Stand back!
Let the world see
The faces of JoyandVictory
AccomplishmentandEnthusiasm;
Minds quick;
Hands deft.

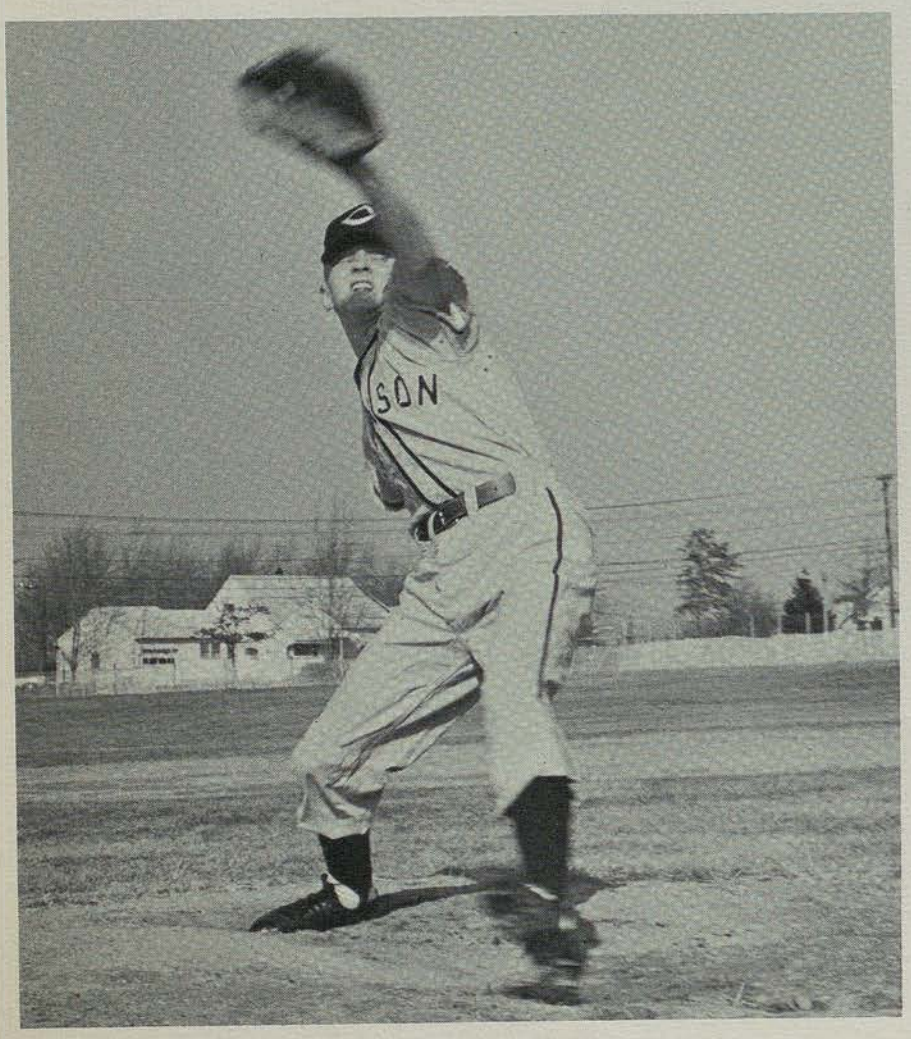

Stand back!
Let the world see
The finished product.

