ROOTING FOR RUTA — This is the play that beat mighty Westfield. Ron Ruta has the ball cradled under his right arm and he's about to chew up an awful lot of real estate — 65 yards down the right sideline to a 12-6 victory. Teammate Ray Mattes (65) takes his rival out of play, while Westfield's Frank Jackson (36) gives it the old college try, but no cigar.

'Hippies' Are Not Just for Fun

One of the strangest phenomena of our times is of course, the "hippie," the bizarre, "turned on" individual who by violating all the traditional norms of dress and frequently of behavior, proclaims that he has withdrawn from our society, or, as he puts it, has "copped out." His garb is all the more unusual because for a very long time, and down to our own day, the rule-of-thumb on clothes has been the one recommended by Polonius when he advised his son,

Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy,
But not expressed in fancy, rich not gaudy,
For the apparel oft proclaims the man.

In the matter of fancy, the French Revolution too had a restraining influence on men's clothing. Its leaders were called the "sans culottes," a reference to the fact that they wore trousers instead of the knee breeches, stockings, silver-buckled shoes and powdered wigs of the nobility. Thus the pants that men wear today were originally a protest against the exaggerated finery and the effeminacy of many at the royal court.

For women however, a different criterion has always obtained. "Girl watching" is not an exclusively modern avocation and ladies have been and, as a matter of fact, are expected to "dress the part." Through all the changes however, as regards both men and women, the important thing has been the emphasis on the difference between the sexes. No better illustration of this could be found than the story from Paris about a post-World War II parliamentary debate.

When the French national legislature was debating the granting of the right to vote to women, one elderly member with his outlook firmly oriented toward the past objected because, as he put it, "There is a fundamental difference between men and women." The Chamber of Deputies rose as one man and shouted, "Vive la difference!" Today, with women in dungarees and men in long hair and beads, you sometimes cannot tell which is which.

It seems to me however, that the "hippie," "yippie," or "flower people" phenomenon is much more than just an aberration or a passing fad. On the contrary, the events last spring at Columbia University and at the Democratic Convention in August have serious implications for our country and for its future. The riotous and anarchistic behavior of many of those involved is a measure of their antipathy to the American system. They believe it to be completely bad and that therefore it deserves to be destroyed utterly. Indeed their leaders have told us that they are justified in doing anything they can to destroy the government of the United States.

Now such an attitude on their part seems preposterous. Indeed it is so extreme and uncalled for, that most Americans refuse to take them seriously or to believe what they say about their objectives. It is here that we make a mistake, I believe, for some of the ideas which motivate them have been around for quite a while and have done considerable mischief.

Their anarchism, for example, can be traced back to Rousseau, who had much to do with laying the groundwork for the French Revolution, and who made civilization itself the villain in the world's long history. He it was who began the CONTRACT SOCIAL by declaring that man is born free but that everywhere he is in chains—the point being that civilization has enslaved him.

Second Ward councilman James Pickens and Fifth Ward council candidate John C. Holt have asked Mayor John Marsh to order a regular Saturday and Sunday clean-up of the downtown business district.

Holt and Pickens said that they give their enthusiastic support to the recently-appointed "shape-up" inspection team now investigating possible code violations in the area.

"However," the two men declared, "there are immediate steps that can be taken to support Marsh's 'Operation Shape-Up' which will make a measure-

Only 30 Pickets

About 30 persons, most of whom were believed to be under 10 years of age, took part in the picketing in the downtown business district of Rahway last Thursday night.

They marched and sang and carried signs on the redevelopment site at E. Millton Ave. near Main St. They were orderly and the demonstration lasted only half an hour.

Make Book on This: Clark Library a Winner

The director is very happy to report that the Clark Public Library had a most successful summer. More use was made of the library during July and August than at any other time since the library opened. Circulation for those two months rose to unprecedented heights and broke all records.

In July and August, borrowers took out 19,008 books for home use. Last year at the same time, borrowers took out only 16,376 books.

The one activity that contributed so much to greater use of the library was the Summer Reading Program. The program motivated children to read and rewarded them with a small prize for their efforts. By Aug. 30, 496 children had registered.

Strange as it may seem, the Summer Reading Program also increased adult use. Few children came by themselves. Most of them were brought by a parent or a neighbor. While parents were here, they also borrowed books for themselves.

A breakdown of July and August circulation showed that children borrowed 51.6% of the books and adults 48.5%.

Mrs. Margaret Shipley should be commended for the fine job of directing the Summer Reading Program. Mrs. Shipley's concern for and interest in each child made the program a success.

A commendation should also be given to the other

ASSISTANT ENGINEER ... Jay D. Gassaway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Gassaway, of 391 W. Inman Ave., Rahway, has been assigned as assistant engineer in the product development section of the naval nuclear components' department at Babcock & Wilcox Co. in Barberton, Ohio.

Boy, 4, Injured By Car in Clark

Kevin Sorger, 4, of 1173 Stone St., Rahway, was injured in the right hip and elbow last Monday when hit by a car at Madison Hill Road and Stone St. in Clark. He was treated and released after being taken to a hospital by the Clark Emergency Squad.

The driver of the car, according to Police Sgt. Fred Asal, was John Bednar, 37, of 622 Madison Hill Road.

Fire Damages Old Landmark

The investigation into the cause of the fire which destroyed the interior of the Old Clark Rest at Raritan Road and Central Ave., in Clark, on the night of Sept. 24 is still being continued. The wooden building, which has been vacant for the last two months, was one of the town's oldest landmarks.

Before the blaze was brought under control, two firemen, Thomas DiBascio and Leo Standish, were injured and had to be hospitalized.

The two-story building was operated by Mrs. Catherine Hollander for many years. She is now the operator and owner of the New Clark Rest located just across the street.

Kaczmarek Charges 'Deal' for Board of Adjustment Control

Thomas A. Kaczmarek, Democratic candidate for mayor, charged that a "deal" was made for control of the Clark Board of Adjustment. He claimed that the ordinance creating the new positions of two alternates to the board of adjustment was adopted by council in February, 1967.

"The urgency of the two new positions created by this ordinance apparently was not present as the positions were not filled until the independent and Republican candidates for mayor got on the ballot."

He asserted the three Democratic councilmen were not even given any consideration by the Independent or Republicans -- "their intention is to control the board of adjustment even if out of office."

He urged the public to watch the joint efforts of the Republican and Independents to stop his campaign. He asked: "What deal have they made for each other?"

David Slays Goliath: How Clark Beat 'Devils'

By Ray Hoagland
(Sports Editor)

It was the biggest upset in the 13-year history of the Watchung Conference.

It was their first victory over the powerful Blue Devils of Westfield in 10 meetings.

It was, as one observer pointed out, the most shocking thing to happen in sports since the mighty Casey struck out.

And little Clark, over whom the pre-game tears were being shed, did it last Saturday when it scored a startling 12-6 triumph over Westfield before 3,000 unbelieving fans at Nolan Field.

Story on Rahway's opening loss of the football season appears on Page 9.

The defeat was Westfield's first in 29 league games.

The Crusaders, who were scoring only their second opening-game victory in 13 years, came from behind in the final minutes of play when Ron Ruta took a Paul Byrne punt, took two steps to the left, cut to his right and, with the aid of a key block by Ken Pariza at about midfield, raced 64 yards for the winning touchdown.

The happiest man on the field, of course, was Hal Mercer, who was making his debut as head coach of the Crusaders.

"We were able to contain them in the second half and then get the breaks," he said.

The game followed the usual script, with the Blue Devils scoring the second time they had the ball. The drive covered 63 yards in 16 plays, 14 of them short gainers on the ground.

Jeff Davies, who ran eight times in the series, dove over left tackle for the six-pointer with four minutes left in the first period. Everybody was now alerted for

BRASS SECTION — When you speak of harmonious bands, include Clark's top echelon in the Democratic party. And the business of the day, of course, is the mapping of strategy for the coming election. Planners of the big moves at their new headquarters at 1101 Raritan Road are (l. to r.) John Pisansky, Stanley LeWand, Tom Kaczmarek, Angelo Charles Walano and John Allaire. Their battle cry is "Working Together for Clark."

Dems Challenge Rivals To Debate City's Issues

The Democratic candidates for city council emerged from a strategy session and appeared eager to get the campaign into high gear.

"In an attempt to bring the real issues to the people," began a prepared statement, "we, the Democratic council candidates, challenge our opponents to debate the issues that face this city."

