Council OKs Grant City Closing If...

Litter and health violations as well as other breaches of township ordinances were on the mind of Second Ward Councilman Richard C. Burger at the Monday night meeting of the township council when he moved to have the mayor close down the Grant City Shopping Center unless the owners conformed to township laws.

Fourth Ward Councilman Robert Roman asked township attorney John P. Higgins if the resolution was proper. "I don't see anything wrong with the motion," Mr. Higgins said, although he said he did not know how effective it would be.

Mr. Burger said he had written to the owners of the shopping center on Sept. 17 but had never received a response. This was confirmed by the township clerk, Edward R. Paduaniak.

The shopping center has been severely criticized by homeowners on School Street and Gibson Boulevard, who maintain that litter from the center is continually blown across their properties.

Mr. Burger said that empty trailers clog the property and a partially destroyed fence has not been removed from the premises.

Mr. Burger noted that Pathmark is located in the center as well as W. T. Grant Co.

The resolution was passed unanimously.

Dave Toma Will Speak At Beth O'r

Martin Goldstein, president of the Temple Beth O'r Men's Club, Clark, has announced that Dave Toma, the "Man of a Thousand Disguises," will speak to the group today at 8:30 p.m. in the temple on Valley Road, Clark. Members and their wives, children, and guests are being invited to attend.

Mr. Toma's undercover feats have been featured in many national periodicals. He has specialized in "infiltrating" various criminal organizations through the use of ingenious disguises and is known for his excellent arrest and conviction record. He also has spent a large part of his time and effort in the rehabilitation of convicted persons.

A Hollywood motion picture company is working on a two-hour film based on Mr. Toma's exploits. A weekly television show is a possibility.

Refreshments will be served after the presentation.

Board President Foresees Completion Of 1972-73 School Budget in Month

The proposed 1972-73 budget for the Clark elementary school system should be completed within a month, John Swintek, president of the Clark Board of Education, reported at Tuesday night's meeting in the administration building on Schindler Road.

Mr. Swintek said work on the majority of the budget items have been considered but that the biggest item, teacher's salaries, still must be considered. Meetings with the Clark Education Association are being held weekly and often there are two meetings a week, he reported.

Negotiations between the board and the CEA have been complicated this year by the "recent economic crisis," Mr. Swintek stated. He said the "crisis" was the wage-price freeze ordered by President Richard M. Nixon last summer and Phase 2 of the freeze which became effective on Sunday. The federal program has "a great effect" on the proceedings, Mr. Swintek declared.

Mr. Swintek said there is "a reasonable expectation" and "great hope" that the budget would be completed within a month and then submitted to the Union County superintendent of schools for approval.

"Then the budget will go before the voters for approval which we hope will be forthcoming," the school board president commented.

The board is hopeful that all applications for the position of superintendent of schools will be received by mid-January, Mr. Swintek said. Preparations for advertising the fact that the position is open and formulation of criteria for the selection of a superintendent should be finished the week after Thanksgiving, Mr. Swintek stated. The work is being done by a committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Thelma Purdy.

John E. Conlin, who has been acting superintendent since Sept. 21, was praised by Mr. Swintek for "doing a fine job." Mr. Conlin was appointed acting superintendent after the death of Dr. Carl H. Kumpf, Superintendent since 1962. Dr. Kumpf told the board in August that he planned to retire in June 1972. Dr. Kumpf died on Sept. 14.

A letter from Dr. Kumpf's family was read at the meeting by Ronald Smith, board secretary-business administrator. The letter expressed the family's appreciation for renaming of Mildred Terrace School in memory of Dr. Kumpf.

The board appointed Mrs. Elizabeth Armbrust of 263 Salem Rd., Union, as accounting clerk at a salary of $5,350 a year. The appointment was effective yesterday.

News Deadline Falls Tomorrow

The Rahway News-Record and The Clark Patriot will be published on Wednesday, Nov. 24, next week to avoid a conflict with Thanksgiving Day which falls on Thursday.

Please bring all news to our offices by tomorrow. Only articles covering over-the-weekend news will be accepted on Monday. The cooperation of readers is requested.

terday. Mrs. Armbrust succeeds Miss Joanne Noblitt of Colonia who resigned last month to accept the position of Education secretary.

The tentative 1972-73 budget of the Union County

Audio Visual Commission was approved. The budget totals $34,500. Clark's share of the budget would be approximately $2,200, Mr. Smith explained. The amount is based on a charge of 75¢ per pupil.

Mayor Urges Action to Obtain Money For Purchase of Oak Ridge Course

Mayor Thomas A. Kaczmarek of Clark, who was elected to a three-year term on the Union County Board of Freeholders at the Nov. 2 general election, this week urged county officials to act quickly in its quest for Green Acres allocations.

"There is no time to waste, if Union County residents are to be assured of their proper share in the benefits that will accrue from the referendum bond issue victory," Mayor Kaczmarek declared.

The state's voters on Nov. 2 gave their approval to a plan to issue bonds in the amount of $80 million. The money will be used for public acquisition of lands for recreation and conservation purposes "to meet the future needs of the expanding population."

When Mayor Kaczmarek takes his seat on the freeholder board and when the board reorganizes in January, the Democrats will take control of the county government with a 5-4 majority. The Republicans now have control by the same majority.

The seating of Mayor Kaczmarek also will give Clark two members on the board. Freeholder William J. Maguire, a former mayor, will be one of the four GOP members next year.

Last week Freeholder Maguire announced that he has retired from business and will devote full time to his

Ban on Issuance of Building Permits Upheld in Superior Court But Part Exempting Billan 15, Others Killed

Unbeknown to Clark councilmen at the Monday night meeting of the municipal council, Clark's ban on the issuance of building permits for commercial properties was upheld by Superior Court Judge Milton Feller at the County Court House in Elizabeth that afternoon.

The moratorium will expire on Jan. 12 of next year, and

Little Leaguers, Fathers Hear 2 Pro Ball Players

Over 600 Little Leaguers and their fathers heard two professional baseball players Friday night explain fine points of the game in the cafeteria-gym of St. Agnes Roman Catholic Church, Madison Hill Rd., Clark.

Duffy Dyer, 26-year-old catcher for the New York Mets, told of his four years in the Phoenix, Ariz., Little League.

Mr. Dyer explained that motivation and momentum are two crucial aspects of baseball. That to win, a player must not only have the proper attitude, but must be placed in a moving situation by the skill of his own play and that of his teammates.

Mr. Dyer said the Mets started off this year in a blaze of glory, only to find themselves in a July slump caused by a lack of adherence to basic baseball principles. He said the Mets had a July record of something like 3-25.

He felt the team could have done better with a proper attitude and more attention to fine points, and he reflected, "Do what the Mets did, and you'll have to wait to next year."

Mr. Dyer had a .231 batting average and told the audience that while his offensive play isn't as good as he hoped it would be, his defensive play has improved greatly in the professionals.

Mr. Dyer is a former Sporting News All-American selection at Arizona State University. In 1970, he was the only catcher in the National League who was not charged with a passed ball for the entire season. He was a member of the International League All-Star Team in 1968, and his pinch-hitting average was second high on the club last season. His career pinch-hitting average is .412.

