Dems Nominate Mrs. Rowe for Freeholder Race

For the second time in two years Mrs. Eleanor Richard Rowe of Basking Ridge will be the Democratic candidate for a 3-year term on the Board of Chosen Freeholders.

She became the party's candidate Tuesday night at a meeting of the Democratic County Committee, called into special session in Somerville Inn to select a replacement for Frank Sykes of Green Brook, who withdrew from the race last week.

She will face incumbent Republican C. I. Van Cleef of Hillsborough, seeking his eighth straight term on the county governing body.

Yesterday Mrs. Rowe gave forth with her second campaign blast in less than 24 hours against Mr. Van Cleef and the all-Republican Board of Freeholders. Last year she lost to Freeholder Director Henry Fetherston by about 2,100 votes, and this year the Democrats lost a lot of campaign time with Mr. Sykes, but the Democratic state committee-woman apparently was out to make up for last year's setback and Mr. Sykes' retreat.

'Charges Water-Grab'

Yesterday she demanded that the Freeholders oppose applications by three Middlesex County municipalities to divert Delaware & Raritan Canal water.

"One of Somerset County's most valuable assets is the 28 million gallons of potable water still available in the canal. If this water is allocated to East Brunswick, North Brunswick and New Brunswick, we in Somerset County will have lost a valuable heritage," she declared.

To date, she continued, "our freeholders have floundered around in their usual, indecisive manner."

To her specific opponent she was no less gentle. "My opponent, the squire of Hillsborough Town-

SURVEY FOR FREEWAY STARTED IN TOWNSHIP

Field surveys have been started in Somerset County for a proposed East-West Freeway by Madigan-Hyland Consulting Engineers of New York City. Surveyors have been working in Franklin Township and Bridgewater.

The proposed alignment of the highway in Somerset County would have it cross the Raritan River south of South Bound Brook, loop across the northerly portion of Franklin, recross the Raritan west of South Bound Brook and continue northward to the vicinity of the Bridgewater-Bound Brook boundary to Highway 22.

Too Many Secret Sessions, Lisi Says

Michael Lisi, Democratic candidate for Township Committeeman, today urged that "boards which regulate planning, subdivisions and adjustments" hold fewer executive sessions and do more of their work in open meetings.

He advocated that the Township Committee, to whom these boards are responsible, insist they follow an agenda "which the average citizen can understand." That maps and materials be displayed instead of being viewed by a few people around the table muttering so "that they cannot be heard," and that all applications be explained fully.

"Will Inform Public"

Mr. Lisi said he would, if elected, insist that minutes of all non-public meetings be reported. "I will not only inform the public," he said, "but will try to explain and interpret the ins and outs of our municipal government."

Referring to land off Easton Avenue and Leupp Lane reportedly to be developed with 2,000 homes, Mr. Lisi said that the Township Committee was urged two years ago by the Chamber of Commerce to zone it as indus-

Roads for Hollywood Homes May Not Be Paved Until 1957

Residents of Hollywood Homes near Franklin Boulevard are getting angrier by the day.

Virtually all that anger is caused by unpaved streets in front of their homes.

Monday morning, a reporter for The News went into the area to see what all the complaints were about. He saw roads pitted with potholes, sewer manhole covers projecting six inches or more above the ground, and sharp rocks covering the road surface. The rocks were intended as a base for the paving.

What is causing the delay? The developer blames the Township and Township officials and the Municipal engineers blame the developer. In fact, the builder thinks the paving may not be done until next Summer.

Eighty-two homes have been built in the development by Edward Construction Corporation of Linden, and 80 are occupied. Most are of the split-level type, with a few ranch style homes in scattered places.

Association Formed

Unpaved roads stimulated about 60 of the property owners two months ago to form the Hollywood Homes Association, with Morris Cronin of 30 Holly Street as president. Other officers are Ralph Golding of 28 Arden Street, vice-president; John Miller of 30 Arden Street, treasurer, and Mrs. Carol Stewart of 1 Kaufman Street, secretary.

Mr. Cronin told The News that since May tire damage "in excess of $500" has been suffered by automobile owners. Even the developer has had his equipment damaged because of bad roads.

A neighbor of his, Mr. Cronin said, has had 12 flats since May, and one of his own tires is cut. Damage to car mufflers also has been reported heavy.

"Actually, the property damage is secondary," Mr. Cronin said. "Primarily the roads are a FLATS AND MORE FLATS is the fate of drivers, like Morris Cronin of 30 Holly Street, who have to drive over sharp rocks in the Hollywood Homes development.

HALF-MILE OF DEMOTT LANE TO BE PAVED BY COUNTY

The Board of Freeholders Friday approved an estimate of $3,345 as the cost of paving a half-mile of DeMott Lane south from Easton Avenue. The estimate was submitted by County Engineer Donald E. Stires.

The Freeholders had received an application from Township Engineer R. P. Wilson for secondary road funds for the job.

A 50-foot right of way has been obtained for the road, but it will be paved only to a width of 33 feet.

