

THE QUILL

This is a very special issue of the "Clark Patriot" -- we're two years old this week. The first issue of the "Clark Patriot" appeared on August 12, 1965. It was distributed free to 2,500 Clark homes. The second issue appeared on August 18, 1965 and was distributed free to the remaining 2,500 Clark homes. As soon as the first sample copies of the paper had been distributed, the Clark Jaycees undertook a major subscription drive throughout the township. And, on September 9, 1965 the first paid-for subscriptions to the "Clark Patriot" were delivered through the mail. We're proud to say that each week since then, more subscribers have received the "Clark Patriot" with their Thursday mail each week. And more than 15 stores sell "Clark Patriot" issues each week.

A lot has happened since the first issues of the "Patriot" appeared. These pages have carried stories of Governor Hughes' congratulatory letter to the president of the Jaycees, James Flood, on the work the Jaycees did in helping Clark get a newspaper of its own.

...our "missing word" contest, in which a cash prize was given to the person who first spotted the "missing word" in one of our ads. It was a huge success. In one day -- we received over 75 telephone calls from readers who thought they'd found the "missing word."

...Clark men elected to the Regional High School and local Boards of Education.

...Important "Clark Patriot" sale days in our "CLARKTON SHOPPING CENTER" special issues.

...the expansion of "Clark's bank" to the Clark State Bank and Trust Company.

...the construction, dedication and use of the new Mil-dred Terrace School

...the construction, dedication -- and tremendous success -- of the Clark Free Public Library.

...Annual fund drives by Clark's many service organizations.

...the opening of Clark's first and only funeral home.

...Many Clark residents honored by social, civic, service and professional organizations.

...Many pretty young ladies chosen to represent their schools or business in "beauty contests."

But, all in all, it's been a good two years -- and we've tried hard to give the people of Clark a hometown newspaper that's both interesting and fair. We've bent over backwards to be sure that the Democratic and Republican parties in town get equal coverage -- because that's the way we feel it should be. As we said in the first issue of the "Clark Patriot" --

"...We want to assure those who are disturbed by the Patriot's arrival that we will attempt at all times to be fair and honest. We need not seek out skeletons in the closet -- but we will not close the door on controversy."

Over the past two years, we've felt proudest when our readers told us that we've accomplished just that.

Congratulations to the Clark playground team who copped second place in the annual junior division Union County Playground Championships on Monday.

Clark youngsters tallied 36 points to place second in the championship -- led only by the perennial winners -- the Union team.

But, we're very proud of the showing our team presented. Good work!

Summer School

Remember when summer school was a dreaded event? Not so now.

The Clark Summer School provided experience in a variety of areas. Strengthening programs were offered in the fields of science, math and developmental reading. Students interested in improving their study techniques were included in the "How To Study" class and 230 youngsters from grades 2 to 6 were provided for in Remedial Reading and Speech Courses.

The enrichment program afforded an opportunity for "in depth" study in science, introduction to algebra, S. M.S.G. math, Conversational French and Spanish, creative writing and personal typing. The program introduced new instructional materials and allowed for the development of small group teaching techniques.

Such skills as use of the slide rule as a tool of mathematics and the reading pacer for speed reading were developed throughout the program.

Culminating activities included a field trip to the Pigalle Restaurant in Plainfield where the language classes enjoyed French atmosphere, and the publication of creative writing magazine Kaleidoscope by the summer students.

The program was offered to all 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grade students from the township.

Better Clean up

Weeds, Debris

On Your Property

Robert T. Walsh, Clark's Business Administrator and Director of the Bureau of Health, today asked the cooperation of all property owners in Clark to clean immediately all of their properties, particularly vacant lots, by August 15, 1967. "Aside and apart from correcting the unsightliness that exists in some places, the primary and the humane purpose of this request is to insure the removal of ragweed, golden rod and any such growths that can cause intense discomfort to persons allergic to these pollens," Walsh stated.

In the several years past, the great majority of property owners have complied with this request," Walsh said, "but a few persons have failed to do so."

