Report: Jail population down sharply

By Cheryl Hehl
Staff Writer

If the Union County Freeholder Board was looking for a reason not to outsource operations at the jail, they may have found one last week.

The board heard an up to date accounting of how the jail is doing from Marie VanNostrand, a project manager with Luminosity, the consulting firm hired by the county for $158,000. According to her report, the company managed to find ways to reduce inmate population by 19 percent, which was lauded by the board at their meeting last week.

Although last week LocalSource went into how Jail Director Brian Riordan hit the ground running applying his "back to basics" approach to turning jail breaks and lack of oversight around, VanNostrand was the facilitator of reducing inmate population.

The project manager reflected back to 2010, showing there were over 1,000 inmates in the jail on any given day. In 2011, despite continued efforts, this average daily number still remained over 1,000. But after an assessment was done by Luminosity staff, it became apparent, VanNostrand said, that the judicial system was playing a role in keeping the average daily inmate level high.

"Based on how long inmates stay, the greatest opportunity to improve overcrowding is through the judicial system," the consultant pointed out.

Specifically, she added, if the average length of stay for an inmate was reduced to 46 days from 55, VanNostrand projected that the average daily population would go down to 853 inmates.

Getting there, though, would take work by everyone associated with the judicial system, not an easy task, but one VanNostrand said was achievable. So Luminosity moved forward, followed by willing county participants who were looking for a way to solve the overcrowding problem.

VanNostrand told the board they began by building an infrastructure for improvements, using a computer software system that was available for the court system.

"This allowed anyone, anytime to very easily access [the system] to see how many inmates were in the jail, what they were there for and how long they had been there," she said.

Assemblyman's emails raise questions about workplace policies on personal correspondence

By Cheryl Hehl

In the leadup to the impending Democratic primary, Union County voters will have a new element to consider when heading to the polls: Assemblyman Joe Cryan's personal life.

But while the content of the nearly 10-year-old emails, sent to a woman later convicted of stalking him, revealed in a New York Post expose earlier in the week may be shocking to most, the date and time stamps might be of greater concern to county taxpayers.

Especially because it appears Cryan, 51, wrote the sexually explicit emails while working for his full-time job at the Office of the Union County Sheriff, where he is paid $110,000 a year as undersheriff, and as a 20th District Assemblyman, an elected position for which he is paid $49,000 annually, both of which are supported by taxpayer dollars. In fact, at times the emails even mix business with pleasure.

The emails, sent by the Democratic Assemblyman from District 20, and a former state Democratic chairman, puts the Union resident in a compromising position, in more ways than one. Cryan has spent the last

Dozens of layoffs likely as budget struggles continue

By Cheryl Hehl
Staff Writer

LINDEN — It looks like the city may have to face the second half of the year without 22 police officers and 32 firemen in order to forestall a financial disaster in 2013.

Linden is expected to file a layoff and demotion notice with the state next week, said Mayor Rich Gerbounka. The public safety layoffs would slash the police department by 19 percent and fire department by 29 percent.

Unless, of course, the police and fire unions agree to make concessions on the close to 3.95 percent raise they were supposed to get this year. But even then it will not be enough to make up the $5.2 million the city has to slash in order to get below the 2 percent state-mandated cap.

As of late Monday, city officials who did not want their names used, said the FMBA 234 union had come to the negotiating table to try and mitigate the proposed layoffs.

There also were indications that firefighters were considering paying a percentage of their health benefits cost to avoid the layoffs. Until now this financial burden was being carried by the city. However, sources said nothing was written in stone and it was unknown if the police union was willing to do the same.

The mayor said last week that medical benefits for employees with families cost the city $27,441 annually, per family.

The city council introduced ordinances last week restructuring the police and fire departments. The restructuring allows for demotions to fill in positions that are left open as a result of layoffs.

In Linden, severe budget woes are putting a strain on municipal finances as council members move to lay off as many as 22 police officers and 32 firemen, many of whom turned out to a recent meeting to voice their strong opposition to the move.

The entire city employee base will feel the effect of the financial crunch, even if police and fire unions agree not to take the raise they were expecting because that would only slash $1 million from the $5.2 million needed to bring the budget under the cap.

The cap, which is a safeguard measure that prevents municipalities from raising taxes too high, was instituted by Gov. Chris Christie three years ago.

According to Personnel and Finance

Chairman Peter Brown, every city employee will have to take a furlough day once a week starting July 1 through the end of the year.

At last week's meeting, council members were stony in the face of the financial storm the city is facing, with Brown taking the lead in explaining how things came to this point.

"Since 2005, the budget has utilized the significant reserves it has accumulated in order to offset major tax increases in prior year's budgets, yet continued all the services we have had. However, this year the revenues have drastically decreased," he said, reading from a prepared statement. Still, he did feel this emergency could have been avoided.

The 3rd Ward councilman explained in an interview late last week that the city negotiated generous contracts when the city was dipping into its reserves and draining the fund year after year to offset the impact on taxpayers. But, he also admitted that a series of things all came together at once, a perfect storm of financial events that culminated this year.

Brown explained that the steady decline in revenue, coupled with a declining tax base, added to the financial firestorm. The dilemma, the councilman said, can be traced back to 2007 when the city had $40 million in surplus or savings and began to make some unwise financial decisions. After dipping into surplus the last six years, there was nothing left to fall back on this year.

"We had no business using surplus every

4-year-old fine after nearly a week of living with deceased mom

By Patrick Bober
Regional Editor

A 4-year-old boy survived for days on his own in an apartment in Union after his mother died of natural causes.

According to Daniel Zieser, the Police Director for Union, managers for the Mill Run apartment building were called to the apartment on Tuesday morning due to complaints of a foul smell emanating from one of the residences.

Using a master key, the director said, the managers were able to open the door, but a chain obstructed them from entering. However, a young child could be seen and heard in the apartment.

At around 11:25 a.m. on Tuesday morning, the Union Police Department says they received a call from Mill Run Maintenance regarding the foul odor coming at 1880D Manor Drive.

"There was a rather thin child walking around and so they called us," said Zieser on Tuesday, declining to comment further pending notification of next of kin.

Officers arrived at the apartment to find the door ajar but locked with the chain lock and noticed the foul odor emanated from the apartment and the young, 4-year-old boy.

Police officers forced open the door and tended to a 4-year-old male child who appeared very malnourished, but alert.

According to reports, the child remarked that there was food in the refrigerator, "but I just can't open it."

EMS personnel responded and transported the child to Overlook Hospital for treatment, police said. The child was treated for malnutrition and dehydration, and is expected to make a full recovery.

Upon further investigation, police located the deceased mother in the bedroom of the apartment in a state of decomposition.

"They found the mother dead in the bedroom," Zieser said.

The time and cause of death is pending autopsy by the Union County Medical examiner's office, but early estimates have put it at nearly a week and foul play is not being considered.

New administrator, police dept. promotion on Cranford agenda

By Cheryl Hehl
Staff Writer

CRANFORD — After an outside search for a new administrator, the township was expected to announce Tuesday that interim administrator Joseph Hartnett will take the position permanently. But the governing body was also expected to make another appointment, one that may have surprised everyone.

In addition to bringing Hartnett aboard, Mayor Tom Hannen, Jr. was expected to announce that they were also advancing Police Lt. James Wozniak to the rank of captain.

This move comes as a surprise, even though there have been rumors about the advancement, because normally the police chief makes advancements. In fact, it is highly unusual for a governing body to get involved in advancements of police department personnel.

According to sources, though, the captain position remained vacant ever since police Capt. John Baer retired early in 2012. Since then Police Chief Eric Mason made no move to replace the position in the ensuing months.

The appointment of Hartnett comes after more than a year of speculation over who would actually be the new administrator. Hartnett, who in the past served 30 years as Rahway's administrator, took over the interim administrator position several months ago.

Mason served in the dual position of interim administrator and police chief from the end of September 2011 until January 1, 2012 after former administrator Marlena Schmid was abruptly put on forced administrative leave Sept. 12, 2011 just a few weeks after Tropical Storm Irene hit the township. Schmid was later let go at the end of the year.

Mason was fully expected to retire as police chief and assume the administrator role but later changed his mind. While the police chief has not returned calls since the end of last year, according to officials Mason was unhappy he could not get confirmation from the state that he would be allowed to "double dip," or receive his police pension and immediately assume the administrator position in the same municipality.

Adding fuel to the fire was that the township had undergone an intensive internal search for a new police chief, selecting Wozniak, a 23-year veteran of the force, as their choice for the position.

After Mason went back to being police chief, he advanced two officers without the approval of the governing body.

Clark moves forward with Gypsum rezoning

By Cheryl Hehl
Staff Writer

CLARK — Last week the township moved a step closer to ensuring the former 28-acre U.S. Gypsum plant on Raritan Road stays within the vision they have of a new town center.