In spring training this year, he hit a homerun off the Cardinal's Steve Carlton that was estimated to have carried 500 feet. His second major league hit and first major league homerun was a three-run pinch-hit shot in the ninth inning on opening day of the Mets' 1969 World Championship season.

Mr. Duffy warned the boys and their managers not to let the youngsters hurl breaking balls which can strain their yet undeveloped muscles.

Jack Aker is also a veteran of Little League training. He played in California where he was born in 1940.

Mr. Aker has seen a lot of movement in his professional career. The "Fireman of the Year" with Kansas City in 1966, the Athletics moved to Oakland and quit on Jack, letting him go to Seattle in the expansion in 1969. The old Pilots traded him to New York for Fred Talbot on May 20, 1969, and Jack regained his style.

Since then, he earned run averages with the Yankees have been 2.06, 2.06 and 2.48, all despite a recurring back injury.

Originally an outfielder, Jack has been a pro since 1959. He was player representative on Kansas City and serves the Yankees in the same position.

Mr. Aker stressed that players should always be prepared to do the unusual. He recalled one rookie who was a fine third baseman who had to play first base, a position he had never tried. Forgetting himself for a moment when he went to catch a ground ball, the novice stopped himself in the act of throwing to home, hesitated as he watched the runner approaching first base, and threw to the catcher. The catcher and he tossed the ball back and forth a couple of times and finally managed to tag the runner out at home. It was a tough decision for the umpire, who could have, Mr. Aker suggested facetiously, pronounced the runner safe.

Mrs. Aileen Sasala presented the Little League with $1,700 for equipment in the upcoming year. The funds are the proceeds of stand sales. To date, this year the auxiliary has given $2,700 to the Little League.

Michael Arnold, chairman of the Little League Father and Son Dinner, presented Charles Ziobro and Al Opperman with special awards for long years of service to the Little Leaguers of Clark. Mr. Ziobro has been active in the league for 17 years and has the longest record of service. Mr. Opperman has 15 years working with the boys.

First Ward Councilman John Bodnar told citizens attending the session that he felt that council would extend the ban if the commercial sections of the now-being-revised master plan were not completed by that date.

Council President A. Charles Walano expressed the hope that the master plan would be completed before Dec. 31 to avoid reintroduction of the matter by council.

Mr. Bodnar also advised that a public hearing would be held by the planning board on Nov. 30 on suggestions for the commercial zone sections of the new master plan.

While the judge upheld the basic intent of the moratorium, the section exempting those who had secured variances from the council prior to the passage of the ban was declared null in void. This section exempted the Billan 15 project and others from the effects of the moratorium and was fought on two occasions by the lone Republican on the council, Bernard G. Yarusavage, of the Third Ward.

Mr. Yarusavage tried to amend the ordinance establishing the moratorium, so it would pertain to all commercial properties. On both occasions, his motions to amend failed because he could not get a second.

The loophole in the moratorium was also censured by Mrs. Linda Fischer, president of the Southwest Civic Association, before the council on several occasions.

Judge Feller called the section "definitely unjust and discriminatory."

Council President Walano said at the Monday night meeting that he expected a decision "sometime this week," but the decision, not known to any councilman at the meeting, was made that afternoon by Judge Feller, who cautioned the council to use moratorium powers very carefully.

He noted the ordinance would have been unconstitutional if it had not included a time limitation. He said the rights of individual property owners would be maintained by a temporary halt in the issuance of commercial building permits, not an indefinite one.

The judge also noted that municipalities have the right to adopt stop-gap measures like the moratorium to allow them to bring their building laws into conformance with "modern needs."

Clark council passed the moratorium noting that the township was the fastest growing municipality in Union County. The moratorium was approved July 12 on second reading and was challenged by six owners of commercial property seeking to develop their parcels.

Plaintiffs were Pasquale and Ann Vizzoni, who own property at 727 Raritan Road, Stephen Warner and Elliot J. Bronfman, owners of land at 719 Raritan Road, and Philip and Anne Barton who own land on Westfield Avenue.

The owners maintained that the law deprived them of their property's use and provided no compensation. The action was also called "an unlawful delegation of authority."

Attorneys for the property owners also said the ordinance should be overturned because Council President Walano was also a member of the planning board and owned commercial property near one of the sites to be developed on Westfield Avenue, Mr. Walano voted for the moratorium.

Judge Feller ruled that while Mr. Walano did not disqualify himself from voting he saw no "substantial economic benefit" accruing to Mr. Walano during the six-month period.

Mr. Walano explained at the Monday night session, while he was not aware of the court action, that council would proceed as quickly as possible to show its good intent by ending the moratorium and having a workable section of commercial building laws. As was mentioned, this point was also heavily stressed by Judge Feller.

First Aid Squads Win Fight Against Control

Opposition of the Clark Volunteer Emergency Squad and other squads to a State Assembly bill which would place them under control of the State Health Department has resulted in withdrawal of the bill from the Legislature.

The Clark Municipal Council went on record in opposition to the bill at the request of the Clark first aid unit.

Members of the Clark squad went to the State House in Trenton on Monday, when the Legislature reconvened, to protest against passage of the Assembly measure. The protest march of squad members and ambulances from all parts of the state turned into a "happiness march" after Gov. William T. Cahill went to the squads' rescue. Gov. Cahill was instrumental in having the regulatory bill withdrawn.

A new bill introduced on Monday would allow rescue squads to be responsible for their own training and continue to operate under individual control while maintaining a standard set by the federal government.

The Clark squad, which is headed by Joseph Sbarro as its captain, was represented in Trenton by three members, Joseph Kosik, Henry Klett and Kenneth Newell.

Crime Funding Of Businesses Target of Bill

State Senator Matthew J. Rinaldo of Union pledged to re-introduce and fight for adoption of a new version of S-889, a bill aimed at removing the influence of organized crime from legitimate businesses.

Under Rinaldo's proposed legislation, each officer and director of a New Jersey corporation would be required to take an oath attesting that to the best of his knowledge no owner of 10% or more of the company's stock has received income from criminal activities.

He stressed that the proposed measure would not require persons to take the oaths regarding their own activities. "Therefore, it would not violate the constitutional ban against enforced self-incrimination," he said.

Squad Volunteers To Donate Blood

Members of the Rahway first Aid Squad have asked to be included in a Rahway Hospital appeal to employees for blood donations for Mark and Glenn Rosenwald, hemophiliacs who reside at 131 Princeton Ave., Rahway.

The Essex County Blood Bank will conduct a blood drive at Knights of Columbus Hall, W. Inman and Jaques Avenues, Rahway, between 3 and 7 p.m. on Tuesday. The public has been asked to participate by offering blood for the Rahway boys.

Since the first aid squad building is next door to the hospital, members of the Rahway squad are frequent visitors in the hospital where they saw a poster on Operation Concern, a campaign to enroll blood donors for the special drive. They responded by volunteering to participate in the hospital's pledge drive. The Linden Volunteer Ambulance Corps and other community first aid squads which regularly bring patients to the hospital then followed suit.

The Public Deserves Better Films

A switch in a film's rating can add millions to the gross in this way: a picture rated X, meaning that children under 17 cannot see it at all, loses up to 50% of its potential gross. An R picture, meaning that children under 17 must be escorted to the theater by a parent or guardian, loses about 20%. Furthermore, more and more theaters simply will not show X and R films.

