the chamber of deputies a number of years ago after making a speech in favor of universal suffrage, will defend him.

Lightning in an Office.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 27.—Lightning struck the wires connected with the Western Union Telegraph office, during a storm last night, passed into the building, and destroyed the two switchboards, detaching every wire in the building. The company is now resorting to railroad wires for routes, and it will be several days before the office will be again in working order.

Printers Want Shorter Hours.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The members of Typographical Union No. 7 employed in Lauter's printing house, at Williams and Ann streets, have struck because their employer refused their demand for twenty-three cents per 1,000 letters instead of forty-five cents per 1,000 ems, and for eight hours as the minimum day's work and $15 as the minimum amount of weekly earnings.

Secretary Whitney's Country Seat.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—On the 1st of May Secretary and Mrs. Whitney move out to Oyamaka, the country place for which he paid $30,000 last year. Mrs. Whitney will spend a part of the summer and autumn at Lenox, but the Secretary will stick close to his desk and "never go to sea or anywhere else for any length of time.

Succeeded at Last.

MANISTEE, Mich., April 27.—The Union school building and contents were destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock this morning; loss, $45,000; insurance, $12,000. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary. This is the third time within a year that incendiaries have attempted the destruction of this building.

FOLLOWED TO CANADA.

A New York Employe Arrested in Montreal.

MONTREAL, April 27.—Early this morning Pinkerton detectives arrested D. R. Smart, his wife Belle and brother, George Allen Smart, on the charge of embezzling $45,000 from the great pork packing house of George Fowler & Son, of Kansas City, Chicago, New York, Boston, Liverpool and London. D. R. Smart was the New York representative of the firm. About three weeks ago he disappeared. The books showed a defalcation in a large amount. It was learned he taken out on the charge of the embezzlement of $45,000. The detectives, learning that Mrs. Smart lived in Lowell, Mass., took up her trail and followed her to Montreal. Mrs. Chichester, N. H., and Portland, Me., to St. Lawrence hall, Montreal, where her husband and she were registered as J. H. Roberts and wife, Boston. Mrs. Smart's room has been watched since Friday, but Smart never left it. They had numerous callers, by one of whom the officers at last identified the inmates of the room by means of a photograph. A warrant was procured and the arrest was made. Writ of attachment has been taken against the luggage of the prisoners.

BRICKMAKERS STOP WORK.

A General Suspension of Business Likely.

CHICAGO, April 27.—About 120 brickmakers in Philip Lichtenstadt's yard went out on strike this morning for a reduction of hours from twenty-four to eight hours and no reduction from the present scale of wages. There are about seventy yards in this city, employing about 1,100 men. If the move be successful, it will be followed by a general strike. A brickmaking thinks it will, an almost complete cessation of building operations will occur.

Twelve hundred men, boys and girls employed in Crane Brothers' iron works have signified their intention to enforce a demand for an eight-hour day, with no diminution of wages. If the demand is refused Mr. Crane announces his determination to shut down.

STONE WORKS RESUME.

Jewett Stone Company Anticipated a Strike and Shut Down.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 27.—An agreement was arrived at between a committee of the employes of Jewett's stone works, which closed down on Saturday, and the firm, by which the works resumed operations to-day. Mr. Jewett stated that the sole object in shutting down on Saturday was to destroy an outside conspiracy that had been brewing against the firm for some time. The men intended demanding an increase of wages, amounting to 15 per cent over the present rate, this week and prepared to strike in the event of a refusal. The demands of the men will be inquired into and an arrangement considered relative to the increase of wages.

The Wabash Sold.

ST. LOUIS, April 27.—According to the favorable decree in Chancery of Chancery E. T. Allen yesterday sold the Wabash railroad at public auction to the highest bidder, Mr. J. H. Joy, representing the Wabash reorganization committee, for $200,000, and after a call for further bids, followed by a moment of silence, the property was knocked down to the only bidder, and the Wabash remains in the hands of the Gould party, without a struggle for its possession which had been expected.

