Teachers Get ITA Certificates

Teachers from Clark public schools received certificates after completing a two day Initial Teaching Alphabet workshop at Frank K. Hehny School. Arrangements for the workshop were made by John Conklin, principal of Hehny. Mrs. Patricia Keiserman, educational consultant for ITA Publications, N.Y., conducted the training sessions. The teachers who attended the workshop were Kay Schroeder, Joy Behringer, Theresa Caputo, Marilyn Klerman, Ellen Connors, Anna Krov, Paula Putsche, Kay Gambino, Francine Jaffe, Lace Cassidy, Virginia Conklin, Carol Vare and Darlene Campana. The ITA is an innovative and effective teaching medium. It has 44 characters, 24 of which are exactly the same as the traditional alphabet.

In addition, 14 of the new ITA characters look like two of the traditional letters joined together. The purpose of this new alphabet is to simplify beginning reading instruction by providing a code in which the sound-symbol relationship is consistent. Many words such as "best," "mitten" and "doctor" are spelled exactly the same in both alphabets. A word such as "once," however, which is not phonetic in the traditional alphabet, will look quite different in ITA. The spelling of this word is "wuns."

The use of UTA has spread rapidly in this country since its introduction from England in 1963. There are now classes in every state and many school systems across the country now use ITA in all their first grades.

The first classes in Clark were organized in 1964 under the direction of Mrs. Kay Gambino, Frank K. Hehny School, and Mrs. Frances Fiscella, Valley Road School. Most children in the township make the transition to our alphabet by the end of the first grade.

Mrs. Gambino said: "I feel the ITA program's biggest contribution to our reading program is in removing the frustration of decoding the printed page in beginning reading. It gives to the child a very significant sense of security and success and therefore fosters a greater interest in reading. Once a child has learned to read with ITA the transition to TO (traditional orthography) is fascinating to see because it is practically automatic."

One teacher's comment seemed to reflect the feeling of the group.

"Before this workshop, my thoughts about ITA were mixed, but now I am thoroughly convinced that it is an excellent idea."

James Daly Hunts Foes' Viet Caches

Marine Pfc. James Daly, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Daly of 27 Rand Rd., Clark, is participating in Operation "Pickens Forest" with the First Marine Division in Vietnam.

The operation is designed to uncover enemy supplies and equipment and locate hostile base camps. During the first 14 days of the operation, Marines found 8,360 pounds of rice, 12,788 pounds of miscellaneous food stuffs and 2,315 pounds of tobacco abandoned by a large enemy force.

Four large base camps were discovered with evidence that enemy soldiers had occupied the area and departed after six companies of Marines started the operation.

A Community-Involved Citizen, Ed Getchis Has Green Thumb For Both Garden and Politics

What has an articulate politician, a diplomatic man adept at bridging partisan divisions, skilled in repairing community spirit and dedicated to progressive growth of the physical town in common with a tactful do-it-yourselfer, a guy who built his own home, grows his own vegetables and even started his business on the proverbial shoestring?

Everything, for they are one and the same.

The man in question is Edward P. Getchis of 43 Lefferts Lane, Clark, founder and president of the Clark Lumber and Supply Co., who is currently seeking his third term in office as First Ward councilman.

Twenty-four years ago, Getchis had the foresight to select the suburban Township of Clark as the locale for his venture into business.

In those early days of blood, sweat and callouses, Getchis—"Big Ed"—to friends and customers alike—not only made the cement blocks and cut the lumber, but waited on patrons and made the deliveries.

Today, he is not only the executive head of the original firm, but is president of Clark Enterprises and treasurer of Clark Music Industries, all located at 61 Walnut St., Clark. An advocate of human rights, Getchis spearheaded the drive for open employment by hiring the disabled as well as members of minority groups long before it became fashionable to do so.

Thirteen years ago, Getchis, his wife, Aldona, and their three sons, Randy, Edward and John, moved from Elizabeth into the split level, hip-roofed ranch house he built on Lefferts Lane.

The Getchis family became communicants of St. Agnes Church. Big Ed joined the Holy Name Society and Aldona became a charter member of the Rosary Society. When Ed joined Elks BPO Lodge #2327, Aldona became a member of the Ladies Auxiliary.

In 1958, while attending a hearing on the southwest sewer project, Getchis got involved in the debate which ensued. Cognizant of the need to plan for future growth, he presented a strong case for the sewers. Following the meeting, he was approached by Edward Simpson, president of the Southwest Civic Association, to represent that residents' group at the meetings of Clark's governing body.

In those days, the township had a commission form of government and, after attending a few meetings, Getchis soon became aware of the need for a new form of government with a new administration and new leaders charting a course for the future. Unfortunately, at that time, Big Ed was too busy with a growing family and prospering business to fill that need personally.

Through the years, Getchis became more active in community affairs. He joined the Deutscher Klub, served as treasurer and then president of the Southwest Civic Association. He also served as president of the Clark Republican Club and vice president of Kiwanis.

Attending so many meetings and mixing with more townspeople was what led to Big Ed's getting involved in politics. He realized that just expressing his opinions on problems wasn't going to help him, his neighbors or Clark. That's when he decided he would serve on the governing body in order to be one of the men to guide Clark into its rightful place in society and the county.

He ran for First Ward councilman on the Republican ticket, won and was sworn into office in 1963. Getchis successfully sought a second term and is now asking First Ward residents for a vote of confidence by returning him to office for a third term. Big Ed wants the opportunity to implement programs started by him and to embark in new directions.

"By a mandate from the people, Clark is now governed under the Faulkner Act, but the governing body is not using it the way it was meant to be used," he said. "I ask you: whatever happened to the strong mayor that was the act's intention?"

Getchis went on to charge Clark's Democratic-controlled council with "making a lot of noise instead of doing things" and pledged residents of his ward that when returned to office, he would continue to be Clark's political do-it-yourselfer who would get things done for the best interests of his constituents and community.

Register Voters, Chairman Asks

Thomas Parrillo, Clark Democratic chairman, speaking at Friday's meeting of the Clark Democratic Club, urged all party members to work in behalf of the candidates and asked all municipal committee members to assist with registration of new voters.

Ralph Iozzi, president, said that youths should join the club and work with the present membership. The Democratic councilmen spoke about township issues. A social hour followed the meeting. Mrs. Hugh Perry was refreshments chairman.

Last 1924 Fire Helmet Is Missing

The last fire helmet from the original Clark Volunteer Fire Company, founded in 1924, has disappeared from Station #2 in the municipal building on Westfield Ave.

Made of black leather, it carried a gold eagle on the top and faced with a shield that bore the legend "Orig. 1924, Clark, N.J." It is irreplaceable and of great historic value to the fire company.

A picture of the first chemical truck with several of the original members also is missing.

Chief Robert Siessel has issued an appeal to all citizens to be on the lookout for the headgear.

"The helmet represents our last link with the past. It has deep sentimental value to all firemen, particularly the Exempt," said Siessel. Anyone who has these items or knows of their whereabouts can return them by calling 381-9566.

"There will be a modest reward for the safe return of the mementos," said Siessel.

Construction of two dwelling units in Clark was authorized during July by issuance of building permits, according to the September report of the State Department of Labor and Industry. The department stated that no information about new dwelling units was received from Rahway.

Show Cause Order Is Obtained By Higgins to Thwart Second Refuse Rate Hike Since Jan. 1

The year nineteen hundred and seventy might go down in the township's annals as the year of the lingering refuse dispute.

Township Attorney John P. Higgins announced at Monday night's council meeting that he had obtained a show cause order from Superior Court Judge Walter L. Hetfield, 3rd against the Clark Disposal Association, asking the group why it had defied a township ordinance prohibiting rate increases that are not first presented to the township council for approval. Evidence supporting the demand for increased rates is also required.

The law was passed at the June 15 meeting on second reading and requires 90-day notice on the part of refuse collectors seeking hikes in their schedule of fees. The ordinance was passed in response to the Jan. 1 rate hike and citizen complaints of poor service.

Higgins carefully reviewed the history of the controversy concerning the most recent collection fee increase which was formally received by the township in a letter directed by the Clark Disposal Association to Business Administrator John J. Wilson Aug. 26. That correspondence gave Oct. 1 as the effective date of the new rates.

Higgins said the association was informed of the township's opposition to the new rates and was given to Sept. 11 to submit a request for increased rates as per the requirements, Higgins said.

The township attorney termed the association's action "utter defiance" and a "flagrant disregard of the ordinance."

He explained the restraining order will require the association to produce its reasons for violating the law by Oct. 2. Higgins said the action of the association was ample evidence that its case for increased rates was not equitable and that it "acted prejudicially and to their (its) own detriment."

Third Ward Councilman Bernard G. Yarusavage (R) asked the attorney to give some indication of what residents should do about the most recent rate increase. Higgins said he would not pay the increase until ordered by a court, but he also counseled members of the audience to pay the old rate and noted the association would be handled by the township in court.

Higgins told The Patriot that the decision involving the question of whether a council could control municipal refuse rates was decided in favor of the Township of Scotch Plains unanimously by the Appellate Division of the Superior Court and that the Scotch Plains association of contractors could not proceed for an appeal to the Supreme Court of New Jersey unless that court consented to hear the matter.

He felt the Clark Disposal Association would have a difficult time defending itself in light of the Appellate Division decision, especially when it broke the law first. He also noted that a method of relief from the ordinance is contained in the law.

Rates were increased Jan. 1 this year to $3.75, and the new basic rate charge for residential properties is $4.75 a month. The prices are in line with what is being char-

To Honor Captain

Friends of Capt. John Waterson of the Clark Police Department will hold a meeting to arrange an affair in his honor. All who are interested in attending should call Jim Smith at 588-4723 after 4:30 p.m.

Called in other communities, and Higgins was somewhat surprised that the association did not follow the procedure prescribed in the ordinance which he said would probably have resulted in increased rates.

