

THE QUILL

Council voted to ask N.J. Senators Harrison Williams and Clifford Case to vote against added tolls on the Garden State Parkway at a special meeting on Monday evening. The motion was introduced by Councilman Kaczmarek and seconded by Councilman Burger.

The Council members also voted to amend the recently-passed measure which prevents left hand turns at the Central Ave. - Raritan Rd. intersection. Under the new provision, the intersection will be free from left hand turns only at certain hours.

In order to avoid some of the traffic jams which usually blight the corner --- there will be no left hand turns allowed while crossing the intersection on Central or Raritan from 7 to 9 a.m. and from 4 to 6 p.m.

The next regular council meeting is set for Monday evening, July 24 at 8 p.m. in the municipal building.

Well, the people of Clark really seem to want a swimming pool. The many readers who called us have all expressed their willingness to "subscribe" to a summer of fun and swimming.

"Congratulations" and "well done" to Council President Catlano and his committee who formulated the questionnaire and "rounded up community opinion" concerning the pool.

Now that it looks as if many Clark residents are in favor of the municipal swimming pool we'll be interested in seeing what plans shape up for the project. This should really be one of community-wide interest. We hope that many of those who've said that they are in favor of such a project will come forward with their ideas and help get things started.

And while the pool isn't started yet -- Clark can be proud of a project they've just finished.

The township bolstered the 1967 fund drive for the Union County Heart Association by $1,262. Special "thanks" go to the community co-chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. John Voynick and their staff of volunteers who worked so hard.

This year's total is $90 above the sum realized last year.

Johnson Regional Features Computer Programing Course

Twenty students from the Union County Regional High School District are pursuing a six week seminar in computer programming at the Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark. The course is being offered through the mathematics department and is being taught by Richard Fleischer, a member of the Johnson staff. The course has been made available to students of the Arthur L. Johnson and Governor Livingston, Jonathan Dayton and David Brearley Schools.

Through sixty hours of instruction, students are exposed to the various parts of the modern computer systems such as the function of input and output devices, tape readers and printers, computer storage and memory systems. They learn the Fortran and Algol computer language.

Students communicate directly with a computer located in Teaneck by means of a teletypewriter which is connected to the computer by means of a cable. The student has direct communication with the computer; his data are processed immediately and his results returned to him at his console. New advances in computer capabilities, multiple access and time sharing made this possible. In effect, the computer works simultaneously for many persons -- accepting and solving problems on an individual basis. Joseph J. Sott, Coordinator of Mathematics in the Regional District, stated that after two days of instruction students were able to write simple programs and feed them into the computer. Motivation is so high that students can hardly wait to use the computer. He is amazed at the ease with which students are mastering computer techniques.

Dr. Warren M. Davis, Superintendent of the Regional District, feels that the seminar is giving our students a wonderful learning experience in an area that is gaining in importance. Not only are students given training in computer programming but they are also provided motivation for the study of current course material in mathematics. Students also get an insight into the mathematical content of some course material which ordinarily requires a great deal of tedious calculation, or which necessitates the solution of many problems for which there is little time in the classroom. Potential college students are made aware of the fact that the computer can be a useful research tool for under-graduates.

Plans are being formulated for a separate semester course in computer programming to be taught on the junior or senior level during the regular school year.

For added information or to view the actual operation of the computer service, please contact Mr. Fleischer at the Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, 382-0910 from 8 a. m. to 11:45 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Bachand Gets Hyatt Staff Analyst Post

The appointment of Albert G. Bachand, Jr., to serve as staff analyst - New Jersey operations - New Jersey operations, New Department - Hyatt Bearings Division, General Motors Corporation, has been announced by the GM Division's comptroller, Robert E. Forbes.

Mr. Bachand, who will be located at the firm's Clark plant, is transferring from Sandusky, Ohio. A native of

THE MODERN COWPOKE

Today's "Cowpoke" might own a horse, but more than likely, his bronco is a racing bike or small scooter to zip around with to all those unlikely "happening" places essential to his way of life.

