PLANTING OF TREES MARKS ARBOR DAY CELEBRATION HERE

Many City Groups Taking Part in Program on Palisade Avenue

Arbor Day is being celebrated in Englewood today with tree planting ceremonies. Trees were planted at all the schools this morning, and this afternoon at 4:15 o'clock a tree, representative of all the trees placed along East Palisade avenue, is being planted at the intersection of that thoroughfare with Lydecker street.

Mayor Cornelius P. Kitchel will give a brief address upon beautifying Englewood with trees and Mrs. Carl H. Elmore will recite Joyce Kilmer's famous poem "Trees."

The Girl Scouts of Englewood will have an important part in the ceremony. Eight troops will meet at the First Presbyterian church and march to the Brickerhoff property to open the ceremonies with the singing of "The Song of the Trees." After the reading of "Trees" the Scouts will conclude the program with "The Hike Song" by Grace Sherwood. Miss Gwendolyn Masten was chosen as the outstanding Scout of the year to place the first tree of earth.

Groups Participating

The organizations and individuals participating in the tree planting, which follows Mayor Kitchel's speech, are: Contemporary club, Zonta Club, Girl Scouts, St. Cecilia school, Dwight school, Boys' school, West side Presbyterian church, St. Paul's church through five auxiliaries, Junior Service League, First Presbyterian church, Shady Tree committee, Woman's club, Garden club, members of the Rotary club, Mrs. Frank Hall, Mrs. Peter Durys, and Miss Sarah Clapham. All these donated trees.

The Board of Education donated a tree to each school to be planted on its grounds, and ceremonies were held this morning. Liberty school, however, was the recipient of two trees as the Liberty Role Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, donated a tree with this stipulation that it be planted as near as possible to the site of the Liberty Monument.

Donald Quarles of the fifth grade opened the exercises at Roosevelt school with a recitation "The Valley of the Forests." The rest of the program was as follows: "Trees," grade 8A; "Trees," a song by the school; An Arbor Day dialogue about trees, grade 4A; "Aspen Tree" and "Arbor Day," spoken by grade 4B; "Riddles for Arbor Day," grade 3B; "The Linden Tree," song by the sixth grade; "The Blue Jay," a recitation by John Stockman of the sixth grade; planting of the tree.

Grade 6A was in charge of ceremonies at Cleveland school. Several children gave short speeches and a girl and boy from each class put a handful of earth at the roots of the trees. Brief ceremonies were also held at the other schools.

DI RIENZO BECOMES MORROW CLUB HEAD

Puglia Relinquishes Honor To New Committeeman

Leo di Rienzo, who was appointed county committeeman from the first district of the Fourth Ward, was named leader of the Italian American Dwight Morrow League Wednesday night, William G. Puglia relinquishing this distinction in favor of the new man. Di Rienzo is the former president of the league.

In an address to the league, which has taken an important place in the political front in Englewood, Mr. Puglia declared that he believed the post of honor should go to the man in office. The Englewood Republican club selected Di Rienzo for the committee post because of his diligent work for the party.

Two new members were added to the league ranks Wednesday at the Veterans' building, and the members were urged to work for the party in the coming primaries. William Ferrara, young Italian attorney at 40 West Palisade avenue, was named orator of the league, a post created especially for him. Michael Masten was named sergeant at arms. Ernest Ippolito assistant sergeant at arms.

Woman's Club to Hear About City of Mystery

Miss Lucille Douglas, noted artist, writer, and lecturer, will address the Englewood Women's club Monday afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church, describing the wonders of the mysterious city of Agokor in the Cambodian jungles of French Indo-China.

Miss Douglas will exhibit sketches, paintings and photographs of the dream city. She describes Agokor as a "royal garden," and her talk is known to be colorful and romantic.

CONCERT SERIES APRIL 24
The Englewood Press will sponsor a concert series on April 24 at the First Presbyterian church. The program will include a variety of musical numbers, including vocal solos and instrumental pieces. Tickets are available at the door.

Council Awaits Revised Sewer Company Report; Original is Incomplete

Commission Complies With City's Request For New Report Showing 12-Month Period Under The Increased Rates — Other Changes Also

Upon request of the Public Utilities Commission, which in turn was asked to make the request by Englewood city officials, the Englewood Sewerage Company will submit a revised report to the commission showing, among other things, the financial picture for a full 12-month period under the increased rate schedule. It will be remembered that the initial report by the company showed the usual fiscal year only, which ran from October to October and which therefore included two months of operation under the lower rates.

Until the Englewood common council receives this complete report, little is expected in the way of action on the report, for it is pointed out, it is not possible to see the complete return enjoyed by the company without the additional two months on the higher rates.

There are other changes that will appear in the new report, it being understood from members of the Englewood Taxpayers League that the $12,000 item for legal fees which, in the original report is charged to cost of operation, should be charged to surplus account instead, and that the commission has asked that this be done. To charge it to surplus account would result in showing a greater earning capacity for the sewerage company.

There are several other minor items, it was pointed out, which the utilities commission has requested to be revised in the new report and which will show that the earning power of the Englewood Sewerage Company is considerably higher than $65,617 as stated in the original report.

Meanwhile, the Englewood Taxpayers League has taken hold of the new report and has offered to work with city officials in analyzing it. Thursday night, April 14, the league will meet in the City Hall under the leadership of Wybert C. Purdy. Elmer Zabriske, lawyer, will present his opinion of the sewer rate situation at this meeting.

P. J. WURTS REELECTED PRESIDENT OF INSTITUTE AT CONCLUDING SESSION

Entire Staff Returned To Office; Capt. Osborne Is Speaker

Pierre J. Wurts and his staff were unanimously reelected at a short business meeting broadcast by the People's Institute Wednesday night. The officers are: Pierre Wurts, president; Ralph E. Walker, secretary; Albert J. Wurts, treasurer; D. B. Wilcox, treasurer.

The executive committee comprises Adolph Amend, Charles Brucker Jr., Miss Alice S. Coe, Frank M. Growney, Ernest Heppenheimer, Edward S. Brockle, Mrs. Thomas C. Birtwhistle, Miss Helen C. B. Hayward, Roy R. Zimmerman and the officers.

The nominations were made by a committee consisting of Arthur B. Foote, Walter M. Merritt and R. C. Gambes.

Mr. Wurts announced that meetings next season would be reduced from 12 to 10 and season tickets would be correspondingly reduced from $6 to $5. To make certain of next season's success, a campaign is now being instituted to enroll members, the president stating that 400 members are necessary, an increase of nearly 100 over the present number.

Captain Osborne delighted his audience with unusually clear colored slides of Australia and its oddities, and moving pictures of some of its animals. Movies of the antics of the Australian teddy bears caused the most amusement. The speaker said these animals are used as pets in his country just as Americans have cats and dogs.

The lecture was concluded with slides of modern Australia with its large municipal buildings and beautiful homes, Captain Osborne stating that he did not wish the people to think of his country only as a home of savages and freak animals. He answered questions from the floor at the conclusion of his talk.

DRAMA OF LABRADOR WILL BE SHOWN HERE AS GRENFELL BENEFIT

Varick Frissell Lost His Life in Production of This Epic of the North

"The Viking," an authentic drama of Labrador, will be shown at the Englewood high school for the benefit of Sir Wilfred Grenfell's work among the fishermen of the North Friday evening, April 15, and Saturday afternoon, April 16.

This picture leaped into the headlines of the newspapers last year when its producer, Varick Frissell, and 25 other men lost their lives as a result of an explosion of the powder magazine of the boat on which the picture was filmed. "The Viking" is a thrilling portrayal of the adventure and hardships accepted by the fishermen as everyday routine.

Dr. Grenfell vouches for the authenticity of the picture in a prologue. He, himself, is well known for his work in that region. Forty years ago he built his first hospital and today his hospitals and schools serve over 1,500 miles of coast line. His stations form the only ports of refuge for that isolated district and travel during the greater part of the year is accomplished by dog teams and during the few open months by small boats.

In addition to maintaining schools and hospitals, over 2500 women, disabled men and boys are given employment through the handicraft department. Hooked rugs, hand woven goods, carved ivories, all of the finest workmanship, are made by these craftsmen and sent to this country for distribution. One of the features of the performance will be an exhibition of these handicrafts.