There were at least 100 residents in the audience the night of the final hearing that ultimately saw the Planning Board unanimously approve changing the zoning for the Raritan Road prime parcel of land.

The Gypsum property, previously an industrial zone, is now "limited commercial industrial," eliminating yet another industrial zone from the township. The former General Motors Hyatt Roller Bearing plant across the street, which now boasts a golf course, was also rezoned in the 1990s to pave the way for new development.

The rezoning is the result of a consultant's vision of a commercial center with retail and office space in a park like setting, with tree lined streets and a central architectural focus, such as a fountain, plaza, clock tower or landscaped boulevard.

The village, the consultant noted, would be a focal point that is pedestrian friendly, provide parking, shopping and a central location for residents to visit.

"We're trying to make it more of a village theme, so there are streets and passageways for vehicles, rather than large, wide roadways that would encourage speeding," explained Shamrock Enterprises planner and consultant Kevin O'Brian at a hearing held on the issue in February.

The township is expected to introduce a rezoning ordinance for the 28-acre property April 1, with a final reading and public hearing scheduled by the end of that month, Township Administrator John Laezza said late last week in an interview.

The change could potentially net the township $1 million in tax ratables, Mayor Sal Bonaccorso noted prior to the Planning Board decision.

This was the last in a series of meetings that took place on the zoning change, the first being held in February, the last March 19, when the public was allowed to ask questions on the issue.

Residents did express concerns about the impact the development of the property would have on Raritan Road, usually heavily congested leading up to the Central Avenue traffic signal during rush hour.

Township Engineer Richard O'Connor addressed this, explaining a consultant had been hired to ensure this was adequately addressed when a developer brought a proposal before the Planning Board. But O'Brian noted that an actual traffic impact study would not be done until a proposal is on the table.

The rezoning is the result of a consultant's vision of a commercial center with retail and office space in a park like setting, with tree lined streets and a central architectural focus, such as a fountain, plaza, clock tower or landscaped boulevard.

"You don't even get to that point until you rezone it," O'Brian said at a March 15 meeting.

Other resident concerns included the possible size of stores included in any development project, which, officials said, would only encompass 25 percent of the 28-acre parcel of land.

O'Brian explained at the March 15 meeting that most uses allowed in the current commercial industrial zone would be permissible, but the plan calls for limiting the size of stores, especially "big box" stores.

The planner, for instance, noted that while most big box stores are usually 100,000 square-feet and up, the draft ordinance approving the rezoning ensured the limit is no larger than 80,000 square-feet.

Planning Board attorney Michael Cressitello pointed out March 15 that this was premature because specific plans and store size would be proposed by the developer and brought to the Planning board for approval. Exactly who the developer is, though, has thus far been kept under wraps.

The issue of rezoning, however, did not come without controversy. Resident Bill Caruso, former councilman and president of Clark Senior Housing, vigorously opposed redevelopment of the site from the beginning.

At one of the hearings, the resident was very outspoken about the town center vision, even going as far as saying he did not believe high-end stores would come to Clark and the mayor's vision was merely "a dream." He also said he felt the zoning change was a "done deal."

Bonaccorso, on the other hand, did not shy away from Caruso's allegations, addressing the resident's concerns head on and quite bluntly.

The mayor argued that Caruso was against rezoning because he was involved in a business deal to bring a "solar field" to the site. That venture, however, was doomed from the start.

Bonaccorso said because Caruso presented himself as a representative of U.S. Gypsum to a particular solar company without the paper company's approval, the township was threatened with a lawsuit.

The mayor also did not like that Caruso said the rezoning was a "done deal."

Bonaccorso said if any resident had proof that he or any other township official is "in the pocket" of a developer, "I will personally drive you to the Union County Prosecutor's Office."

"Just because you don't agree with something, doesn't mean those people are criminals or bad people," he added.

But regardless, according to officials, it could be two or three years before the site is developed completely.

At the meeting last week township officials explained the path to development is actually a three or four step process.

The first is rezoning, or laying out the vision. That would include drafting and approving an ordinance defining the zone, including specifics such as store size, type of stores and the developments overall look, landscaping and building style that would be allowed.

Clark, according to state law, is completely within its legal right to rezone a property so it conforms with how they want a community to continue to develop. Although the usual option is for the developer or property owner to seek rezoning of a site, a municipality can alter their master plan to speed the process. But just in case there were any problems, the mayor sought out township attorney Joseph Triarsi for a legal opinion prior to moving forward.

"Our attorney agreed a master plan update was needed especially because this was a major redevelopment project we really needed to know how the community felt," the mayor said.

In 2004 the township rezoned a section of Westfield Avenue as a Downtown Village Improvement District, but there has not been any new development in this area since that time, according to a planning report by O'Brian. He suggested a new limited commercial industrial district for the U.S. Gypsum property.

Exactly what type of retail establishments would work in this type of center is still to be determined, but Bonaccorso said he absolutely did not want big box stores involved.

Last week, Clark moved forward toward ensuring the former 28-acre U.S. Gypsum plant on Raritan Road stays within the vision they have of a new town center, including a commercial center with retail and office space in a park like setting, with tree lined streets.

Luminosity shows county 'remarkable' results

Part of the problem that was immediately evident was the courts, public defenders, prosecutors and others could not easily access information valuable to all stakeholders.

"Then the courts, public defenders office, probation, jail and law enforcement got together to see how we could make the system more efficient," VanNostrand said.

One of the first things the project manager did was recommend several initiatives, such as using a "recall" judge, or one who was retired, to handle all the backed up criminal cases that have longstanding inmates in the jail.

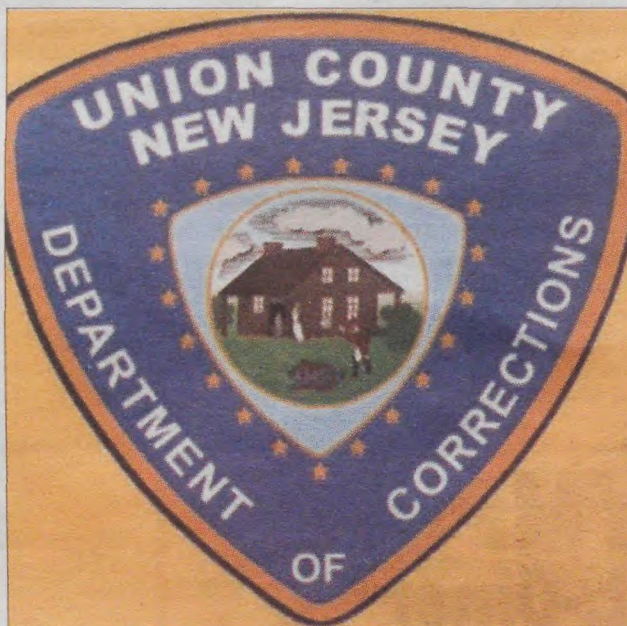

VanNostrand also suggested that a modified trial schedule be put in place so things operated more efficiently and had less downtime. VanNostrand said "downtime" caused considerable backup of trials.

"This was prioritized for inmates in custody," she said, using a committee set up specifically to manage longterm inmates who had been in jail for more than a year.

Increasing attorney-client access also showed success because public defenders and attorneys were able to log onto a computer and see who came into the jail overnight instead of there being a time lapse. In some cases, these time lapses, VanNostrand explained, left inmates lingering for weeks in the jail without seeing an attorney or public defender because they simply did not know or they were not notified that they were there.

Status conferences also aided in speeding up an inmates stay because all stakeholders could access the program and immediately see what inmates had been in the jail for more than 60 days. They also could find out any detail they needed, such as who was on a $5,000 or less bail bond.

This information was critical since many inmates, the project manager said, were incarcerated much longer than need be prior to arraignment.

"By using the software, we could generate a list of inmates and find out why the case wasn't moving," she told the board.

"The prosecutors office was terrific in meeting with police departments to explain when it is appropriate to issue summons for certain types of offenses, opposed to a warrant," VanNostrand said, adding this all went back to things they did in prior years, things they lost track of like monitoring how many continuances, or delays of trials, there were on the books.

More importantly, with the computer program monitoring system, stakeholders were able to identify inmates whose process through the judicial system was held up due to Immigration and Naturalization Service, or INS, problems.

"All of this I have explained is a system coming together, knowing who is in the jail and coming together to track it all," the project manager said, pointing out that this "really empowered the stakeholders to take action and they did."

VanNostrand explained that within months the inmate daily population began to drop. For example, while in 2011 there were 1,117 daily average of inmates, in 2012 that number went down to 898 and this year it dropped to 827.

"The reason for that is simply length of stay," she said, adding that "this has exceeded what I thought could be done."

The drop in average daily population also had an effect on the jail budget, which saw $100,000 less needed in food last year and a $400,000 saving in medical care for inmates.