Imported Stonecutters.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The Granite Stonecutters' union has called the district attorney's attention to the fact that George Berry, an agent for a Texas contractor, brought over eighty-four stonecutters from Aberdeen, Scotland, to work on the state capitol at Austin, Tex. It is alleged that the United States statutes says that no contractor shall pay the passage or otherwise aid any foreign laborers under contract to come to this country. The penalty is $1,000 for each offense.

Eight Hours Parade.

SHAMOKIN, April 27.—The Miners' and Laborers' Amalgamated association paraded and held a mass meeting in favor of the eight-hour movement yesterday. Twenty-five hundred men were in line, and there were visiting delegations from Mount Carmel, Trevorton and Locust Gap, present. The meeting was addressed by Richard Trevelick, W. Hines, and others. The parade was reviewed by 10,000 citizens. Everything was done quietly and in the best order.

Americans Understood.

LONDON, April 27.—The Marquis of Lorne, in a letter to Tom Taylor, says it is possible that too much weight has been attached to the expressions of approval of Mr. Gladstone's bills by the people of the United States and Canada. It is always politic, he says, for both political parties in America to enlist Irish sympathy, and various means are employed to secure it. Mr. Gladstone's approval of a measure in general can hardly be construed into an indorsement of its details.

English Views of the Fisheries Question.

LONDON, April 27.—The Times, commenting on the reported seizure of an American fishing schooner by a British cruiser, expresses the hope that the incident will give an opportunity to settle the fishery dispute with England. Canada, it is said, "would be wise not to insist upon her full rights. We have made such large concessions before that we may continue them without risk of being misinterpreted.

J., April 27.—The Merritt Wrecking company's lighter-car 600 tons of the cargo of the British steamship Eros, stranded on Barnegat shoals on the morning of last month, and have moved the vessel 168 feet seaward. NEW YORK, April 27.—The legislature at Albany has passed a bill appropriating $15,000 for a monument on the Capitol grounds to the memory of the officers of the Ninth regiment and patriotic courts 4 during the war.

A MOONSHINER'S RAID.

WEBB PURDAM SELLS HIS LIFE AT A HIGH PRICE.

Four Men Out of Twelve Who Attack a Revenue Officer Are Poisoned With His Deadly Bullets—A Brave Defense of a Home in Tennessee.

MANCHESTER, Tenn., April 27.—Col. J. M. Hughes and twelve men have commenced raids upon the illicit distillers in the Hubbards Cove, Coffee county, about ten days ago. Between 12 and 1 o'clock Sunday night, Webb Purdam, a prominent citizen of Hughes, who is a citizen of Manchester, was aroused from his slumbers by a mob of masked men, bursting through his bedroom door. They were about twelve in number, and without warning they began to fire a deadly volley into the bed where Purdam and his wife and children were sleeping. Purdam, though mortally wounded, left the bed side and arm being filled with buckshot, rose with a revolver in his hand and returned the fire, falling two of the assassins to the floor. This frightened the mob and they picked up one of the wounded men and fled, leaving the other where he fell. Purdam, who is noted for his pluck and nerve, staggered out of bed, seized his double-barreled shot gun, leaped over the prostrate form on the floor, and followed in hot pursuit of the fleeing mob.

Purdam ran to the yard gate and fired both barrels, which were heavily loaded with buckshot, at the retreating desperados, wending two more to the ground. They, too, were carried by their companions, and all except the wounded man left in the house made their escape. The wounded man proved to be Mack Clark, a legal distiller, but who is said to have been dealing in crooked whiskey for some time.

Sheriff Ashley and a posse started at an early hour in search of the assassins. One was found by the posse and placed in a house which the revivalist, Rev. Benjamin Dearing, of St. Louis, had placed upon the desk at which he was speaking, a large quantity of wines and liquors. Dearing and several other persons drank of the water, and are now in a precarious condition. Two saloon keepers have been arrested on suspicion, and it is thought they poisoned the water in order to break up the services which were having such a depressing effect upon their business.

BONDS FOR BREWERS.

A New Law Passed Regulating the Manner of Renewal.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Hon. Washington C. Whitthorne, appointed to fill the temporary vacancy by the resignation of Senator Jackson, was sworn in.