The Republican administration has shown its inability to govern Rahway. Only this year we are faced with a 122-point tax increase with no improvements in city operations or services. Only in an open, public debate can the issues be discussed. Let's see what they have to say for a change, instead of the Mayor or his personal press agent, who is on the city payroll."

Third Ward Councilman James J. Kinneally, Jr.,

spokesman for the candidates, said that a formal letter had been sent to George Syme, the Republican city chairman, inviting him to meet with his Democratic counterpart to establish ground rules for the debate. Kinneally suggested that the local service groups sponsor the debate. Possible locations for the confrontation include the Roosevelt School auditorium and the senior high school auditorium or the municipal council chambers.

Bob Ridgway and Pat Bartolomeo, the Second and Sixth Ward contenders, outlined some of the topics they felt should be discussed. They placed priority on the location of the new city yard and the prospective construction of a new firehouse. Also included are the reduction of taxes and flood control. Ridgway and Bartolomeo also stressed the need for new ideas in attracting business and industry to Rahway.

Councilman Jack Gillgannon, the First Ward incumbent, claimed that "the administration has deceived the people into thinking that it was saving money." Specifically, Gillgannon cited fictitious fuel oil savings and the mass firings at City Hall. The salary appropriation increased over $100,000 this year alone.

Fourth and Fifth Ward councilmen Dr. Adam McDaniel and Charles Crowell accused the Mayor and the Republican majority of "reneging on their promise to appoint permanent heads of the Police and Fire Departments. If the Mayor does not want the 'actors' who

Bronze Star to Charles Simon

Army Specialist Four Charles D. Simon, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Simon, 1472 Valley Road, Rahway, received the Bronze Star Medal on Aug. 29 in Vietnam.

Spec. Simon was given the award for heroism in action while engaged in ground operations against a hostile force.

A combat medic in Headquarters Company, 3d Battalion of the 173d Airborne Brigade's 503d Infantry, Spec. Simon entered on active duty in November, 1966, completed basic training at Ft. Dix and was stationed at Ft. Bragg, N.C., prior to his arrival in Vietnam last November.

A 1966 graduate of Rahway High School, Spec. Simon attended Midwestern College at Denison, Iowa.

Spec. Simon also holds the Purple Heart, the Air Medal and the Combat Medical Badge.

The text of Spec. Simon's citation follows:

On this day, Company D's first platoon became heavily engaged by numerically superior enemy force with automatic weapons and rocket fire. ## Clark Bank Merges; Assets: $155 Million Shareholders of the Clark State Bank and Trust Company have approved the terms of an agreement merging the bank with the Summit and Elizabeth Trust Company.

Vicior W. Clark, executive vice president of Clark State, said the vote in favor of the merger was "well in excess of the two-thirds of the outstanding shares required." Clark State shareholders voted their approval Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 25, following a morning meeting at which a favorable vote was cast by Summit and Elizabeth stockholders.

The merger will create a financial institution with eight offices in Summit, Elizabeth, New Providence, Elizabethport, Clark and a computer center in Berkeley Heights. The combined assets will be approximately $155 million.

Prior to submitting the merger proposal to stockholders, the two institutions secured approval of the State Banking and Insurance Department. The merger agreement remains subject to approval by the Federal Reserve Board and the Justice Department.

Clark thanked shareholders for their faith in the future by voting to approve the merger. Clark said the merger would benefit both institutions. "In addition to broadening the geographical area served by the Summit and Elizabeth Trust Company, the merger will serve the interests of Clark residents and businessmen by enlarging the scope of services available to them."

'Shape-Up' Committee Puts Pressure On Violators

"Laws are made to be kept," said Mayor John C. Marsh following the initial report of violations and warnings issued by his newly-appointed "shape-up" committee.

The committee, composed of the building inspector and members of the health, fire and police departments, has embarked on a joint investigation of every building in the city, beginning the downtown business district, to uncover possible violations of building, health and fire codes.

"Inspections by individual departments are a matter of routine," Marsh pointed out. "However, this joint effort is designed to give us a clear picture of the total condition of every building in Rahway."

"If codes established by federal and state laws and local ordinances are not being complied with, warnings will be given. If corrective action is not initiated within one week of the warning, punitive measures will be taken through the courts," Marsh declared.

"You said 'utter simplicity,' right?"

"The majority of our property owners are highly-respectable people who are vigilant in their efforts to comply with regulations. However, we also have a hard core of chronic offenders who do an injustice to other property owners, to our citizens and to the city with their laxity and inattention to their legal obligations."

The investigating team was requested by the Mayor's Commercial and Industrial Development Committee in order to provide information which will assist them in attracting commercial interests to the city.

Speaking for the committee, chairman Joseph M. Coleman said that "realistic planning of a meaningful commercial development program requires a foundation of facts about present conditions."

Marsh emphasized that "the shape-up team is not conducting a witch hunt, nor are we interested in crowding our courtroom with offenders."

"We are interested in community pride and in creating conditions that will make Rahway attractive to merchants and industries who are looking for a progressive community."

Aptitude Test Set for RHS

The 1968 preliminary scholastic aptitude test will be administered at the Rahway High School at 8 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 26. The test, which is offered to 11th and 12th grade pupils, is an abbreviated adaptation of the college entrance examination, board scholastic aptitude test and is used for guidance and some scholarship applications.

Verbal and mathematical results are available in December and are to some degree predictive of college board scores.

Catalano Would Put Teeth in Apartment Upkeep Code

Creation of an apartment maintenance code for Clark was proposed today by the independent candidates for mayor and councilman-at-large.

Councilman Victor Catalano, independent candidate for mayor, and his running mates for councilmen-at-large, councilman Alex Paschenko, Morris Krouk and Stephen Marcinak, said creation of a strong maintenance code would prevent the "deterioration at some future date of many of the fine apartment complexes we have in Clark."

Catalano, Paschenko, Krouk and Marcinak said Clark was fortunate to have

"outstanding examples of well-maintained apartment complexes that are a credit to the community. The owners and the superintendents are to be congratulated for their obvious concern for the welfare of the township."

However, they warned, "the present owners, at some future time, may sell their property to someone with less of a sense of responsibility to his tenants and the community. If this happens, the entire township could suffer. For this reason, the adoption of this code is imperative."

Catalano, Paschenko, Krouk and Marcinak said the code they propose would specify standards for maintenance of buildings and grounds of apartment units.

"In this way, the township would have a code with teeth that could be used to guarantee that all apartments in town would be maintained properly. Additionally, the tenants would have assurances that their living quarters would be as nice tomorrow as they are today."

The four candidates described their proposal as "another example of the type of program we offer Clark residents as a constructive alternative to the partisan bickering that has impeded progress in this community for too long."

Marsh Weighs Police Bid For $10,000 Base Salary

Mayor John C. Marsh will not make a decision on the $10,000 base salary bid of the Rahway Police Department until he has carefully considered every aspect.

The police department recently made its first move to obtain pay raises and certain improvements in working conditions. The requests were given to the city administration by Paul Benkovich, president of local 31 of Policemen's Benevolent Association.

Fire Chief George Link said that firemen would be seeking the same salary levels as policemen.

The PBA is seeking a top salary of nearly $10,000. The maximum pay is now $7,988. The raises would be given in an annual raise of $1,000 in 1969 and another of the same amount in 1970.

One possible funding source was money being returned from the State Sales Tax to the municipality. The city now receives $90,000 annually from the state.

It was claimed by PBA spokesmen that no municipality in Union County has a $10,000 level for patrolmen. Of the 20 departments in the county, Rahway was cited as being 16 or 17 from the standpoint of base salary.

Unity is a basic element of our Nation's strength. The United States' rise to a world power has been possible because its people, who often disagree on the means to an end, have been unified in a common cause—the cause of freedom, liberty, and justice under the rule of law. Dissent, discussion, and opposition are healthy and vigorous components of our way of life. This is how democracy works. However, it is important that we keep sight of our objective, that we preserve our system of self-government, and that we remain united.

Passing the heritage of unity from one generation to the next is a crucial and vital step. Effective communication is essential in this transition, and it becomes more difficult as the complexities and challenges of our society increase.