Plan B'd Asked To Restrict New Developments

Demands that the Planning Board "strictly" enforce the zoning code and increase its restrictions if necessary to discourage large-scale home developments were voiced at its meeting a week ago last night.

The principal point of contention with most of the 20 people in the audience concerned the Jersey Development Company's plans to build 2,000 homes and a shopping center on a 750-acre tract off Easton Avenue and Leupp Lane.

The opponents apparently were under the impression that company representatives were to seek the board's approval for its first subdivision at the meeting. As The News reported last week, engineering delays forced postponement of the firm's presentation.

'Nothing Official'

Planning board members denied official knowledge of the development except for newspaper reports. They also doubted that 2,000 homes could be built on the tract, since more than half of it is zoned agricultural.

School Enrollment Up to 1,945; New Township Record

School enrollment through Tuesday is already up 118 students over the peak figure recorded in May of last year. Through Tuesday, 1,945 students were registered in the six Township schools.

Peak enrollment last year was 1,827 student. On Sept. 19, 1955, School Superintendent James M. Lynch reported to the Board of Education that as of that date, there were 1,770 children registered.

Biggest enrollment this year, as usual, is in Pine Grove Manor School, where 584 children are registered. Other school enrollments: Middlebush, 428; Phillips, 213; Hamilton, 197; Kingston, 162 and East Millstone, 82.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL WILL MEET OCT. 4

A meeting of the Community Council will be held Oct. 4 in the Franklin Park Firehouse starting at 8 p.m.

PRELIMINARY STRUCTO PLANS OKAYED BY STATE

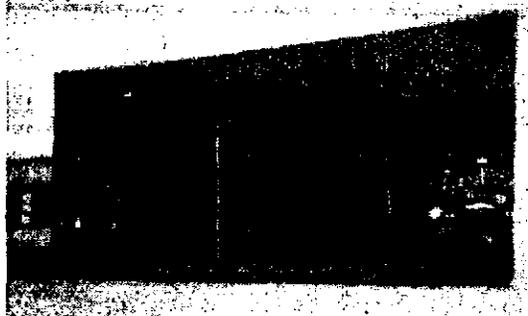

Notified by the State Department of Education of approval of preliminary plans submitted by Structo Schools Corporation, the Board of Education was scheduled last night to authorize advertisement for construction bids for an eight-room pre-engineered school in Franklin Park. An alternate for a 10-room building also will be advertised.

The board was scheduled to meet in special session in Pine Grove Manor School.

The bids on the Structo school, along with those for two conventional schools, are scheduled to be opened Oct. 8.

Fire Company to Hold 2-Day Fund Drive, Seeks $5,000 for Addition to Building

(News Photo)

READY FOR ANY ALARM are these two fire trucks of the East Franklin Volunteer Fire Company. The company is seeking to raise $5,000 Saturday and Sunday to expand its quarters and pay off a portion of the mortgage.

Hoping to pay off a portion of its mortgage and to construct an addition to the firehouse, the East Franklin Volunteer Fire Company will go on a house-to-house canvass in its area Saturday and Sunday seeking to raise $5,000.

Founded in 1929, the company serves most of the northern end of the Township. As it is not in a fire district, it receives no municipal appropriations and must depend on voluntary donations.

The company moved into its present spacious brick quarters on Phillips Road on Jan. 1, firemen doing about 80 percent of the work.

Frankly Speaking

Structo Schools Corporation has run into nothing but frustration in its efforts to build pre-engineered schools in New Jersey. As every parent of school-age children in the Township knows, the effort to build two such schools here has ended up in a grand fiasco.

There are several varying opinions as to the why's of Structo's failure to fill low-price bids, but the reasons at this stage are unimportant; it is only sufficient to know that Township children are on double-session—and two schools that were supposed to be ready for opening last week are still in the blueprint stage.

Kinnelon, the second community in New Jersey that had sought to get a Structo school, has experienced a frustration similar to Franklin's. A couple of weeks ago, Kinnelon's Board of Education decided to drop plans for a Structo school and revert to conventional construction of a 16-room building with an all-purpose room.

The same architects that this Township has, Mickiewright & Mountford, were authorized to draw the conventional plans.

Reason for the change in plans, Kinnelon said, was because Structo's original estimate of $285,900 was upped $35,000. This additional cost would delay construction and the school would not be ready by October as planned, the board said. The conventionally constructed school won't be ready by Sept. 1957 at the earliest. Children in Grades 7 & 8 have been put on double session.

Structo representatives blamed the cost hike on the steel strike and its resultant wage increases, which set off another round of price spiraling.

It's interesting to note that at the local school board meeting last week, Mr. Mickiewright said that construction costs had jumped almost 10 percent in about a month since the settlement of the steel strike.

A first week in October opening is being planned for the first chain grocery in Franklin. A small South River chain is readying a store on Hamilton Street. A peek in the window shows many fixtures already installed.