Bristol, Conn., he is a graduate of George University, class of 1948. He played varsity baseball while at Georgetown, and as a first baseman played with and against several major league players while serving with the U.S. Navy from 1943 until 1946.

Mr. Bachand joined the former New Department Division of General Motors in 1950. Until moving to Sandusky in June of 1965, a few months following consolidation of GM's New Department and Hyatt operations, he fulfilled several key accounting assignments with New Department. He relinquishes the duties of general supervisor of operations analyst to assume the New Jersey position, a newly-created one.

Presently Mr. and Mrs. Bachand and their two children reside in Port Clinton, Ohio. They will soon move to the Clark area.

Today's cowpoke is just that. His attire is nothing more than the good old American western-influenced fashion, reflecting the best of previous generations.

Take the low-slung hip-hugger trousers of cowboy days, add the chunky rawhide belts of the frontier, then add the fabric picture "Riverboat Gambler's" striped pattern, and you have the youthquake look of '67.

There is another important ingredient which the old "stovepipes" didn't have: the durable, permanent press in synthetic blends of Avil rayon and polyester. What was once the permanent-wrinkle has now become the permanent-press, with all those new Avisco fibers available.

Some have called the young fashion trend "mod," but remember, the look is not imported anything. It's good old fashioned frontier: exported, then imported again, acquiring the best features of each generation, and interpreted by JBC slacks.

Rahway "Y" Will Build On Irving Street Site

John D. Bober, Treasurer of Purolator Products Incorporated, has been appointed Chairman of the Rahway YMCA Building Program which is now being activated with the hopes that additional facilities will be built in the near future.

Bober, a member of the "Y" Board of Directors for the past year is also a member of the Finance Committee.

He was appointed Chairman of the Building Committee recently by Edward L. Rickes, President of the Rahway "Y," and Chairman of the Board of Directors.

Also appointed to serve on the Building Committee are William Rand, Jr., who has been serving as Campaign Chairman of the Building Fund, and a member of the "Y" Board for many years. Charles Schults, a member of the "Y" Board of Directors since 1942 is on the Committee as are Charles Mauren, Dudley Painter and Clifford Felton. Rickes and General Secretary B.U. Smith both serve on the Committee as members ex-officio.

The Committee has met on three occasions recently with the architect, Donald Pantel of Tectonic Associates, Somerville.

For several months, citizens of Rahway have been led to believe that there is a possibility that the new "Y" building program can and will be carried on at a location on South Main Street adjacent to the Rahway Redevelopment area.

This belief was born when two articles appeared in Newspapers stating that application for Federal funds was a relatively simple process and would result in assistance in the building program. A trip to Philadelphia, the District headquarters of the U.S. Government and several phone consultations have revealed that only those portions of a building to be built to conduct anti-poverty programs would be sponsored by the Federal Government.

Another restriction allowed only the building of an outdoor pool.

Since the major need of the Rahway "Y," with its tremendous swimming program twelve months of the year is a larger, more adequate indoor pool, locker rooms and shower rooms, the application for Government funds would, in no way, solve the needs of the Rahway "Y."

With this information in mind, the "Y" Board of Directors has dropped the matter of considering the lower Main Street area, and possible help from the Government and is pursuing the expansion of its building program on the present location adjacent to its building at 1564 Irving Street.

This has been the site of the present building, built in 1917, and an earlier wooden structure built about the turn of the century.

Clark Girls At

Cheerleader Clinic

View LBJ, Kosygin

Two Clark girls spent an eventful week in Glassboro, N. J. recently -- and have not only blue ribbons but some very special memories to show for it.

Miss Kathy Jacquemin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Jacquemin, of 8 Dawn Dr., and Miss Sue Boettke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Boettke, of 8 Park Dr., Clark, just returned from a week's stay at Glassboro State Teachers College where they attended the Cheerleaders' clinic, sponsored by the State Department of Education.

And the girls were lucky enough to be among the cheering crowds gathered at Hollybush for the meeting of President Lyndon B. Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexi Kosygin. They witnessed the departure of the two international leaders.

