

FILL FINAL 2 TEACHER POSTS

The employment of two teachers was approved by the Board of Education at its meeting last Monday, in the Franklin Park School. Miss Olsvary, a graduate of the New Jersey College for Women and a student at the Trenton State Teachers' College, was employed to teach in the Pine Grove Manor School; Mrs. Dorothy Paone, a graduate of the Pottsdam Normal School, will teach in the Middlebush School. Mrs. Paone has done substitute teaching in the local schools during the past year. All regular teaching positions in the system are now filled.

Dr. James Lynch, Supervising Principal, reported that Mrs. Douglas Woltcheck assumed the duties of office secretary July 1.

It was reported that work on alterations and additions in the Middlebush School and in the Pine Grove School cafeteria were progressing according to schedule.

Arrangements were made to service the heating system at the Hamilton School and to construct a concrete walk from the Matilda Street side of the school to the rear entrance.

In connection with the attendance report for June, it was pointed out that the number of Franklin Township graduates from the elementary schools was 101, and from the high schools (including vocational schools) totaled 117.

Mr. Hasbrouck, president of the board, appointed Fred Bascom, Ralph Thompson, Dr. Rexford Davis, Vendel Horvath and Mr. Bervin on a committee to study building requirements to meet the needs of increased enrollment in the immediate future.

WIN BARGAIN RIGHT

Employees of the Johns-Manville Corporation won the right to bargain for a union shop at elections held last Wednesday in the plant under the supervision of the National Labor Relations Board. Of the 2,027 votes cast, 1,753 or 86.6 per cent were in favor of a union shop. There were 2,892 employees eligible to vote.

The trucks and trailers of the Smith & Solomon Trucking Co. have been the source of much annoyance to the residents of Henry St., it was revealed at the meeting of the Township Committee Thursday evening. The trucking company, which originally operated on French St. in New Brunswick, expanded a few years ago to include both building and parking lot facilities on Somerset St. adjoining the Henry St. area in this township. Although the new zoning ordinance covers noise nuisances, if properties have been in use for such businesses prior to the adoption of these ordinances no action may be taken against owners without legal proceedings.

Stephen Loyek of Henry St. entered the complaint, stating that the recently increased night traffic in loading and unloading prevents sleep and is causing a decrease in property value in the area.

Russell E. Watson, chairman of the committee, asked Township Attorney Frederick Pope if the situation could be improved by legal action. Mr. Pope explained that the State laws governing such cases limited the power of adjustment boards to governing the use of buildings and gave them no jurisdiction over the property on which the buildings were located. The new State Constitution which goes into effect September 15 may give the board power to act. To get action it would be necessary to circulate a petition in the neighborhood and to present the case to the State Legislature. Watson suggested that the committee adopt a separate ordinance to govern noises as nuisance, as the process outlined by Mr. Pope would require considerable time before action could be taken.

Discuss Carnivals

Ernest W. Abicht, consultant to the Board of Health and member of the State Board of Health, pointed out that it is difficult to get court convictions in such cases as it is nearly impossible to prove that the health of an individual has been damaged by objectionable noises. The committee will give this problem further consideration.

Mr. Loyek also raised the question of the use of the open field as a carnival site. He hesitated to bring the subject up, he said, for he knew that the carnivals are sponsored by the fire companies. However, he declared that they were a nuisance and that the burning of rubbish after the carnival closed was so offensive as to require that residents keep their windows closed. Mr. Watson stated that the committee had already taken action to have the carnival not more than once per year, but that the complaint would be recorded and brought up again next year when the subject was scheduled for reconsideration. William Easton of the East Brunswick Fire Department said that the carnival was at present essential to the company as to raised large sums of money annually. He invited the Henry St. residents to a fire company meeting to discuss other possible means of raising the necessary funds.

Committeeman Staudt will investigate the question raised by

Canning Peaches and Tomatoes

The season for canning the two favorites, peaches and tomatoes, is here. Fill up your empty jars with luscious golden yellow or white peaches and ruby red tomatoes. Stack your cupboard shelves, row upon row, and you'll have delicious food for next winter.