Opposition to what the owners say will be a 2,000-home and shopping center development off Easton Avenue and Leupp Lane has come into the open. Principal opposition has been based on the claims it will flood the schools and upset the tax structure. It has been demanded that the Township prevent that many homes from being built.

Actually, there seems little that the Township can do except enforce its zoning code. Three tracts of land were purchased by the Jersey Development Company, the Appleman, Rueben and Romano properties.

The Romano property is zoned 100 percent agricultural, but the other two properties contain 300-odd acres of Class A residential zoning. On the first, the builder can construct only on plots of a minimum 200x250 feet. In Class A, the code calls for 100x100 foot lots provided there is sewerage and water lines. On those 300 plus acres the company can build from 800 to 1,000 homes. On the other land he can construct the more expensive homes in his development program.

As to what this development will do to schools and the tax structure, there seems little the Board of Education or the Township can do. We might restate that the developer, in his recent press conference, promised the fullest cooperation with all school board and Township officials. We would also like to call attention to a recent editorial in The News which recommended that Township officials publish an information sheet on municipal and school problems and that developers be required to give one to each prospective purchaser.

One person told us the other day what he had seen Lang Inland communities do when faced with the same problems of big developments and inadequate school facilities. They place big signs around the developments warning purchasers that there may be no school facilities to take care of their children.

Miss Reinson Wed to R. M. Hannah

Miss June E. Reinson became the bride of Robert Malcolm Hannah at a candlelight ceremony performed at 5 p.m. Saturday by the Rev. Dr. Milton Hoffman in the East Millstone Reformed Church.

Mrs. Hannah is the daughter of Mrs. John J. Reinson of Market Street, East Millstone, and the late Mr. Reinson. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Robert P. Hannah of Trenton and the late Mr. Hannah.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, John, the bride wore a Chantilly lace over tulle and taffeta gown made with a full skirt terminating in a sweeping train.

A French imported silk illusion was attached to her bridal cap and her bouquet was rosebuds, gypsophyllis, stephanotis and trailing ivy around an orchid.

The maid of honor, Miss Judith Kokesh of Trenton, wore a bluish pink powder blue gown of taffeta and net in an apron effect. She carried tea rosebuds, yellow carnations and ivy.

The bridesmaids, Miss Janice Hannah, sister of the groom, and Miss Louise Czere, a cousin of the bride, wore the same style gowns as Miss Kokesh. They carried cascades of pink rosebuds, chrysanthemums and ivy. Gerald Wargo of Delaware was the best man. Ushers were Albert Stallone of Washington, D.C., George Tantom of Trenton, and Joseph Hannah Jr., a cousin of the groom, also of Trenton.

The altar was decorated with gladioli, white roses, ferns and palm leaves. James Wood was organist, and Fred Stottman of the General Motors Acceptance Corporation.

She is a graduate of Middlebush School, Highland Park High School and Rider College. Mr. Hannah is a graduate of Wesley Junior College of Dover, Del., and will attend Rutgers University this fall.

the somerset SCENE

Frank Sykes tossed a firecracker into the upcoming Somerset County freeholder race last week when he suddenly decided he lacked the necessary time to campaign against oldtimer C. I. Van Cleeef.

As this page was sliding through the press the talk in many corners was that State Committeewoman Eleanor Rowe would be drawn out of storage to run against the venerable C. I. How much texture there was to this proposition may be found on pages which went into the weekly hopper after this one, because the Democrats met Tuesday night to pick a new candidate.

Eleanor, by the way, ran a mighty close race last year against Harry Fotherstone, coming out on the short end by slightly more than 2,280 votes. Her performance was the best turned in by a Democratic freeholder candidate since Frank Schubert won a seat during the Depression.

But last year was what we call a non-Eisenhower year. This trip C. I. will have a couple of sharp running mates, among them U.S. Rep. Pete Froelinguysen, Veep Nixon and Mr. Ike.

Sykes' flight from the political soap created little disturbance among his Democratic cohorts, the only major question raised was why it took him so long to decide his union presidency was too time consuming. Frank had the same job back in April, when he accepted the nomination and stood before a Democratic throng in Somerville Inn to praise the principles of a two-party system and pledge a slambang, bell ringing, barnstorming campaign.

Sykes' action lends a bit of credence to the word going the rounds that he was "told" he'd better give up.

At any rate, a lot of valuable campaigning time has been lost, and the slim chance of a Democrat is now slimmer. The picnics, clambakes, church suppers, and the many other events that come between April and September are normal fields for vote getters. C. I. probably has been at every one of these affairs in Somerset, but Mister Sykes hardly showed any place.

The word is out, too, that the Dems had their campaign buttons, blotters and match boxes all prepared for Sykes, and these must be dumped.

The word's also around Somerset newspaper nooks that Jolly Cholly Engelhard is tiring of the newspaper business, and that the daily he acquired less than a year ago is on the block.

