'Consider the Students' In May 4 Referendum, Board Member Asks

John J. Cullen of Clark, a member of the Union County Regional Board of Education, has called on voters "to consider the students" when they vote in the May 4 special election providing funds to expand the four regional high schools. Mr. Cullen spoke at last week's meeting of the board when it outlined the steps when it outlined the steps taken to place the board's revised building program before the voters. The $4,730,000 referen-dum is $2,245,000 less than the steps the steps the expansion program defeated a year ago and is designed to provide facilities that would relieve overcrowding in the schools.

When the board voted, 6-3, to place the referendum be-fore the voters on May 4,

52 Voters Elect Dios to Another Term on Board

With no opponent in the race, incumbent Manuel Dios, walked away with one of Clark's two seats on the Union County Regional Board of Education, Mr. Dios, pre-sident of the nine-member board, garnered 52 votes. Almost 10,000 residents were eligible to cast ballots. In Berkeley Heights, in-cumbent vice president of the board Edwin Little overwhelmed his challenger, Richard Light, 349 to 167. In a three-way race in Springfield, Mrs. Soyna Dorsky got considerably more votes than her two male op-ponents. Mrs. Dorsky roceived 825 ballots and her opponents, William T. Doer-rler and Robert W. Halsey, garnered 342 and 156 votes respectively. The three Springfield can-didates were seeking a seat vacated by Dr. Benjamin H. Josephson.

Mr. Cullen, John E. Conlin of Garwood, who is princi-pal of Frank K. Hehnly School in Clark, and Minor C. K. Jones of Mountainside cast the votes against the referendum. Manuel S. Dios of Clark, board president, noted that portable classrooms are being used at three of the high schools, including the Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark.

In response to a question from the audience, Mr. Dios said among the alternatives to new construction studied by the board was the possibility of a 12 - month school year with students attending classes throughout the summer. Under the proposal, the plans call for the expansion of the present cafeteria at Arthur L. Johnson to ease overcrowding. The addition to the cafeteria also would include an expanded kitchen and faculty dining room.

The school also would gain a new library, art and typing room, a new instrumental and vocal music room, ex-panded guidance facilities, two new science rooms, additional toilet facilities, additional classroom space, an enlarged beauty culture room, a new student activities room and new field storage space. Renovation to the school would provide much needed space for a teachers' work-room and departmental of-fices as well as a student store.

A board spokesman said that in order to meet the demands of the taxpayer for more economy, the revised plans do not include an auxiliary gymnasium that was proposed in 1970 and the size of the addition to the cafe-teria has been cut down somewhat.

"This proposal has been cut to the barest bones and only provides minimum needs," the spokesman said. Total construction costs for Arthur L. Johnson School

2 Surveys Show Residents Favor Building Project for Walnut Avenue

Third Ward Councilman Bernard G. Yarusavage of Clark' reported this week that results of two surveys he has made show that the township's residents favor construction of a multi-story office building and a motel at Walnut Avenue and Valley Road.

The surveys were con-ducted by Councilman Yar-usavage as the result of a proposal by Billnan Fifteen of East Orange that it be given permission by the municipality to erect the project. The board of adjustment recommended to the municipal council that a variance be granted. The council has remanded the case to the board, citing the testimony taken at the public hearing as insufficient.

Councilman Yarusavage said that one survey consisted of a questionnaire sent to each homeowner in the Third Ward and the other of a "mini" survey conducted through the Clark Republican Club. In the Third Ward survey, the councilman reported, 102 replied that they favored giving Billnan Fifteen a var-iance and 58 indicated they were opposed to the project. Three other homeowners said they wanted only office buildings on the Walnut Avenue site and three homeowners were undecided. A total of 839 questionnaires, on cards delivered with a newsletter, were sent to homeowners by the councilman.

Fourteen persons who responded during the survey by the Republican Club favored the proposal while four opposed it. The replies were from the First, Second and Fourth Wards and represented about 11 per cent of the inquiries sent.

The Republican Club sur-vey results showed nine felt the construction would bring in additional ratables. Others noted the project would foster local improvements in appearance of the municipality and would provide additional employment. The concerns expressed were that the project would add to the traffic burden, that the proper amount of parking area would zoning and that there be rigid building code requirements. Councilman Yarusavage said that the Third Ward survey brought a response from 20 per cent of the homeowners receiving questionnaires. He noted that the usual response is 5 to 6 per cent.