Often a producer will try to bring in a movie that gets away with as much as possible and to inveigle a GP rating which insures widespread distribution. About 37% of films are rated GP, which means "General Audiences, Parental Guidance Suggested."

Last May, the National Catholic Office for Motion Pictures, joined by the Film Commission of the National Council of Churches, withdrew its support of ratings. In a joint statement, the church groups affirmed:

"We can no longer commend this plan to the public. In fact, it is our judgment that the public's confidence in the plan has already been seriously eroded, and that its confidence will not be restored until the ratings become more reliable, more local theaters seriously enforce the ratings, and advertising reflects more concern with informing the public and less with exploiting sex and violence."

The Lutheran film board said the same. The rating system was being abused by the film industry and a lot of seriously objectionable films were slipping into the GP category, films that children could freely see. For example, "Drive, He Said" has extensive nudity, sex and profanity. It drew an X, but the MPAA appeals board eased it to an R.

Columbia has never received an X rating for any of its films, and it is not in the financial distress of MGM. The lesson is clear. Decent films draw greater audiences and profits. There is a far greater demand for good films, which Hollywood is not satisfying. It should learn to give the public the films it deserves.

Lord, That We May See

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of sermons by Rahway clergymen. This week's sermon was written by the Rev. Edward Myers of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Central Avenue, Rahway.

How many times do you think your heart beats every day? 10,000 times at 20,000 times?

Researchers at the University of Chicago tested by means of a pocket-sized electronic counter, a group of 100 men aged 16 to 65 over several 24-hour periods of normal work and rest. They included people from various walks of life: students, clerical workers, teachers, men who did light labor. While each individual's heart remained fairly constant from day to day, variation from one person to another ranged from a low of 98,000 to a high of 135,000 times a day!

Just imagine - your heart beating 100,000 times a day! That's almost 40 million beats a year! If you are over 25, your heart has pulsed over one billion times! What a fantastic job this small muscular organ does - a job which most of us take for granted.

We can so easily become upset when our daily routine is disrupted, when things don't go our way, when someone says something or does something which offends us. We might complain about our lot in life: "Poor me," forgetting how rich we are when we have our health. Ask any heart patient!

Betty is only 31. She has three children, the oldest of whom is eight. I met her in the hospital after she had had surgery. Smiling cheerfully, she asked for a sip of water, but hesitated when I extended the container to her. It was only then that I realized that she was blind. Her surgery seemed like something minor compared to her blindness. But then I thought of how we complain at times for having to wear glasses, what a nuisance they are, forgetting that we can see. We can so easily take our sight for granted. Ask any blind person!

Michael is a kindly old gray-haired patient who has been in the intensive-care unit for over two months. For all this time he has had a treacheotomy, which must be used almost daily to enable oxygen to pass to and from his lungs and so make his breathing easier. One morning recently I stopped by to give Mike a blessing. The nurse had just finished shaving him, so the tracheal tube was still disconnected. Mike wanted to tell me something, but there was no air pressure to enable him to speak. So the nurse placed her finger over the end of the tube, and with great effort, Mike haltingly whispered to me: "Thank you, Father, and God bless you too." And then he smiled! God help us who think we have it rough!

We should learn a great lesson from the sick - despite their ill-health, they can smile, and smile so easily. We who enjoy the blessing of health should smile so much more easily. Oh, we have our problems, our difficulties, our failures. But we also have so much going for us, so many blessings if only we really open our eyes to them. Lord, that we may see. And seeing, may we smile more often, in appreciation of what we do have.

Change in Form of Government Seen as Unnecessary, Costly

Since municipal governments of all cities are chosen by the people, they should be looked upon by citizens as ones they have chosen and intend to keep. Being non-partisan, I feel that any change in government must come from the people.

Elected officials must realize that they are working for the benefit of all Rahwayans, regardless of political affiliation.

Elected officials of any town come and go when their term expires, but the town always stays. Changes of government in the past have proven that they are costly to the citizen of any town and do not benefit anyone except people who are looking to make the change for personal gain.

Voting citizens will have to closely watch the actions and deeds of their elected councilmen and mayor in their efforts to keep expenses and budgets down to a minimum. Citizen anger is the best result as a deterrent to any change that is not beneficial for the welfare of their town.

There are many things to take into consideration before drastically making a change in any government, especially when it will cost the citizens of Rahway a great deal of money for the cost of a special election each and every year. Party politics can be eliminated not by a change of government, but by a change in the actions of the citizens. Councilmen and the mayor know whenever an issue is brought before the people and when citizens object to such a measure. Action by both parties, citizens and officials, to make adjust-

Relevant Studies Just One Way To Brainwash

When we hear educators call for "relevant education," few of us realize that the term has nothing at all to do with education but is rather an attempt to involve students with the pressing social issues of the day.

In other words, "relevant education" is merely a form of brainwashing and is a powerful tool in the hands of the "progressive educators" who view the public schools as a vehicle with which to prepare our children for citizenship in a one-world-socialist order.

The "progressive educators" have long recognized the necessity of using the classrooms of America as an indoctrination center where the ills of our country can be aired. The issues discussed are ghetto blight, poverty, the war in Vietnam, the changing of the social and economic order of our country, "academic freedom," ecology, etc. The issues considered closely parallel the fads in the protest movement to an alarming degree.

The "progressives" secret weapon to bring about planned change in this country is something called "social studies." Social studies is an "educational" time bomb that is not concerned with what the child learns in terms of knowledge gained, but is very concerned with what attitudes the child develops and the action growing out of those attitudes. How the student feels and acts is the special concern of the social studies. Everything else connected with the course is secondary.

In the early 1950's the leftists representing the social studies wing of education in this country put it very bluntly: "The chief aim of education today should be the preparation of children and adolescents to participate consciously and actively in the building of a world government." And this is the exact aim of the National Education Association (among others) which boasts a membership of approximately two-million members!

In 1952 and 1953 aroused public opinion against this abuse of the public schools put a serious crimp in the activities of the one-world social studies planners. But the Supreme Court took care of that little "inconvenience" by removing those laws which would have curtailed the activities of the collectivists, exactly as the one-worlders knew the high court, populated itself primarily with social climbers, would.

Social studies have been in operation in this country, on a large scale, since 1932. But the idea of using social studies to orient our children to first accept national socialism, to be followed later by their acceptance of world socialism, goes all the way back to 1905 when the Fabian Socialist, John Dewey, and his cohorts were advocating 100 percent state control of all property, natural resources, labor, the banks, etc. Dewey called it collectivism, it's still called collectivism today, although many people refer to collectivism as Socialism, Communism, or Fascism. And Dewey's brand of "education" was called "progressive education." The schools of America are choking on Deweyism today and our nation and our children are paying a terrible price because of it.

So, if parents feel they do not understand their children's attitudes and actions which run contrary to the principles and beliefs that founded and sustained this nation, don't blame it on the mythical "generation gap." Place the blame where it truly belongs - on the social studies which are producing millions of American youngsters who are being deliberately programmed in their schools to restructure America into the image desired by the "progressive" teachers who are merely agents of the international collectivists bent on solving the world's ills via a one-world socialist order.