It could be, too, that Cholly also is tiring of the political career he started in '55 by taking on, and almost beating, Senator Malcolm Forbes. Engelhard was looked upon as the great white hope of Somerset Democrats, but apparently his first love is manufacturing platinum knick-knacks. It's probable that the Craigwood squire is out of active politics, but a Stevenson victory in November could bring him an ambassadorial slot in some exotic clime.

We've often passed verbal bouquets for Chief Probation Officer John Morhart, and for good reason. In the five years John has been in this county he has put Somerset on the map in probation circles.

Not only is he the only lawyer-probation officer in the state, but he has gained national recognition for his work in sending incipient criminals along straighter paths.

John's philosophy is that it's cheaper and wiser to send a man back into society for another chance than to let him lounge in prison learning the advanced techniques of hardened smoothies.

A weekly visit to Morhart's quarters has taught more than one Somerset youth that someone up there likes him.

TAX EXEMPTIONS DOWN $4 MILLION IN SOMERSET

Tax exemptions on property in Somerset County dropped nearly $4 million this year, the New Jersey Taxpayers Association reported last week in a state study of tax exemptions.

The association reported that more than one fifth of all assessed property in New Jersey is exempt from taxation this year. Exemptions total nearly $2 billion, or 21.3 percent.

In Somerset County, $29,581,880 worth of property, 21.4 percent, is exempt this year. Last year exemptions were granted on $33,369,878, or 24.3 percent.

Exempt from taxation under New Jersey statutes are public property, schools, church and charitable property, cemeteries and certain other real and personal property. Veterans or their widows are entitled to claim up to $500 exemption from property tax assessments, and householders have $100 exemption on household goods.

JERSEY FOREST PRODUCTS NETTED FARMERS $148,000

More than $148,000 in forest products was realized in 1955 by New Jersey farmers from their woodlots, a recent report by the U.S. Department of Commerce showed.

J. C. McClellan, chief forester of the American Forest Products Industries in Washington, D.C., announced the figure this week and predicted continued sale of forest products as the concept of tree farming becomes more widespread.

His organization sponsors the industry-operated American Tree Farm System, to encourage proper care and protection of privately owned forest land.

The Griggstown Reformed Church will be host Saturday for the Somerset County Christian Endeavor Societies' annual round-up in Cheston's Meadow. The affair will begin at 3 p.m. Co-chairmen are Miss Evelyn Olsen and Miss Sonja Marstad.

DR. SMITH WILL AID MENTAL HEALTH GROUP

Dr. Sampson G. Smith of Middlebush, former county superintendent of schools, has been appointed to the nominating committee of the New Jersey Association for Mental Health, association president William H. Baumer of Westfield announced this week.

Dr. Smith recently resigned from his position in Somerset County to become school superintendent of a new regional district on Long Beach Island. He was county superintendent for 11 years and has lived in Middlebush the past 23 years.

New York City's population jumped from 1,911,698 in 1880 to 7,891,957 in 1950.

Malinowski-Miller Wedding Is Held

Accompanied by a maid of honor, a flower girl and six attendants, Miss Theresa Malinowski, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. John Malinowski of William Street, East Millstone, was married Saturday afternoon to Frank Miller of 19 Scott Avenue, Milltown.

The Rev. John P. Adamowski officiated at the 2 o'clock ceremony in St. Joseph's Church, East Millstone, before an altar banked with white gladioli and pompons. Mrs. Mary Pinarcbick of Manville was organist. A reception followed in American Legion Home, Manville.

Escorted by her father, the bride appeared in a gown of satin and Chantilly lace, designed with a v-neckline, moulded bodice and long sleeves, and a bouffant skirt set with lace panels extending into a chapel-length train. She wore a fingertip veil of French illusion and carried a cascade of orchids, roses and Stephanotis.

Miss Louise Herubin of Market Street, East Millstone, was maid of honor, in a taffeta and lace ballerina-length portrait gown of peacock blue, trimmed with a taffeta ribbon, and a crown of pompons and short veil. She carried a colonial bouquet.

The bride's niece, Miss Joanna

(Somerset Studios) Mrs. Frank Miller

Malinowski of 340 N. 8th Avenue, was flower girl. She wore a peacock blue gown and carried a small colonial bouquet of roses.

Bridesmaids were Miss Beatrice French of Smith Road, Middlebush, Miss Jean Day of Market Street, East Millstone, and Miss Kathleen Zaabadick of Milltown.

The bride's nieces, Miss Pauline Brunarsky of Funderne, and Miss Barbara Wielichonski of South Plainfield, and the bridegroom's niece, Miss Barbara Dorsey of South River, were junior bridesmaids. All wore coral-colored gowns, styled like the maid of honor's, and carried roses.

Victor Malinowski of Manville, the bride's brother, was best man. Ushers were Robert and Paul Lefebvre of Milltown and Gerald Dohn of East Brunswick. Robert Yetsko of New Brunswick was ring bearer.

After a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, Canada and New England, the couple will live at 19 Scott Avenue, Milltown.

The bride attended schools in East Millstone and Middlebush, and Highland Park High School. She is employed by Chicopee Manufacturing Corp. in Milltown.