The past winter has been unusually severe and all friends of the doctor are asked to aid in the work. The local committee sponsoring the benefit comprises: Dr. William J. Barnes, E. Eversley Bennett, Mrs. Irving W. Bonbright Jr., Edward S. Brockle, Miss Jannette De la Chapelle, R. C. Frank, Mrs. G. W. Hulet, Mrs. Halstead Little, Donald Lewis, Mrs. Harry Lauderbourg, Mrs. Robert Salembier, Mrs. William B. Scarborough, Miss Janet S. Thompson, Mrs. H. Rowland Vermilye, J. Spencer Smith and the Junior League.

Tickets can be obtained from Mrs. W. B. Scarborough. There are no reserved seats.

CONKLIN TO ADDRESS WOMEN

William Conklin will address the Englewood Women's Democratic club Tuesday afternoon, April 12, at the Green Door, 25 West 10th St., Engle street. The club is extending its activities and is seeking members. Mr. Conklin, prominent Englewood Democrat, will talk about municipal consolidation.

138 Families Are On Poormaster's "Dead List" Of Undeserving Cases

The office of the poormaster has so far placed 138 families on what it calls the "dead list," that list of people who are not deserving of help. Of these, 115 families are colored, 23 white.

Occasionally somebody slips through the formidable gauntlet set up by William Cantwell and his assistants. A colored fellow slipped through several weeks ago and was not taught until the other day. But with swift dispatch Mr. Cantwell brought the luckless fabricator before Judge Le Roy Huckin, who forced him to return to Mr. Cantwell the total of $12 which he had stolen on the false plea that he had a wife and family and no job.

The fellow was caught through his own stupidity. He boasted to others in the Fourth Ward that he was getting $2 a week. "It's easy," he boasted, "but from now on I mean to get my money when I get it."

Chamber Important as Bureau of Information

Dosent of questions comes into the office of the Englewood Chamber of Commerce every week, but the most surprising question came this week when an Englewood resident who had torn a hole in an expensive topcoat asked Glen O. Pierce, secretary, where he could find a tailor to do invisible mending.

Other unusual questions this week included one by a college girl who, returning by auto, wanted to know the best route. A telephone question asked where a certain kind of ice cream could be obtained. A woman from out of town asked the Chamber of Commerce to secure several back copies of the Englewood Press.

The importance of the Englewood Chamber as a bureau of information is being demonstrated by these questions.

CITY PROBLEMS ARE FRANKLY DISCUSSED FOR WOMEN'S G. O. P.

Mayor and Five Others in Illuminating Talks About Englewood

The unemployment problem, the stray dog problem, the care of trees, the organization of the police department, the present political situation, the progress of the school system—all vital phases of Englewood activity, were discussed by city leaders at the Englewood Women's Republican Club Wednesday afternoon before a large audience of women at the First Presbyterian Church.

Mayor Cornelius P. Kitchel, Mrs. Howard Lown, J. R. Melcher, Peter S. Durys, Henry P. Du Bois, and Thomas R. Cox addressed the club women in a program planned by President Florence Pickernell to "keep the members advised on affairs in Englewood."

Mayor Kitchel paid a tribute to the people of Englewood for the way they have responded to the emergency of unemployment. He expressed the fear, however, that the same spirit will have to prevail, perhaps to an even greater extent, "for," he said, "we are not yet sure about what is to come."

Mr. Kitchel sketched "the work done in Englewood for the needy so far, and pointed out that in spite of it all only about half of the applicants for help have been aided.

"Why? Simply because what was done was the level best and there was neither money nor jobs to provide for others." He remarked upon the fact that the 1,392 applicants were divided equally between whites and blacks; 685 white, 707 black, including monies appropriated by city and state, and the donations of private citizens, the Englewood fund has been $150,448.

Unformed Warden Friday

Mrs. Howard Lown delighted the audience by her talk on the founding of the S. P. C. A. branch in Englewood.

"We expect to have a uniformed warden operating in Englewood by April 15," Mrs. Lown declared, "he is now being trained and he will have the power of prosecution. This

LEAGUE WILL PRESENT STAGE, SCREEN, RADIO CELEBRITIES IN REVUE

Occupational Therapy Clinic to Receive Proceeds of Extravaganza

The Junior Service League of Englewood will present a Variety Revue at the Plaza theater Thursday evening, May 5. The performance will be for the benefit of the Occupational Therapy Clinic in the Englewood Hospital. The clinic is the League's main project, and is organized, supported and managed entirely by its efforts.

The Variety Revue is being staged and directed by Alois Havrilla and Ernest Chappell. These men have had extensive experience in the field of production, and their wide acquaintance with professional entertainers will enable them to bring to Englewood many famous personalities.

Mr. Havrilla, a resident of Englewood for many years, and well known concert singer, is now connected with the National Broadcasting Company and Columbia Network as an announcer. Mr. Chappell, also an Englewood man, is vice president and production manager of the Adams Broadcasting Service. He has been associated with Mr. Havrilla in radio work in many cities being the Jack Frost hour and the Fascial opera programs.

League Girls To Take Part

Twelve members of the Junior Service League are being coached in specialty dance numbers by Madame Serova of the Serova School of Dancing in New York, and of the Englewood Conservatory of Music. Madame Serova is herself a dancer of note, and at her New York school has trained many famous stage stars. Other dance numbers on the program will be performed by some of Madame Serova's most talented solo dancers and chorus groups.

Benny Krueger, popular orchestra leader, will be at the Plaza in person with his fifteen piece orchestra, and will also play at the invitation dance at the Knickerbocker Country club after the show. Mr. Krueger and his orchestra have been featured in radio programs and arena favorites.

Variety Revue will include several other performances of established reputation and popularity, whose names will be announced at a later date.

Tickets will range in price from 75 cents to $3.50. They will be on sale the week of the performance in the vacant store at 29 East Palisade avenue. Reservations may be made in advance by telephoning Miss Margaret Foote, Lydecker street, Englewood 2-2610.

FOURTH WARD CLUB NAMES COMMITTEES

Enthusiastic Republicans Endorse Ahrens

The Englewood Fourth Ward Republican Club launched its activities with a great show of enthusiasm last night at its first regular meeting in the City Hall, Albert Moskin leading the group. Almost the first act of the new Republican unit, which is representative of the entire ward, was to endorse the candidacy of Thomas J. Ahrens for city clerk.

President Moskin named his committees, urging them all to organize immediately and to get shoulder to the wheel. He pointed out the utter need for united effort in the coming campaign. The executive committee will consist of the following: President Moskin, Councilman Meiers, Dr. William F. Willoughby, Charles B. Hinton, Charles H. Greenberg, Edwin Parcells, William Picht, William G. Puglia, George H. Blackwell, H. Franklin Smallwood, Simeon Sanders, Leo di Rienzo, Mrs. M. P. Pickering, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, William Andrews and Mrs. Maria Davis. This committee will meet tonight to elect a chairman.

The membership committee is headed by William Puglia and consists of Mrs. Pickering, Mr. Sanders, Mr. Andrews and Mr. Greenberg.

The finance committee, headed by William Picht, consists also of Dr. Willoughby, Councilman Meiers, Raymond Stewart, H. P. Bice, Raymond Edgar, and William Cantwell. The entertainment committee, consists of George H. Blackwell, chairman; Charles E. Bernth, Edwin Parcells, Charles Hinton, J. F. Smallwood, Leo di Rienzo, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Davis and Mr. Stone.

Memorial House Activity Outlined

To acquaint residents of Englewood with the activities undertaken by the Social Service Federation through its community center, Memorial House, the following statistics have been released setting forth the work of the bureau week:

Services were given families of 52 unemployed.

Hot school lunches were served to 159 children.

Two child study classes were held, for 38 mothers.

More than 500 boys and girls, from 6 to 20 years of age, were accommodated in clubs and classes. $16.59 was realized in the weekly Thrift Shop sale.

Daily recreation was provided for 53 unemployed boys.

Prominent citizens of Englewood, recognizing the value of this work, have urged the general public to rally to its support, more widespread aid being necessary if the activities are to continue unabated.

$600,000 Borrowing Power For Englewood is Revealed; Market Warm for Bond Sale

Clean-Up Week Starts April 18

To the Citizens of Englewood:

This is the time for our annual Clean-Up Campaign in Englewood. I wish to call attention to an additional reason for doing as much as possible along this line this year especially, namely the direct help which will thus be given to our unemployed.

The employment committee has men available for any work which may be requested and if every householder will put his premises in order and use the unemployed whenever outside assistance is necessary, a great deal can be accomplished, not only in beautifying our city, but also in giving employment which is sorely needed at this time. I commend this suggestion to the minds and hearts of all our citizens.