Meanwhile, back at the cheerleaders' clinic, Sue and Kathy competed with girls from all over the state. Very successful, each girl won one second place ribbon and two fourth place honors.

The girls will enter their sophomore year at Arthur L. Johnson Regional H. S. in the fall and have been chosen as cheerleaders for the high school. Cheering comes naturally to the two young ladies -- and they've had a lot of practice in it. Both served as cheerleaders for the Charles H. Brewer School for two years and were leading the "hip - hip - hooraaaay" for the Pop Warner "Little Crusaders" for four years.

Clark Students Earn $24,106

Through Distributive Education

Although they are "businessmen and women" through -- they haven't issued an annual report for the year. But if they did -- the Distributive Education students at Clark Regional would certainly show a profit!

The Distributive Education Class of the Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in the Union County Regional High School District No. 1 has completed an interesting and productive year in which they have collectively worked 16,675 hours and earned a total of $24,106.

The students in this cooperative work experience program spent their senior year completing the required subjects necessary for a high school diploma and working part time in distributive occupations to gain "on the job" experience. They were employed in retail, wholesale and service occupations. Each day during the school year they reported at one o'clock in the afternoon to their various positions in business for which they received not only school credit but also a regular wage.

During the morning hours the Distributive Education students were given training related to the positions they held. This training included history of business, opportunities available in retaining, studies in human relations, store policies, business location and layout, merchandise information, sales promotion, stock control and pricing.

In addition to the usual classroom procedure, the students enjoyed speakers from industry, government agencies and foreign countries. Fund raising projects were organized to finance the annual Employer-Employee Banquet which the students sponsored to honor those people with whom they have worked for the past year.

A survey of the retail establishments in Westfield was conducted for the Westfield Chamber of Commerce as a community service project. The students enjoyed three field trips during the year: They participated in the New Jersey Leadership Training Conference for Distributive Education students at Trenton State College, visited Koos Brothers Furniture Store in Rahway and spent a day in New York City touring the J. C. Penney Company.

The students in the Distributive Education class included members from both Clark and Garwood. Those from Garwood were John Csupa, Judy Demarest, Maria Di Fabio, Gail Fleisher, Jean Mueller, Joe Ragonese, and Walter Stefanski. The Clark students were Bill Doerflin, Bill Duffy, Paul Gardiner, Linda Godek, Bonnie Kocska, Connie Lee, Elena Novello, John Patrick, Lorraine Russo, Eugene Scalingi, Karen Simanowski, Dennis Samlie, and Bob Wolff. Two thirds of these students continued working after graduation in positions which they held during the school year.

The following business organizations cooperated with the work program by employing students during the year: Merit Foodtown and A & P, Made in America Store, and Adler's in Westfield; and Laidlaw Brothers in Summit.

The program is under the supervision of Miss Eleanor Murphy, Coordinator of Business and Distributive Education. The teacher-coordinator is Mrs. Barbara Ullom.

NEWS-RECORD MAILBAG

To The Editor:

Approximately three weeks ago a very attractive-looking "mother cat" selected my shrubbery as a maternity ward. For my family and me it has become a personal cat-astrophe!

After giving birth to five beautiful, healthy kittens, this "mother", as my children have named her, has endured everything from drenching rainfalls to attacks upon her "family" by other strays. One episode resulted in an injured paw on the mother. Obviously, other people besides myself aren't concerned with the petty insults which masquerade as humor, when caring for "a cat" is concerned. Through the generous and expert assistance of Dr. B. Johnson, who is on the staff of Dr. William Taylor, I was able to treat the paw, thereby avoiding serious infection.

My family and I constructed a tent-like structure to shield the animals, as the mother returns them to the shrubs each time we endeavor to move them into a more sheltered area. We have continued to care for the mother, since she had the kittens, and have especially pitied them on nights which have ranged from sweltering and humid to chilling downpours--not to mention fireworks and thunder.