The bridegroom, son of the late Mr. & Mrs. John Miller, also works for Chicopee. He attended Milltown elementary school and New Brunswick Vocational School.

At the executive board meeting, Mrs. Stephen Spano was appointed co-chairman of the refreshment committee to assist Mrs. Dorothy Sonntag, chairman.

The next executive board meeting will be held Oct. 5 in the home of Mrs. Richard Lockner, 32 Cooper Avenue.

Plan B'd Asked To Restrict New Developments

Several in the audience said the development would further burden the school tax load.

Michael Peacos of Copper Mine Road suggested profiting from South Brunswick's experience which, he said, granted a developer concessions on lot size for schools and their improvements.

Board member Lyle E. Hagman agreed the Township could seek aid from a developer, but could not force him to do so. Developers could not be stopped from building here and the law says the municipality must provide schooling, he said.

A prospective resident of the Township, Harry Jackson of New Brunswick, asked if he would have to give the Township a seven foot strip of land adjoining a roadway for use in future widening. He is considering the purchase of a residential tract.

Mr. Jackson said he could not see buying the land and then turning over a portion of it free of charge. Board chairman Wendell Forbes said this was a regulation provided in the model ordinance presented by the State and adopted here last year. He suggested Mr. Jackson confer with Robert E. Gaynar, board attorney.

Preliminary approval was given to plans submitted by Oak Hills Estate for an 8.7 acre tract to be divided into 28 building lots, with three streets to be constructed within the area. The land adjoins Somerset Hills near South Bound Brook.

Phillips Concrete Mix of Route 27 received approval of its plan to build a 10x22-foot addition to its plant. The structure would be 40 feet high.

room, the company maintains two modern fire trucks, one of which was built by the firemen with the exception of the cab.

The main building, which is just about finished, contains a meeting room, a temporary kitchen, and lavatories. The addition will contain an auditorium with a planned seating capacity of 650. The company plans to permit civic groups to use it for meetings.

On the north side of the building, the company will pave a section for a parking lot. Sidotti is Chief.

The 35 members are all volunteers, who receive no compensation from the Township and must purchase their own uniforms and equipment. The fire chief is Vincent Sidotti. Fire protection is on a 24-hour basis. The company's telephone number is CH-7-0300.

Chairman of the building fund drive is Eugene Szabo of 17 Marvin Avenue. Members of the building committee are John Bisciaci, chairman, Ernest Szabo, Lawrence Collier, Albert Collier, Carmen Carpentiero, John Falser, Louis Campbell and Mr. Sidotti.

ship, is already on record for trying to sell out his own constituents when he failed to comprehend the importance of the Chimney Rock fiasco last year. What does he have to say about this critical problem?"

She also asked if the "Republican-appointed County Planning Board" would represent Somerset at the water hearing in Trenton on Oct. 4.

"I don't know if my opponent is willing to defend his own constituents, but I am," she said. "I am opposed to this water-grab. I'm willing to go out and fight for Somerset County's future." Unanimous Vote

Tuesday night's nominating meeting, with county chairman Arthur Meredith in the chair, offered no surprises, except perhaps in the fact that only 80 committeemen and committeewomen, out of a total of 189 were present. Leonard Galyean of Bridgewater nominated Mrs. Rowe, and no other names were offered. The nomination was her's without a roll call.

County Committee executives were prepared for just such a situation, and there were copies of Mrs. Rowe's acceptance speech ready for the press before the meeting got started.

It was a brief speech in which she deviated from the prepared text, but it was an address charged with sparks of a hot campaign.

on the issues, she commented. "Instead, he'll wage a war of attrition, not a mind well stocked with county issues but with the well stocked pantry and well stocked wine cellar as his chief weapons. And now his political war cry, 'Barkeep, set up again,' will echo and re-echo throughout the county."

Somerset has "nothing," she stated. "We have no parks. We have nothing to show for our tax dollar. Look around; see what is happening to your tax dollar. This is bossism of the lowest and cheapest kind."

Mr. Van Cleef will now find himself the target of heavy political oratory, a situation he did not face since Mr. Sykes won an uncontested Primary nomination in April.

County Tax B'd Hears Appeals

The County Board of Taxation began hearing 173 appeals on 1966 tax assessments at 8 a.m. Monday in the County Court House, Somerville. The hearings are scheduled to end today, but some have been postponed and the board probably will hear them next week.

More than half of the appeals, 73, came from Franklin Township, and the board reserved yesterday and today to hear these.

Decisions on the appeals are expected to be made known either the last week in September or the first week in October.

On Monday the board listened to appellants from Bound Brook, Branchburg Hillsborough, Raritan, South Bound Brook, Warren Township, Somerville, Bernardsville and North Plainfield.

Tuesday's appeals were from Manville, Bridgewater, Bernards, Watchung, Bedminster and Green Brook.

129 VOTERS REGISTER TO VOTE IN FRANKLIN

A total of 129 new voters were registered at five locations throughout the Township in a special registration drive last Thursday night.

