

Boy's Imagination Captures Prizes In Annual Hat Show

TENAFLY — When a boy decides to compete in a girl's field of operations — hats — the girls had just better look out. That was the lesson learned in Tenafly, this week, when Joe Connors walked off with most of the prizes in the annual hat show held at the Roosevelt Common playground.

Imagination-plus was featured in the Connors models — which won in a whirlwind such titles as "hat with the most originality," the first place for the "funniest hat," blue ribbon for the "craziest hat," Joe's "agricultural hat" — he described it himself as such — was specially designed for gardeners of America and birdlovers, and featured catfish, for poor felines who lacked them.

Joe also exhibited another hat made "specially for funerals," which had an open crown for scratching the head, and was decorated with Queen Anne's lace and cat tails. Three other Connors models which won considerable attention were a "doctor's special" — a nose bleed of blood red; a Charleston hat and a "hat for waiters only" — created from the lid of a hatbox.

Mary Ann Loschi won first prize for the prettiest hat, exhibiting a bride's chapeau, and explained that she "went to Paris for the hat and to China for the silk."

Jean Wunschel won first place for the smallest hat, entering a doll's felt hat which she had decorated herself. Mary DePalma, with an 18-inch-high hat covered with 50 labels, won the award for the largest hat.

Helen DePalma wore a vegetable hat made, she said, to make vegetables grow. The carrots from the hat were eaten by a group of the children and voted delicious. Jackie DePalma wore a veil hat, and Mary Ann Ferris wore an agricultural hat which she termed a peek-a-boo fashion, because of its veiling with leaves. Elaine Schanzbach wore a Little Miss Money Bags hat made by her brother, Roger. Carolyn Loschi entered a western hat; Gloria Jane Tosi, a jewel circular hat, made of velvet with pearls, by Roger Schanzbach; Mary Ann Loschi exhibited a bride's hat, explaining she went to Paris for the hat and to China for the silk. Suzanne Schmidt wore a double-breasted hat, suitable for a garden party, which she made.

Helen DePalma exhibited a sophisticated hat; Rowland Ferris, a cowboy hat; Jackie DePalma, a straw hat from Switzerland. Carol Ann Raucher exhibited a hat borrowed from her mother, good for church or funerals; Nancy Passera exhibited bird in a gilded cage, made by her mother and herself; Lillian Bochese exhibited a bridesmaid's hat trimmed with veils and roses. Jackie Clark exhibited a basket hat, trimmed with pheasant feathers, made by Suzanne Schmid.

At the conclusion of the show, a popular vote was taken to determine the winners.

Final Movies Showing Wednesday In Tenafly

TENAFLY — With an average attendance of more than 1,000 persons during the first three out of four summer outdoor movie programs at Roosevelt Common, sponsored by the Tenafly Recreation Commission, the program which concludes next Wednesday will have been one of the most popular of the summer season in Tenafly.

Each program of the series has shown a feature movie, and additional cartoons and short subjects, the screen being set up on the baseball field, allowing viewers to sit in grandstand seats and on the lawn at the northwest corner of the Common athletic field.

COUNCIL MEETING TUESDAY

TENAFLY — The monthly meeting of the Tenafly Mayor and Council will be held in the Borough Hall on Tuesday, August 12, at 8:15 p.m. These meetings are open to the public.

TENAFLY BEAUTIFUL: The Theodore Roosevelt Memorial

When Malcolm S. Mackay and his sister, Miss Jennie Mackay donated the 30 acres of land in the heart of Tenafly which comprise Roosevelt Common west of the Tenafly Brook "to the young people of the borough, with the Tenafly Board of Education as trustees", in 1924 they also contributed funds for the construction of a memorial to the late President Theodore Roosevelt in the heart of the Common. The memorial, in the form of a band stand of native field stone, has a granite pillar at one side, depicting Theodore Roosevelt in a background designed to call to memory his achievements in the field of conservation. On the other side is one of the late president's famous sayings, and these sayings are also inscribed on the band shell. Trygve Hammergren, noted sculptor was engaged to design and execute the Memorial.

Malcolm S. Mackay, then a resident of the borough at 53 Knickerbocker road had been a member of "Teddy" Roosevelt's Rough Riders. In addition to Roosevelt Common, he donated Sunnyside Park to the borough.

The memorial in Tenafly is surrounded by low spreading sycamore or plane trees, which provide perpetual shade here, and is centered in a grove of oak trees.

Three Bands To Welcome Little League Regional Players Here

ENGLEWOOD — Instead of bringing out the band to provide the traditional welcome for visitors, Englewood is bringing out three to start the Regional Little League tournament with a bang, plus a clash of cymbals and a blare of trumpets.

The Region 4 tournament, which will bring together champion Little League teams from five states, will open Wednesday, August 20 in Englewood's spanking-new Little League ball park. The winner of the final game, August 24 will qualify for the Little League World Series at Williamsport, Pa. the following week.

This tournament will mark the first time a regional playoff has been held in New Jersey. In keeping with the importance of the event, the Englewood committee is planning a noisy welcome and big parade in honor of the visiting teams, even though the local boys already have been eliminated in district competition.

Three bands already have promised their services for the parade before the opening game and City Clerk Joseph T. Carney, who has been making the arrangements found that one of his difficulties was to keep the musicians from outnumbering the ball players.

The Third Naval District Band and one from the Musicians Union have volunteered their services along with the Bergenfield Drum and Bugle Corps. The players, coaches and Little League officials will ride in shiny new convertibles, provided by Englewood automobile dealers, from the starting point at the monument on Palisade avenue to the field on Broad avenue near Route 4.

The parade is scheduled to start at 3:30 p.m. in order that everyone may be at the field in time for the practice before the game starts at 6. Present plans call for the drum and bugle corps, possibly augmented by some of Englewood's more adept baton twirlers, to strut its stuff at the field for the benefit of early arrivals. The local Chapter of 40 and 8—the American Legion fun-making organization—may also contribute some of its inimitable antics to the pre-game entertainment.

The Regional 4 Playoffs, which include the cream of the Little League crop from New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia, has chosen Englewood as the site of this year's fracas for a number of reasons. First, the new Little League Stadium at Trumbull Memorial Park is an ideal setting for the ball playing mites. Everything from the field house to the water fountain is built to midget scale and the whole affair is under the competent direction of a trained staff. Second, and most important, the enthusiasm with which this City has tackled the job of lending a helping hand to the sawed-off set has made it a natural contender for the honor.

The spearhead of this project in Englewood has been the Rotary Club's Little League Foundation Committee. Under the direction of Walter G. Hilderbrand, this group, starting with nothing more than an ambition to help the young boys of Englewood, forged steadily through adversity, spats and opposition, and

Tenafly Completes Summer School In Sessions Thursday

TENAFLY — The Summer School Program offered at Tenafly High School during the month of July finished last Thursday. There were 455 students attending from 9 different communities. The increase in enrollment of 70 students over that of last year's permitted the offering of a variety of subjects, so that in many instances, students made up a subject taken before, and also took a new subject to be better prepared for the coming school year.

Englewood Lions Club Sponsors Mills Circus

ENGLEWOOD — The Englewood Lions Club has announced plans for a one day stand of the Mills Brothers Circus, to be held in Dumont on Friday, Sept. 12, as a benefit for the Englewood Hospital.

From information released by the Englewood Lions Club committee—composed of Joseph T. Carney, John Holran and William Dietzsch—it was learned that the circus will give a performance for patients at the hospital during the day. A campaign for the sale of banners and placement of placards will be held during the next few weeks. Mills Brothers Circus is one of the largest circuses in the world—second only to the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey. It has not only a complete house of animal acts, but a fine program of unusual circus talent.

Three Polio Cases Entered At Pines

PARAMUS — Two six-year-old children, a boy and a girl, and a 22-year-old man were admitted to Bergen Pines Hospital, Paramus, yesterday, suffering from polio. Hospital authorities said examination and diagnosis of each showed definitely that the patients were afflicted with the disease.

The names of the patients were not revealed, but a spokesman for the institution said the man was from Bergenfield, the six-year-old boy from East Paterson and the girl from Paramus. The admission of the three brought to 14 the number of polio patients now at the hospital.

Demarest Juvenile Is Sent To County Home

TENAFLY — A 16-year-old Demarest youth was lodged in the Bergen County Children's Home, Hackensack, by Chief Chester B. Campbell of the Tenafly Police, this week after he was caught in an act of petty larceny by the Patrol Store. The youth has previously been involved in a case in which a Tenafly youth was driving a car without a license, according to the Tenafly police.

Water Fills Pond At Commons After Drill Goes 125

TENAFLY — Appearances at Roosevelt Common a.e. improving daily as different projects of the Board of Education are gradually completed. The wall around the Pond has been completed, the silt basin has been constructed, the trees have been trimmed, the storage barn completed and the well dug.

The well was dug to a depth of 125 feet before solid rock was encountered so the pipes could be sunk and so that the well would not fill with sand. For three hours water was pumped with an average flow of 47 gallons per minute. The Board is now advertising for bids to construct a well-house and for a pump to conclude this project.

The fine sand that was encountered in digging the well would certainly be out the geological theory of the fact that the Hudson River at one time flowed down the Northern Valley. At Piermont, N. Y. is the opening where the Hudson gained access to this area. When the Palisades were being elevated as a result of earth faulting, the river had its choice of channels in cutting away the earth. In the process of the development of the stream channels, sediment was dropped. Fossils dating back to Paleolithic times have been found around Closter where the sand is closer to the surface, than at the Common.

George Paulsen Retired Aug. 1

ENGLEWOOD — Dr. Harry L. Stearns, superintendent of Englewood Schools, announced this week the retirement of George W. Paulsen, principal of Dwight Morrow High School and of Englewood High School since 1928, effective Aug. 1. Mr. Paulsen is of retirement age, he stated, and has been in poor health.

Mr. Paulsen, a resident of Englewood at 285 Central avenue, is a graduate of Massachusetts State Teachers College, and received his M.A. in school administration from Teachers College at Columbia University. He began his teaching career in 1910, at Thetford, Vermont, and then taught in North Brookfield, Quincy and Boston, Massachusetts, and at White Plains, N. Y., in the field of science and physics. At Quincy, he was head of the science department in the high school there. In 1923, Mr. Paulsen was appointed principal of the North Plainfield High School.

Dr. Stearns stated that he will take personal charge of the opening of the school this year, and that a committee of faculty members will work smoothly to see that there is no hitch in the proceedings. In the meantime, steps are being taken to interview candidates for the position, and a successor to Mr. Paulsen will probably be named some time this fall.

Birkins Team To Play All Stars In Twilight Game

TENAFLY — The Birkins, winners of the first half title in the Twilight Softball League sponsored by the Recreation Commission, became the 1952 champions when they defeated George's Radio Tuesday night on a 10 to 3 score.

Birkins beat Tenafly Motors by a score of 9 to 3 on Monday night and then clinched the title Tuesday.

Rodgers, runner-up in the first half play, occupies the same position in the second half. It closed the season with 7 wins and 2 losses. At the sports dinner on Aug. 14, Birkins will receive the team trophy and trophies for the individual members.

Plans are being made to hold an all-star game on Aug. 12 at Roosevelt Common. The Birkins team will play a team composed of selected members from each of the other teams.

Tenafly Residents Urged To Register Now For November

TENAFLY — Residents of Tenafly who have not yet registered are urged to do so as soon as possible. Registration of voters for the general election will stop on Sept. 25 40 days before the presidential election. If there is a special school election in Tenafly before that date, voters may still register until the 25th but would be unable to vote in the school election unless they had registered 40 days prior to the date of that election.

Tenafly residents may register with Edwin C. Phillips, Clerk of the Municipality. Mr. Phillips is in his office in the Tenafly Borough Hall from 9-5, Monday through Friday. After Sept. 1, he will be in the office Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon. After Sept. 15, and until the 25th, certain evenings will be designated at which time residents may register.

If these times are not convenient, a phone call to Mr. Phillips' office will enable a specific appointment to be made. If a resident is unable to climb the stairs to the second floor where Mr. Phillips' office is located, by asking in the Police Headquarters, that he be notified, Mr. Phillips or his secretary will come down stairs or to the car. If a person is ill at home, arrangements may be made by contacting Mr. Phillips for a deputy to register the prospective voter.

Requirements for registration are that a voter be 21 prior to Nov. 4, so that his registration may be taken in advance of his birth date. He must be a citizen of the United States. He must have resided in the state of New Jersey for one year by Nov. 4, in the county for five months, in the district for 40 days. There is no registration by mail.

If a person has changed his residence since the time he registered or voted, he is required to notify the clerk of the municipality of such a change, as is a single woman who has married and so changed her name.

Since the primary election there has been a change in the interpretation of the ruling regarding servicemen. Absentee ballots will be mailed to servicemen only on their specific request, before each election, to avoid confusion at the polls. If servicemen are home on Nov. 4, and their registration sheet is in the election books, they may vote in their district. It is necessary for them to have registered. It is possible for servicemen overseas to register by notifying the County Board of Elections, by having their family take their title and their station forms to the County Board in Hackensack where the correct information sheets will be filled out and notarized. An absentee military ballot will then be sent to the serviceman.

Tenafly Board Seeks Bids On New School

TENAFLY — The Tenafly Board of Education has announced that it will receive bids on its proposed new elementary school for the southeast quadrant of the borough on Wednesday evening, Sept. 3, at a special meeting of the Board.

Bids will be received in five sections — for general construction for structural steel and miscellaneous iron, for heating and ventilating, and for plumbing and draining, and for electrical work.

The bids will be received in the Library of Tenafly High School, West Clinton avenue, at 8 p.m. Applications for drawings are directed to the office of the architect Lawrence C. Licht, at 19 Knickerbocker road, Englewood. The plans are on view at the office of the Board of Education, 24 County road during office hours.

Front Street Closing Is Announced By Police

TENAFLY — Chief Chester B. Campbell of the Tenafly Police Department announced this week that because of the heavy traffic on Front street, which has materially interfered with the major improvements—widening, curbing and paving of the street during the past several weeks—it has been decided upon to close off the road completely to traffic until the job has been completed. The closed section runs from Huyler avenue, south to the Englewood city line.

Tentues Report On Last Session

TENAFLY — The Tenafly Tentues Club reported the results of a Nine Table Mitchell session this week.

The winners were, north-south first, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. King second, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Mac Cool; third, John Wilkin and Gerald Ackerman. Winners, East west were, first, Mrs. J. C. Conant and Kenneth Radcliff; second, Joseph Arbre and Walter Benoit; third, Mrs. Veronica Mas and Miss Virginia O'Brien.

Tenafly Children To Polo Grounds For Game

TENAFLY — Approximately 150 Tenafly children attended the annual Big League Day of the Summer Playgrounds, Friday and travelled by bus to the Polo Grounds to see the New York Giants play ball.

Accompanying the group were Joseph DeBenedictis, recreation director and his staff; Police Sergeant Mario Buva, Patrolmen Peter Zurlo, Richard Reese. Two of the buses were provided by the Police Department, while the third bus was financed by the Tenafly Recreation Commission.

Philmont-Bound Explorers Are 'Welcome Travelers'

CHICAGO — Members of the North Bergen County Boy Scout Council "take over" the NBC "Welcome Travelers" program as they surround jovial Tommy Bartlett (holding mike) at the College Inn Porterhouse studio of the Hotel Sherman in Chicago. En route to summer encampment at the Philmont Scout Ranch in Cimarron, New Mexico, the smiling Bergen County youths and their leader, George Tilbury and assistant leader, Dave Glassford, attended the popular coast-to-coast "Welcome Travelers" program during a brief Chicago stopover.