Freeholder Chris Hudak commented on the achievement, noting that it was "amazing."

Freeholder Dan Sullivan was also proud of what had been accomplished at the jail that a few short years ago was an embarrassment.

"I find it remarkable that getting everyone on the same page when there are so many pieces to the puzzle, almost letting the right hand know what the left is doing," he told VanNostrand.

Riordan pointed out that this was not an easy accomplishment, considering the odds against them.

"We achieved this reduction in jail population while we were coping with the highest judicial vacancy in the state," said the jail director, adding "we were able to grease the wheels of the judicial system."

VanNostrand agreed that indeed headway had been made but said "judicial time is still a big barrier."

Assemblyman's private emails become very public several years rebuilding his political reputation in Trenton after a fallout in 2006 from the sexual relationship he denied ever took place.

The release of the tawdry emails also could throw a political wrench into the primary race because Cryan's assembly seat is up for grabs.

The majority of the more than 150 lascivious emails sent to and received from Karen Golding, a lobbyist who claimed she had an affair with the assemblyman beginning in 2004 when both were unmarried, were written from a private AOL email account. The time and date stamp, however, on a majority of the often short, but sexually explicit emails, took place during the hours Cryan would have been at one of his two government jobs.

And while it is impossible to tell from the emails released what type of device was used, the issue does beg the question of whether the use of government computers was involved. The use of government computers would be a clear violation of Union County's employee handbook.

According to the county computer use policy, "security and confidentiality of information must not be compromised."

The policy also stressed that all computers are "for government purposes only," and 'I believe people's private lives, especially two single people, are private.'

— Charlotte DeFilippo

"all non-government or non-job related use of the internet, email, data storage or network system is strictly prohibited."

Prohibited uses also were mentioned in the policy, which lists, for example, "using obscene, defamatory, threatening, harassing or offensive language on the systems," or "downloading, viewing, printing or distributing obscene, pornographic or adult material."

The County Electronic Mail Management Policy also explained the legal requirements, establishing firm uniform procedures for the management of email.

Although Union County Public Information Director Sebastian D'Elia was reached for comment, as of Monday officials were not talking.

"The county has no comment on the allegations, and will await any further information," a statement from the county said.

Cryan's superior at the sheriff's department, though, was more than willing to speak about his employee Monday, just hours after the 150 emails were released by the New York Post.

"He is one heck of an undersheriff," Union County Sheriff Ralph Froehlich said in a telephone interview.

"When it comes to budgeting, hiring, personnel, I couldn't ask for more," the sheriff added, noting that Cryan also was "loyal."

Union County Democratic Chairman Charlotte DeFilippo, when reached Tuesday morning, was very willing to comment on the issue.

"I believe people's private lives, especially two single people, are private," she said, adding that "Joe Cryan is an able legislator who has done many innovative things for the hard working people of this state."

But the emails themselves showing up in print was distressing to the powerful Democratic leader.

"I'm appalled at the level this sank to. Its unfortunate that this kind of tabloid sleazy journalism gets print," DeFilippo said.

Tim Donohue, Cryan's attorney, issued a statement late Monday about the release of the emails, down playing the importance.

"These emails are eight to ten years old. They would have all been written between two consenting adults who were single at the time," he said, adding that "nearly all the emails were written on private accounts."

"The fact of the matter is that Golding admitted under oath to relentlessly stalking an innocent woman and making her fear for her safety," Donohue said, referring the woman Cryan was dating at the time and to whom he is now married.

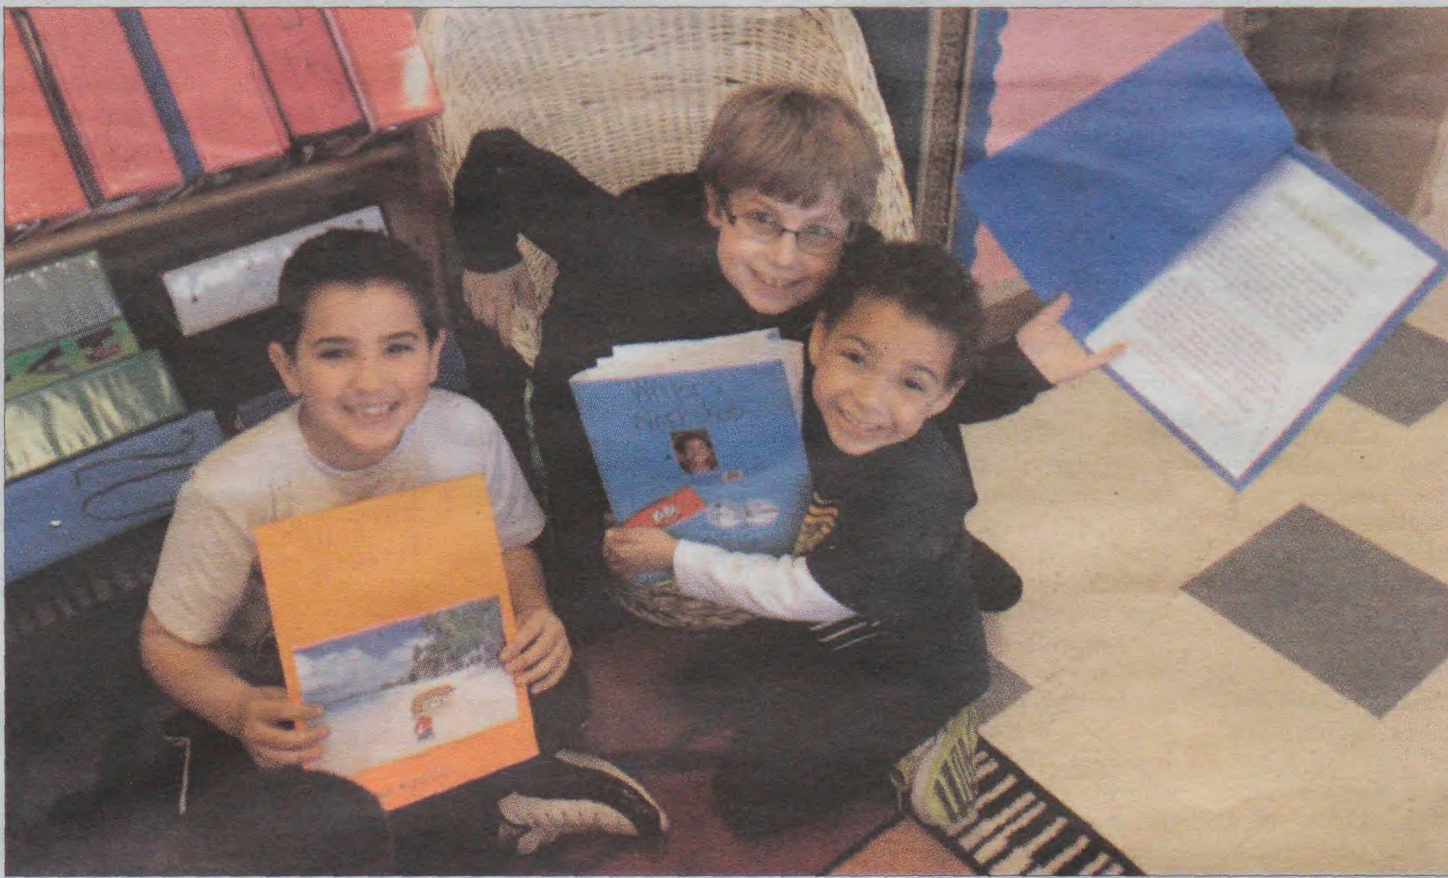

Meanwhile, after the emails hit the street, Sussex County First Assistant Prosecutor Gregory Mueller said Monday he planed to further investigate the release of the emails, which were under seal in court offices.

But the release of the emails has at least raised a few eyebrows regarding the original criminal case from 2006.

As of deadline Tuesday, a New York Post follow up story reported New Jersey Attorney General Jeff Chiesa ordered a review of the Cryan-Golding case. The case originally drew attention when Cryan had more than a dozen investigators sent to arrest Golding after she let herself into his unlocked car and left a note behind.

In 2006, prosecutors were cleared of any wrongdoing following an investigation by the attorney general, but according to the New York Post article, affidavits show Cryan denied any relationship ever took place, and Golding ultimately pled guilty.

The emails would seem to suggest otherwise, and that the two were at the very least lovelorn pen pals engaging in a private and very personal exchange.

Rough drafts

Gabe Rizzuto and Ben Dunford, students in Christine Cemelli's fourth grade class at Valley Road School in Clark, met with kindergartners to share their final drafts during Writer's Workshop earlier this month, along with the rest of their class. The students have been working hard to become authors of their own suspenseful realistic fiction story. After careful editing and revisions, the students typed their stories, created a cover, and published their final piece. Once the fourth graders were complete, they invited their kindergarten buddies in from Ms. Zampella's class to share their stories. The fourth graders met with a kindergartner, read their story to them, and discussed what it was about.