Food Assistance Recipients in NJ Decline by 3,539

Participation in the Federal Food Stamp Program declined by 3,539 persons in New Jersey during September as 294,208 low income persons benefitted from the U. S. Department of Agriculture's family food assistance program.

According to the USDA's Northeast Regional Food and Nutrition Service office in New York City, these persons paid $4,348,667 for food stamps valued at $7,222,869. The difference of $2,874,202 or bonus value of the coupons is USDA's contribution to the program and is designed to provide participants with more and better foods.

Among the total number of participants, 37 percent or 107,742 did not receive public assistance payments.

In Union County a total of 16,376 persons were given food stamps valued at $387,374.

relative. It may also be a calm choice begun in ones own behalf while in good health.

The purchase of a burial plot when the pressure of grief is not there has the advantages of a careful, rational act, and the comfort of owning the lot will outweigh any inconvenience in seeking out a site.

This will enable one to understand what care and maintenance services for grave sites are and are not covered by the purchase price.

Some cemetery managers boast perpetual care. This means little unless the management makes a commitment to set aside periodically a portion of its income in a fund to ensure maintenance.

Official results and highlights of the election will be discussed, and comparisons made of the results with recent contests. The goal of the club will be to do a better job for the GOP next year when a municipal election will be held.

The meeting will be open to the public. Refreshments will be served.

Fifth Course on Care Of Cardiacs Terminates

A ceremony marking the end of Rahway Hospital's fifth intensive two-week course in the care of cardiac patients was held at the hospital on Friday.

Certificates of achievement were awarded by Miss Catherine Galvanek, R.N., coronary care unit head nurse, and John L. Yoder, director. Mr. Yoder indicated that half of the students were employees of John F. Kennedy Hospital, demonstrating how hospitals can benefit from sharing facilities and staff. Since Mrs. Carolyn Lukas, who is now associate director of nursing, conducted the first coronary care course at Rahway in 1969, it has grown in scope to the point of being a shared program with John F. Kennedy Hospital.

The topics covered by the course ranged from the concept of intensive coronary care to practical instruction in the use of techniques and monitoring equipment. Physician lecturers were Drs. Edmon B. Lee, Edward A. Partenope, Jacob Wolansky, Earle N. Rothbell, Harry Zutz, George Miller, Lawrence Guarino, William Hospital staff instructors were Miss Galvanek, Mrs. Lukas, Mrs. Iona Maynard, R.N., inservice education coordinator; Mrs. Jean Thomas, cardio-pulmonary technician; Mrs. Nancy Turner, electrocardiograph/electroencephalograph (EKG) technician; and Miss Regina Dougherty, R.N., chief cardio-pulmonary therapist.

All but one of the graduates of the course will be assigned to hospital coronary care units or to the unit in Kennedy Hospital where ambulatory cardiac patients are monitored by telemetry. The exception is Mrs. Vera Palumbo, who is Kennedy Hospital's night supervisor.

Other Kennedy Hospital employees completing the course were Miss Gail Molnar, R.N.; Mrs. Karen Deegan, R.N.; Miss Maureen L. Misko, R.N.; Miss Lynda A. Jorden, R.N.; Miss Deborah J. ## Flood Insurance Law Amendments Approved By Senate Committee

Two key amendments to the national flood insurance program sponsored by Senator Harrison A. Williams Jr. of Westfield have been approved by the Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee in Washington.

The amendments were co-sponsored by Sen. Clifford P. Case of Rahway and drawn up with the assistance and support of Gov. William T. Cahill.

One of the amendments would restore federal aid eligibility to victims of Tropical Storm Doria who were disqualified because of penalty provisions in the 1968 Flood Insurance Act. The other would extend to the end of next year the time in which homeowners and businessmen in flood insurance qualified towns could sign up for the protection.

Similar legislation is expected to be approved by the House Banking and Currency Committee shortly, which some observers said could have the changes ready to be signed into law by the end of the year. The House amendments were drafted by Wright Patman (D-Texas), chairman of the banking committee.

Senator Williams said that only 720 of the 7,000 communities eligible for flood insurance nationwide have qualified for the program.

The Williams' amendments are part of a new federal flood insurance program he introduced last week. Other portions of the program would expand significantly the general coverage of flood insurance and would include measures designed to better control building in areas of severe potential danger from floods.

Raymond W. Bauer, president of Union County Trust Company, Elizabeth, has announced the appointment of Robert W. Donnelly, vice president, as senior trust officer of the bank.

Mr. Donnelly succeeded Harry C. Foehl, who retired on Nov. 11 but who will be retained as a consultant for a six-month period.

Gallagher Asks Education Unit For Pay Study

Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, D-District 13 representing Rahway, suggested this week that President Nixon create a special education committee as part of the new Pay Board during Phase II of the wage and salary control program.

Rep. Gallagher, in proposing this approach, said he felt that the new board "would benefit from the advice and assistance of a committee from the field of education, thus avoiding unfairness and the legal questions which came up during the initial 90-day freeze." The Pay Board is scheduled to handle wage and salary controls when Phase II of the administration's program begins Sunday.

By Ray Hoagland

Rahway and Clark football teams will be waiting for next Thursday's final games.

The Watching Conference title has been won again by the Westfield Blue Devils with only the Clark-Scotch Plains game left on the conference schedule.

Our record of selections has scored to a season mark of 68-33-4.

Next Saturday there are only three games in this area:

DUNELLEN AT KENILWORTH, 1:30 p.m. The Bears to win their sixth game of the season, 27-7, over a under-par Dunellen destroyer club.

COLONIA AT NEW BRUNSWICK, 10:30 a.m. The Patriots to have no trouble with the winless New Brunswick Zebras, 20-0.

WOODBIDGE AT PERTH AMBOY, 2 p.m. In a game postponed from early in the season, the Woodbridge Barons to defeat the improving Panthers, 18-12.

In the final big Saturday of the New Jersey college football season the feature will be the annual Dartmouth-Princeton game. The game is very important to the big green of Dartmouth. A victory will give Dartmouth a tie for the Ivy League title.

Colgate at Rutgers is the other major game of the day.

Our season record is now 36-29. We like Jersey City State over winless St. Peter's, 28-0; Dartmouth, 14-10; over Princeton, and Colgate to take Rutgers, 21-13.

Indians Defeat Crusaders For Victory No. 2 of Year

The Rahway Indians won the 16th annual gridiron battle with the Clark Crusaders, 28-18, on Veterans Memorial Field, Rahway, on Saturday morning.

Don Kirby, 5-6, 165-pound senior, led the Indians' attack with three touchdowns. Kirby scores on runs of 23 and 12 yards and on a pass from Duane Sprobach. The play was good for 23 yards.

Kirby, a tailback, picked up 242 yards by air and land. On 14 carries he gained 135 yards and on four passes he was good for 107 yards. The Indians gained 329 yards during the game.

The Indians took an early lead 13 plays after the start of the game. They marched to Clark's 23-yard line where they missed a first down by two yards. On Clark's second play, Mark Markovic fumbled and Rahway's Larry Young recovered the ball on Clark's 24.

On the second Rahway play, Kirby took a pitchout to the left and raced into the end zone for the score at 5:24 of the period. The pass for the extra point failed.