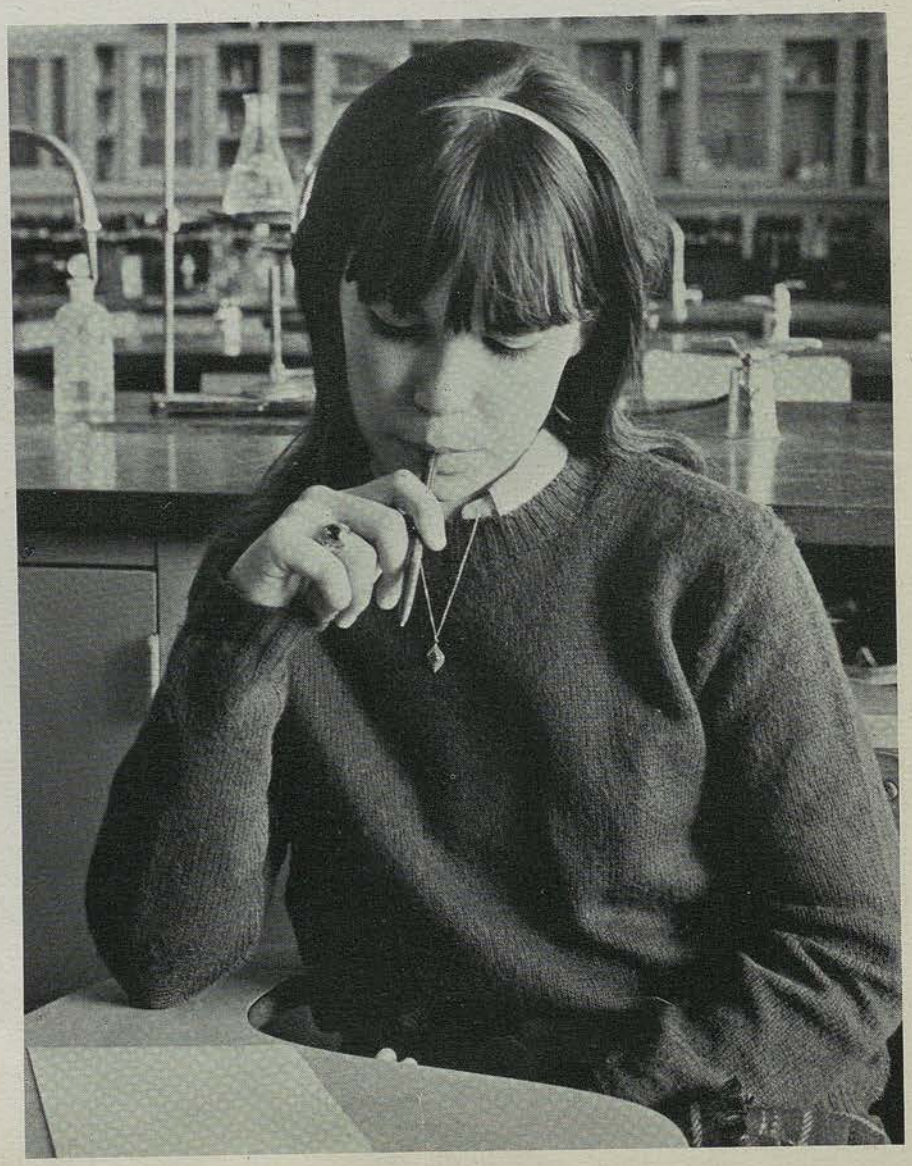

Determination . . . Success . . . Victory

Striving for seemingly unattainable heights

Determined to master the difficult

Originate; Innovate;
Develop Ourselves
. . . Our Selflessness

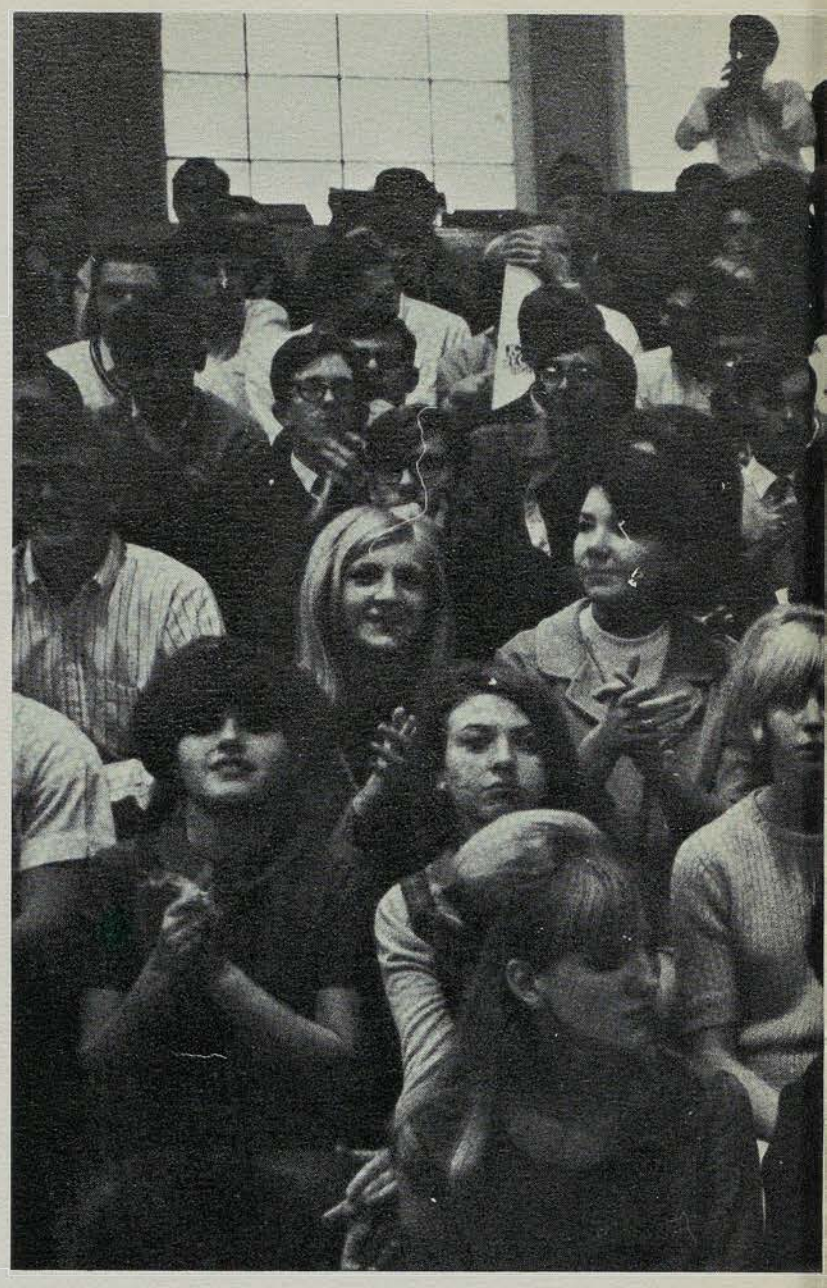