Happy Easter

EDITORIAL

Sunday is Easter, which is celebrated by Christians to mark the resurrection of Jesus, an event which is the foundation of Christian faith. The day is observed in church services and, for children, Easter egg hunts, baskets of candy from the Easter Bunny and Easter-egg rolling, on lawns from local libraries to the White House.

Easter is preceded by the Christian observance of Lent, a 40-day period of penance that begins with Ash Wednesday. This observance derives its name from the tradition of placing ashes on the foreheads of parishioners as a reminder of human mortality, and as a sign of mourning and repentance to God. Christians view Lent as a time of prayer, penance, repentance, alms-giving and self-denial. For Orthodox Christians, Lent began March 18 and Easter is observed in May.

The final week of Lent is known as Holy Week, and is comprised of Palm Sunday, Maundy Thursday, Good Friday and Holy Saturday. The days center around key events in Christian Scripture.

Palm Sunday recalls Jesus riding a donkey into Jerusalem. Cloaks and small branches of palm trees were laid before him. He was the supposed King of Israel, a designation which angered local officials.

Maundy Thursday, also known as Holy Thursday, commemorates the Last Supper of Jesus Christ and the Apostles. This was their celebration of Passover. Maundy, from the Latin "mandatum," or "Washing of the Feet," is a religious rite, an act Jesus performed on his Apostles to demonstrate humility and how much he loved them. The Last Supper provides the Scriptural basis for the Eucharist, which is practiced at every Christian Mass. Jesus also predicts his betrayal by Judas Iscariot and that Peter would deny knowing him before the rooster crows three times; both predictions came true.

After Jesus was betrayed in the Garden of Gethsemane, the Sanhedrin, or council, sentenced him to death. Pontius Pilate, the local prefect under Emperor Tiberius, was at first unwilling to carry out the sentence. He asked a crowd below his balcony to decide if Jesus or a murderer, Barabbas, should be put to death. The crowd shouted to spare Barabbas. Pilate then authorized the execution of Jesus, who was made to carry his own cross to the place of the Skull, or "Golgotha," where he was crucified along with two thieves. When Jesus died six hours later, the Bible says that darkness fell across the land, there was an earthquake, tombs broke open and the curtain of the temple was torn from top to bottom, leading a Roman centurion guard to state, "Truly this was God's son!"

After his side was pierced by a spear to confirm that he was dead, Jesus was buried in the tomb of Joseph of Arimathea, a secret follower of his. A large stone was rolled in front of the tomb to seal it. Holy Saturday celebrates these rites.

On the third day, when Mary Magdalene visited the tomb, the Bible says it was found to be empty, yet Jesus visited the Apostles in the coming days. After 40 days, on Ascension Thursday, Jesus was taken into Heaven, to be seated at the right hand of God.

When it was first celebrated, this central belief of Christianity was not well-received. Many of its traditions were actually borrowed from other cultures and holidays. The name "Easter" is derived from Eostre, an Old English word for an Anglo-Saxon goddess of the dawn. Christians celebrating Easter were less likely to be persecuted for their beliefs if what they were celebrating was not readily apparent. The same is true for Easter eggs, which represent the empty tomb of Jesus, as they bear a similarity to the stone rolled in front of it; in actuality, Easter eggs were originally a symbol of fertility. The original significance of Easter parades was for people to come together in communal spirit. As for the Easter Bunny, this stems from the belief that rabbits could reproduce without losing their virginity, a parallel to the Virgin Mary, the mother of Jesus. And, in the same manner as eggs, rabbits or hares are also symbols of fertility, very appropriate for the end of winter and the beginning of spring.

When Jesus was crucified and subsequently rose from the dead, this miracle became the central tenet of Christian faith and theology. According to the Nicene Creed, "On the third day he rose again in accordance with the Scriptures." Worldwide, an estimated 2.1 billion people are Christians. The faith is the largest religion in the world, with approximately 38,000 Christian denominations. The largest denomination is the Roman Catholic Church, with 1.17 billion adherents, representing roughly half of all Christians. This is a far cry from the dozen men who followed Jesus from town to town as he preached charity, generosity and humility to all who would listen. Perhaps it is this simple message that has allowed Christianity to survive and flourish for 2,000 years. And in these trying times, perhaps that message of hope and kindness is what Easter is all about.

We wish everyone a happy Easter.

Sheriff's Office Pistol Range open to public on Sundays

Union County Sheriff Ralph Froehlich announced this week the Union County Sheriff's Office Pistol Range is now open to the public on Sundays.

An orientation/safety course is required for members of the public who would like to use the firearms facility.

The course is designed to inform civilian shooters of the policies and standard operation procedures at the Union County Sheriff's Office Pistol Range in order to provide the safest environment for recreational shooting. It is not a firearms training course and guns are prohibited.

A valid firearms identification card and a valid form of photo identification are required in order to attend the orientation/safety course which is mandatory for anyone wishing to use the range. Other safety courses or the NJ Division of Fish and Wildlife Hunter Safety Course do not qualify as substitutes for the range course.

Upon completion of the course, participants will receive a Union County Sheriff's Office Pistol Range Safety Card which must be presented during each visit to the range.

The fee for the course and safety identification card is $20 for Union County residents. The fee is $10 for Union County senior citizens and youths between 12- and 17-years-old. For non-county residents the fee is $30 and $15 for out-of-county seniors and youths. These fees do not include range time which is $10 per hour. All minors must be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

The Union Sheriff's Office Pistol Range, located at 301 Shunpike Road in Springfield, will be open for public use on Sundays from noon to 5 p.m. from March through December.

Shooters must present their Sheriff's Office Pistol Range Safety Card and must also provide their own targets and ammunition. Target frames will be provided free of charge. Handguns are not to be greater than .45 in caliber. Magnum ammunition is not allowed. Only rifles of .22 caliber may be used. To make an appointment for the orientation/safety course contact the Union County Sheriff's Office Pistol Range at 908-273-1129. For more information visit ucnj.org/government/sheriff/Pistol-Range.

and that it was a battle worth fighting.

Mancino wrote: "The economy has hit us all, so why does Merck get the break? If Merck's assessed value had dropped due to the economy then it would stand to reason that my property value has also dropped. So why am I paying more and Merck paying less?"

Merck can be described as the 1,000-pound elephant in the room. Take the negative impact they had on the local economy when they pulled up stakes in Readington Township and moved to Summit.

Mancino's concern is with tomorrow's Merck. While stopping short of predicting, he does speculate about the possibility that they may sell the campus site sitting off exit 138 of the Parkway.

Most would agree that tax appeals in a down economy are the bane of the existence of municipal officials. Look at communities like Linden which could place their age old tax battle with industrial properties on cable TV fight night.

Fiamingo is candid in saying, "preparing for a trial would have undoubtedly cost hundreds of thousands of dollars for legal and expert fees. Merck would have brought in nationally recognized appraisal experts who would likely have valued the property at 25 to 50 percent of the current assessed value."

Most telling is another statement by the Mayor, "We have had preliminary discussions with Merck about the redevelopment of the facility and look forward to opening a new chapter for the site."

Mancino speculates that had the borough taken the fight to the State Board of Taxation there would have still been room for negotiation, or as he says "we possibly might have gotten a win." No shrinking violet, Merck's litigation strategy has been on view for the past few years in Atlantic County where the nasty battle over the dangers of their product Fosamax resulted in a mistrial earlier this month.

When asked about his activism, in a vintage third party reference, he said, "Livio's around, being proactive on issues facing Kenilworth." Kind of reminiscent of a lion stalking the dangers in the jungle before Spring.

A ROUTINE MATTER

Medical experts recommend that adults and children undergo routine screening for changes in the appearance of their skin. Regular visits to the dermatologist are important in light of the fact that one in five Americans will develop some form of skin cancer in his or her lifetime. If there is any good news to report, it is that although skin cancer may be one of the most common types of cancer, it is also one of the preventable. Obviously, however, (pre)cancerous lesions must be found and properly diagnosed before they can be treated. The longer a person waits, the more difficult it will be to treat any skin cancer.

An Open Letter to the Powers that be in Union Township:

My name is Bernadette M. Theime and I have lived on the 1500 block of Ridgeway Street for 58 years. Union High School is my alma mater, having graduated in 1971. As a child, adolescent and now a grown woman I have the fondest memories of my hometown. It went from a quaint, colonial small town where the folks actually mattered to an enclave with indifferent public officials, many who are quite hostile to the citizenry who they pay the taxes.