The totals: Community Volunteer Firehouse, 55; Franklin Park Firehouse, 8; Township Hall, 28; Griggstown Firehouse, 15, and Kingston School, 22.

The registration books will remain open in Township Hall and in the Board of Elections office in the County Administration Building through Sept. 27. Residence requirements are one year in the State and five months in the Township.

Let's Be Skeptical

This being National Civil Defense Week, it would be worth a pause to remember that post-war Civil Defense is not merely a propaganda effort on the part of the Federal Government. Civil Defense is a necessity in this era of international stress and strain.

Like the Strategic Air Command, ready to retaliate against an aggressor within a few minutes after an attack is hurled toward this nation, Civil Defense also is a deterrent force. One of the main reasons for CD's existence is hinged to the military logic that a nation prepared for emergencies is less likely to be attacked, but should it be attacked the chances of recovery are enhanced because of available personnel trained to cope with trouble.

Municipal defense organizations are becoming integral parts of each community, and in this area we can look with satisfaction at the work these groups have done in test alerts and during local disasters and emergencies. Civil Defense groups are taking their place alongside our volunteer firemen and our volunteer rescue squads to form an effective protecting screen over each community.

An example of how great is this potential protection was exhibited most graphically just two weeks ago today, when Hillsborough Volunteer Fire Company No. 2 conducted what is believed to be the biggest fire drill ever held in Somerset County. To a Route 206 location for drill purposes came nine fire companies, three rescue squads and four mobile CD communications teams. Some 150 volunteer men and women, trained to work in emergencies, came from Hillsborough, Montgomery, Manville, Griggstown, Belle Mead, Branchburg, Somerville and Raritan to participate in this exercise, and their appearance was a sign of strength. In this strength of forces lies comfort for every resident of our area.

It is this comfort in an emergency for which Civil Defense crews are being trained all over the nation to operate in coordination with firemen, police and other trouble shooters.

While there seems to be a trend in international thinking that nuclear bombardment is too horrible a method of warfare for even would-be world conquerors to utilize, it pays to be skeptical. While we are engaged in a tempestuous war of ideologies in all parts of the globe, we must not assume that there is no danger of shooting. An unhappy dictator can get trigger happy and cause a deluge of atoms, and so long as this horrifying prospect exists there remains the need for a trained, ready Civil Defense.

Scouts to Help Get Out Vote

Boy Scouts will conduct a Get-Out-the-Vote campaign with the Freedoms Foundation Inc. of Valley Forge this Fall. The non-partisan drive will be promoted with four-color posters urging citizens to vote, and a door-to-door campaign by the Boy Scouts before registrations close. There will be another drive just before Nov. 6, Election Day.

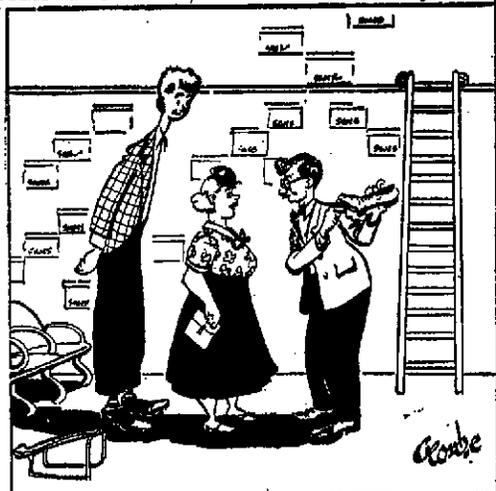

According to Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, chief scout executive, scouts and their leaders will call at 35 million homes and place on doorknobs a hanger shaped like the Liberty Bell bearing the message, "Heed youth's call. Vote as you think, but vote Nov. 6, 1956."

The program is financed by the Freedoms Foundation. A similar campaign was conducted before the 1952 election.

Under a bill signed recently by President Eisenhower, Hawaii's legislature will be enlarged and reapportioned. Effective in 1958, the Hawaiian legislature will be increased from 45 to 76 members—10 more senators and 21 more House members than at present.

COMMUNISM

By Dr. Alexander B. Balinsky

Assistant professor of economics and specialist in Russian affairs and economics, Rutgers University, the State University of New Jersey.

[Editor's Note: Dr. Balinsky wrote this column on communism in Jamaica while visiting that country during his return trip from a vacation stay in Venezuela.]

KINGSTON, JAMAICA — The violent surge of nationalism that has hit the Jamaican people is not the only reason for the spread of communism here. Growing unemployment is another factor which is helping Ferdinand Smith — head of the Jamaican communists — in his efforts to gain control of this island.

Jamaica is suffering serious unemployment.

I saw a scene which could only bring back memories of the worst part of the early 1930s. A candy factory listed one job opening for a wrapper. I saw several thousand women pushing and screaming at each other in front of the factory gate to get that one job. Smith's followers milled around in the crowd, promising the jobless that joining the People's Freedom Movement would be an end to unemployment.