The attorney was publicly commended for his prompt action in obtaining a restraining order the same day of the council meeting by Councilman-at-Large A. Charles Walano (D).

The council was active on several fronts to find alternatives to refuse collection by an uncontrolled private contractor. The business administrator was unanimously authorized to advertise for a bid for the collection of refuse by one contractor per specifications determined by council.

Seton Pupil Gains Grant Semi-Finals

Sister Irene Margaret, principal of Mother Seton Regional High School, Clark, announced the notification of its first semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship program.

The scholar for 1970-71 is Sue Griffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Griffin of Roselle Park, who will have the opportunity to compete for some 3,000 merit scholarships in 1971. These competing students constitute less than one percent of the graduating secondary school seniors in the United States and bring honor to their families, schools and communities.

Sue will compete for one of the $1,000 National Merit Scholarships which are allocated by the state. Many merit scholars will also be considered for the renewable four-year grants provided by some 500 corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, trusts and professional associations.

Yarusavage said the township had bid four years ago for a single township-wide refuse collector, but the offered price was far above private refuse collection rates at that time. He held the present action is a "trial balloon," and there was a likelihood one township-wide contractor would be "competitive" with the present setup.

Fourth Ward Councilman Robert Roman (D) moved to make a study of the possibility of establishing a municipal refuse collection and disposal setup.

He called for a study of equipment, employees and their rates of pay, and added insurance costs. The motion was amended twice: to limit the study to 90-days and to examine the relationships and job descriptions of the present contract with employees of the Public Works and Engineering Department who are represented by the Teamsters. The study was approved unanimously.

Fears about uncollected refuse should the contractors take action against those refusing to pay increased fees were allayed by Council President Richard C. Burger, who said a health emergency would be declared if any serious problems arose.

The Union County goal of $160,000 in the American Cancer Society campaign was surpassed by $15,221.53. One of the big reasons for this unprecedented showing was the warm response by residents of Clark.

S. Arthur Gaylor of 37 Hall Dr., township chairman, announced that $6,234.92 was raised, far exceeding the goal of $4,000.

The overall county return was $175,221.53.

Police Pay Referendum Placed on Nov. 3 Ballot

With the necessary number of signatures gathered by the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association No. 125, the township council moved Monday night to place a referendum on the Nov. 3 ballot that would grant at $1,200 across-the-board increase to policemen. Council has been negotiating with the PBA for over a year and offered an $800 across-the-board increase.

If the new schedule of salaries is approved by the voters, it will take effect Jan. 1, 1971.

Salaries for patrolmen are provided in three steps: from $8,600 to $9,800; from $9,200 to $10,400; and from $9,800 to $11,000. Sergeants will also be compensated in three steps: from $10,100 to $11,300; from $10,800 to $12,000; and from $11,500 to $12,700. Police lieutenants will be paid in two steps: from $12,000 to $13,200 and from $12,800 to $14,000.

In a separate resolution, the salary of a police captain was increased from $12,660 to $13,460.

3 to Take Exams for Police Chief

Anthony T. Smar

Lt. Anthony T. Smar, 46, was appointed chief of police in Clark last week by Thomas P. Kelmartin, public safety director, with the approval of Mayor Thomas A. Kaczmarek. Lt. Smar succeeds William H. Muth, 63, who retired on Sept. 1 after a nine-month sick leave. Chief Smar and two other candidates for permanent appointment, Capt. John Waterson and Lt. Robert Barkus, are expected to take a Civil Service Commission examination within the next four months. Capt. Waterson was acting chief while Chief Muth was on leave.

Kelmartin asked the commission last Thursday to conduct a promotion examination for which Chief Smar, Capt. Waterson and Lt.

Barkus would be eligible. Kelmartin explained that his decision to name Smar "is projected for the next two years." Smar is 45, Capt. Waterson is 47 and Lt. Barkus is 39.

A veteran of three years in the Navy, Smar was appointed a Clark patrolman in January, 1953. He is attending night classes at Rutgers University in New Brunswick and is working toward a degree in police science. He was placed on the dean's list last semester. Smar has completed a police supervisor's course offered by the State Department of Law and Public Safety and has received instruction in explosives, drunkometer testing, community relations and investigation.

GAC Hears Of Ocean As Harvest

The Golden Age Club of Rahway held their regular meeting last week at the recreation hall of the Kennedy Apartments Annex at 250 W. Grand Ave. with president Henrietta Rau presiding.

Eighty-three members heard Mr. Emerson of the New Jersey Telephone Co. explain the slides on "The Silent World." In addition to showing how the telephone company utilized the oceans for communication purposes, he explained the possibilities in the use of ocean life in future medicines and that the ever-expanding population, with its corresponding need for food, will have to harvest the oceans. He said that even now experiments are underway with ground-up fish providing protein. Visitors welcomed were Mrs. Jean Schulties, Mrs. Maria Hrudka and Mrs. Ann Smith.

Eva Frenzel was reported ill and consolation was extended to Mrs. Ersilia Sforza on the death of her daughter. Members will go to the Trenton Fair on Senior Citizens Day, when they will be admitted free. The bus to the Radio City Christmas show has been filled, but reservations can still be made for the Williamsburg, Va., tour on Oct. 22, 23, 24 and 25. A trip to Stroudsburg, Pa., is planned for Wednesday, Oct. 14.

Kiwanis Salutes Muth

The Clark Kiwanis Club paid a special tribute to William H. Muth, who will retire as the chief of police on Thursday, Oct. 1. Muth was given a citizen citation certificate in recognition of his service to the township that dates back to 1943.

President-elect William Maguire and past president Jay Stemmer, former mayors of Clark, recalled some memorable experiences during their terms of office with the chief, Captain John Waterson, also a past president of Kiwanis, made the presentation and introduced guests Thomas P. Kelmartin, director of public safety, and Herbert Johnson, president of Clark. Local #125, PBA, who presented Muth with a check. Both Kelmartin and Johnson voiced acclaim for Muth.

All Systems Are 'Go' for Community Relations Board

Rahway community relations board chairman Joseph M. Coleman reported that the newly formed group, organized to deal with both long and short-term aspects of disturbances in the city, is in full-scale operation and has already dealt with two specific incidents, both of which, according to Coleman, are nearing resolution.

Explaining the structure of the new board, Coleman said that "it is important that we separate our activities into short-term operations tailored to immediate problems and long-term programs which will give us direction and ensure a measure of lasting harmony and understanding among various elements within the community."

According to Coleman, the short-term effort is composed of an early-warning committee which has the responsibility of locating potential problem areas, so dissenting groups can be invited to discuss their differences in an orderly manner rather than until emotion has replaced reason. When problems have been isolated by the concerned parties are invited to meet with the board's mediation panel which, after listening to the positions of the participants, attempts to guide them to a solution which both find acceptable.

"From a community point of view," said Coleman, "we have a responsibility to protect the right of everyone to hold a position or to seek to accomplish an objective so long as he does so without imposing on the rights of others. The mediation panel, therefore, does not and must not defend partisan positions. The panel must confine itself to presenting alternative solutions to differences."

"Further, this panel will not suggest or in any way imply that those who come before it alter their convictions. Our only job is to set up conditions under which all persuasions, ages, races and groups can live together within the boundaries of our community. We promote mediation as an alternative which operates in the best interests of all concerned. "When it fails, all that is left is either a court battle with accusations and the biting language of legal briefs which, in the end, prove only who is the temporary king of the hill or the outbreak of emotion, which leads to physical violence. Obviously, a meeting at the table of mediation in an effort to resolve disagreements is a far more desirable alternative."

Coleman indicated that two cases have already come before the panel, one having already been satisfactorily resolved and the other well along the road to amicable agreement, but he declined to name the participants. "I don't think any useful purpose will be served by releasing names. The most important fact at this point is that the board is working, it is proving itself a useful and important element in the community and it is ready to handle any matter which may be assigned to it."

The mediation panel receives assignments from the board's steering committee, which receives reports from the early-warning group or from individuals who may wish to bring problems to the attention of the board. On the long-range program, three different committees are working. The research committee is examining the history of disturbances in Rahway over the last 10 years to determine patterns which may have evolved from national conditions or from unique local situations. Subjects being covered include housing, recreation, education, employment and other economic, and social factors which may have contributed to Rahway's uprisings.

Acting on information developed by the research committee, the program planning committee, led by James Holt, seeks to devise plans which will preclude re-occurrences of the disturbances and provide measurable improvements in those areas of activity where they are most needed. As soon as program have been planned, a program implementing committee takes over to make sure that the program is carried out in the intended manner. This committee is headed by H. P. "Pete" Frazee.

Chairing the early-warning committee is Courtney Clarke. The mediation panel is headed by newly-appointed 5th Ward Councilman Peter Donovan and the research committee head is Edmund Hoener.

We want as many people to participate in this program as possible," said Coleman. "I want to ask that anyone interested in joining the board of community relations to call Mrs. Arlene Naulty at 382-5999 during business hours. There is much work to be done. Our assignments have been defined by each individual committee and it is apparent that there is more work than people to do it."

Gone Fishing.

In the normal operation of any conventional or nuclear electric generating station, water, usually from a river, is needed to keep vital equipment cool and also to condense steam back into water. Naturally, this cooling water becomes warm as it does its vital job. Public Service has always traced the warm water's effect on the rivers into which it is returned.

At the Salem Nuclear Generating Station which is now under construction on the banks of the lower Delaware River, a team of scientists led by Dr. Edward C. Raney, a professor of zoology at Cornell University, is conducting a study of the fish and marine life in the river area near the plant site. This is to be certain there will be no harmful effect on the river life. The study has been underway for two years and covers an area 10 miles above and 10 miles below the plant site. The study will continue after the plant goes into operation in 1972 to be certain that we help maintain the integrity of our environment.

Says Bureaucrats Hurt Schools

It is my opinion that the State Board of Education and the commissioner of education of the State of New Jersey are contributing to destroy the New Jersey public school system, and that they are also violating federal law (the Civil Rights Act of 1964).