Clark took possession of the ball on its own 38-yard line following the kickoff. Clark picked up a first down at Rahway's 47. Jerry Scaturro drove over left tackle to the Indians' 23 for another first down. Markovic and Scaturro made a first down on the 15 and two plays later Markovic circled his left end to score with 45 seconds left in the period.

When Pinka's run failed, the teams were tied at 6-6. Rahway then marched 55 yards in four plays to score. Kirby raced around his right end at the 11:28 mark of the period. Kurt Jeter set the Indians in motion when he took the kickoff 31 yards to Clark's 45. A Sprobach-to-Kirby pass for 27 yards was a feature of the drive.

Kirby went over tackle for the extra two points and the home team was in front, 14-6.

Clark went to work and in three plays was on the scoreboard. Dick Styler ran the kickoff to the 29. On a third down with 10 yards to go, Bob Pinka passed to Mark Keitel on the fly pattern to the right. The ball was caught on the Rahway 45 and Keitel ran the distance. The play was good for 71 yards. When the run for the extra points failed, the Indians were in front, 14-12, at the 9:30 mark on the clock.

In the final four minutes of the second period, Clark marched to Rahway's 15 but Markovic fumbled.

A Sprobach-to-Kirby pass good for 23 yards midway in the third period gave the Indians a 20-12 lead. The scoring drive of 71 yards was made in three plays and featured a 41-yard run by Kirby around left end. The run for the extra points again failed.

Early in the fourth period, the Indians marched 49

There are two cars built in Sweden...before you buy theirs, drive ours.

When people who know cars think about Swedish cars, they think of them as being strong and durable. And conquering some of the toughest driving conditions in the world.

But, unfortunately, when most people think about buying a Swedish car, the one they think about usually isn't ours. (Even though ours doesn't cost any more.)

Ours is the SAAB 99E. It's strong and durable. But it's also a lot different from their car.

Our car has Front-Wheel Drive, a standard 1.85 liter, fuel-injected, 4-cylinder overhead cam engine, 4-speed transmission (3-speed automatic optional), 4-wheel disc brakes and roll-over construction. There are a lot of other things that make our car different from their car.

So before you buy their car, stop by your nearest SAAB dealer and drive our car. The SAAB 99E. We think you'll buy it instead of theirs.

Free Public Education Started a Century Ago

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of articles written by the New Jersey Education Association to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the state's free public schools.

Bells rang. The "dark ages" ended. Glass barriers gave way. These were some of the reactions in 1871 when public education finally became free in New Jersey.

What accomplished the task, reports the New Jersey Education Association, was a law entitled "An Act to Make Free the Public Schools of the State," adopted on April 6, 1871. It took effect the following September for the 1871-72 school year.

The main feature of this act, NJEA reports, was a statewide property tax to be used for education. The 1871 law levied "a tax of two mills on each dollar of the real and personal property annually on the inhabitants of this state." In its first year, the two-mill school tax yielded $1,168,803.

Under the free-school act, every district with 45 students or more received at least $350 in state school aid. NJEA reports, State aid rose from an average of 40 cents per pupil in 1870-71, the last year New Jersey schools could charge tuition, to $19.85 per pupil in 1871-72, the first year New Jersey had totally free schools.

The act required every township to run free public schools for nine months in each year. Although enrollment was not compulsory, the schools were required to accept all children 5 to 18 electing to attend. If the state funds were not sufficient, the law required the remainder to be raised by township tax. Tuition could no longer be charged.

New Jersey school officials were ecstatic over the new law. Wrote A. R. Jones, Cumberland County's superintendent of schools: "That relic of the dark ages, pay school, has forever passed away, we hope, in New Jersey, and the Legislature that did the good thing should be held in high respect by those who would see all barriers

Colonia Plays Saturday

Bill Martin Takes 3rd In Florida Power Race

Bill Martin of Clark, driving his new 33-foot Magnum ocean speedboat, finished third in the Hennessy Offshore Powerboat Race on Saturday at Key West, Fla.

Martin, proprietor of Martin's Furniture Store on Westfield Avenue, held the lead for 73 miles in the 180-mile race from Key West, around the Try Tortugas and back to Key West. Martin took over the lead from Bill Wishnick of New York, who had won this year's world powerboat title. Wishnick's boat was stopped by pump trouble halfway through the course.

Martin was caught by Roger Hanks of Midland, Tex., who won the race in his 36-foot Cigarette powered by two Mer-Cruiser stern-drive engines. The time for the first place winner of the race, the last one on the list of world championship events, was 4 hours 4 minutes 5 seconds. Bob Magoon was second, a minute behind Hanks. Martin's time was 4:10.5.

The race was run in seas with waves five to seven feet high and a 23-mile an hour wind.

School Lunch Eligibility Up

U.S. Sen. Clifford P. Case of Rahway announced that the U.S. Department of Agriculture will permit as many as 15,000 additional urban poverty children in New Jersey to participate in the National School Lunch program.

He noted that poverty standards for several cities in New Jersey are higher than the state standard, and if the city figure were rejected, 15,000 school children would be affected. Among the affected cities are Newark, Camden, Paterson, Elizabeth, Hoboken, New Brunswick, Passaic, and Orange.

Ecologist Dr. Ronald A. Spencer noted that pesticide-treated agricultural lands now are producing more wildlife than ever on a national basis. He said, "Pesticides are but one of the tools by which we manipulate our environment. Open fields in timbered areas create an optimum wildlife habitat pattern. The building of farm ponds, some 50,000 a year, provides an improved distribution of water sources for many wild species. The planting and maintenance of windbreaks and shelterbelts to protect soils and crops from wind erosion have provided both nesting sites and winter cover for wildlife."

A. M. Tewksbury writes in the "Oregon Voter" magazine: "Nikita Khrushchev was wont to boast that the Soviet Union would catch up with the U.S. in 1970 in Gross National Product. The U.S. has, of course, kept far ahead in the economic race. Projections indicate that it will have a GNP lead of some $500 billion over Russia this year. As we have said so often, communism is a religious ideology, and a successful economic system."

"Nationalization does not solve the problem of rail deficits, only the problem of who pays for them. Where the railroads are nationalized, the taxpayer invariably foots the bill, and the bill in the case of the United States would be a big one." - William J. Quinn, chairman of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad.

According to the National Association of Manufacturers, the need for honest and complete information is nowhere more apparent than in the current drug abuse controversy. It's evident that there's a lot of misinformation on the subject.

LABORATORY ROSE... Dr. Dominic Durkin, of the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, measures water flow through rose stem sections with the assistance of secretary Miss Barbara Goodwin. His research indicates that the water flow is critical for its life as a cut flower.

Merck scientists explained that, like the cephalosporins, the mode of action of the cephamycins is vested in their ability to inhibit bacterial cell wall synthesis.

However, the cephamycins do differ from their chemical relatives in some ways, according to Dr. Stapley, particularly in their ability to resist degradation by enzymes produced by infectious bacteria.

With several types of bacteria, he explained, the presence of cephalosporins prompts the biosynthesis of enzymes, called cephalosporinases, which contribute to the degradation of the antibiotics. This reaction - in effect a survival mechanism of the bacteria endangered by antibiotics - contributes to the antibiotic resistance of some bacterial strains.

