

'47 Busy Year For Policemen

Anyone who has the impression that 1947 was "just another year" had better not run into Police Chief Edwin F. Voorhees or he'll soon change his mind when the Chief whips out his yearly report and points to a long list of figures that show '47 to be one of the busiest years the local department has ever seen.

The outstanding occurrence during the year, from a newspaper and police standpoint, was without a doubt the accident wave which struck the township with a bang during November. Until that time, only a dozen reportable mishaps were upon the police books, but when the wave had subsided, the total had zoomed sharply upward. Efforts to halt the mishap wave, which the Chief attributed to carelessness on the part of motorists, appeared to have succeeded as the year drew to a close.

Altogether, Voorhees and his crew roamed the roads to the tune of 12,830 miles during 1486 patrol hours. In addition, 674 hours were spent on duty other than patrol. Most of the mileage was run up in police cars, a total of 9590 being listed, but the officers spent another 3240 miles in private cars.

Patrolman Russell Pfeiffer loomed as the "Dick Tracy" of the force with 38 arrests, four more than Douglas Wolter, who nabbed twenty-four, and highest tally. Also active in the arrest department were Chief Voorhees and Officers Canavesio and Lupo. Canavesio brought in 19, Lupo 10, and Voorhees bagged 16. Other arrests were made by Patrolmen Petrillo 4, Schunk, 5, Lee, 1, and Wade 1. Special Officers Bessenyei, Gilfillan, and Sanfratello went arrestless.

The total number of arrests, 118, showed that townshipites got in trouble for motor vehicle violations more than anything else. No less than 71 were arrested for car carelessness. A distant second as a source of trouble was disorderly conduct, 28 offenders receiving summonses for the offense. Also, six were arrested for Building Code violations, six for other departments, three for Dog Ordinance violations, two for larceny, one for breaking and entering, and one for truancy.

The department issued 98 warnings and investigated 33 accidents. A stolen car was recovered, a suicide was investigated, and nine dog bite cases were looked into.

Questioner Nabs Local Girl

Ellen Moore, 13, of 224 Blake Ave. was one of the persons interviewed by the New Brunswick Daily Home News' Inquiring Reporter last week, becoming one of the few townshipites who have had their pictures appear in that column.

Miss Moore was asked what she thought of Christmas and replied, "December is usually the month in which cold snow descends upon unprepared people. Soft flakes of snow fluff to the ground. Everywhere people hurry to and fro from their work, red-cheeked and warmly dressed to keep off the cold. At night, a large golden moon looms overhead, hastening shadows on the snow. Christmas, in December, is the happiest and most beautiful feast on the calendar. At home, we keep the lights up until the Epiphany."

Around the Bases

By Ted Szabo

Well, we're all set for a banner sports year in 1948; the best these parts have ever seen. So right now, we'll make a resolution to give you a complete coverage of all major events and hope that you will co-operate in sending us boxscores, items, etc.

We're still treading water, waiting for the basketball league to open (this is beginning to sound monotonous) so we'll dispense with all preaching this week and devote the rest of our column to items in general.

We hear that Steve Lanscak, renowned Franklin Township merman, is working out at the New Brunswick Y. M. C. A. to get in shape for the coming swimming season.

Another well-known local athlete is also about to get back to training chores; and in the South, too, lucky guy. We're talking about Mike Marcho, one of the township's few professional baseball players, who'll soon be leaving for the land of bathing beauties to try and break in with one of the big league clubs at its training camp.

Big Mike was a starting pitcher for New Brunswick High not too many years ago and since then he has decided to make baseball his career, playing with a number of service teams and half a dozen minor league teams in the last few seasons. His latest playing job was with Atlanta of the Southern League.

And now that we've told you of the doings of a swimmer and a baseball player, we'll make it a triple-header and dwell on a

Lower Net 1948 Income To Affect Farm Living

Since it's predicted that New Jersey farmers will have a lower net income in 1948 than this year, the amount of money they use for family living expenses will have to be adjusted accordingly, declares Doris Anderson, extension specialist in home management at Rutgers University.

Costs of living to be met from current income will continue high for rural families as for city families. The purchase of home equipment and home furnishings or the remodeling or building of farm homes, long overdue, may have to depend on savings from past incomes. Actual incomes of New Jersey farmers have not increased as much as those of farmers in other parts of the country in the past year. But careful management, including increased work done by members of the family, has helped reduce debt and increased liquid assets, Mrs. Anderson says.

Food will account for a large part of the farm family spending even though there is a good deal of home-produced foods on New Jersey farms. Clothing for the family will also be a big item of expense. It will be especially high for these families who have refrained from buying the suits and coats they needed in hopes that better buys for these major items might appear in local markets. There is little likelihood of this, however, and clothing prices may even be higher.

