

Spies Held For Grand Jury Action

Accused wife-slayer John Spies, 41, was ordered held for county grand jury action Monday night by Magistrate George Shamy, who refused to consider Spies' attorney's application to set bail for the defendant. The husband was represented in court by Myron L. Levy of Somerville.

Spies is charged with killing his wife, Stella, 44, with a shotgun blast Thursday in the couple's home on Elizabeth Avenue. The couple had three children.

POLICE CHIEF Ed Voorhees said Spies admitted the shooting but told police it was an accident. The husband told police he found Joseph Foohey, 37, of Marlton, music supervisor in the township schools, in a bedroom closet, ran for his shotgun, and confronted Foohey and his wife with the gun. According to Chief Voorhees, Spies said the gun accidentally went off, blasting Mrs. Spies in the throat.

Mrs. Spies was buried Tuesday morning at Franklin Memorial Park in North Brunswick. According to a spokesman at the county jail, the husband asked permission to attend the funeral but was turned down.

The accused lover, Foohey, who was released in $4,000 bail as a material witness, submitted his resignation to the Board of Education which accepted it Wednesday night without comment.

AT SPIES' preliminary hearing Monday night, Lt. Russell Pfeiffer gave the following account of the affair:

Spies returned to his home during the day to pick up a compressed gas tank in the cellar and heard noises coming from rooms above him. Spies picked up his shotgun, put a shell in it, and went upstairs and into the rear bedroom.

He found Foohey in a closet and held his wife and the music teacher at gun-point. Pfeiffer said Spies admitted pulling the trigger but the lieutenant did not hear him say anything about it being accidental.

Following the hearing, Spies was returned to the county jail.

Oross Opposes Lower Hamilton Street Rezoning

Mayo Sisler, Democratic candidate for Township Committee, Wednesday night at the adjourned Planning Board meeting asked Planning Consultant Eugene Oross his views on the rezoning of lower Hamilton Street. Sisler had not received an answer two weeks ago when he asked the board if they had not ignored the advice of their paid consultant in rezoning both sides of the street from residential to business.

Oross replied, without qualification, "I opposed rezoning both sides."

Ground Is Broken At Site Of 50-Unit Housing Project

Ground was broken Saturday at the site of the 50-unit low rent housing project off Millstone Road, between Somerset and Hamilton Streets. Speaking at the ceremonies was County Assemblyman William E. Ozzard and Mayor James G. Maher, who both described the ground breaking as an important step in an expanding program to meet the township's present and future needs.

The Rev. G. Clifton Woodling, (former Housing Authority member, delivered the invocation. Mrs. Elizabeth Niebyl, executive director of the Housing Authority, described the project, due for completion within a year.

Mrs. Niebyl predicted that hundreds of families would benefit from the housing project in its anticipated 40-year life. A park site is included in the project.

David Davies, field representative of the Urban Redevelopment Administration, praised the new housing project and pointed out the importance of the township's recently approved urban redevelopment program.

Russell Laird, Housing Authority chairman, presided. The invocation was given by Rev. Woodling.

'Zoning Laws Inadequate,' Declare Dem Candidates

"The problem of proper zoning and the correct approach to rezoning is so important to every citizen," Michael Peacos and Mayo A. Sisler said in a release today, "that we feel justified in taking two weeks of our campaign time to stress the inadequacies of our zoning laws and to suggest some possible remedies for them." Peacos and Sisler are Democratic candidates for Township Committee.

"It is true that we are campaigning," they said, "but we are citizens before we are politicians. Our homes and our families are here in Franklin, and we are deeply interested in seeing Franklin Township run in the best possible way. If any suggestions we made could be adopted by the administration as their own, we would still be content, because it doesn't matter who does a good thing as long as it gets done," said the candidates.

The Planning Board Wednesday night was assailed by a crowd of concerned citizens, some sixty strong, who came to oppose the Board's proposed rezoning of some 800 acres of agricultural land to residential. Albert Milchanowski, acting chairman in the absence of Wendell Forbes, got the ball rolling with the announcement that the board had not received a final report from the zoning committee on the proposed rezoning of an area bounded by residence A district along Hamilton Road, DeMott Lane, Easton and West Point Avenues. The board at that point intended to postpone discussion of the matter until the next regular meeting, but a question on the reason the board was considering the rezoning raised by a spectator, Mrs. Walter Gartner of Rt. 27, touched off more than two hours of heated debate.

B of E Appoints Unit To Study Bus Problem

Irate citizens, about fifty of them, again jammed the Board of Education meeting in Kingston School Monday night to demand that safety hazards to school children be eliminated by transporting pupils on school buses within the presently used two mile limit. Don Fory of Cortelyou La., speaking for a recently formed transportation committee which met last Friday, recommended a special election to decide the issue, urged that all children except those who had sidewalks all the way to school be transported, and asked that the township assume part of the cost of chartered buses in the meantime.

