

Man, Unable To Pay Fine, Is Sent To Jail

A Franklin Township man, unable to pay a fine of $200 and $10 costs in township court Monday night was sent to the county jail until the fine could be paid in cash.

Leonard Schneider of 588 Waldorf St., convicted of driving while on the revoked list and without a license, tried to pay the $200 fine with several personal checks, which the court is not allowed to accept.

Schneider was sentenced last week but was given until Monday to raise the fine. Magistrate George Shamy told Schneider he had had ample time during the week to cash the checks.

Magistrate Shamy suspended for 60 days the driver's license of John E. Janho, 29, of Cedar Grove Rd., New Brunswick, for reckless driving. Janho was fined $20 and $5 costs.

He was summoned by Officer Naaman Williams after being involved in an accident. Janho was represented by Somerset Attorney Paul G. Fleisher.

Bart Visavati, 22, of Manville was fined $20 and $5 costs for having a noisy muffler on his car.

Visavati was summoned a week ago but failed to show up at last week's court session. The charge was preferred by Officer Charles Petrillo.

F. J. Hopps, 18, of 15 John St., New Brunswick, was fined $15 and $5 costs after being involved in an accident on Easton Ave. with W. V. Calvo, 30, of New Brunswick.

A careless driving charge against Calvo was dismissed. Officer Joseph Marica issued the summonses.

A fine of $15 and $5 costs was paid by Alex Berkes, 18, of Nixon for speeding 40 miles per hour in a 25 mile zone, preferred by Lt. Russell Pfeiffer.

The judge warned Berkes that he would lose his license if convicted of a similar complaint in the future.

Sentence was suspended against Aladar Michael Kiss, 30, of Mutchon for failing to have his registration in his possession. He was fined $5 court costs. Trooper J. Miller issued the summons.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kuhnt and Mr. and Mrs. August Mierzwa, both of DeMott Rd., were each given suspended sentences and fined $5 costs on disorderly persons charges.

James Johnson of 681 Somerset St., Franklin Township, was given a suspended sentence and fined $5 court costs for causing a disturbance. The complainant was Officer James Brown.

A complaint was dismissed against Jack Glazer of DeMott Lane, Middlebush, for allowing his dog to run at large without a wice muzzle. Mrs. Betty Fussel, also of DeMott Lane, was the complainant.

Township Talk

Merchants in the East Franklin area would be smart to reserve space in the proposed shopping center instead of trying to fight it off, because it is bound to come sooner or later, and when it does, it will help, not hurt their business.

Most of us here in Franklin earn our living outside the township and bring the money home, but we don't keep it here very long. The bulk of our earnings have to be spent outside the township, simply because there are not the goods and services we need in Franklin.

A good shopping center would not only help our money to circulate in the township, but would attract shoppers with their money from outside. It would give employment to local people and bring customers to local merchants.

Naturally, a shopping center on the edge of the township would bring in more outside money than one deep in the heart of Franklin. The Hamilton Road section is the natural business area of the township because of its proximity to New Brunswick. Modern shopping centers, clean-cut and with plenty of parking space around them, do no harm to the residential values a reasonable distance from them.

Needless to say, having 25 acres devoted to something that pays taxes but doesn't have children in school would be a welcome relief to the school system and the homeowners.

There could be as many as 75 or 80 homes on that land. Merchants might envision that many more customers as a blessing, but they would be residents and would have to pay real estate taxes, and the more money people pay out in taxes, the less they have left for buying things.

More and more people are realizing here in Franklin that we should hold the line on lot sizes, and not "down-zone" any more land. But this is different. The pressure for business zones is not going to let up, and we might as well put them where they will do us the most good.

The police do have their fun. On Tuesday Mrs. Edgar Slack of Elizabeth Ave., reported to them that her prize boxer was missing. Two hours later Officer Joe Bekarian was summoned by Mrs. D. London of Weston School House Rd. because a dog had fallen into

The proposed shopping center, knocked down by the township committee last year, has bobbed up again on the other side of Hamilton Road in an application placed before the Planning Board Wednesday evening.

L. Clinton Kelper, representing the Grand Union Company, presented to the board a plot plan for a 15-acre development on the Adrian property at the corner of Hamilton Road and Hawthorne Drive. The development would include a supermarket and other stores with a total of 50,000 feet of floor space. The map also showed possible development of the tract on the other side of the road on which the company has options.

The entire development showed space for parking 750 cars. On the Hawthorne Drive side of the road, the property has a frontage of 510 feet on Hamilton Road and 504 feet on Hawthorne Drive.

As the property is in a Class A residential section it would have to be rezoned, or a variance would have to be granted by the Board of Adjustment before plans could be given further consideration.