Councilman Yarusavage, in analyzing the returns, said that 81 of those favoring the project cited the tax relief which could be expected from new ratables as their main reason for their stand. Thirty-two said the asthetic value of the area would be improved, 12 termed the project an asset to local business, and 10 cited the possibility that more employment op-portunities would be provided. Residents favoring the proposal were thorough enough in their personal evaluation of the project to express concern about parts of the project affecting the township and its residents, the councilman stated. He said 13 were concerned about additional traffic, five about adequate parking, four about the safety of school children and three about adequate fire protection. Three persons said the buildings should be on a lively debate almost anywhere in New Jersey. That they should is understandable, since the outcome of a bill introduced in the state assembly will markedly alter the direction of insurance company policies and have telling affects on the levels of premiums paid by Rahway and Clark residents. The bill that was introduced by Assemblyman Milli-cent Fenwick, R - Somerset, last week in the state legislature would compensate auto accident victims regardless of fault up to $10,000 in damages. The company that insured the victim would be compelled to make payment without regarding who caused the accident and a New Jerseyan would be required to carry insurance. Such is not now the case. The bill carry insurance. Such is not now the case. The bill also allows a victim to sue for pain and suffering claims in excess of $5,000.

Compulsory no - fault insurance systems will bring on a lively debate almost anywhere in New Jersey. That

No Fault Insurance Bill Needs

More Study, Several Amendments

In addition to mandating compensation, the measure would provide a 25% decrease in insurance premiums on the supposition that legal costs would be eliminated in many accidents. This may or may not be the case, since sponsors of the bill cannot point to any examples where this sort of cut in legal costs has been experienced. Massachusetts is the only state where a limited form of no - fault insurance has been instituted, effective Jan. 1 of this year. No meaningful results can be garnered in such a short time. The Massachusetts system is a severly limited one, too. It provides for mandatory compensation regard-less of fault up to $2,000, affecting bodily liability less of fault up to $2,000, affecting bodily liability insurance only. The no - fault aspect of Mrs. Fenwick's compulsory insurance bill is its weakest point, since one can sur-mise that many claimants will hike the amount of the alleged incurred damages to a point just short of the $5,000 level established for pain and suffering claims and just short of the $10,000 for damages other than pain and suffering. It is also not clear how damages shall be evaluated, and how they will be arbitrated outside of court in the event of falsification or contest. It is hoped that a remedy in the courts would not be denied in such an eventuality, but it appears that it would, given the provisions of this bill. The public should also understand that the proposer of this bill is honorary chairman of People for Auto of this bill is honorary chairman of People for Auto Insurance Reform, and while this position by no means tarnishes the force of the bill's reason, one must also remember that the legislation has been offered by people of one persuasion and lacks a broad approach to the problem that is consistent with good economics and with the establishment of justice.

No - fault systems have been suggested by many people, not so much that they pursue justice and balance right and wrong, but that they provide easy ways of distributing monies without considering who was at fault. Whether these no - fault systems will reduce legal costs is doubtful, since no facts can be produced obedience to lawful authority, and promoting civil discord." discord. Assemblyman Kiehn, in urging adoption of his bill, said that it should not be necessary. That is certainly true. Admittedly singing or playing of the National Anthem, and accord of proper respect when the anthem is played or sung, are patriotic gestures. Those who profess to be concerned about the fate of our fighting men in Vietnam often seem determined to mock the Failure to show respect is defined in Assemblyman Kiehn's bill as "tending to undermine respect for and men in Vietnam often seem determined to mock the very thing those men are fighting for -- our country. And those who seek to destroy our customs, our traditions and our laws are quick to seek the protection of those laws when charges are brought against them. It should be noted also that last week the United States Supreme Court upheld a law similar to the one proposed by Assemblyman Kiehn's bill. The court up-held a New York State law cutlenties discourses for the held a New York State law outlawing disrespect for the displaying of the American flag.

The Assembly of New Jersey has voted its approval of a proposed law to prohibit any show of disrespect for the playing of the National Anthem. The State Sen-ate should follow the Assembly's lead and Gov. William T. Cahill should sign the bill without delay.

Joy and Sorrow By Rev. Gordon W. Baum

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 10th in a series of sermons by Rahway clergymen. This week's supple-ment was written by the pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church Main Street and E. Milton Avenue, Rahway.)