Without a doubt, our young people today are exposed to more extremists and radicals than ever before. These fanatics deal in bigotry, hate, and falsehoods, and their primary aim seems to be to turn young Americans against their country. They preach theories overburdened with simplicity but with no depth in principle. Understandably, many young people are confused by these agitators and their high-sounding dictums on love and peace. Logic and moderation are obscured and overrun by emotional causes which do not measure up under the scrutiny of truth and reason. Virulent extremists see only the black and white; for them, there are no shades of gray. They act on impulse and have no patience with those who question their motives. Their demands for direct action with readymade remedies appeal to some rebellious-minded youths.

We can be grateful for the responsible young people who carefully weigh issues before committing themselves. They do not blindly follow self-proclaimed do-gooders without checking their credentials. The rational young man and woman today know the difference between constructive criticism and outright demagoguery, between meaningful inquiry and undermining conspiracy, and between liberty and license. No right-thinking young American wants to forsake the proven principles of lawful, democratic freedom for chaotic anarchy and disorder.

I would say that we do not give sufficient attention and credit to the responsible youth of our country. We are so concerned with the unlawful conduct of a small segment that we fail to appreciate fully and recognize the worthy ideals, aspirations, and achievements of the overwhelming majority of our young people. This is a brave injustice and, no doubt, is one reason we find it difficult to effectively communicate with the young age group. We must improve our communication with the younger generation and strengthen the chain of unity before it is too late.

Americans of all ages, of all races, and of all stations in life must face reality. The undeniable truth is that no nation, regardless how great or strong, can survive when torn by internal discord and strife. Unless we stand united—a free society ruled by supremacy of law—we shall fall prey to the forces which seek to enslave the world.

EDWARD T. MAGEE

Rousseau's supreme achievement consisted in this that he made feelings and the emotions the ultimate arbiter of human conduct, and in the process he down-graded reason. The reaction of most men to this aspect of Rousseau was that he could not really mean what he seemed to be saying. After all, the great distinction between man and the brutes is reason, and to denigrate it in man is to make him one with the lesser animals.

It was thought therefore, that Rousseau must have been using hyperbole for its effect because no "rational" person could prefer anarchy to the rule of intelligence! Consequently the revolutionary character of Rousseau's doctrine was overlooked, and instead his rehabilitation of the emotions was stressed. After all, it was argued, Christianity and medievalism had repressed mankind long enough! Besides, Rousseau's period in history is called "The Age of Reason," and that is certainly reassuring.

In the same way that we end up accepting Rousseau while refusing to take him at his word, we end up tolerating and accepting the "hippies." Especially is this true if some one in our own family finds the "flower people" compatible. We know that this "John" or "Mary" of ours is basically a decent individual, and while we may have misgivings about the bizarre style of dress, the so-called "music" he prefers, and the "happenings" he attends, we "go along" with the idea and assume that shortly our young person will return to a more conventional pattern of life and behavior.

In this I think that some of us, and I include the young people themselves, are making a mistake. I feel sure that some of those who found themselves in the middle of the melee in Chicago and at Columbia, realized at last that they ought not to have been there. I believe further that they would not have been there if their parents had been more firm at the outset in forbidding them to associate with such types of people.

We adults have an obligation to apprise our young people of the extremely revolutionary character of the "hippie" movement. If this point is made clear to them, I feel sure that many of them will get out of it.

In his book "The House of Intellect," published in 1959, Jacques Barzun is rather critical of us parents and adults for our indulgent attitude toward our young people. He declares, "Americans began by loving youth, and now, out of adult self-pity they worship it."

He indicts us for failing to discipline our children either at home or in school, for he writes:

The delinquents from suburban families who seem to want risk and a barrier to push against, find it only in the rival gang or the police, now that the paternal power, which is youth's proper and useful antagonist, has abdicated. The young also are underworked and deprived of the outlet that intellectual effort and polemic with peers offer to aggressive energy.

Everywhere the void left by the suppression of mind and ambition is filled by improvised generalship and conflict. Battle is joined, more or less openly, whenever a group of children invade a public vehicle. It lurks in the notorious behavior of undergraduates at a certain college where, it is said, guest lecturers are systematically heckled while the faculty looks on helplessly. And it was unmistakable in recent events (prior to 1959) at a large university, where an undergraduate grievance growing out of restrictions on receiving girls in dormitories was made clear by throwing eggs at the president and dean, the rebel leader being the son of faculty member. This is not animal spirits or the traditional prank: IT IS AN OBLIQUE WAR ON

I wish to express my appreciation for the coverage you have given the articles I have submitted to you pertaining to our State Legislature. I will continue to keep you informed of any news or legislation that will be of interest to Rahway and Clark.

To the Editor:

There should be absolutely no doubt in your readers' minds as to who will pay for the $990 Million Proposed Referendum. They will -- that is the taxpaying citizens of New Jersey who currently are being insultingly portrayed by Governor Hughes on numerous pro-bond billboards, as people who should "stop beefing and start building."

Our advice is start looking -- not only at the provisions for repayment of the issue, but at the other positive sign of financial irresponsibility so much in evidence in New Jersey.

Although proceeds from the "Sales Tax" are earmarked for repayment of the issue, the following provision is taken directly from Assembly Bill 911 (The Referendum Authorization) paragraph 20-7-14:

"If in any year or at any time funds, as hereinabove appropriated, necessary to meet interest and principal payments upon outstanding bonds issued under this act, be insufficient or not available, then and in that case there shall be assessed, levied and collected annually in each of the municipalities of the counties of this State a tax on real and personal property upon which municipal taxes are or shall be assessed, levied and collected, sufficient to meet the interest on all outstanding bonds issued hereunder"

Taxpayers should: stop beefing, start looking, and act .... by defeating the entire Referendum soundly on November 5th and letting their legislators know before hand that no new taxes will be tolerated until the state government starts economizing.

To the Editor:

One of the key words in today's society is security. According to the dictionary, security is the state or feeling of being free from fear, care, danger, etc.; safety or the sense of safety; freedom from doubt.

All through our country today adults are fighting for security. They are fighting for a guaranteed wage increase, which is a form of security; they are also fighting for job security.

The children of the citizens and taxpayers of Rahway have no form of security. After two weeks, boundary lines are once again being changed. However, not for all grades, only kindergarten. These children are now being shifted from their teachers, classmates, and classrooms to a different school.

It seems that the administration of the Rahway schools have no regard for a young child's security. Children at this age have many obstacles to overcome. Kindergarten routine is new to many of these children.

Just the fact of being away from mother and home cause many of them to have a difficult time adjusting to school life. The uprooting of these children after two weeks poses additional problems. The taxpayers of Rahway pay good money to the administrators to see that the children of all ages are taken care of properly. They entrust the safety and security of their children to these "educated people."

What have these administrators been doing since kindergarten registration this Spring? Why is it necessary to move these children away from their teachers? Why? Could it be that someone in the administration can't count. We, the taxpayers, are paying someone for a job he can't do. Who are the people suffering? Surely not the administrators, they have job security. No. The people suffering are our children.

To the Editor:

In the September 26 issue of your paper, the Executive Committee of the Citizens for Neighborhood Schools group listed six purposes for the group's existence. One of them read as follows:

"To promote and defend the right of citizens to speak out on issues of great public concern regardless of their position or views with respect to same."

I cannot reconcile this policy with the group's recent action of influencing a large number of their members to cancel subscriptions to the Elizabeth Daily Journal because they did not approve of the editorials and news coverage. After CNS leaders met with the newspaper management, many subscriptions were re-instated, so one must assume that the CNS exerted enough pressure to effect some sort of conciliation.

Apparently the CNS believes in freedom of speech, but only when it is in favor of them.

Many of the other actions this group has taken have been contradictory to the other five purposes listed in their statement. A school boycott does not promote quality education or better understanding. Their goal of establishing an appointive board is a crude camouflage of a personal vendetta against five school board members and cannot be considered as a civic activity which would make Rahway a better community.

The rude, offensive behavior at various meetings did nothing to preserve better understanding between them and public officials. In my opinion, the CNS should either start living up to their stated purposes or place in public print their real reasons for organizing. I doubt that they have the courage to do the latter. I hope they have the intelligence and good judgment to do the former.

To the Editor:

There is an increasingly amount of talk today in America about the left wing and the right wing and who is right and who is wrong. I used to wonder many times just where I fit in, which side of the political spectrum suited me. Well, I examined the situations and came up with a few points...

1. Most right wingers believe basically that the community police force should be independent and effective to maintain law and order and safeguard every citizen's rights.