With the consent and approval of the Common Council, I hereby designate the period from Monday, April 18, to Saturday, April 23, both inclusive, as "Clean-Up Week" in Englewood.

The public works department will be prepared to remove all rubbish which is collected by householders and I urge upon all our citizens the importance of taking advantage of this offer of assistance by the city.

(Signed) Cornelius P. Kitchel, Mayor of the City of Englewood, April 5, 1932.

Bank Leeway Has Doubled Since Election; Never Postpone "Agony"

With the release today of figures from Trenton showing that the City of Englewood has a borrowing capacity of slightly less than $600,000, or double what it was at election time, the market for the sale of the $350,000 school bond issue has warmed considerably and confidence for the proposed sale has experienced a sharp jump. The big issue will be put up for sale Tuesday night, April 19. The bond issue has no effect on the city's debt limit.

Confidence in its sale was high even before this new announcement, as was evidenced by the fact that the City of Englewood is offering only 5 per cent. interest, whereas scarcely another town has had the temerity to risk a 5 1/2 per cent. offer. But in the opinion of Englewood city officials, Englewood's credit and resources are so high and Englewood bonds therefore so desirable that bidders will be more than willing to make the investment at 5 per cent.

Never Postpone "Agony"

The new leeway that Englewood now enjoys is largely possible because of Englewood's policy of "never postponing the agony." As officials state it. In other words, Englewood has met its principal every year, this year too in spite of the fact that it is $137,000, and that meeting it meant failure to show a reduced budget.

The actual borrowing capacity of the city under the new figure is $596,245, being the difference between 7 per cent. of the three-year average valuations, or $2,419,998, and the city's net debt, or $1,823,753. The payment April 1 of $40,000 principal on funded debt was the latest step toward increasing the city's borrowing capacity.

C. Cortlandt Hay, finance chairman, this morning stated that there is every probability of this leeway being still further extended by the end of the year, for Englewood is contemplating no new expenditures, continuing rather upon its present course of building up a strong reserve.

All Eyes on Sale

All eyes are turning toward the proposed bond sale for the new Dwight Morrow high school. Other municipalities have had serious difficulty in finding a market for their bonds. Englewood anticipates an easy, satisfactory sale. It has been deemed advisable to offer the entire issue, $450,000, at this time, and if all the bonds can be sold, the $300,000 now out in temporary bonds will be retired. A New York Corporation now has the $300,000 temporary issue.

At the next meeting of the mayor and common council, when bids are returned on the bond issue, C. Cortlandt Hay, finance chairman, will make a statement concerning Englewood's offer.

SCHOOL BOARD SOON READY TO ADVERTISE FOR NEW FURNITURE

May Have Only $40,000 to Spend; Will Leave Some Rooms Unfurnished

The Englewood Board of Education will advertise for furniture bidders within a few weeks, the trustees feeling that the new high school has progressed to the point where the important furniture problem must be settled.

It is feared that some of the 40 rooms in the Dwight Morrow high school will have to go unfurnished for a while. Schools are generally furnished on a 10 per cent. cost basis, it is understood, so that to properly and adequately furnish the beautiful new high school would necessitate an expenditure of over $70,000. Whether or not it will be possible to spend this sum cannot be determined as yet, though serious doubt is entertained. Rather than attempt to deal skimpily with all rooms, it is believed by many to be more advisable not to use some of the rooms until such time as it is possible to furnish them adequately.

Work Progresses Well

Meanwhile the school is progressing on schedule. Carpenters are at work on the roof, the tower is well under way, and it is hoped that plastering can be started soon.

The contractors are particularly anxious to reach the point where the interior trim work can be started, this phase of the job being one of the "dragging" phases. This, according to plans, should start within six weeks.

The new high school will have no auditorium, due to limited finances, and possibly this limiting of the size of the construction job will go toward insuring the completion of the school by September, as scheduled.

CITY STARTS HIRING MEN AGAIN MONDAY

Final State Okay Given On New $10,000 Fund

Coincident with the announcement this morning that the public works department will begin to re-hire men from the lists of the unemployed for road work Monday came the final encouraging word that the state has agreed to match the $5000 donated to the city by the Citizens' Employment Committee with another $5000.

This brings the city employment fund up to $10,000 again, sufficient to carry a work program for several months.

The new $10,000 will not be used on the roads, however, but to improve the Englewood high school athletic field and Dwight Morrow Park, both of which the public works department expects to put into shape by the fall.

For a period of three weeks the city has employed no men outside of the regular department men, and as is reported elsewhere in today's issue, the result has been an extra heavy run on the office of the overseer of the poor.

Union Service Sunday At St. Paul's Church

The fourth and last of the union services arranged by the Federated Churches of Englewood will be held in St. Paul's Episcopal church at 5 p. m. Sunday, Rev. J. Furman Shook, D.D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will preach. The vested choir of St. Paul's under the direction of J. E. Cornelle will sing.

The churches participating in this service are the First Presbyterian, West Side Presbyterian, First Methodist Episcopal and St. Paul's. The congregations are asked to note that the service is in the afternoon instead of the evening as heretofore.

PLATT ADDRESSED ART ASSOCIATION

Dan Fellows Platt of Englewood was one of the principal speakers at the subscription dinner held in connection with the twenty-first annual meeting of the College Art Association at Louis Sherry's, Fifth avenue, New York, March 31. More than 150 persons including the directors and heads of many educational institutions were present.

Sylvan Boulevard Claims Another, Adding to Name as Death Highway

Sylvan boulevard snatched another victim Sunday night, clanking the lighter its fast growing reputation as a death boulevard.

The death of Mrs. John Gordon of West New York, who was hurled to her death when the car burst a fire while rounding a curve half a mile from Englewood, was announced Sunday.

Sylvan boulevard's death toll in the past year up to five, and its toll is injured to a score.

The Gordon car, driven by the dead woman's husband skidded to the opposite side of the highway when the tire burst and plowed into a ditch, only when a new tire was put on.

occurring regularly on this highway which is dangerous to speeders because of the great number of curves in it. January 22 two Westchester women were seriously hurt in a crash at the intersection of Sylvan boulevard and Palisade avenue, where, some months ago, Frank Harwood of Grandwood was killed.

Other memorable Sylvan boulevard crashes which resulted in death or serious injury was that in which Charles Ruckle of 180 Engle street, was killed outright as his car rounded an S-curve, and the crash at the curve last beyond the Tuckers, the car was with a

Englewood Manufactures Buy $1,402,179 Products

Englewood manufacturers bought $1,402,179 worth of raw materials last year, according to figures from the United States Chamber of Commerce. The Englewood Chamber is now preparing a revised census of manufacturing in the city, and it is believed that there has been a significant increase in business.

Standing that many of the importance on Van Nostrand avenue of Grand avenue benefit Public Service rather than the property owners, and further contending that the assessments are beyond the scope of their property and will increase so until South Dean street is recovered as planned, the three main parties protested the assessment on Tuesday night, Judge Thomas Huckin representing them.
Judge Huckin claimed that the owners' grantees curbings on either side of the trolley tracks; the actual grading and drainage were an specific Public Service improvements which the property owners should not be called upon to pay.
Samuel Bell, of the D. R. K. Mortgage Company, and Dr. Benjamin Lipp, of the Fort Lee Realty Company, the former assessed $18,000, the latter $10,000, claimed they would have to let the city take the responsibility to hold it. At this point, however, Irving B. Reves pointed out to Mr. Bell that only six months ago he had placed a value of $20,000 on a small section of the Van Nostrand avenue property.
The council postponed the hearing another two weeks to give ample consideration to the pleas of the protesting owners. Judge Huckin declared that the improvement differed radically from the outlines of the original ordinance and the amendment to the ordinance, and that the changes were chiefly for Public Service interests.