* * * "Praise God! God bless him who comes in the name of the Lord! God bless the King of Israel!" John 12:12 (Good news for modern man)

Such were the cheers that greeted Christ as he rode into Jerusalem so many years ago. At last their liberator had come. Had he not healed the sick? Had he not given sight to the blind? Had he not even raised a man from the dead? Here was a man who could perform miracles. Would he not also conjure up legions to over-throw the Roman oppressor? The hopes of the chosen people of God were given flesh in Christ. He had talked about a Kingdom. Was it not the Kingdom of David restored? Was it not a might nation able to defend itself from all adversaries and extend its control to the world? Such were the rhetorical questions that they asked, and to each question there came a resounding, Yes!

But the joy soon gave way to sorrow. The legions did not appear. He even talked about peace and love, in-stead of arms and violence. He was a disappointment to them. So just five short days later they changed their shouts to "Crucify Him!"

So it has been through the ages. God continues to reach out in love and man responds to him with rejection and hatred. God trying to show the way to peace,

Bible lesson-sermon on unneth A. Austenberg will preach on "Jesus our Lord,"

The pro no - fault group also claims that compulsory insurance will greatly reduce advertising costs, but will insurance companies stop competing for shares in the insurance market just because it is compulsory? Certainly, at least 90 per cent of New Jersayans carry insurance and do not chose to pay penalties for not having insurance. The inclusion of the 10 per cent, who do not carry insurance and rely on the state pool, probably many of whom are bad risks, should not alter advertising policies that much. Mrs. Fenwick's bill has other aspects that are quite commendable, however. The most laudable is a merit rating system whereby poor drivers would be given higher rates and good drivers lower rates. Hence, it would make economic sense to drive safely.

A person convicted of drunken driving would pay a premium surcharge of 100%, a 20% surcharge for each conviction for speeding, and a 10% surcharge for each minor infraction. A discount of 2% would be given for each year of accident - free driving.

Hence, the merit system is the big plus in Mrs. Fenwick's bill; the no - fault provisions are open to serious charges of structural weakness, and the compulsory argument is half good in that in would require a person to carry insurance and protect the bodies and properties of others. The bad side of the compulsory idea is much less obvious and has received little attention in the press.

If insurance is made compulsory, then insurance companies would come to assume more and more the aspect of a public utility whose rates could be based on capital investment rather than the present underwriting result scheme. Just such a proposal has received ex-tensive hearings before the Department of Insurance under Commissioner Robert L. Clifford.

Insurance companies must be in a state of extended ecstacy over this proposal: they have their profits guaranteed by the state based on the most advantageous system; they are freed of messy involvement in court to determine right from wrong, and they pass on the costs of the higher settlements to the policyholders.

It has also been charged by a group of lawyers opposed to no - fault insurance, and by the way who try and make legal fees in negligence cases, that the lawyers supporting the no - fault concept are members of firms who are retained by large insurance corporations. These conditions certainly confuse taxpayers and make them think the whole affair is a contest for profits.

In any instance, the worst approach to the insurance problem would be passing Mrs. Fenwick's bill without substantial amendment. The merit system is worth-while, the compulsory aspect is livable as long as the insurance companies are not granted so - called "fair returns" based on highly favorable schemes prejudi-cial to the transmuss and the no - fault idea if deemcial to the taxpayers, and the no - fault idea if deem-ed advisable in some degree should follow the Massachusetts formula, setting lower compulsory standards and only in regard to bodily injury. There is plenty of time to iron out the difficulties in this bill, and the state legislature should not be pressured into ill-considered action by insurance company lobbyists or adhoc citizen groups.

Senate Should Follow Assembly

It is heartening to note that the State Assembly has voted unanimously to make it a disorderly person offense to show disrespect for the playing of our National Anthem.

The Assembly bill, sponsored by Assemblyman Herbert H. Kiehn of Rahway, states that when "The Star-Spangled Banner" is played or sung at a public gather-ing, all persons must stand or "accord an equivalent gesture of respect." The proposed measure protects those with religious or conscientious scruples by exempting them from the need for such gestures. Such conscientious objectors, however, would be reand man responding Christ was praised in Church on Sunday. But he was crucified on Monday wherever the cause of brotherly love and justice were not practiced. Will man never learn? "He (Christ) came closer to the city and when he saw it he wept over it, saying: 'If you only knew today what is needed for peace! But now you cannot see it! For the days will come upon you when your enemies will surround you with barricades, blockade you, and close in on you from every side. They will completely destroy you and the people within your walls; not a single stone will they leave in its place, because you did not recognize the time when God came to save you!" (Luke 19:41-44).
