No lost dough until fall

A new project for the Cranford Public Library seems destined to be a big hit: "Book Marketing Handbook," a new book by Nat Bodian, a Cranford resident, and marketing consultant for the publishing industry. Bodian is the author of two books on the subject and has written numerous articles for trade publications.

Bodian has been a successful publisher, author, and marketing consultant for 20 years. He has worked with major publishers, including John Wiley & Sons, Inc., and has written and marketed hundreds of books. His expertise in book marketing has helped many authors and publishers achieve success.

The book, "Book Marketing Handbook," is designed to help authors and publishers understand the book publishing industry and marketing their books effectively. It covers topics such as "Field day games"

On the brink

"The Happy Hour," a new series of short stories, is being released this summer. The stories are set in a small town and explore the struggles of the main characters as they navigate their lives. The series is written by local author, Mary Johnson, and is being published by the local publishing company, The Happy Hour Press.

Johnson has been writing for several years and has published several short stories in local magazines. She was inspired to write the series after observing the struggles of the people in her community. The stories are meant to be a reflection of the town and the people who live there.

"The Happy Hour" is available for pre-order and will be released in mid-summer. It is being distributed through local bookstores and online retailers.

Down a mine

The company is opening its second mine in the area, which will provide jobs for the local community. The mine is expected to be operational within the next year and will provide a boost to the local economy.

Unhealthy bureaucracy

The eight government agencies that comprise the Monmouth Health Department of Public Health are all maintaining their own health officers. The health officers want to maintain their own health departments, as the state would cost them their jobs. The current health officers are not available to answer any questions about the state's health programs.

The health officers believe that the state's health programs are not working as efficiently as they could be if the state would be required to create their own health programs.

The state would have the health officers work full-time on the programs, which would save money and time. The state would need to hire a full-time health officer to work on the programs, which would cost money. The state would also need to hire a full-time health officer to work on the programs, which would cost money.

A pittance for health

The bureaucratic nonsense of the health officers is an example of the state's spending on health programs. The state is not spending as much money on health programs as it could be. The state needs to reallocate the funds to create more efficient programs.

Lakes and parks

Most of the 75,000 or so lakes and parks in the state have been developed with the help of private donations. The state has not been able to raise enough money to develop new lakes and parks.

Transition to computerized services urged for library

A library in Cranford, N.J., is planning to convert to a computerized system. The library is currently using an outdated system that is not efficient.

The library's director has said that the new system will be able to handle more transactions and it will also be able to provide more information to the public.

Eight CHS grads implicated in $2,000 school vandalism

A burglary at Cranford High School has led to the arrest of eight students, including two seniors, in connection with the theft of a total of $2,000 from the school.

According to Police, the burglars broke into the school on Wednesday night, after撬开学校的大门。Thebreak-in occurred during the school's summer break, allowing the students to enter undetected.

Police said that the burglars entered the school through an unlocked door and then proceeded to open the doors to several classrooms, allowing them to steal a number of items, including jewelry and other valuables.

Eight CHS seniors, including a 16-year-old boy and a 17-year-old girl, were arrested in connection with the theft. The school administration was notified of the breach and a search was immediately launched.

The students were charged with burglary and theft, and will appear in court at a later date.

Police said that the investigation is ongoing, and that they are seeking additional suspects who may have been involved in the crime.

The school administration has notified the students' parents and has taken steps to secure the school's facilities.

Students were advised to be cautious when entering and leaving the school, and to report any suspicious activity to the police immediately.

The school administration has also announced that the school will be closed for the rest of the summer break, in order to conduct a thorough search of the premises.

Police are reminding the community to stay vigilant and to report any suspicious activity to the police.

It is unknown at this time whether there are any links between this incident and the recent increase in school vandalism that has been reported in the area.

The school administration is working closely with the police to ensure the safety of the students and staff, and to prevent any further incidents from occurring.

One if by turf.
And two if by surf.

With apologies to Paul Revere, we have some revolutionary ideas that can help make your July 4th weekend a special celebration—from a surf 'n turf dinner to an old-fashioned clambake.

Take your choice.

The Kings Chicken Choice. We have the best from Perdue and Paramount. Whether it's a gas grill, rotisserie, or charcoal. Our carry-out, frozen or Boucher's Choice. Or directly-cooked in our Deli Corner.

And our Deli Corner folks barbecue fresh chickens throughout the day so they're never dry or overdone—always tender and "done to a turn."

The Kings Clambake for Two. *9.99 buys it all. Two medium lobsters, two large steamed clams. And two ears of fresh corn. All fresh, it's a great way to stock your picnic basket and have plenty left over for the next day. And you'll get the best fresh salmon taste you ever enjoyed.

So don't be shy. Pick one out. And have it custom cut for a big steak dinner. The Kings Salmon Steaks. Here's one fish steak that's perfect for charcoal broiling, because it holds together, cooks up moist and tender, and it will give you and your guests the best fresh salmon taste you ever imagined.

And we have all the little things that top off your holiday celebration, from fresh and moist to pickles and chutney. Plus one sauce with all of us to you and your family. Have a happy, merry—and safe—Fourth of July.