2. Most right wingers believe in our constitution as it was written, not as it is being interpreted by our law makers and the Supreme Court.

3. Most right wingers believe in states rights, that is, that every sovereign state has the right to determine its own destiny without federal interference. 4. Most right wingers are against welfare, not all welfare but a large majority of it and especially the war on poverty which is a farce. 5. Most right wingers want victory in Vietnam, not a surrender, not a continuation of a no-win war, but victory, the one thing that has been denied our fighting men. If a war is worth dying for, surely it must be worth winning.

I agree with all of the above, so I guess I am a right winger by definition of the mass media today. I wonder how many others there are in America.

To the Editor:

I may be wrong, but in my opinion the town of Rahway did not have the anticipated and threatened difficulty in the city's business district on the evening of Thursday, September 12, 1968, for one reason in particular. This was the work of the police department to maintain law and order.

I was downtown twice on that evening just to see what was happening. A group had gathered on Main Street near Grant's store. Someone said they were closing this store. I did not investigate. I was informed trouble was threatened but preparations had been made to cope with it. I thought shoppers were conspicuous by their absence. The store owners would know more about this than myself. I do know the police were very much in evidence. Police cars drove around by twos and threes. They were constantly driving around. A policeman spoke to the members of the minority group while police cars were parked in the street. I did not wait to see what transpired.

I also wish to express my appreciation for the work the police did when the block on which I live was invaded one night by members of a minority group. I learned about this from people in the vicinity.

The commandment to love one's neighbor as oneself is generally applied to include those living nearby. In telling the parable of the "Good Samaritan" Jesus asked who was the neighbor to the man who fell among thieves. Gratitude to those who are kind to us and who help us in distress is a virtue. So many people have tried so much to appease and to make things easier for members of minority groups. It appears to me that some of the benefits received are being used to control the majority.

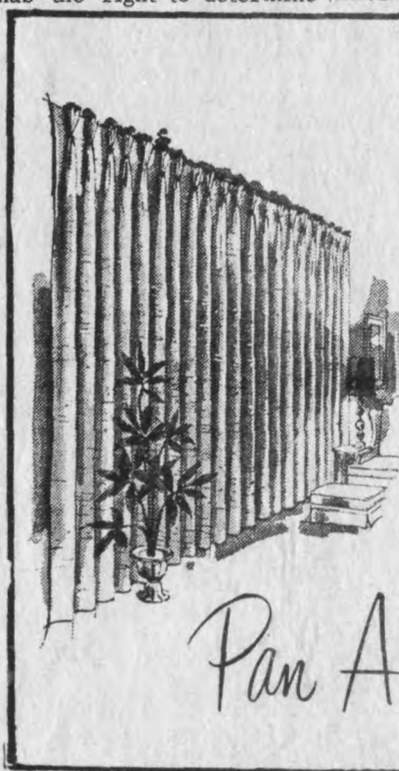

It may not be too late for the majority to examine the

Berger, Gallo Put On Board By Sideliners

The first meeting of the 1968-69 season of the Sideliners was held in the Rathskeller of the Elks Club with Waldo E. Carkhuff, president-elect, in charge and Ralph L. Smith as secretary. Robert Berger was elected to fill the unexpired term of Robert Caliguire, who was named to the office of vice president, and John Gallo was picked to fill the unexpired term of William J. Ormsby, who resigned due to business pressures.

Stephen G. Werbeck was appointed chairman of the committee in charge of the sale of program at the home football games of R.H.S. Coach James Refesco and his staff of William Dolan and Richard Nolan were guests.

Donald Russ of the N. J. Bell Telephone Co. announced he would make a permanent installation of telephones for use by the coaches at the home football games and would provide a portable telephone set for the away games. The walkie-talkie type phone attracted too much interference.

(Continued from Page 1) always in order, returned books discharged and shelved, new adult books processed and shelved and "pinched hit" whenever Mrs. Shipley was not scheduled.

The increase in summer circulation boosted the library's total circulation for the first eight months of this year. The hike put the total circulation 12.4% ahead of the same period last year. This year total circulation is 62,100; last year, 55,204.

If the library keeps this lead, it should end the year with a circulation of 85,000 or 5,000 over 1967 and there is no reason why it shouldn't. There is still the fall, one of the busiest times of the year.

So far this year, the library staff has catalogued, processed and added 2,536 new books to the shelves. These additions bring the library's total book holdings to 22,473 volumes. Of this number, 14,037 are adult books and 8,436, children's books.

During July and August, the library had an excellent press. Articles on the Summer Reading Program, increase in book circulation, seashell display, gift of a motion picture projector from the Clark Lions' Club, travel and motel information and a picture of exhibit on the history of American labor were featured.

Library Buys 15 Large-Type Books With Lions' Gift

The Rahway Free Public Library has purchased fifteen large-type books with the $75 donated by the Lions Club for that purpose and has added more titles to that collection and now has a good representative of large-type editions.

During August, the library also received a check for $500 from the Department of Education of New Jersey representing a Library Services and Construction Act grant for the purchase of reference material. This grant was given as a result of Mrs. Anna Golonka's attendance at the six-week reference workshop course.

With this money, the library has already received a new edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, the 1968 edition of the New Jersey Industrial Directory and six other general reference books. This is part of the effort of Mrs. Minnie Chapin, director, to increase the reference collection.

Mrs. Edward D. Johnson, formerly of Rahway, has loaned her beautiful and unusual seashell collection, which is in the St. Georges Ave. exhibit case. Photos of the flood damage are also on exhibit. Constitution week was commemorated by an attractive poster and the mayor's proclamation displayed by the DAR Rebecca Cornell Chapter.

The Cranford-Clark Lodge of B'nai B'rith #2276 will inaugurate its season of meetings and affairs with Isadore J. The meeting is open to husbands and wives and residents in both communities are asked to attend.

Bookbinder, an exponent of the art of delicate Jewish humor, had made many appearances throughout the east. He believes that true humor gives scope to the sad as well as the funny side of life. He takes most of his humor from real life.

Now's Time to Page You: Please, Don't Burn Leaves

"Let's all be good neighbors this year and refrain from burning leaves," Richard J. Sullivan, director of the division of clean air and water of the New Jersey State Department of Health, said today.

"It just makes more air pollution and bothers the neighbors," he said. "Quantities of aldehydes, acids, ash and some tars are released into the atmosphere in the smoke from burning leaves, very often in sufficient concentrations to become an irritant. Many children and adults who are allergic to this kind of smoke suffer needlessly. It is also a hazard for the aged."

Although all other forms of open burning are under regulation of the state department of health, the control of air pollution from leaf burning is essentially a municipal matter, Sullivan said.

"Local control of air pollution from leaf burning should be encouraged and promoted. If your municipality lacks an adequate leaf collection and disposal system, you are urged to support efforts to provide them. "One way to dispose of leaves privately is to mulch them with your regular lawn mowers, using an inexpensive mulching plate.

"In addition to the toll of human discomfort, a potential financial toll may result from leaf burning. Studies have indicated that leaf burning damages streets. The fire evaporates solvents in asphalt, which weakens and disfigures the surface. In the case of concrete streets and curbing, if moisture is present the burning can create steam which causes cracking. Then there's also plenty of damage to trees and shrubs and loss of crops from leaf fires that

The birthdays of Mrs. Robert Pegau and Mrs. Carlton Tobin were recognized. A letter of thanks for bibs and clothing sent to the Woodbridge Home was read by Mrs. Mortimer Gibbons. President Mrs. Coloman Stempel presided, with reports by secretary Mrs. Lester E. Hall; treasurer Mrs. Ronald Ashelford and corresponding secretary Mrs. Robert Pegau. A contribution to the American Red Cross was voted for the boys in Vietnam and also to the United Fund.

Mrs. Kenneth Freeman introduced speaker John J. Waters, deputy director of Union County Legal Service Corp., who gave a most interesting talk on consumer fraud.

The next meeting will be held at the Claude H. Reed Recreation and Cultural Center on Oct. 22.

With complete disregard for the intense volume of enemy fire, he began to treat the wounded. His calmness and cool attitude inspired the wounded and other soldiers alike. Another man became wounded and Private Simon rushed to his aid. When the man stopped breathing, Private Simon began administering mouth-to-mouth respiration. During this time, he was completely exposed to enemy fire. While trying

Course in Typing For Young Pupils

Included in the 36 courses offered this year by the Saturday Enrichment Program is one in typing for fifth and sixth-grade students. This unique course will attempt to teach children to improve their homework and their ability to submit orderly reports.