We are not fanatical animal lovers -- we have one spayed male cat of our own first and only pet in the nine years we have been married, because I too was one of the ignorant, uninformed people who are petrified of cats and consider them sneaky and horrible. Our own cat is just a stray who happened into our yard one day about a year ago--and we all love him dearly. Not as pet owners, but as human beings, however, we do care about animals. Throughout each day of watching these kittens grow, we have had the apparently false joy of waiting for the passage of six weeks when we could take the kittens to the kennels for adoption with their mother and gladly pay whatever costs were required to "find them a good home". Obviously, we were having pipedreams.

At the time of this writing, the kennel is overloaded with kittens--cats are very lax in calling ahead for reservations. However, there is a chance that one or two might be "adopted" for a "fee". But because of the overcrowding, there is a limit to the length of time an animal can be sheltered. When this is the case, the animals are "put to sleep" in a manner differing vastly from the merciful injection method utilized by the veterinarian. In a tank, cats and dogs together -- healthy and unhealthy -- ugly and beautiful -- are "put to sleep" with pellets of carbon monoxide. Some cats--quite a sturdy lot--have been known to "survive" for as long as four and one-half minutes. Perhaps by now, though, this "record" has been broken!!

While I might be fortunate and catch a day when the kennel is not full, and the kittens just might possibly be "adopted", there remains little hope for the mother. Although she is a beautiful Tabby in excellent health, although she is small, quite young, and apparently having just had her very first litter, a slim -- even nonexistent -- chance can be had for her adoption. After all, who in his right mind would "buy" a mother cat when she can get a puppy? Or if you're really desperate, then a kitten.

I not only feel genuine sorrow at this appalling situation, but I am becoming angrier with each day. First of all, I do not "seek out" strays as some individuals have inferred. Because of the proximity of my home to the Kindness Kennels, many animals find their way into my neighborhood when their owners rebel at the thought of paying a fee and merely "drop them off". Possibly because I have a cat, the animals gradually turn up at my home.

I am also angry because people do not care enough to pay for the admittance of their unwanted animals into the kennels. I am doubly angry, because some people keep a cat in their homes until she is ready to deliver and then just go and unload her somewhere. Such is the case with this mother cat. She is so gentle and affectionate with the children--so meticulously clean, and black where she should be black; white where she should be white--so trained to use the litter which I have placed outside -- it is obvious that she has belonged to someone.

I am more than willing to pay any fee for these kittens--mother included--but I will not pay to have them put away, especially in this manner. In sheer desperation I am writing this letter in the hope that someone will read it and want to "adopt" not "buy", a kitten or take the mother. Because of the natural resentment by my own male cat for the female, it is impossible for me to do so. It just seems pitifully ironic that all the care, medicine, food and attention spent on these animals to keep them healthy has been in vain.

The mother is a young black and white Tabby female with five kittens -- two sets of twins and an odd fellow. There are steel-gray male twins and white female twins with identical markings of beige and darker brown. The odd fellow (or I should say, girl) is solid black with a light line running vertically from the forehead to the nose. Their eyes are blue.

In three weeks these kittens will stop nursing and be ready to leave their mother. I would truly like to feel that someone will take advantage of the opportunity to function as a human being and prevent these animals from being killed. Sincerely,
Mary H. Ryan

Post Office Issues Boy Scout Stamp

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien made public today the design of a postal card that will salute the Boy Scouts' Twelfth World Jamboree, according to Postmaster Warren T. Moulton.

The 6-cent air mail card will be issued August 4 at Farragut State Park, Idaho, where Scouts from nearly one hundred nations and territories will be encamped. Estimates of anticipated attendance range from 14,000 to 20,000 for the August 1-9 event, the first ever staged in the United States.

Assistant Postmaster General Richard J. Murphy will represent the Post Office Department at the first day ceremony on August 4.

Theme of the Jamboree is "For Friendship." Scouts will be awarded a special Jamboree neckerchief slide for putting the theme into action with such accomplishments as:

Learning to say "For Friendship" in three other languages.

Eating a meal as the guest of a foreign patrol and learning a recipe of that country.

