

The Onlooker

By LEN RUPPERT

The 115-year-old Delaware and Raritan canal is being discussed everywhere . . . Plans for putting the aged waterway back on its feet as a paying proposition are fully underway . . . Other plans to make it a beautiful recreation area instead of a polluted, down-trodden stretch of weedy muck, as it has been for years, are definitely shaping up . . . But most people hereabouts still do not realize how important it all is to them.

The fact is, a fully developed canal can benefit this township immensely . . . Those residents in the Kingston, Griggstown, East Millstone, Weston, South Bound Brook, and Easton Avenue areas . . . Whose homes are very near the waterway . . . Will be benefitted in that their surroundings will be much more beautiful . . . There are very few recreational areas in existence near here and none that would compare to a revamped canal suitable for swimming, boating, and fishing . . . And with park areas for picnicing.

Those residents living in the Hamilton St., area will be more directly aided . . . Many of these depend now, or perhaps will depend in the future, upon city water for existence . . . At present, those serviced by the New Brunswick watershed could very easily be caught in the midst of a serious water shortage if the weather became just a little bit dry and stayed that way for very long . . . Now, the canal makes that possibility and all of the discomforts which would accompany it a vague one.

Even more important . . . To all local residents . . . Is the fact that the rehabilitated waterway will give local administrators and real estate a fine talking point in their campaign to attract industries to locate their plants here . . . We all know that Franklin Township needs industrial plants within its borders if it is to progress . . . New Plants and factories bring new taxes and, equally important, bring new jobs to local people.

Both of this township's political groups, the Republican administration and the Better Government Association, have, at one time or another, prominently listed this point . . . That new industries must be attracted here . . . In their campaign platforms.

Now, the canal has been made available as a source of water supply to such industries . . . If both the afore-mentioned groups are sincerely interested in developing a better Franklin Township, they will capitalize on it . . . And do everything in their power to bring some factories here . . . We certainly have enough suitable sites lying unused.

While we're still talking, we'd like to say that we're very proud of this sector's traffic fatality record . . . When we say that, however, we're speaking only of the township and not the county as a whole . . . No, Somerset County can not be proud . . . It's record is 13 deaths in the first four months of this year, as compared with 6 last year.

In this same vein, there were some interesting statistics released this week in Middlesex County . . . There, the county medical examiner revealed that almost 200 people have died in accidents there due to "the alcoholic factor" in the past 16 years . . . An these are only the recorded ones . . . Remember that the next time you are about to take that extra drink before driving home.

Oh yeah . . . We almost forgot . . . Last week, Police Chief, Ed Voorhees, a very competent gent, voiced his objections to traveling

BEGIN FUNDS DRIVE

East Millstone's First Aid Squad has opened its annual drive for funds, with 14 organization members began a house-to-house canvass. A quota of $2,000 has been set. The group is scheduled to make final payments on its ambulance and purchase a resuscitator.

Chairman of the drive is Alex Dusky, Squad president. The campaign will cover East Millstone, Millstone, and the lower end of Franklin township from Middlebush and Franklin Park to Griggstown.

Careless Driver Draws $18 Fine

Charges of careless driving and causing an accident cost Monroe L. Brown of Remsen Ave., New Brunswick, $18 in fines when he pleaded guilty before Magistrate Vernon D. Hagaman in Municipal Court Tuesday night.

Miss Audrey Walker of New Brunswick, driver of the car which Brown collided with, and Helen Kenyon, a passenger, both testified that he was driving on the wrong side of the road when the accident occurred. Brown's answer was that he lost control when his car blew a tire as he was passing a truck.

Magistrate Hagmann set his fine at $15 plus $3 court costs.

Also fined were George Dunham for being drunk and disorderly, $10 and $3 costs, and Anthony Bruno Jr., for selling watermelons without possessing a township permit to do so, $7 and $3 costs.