Every district in this state is being forced to transfer students for the sole purpose of achieving racial mixing. That is in direct violation of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 which says in section 401 (b): "Desegregation means the assignment of students to public schools without regard to their race, color, religion, or national origin; but desegregation shall not mean the assignment of students to public schools in order to overcome racial imbalance."

Referring to the resolution adopted on Nov. 5, 1969, by the State Board of Education, "Resolved, that the commissioner of education under the policy of the State Board of Education undertake such steps as he shall deem necessary to correct such conditions of racial imbalance as may be found....," local districts are being forced in to compliance with a directive that in my opinion is asinine, a conglomeration of illogic, replete with contradictions, assumptions, and disputable conclusions. The blackjack being used by the commissioner is loss of state aid, and that is only the beginning. Taxpayers and parents castigate local boards constantly because of the moving around of their children as if they were pawns in never-ending chess game, the continuous waste of tax dollars for busing, etc. But I submit to you that your energy is wasted if directed at your local board.

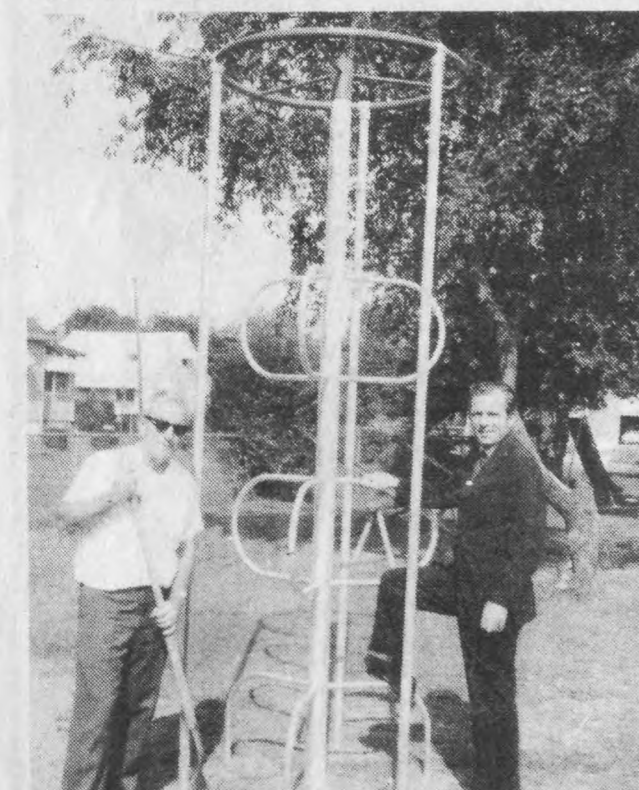

Local board members are compelled under oath to uphold the law. Any directive issued by the State Board of Education is as binding on a local board as law, until appealed and overturned in the courts. That is a process which could be lengthy and costly, but as I see it as a must. It is my hope that some relief will be forthcoming from the decisions rendered by the U.S. Supreme Court, hopefully this year. If not, it will be my recommendation that this board, possibly in conjunction with some other districts, appeal to the courts for relief from the State Board of Education desegregation directive.

The chaos and confusion that engulfs our school system at this time is only the beginning. Unless pressure is brought to bear on the appointed bureaucrats in Trenton and Washington and the silent majority becomes the vocal and active majority, we can look forward in the near future to the complete obliteration of present school districts, requiring rezoning of school attendance areas, without regard to state or county lines; to compel racial balance in schools; to require busing of children from white suburbs into black inner-city schools, and vice versa; to require new kinds of curricula for public schools to promote racial integration; to subsidize the rewriting of history, to present racial minorities in a light pleasing to them, and creation of educational parks operated to achieve social, economic, and racial integration. Whether we like it or not, the power of local school government is not with the people but with the appointed bureaucrats in Trenton they, the progressive liberals, pull the strings; they know what's best for Rahway and every other district.

The controversy over de facto segregation will go on until its settled the slow destruction of the public school system shall continue, and our children shall continue to be used as pawns.

VETERANS' DAY ... Rahway Jaycees host a group of veterans from East Orange to ascertain what help they can be to the hospital's restoration center. With Peter Hourihan, left, Jaycee president, and Robert McDonald, right, director of recreation, are (clockwise) Mel Roff, Tony Rango, Chuck Olson, Randy Lyles and Leon Giordano. If you'd like to assist, contact Mr. George Higgins, 165-1/2 Smith St., Elizabeth.

A SECOND CHILDHOOD? ... Not really. Mayor John C. Marsh, right, is simply inspecting some of the new equipment for the city's playgrounds. Although we've heard it said the mayor's favorite is the Jungle Jim above, he's been willing to share his toys with the city's youth. Looking on is John Slattery of the Public Works Department.

Until the apathetic and silent majority become the active and vocal majority, the appointed bureaucrats shall continue to pull the strings and we shall continue to dance to their tune.

They turn out the directives in the name of education but, in my opinion, integration at any cost, not education, is their primary purpose.

Decorum and Public Meetings

Decorum in a public meeting is akin to oil in an engine; it keeps the parts moving without friction. Unfortunately, there was not too much politeness--slippery or otherwise--to be found at Monday night's meeting of the Clark municipal council.

The agenda of the evening was of a normal length, yet the meeting dragged out to nearly midnight. Councilmen and much of the audience were exposed to borish displays of personal prerogative.

State law allows each individual to speak for ten minutes, and for some of the "orators" the occasion is viewed as an opportunity to concentrate as much bad manners and ignorance as the time limit will allow.

One youth--a member of a contingent which came to supposedly redress difficulties they are having with the police and some residents--made some sort of victory sign after he had finished his highly polished and literary address which was greeted with guffaws and clapping by the teenage group. This sort of behavior is fine at a baseball game, but it should not be tolerated at a public meeting during which serious issues are raised for councilmanic consideration.

Another youth addressed the council politely but for too long. The purpose of a general public hearing at the end of the written agenda is to allow residents a time to state precisely what they feel is wrong and possibly request a remedy from council. It is not a time for airing personal problems nor should it be the occasion for ego-building.

One youth tried to enter the council chambers wearing a tank-top (for the older generation; something like a sleeveless undershirt) and was told to come back with a shirt. It isn't necessary to dress up for a council meeting, but coming to a public meeting half-dressed is pushing the issue beyond the limits of good taste.

In addition, the youths whose gauche actions can be attributed partly to inexperience and lack of training were not given an inviting example by some adult speakers.

One man consumed nearly 20 minutes asking council what he was going to do should he follow the township attorney's advice and refuse to pay the increased refuse collection fee. He was told several times either he must take legal action against the contractor should he deny him service or pay the increased fee. The choice was his. He became indignant when told he should follow one of the two above courses and said he would throw his garbage into the street. The perfect example for youth.

Actually if a garbage strike did arise everyone would have their refuse removed under emergency actions pre-dicated on health hazards, but this does not mean the township has to foot the bill of individuals refusing to pay contractor fees, even if those fees were not established according to a township ordinance. The failure to follow the laws of Clark on the part of the contractors is being pursued by the township attorney in the Superior Court and will be resolved. An improperly increased fee, however, is no reason for irrational responses. Much less when those responses unnecessarily expose the public to long and disorderly council meetings.

Other adults also rose to consume air for no discernible purpose. If you can't speak well in public then it certainly makes sense to prepare what you are going to say. Any intelligent person would.

In short, people should attend council dressed in a reasonably good state of repair, should prepare their remarks to some degree, and should speak as concisely as possible. It would be unfortunate if the paper were forced to cite individuals for abusing public rights at the general public hearing, but if another meeting like last Monday's is forthcoming, then the staff of this paper will not hesitate to do so, even if it embarrasses certain individuals. --KCB

Denies Candidate Active in Scouting

I object to Mr. "Bud" Senkowsky using the Boy Scouts of America as a way and means to gain votes in his political campaign. He claims to be an adult volunteer in the Union Council, serving Linden and Rahway. I have been in the B.S.A. movement for the past 13 years and have never seen him at a single meeting. He is not registered as an adult leader in the Scout office and the professional Scouts have never heard of him.

Please, Mr. Senkowsky, we need adult volunteers in Scouting, but let's not put your potential voters under the wrong impression.

Suggests Captain Became Pawn in Party Politics

The report that Public Safety Director Thomas P. Kelmartin by-passed Police Capt. John Waterson in selecting Clark's new police chief came as a disturbing piece of news to me -- as it has to other residents with whom I've spoken. The issue is not whether former Police Lt. Anthony T. Smar is qualified for the top police post; his fine reputation speaks for itself. The real question is whether Capt. Waterson was given a fair shake. I strongly feel that all factors considered -- competency, service and age -- that Capt. Waterson got the short end of the stick.

Two facts alone -- among others that can be enumerated -- cloak Kelmartin's decision in mystery: -- For a better part of a decade, Capt. Waterson had been second in command of the Clark Police Department, handling key administrative duties with greater frequency in recent years. This was topped off with Capt. Waterson serving as acting chief during the past nine months, while former Police Chief William H. Muth was on sick leave.

-- For the better part of a decade Waterson was Smar's superior (Waterson was lieutenant, while Smar was a sergeant, and a captain, while Smar was a lieutenant). Kelmartin was reported to have stated that Waterson, Smar and Police Lt. Robert Bartkus were taking promotional Civil Service exams for the police chief's post. One wonders the purpose of this exercise, Smar obviously has been named "police chief" not "acting police chief," and so one must assume that regardless of the score on the exams, the decision in naming Smar will not be reversed. That would only compound the confusion.