Mr. Hoar thought as the appointment was for Senator Jackson's unexpired term, the precedents should read "until the next meeting of the legislature." Mr. Harris said the precedents were in using the word "term" referred to the term "to be fixed by law." The precedents were filed.

Mr. Morrill, from the committee on finance, reported, with an amendment, the house bill relating to the bonds of brewers. The bill, as it came from the house, modifies section 3,257 of the Revised Statutes so as to require new bonds to be filed by the brewers on or before the 1st of May as heretofore, but whenever the collector of internal revenue shall require them to do so. The senate committee amended the bill so as to require in addition that at least once in four years the bonds shall in any event be renewed, whether the collector requests it or not. After debate the senate amendment was agreed to, and the bill, as amended, was passed.

TO NAVIGATE THE AIR.

Another Sure Solution of the Old Problem.

CHICAGO, April 27.—The Inter-Ocean this morning says: Dr. Dr. Barnett, the gentleman who has been for several years attempting to solve the problem of aerial navigation, has just made a practical model that is of considerable note. The idea is to build a steel cylinder 270 feet long and 75 feet in diameter, with a 90-foot cone at each end, the entire length being 450 feet. Beneath this cylinder it is proposed to suspend a car which will be some 130 feet long and carry the motor and a large number of passengers. The inventor says he has discovered how and the cylinder will be almost a complete vacuum. He proposes to use electricity as a motor, and expects to attain a speed of fifteen to twenty miles per hour near the earth's surface, and forty-five to sixty miles per hour at an altitude of 8,000 feet.

KILLED BY ELECTRICITY.

The Peculiar and Sudden Death of a Teamster.

PITTSBURG, April 27.—Edward R. Schaum, employed as a driver of James Aiken and company's beer wagon, observed a newsboy fall to the street under peculiar circumstances. Stopping his team he went to pick the boy up. Stooping forward his arm come in contact with an iron awning post. He plunged forward with a shriek, and when the bystanders reached him he was dead. Investigation showed that a broken telephone wire rested on top of the awning and was crossed with an electric light wire, the awning post conveying the electric fluid to the ground. Schaum was 30 years of age and leaves a widow and two children. His parents, who reside in Zanesville, O., are very wealthy. The newsboy was badly shocked, but will recover.

Terrorism prevails throughout the district.

HOW MAUD S. WAS NAMED.

A Young Filly That Was Bought for $1500—Her Wonderful Record.

The society columns of a Cincinnati paper not long since contained the following: "Miss Maud Stone entertained a number of her young friends at her father's elegant home in the east end one night last week." I think I hear you say: "Well, I don't see anything in a notice like that." There is not, only the young lady mentioned is the one the fastest trotter in the world was named for. Her father had purchased a young filly from a gentleman named Bagby for $1500. Not long after he took a friend out to Chester park to look at some racing stock. The filly was in the "infield," and as they walked toward the stable Capt. Stone said: "There is a young filly I bought the other day and I think she has a turn of speed."

His friend looked her over, and, liking her points, remarked: "Start her up and let's see how she moves." Taking off his silk hat, the captain rattled it with his hand and the frisky young animal started off at a three-minute clip. "Why, she's a natural trotter," was the comment. "She is, indeed," replied the capitalist, with a commendable pride in his purchase. "I wish I knew a good name for her," he added. "Why not call her after one of your children?" asked the friend. "I had not thought of that," was the reply as they walked away. The friend thought no more of the filly for about two weeks, when he met Capt. Stone coming out of the postoffice. "Hello," said he; "I have just acted on your suggestion, and have just posted the letter claiming the name for my filly. I am going to call her after my daughter Maud."

"Maud Stone will be a pretty name," responded the friend. "Oh! I'll not call her the full name," replied the captain with a blush. "You see, she'll mature before my daughter, and I wouldn't like to see her full name on a race card. I have called her Maud S." After the filly made her great record at Lexington she was sold to W. H. Vanderbilt for $21,000. He never knew how to handle her, and we never able to get her speed out of her. Capt. Stone tried to buy her back and offered $100,000 for her, but the Vanderbilt would not let him have her.—Philadelphia News.

Electric Search Lights for Ships.