Fined for speeding were Edward R. Lebledz of South River, $15 and $3, and Christian Robinson of New Brunswick, $7 and $3 costs.

Robert Gaynor Heads Committee For July Fourth

Robert Gaynor was named general chairman of a committee to take charge of the Middlebush Independence Day activities at a meeting of the Middlebush Men's Club at the Middlebush School Thursday night. Elton Wade was instructed to take pictures of the parade. The club has pictures of Fourth of July celebrations here for the past 12 years.

J. Earnest McConnell, the president, presided and the meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. David Jenks. Minutes of the previous two meetings were read by the secretary, Hubert G. Schmidt, and a financial report was given by Elton Wade, treasurer.

Edward Harned, chairman of the park committee, reported purchase of a new mower and sale of the old one and asked for volunteers to care for the park during the summer.

World Of Mirth Shows Attraction At New Show Grounds Next Week

The big attraction in the township next week will be the World of Mirth Shows, a traveling carnival which opens Monday for six days at the new show-grounds at Franklin boulevard and Highland avenue.

The carnival is being sponsored by two fire companies, East Franklin Township Volunteer Fire Company and Community Volunteer Fire Company, both of which have Hamilton street headquarters.

As sponsoring agencies, the fire companies will receive flat guarantees from the carnival to supplement funds raised by activities throughout the year and the annual donation from the township. The money then goes toward purchase and maintenance of fire fighting and rescue equipment.

Company committees arranging for the appearance are: Commu-

State To Keep Motorboats Off Raritan Canal

State officers will soon begin to enforce an old state law which forbids the operation of motor-driven craft on the Delaware and Raritan Canal.

Dr. Thurlow Nelson of Highland Park, chairman of the state Water Policy and Supply Council, disclosed the proposed action following a tour of the canal two weeks ago.

According to Dr. Nelson, the law has never been enforced, but will be in the near future.

He said that it would be "criminal" to allow motorboats on the canal. "the only stretch of water left in the State which is unmarred by the noises of a machine go"

State navigation engineers claim that motors would cause a wake which would disturb spawning fish and soon erode the canal banks.

Once Busiest In Nation 1834.

The canal opened in 1834, is now 115 years old. During the 1880's it was the busiest in the nation, but the coming of the machine age inventions, especially the railroads, outmoded it as a vital transportation link between the coast and Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania Railroad leased it in 1871, but sold it to the state in 1934 after it was no more usable. The waterway extends approximately 60 miles from Raven Rock, in Hunderton County, where it is fed by the Delaware River, to New Brunswick where it joins the Raritan.

Franklin Twp. Honors Heroes

Franklin Township honored its war dead Memorial Day at tablets at the Franklin Park firehouse and the Reformed Church in Griggstown.

Commander Torleiv Rosjord of Franklin Park Post 9111, V.F.W., which with the volunteer fire company were co-sponsors of the services, was master of ceremonies in Franklin Park, and placed a memorial wreath on the honor roll.

The featured speaker, the Rev. George Moore of Six Mile Run Reformed Church, traced the position of religion in the "Significance of Memorial Day".

A firing squad from Company E, 114th Regiment of the National Guard with headquarters in New Brunswick, was led by Lieutenant Louis Balabas, company commander, who is a member of the V. F. W. post here.

In Griggstown, ceremonies were held at the tablet on the lawn of the Reformed Church where Col-

Mistrial Ordered In Property Suit

A mistrial was ordered by Superior Court Judge Ralph J. Smalley in a property conversion action brought by Sylvia R. Unger against the Black Diamond Realty Co., Benjamin McClusky corporate agent and stockholder and Louis A. Agg, his associate this week.

The plaintiff was owner of Sun Glow Dairy Farm, sold to the defendants in 1946. Conversion of feed and grain by the company forms the basis of the suit.

Canal To Meet Water Problem

The aged and neglected Delaware and Raritan Canal, once the most heavily trafficed waterway of its kind in the United States, is again becoming vitally important to the future of New Jersey particularly in this area.