See Englewood Night Have Been the Scene

Englewood night have been the scene of the holdup which drew down jail terms of four years each for two Port Lee men and one New Yorker, who on January 15 shifted their holdup to Port Lee, where they were caught, according to Chief Charles A. Peterson, the trio were cruising around Englewood the afternoon of their crime and were stopped by Englewood police.
Charles Burns of Port Lee, one of the men who was sentenced by Judge Abram A. Leboon Monday night, claims he was in Englewood to visit his wife, who lives on Prospect street. But this police scoff at,

Horrors of Recent Hurricane Described by College Student

Joseph Daniels, a graduate of Englewood high school and a student at the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa, through the Rotary Scholarship Fund, has written to the staff of the Englewood Press, with whom he formerly worked, telling of the humorous as well as gruesome aspects of the cyclone which struck three southern states recently. "The old cyclone sure made things move faster around these parts," he says.
"I never saw so much activity in the town before. Northport, the town immediately next to Tuscaloosa was hardest hit. About 60 lost their lives and many hundreds were severely injured. The entire town was laid so low you could land a plane on it."
Referring to the gruesome sights
Daniels says, "I was in Northport that morning when I accompanied a friend of mine to a garage where he was having some repairs made on his car. After the storm had passed (about 4:20 p. m.) we ran with the rest of the students to get to the scene to help the rescue work.
I saw more dead people than I have ever seen in my entire life. And how they were dead: heads caved in, bodies ripped and mangled, blood clotted with clay and cinders. My stomach turned so that I could hardly eat for three days afterwards, thinking about it."

"However, I pitched in with the rest and dug out bodies even though I was scared to death I might find one," he confesses. "I heard of one dead case where a couple who had heard that in case of a cyclone, the safest course was to lie down on the ground, so they left their home which was injured by the wind, to go out in the field and lie down. A nearby wall collapsed on them and killed the husband, severely injuring the woman."

COAL PRICES DROP $2
SINCE FIRST OF MONTH

New Figure Is Definitely
Effective in April Only

Domestic coal prices are now the lowest in 11 years as a result of a second reduction yesterday. The first reduction of $1 a ton occurred March 1, and the additional decrease of another dollar a ton yesterday makes spring fall in coal cost the retail consumer $2 a ton less than last winter.

There is a cash discount of 50 cents a ton when paid C. O. D. to the driver, or on approved credit within ten days from date of delivery. The discount on coke is also 50 cents a ton but only when paid to driver or on orders prepaid. This really makes coke $2.50 cheaper than last winter's prices.

As in other years, these low hard coal prices will be definitely in effect only during April. The first advance will probably occur May 1, with successive monthly advances until September.

Craftsman's Club Staging
Get-together This Evening

Tuscan Craftsman's club will hold a "get-together evening" at the Englewood Masonic Temple tonight.
Card games of all kinds will be played. Beginning with this meeting all scores will be kept and at the end of the year the high scorer in each game wins a prize.
The meeting is under the direction of the entertainment committee which consists of William H. Beck-

Hebrew Ladies Aid
Has Charity Event

The usually large attendance at the charity tea of the Hebrew Ladies Aid Society in the vestry room of the Englewood Synagogue Tuesday evening resulted in a social and financial success, the proceeds to be devoted to the relief of several needy families during the Passover holidays.
The Hebrew Ladies Aid has distributed charity to 80 families during the past winter. Mrs. Jules Levinson and Rabel P. Hirnes spoke at the affair Tuesday, speaking of the accomplishments of the organization in the 25 years since its founding. Mrs. Samuel Dincin, vice chairman, thanked the group for the generous support of the charity work.

URGES A GREATER USE OF ITS CREDIT BUREAU

Chairman Sortor Points To Growing Need for Care
In Business

In an effort to widen its service,
the Credit Bureau of the Englewood Chamber of Commerce is communicating with Englewood business men, pointing out the need, for the sake of sound business, of the bureau in Englewood. These letters will be followed up by a special Round Table Conference on the subject of credit.

The letter sent out by William Sortor, chairman of the credit department:

You carry fire insurance. But why? Thousands of business men round out their expenses by never collect a fire loss.
So, why not fire insurance premiums do a good business.
Also credit. More likely to lose more money this year than from fire.

Englewood Lodge 197 I. O. O. F. was host last night to about 250 representatives of Old Fellows lodges throughout Bergen county at a "Past Grand's Night." The guests of honor were Grand Master Ernest C. Burke, Grand Secretary Harry
S. Pine and their staffs.

As a feature of the evening, all past grand's resumed their former positions in conducting the ceremonies symbolic of the order.

Last Saturday, Harry F. Rothman represented Englewood lodge at the state conference of Old Fellows in Ashbury Park when a large silk banner and a gavel were presented to the city. About 2000 delegates representing the four branches of the order were present.

The Old Fellows Lodge from Westwood was awarded the prize last night for the highest attendance. Past Grand Master Rothman making the presentation. Lodges from Park Ridge, Closter, Hackensack and New York were present.

EXPANSION PROJECTS
NOW UNDER WAY ARE BUSINESS STIMULANT

Englewood Merchants Are Effecting Improvements
In Establishments

Englewood business has been spurred to a new and encouraging activity this month by the launching of several expansion projects by merchants and business men.

Following the lead of Robert Livingston Sr., who within a few weeks will commence erection of his new building on Dean street opposite Berzen street, are such enterprises
as Garapedian Oriental Rug Store; Z. M. Vineburg, jeweler and optician; F. Vorsanger Meat and Vegetable Market; Willmer's Hosiery and Lingerie; Loula's Restaurant (successor to Excellent Restaurant); and Donkian's Oriental Rug Store.

Within a few weeks Mr. Livingston will start his new building, and during the course of its construction the Englewood News Company will occupy space in the corner Livingston building and China's market will occupy the store in which the Employment Committee operated several months ago.

One of the notable expansions in business this month is in Vineburg's.
Mr. Vineburg in enlarging his optical department which is already one of the best in Northern New Jersey. He opened the remodelled department yesterday. The ceremony will continue through tomorrow. The chief improvement is the fitting room with its new instruments. Mr. Vineburg has been in the optical business 32 years.

The Garapedian Oriental Rug
Store move is unusual, for Mr. Garapedian has taken over the store next to his original store, has broken down the partition, and converted the whole into a beautiful setting for his rug.

Ferdinand Vorsanger is rearrang-ing his market and improving the store. He now has a modern combination meat and vegetable market.

The Donkian Oriental Rug Store is also effecting an expansion move by moving from its former headquarters on East Palisade avenue to the former Cadillac show room on Grand avenue.

Englewood business this month has been further enriched by the arrival of Willmer, progressive hosiery and lingerie store, a branch of which has succeeded unusually well in Hackensack. Louie's Restaurant has met with almost triple the success of the former Excellent Restaurant in the two weeks he has been in Englewood.

New York Negroes Fined
For Bringing Liquor Here

Roy Powell, New York City Negro, took the responsibility of possessing the liquor that was found in his car by Patrolmen Dotson and Bellingham two weeks ago at Grand avenue and Engle street and was fined $50

by Judge Abram A. Leboon in anack Criminal Court Monday.
Powell and his two associates
likewise New York City Negroes had two weeks of it in the County jail at Hackensack.
Their car had been stopped by the two Englewood men Saturday night, March 27,
a five gallon jug of hard liquor found in the rear.

ENGLEWOOD HADASSAH HONORS NEW OFFICERS

Praise Mrs. de Scherer For Service as Treasurer

Mrs. N. de Scherer, treasurer of Englewood Hadassah for eight years, was honored Wednesday afternoon at the installation of officers when she was presented with a gift by Mrs. Jules Levinsohn, Hadassah chairman, and praised by other members of the society.

The installation services were held at the home of Mrs. N. Siegel, 54 Cross street, and were attended by a large number of members who contributed generously to the Hadassah fund. Mrs. Rae Wollenberg, recording secretary, read an article from the New Palestine News Bulletin about Nabrum Sokolon, great Zionist leader, and another article about the late Boris Shatz, noted Jewish sculptor. Mrs. F. Hirman gave a short talk about the artist, and read a poem she had dedicated to him 18 years ago.

The officers were installed by Mrs. Hirman, who praised Mrs. Levinsohn for her past work. The staff is: Mrs. Levinsohn, chairman; Mrs. Samuel Dincin, first vice chairman; Mrs. M. Lebon, second; Mrs. S. Albert, third; Mrs. Rose Dorf, fourth; Mrs. S. Franklin, treasurer; Mrs. Wollenberg, recording secretary; Mrs. Kasowitz, financial secretary; Mrs. E. Barnett, corresponding secretary. Mrs. M. Kraut will assist both secretaries.

Mrs. Sidney Franklin will be hostess at the Hadassah third party at her home, 15 Tonally road, Wednesday evening, May 4, the proceeds of the event to go to the Hadassah fund.

churches there will be special programs promoting kindness.
To Spray Elm Trees
J. R. Melcher, chairman of the Shade Tree Commission, outlined the accomplishments of this new group, describing the work that has been done through use of a part of the unemployment money. He reported that 4,500 trees had been trimmed and 85 removed, all with skill and without accident in spite of the fact that not all of the men were trained in the work previously. With the $300 appropriation this year the committee will have Englewood's 900 elm trees sprayed.