Explorer Scouts Revel In Yarns Of The Philmont Trail

TENAFLY — Explorer Scouts from Tenafly, Leonia, Hackensack, Cresskill, Little Ferry and West Englewood have returned to their homes following their expedition to Philmont Scout Ranch near Cimarron, New Mexico. Under the leadership of George Tilbury of Leonia, assisted by Dave Glassford of Tenafly, the Explorers left Ridgewood on July 7, returning here on July 28 on the Erie. En route to the Camp, the boys

Mine, where there was good water, and time was taken to study nature in this area, as well as to inspect the outside of the mine. The following night, the Explorers reached the bottom of the mountain, spending the night at Cimarron City where they lived in luxury as the Calvacade had not arrived to use the facilities of a kitchen and running water. Badge work in rifle and skeet shooting was done here. The trail to Bench was not up and down, but on and on. Water again became important as it was necessary to purify the supply here before drinking it. The last hike started here of nine miles to Bent, across the Cimarron River, which was supposed to be only knee deep. Instead the water was up to the boys' hips, and in battling the current and the burros who were balking at crossing, one boy fell into the trail soon crossed the highway, and the hot New Mexican sun dried out the hikers. As the trail went up and down the mountains, the boys got steeper, and on the top of the third mountain, fell sound asleep. Food on the trail consisted of powdered eggs and potatoes, and dried milk and dried carrots, in addition to other supplies. When the Scouts arrived at Ponce, the last camp, the fried chicken was indeed welcome. More rifle shooting, and clothes washing and cleaning of the area occupied their time before leaving in the truck for Cimarron where they had lunch. From there, the bus took them to Raton where a train took them to La Junta, Colorado, where they caught a train for Colorado Springs. In Colorado Springs, the boys stayed at the YMCA, and from there were taken by cars to the top of Pikes Peak. Dave Glassford was able to use his training received in the Tenafly Police force as one of the cars broke down on a blind curve so that he directed traffic around it. Garden of the Gods, Manitou Springs where the mineral water was sampled, and the Van Briggle Pottery were also on the agenda. The next day was spent in Denver where the Park of the Red Rocks was visited en route to Mt. Evans, where the boys went skiing at Summit Lake. After visiting the observation house which is at an elevation of 14,206 feet, the group had lunch at Echo Lake and returned to Denver. Frontier Days in Cheyenne was the next objective of the group where a great deal of noise and excitement prevailed. Indiana and cowboys were abundant, and the boys enjoyed the events at the Rodeo. From there the Scouts took the Union Pacific to Chicago where they visited the Museum of Science and Industry. While they saw the Democratic Convention in progress on TV they did not know until on the way home who the candidate was to be. Nor did they know for five days after the selection of the Republican candidate because of being in the wilderness. Aside from a few minor mishaps such as illness from impure water, air sickness, a nearly missed train, the trip ran on an even keel. Coming home on the Erie, the train was so crowded, that the Scouts were unable to have as much space as they anticipated. The harassed porter and conductor had to wake the group at midnight to collect tickets, and when the leader, Mr. Tilbury, was asked to identify the boys—his reply was "the boys with the green pants."

"Now I remember what I wanted to do — stop in at the bank for a home repair loan to replace our old plumbing."

Tanglewood Day Campers Present Mexican Fiesta

ALPINE — One hundred guests, parents and former campers, attended the Mexican Fiesta presented on July 31, closing day of Tanglewood, day camp operated by the Englewood-Tenafly Girl Scout Council in Alpine for four weeks during July. All campers and many guests cooperated by appearing in gay colorful fiesta costumes. The program opened with the singing of an International Song. Unit I, Pixies, (Brownies, 8-9 years of age) sang a donkey song and the Watermelon Song and offered a Mexican dance. The Unit leaders were Mrs. S. J. Cooper and Miss Mary Avakian. Tanglewood Campers, Unit V comprised of Intermediates, next showed the much awaited Bull Fight with Marie Caulfield playing the bull and Virginia Kover, the successful matador. Unit Leaders were Mrs. Carroll Thomson and Miss Bethann Thomson. Huckleberry Dell, Unit III, also Intermediates offered a Mexican Play, "Roderigo and Rosalita," the story of two children who by working themselves rallied to the support of their ailing father, enabling him to paint pictures that brought his fame and fortune. Leaders of this group were Mrs. George Sampson and Miss Ruth Ann Messina. A spirited Mexican Band, playing suitable tunes, was the contribution of the Sparrows, Brownies of Unit II, under the supervision of Lead-er, Miss Betty Ann Capresto and Miss Mildred Bigelow. The Cave Girls, Intermediates of Unit IV, directed by Mrs. Joseph Robertson and Miss Mary Bigelow, told legends of Mexico and exhibited some interesting specimens of Mexican art work. Interspersed between the acts of the program were songs by the audience and campers, led by Miss Jane Young, camp director. After refreshments and at the close of the closing circle around the flag, the following awards were made: Prize Pixies (Brownies who have completed standard requirements in elementary camp skills) Barbara Amick, Clare Branfuhr, Nancy Bischoff, Ruth Freund, Constance Gouffon, Sibil Glikin, Carole Mintz, Joann Naglieri, Carol Poul- lin, Susan Schults, Sally Lou Vogel, Loretta Bianco, Susan Murburg. Camperettes (Intermediates who have completed standard requirements in basic campercraft): Doris Ahr, Gail Amick, Virginia Broder- sen, Dorothy Brown, Margaret Car- ey, Joan Eirorsen, Lynn Hergert, Florence Naglieri, Arlen Quick, Judy Sontag, Beth Tew, Lorraine Valentine.

Red Cross Nurses At Area Nurse Institute

ENGLEWOOD — Two representatives of Northern Valley Chapter, American Red Cross, have returned after attending the Eastern Area Home Nursing Institute held from July 21-26 on the campus of the University of Indiana at Bloomington.

Mrs. Claire W. Burr of Leonia, and Miss Rosemary Lynch of Dumont, both Registered Nurses, were among the 50 delegates who lived on the campus during the conference.

Mrs. Burr, who took the course for Red Cross instructors in 1951, returned to take the instructor's course. This—under the Red Cross program to see that all instructors are specially trained before certifying them—makes it possible for Northern Valley Chapter to hold courses for the training of instructors during the coming year. Miss Lynch this year took the course for instructor, which qualifies her to teach Red Cross Home Nursing courses in the Chester area.

Leaf Scorch of Shade Trees
The extremely hot weather during late July has affected many plants. Shade trees being large and deep rooted are not quickly injured but they, too, show the effects of hot weather. One common trouble is leaf scorch.

This condition is well named, since the leaves appear to be scorched by fire. The margins of the leaf turn brown first and the veins are the last to die. The trouble is not caused by fungi or bacteria, but is simply a withering and burning of the tissue and some varieties of trees are more susceptible to this condition than others. The horse-chestnuts, sugar maples, Japanese maples and dogwoods have been injured extensively this year.

However, almost any variety of tree can be injured if it is in a weakened condition. Recently transplanted trees are notably susceptible to leaf scorch, also trees which have a large portion of the root area covered with walks and driveways.

The scorch condition usually does not kill trees, but it can make them very unsightly.

The home owner can take measures to improve the growth status of trees so that they will be less susceptible in future years. Some of the steps that can be taken are the pruning out of some of the smaller and weaker branches, which reduces the number of leaves to which the root must furnish water; small trees can be watered during dry periods but if water is applied, the ground must be soaked thoroughly since trees are usually more deeply rooted than smaller plants. Fertilizing of trees in this condition occasionally will help. However, it is best to defer the fertilization until fall since fertilizer applied at this time may stimulate too much growth.

Occasionally, trees which are suffering from girdling roots become severely scorched.

Flowering Plants
If you like to raise your own flowering plants for winter use in the home, now is the time to start. Rather than dig up old, bloomed out stock and pot it, you will have much better success if you start fresh plants for this purpose.

It is a good idea to root cuttings of geranium, fuchsia, winter flowering begonias, etc., in late July.

There are some annuals, too, that will bloom all winter if conditions are favorable. Among these are ageratum, petunias, sweet alyssum, Browallia speciosa, dwarf marigolds. Sow the seeds about the middle of August. Sow plenty of seeds so you can select the best plants. If you have fine specimens of these in your garden, you can also root cuttings of them. This is a good method to maintain especially fine specimens for your garden next year.

When the cuttings are rooted or the seedlings are up, put in 2 1/2-inch pots in a good potting mixture. Plunge the pots in a bed of cinders or the soil, preferably in a coldframe. When growth starts, pinch the plants back to make them more compact.

As soon as these small pots are well filled with roots, repot in 3-inch pots. When these are filled with roots, shift to 4-inch pots. Meantime, if growth becomes leggy, pinch again.

Much better plants can be grown by this method of starting in small pots and shifting to larger ones rather than putting the rooted cuttings or seedlings in pots that are too large. In an oversized pot, some time will elapse before the plant can develop a good root system. It must have this before it can make a top and bloom.

Women's TV Show To Spotlight Use Of Peaches

NEW BRUNSWICK — New Jersey peaches will take the spotlight on "A Woman's Work" Station W. A. T. V. channel 13, Thursday, August 7, from 3:30 to 4 p. m. Prof. A. J. Farley, extension fruit specialist at Rutgers University, will be the guest of Mrs. Margaret C. Shepard, Essex County Home agent, and a movie about will show the growing, grading and packing of peaches in Gard a State orchards.

Prof. Farley will discuss different varieties and give the latest market news about them. Mrs. Shepard will show several ways to serve peaches which are appetizing and refreshing for hot weather meals.

Mrs. Shepard will also report on best food of the week. "A Woman's Work" is presented weekly on W. A. T. V. by the Essex County Extension Service which is supported by the Essex County Freeholders, the U. S. Department of Agriculture and Rutgers, the New Jersey State University.

Public Service Plans Transportation Merger

NEWARK — Public Service Coordinated Transport and its wholly-owned subsidiary, Public Company this week filed with the Board of Public Utility Commissioners of the State of New Jersey a petition for approval of the merger of Public Service Interstate Transportation Company into Public Service Coordinated Transport. The Companies state in their petition that the merger will result in an overall corporate simplification with attendant economies that will stem from the elimination of a great volume of duplicate work. No new securities will be issued by Public Service Coordinated Transport in connection with the merger.

Go to New England, and visit the domestic fireplaces, if you would see the secret of American Independence. — Religion has made them what they are.

Local Residents Part Of Bergen Rent Committee

HACKENSACK — The Bergen County Rent Advisory Board, a body which was set up to help meet the specific needs of the residents of this area, has met with complete success thus far, it was reported this week. Made up of residents of this area, the Board feels it is in a better position to recognize local needs, and has proven itself quite successful in dealing with local rent problems.

Board members from this area include: William A. Fasolo of Tenafly, Herbert Olney of Englewood, and John Kienast of River Edge. Mr. Fasolo, a lawyer is a Public Interest Member, as is Mr. Kienast, who is a chemist. Mr. Olney, also a lawyer, is a Landlord Interest Member.

Night In Venice Drawing Record Crowd To Beach

NEW YORK — Long Island residents are flocking by the thousands nightly to the New Jones Beach marine theatre to see the Mike Todd production of "A Night In Venice", the Long Island State Park Commission has announced.

The Johann Strauss operetta, being presented for the first time in the United States, has a cast of over 250 singers, dancers, actors and actresses, and has been staged with a lavish hand by the internationally-known showman.

The new marine theatre, which seats 5,200 persons, has been playing to near capacity during the past three weeks, as thousands from the metropolitan area as well as local residents have sought relief from the heat. The show is presented at the outdoor theatre every night at 8:40 p. m., including Sundays.

"A Night In Venice", a production so large that no theatre on Broadway is big enough to stage it, features the usual magnificence of Strauss' works. There are singing gondoliers paddling their boats through the softly-lit lagoon, an unusually colorful altar cast, fireworks and an exciting water ballet in which mermaids rise unexpectedly from the bottom of the lagoon.

The self-liquidating, state-sponsored enterprise with the showmanship of Mike Todd has received nothing but rave notices from Long Island and New York critics. "A Night In Venice" has been such a box office smash, that Todd already is readying another production for 1953.

Also staged daily at the new theatre is a thrilling "Marine Circus", produced by Michael Todd, Jr. and Dick Pope, Jr. It features colorful exhibitions of water-skiing, daring feats of high and tricky diving and the hilarious antics of a bevy of aquatic clowns. This is the same show that brings thousands of Winter visitors to Florida to pack the Cypress Gardens vacation resort. Both the "Marine Circus" and "A Night In Venice" will run all summer. The "Marine Circus" starts daily at 2:30 p. m.

Care Is Urged For Good Books By Home Agent
 HACKENSACK — Good books are treasures to preserve for present and future enjoyment. To keep them attractive, dust them frequently. To insure a long life, handle carefully.
 "Dusting is not hard at all with a soft brush attachment on your vacuum cleaner," says Miss Margherita Jebben, Bergen County home agent. "Run the brush over each book as you take it from the shelf. Then dust the shelf itself with the same tool. Do only one shelf at a time and lay books in flat small piles. High unsteady piles may fall over. Such a tumble can break the backs."
 When you remove a book from a shelf for any purpose, grasp it with your fingers on either side of the middle of the bound end. Don't pull it out from the shelf by its fragile backing. You can tip it back gently by the top edge so you can get a firm grasp on it. Miss Jebben points out that books should stand straight up and not be jammed together too tightly. Leaning subjects the binding to unnecessary strain and too much pressure may even split the binding. If shelves are only partly filled, support books with book ends. Books that are too large to stand upright should be laid flat, never at an angle.
 "The danger of mildew is lessened if books are set well to the front of the shelves, not too close together, allowing air to circulate more freely around them."
 Let all your views in life be directed to a solid, however moderate, independence; without it no man can be happy, nor even honest. Junius

Rebilotto Denies Murder Assist In Moretti Case
 HACKENSACK — John J. Robilotto, 48-year-old New York undertaker, accused of being one of the men who murdered Willie Moretti on Oct. 4, last, at Joe's Restaurant, Cliffside Park, pleaded not guilty when he was arraigned at 2 p.m. on Thursday before Superior Court Judge Wallace Leyden in Hackensack and ordered held in Bergen County Jail without bail.

The indictment, one of five voted by Bergen County Grand Jury, will be attacked, however, by Robilotto's New Jersey attorney, Joseph Gaudielle, of Hackensack, who said he would ask permission to take depositions from a number of persons.
 Gaudielle also told reporters that he planned to attack the "arbitrary substitution" of Robilotto's name on the indictment for one of the original "John Doe" indictments voted by the Grand Jury.
 "If necessary," Gaudielle said, "he will question some of the Grand Jurors who voted the indictment to show that they had no description or any other information which would point to Robilotto as one of the four men present in the restaurant at the time of the killing."
 Although only four men were reported to have met with Moretti on the morning he was slain, the Grand Jury handed down indictments against five persons.
 Deputy Atty. Gen. Paul T. Huckin represented the state at the brief hearing and read the indictment to Robilotto. The suspect's aliases, including John Roberts and John Richards, were also included.

Robilotto, said to have been a familiar figure at the restaurant and at Duke's Tavern, located only a few doors away on Palisade avenue and now closed up, was identified before Federal Grand Jury investigating the Moretti killing by a woman who said she heard the shots and looking out the window, saw Robilotto coming out of the restaurant.

Joanne Eberle, William S. Roth Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

Palms placed at the sides of the altar flanking a center decoration of gladioli and other white summer flowers, augmented with candles in the Presbyterian Church of Tenafly on Saturday afternoon August 2 formed the setting for the double-ring marriage of Miss Joanne Eberle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Eberle of 146 Sunset lane, Tenafly, to William Stephen Roth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Roth of Cleveland, Ohio.

The ceremony was at 4 with the Rev. Alfred Davis of Cresskill, officiating. A reception followed at The Chimes in Paramus. Miss Eberle, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of pleated white nylon tulle combined with imported lace over bridal satin. It was styled with a high fitted bodice with a Mary Stuart collar. The long sleeves reached to points over the wrists. Her French illusion veil fell from a Juliet cap of cut-out lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of orchids, lilies-of-the-valley and stephanotis.

Mrs. Thomas Miller of Washington, D.C., a sorority sister, roommate and classmate of the bride at Bethany College, serving as matron of honor, wore a strapless tight-fitting gown of lace over aqua satin with an accordion pleated skirt over white faille. A nylon net stole completed her costume. She carried aqua and shrimp delphinium with aqua shades predominating.

Miss Joan Keicher of Tenafly, a former Tenafly High School classmate was dressed in similar style and carried a similar bouquet. It was her duty to wait on the bride at the altar and to take care of the ring for the bridegroom.

Bridesmaids were also dressed in the same style. Shrimp shades, however, predominated in their bouquets. They included other classmates of the bride in Tenafly High School who were Mrs. John Arman of Tenafly and Miss Joan Williams of Tenafly.

Each attendant wore a nose veil caught at the side with flowers.

The bride's mother, the former Helen Kerr of Englewood, wore pale blue silk shantung and a white orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore ice blue nylon shantung and white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Chester Landers, the former Besse Crum of Englewood and a great aunt of the bride, wore navy blue lace over taffeta and white orchid corsage.

John E. Roth was best man for his brother. Ushers were Richard Prock, a classmate of the bridegroom at the Cleveland (O.) schools; Douglas Collins of Nutley and Frank Mazzio also of Nutley, fraternity brothers at Bethany College, West Virginia.

After a trip to the Poconos, the couple will live in Cleveland.