Chairman of the Board Leonard Bardsley explained that the reassignment of pupils on the opening of new schools had resulted in fewer buses in certain areas, particularly Middlebush, and as a consequence, fewer courtesy riders within the two mile limit. The cost of school buses for some 800 elementary students is now about $75,000 annually. Bardsley continued, estimating that transporting another 1,300 to 1,400 students would double the cost.

"THE ADDITIONAL amount would be almost 10 per cent of the total school budget and represents the cost of three classrooms or more than the pay of 15 teachers annually," said Bardsley.

The chairman recommended the appointment of a lay committee to define the problem and offer solutions with cost and practicality in mind. The committee will be made up of representatives selected by the following organizations: all township PTA's with two representatives from each, volunteer fire companies, Millstone Valley and Somerset granges, the Pine Grove Cooperative Apartments, Griggstown, Hollywood Homes, Georgetown, Sheffield Park-Franklin Hills, and Kingston homeowners and improvements associations, the Civic Betterment Association, Franklin Club, Lions, Township Committee, and five representatives from the transportation committee appointed last week and represented by Fory.

The committee will be asked to submit its solution to the board within thirty days of their first meeting. Board member Walter Campbell alone voted against the proposal and explained that he believed that the committee formed last week should select its own members.

LOUIS LOEB of Amwell Rd. said that a committee was not Milchanowski explained that in his opinion water and sewage problems in the township were "very bad", that rezoning to Residence A would permit building on 100 by 100 foot lots, thus inducing developers to build in the area and bring water and sewerage facilities with them.

"WHAT ABOUT schools?" Mrs. Gartner inquired. "Rezoning that area would affect everyone in this township. Taxes would double. Only the people at meetings get their opinions heard. Why can't the people vote on this?"

Milchanowski replied, "Individual homes are causing the trouble, not the project", and was met with jeers and "Whys" from the spectators. He went on to explain that the proposed rezoning would benefit the township in getting sewage and water facilities.

Herbert Wheeler of the DeMott Lane area, asked how he would benefit. "I already have private sewerage and water facilities and an acre of land", Wheeler said. "We don't have residential zoning and we don't want it," he said.

LOUIS LOEB of Amwell Rd. gained the floor to state, "I don't see how you can justify compounding a difficult situation. You will gorge the schools, lower the standards of education, and overburden the taxpayers. Zoning laws are meant to promote orderly development of the township. When you permit a sudden influx of homes, township facilities are overtaxed creating chaos. How can the individual members of the Planning

Both the Democratic and Republican parties have candidates running for tax assessor. It is to the interest of party unity for each organization to support its candidate. Though some members of both parties favor a board of part time tax assessors over the present full time job, they are reluctant to say so since support of the change might be considered lack of endorsement of the party candidate for the fulltime job.

Beyond the scenes, however, taxpayers are asking why neither candidate took the short course on real estate assessment at Rutgers this summer. They are also asking if the candidates, Republican Ed Carleton and Democrat Bill Hughes, intend to give up their businesses if they win the election in November. Neither candidate has declared this to be his intention, though the office is a full time one, paying $5,000 annually.

Independent voters will have an opportunity to decide in November if they think a part time board of tax assessors is preferable to the present system. It is unlikely that Board even consider such a proposition?" asked Loeb. His remarks were met with enthusiastic applause from the audience.

Another spectator, Frank Willard of Arden St., declared, "The Board is ill-advised to consider downgrading zoning restrictions without laws to protect the present taxpayers in the township," and suggested that the Planning Board postpone decisions until safeguards had been made into law.

"Is it not true," Mrs. Richard Farnham of Olcott St. asked, "that the Jersey Development Corporation announced months ago that they would build 2,000 homes in the area in question?" Mrs. Farnham referred to the fact that 2,000 houses could not be built under the agricultural zoning regulations now in effect.

WHEELER AGAIN interposed the idea that public water and sewerage facilities were not necessary on one acre lots.

Maya Sisler, Democratic candidate for Township Committee, asked the board members if they had consulted the Princeton firm studying a master zoning plan of the township, and received a negative reply from Milchanowski.

Sisler said, "The Jersey Development Corporation has offered so much money from each house they build for the construction of schools. Does this have any connection at all with the rezoning of land which they own or hold options on? Will we get the money if the zoning regulations continue to require an acre and one sixth for each house? Actually we have no assurance of anything," Sisler charged.

Planning Board member, Dr. Lyle Hagmann, replied, "Not unless you want to take Senator Lynch's word." State Senator John Lynch is a representative of the JDC and has met with the Board of Education in a closed meeting to make a voluntary offer of money for school construction. The amount offered is not known publicly.