The commemorative postal card was designed by Steven Dohanos, of West Port Connecticut, a member of the Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee, who has produced his ninth design in eight years. Members of the Committee are not remunerated for their art work.

The design is based on the Jamboree patch which shows the fleur-de-lis emblem of Scouting and Borah Peak, the highest point in Idaho, host state to the Scouts.

It is the largest postal card design the United States has ever issued, measuring 2 7/16 inches wide. A bronze fleur-de-lis appears left, with snow-capped Borah Peak dominating the background. Green trees are in the foreground. A blue sky grows lighter as it nears the horizon. Across the top in sans serif italics in black is "World Jamboree Idaho U.S.A. 1967." At the bottom beyond the body of the design is "United States Air Mail 6c," in the same style.

The stamp was modeled by Robert J. Jones of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Ten million cards will be printed by the Government Printing Office in two runs on a two-color offset press, blending yellow, blue, red and black inks. Maximum blending occurs in the fleur-de-lis in which the bronze color is achieved by interspersing half-tone dots in the four inks.

The 6-cent air mail card is valid for postage to Canada and Mexico, in addition to all points in the United States and its possessions. It may be used to send messages to other countries by affixing adhesive stamps to meet the required rate.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations should send their orders to the Postmaster, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho 83814, plainly indicating the full name and address, INCLUDING ZIP CODE, with remittance to cover the cost, which is six cents each. The first day covers will be postmarked with a special cancellation reading "FARRAGUT STATE PARK, ID, AUGUST 4, 1967." The envelope to the Postmaster should be plainly endorsed "First Day Covers 6c Boy Scout Jamboree Card."

The Boy Scout Movement was founded in England in 1908 by Sir Robert Baden-Powell. A year earlier he had staged an experimental encampment with 22 boys at Brownsea Island, and the Twelfth Jamboree will recreate this historic event on the 60th anniversary.

The first World Jamboree was staged in London in 1920 the last previous one was at Athens in 1963.

Farragut State Park, site of the first United States World Jamboree, is about 50 miles northeast of Spokane, Washington.

The Scouts will prepare their own meals, served to patrols of eight.

Assignment as cook and assistant cook will rotate. The logistics of supplying food are staggering. To fill that bottomless pit that is the stomach of a growing boy, Jamboree officials have ordered such quantities as 175,808 quarts of milk. One hundred and ten cases of soap will be required to wash pots and pans.

FASHION PARTNERS--It's the year of the costume. And Maid of Cotton Georgia Pearce shows one of the season's smartest: a shapely coat and dress ensemble in a novelty-patterned cotton. Color-coordinated leather trims the collar, revers, and pocket tabs. Designed by Tarquin for Samuel Robert.

Announcement was made of the bus ride to Yankee Stadium on August 14.

62 Enrolled In Tennis Program

Sixty-two youngsters between the ages of 7 - 15 are taking part in the annual tennis program sponsored by the Rahway Recreation Department. The program is held each Friday morning at the Ilderan courts on Pierpont Street. The program begins at 9:30 a. m. and ends at 11:30 a. m.

There are three groups for instruction. Nicholas F. Delmonaco, General Supervisor of playgrounds and Chairman of the Junior High Physical Education Department is in charge of instruction. He is assisted by Miss Diane Gyna, a teacher in the Newark School system; Miss Nancy Toscano and Miss Mary Jane Decker, both education majors at Newark State.

The youngsters are given both on the court instruction and fundamental drills on the practice wall. The tennis program has been in existence for the past eight years as part of the summer recreation program. Mr. Delmonaco feels that by having this program the lack of interest in tennis in the community may build up.

Several of the youngsters will be given individual lessons on the court behind the High School in order to compete with youngsters from other communities on an informal basis. This service will also be provided free of charge to the children of the taxpayers of Rahway as an extended part of the summer recreation program.

The Recreations traveled to Union to score a 4-1 win over the VFW behind the seven hit pitching of Tom Fitzgerald. The locals took over the lead by the score of 2-1 in the top of the third and scored single runs in the fifth and seventh. Joe Readle and Bob Mollenhauer each had three hits for the winners. Vandals Wreck

Howard Field

The long history of vandalism at Howard Field in Stockton Street was continued over the Fourth of July when extensive damage was done to the facilities making it necessary to close the area for an undetermined period of time.