Dr. Stapley pointed out that cephamycins A and B, when exposed to cultures

Adding to Life of Cut Roses Is Being Studied

The subject is roses, and the object is to keep them alive longer in the vase. Many a flower lover has tried, but in general, a rose that's been picked lasts only a third as long as it would have on the bush.

Now, however, a Rutgers scientist is coming close to some basic answers that may recapture that other two-thirds of a cut rose's life span.

It's a drinking problem that causes most of the trouble, according to Dr. Dominic Durkin of North Brunswick, chairman of the Department of Horticulture and Forestry at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science. His study is reported in the current issue of the college's quarterly, "Research."

"After four or five days, roses act as if they're running out of water -- that is, they wilt -- even if the vase is full of water," Dr. Durkin says.

"We decided there was something going on in the stem that restricts the movement of water."

To learn whether a particular part of the stem was responsible, Dr. Durkin and his assistants took roses that were freshly cut. Each day stem sections were removed to measure the water flow through them. The researchers found that flow decreased as the flower aged, and they also found the blockage of water movement was just about the same in all sections of the stem.

"We've concluded that the materials that seep out of the injured stem are then carried back up the stem plumbing, and that's what impedes the flow of water,"

Dr. Durkin says. "We've extracted these materials, and we're pretty sure we're on the right track."

Once these compounds have been identified, the Rutgers scientist hopes it will be possible to keep them from clogging up the water works. One way would be to add a chemical that would make the materials more soluble, so they would flow easily through the stem. Another might be to make them less soluble, so they would never enter the water system.

"We think the same general class of substances blocks the flow of water with all cut flowers, though we haven't tested this yet," Dr. Durkin says.

Different cut flowers of course vary a great deal in their life span. Chrysanthemums last long, while tulips and most bulb flowers are short lived. For some cut flowers, food may be almost as important as drink.

Carnations, for instance, last about the same length of time as roses -- about 18 days, for some varieties, if they stay in the garden, and only about six days in a vase. But cut carnations can stay fresh almost two weeks if a flower preservative is used to supply them with food, while preservatives only add a day or two to the life of a rose.

Dr. Durkin is also studying the food storage system of different cut flowers. Tagging sugar with Carbon 14, he has traced the food first to the leaves and stem, which act as a reservoir that later supplies the flower. The food and water problems of cut flowers are linked in this

Edward R. Boate Dies at Age of 69; Served as Rahway City Engineer

Edward R. Boate, 69, of 12A Duncan Hill, Westfield, died at home after an apparent heart attack.

Mr. Boate served as engineer for the City of Rahway for several years in the 1950's.

He received a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from Cooper Union in 1928 and completed graduate work at Rutgers and New York universities.

He was president of Edward R. Boate Inc., consulting engineers in Westfield.

He retired five years ago, after 20 years of service, from the Bacon-Pietsch Co., Montclair, where he was vice president.

He was a communicant of St. Helen's Roman Catholic Church of Westfield, a member of the College Men's Club of Westfield and the New Jersey chapter of the International Society of Professional Engineers.

Mr. Boate also was past president of the Westfield Chapter of national barber-shop quartet society.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Marion Klernan Boate; two sons, Edward R. Jr., of Broomall, Pa., and Franklin E. of Westfield; four daughters, Mrs. Clifford A. Williams of Easton, Pa., Mrs. Walter A. West of Northfield, Mrs. Harry E. Leach of Toms River and Mrs. Robert L. Miller of North Plainfield. 24 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Surviving are her husband, William; one son, Francis, of Staten Island, N.Y.; one brother, William G. Paige of Rahway, and four grandchildren.

The funeral will be today from the Walter B. Cooke Funeral Home, 165 E. Tremont Avenue, The Bronx, with a 10 a.m. Mass at Holy Spirit Church, The Bronx. Interment will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Rahway.

way, he points out. Removing some of the leaves would help the flower lose less water, but would deprive it of food at the same time. And while the research progresses, what's the best survival technique for bouquets?

Pick the flowers in the morning when they're crisp, Dr. Durkin recommends, and put them in a clean vase with lukewarm water, which is easier for them to drink. Use a flower preservative and keep the bouquet in a cool spot where it isn't breezy. And every few days change the water and the preservative and cut back the stem a couple of inches.

Study Shows NJ Sales Tax Imposes Fair Levies on All Income Groups

Although sales taxes are regarded by some as "regressive" -- that is as taking a decreasing percentage of income -- as income rises -- New Jersey's 5% state sales tax is found to be proportional when measured against similar impositions elsewhere.

This was among surprising, secondary, findings of a nine-month study of state and local financing problems released by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.

The analysis based upon U. S. Internal Revenue Service data shows that families at varying levels of income pay almost the same proportion of sales tax in New Jersey. The report said, in part: "Despite the fact that New Jersey has the third highest sales tax rate in the nation, the reported 1970 tax burden per family in New Jersey in actual dollars is less for all levels of income among the leading industrial states, except the highest income levels in Texas and Indiana and all income levels in Massachusetts."

Texas has a 4% sales tax rate and Indiana 2%.

"The proportionality of impact of the New Jersey sales tax on families is due to the complex arrangement of exemptions provided in the system. Necessities like food and clothing, and purchases of cigarettes, beer and motor fuels are exempt from the tax. Luxury items and infrequently purchased consumer goods, including appliances and motor vehicles, are not exempt from the tax."

"In view of the relatively even impact on individuals and families as evidenced by the sales tax in New Jersey, there seems to be little likelihood that the tax treatment afforded the individual family can be improved greatly short of actual reduction of the rate."

The sales tax is New Jersey's major revenue source. First imposed at 3% in 1966 and increased to 5% in 1970, it raised $521 million or more than one third of budgeted state revenues in the 1971 fiscal year.

Nationally, general sales and gross receipts taxes are the number one revenue source of state governments. Forty-five states currently impose a retail sales tax. Rates range from 2% in Indiana and Oklahoma to 6 1/2% in Connecticut. Pennsylvania has a 6% rate, while New Jersey is one of five states using 5%.

The common rates are 3% (17 states) and 4% (16 states). Alaska, Delaware, New Hampshire, Oregon and Montana are the only states without a retail sales tax.

He also reported that on the basis of the studies, cephamycin C was most active against gram-negative organisms and weak against those in the gram-positive category. The reverse appeared to be the case with cephamycin A, which exhibited its greatest activity against a wide variety of gram-positive organisms.

According to Dr. Stapley, the toxicity of cephamycin is so low that the scientists have been unable to determine an LD 50 level with the small quantities that have been available for testing.

known to produce cephalosporinases, exhibited ability to resist enzymatic degradation. In one test, involving cells of Alcaligenes faecalis and a broth of aerobacter cloacae, these organisms failed to degrade cephamycin A while cephalosporin C and cephaloridine were almost completely destroyed.

In a similar series of experiments, cephamycin C was only partially degraded, if at all, by a series of six different organisms known to produce cephalosporinases. The same conditions resulted in almost complete destruction of cephalosporin C, Dr. Stapley stated.