General Directions

1. Select firm, fresh product. Grade according to size.
2. Wash jars, lids and rubbers in hot soapy water. Rinse. Place jars and glass or zinc lids on rack in kettle of cold water and heat until water boils rapidly. Boil one minute. Let stand in hot water until ready to use. Pour boiling water over self-sealing disks and leave in water until ready to use. To sterilize jars and lids that have contained spoiled food, boil 10 minutes in 1/2 cup washing soda to 1 gallon water. Rinse in scalding water.
3. Place scalded rubber rings on hot jars, if ring-type jars are used.
4. Pack jars with food.
5. To each quart of tomatoes add 1 teaspoon of cooking salt, and to each pint 1/2 teaspoon of cooking salt, if desired.
6. Add boiling liquid leaving 1/2" in head space.
7. Remove air bubbles from food by inserting sterile stainless metal knife down the inside wall of jar. Add more boiling liquid, if necessary, to reach 1/2" of top.
8. Remove seeds and pulp from top of jars with sterile cloth.
9. Place covers on jars and partially seal, except self-seal type which must be completely sealed.
10. Process foods (cook in jars) according to recipe.
11. Remove jars from canner. Set on surface covered with several thicknesses of cloth to prevent jars from cracking.
12. Complete seal on jars.
13. Set the jars to cool, away from draft.
14. Test for seal, label and store.

Tomatoes

Tomatoes are one of the most useful and the easiest of vegetables (really a fruit) to can, provided one uses fresh, firm, sound, ripe fruit, washes it carefully before scalding, scalds in small quantities, prepares, packs, and processes as quickly as possible after scalding.

Tomatoes are likely to flat sour if left standing after scalding. They lose food value (vitamin C) if left exposed to the air after skinning. Always cut out hard cores and green spots. Never can tomatoes from which decayed spots and fungus growths have been removed.

To Can

Wash, scald, remove skins and core. Quarter or leave whole. Pack firmly in jars. Add 1 teaspoon salt to each quart. If necessary, cover with hot tomato juice made from crushed tomatoes. Process quarts or pints in boiling water bath 45 minutes. Or heat to boiling point, pack hot and add boiling tomato juice if necessary. Process boiling water bath 5 minutes.

Tomato Juice

Wash, cut in small pieces. Simmer until soft. Press through sieve. Reheat juice at once to 190° F., or just below boiling point. Fill containers quickly and process boiling water bath 5 minutes.

Peaches

Wash, scald, dip in cold water and peel. Cut in halves, slices or leave whole. If peeled fruit is to stand several minutes before packing, drop it into slightly salted water (2 tablespoons salt to 1 gallon water) to prevent discoloration. Drain. Precook in boiling syrup, made with 1 or 2 parts of sugar to 1 part of water, 5 minutes. Pack hot and add boiling syrup. Process quarts or pints boiling water bath 15 minutes. Or pack cold and add boiling syrup. Process boiling water bath 20 minutes.

A few residents of the new garbage collection district protested the tax increase noted on their bills as a result of this service. This charge is figured on a basis of assessed valuation of homes served and is on the average not more than eight dollars per year. The contract was let by bid to Earl B. Cox. Other township residents pay $1 per month on main roads and $1.25 per month on secondary roads for private collection, amounting to $12-$15 per year.

A letter of warning was issued to Elvigo G. Lombardi, licensee of the Diamond Bar, by Erwin B. Hoch, commissioner of Alcoholic Beverage Control regarding violations allegedly occurred in the tavern in May. No action will be taken on these charges, the letter stated, but future violations would warrant full penalty.

Livestock destruction in the township by dogs has continued and the committee authorized the payment of $18.75 to Harriet C. Vorhees of De Mott Lane to cover the loss of 18 ducks. A recent ordinance was passed providing that dogs at large be destroyed on sight by the township police.