SISLER COUNTERED, "Set up a system of building fees for school construction. The developer of many homes should not be discriminated against any more than the individual. The longer we wait, the worse it's going to be," said Sisler. "I suggested building fees six months ago and nothing has been done about it. Other communities are protecting the taxpayers this way, why can't we?" he asked. Sisler then offered Hagmann "all the material you need" to set up such an ordinance.

Milchanowski in answer to a question from the audience stated that it was very possible that JDC was not aware of the acre and one sixth zoning requirement in land which they had purchased for development. Spectator William Kohli then asked if JDC had not a quarter with which to buy a copy of the zoning ordinance.

"Dr. Morgan Upton, head of the Department of Psychology at Rutgers University, asked members of the board what they considered to be the "continuing advantages in the township of rezoning to quarter acre lots."

HAGMANN MENTIONED the doubled population of the township since 1850, strip building along existing roads and highways, and the advantages of "orderly development on 100 by 100 foot lots." He stated, "there are two wrong answers—individual strip building and mass development. The latter is the least wrong since it would allow control of developers and would not be haphazard," said Hagmann.

"I cannot accept that as a useful explanation," Upton protested. "Undesirable strip building is preferable to 2,000 homes in one development." Loeb carried the ball from there asking the Board, "Have you gone to Long Island? Have you analyzed the problems of towns which have sprung up overnight? Moreover, strip building would continue regardless of 2,000 homes."

Paul Miller of DeMott La., declared, "We came to Franklin Township to live in a rural area with all its advantages to our children. I don't want a city across the street from me."

WILLARD THEN asked permission to make a few general remarks on the same subject. "There is not the same market for homes on an acre," said Willard, "as there is for homes on 100 by 100 foot lots. The fact remains that development overtaxing township facilities would be more rapid on one quarter acre lots than on lots four times as big. . . . The amount of money offered by JDC for school construction is pertinent to the question of rezoning. Can the people know this amount before rezoning is discussed again? . . . What is the school board considering about the offer from JDC? The offer is not to the school board but to the taxpayers of the township," Willard stated. Loeb then interjected, "Why should the school board hesitate to accept a free gift?"

Upton then declared that there was an "implied possibility of a contingent" to the JDC offer of money. "A quid pro quo" is involved by implication," he continued, "else why not accept the offer?"

AUGUST GREISS read a letter from the Georgetown Improvement Association protesting the proposed rezoning. "Compromising the zoning ordinance is not the only way to bring water and sewerage facilities into the township," Greiss said. "There is no sewage problem on lots of an acre or more. . . . Rezoning 800 acres to residential would result in an overpowering burden on taxpayers. Houses in developments do not pay their way in taxes," the resident emphasized.

Thomas Brady of 217 Park St., quoting from the "Municipal Zoning Enabling Act," said, "Twenty per cent of the owners on any side of an area proposed for rezoning can petition the governing body of the township in opposing the rezoning. The governing body must then muster a two-thirds majority (a four-fifths majority in Franklin Township where there are five men on the governing body) to put the rezoning into effect."

Brady's remarks were met with enthusiastic applause. Applause again followed the comments of Abram Snyder who said that statistics showed that 11 schools the size of Pipe Grove Manor School, 122 rooms would have to be built to accommodate children from the rezoned 800 acres assuming maximum development. "Can this be balanced by free sewers, roads, and water?" he asked, "and all for 800 lousy acres?"

HAROLD SCHEINHAUS of Hillywood Homes, read a letter urging passage of a proposed ordinance to promote cooperation between Township Committee, Planning Board, and Board of Education in preventing a flood of housing developments from overtaxing school facilities.

From The Mailbag

Dear Editor:

I am writing with regard to the article entitled "zoning Big Tople at SRO Meeting" which was published in the Sept. 13 edition of the RECORD. This article appeared on page one and continued on page twelve. In particular, I refer you to the paragraph which reads as follows:

Mrs. Tybor said, "We can't," while disgruntled spectators were heard muttering that some of the walking demonstrators at Middlebush School had two or three cars in garages. Committeeman Casimir Calvo offered to do his best to have policemen at the intersections before and after school today.

I am Mrs. William Tybor and am writing this letter in protest. I wish to state here and now that I was misquoted in the article and feel that a correction should be published. If the author of the article was present at the meeting, he or she would have heard the rest of my statement, which was "We can't because our car insurance doesn't cover our carrying children to school." To elaborate further, we cannot transport children to school as we are not licensed public carriers.

Since Saturday, I have been deluged with phone calls from neighbors and subscribers to the RECORD with regards to this article, and particularly with regard to this paragraph. I have no objection to being correctly quoted in the paper, but I strongly object to anyone printing incomplete information which casts an entirely different meaning to my original statement.

I am sure this was not done intentionally, but nevertheless feel that a public announcement correcting this glaring error should be forthcoming. I shall appreciate it very much if you kindly acknowledge this letter.