Moreover, as anyone who is familiar with Civil Service promotional exams for police knows, the appointing authority (Director Kelmartin) can select any one of the three men, whether he finishes first or last on the exam. I'm also a bit confused by Kelmartin's reported comments that his decision in naming Smar was "projected for the next 20 years" and, therefore, the age of the two men then was a factor in the appointment. Smar, it was reported, is 45 and Waterson is 47 -- a whole two years older. Does a mere two years forfeit Waterson's right to the chief's post? That doesn't seem plausible.

Also, if a man is qualified to serve as captain and acting chief of a police department, why the hesitancy to name him to the chief's post? If one were to give Kelmartin all the benefit of the doubts, it would appear that Smar was chosen over Waterson simply because Smar is the better man.

In fairness to both men, each has qualities that make them excellent choices for police chief. But, Waterson had first claim to the post, because he was second -- not third -- in command. Which all leads to the final -- and, perhaps -- the most significant aspect of the appointment.

Was Waterson by-passed because he was considered too friendly, too close, to the former Republican administration and party -- the opposite party currently holding the reins at town hall?

One will remember that it was Waterson's excellent police work and testimony before the grand jury that led to the conviction of five prominent Democrats in the township a short five years ago.

And, so, the question that begs for a straight answer is: "Was Waterson the pawn of politics?"

Dem Candidate Is Thanked For Help by Parents

Most parents look forward to the beginning of school as the time of education for their children and a little more relaxation for themselves. Sadly enough, we cannot say that that has been true for us.

Over one month ago we began worrying about the coming school year. It was our contention that it was not safe for our children to walk to school through downtown Rahway. Even without going into all the details, it is clear that in our time of trouble only one man helped us. Time and time again, we sought help from the board of education. We were refused.

We then turned to the Republican city chairman, James Daly. He either would not, or could not, help. Finally we met with the mayor. He told us that we could go to jail if we kept our children out of school any longer. Then he patted us on the back and promised help, but he did nothing.

After one month of rejection of what we felt was a truly legitimate problem, we tried something as a last resort. We called Rahway Democratic headquarters, a meeting was immediately set up for that night with involved mothers and Dan Martin, the Democratic candidate for mayor. He informed us that he could not solve all our problems, but that he could see to the immediate need of getting our children safely to school. The next morning he started a free taxi service for our children. After over a month of refusal, we received help overnight.

Needless to say, we are grateful to Mr. Martin. He set aside political motivations and extended a hand to help the mothers and children. And last Thursday, Mr. Daly called us to say that he was deeply embarrassed by the attitude city officials of his own party showed towards mothers and children. We are more than embarrassed.

Believes County Of School Sought Solution Needed For High Holiday

Clark residents have recently been notified that the cost of garbage collection is going up. We are told that this is because there are no more sanitary landfills in this area, and the cost of transporting the garbage to distant landfills cannot be absorbed by the scavengers.

Investigation of the cost of operations bears this out. In fact, a study by the Council shows that the township could not provide this service as efficiently or as cheaply. Perhaps we cannot blame the scavengers, but we question how long will this continue? When will the state run completely out of dumps at its present rate of growth? What provision is being made for this?

Clark cannot take the necessary action in this case, but the county should. Clark is not alone in this problem; it is a county problem and nothing is being done about it. Over a short span of time, the cost of a county incinerator-compacting station would be far less expensive than a dollar a month for each homeowner in the county, and it would provide a permanent solution to a growing problem. The solutions to most of our problems are around, but where is our Board of Freeholders?

Oct. 2 Closing Of School Sought

The Jewish High Holy Days are Rosh Hashanah, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 1 and 2 and Yom Kippur, Saturday, Oct. 10. The Rahway Board of Education has declared only Oct. 1 a holiday and therefore school is closed, Yom Kippur falls on Saturday when, as you well know, schools are closed anyway.

The Jewish children in our high school requested that the school board will change the school calendar for this year? We have taught our children that a grievance presented in a peaceful, orderly manner is the proper way. The violence which has reeked havoc on campuses throughout our country has brought unhappiness and bloodshed. This is too high a price to pay for the few changes that have resulted, but what can we say when our children ask why peaceful methods bring no results at all?

We will still remain orderly and keep plugging in hopes that the school board will change. It is a poor example for all our city's children if the board demonstrates its willingness to listen only as a result of violence and unrest.

From time to time, there will be changes in the exhibits so that all those enthusiastic youngsters who helped to make this program a success may share in the display.

Plans were complete for the coming year and the president announced her committee chairmen as follows: Program, Carrie Miller; membership, Anne Kellegren; civic participation, Mary Finelli; world affairs, Anna Linkel; finance, Mabel McHale; historian, Minnie Chapin; bulletin, June Svihra; hospitality, Irene Fitzgerald; eyes for needy, Mabel McHale; legislation, Elizabeth Britt; chaplain, Edna Lehrer; personal development, Katherine Ledovoy; sunshine, Anne Kellegren; foundation, Gertrude Grimaldi; parliamentarian, Dorothy Speak; public relations, Mary Finelli.

Minnie Chapin gave an informative and descriptive talk on her recent trip to Europe where she visited the Netherlands, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland and Italy.

The president will be accompanied by Marianne Bacigalupo, Mabel McHale, Muriel Collins to the state board meeting to be held at the Beacon Manor in Point Pleasant.

Workshop Offers Aid To Puffers

Rahway and Clark residents will be offered a new solution to the cigarette smoking problem next month when SmokEnders Inc. conducts a workshop series at Rahway Hospital.

A free public explanatory meeting has been arranged by SmokEnders, an independent smoking cessation organization, for today at 8 p.m. in the hospital. The public meeting is designed to explain the SmokEnders program to cigarette smokers and to give them an opportunity to ask questions about the course.

The first of the 10 consecutive weekly classes in the series will be held on Thursday, Oct. 8, at 7:30 p.m.

The SmokEnders approach to smoking cessation is said to be unique in that it is a non-medical program. It assumes that all smokers are aware of the health hazards of smoking. The use of fear as a technique and discussion of major health problems are eliminated from the program. SmokEnders attribute the success of their program to the fact that smoking is a learned habit and to their teaching smokers how to give up the habit.

Sorry, But No Fishing Exhibition Of Plastics By Legion

"No Fishing" signs have been posted by the Union County Park Commission at Briant Pond in Springfield and Summit. But this is only temporary as fishing will be permitted on and after May 29, 1971.

The temporary regulation is because of a cooperative venture between the commission and the New Jersey Division of Fish and Game. This past spring, the commission removed more than 15,000 cubic yards of silt from the four-acre pond. The banks of the pond were then graded and reseeded and water impounded in the pond area.

When the area was prepared, representatives from the fish and game unit visited the site, checked the water chemistry and recommended that 50 largemouth bass and 500 bluegills be placed in the pond and left there until late May, 1971, to permit them to grow to adult size. The fish to be placed in the pond in the near future would be sub-legal in size and will need the five months of next year to mature.

At the first meeting of Clark Unit 328, American Legion Auxiliary, President Mrs. Herb Muth announced that the unit will soon hold a plastic demonstration by Lloyds of Linden. They will also sell boxed candy.

Mrs. Muth reported that the treasurers' books for 1969 - 1970 were audited by Mrs. Theodore Rudnicki, Mrs. Gus Bott and Mrs. John Gudor.

Union County President Mrs. Jack Irving said that the American Legion sponsored Cranford Drum Corps and Color Guard won first prize at the New Jersey Department Convention Parade in Wildwood on Sept. 10, 11, and 12.

Mrs. Muth was the winner of the dark horse award and was the hostess for the evening, assisted by Mrs. Rudnicki and Mrs. Bott. The next meeting will be at the post home on Wednesday, Oct. 7.

Martin Stamps His Credentials 'Simple, But Important'

"I am pleased with the mayor's identification of credentials as important in the campaign." So said Daniel L. Martin, the mayoral candidate, at the grand opening of Rahway's Democratic Campaign Headquarters.

"This means," Martin said, "that the Mayor is willing to stand on his four-year record in office. My own credentials are both simple and important. I've lived in Rahway all my life, know about its government and its people better than the mayor has shown with all his failures, and have offered myself as a candidate for mayor on the demand of the people that something be done in Rahway."

"Professionally, I survey and engineer, planning the best use of land. I've never been in politics, owe nothing to special interests and everything to the people of Rahway, and offer a system of positive programs to give Rahway's citizens the help they want."

"The mayor," he said, "has one credential I could never claim -- that he pays a professional public relations man to sell himself to the public. I have no need for such a man."

"When people pick up a newspaper, they read releases issued by the mayor, written by the taxpayer-paid public relations man, telling them that taxes are low, business is thriving, industrial rates are fantastic, and our youth are overjoyed with city officials. This is a bad commentary on how our city is run. It also indicates that the mayor's first concern is political maneuverings."

"Each day, the mayor's activities concentrate on public relations instead of running the city."

"He and his taxpayer-paid public relations man are trying to fast talk the people into believing that they've brought fantastic progress to the city. Now, in the last two months in office, he keeps selling his pipe-dream of progress as business after business leaves town, belts to meet his tax and water rates, as his programs and committees fail left and right, and as he sinks this town further and further in-debts. "This is the man who has made promises for four years. With last-minute grandstand plays and public relations sham, attempts to buy the voters. If the mayor knew that he couldn't keep all his promises, then it is immoral that he made them. If he believed that he could keep them, then it is irresponsible that he has achieved nothing significant in four years."

"Every time his man's picture appears in the paper, everytime an article headlines another of his promises, everytime a billboard or an advertisement calls out for a better future in his name, the people of Rahway know one thing: that here is a man whose first concern is public relations for himself. Here is a man whose main credential is lack of credibility with the people of Rahway."

is public relations for himself. Here is a man whose main credential is lack of credibility with the people of Rahway."

March for Victory Bus Will Depart on Oct. 3

(Special to The News-Record and The Patriot)

The Union County March for Victory Committee has chartered an air-conditioned bus which will leave Westfield Railroad Station at 7 a. m. on Saturday, Oct. 3, to join the National March for Victory in Washington, D. C., and return the same evening.