"We have been lenient in the past but this year we will proceed without delay against property owners whose lots are not clean by August 15th. The cleaning job will be done by Township employees and outside contractors if the property owner refuses to do this, and the cost of such work will be certified to the Municipal Council and it then becomes a lien upon the properties involved," Walsh concluded.

'Fantastic' Response To Art Work

Offered By Clark State Bank, Trust

Residents in Clark Township and environs are a lot more art-oriented than most people suspected, according to Victor W. Clark, executive vice president of the Clark State Bank and Trust Company. Clark, whose bank has been using reprints of art masterpieces to attract new business, notes that area residents have responded beyond expectations to the offer.

"Quite frankly," Mr. Clark remarks, "we had expected to receive about 150 orders for the paintings when we put up our displays last February. However, we've taken orders for more than 500 in the past six months."

Normally, a promotion like this has a duration of only two months. Every time we think about taking down the display, a new flood of orders makes us change our minds."

Mr. Clark concludes from the "fantastic" reception accorded the art promotion that "people in this area appreciate fine art far more than anyone realized." Of course, Mr. Clark says he suspects that the offer of an art masterpiece reproduced on canvas and stretched over an artist's frame for only $4.95 "awakened a latent interest in fine art." The offer is made to persons opening new accounts with $25 or more or adding $25 to an existing account.

According to Mr. Clark, the most popular choices among the 20 reproductions available have been "Free as the Wind" by Albo, Homer's "The Herring Net" and "The Hay Wain" by Constable. Other popular selections have been "October Morn" by Robert Wood; "Sunflowers" by Van Gogh; "The Watermill With the Red Roof" by Hobbema; "Autumn Bronze" by Wood; "Golden Charger" by Simon; "Young Girl at an Open Half-Door" by Rembrandt, and "Mother Love" by Gentilini.

The Clark State Bank and Trust Company executive observes that "the success of our painting promotion is a strong indication that the cultural renaissance in America has had a significant impact in Clark. Naturally, we at the bank are pleased to have made our contribution to this movement."

Arrangements for purchasing an 18 x 24-inch canvass masterpiece can be made at either the main office or the Westfield Ave. branch of the Clark State Bank and Trust Company.

Why more and more new phone lines are going underground

There are several reasons. For one thing, buried cable doesn't clutter up the landscape; neighborhoods will look neater. Also, of course, buried cable isn't affected by storms, falling limbs, or wayward autos. And finally, the development of new materials and cable-laying techniques has made buried cable easier to install, and more economical than in the past. As telephone service expands, more and more lines will go underground. But it still costs money. So we're making haste slowly on this project, to keep the cost of your telephone service as low as possible.

To The Editor:

I'm sorry to say I missed your article on school guards, but I did read your reply to the previous editorial. I happen to be a school crossing guard for going on 4 years. I know working for the public is very difficult, because each person has his own idea of how the job should be done. I do my job to the best of my ability, which is just how any worker in any job would do. I would like to impress to the public that if we really didn't care about all the children we guard, we wouldn't be out there. The money we make for standing out in the freezing rain and snow, the hot sun is, indeed very little. The couple of times a day as it was put in the paper amounts to close to 4 hours a day. Let some of the complainers try that on a 100-150 day for 5 days.

RUM On License Plate You Can't Have APE, Bed,

Two basic changes are taking place in the area of automobile license plates. First is the swing in recent years to highly-reflective "safety" plates (now what a WIG, forget it, but guess what, the list prohibits a TAXI. You can't even get WET, and your TOT can't have a TOY.

If you've read this far, you're probably ready to tell me I'm some kind of a NUT, who belongs in a ZOO. Well, or letter-prefix, plates, and this is causing some problems. Many drivers have re-

Circus Wagon Entertains At St. Elizabeth

The children of the Pediatrics Department at The Saint Elizabeth Hospital were enjoyably surprised at noontime recently by the addition of an unusual piece of equipment to the children's play room.

A child's Circus Wagon, approximately 12 feet long and 3 feet wide, with its exciting circus atmosphere of color, lights and "toy" animals was opened for use by the youngsters when Sister Ellen Patricia, Administrator, turned on the lights for the Wagon.