The New York Tribune suggests that ocean steamships be provided with electric search lights, as are European men-of-war, and it is a suggestion that steamship companies would do well to consider. There is certainly nothing to prevent their using these implements of science, for nearly all the steamships are provided with electric lights, and could just as well have a search light as a dining-room light. Light is a protection against more things than burglars, and with an electric lamp lighting up a distance of a mile around a steamship is pretty well protected, and the passengers may retire with a comfortable assurance of safety. But until something of this sort is done people will for awhile have a little feeling of insecurity, though not sufficient to keep them from crossing the ocean, either for business or pleasure.—"Borden" in Philadelphia Record.

Corn-Cobs as a Regular [illegible]

It is a little singular that in such a city as St. Louis corn-cobs can not be obtained to use as fuel. They make the best kind of a fire, easily started, cook well, and in summer their use avoids heating a house. I have a friend who came here recently from an interior city, where he had been burning cobs as a regular fuel, except for heating, and he started out to find them here. They come in by the car-loads, and should be plenty, but it seems that they can hardly be brought in fast enough to supply the demand for making vinegar. A strange use, but it's a fact. Carloads after carload is pushed up to the vinegar factory on the tracks, and also of the lower grades of corn. Sher say this material goes into making the best kind of cider vinegar.—M. F. Strider in Globe-Democrat.

WOMAN AND HOME.

HOUSEKEEPING SHOULD BE CONDUCTED STRICTLY ON SYSTEM.

Selection of Color to Complexion—Time of Paper—Care of the Hands—Secret of Being Well Dressed—Correct Speech in Children—Various Items.

Housekeeping should be conducted on system. No business is well conducted without systematic rules which are strictly adhered to. Housekeeping is as much a business as bookkeeping, though but few housekeepers ever look at it in that light. There should be a place for everything, to begin with. A great deal of vexation, of loss of time and extra labor results from not having things where they belong. If you are in a hurry to find anything it generally happens that it isn't to be found; or, if found, it has to be hunted. For this can all be avoided by forming the habit of putting each article in its place after use and keeping it there when not in use. It requires a little thought at first, but it soon becomes a habit, and ever after it is done without any thought or trouble. Take pains to explain why one word is correct, another incorrect.

Teach your child how to open the lips well; and also how to talk distinctly, but in one key, and take care that any nasal twang is carefully corrected. If a boy talks in a high, effeminate voice, cultivate his manly tones; and if your female child will bless you in later years for what at present seemly tries his patience. Be careful that your girl has a firm, decided manner, with a firm "no"—a soft voice. Any inclination to stammering should be watched, the child should be trained to read aloud very slowly and deliberately.

As it may prove helpful to some one, I will quote a set of rules given by Charles Kingsley to certain young ladies. Remembering that a child could be taught to hold the upper lip down with his finger during his half hour of practice:

Open your mouth. Take full breaths and plenty of them, and mind your stops. Keep your tongue quiet. Keep your upper lip down. Use your lower lip. Read to yourself out loud. Read and speak, slow, slow, slow.—Hope Ledyard in Brooklyn Magazine.

Taking Care of the Hands.

A woman whose pretty hands are being ruined by washing in hard water, writes to ask a remedy. Water can be easily softened with a few drops of ammonia, or what is better, a small piece of lump borax. Warm water, into which enough borax has been dissolved to make the water feel a little slippery when pressed between the thumb and finger, is very good for washing the hands. Hands kept dirty look worse than soiled and white. Absolute cleanliness is necessary. Many people who do not work wash their hands a dozen times. The day's accumulation of dirt is allowed to remain on the hands all night. Upon rising, the hands are washed in cold water. The possessor wonders why, when she does no work, her hands do not look any better, if as well, as her chambermaid's.

The hands should always be washed in warm soapsuds before going to bed. White soaps are safest. Highly scented and colored soaps are almost invariably made from rancid and ill-smelling fats. After the hands are thoroughly dried, use a few drops from a bottle of mixed glycerine and camphor, which your druggist can prepare for you. Drop into the palm of the hand and rub on the hands. This will be all that will be necessary to show a decided improvement.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Old Books Made Into New.