The Planning Board denied a preliminary approval to plans submitted by John Roaman, New Brunswick realtor, for a 30-acre development of the old Krus farm off Lincoln Highway between Benettes and Skilman Lane, because all necessary requirements had not been met.

Mr. Roaman was told he would have to readvertise for a hearing.

The area is in an agricultural zone and the proposed lots were 290 by 200 feet, with a horsehoe road leading into the development from Lincoln Highway. A number of neighbors were on hand for the hearing which had to be called off for lack of percolation tests, topographical map and other information.

Abe Simon, developer of Somerset Hills, was unable to get his performance bond of $57,000 approved for construction of pavement, curbs and gutters, sidewalk, storm sewer, markers and street signs, because the board told him he had neglected some requirements including mention of trees and restoring of top soil. The board would take no action until it could discuss the matter with Township Attorney Robert Gaynor.

Permission was given to Anna Balls to sell one lot of 100 by 200 feet to Harry Jackson on condition that a seven-foot strip be dedicated to the township for future widening of Amwell Road.

Housing Plans Altered

The Housing Authority's architects have made changes in its preliminary plans for the 50-apartment unit public housing development to be constructed between Hamilton Street and Somerset Street. It was reported at the committee's meeting Tuesday.

The change, being made because the Authority's population survey made in July showed the need for more of the larger apartments, calls for 18 two-bedroom apartments and 20 three-bedroom instead of vice versa.

Plans for 6 four-bedroom apartments and 8 one-bedroom will not be changed.

Present plans call for contracts to be awarded by Jan. 31, 1957.

Mrs. Elizabeth Niebyl, executive director of the Authority, reported receiving $11,325 in "annual contribution funds" from the U. S. Public Housing Administration. From this money the Authority repaid a $3,000 loan to PHA for initial expenses.

Annual contribution funds will be used by the Authority until the development's almost built. It will then rely on money received from a sale of bonds.

"Will it attract them? We be-real estate and other fields have lieve so. Experts from banking, pronounced it "a tremendously effective promotion piece". Its sixteen pages of pictures and text point out every conceivable major advantage our Township offers. It also refers to our strict commercial zoning plans to keep our community clean, uncrowded and an even better place in which we can raise our children. Already

'Let's Keep Progress,' Sicora Tells Residents

Charles Sicora, member of the Township Committee and Republican candidate for re-election, authorized for publication the following statement on planning, zoning and the township's prosperity and progress under the present administration:

"Franklin Township is now safely embarked upon a bold and future-minded program. The results which are now being enjoyed, in terms of orderly progress and the smooth integration of population increases even greater than the national average, may be traced to plans made at the beginning of your present township administration, and to the several boards and commissions which under the committee's guidance have helped execute these plans.

"It is my sincere belief that citizens who have watched the local scene carefully will want to keep the progress that has been made to keep the ball rolling. In the brief space at my disposal, I shall try to spell out a few of the accomplishments that have made this healthy situation possible.

"First, it is only fair that I try to answer one of the points raised by my opponent, the Democratic candidate. I welcome his questions, for if by my answers more light can be shed on the true facts, our township can continue on its present sound course.

"A puzzling charge made by the Democratic candidate, is to the effect that 'due to past failure to plan this community must remain largely a residential community.' This remark is a very subtle one. Because it implies that your present township government is not doing anything to attract industry to the area. Again the opposite is true. The recent brochure which was just issued by the Industrial Development Commission (and prepared largely with the help of donated professional services) has as its title, 'Best Location In The Nation—The Heart of Mainline, USA,' and is being sent to choice companies at lover America in an effort to induce a few carefully selected research-type or light industry establishments to settle here in carefully zoned areas located that Franklin's residential quality as well as financial growth will be improved.

Scouts Give Call For Broken Toys

A discarded toy drive will be conducted tomorrow morning in the Pine Grove Manor section by Girl Scout Troop 130 of Pine Grove School.

Broken and discarded toys collected from residents will be turned over to the township welfare director, Mrs. May Hobbs. Mrs. Hobbs now is looking for an organization to repair the toys in time for Christmas delivery.

Church Women Slate 2 Projects

Following the precepts of Jesus, the United Church Women of New Brunswick will conduct two campaigns this fall to feed the hungry and clothe the naked.

Using the Halloween custom of "Trick or Treat," the women have requested children of their churches to collect pennies, nickels and dimes for the United Nations Children's Fund, to help feed starving children of many nations.

Last year this effort, spearheaded by the United Church Women, with the cooperation of the Council of Churches, the University Women, and some schools and synagogues, netted over $1,800 for hungry children of the world. The Church Women hope to double last year's collection.

The second project will be to collect usable old clothing, especially woollens, for distribution overseas by Church World Service. Twelve centrally located large stores have been chosen as places where people may leave the clothing.