The children's play room was closed for a couple of days while the wagon was being assembled and put into place. "The Wagon was designed and constructed by our hospital maintenance and engineering personnel for the complete entertainment and enjoyment of our young patients," said Sister Ellen Patricia.

Children may climb into the wagon, walk through it, and brush against several toy animals. There is a lion, and also a monkey that is hanging from the top cross bars.

Looking into the wagon, one gets the impression of peering into a large circus tent with the three rings in action. Seen on a full back panel painting are female acrobats on the swings, lions riding unicycles on the high wires, a brass band, camera enthusiasts, people in the bleacher stands, and of course, a clown, and lots and lots of animals.

At the exit end of the wagon, a giraffe is extending his long neck through an opening to the play room floor, thus allowing youngsters to enjoy a slide down his neck. Peering through the opening is the "royal" lion, with crown on his head, to show he is the "king of beasts" - debating if he should be extremely courageous and slide down the giraffe's neck.

The idea of a child's Circus Wagon originated with Cornelius Mac Mahon, the hospital's Executive Engineer. It was designed by Charles Kingston of the Engineering Department and constructed by the Maintenance personnel.

NEW JERSEY JAYCEES ANNOUNCE THAT FOOT- BALL STAR WILL APPEAR

The New Jersey Jaycees announced today that famed ex-Philadelphia End Pete Retzlaff will officiate at pregame ceremonies for the sixth annual Jaycee Football Classic.

Retzlaff has participated in the five prior Classic games which have raised nearly $750,000 for New Jersey Charities and is active in New Jersey affairs.

This year's game is scheduled for Sept. 2, in Princeton's Palmer Stadium and tickets are available by writing the New Jersey Jaycee Football Classic, Post Office Box 324, Princeton, New Jersey or by contacting Sears and Bambergers. The trustees of Princeton University donate the use of Palmer Stadium and the Pepsi Cola Company cooperates with the Jaycees in presenting the game.

WELL-LETTERED — Dr. James N. Rosenau, a State University political scientist who says that Americans are evidencing increased concern with civic affairs by writing more letters to newspapers and public officials, checks statistics with Marilyn Falk of Hillsdale, a Douglass senior who is serving as his research assistant this summer.

Are You More Interested In Civic Affairs? Most Americans Now Are!

Are Americans, beset with international tensions and civil strife, becoming bored with or more deeply attentive to public affairs?

If the answer is based on the number of letters they are writing to newspapers, public officials and the White House, there's no doubt they are becoming more attentive, says Dr. James N. Rosenau, a professor of political science at Douglass College of Rutgers.

Dr. Rosenau is in the midst of a long-term study of public attitudes toward political issues in the periods between elections, which is likely to result in his ninth book on politics.

He presented preliminary results of this new research before the 1967 annual convention of the International Studies Association. The results include new data he has developed on the number of letters sent by citizens to the White House, The New York Times, The New York Post and Sen. Philip A. Hart of Michigan.

"All four sources show a substantial growth in the amount of mail received from the public since the end of World War II," Rosenau reports.

In all four cases, Dr. Rosenau found, more letters were received in the 1960s than in the 1950s. In 1958, for example, the letters-to-the-editor desk of The New York Times received an average of 244 letters each week. In 1966 the same desk received letters from 541 readers each week.

Similarly, the White House received an average of 10,041 letters each week in 1958. Dr. Rosenau is now working on more recent White House data and his early projections are that it received about 16,000 letters weekly in 1966.

Dr. Rosenau feels that an increasing proportion of Americans care enough about civic issues to write a letter and that the numbers of those in the group he calls "the attentive public" are growing.

The State University political scientist acknowledges that there are many in his citizenship when elections field who think that "sari- in the last 50 years," Rotated by luxury, stultified by television, atomized by large organizations, deprived of the welfare more people in general are state, isolated from the center-writing letters showing complexity of society, the more people than ever individual is turning away from public affairs.

But, he says, despite the rate of growth of such international letters is even small but steady expansion of growth in letter-writing in the number of citizens who develop and maintain a continuing interest in public affairs.