Praise for Stalin

Smith uses the most advanced techniques of propaganda and infiltration known to communists, techniques he learned as a top functionary in the American communist party. As we talked of unemployment, nationalism and poverty in Jamaica, Smith sat under a huge picture of Stalin.

Anyone aware of recent developments in Moscow would, of course, wonder why Stalin's picture still hung prominently in party headquarters. Smith supplied me with an answer — his answer. For Ferdinand Smith—and many other communist leaders throughout the world—Stalin is still the great hero.

"Stalin is Socialism," Ferdinand Smith told me, "and his picture will hang here as long as I am in charge."

Readers of this column may recall that V. Gerashchenko, Russia's No. 2 banker, visited my home recently, and he, too, indicated a continued reverence for Stalin.

I am becoming convinced that all this anti-Stalinism coming out of Moscow is designed for foreign and not internal consumption. From my conversations with a number of communists, both at home and abroad, it is becoming clear that there has been no real pressure upon them to join the chorus of denunciation.

Courtesy for Smith

Ferdinand Smith asked me to deliver via this column his greetings to some of his comrades in the American communist party, specifically to Alan Max, Cy Gersen, Joe Clark and Harry Raymond; "Comrades, someday I shall return to America as a representative of a communist Jamaica and we can have that corned beef sandwich and beer as we have always planned."

Should that prophecy ever come true, it will be at least partially our own fault. Should Ferdinand Smith ever come back to the United States as an official of a Soviet satellite, each and every one of us who has ever visited Jamaica may be partially to blame. Next week's column will tell that story.

Kibitzers

Of Books & Plays & Sundry Things . . .

Is This the Greatest?

As we left the Mark Hellinger Theatre in a golden daze, we overheard a gaunt young woman dressed in the height of fashion say to her companion, "Overrated."

We looked at her, first with annoyance, then with pity. Poor woman. How awful to go through life determined not to enjoy anything that was popular, to maintain one's feeling of superiority by rejecting anything that was generally well received, no matter how good it really was.

For in truth there are no adjectives which can adequately describe "My Fair Lady." It is a theatrical experience which must be classed by itself. It couldn't be overrated. No matter how many wonderful things you have heard about it, nothing quite prepares you, for instance, for the terrific electricity of the moment when Eliza Higgins and Pickering celebrate Eliza's glorious triumph over her Cockney accent by singing "The Rain in Spain Stay Mainly in the Rain."

A Perfect Mixture

"My Fair Lady" is not a musical comedy as usually defined. It is a perfect blending of plot, dialogue, music, lyrics and decor into a beautifully moving and exhilarating experience.

The plot and the dialogue are mostly from Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion." The music and lyrics by Frederick Loewe and Alan Jay Lerner are perfectly in keeping with the spirit of the original and seem to flower naturally from character, situation and dialogue. The sets by Oliver Smith and the costumes by Cecil Beaton are gorgeous, but never overpowering. The result is a better "Pygmalion" than even Shaw could have dreamed of — better because of the warmth and vigor gained without sacrificing one bit of the wit, insight or intelligence of the original. This is humor of the highest kind — humor that stimulates the mind and moves the heart every step of the way; think about it for a moment — how very rare to find that combination.

When we first heard that there was to be a musical version of "Pygmalion," we pooh-poohed the whole notion. "They'll have Higgins sing a love song," we thought, "no doubt a beautiful love song, but the values of the original will be lost because of it."

Well, Higgins does sing a love song — but such a Higginsy love song, so perfect for that cerebral old egotist. "I've grown accustomed to her face," he says, and that is as far as he will let himself go. The song is an outstanding example of the accuracy with which Lerner and Loewe have reflected Shaw, and also of the new life with which they have infused him.

Magnificent Performances

Not the least of the ingredients that add to the perfection of "My Fair Lady" is the stars. It is hardly one of those musicals which is quite worthless without the great performance of some great personality, but it would certainly not be the same without Rex Harrison, Julie Andrews, Stanley Holloway and the others. After seeing Harrison as Professor Higgins you say, "That is exactly how I always thought Higgins was." Any other picture you might have had has been erased. This is the right one.

Julie Andrews is charming both before and after her transformation from a Cockney flower girl into a duchess, which is no mean feat. But she has more than charm. She can act.

Stanley Holloway is bigger than any Mr. Doolittle we ever knew. He infuses a brilliance into the character that does not seem to have been there before. Among the others, Cathleen Nesbitt as Mrs. Higgins, Robert Coote as Colonel Pickering and John Michael King as Freddy are particularly notable.

When the curtains fall on "My Fair Lady" you feel a physical sense of loss. All that beauty, all that intelligence, all that warmth are only a memory. You envy the ushers and the men who sell soft drinks because they can see it every night, though they seem unaware of their blessedness. Perhaps you would get tired of it, too, if you had seen it every night for six months (twice on Wednesdays and Saturdays), but we don't see how this could be.

Shamy Continues to Rap Young Traffic Violators

Magistrate George Shamy Monday night in Municipal Court continued his program of severe punishment for youthful traffic violators.