One can only guess at future prices for other items the family needs, Mrs. Anderson states. Oil and coal for heating homes will cost more during the coming year. Expenses for medical care of families has increased and this trend will probably continue in 1948, she believes.

The Onlooker

By Len Ruppert

Why is it that the average newspaper reader and movie goer always thinks of a journalist as a dashing young fellow, full of life and bold; a guy who's always razor sharp on the comeback? It sure stumps us! Here we sit, half dead and listless; a poor timid soul who knows only that it's New Year's morning; he doesn't feel like doing anything but sleeping, and that, if he doesn't sit down and type out a column now, there won't be any for the next edition (which would probably be an improvement—who said that?) and he'll get fired. Oh well, Happy New Year anyhow. . . . And we hope that your car wasn't one of the many that we saw lining the ditches during the past week. If it was, all we can say is "dug, brother, dig,—you've got plenty of company" . . . Seriously though, I think we should all take a moment to doff our caps in appreciation of the fine job done by county and township road authorities in keeping the roads open. It was a herculean task, but they did it and did it well. The main drags were especially well done. Once again we say "Nice job, men, we couldn't have done better ourselves" . . . By the way, who was the guy who was wishing for a white Christmas. We hope he's satisfied! Personally, we're in favor of lynching him. Gee, there must be something wrong with us today. It's New Year's morning, as we said before, and we're feeling stinko to say the least, yet, try as we may, we can't think of a single gripe to throw at you this week. . . . Instead, we're gonna dole out some more praise and start the new year right for once. . . . We mean, we think it's about time someone cited Ralph Ahrens Sr. of Middlebush for his wonderful work in helping township youth set up a well-rounded sports program with good equipment. Ralph has always been interested in the boys and gals and has long dreamed of the day when the Middlebush school auditorium would be turned into a gymnasium, with showers 'n everything. Now, at last, it appears as though at least a part of his scheme is going to become a reality. Ahrens has been a leading figure in the fight to secure the school as a basketball court for the present season and, at latest report, the school board is about to give the go-ahead signal. As soon as nets can be obtained to protect the windows, a court will be set up. Ahrens has many, many ideas to further the newly-installed youth program and we only wish that we had time to list them here; they would make pleasant listening to the youngsters who are forced to spend their evenings loitering on street corners because of the present lack of recreation facilities. . . . We said before that we weren't going to do any griping this week and thereby start the new year right, but we've changed our mind, being that we're on a pet subject of ours. . . . It's too bad, but words fall us when we try to tell you of our dislike of certain individuals who oppose every effort to provide recreation; there aren't any adjectives strong enough. For instance, we're not mentioning any names, but there are one or two of our so-called "leading, upstanding citizens" on the school board who time after time refuse to allow the kids to use the schools for sports, etc. It's the same way

Sleet KO's Power, Many Wires Down

Still weary from the fight against a record snowfall which fell Christmas night, township and county roadmen were called out again last night to deal with an equally tough foe, a heavy sleet downpour paired with a light rain, which made New Year's Day at stay at home affair by rendering roads slippery and dangerous.

The sleet fall which began early New Year's morning continued on through the night and by this morning, tree branches were weighted down almost to the ground in township towns, making driving a touchy affair. It was necessary to dodge fallen tree branches with the agility of a football player in order to travel by car.

Telephone service was nil in many areas because of fallen wires and no immediate relief was in

Bridge Worker Felled By Car

A victim of Franklin Township's slippery roads, George P. Fray, 63, of Main and Cedar Streets, South Bound Brook, is recuperating in Bound Brook Hospital from injuries received on the last day of the old year when he was struck by a car driven by John A. Martin, 46, of Prince St., this township while he was tending the Raritan River Bridge between South Bound Brook and Bound Brook.

The accident occurred at 5:30 p. m. when Martin's auto skidded into Fray, giving him a fractured nose and contusions of the skull and back. The victim, an employee of the Reading Railroad, was putting up a light on the bridge at the time of the accident. No charges have been filed as yet against the motorist.

Bramman-Covert

On Christmas Eve, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bramman Jr. of R.F.D. 1, Bound Brook, announced the engagement of their daughter, Claire Elizabeth, to A. Dean Covert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abram Covert, also of R.F.D. 1, Bound Brook.

Miss Bramman is a graduate of Bound Brook High School and is now employed by the Diehl Mfg. Co. of Findern in the firm's shipping department.

Mr. Covert also attended Bound Brook High School and served in the armed forces. He spent twenty-two months in Italy and Switzerland. Covert is now employed by the Public Service Co. at the New Brunswick branch.