In tests with mice, he went on, the cephamycins were active in providing protection against a variety of infections produced by both gram-positive and gram-negative bacteria. The performance of cephamycin C against proteus morganii was particularly noteworthy, Dr. Stapley explained, because of that organism's known resistance to cephalosporins. Cephamycin C, he reported, was 34 times more active against Proteus morganii than was cephaloridine and 73 times more active than was cephalorin.

PLANNING RECITAL ... Checking program selections for their joint recital on Homecoming Sunday at 4 p.m. in Trinity United Methodist Church, Rahway, are Jean Ellyn Jewett, mezzo soprano, left, and Judith Ann Brown, organist. Both girls are recent graduates of Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa. Miss Brown is organist-director at the Linden Presbyterian Church and is a pupil of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine's organist, Alec Wyton, Miss Jewett studies with Emile Renan in New York City.

Trinity Church Plans Homecoming Sunday

Homecoming Sunday for many former parishioners, as well as members still in the community, is scheduled at Trinity United Methodist Church, Rahway, for next Sunday. The church is located at E. Milton Avenue and Main Street.

Morning worship at 11 o'clock will offer the opportunity to combine with "homecoming" other themes of the day: Thanksgiving and Universal Bible Sunday. A feature of the hour will be the initial appearance this season of the 20-member Children's Choir. The Rev. Paul N. Jewett, pastor, has announced as his pulpit message "Your Place -- or Mine?"

An organ-voice recital at 4 p.m., a "covered-dish" supper at 5:15 o'clock, and a service of folk worship, planned by the church's young people for 7 o'clock, are major items in the day's agenda.

Musicians for the musical program, at which an offering will be received, are Judith Ann Brown of Union Seminary's Graduate School of Music, who studies with Alec Wyton, organist at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York City, and Jean Ellyn Jewett, mezzo soprano, who studies with Emile Renan.

Former pastors and their families are expected to be guests at the supper hour. The Rev. and Mrs. Frank Dennis and the Rev. and Mrs. Franklin Thurston have indicated they would be able to attend. Also to attend is the Rev. Frederick Jenkins, who once served Trinity as organist-choir director.

Anticipating parish interest in the residence of their pastor, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Jewett have invited all parishioners to open house at the parsonage, 790 Bryant St., Rahway, on Saturday from 3 to 5 p.m., day before the official homecoming.

The church's Council on Ministries originally projected Homecoming 1971 as

To answer his $64 question we put Michael Sheehan on television

Recently, Michael Sheehan called us regarding a $63.80 claim. Not too long ago it would have taken us over a day or two to get the information. But now, by flashing his records on our new television screen, we were able to tell him on the spot that, yes, his claim had been paid.

Our T.V. screen, actually a Cathode Ray Tube (CRT), is linked to a computer containing records of our 3 1/2 million members. By keying a subscriber's ID number onto a keyboard, our clerks get an instant picture of his enrollment and claim status.

What CRT means to you is better and more efficient service. We couldn't give same-day service without it and still keep our operating costs down. It's typical of the advanced systems the New Jersey Blues use to help keep overhead under 6% (about 3 times lower than other health insurers).

So next time you're watching television at home, remember our television ... and all it's doing to stretch your health-care dollar.

Thanksgiving Day Service Planned

A Thanksgiving Day service will be conducted in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, 830 Jefferson Ave., Rahway, next Thursday at 10 a.m.

Hymns of gratitude are a traditional part of the service. One of the hymns to be sung includes the verse: "In mercy, in goodness, how great is our King; Our tribute, thanksgiving, with gladness we bring. Thou art the Renewer, the Ancient of Days, Who givest for mourning, the garment of praise."

Other music for the occasion will include "Praise to the Lord" by Frances Allitsen, which will be sung by the soloist, Mrs. Doris Pfeiffer, accompanied by the organist, Miss Deborah Sulo.

A distinctive aspect of the annual Christian Science

Thanksgiving service is the individual expression of gratitude by members of the congregation. No collections are taken.

"To those leaning on the sustaining infinite, today is big with blessings," one of the citations to be read from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy states.

The service, which will be conducted by Mrs. Thelma Martin, the First Reader, and Mrs. Helen Kvaiaak, the Second Reader, also includes this passage from the Bible: "All things are for your sakes, that the abundant grace might through the thanksgiving of many be redounded to the glory of God."

Local members are inviting friends and neighbors to attend.

New Jersey Bell points out a wonderful gadget for reducing phone bills.

Your index finger.

Use it to dial all out-of-state station calls. And no matter what other state you call (except faraway Alaska and Hawaii), it will always cost less than if you had placed the call through an operator. Especially on weeknights and weekends when the savings are especially big.

For example, During weekend bargain-calling times*, a 3-minute coast-to-coast station call costs $1.40 plus tax—if you use the services of an operator.

But the same call is reduced even more—way down to 70¢ plus tax—if you dial it yourself without the services of an operator.

So, remember to dial your own station calls without an operator. And fight inflation with just one finger.

Williams Says Desire To Obtain Youth Vote Could Change Policy

U. S. Senator Harrison A. Williams (D-NJ) said Saturday that the need for candidates to seek support among 18-21-year-old voters could bring about "fundamental" changes in national policy.

Senator Williams, the only statewide elected Democratic officeholder in New Jersey and a member of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, made the comments in remarks at the annual dinner of the New Jersey Psychological Association in the Holiday Inn, North Brunswick. The address was part of a program discussing "The Impact of the New, Young Voter."

"When young people think of politics, it is likely to be in terms of large issues such as poverty, racism, environmental protection, and the war, rather than on the basis of narrower issues that may appeal to older voters," Senator Williams said.

"In my judgment," he added, "this phenomenon might well be the most exciting potential of the lowered voting age. The necessity for politicians to appeal to young voters on the basis of a comprehensive view of the public interest could result in fundamental changes in our national directions."

Senator Williams pointed out most young people are "far less satisfied with American society" than are their parents.

New Budget Requests Include $80,000 For Truck Ladder for Fire Fighters

An $80,000 truck ladder, four new policemen, bringing the force to 41, a 100 gallon standard pumper diesel, $120,000 of new equipment for the Department of Public Works, $4,000 for a part time prosecutor, and $4,000 for lawyers defending indigents in municipal court were some of the budget requests made by Mayor Thomas A. Kaczmarek Saturday during budget hearings in the council chamber of the municipal building.

High-rise construction is said to necessitate the new fire fighting equipment. A new dump truck costing $13,000 was requested by the Bureau of Roads, which is included in the $120,000 figures for the Department of Public Works. The roads unit will also spend about $160,000 for salaries.

The police department budget for request which includes money for crossing guards and other miscellaneous items, was $545,000. The department of Health, Welfare and Plumbing Inspections submitted a $46,000 budget, which includes $7,000 for a licensed health officer, the first the township has had on a full time basis. That department's budget is up $10,000.

Reopening of Central Ave. Restaurant Is Approved by Council; Row Over Health Officer's Pay Is Resolved

Clark council moved a variety of unrelated items at the Monday night meeting in the municipal building, including a variance to Edward Lubrano to reopen a sit-down restaurant located at 108 Central Avenue.

The variance is required because since the establishment was closed, council passed an ordinance banning restaurants from the area which has seen the start-up of several drive-in restaurants. The measure was passed unanimously.