Mrs. Roth, a granddaughter of the late Mrs. Joseph Kerr, who will be remembered as Maude Crum of Englewood, and the great-granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James A. Crum early residents of Englewood, was graduated from Tenafly High School and in June 1952, from Bethany College where she belonged to Kappa Delta Sorority and took an active part in the music organizations at the college.

Mr. Roth, a graduate of John Marshall High School in Cleveland, is an alumnus of Bethany College, class of '51. He belongs to Sigma Nu fraternity and served in the United States Navy for over two years. He is with the National Carbon Corporation, the Cleveland division of Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation.

Claim Wave Recedes At Local Employment Office

ENGLEWOOD—The great tidal wave of unemployment insurance claims that has deluged the Englewood Branch of the State Division of Employment Security for the past few weeks is at last showing signs of recession according to Harold C. Greenberg, manager.

The number of initial claims, those registering for unemployment benefits for the first time, has climbed a trifle over last week's record-breaking figure but there is a reasonable explanation for this and it is not expected to last. The reason for this hike, is that the normal mid-summer initial claims load has added itself to the abnormal run of initial claims brought about by the steel deadlock and the boost in unemployment benefits. Now that the steel question is settled it is expected that the claims wave will rapidly diminish and a return to normality is expected.

The continued claims, those claims which have been opened before and for various reasons were opened again, are still rather high but this is to be expected at this time of year. Mr. Greenberg explained. These claims have already dropped below the alarming proportions of the last few weeks but due to the seasonal layoffs at Wrights Aeronautical and the continued layoffs at Ford's the figure is still high. A big drop in continued claims is anticipated as soon as the major industrial companies in the area readjust themselves to the current situation.

Meanwhile, the central offices at Trenton wallowed in stacks of claims. The week's intake was reported at 14,832 initial claims and 42,805 continued claims. Night and overtime shifts continued to work in several of the wage re-eds, benefits and checkwriting operations. Checks written during the week totaled 53,466.

In Englewood the figures have jumped proportionately over last week's total. For the week ending July 21, 1951 the agency recorded 19 new claims and 51 additional claims for a total of 70 for the week. This year with the week ending July 21, the figures show that there were 56 new claims and 52 additional a jump of 36 claims. The figures for this year's month of June over last year's is perhaps a more graphic example.

In June of 1951, the agency handled 151 new claims and 107 additional claims for a total of 258. This year in the same month the agency took care of 150 new claims and 230 additional claims representing a jump of 122 claims.

The full force of the claims wave had not hit when these figures were released and the claims jump for this July over last July is probably much greater.

Col. A. F. Hogle Directs Summer Training At Dix

FORT DIX—Colonel Albert F. Hogle, of 48 Homestead road, Tenafly, an Army Reserve Officer with outstanding experience in the direction of Army training, is currently director of training for the first combined summer field training of 800 Army Organized Reserve officers at Fort Dix.

A veteran of both world wars with more than 34 years' service, Colonel Hogle lauds the cooperation of commanding officers from other cities in handling a task for which there are no previous examples.

Colonel Hogle, who is commandant of the Paramus ORC School, was director of training for Fourth Army Headquarters during World War II. He fought in Belgium and France during World War I and was awarded the Purple Heart.

The veteran Army Reserve officer, who is president of the Fotopak Corporation in Englewood and director of research for the Photo Finishing Institute Ltd. in New York City, will direct training of ORC School officers from Buffalo, Syracuse, Schenectady, Rochester, Binghamton and New York City, N. Y., and Paramus, New Brunswick, Camden and Kearny.

Junior Red Cross Delegates Report On A Convention

TENAFLY—One of the by-products of attending a Red Cross Convention or Training School is meeting new people and becoming friends with them. As a result of attending the 1951 Junior Red Cross Training School at Keuka College, New York, Barbara Craft of Tenafly High School became friends with her roommate, and has since visited her at her home in Maryland.

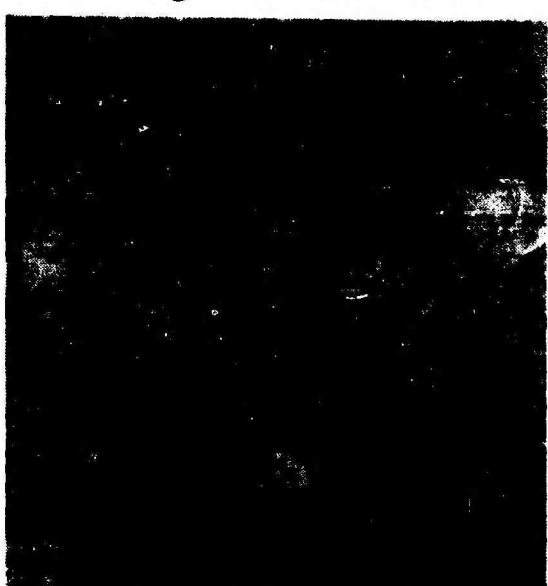

Nancy Coard, like Barbara, is a senior in high school, but unlike the Tenafly girl, attends the only all-girl public high school in the United States in Baltimore. She is a member of her Junior Red Cross Club in high school, and she and Barbara write exchanging ideas of activities.

One of the activities that Barbara has enjoyed hearing about is the project that Nancy's Junior Red Cross group participates in connection with one of the Veterans' hospitals in Maryland. Nancy is one of the disk jockeys at the hospital, playing records and making announcements over the public address system for the benefit of the hospitalized veterans.

Barbara came back from visiting Nancy filled with ideas and enthusiasm as to the other Junior Red Cross projects.

Barbara and Mary Rall who attended the 1952 Junior Red Cross Training Program at Hood College, were both greatly interested in the International Art Program in which many of the High Schools participate. Dwight Morrow High School in Englewood has cooperated in this project in the past, and like all the schools in Bergen County which are enrolled under the Junior Red Cross program, the enthusiasm for these activities is brought back to the schools by the delegates to the conventions or training schools. They go to learn and come home inspired.

Meeting On Korean Front

Robert S. Dye, of Company B, 23rd Regiment, of the Second Infantry Division meets General William H. Colburn, recently, while Congressman Alfred D. Steminski of New Jersey and Otto E. Paseman of Louisiana look on.

Recently promoted to the rank of corporal, Dye is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dye of 188 West Clinton avenue, Tenafly. In Korea since January, he entered the Armed Forces in August, 1951.

self-employed veterans for periods during which their earnings were below given minimum. A total of $2,971,000 was paid to about 7600 self-employed veterans.

Until October of 1954 there's a handful of state residents who may be eligible under SRA. They are listed or re-upped under the provision of Public Law 190, passed by congress in 1945, to encourage building up of the armed services. Actually, July 25, 1949 marked the virtual end of the program since after the date no veteran who had been released prior to July 25, 1947 was entitled to any allowance.

Statistics show that although only 3,000 veterans in New Jersey were receiving allowances for weekly unemployment in July of 1945, the total jumped to 40,000 by January, 1946 and climbed to a peak of 86,000 in June of 1946. This pool of unemployed veterans gradually diminished to a low of 12,000 during the last quarter of 1948. Only 2,000 veterans were receiving benefits during the fourth quarter of 1949 and from that time on the numbers have dwindled to a mere 10 or 15 during the first half of this year.

It was explained that veterans of the Korean action—those who have served for many days of more and have some service on and after June 27, 1950—will be entitled to receive unemployment insurance payments under the Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1952, signed into law on July 16. Payments will begin about mid-October and will be for a maximum of $676 or at the rate of $28 per week for a maximum duration of 26 weeks.

Again the federal program will be administered in New Jersey by the Division of Employment Security, acting as servicing agent for the federal government.

Taxes Reported On The Upswing All Over State

NEWARK—Four hundred fifty nine of New Jersey's 584 municipalities have higher tax rates in 1952 than they did in 1951 and 89 saw their tax rates jump at least 100 points in the last year.

This was revealed here today by the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce reporting on its annual study of local property taxes levied for county, municipal and school district purposes. The 1952 property tax levy totals $533,265,888 and is a new record high for the state. The State Chamber's report is based upon a detailed analysis of the Abstracts of Tax Tables issued by New Jersey's 21 counties.

Analyzing tax rate increases this year the State Chamber published the following comparison of 1952 tax rates with those of 1951:

In 47 municipalities tax rates increased less than ten points;

In 88 municipalities tax rates increased between ten and 24 points;

In 110 municipalities tax rates increased between 25 and 49 points;

In 125 municipalities tax rates increased between 50 and 99 points;

In 89 municipalities tax rates increased 100 points or more.

Comparing increases in local tax rates this year with those of the three previous years, the State Chamber found a higher percentage of municipalities showing increased rates in 1952 than in any of those three years.

"In 1952," the report stated,

"81% of the municipalities have higher all-purpose tax rates than they did one year ago. In 1949 73% of the municipalities had tax rate increases; in 1950 only 60% showed an increase and last year 76% of the municipalities had tax rate increases."

The 1952 average property tax rate for New Jersey is estimated by the State Chamber at $6.78 per $100 of assessed valuations. This is an increase of 34 points over last year and an increase of 167 points over the average State-wide tax rate of 1944.

The average tax rate per $100 valuation for New Jersey for each year since 1946 is as follows:

1946	$5.11
1947	$5.51
1948	$5.90
1949	$5.90
1950	$6.24
1951	$6.44
1952	$6.78

Let no vandalism of avarice or neglect, no ravages of time testify to the present or to the coming generations, that we have forgotten, as a people, the cost of a free and undivided Republic.

Now—In Englewood, U.S.A.

by PHYLLIS IVINS VALENTIN

A flashback over July 1952 lights up on the American horizon one word as clear and pulsating as a 4th of July skyrocket. That word, of course, is "conventions," though not exclusively the political variety.

Preceding the two epic Chicago "shows" were the national conventions of the National Education Association in Detroit (which, though less publicized, was just about as explosive as the firecrackers set off throughout the nation as it concluded its sessions) and of the American Library Association in New York City on the significant topic "Books are Basic." Set against a background of worldwide tension in the battle for men's minds, and against the situation NOW in Englewood, U.S.A., these two more intellectual, if less dramatic, conventions were none the less significant to our much-discussed American way of life. Set as a foreground to the dynamic political conventions, they were no less significant to the picture of an American Article. As usual, Englewood was there—in spirit and in fact.

At Detroit, educators took cognizance of a nationwide trend with which Englewood is all too familiar. Teachers accused of being subversive and of neglecting the fundamental "3 R's" textbooks in use for years suddenly being found un-American, and attempts to eliminate controversial subjects like the UN and especially UNESCO from classroom discussion, were major concerns at the Detroit convention. Does not each of these sound un-happily "like home" to local citizens? But perhaps we can take comfort—and some pride—in the fact that with all the unpleasantness created over a two-year span by our own superpatriots and professional agitators, Englewood has maintained a steady course.

NOW "the Englewood Board of Education adopts as its own the policies of the State Board..." with regard to selection of textbooks, teaching of patriotism and citizenship, teaching of U.S. history and treatment of controversial questions in the classroom—and resolves the controversy which raged in Englewood several months ago over the adoption of regulations concerning selection, purchase and use of textbooks." (Press-Journal of July 24) Perhaps like England with its annoying Red Dean, we can learn to accept the nuisance in order to prove our continuing belief in freedom of expression.

That the teaching of history is a world issue, too, was indicated in mutual recommendations by United States and German historians at

NAMED DIRECTOR

JOHN C. CONKLIN

NEW YORK—The board of directors of the Northern Insurance Company of New York announced this week the election of John C. Conklin Sr., of Saddle River, as a director in company. Mr. Conklin, the founder and president of the Hackensack agency, bearing his name, has represented the Northern throughout this area for many years.

In addition to his new post with the Northern, Mr. Conklin is also a member of the board of directors for the Colonial Life Insurance Company, of East Orange, and is a director of the Peoples Trust Company of Bergen County.

will meet the Bergenfield P.A.L. at Prospect street field, Bergenfield.

The Lodi-Englewood clash was scheduled to be played last week, but was delayed a week in order to give Englewood a chance to play in the Little-Bigger League tourney at Yardville, New Jersey.

Herb Carr will hurl for Englewood while Rivello will again be behind the plate. A win for Englewood in this tilt will go a long way toward pushing Coach John Winklin's nine to the Junior championship. Lodi is currently leading the section with a record of 11 wins and one loss while Englewood has taken 10 out of 11 tilts.

The Seniors, tied for second place, will play the Bergenfield P.A.L. in a game which will decide the holder of second place. Tom Goodwin will probably hurl for Coach Frank Smith's nine while Bob Martling will be behind the plate. A win for Englewood will keep its hopes of a tie for Senior section championship alive.

In action last week the Englewood Midgets took the measure of the Teaneck A. C. 7 to 12.

Don Miller got credit for his third win of the season while Fred Conrad led the attack with three hits in four trips to the plate.

On Sunday the Seniors returned to the win column by bouncing the Emerson Boys Club, 10 to 4. Herb Carr, who relieved Bob Springer, was credited with the win. The win kept Englewood one half game behind the loop leading New Milford Index.

52-20 Club Ends After 8 Years; $139,128,000

TRENTON—Servicemen's Readjustment Allowances, often referred to as the "52-20 Club" and GI unemployment insurance, comes to an end this week after eight years of operation.

New Jersey has witnessed the decline of payments by the Division of Employment Security to World War II veterans in the state from millions monthly in 1946 to a mere $1,000 per month for the past six months. The New Jersey employment security agency acted as service agent for the Veterans Administration in handling the SRA program.

Generally veterans in New Jersey didn't "ride the gravy train," it was agreed today by Employment Security Director Harold G. Hoffman and Michael J. Shaars, VA agent, as they reviewed statistics in connection with the final windup of the program. Veterans in the state entitled to unemployment insurance payments under the 1944 G. I. Bill of Rights approximated 650,000 but less than half of these or about 313,000 actually received benefits.

During the eight years of the program, 313,284 New Jersey veterans received a total of $139,128,000, or an average of about $450 each. Of those who received payments only 41,600 or 13.3 per cent drew the maximum amount which, in most cases, was $20 for 52 weeks. Benefits were also paid to

The Kitchen Is Fertile Field For Fatalities

ENGLEWOOD—The kitchen is the most dangerous room in the house. Statistics show that about 20 per cent of all home accidents happen there.

Our home agent, Miss Margherita Jebson, has asked "why," just as you might, and she has come up with some findings which should be useful in cutting kitchen mishaps.

Floor equipment and improper use of good equipment account for some, Miss Jebson has found. Disorder and poor judgment may be responsible for others. And the home agent adds that fatigue also accounts for a large number in all probability. Don't you notice that accidents are far more numerous when you are dog-tired?

Falls happen all too often. Spilled food, left on the floor and an improvised step ladder, are responsible for many tumbles. A sturdy step stool is the only safe way to get at high storage. Better still, plan your storage so the most commonly used supplies and utensils are within easy reach. You won't get so tired when you can find what you want and you won't be flying around to make up for time lost. And you won't fall off an improvised step ladder.

Burns are common. When you are weary take a few minutes to rest. Miss Jebson points out that if you don't, you might have to take more time for something less enjoyable, such as bandaging a burned hand or finger. Avoid handles from kettles sticking out beyond the range. Either you or the children may be burned with spilled hot liquid or fat.

"Poor light at work areas wears you down," the home agent says. "Shadowy light can be hazardous, too, when you handle sharp knives, hot water or hot food. Dishes break more often if you can't see them clearly. If accidents are on the increase in your kitchen, check your lighting.

"Reaching into a deep drawer is irritating, as well as dangerous, if knives or other sharp pointed objects cut fingers and keep the knives sharp. Dividers keep other small every-day tools easy to pick-up. Or if you are remodeling, plan shallow drawers. Little things will be in sight, not buried beneath each other.

"One good look at yourself may remind you it's time to stop for a few minutes. That's reason enough for a mirror in the kitchen. Or it may inspire you to smooth your hair, powder your nose or straighten your dress. You'll be more relaxed and cheerful, and not an active candidate for an accident."

Patience is not passive; on the contrary it is active; it is concentrated strength. Bulwer

Field Club Grip On Tennis Lead Improves In Week

ENGLEWOOD—The Englewood Field Club consolidated its grip on first place in the Bergen County Tennis League as it defeated Tenafly Tennis Club, 4 to 1, on Sunday afternoon.

Upper Ridgewood, defending champion, scored a 3 to 2 victory over Ahddek Tennis Club of Bergenfield, while Leonia, which is now tied with Upper Ridgewood for second place, turned in a 4 to 1 victory over Windsor of Wood-Ridge. Ortiani Field Club of Hackensack improved its position by sweeping Palisades 5 to 0.