Registration will be on Monday and Thursday, Sept. 30 and Oct. 3, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Rahway High School, or by mail. For additional information, contact Mr. Robert Goodstein, coordinator of the program.

desperately to keep the injured man alive. Private Simon received a gunshot wound in the chest, but stopped treating the man only long enough to put a piece of cloth over the bullet hole. When the men around him tried to stop him from moving, in order to treat his wound, he brushed them aside, refusing treatment, and continued about his mission. During the one hour and forty-five minute engagement that followed, Private Simon repeatedly exposed himself to care for the wounded. He showed no regard for his own safety and seemed to be obsessed with the desire to alleviate the suffering of his fallen comrades regardless of the danger to himself. Private Simon's extraordinary hero-

Kids Will Love Bologna Kebabs For Dinner, Too

Those luncheon meats you rely on for quick sandwiches are full of dinner possibilities, too. From an array of old standbys comes this recipe for bologna kebabs. The mustard-molasses glaze gives the meat a cooked-outdoors flavor the children will love.

1. Peel casing from bologna, then cut into four thick slices; cut each slice into four triangles. Halve salami slices.
2. Thread bologna and folded slices of salami, alternately with celery, onto four long skewers. Place on rack in broiler pan.
3. Mix mustard, chili sauce and molasses in cup; brush part over meat.
4. Bake in hot oven (425°), brushing several times with remaining sauce, 30 minutes, or until richly glazed.
5. Spoon rice onto a large serving platter. Place a cherry tomato on the end of each skewer; arrange skewers over rice. Garnish with watercress, if you wish.

Alhambra Toasts Ness, Past Grand Leader, at Dinner

Surrounded Saturday, by a large group of members, friends and relatives, past Grand Commander Carmen Ness was feted at a testimonial dinner Sept. 21, at the Columbian Club, Rahway, by El Joffe Caravan #155, Order of the Alhambra.

A. Charles Battista, master of ceremony, introduced Ness and outlined the work the caravan achieved under his leadership during the year 1966-67. Past regional director Victor Joffe presented Ness with a gift in behalf of the state caravans and Grand Commander Fred Yorke presented a token in behalf of El Joffe Caravan #155.

A dinner and dance followed. The affair was under the chairmanship of John Mooney, assisted by Robert Goering and Patrick Barron.

Last month, the caravan also held a combined meeting of husband and wives on Sept. 15. Tentative plans were made for the coming year, including a bus ride to Normandy Beach on Nov. 16, with Patsy Stiso chairman, and the annual Christmas party Dec. 14 at the Rahway Elks Rathskeller Room.

The next Sunday afternoon social will be on Oct. 20 at the Columbian Club at 4 p.m. Yorke conducted the meeting, while Mrs. Yorke acted as President of the Sultanas.

Sultanas, the ladies' organization, presented to the grand commander a check for $300 to be used in behalf of their work in the coming year.

The Alhambra is a group of men and their wives dedicated to work in behalf of retarded children.

Give Pancakes a Flip, Avoid Breakfast Flop

By ANNE L. SHEELEN
County Home Economist

A good day starts with a good breakfast. Breakfast is the meal which is most often skipped. Perhaps one reason why this meal is not eaten is because a similar menu is served day after day. If this could be the reason for your family's lack of enthusiasm toward this important meal, why not begin now to help eliminate the problem by achieving variety in the breakfast menu?

One way to begin is with piping hot pancakes which are golden brown in color. Their fragrance alone should help to perk up morning appetites as well as disposition.

The recipe featured below offers a different style to the typical pancake fare. It is for Norwegian pancakes. When served with a variation of toppings or fillings, they are perfect for lunch, supper, and dessert, as well as breakfast.

- 3/4 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- four eggs

Combine sour cream and cheese. Add remaining ingredients and beat until well mixed. Bake on hot, greased griddle until bubbles break the surface. Turn and bake until golden brown. Serve with butter and syrup. Makes four servings, approximately 24, four-inch pancakes.

Variations:

1. Spread pancakes with softened cream cheese which has been sweetened to taste and beaten until smooth. Roll pancakes jelly-roll fashion. Serve with fresh, frozen or canned blueberries or syrup.
2. Spread pancakes with softened butter; stack as high as desired and serve with thinned blueberry pie filling mix or blueberry pancake syrup.
3. Spread pancakes with sweetened whipped cream; fold in half, then fold in half again. Dust with confectioners' sugar. Arrange four pancakes on serving plate. Top with sweetened whipped cream and blueberries.

Goodstein Speaks to Jaycees

Robert J. Goodstein, consultant on health education and guidance in the Rahway school system, was guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Rahway Jaycees at the Italian-American Club on Sept. 17.

Goodstein explained the background and the approaches to be used in the current concepts of sex education and family living in our public schools. A question-and-answer period followed.

Reports to the chapter were made on the recently completed family picnic by chairman William DeMasi and the football classic charity game at Princeton on Sept. 7 by chairman William MacMillan. Seventeen chapter members were present for the game and worked by selling hot dogs, Pepsi-Cola and ice cream.

Their efforts earned charity dollars for distribution to a worthy Rahway cause.

Chairman Dave Goldstein reported on the recently-instituted Olympic Torch program, which is an effort to raise funds for our Olympic participants. The annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition program was reported by chairman Nick Delmonaco.

Two outstanding chairmen received Jaycee-of-the-Month recognition. John Foulks was a recipient for his excellent handling of the Rahway Post Office dedication program and William MacMillan for his fine coordination of the chapter's efforts in the football classic.

are running these departments, let him replace them." The practice of having acting directors was criticized by the committee investigating police activities.

Summing up, Kinneally stated that "the flame of progress has been blown out, but not before it burned the people of Rahway. All of the claims of the administration and its representatives should add up to cheaper, more efficient government. But, instead, we have had a gigantic tax increase."

"The voters of Rahway are entitled to hear what the candidates themselves have to say about the issues. Yes, it's your future, and let's hope it's not more of the same."

Proper Design Patterns Can Flatter Your Figure

By Carolyn F. Yukus
(Senior County Home Economist)

Pages of fall patterns attract you and bolts of fabric invite you to make one or more garments for yourself. This picture is apt to be quite rosy and you envision a lovely outfit that you have created, in better quality material and at one third the cost it would have been for a readymade.

However, the ending to this story isn't always happy, particularly if the garment hangs unworn in the closet or if you are not happy wearing it.

How does a miss-match of patter, fabric and you happen?

One of the first margins of error occurs in the selection of a pattern. This goes back to learning and knowing which lines and designs look well on your figure. Although many exceptions seem to be made in current fashion designs, if you know that strong horizontal lines make you look shorter and broader, you won't be happy with such a design.

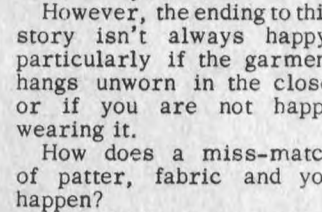

By studying the line sketches on the back of the pattern envelope, you can determine whether the structural lines of the design will flatter your figure. Another error made by many home sewers is to combine the wrong fabric with the wrong pattern. All patterns provide a list of suggested fabrics that will work out well with a given design. Until you have had considerable practice in combining weights and patterns of fabric with different designs, you should not ignore this list.

Also listed frequently is a notation that a certain design is not suitable for diagonals, plaids or stripes. This warning should be heeded.

The whole area of construction technique plays a big part in the success of failure of home sewing. Collars that do not roll correctly, sleeves that pucker, zippers that are put in poorly and bulky hem finishes are all details that detract from the overall professional look of a garment.

Finally, the accessories or the use of professional-looking trimming can make the difference in your home sewing efforts.

A close look at this area of expensive readymade dresses will often set the example that perhaps contrasting buttons and belts are used, a certain type of trimming, or that the type of hat, bag, shoes and jewelry used set the whole outfit apart.

It's a woman's WHIRL

BY MARY LEE

If you've had a new baby at your house in recent years you'll know how difficult it often is to find just the right name. After all, that little one will be saddled with the name for the rest of his or her life, so it had better be suitable.

Can you imagine then what industry goes through trying to name a new "baby"? With new products being produced at the fastest rate in history, industry is hard pressed to come up with names that can be copyrighted or registered exclusively.