The canal, abandoned in 1934 when the state brought it from the Pennsylvania Railroad for one dollar, is now the site of a $1,000,000 rehabilitation project, launched by New Jersey in 1945, and was made available to nearby municipalities as a source of water supply this week.

The Vogel bill, which permits towns and cities adjacent to the canal to divert water for potable use, was signed by Gov. Driscoll on Tuesday after it had passed through both legislative houses without opposition.

The bill means that large municipalities such as New Brunswick will no longer have to worry about an acute water shortage, predicted for the near future, and that the canal will once more become paying proposition, realizing a handsome revenue for the state instead of lying expensively dormant.

The state will charge $20 for the first million gallons diverted, $10 for the fifth million, and costs will decline further in proportion to the amount of water used. New Brunswick alone is expected to consume 15 million gallons daily. Multiply that by the number of other municipalities which will use the canal for their spigot supply and the result is an extremely profitable annual return on what has heretofore been a losing investment.

Franklin Township, which is bordered by the canal for approxi-

Degrees Awarded Two Local Men

Robert Van Nuys Moore of Franklin Park and Walter Koenig of near Middlebush have received college degrees at commencements in the South.

Koenig, son of Mrs. Martha Koenig, received a master of forestry degree at Duke University's 98th annual commencement Monday.

Moore, son of the Rev. and Mrs. George Moore of Franklin Park, graduated from Tusculum College, Greenville, Tenn., on Monday, receiving a bachelor of arts degree.

Moore majored in psychology-sociology with a history-political science minor. He was active in extra-curricular activities during his four-year term at Tusculum, serving in various positions on the college annual and as columnist and feature editor to the college paper.

A graduate of New Brunswick High, he was vice-president of his class at Tusculum, publicist for the dramatic association and the college, and a member of the men's chorus and outing club.

Club Donates $55 To First Aid Unit

Anthony Mento, sponsor of Fran's Teen Age Club reported last week that the club had donated $55 to the Community First Aid Squad. The money was proceeds from a barn dance held recently at the Pine Grove School.

The club elected Joan French "Sunshine girl" to send cards to members who are sick, and named Herbert Blair as temporary sergeant-of-arms. Eleanor Saums was delegated to keep a scrap book of clippings and photographs, records of club activities.

mately 20 miles, perhaps more than any other township, will be greatly affected by the rehabilitation work. Local administrators have long hoped for such a project so that industries which need a plentiful water supply, would be attracted to settle and build plants here.

Sections of the township also draw potable water from the same watershed which services New Brunswick and consequently faced the same future water shortage until the Vogel bill made it improbable.

Abandonment More Costly

Actually, experts insist that it would have cost the state far more to completely abandon the canal than to rehabilitate it as is being done. Complete abandonment would have meant a great health problem, costly filling-in operations, and the diverting of streams which now empty into the old waterway.

The rehabilitation work, when completed, will be followed by an extensive beautification program intended to make the canal avail-

How important is the Delaware and Raritan Canal's rehabilitation as a source of water to you?

1. In 1954-56, the United States will experience the driest weather in history, according to the estimates of expert Geo-physicists.

2. Even now, New Brunswick and parts of this township face a serious water shortage if dry weather lasts for even a short while.

3. New industries will not build factories here, creating new jobs and lowering taxes, unless guaranteed an adequate water supply.

In addition, a rehabilitated canal will offer a well-developed, nearby recreation area to local residents for the first time.

able to all for recreational purposes.

This program was announced last week when a 10-car caravan of high state conservation officials toured the 60-mile link between the Delaware and Raritan rivers.

At the completion of their trip, the officials, headed by Dr. Thurlow Nelson of Highland Park, chairman of the state Water Policy and Supply Council, said that the site would be made suitable for fishing, boating, swimming, and picnicing and that barge trips between East Millstone and Griggstown would be inaugurated.