Playing without the services of their ace, Cal MacCracken, Bergen County champion who is on vacation, Englewood Field Club nevertheless trounced Tenafly, although the latter club was able to score a win in third singles.

Art Persson moved up to first singles and scored a 6-0, 6-3 victory over Ed Oehlschlaeger, while Bill Goodman, Harvard University tennis star, took a 6-1, 6-2, decision over Pete Calhoun. In third singles, Steve Marshall came from behind to score a 3-0, 6-0, 6-4 victory over Bob Brink in a tough match.

Englewood went out to win both doubles as Nat Glidden and Ed Cross went three sets to two down Jack Billington and Ed Cattle. 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, and Phil Osborne and Ted Brockie took second doubles by default.

Englewood 4, Tenafly 1

Singles — Art Persson (E) defeated Ed Oehlschlaeger, 6-0, 6-3. Bill Goodman (E) defeated Peter Calhoun, 6-1, 6-2. Steve Marshall (T) defeated Bob Brink, 3-0, 6-3, 6-4.

Doubles — Nat Glidden and Ed Cross (E) defeated Jack Billington and Ed Cattle, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3. Phil Osborne and Ted Brockie (E) won second doubles by default.

Local Players Star With Jersey Orioles

TEANECK—The Jersey City Orioles beat the Bulldogs 6-0 behind the pitching of Warren Ulrich and the mowing of Bobby Egan and Tommy Warren. Warren Ulrich of Tenafly gave up but two hits, struck out seven batters and only allowed one base on balls. Bobby Egan and Tommy Warren, both of Englewood, combined, collected six hits for the Orioles. Egan blasted out a triple and two doubles and Warren hit for three singles. Jack Andrews of the Bulldogs tabbed Ulrich for their only hit a double and a single. Egan and Warren are being sought by the Chicago Cubs and Warren Ulrich is being sought by the Braves, Browns and the New York Yankees. The game was played at Teaneck at Queen Anne Road field.

There is no great achievement that is not the result of patient working and waiting.

Area Little League Teams Fade From District Playoff Lineups

ENGLEWOOD — The area's last chance of having a club in the District One Little League final, which will be played at Little League Park Saturday at 2:30 p.m., passed by the Dorcus Monday night when Hackensack's American League trounced Tenafly by the score of 15 to 2.

Hackensack will tangle with Bergenfield, winner over Ridgewood 4 to 3, in the big battle for the District One Championship.

Tenafly, which squeaked past Englewood, was no match for the American League nine from the county seat. Hackensack's nitter belted out 14 hits and scored 15 runs in the contest. Mike Calabrese and Bert Vanelli hit home runs for the winners while Bob Fischer got three hits in four trips to the plate.

Howie Silverman, 11-year-old right hander, twirled a neat three hitter for Hackensack to get credit for the win. Dan Provensano was the starting and the loamy pitcher for Tenafly while Dave Adler came on in relief when Hackensack scored seven times.

Hackensack scored a single run on Calabrese's circuit smash in the first and then all but iced the contest with its seven run tally in the second. After being blanked in the third Hackensack scored one in the fourth, four in the fifth and two in the sixth. Tenafly scored on cin the first and one in the third inning.

The Englewood-Tenafly clash last Wednesday night was a real thriller with Tenafly pulling out the win with single runs in the second and fourth innings after Englewood took a 1 to 0 lead in the first inning. Jack Dye was the big hero for Tenafly pitching four hit ball and slamming a home run in the second inning which tied the score a 1 to 1.

Tenafly scored the winning run in the fourth on an error and two walks. Englewood had runners on first and third base in the sixth inning but Dye fanned the next three men in order to close the door in Englewood's face.

Little Bigger All-Stars Fade In Yardville Tourney

YARDVILLE — Englewood's Little-Bigger League All-Star nine was eliminated from the New Jersey Little-Bigger League Baseball Tourney at Switlik Park here on Saturday afternoon by dropping a semi-final game to Perth Amboy, 5 to 4.

Englewood downed Gloucester City in the first game of the twin bill, 2 to 0, behind the brilliant pitching of Ed Schuermann.

The Englewood-Perth Amboy clash was a real thriller with Englewood coming from behind in the first of the seventh inning to knot the score at 4 to 4. With two men out in the seventh, John Rivello picked out a fast ball by Ed Orlovski and bashed it deep over the leftfield fence to cut the margin to one run.

Schuermann connects Rivello had just about reached the bench when Schuermann, winning pitcher in the first tilt, lofted a drive over the rightfield fence to tie the score.

Perth Amboy appeared to win the game in the last of the seventh with a two-out single with runners on first and second bases, only to have an appeal play by Englewood nullify the tally when the runner failed to touch third base.

The Amboy nine finally won the tilt in the eighth on two walks, an error and a single. Saul Meyero, the fourth Englewood hurler, was charged with the loss. Frank Weber and Tony Zash led the Englewood's attack with two hits each.

Perth Amboy will meet the winner of tonight's tilt between the Hamilton Township-Kearny teams for the New Jersey championship.

County B Tennis League Victory For Ridgewood

By sweeping to victory over third place Ahddek, Sunday afternoon, the Upper Ridgewood "B" circuit tennis team went a few percentage points ahead of Leonia in the Bergen County B Tennis league, while Leonia—second place holder—remained inactive.

Bill Thompson, Bob McCullough and Richard Comyns scored singles victories for the defending champions, while Mac Rinehart and Dick Leydecker took first doubles, and Eric Hammarstrom and Bob Ohmes took the second doubles.

Tenafly upset Englewood as Don Quarles was the only man on the latter club to score a win. He took Mark Byers in a three-set match, 6-2, 3-6, and 6-4. Bob Farrell and Bob Snyder scored Tenafly wins in singles, while Fred Almy, John Adams, Ray Werner, and Bill Wegner were winners in the doubles.

Haworth finally came out of its slump to score a 4 to 1 victory over Palisades. Haworth swept the first three singles and first doubles, but Carl Rahner and Frank Klienman scored Palisades' only point in the doubles.

Jack Wells and Kim Emerson were winners in singles, while Paul La Rue and Warren Fischer took first doubles for Haworth.

With only two weeks remaining

Little Bigger Season Will Conclude During Next Week

ENGLEWOOD — With only two games remaining to be played in the Englewood Little Big League the fight for the four berths in the post-season tournament are still being battled for among the loop's five of the loop's six clubs.

At the moment Kahn Motors, Englewood Sport Shop and Grand Diner are tied for first place with the same record, five wins and four losses. Joyce's Sweet Shop is fourth with five wins and five losses while Cooper and Demarest is fifth with four wins and five losses.

The two games remaining match the Englewood Sport Shop with Grand Diner while Kahn Motors has a tilt still to be played with Cooper and Demarest.

The post-season tournament will get under way either this weekend or early next week. The first place club will play the fourth place club while the team finishing second will tangle with the nine, which finished fourth. The opening round will be one game while the winners will play a two best out of three series.

In last week's action the big news was the continued rise of the Englewood Sport Shop. The Sport Shop scored its fifth straight victory Monday night by downing Cooper and Demarest 12 to 1. Sal Meyerowitz got credit for the win limiting the losers to seven hits. Dave Addon was charged with the loss.

Last Friday a doubleheader was played with Masin and Kriz downing Joyce's Sweet Shoppe, 23 to 6 while Grand Diner stopped Kahn Motors, 9 to 1. The 23 runs scored by Masin and Kriz set a new league record. Bill Hansford got the win while Bruce Lruskin was charged with the loss for Joyce.

Fred Conrad, hurled a five hitter for Grand Diner in the win over Kahn Motors. Grant Hendericks was charged with the loss. Last Tuesday, Kahn Motors downed Joyce's Sweet Shoppe, 8 to 3.

Social Security Claims Are On Upswing Here

HACKENSACK — 150% more retired people than usual applied for old-age insurance payments during the first week of July, according to Abraham A. Asofsky, manager of the Hackensack Social Security office at 389 Main street.
 Asofsky credits the sharp rise to the fact that a number of people not applying for old-age insurance have completed a year and a half of work after 1950. This, he explains, makes it possible for them to have their benefits figured under the new formula which can be used only when a person has one and a half years of covered work after 1950. In most cases, the use of this formula gives a higher monthly benefit to a retired worker than would be possible if his earnings before 1951 were used in figuring his average monthly wage.

Asofsky anticipates a further increase in the number of 65-year-old applicants because of a new provision in the law which permits those who retire this year to have recent wages used immediately in figuring the amount of their benefit payments. If they have one and a half years of work covered by the law after 1950, it is no longer necessary for those retiring in 1952 to come back six months later in order to have such wages in their benefit amount.

Another provision of the amended law, Asofsky points out, is of special importance to self-employed people over 65 who retired or who plan to retire this year. Before the passage of the amendments their earnings for the year in which the application was filed could not be used to figure their old-age benefit payments. Now, a self-employed person who applied for and receives old-age benefits this year may re-apply after the close of his taxable year and have his 1952 earnings used in figuring his monthly benefit payments. Similarly, the survivors of a self-employed person who dies in 1952 may ask to have the 1952 earnings included in figuring their monthly benefits. In general, this will mean that benefits payable on the account of a self-employed person who retires this year will be larger than as originally computed, Asofsky says.

 Another new provision in the law is important to beneficiaries who have continued working after reaching age 75. If they have had a year and a half of work covered by the law after 1950, their benefits can be re-figured under the new formula, Asofsky says.

"This year's crops of fruits and vegetables are proving once again that New Jersey is rightly called the Garden State," says Willard H. Allen, Secretary of Agriculture of New Jersey.

We Wrote This Book for You
 It tells you how to freeze foods and how to care for your freezer. It tells you the months when the different varieties of fruits and vegetables are at their best. The accent is on New Jersey products.
 This is a year of bountiful crops. When our markets and food shops are filled with lavish displays of New Jersey grown products, why not freeze some of them for future use? Months from now you can enjoy the crispness of young, tender vegetables, the tang of sun-ripened berries, the succulence of ripe, plump peaches—all grown in New Jersey.

Yonkers Raceway Record Purse Of $300,000 Revealed
 YONKERS — A record $300,000 in purses will be distributed at Yonkers Raceway during the 12-night Summer meeting from Aug. 18 to 30, it was announced this week by William H. Cane, track president. An increase of $60,000 for the same period in 1951, the figure represents a total increase of $130,750 over the corresponding 1950 meeting.
 Stakes for this period will include the $25,000 Yonkers Pacing Derby on Aug. 21 which has drawn 24 of the nation's leading sidewheelers. Eight additional 2 and 3-year-old stakes with a total purse value of $32,000 will also be contested.
 A Free-For-All valued at $6,000 and a Junior Free-For-All worth $4,500 are likewise scheduled for the 12-night meeting. Overnight events carrying the highest purse schedule in the sport's history, as instituted during the Yonkers Spring meeting, round out the rich Summer program.

HOOK LINE and SINKER

By BILL PALMER

Paul Ferber and I have just returned from our midsummer swing around the Catskill trout circuit. This is an annual jaunt that coincides with the departure of our wives and children to distant parts, which, I might add, is a great convenience. Don't misunderstand me, we love them dearly, but it saves the necessity for a lot of face-saving and millification. Under the circumstances we just pack up and go and no questions asked. To be honest with you, I don't know why we go. We don't expect to catch trout, what with the warm, low water, bright sun and everything. Maybe it is just to give us a memory on which to feed during the long winter evenings. At least that is the way it has been in the past but this trip was different. And no end of fun.

We had planned to start with the Esopus, so shortly after dawn last Friday we departed, heading in the general direction of Pheonicia, N. Y. The morning paper had arrived early, so we took it along with us. I was driving and Paul began to read. Suddenly he let out an exclamation and proceeded to read from an article written by a character named Gilligan, who is owned by a dog named Hot Toddy, or something like that. The news was so startling that my memory is a bit confused.

It seems, so the article said, that a couple staying at Dick Kahil's Rainbow Lodge at Mt. Tremper had caught 160 trout in a week. Strangely enough this happened to be exactly where we had planned to spend Friday night. The news smacked of a Chamber of Commerce release to drum up a bit of trade in a slack period. Hot Toddy, or Gilligan, has, however, a reputation for veracity, so we were prepared to believe him.

On arriving at the Lodge mine host Kahil was in a state of alight confusion, torn between speeding the departing guests and greeting the new arrivals. Being the perfect boniface he introduced himself to us and, in turn, introduced us to the couple preparing to leave. Mention was made of the article and, as luck would have it, our new friends were the ones who had hit the jackpot. The story was vindicated in all respects. With watering mouths we asked about flies, pools, etc. Dick amplified the remarks and volunteered to show us some really good water.

He took us up the Little Beaverkill and showed us some pools and runs that were out of this world. Paul and I started about 200 yards apart and worked upstream. By lunch time we had each taken a dozen fish. They are there all right and all rainbows, but let me warn you, they are all small. We didn't get a keeper in the bunch. And so it was with the other couple, out of their 160 fish they kept nine and could have kept a few more but the bulk were under eight inches. A lot of fun, though, as they are all wild fish and put up a good scrap for their size.

After one of Blanche Kahil's famous lunches we went on the big stream above the portal and played around until suppertime. The fish were there but the results were poor.

After supper who should show up but this fellow Gilligan himself and who should he turn out to be but none other than Edmund P. Gilligan, well known author and writer on outdoor subjects, and as delightful a person as one would want to meet in a lifetime. The evening was magnificent, cool and with a bright moon coming up over the mountains. Everybody pointed to a fine evening rise. Another of Dick's guests, a charming ex-army nurse, was invited to join the party and we all climbed into Gilligan's 1936 phaeton for the ride down to the stream. At the spot chosen the stream lay beyond some fields through which we had to pass and in the field was a herd of cows, including one young bull which stood near the gate. Dick called attention to this and proceeded to open the gate. Being gentlemen, all four of us stood aside to let the lady enter first. I think the bull was scared by our number as we got through without trouble.

The fish were working hard but on what they were feeding remained a mystery so, as dark closed in, we returned to the lodge where, after some good conversation, we turned in, dog tired, but with the feeling of having spent a delightful day.

VFW Post Changes Plans; To Build On Another Site

ENGLEWOOD — Following consultations between members of Brown O'Brien Post No. 535, Veterans of Foreign Wars in Englewood, and the Englewood Common Council, it was announced by Mayor M. Leslie Denning this week that steps will be taken to obtain another suitable tract of city-owned land which can be utilized for the Post's proposed clubhouse.

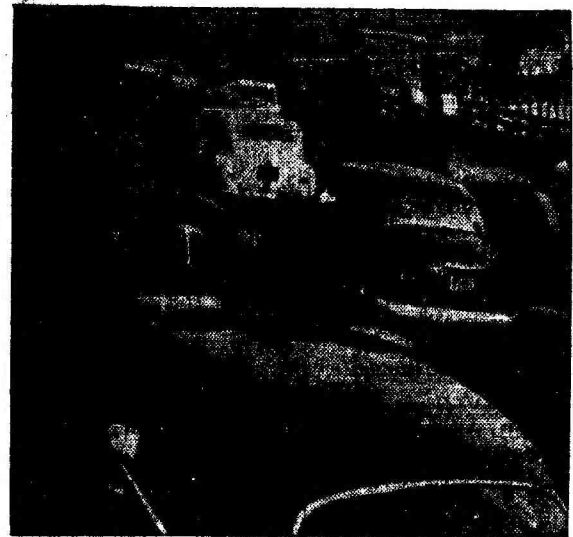

Following recent strenuous protests from residents of Pindle avenue, Durie avenue, Hamilton avenue and Roosevelt Square over the proposed location of the VFW Headquarters at the junction of Durie and Pindle avenues — several hundred residents signed petitions addressed to the Mayor and Council on the subject. The post agreed to delay their plans pending discussion of a possible alternative plot of ground.

The property at Pindle and Durie avenues was turned over to the veterans by the city in April before objections were raised, and it is considered that in event of a new location, the same arrangements will be made. The city will regain title to the present VFW site.

GROWING PAINS

WHO COULD FORESEE New Jersey's growth? Yes, the highway system is having growing pains—but new roads built and under construction (such as the Turnpike and the Garden State Parkway) are catching up with the terrific increase in traffic. However, it takes time. And like automobiles...

HOMES HAVE MULTIPLIED, TOO. 175,000 new homes and apartment units have been built in New Jersey just since 1945. And nearly all these homes wanted telephone service. Voice highways, too, require time to plan and build.

MEETING THIS DEMAND for telephone service is taking $1,300,000 in new construction a week. For seven years we've added more than 2,200 telephones a week. Plans have had to be changed, time and again, as growth exceeded expectations.