Council approved paying the health officer who was a month for three months after an amendment desired by Third Ward Councilman Bernard G. Yarusavage was passed setting forth a requirement that the health officer give reports of his inspections and court appearances.

Council President A. Charles Walano said that $1,200 was set aside in this year's budget for paying the health officer.

Councilman Yarusavage was going to move to table the salary payment provision. "I want to know what he is doing, and how much he is being paid for what time," he said. When the amendment stipulated what Mr. Yarusavage wanted, he went along with the measure.

Fourth Ward Councilman Robert Roman said that the health officer would have been introduced to council if business administrator John Wilson had not been in Trenton seeking funds under the Green Acres program to purchase the Oak Ridge Golf Course.

The council voted to reject the idea of the State Department of Transportation that it be given the right to select engineers from a list of the names of three engineers supplied by the township for projects in which state and federal money is spent in the township.

The council maintained that it was the best panel to select engineers since it knew local problems and personalities. Henry Adamski, a senior public works repairman, was granted a months leave of absence with pay because of an injury he sustained on the job. The resolution also provided that if Mr. Adamski received compensation from other sources for his month off the job, that the township would be reimbursed.

The council requested the Public Utilities Commission to modify its recent order about the discontinuance of Transport of New Jersey's No. 40 bus line. The council requested that the line be operated from 7 to 9 a.m. and from 3 to 5 p.m. to aid students attending Mother Seton Regional High School for girls in Clark, employees working near Walnut Avenue in Clark, and senior citizens who have no other mode of transportation. Transfers of monies were approved, most of them within the same department of municipal government, amounting to $19,103.34. The practice was generally condemned by Second Ward Councilman Richard C. Burger and Councilman-at-large John Pisansky, although the nature of the request for new police cars and the transfers within the same department ameliorated the bad procedure, the councilmen explained.

Two manholes were approved for both sides of the Oak Ridge Road bridge over Pumpkin Patch Brook at a cost of $700.

The installation of sanitary sewers on Union County Parkway has necessitated the crossing of the North Branch of the Rahway River with a pipe. A request to do this was made of the Union County Park Commission, since the county road department which has authority over bridges denied the request of the township to string a pipe along the bridge in an outgutting. The Union County Parkway homes in question do not have sanitary sewers.

The traffic engineer of the Union County Planning Board was requested to aid in the investigation of the possibility of installing a traffic light in the vicinity of Schindler Road, Bartlett Place, and/or Richard Street, which is near Abraham Clark School.

The advertising of bids for the repaving of Orchard Terrace, Willow Way, Boynton Avenue, Carolina Street, Lupine Way, Linda Lane, Liberty Street, Joseph Street, Harold Avenue, and Lincoln Boulevard was authorized. It was hoped that work would begin in the spring, with the outside chance that some work might yet be done before December.

Mr. Yarusavage expressed the hope that action on banning all political signs from residential neighborhoods would be acted upon by council now that the election is over. He also said council should amend the ordinance on the department of law to allow the township attorney the right to appoint a substitute in his absence due to sickness or vacation.

Mr. Burger said the Pop Warner football game played last Saturday with Wilton, Conn. team was very successful. He thanked all those that gave of their time and reminded them that all monies are donated to the Crippled Children's Home, Mountainside. Mr. Burger also noted that the Pop Warner boys gave the money to Capt. John Watson, so it could be donated in the name of his slain son, a member of the Clark police who was murdered on July 4.

Mrs. Theresa Ward of 60 Wheatscheaf Road said the rip-rap wall behind her home is falling apart and that the township should fence in the hazard it created just three inches from her property. Mrs. Ward was referring to a four or five foot drop to a drainage ditch which was temporarily fenced. She is seeking a permanent enclosure.

Township engineer Joseph S. Sozio said he would get an easement agreement to allow township workers to go onto Mrs. Ward's property to erect the fence, if she would sign it.

George E. Finger of 129 Acorn Drive complained about flooding in his backyard created in part by the raising of the elevation of adjoining properties. The township engineer said he would meet with him to suggest solutions.

N.J. Uminski of 544 Oak Ridge Road complained about several of his neighbors using residential property for commercial purposes. He also slammed building inspector Joh Doenzelmann for not correcting the situation of which he was informed in writing. Mr. Uminski said, "Mr. Uminski cited violations of various sorts at numbers 522, 523, 541, 555 and 560 on Oak Ridge Road.

Robert Lovejoy, of 257 Laurel Lane, a former president of the Southwest Civic Association, said council by and large does a good job but the enforcement by township officials under the mayor's control is poor.

Solomon Sern of 11 Sandwood Dr. and Arnold Badert8 Meissner Way said that Chapter 14 of the township laws gives the council enough authority to investigate and censure delinquent township employees. Mr. Bader said further that statements by councilmen to the effect that they are only a legislative body and not empowered to administer local laws is simply "passing the buck."

Madison Hill Road Improvement Passed, Police HQs to Be Redone, Youth Center Oked, Industrial Sewerage Costs Set

Three ordinances were approved on second reading at the Monday night meeting in the municipal building.

One would provide $82,300 to complete the second half of the Madison Hill Road improvement. Mrs. Katherine Brewer of that roadway objected to the improvement because she felt she was paid too little for a strip of property condemned to make the street wider.

Another ordinance provides $11,000 for the renovation of police headquarters and conversion of part of the municipal building used by the fire department to a youth center.

The police headquarters will have a bullet-proof glass communications center and a new entrance. Second Ward Councilman Richard C. Burger said he would offer a plan in the 1972 budget to have a separate police department building.

The third ordinance passed on second reading establishes a set of rates and a method of metering industrial sludge. The Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority is expanding its facility to include secondary treatment capabilities and is passing the cost of the improvement onto its nine member communities which are given the option of paying for secondary treatment with tax monies or charging industry.

The council voted to reject the idea of the State Department of Transportation that it be given the right to select engineers from a list of the names of three engineers supplied by the township for projects in which state and federal money is spent in the township.

The council maintained that it was the best panel to select engineers since it knew local problems and personalities. Henry Adamski, a senior public works repairman, was granted a months leave of absence with pay because of an injury he sustained on the job. The resolution also provided that if Mr. Adamski received compensation from other sources for his month off the job, that the township would be reimbursed.

The council requested the Public Utilities Commission to modify its recent order about the discontinuance of Transport of New Jersey's No. 40 bus line. The council requested that the line be operated from 7 to 9 a.m. and from 3 to 5 p.m. to aid students attending Mother Seton Regional High School for girls in Clark, employees working near Walnut Avenue in Clark, and senior citizens who have no other mode of

Unit to Monitor Level of Prices Is Organized

A committee to monitor price increases was established by Council President A. Charles Walano at the Monday night meeting of the township council in the municipal building.

He said that while prices keep climbing that wages are stationary. Mr. Walano said the purpose of the committee would be to report cases of illegal price hikes to federal officials in Washington and representatives from the Newark office of the Internal Revenue Service.

Mr. Walano said that since Aug. 15, the date of the President's imposition of a freeze on prices and wages, that violations of the price impost have been widespread. He hoped the township would be a method of making the President's wage and price freeze effective and to prohibit businesses from gouging consumers.

Mr. Walano announced that Thomas Winters, a former council president, would chair the committee and he would be assisted by co-chairman John Cutt, township library trustee.