Industries have long been using the canal as a source of water. Johnson and Johnson in New Brunswick and Calco in Bound Brook are two of the largest nearby consumers.

Recently, sportsmen throughout the state have complained that industries in this area are unnecessarily polluting the canal. People living next to the waterway have been steadily registering the same complaint for years, but to no avail. Now, the state officials taking the tour have finally seen the pollution themselves and have promised that something will be done about it.

Project Half-Completed
The million dollar rehabilitation project is now slightly more than half finished. No estimates as to exactly when the job will be completed have been forthcoming. Recently, the work has been slowed because state appropriations have

Eagles Stretch Victory Streak To Six Straight

The undefeated and red-hot Franklin Eagles added victories five and six to their win skein this week, drubbing the Middlebush, A. C., 11-4, on Wednesday and the Bradley A. C., 10-0, on Monday. Monday's game saw hurler Tea Szabo realize a pitcher's dream as he set the Bradley team down with no hits in nine full innings. Szabo was in complete control throughout, allowing only four bases on balls while striking out 8. In addition, the husky little right hander collected two of his team's ten safeties. Every member of the Eagles' potent batting order collected at least one hit except third baseman Ewanowski. Longest hit was Gussis' triple. Szabo started Wednesday's tilt also, but was driven from the mound in the first inning when Middlebush went ahead, 3-0, on four hits. Masticola then took over for the winners and allowed only two hits and one run the rest of the way, gaining the win when the Eagles tied the score in the second and then erupted for seven rallies in the third. Reid and Smith divided the mound chores for Middlebush, the latter receiving the loss, although he struck out seven in his four inning stint. Masticola whiffed six.

Rockets Triumph In Overtime Tilt

The East Millstone Rockets, refusing to stay below the .500 mark in Somerset Interboro League play, won their third league game of the year Sunday by outlasting the FINDERNE Red Sox, last year's champs, to win, 9-7, in 14 innings. A home run by "Lefty" Felauer with George Paris aboard ended the three and a half hour struggle which featured two grand slam home runs and effective relief pitching by East Millstone's Dick Lazleky. Bill Ferguson started the game for the Rockets and Beltz began the chucking for FINDERNE, but neither were around at the finish. Ferguson left first in the eighth after allowing the Red Sox to tie the game at 7-7 in that frame. He was hit hard and often, allowing 12 hits and seven runs. The Rockets gave him a 1-0 lead in the second, but Schmidt of the visitors soon erased that advantage in the third by blasting a tremendous home run over the left field fence with the bases loaded. FINDERNE added another run in the fifth to lead 6-1, but the Rockets sliced that lead by garnering one run in the same inning, and went ahead, 6-5, when manager Paris blasted a four-run homer to left field and John Shedden came home on a steal. FINDERNE sent the game into extra innings in the eighth when Beltz doubled and came home on singles by DeGhetto and E. Bylin. Paris replaced Ferguson with Lazleky to start the ninth and his choice proved to be the right one as the latter turned in a sparkling relief job. The young left-hander, victim of three errors, two of which threatened to end the game in the tenth when DeGhetto reached third with one out, pitched himself out of every jam. Meanwhile, F. Bylin, who came on to pitch for the Red Sox in the twelfth inning was equally effective. The Rockets could threaten only once until Paris singled in the final frame and was brought home when Felauer blasted Bylin's first pitch over the right field barrier. The winners collected eleven hits. Three each went to Paris and Felauer, who batted in six runs together, and two more went to Vic Jensen who snapped out of a season-long batting slump with two singles, driving in two runs. The Rockets' next league game will be next Wednesday evening at 6 p. m., when the Possumtown nine will furnish the opposition at the East Millstone diamond.

HEALTH HINTS

Water Balance

Pure clear water is such a common commodity that most people take it for granted. Few appreciate its importance to human life or realize that it was not until fairly recently that mankind learned how to assure himself of an adequate supply of pure water.