IT TAKES TIME, but you can be sure of this: your Telephone Company is building as fast as critical materials are available to give a growing New Jersey more and better telephone service.

Merchants tell us that the Englewood Dollar Days last week-end were the greatest sales days ever seen in our fair city. For which we take a modest curtsy because our paper was the only advertising medium used to exploit the event.

Michael Beck, dynamic Englewood real estate man has been named by George Bunch to manage the Englewood office of the Bunch organization. So now, they can add "Mike" to their slogan of "Let George Do It."

Our local Chamber of Commerce office really keeps busy, even during these hot summer days. Last week Howard Richmond received a phone call from a woman who wanted information about boarding a cow. Some people still think of Englewood as a farming community, it would seem.

Martin Block, famous radio announcer who is a resident of Englewood, has been carrying on an intensive campaign on his daily program urging people to register so that they can vote in November. It all came about through a suggestion to Mrs. Block when she visited the city clerk's office here to register herself. Now if we can only get Martin to register.

Snuffy, our office cat sez: There are two occasions when one should keep his mouth shut — when swimming and when angry.

Jack and Jill, Englewood's big juvenile furniture and toy shop is now completely moved into its huge new store at 8 East Palisades Avenue. We must compliment the Roths on the ease and efficiency with which they accomplished the change-over. We know it was quite a task.

Harold Abrams of Palisades Storage Warehouse Company is off for a vacation in historic Saratoga.

Bill Rhodes of Stillman & Hoag is back from his summer vacation at Lake Champlain, and when asked, "How was your vacation?" he replied, "Too short."

Dr. Walter Jacobus of the shoes shop is off on a motor trip with his family, and will return to the old stand in two weeks.

HOW busy is not so important as WHY busy. The bee is praised; the mosquito is swatted.

The Press-Journal, your home-town newspaper, has been invited to join a national organization of weekly papers whose membership is limited to only the outstanding publications of the nation. We are, and we hope you will be, very proud of this honor tendered us.

Man Escapes Injury As Car Bursts Aflame

ENGLEWOOD — A 1948 DeSoto, its interior a mass of flames pulled to a halt in front of 206 East Hudson avenue last Friday afternoon. Arriving firemen found the blaze feeding on paint, turpentine rags and cloth which had been stored inside the car.

The driver, David Bekties of 1156 Lennox road, Brooklyn, was driving the car at the time it burst into flames. He pulled the car to a halt and escaped with superficial injuries. Firemen managed to isolate the flaming vehicle but the interior was already completely demolished and the motor burning. The car, which was listed as a total loss, was owned by Louis Cohen of 203 Gafon street, Brooklyn.

ENGLEWOOD — Instead of bringing out the band to provide the traditional welcome for visitors, Englewood is bringing out three to start the Regional Little League tournament with a bang, plus a clash of cymbals and a blare of trumpets.

The Region 4 tournament, which will bring together champion Little League teams from five states, will open Wednesday, August 20 in Englewood's spanking-new Little League ball park. The winner of the final game, August 24 will qualify for the Little League World Series at Williamsport, Pa., the following week.

This tournament will mark the first time a regional playoff has been held in New Jersey. In keeping with the importance of the event, the Englewood committee is planning a noisy welcome and big parade, in honor of the visiting teams, even though the local boys already have been eliminated in district competition. Three bands already have promised their services for the parade before the opening game and City Clerk Joseph T. Carney, who has been making the arrangements found that one of his difficulties was to keep the musicians from outnumbering the ball players.

The Third Naval District Band and one from the Musicians Union have volunteered their services along with the Bergenfield Drum and Bugle Corps. The players, coaches and Little League officials will ride in shiny new convertibles, provided by Englewood automobile dealers, from the starting point at the monument on Palisades avenue to the field on Broad avenue near Route 4.

The parade is scheduled to start at 3:30 p.m. in order that everyone may be at the field in time for the practice before the game starts at 6.

Tire Burglaries Solved, Englewood Police Clear Deck

George Paulsen, DMHS Principal Retired Aug. 1

ENGLEWOOD — Dr. Harry L. Stearns, superintendent of Englewood Schools, announced this week the retirement of George W. Paulsen, principal of Dwight Morrow High School and of Englewood High School since 1926, effective Aug. 1. Mr. Paulsen is of retirement age, he stated, and has been in poor health.

Mr. Paulsen, a resident of Englewood at 285 Central avenue, is a graduate of Massachusetts State Teachers College, and received his M.A. in school administration from Teachers College at Columbia University. He began his teaching career in 1910 at Theford, Vermont, and then taught in North Brookfield, Quincy, and Boston, Massachusetts, and at White Plains, N. Y., in the field of science and physics. At Quincy, he was head of the science department in the high school there. In 1923, Mr. Paulsen was appointed principal of the North Plainfield High School, and three years later was appointed principal of the Englewood High School, then located on Engle street.

When Dwight Morrow High School was opened, Mr. Paulsen moved his offices to the palatial new structure on Knickerbocker road, and he has been the only principal at that school building. Dr. Stearns stated that he will take personal charge of the opening of the school this year, and that a committee of faculty members will work smoothly to see that there is no hitch in the proceedings. In the meantime, steps are being taken to interview candidates for the position, and a successor to Mr. Paulsen will probably be named some time this fall.

Jones Road Will Have New Ramps From Highway 4

ENGLEWOOD — A major improvement to the Route 4 "frontage" in Englewood is being planned by residents of the area, following announcement of the New Jersey State Highway Department that the ramps leading from the highway to the Jones road overpass are to be widened and otherwise improved to allow for easier access to homes in the area.

A continuation of a project launched in Englewood several years ago for the closing of openings in the Route 4 middle island, was also included in the report, and 48 mid-block openings in Route 4, from the Hackensack River through River Edge to Fairview avenue, Paramus—a distance of over two miles—will be closed.

The third Bergen County improvement consists of widening intersections and installing traffic signals at Midland avenue, Paramus; Linwood avenue, Ridgewood; and Hollywood avenue, Ho-Ho-Kus.

These three Bergen County projects are being lumped with an Essex County highway improvement—the straightening of Pleasant Valley Way in West Orange—in order to obtain more favorable prices and speedy completion.

Work will be regulated, according to State Highway Commissioner Randolph H. Abbott, so that peak travel will suffer as little interference as possible. Contractors will not be permitted to work on Saturdays, Sundays, holidays, or during the half day preceding or following such days, in order to guarantee against undue week-end congestion.

Englewood Lions Club Sponsors Mills Circus

ENGLEWOOD — The Englewood Lions Club has announced plans for a one day stand of the Mills Brothers Circus, to be held in Dumont on Friday, Sept. 12, as a benefit for the Englewood Hospital.

From information released by the Englewood Lions Club committee—composed of Joseph T. Carney, John Holran and William Dietzsch—it was learned that the circus will give a performance for patients at the hospital during the day.

A campaign for the sale of banners and placement of placards will be held during the next few weeks. Mills Brothers Circus is one of the largest circuses in the world—second only to the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey. It has not only a complete house of animal acts, but a fine program of unusual circus talent.

ASSUMES POSITION

REV. JAMES F. MARTIN

The Rev. James F. Martin, of Englewood, assumed his duties as an assistant minister at St. James' Protestant Episcopal Church, Madison avenue and 71st street, on Sunday. During the month he will be in charge of the parish and preach at the 11 a.m. Sunday services. The rector, the Rev. Dr. Arthur Lee Kinsolving, and another assistant, the Rev. William J. Chase, will return from vacations in September.

Mr. Martin was formerly assistant minister of St. Paul's Church in Englewood. He was born in Scotland and he has his Master's degree from Oxford University, where he took honors in law. He prepared for the ministry at Chester Theological School. During World War II he served as a combat pilot in the Royal Air Force. He left England after the war to work in British Columbia, Canada.

Dollar Days Best In History, All Merchants Say

ENGLEWOOD — Englewood's 1952 summer Dollar Days were pronounced a distinct success both from the amount of sales and from the number of stores participating.

The feat achieved by 60 merchants in increasing their volume of sales from 25 to 52 percent over the volume of sales in the 1951 Dollar Days was attributed by spokesmen to the fact that the Englewood store owners went all-out to bring real values and big reductions before their potential customers.

Stores along the avenue reported the greatest dollar volume in the history of the sales. Fifth Avenue Jewelers reported a complete sell-out of advertised waltzes within the first three hours of Dollar Days.

Stores were so busy that employees had to have quick lunch brought in to them, and often didn't then have time to eat it.

Argo Shoes reported that many customers came into the store with copies of the advertisement that appeared in the Press-Journal.

A line formed outside the Jacobus Shoe store at 7 a.m. on the opening day of the sales, waiting for the store to open.

Louis Barisch of Wilmar's stated that he had never seen anything like the rush in his store, and stated that his shelves will now be loaded with fall styles.

Dell's reported they couldn't get a "breather" from opening until closing time.

Terry-Jeffrey was crowded all day and far into the evening.

Customers walking out of Towne Shoes were reportedly so loaded with packages that they had difficulty in opening the door.

Although the attendance on the four municipal playgrounds failed to equal last week's record breaking totals it continues to exceed the fifth week figures of past years. A gross attendance total of 5,936 was recorded with Mackay Park compiling 2,200; Dwight Morrow 1,522; Winton White Stadium 928 and Roosevelt 826. Registration has increased by 90 youngsters with the total reaching the all time high of 1,651.

Throughout the past week youngsters on the four play areas have been busily engaged in competition to determine the playground champion in each of the eight typical playground activities. These champions gathered at Dwight Morrow Park and Winton White Stadium on Friday to determine the City Champion of each event. The following are the Champions who represented this city in the Annual East Bergen Playground Championships at Central Park, Teaneck, Wednesday August 6.

JACKS — GIRLS — Mackay Park, Thelma Akridge, first place; Stadium Nancy Martling second place.

PADDLE TENNIS — Girls — Stadium, Winnie Paul first place; Dwight Morrow, Ann Doherty second place.

TETHER BALL — GIRLS — Stadium Ronnie Rieck, first place. SOFTBALL THROW — GIRLS — Mackay Park, Josephine Graham, first place; Stadium, Edith Foote second place.

TABLE TENNIS — GIRLS — Stadium, Beatrice Alawat, first place; Roosevelt, Elizabeth Schaffer, second place.

GIRLS' HOP-SCOTCH — Mackay Park, Lilli Menter, first place; Roosevelt, Jo Ann Schaefer, second place.

BOYS' HOCKEY — GIRLS — Stadium, Eleanor Luenders, first place; Dwight Morrow, Louise Diesenerger, second place.

CHECKERS — GIRLS — Dwight Morrow, Henrietta Schaefer, first place; Roosevelt, Nancy Wells, second place.

PADDLE TENNIS — BOYS — Dwight Morrow, Robert Burke, first place; Stadium, Tom Cooke, second place.

SOFTBALL THROW — BOYS — Mackay Park, William Hansford, first place; Roosevelt, Fred Conrad, second place.

TABLE TENNIS — BOYS — Roosevelt, Don Miller, first place; Stadium, Bruce Druskis second place.

TETHER BALL — BOYS — Stadium, Tony Zash, first place; Mackay, Ed Nelson, second place.

BOYS' HOCKEY — Stadium, Saul Meyerowitz, first place; Mackay Park Lindsay Henderson, second place.

FOUL SHOOTING — BOYS — Stadium, Frank Starrs, first place; Mackay Park, James Reid, second place.

HORSESHOES DOUBLES BOYS — Mackay Park, Melvin Henderson, Irvin Thomas, first place; Stadium, Peter Natale, Ronny Sacchi, second place.

CHECKERS — BOYS — Dwight Morrow, Ronald Feiner, first place; Mackay Park, Stanley Hill, second place.

To be eligible for competition, the youngster must be in regular attendance at one of the four playgrounds and be under sixteen years of age on August 6, 1952. In the event the champion is unable to participate in the East Bergen Playground Championships, the runner-up will act as an alternate.

Three Polio Cases Entered At Pines

PARAMUS — Two six-year-old children, a boy and a girl, and a 22-year-old man were admitted to Bergen Pines Hospital, Paramus, yesterday, suffering from polio. Hospital authorities said examination and diagnosis of each showed definitely that the patients were afflicted with the disease.

The names of the patients were not revealed, but a spokesman for the institution said the man was from Bergenfield, the six-year-old boy from East Paterson and the girl from Paramus. The admission of the three brought to 14 the number of polio patients now at the hospital.

Direct Dialing System Now Operating Here Termed Very Encouraging By Engineer

Setting Pace For The Nation

The direct dialing of telephone calls, inaugurated last November by Mayor M. Leslie Denning under the eye of Raymond N. Nelligan, manager of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company's Englewood plant, has been termed "very encouraging" by Harold S. Osborne, chief engineer of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and hailed as the forerunner of nationwide direct dialing customer-to-customer service in the future.—Photo by Baur.

Little League Playoffs Due, Pressure Building

ENGLEWOOD — A tingling feeling of expectancy is charging through the quiet sun-sprayed streets of Englewood these few days. The silence of the lazy summer afternoon is punctuated with the steady thump of a ball hitting leather. There are no accompanying shouts or screams and portentous sound. Groups of small boys, their ball caps pulled at business-like angles, move up and down the hot streets, walking swiftly, silently, clutching a bat or a glove. Older folk, stopping for the evening paper, are blind to the blazing headlines as they discuss batting averages and fielding accomplishments. The tension is mounting and will continue to mount until the afternoon of Aug. 20 when an umpire will step before a miniature plate in a perfectly scaled lilliputian baseball field, and all the pent-up hopes and long fought-for dreams of this City's residents will explode into reality with his lusty "Play Ball!" The Little League Regional 4 Playoffs will have come to Englewood.

The Regional 4 Playoffs, which include the cream of the Little League crop from New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia, has chosen Englewood as the site of this year's fracas for a number of reasons. First, the new Little League Stadium at Trumbull Memorial Park is an ideal setting for the ball playing mites. Everything from the field house to the water fountain is built to midsize scale and the whole affair is under the competent direction of a trained staff. Second, and most important, the enthusiasm with which this City has tackled the job of lending a helping hand to the saw-ed set has made it a natural contender for the honor.

The spearhead of this project in Englewood has been the Rotary Club's Little League Foundation Committee. Under the direction of Walter G. Hilderbrant, this group, starting with nothing more than an ambition to help the young boys of Englewood, forged steadily through adversity, apathy and opposition, and finally saw their efforts take physical shape in the splendid Little League Field and Organization.

In the beginning they were alone, but their enthusiasm was infectious and soon spread to the distaff side of the family, who set about forming a Little League.

While it is true that the Area rent control bureaus have announced that municipalities must take action in order to preserve the status quo in the State of New Jersey, action has already been taken on the state level to assure continued levels of rent established as far back as May of 1950.

W. Gerould Clark, president of the Englewood Common Council, and a nationally known figure in the real estate field, announced recently that the state's control bill was drafted to go into effect when and if the Federal controls expired.

While reports have been received of some apartment lessees receiving notice of rent increases, the fact that the state controls automatically take over on Sept. 20, will probably cause move-in renters and rental agencies to increase rents in the State of New Jersey at the expiration of the Federal controls.

As far as the directive of the Area Rent directors is concerned, it was stated, no action need be taken by the several municipalities in the State of New Jersey because all the action required to meet the situation has already been taken for all the residents of the state, by the State Legislature.

Burning Mattress Causes Little Damage

ENGLEWOOD — Summoned to 278 West Palisades avenue at 3:30 a.m. last Sunday firemen found a mattress burning in the back yard where it had been tossed by the occupants of the house after it had burst into flames in the bedroom.

Occupied by Baron Bennet, the apartment was located on the first floor of the four story building. The cause of the fire is unknown and the damage is reported slight.

ENGLEWOOD — Harold S. Osborne, chief engineer of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, in an article in the current issue of Bell Telephone Magazine entitled "Communications Sets Its Sights Ahead," announces that the results of the revolutionary Englewood experiment to test out the feasibility of nationwide direct dialing service have been very encouraging, and that plans are going ahead to adopt the "Englewood dialing system" throughout the country.

The program—opened last November 10 when Mayor M. Leslie Denning of Englewood dialed directly to the office of the Mayor of Alameda, California—has shown that residents of Englewood, Tenafly and Cresskill who use the Englewood exchange, and some residents of Teaneck have been dialing 98 percent of all calls that it is possible to dial under this trial system.

"While proceeding rapidly with arrangements for nationwide dialing by the operator," Mr. Osborne stated, "the plan has contemplated from the start that nationwide customer dialing would ultimately be provided. With this in view, the 10 digit national numbering plan is based upon the local telephone numbers, with the addition of a minimum number of digits to represent the geographical area to which the call is directed.