Dr. Rosenau believes this growth can be explained by the overall population, are improving educational levels in the U.S. and by the "shrinkage factor" — the degree to which communication and transportation improvements have shrunk the social and political distances within and between nations.

"The data indicates that increasing numbers of people, and a growing proportion of the overall population, are attentive to public affairs in general and to international affairs in particular," Rosenau sums up.

SPORTS FREEHOLD

The Expansion '67 program at Freehold Raceway is complete. When the horses went to the post for the first race on opening day, Aug. 7, they raced eight across for the first time in the track's long history.

The $650,000 improvement program has resulted in a completely new racing strip, additional seating capacity, increased wagering, concession and rest room facilities.

Perhaps the biggest improvement from the fans point of view the tremendous apron between the stands and the track. This will make it much easier for the fans to move about on even the busiest days.

The new racing oval has resulted in the heaviest request for stall space in harness racing history. Requests were received for stall space for over 3,000 horses.

Racing secretary Don Roberts has assigned space for 702 horses on the grounds with 300 being sent to local farms.

Margaret Benner Wed. To Kenneth Dale Slack

Miss Margaret Leeden Benner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leeden W. Benner of 125 Stiles St., Elizabeth, became the bride of Kenneth Dale Slack of 519 Monroe Avenue, Elizabeth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Slack of 18705 Alderburg Drive, Roland Heights, California, at 4:30 p.m. on Aug. 5, at Epworth Methodist Church, Magie Avenue, Elizabeth. The Reverend Raymond Rousset, pastor, officiated.

Miss Emilie L. Benner was maid of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaids included Miss Elizabeth R. Benner, another sister of the bride, Mrs. Lawrence Barton, Mrs. Edward Logan, and Mrs. Frederick Puorro. The maid of honor wore a leaf green gown and carried a bouquet of green and white daisies, the bridesmaids wore pale pink gowns and carried pink and white daisies. The bride's gown was of white peau-de-soir trimmed with alecone lace with a monk's cape and white tulle veil. She carried a bouquet of white gladiolus and lilies of the valley. Joseph Krulack served as best man, with Lawrence Barton, Robert Brunton, Edward Logan, and Frederick Puorro as ushers.

Mrs. Charles C. Miller, the bride's aunt, sang several selections, including "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly". Mrs. Lorna Churnus was at the organ.

Social Notes

Miss Kathleen Birmingham, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Birmingham, 306 Jensen Ave., Rahway is attending the Midwestern Music and Art Camp at the University of Kansas, Lawrence. She is enrolled in the Spanish division.

Lectures and classroom discussions are in Spanish; camp directors predict the constant exposure to Spanish will help students progress as much in six weeks at camp as they would in one year in high school.

"This is as close to total immersion as we can get without being in Latin America," one camp director said.

Kathleen, a senior at Rahway High School, is a member of the Spanish club.

Students from Costa Rica, Bolivia, Argentina and other South American countries spend several hours a week with groups of four or five campers, discussing cultures, traditions and politics in organized "bull sessions." Nine faculty members work with the 86 campers to give each student as much individual attention as possible.

Mrs. Marjorie Berlin of 79 Colonia Blvd., Rahway, has returned from a visit to Canada where she visited Toronto and the Expo 67 at Montreal.

Miss Wood Engaged To John Maurer

M/Sgt. (Ret.) and Mrs. Samuel I. Wood of Jacksonville, Alabama, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Linda Kay, to John Frederick Maurer, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Maurer, Sr. of 2114 Evans St., Rahway.

The bride-elect is a senior at Jacksonville State University, Jacksonville, Alabama. Mr. Maurer attended Jacksonville State University and is now serving with the U.S. Army in Viet Nam.

The wedding will take place Sept. 23 at Fort Mc Clellan, Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. James T. Byrne and their sons -- Jimmy and Tommy Byrne, of 44 Doris Way, Clark, were recent visitors at Florida's Silver Springs where they explored the exciting mysteries of the underwater world through the magic of the famous Glass Bottom Boats.

Silver Springs comprises the largest group of natural springs in the world and has for years been known as the underwater film capital and home of such famous TV subjects as Sea Hunt, The Aquanauts and many other feature pictures.