Two teen-age drivers lost their licenses, one for a year and another for six months. A charge of careless driving on Amwell Road cost William Johnson, 17, of Voorhees Station, North Brunswick, his license for one year. He also was fined $50 and $5 costs.

The six-month suspension was handed down to Jack Clark, also of North Brunswick, who was arrested for speeding 50 miles per hour in a 25-mile zone on Route 27 in Franklin Park. A fine of $20 and $5 cost went along with the suspension.

More Penalties

In other traffic cases: J. R. Eyck of New Brunswick, was fined $25 and $5 costs for driving 55 miles per hour in a 25-mile zone on Hamilton Street.

J. Ruggeri of Route 18, Hamilton Street, paid $30 and $5 costs for speeding 55 miles per hour in a 25-mile zone at Hamilton and Henry Streets.

Willie Plog of North Brunswick was fined $30 and $5 costs for careless driving on Amwell Road. Golden H. Russ of Princeton was fined $25 and $5 costs for careless driving on Hamilton Street.

Fined $20 and $5 costs for speeding 45 miles per hour in a 25-mile zone on Somerset Street was Anthony Milazzo of Highland Park.

Convicted of carrying three persons on his motor scooter, William Laird of Snydam Road, Franklin Park, paid a fine of $5 and $5 costs.

The crackdown on noisy mufflers also was continued. Three drivers, Thomas Cimple Jr. of Grouser's Road, East Millstone, Willie James Averette of Wilson Street, and Susan Johnson of New Brunswick each paid $5 and $5 costs.

In the one non-traffic case, a Nixon man, Samuel Kurchy, 46, was placed on probation for one and fined $50 and $5 costs for hazard to young children playing near their homes. They could easily be hit by flying stones. We've talked to the developer and we've been to Township Committee meetings seeking their assistance to get the streets paved, but they are still unpaved," he said.

Edward Cantor, president of the construction company, told The News yesterday that "We're ready to do the streets now. We can go ahead any time. But the Township won't let us know the requirements. If we're delayed until the end of the month when the rains start, it'll stop any streets from being paved until next Summer."

'Footing Around'

On the other hand, William Remy of the staff of Township Engineer R. P. Wilson said the developer "has been fooling around for months. He could put down the streets in a matter of days."

The biggest bottleneck has been the necessity of rebuilding some of the curbs, a total of about 170 feet. Many were put in last Winter, an "adverse time," according to Mr. Remy. Several cracks appeared and some curbs were damaged by road equipment.

Mr. Remy claimed most of these have been repaired and the developer could go ahead on streets where curbing has been approved.

But Mr. Cantor contended the job would be too expensive to do piecemeal. In addition, he denied having a go-ahead signal from the municipality.

'Always Restrictions'

"There are always new restrictions," he said. "We've done everything they want, ripped out the curbs and put them back in, ripped out the roads and put them back in. The streets would have been paved long ago if it weren't for these restrictions."

simple assault and he was acquitted of threatening the life of a 14-year-old boy.

The charges were the result of a fight Sept. 2 at a picnic in the Ukrainian Village on Cedar Grove Lane. Kurchy was accused of knifing Melville R. Brown Jr., 18, of New Market. He was convicted on this charge.

Magistrate Shamy dismissed the complaint of Mrs. Theresa Orlik of 110 Prospect Street that he threatened the life of her son, Robert.

trial, but did not do so even though there were no objections. "We must step up our efforts to attract clean, desirable industry," he said, "but actually there is very little land where factories can locate."

He urged holding of the line on residential lot sizes to maintain an orderly growth. He said people who buy a home are entitled to have it protected "under the zoning laws existing when they bought it."

Victor Dloszeghy has been named as Mr. Lisi's campaign manager. He will head a campaign committee composed of Charles McCloskey, municipal chairman; Miss Beate Feller, municipal vice-chairman and president of the Woman's Democratic Club, and Dante Pillon, president of the Men's Democratic Club.

The committee will coordinate the work of the three organizations.

Junior Firemen In Bowling League

A junior fireman's bowling team will be sponsored by the Kingston Volunteer Fire Company. It was decided Monday night at a meeting of the company in the firehouse. A nine-man team will be entered in the Mercer County Bowling League.

Eligibility will be limited to men between the ages of 16 and 21. Junior firemen are members of the company who can attend fires and meetings but have no vote on policies.

An executive board meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Monday night in the firehouse to discuss plans for enlarging the building.

They won't even tell us the bond requirements. First they want a finger. When they get that they want a hand and when they get that they want an arm."

Mr. Cantor admitted there was some truth to rumors that his company was in financial difficulties. "But," he contended, "we've got enough money to pave the streets, if the Township will let us go ahead without constantly throwing in new restrictions. We're getting no profit from this development."

As to what additional requirements are wanted by the Township, Mr. Cantor declined to say. His company has posted a cash bond of $16,000 with the Township as surety for completion of the streets.