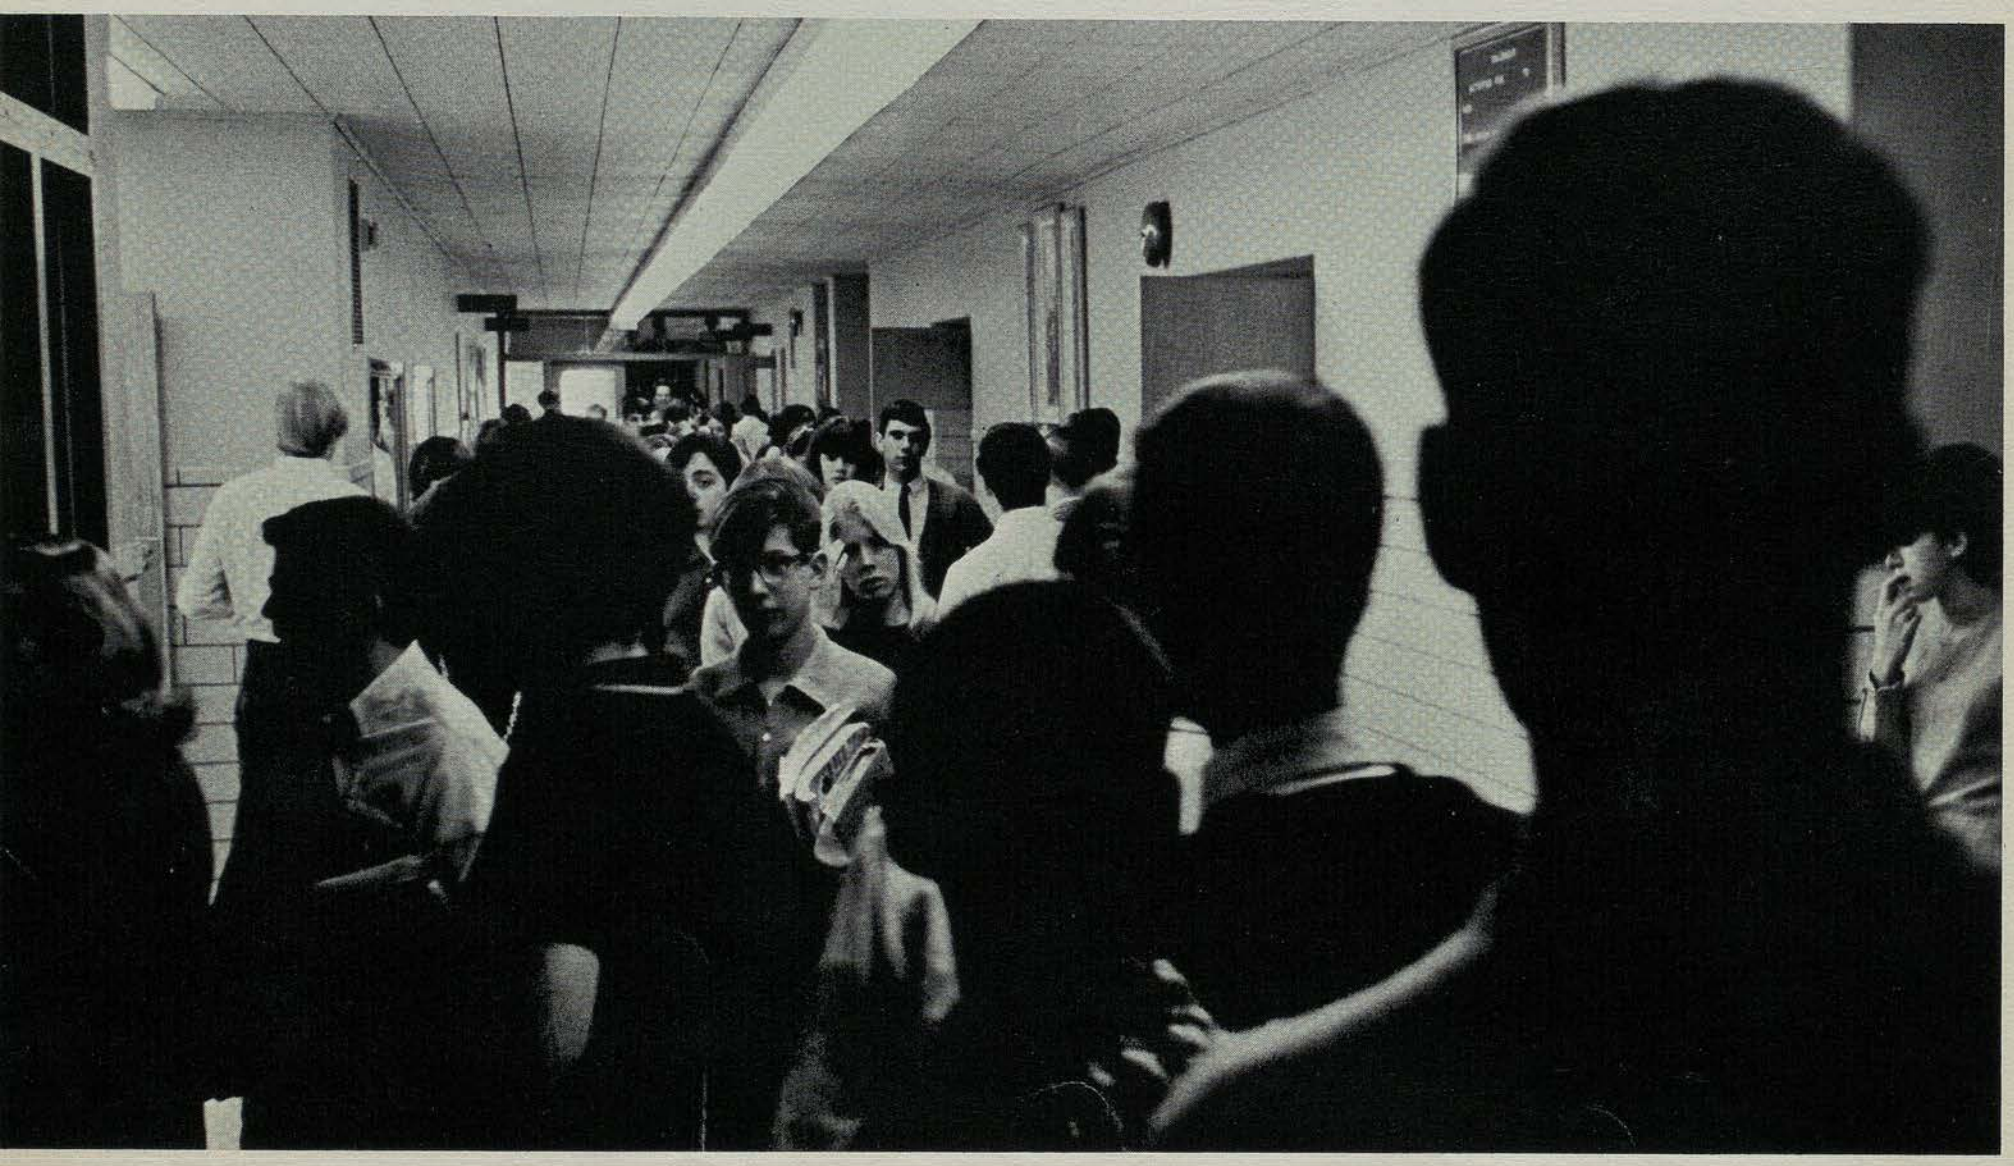

Vie for Victory; defeat to be accepted, never expected

Enthusiasm . . . Support . . . Participation

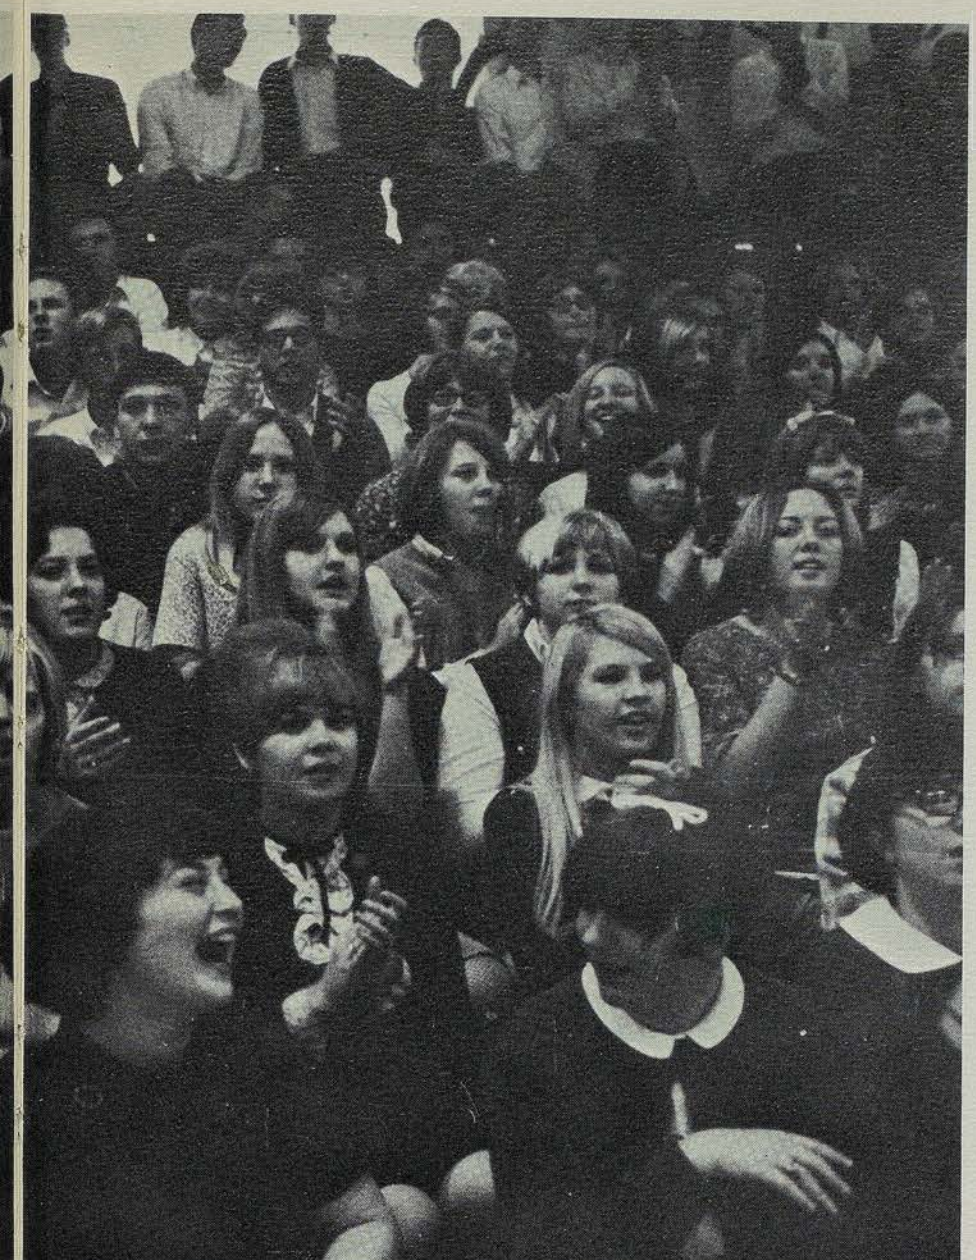

Extracurricular and classroom activities

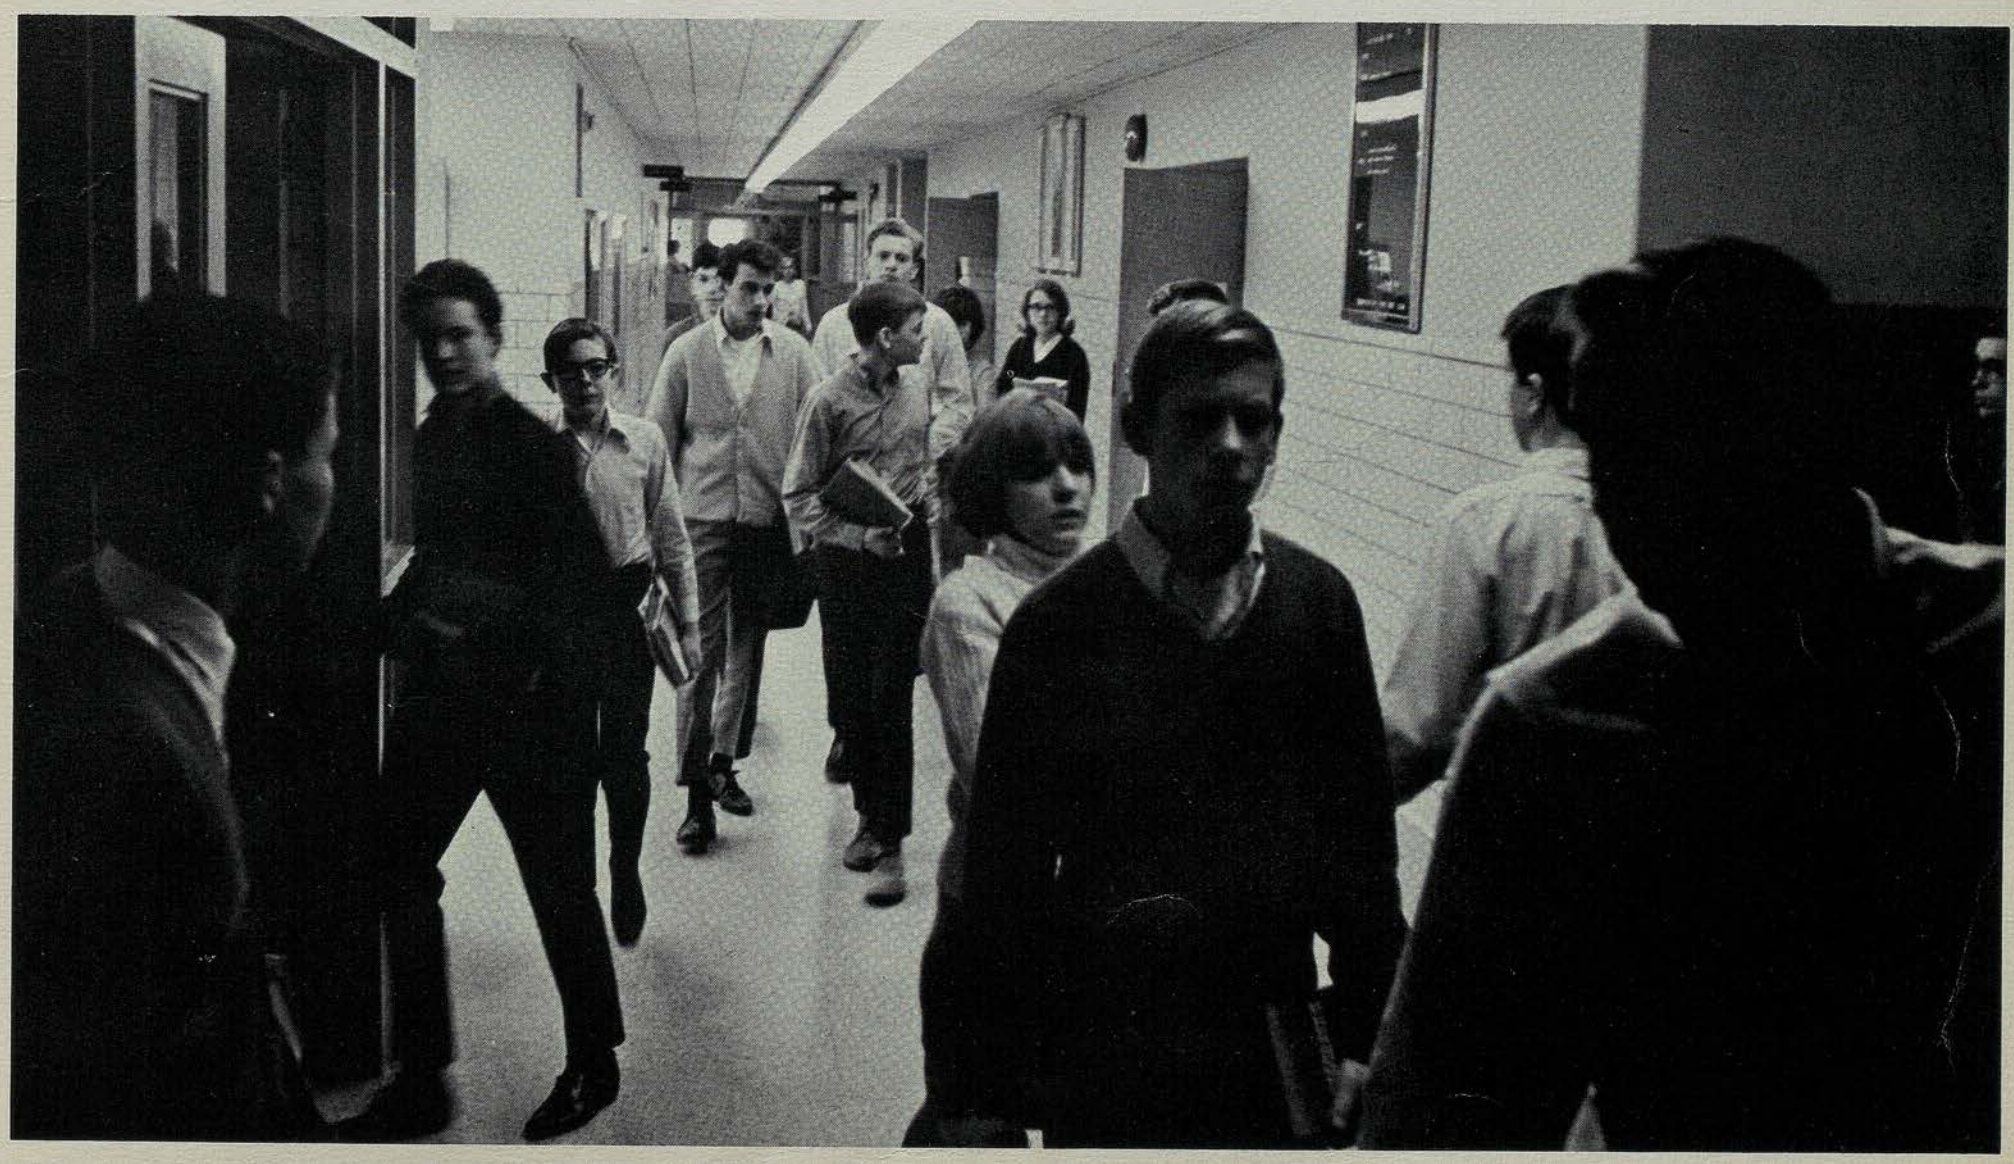