Well, I gazed at these worn old books whose edges looked so tattered and faded, and I called up my spirit of originality—it's a most convenient little spirit, always on hand like a veritable Puck—and this same familiar suggested painting the backs of the faded volumes in the finest, brightest, richest tints upon my palette. "And you may ornament them with a little stenciled card and gold paint," said my little spirit of originality, finishing his lecture. So I cut a small, fancy stencil, simple in design, got out my prettiest paints, held a piece of stiff writing paper over the title and began; but it was fun! My "Geography of the Heavens" soon stood in splendor of blue and gold; my "General History" was rich and mossy green; my "Anatomy" blushed a rosy red, "Ahn's German Grammar" turned yellow with every or chrome or something highly decorative, while my beloved "Pasquelle," like a child of a modern Midas, turned all to pure gold!

Can you imagine the simple necromancy that turned the unattractive backs to a row of tempting loveliness!—Eva Best in Detroit Free Press.

Secret of Being Well Dressed.

What is the secret of being well dressed? asks a correspondent. The secret is an open one. It is adaptability. A lady not passing fair, nor in her teens, went to a man of good taste to get up a ball gown. His advice was talks, which he said could be worn twice. She spent double the money for a velvet and faille that would do duty a number of times, having the good sense to know that gauzy skirts and flowers and floating ribbons go with a fresh complexion. When the note of warning whispers that youth is slipping into maturity, one must begin to velvets and feathers and bring out the jewels that near the charm of youth.

Black is the refuge of women who are past 40. A distinguished woman, once a beauty, and half French from her mother, resident in the centers of Europe, always dresses in black velvet, except on grand ball occasions, when she feels herself constrained to put on Worth's combinations, her arms bare to the shoulder and her white neck gleaming beneath the circlet of diamonds.—Commercial Gazette.

To Take Care of an Oilcloth.

An oilcloth should never be scrubbed with a brush, but, after being swept, should be cleansed by washing with a soft flannel and lukewarm water in cool tea. On no account use soap or water that is hot, as either would have a bad effect on the paint. When the oilcloth is dry, rub it well with a small portion of a mixture of linseed oil combined with a minute quantity of turpentine, using for this purpose a soft furniture polishing brush. The brush should be used for no oilcloths long well. Wash them once a month with skim-milk and water, equal quantities of each; rub them once in three months with boiled linseed oil, poured on a very little, rub it well in with a rag, and polish with a piece of old silk.—Demorest's Monthly.

A Suggestion of Possible Use.

A young lady in an eastern city, who was reared in luxury, but whose circumstances were suddenly changed by the bankruptcy and death of her father, has been making a living of late by doing mending in various families, and has acquired some. Like many other girls she learned to blow.

Some of her mending, which she performed so well as to bring her a large trade, consisted of the rent in the crown of men's hats, which she darned with silk, and the rent in the brim, which she made perfect by a delicate stitch. Her work was so well done that she received many compliments to her skill, and she was called upon to mend other articles of dress, such as gloves, and in all the latter for binding the edges, a grosgrain silk was often taken from off a ribbon or garment by placing two or three layers of paper over it and putting a warm iron on the paper. The heat melted the grease, while the paper absorbs it, and by changing paper and iron occasionally all the grease will disappear.

Cloth mending seems is preferable to cloth for cleaning lamp-chimneys, windows, mirrors, etc., as it leaves no lint; also for knives, spoons, and tinware after scouring; and a piece of cloth is much lacking as other if now and then rubbed with paper. Paper in bread and cake tins protects the loaf from burning, and from the cake removes it from the tin; by this help a tin with holes in it will last long. Cut in strips and carried with the scissors, writing paper makes a good filling for envelopes, for communicating, or for the large pillows sometimes used to show off the elaborate "shams." Postal-cards and this paper are good to line the bottom of lamp-lighters, newspapers for the same use are cut in strips and rolled.—Empire State Agriculturist.

Teach Children to Speak Correctly.

No child should be allowed to speak incorrectly. If you cannot spare your little one to enunciate clearly at first it may be impossible later on. But not only be careful as to enunciation, but as to the words. Take pains to explain why one word is correct, another incorrect.