Hundreds of thousands of men, women and children from most of the 48 continental states are expected to converge on the nation's capital on this date, to express to the President, the Congress and the American public their profound conviction that victory in Vietnam is possible within weeks, once victory, instead of phase-out, is accepted as the military objective.

Residents of Rahway and Clark are cordially invited to take part.

Featured speaker at the religious-patriotic rally following the march will be Vietnamese Vice President Ngu-yen Cao Ky, who will be introduced by Rev. Dr. Carl Mc Intire of Collingswood, N. J., sponsor of the National March for Victory.

Dr. Mc Intire will be seen discussing the urgency of a victory over communism and the importance of the march on the David Frost Show on Wednesday, Sept. 30.

"As an overseas veteran of World War II," said William S. Dean of Fanwood, chairman of the Union County March for Victory Committee, "I know that war is grim. But I keep thinking of the 44,000 American war dead in Southeast Asia. A phase-out is tantamount to surrender of this area to communism, and this would mean these brave men died in vain. Also, I keep thinking of the prisoners of war who must not be abandoned."

"It is my hope that many veterans' organizations and other patriotic and religious groups will want to endorse and participate in the Union County March for Victory.

Bumper stickers, posters, flyers and victory buttons are available by calling 233-0329 or 232-5074, and more information concerning the bus trip will be gladly furnished.

In reply to a question, Dean said that he had not as yet heard from the Loyal Americans of Union County, who picketed Sen. George McGovern's recent appearance in the county, but "they sound like people who feel, as we do, the necessity of a victory in Vietnam."

Clean-Up Of River Continues

Once again, the Rahway Jaycee Human Environmental Committee, ably assisted by De Molay, cleaned a section of the Rahway River. This time, they set to work at St. George Ave. and worked the winding path of the river down to Irving St.

Chairman Barry DeReamer asks citizens not to throw shopping carts, tires, pipes or other debris into the river. He suggests you put them out for the regular garbage collection or put them in front of your house and call the city to collect them. The number is 381-8000 and there is no charge for the service.

The Jaycees wish to thank Hamilton Laundry and Daniel Martin for allowing the use of their property in the river cleanup. And also De Molay members Herb Freeland, Curt Columbia, Rich Olson, Mark Usinger and Harry Harchetts, who helped on all river projects.

First aid was administered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yaiser.

Jaycees working on the clean-up were De Reamer, committee chairman, Martin, Jack Foulke, Robert Yaiser and Ray Skotek.

The next clean-up is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 26, starting at 9 a. m. on Whittier St. and River Rd. Your assistance is needed.

On the Clean-Up Front

Members of Jaycees and DeMolay Take a Well-Deserved Rest.

Child Shield Program Back Again

The Rahway Jaycees are again sponsoring the child Shield Program in their year of planned action. The basic objective behind the shield program is primarily the protection of Rahway's children to and from school.

Last year, the Rahway Jaycees organized a network of responsible citizens to offer their homes as a haven to head off would-be molesters or to comfort children who became ill on the way to or from school.

The children are instructed in school to seek refuge only in homes displaying the Child Shield insignia in their windows.

Applicants for the insignia are screened through the Rahway Police Department. The Rahway Jaycees will again seek the cooperation of Rahway citizens when applications are placed in the schools.

Participants already in the program who need new insignias should contact this year's Child Shield chairman Bob Yaiser, 381-7767, or write Rahway Jaycees, P. O. Box 731, Rahway, N. J. 07065.

Punt, Pass and Kick

Richard Gritschke Signs Boys for This Year's PPK Classic.

Ray Lewis Crusaders Face Devils To Direct In Conference Grid Tilt PPK Event

Raymond Lewis of 1283 Clark St., Rahway, will serve as the Jaycees' chairman for the 10th annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition to be held at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 4, at Veterans Field, according to an announcement by Jaycee president Peter Hourihan.

Lewis is a life-long resident of the city and a graduate of Rahway High School. He is employed by Regina Corp. in the die-casting department, where he is the union's shop steward. He served in the United States Army in Vietnam with the 1st Cavalry Division.

Lewis played football at the high school and was a star of the track team, competing in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes. He was a member of the Flamingo Raiders' touch football team in the Union County League.

An active member of the Rahway Jaycees, Lewis was recently elected its secretary. He has served on many committees, including the Little Miss Rahway contest. David Brown of the Jaycees will assist in the PPK program.

Registration chairman Dick Gritschke, with the aid of the Rahway Jaycees, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Carol Wheat, held school registration for the boys. Registration can also be made at Bell Motors, Inc. and the Rahway Recreation Department. To be eligible, a boy must be between the ages of eight and 13 years of age and must be accompanied by a parent when signing.

There is no cost or purchase to compete. Registration will be completed Saturday.

A clinic will also be held on Saturday at Rahway River Park from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

The middle of the line will feature tackles George Busacca, 5-9 1/2, 204, Doug Berdick, 5-8 1/2, 188, Steve Burak, 5-10 1/2, 163 and center Charlie Kovacs, 6-1, 200.

The big bad Westfield Blue Devils roll into Nolan Field on Saturday afternoon for the 11th meeting with the Clark Crusaders on the gridiron in a Watchung Conference game that has a 2 p.m. kickoff.

Coach Hal Mercer will be starting his third season at Johnson Regional, where he has a record of 15 and 3.

The Blue Devils, who have been selected by all the sportswriters in the area as the team to beat in the Watchung Conference, will come into Nolan Field with a 15-game winning streak. They will be bulwarked by a veteran backfield headed by Kevin Bonner, whose father played for Earl C. Hoagland's Rahway High School teams, the 6-0, 173 star combines fleetness and power.

The Devils have an outstanding scoring threat in fullback Don Knoblock, 5-9, 170, who has the ability to find the holes, has good speed and a fine change of pace. He is a strong blocker. But what really adds to his value is his tremendous kicking ability. Last season, he set a Union County field goal record with five. He also made 26 of 29 extra points.

Coach Gary Keller has an outstanding quarterback in veteran Joe Monninger, 6-0, 183. He is a stellar field general, passed for six scores last year and dangerous ball carrier.

Westfield has a strong front line with veterans at most positions. Senior Bill Napier, 5-11, 178, and John Grey, 6-0, 177, operate at the end slot. Bruce MacKay, 188, and letterman Tom Polman, 225, are the tackles. At guard will be Jim Zitch, 205, who is quick and has blocking ability. Don Kinningham, 178, will be the other guard.

Bob Harvey, 195, will again be at the center post. With many of the names missing from last year's outstanding Crusader team, Mercer has been drilling his young squad for the last three weeks in blocking. The quarterback will be selected from among junior Bob Pikna, 6-0, 165, letterman Terry Thurber, 5-11, 168, John Burkowski, 5-10, 170, and Mark McDevitt, 6-1 1/2, 177.

The wing backs will be Ed Pinkham, 5-11, 168, Gerry Scaturro, 5-11, 166, Mike Miller, 5-7, 147, and Bill Mahoney, 5-7, 143. The fullbacks will be sparked by Jeff Tomasovic, 5-9, 186, and Rich Lockwood, 5-11, 173.

Clark will have veterans at all but one guard position. The ends are Bob Gegrich, 6-2, 167, John Schwankert, 6-2, 178, Steve McDevitt, 5-9, 162, Bob Plage, 5-10, 157, and Jay Winters, 5-7, 137.

City Eleven Plays Host To Hillside

Kickoff time is 10 a. m. at Veterans Memorial Field, Rahway, on Saturday when the 13th annual Hillside Comets - Rahway High School football game will be held.

Both teams will be looking to take the lead in the series in which each team has won six games. The Indians have not scored in the last two years, the Comets taking 1 - 0 and 9 - 0 decisions over Jim Refosco's squads.

The Comets come to town with high hopes for the season. Coach George Deo expects his outfit to be a speller in the Watchung Conference this fall. The outstanding player on the club is Charlie Messano, a 6 - 2, 190 pound end, who, his coach said, is ready for college football right now.

The starting quarterback will be Joe Tato, 5-11, 190, a good passer, and he will be assisted by junior Gary Stukes, 5 - 11, 150. Other members of the backfield that the Indians will have to keep their eyes on will be Tom Tremarco, 5-9, 150, who doubles as a placekicker and had two field goals to his credit last season, one of which was against Rahway, and junior fullback Rudy Rosenkrantz, 5 - 10, 175.

Halfbacks will be selected from Ray Kaplowitz, 5-10, 175; Fred Cobb, 5-10, 155, and Pat Adams, 6-0, 180, and Jim Quinlan, 5-10, 180. The Comets have only six seniors on the team, all of them lettermen.

The Comets' defense will have Jeff Nick, 6-2, 200 and Mike Sieb, 6-0, 205, at tackle, Bob Saxon, 5-11, 175, and Ron Magdon, 5-10, 170, at the guard spot and either Bob York and Bob Sica. Mike Mellillo, 5-10, 155, or Bob Cowan, 5-10, 155, at center.

Refosco will be starting his third season at the helm of the Indians. He has a record of 7 - 9 and is looking to improve last season's mark of 5 - 2 - 2.

The Indians have the speed, the spirit, but are a little short on depth. The Indians have the passing game that could make them a threat, with senior veteran Craig Huger, 6-0, 170, passing to split end Ira Presley, 6-0, 165, who showed good hands last Saturday morning in the exhibition game at Somerville. The track star will be hard to catch once he gets his hands on the ball.

Another good pass receiver and runner is Duane Sprovach, 5-10, 170, while trackman Rick Treadwell, 5-9, 165, will be the slotback. The power runner of the team will be junior Walt Winning, 6-0, 210, who will operate from the fullback position.

Rahway has the makings of a strong line led by veterans Jack Flath, 5-10, 170, at guard and Rick Beckhusen, 6-0, 180, at tackle. Either Scott Russell, 5-10, 170, or Doug Schaefer, 5-10, 170, will be the other guards. Bob York, 6-3, 220, and Pat Washack, 6-2, 215, will be the other tackles.