The organization of the Englewood police was sketched by Peter S. Dur- yee, police commissioner. Mr. Dur- yee was especially proud of the Englewood detective bureau which, he said, is patterned after the New York department. He explained the purpose of the auxiliary department which, he said, is the testing ground for a man before he is placed upon the force. Great care must be taken in the selection of policemen because it is possible to discharge them only on one of three charges: immorality, drunkenness, or cowardice. The Englewood department has 40 men, 32 patrolmen and 8 officers. Last year, he said vacations and sickness amounted to the time of seven men.

Wonderful Schools
Henry P. Du Bois, newly elected president of the Englewood Republican Club, was introduced to the Woman's Republican Club by Mrs. Pickernell. Mr. Du Bois emphasized the seriousness of the political situation today and urged that both Republican organizations bend to the task of stirring the Republican voters in Englewood.

Thomas R. Cox, president of the school board, referred to the Englewood school system as the "show system of the state," explaining that it is inspected every week by educators, teachers, and student teachers and is used as a model of beauty and efficiency. Mr. Cox laid the honor of having brought the system to this point to Mayor Kitchel, who for six years served as president of the board.

response to our plea for supporters has been wonderful, 150 men and women having pledged themselves. Active membership costs $5, and we are seeking as many of them as possible.

Mrs. Lown succeeded in eliciting deep interest in her project. She described conditions in Englewood, where the dog ordinance is but laxly enforced, where the stray dog problem has resulted in cruelty to animals. In fact, she said, the condition is general throughout the county.

Englewood will ponder the problem during "Kindness to Animals" week April 17 to 23, when in schools and

WEDDINGS

JEAGER-WILKENS
A quiet home wedding, witnessed only by immediate relatives took place Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Wilkens, 453 Orchard street, when their daughter, Miss Ruth C. Wilkens, became the bride of Edward H. Jeager, son of Frank A. Jeager of Union City.

Maurice Hindus Talks Neutrality of Russia

"I cannot prophesy what the outcome will be," said Maurice Hindus, student, author, a born Russian, graduate of Colgate, post graduate of Harvard, who spends most of his time in Russia studying conditions, and is occupied while in America, largely on the lecture platform. But who conceded the five year plan a chance, Friday at the Knickerbocker before the Women's club at the annual luncheon sponsored by the International Relations department of which Mrs. William Tallman is the chairman.

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE PARTY FESTIVE OCCASION

Seven of Englewood's most interesting homes were opened for the monster benefit bridge Monday afternoon sponsored by the Englewood Women's Exchange and each hostess feeling the same keen responsibility as if it were her own private entertainment vied with the other in creating an atmosphere of hospitable charm. Spring flowers, attractively decorating each home, contributed a share in the festivity.

Youth Abounds Everywhere

"We look upon Russia too much from our own immediate standpoint. There everything is informal. Every one knows and speaks to the other. Human behavior is different. Though human nature may be the same. Youth, youth, youth and youth is everywhere," Mr. Hindus spoke of the lack of patriotism in the old regime when during the war inhabitants of villages which had been ruined by the enemy, were in despair because the latter had not remained to govern. The older generation was still working with tools used by its forefathers for centuries, but happy without even watch or clock, sowing by hand and singing as they plowed a shallow furrow with a one-horned single plow. The youth of Russia, quick to seize upon new ideas, entered the new regime as with a spirit of adventure, and their fathers compelled to sit back and watch the same field being cultivated with the 25 mechanical monsters digging deep into the rich soil and routinely taking the place of old methods.

History is not repeating itself.

"History is not repeating itself," said Mr. Hindus, as he compared the French revolution with that of Russia. "French peasants, fighting for land, obtained it and in individual ownership are the backbone of the government; of Russian peasants who fought for land, 70 per cent have already surrendered it to government ownership and in another year the balance will also be abandoned. The French revolution dated before the machine age.

Cucumbers Favorite Diet

"One should not visit Russia," said the speaker, "unless possessed of a passion for cucumbers, their national vegetable, always included on the menu for refreshments on every occasion, and next comes the cabbage. Also included in the Russian diet are black bread, potatoes and sour milk, but in spite of monotony, and probable lack of many requirements of our diet, Russians remain physically healthy."

Fats are now procured from the oil of sunflower seeds.

Fats are now procured from the oil of sunflower seeds. The shortage of them dates from the beginning of the new regime when the peasants became recalcitrant and were at loggerheads with the Soviet government and a strike imminent at the introduction of scientific machinery. A large percent of their horses, cows, goats and all farm live stock was killed thus shortening the fat supply even to the present period. It will require some years for the balance which was rationed out to produce fat enough for national consumption. They are allowed one cake of soap a month.

The lack of knowledge of care and production of livestock was described by Mr. Hindus as he talked of his visits last summer with Lord and Lady Astor and George Bernard Shaw through the farm lands, and the utter lack of cleanliness discovered as they motored from barn to barn.

Government Ownership

The revolution has brutally wiped out every private enterprise. Everything is owned by the government. Religion is fast collapsing to atheism; even the Baptist and Anglican Christian churches, which held out so bravely have surrendered. Private business and individualistic life is classed among the things which have disappeared. Marriage is very cheap and simple as is divorce. Just a few strokes of the pen by a clerk and the parties are either bound or released. The law steps in however where there are children. Nannies abound everywhere. Already there are 10,000, which are used daily and before long will also be used at night and family life will thin out. Parents reside near. Every woman is expected to be economically independent, and pays alimony, as does her husband to her if a divorce has been secured, and he becomes ill and unable to work. This condition was formerly ruled to obtain for two years, but has been reduced to one year. Family life will always exist, however, because marriage is rooted in monogamy.

Ragsdale Confident Ninth District Will Stay G. O. P.

Despite the addition of 12,000 Democratic voters from Hudson County, there is still every reason to believe that the new Ninth Congressional District will show up Republican this year. William W. Ragsdale, candidate as a representative from the district, said today, "If the party will offer for the approval of the voters candidates whom the public can honestly believe are sincere in their desires and promises to subordinate selfish interest and work for the public welfare and the return of prosperity."

The great volume of people in the new Ninth District, he says, which includes some of the choicest suburban communities in the state, are independent voters who care nothing for particular party success. They place Americans above party triumphs, and this year they will be out in force to swing the election.

Reminiscences of Old Bergen County

By JAMES M. SMITH

The following talk on Bergen County reminiscences was given over W.B.M.S., Hackensack, Sunday afternoon, at 1:15, by James M. Smith. In the course of my talk last Sunday I stated that the New York Times wanted me to investigate another clue in the Lindbergh baby kidnapping, word having come from Hopewell that Chief W. W. Witte and three of his officers had arrived there from Lodi with a woman who had found a man of the Lindbergh estate in a laundry bag. After leaving the studio, I hastened to Lodi and the laundry bag theory was soon exploded.

What actually happened was this: A woman maid and her manager, the fellow with the hypnotic influence, had reached the conclusion they could tell something important about the missing baby if they could be taken to some point near the Lindbergh home. So, Chief Witte and three of his officers, including Captain Carbonetti and Lieutenants Glabas and Trocola, left Saturday night for Hopewell anxious to get caught with the task as soon as possible.

Arriving at Hopewell the woman maid reader said she could do no demonstrating until daylight, so that meant a delay of several hours. Then she insisted on being taken to a spot within a mile of the Lindbergh home, and that was done. In a few minutes the manager had the performer under the hypnotic spell and then questions were asked. Capt. Carbonetti, once a member of the prosecutor's staff of detectives, said some of the policemen were not satisfied that the woman was actually in a trance and they proceeded to use pans on her anatomy. As the woman did not emit any signs of pain the skeptics were convinced.

Nothing Developed

There was nothing about the demonstration that elicited any new information. The mind reader said, among other things, that Charles Lindbergh Jr. had been handed out of a window to four men, that the baby was safe in the care of four men and a woman in a farm house within three miles of the home, and that two other men were guarding the farm house. She also said the baby would be returned as soon as the kidnapers were satisfied there would be complete immunity.

Then the woman was snapped back into normal condition and one of the policemen of Hopewell said every farm house within five miles of the Lindbergh home had been searched by State troopers, and her only comment was that this was one farm house they had overlooked.

Capt. Witte and his men headed for home and when I finally located Lieut. Trocola, he was trying to get a little sleep. I had not been talking more than a couple of minutes when he asked me: "Don't you talk over the radio on Sundays about old Bergen county?"