In the stands and in the halls
Paradox of Unity and Individuality

To achieve in the future and to live in the present

Curiosity . . . minds unfearful of the new or unexpected

Quest for Knowledge and Achievement

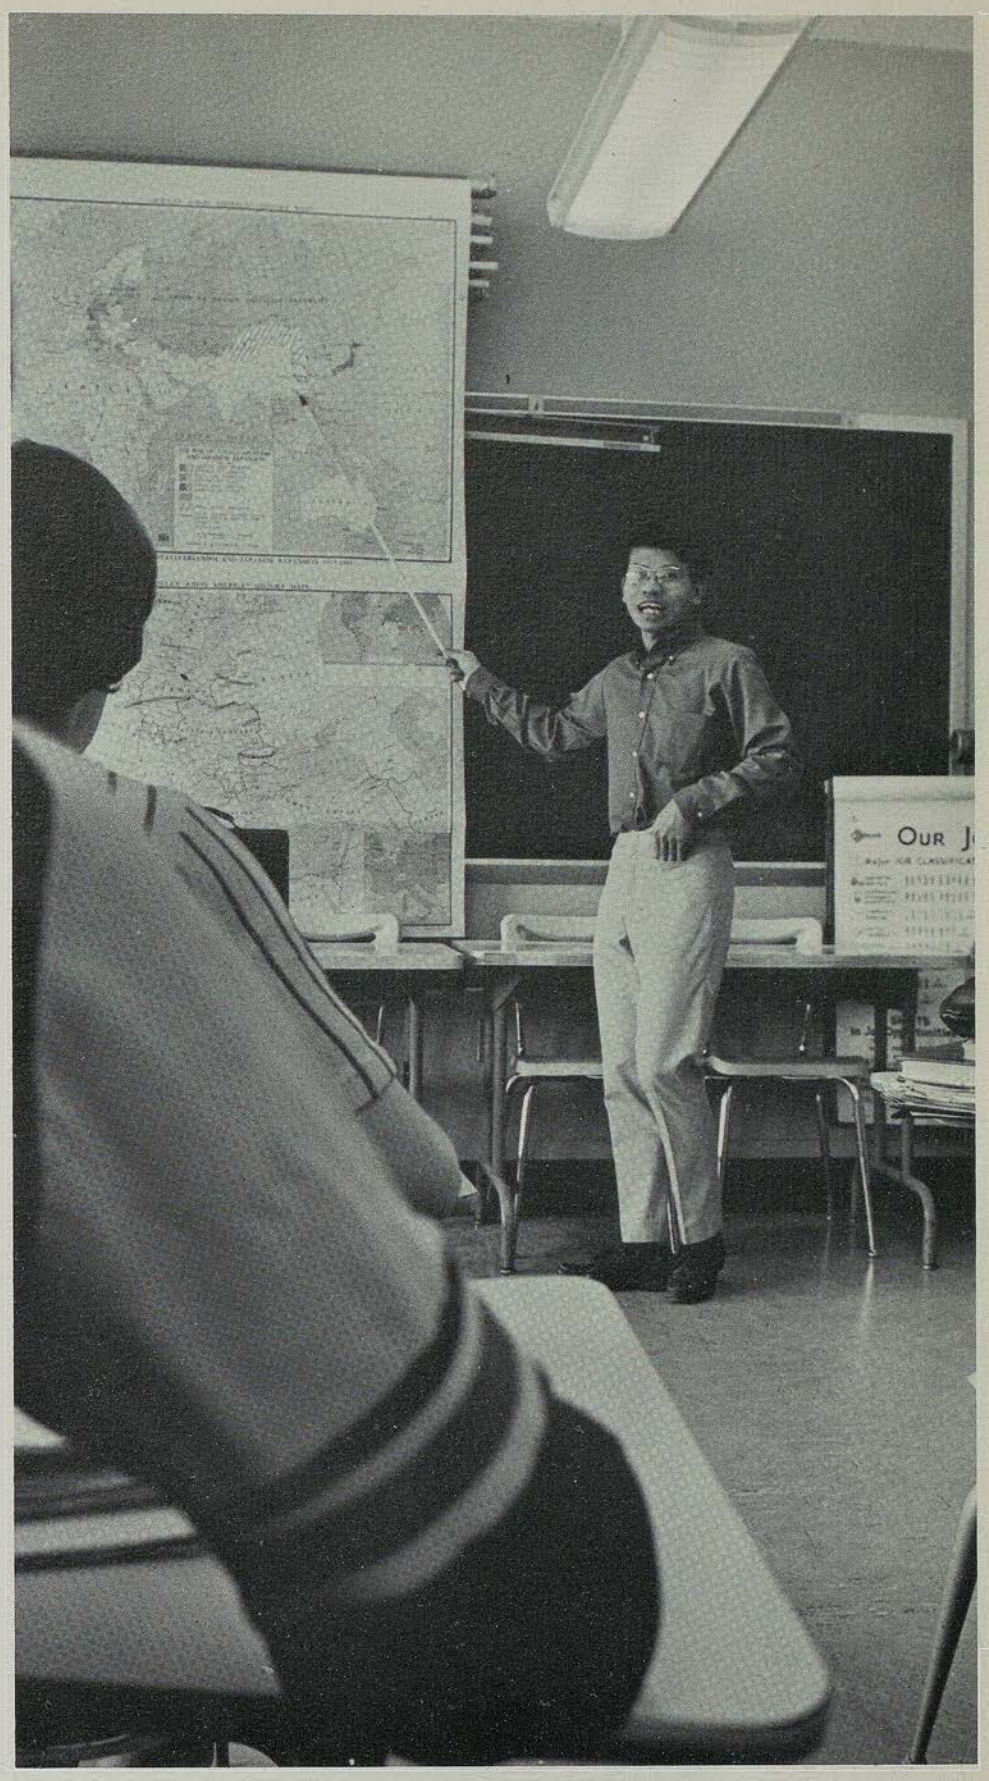