Even today, some scientists are concerned over the possibility that the fresh water supply will not always be sufficient for the needs of the world. Experiments are constantly being made to find an easy, cheap way to convert sea water into fresh water so that it may be palatable for human beings and suitable for industrial uses.

We turn the water spigot on and off at will without a thought to the complicated system of pumping, piping, plumbing and purification each drop of water must go through before it reaches us.

The importance of water to the human being is highlighted by the fact that the human body itself is 70 percent water. Water is taken into the body in foods and liquids and is utilized in various ways. All the body cells are bathed in a fluid closely resembling water.

One of the uncanny mysteries of the human body is the manner in which it maintains its water balance. Normally, everyone adjusts his intake of water roughly to his needs. When our intake is excessive, the surplus is taken care of by an increased output, mainly through the kidneys. It is more common for us to have an insufficient water intake than an excess of it. A common expression nowadays when we are short of water, as a result of exercise or prolonged failure to drink any liquids is that we are "dehydrated". This means we are conscious of a thirst for water.

 carnivals appearing here in the summer months . . . He said that he is definitely opposed to them and wished that the township would issue no permits allowing them.
 Well, we don't wish to take issue with the chief on that score . . . We enjoy the carnival hurly-burly as a whole, but hate to see our friends get "clipped" at the gambling booths . . . Especially since most of them are youngsters who get into a hole and don't know when to quit.
 But the carnivals are very important to many beneficial community organizations, especially fire companies, which depend upon them for funds . . . Since the game of bingo was outlawed, such organizations have been extremely limited in finding a way to make money . . . And have been forced to rely more and more upon house-to-house canvasses . . . After all, what can you sponsor besides a dance or card party? . . . And how can you earn enough money that way to pay for an expensive and badly-needed fire truck for example?

 The solution? . . . The Millstone Valley Fire Company has substituted a public picnic for carnivals . . . That's one way . . . We'd personally like to see bingo come back, but the churches would undoubtedly exploit it right back out of existence.
 Added info; . . . Congrats to Ted Szabo, formerly our sports correspondent, who tossed a pitcher's dream, a no-hit baseball game Memorial Day . . . Thanks to Manville Hearts Club, which donated a trophy to the Interboro baseball league . . . A reprimand to those concerned in Middlebush who just couldn't find time to clean up the honor roll there before Monday . . . And thanks to you for reading this far.

Canal Water

 been slow in developing, but it is expected that they will be hastened considerably because of the widespread recent interest and the final signing of the Vogel bill. Cities and towns wishing to draw water from the canal will not have to wait for the project to be completed, however. New Brunswick has already applied for diversion and expects to begin operations soon. A pumping station will be built alongside the canal and the present filtration plant enlarged.
 Any municipality, industry, or individual wanting to divert canal water for treatment and human consumption or other purposes may do so after applying to the Water Policy and Supply Division for a permit.
 Dr. Nelson has estimated that the canal's capacity will be 75 million gallons at this end when completed. To make it so, the old canal engineering and mechanical structures must be repaired. Locks, bridges, and aqueducts are being rebuilt and the banks are being reinforced in the project.

BUTTON, BUTTON
 Who's got the button?

PLENTY MADE IN New Jersey

They served first as ornaments, then as early as the fifteenth century they were used as fasteners and since that time they have played a dual role. Throughout their long history, buttons have been fashioned from many materials or covered with the different fabrics that have been in fashion. They have been made of metal, of silver, of gold, of ivory (these are among the earliest on record) of wood and of pearl. They have sparkled with jewels and sometimes they have been cut from a single precious gem. Today, many of the most attractive buttons you see are made from the popular new plastics.
 With a flourishing ready-to-wear industry and close proximity to the metropolitan fashion center, New Jersey is a logical place to carry on the manufacture of buttons. This industry rates both its value of products and the value added by manufacture in the millions. Electricity performs many intricate and important manufacturing tasks.