I admitted the offense and asked the lieutenant why he asked:

"Well, I recognized your voice the moment you started to speak," said the lieutenant, so incidentally I discovered another family that listens in on my talk.

While in Lodi I was given courteous attention by the young officers in charge, Sgt. Marchese, at police headquarters, and when I told him that I was running around Lodi getting news for the Bergen Index years before he was born, he looked quite surprised.

Of course he didn't know that the Byrnes boys operated the bleachers before the Blums and Teddy Boettger became interested. He didn't know that a chemical plant once flourished on the main street, with Ed Mason, an English friend of mine, in charge. He was surprised when I told him that Mary Soper, whom we knew familiarly 42 years ago as the "blower maid of Lodi," was actually the first woman in the United States to appear publicly in a boomer suit, and he was more surprised when I told him that one Sunday morning she tried to enter the Reformed Church near the police headquarters wearing her new boomer suit and was stopped by one of the deacons, who feared a riot if she was admitted in such strange garb. This remarkable woman belonged to one of Lodi's oldest and most respected families and was a sister of Dr. Soper, for years a member of the Board of Health.

Didn't Know Them

This young officer didn't know Dan McGrath, who kept the place on the main corner of Lodi, nor did he know the popular smiling Burke who kept the grocery store opposite McGrath's. He didn't know George Mercer, several times mayor of Lodi, and Jim Mercer, now county clerk, when they were prominent and active residents of Lodi. And, of course, he didn't know Kerr, the Scotch baker. But Andrew Mercer and Counselman McCulloch are still there, so is Burke's brother, and they can tell a lot about Lodi when it was just a little different in the early nineties, when the fumes from the chemical plant used to make all strangers cough when they got near enough to the village.

This courteous young police officer said he had heard a lot about Anna Valentina, of Lodi, who came there hanging for stabbing another Italian woman to death, and he tried to make me believe that Anna was still living and back in Lodi in the house where she used to live on Westminster place. But I told him that when Mrs. Valentina left state prison she went to live with relatives in New York and died there, never returning to Lodi.

My friend had heard a lot, too, of Jerry Rome, who was hanged for shooting two men, but he didn't know that Jim Mercer didn't know that Jerry was hanged. This was one case where life imprisonment would have been sentences enough, for all the evidence was circumstantial and Jerry insisted to the last that he didn't kill the two men whose bodies were found outside the boarding house where he lived.

Two weeks ago I took Jim Mercer over to Lodi to see his brother Andrew, who has been ill, and I drove along the extension of Summit avenue from Hackensack, and on our way over we passed over what was once the route of the Lodi dummy train, when the terminal was at the N. J. and N. Y. tracks half a mile south of Essex street.

Happy Days

"Many's a time I traveled over that short route, Smith," said my friend Mercer, with a sigh, "and, I'll tell you, those were happy days indeed."

Strange though it may seem, it was while on this once wonderful railroad train that I met my old Scotch friend, Mercer, and that was 42 years ago, for it was while on the Lodi train that I made my first trip to Lodi and took Jim Blauvelt's train at Essex street for the Junction. As I have so often told over the radio, Jim Mercer was station agent, coal yard manager, postmaster and train conductor, and a lot of other things, at that time, and Warren Wood, now a baggage master on a West Shore express, was helping Jim on this train that was hauled by one of the oldest-looking locomotives on which Jim's uncle was the engineer.

So you see what reminiscences were kindled by my little trip to Lodi, and I'm sorry I missed my old friend, Freshholder Damsen, the former mayor. I might add that friend Warren Wood, once a part of this unique Lodi train crew, is still among us, working steadily and lives in Hackensack.

It affords me a great deal of pleasure to announce that today the First Presbyterian Church of Hackensack began a week's celebration of the 100th anniversary of their church, and I am particularly pleased to say that Rev. Dr. C. Rudolph Kuebler has served as pastor for 41 years of that time, almost half a century. I am hoping he will live to observe his golden anniversary and that I will be here to extend my congratulations.

It may interest my hearers to know that I am one person of whom the doctor is a bit jealous, and that is because I came to Hackensack one year before he did, and he explains this by saying that I enjoyed that extra year's privilege of being in Hackensack when it was so different.

As a matter of fact when the doctor and I meet we both talk about the wonderful old days and regret that we weren't here 50 years ago. My, what reminiscences I would have for my talks had I come to this town in 1830 instead of 1890.

Only Survive

Dr. Kuebler is the only surviving minister of those in service when I came here, and who came shortly after, and the town has been especially blessed by his presence throughout all these years. A glance at the new church and fellowship hall and the connecting rooms, offices and study will tell in a moment what success this reverend gentleman has achieved, and it is a splendid tribute to his memory and service. Of course, he will tell you that his good people are responsible for all that has happened, but I know his modesty as well as I know his capabilities, his goodness and sincerity. I know he has a big heart and possesses a tenderness rarely found in man. He came here a youth and inside of a year things were different in the old church on Main street. He dearly loved that old building, which was reconstructed two or three times to accommodate the ever increasing membership. Then to show him what they thought of him, the church officials invested in a plot of ground worth $100,000 and built the new church that cost $300,000, and that is why Dr. Kuebler and his good wife are so happy. This is one pastor who is conservative and helpful, who always tried to drive away gloominess and who has a cheery word for everyone, rich and poor alike.

The Good Book says that the Saviour first went about doing good, and that goes for Dr. Kuebler, who has been a close friend of mine throughout all these years. He has often expressed his friendship for me by letting me be Santa Claus for his Sunday school exercises, but I had to stop that, for one time, my little niece, sitting in the front row, recognized my voice and exclaimed "Oh, that's my Uncle Jim," almost breaking up the show, at my expense.

The Presbyterians are going to celebrate all this week and I am going to one of the evening programs—the one when refreshments are to be served, for Dr. Kuebler and I feel alike when edibles are mentioned.

Extend Congratulations

I want to congratulate Dr. Kuebler and his congregation at this time. It is wonderful to be so comfortably situated after a hundred years of struggle. There was a struggle before Dr. Kuebler came here, and he has faced a lot of hard work, too. The city of Hackensack can be congratulated, too, for having so excellent an institution in its midst.

But in this day of happiness and joy comes a note of sadness, for early this morning a member of this church, who was in the Sunday school when Dr. Kuebler came here, passed away to her heavenly rest. This member was Mrs. Richard Lord, who to me was always Kitty Moore. The announcement grieves me deeply for it was in her home where I first boarded when I came to Hackensack. Kitty and Jennie Mable were chums on Clinton street then, both going to the Union street school. Kitty always lived with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Voorhis. "Aunt Rachel" Voorhis was like a mother to me. Then they passed away. A few months ago Kitty's husband died, and then the family maid, Annie, who had been there 50 years or more, died. Now Mrs. Lord follows, and thus the entire family I met on my first appearance in Hackensack has vanished. Shortly after I came here Perry Van Auken came as a boarder in the same house, and poor Perry died years ago. Kitty's parents died years ago, and so did her brother, Oakley, and I guess the entire Moore family has passed along.

Mrs. Lord was a devoted Christian woman. She was most attentive to her husband from the time he was stricken until his end. She was a devoted mother and one who was beloved by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. Her son and two daughters have my deepest sympathy.

Another old resident who in his early days was something of a landmark, died during the week and was buried yesterday, Henry L. Dunn, who for many years conducted a jeweler's and watch-maker's shop on Main street. When a young man he was more interested in building sailing boats and steam launches, and held many records on the Hackensack river. He was also a great ice skater. I read yesterday an account of his death and was surprised at a paragraph setting forth that he had on one occasion taken a launch up the creek that used to pass under Main street, as far as State street near Clinton street. I know that fishing boats used to back up as far as Capt. Walter's fish market at the foot of Main street, but I question the other statement, because when I came here in 1890, there was never more than a few inches of water in this creek and I can't see how a launch could even get through the culvert under Main street.

Mr. Dunn was a fine old gentleman, and he was always happy when telling of the time when he was skating, fishing and bathing while enjoying along the Hackensack river, and when they were so plentiful. He suffered a heavy loss when his boy, Clifford, was killed during the World War, but was proud when the Bogotia Post, American Legion, was named for Clifford, the only Bogotia boy to make the supreme sacrifice. As a tribute the post provided the pallbearers for the burial yesterday. Mrs. Dunn, two daughters and three sons survive.