I want my fellow residents as well as the political power structure in town to know how such apathy on their part has negatively affected my property values, my safety and sense of well being. It seems it is open season on women everywhere and I am no exception. I was assaulted here in Union, twice, yet local law enforcement offered me no legal remedy. The assailant got away with it.

All of us are asked by law enforcement to be wary of odd goings-on when we see such things, particularly if it concerns drugs. I witnessed a 30 something female being taken out in a body bag and the record showed the death was from a drug-induced heart attack. Such an incident doesn't conjure up a picture of safety and tranquility. Many folks have seen stories about "Meth Labs" operating in an otherwise ordinary neighborhood. At times they can explode; they are always dangerous. One day, 10 Union Police cars showed up on my block. It turns out someone had to be INVOLUNTARILY COMMITTED for a 72-hour period. But there is no follow-up, so I have to conclude that the unseen hand of politics doesn't care.

I have been the subject of a large number of trivial complaints. One such complaint is that I was ORDERED by a local judge to remove a spotlight because someone felt the light beams were disturbing. Imagine that, a US citizen cannot do what she has to do to protect her property.

Lastly, a number of anonymous townspeople have sent me letters privately expressing what I am writing about here. How sad that American citizens have to fear their own government.

year to reduce the budget. Two years ago I warned the council that we were going to find ourselves in a deep hole financially and here we are," the 3rd Ward councilman said, adding that he was trying to be as "open and honest as I can be."

"We're in a situation here where we have to introduce a budget. If we don't get a budget introduced where are we going to get the revenue to ensure everyone who keeps the city running is paid?" Brown said, adding that "this is a serious situation."

One of the first impacts on services residents will feel will begin April 1 when trash pickups, not garbage removal, stops. Regular garbage service will continue as normal but "trash" that residents put to the curb that the city has disposed of at no cost to residents will no longer be picked up.

Also, one firehouse will have to be closed because of the layoffs, the mayor said.

At the council meeting last week, several members of the council brought up the financial dilemma during the comments portion of the meeting while others did not. 4th Ward Councilman Derek Armstead quietly explained his stance on the issue, but was blunt about how the police and fire unions could help.

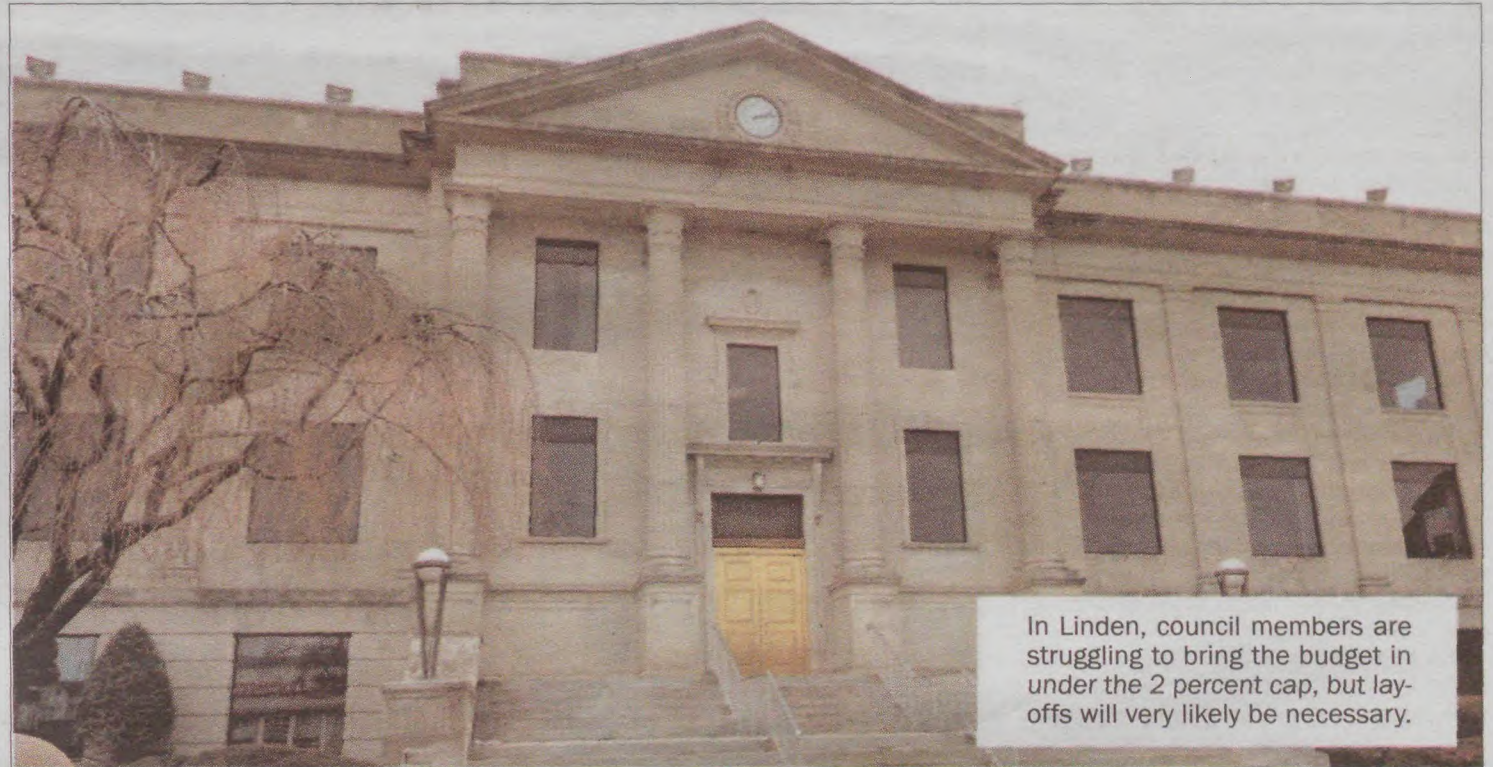

"We just don't have the money. We're looking for some concessions, some givebacks," he said, referring directly to the raises these union members were supposed to get, according to their five-year contract.

According to Brown, the police and fire union contracts were negotiated prior to the 2 percent state-mandated cap was put in place and these unions did not receive a raise the first two years of the contract. This year, however, is the third year of the contract, which provides the 3.95 percent increase.

Union leaders expressed anger and frustration over the fact they negotiated these contracts in good faith and now are expected to give up what they are entitled to receive. Armstead, though, felt placing blame would not solve the situation.

"We can do two things here: butt heads or go in a back room and make it work," he said at the public meeting.

Councilman Adam Kuczynski, representing the 10th Ward, said he believed the

In Linden, council members are struggling to bring the budget in under the 2 percent cap, but layoffs will very likely be necessary.

council would find a way through the problem, but noted that it would take the cooperation of everyone. Union representatives and others attending the meeting felt this was unfair.

Retired firefighter George Kostry stepped to the microphone to question not only the speed at which the council was initiating public safety layoffs, but also the effect that would have on the city.

"Seems like you are rushing to get this done," he said, adding that losing this many members of the police and fire was "not safe for residents."

"Just a few months ago you put on new police and firefighters. They left jobs to come here. If you go down to these numbers, what district will be without protection?" he asked.

"I was with the fire department and know what's out there. Things turn bad fast out there," Kostry warned.

Bill Hosko, a fireman with the city for 18 years and FMBA local 234 president, had plenty to say to council members about the layoffs and request for "givebacks" of raises.

"This has been thrown together at the last minute. You can't keep winging numbers and coming back to us and threatening to take our raises and jobs away," the union president said, adding "if that's the case then there is mismanagement of money."

Hosko said when the city and FMBA 234 were negotiating the present contract several years ago, it was a different story.

"We helped you," he said, explaining the fire union took two years without any raises. Hosko also blamed Roth for pushing a contract where they waited two years for a raise.

"Did he dangle a carrot? Was I duped?" he asked councilmembers, pointing out the city was supposed to "negotiate in good faith."

"We would have went to arbitration but Roth said if you do that things might get difficult for you," Hosko said, adding the council should "say what you mean and mean what you say."

The union president also told council that the fire department is costing the city the same as it did seven years ago: $10.8 million.

"You can't keep threatening us and demoting us. I put my life on the line every day when I go to work," the firefighter added.

Another firefighter spoke, saying it was just three years ago that the city was in the same position financially.

"You as a council have a trust issue going on here," he said.

Resident Paul Shapp lashed out at Labor Counsel Alan Roth, saying the attorney negotiated the last contract and "knew it would come back to haunt us."

Watchung Stable offering horseback riding as of April 6

Spring is here again and Union County invites residents to get back into nature by visiting the Watchung Stable in Mountainside and taking a guided trail ride through the wooded Watchung Reservation — Union County's largest park.

"Horseback riding is a real treat," said Union County Freeholder Chairman Linda Carter. "Taking a guided trail ride through the Watchung Reservation with the woods in bloom is an affordable way to spend some quality time in the country and still be close to home."