Veteran center Bob Sica, 5-10, 180, will be backed up by Mike Wheaton, 6-0, 185.

Don Kirby, who thrilled Refosco last Saturday with a 76 - yard run on a trap play over tackle, will see plenty of action. The 5-9, 165, speedster can go all the way anytime he gets his hands on the ball. Carl Ste-

Clark and Rahway Loom WC Threats

By Ray Hoagland

It is now past time for members of Watchung Conference football teams.

Seven teams will go to the starting gate in the 1970 season that will open this Saturday with three games. Your Clocker sees this year's race going to the Westfield Blue Devils, a 2-1 choice to take top honors.

Led by a veteran squad that has taken its last 15 games in a row, with only the tie with Rahway last season to mar it, Westfield has an able coach in Gary Kehler and lettermen in Kevin Bonnor, Don Knobloch and Joe Monninger.

The runner - up could be Clark's Crusaders, who had a strong line, a problem at quarterback and the big question mark is what will happen on Saturday, when the Blue Devils come to town. Jeff Tomasovic and Ed Pinkham are experienced backs, while the ends are ably filled by Bob Gegrich and John Schwankert. The middle line of George Busacca, Doug Berdick, Steve Burak and Chuck Kovacs is as good as any in the loop.

The battle for third place could be between Rahway and Scotch Plains. Both teams are on the upgrade. The Raiders are sparked by Tom Lubisher, 6-3, 240, an outstanding tackle and Coach Len Zanowicz is counting on Joe Accardi, 6-0, 160, at the quarterback. Accardi throws the ball pretty well.

Rahway has the "horses" to be a threat, with Craig Huger passing, Ira Presley, Don Kirby, Rick Treadwell and Duane Sprovach doing the ball carrying and a strong middle line led by and Ron Magdon, 5-10, 170, Bob York and Bob Sica. Powerful fullback Walt Win-

Bob Cowan, 5-10, 155, at center. Refosco will be starting his third season at the helm of the Indians. He has a record of 7 - 9 and is looking to improve last season's mark of 5 - 2 - 2.

The Indians have the speed, the spirit, but are a little short on depth. Veteran center Bob Sica, 5-10, 180, will be backed up by Mike Wheaton, 6-0, 185.

Don Kirby, who thrilled Refosco last Saturday with a 76 - yard run on a trap play over tackle, will see plenty of action. The 5-9, 165, speedster can go all the way anytime he gets his hands on the ball. Carl Ste-pear to have the players to make a run for the wire this year. The best Jones, 5-6, 143, and Kirk Sawczuk, 5-9, 153, will be a wingback. There are no 200-pounders on the line.

That's how your Clocker looks at the race. Westfield has good speed and Rahway and Scotch Plains can go the distance. Clark has looked good in workouts, but the rest of the field needs work.

Crusaders' Soccer Unit In Action

The undefeated Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School soccer team, fresh from an upset over Edison Tech, 4 - 1, will travel to Roselle Catholic tomorrow afternoon for a 4 p. m. game with the Lions.

Coach Ed Shustak of the Crusaders handed the Yellow Jackets its first regular - season loss since 1967, the initial home setback since Frank Chirichillo became head coach five seasons ago. The Blue and White never trailed as Ray Grysko tallied three goals. Mike Brady scored the other marker.

Edison saved a shutout on Martino Scaturro's penalty boot in the last session. Tomorrow's game will have the Crusaders facing a Roselle Catholic team that coach Peter Baubles figures to improve on last year's record of 4 - 9 - 1, with Sean Downes and Sammy Rodrigues at the wings, while on defense, All - Patochial Mark Kurdyja should do the job. Russell and Pat Hagan are the goalies.

Somebody didn't just say, "Hey, this is the year for little economy cars—let's build one," and there appeared a 1970 Volkswagen.

Fact is, 25 years of Volkswagens preceded it. And we put in something else besides the years. Improvements. 2,287 of them.

If there's one thing we learned about making economy cars, it's this: There's no such thing as an overnight success.

Harris New Cage Coach

Millard Harris, who played basketball with the Harlem Globetrotters and the Chicago Majors of the American Basketball Association, was appointed head coach for the Rahway High School basketball team by the board of education on Monday.

Harris was selected as the All-Conference center when he played at Winston-Salem State University in North Carolina. He also was named All-Army center in 1956 and 1958 while at Fort Jackson, S.C.

The six-foot nine-inch Harris came to the Rahway school system in 1967. He first coached the freshman basketball team and last year was coach of the junior varsity five. - Hoagland.

Flag Grid Kicks Off Saturday

The Clark Board of Education, which sponsors the Clark recreation program, announced dates for this year's Saturday flag football program.

The program will start this Saturday and terminate on Oct. 31 and will be held at Charles H. Brewer School each Saturday morning from 9 a. m. to noon.

Michael Bobertz and William Singer, both teachers with football backgrounds, will supervise the activity, which is open to all boys in grades 6 - 8 who are residents of Clark or who attend township schools.

Flag football is a game where the backfield ends wear belts with rip - away strips of cloth on the sides of the belts. The object of the game is to pull the flag, the strip of cloth, from the belt of the player who is in possession of the ball and this ends the play.

Flag football is a toned-down version of regular football and since there is no tackling or body blocking, the element of injury is that much less.

Last year, a four - team league operated and if interest continues the league will be expanded to six teams this year. The boys will be taught the basic skills of football in a clinic - type situation each Saturday morning before each game by Bobertz and Singer.

This is the fourth year of operation for this type of recreational activity and all boys who are interested should report to the Brewer school front field this Saturday to be assigned to a team.

IN CASE OF DISASTER ... Rahway's Department of Civil Defense and Disaster Control isn't taking any chances in the event of a major emergency. Last week, enough survival supplies to feed 2,300 people for two weeks were shipped from the Raritan Arsenal, Woodbridge, to the warehouses of Merck & Co. Inspecting the supplies are (l. to r.) Clarence Pano, plant manager, at Merck, Mayor John C. Marsh, and John C. Ludington, CD director.

Martin Proposes Body On Human Environment

Daniel L. Martin, Rahway Democratic candidate for mayor, this week issued a plan for a human environment council. In outlining the program, Martin said, "There very definitely seems to be a lack of environmental concern in the present administration. Incumbent Mayor John C. Marsh, as a matter of fact, works for an industrial concern which has been under state investigation for air pollution. No matter the reason, the fact stands that enforcement of environmental protection in Rahway is not what it should be."

Advocates Financial Watchdogs

Anthony Belluscio of 461 Valley Rd., Clark, candidates for the Third Ward seat on Council, this week presented a six-point platform which includes a proposal for a watchdog committee to control spending and for municipal collection of garbage. Belluscio stated that if elected to Council he will work to maintain a "reasonable" tax rate and that he would recommend that a committee be formed "to oversee and control spending." The candidate added that he would "enlist the aid of civic-minded, non-political persons in the administration of the ward."

Belluscio said that a recent study demonstrated that the township could do the job better and more cheaply than private scavengers. He said that any equipment purchased could be used for other work, such as snow removal and cleanup jobs. The Democratic candidate stated that he would advocate that police patrols be increased on all main and side streets. A self-supporting municipal pool for Clark was called a possibility by the candidate in his program. "There is township land available now that might be used for a municipal pool," Belluscio said. "Council should come up with an answer to the 1,228 families who have paid deposits of $20 each and who are entitled to some consideration and answers. I would recommend a township referendum in the forthcoming election."

Belluscio also stated that he is in favor of having Jackson Pond cleaned up because "it is becoming an eyesore and health hazard to the people of the Third Ward," federal, state, county and local means of assistance; (3) determination of the best possible course of action available; and (4) close monitoring of the carrying out of that chosen solution to assure correction of the problem. To facilitate a good working relationship with industry, active liaison representatives from applicable business concerns will be sought and encouraged to the maximum extent of our power.

Interest in Politics

YOUNG MEMBER FOR CLUB ... Charles Urbanowicz, one of the first group of 18-year-olds to register as a voter, is welcomed as a new member of the Clark Democratic Club. Council President Richard C. Burger shakes the youth's hand as Ralph Iezzi, club president, gives him an a plification for membership. With them is Thomas Parrillo, township Democratic chairman. Urbanowicz is the first 18-year-old to join the club. He was graduated from Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School last June and is attending the RCA Institute, New York City.

Vansco Zeroes In On Refuse Problem

Councilman - at - large George T. Vansco, who just a few weeks ago announced the beginning of an effort to increase the effectiveness of the city's refuse pick-up program and a parallel program aimed at smoothing out the rough spots in the manner in which telephone requests are handled by city departments, has issued the first results of his plan. Since offering his own home telephone number to all citizens who might have experienced what they considered undue delays in the picking up of unusual refuse, or who have had any difficulty in having their problems handled, Vansco received some 30 calls which he claims have "confirmed some of the impressions I had had with regard to just where the most serious problems lie and have shed light on the entire matter of what must be done in order to provide fast, efficient service."

"Clearly, in this instance, effective efficient service will only result from a change in procedure and I plan to work out the details of a new program with those responsible in the city yard as quickly as possible. Scheduled pick-ups on a ward-by-ward basis is one possibility we will consider."

Know Your Government

Costs of servicing indebtedness of New Jersey's 21 counties topped $32 million this year.
A table prepared by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association showed 1970 budgeted expenditures for debt service, including principal and interest payments on bonds and notes, totaling at $32,393,000.
This represents an increase of more than $3 million over last year and is 68 per cent higher than the $19 1/4 million total outlay for debt service in 1965. An earlier table showed combined gross indebtedness of the counties rose from $228 1/2 million in 1965 to $428 1/4 million in 1969.
In Union County, 1970 debt service expenditure are budgeted at $1,887 as compared with 1969 outlays of $1,993 a decrease of $106 for the one - year period. In 1965 debt service cost this county $1,465.
Debt service is one of three major segments of governmental spending reported in official county budgets and financial statements. Others are operations and capital improvements. Data on all are compiled by the NJTA for inclusion in its annual reference booklet detailing "Financial Statistics of New Jersey Local Government."