Bridge Zone a Death Zone

Every year several persons lose their lives in automobile crashes on Sylvan Boulevard, that fine piece of concrete highway between Fort Lee and Sparkill.

What to do to counteract this increasing toll presents a difficult problem but it must be faced.

To return to Sylvan Boulevard, this highway, itself a killer, stands as a terrible example of what may happen when the system of misnamed "express highways" is opened.

A Capable Judge or the Psycho-analyst

It is our belief that instead of being a place of dread; a place where inhumanity is dispensed in legal form, as courts are often pictured, the Englewood Police Court, presided over for the past twelve years by Judge Le Roy Huckin is a splendid agency for good in this city.

Judge Huckin has exhibited a remarkable knowledge of human nature. His evaluation of the qualities of the persons brought before him,—their sincerity and the possibility of their rehabilitation under proper conditions, has been phenomenal.

Judge Huckin is also to be congratulated for withstanding the pressure of the interceders, those persons who would try cases on the basis of friendship, influence and votes, who would break down the power of the courts and lay the public victim to the repeated deceptions of those whose "drag" is sufficient to preclude the necessity of their obeying the law.

Every judge is beset also by the misguided efforts of mollycoddlers who would fondle hardened criminals back to civic usefulness, and of the new psychologists of crime whose experimental subjects are poured back upon the defenseless public by easily influenced boards of parole and probation.

The cry that this knife wielder and that thug are victims of environment and should be pitied may be true, but it doesn't make them any more pleasant as companions to the peace-loving citizens.

ALL BUT ONE OF 143 TEACHERS TO RETURN

Beard Gratified at Spirit of Goodwill

All but one of Englewood's 143 teachers are eager to return to the local school system next year, and the one teacher is receiving an advancement to high school teaching from grade school at another school.

This was extreme cause for gratification among the school board members Tuesday evening, taken to denote the spirit of goodwill that exists between the teachers and board.

The school board Tuesday effected the swapping of hand between itself and Mrs. Mary Pyles Moore at the Dwight Morrow school site, a transaction which rounds out the school property without any cost to the city.

The school board is awaiting the letter from the high school students insuring their payment of part of the cost of creating an Elizabethan room for senior English in the new high school before authorizing plans.

900 FAMILIES AIDED BY MEMORIAL HOUSE ROUND OF ACTIVITIES

Social Service Federation Center Is Constantly Humming with Work. Nine hundred families of all creeds, nationalities, and races use Memorial House, the number having shown an unusual increase during the last year due to the increased need for social service work and to the increased opportunities for wholesome recreation for young people.

The daily routine at Memorial House covers 14 hours of the day, and the house is always humming with activity. Mrs. Dorothy E. Brockie has given an interesting description of this routine through each hour of the day. At 8 o'clock in the morning, for instance, she points out, little children are already arriving at the Nursery School which this year is under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Morrow. At 9 o'clock the main office opens and the staff goes to work.

Luncheon Served. At 11:30 a. m. the nursery children are served their luncheon and at 11:45 the school children begin to arrive for theirs. At 12:30 the nursery children begin their afternoon nap period. At 2 o'clock the club workers arrive. Once a week there is a staff meeting, just as every Tuesday morning there are committee meetings. Tuesday afternoon the Thrift Shop is opened and "bar-gain day" is again held.

Activities Timed. Representatives of every group in the community have their appointed time to go to Memorial House and all do their particular work with zest. A Jewish woman, a colored woman, a minister and a school principal, work together on the Family Welfare Committee. Also organizations such as the Board of Education, city officials, churches, hospital, library and service clubs all work with Memorial House.

RAN GAMBLING DEN; COLORED MAN FINED

Judge Huckin To Be Harsh in Treatment of Vice. Ramus Cornelius, colored, of 72 Humphrey street, Englewood, was fined $25 and given a 15-day suspended sentence for running a disorderly house by Judge Le Roy Huckin at police court Monday afternoon. He had been arrested by Detective Nicholas Scullers, who said Cornelius was conducting a gambling den.

Judge Huckin told the prisoner that such places would not be allowed in Englewood, and he would ask the police all he could to stamp them out. He reminded Cornelius of three former arrests and said it arrested again he would immediately serve the 15 day suspended sentence.

Ellen Harris, also colored, of William street, paid a fine of $15 rather than take a 10 day jail sentence for being drunk. Patrolman Daniel Murphy testified that he had found the woman sitting on some steps in a highly intoxicated condition. When brought to headquarters she had given the name of Pearl Jones, although she could not explain why.

ENGLEWOOD PLAYERS WIN BRIDGE HONORS

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Weeks Score 17 Points. Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Weeks of Englewood made high score for Bergen county in the Culbertson World Bridge Olympic, Alden Chase, captain of the Englewood group which played at Dwight Manor apartments Friday, announced this week. Out of a possible 22 points Mr. and Mrs. Weeks scored 17 points making perfect para on hands 5, 6, 8, 9, 12, 15 of the north and south hands.

Other high scores for north and south were as follows: Mrs. Louis Backover and Miss Charley Neas of Englewood, 15; Mrs. C. W. Bennett and George Seeger of Mount Pleasant, 12; Mrs. H. A. Warren and Mrs. J. S. Wiggins of Englewood, 11. East and west high scores were: Mrs. W. Van Alst and Mrs. George Backover of Lenoir, 10; Mrs. J. A. Ferratt of Englewood, 9.

Tenafly PETIGRUE IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF C. O. P. CLUB IN TENAFLY BORO

Policies of Administration Scored; Executive Group Named. Election of new officers, appointment of the executive committee and discussion of issues of the coming political campaign featured the opening meeting of the Tenafly Republican club, last Friday night in the Tenafly borough hall.

Nominations for office, presented by William W. Adams, chairman of the nominating committee, resulted in the election to the presidency of W. K. Petigrue, vice-president; Paul W. Day; treasurer, Cecil Lennan, and secretary, Elmer Blackwell.

Before accepting the nomination, Petigrue insisted upon a definite agreement that his presidency of the club should in no way restrict his personal vote for other than local nominees, declaring that he had never, as far as he could remember, voted a straight Republican ticket. Upon question of Herman D. Hensel, however, he asserted that he would never officially force his opinions on the club, emphasizing the fact that he was wholeheartedly with them as far as local politics went.

Members of the executive committee appointed by President Petigrue, are: Frederick Eason, John A. Grahm Jr., Ezra G. Benedict Fox, Frederick C. Bangs, H. J. Seymour, Robert Gach, Peter Pasquale, Louis Parisse, Walter Merritt, Howard S. Mott, J. K. Adams. Choice of candidates was referred to the executive committee.

50TH ANNIVERSARY OF ORDINATION OBSERVED Canon Fletcher Was Rector of Tenafly Church

Canon Joseph Fletcher, who as a deacon became "minister in charge" of the Church of the Atonement, Tenafly, in 1882, in this month celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination and the and Mrs. Fletcher will also celebrate their golden wedding anniversary April 20. Their present home is near Washington Cathedral, where Canon Fletcher has for several years been in charge of the Cathedral Library, residing at 2920 34th street, Washington, D. C.

When Rev. Fletcher became rector of the Tenafly Church, it was closed and dilapidated, but he started to work and his zeal was caught by the parishioners who had the whole edifice remodelled and beautified. Soon Bishop Starkey consecrated the church and it grew rapidly.

In April of the same year Rev. Fletcher went to Washington and was ordained in the Church of the Epiphany, where he had been an assistant to Dr. William Paret, afterward Bishop of Maryland. While there he married Miss Henrietta Moffett and brought his bride to Tenafly, where he remained for six years.

Miss Stillman Succeeds Mrs. York as Librarian

Miss Elizabeth Stillman, former assistant librarian at the Tenafly Public Library, will succeed the late Mrs. Carrie York as librarian beginning August 1. Mrs. York, who died recently, was librarian for about twenty years.

Miss Stillman, daughter of Walter Stillman of Engle street, is a native of Tenafly. She is a graduate of Northfield Seminary, Wellesley College and studied library work for one year at Columbia University. She has been a member of the staff of the East Orange Public Library for the past four years.

Bergen County Faces Serious Problem In Youthful Crime, Judge Lebson Says

Young Englewood Judge Completed His First Year Tuesday

Englewood may not have any serious juvenile delinquency problem; but certainly Bergen county has, and one of alarming proportions.