This season's expanded schedule of trail rides will begin on Saturday, April 6. Everyone nine years of age or older, with or without riding experience, can participate in one of four public rides held each weekend, on Saturdays at 1:30 and 2:30 p.m. and on Sundays at 2 and 3 p.m., weather permitting.

Each public trail ride follows bridle trails through part of the 2,000-acre Watchung Reservation in Mountainside. Public trail rides are on a first-come, first-served basis, and people are encouraged to arrive early.

Private guided trail rides are also offered for individuals and groups of up to 15 people.

A call to Watchung Stable to set up a mutually convenient time on a weekday or weekend is all it takes to get you, your family or your group out into the forested Watchung Reservation on horseback.

The cost to take a trail ride is $32 per person for Union County residents and $45 for out-of-county riders. An additional $32 instructor fee, one per 10 people, is added to the cost of private trail rides.

In addition, young riders under the age of nine can ride a lead-line horse on Sundays from 9 to 10:45 a.m. Lead lines are also held during the week — if the weather permits — on a first-come, first-served basis.

The cost for a half-hour lead-line horse is $18 for Union County residents and $26 for out-of-county riders.

The trail rides and lead-lines rides are held at Watchung Stable, located at 1160

Juniors being certified in CPR

CPR and automated external defibrillators can save lives as more people become trained in their usage. Arthur L. Johnson High School began certifying all juniors in Adult/Child CPR and AED in 2011. Along with CPR and AED training, this year the students were certified in First Aid.

According to Physical education teacher Joe Sortino, "It's great that First Aid and CPR is now in the physical education curriculum at ALJ. It allows our 11th-graders to learn a valuable skill that can help save a life. Also the First-Aid and CPR certifications can help them find employment for the summer months."

Kiwanis Club offers an 'open invitation' to residents

Outgoing Clark Kiwanis Club president, Doug Born, has issued an open invitation to the Clark community and residents in surrounding areas to consider joining the community service club that has been in existence in Clark for more than 60 years.

Save Our Service (Club) is the motto for this year's club. "We are a small but mighty club," he said of the group, which meets on the second and the fourth Tuesday of the month at Clark Public Library for hour-long meetings. He explained the general purpose of the club. "The bulk of what we do is based on volunteerism with the youth-sponsored activities in the community. We are the proud sponsors of the K-Kids Club at Hehnlly and Valley Road Schools, the Builders Club at Kumpf Middle School and the ALJ Key Club." Kiwanis member Ann Yarusavage is the youth liaison for the young clubs. Born said that the adult club knows the importance of showing children the joy of doing things for others while they are at a young age. The newest clubs in Clark are the ones at the elementary schools. "Donna Kircher, the nurse at Hehnlly, is a dynamite of energy as the adviser of the club for children in grades three through six." The club schedules two service activities a month, focusing on low cost ones for children, veterans and senior citizens.

The Valley Road students have been involved in various activities at the elementary school in Clark. Principal Ralph Baltrumba told Kiwanis last year's youth liaison, Susan Dougherty, that the club, under the advisership of teachers, Paula Spence, Sue Dzurovcik and Teresa Gotti, "has taken off like wildfire." The membership of both of the elementary schools has skyrocketed nearly 20 to 25 percent from the first to the second year.

Parents of students in all of the clubs are invited to witness the events of the Kiwanis Club.

For more information about the club and the upcoming meetings, call President-Elect Susan Dougherty at 732-382-5367.

Girl power!

Young girls in Clark took part in 'Girls Circle,' a program initiated by Elementary Guidance Counselor Ashley Aligo, which works to boost pre-teen girls' confidence. Girls Circle is a group that allows 5th grade girls at Frank K. Hehnly School and Valley Road School, in Clark to express themselves and address concerns regarding growing older, friendships, peer pressures, and self-esteem. Recently in Girls Circle, the girls were instructed to look around to the other members of the group and think about something they liked and that was unique about each member. They were then put into a line and given their 'flower power' handout. On this paper, the girls wrote their name and then passed their paper to the person next to them. When that person received their neighbor's paper, they were to write something kind, anonymously, about the girl whose paper it was. This continued down the line until each girl had received every other girl's paper and written on it.

'Romeo and Juliet' closes out ballet season at UCPAC

American Repertory Ballet will close its 2012-2013 season at Union County Performing Arts Center's new Hamilton Stage theater April 11 and 12 with the full choreography of Douglas Martin's brand new "Romeo and Juliet." This is a rare opportunity to see and focus on the drama and dynamism of the dancing for the first time before the ballet officially premieres with full sets and costumes and goes on tour during ARB's 2013-2014 Season.

"Of all the ballets I performed throughout my career, including 'Nutcracker,' I think I performed 'Romeo and Juliet' the most," says Martin. "With the Joffrey Ballet, I performed the roles of Paris and Romeo in John Cranko's version. I danced Romeo in Francis Patrelli's version with his company, Dances Patrelle. Most recently, with ARB, I performed the roles of Tybalt and Romeo in Septime Webre's version."

Throughout 2012, ARB performed excerpts of Martin's "Romeo and Juliet" as part of mixed-bill programs across New Jersey. In September 2012, the company unveiled the bedroom pas de deux at Hamilton Stage.

"We're so fortunate to be able to be able to preview this major work on the Hamilton Stage," says ARB Managing Director Christine Chen. "It's the perfect stage for our dancers to dig into this significant choreography, and it will be a real treat for the audience to experience the work in this beautiful setting, where they will be so close to the action and emotion of the performers."

Douglas Martin's Romeo and Juliet at UCPAC's Hamilton Stage will be performed April 12 at 7 p.m. and April 13 at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Tickets are available at www.ucpac.org or by calling 732-499-8226.

ARB will also perform "Romeo and Juliet" for local public school students on April 12 at 10 a.m. at Hamilton Stage. For more information contact Lisa Beth Vettoso, Director of Educational Programming, at 732-249-1254 ext. 19, or at lvettoso@arbballet.org

OBITUARIES

Marion A. Fichter

Professionally, Marion A. Fichter was an RN, extremely proud of her profession and of the rigorous training she received at Presbyterian Hospital in Newark, NJ.

As a lady Marion was generous, quick-witted, diminutive, determinedly independent, feisty, opinionated, well-read, and refined in her tastes.

As a friend she was loyal, fun, hospitable and generous.

As a surrogate grandmother she was warm-hearted, quick to help with schoolwork when asked, gentle but not a pushover, loving and mischievous.

Socially, she loved spirited banter, dry humor, greeting cards, travel and dining out.

If ever you told her you had to take off (as in going somewhere), she was quick to ask, even in her last days, "What's coming off first?!"

At ninety-eight she outlived her husband, five siblings and one child, so her friends were her family. She enjoyed an angel sent from God, Helen Marshall, whose faithful, daily service allowed her to live at home years longer than would otherwise have been possible.

Her friends will miss her very much.

HOROSCOPE

ARIES, March 21 to April 20.

Aries, some conflicting signals from a friend this week might seem like trouble is ahead. But it's more likely that your perception of the situation is a little off.

TAURUS, April 21 to May 21.

Taurus, your imagination has a life of its own this week. You may be thinking of living on the edge a little bit in the next few days but don't overdo it.

GEMINI, May 22 to June 21.

Gemini, avoid a deep discussion about your feelings with someone at work this week. Now is not the time or the place to share anything personal, so keep it professional.

CANCER, June 22 to July 22.

Cancer, don't get sidetracked this week because co-workers are expecting your full attention and effort at the office. You may need to juggle a few responsibilities for the time being.

LEO, July 23 to Aug. 23.

Leo, make sure your comments are not misinterpreted this week. Someone might take something the wrong way, so choose your words carefully.

VIRGO, Aug. 24 to Sept. 22.

Virgo, you may be feeling great physically, but there is a nagging problem that you simply cannot identify. Give it time and it will come to the surface.

LIBRA, Sept. 23 to Oct. 23.

Libra, you know what you want and do not need anyone's approval, but you can't help checking in with a family member this week to get a second opinion.

SCORPIO, Oct. 24 to Nov. 22.

Scorpio, channel your romantic feelings into action this week. Act sooner rather than later and make the most of your emotions while they're strong.

SAGITTARIUS, Nov. 23 to Dec. 21.

Sagittarius, learn from the past but do not allow letdowns from the past to dictate your future. There is no guarantee that things will be repeated.

CAPRICORN, Dec. 22 to Jan. 20.

Capricorn, write things down this week before you say them to be sure you have everything correct. This will help you when you need to make an important announcement.

AQUARIUS, Jan. 21 to Feb. 18.

Aquarius, you may feel like escaping to a fantasy world, but that does not mean the pressing matters will simply disappear. A vacation may recharge your batteries.