"When the customer instead of the operator is to dial through the desired telephone, an important added requirement is involved," Mr. Osborne continued, "with customer dialing, the machine must make automatically a record of all the details of the call upon which charges are based—a record which otherwise is made by the toll operator. Various forms of equipment to do this are now in extensive use for short-haul calls. Equipment suitable for general long-haul customer dialing is being developed.

"In the meantime a trial arrangement of long-haul customer dialing has been established in one local office: Englewood, N. J. Telephone users at Englewood, Tenafly, Cresskill and Teaneck 6 users, as well, etc.) can dial directly all telephones in any of eleven large city areas scattered throughout the continent from Boston to San Francisco. With this form of operation, the bell of the called telephone normally rings 15 or 20 seconds after the dialing is completed, compared with 90 seconds average for the service given today.

"The results of the Englewood trial are very encouraging," Mr. Osborne concluded. Difficulties due to wrong numbers and other troubles are few. The new method is received with favor by the customers. It seems clear that this whole plan represents an impressive forward movement in the development of telephone service which will trend toward a continuing increase in the use of long distance service in the future."

No General Rent Increases; State Law To Operate

ENGLEWOOD — Residents of Englewood, in particular, and New Jersey residents in general are assured this week that in spite of statements to the contrary, there will be no general rent increases at the expiration of the present Federal rent controls on Sept. 30, 1952.

While it is true that the Area rent control bureaus have announced that municipalities must take action in order to preserve the status quo in the State of New Jersey, action has already been taken on the state level to assure continued levels of rent established as far back as May of 1950.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Germany Exchange Student Reports

To the Editor: You have suggested that I send you a letter with the theme, "Local girl views Europe," and after being here almost four weeks, I feel that I must let Englewood know what Germany really is.

As an American I was afraid at first that I would find many enemies here, but almost immediately this fear was changed to complete joy by the heartwarming hospitality I have found.

I am living in a home of a typical German family: mother, father, three children, a dog, and a cat. I have been going to school with the youngest of the children, Ursula, age 15.

Aside from the fact that the school is for girls only, is taught in German, and gives no choice of subjects, I find it very similar to my own high school. I have learned that methods of teaching are the same all over the world.

Ursula's subjects are English, French, Latin, History, German, Chemistry, Algebra, Biology, Religion, Art, Music and gym.

As a life-long resident of Englewood, I wish to acknowledge the debt of gratitude and token of appreciation that we owe to Mrs. Charles W. Hulst for the many services she rendered to us unselfishly and efficiently during her long useful life.

What really counts is that this pair will get together and then do the endless, happy things that can make any boy a better man.

The quality of the service your car receives is a matter of great importance. Our skilled mechanics have the ability to give car owners more miles per gallon of gas.

These are scattered throughout the week with either five or six lessons a day every day but Sunday.

Never have I been at a loss for entertainment, and it is only because I am skipping school today that I have time to write.

I have been to dancing school several times, and it far outlasts those I have seen in the U.S. I was amazed to discover that the boys here dance many times better than those at home.

In Dusseldorf now there is a "Kirmes" for one week. That is a mixture of America's carnival and amusement park. I have been there four times, and each time it was better.

There is so much to tell and so little space to use. My advice is for Americans to come here and see for themselves.

Says We Need New Telegraph System

Recent experiences with communications in our city make me write this letter to you today.

With industrial and trade activity growing from year to year it seems to me that at least a measurable adherence to the pace of our great neighbor across the river is justified rather than going back to horse and buggy days.

On July 18, at 6:10 p.m. the Western Union operator called by telephone to deliver a message.

Philmont-Bound Explorers Are 'Welcome Travelers'

TENAFLY — Explorer Scouts from Tenafly, Leonia, Hackensack, Cresskill, Little Ferry and West Englewood have returned to their homes following their expedition to Philmont Scout Ranch near Cimarron, New Mexico. Under the leadership of George Tilbury of Leonia, assisted by Dave Glassford of Tenafly, the Explorers left Englewood on July 7, returning here on July 26 on the Erie.

En route to the Camp, the boys appeared on a recorded program of "Welcome Travelers" in Chicago where they also met a group of Sea Scouts headed for the inland ranch. Taking the Santa Fe to Raton, New Mexico, the Scouts were met there by the bus for Philmont which took them to headquarters. There a truck took them to Carson-Maxwell where they learned how to cook and fix their packs. From there a three-hour horse back ride took them to Abreu, the starting place of the hike.

At Abreu, there was no water safe to drink except what the boys had in their canteens, so they learned why water is like gold in the west. There they also learned how to pack their burros. That day the hike took them across one stream 36 times. While on a shelf trail the expedition met Mr. Phillips who donated Philmont to the Scouts, and Mr. Schuck, one of the National Scout officials.

At Rayado, the next overnight stop, the burros were lost, but found after a two-hour hunt. One was cut on the leg, and two disappeared, but substitutes were found, and the group continued on its way.

At Porcupine, the hardest climb of the trip was begun, where the boys climbed Clear Creek Mountain which rose to an elevation of 11,400 feet. The high altitude, and the thin air, invoked the rule of "walk ten, rest five," so that all would reach the top. Near the base camp, a terrific hail storm caused the group to seek shelter in the tents until it was over. The sun was overcast, and a cold hard wind was blowing, so time out was taken to start a fire to warm up the boys. By 3 p.m., the summit was scaled, and a flag placed on the top. The descent down the other side was accomplished more easily in two stages.

One night was spent at Cypher's Mine, where there was good water, and time was taken to study nature in this area, as well as to inspect the outside of the mine. The following night, the Explorers reached the bottom of the mountain, spending the night at Cimarron City where they lived in luxury as the Calvacade did not arrive to use the facilities of a kitchen and running water. Badge work in rifle and skeet shooting was done here.

The trail to Bench was not up and down, but on and on. Water again became important as it was necessary to purify the supply here before drinking it. The last hike started here of nine miles to Bent, across the Cimarron River, which was supposed to be only knee deep.

Instead the water was up to the boys' hips, and in battling the current and the burros who were balking at crossing, one boy fell in. The trail soon crossed the highway, and the hot New Mexican sun dried out the hikers. As the trail went up and down the mountains, the boys got asleeper, and fell sound asleep.

Food on the trail consisted of powdered eggs and potatoes, and dried milk and dried carrots, in addition to other supplies. When the Scouts arrived at Ponal, the last camp, the fried chicken was indeed welcome. More rifle shooting, and clothes washing and cleaning of the area occupied their time before leaving in the truck for Cimarron where they had lunch. From there, the bus took them to Raton where a train took them to La Junta, Colorado, where they caught a train for Colorado Springs.

In Colorado Springs, the boys stayed at the YMCA, and from there were taken by car to the top of Pikes Peak. Dave Glassford was able to use his training received in the Tenafly Police force as one of the cars broke down on a blind curve so that he directed traffic around it. Garden of the Gods, Manitou Springs where the mineral water was sampled, and the Van Briggle Pottery were also on the agenda.

The next day was spent in Denver where the Park of the Red Rocks was visited en route to Mt. Evans, where the boys went skiing at Summit Lake. After visiting the observation house which is at an elevation of 14,200 feet, the group had lunch at Echo Lake and returned to Denver.

Frontier Days in Cheyenne was the next objective of the group where a great deal of noise and excitement prevailed. Indians and cowboys were abundant, and the boys enjoyed the events at the Rodeo.

From there the Scouts took the Union Pacific to Chicago where they visited the Museum of Science and Industry. While they saw the Democratic Convention in progress on TV they did not know until on the way home who the candidate was to be. Nor did they know for five days after the selection of the Republican candidate because of being in the wilderness.

Aside from a few minor mishaps such as illness from impure water, air sickness, a nearly missed train, the trip ran on an even keel. Coming home on the Erie, the train was so crowded, that the Scouts were unable to have as much space as they anticipated. The harassed porter and conductor had to wake the group at midnight to collect tickets, and when the leader, Mr. Tilbury, was asked to identify the boys—his reply was "the boys with the green pants."

The scenery of the west they found totally different in intensity of color and opportunity of vegetation, so that they came back with much space as they anticipated. The appreciation of the importance of water in the life of our nation. The boys from Tenafly who went were Charles LeRoy, Dick Diffenbach, Bill Prior, John Sneden, John Tierney, and Jim Morgan. Dave Glassford, assistant leader, is Adviser for Explorer Unit of Troop 115.

The people seen in the rest of America pointed out the regional differences of the land, which were particularly noticeable when the boys would be in a camp with a group from another section. They found the Civil War was still being fought in good humor by the Southerners, and that they were "Yankees." They found too

ALPINE — One hundred guests, parents and former campers, attended the Mexican Fiesta presented on July 31, closing day of Tanglewood Day camp operated by the Englewood-Tenafly Girl Scout Council in Alpine for four weeks during July. All campers and many guests cooperated by appearing in gay colorful fiesta costumes.

The program opened with the singing of an International Song. Unit I, Pixies, (Brownies, 8-9 years of age) sang a donkey song and the Watermelon Song and offered a Mexican dance. The Unit leaders were Mrs. S. J. Cooper and Miss Mary Avakian.

Tanglewood Campers, Unit V comprised of Intermediates, next showed the much awaited Bull Fight with Marie Caulfield playing the bull and Virginia Kover, the successful matador. Unit Leaders were Mrs. Carroll Thomson and Miss Bethann Thomson.

Huckleberry Dell, Unit III, also Intermediates offered a Mexican Play, "Roderigo and Rosalita", the story of two children who by working themselves rallied to the support of their ailing father, enabling him to paint pictures that brought his fame and fortune. Leaders of this group were Mrs. George Sampson and Miss Ruth Ann Messina. A spirited Mexican Band, playing suitable tunes, was the contribution of the Sparrows, Brownies of Unit II, under the supervision of Leaders Miss Betty Ann Capestro and Miss Mildred Bigelow.

The Cave Girls, Intermediates of Unit IV, directed by Mrs. Joseph Robertson and Miss Mary Bigelow, told legends of Mexico and exhibited some interesting specimens of Mexican art work.

Interspersed between the acts of the program were songs by the audience and campers, led by Miss Jane Young, camp director.

After refreshments and at the time of the closing circle around the flag, the following awards were made:

Prize Pixies (Brownies who have completed standard requirements in elementary camp skills) Barbara Amick, Clare Brantfuhr, Nancy Bischoff, Ruth Freund, Constance Gougion, Sybil Glikin, Carole Mintz, Joann Naglieri, Carol Poulia, Susan Schultz, Sally Lou Vogel, Loretta Bianco, Susan Murburg.

Campcrafters (Intermediates who have completed standard requirements in basic campcraft): Doris Ahr, Gail Amick, Virginia Broderesen, Dorothy Brown, Margaret Carey, Joan Eirorsen, Lynn Hergert, Florence Naglieri, Arlen Quick, Judy Sontag, Beth Tew, Lorraine Valentine.

that they had an accent noticeable to Western ears which could be ridiculed as much as a Texas accent by an Easterner.

The boys are planning a reunion for the fall so they can show the pictures they took, and compare notes on their memories.

Food Cross Nurses At Area Nurse Institute

ENGLEWOOD — Two representatives of Northern Valley Chapter, American Red Cross, have returned after attending the Eastern Area Home Nursing Institute held from July 21-26 on the campus of the University of Indiana at Bloomington.

Mrs. Claire W. Burr of Leonia, and Miss Rosemary Lynch of Dumont, both Registered Nurses, were among the 50 delegates who lived on the campus during the conference.

Mrs. Burr, who took the course for Red Cross instructors in 1951, returned to take the Instructor Trainer's course. This—under the Red Cross program to see that all instructors are specially trained before certifying them—makes it possible for Northern Valley Chapter to hold courses for the training of instructors during the coming year. Miss Lynch this year took the course for instructors, which qualifies her to teach Red Cross Home Nursing courses in the Chapter area.

Leaf Scorch of Shade Trees
The extremely hot weather during late July has affected many plants. Shade trees being large and deep rooted are not quickly injured but they, too, show the effects of hot weather. One common trouble is leaf scorch.

This condition is well named since the leaves appear to be scorched by fire. The margins of the leaf turn brown first and the veins are the last to die. The trouble is not caused by fungi or bacteria, but is simply a withering and burning of the tissue and some varieties of trees are more susceptible to this condition than others. The horse-chestnut, sugar maple, Japanese maple and dogwoods have been injured extensively this year.

However, almost any variety of tree can be injured if it is in a weakened condition. Recently transplanted trees are notably susceptible to leaf scorch, also trees which have a large portion of the root area covered with walks and driveways.

The scorch condition usually does not kill trees, but it can make them very unsightly. The home owner can take measures to improve the growth status of trees so that they will be less susceptible in future years. Some of the steps that can be taken are the pruning out of some of the smaller and weaker branches, which reduces the number of leaves to which the root must furnish water; small trees can be watered during dry periods but if water is applied, the ground must be soaked thoroughly since trees are usually more deep rooted than smaller plants. Fertilizing of trees in this condition occasionally will help. However, it is best to defer the fertilization until fall since fertilizer applied at this time may stimulate too much growth. Occasionally, trees which are suffering from girdling roots become severely scorched.

Flowering Plants
If you like to raise your own flowering plants for winter use in the home, now is the time to start. Rather than dig up old, bloomed out stock and pot it, you will have much better success if you start fresh plants for this purpose.

It is a good idea to root cuttings of geranium, fuchsia, winter flowering begonias, etc., in late July. There are some annuals, too, that will bloom all winter if conditions are favorable. Among these are ageratum, petunia, sweet alyssum, Brewellia speciosa, dwarf marigolds. Sow the seeds about the middle of August. Sow plenty of seeds so you can select the best plants. If you have fine specimens of these in your garden, you can also root cuttings of them. This is a good method to maintain especially fine specimens for your garden next year.

When the cuttings are rooted or the seedlings are up put in 2 1/2-inch pots in a good potting mixture. Plunge the pots in a bed of cinders or the soil, preferably in a coldframe. When growth starts, pinch the plants back to make them more compact.

As soon as these small pots are well filled with roots, repot in 3-inch pots. When these are filled with roots, shift to 4-inch pots. Meantime, if growth becomes leggy, pinch again. Much better plants can be grown by this method of starting in small pots and shifting to larger ones rather than putting the rooted cuttings or seedlings in pots that are too large. In an over-sized pot, some time will elapse before the plant can develop a good root system. It must have this before it can make a top and bloom.

Women's TV Show To Spotlight Use Of Peaches

NEW BRUNSWICK — New Jersey peaches will take the spotlight on "A Woman's Work" Station W. ATV, channel 13, Thursday, August 7, from 3:30 to 4 p.m. Prof. A. J. Farley, extension fruit-specialist at Rutgers University, will be the guest of Mrs. Margaret C. Shepard, Essex County Home agent, and a movie short will show the growing, grading and packing of peaches in Gard State orchards.

Prof. Farley will discuss different varieties and give the latest market news about them. Mrs. Shepard will show several ways to serve peaches which are appetizing and re-creating for hot weather meals.

Mrs. Shepard will also report on best food of the week. "A Woman's Work" is presented weekly on W. ATV by the Essex County Extension Service which is supported by the Essex County Freeholders, the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Rutgers, the New Jersey State University.

Public Service Plans Transportation Merger
NEWARK — Public Service Coordinated Transport and its wholly-owned subsidiary, Public Company this week filed with the Board of Public Utility Commissioners of the State of New Jersey a petition for approval of the merger of Public Service Interstate Transportation Company into Public Service Coordinated Transport. The Companies state in their petition that the merger will result in an overall corporate simplification with attendant economies that will stem from the elimination of a great volume of duplicate work. No new securities will be issued by Public Service Coordinated Transport in connection with the merger.

Local Residents Part Of Bergen Rent Committee

HACKENSACK — The Bergen County Rent Advisory Board, a body which was set up to help meet the specific needs of the residents of this area, has met with complete success thus far. It was reported this week. Made up of residents of this area, the Board feels it is in a better position to recognize local needs, and has proven itself quite successful in dealing with local rent problems.

Board members from this area include, William A. Fasolo of Tenafly, Herbert Olney of Englewood, and John Kienast of River Edge. Mr. Fasolo, a lawyer, is a Public Interest Member, as is Mr. Kienast, who is a chemist. Mr. Olney, also a lawyer, is a Landlord Interest Member.

Night In Venice Drawing Record Crowd To Beach

NEW YORK — Long Island residents are flocking by the thousands nightly to the New Jones Beach marine theatre to see the Mike Todd production of "A Night In Venice", the Long Island State Park Commission has announced.