They began their trip July 15 and expect to return home July 29 after touring other places of interest in Florida.

When we talk about labor supply, we're "working" for more jobs for New Jerseyans

We know that industries locate in areas where the pool of skilled and semi-skilled workers is abundant. So we've been advertising across the nation to tell America's business community that New Jersey's excellent labor supply is one of the chief reasons why industry succeeds in the Garden State.

Competition between states for attracting new industry is intense because new industry means new jobs, new prosperity and a new shot in the arm to the state's entire economy. Public Service is right in the thick of the battle, and it's simply one more way we contribute to the continuing growth and strength of New Jersey's economy.

Proper Lighting Extends Hours of Outdoor Living

Outdoor lighting not only provides safety along paths, walks and steps and adds dramatic beauty to the home exterior at night, but also extends the living area of the home beyond the walls by making outdoor recreation and patio living possible after dark.

Here are some tips on how to light special features of the yard, provided by the American Home Lighting Institute.

1. Safety lighting should be extended wherever there are walks, paths or steps through the property. This can be done with shielded floodlights or mushroom-type reflectors.

2. For lighting the home exterior, spotlights or floodlights may be mounted under the eaves or beneath a low-hanging roof.

3. Wall bracket fixtures used for entrance lighting are appropriate for lighting patios or terraces.

4. For lighting game, barbecue or picnic areas, use two or more flood-lamps aimed from different directions. The trick is to achieve the desired lighting effect without making the lamps an eye-sore or something you constantly trip over.

5. Water-tight lamps disguised as lily pads or cattails are still popular for ornamental pools.

6. Mushroom-type reflectors
mounted on poles or available on spikes for portability are excellent for highlighting flower beds.

Some communities permit only licensed electricians to install outdoor lighting circuits and equipment. If you are allowed and disposed to do it yourself, be sure that all outlets, sockets and cables are waterproof and the lighting fixtures are designed for outdoor use.

How to Cut Down Cost Of Cooling

Is the operating cost of your home cooling system higher than your neighbors? There may be several reasons for this.

The size and shape of your house, landscape around the house, and number of people in the family affect the cooling requirements of a home.

For example, a small, square house will have a lower cooling cost than a large, rectangular house.

Moreover, an elderly couple living in the same type house that a family with children live in, will probably have a lower cooling cost.

Here, according to the National Better Heating-Cooling Council, are some other factors which affect cooling costs:

House color: For instance, dark colored siding attracts much more heat than light colored siding. Thus, changing the house to a lighter color, homeowners can cut down cooling costs by 10 to 50 per cent.

Shading, with a 36-inch roof overhang, can reduce cooling costs about 20 per cent. Also, trees shading windows can reduce cooling costs by approximately 15 per cent.

Insulation is extremely helpful in cutting cooling costs. In fact, when insulation is added to a house, cooling costs can drop to half. A similar method of reducing costs is with double glazing for floor-to-ceiling windows, and storm windows left up all year long.

Roof design also affects cooling costs. Generally, a well-ventilated, pitched roof requires a third less cooling capacity than a flat roof. However, where a flat roof is given a white marble chip coating, the cooling requirements drop to that of the pitched roof.

Carports and garages, located so as to shade the western or eastern walls of a house, can substantially reduce cooling requirements.

Joe Williams To Make National Football League Debut

ITHACA, N.Y., Joe Williams, former Rahway High School football star, will make his National Football League debut on Saturday afternoon at Cornell University's Schoellkopf Field when his Atlanta Falcons meets the New York Giants in the fourth Annual Finger Lakes Pro Bowl game. The game which will start at 3 p.m., will open the pre-season schedule for both teams.

This is the only meeting between the Giants and Falcons. They split last year, the Giants winning at Nashville, Tenn., in a pre-season game and the Atlanta winning at Yankee Stadium in a regular National Football League clash.

Atlanta was a surprise for an expansion team winning three of its last five games and escaping the cellar.

Coach Norb Hecker of the Falcons reports from their Johnson City, Tenn. camp that "We are going to be a lot better than a year ago, that's for sure," Hecker insists. "But," he is just as emphatic on this point, "we can show a lot of improvement and still not win as many games."