Five-Stamp Yule Issue Announced

Five Christmas postage stamps will be issued this year, providing a colorful array of choices for use on Yule mail. One sheet of stamps, featuring four antique Christmas toys, will communicate the joy and happiness of Christmas. Another sheet, one stamp of the nativity, underscores the significance and meaning of Christmas.
First day ceremonies for the 6 - cent stamp will take place Nov. 5 at the National Gallery of Art, Washington.
The four stamps -- each picturing a toy of yesterday -- depict charming bits of Americana which are swiftly becoming prized collectors' items and museum pieces.
The fifth reproduces "The Nativity" by Lorenzo Lotto, 16th Century Italian painter. This painting hangs in the National Gallery of Art.
The four 19th Century toys stamps were painted and designed by Stevan Dohanos, chairman of the Citizen's Stamp Advisory Committee. He calls them "toys in the art."
One is a tin and cast iron locomotive, which was adapted from artwork by Charles Hemming in the "Index of American Design," a collection at the National Gallery of Art. The three additional designs -- a horse, a doll carriage and a mechanical tricycle -- are from "The Golden Age of Toys," by Fondin and Remise.

This will mark the fourth year that the course has been offered at the Sperry Observatory, and it has been completed by more than 700 persons. A highlight will be laboratory experiences, including viewing through the observatory's 12 1/2 - inch reflector and six - inch refractor telescopes.
Employment Shows Drop
According to estimates prepared by the Division of Planning and Research of the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry, nonfarm payroll employment (excluding farm, domestic self-employed and unpaid family workers) fell by 13,300 between June and July to reach 2,632,200. Partly responsible for the decline were seasonal layoffs and unpaid vacation furloughs. The general economic slowdown also continued to be a factor. Over the past year -- between July 1969 and July 1970 -- employment edged up by only 5,400 or 0.2 percent, as compared with an average gain of 87,180 for the same period in the preceding five years.

Urges Ban on Building Without New Sewers

Concerned about flood water drainage and the evident absence of separate drainage and sanitary sewers in the downtown area of Rahway, spokesmen of the Rahway Citizens for Flood Control Inc. are urging that building projects be permitted without adequate provision for a maximum-load sewer system.
Howard E. Baker, RCFC chairman, remarked that the city owes a responsibility for top priority service to its "old" ratepayers as opposed to the new.
"We're glad to see the city of Rahway growing. New ratepayers are welcome, but old ratepayers must not be neglected. Many homeowners -- residents for 10 years or more -- have been denied the protective care of the city when it comes to matters of flood control. Catering to newcomers with a high tax-paying potential is fine, if the city, as a whole, will benefit. Right now, the city is having a hard time serving the needs of its long-time residents. Surely new building construction should be started unless there is adequate provision for maximum-load water drainage and separate sanitary sewer system," commented Mr. Baker.
George Bartell, the group's attorney, who has served for more than 20 years on the Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority, said updated sewer systems are absolutely necessary in Rahway.
"Although the city has been concerned with an economy program, the fact is that during heavy rain or snow melting seasons the cost of sanitary sewerage jumps from 50 to 100 percent because water drainage is added to the sanitary sewer load. For 2-1/2 years we have had an updated plan for improved sewer system, but sufficient funds are still in the making. With concentrated effort, Rahway may get the necessary monies to make this plan a reality -- and this is an absolute must for Rahway to survive in the future. Rahway has what it takes to be a great town, but now it's a drowning town," Bartell stated.
Members of the RCFC often have voiced their objections to slow city action on flood complaints, whether from actual Rahway river overflow or sewer back-up due to inadequate drainage planning.
Recent reports from the office of Andrew Rasmussen, city planning director, are quite encouraging, the RCFC believes. Mayor John C. Marsh also promises strong action on the river clean-up and other flood-control measures, it was stated.
"Time will tell if city officials are truly sincere in dealing with the general flood problem. We must look

Old Items Help Bloom Support World Service

For over three years, Glenn Bloom of 12 New Brunswick Ave., Rahway, has headed the Rahway Y.M.C.A. World Service project which enables the YMCA to send trained leaders to 40 of the 80 countries around the world that could not otherwise benefit from YMCA programs.
The Rahway YMCA pledge for the past three years has been $1,000, and this goal has been met each year. Gifts of cash are accepted, of course. But Mr. Bloom, encouraged and frequently assisted by B. U. Smith, general secretary of the Rahway YMCA, feels that it is a shame, or worse yet, a sin, to allow things to be thrown away that can be turned into cash.
Waste paper, used furniture and no-longer-needed items frequently continue to be used by being directed to new owners by Mr. Bloom. Used papers are brought to the YMCA or picked up and taken to a waste-paper firm in Elizabeth.
People who are moving or just want to discard an article that they no longer need frequently call the YMCA and contribute these articles to the cause of YMCA World Service. Garden tools, beds, cribs, toys and other articles are turned into cash at Englishtown where a weekly public market draws individuals from the entire central area of New Jersey.
Mr. Bloom, a member of the Rahway YMCA Board of Directors, has re-issued his request for the thoughtfulness of friends of the YMCA to give these articles. And because of this thoughtfulness, some boy or girl in a backward country may learn to play basketball or learn a skill. The "Y" number is 388-0057.
In the picture accompanying this article is B. U. Smith and Mr. Bloom in front of their cars (Volkswagons) which are frequently pressed into service in behalf of YMCA World Service.
Behind the Volkswagen is the International bus which was purchased recently to transport day campers and swimming team members of the local youth organization.

Historical Group Will Show Film

The Clark Historical Society will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Clark Library on Wednesday, Sept. 30, starting at 8:30 p. m. The society extends an open invitation to those interested in Clark's history to attend its assemblies.
The evening's program will feature a film on George Washington's adventures in New Jersey during the American Revolution. It will take the viewer to many famous, as well as little - known, historic sites throughout the state.
It will explain Washington's strategy in the famous "Crossing of the Delaware," along with accounts of many battles and troop movements. It also gives a good glimpse of life itself in the time of the revolution.
The Sept. meeting will also be the kick - off for the fall project programs. The organizational officers and committee chairman will present their respective plans of action.
A few of the topics will be the "1976" township celebration, 200th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, which will be celebrated nationwide and Clark's History.

Bankers in Check-Up

First N.J. Gets Off to Good Start

The three branch offices opened this year by First New Jersey Bank are off to a successful start, according to Frank M. Pitt, chairman of the bank.

Pitt made his report on the new offices during a staff conference with the managers of the Clark, New Providence and Middlesex branches.

The Clark branch, which opened in March, is managed by William Helwig. The bank, housed in temporary quarters at Raritan Road and Lincoln Boulevard, has done well during its first six months of operation, Pitt said.

Donald Kravarik is manager of the New Providence office, which opened in a store in the Village Shopping Center last February. Pitt said the residents and businessmen of the New Providence area had given excellent support to the First New Jersey Bank office there.

Manager of First New Jersey's newest office in Middlesex is John Gundaker. Opened only two months ago, the Middlesex branch has made an impact on the community's banking habits, the

Rahwayans On Pollution Committee

James J. Fulcomer of 384 Raleigh Road and Donald E. Cook of 684 Grove Street, both of Rahway, were appointed to a newly-formed subcommittee on solid waste pollution at the last county council meeting of the Young Republicans of Union County, Inc., Sept. 21 in the Arrow Lounge, Scotch Plains.

The Young Republicans also urged the N.J. legislature to outlaw the sale of disposable bottles for beverages in New Jersey by 1972 and to levy an anti-pollution tax on detergents containing phosphates. The group charged that phosphate in detergents causes "incalculable damage to the environment" by fostering the growth of undesirable water plants that use up needed oxygen and that disposable bottles cause an "excessive and unnecessary burden on our state's already overtaxed solid waste disposal facilities."

Fulcomer, appointed subcommittee chairman, is a member of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders' Solid Waste Disposal Advisory Committee, and Cook is chairman of the Rahway Young Republican anti-pollution committee.

Persons under 40 years old interested in joining the Young Republicans should call Fulcomer through 388-4378.

Open House For Ladies At YMCA

An open house program for ladies has been planned at the Rahway YMCA by Mrs. Mildred Meyers and Mrs. Laura Solop for Tuesday, Sept. 29, announced B. U. Smith, general secretary of the Rahway YMCA.

Ping-pong, bowling, slimsnic and swimming will be included in the program as will coffee and cake. Free baby sitting services will be provided for young mothers who need this service. Activities will begin at 9 a. m. and continue until noon.

On Tuesday, Oct. 5, a five-week course, every Tuesday and Thursday, will take place with the aforementioned activities, sans cake. This "trial course" of the YMCA Ladies program will be $10. Members will not be charged, Smith said.

The special program has been planned to co-incide with "pee wee" swimming instruction, set for those same dates and written up in a special article.

Ladies wanting to know more about these activities are urged to contact the Rahway YMCA without delay.

William J. Douglas

William J. Douglas has been named vice president of Union County Trust Co. In this capacity, Mr. Douglas will be responsible for the operations of the bank's five Elizabeth offices and the Hillside office as well as manager of the main office.

Starting his banking career with the Fidelity Union Trust Company, Newark, Mr. Douglas joined the former Linden Trust Company in 1946. He was named an assistant treasurer in 1956 and an assistant treasurer-assistant secretary in 1961, at the time Linden Trust Company merged with Union County Trust Company. Youth Center Opening Shuns Usual Fanfare

Mayor John C. Marsh said this week that he had requested there be no ribbon-cutting or speech - making fanfare attached to the opening of Rahway's new youth center on Esterbrook Ave. in the large white building that formerly served as the city's Post Office.