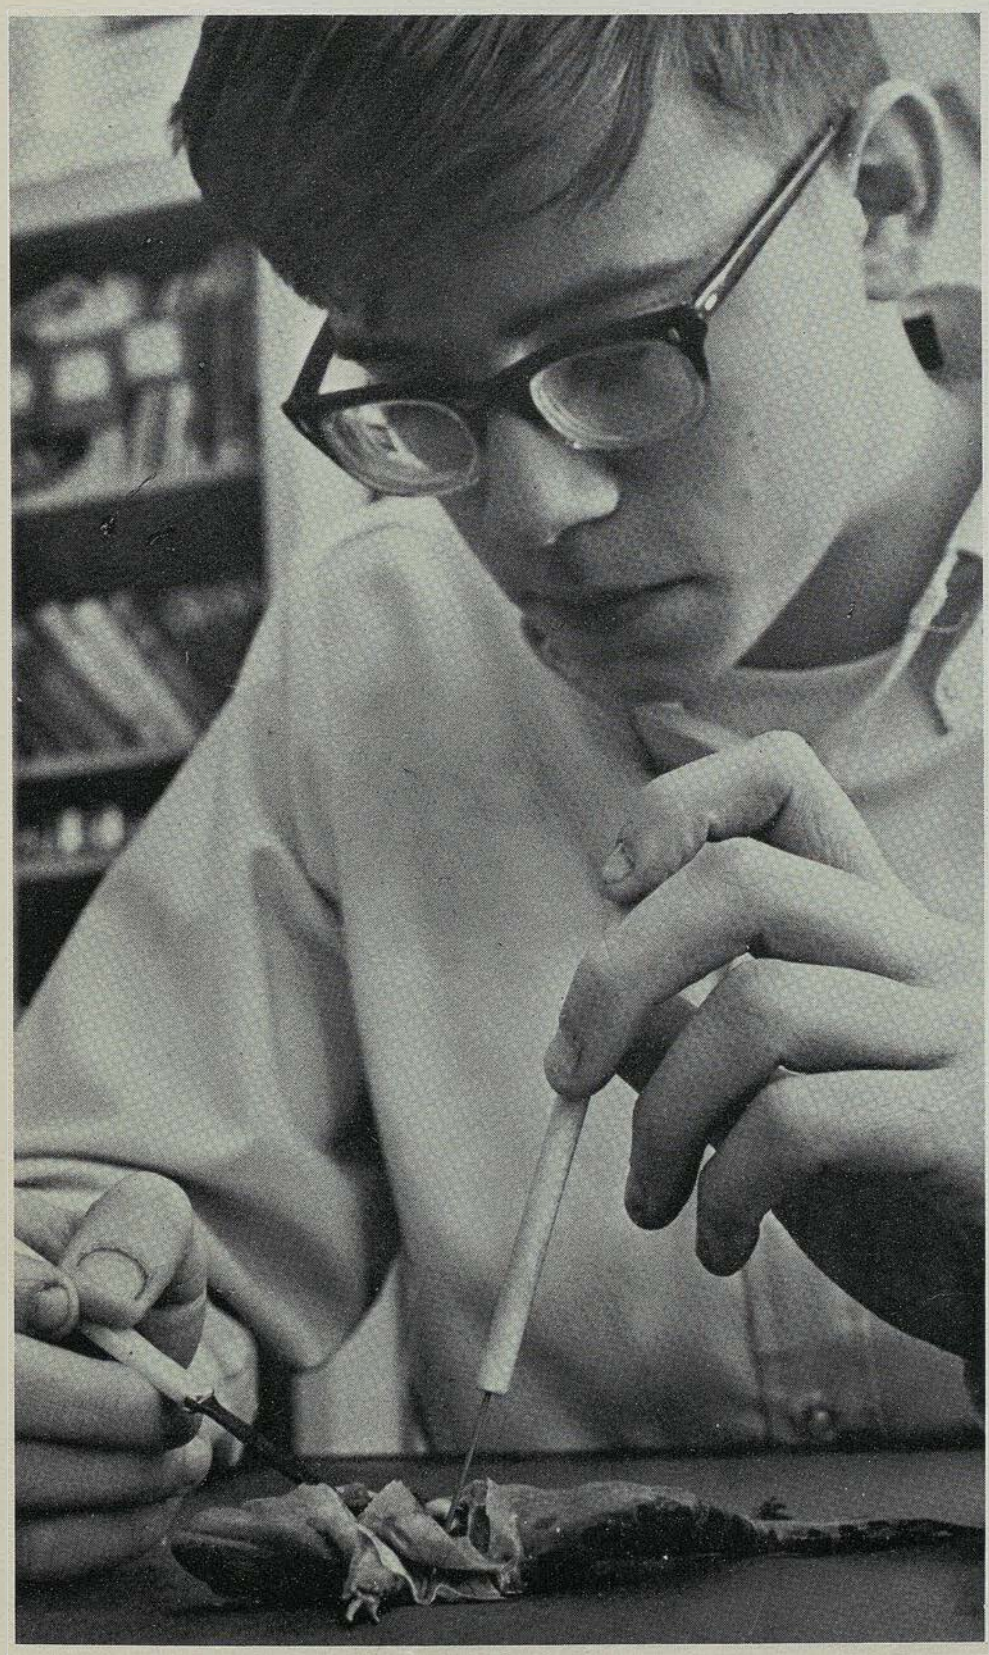

New skills . . .

New people . . .

New interests . . .

New experiences . . .

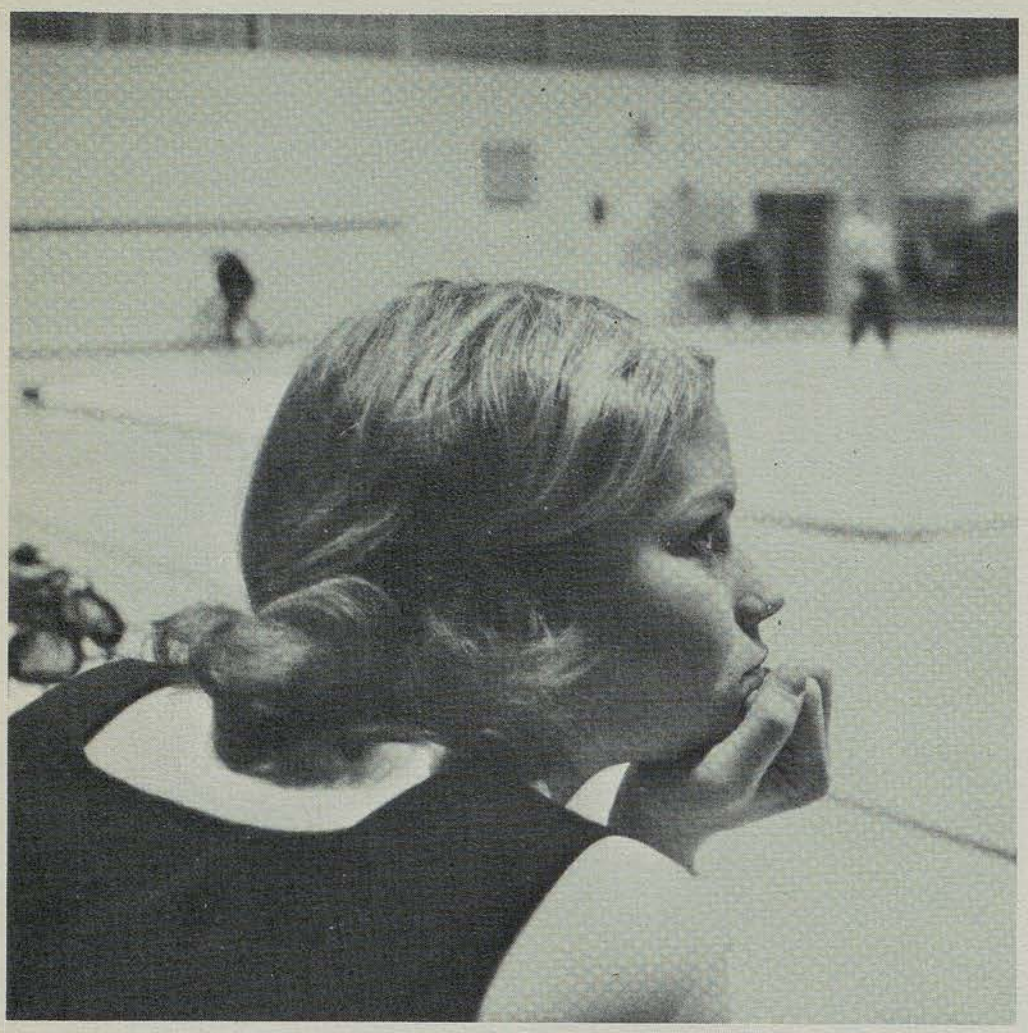

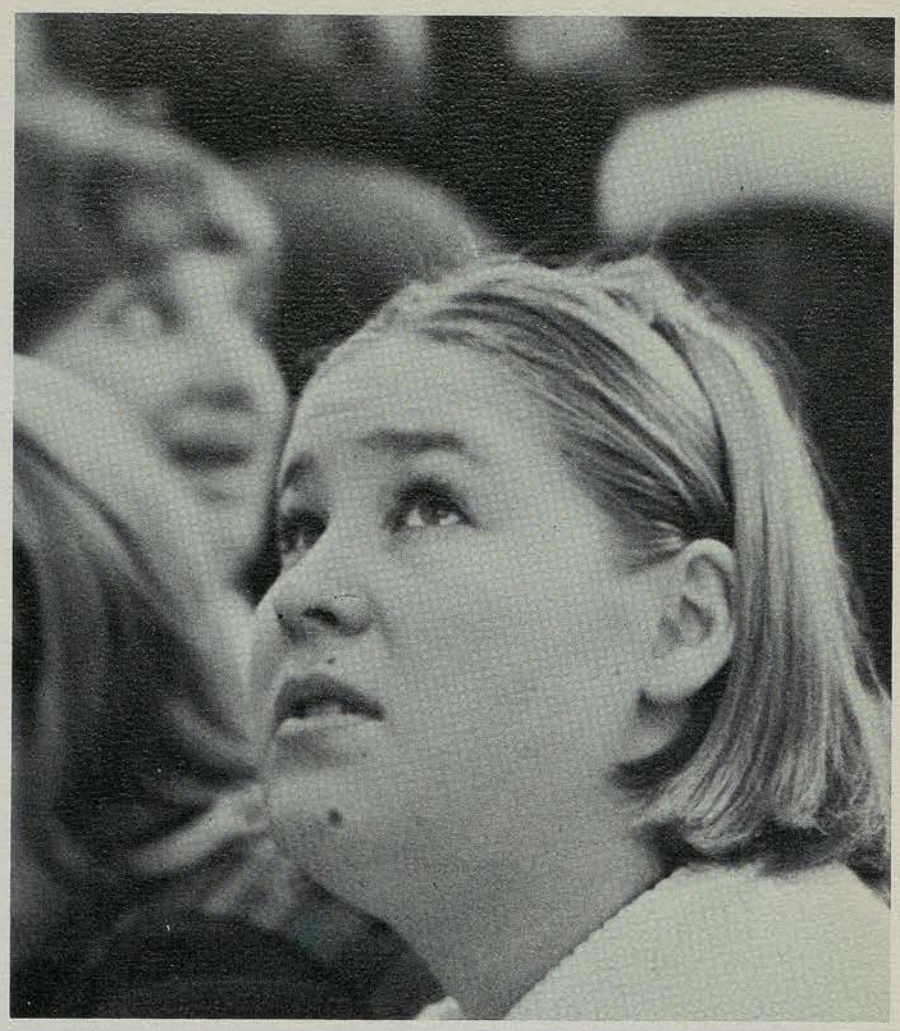

Mindful of the past . . .

Interested in the present . . .