A report from the Recreation Department on Monday indicated that no repairs had yet been made at the field and that there was some question as to whether it would be possible to put the field back in operation this summer.

Vandalism to the storage shed and lavatory facilities at Stein Field have been repaired and the facility is back in operation this week. Edward Kellaway, an off-duty patrolman apprehended the guilty youngsters in the Stein Field incident and the parents have agreed to pay for the damages done.

In commenting on the damage to playground facilities, Nicholas Delmonaco, General Supervisor of playgrounds stated this week that it was regrettable that boys and girls who use the playgrounds in the day time are deprived of their fun because of the action of other youngsters who create the damage at night.

Mr. Delmonaco also stated that someone much have heard the vandals at Howard Field but that not a single call was made to police headquarters to report the vandals or the damage done. Mr. Delmonaco called upon citizens to meet their civic responsibility and report actions which result in the destruction of property values.

In addition, the battalion operates a rock quarry and crusher, concrete batch plant, and a cement block plant.

Marine Corporal Robin B. Vincent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Vincent of 1448

Lawrence St., Rahway, is a member of the First Tank Battalion, a unit of the First Marine Division near Da Nang, Vietnam.

The team of infantrymen and their tanks has proven an effective weapon against enemy bunkers and heavy concentrations of enemy forces.

The civic action program is designed to assist the Vietnamese people in completing self-help projects, and makes use of equipment and materials made available through the Marine Corps Reserve Civic Action Fund. Marines in Vietnam provide the know-how and guidance to the people in carrying out these projects.

The promotion was awarded two months earlier than is customary under an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees.

As many as half the trainees in each training cycle are eligible for the early promotion, based on scores attained during range firing, high score on the physical combat proficiency test, military bearing and leadership potential.

During advanced individual training, also of eight weeks duration, those who received early advancement to E-2 may be eligible for another "accelerated" promotion, to E-3 (private first class).

She is able to cruise through ice 3-4 feet thick and by backing and ramming she is able to break through ice up to 12 feet thick.

Icebreakers such as the Edisto are essential to vital U. S. operations in the Arctic and Antarctic regions.

Frederick O. Church, whose name is widely known in the feed and poultry industries, will end a long career with Merck & Co., Inc. this month, it was announced by J.R. Warren, marketing director for Feed Products, Merck Chemical Division.

"Mr. Church's decision to seek new fields of activity is an occasion of the deepest regret at Merck," Mr. Warren said. "Fred has played a major role in the development of Merck leadership in the feed field, and his knowledge and experience will be missed."

As eastern regional sales manager for the Feed Products department, Mr. Church has been in charge of sales activities in 21 states since 1962. Prior to his decision to depart from the company, he had been expected to assume a number of other duties, Mr. Warren said.

Don't Delay Filing For Medicare

Do not delay filing for Medicare if you are within three months of your 65th birthday," Ralph W. Jones, social security district manager in Elizabeth, pointed out today. "This suggestion applies to all those who are approaching 65 even though they may plan to continue working full time," Jones said.

The enrollment period for applying for the doctor bill insurance part of Medicare is a 7-month period beginning 3 months before the month you reach 65 and continuing for 3 months after you are 65. Jones stressed, however, that medical insurance coverage can begin with the month of your 65th birthday only if you file your application in one of the 3 months before you reach 65.

An important point that Jones emphasized is that you need not retire to enroll for Medicare. In fact, when you do file you may be surprised to learn that, because of new and more liberal provisions that started in 1966, your present earnings may permit you to receive partial social security cash benefits.

The concluding advice by Jones is to visit the Elizabeth social security district office at 268 North Broad Street three months before you celebrate your 65th birthday. By filing promptly for Medicare and for any monthly cash benefits, you will be protecting yourself.

The office is open daily Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and each Thursday evening until 8:00 p.m.