"Naturally, it was only fitting that city officials be on hand," said Marsh, who had guided the project through a nest of challenges and political swipes to its dedication last Saturday, which turned out to be a series of informal inspections by officials and interested citizens lasting throughout the major portion of the day.

"However I don't think anyone minded in the least that we avoided all the clumsy cliches that so often become a part of such events. The dedication of our youth center, to my way of thinking, will be an occasion that will be memorable, not for the words that were or weren't spoken, but for what it will mean to the kids of our city who no longer must wonder where to go next after being chased from some parking lot, playground, store front or back alley.

"It will be memorable for the programs that will begin to take form as we go through the shakedown period, and for the new dimension of understanding it can bring among youths of all backgrounds and from all elements within our community."

Marsh said the Youth Center will become the scene of Golden Gloves boxing events and training for Rahway youngsters, dances, basketball, volley ball, weight-lifting classes, roller skating, crafts and a series of discussion groups which will probe subjects important to young people in the course of their development into future citizenship. "I'm planning meetings this week with Council President Weaver and Councilmen - at-large Ray Giacobbe and George T. Vansco, Chief Herbert T. Kinch and Capt. John Hummel and with police youth representatives Barry Henderson and Albert Smith to start working out the final details of organization and scheduling to insure a successful continuation to what obviously has been a successful beginning."

"Recreation director Ray Hoagland and assistant high school principal Nicholas Delmonico have pledged their help and support. George Coughlin has certainly done a fine job of supervising the work done by a great many wonderful young people in getting the building ready for its opening."

During Saturday's non-speech - making, non - ribbon - cutting opening, a group of teenagers ranging in number from 50 to 75 enjoyed ping-pong, pool and no hockey. They rounded out the day's events by enjoying lots of one of the oldest and most established teenage sports. It's called "hangin' around..." and it's nice to know that they now have some place to do it in peace.

Adelines To Sponsor 'Crazy' Fete

There will be lots of harmonizing on Monday night, Sept. 28, at the Abraham Clark School, Clark, where the Madison Hill Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc. will sponsor a "Crazy Quartet" contest.

Guests at the interchapter party will include the Princeton chapter. The program will begin at 8:30 p.m. and women who enjoy singing are welcome to attend the affair and any regular rehearsals, which are held every Monday evening.

Comesanas Pays Visit

This November, the blue-collar vote will go Republican, Raol E. Comesanas, candidate for Congress from the 13th Congressional District, said in an appearance in Rahway.

"I come from a union family. Almost all the men have belonged to unions. In fact, one of my uncles has been in the same union for over 20 years."

"Because of these close ties with labor, I can tell that the blue-collar worker is suffering greatly from this inflationary spiral."

"Just because he (the worker) works with his hands does not say the laborer can't figure out what has led to this high inflation rate. The working man knows that eight years of excessive spending by the Democrats has taken money out of his pocket."

"The average worker who has seen his money dumped into one wasteful, ineffective government project after another wants a change."

Why we had to ask for a telephone rate increase for the first time since 1958. Since the last time we asked the New Jersey Board of Public Utility Commissioners for a general increase in phone rates, the cost of living has soared more than 35%. Our annual operating expenses have more than doubled. And our construction expenditures have almost tripled. Actually, it took enormous doing to keep telephone prices down through the past 12 years. First, we tightened our belt the same way you might do if you were caught in a bind. And, second, we introduced dozens of innovations aimed not only at cutting costs, but at improving the quality of your phone service as well. For example, 100% dial service. For example, expanded direct dialing. For example, electronic switching. Through innovations and efficiencies we were able to absorb more than $190 million in increased operating expenses. And on top of that, to reduce intrastate toll rates several times, saving customers some $23 million annually. We won't cut phone service and that's the only place left to cut. Costs are now rising faster than new technology can offset them. So, if we're going to continue to give you ever-improving communication service, we must have more money. To pay increased wages. To pay increased cost of capital. To pay increased taxes. It's not a case of "want to." It's a case of "got to." Average bill for basic residence phone service would go up 80%. We know you're being hit from all sides. Be assured that our requested raise has been set as low as realistically possible. It averages 80¢ per month for basic service to the individual line residential customer. And $1.85 for the individual line businessman. In addition, we're asking for other increases. Some of these are: increases in toll message charges, higher charges for Centrex, Selective Calling and other special services, and increases in most one-time charges for connecting, changing and moving service and equipment. Also the introduction of a monthly charge for non-published telephone service and a one-time charge to establish or change this service. Two happy notes. One, we're planning to initiate bargain rates for late-night direct dial calls within New Jersey. And, two, we're proposing a new basic economy phone service for people who make few calls each month. We need the increase. The mathematics of inflation mean we cannot continue to do the kind of job you — our customers — need in the 70's at the same general rates as in the late 50's. New rates are essential. Additional information about our rate request will be enclosed with your next bill. Further details are available at your local New Jersey Bell Business Office.

RAHWAY Police Blotter

MONDAY, SEPT. 14

Mr. Wayne Brown of Clark reported his car stolen from the Merck & Co. parking lot, Underhill Pl. A teletype alarm has been set out.

A break and entry and larceny took place at Ducoff & Son, 1457 Irving St., early this morning and a tape recorder and several radios were stolen from the display window. Police officers in the area apprehended two suspicious persons, one of whom was brought to headquarters and booked with possession of stolen property and resisting arrest.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 16

A break and entry and larceny occurred at the old Post Office building, 1306 Esterbrook Ave., which is now being converted into a youth center. The only items missing were the balls from a pool table. The pool table coin box was found to be empty, but entry had not been forced.

During the night the two rear wheels and tires were stolen from the car of Mr. Wilson Chance, 901 Main St. Other cars parked in the rear yard at that address were not disturbed.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 17

The stolen vehicle belonging to Carroll Accetta of Roselle Park was found by Rahway officers on patrol. The Roselle Park teletype alarm was cancelled.

The auto stolen Sept. 12 from Sandra A. Barsumian, 402 Hamilton St., has been recovered by Woodbridge police. The owner was notified and alarm cancelled. Mrs. Deana Avalos, 1104 Plymouth Dr., reported winter clothing valued at $640, stolen from an upstairs closet, apparently while she was on vacation in August.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 18

Berko's Market, 1043 New Brunswick Ave., reported a break and entry and larceny resulting in the theft of about 20 cartons of cigarettes. Entry was gained by removing the lock from the door, and prying the bolt lock on the door. A suspect is being investigated.

Mr. John Ledington, 2344 St. Georges Ave., reported a break and entry and larceny at his home. The intruder apparently entered the house by way of an unlocked cellar door, made his way to a rear bedroom and stole a man's gold diamond ring and a Colt .45 automatic pistol.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 19

Mr. Henry J. Decker, 1128 Bryant St., reported aluminum lawn furniture valued at $50 stolen from his back yard.

Police investigating the alarm sounding at Betra Nut Co. checked the building and found that it appeared to be secure.

SUNDAY, SEPT. 20

Martin Takes Children To School ... in a Taxi

Daniel L. Martin, Rahway Democratic candidate for mayor, has started a free taxi service for groups of children whose mothers claim that the route to school is unsafe. Martin said that he was "deeply upset with the inconsiderate treatment these mothers feel they have received from the Mayor John G. Marsh and other city officials."

One of the mothers, Mrs. Joan Truppa, explained that "on Sept. 9, Mayor Marsh held a meeting with those of us who were concerned with the safety of our children. At that time, he promised to bus our five-year-olds to school. He hasn't done anything."

Martin declared, "People are getting fed up with a man who continually makes promises and doesn't keep them. He might have at least provided temporary crossing guards." He contended that "what I'm doing transcends politics—it is just a good neighbor policy."

The children involved are mostly five and six-year-olds who live on Campbell St. in Rahway. To attend classes at Grover Cleveland School on E. Milton Ave., they must walk 9 1/2 blocks and go through downtown Rahway where traffic is heavy. State guidelines for redistricting say that a child must live at least two miles from school before he has to be carried by bus. Although exceptions have been made in Rahway (such as for children on Elizabeth Ave.) none has been forthcoming thus far for the Campbell St. children, according to Martin. The city has not yet made a move for an alternate solution such as crossing guards.

Martin said. Last week, Martin and 10 mothers of young children met at the home of Mrs. Virginia Broadwell, 1532 Campbell St. All of the women contended that it is unsafe for their children to walk to school. One woman, Mrs. Marge Gibson said she has been walking with her children to and from school every day. Several others have been keeping their children home, it was stated.

"The Mayor told us," said Mrs. Broadwell, "that we were subject to a court appearance and possibly jail." Another mother, Mrs. Joan Zimmnicki, said, "I would like to take my child to school but I can't leave my other children at home while I do so. Therefore, I've been keeping her home." Another Mrs. Doris Ulecka, said, "Our pleas have fallen on deaf ears. I feel like the mayor and the Board of Education are playing politics with my children."

At the meeting, Martin told the group, "We cannot solve all of the problems in this situation, but we can see to the immediate need of getting the children to school. The problem of redistricting can never be worked out to the satisfaction of every parent in Rahway. But where the actual safety of the school children is concerned every parent should be satisfied to the maximum degree possible."

Asked how long the free service would last, Martin replied, "Right now we've scheduled it for the next two weeks in the hope that the problem of safety will be ironed out by then. Meanwhile, I will do whatever I can, as a fellow citizen and a friend, to help these mothers and their children."

In addition to Mrs. Broadwell, persons who attended the meeting included Charles Riley, Mrs. Joan Zimmnicki, Mrs. Marge Gibson, Mrs. Lois Miller, Mrs. D. Ulecka, Mrs. Joseph Billy, Mrs. Joan Truppa, Mrs. Frances Jaick and Terrance Riley. Plans are being made to hold meetings with parents in other sections of the city in an effort to solve the problem of getting children to school safely, Martin stated.