The Johann Strauss operetta, being presented for the first time in the United States, has a cast of over 200 singers, dancers, actors and actresses, and has been staged with a lavish hand by the internationally-known showman.

The new marine theatre, which seats 8,200 persons, has been playing to near capacity during the past three weeks, as thousands from the metropolitan area as well as local residents have sought relief from the heat. The show is presented at the outdoor theatre every night at 8:40 p.m., including Sundays.

"A Night In Venice", a production so large that no theatre on Broadway is big enough to stage it, features the usual magnificence of Strauss' works. There are singing gondoliers paddling their boats through the softly-lit lagoon, an unusually colorful all-star cast, fireworks, and an exciting water ballet in which mermaids rise unexpectedly from the bottom of the lagoon.

The self-liquidating, state-sponsored enterprise with the showmanship of Mike Todd has received nothing but rave notices from Long Island and New York critics. "A Night In Venice" has been such a box office smash, that Todd already is readying another production for 1953.

Also staged daily at the new theatre is a thrilling "Marine Circus", produced by Michael Todd, Jr. and Dick Pope, Jr. It features colorful exhibitions of water-skiing, daring feats of high and trick diving and the hilarious antics of a bevy of aquatic clowns. This is the same show that brings thousands of Winter visitors to Florida to pack the Cypress Gardens vacation resort. Both the "Marine Circus" and "A Night In Venice" will run all summer. The "Marine Circus" starts daily at 2:30 p.m.

Rebilotto Denies Murder Assist In Moretti Case
 HACKENSACK — John J. Robilotto, 48-year-old New York undertaker, accused of being one of the men who murdered Willie Moretti on Oct. 4, last, at Joe's Restaurant, Cliffside Park, pleaded not guilty when he was arraigned at 2 p.m. on Thursday before Superior Court Judge Wallace Levey in Hackensack and ordered held in Bergen County Jail without bail.

The indictment, one of five voted by Bergen County Grand Jury, will be attacked, however, by Robilotto's New Jersey attorney, Joseph Gaudielle, of Hackensack, who said he would ask permission to take depositions from a number of persons.

Gaudielle also told reporters that he planned to attack the "arbitrary substitution" of Robilotto's name on the indictment for one of the original "John Doe" indictments voted by the Grand Jury.

Robilotto, said to have been a familiar figure at the restaurant and at Duke's Tavern, located only a few doors away on Palisade avenue and now closed up, was identified before Federal Grand Jury investigating the Moretti killing by a woman who said she heard the shots and looking out the window, saw Robilotto coming out of the restaurant.

Care Is Urged For Good Books By Home Agent

HACKENSACK — Good books are treasures to preserve for present and future enjoyment. To keep them attractive, dust them frequently. To insure a long life, handle carefully.

"Dusting is not hard at all with a soft brush attachment on your vacuum cleaner," says Miss Margherita Jebson, Bergen County home agent. "Run the brush over each book as you take it from the shelf. Then dust the shelf itself with the same tool. Do only one shelf at a time and lay books in flat small piles. High unsteady piles may fall over. Such a tumble can break the backs."

When you remove a book from a shelf for any purpose, grasp it with your fingers on either side of the middle of the bound end. Don't pull it out from the shelf by its fragile backing. You can tip it back gently by the top edge so you can get a firm grasp on it. Miss Jebson points out that books should stand straight up and not be jammed together too tightly. Leaning subjects the binding to unnecessary strain and too much pressure may even split the binding. If shelves are only partly filled, support books with book ends. Books that are too large to stand upright should be laid flat, never at an angle.

The home agent says. In unusually humid weather, a good stiff breeze created by an electric fan helps prevent mildew. Let all your views in life be directed to a solid, however moderate, independence; without it no man can be happy, nor even honest. Junius

Pairs placed at the sides of the altar flanking a center decoration of gladioli and other white summer flowers, augmented with candles in the Presbyterian Church of Tenafly on Saturday afternoon August 2 formed the setting for the double-ring marriage of Miss Joanne Eberle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Eberle of 146 Sunset lane, Tenafly, to William Stephen Roth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Roth of Cleveland, Ohio. The ceremony was at 4 with the Rev. Alfred Davis of Cresskill, officiating. A reception followed at The Chimes in Paramus.

Miss Eberle, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of pleated white nylon tulle combined with imported lace over a high fitted bodice with a Mary Stuart collar. The long sleeves reached to points over the wrists. Her French illusion veil fell from a Juliet cap of cut-out lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of orchids, lilies-of-the-valley and stephanotis.

Mrs. Thomas Miller of Washington, D.C., a sorority sister, roommate and classmate of the bride at Bethany College, serving as matron of honor, wore a strapless light-fitting gown of lace over aqua satin with an accordion pleated net skirt over white tulle. A nylon net stole completed her costume. She carried aqua and shrimp delphinium with aqua shades predominating.

Miss Joan Kelcher of Tenafly, a former Tenafly High School classmate was dressed in similar style and carried a similar bouquet. It was her duty to wait on the bride at the altar and to take care of the ring for the bridegroom.

Bridesmaids were also dressed in the same style. Shrimp shades, however, predominated in their bouquets. They included other classmates of the bride in Tenafly High School who were Mrs. John Arpan of Tenafly and Miss Joan Williams of Tenafly.

Each attendant wore a nose veil caught at the side with flowers.

The bride's mother, the former Helen Kerr of Englewood, wore pale blue silk shantung and a white orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore ice blue nylon shantung and white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Chester Landers, the former Bessie Crum of Englewood and a great aunt of the bride, wore navy blue lace over taffeta and white orchid corsage.

Alice Elizabeth Wizeman Marries Clergyman In Solon (Ohio) Church

Miss Alice Elizabeth Wizeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Wizeman of 70 Central avenue, Englewood, became the bride on Aug. 2 in Solon, Ohio, of the Rev. William Gray Thomson Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Douglas of 2809 Central avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

The Rev. E. S. Hendricks officiated at the 7:30 p.m. ceremony. A reception followed in the garden of close friends, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sturm, which with its summer floral background was made more festive with Japanese lanterns, and colored lighting. Special music was contributed by Mrs. A. J. Klingel of Solon, organist, and solos and duets by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bahmler of Solon.

Mr. Wizeman gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a wedding gown of imported white embroidered organdy over Skinner's satin. Her veil was of fingertip length. She carried white gladioli and carnations.

The maid of honor and only attendant, Miss Anna Barbara Wizeman of Englewood, sister of the bride, wore a strapless gown of Nile green taffeta combined with net, completed with a bolero jacket. She carried a mixed bouquet with copper-colored and yellow chrysanthemums predominating.

The mother of the bride wore dark blue nylon with white accessories. The mother of the bridegroom wore peacock blue with white accessories.

The Rev. Robert C. Batchelder of Washington, D. C., and Alhambra, Cal., served as best man. Ushers included Nelson P. Bard of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Louis Sturm of Solon; Louis Jacob of Wickliff, Ohio; George Marek and Arthur G. Henry, both of Solon, and the Rev. David Earnest of Rube, Texas.

After a motor trip through New England and Canada, the couple will live at Twinsburg, Ohio.

Mrs. Douglas was graduated from Dwight Morrow High School in Englewood and received her A.B. degree from New Jersey College for Women, class of '49, and studied at Western Reserve University. She is a librarian in Solon.

Dr. Douglas was graduated from Stanford University in California, in 1948, attended Cambridge University in England and in 1951 received the Bachelor of Divinity Degree from Yale University. During the second World War he served as a sergeant in the Army Air Forces in Iceland as a blind radar operator. He is a minister of the Federated Churches in Solon where the wedding ceremony took place.

Claim Wave Recedes At Local Employment Office

ENGLEWOOD — The great tidal wave of unemployment insurance claims that has deluged the Englewood Branch of the State Division of Employment Security for the past few weeks is at last showing signs of recession according to Harold C. Greenberg, manager.

The number of initial claimants, those registering for unemployment benefits for the first time, has climbed a trifle over last week's record-breaking figure but there is a reasonable explanation for this and it is not expected to last. The reason for this hike, is that the normal mid-summer initial claims load has added itself to the abnormal run of initial claimants brought about by the steel deadlock and the boost in unemployment benefits. Now that the steel question is settled it is expected that the claims wave will rapidly diminish and a return to normalcy is expected.

The continued claims, those claims which have been opened before and for various reasons were then closed again, are also rather high but this is to be expected at this time of year. Mr. Greenberg explained. These claims have already dropped below the alarming proportions of the last few weeks but due to the seasonal layoffs at Wrights Aeronautical and the continued layoffs at Fords the figure is still high. A big drop in con-

Col. A. F. Hogle Directs Summer Training At Dix

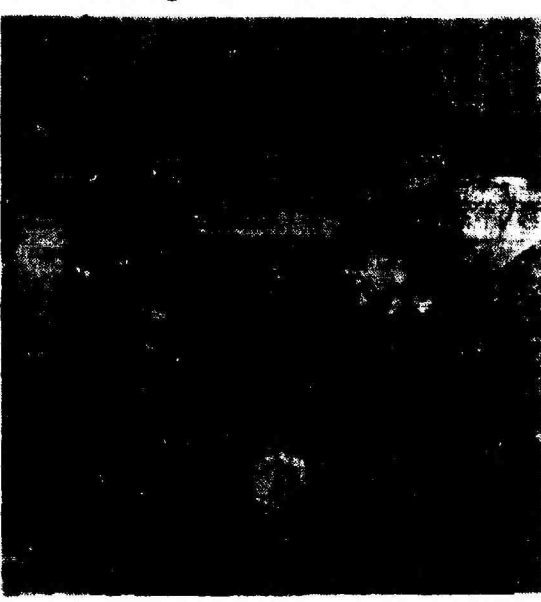

FORT DIX—Colonel Albert F. Hogle, of 48 Homestead road, Tenafly, an Army Reserve Officer with outstanding experience in the direction of Army training, is currently director of training for the first combined summer field training of 500 Army Organized Reserve officers at Fort Dix.

A veteran of both world wars with more than 34 years' service, Colonel Hogle lauds the "cooperation of commanding officers from other cities in handling a task for which there are no previous examples."

Colonel Hogle, who is commander of the Paramus ORC School, was director of training for Fourth Army Headquarters during World War II. He fought in Belgium and France during World War I and was awarded the Purple Heart.

The veteran Army Reserve officer, who is president of the Fotopak Corporation in Englewood and director of research for the Photo Finishing Institute Ltd. in New York City, will direct training of ORC School officers from Buffalo, Syracuse, Schenectady, Rochester, Binghamton and New York City, N. Y. and Paramus, New Brunswick, Camden and Kearny.

Meeting On Korean Front

Recently promoted to the rank of corporal, Dye is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dye of 188 West Clinton Avenue, Tenafly. In Korea since January, he entered the Armed Forces in August, 1951.

Junior Red Cross Delegates Report On A Convention

TENAFLY—One of the by-products of attending a Red Cross Convention or Training School is meeting new people and becoming friends with them. As a result of attending the 1951 Junior Red Cross Training School at Creaka College, New York, Barbara Craft of Tenafly High School became friends with her roommate, and has since visited her at her home in Maryland.

Nancy Coard, like Barbara, is a senior in high school, but unlike the Tenafly girl, attends the only all-girl public high school in the United States, in Baltimore. She is a member of her Junior Red Cross Club in high school, and she and Barbara write exchanging ideas of activities.

One of the activities that Barbara has enjoyed hearing about is the project that Nancy's Junior Red Cross group participates in connection with one of the Veterans' hospitals in Maryland. Nancy is one of the disk jockeys at the hospital, playing records and making announcements over the public address system for the benefit of the hospitalized veterans.

Barbara came back from visiting Nancy filled with ideas and enthusiasm as to the other Junior Red Cross projects.

Barbara and Mary Rall who attended the 1952 Junior Red Cross Training Program at Hood College, were both greatly interested in the International Art Program in which many of the High Schools participate. Dwight Morrow High School in Englewood has cooperated in this project in the past, and like all the schools in Bergen County which are enrolled under the Junior Red Cross program, the enthusiasm for these activities is brought back to the schools by the delegates to the conventions or training schools. They go to learn and come home inspired.

NAMED DIRECTOR

Englewood A.C.'s Teams In Final Tilts Of Season

ENGLEWOOD — Moving into the final stages of the Bergen County Boys Baseball league schedule the Englewood A. C.'s three nines will be active this week-end with important tilts scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

The Midget nine, currently holding down first place in the younger section, will be shooting to move another step toward its second straight crown when tangling with the Maywood A. C.'s at Veteran's Memorial Field, Maywood.

Ken Tinsley, winner of nine games without a loss, will probably go to the hill, for the home forces while Don Miller will be the number one relief hurler. John Rivello will do the catching for Englewood.

Having taken their last 12 contests without a loss, Coach George Baldwin's crew will be a heavy favorite to cop win number 13.

Sunday's tilts for the Juniors and Seniors will also be mighty important for the Englewood nine. The Juniors will tackle the Lodi-Englewood club at Dwight Morrow High School Field while the Seniors will meet the Bergenfield P.A.L. at Prospect street field, Bergenfield. The Lodi-Englewood clash was scheduled to be played last week, but was delayed a week in order to give Englewood a chance to play in the Little-Bigger League tourney at Yardville, New Jersey.

Herb Carr will hurl for Englewood while Rivello will again be behind the plate. A win for Englewood in this tilt will go a long way toward pushing Coach John Winklin's nine to the Junior championship. Lodi is currently leading the section with a record of 11 wins and one loss while Englewood has taken 10 out of 11 tilts.

The Seniors, tied for second place, will play the Bergenfield P.A.L. in a game which will decide the holder of second place. Tom Goodwin will probably hurl for Coach Frank Smith's nine while Bob Martling will be behind the plate. A win for Englewood will keep its hopes of a tie for the Senior section championship alive.

In action last week the Englewood Midgets took the measure of the Teaneck A. C. 7 to 12.

Don Miller got credit for his third win of the season while Fred Conrad led the attack with three hits in four trips to the plate.

On Sunday the Seniors returned to the win column by bouncing the Emerson Boys Club, 10 to 4. Herb Carr, who relieved Bob Springer, was credited with the win. The win kept Englewood one half game behind the loop leading New Milford Index.

52-20 Club Ends After 8 Years; $139,128,000

TRENTON — Servicemen's Readjustment Allowances, often referred to as the "52-20 Club" and GI unemployment insurance, comes to an end this week after eight years of operation.

New Jersey has witnessed the decline of payments by the Division of Employment Security to World War II veterans in the state from millions monthly in 1946 to a mere $1,000 per month for the past six months. The New Jersey employment security agency acted as service agent for the Veterans Administration in handling the SRA program.

Generally veterans in New Jersey didn't "ride the gravy train," it was agreed today by Employment Security Director Harold G. Hoffman and Michael J. Shaara, VA agent, as they reviewed statistics in connection with the final windup of the program. Veterans in the state entitled to unemployment insurance payments under the 1945 G. I. Bill of Rights approximated 650,000 but less than half of these or about 313,000 actually benefited.

During the eight years of the program, 313,284 New Jersey veterans received a total of $139,128,000, or an average of about $450 each. Of those who received payments only 41,600 or 13.3 per cent drew the maximum amount which, in most cases, was $20 for 32 weeks. Benefits were also paid to self-employed veterans for periods during which their earnings were below a given minimum. A total of $2,971,000 was paid to about 7600 self-employed veterans.

Until October of 1954 there's a handful of state residents who may be eligible under SRA. They enlisted or re-upped under the provision of Public Law 190, passed by congress in 1945, to encourage building up of the armed services. Actually, July 25, 1949 marked the virtual end of the program since after the date no veteran who had been released prior to July 25, 1947 was entitled to any allowance.

Statistics show that although only 3,000 veterans in New Jersey were receiving allowances for weekly unemployment in July of 1945, the total jumped to 40,000 by January, 1946 and climbed to a peak of 16,000 in June of 1946. This pool of unemployed veterans gradually diminished to a low of 12,000 during the last quarter of 1948. On 2,000 veterans were receiving benefits during the fourth quarter of 1949 and from that time on the numbers have dwindled to a mere 10 or 15 during the first half of this year.

It was explained that veterans of the Korean action—those who have served for ninety days or more and have some service on and after June 27, 1950—will be entitled to receive unemployment insurance payments under the Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1952, signed into law on July 16. Payments will begin about mid-October and will be for a maximum of $676 or at the rate of $26 per week for a maximum duration of 26 weeks.

Again the federal program will be administered in New Jersey by the Division of Employment Security, acting as servicing agent for the federal government.