But one company that solved the problem in a strictly modern way is Du Pont. When they recently brought out an exciting new man-made fiber that could revolutionize the fabric industry as nylon did a few years back, they were stumped for a name. So they turned to computers -- what else! And the result was Qiana -- that's right, a Q without a U following. It's probably the only word in the English language that has lost its U.

The name Qiana (pronounced key-ana) seemed easy to remember, pronounceable, and distinctive enough to grace the silk-like fabrics into which the new fiber will be woven. Although the fabrics will be wrinkle-resistant, non-yellowing, and spot-resistant, they have all the look, feel, rustle of real silks.

Qiana also will come in a wide variety of constructions from billowy chiffons to heavy ottomans, as well as in beautiful colors. Still in limited production and high priced, the fabrics will not appear in any great amount for another year at least.

Its first introduction has been in the fall collections of the Paris haute couture. In fact, to prove how much the new fabrics can fool even experts, the fiber was used by the five leading European textile mills in their presentations to top designers. Every designer, according to the manufacturer, chose some of the fabrics thinking that they were silk. The designers were only told later that it was Qiana.

Too Strong Indians Invade Colonia Tepee

For Rahway

By Staff Correspondent

Hillside High School's Comets only needed one march of 73 yards in 12 plays and a strong defense to score a 7-0 victory over the Rahway Indians at Veteran's Field last Saturday afternoon.

The drive was engineered by veteran quarterback Jack Issler and the final four yards for the score came when Issler passed to Bob D'Meo, who scored standing up in the left corner. The Indians opened the games by taking the kickoff at 42 yards, including three first downs, to reach the 25 yard marker, where they missed a first down by inches. Joel Davion picked up 19 yards, Cordell Green 16 and Andy Ingram 14 during the drive.

Early in the second period, Craig Hugger's 40 yard punt set the Comets back on their 19 yard line. Bill Will, a big tackle, broke through to toss Issler for a 13 yard loss to the one yard line. Issler's kick went out of bounds on the 21, but the Indians again missed a first down by inches on the 14 yard line.

The Comets were forced to punt and Fred Stuber carried the ball back from midfield to the 21, but the Indians lost the ball on the 25 yard marker. With four minutes left in the half, the Comets moved to their only score. A pass from Issler to Charlie Messano and one to Jim D'Meo gave the Comets a first down at midfield. Messano Issler pass to Messano and Jim D'Meo carried the visitors to the 18, where Issler circled his right side to the 7 yard line.

Issler picked up three at right end, Bob D'Meo failed to gain over tackle and then the pass for the only score, Issler to Bob D'Meo, followed. Tom Tremarco's kick was good and the half ended two plays later. Late in the third period, the Indians marched 56 yards in 11 plays that ended when Steve Suckar's pass was intercepted by Tremarco on the five yard line. Big plays during the drive were a 28 yard run by Cordell Green on a pitch out and a Jim Baker to Green pass that was good for 17 yards.

Joe Witkowski of Clark won the New Jersey AAU development Cross Country race at Warinanco Park on Sunday afternoon. Witkowski covered the more than 2 1/2 miles course in 12:52.

Ray Covino won the club championship of the Colonia Country Club on Sunday afternoon. Covino defeated Bill Burns in the finals 3 and 2 after losing to Burns in the semi-finals (of the double elimination tournament) 2 up.

Former Rahway High School football star Bob Scarpitto set a new American League record for a punt when he punted 87-yards. The Patriots recovered on the one-yard line when Denver fumbled, which helped the Boston team win 20-17 and move into a tie for first place in the Eastern Division. Boston plays at Oakland on Sunday, and the game will be seen on local TV, starting at 4:30 p.m.

"A Riot. The funniest flicker we've seen since the Marx Brothers—maybe it's even funnier."

Every SATURDAY SPECIAL KIDDIE SHOWS at 2 P.M.

Rahway's Indians will travel to Colonia on Saturday afternoon to meet the Patriots in the first meeting between the schools on the gridiron. Game time at the Woodbridge High School field is 2 p.m.

The Patriots won their opening game last week when they upset Edison, 18-0, behind the running of Tom Lavandowski, who scored on dashes of 20 and 28 yards. The other TD was scored on a pass from Bob Lo Prete to Dwane Fendrick.

The Colonia defense recovered five Edison fumbles, two of which they turned into touchdowns. This is the second year of operation for the Colonia school. Last season, they had a mark of 2-7, but coach Joe Martin expects better things of his club this season.

Only nine letter winners are back. They are guard Ken Hyland, quarterback Bob LoPrete and Roger Nielsen, defensive back Mike Lyles, fullback Tom Levonowski, tackles Pat Siracusa (200) and Anton Schwartz and centers Ted Urbanski and Bob Moran.

Martin operates from the winged T and flanker T running offense.

The starting backfield is expected to be Lo Prete and Nielsen at quarterback; Levonowski at fullback; Bill Burns at flanker and speedy 145-pounder Lou Barnett at tailback. The ends are Ken Hyland and Dwane Fendrick; at tackle will be Pat Siracusa and Anton Schwartz; the guards are Ted Urbanski and Frank Chupka and the center Bob Moran.

The Indians who dropped their opening game with Hillside by 7-0, will operate with the same team that played last Saturday.

In the game with the Comets, played before 1,500 fans on a perfect afternoon, the Indians outplayed the Comets everywhere except on the scoreboard. They had eight first downs to seven for Hillside. On the ground, Rahway gained 102 yards to 38 for the Maroon and Gray.

Jack Issler, senior quarterback for the visitors, was the key man. He passed 14 times, completed six for 61 yards, punted for an average of 38.1. Cordell Green led the ballcarriers for Rahway with a 5.5 average, Andy Ingram had 4.3; and Joel Davion 4.3.

The Indians passed 13 times, completed three for 30 yards, had one interception. Craig Hugger punted for an average of 34 yards per kick.

The Indians had more offensive plays, 47 to 43, than the losers. Rahway still leads the series, 6-5.

Giant-Killer Clark Prepared To Attach Muzzle to Bulldogs

By Staff Correspondent

Fresh from their exciting victory over Westfield, the Clark Crusaders travel to Springfield on Saturday afternoon to play the Bulldogs in a Watching Conference game starting at 2 p.m.

The Bulldogs dropped their opening game of the season last week, but showed plenty of scoring punch by tallying 19 points. Trailing, 21-6, they battled back to a two-point deficit with a pair of last-period scores. Bob Bove first scored on a 36-yard aerial from sophomore Bob Janukowicz. Then Jim Robinson dashed 48 yards with a punt.

Returning veterans on the team are Larry Stewart, 170, and Charles Foster, 185, at ends; Ken Kurnos, 205, the right to examine the scales, question witnesses and reject any questionable entries.

Scoring in the antler division will be done by the Boone and Crockett measuring system. Permission has been obtained to use this copyrighted method.

Net, Flag Football Programs Begin

The first annual Clark limited age tennis tourney got underway on Saturday after 23 boys and girls signed up to participate. Games are now being played at the Abraham Clark and Frank K. Hehny courts until a winner is determined. The tournament will conclude next weekend.

The boys' flag football program also got underway when more than 100 boys showed up for the initial opening. A league will be formed. Any boy who could not make the program last week may still sign up in any of the five remaining weeks and they will be placed on teams.

Passing skills were taught at the first session by Mr. Muzik and Mr. Norris, who are in charge of the program. Next week, kicking skills will be taught at the beginning of the session and will be followed by two league games.

Navy Sword To N.J. Boy

Football standouts Terry Murray of Allendale, N.J., and Bill Dow of McLean, Va., were the 1968 recipients of the Naval Academy's two top athletic prizes - the NAAA sword and the Thompson Trophy Cup.

Murray, the 174-pound halfback who also pitched in relief for the baseball squad and was runner-up in the 165-pound division of the Brigade Boxing Tournament, won the sword, which was first presented in 1893.

For his career, Murray ranks behind only Joe Bellino, Fred Franco, and Ned Oldham in yards gained rushing. The Allendale native picked up 1,202 yards on 326 trips during his three varsity seasons. He is also Navy's third-leading all-time kickoff return specialist with 29 runbacks for 556 yards or an average of 19.2 yards per try.

Deer Hunters' Awards

A New Jersey trophy deer recognition program was announced this week by commissioner Robert A. Roe of the State Department Conservation and Economic Development.