In expectation of the future

Unhappiness for a moment . . . happiness and pride the next

Sadness only a shadow of the past . . .
Vivid memories of Joy

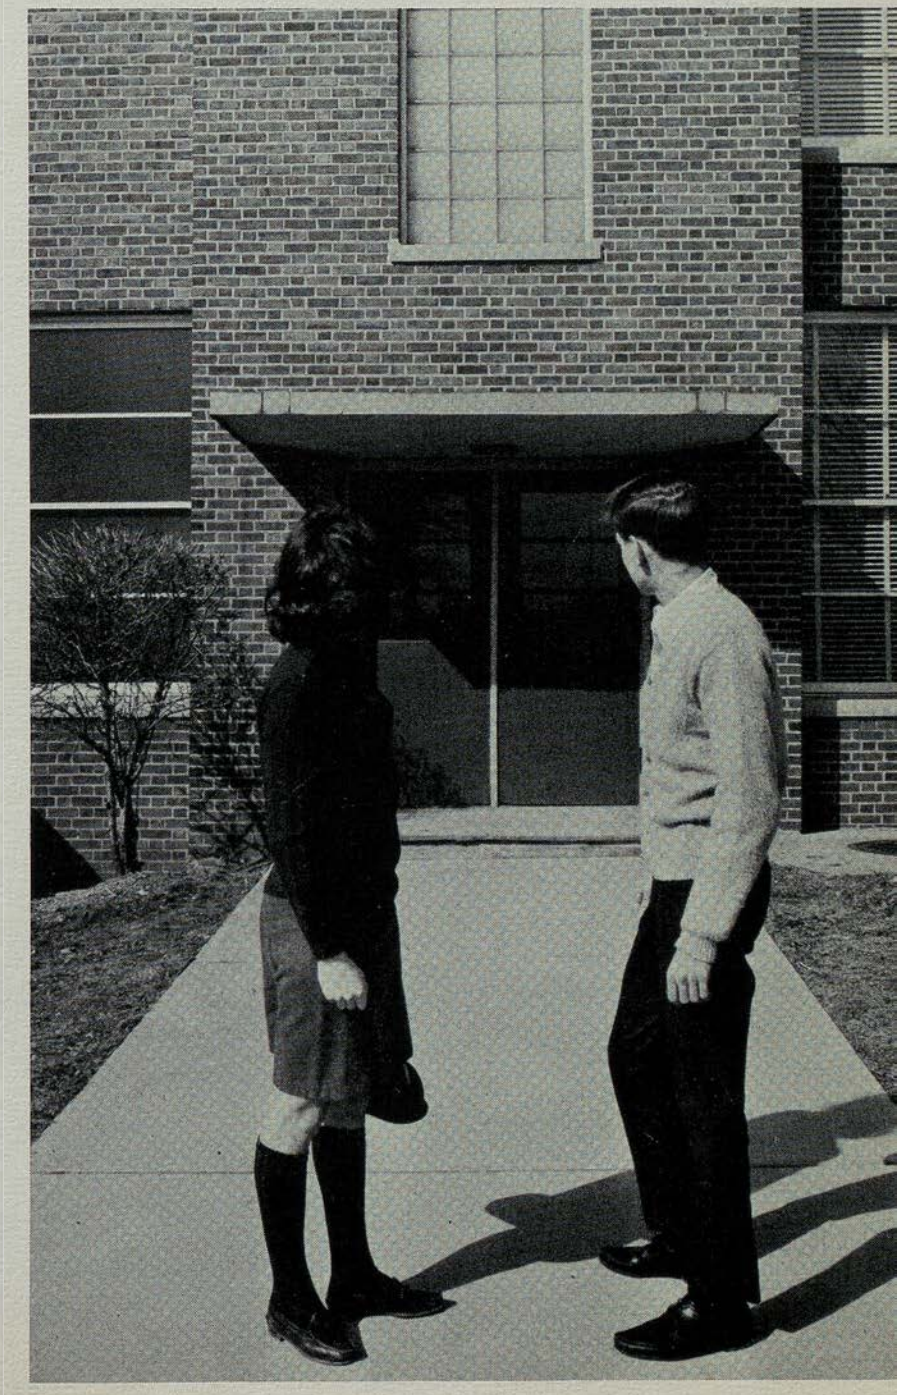

Knowledge and Understanding . . . Love and Security

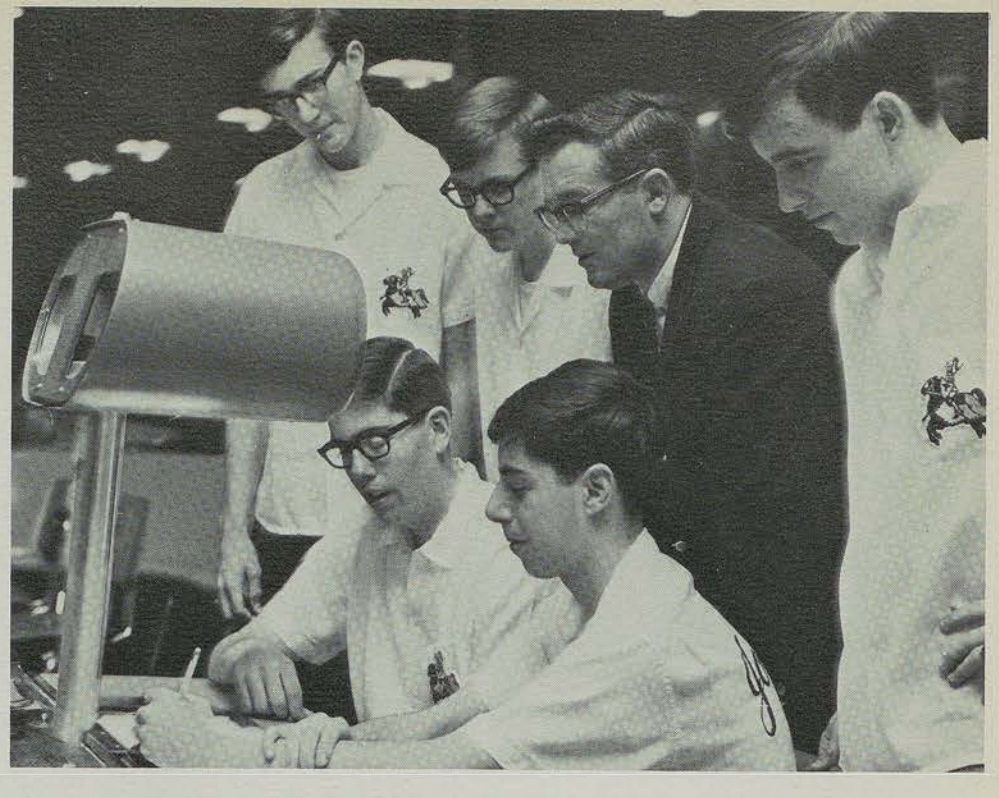

Leaving in sorrow

. . . bright hopes for the future

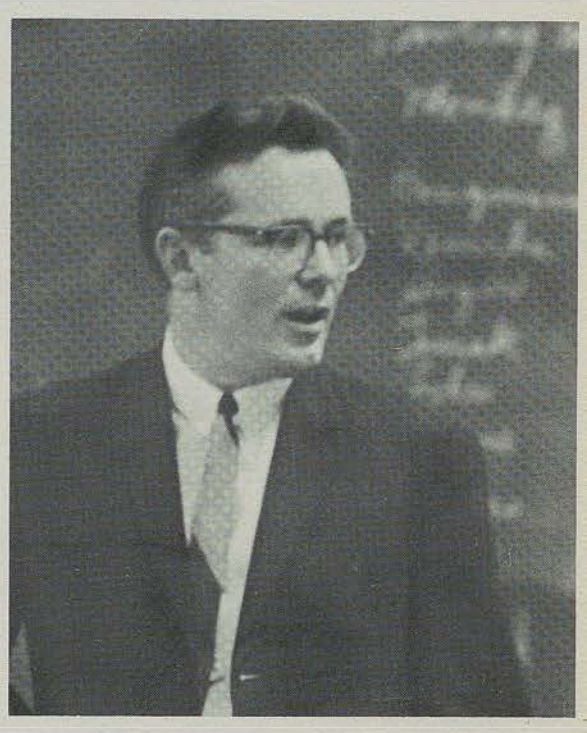

Whether he is presiding over a Teachers' Association meeting or coaching the bowling team, Mr. Kenny displays a keen interest in people and an understanding of them.

Students in Mr. Kenny's U.S. II, Modern European History, and Philosophy classes enjoy the intellectual stimulation necessary for their mental development. New ideas are often formulated in his classes.

When a teacher is dedicated to his profession, discussions need not end with a bell.

DEDICATION

Aura of A.L.J.
Sensed by students
Exemplified in faculty.
He who guides,
who instructs,
who understands . . .
Through such as he, youth achieves;
not quickly,
slowly,
with patience, compassion — inevitably.
His time is Ours.
Uniting interests of all toward one goal,
Combining old and new to shape Us.
He who looks ahead, not behind.
Youth uses him,
Youth needs him,
Youth thanks him —
John C. Kenny.

To continue
On a way once paved,
Yet now barely discernable
To the inexperienced,
Who must find
Their way;
The burden lightened
By those having tread
That same way;
The pitfalls
Charted;
The map
Given to youth;
The destination
Will be reached,
Not without hardships,
But with the KnowledgeandExperience
Each year
Has given Us.

IN MEMORIAM

Nancy A. Lewandowski

Capture a moment
And hold it for eternity;
For beauty and goodness, youth and spring
Pass all too quickly into memories.
If the rose wilts
And the stars cease to shine,
Does beauty also die?
"Never," whispers the breeze.
Beauty and goodness, youth and spring
Will never die:
Embraced forever within the heart,
Loved all the more for the joy they once brought.