In the eyes of Judge Abram A. Lebson, who Tuesday completed his first year on the bench of the First District Criminal Court, that problem of youth and crime—must be tackled in Bergen county, in almost every one of its 70 municipalities. In the last five months Judge Lebson has sat at 1,100 cases. The other two criminal court judges in Bergen have each heard like numbers. And most of them have involved boys and young men. All this in addition to the work of the Juvenile Court over which Judge Zimmerman sits.

Embodiment is the crime of greatest frequency today, and it is the young men in the main who turn to it. Because in this economic stress nobody finds work for the single young men. Probably, but Judge Lebson pointed out in his talk to the Leewood Rotary Club Tuesday that does not lessen their crime. This week it would require a de luxe bus to convey all the young men to the state's prison.

What Bergen county needs to help

Judge Abram A. Lebson

are a few men in Hackensack who are caring for some of these boys and in several instances wonders have been accomplished. Judge Lebson gave unstinted praise to the Englewood police department, specially commending Chief Charles A. Peterson and his detective bureau, Sergeant James Mahoney and Detectives Nicholas Scuttero and Philip Quirk. "A finer department does not exist in Bergen county," he told the Rotarians.

There are 33 municipalities in Judge Lebson's district, and Englewood is one of them. He is in direct contact with the police departments and knows, he said, "which of the departments are good and which are not good."

Judge Lebson referred to the tendency of many people to interfere with the course of justice, to urge him to prejudice his judgments. "I will say this: a judge wants to hear the good about an alleged criminal as well as the bad, and I welcome this. But people should not attempt to influence justice one way or another."

In the year that the young judge has been on the bench of the First District Criminal Court there have been no appeals and no reversals, all his judgments apparently having been considered just.

Says Englewood's Police Department Is Outstanding Unit

Those in charge of the various departments are Mrs. A. W. Thompson, kindergarten department; Miss Weber; Young Peoples' department, beginner's department, Mrs. Gertrude Weber; Young Peoples' department, German Weber. The dinner, prepared and served privately to the business meeting, was arranged by Mrs. German Weber.

AURELIUS GODDARD

Miss Mildred Alice Goddard, daughter of Mr. Pliny Goddard and the late Dr. Goddard of Leonia, was married to Julian Eric Aurelius of St. Paul, Minn., last Saturday afternoon in the Church of the Holy Trinity, Brooklyn Heights. The Rev. I. Bradford Young officiated. Only relatives and intimate friends were present.

The bride was attended by Miss Isabelle Carley of Teaneck. Leo Townsend of St. Paul was the best man.

Miss Goddard is a graduate of Leonia high school in the class of '27 and attended New Jersey College for Women and the University of California. Mr. Aurelius is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and is a member of the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity. He is now associated with E. R. Squibb and Sons.

WORK OF TREE GROUP IN LEONIA BOROUGH IS OUTLINED TO COUNCIL

Main Highways Now Have Three Varieties of Trees Planted

The Shade Tree Commission of Leonia, Roy W. Hatch, chairman, this week submitted the report for the year 1931 to the mayor and council. It is as follows:

The appropriation for the year was $1,500, a decrease of $500 from 1930 and of $1,000 from 1929. In addition to this amount a balance was held in the bank, December 31, 1931, of $39.57 from the Citizens and Christmas Tree funds of several years ago.

At the elm trees of the borough were sprayed for the elm tree beetle. The young trees throughout the borough were fed and cared for and many of the old trees pruned as the balance in the budget permitted.

The 150 siskoons formerly planted on Broad avenue, which through necessity had to be removed when that street was improved, were re-planted last year. Sixty more trees of this same variety were planted in addition on Broad avenue along its entire length with the exception of the business section.

Since 1925, when the commission was first appointed by Mayor M. A. Parks, well over 1000 young shade trees have been planted in Leonia. Three main avenues are now established—Grand avenue to Norway maples, Central avenue to elms, and Broad avenue to siskoons.

The present commission consists of James F. Gowen, chairman; Robert F. Greene, secretary and treasurer; George Jewell Jr. and G. W. Eimen, council representative.

black. A white hair appears prominently in the hair at the top of the head.

In view of the dangerous character of this counterfeit, extreme care should be exercised in handling notes of this variety and denomination. Storekeepers, restaurants and gas filling stations are particularly warned.

The Treasury Department in a circular letter dated March 9, describes three new counterfeits as follows:

$5 National Bank Note. On the Champaign National Bank of Urbana, Ohio; 1929 series; check letter "L"; face plate No. 107; back plate number missing; charter No. 659; serial No. F982671A; E. E. Jones, Registrar of the Treasury; W. O. Woods, Treasurer of the United States; C. F. Strawn, Cashier; J. T. Rabsons, president; portrait of Lincoln.

This counterfeit, unusually deceptive, is printed on one sheet of bond paper of good quality from photo-mechanical plates of exceptional workmanship. The signatures of the cashier and president are rubber stamp endorsements of fictitious names. On genuine National Bank notes of this series, the signatures of bank officials are printed in black ink. The charter number on this counterfeit 659—is that of a bank in New York State. The correct charter number of the Champaign National Bank of Urbana, Ohio, is 910.

The portrait in this counterfeit is poor, the forehead wrinkles and furrows running downward from the nose and mouth corners being almost omitted. The eyes are too black, particularly the right eye which resembles an ink spot. Heavy shading on the right cheek next to the ear creates a sideburn effect, while under the lower lip and on the side of the face to the left of the mouth the shading likewise is severely

In view of the dangerous character of this counterfeit, extreme care should be exercised in handling notes of this variety and denomination. Storekeepers, restaurants and gas filling stations are particularly warned.

The Treasury Department in a circular letter dated March 9, describes three new counterfeits as follows:

$5 United States Note. 1929 Series; check letter "K"; face plate No. 242; back plate number indistinct; 47; W. O. Woods, Treasurer of the United States; A. W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury; portrait of Franklin; serial number A01534377A.

This note is printed on one sheet of paper from photo-chemical plates of poor workmanship. The cross-hatched lines forming the portrait background are not revealed in this counterfeit which is lacking throughout in the delicate detail which characterizes the genuine. The back is executed in an off-color green with smudgy effect. The seal and numbering are printed from etched plates in bright crimson. Faulty etching has failed to bring out the saw-tooth design of the outer seal circle. The legend over which the seal is impressed has also been printed from a separate plate in which appear several misspelled words, notably AND for AND at the end of the second line and DEDET for DEBIT at the end of the final line.

$10 Gold Certificate. 1928 Series; check letter "E"; face and back plate numbers indistinct; W. O. Woods, Treasurer of the United States; A. W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury; portrait of Hamilton; serial number A3068310A.

This counterfeit is the handwriting of the persons responsible for the note above described and is identical in workmanship, the last five numerals in the serial numbering being the same.

$100 Gold Certificate. 1928 Series; check letter "G"; face plate No. 2; back plate No. 4; W. O. Woods, Treasurer of the United States; A. W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury; portrait of Franklin; serial number A01534377A.

This counterfeit, printed on bleached genuine paper from photo-mechanical plates of good workmanship, is calculated to deceive the unwary handler of currency. Both plates are about 1.8 inch shorter than the genuine. On the face the scroll work and lettering show many defects in execution due to inferior etching and the general color tone is darker than the genuine.

The Treasury Department, Secret Service Division, requests that banks and others to whom counterfeit government obligations may be presented endeavor when practicable to obtain information regarding their source and history. Any information of this kind should be forwarded to the Treasury Department, Secret Service Division, Customs House, New York, N. Y.

THINK RIDGEFIELD MAN VICTIM OF ALCOHOLISM

Joseph Seiber Found Dead in Vacant Lot

Joseph Seiber, 28 years old, of 112 Fairview terrace, Ridgefield, was found dead in a vacant lot at 10th street and Park avenue, Fairview, Monday, by Ernest Danelson, also of Fairview terrace, who reported it to the police. The police found no evidence of foul play, and took the body to Hunt's Morgue, Fort Lee.

Seiber had been drinking and it is supposed his death was the result of acute alcoholism. He had been arrested five times previously in surrounding towns for being drunk and disorderly and had just returned from a 30-day sojourn in the county jail where he had been sentenced by Judge Harry Baker of the Ridgefield police court. When arrested some months ago he stated that he was not drinking liquor but a cough mixture made by placing two packages of cough drops in a half of alcohol. He was single and lived with an uncle, August Miel, at the Ridgefield address.

DOY LIVES UP TO NAME; WALKS WARD AND WALKS WARD. Walter Doy, 45 years old, of 10th street and Park avenue, Fairview, on Monday, was arrested for being drunk and disorderly.