The program will start with 1968 New Jersey deer hunting seasons, including bow and arrow, Oct. 5 - Nov. 7, firearm, Dec. 9-14, and special permit, Dec. 21. It is co-sponsored by the Conservation Department's Division of Fish and Game and the New Jersey State Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs. Coordinators are Fish and Game public information assistant Robert L. McDowell and Charles W. Wright, chairman of the federation's deer committee.

The competition will be divided into two sections, the 200-pound club for heavy deer and the antler division. The antler competition will be further sub-divided, with trophies awarded for both firearm and archery and for typical and non-typical racks.

Official entry blanks, which must be used in both categories, will be available from fish and game conservation officers, wildlife biologists and the division office, Box 1809, Trenton, 08625. A clear photograph, preferably 8x10 black and white, must accompany each entry.

All deer entered in either category must be taken by legal means during established seasons. Any Garden State licensed hunter, resident or non-resident, is eligible. Certificates and patches will be awarded for all deer weighing over 200 pounds, field dressed (defined on entry blank). The weight-in, on state certified scales, must be witnessed by a conservation officer, wildlife biologist or member of the fish and game information and education staff and one other person. yard plunge by Bill Schnitzer. The Crusaders, who stopped the Blue Devils on the 10-yard line early in the last quarter, then marched 90 yards with the help of Scott Schaeffer's bullets to Bob Wilds and Mike Nisky. One of the passes to Nisky was good for 50 yards.

Schaeffer was held twice at the line, then Schnitzer bulldozed over center from the two-yard line on the kick. Steve Strakele's kick was wide.

The Blue Devils failed to get a first down on the next series of plays and had to punt. Then Ruta took the ball on his own 35 and history was made.

The play-by-play action of that big fourth period follows. Westfield was in front at the start of the period. They had possession of the ball on Clark's 16 yard line and first down:

W - 1 - 16: Jeff Davis went over tackle for five yards.

W - 2 - 11: Paul Byrne made an end sweep to left for a four yard loss.

W - 3 - 15: Pat McCabe fumbled the snap and lost two yards.

W - 4 - 17: McCabe's pass to Frank Jackson was intercepted by Ron Ruta on the four yard line and he ran it back to the 37.

The Crusaders took over and on the first play Schaeffer's pass to Nisky was no good. C - 2 - 37: George Scott hit center for five yards. C - 3 - 42: Scott, on sweep to right, picked up four yards. C - 4 - 46: Schaeffer pitched out to Mike Ciccotelli on left side and he ran 29 yards for a first down. C - 1 - 25: Scott, on reverse over right tackle, picked up 1. C - 2 - 24: Scott hit center for one. C - 3 - 23: Schaeffer's button-hook pass to Ruta was good for 13 yards and a first down. C - 1 - 10: Schaeffer's pass to Nisky was good for nine yards. C - 2 - 1: Schnitzer cut over left tackle to score and tie the game at 6-6 with 5:53 left. Strakele's try for the extra point was wide to the right. Strakele's kick-off to Davis, who returned it to the 27-yard line.

W - 1 - 27: Davis hit center for four. W - 2 - 31: McCabe's pitchout to Davis was good for five. W - 3 - 36: McCabe's pass failed. W - 4 - 36: Paul Bryne's punt was taken by Ruta on Clark's 35-yard line. He started up the middle, cut to his right and, aided by a fine block by Pariza, ran untouched down the sidelines for the score that won the game. Time of the touchdown was 3:14. Strakele's try for the extra point was blocked and that was it.

Archers Take Aim At Deer and Bear

New Jersey bow-and-arrow enthusiasts will take to the woods this Saturday in quest of whitetail deer. Black bear, although limited in number, will also be fair game. The season will run through Nov. 7, a period of almost five weeks that has prevailed in most recent years.

Hoagland's Grid Picks

Old Man Upset was king in last week's Union County football games. Such powerhouses as Westfield, Berkeley Heights and Steiner dropped their opening games.

We started our season on the short side of .500 with four out of 11, but are hopeful of better results this week.

So, here we go again... The Watching Conference will have three games and the battle between Clark's Crusaders and the Springfield Bulldogs is the game of the day. After the way the Crusaders took apart the Westfield Blue Devils, we can't see them losing to the Orange and Blue Clark in a high-scoring game, 18-14.

Berkeley Heights Highlanders too strong for the Hillside Comets, but a close game, 14-7. In a battle of first division teams, Westfield will bounce back against the Cranford Cougars, 19-7, at the Blue Devils' field. This is the opening game for Cranford.

In a games of losers thus far, we like the Scotties of East Orange over the Roselle Rams, 13-0. Kenilworth Bears will score an upset over the Bound Brook Crusaders in a Mountain Valley Conference game. The Bears have a good running team led by George Brokaw and Garret Manney. Kenilworth, 13-6.

In an important game in the Garden State Conference, the Ramblers of Carteret will nip Roselle Park Panthers, 20-19.

Thomas Jefferson of Elizabeth should win its first game of the season, 13-0, over the Mustangs of Ivelin. Just how good the Raiders of Scotch Plains - Fanwood are will be decided on Saturday when they host the Linden Tigers, who did not play last week. We take the Raiders, 19-7.

Plainfield's Cardinals will add the Bruins of North Berge to their belt, 21-0.

In the first meeting of the schools, we like Rahway over Colonia, 14-13.

Fair Lawn Cutters are too big and strong for the Mountaineers of Summit, 21-7.

In the final game, the Union Farmers over Madison Township, 14-0.

Clark Gets Ring Show

President Robert Roman, of the Thomas A. Kaczmarek Association announced today plans have been finalized for a boxing tournament in Clark.

CLEAN-UP

Pickens pointed out that for the last six months a three-hour Saturday sweep-up has been underway.

"This simply isn't enough to cure the city's grooming problems," said Pickens. "We need a clean-up program that begins with sweeping on Saturday and Sunday and includes notification to residents of the hours at which it will take place so that they can remove their cars from the street."

"If streets are missed, residents should be encouraged to call City Hall to request that a sweeper be sent out," Pickens said.

Asked about a proposal to locate the City Yard in the Second Ward, Pickens said that he opposes the move.

Pickens recommended that further consideration be given to prefabricated buildings for the City Yard that could be located in the re-development area.

"These buildings would minimize the cost, thereby lessening the tax burden and maximizing the efficiency of City Yard operations."

Holt said that the city's "shape-up" program should include "rapid disposal of garbage, beer bottles and other waste that seems to accumulate over the week-ends. We should also insist that local business people put all their garbage in containers for collection."

He also noted that the problem must be attacked at the source. "We must make every effort to rid this community of the hazards created by loitering and frequent disturbances in trouble spots."

"One local tavern is closed for 20 days right now due to a disturbance and I give my wholehearted support to strict enforcement and the dispensing of swift justice to any individual or business that works against the best interest of the citizens of Rahway."

"I take a lot of pride in this city," Holt declared. "Rahway is a fine community and a little added vigilance can go a long way to making it an even better place to live."

Holt and Pickens said that they have heard continued reference to the need for improvement in the appearance of the downtown business district in their campaign contacts with residents of the Second and Fifth Wards.

"We are telling these people that if elected, we will do everything in our power to solve the downtown problem."

"We are telling them about 'Operation Shape-Up'. But good civic grooming is far more than a mere political issue," said the candidates. "It's a matter of civic pride."

Frances E. Shults 144 Elm Ave. Rahway

To the Editor:

There is a troublemaker here in Rahway, and he leading our city to destruction, and eventually he will destroy our nation.

He is the silent one. He never speaks up on issues. He never sounds off in the letter column of his local newspaper. He never writes his Congressman. He is quiet as a clam. How can the United States stay free ... if all of us, like this one, withhold our opinions, our ideas, our criticisms? The silent troublemaker fails to understand this. He never dares to question an oppressive law. In his wish to offend nobody, he offends all.

Thomas Gordon 1021 Richard Blvd. Rahway

To the Editor:

I am convinced there are a number of individuals in this community who, for one reason or another, do not understand the objectives of the Rahway Citizens for Neighborhood Schools. What one does not understand, one fears.

I believe I understand and agree with their objectives and motives. One of the objectives of the RCNS is "to promote and defend the right of citizens to speak out on issues of great public concern regardless of their position or view with respect to some."