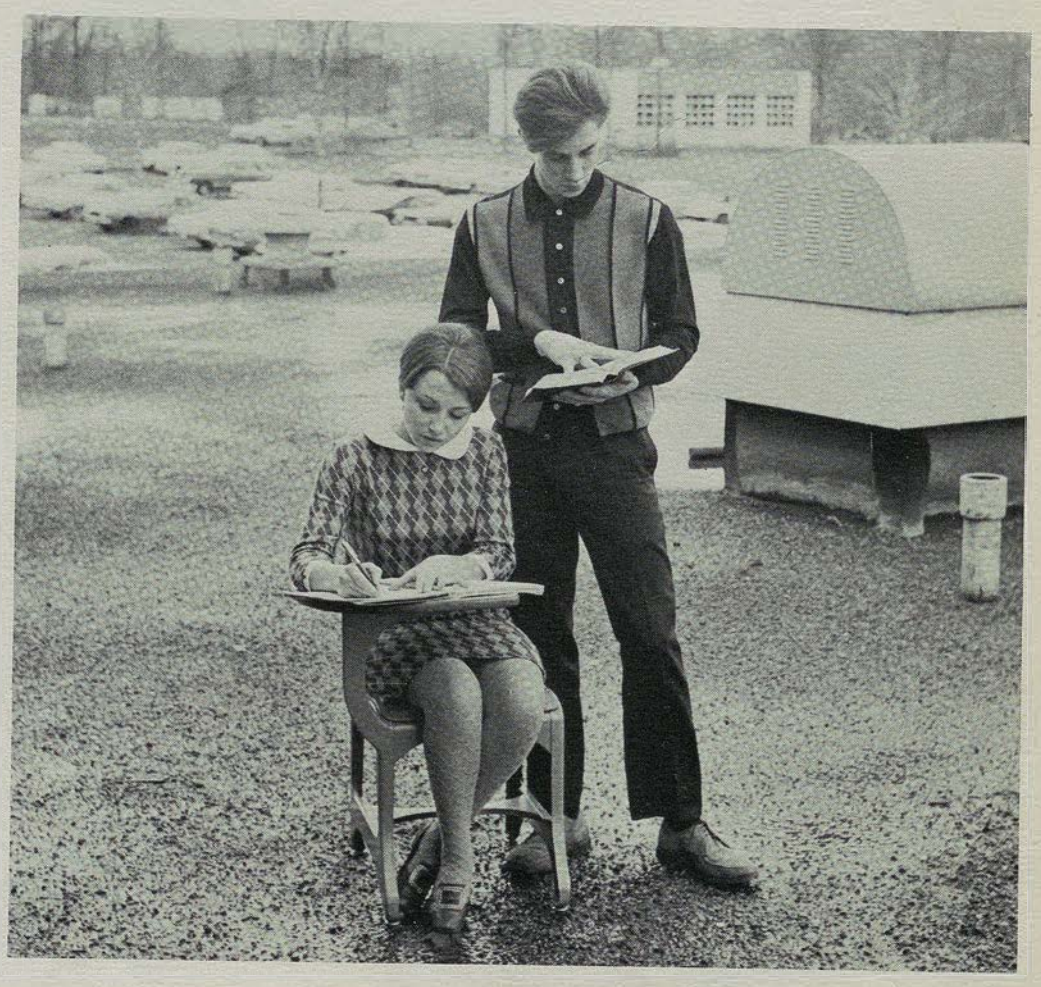

SENIOR SUPERLATIVES

Most School Spirit
"Should we call this section 'The Comedy of Errors' or 'A Thousand Clowns'?" Armando Orsini asks Lynn Merkel.

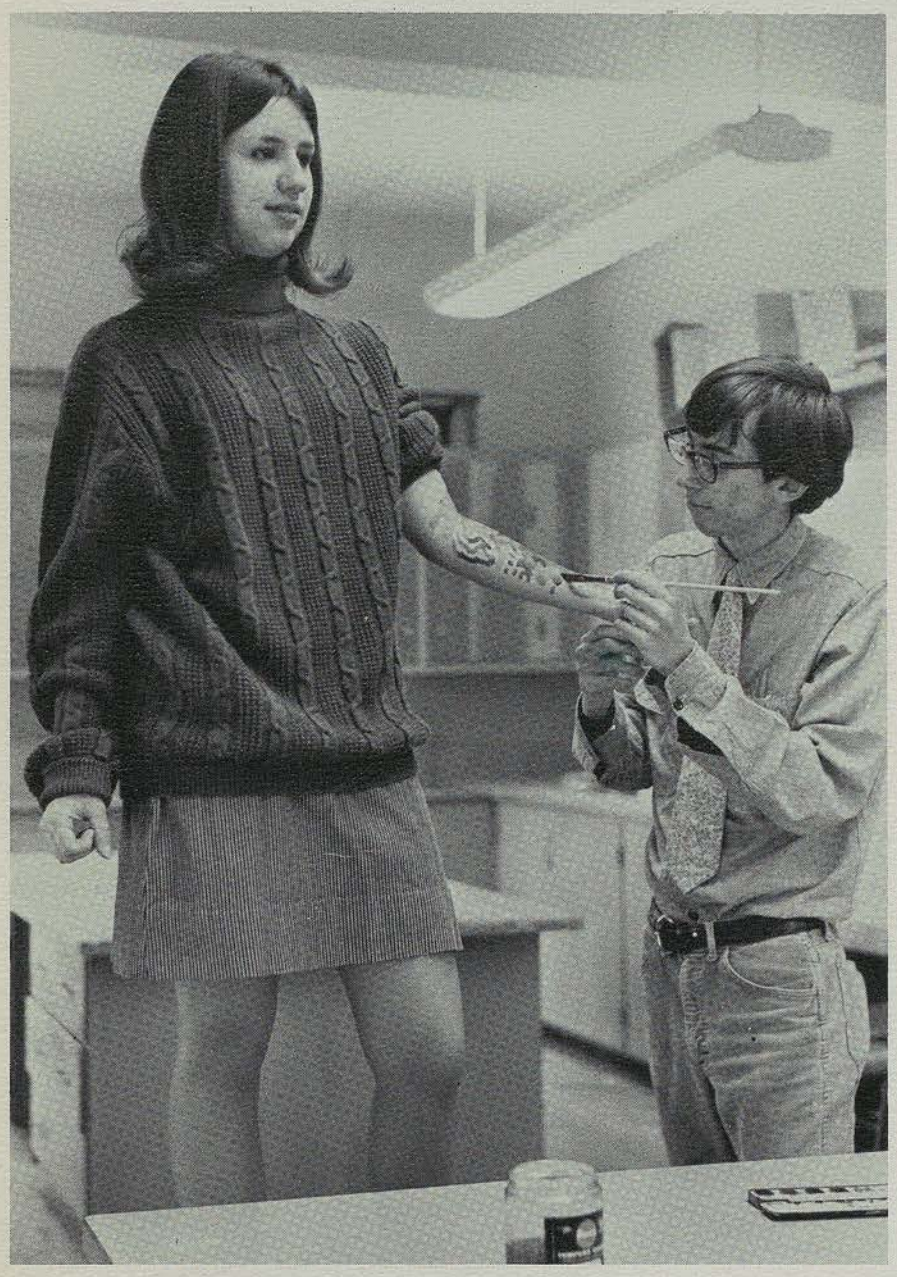

Most Academic
"You call it cheating, Cheryl Budd?" asks Paul Burger. "I prefer to call it borrowing."

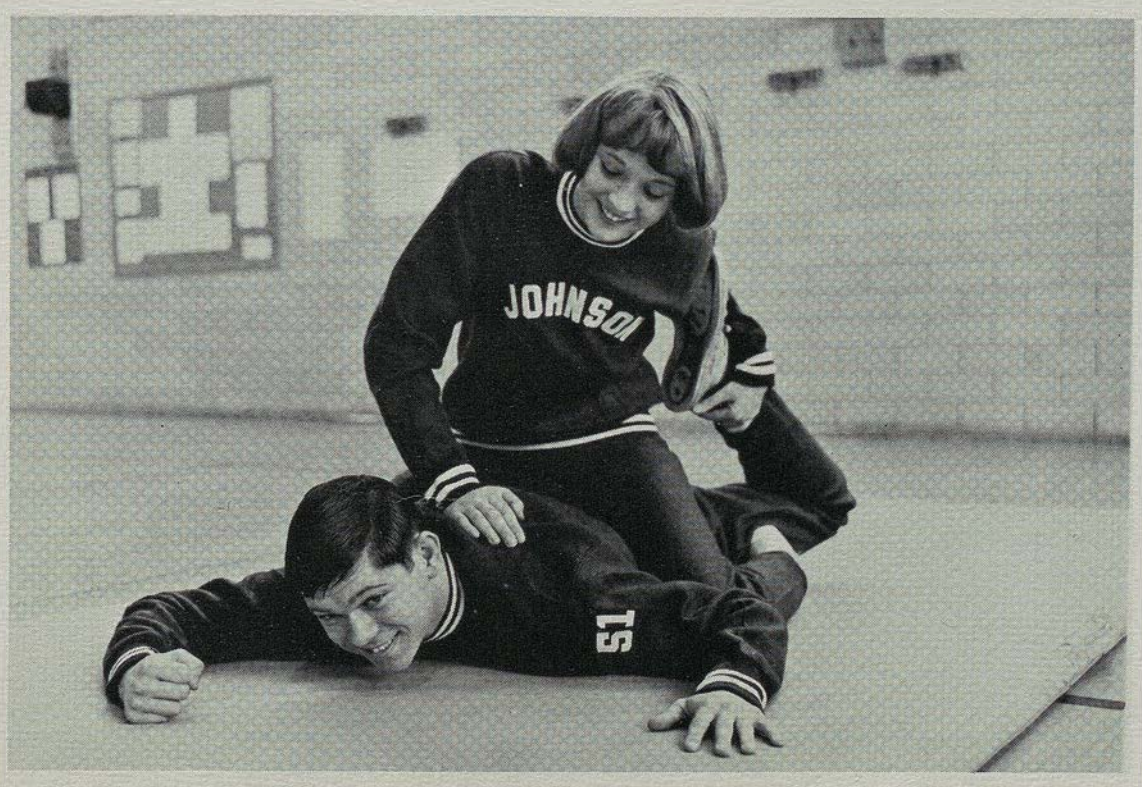

Seen Everywhere
When Chris Pyle told Renée Troiano she was seen everywhere, he didn't mean quite everywhere!

Most Artistic
"Gee, Pat Neuhaus," sighs Dan Billy, "your arm will hang in the Guggenheim."

Best Dressed
"Oh, Karen Himpele, your mother dresses you nicely," reflects Gene Wilkinson.

Most Athletic
"Do not bend, spindle or fold," warns Doug Proe as Dottie Zinkowicz ties him in a knot.

Class Wit

Our two class wits, Joanne Hannis and Jim Curry . . . er, Joanne Curry and Jim Hannis . . . um, Jo . . . forget it.

Most Attractive

"A thing of beauty is a boy forever," muses Renee McNamara as Larry Young admires her.

Most Musical

Most Likely to Succeed
Carol Nelson: "We're poor little lambs, who have lost our way . . . take it Al."
Alan Veverka: "Baaa, Baaa, Baaa."