PISCES, Feb. 19 to March 20.

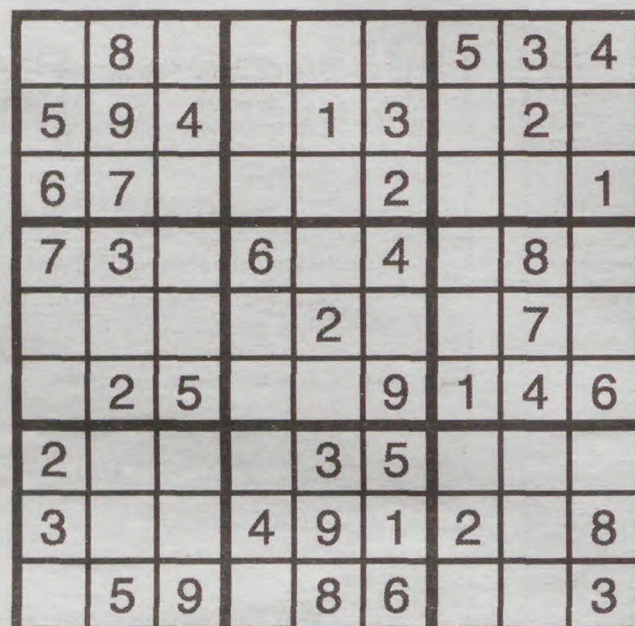

You are in much better shape than you think you are, Pisces. So don't be too hard on yourself this week. It is alright to put your feet up.

SUDOKU

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

The investigation began when the Roselle Park Police Department was notified by a resident that their credit card account information had been compromised shortly after a telephone billing transaction involving the private, health care facility. The suspect, later identified as De Los Santos, allegedly used the patient's stolen credit card information to purchase various products online from Forever 21, Diapers.com and Target. De Los Santos reportedly had the purchases shipped to herself at the health care facility.

Police became aware of additional, fraudulent credit-card transactions involving another patient, and charged De Los Santos with that, too. Several other incidents involving De Los Santos were also allegedly discovered with the assistance of her employer, which were referred to the Linden Police Department for further investigation.

De Los Santos was charged with two counts of fraudulent use of a credit card and two counts of theft. She was later released pending a court appearance.

Linden man charged for allegedly distributed images of child sex abuse

A Linden man was arrested last week and charged for allegedly distributing child pornography from his home computer, U.S. Attorney Paul J. Fishman announced.

John Ellenbacher, 47, of Linden, is charged by complaint with one count of distributing images of child sex abuse over the internet.

According to the criminal Complaint, in August 2012, law enforcement officers engaged in a child exploitation investigation intercepted emails containing criminal images and videos. Subsequent investigation into the origin of the emails led to a computer at Ellenbacher's home, according to officials.

Special agents of Immigration and Customs Enforcement, Homeland Security Investigations, executed a search warrant at Ellenbacher's residence in Linden, seizing digital evidence that contained multiple images depicting child sexual abuse, including material involving prepubescent minors, officials said in a release. Ellenbacher was taken into custody following the search.

The distribution count carries a mandatory minimum penalty of five years in prison, and a maximum potential penalty of 20 years in prison and a $250,000 fine.

U.S. Attorney Fishman credited special agents of ICE HSI, under the direction of Special Agent in Charge Andrew M. McLeesin Newark, with the investigation leading to the charge. The charge and allegations against Ellenbacher are merely accusations, and the defendant is presumed innocent unless and until proven guilty.-2-

Keeping active until spring finally arrives

The weather is not cooperating with me. The vernal equinox has passed, the snowdrops have been up for weeks and the hellebores are blooming their heads off. Last year at this time, temperatures were in the 60s. That was unseasonable. This is unreasonable. It is almost April and the weather people are still using obscene words like "wintery mix." It is enough to make me pack up the geranium collection and head for a warmer climate.

The poor snowdrops have been snowed on about four times since unfurling their petals. Likewise with the snow crocuses. Not to anthropomorphize, but the whole routine must be getting tiresome for them. As for the hellebores, I have shorn most of them of their disreputable old leaves, allowing the flowers and new, young leaves to shine. Now, I am sure they are cursing me and shivering in the cold. I can almost hear it when I go out to look at them.

Experts, almanacs and other sources of folk wisdom have long held that you should plant ornamental sweet peas and prune roses on St. Patrick's Day. This year I pruned roses, but planted the sweet peas under a glass cloche indoors. It is not ideal, but the best I can do at the moment. With luck, their little tendrils will be starting up the short supports under the cloche at about the time I can safely take them outdoors. Sweet peas are one of my horticultural bêtes noire, but I am determined to give them all the encouragement I can. One day they may actually reward me for my many services of love.

THE GARDENER'S APPRENTICE

BY ELISABETH GINSBURG

The good news about this cold weather is that the wildlife has been less active. My garbage cans have not been rolled by the raccoons since last October. The deer, for some reason, have been dining elsewhere. This is changing, though. Yesterday I walked out into the back garden and saw three impressive wild hen turkeys grazing in the lower garden. They were not intimidated by my presence and showed only mild interest when I turned on the car and backed up. The only food available for them was whatever seeds, acorns, etc. were on the ground; accompanied by a mixed salad composed of vast quantities of English ivy, hellebores and snowdrops.

The hellebores are most likely either poisonous or disagreeable to the turkeys and they didn't seem disposed to chow down on the snowdrops or ivy. They may have nibbled the top growth on some young Spanish bluebells, but I have millions of them and they will come up anyway. So far, I have been lucky. However, when I came back into the house I made a note to buy some animal repellent spray, just in case spring actually springs sometime in the next few weeks.

For right now all gardeners in this area are stuck in the throes of anticipation and frustration. What can we do, other than clean and sharpen our tools — chores which are necessary, but frankly uninspiring?

We can buy pansies when we see them, even if we have to keep them indoors in cold frames or other sheltered spots until the days warm up. Pansies are tough and will survive with a modicum of care. If you see decorative little pots of primroses, mini daffodils, hyacinths or crocuses, buy them, enjoy them inside and then use them to fill up holes in beds and borders in a few weeks time.

Figure out if there is anything that you can start inside, provided you have the room to do so. I have started a pot of begonias on the windowsill. With good care, they should be ready for hanging baskets by the beginning of summer and the investment will be smaller. If there is some flower that you can't live without and want to grow from seed, get those seed packets and plant the seeds in little pots. You don't really need sophisticated equipment if the pots are bound for the outdoors within a few weeks.

If you are thinking of expanding your garden, mark out the new bed or bed extension, cover it with several layers of newspaper and a 2-inch layer of compost or mulch. In three or four weeks when you are ready to plant, you can dig right through the newspaper/mulch mixture. The covering will start to break down the soil underneath fairly quickly while preventing the evil spring chickweed and other obnoxious green marauders from muscling in on your new garden turf.

It is very difficult when your green thumbs are twitching and the weather refuses to be spring-like. We can't outwit or defeat Mother Nature, but we can certainly keep busy until she finally turns her attention to making things grow.

Quinoa and Pesto Stuffed Peppers

Stuffed peppers are a great way to use up leftover ingredients and create a beautiful dish. If you don't have the following ingredients, use any grain and/or vegetables you may have. Enjoy!

Ingredients

4 bell peppers, kept whole except for tops removed and all seeds washed out. Having 4 different colors looks nice: red, yellow, green and orange
2 cups cooked quinoa
2 1/2 cups diced and roasted butternut squash
3 Tbs. golden raisins
2 to 3 Tbs. cilantro pesto (see below) or, if you don't have, try regular pesto.
1/2 Tbs. olive oil
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. ground black pepper
1 tsp. chili oil; if you don't have, just sprinkle in a bit of cayenne pepper

Cilantro Pesto

1 cup raw cashews; can also try with other nuts
1 cup packed cilantro, washed
1 tsp. honey
juice of 1 lemon
1 tsp. lemon juice

1 Tbs. almond flour or ground almonds
1/2 tsp. salt
Puree in a food processor and freeze in small amounts.

Method

Preheat the oven to 400 degrees. Heat up 1/2 Tbs. olive oil and saute cooked quinoa. Add in the butternut squash and toss for a minute or so. Add in the salt, pepper, chili oil and raisins and stir until combined. Add in the pesto and stir until combined. Stuff the four prepared peppers with equal amounts of the quinoa mixture and stand the peppers up in a pyrex dish that is deep and small enough to stand the peppers upright without falling over. Bake uncovered for 30 minutes and serve with salad, or more of the inside mixture or anything you like.

UHS Athletic Hall of Fame seeking first nominations

Back in 1976, Elliott Maddox was the starting right fielder for the New York Yankees in Game 1 of the World Series.