As Hecker sees it, the Falcons have added speed and experience, especially the latter, but that may not be enough. "We've lost our element of surprise and while we're obviously improved, we don't have a single rookie or new man in camp who has won a starting spot on our team."

This means Hecker is planning to start the season with the same lineup that wound up 3 - 11 a year ago. Those three victories in their debut season of NFL played tied the record for a first - year expansion team. "There is a difference though," Hecker said. "We've moved some of our people to new positions and it looks like this will help."

Biggest experiment at the Falcons' pre-season camp has been the use of speedy

Ron Smith on offense. A year ago, Smith was strictly a defensive performer and the Falcons, by Hecker's own admission, didn't have any one capable of breaking loose on long runs. This is where the hard running Williams is expected to aid the Falcons. The former Iowa College star, who once ran 105 yards against the USC Trojans, and led the Rifles for two seasons, should see "lots of action" on offense this fall.

"Junior Coffee (the Falcons' top and NFL's No. 9 rusher) couldn't do it, Ernie Wheelwright couldn't do it, Terry Lee Dunn couldn't do it and Jimmy Sidle couldn't do it," Hecker complained, "so maybe our Joe will be the answer."

Right now, Hecker is desperately shopping around for another linebacker. He's got three starters in Tommy Nobis, Marion Rushing and Ralph Heck; but Bill Jokko failing to pass a physical examination and Larry Morris retiring, the Falcons need reserves. "We also are hurting for flanker," Hecker said. "Most of the new fellows we were counting on are pulling Army stunts and won't be available."

Hecker figures it should take at least four or five years to build a winner in the NFL.

"Of course, it's harder now because of the combined draft," he said. "Used to be, you got to pick one out of 14 and then, if you had the money, you could buy yourself a team. Now you get only one of 26 and the only real hope of building is through smart trading. "We are going to win 14 one of these days," said Hecker. "But then," he quipped "it's a question of how many years it will take us to win that many."

The game will be live on radio, WNEW, starting at 3 p.m. and will be seen on TV, Channel 2 on tape, starting at 11:10 p.m.

while Drukas and Mariucci tripled for the Rahway boys. Kennedy pitched six and two-thirds innings for the winners. He walked six and struck out eight as the team evened their record at 5-5. Angelo had two hits for the winners, who traveled to Hillside last night. They will be host to the CYRC Chiefs on Saturday morning at Veteran's Field in the third and final meeting of the local rivals. The team will travel to Hillside next Wednesday and to Union, to close their season, on Aug. 19.

Rahwayites Will Be Colgate Frosh

Jeffrey R. Weiner, of 228 Elm Ave., Wayne D. Menke, of 668 Union St., and Todd L. Brown, of 312 Williams St., all of Rahway, are among some 530 students representing the largest freshman class in the history of Colgate University, who will arrive on campus Sept. 5 to begin freshman orientation.

They were chosen by a highly selective admissions process that accepts only one out of every six applicants and considers extra curricular activities as well as outstanding academic achievement.

Colgate is an independent liberal arts college currently enrolling about 1800 men and is located in the town of Hamilton in Central New York.

The University is noted for its core curriculum which assures each student a broad background in the liberal arts. In recent years, Colgate has gained national recognition for curricular and calendar innovations including two 14-week semesters, a four-course load, and January Special Studies Period.

During the January Period, each student spends the entire month on a project of his own choice, free of other academic commitments. It may involve creative work in the arts, laboratory research, or fieldwork at off-campus sites such as London, Jamaica, New York City, Washington, D. C., Paris, Rome, or Vienna.

To supplement this modern curriculum, the physical facilities include Chapel House, a meditation center housing a chapel, a library, and music room; the Dana Arts Center which provides an increased opportunity for activity in the visual and performing arts; and new residential complexes which emphasize small group living and feature a complete departure from the long corridors and institutional atmosphere long associated with college dormitories.

tor in the curling of roof shingles.