Taxes Reported On The Upswing All Over State

NEWARK — Four hundred fifty nine of New Jersey's 564 municipalities have higher tax rates in 1952 than they did one year ago. In 1949 73% of the municipalities had tax rate increases; in 1950 only 49% showed an increase and last year 76% of the municipalities had tax rate increases.

The 1952 average property tax rate for New Jersey is estimated by the State Chamber at $6.70 per $100 of assessed valuations. This is an increase of 34 points over last year and an increase of 167 points over the average State-wide tax rate of 1946.

The average tax rate per $100 valuation for New Jersey for each year since 1946 is as follows:

1946	$5.11	1950	$6.20
1947	$5.51	1951	$6.44
1948	$5.90	1952	$6.78
1949	$6.14

Analyzing tax rate increases this year the State Chamber published the following comparison of 1952 tax rates with those of 1951:

In 47 municipalities tax rates increased less than ten points;

In 88 municipalities tax rates increased between ten and 24 points;

In 110 municipalities tax rates increased between 25 and 40 points;

In 125 municipalities tax rates increased between 50 and 99 points;

In 89 municipalities tax rates increased 100 points or more.

Comparing increases in local tax rates this year with those of the three previous years, the State Chamber found a higher percentage of municipalities showing increased rates in 1952 than in any of those three years.

"In 1952," the report stated,

"81% of the municipalities have higher all-purpose tax rates than they did one year ago. In 1949 73% of the municipalities had tax rate increases; in 1950 only 49% showed an increase and last year 76% of the municipalities had tax rate increases."

Let no vandalism of avarice or neglect, no ravages of time testify to the present or to the coming generations, that we have forgotten, as a people, the cost of a free and undivided Republic.

Now—In Englewood, U.S.A.

by PHYLLIS IVINS VALENTIN

A flashback over July 1952 lights up on the American horizon one word as clear and pulsating as a 4th of July skyrocket. The word, of course, is "conventions," though not exclusively the political variety.

Preceding the two epic Chicago "shows" were the national conventions of the National Education Association in Detroit (which, though less publicized, was just about as explosive as the firecrackers set off throughout the nation as it concluded its sessions) and of the American Library Association in New York City on the significant topic "Books are Basic". Set against a background of worldwide tension in the battle for men's minds, and against the situation NOW in Englewood, U.S.A. these two more intellectual, if less dramatic, conventions were none the less significant to our much discussed American way of life. Set as a foreground to the dynamic political conventions, they were no less significant to the picture of an American Articulate. As usual, Englewood was there — in spirit and in fact.

At Detroit, educators took cognizance of a nationwide trend with which Englewood is all too familiar. Teachers accused of being subservient and of neglecting the fundamental "R" textbooks in use for years suddenly being found un-American, and attempts to eliminate controversial subjects like the UN and especially UNESCO from classroom discussion, were major concerns at the Detroit convention. Does not each of these sound unhappily "like home" to local citizens? But perhaps we can take comfort — and some pride — in the fact that with all the unpleasantness created over a two-year span by our own superpatriots and professional agitators, Englewood has maintained a steady course.

NOW "the Englewood Board of Education adopts as its own the policies of the State Board ... with regard to selection of textbooks, teaching of patriotism and citizenship, teaching of U.S. history and treatment of controversial questions in the classroom ... and resolves the controversy which raged in Englewood several months ago over the adoption of regulations concerning selection, purchase and use of textbooks." (Press-Journal of July 24) Perhaps like England with its annoying Red Dean, we can learn to accept the nuisance in order to prove our continuing belief in freedom of expression.

That the teaching of history is a world issue, too, was indicated in mutual recommendations by United States and German historians at

Field Club Grip On Tennis Lead Improves In Week

ENGLEWOOD—The Englewood Field Club consolidated its grip on first place in the Bergen County Tennis League as it defeated Tenafly Tennis Club, 4 to 1, on Sunday afternoon.

Upper Ridgewood, defending champion, scored a 3 to 2 victory over Aheek Tennis Club of Bergenfield, while Leonia, which is now tied with Upper Ridgewood for second place, turned in a 4 to 1 victory over Windsor of Hackensack. Oritani Field Club of Hackensack improved its position by sweeping Palisades 5 to 0.

Playing without the services of their ace, Cal MacCracken, Bergen County champion who is on vacation, Englewood Field Club nevertheless trounced Tenafly, although the latter club was able to score a win in third singles.

Area Little League Teams Fade From District Playoff Lineups

ENGLEWOOD — The area's last chance of having a club in the District One Little League final, which will be played at Little League Park Saturday at 2:30 p.m., passed by the boards Monday night when Hackensack's American League trounced Tenafly by the score of 15 to 2.

Hackensack will tangle with Bergenfield, winner over Ridgewood 4 to 3, in the big battle for the District One Champion ship.

Tenafly, which squeezed past Englewood, was no match for the American League nine from the county seat. Hackensack's nitter belted out 14 hits and scored 15 runs in the contest. Mike Calabrese and Burt Yanelli hit home runs for the winners while Bob Fischer got three hits in four trips to the plate.

Howie Silverman, 11-year-old right hander, twirled a neat three-hitter for Hackensack to get credit for the win. Dan Provenzano was the starting and the losing pitcher for Tenafly while Dave Adler came on in relief when Hackensack scored seven times.

Hackensack scored a single run on Calabrese's circuit smash in the first and then all but iced the contest with its seven run tally in the second. After being blanked in the third Hackensack scored one in the fourth, four in the fifth and two in the sixth. Tenafly scored on an error in the first and one in the third inning.

Little Bigger All-Stars Fade In Yardville Tourney

YARDVILLE — Englewood's Little-Bigger League All-Star nine was eliminated from the New Jersey Little-Bigger League Baseball Tourney at Switlik Park here on Saturday afternoon by dropping a semi-final game to Perth Amboy, 5 to 4.

Englewood downed Gloucester City in the first game of the twin bill, 2 to 0, behind the brilliant pitching of Ed Schuermann.

The Englewood-Perth Amboy clash was a real thriller with Englewood coming from behind in the first of the seventh inning to knot the score at 4 to 4. With two men out in the seventh, John Rivello picked out a fast ball by Ed Orlovski and bashed it deep over the leftfield fence to cut the margin to one run.

Schuermann connects

Rivello had just about reached the bench when Schuermann, winning pitcher in the first tilt, lofted a drive over the rightfield fence to tie the score.

Perth Amboy appeared to win the game in the last of the seventh with a two-out single with runners

County B Tennis League Victory For Ridgewood

By sweeping to victory over third place Aheek, Sunday afternoon, the Upper Ridgewood "B" circuit tennis team went a few percentage points ahead of Leonia in the Bergen County B Tennis league, while Leonia—second place holder—remained inactive.

Bill Thompson, Bob McCullough and Richard Comyns scored singles victories for the defending champions, while Mac Rinehart and Dick Leydecker took first doubles, and Eric Hammerstrom and Bob Ohmes took the second doubles.

Tenafly upset Englewood as Don Quarles was the only man on the latter club to score a win. He took Mark Byers in a three-set match, 6-2, 3-4, and 6-4. Bob Farrell and Bob Snyder scored Tenafly wins in singles, while Fred Almy, John Adams, Ray Werner, and Bill Wegner were winners in the doubles.

Haworth finally came out of its slump to score a 4 to 1 victory over Palisades. Haworth swept the first three singles and first doubles, but Carl Bahner and Frank Klienman scored Palisades' only point in the doubles.

Jack Wells and Kim Emerson were winners in singles, while Paul La Rue and Warren Fischer took first doubles for Haworth.

With only two weeks remaining

Little Bigger Season Will Conclude During Next Week

ENGLEWOOD — With only two games remaining to be played in the Englewood Little Big League the fight for the four berths in the post-season tournament are still being battled for among the loop's five of the loop's six clubs.

At the moment Kahn Motors, Englewood Sport Shop and Grand Diner are tied for first place with the same record, five wins and four losses. Joyce's Sweet Shop is fourth with five wins and five losses while Cooper and Demarest is fifth with four wins and five losses.

The two games remaining match the Englewood Sport Shop with Grand Diner while Kahn Motors has a tilt still to be played with Cooper and Demarest.

The post-season tournament will get under way either this week-end or early next week. The first place club will play the fourth place club while the team finishing second will tangle with the nine which finished fourth. The opening round will be one game while the winners will play a two best out of three series.

In last week's action the big news was the continued rise of the Englewood Sport Shop. The Sport Shop scored its fifth straight victory Monday night by downing Cooper and Demarest, 12 to 1. Sal Meyerowitz got credit for the win limiting the losers to seven hits. Dave Seddon was charged with the loss.

Yonkers Raceway Record Purse Of $300,000 Revealed

YONKERS — A record $300,000 in purses will be distributed at Yonkers Raceway during the 12-night Summer meeting from Aug. 18 to 30, it was announced this week by William H. Cane, track president. An increase of $68,000 for the same period in 1951, the figure represents a total increase of $130,750 over the corresponding 1950 meeting.

Stakes for this period will include the $25,000 Yonkers Pacing Derby on Aug. 21 which has drawn 24 of the nation's leading sidewheelers. Eight additional 2- and 3-year-old stakes with a total purse value of $32,000 will also be contested.

A Free-For-All valued at $6,000 and a Junior Free-For-All worth $4,500 are likewise scheduled for the 12-night meeting. Overnight events carrying the highest purse schedule in the sport's history, as instituted during the Yonkers Spring meeting, round out the rich Summer program.

Social Security Claims Are On Upswing Here

HACKENSACK — 150% more retired people than usual applied for old-age insurance payments during the first week of July, according to Abraham A. Asofsky, manager of the Hackensack Social Security office at 389 Main street.

Asofsky credits the sharp rise to the fact that a number of people no longer applying for old-age insurance have completed a year and a half of work after 1950. This, he explains, makes it possible for them to have their benefits figured under the new formula which can be used only when a person has one and a half years of covered work after 1950. In most cases, the use of this formula gives a higher monthly benefit to a retired worker than would be possible if his earnings before 1951 were used in figuring his average monthly wage.

Asofsky anticipates a further increase in the number of 65-year-old applicants because of a new provision in the law which permits those who retire this year to have recent wages used immediately in figuring the amount of their benefit payments. If they have one and a half years of work covered by the law after 1950, it is no longer necessary for those retiring in 1952 to come back six months later in order to have such wages in their benefit amount.

Another provision of the amended law, Asofsky points out, is of special importance to self-employed people over 65 who retired or who plan to retire this year. Before the passage of the amendments their earnings for the year in which the application was filed could not be used to figure their old-age benefit payments. Now, a self-employed person who applied for and receives old-age benefits this year may re-apply after the close of his taxable year and have his 1952 earnings used in refiguring his monthly benefit payments. Similarly, the survivors of a self-employed person who dies in 1952 may ask to have the 1952 earnings included in refiguring their monthly benefits. In general, this will mean that benefits payable on the account of a self-employed person who retires this year will be larger than as originally computed, Asofsky says.

Another new provision in the law is important to beneficiaries who have continued working after reaching age 75. If they have had a year and a half of work covered by the law after 1950, their benefits can be refigured under the new formula, Asofsky says.

"This year's crops of fruits and vegetables are proving once again that New Jersey is rightly called the Garden State," says Willard H. Allen, Secretary of Agriculture of New Jersey.

We Wrote This Book for You

It tells you how to freeze foods and how to care for your freezer. It tells you the months when the different varieties of fruits and vegetables are at their best. The accent is on New Jersey products.

This is a year of bountiful crops. When our markets and food shops are filled with lavish displays of New Jersey grown products, why not freeze some of them for future use? Months from now you can enjoy the crispness of young, tender vegetables, the tang of sun-ripened berries, the succulence of ripe, plump peaches—all grown in New Jersey.

HOOK LINE and SINKER

By BILL PALMER

Paul Ferber and I have just returned from our midsummer swing around the Catskill trout circuit. This is an annual jaunt that coincides with the departure of our wives and children to distant parts, which, I might add, is a great convenience. Don't misunderstand me, we love them dearly, but it saves the necessity for a lot of face-saving and millification. Under the circumstances we just pack up and go and no questions asked. To be honest with you, I don't know why we go. We don't expect to catch trout, what with the warm, low water, bright sun and everything. Maybe it is just to feed us a memory on which to give during the long winter evenings. At least that is the way it has been in the past but this trip was different. And no end of fun.

We had planned to start with the Esopus, so shortly after dawn last Friday we departed, heading in the general direction of Phoenicia, N. Y. The morning paper had arrived early, so we took it along with us. I was driving and Paul began to read. Suddenly he let out an exclamation and proceeded to read from an article written by a character named Gilligan, who is owned by a dog named Hot Toddy, or something like that. The news was so startling that my memory is a bit confused.

It seems, so the article said, that a couple staying at Dick Kahl's Rainbow Lodge at Mt. Tremper had caught 169 trout in a week. Strangely enough this happened to be exactly where we had planned to spend Friday night. The news smacked of a Chamber of Commerce release to drum up a bit of trade in a slack period. Hot Toddy, or Gilligan, has, however, a reputation for veracity, so we were prepared to believe him.

On arriving at the Lodge mine host Kahl was in a state of slight confusion, torn between speeding the departing guests and greeting the new arrivals. Being the perfect boniface he introduced himself to us and, in turn, introduced us to the couple preparing to leave. Mention was made of the article and, as luck would have it, our new friends were the ones who had hit the jackpot. The story was vindicated in all respects. With watering mouths we asked about flies, pools, etc. Dick amplified the remarks and volunteered to show us some really good water.

He took us up the Little Beaver-kill and showed us some pools and runs that were out of this world. Paul and I started about 200 yards apart and worked upstream. By lunch time we had each taken a dozen fish. They are there all right and all rainbows, but let me warn you, they are all small. We didn't get a keeper in the bunch. And so it was with the other couple, out of their 169 fish they kept nine and could have kept a few more but the bulk were under eight inches. A lot of fun, though, as they are all wild fish and put up a good scrap for their size.

After one of Blanche Kahl's famous lunches we went on the big stream above the portal and played around until suppertime. The fish were there but the results were poor.

After supper who should show up but this fellow Gilligan himself and who should he turn out to be but none other than Edmund P. Gilligan, well known author and writer on outdoor subjects, and as delicate a person as one would want to meet in a lifetime.

The evening was magnificent, cool and with a bright moon coming up over the mountains. Everybody pointed to a fine evening rise. Another of Dick's guests, a charming ex-army nurse, was invited to join the party and we all climbed into Gilligan's 1936 phaeton for the ride down to the stream. At the spot chosen the stream lay beyond some fields through which we had to pass and in the field was a herd of cows, including one young bull which stood near the gate. Dick called attention to this and proceeded to open the gate. Being gentlemen, all four of us stood aside to let the lady enter first. I think the bull was scared by our number as we got through without trouble.

The fish were working hard but on what they were feeding remained a mystery so, as dark closed in, we returned to the lodge where, after some good conversation, we turned in, dog tired, but with the feeling of having spent a delightful day.

VFW Post Changes Plans; To Build On Another Site

ENGLEWOOD — Following consultations between members of Brown O'Brien Post No. 535, Veterans of Foreign Wars in Englewood, and the Englewood Common Council, it was announced by Mayor M. Leslie Denning this week that steps will be taken to obtain another suitable tract of city-owned land which can be utilized for the Post's proposed clubhouse.

Following recent strenuous protests from residents of Pindie avenue, Durie avenue, Hamilton avenue and Roosevelt Square over the proposed location of the VFW Headquarters at the junction of Durie and Pindie avenues — several hundred residents signed petitions addressed to the Mayor and Council on the subject — the post agreed to delay their plans pending discussion of a possible alternative plot of ground. The property at Pindie and Durie avenues was turned over to the veterans by the city in April before objections were raised, and it is considered that in event of a new location, the same arrangements will be made. The city will regain title to the present VFW site.

GROWING PAINS

WHO COULD FORESEE New Jersey's growth? Yes, the highway system is having growing pains—but new roads built and under construction (such as the Turnpike and the Garden State Parkway) are catching up with the terrific increase in traffic. However, it takes time. And like automobiles...

HOMES HAVE MULTIPLIED, TOO. 175,000 new homes and apartment units have been built in New Jersey just since 1945. And nearly all these homes wanted telephone service. Voice highways, too, require time to plan and build.

MEETING THIS DEMAND for telephone service is taking $1,300,000 in new construction a week. For seven years we've added more than 2,200 telephones a week. Plans have had to be changed, time and again, as growth exceeded expectations.

IT TAKES TIME, but you can be sure of this: your Telephone Company is building as fast as critical materials are available to give a growing New Jersey more and better telephone service.