Best All-Around
"Keep the faith," Chet Melli assures Anne Valenti, practice their roles as best all-around.

To give freely
And be shunned;
To open doors
And find eager visitors;
To combine
The talents
Of all professions;
The wisdom
Of philosophers;
LoveAbuseGratitudeCooperation,
Welcome a child
Take leave of an adult
The unwritten challenge
Teach --- if you dare.

SOMEWHERE MY LOVE

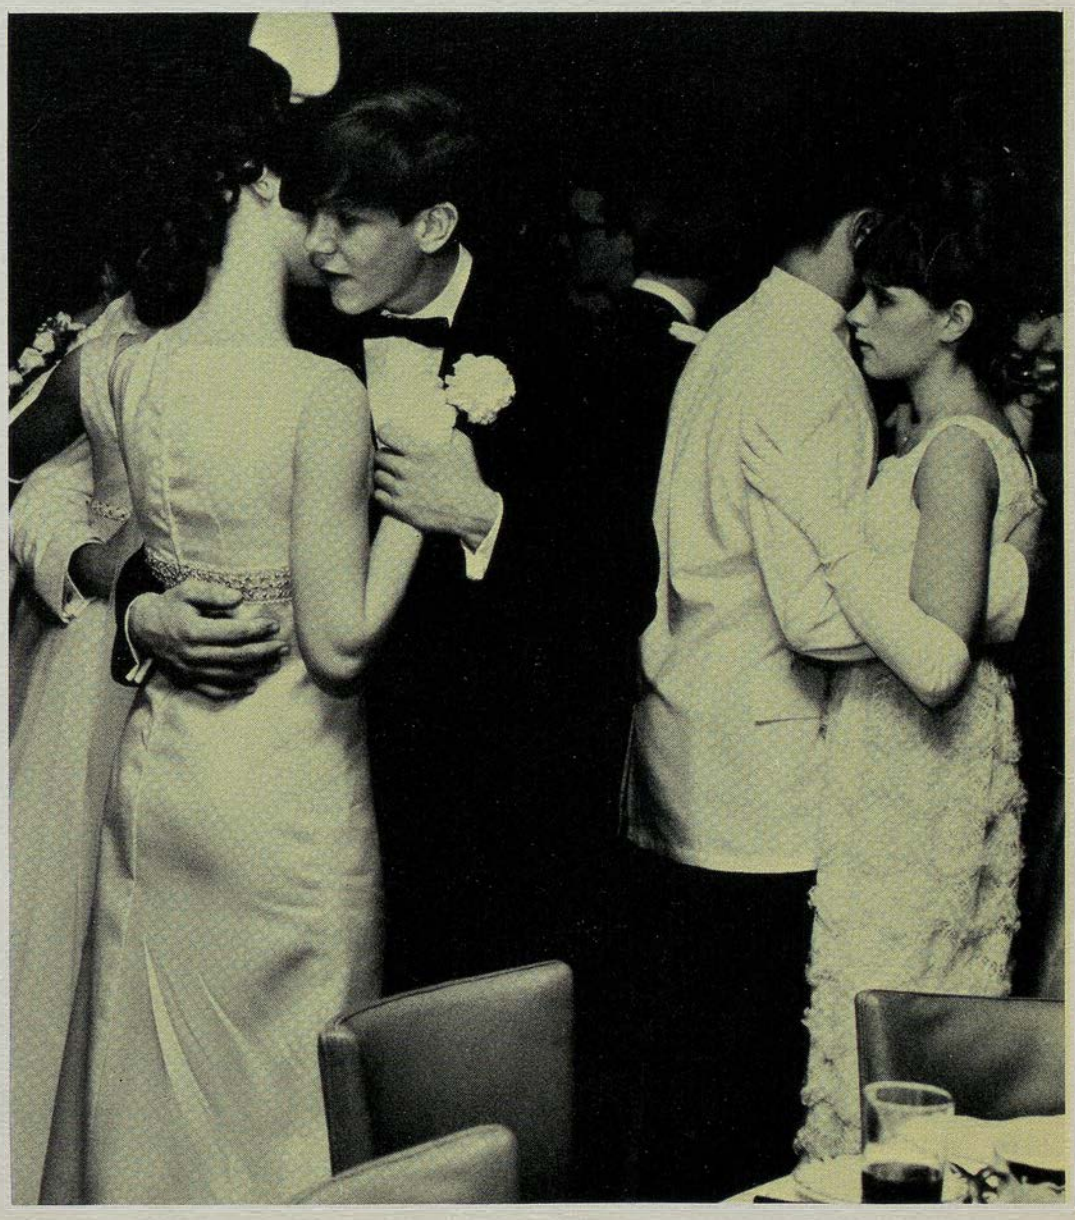

In a mist of shimmering moonlight,
With him by my side,
We started out at eight that night
Each snow-capped mountain as our guide.
With the softness of spring and the kiss of snow we danced till two.
As I heard our song being played I knew our dreams had come true.
Always we will remember this night
We have found our somewhere under the glimmering light.

UNKNOWN VERSE BY LADY MACBETH

Thou art a shadowy companion.
Thou, who precedes the final shadow,
Have taken lodging in fetid dwelling,
Wherein is derelict deed of death.
Ah, if thou were but a torturer,
Who could'st tear and rend but flesh.
Be only a hangman and I would reward thee best.
Oh, thou art more insidious, subtle fiend.
Release me, final shadow, from a reality
That is not. Do I see another?
"Out dammed spot."

Michael Mickelson

The Crusader

CRUSADER SALES REACH NEW HIGH

This year the Crusader staff has done an outstanding job with its publication. More issues, more pages, and new and interesting articles have been added. The Lance staff would like to commend the Crusader staff on a fine job.

Moon River, Elephant Walk and Hatari. Buglers Holiday will be performed by three trombonists rather than trumpeters. The featured trombonists are Beverly Phillips, Ronald Granrath and Jeff Gullick. Robert Wojciak will perform a clarinet solo with piano accompaniment by John Susko. Other selections by the band are: April In Paris, His who are the senior girls in the Bel Canto. Bonnie Rambo and Valerie Kastner were vocal soloists.

Four long years —
Faculty: Thank you.
Aiding our search for separate identities.
Minds cultivated Bodies trained
Opinions formulated
Four long years —
Seniors: Congratulations.
One phase of life completed
Memories and friendships to treasure forever
The future is ours
There is so much we must do.
Four long years —
Future Seniors: Good luck.
A.L.J. is now yours alone
Use her to advantage
Four years are not so long
When gone forever . . .

In today's world, challenging tasks — and meaningful discoveries — are waiting for young people who earn degrees in the sciences.

IN MEMORIAM

Robert Sevell
Class of 1961
Captain, U.S. Marine Corps

On February 28, 1968, one of Arthur L. Johnson's outstanding alumni made the supreme sacrifice for his country.

Bob's years at Johnson Regional were highlighted by many achievements. Along with high scholastic abilities, he demonstrated leadership by serving as student council president. Our starting quarterback during his junior and senior years, Bob was also a member of the track team.

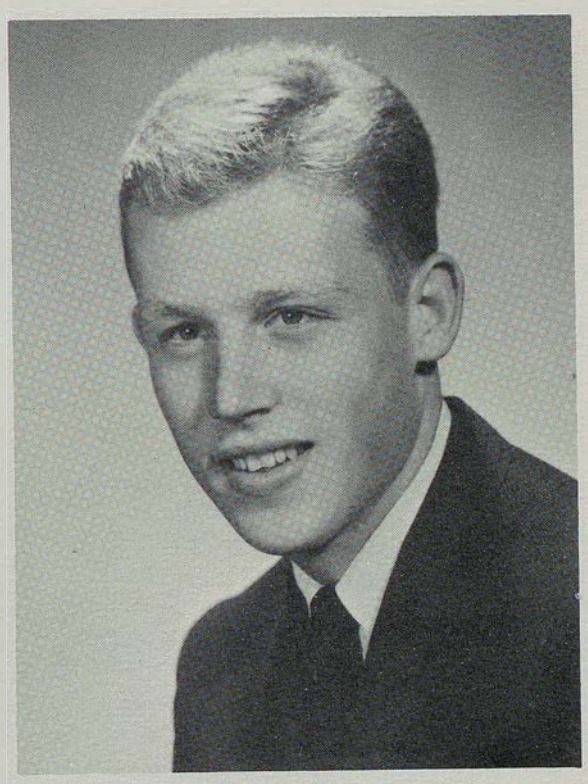

Bob always gave his all for A.L.J. and we will remember him for giving selflessly to his country.

A number of Regional's graduates have died in this seemingly endless war. They walked these halls, just as we do now. They endured the incessant bells, the uncomfortable fire drills and the food in the cafeteria. When they were students they faced all the same grief. Yet, they have given us something A.L.J. never possessed before—a heritage of bravery and gallantry. It is a heritage we students may look up to and admire.

HOW TO GET AWAY FROM A HOLD-UP

Build this tumble jig in 11¼ hours. It's easy with ABC tooling components. All you need is one U-shaped machined cast-iron section, three different sized ABC bushings, various ABC fixture components and you've got it made.

Build this milling fixture in 4 hours. Use an ABC flat-section, two ABC hook clamps, two ABC T-slot nuts.

Build this grinding fixture in 2½ hours. Just fit two ABC standard clamp assemblies to an ABC T-section.

All ABC tooling components will fit your jig and fixture building to a T. Lift-Swing drilling fixtures; cast-iron and aluminum sections; ASA and ABC Standard, Thin-wall, Carbide and Knurled bushings; ABC Jig & Fixture components. Send for the complete ABC catalog. You'll see that the price of components is no holdup.