CANNING PROJECTS KEEP 4-HERS BUSY

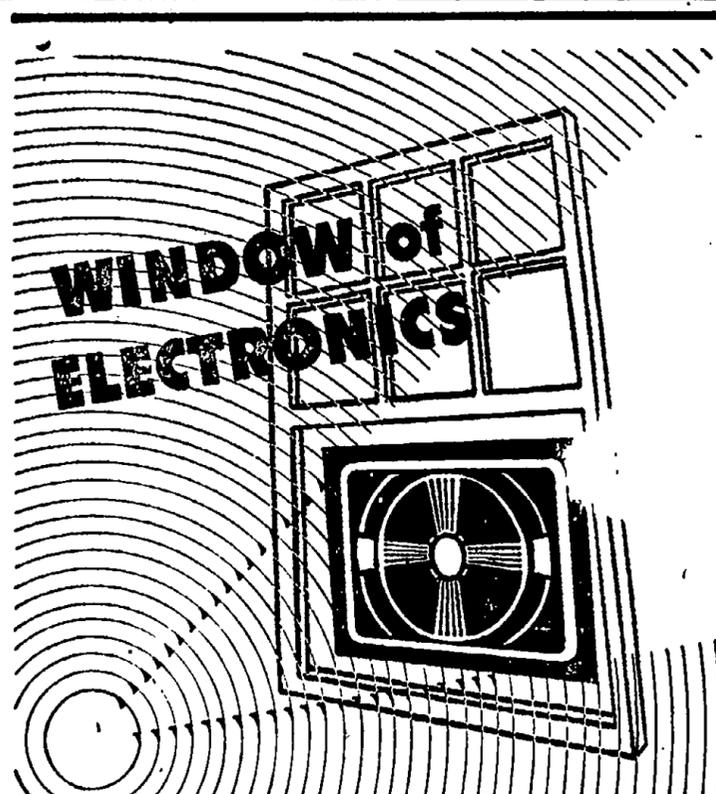

Somerset County 4-H boys and girls are earning dollars by canning fruits, vegetables and meats produced on their home farms or by local growers. Through their canning project, the girls help provide their families with a varied, well-balanced diet and also cut down winter food costs.

Boys Find Body

The partially decomposed body of a six foot man believed to be a Negro was found by two 11-year-old Bound Brook boys shortly after 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon in a field off Eastern Ave., Pinderne, near the Calco plant.

The boys, Damian Poupin and Angelo D'Andolo, had been cutting cat tails when they came across the body. They immediately summoned the Bound Brook police who informed the State Police. Trooper Walter A. Roller investigated.

No evidence of violent death was found by Dr. Edgar Flint, county physician, who viewed the body. It is believed that the man, who probably died of natural causes, had been in the swampy ground from six to eight weeks and that he probably weighed 160 pounds. He was wearing three coats—an old army coat, a leather coat, and a suit coat—old trousers, and sneakers. He had a panama hat. In one pocket, there was what remained of a bread roll. He also carried road maps and social security papers bearing the name of Otis James Jr., of Georgia. The body was removed to the Pucillo Funeral Home in Manville to await burial.

Flagtown A. A., paced by the spectacular hitting of Joe-the-clipper-Brogan, walloped out a 5-1 win over the Middlebush nine, Sunday at Clawson Field, Flagtown. Big Brogan pounded out two homers to drive in runs in the third and eighth innings.

In the third, with Willy Stoker on second with a double, Brogan powered a blast to right field, giving the homesters a 2-0 lead. Middlebush tallied in the sixth, but then in the eighth, with two outs and Stoker again on base, Brogan hit another one out of the park in right field. Guerrera walked and scored on a double by Billy Musa for the final score. Brogan went three for four, including a single, to pace all batters.

Nursery School Leaders Meet

Many members of the community responded to an invitation to a meeting of the Middlebush Nursery School Association on Thursday evening at the Middlesex Reformed Church, in order to discuss such plans of the proposed nursery school as directly affected church property.

It was decided to wash the basement walls as a preliminary step to painting them, but, due to the cost, the painting of the floor is to be deferred.

Adequate storage space for nursery school equipment was arranged so that the basement may be completely cleared for church functions when necessary. The association agreed to assume responsibility for removal of any or all of the equipment upon request. Detailed plans for an outdoor playground will be submitted to the consistory for approval. A plea was made for additional equipment in the form of discarded bureaus, shelves and toys which could be renovated for use. Vaccinations and an unusual number of illnesses lowered the regular attendance considerably, but community response was gratifying.

Robert Gaynor, attorney-at-law of the firm of Heston & Potts received the signatures of Mrs. Lily Hagmann, Mrs. Edna Cuddy, Mrs. Mae Malfatt, Mrs. Georgiana Yingling and Dr. James Lynch as trustees of the Middlesex Nursery School on the certificate of incorporation July 22. The general purposes of the corporation are to provide professionally supervised training, play and recreation for children of pre-school ages living in Franklin Township, and to promote the social education of such children by enabling them to associate with other children of similar ages under beneficial conditions. The corporation will direct, maintain and operate the Middlebush Nursery School, which plans to open on September 15.

General interest in and support of this non-profit venture will be solicited through the efforts of a companion organization, the Middlebush Nursery School Association.