This project will be conducted from Nov. 2 to 9.

The United Church Women, a branch of the Greater New Brunswick Council of Churches, have memberships in 40 churches in the area stretching from South River to Middlebush and from Franklin Park to Nixon and Piscataway Township.

'Why Do People Put Up With Conditions?', Lisi

"What the people don't know won't hurt the township officials seems to be the motto in Franklin," Michael A. Lisi, Democratic candidate for Township Committee, declared in a release issued recently.

His views continue: "We were told some months back that Franklin was not going to get any money at all from the state this year for road construction. The official explanation was that our township had had state assistance several years in a row, and now it was time for some other municipality to have it. This explanation was patently untrue, because now we are told that state formula fund money has been allocated and that it will be used to start paving DeMott Road.

"We are all glad that this much-traveled road has been chosen as the next to be paved, as the residents and others who have to use it have suffered long enough. But one wonders why it couldn't have been done before it got close to election time. Can it be that the county officials are running as scared as is the local candidate of the crowd now in control?"

"Pretty soon now your road will get its pre-election scraping, but don't let it get you—you'll likely wait until just before next year's election to get any more attention. If our present group of officials have their way.

"How many of the township's citizens have driven over the township's best road? Very few, I dare say, because it happens to be in one of the least populated areas of the township. There are all of five houses on its three mile stretch. It was built with the state road money of the past several years, and has been named by the local farmers Van Cleef Parkway. And guess who owns most of the land on this beautiful road.

"A week ago, on a Sunday afternoon, when Sunday drivers were out in force, I flew over this area for an hour and a half, and in that time saw all of three cars drive the length of the road. I made some pictures from the air which will be shown to the people of the township some time before election day. That road's a sight for sore eyes, and compared with one such as Wilson Road, where there are houses as far as the eye can see, children walking to school, and mothers bumping their baby carriages over it, it's quite a contrast.

"Those of us who lived in Franklin three years ago will remember that my opponent made it clear that he was going to try to change the control of the 'old guard,' and the chief plank in his platform was ROADS. Well, the roads are no better now than they were when my opponent was elected, and the township has gained at least 5,000 residents in that time.

"According to the freeholders' press release a million-dollar road rebuilding program for the county has been scheduled, but only one road in Franklin is to benefit from this. Will our Township Committee spend some of its energy securing a larger share of these funds, or will they continue to spend the energy trying to pacify the people with empty promises?"

"Why do the people have to put up with these conditions? No one will ever know as long as there is a united front on the Township Committee. Only with a two-party system in our township will the governing body get a real mandate from the people to bring things out in the open. I feel the 'open decisions openly arrived at' are the most necessary to give us a clean, efficient government, and if elected to the Township Committee I will insist on just that in road plans as in other business of the township."

TELL US YOUR PROBLEM

BY JOHN and JANE STRICKLAND

HERE is how the late Hayden Sparkes, popular magazine writer, and author of several books, solved a family problem. His eldest child Betty asked her thumb, that popular practice learned by mothers and on which users, Raguette, babies and three-year-old children start her thumb sucking. Betty went right to enjoying herself in an age-old way.

One day Hayden took her to the New York Central Park where they saw an animal show where unknown to Betty. "What's that," the ugly creature. "That's called her father," Betty said to her mother. "Oh," Betty didn't like him and turned to get closer to her father before she took another look. Then, "What's the matter with his

"A sudden inspiration, such as comes to parents now and then: "He sucked his thumb when he was little."

"They went on to the next cage of animals, without another word about thumb-sucking nor another question about Hippo. Several times that afternoon Hayden saw his small daughter start her thumb upward toward her mouth, but each time she jerked it back. From that day on he never again saw her thumb in her mouth. There was no longer any danger of marring the beauty that remained with her to the years to come.

Hayden Sparkes solved his family problem by killing the thumb of his little daughter to put her thumb in her mouth.

For better results, finished finished gourds should cure slowly, and it is not uncommon for those in the Logansport group to be allowed to cure six months or a year.

On the other hand, the Cucurbita (Cucurbit) that have thick skin should be gathered before the first frost, but the rinds should be dried and stems should have this dried in sun. They usually hold their bright color three or four months, then fade.

BUT YELN-SHEELED or thick, handle your gourds carefully, as bruises will sooner or later disfigure and cause softening and decay.

If you wash your gourds to remove pollen will be sure to wipe them dry with a clean cloth before curing them.

her swimming pool and couldn't get out.

That's right, it was Fido. Joe took him home.

Seems Fido has a college degree from a canine college at—of all places—Princeton—but swimming wasn't in the curriculum.