Just four years ago Darnell Stapleton was one of the offensive linemen blocking for Ben Roethlisberger when Big Ben in the final minute of the Super Bowl drove the Steelers down field for the game-winning touchdown.

Former softball all-stater and 1995 graduate Kelly Kulick has become the most prolific women's bowling champion of the present generation.

Maddox, Stapleton and Kulick all called Union High School their home for four years and were among the very many talented athletes that the Union County school has produced over the years.

Lou Rettino guided the Union football team to a still-record 10 North 2, Group 4 playoff championships. His record in the playoffs was an outstanding 22-5.

Gordon LeMatty guided the Union baseball team to multiple Group 4 state championships and both GNT and UCT titles.

As a result, Union High School has established an Athletic Hall of Fame to promote and to recognize the achievements of those exemplary student-athletes, coaches and teams that have brought honor to Union High School and the community.

The Athletic Hall of Fame Committee is seeking nominations from the public from which inductees will be elected by a Hall of Fame Committee.

Members of the community, the press, alumni of Union High School, or teachers can nominate individuals, coaches or teams as long as established criteria is met.

Candidates for election shall be those individuals who competed, coached, supported or contributed in a positive manner to the Athletic Program at Union High School.

With the exception of the first two classes, candidates must have graduated 10 or more years prior to being considered. Coaches must be retired from coaching. Teams can only be considered after 10 years from the relevant year.

In addition, any individual who lends exemplary support and passion to promoting the Union High School Athletic Program through service and donation of time, leadership, talent, funding and energy may be nominated for election.

Nominations must be received by April 30 to Linda Ionta, Athletic Director, at Union High School, 2350 North Third Street, Union, New Jersey, 07083, or nominations can be e-mailed:

liona@twpunionschool.org.

All nomination forms can be obtained in person or by visiting the athletic office at Union High School, by visiting the Union High School website or by visiting the Township of Union schools website at twpunionschools.org.

There, nominations can be made for team, coach, special contributor and student-athlete.

RC boys' basketball wins TOC championship in style

Finishes year 25-5, on 8-game win streak

By JR Parachini
Sports Editor

For the first time Roselle Catholic is the king of boys' basketball in New Jersey.

Hail to the Lions!

Top-seeded Roselle Catholic was more-than-decisive in downing second-seeded St. Joseph, Metuchen 65-49 on March 19 in the 25th annual Tournament of Champions championship game at the Sun National Bank Center in Trenton.

Roselle Catholic became the third school from Union County - joining one-time champion Elizabeth and five-time champ Patrick School - to win the TOC. RC also became the second school from Union County to win its first TOC final, joining the Patrick School, which did so in 1998.

Roselle Catholic sophomore Malachi Richardson led all scorers with a 22-point performance that included him making all five of his 3-point field goal attempts.

RC senior Tyler Roberson, who will next play for Syracuse, added 19 points and grabbed 12 rebounds.

Roselle Catholic, which finished 25-5 and on an eight-game winning streak since falling to Union in the quarterfinals of the Union County Tournament back on Feb. 16, won the second quarter 16-6 to lead 26-16 at the break.

The Lions won the all-important fourth quarter 23-14.

Senior Marques Towns paced the Falcons, who had a 13-game winning streak snapped and finished 27-5, with 17 points.

Sophomore sensation and Kentucky-bound 7-0 center Karl Towns was limited to seven points, although he did reach 1,000 for his two-year career.

ROSELLE CATHOLIC'S LOSS TO UNION WAS NOT THAT STUNNING

The more I think of it, the more Roselle Catholic's loss to Union was not that stunning.

There are several reasons.

First of all, there was no team Union would have rather beat in a tournament setting than Roselle Catholic, especially since Union lost to RC both times they played in Union County Conference-Watchung Division play.

Secondly, RC had Tyler Roberson, the senior Syracuse-bound talent who left Union after his sophomore year to transfer to Roselle Catholic to play one-and-a-half seasons.

Third, it was the third time Union would face RC and this time on a neutral court - Johnson High School's Louis J. Peragallo Gymnasium in Clark.

Fourth, Union head coach Kevin Feeley was an assistant coach on RC head coach Dave Boff's staff during Boff's first four seasons at the helm of the Lions. Feeley is an up-and-coming coach whose dedication to the sport and passion to his players will always be second-to-none.

Lastly, it turned out to be the last bump in the road for Roselle Catholic, which at the time had still not hit its stride yet, despite posting some impressive victories. In the game before, Roselle Catholic had to come back to survive beating conference-crossover foe Westfield by just three points on the road.

While the game unfolded and Union began to chip away from being down by 10 in the third quarter, I still didn't believe Union was going to pull it out.

Roberson went to the bench with his fourth foul with exactly 5:00 to go in the third quarter. Union trailed by five.

When Roberson went back in the game - with 7:18 left - Union still trailed by five. Amazingly, Union did not close the deficit with Roberson on the bench, but then outscored RC by six points the rest of the way when Roberson was in the game.

RC defeated Union by more than 30 points at home and by 16 on the road in division play. The Lions, especially with Roberson, were still supposed to beat Union and beat the Farmers pretty good in the UCT quarterfinals.

They didn't.

Union was 10-12 that night.

And Roselle Catholic still did not beat the Farmers again.

Union was 10-12 for good reason. The Farmers compete in, arguably, the toughest league in the state - the Watchung Division.

As Union got closer, I said to myself, "man, if RC loses, Boff will get killed."

One reason I said that to myself and to one other person was because last year RC reached the UCT final for only the second time and first time since 1963. Going backwards immediately by getting ousted in the quarterfinals as the top seed to the eighth seed was not in the script for the Lions.

After reaching the final last season for the first time in 49 years, Roselle Catholic was supposed to get back to the final this year and this time win the UCT for the first time in program history.

It didn't happen.

Then as I thought about it I said, "in order to make up for this, RC has to at least go out and win Non-Public, South B, which will mean either beating a team it lost to - Gill - or a team it already defeated twice in division play - The Patrick School - in the final. That was also if RC was good enough to get to the final.

Not only did the Lions win Non-Public, South B for the first time by posting a decisive third win over The Patrick School, but then Roselle Catholic went out and topped two-time defending champion St. Anthony in the Non-Public, B state championship game.

While Roselle Catholic is still in search of its first county championship, the Lions went out and captured their first sectional, state and TOC crowns.

Those three championships made up for losing to Union in the UCT quarterfinals. The loss to a gritty, scrappy and gutsy Farmers team was not that bad. Union needed a shot right before the buzzer by senior guard Erick Lofton-Harris to win the game by just one point.

Had Roselle Catholic won that game and gone on to have won the UCT for the first time would the Lions then have captured their first sectional, state and TOC crowns?

It's a good question, perhaps one to ponder during a long off-season.

JR Parachini covered the Feb. 16 UCT quarterfinal on a Saturday night in Clark when Union came back to beat Roselle Catholic 64-63.

Former RC star Skrec excels for Manhattan basketball

Contributes to women's late season victory

One day after a thrilling victory, the season ended for the Manhattan College women's basketball team and Roselle Catholic graduate Allison Skrec.

Despite a strong showing from Skrec, the Jaspers absorbed a season-ending 72-50 loss to top-seeded Marist in the quarterfinals of the MAAC Tournament held earlier this month at the Mass Mutual Center in Springfield, Mass.

A 2010 RC graduate and two-time Star-Ledger Union County Player of the Year, Skrec finished with a game-high 15 points, four rebounds and a team-best four assists vs. Marist (24-6), which finished the regular season undefeated vs. MAAC foes.

Skrec scored 13 points in the first half as the Jaspers trailed 31-22 at the intermission.

The day before, the ninth-seeded Jaspers (8-22) edged eighth-seeded Loyola 50-49 to win consecutive games for the first time this season.

With 0.9 left on the clock, Skrec fired an in-bound pass to junior Monica Roderer, who sank the game-winner as time expired. Earlier in the second half, Roeder scored her 1,000th point in the game, off a pass from Skrec.

Skrec, a key player in the Lions' back-to-back UCT title teams of 2009 and 2010 finished the victory vs. Loyola with 11 points, all in the second half, six rebounds and five assists.

A junior guard, Skrec led the MAAC with 5.0 assists per outing while also recording 8.4 points and 2.2 steals per contest.

Sidelined with a foot injury at the beginning of the season, the Roselle resident played in 26 games, including 22 starts.

Skrec helmed guide Roselle Catholic to the second and third of its four UCT championships. The first came in 2003 and the fourth in 2011.

Skrec just completed her third year as a player on the women's basketball team at Manhattan College. The talented guard led the MAAC with an average of 5.0 assists and also recorded 8.4 points and 2.2 steals per contest. At Roselle Catholic, Skrec was named Union County Player of the Year by The Star-Ledger her junior and senior seasons of 2009 and 2010, both times leading the Lions to Union County Tournament championships.