The wedding is planned for June.

Potonski-Reckage

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Potonski of 32 Home St. have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sophia, to Edward P. Reckage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Reckage of Levinson Ave., South River.

Miss Potonski is a graduate of St. Peter's High School and is now employed by Johnson and Johnson.

Mr. Reckage attended South River High School and is employed by the Ausin Engineers and Builders Company.

sight according to telephone officials. Buses, however, were maintaining a fairly steady schedule.

Street lights, too, were out in many places and innumerable encounters took place between cars and obstructions in the road during the night. Traffic, however, was exceedingly light with most motorists content to stay by their firesides during the storm even though the day was a holiday.

The storm was a freak one and its like has not been seen in this section in many years. Everything was coated with a glassy ice covering by mid-day yesterday and wooded areas looked like something from a story book in their white array.

At press time, police authorities could not be reached, but other sources yielded no knowledge of any accidents during the storm. All drivers were proceeding with caution over the slippery pavement.

Hedge owners were sadly shaking their heads when the storm had subsided to see their shrubbery ruined and house owners were wary of ice laden wires which threatened to give way at any moment.

The situation was summed up by a car owner on Hamilton St. whose roof was dented by a fallen branch. "It's one hell of a mess" he said.

Electricity Out

Electricity was out in East Millstone and the lower end of the township, on Hamilton St., giving householders and business men headaches galore.

In most tricken areas, kerosene lamps were being readied for nightfall with no immediate restoration of power in sight. Home owners were reminded once again of the importance of electricity when they found that they had to go easy on the water supply, most homes being powered by electric pumps.

Business was at a standstill and store owners were keeping an anxious eye on perishable goods. Chester Lazicky, proprietor of East Millstone's largest food store, sadly said that he expected his large supply of frozen foods to be ruined unless service was restored by 3 p. m. Ice cream sellers were also in despair.

At the Millstone Bus Co. offices, company official Joseph Onka, Jr., said, "We don't guarantee anything. So far we're getting through all right, but if this snow freezes we may have to pull our busses off". He said also that the electricity dearth made it impossible to pump gas and that the firm would keep substituting reserve busses for the ones now on the road until the supply ran out or power once again was on.

The company is continuing to re-route its coaches in New Brunswick. Instead of entering down Little Albany St. and stopping for ten minutes at the railroad station, busses have been coming down Easton Ave. for the past week, pulling out immediately from the station after discharging and picking up passengers.

When reached this morning, Public Service officials could not say when lines would be re-erected, but hoped for a resumption of service by nightfall.

footballer. We refer to none other than Billy Vigh, a guy who needs no introduction to local grid fans, having starred at New Brunswick High and Rutgers.

Billy has been praised highly all season by Rutgers coach Harvey Harman, but his greatest honor came this week when he played with the Northern squad in the annual North-South all-star football game. The Northerners lost, 33-6, the worst beating administered in the nine year rivalry, but, even so, Billy has well earned the plaudits of local fans for having been selected, along with the North's outstanding gridmen. Hats off to a real all-star.

While we're on the subject of football, we'd like to say that it was a pleasure to watch Rutgers in action this season, the best in the school's history; they were really smooth. While we were enjoying many of the home games, we noticed that this sector was well represented by fans. We saw at least two dozen regulars at all of the games, and over thirty were counted at the Harvard game, which by the way was played in Boston.

Something big is in store for these fans next year when the Big Red powerhouse is pitted against such foes as Columbia, Temple, Colgate, Princeton and Brown. Gee, we can hardly wait!

with church leaders and others who steadfastly believe that their facilities shouldn't be given "for the kids to wreck." . . . We think they're missing the boat completely. A church and a school should, in our opinion, be living institutions, dedicated to the livelihood of the people. Instead, as it now stands, they are lifeless and backward . . . We are acquainted especially well with the conditions in East Millstone where youth is asked to support the church, but is offered nothing in return. Every try to keep the kids off the streets and give them something wholesome to do is stymied by a handful of people . . . We say let's get rid of these individuals and cooperate with such men as Ahrens. Maybe then we can safely say we are doing something without having our consciences bothering . . . Think it over.

BEGINNING JAN. 1—Wide Range Local Calling for ALL Telephone Customers

● When the new telephone rates become effective on January 1, all 5-cent toll charges will be eliminated on calls between points in New Jersey where such a charge previously applied. These former 5-cent toll points will be included in your local calling area.

● Broadening the local calling area for those who did not have "extended area service" increases the number of telephones they can reach without a toll charge.

● The adoption of wide-range local calling for all, recognizes the increasing social and business interests among the people of neighboring communities. It is an important step in making your telephone service faster and more useful.