There are those who can not reconcile the above objective with the RCNS position on the school boycott. The boycott was an expression of disapproval, the disapproval on the part of many concerned parents with regards to the interim plan adopted by the Board of Education in haste, totally without regard to the children or the majority of the citizens of Rahway. It has been said the children were used as pawns by their parents. I submit the Board of Education is now, and has been using, our children as pawns and guinea pigs to further promote some sociological program dreamed up by pseudo-intellectuals, in many instances not even parents. This I believe will eventually lead to the destruction of our educational process as we have known it.

There are also those who cannot understand the RCNS objective position towards the Elizabeth Daily Journal. I personally attended all of the Board of Education meetings in the last four months. After reading the news release the day following the meeting, it seemed I had attended a different meeting. Important points were omitted; facts were distorted, and a totally biased presentation of facts were reported. I only ask the Elizabeth Daily Journal to "Tell It Like It Is."

It is, in my opinion, asinine using the schools to solve problems that really have nothing to do with the schools. The concept of the neighborhood school is older than the nation itself. It must be preserved.

I am sick and tired of all the pseudo-intellectuals, liberals, and do-gooders telling me what is best for my children. Schools exist to teach. They are built to pass on the accumulated cultural heritage of the human race to all the children of that human race. They are not designed or intended to solve great socio-economic problems that originate outside the schools and that are beyond the proper scope and function of the schools.

To the dedicated officers and hard-working members of the RCNS, if I may quote a phrase used by one of Rahway's councilmen? "I salute them." I believe the RCNS want for their children, as I am sure most of us want for our children, that they be taught to be patriotic citizens... speaking and writing good English; able to succeed both in college and business; possessing at least a passable knowledge of our great cultural heritage; trained in such minimum essentials as reading, basic mathematics, spelling, grammar, history, and geography; and above all, well enough grounded in habits of diligence, perseverance, and orderly thinking to enable them to prepare for adult life.

The neighborhood school concept is essential to the above desires. It must and will be retained. Hence, The Rahway Citizens for Neighborhood Schools. With perseverance and dedication, they shall overcome.

To the Editor:

Never before have I publicly taken a stand for one political party or candidate or another. Issues yes, but party no! But I feel strongly that I must speak at least a word of warning about George Wallace.

Why the change? Though there are basic differences of approach and philosophy by the major political parties, there is usually no real threat to the basic foundation stones upon which our nation is built. This does not seem to be the case with Governor Wallace. Usually, however, trusting people do not speak out via news media. But a number of my very good friends and some of my relatives have indicated interest in voting for Wallace. Since these are all genuinely religious and level-headed people I love, and usually very discerning, I feel I must say something.

I ask only that we be very, very aware of what Governor Wallace is saying. He has repeatedly made statements that he would turn the country over to the police for two years and that he would give the military over completely to the military if we did not get out of Vietnam soon.

Both of these statements pointedly attack the freedom upon which this nation was built -- the freedom of a government of the people, by the people and for the people.

It is true that we must stop violence and riot within the context of greater justice. It is true that we must free ourselves from the tentacles of Vietnam. But not in the way Governor Wallace suggests. Our police and our military have always been under the direct control of the civilian government and publicly elected officials. Why? Because this is the way we protect our freedoms. Look back to European history and to the present situation in many Latin American countries, and we have illustration enough. It is the mayor, the governor, etc. that have the power to restrain police action for the good of the people and to call in more reinforcement for the good of the people. It is the Commander-in-Chief, the President, that makes the final major decisions that call for more force. If it were not so, many of the feelers for peace and safety and truce would be overlooked and police and military power could, in the heat of battle, mushroom.

The situation we find ourselves in is not simple. On the one hand our willingness to trust our police and military with unlimited power is evidence of confidence in them. But "power corrupts" and in years we have no idea what the course may be, except as we look at history to judge. This is why the safeguard in our great nation of freedom, the safeguard of civilian control over both the police and the military. Paradoxically, Governor Wallace speaks in this manner in an attempt to prove that he would return control to the "common people," you and me. Without realizing it, I believe, both he and those influenced by this reasoning, fail to see that in turning the country over to the police for a couple of years, by giving the police autonomy or giving the military complete control, actually limits the control of the "common" people. We elect mayors, governors and presidents. We do not elect generals or police officials. Only the elected civilian leaders, leaders elected by the people, should have the final control of both the police and the military. This is one of the fundamental safeguards built into the American way of life to protect our freedom.

I only ask that as we vote we be aware of this and not allow our frustrations and anxieties, because of the tensions of the sixties, to hinder our insight.

To the Editor:

"Our love affair is a wonderful thing that we rejoice in remembering." Are these the words of the beautiful ballad made popular by the immortal Nat "King" Cole? Hardly. These are the words of endorsement with which the "educrats" entrenched in the U. S. Office of Education and the National Education Association (NEA) regularly serenade each other as they merrily go about the business of socializing America's schools.

Johnny may not be able to read as well as he should. But he sure knows about buses. And he is going to learn much more about buses in the future if the radical bosses of the NEA and the federal Dept. of Health, Education, and Welfare have their way. As the NEA and the U. S. Office of Education see it, our children are merely social guinea pigs for the "new collectivist social order" they envision for future America. In 1964, the NEA Division of Federal Relations published a pamphlet entitled "The Root of Opposition" written by an apparent socialist-oriented individual named John McCormally. The pamphlet was written for the purpose of obtaining federal aid to education -- the vehicle being used to destroy local control of the schools. The propaganda sheet uses words right out of Karl Marx's "Das Kapital," referring to the American public as the "masses" and basing its argument for federal control of America's schools on the Communist theory that the class struggle can only be settled in America by "channeling the wealth of the nation to the benefit of the masses." It seems I've heard these words before, probably in the Communist publication "The Worker." Continuing, the pamphlet explains that the solution to financing education is for public education to be "made as much a federal responsibility as national defense or national highways," and then at last "more money than was ever dreamed of will be spent on it." So, there is the plan for all to see. Local control of the schools is out, federal control is in, and the NEA and the U. S. Office of Education share the driver's seat of our children's future. Pretty neat!

The other half of this "torrid love affair" is the U. S. Office of Education, an agency of the Dept. of Health, Education, and Welfare. HEW was formerly headed by John W. Gardner, a member of the radical and dangerous Council on Foreign Relations which espouses One World Government and control of the Ant Box on the East River known, erroneously, as the United Nations. According to President Johnson, Gardner was the chief architect of the federal government's role in the rapidly expanding field of aid to -- and control over -- education. Gardner felt that America's schools must take the lead in being "instruments of social change" rather than merely instruments of education. And since the neighborhood school stands in the way of "social change," it must go. Gardner, some of us may remember, has been a leader in using the threat of withholding federal funds (taxpayers money) from local school districts in order to force the creation of the bureaucratic ideal of "racial balance" throughout the nation's primary and secondary schools. He is or record as having supported a recommendation by the U.S. Civil Rights Commission that no public school in the country have an enrollment that is more than 50% Negro -- even if that meant shuffling children about the countryside like bean bags. In my opinion, this is federal racism, pure and simple! The extent to which local school boards and state governments allow themselves to be coerced or bought off will affect the strategy used by the NEA and the U. S. Dept. of Education in their efforts to gain a stranglehold on American education. A grassroots movement on the part of the American people to restore control of their schools to the local community is urgently needed. Without it, our educational system will be destroyed. Our most precious possession is our children, surely a miracle of God. It is up to us as parents to insure that the opportunity of maturing into well-adjusted, good Americans who will some day be leaders of this Republic. If we allow the federal government to control our schools we will deny them this basic right.

In conclusion, I heartily recommend a book entitled "Blackboard Power" authored by Dr. Gordon Drake, Educational Director of the Christian Crusade, Box 977, Tulsa, Oklahoma, 74102. This book is excellently documented and completely outlines the strategy of the NEA and the federal government for taking over America's schools. The cost is only $2.00 and well worth it. The book can be acquired by writing to Dr. Drake.

Merck Drug Given Approval of FDA

'Indocin' is widely prescribed by physicians because they find it useful for their patients. In addition to the overwhelming accumulation of data supporting claims approved by the FDA, there are scores of scientific publications reporting varying degrees of therapeutic success in other conditions. The monopoly subcommittee spent five full days discussing 'indocin' in April and May of this year and Merck stands on the record made during those hearings.