Some of the danger signals to look for are these: Asphalt shingles, that have outlived their usefulness, will show the first signs of eventual roof failure by granules washing off, permitting the felt underneath to dry out or crack. Shrinkage will cause old wood shingles to crack and split. In extreme cases, they will curl, allowing sleet and rain to wash under them, thus weakening the understructure of the roof. When nails begin to pop out, this is usually a sign that the wood has rotted around the nail holes.

Faulty application and long wear can both contribute to failure of roof rolling. Over the years, the sun dries out this roofing and causes blistering and cracking.

Look for specific trouble spots around dormer windows and chimney flashings, vent pipes, valleys and gutters and on hip roofs.

Recommended by roofing experts is a good metal or felt flashing material to assure water-tight dormers.

It is a good idea to examine chimney areas for any indication of corrosion or separation of the flashing.

Although not part of the roof area, gutters and leaders should get the home-owner's attention at roof inspection time. Failure of the gutters is sometimes due to the poor pitch or a stopped-up condition of the leaders.

Family Fun Room Requires Durable Floor Covering

"Trouble free" is the number one requirement for all materials used in the family fun room.

A popular choice for flooring is resilient rubber or solid vinyl.

Since the colors go all the way through in the high quality floorings, they withstand wear and tear of dancing feet, spilled glue from the hobby activities, dents from small fry pull toys, spilled drinks and other hazards common to a heavy traffic room devoted to family recreation.

Both rubber and solid vinyl flooring may be considered as structural components which last for the life of the building. It is easy for the do-it-yourself enthusiasts to install either rubber or solid vinyl in interesting designs. By creating special areas of activity through the resilient tile design, the home owners can achieve not only a feeling of greater spaciousness in the recreation room but also localize activities of different members of the family, for example.

Creating a shuffleboard or checkerboard pattern as part of the design of the family room floor is another way to increase the play value of the rubber or solid vinyl flooring.

These resilient tiles are easy to cut in special shapes so a custom design is well within the talents of an amateur home decorator.

When you lay a rubber or solid vinyl floor, it is winning strategy to order a few extra tiles and use them as a decorative topping for a game table.

Commuters Need Commissioner, Epstein Says

Rahway commuters were considered today by Union County Republican Freeholder candidate, Jerome Epstein, called for the establishment of a County Commuter and Transportation Commission to immediately begin the task of solving the immense transportation problems facing the citizens of Union County.

According to Mr. Epstein, "It has been the habit of County Government to sit idly by and wait for the State and Federal Government agencies to dictate to them what the solutions to local transportation needs are to be."

The results, "the candidate complained, "have been the maligned plan for Route 278, the proposal to place tolls on the new free section of the Garden State Parkway, the unpopular and ineffective Aldene Plan and the continued deterioration of rail and highway services."

Mr. Epstein explained, "As long as there exists no authoritative agency within the County to design for the present and future transportation needs of its citizenry, we will remain at the mercy of what appears to be a hostile and unfeeling administration in the State and its Transportation Department when it comes to the requirements of Union County."

He proposed an eight member County Commission authorized to plan, study and recommend to the State Department of Transportation solutions to the problems facing Union County commuters and citizens who depend upon cross-county movement in their everyday lives.

"The commission, the candidate believes should include representatives of the Federal, State and Local Governments as well as planning and traffic experts." "Among its membership, Epstein declared, the Commission should include a Mayor from one of the 21 municipalities, a member of the Police who is a traffic expert, a member of the County Planning Board, two members chosen from the many citizens groups who are concerned with commuter problems, a member appointed by our State Legislative delegation, two members recommended by the members of Congress who represent Union County and one member of the Board of Freeholders.

Councilman Charles Crowell criticized the Mayor for failure to spend money appropriated in the budget to establish a playground in the Fifth Ward, he said. "The Mayor did not use additional summer help to get this project started but used these employees in duties involving the Recreation Department Offices and City Hall endeavors. The Fifth Ward is without a City owned playground and youngsters must resort to playing in the street, endangering their lives and causing inconvenience to motorists and area residents."

"Proper programming of the use of summer help or the hiring of a few more persons would have had this facility in operation for the benefit of the Fifth Ward youngsters," he concluded, "John Gilgannon, First