A volunteer land army is needed to seed the Pine Grove School grounds Saturday and Sunday morning. Any takers?

That meeting with the Township Committee and the Millstone Bus Line operators doesn't seem to have come off yet. Purpose will be to explore with the township attorney the terms of a franchise to see if something can be done about getting more buses.

Right now there's no bus at all in the late evening, and none Sunday afternoon. Bus people claim they can't afford to run empty buses, but on the other hand they have a franchise which calls for giving the people service.

Rumor has it that Public Service is interested in the franchise, but we couldn't get anything official on it.

It didn't take long for us to get a brickbat heaved in our general direction after those comments about school architects hit the stands. Seems that if we should get hold of some plans without paying for them the architects' union looms, pardon—association, because they wear suit coats to work) would plecter us, or the equivalent thereof.

Or actually, we are told, no reputable architect would supervise construction, which on a job of that size would have to be done.

Well, we aren't giving up. Why couldn't those salaried architects supervise too? Of course this is a real gone pipe dream.

Our faithful readers may have noted that the RECORD is by and large ignoring the reams of mimeographed copy from both camps in the freeholder race.

This is a hometown paper, and first claim on space goes to local items, because we think you'd rather read about what your neighbors are doing.

We are perfectly ready to admit that our readers can occasionally glance at a city daily paper and get it all there.

The RECORD takes no stand on political candidates, and it wouldn't occur to us to tell anyone how to vote, believing, as we do, that it's our obligation to provide information and that people have sense enough to make up their own minds.

We will print in full any state-

Dems, GOP Trade Punches

As a prelude to the election, the Republicans had their annual $50-a-plate dinner last night at Bar Hills Inn, with Army Secretary Wilbur M. Brucker as speaker.

Democrats will have their annual affair, with Gov. Robert B. Meyner as guest speaker, Wednesday, Oct. 17, but there will be no fund-raising. Tickets will sell for only $3.50.

THE TWO CANDIDATES for county freeholder, Republican incumbent C. I. Van Cleeef and Democratic challenger Mrs. Eleanor R. Rowe, swapped punches all week with Mrs. Rowe investigating the roads and bridges, special charge of "the squire," as Mrs. Rowe terms her opponent, for many years. Van Cleeef strated the week by advising Mrs. Rowe through the press that he would give her a copy of the bridge survey, so she could save her time and stockings by not having to crawl under the bridges. Mrs. Rowe promptly went to the county engineer's office to get her copy and was told, she says, that no such publication existed.

Mrs. Rowe, at a press conference, produced photographs to show that the county is maintaining at public expense a bridge located on private property. County Engineer Donald Silres retorted that the bridge was built in 1827 with county funds and that Somerset is obligated to maintain it, even if the roads on either side of the bridge are closed.

NEXT MR. VAN CLEEef challenged Mrs. Rowe to "quit trying to confuse the voters and leave the parks referendum out of her campaign." Mrs. Rowe denied the first part of the request and declined the second on the grounds that the Democrats had started the agitation for a county park system in the first place, and therefore had an obligation to discuss the terms of the referendum. She reiterated that voters needed only to vote on the first part of the three-part question to set in motion the machinery to start a park system.

The Republicans completed plans for a county-wide drive to enlist the support of labor, and will send representatives to the Mercer County Labor League dinner Oct. 10 and the Labor Division of the Citizens for Eisenhower group of New Jersey on Oct. 28.

Meanwhile, the Volunteers for Stevenson are opening their Somerset County headquarters in Somerville tonight. Frankline Dr. Morgan Upton is county chairman of the organization which is seeking to pin the Adlai button on Democrats, Republicans and Independents alike.

It was reported that Mrs. Rowe had a few more acres up her sleeve and that she was planning to swear out a complaint on some allegedly unsanitary conditions in the road department installation just across the river from Franklin.

Inquiries are coming in and being answered.

"The appointed officials are largely of new blood. There are many appointed ones who serve voluntarily and without compensation, on the several boards and commissions set up by the Township Committee. These voluntary citizens are chosen for two reasons: ability and availability.

"All of them, elected or appointed, make up a pretty fair cross-section of the Township. Some belong to families rooted here for generations—some moved in last year. Some of them are employees—some employers. Some work locally, some commute. Some are Republicans, some Independents, and some are Democrats who place their community's needs above partisan politics.

"The meeting of these groups are not hidden. They are as follows: Planning Board, 1st Wednesday of the month; Board of Adjustment, 3rd Thursday; Industrial Commission, 3rd Wednesday; Recreation Committee, 4th Tuesday; Shade Tree Commission as yet hasn't set a date. Remember, these meetings are all held at Township Hall.

"I will continue next week with what I mean about 'Let's Keep The Progress!'"