Very Truly Yours,

necessary. "There is only one question," he declared. "Do the voters want to pay the transportation bill for children living within the two mile limit?"

Board member Mrs. William Patison stated that the easiest solution for the board would be to put the question on the ballot, but that the board was forming a committee to aid the people desiring unlimited transportation to schools to find the best solution and to get the approval of a majority of the voters.

In other business, the board announced the reemployment of Sam Tornello as transportation officer at an annual salary of $4,200. Tornello had withdrawn the resignation he submitted earlier this month. The question of time off for overtime hours put in by the transportation officer will be studied. Mrs. Ethel Felchero was hired as manager of the Phillips School cafeteria at a salary of $1,500 annually. The board is authorized to hire a helper in the cafeteria for two hours a day at $1.05 per hour.

THE BOARD recommended Asiatic flu shots for all school personnel and asked Mrs. Florence Randolph, board secretary, to consult the school physician, Dr. Samuel Sklar. John Hanson, public health officer, recommended that third polo shots for township children be administered in October.

Nettie Davis was hired as assistant janitor at the Pine Grove Manor School at a salary of $3,000.

Board member Joseph Takacs recommended that a full time clerk typist be hired to do cafeteria records, as planned for a part time job, and that she assist Mrs. Randolph in clerical duties the remainder of the time. The annual salary approved by a unanimous vote of the board will be $3,120. Board member Arthur Westneat expressed the hope that this would cut Mrs. Randolph's work week from 70 to 50 hours.

INDIVIDUAL TRANSPORTATION

bids were awarded as follows: Mrs. Priscilla Panitierre, $525, from the Franklin Boulevard area to the Lincoln School in New Brunswick, and John H. Van Cleef, $915, to Pine Grove Manor School until Elizabeth Avenue school opens.

Miss Dorothy Weinstein was hired to teach at a salary of $3,700.

because of insufficient acreage, asked why the owner of another lot of the same size in the same division had received a permit and had already dug his cellar. Planning Board member and Township Clerk Fred Bascom replied that he did not issue building permits and that the entire subdivision was being studied. Preliminary approval was given for the subdivision five years ago, seven houses had been built, but final approval was never granted.

Thomas Brady of 217 Park St. pointed out that maps submitted with the application of J. Stepanenko for a major subdivision on 9th St. and Walnut Ave. did not conform to the zoning ordinance. Action on the application was held over until submission of a proper map.

She had a B. S. degree from Douglass College. The resignation of first grade teacher Miss Marie Burke and of music instructor Joseph Fochey were accepted. The annual salary of Mrs. Mildred Wright was changed from $4,850 to $5,000 because of her completion of professional courses. Marilyn A. Walsh and Arthur Liebmann were hired as substitute teachers. Nine teachers at the Franklin Park school petitioned the board in favor of the appointment of Jack Rieur to the principalship of the school. Rieur, the tenth teacher and acting principal at the school, did not sign the petition.

THE BOARD agreed to send another letter to Ajax Associates asking for a meeting with Abe Simon of the firm, board members, and the township engineer for a discussion of the alleged removal of topsoil from school property by the Ajax Company.

The Hollywood Homeowners' Association submitted a letter urging the board to consider a proposed ordinance to limit large housing projects and to promote cooperation between the school and planning boards of the township. The planning committee, headed by Dr. Lyle Hagmann, had no report to make but was expected to meet this week. Hagmann suggested that the operations and procedures of the board be revised in order to return to standing committees from the present committees of the whole. The matter will be discussed in the latter.

The board will hold a public meeting Monday for bids on the construction of the Franklin Park School and any other matters that may come up.

PTA To Discuss Bus Problems

The executive board of the Middlebush P.T.A. announced this week that the subject for discussion at the first regular meeting, on Tuesday will be school bus transportation. Program chairman Mrs. Alex Naruta stated that the program, "Shall we ride them or walk them?" will feature a panel discussion with questions invited from the audience.

The panel of experts will include Mayor James Maher, Board of Education member Arthur Westneat, Police Chief Ed Voorhees, citizens' transportation chairman D. C. Forry, County P.T.A. President Mrs. Robert Gullfoyle, and Orville G. Parrish, state coordinator of transportation, State Department of Education. Alex Naruta of Amwell Rd. will moderate the discussion.

Homeroom mother chairman Mrs. John McKeon announced that her group will meet Friday evening at the home of P.T.A. president, Mrs. Lyle Hagmann.

Industrial Unit Lauded by CBA

The Board of Directors of the Civic Betterment Association Tuesday night applauded efforts of the Industrial Development Commission to attract industry to Franklin. A joint meeting of the two groups was held to explain the aims, purposes, and activities of the commission, which has been in operation one and a half years.

Commission chairman Alex Katchen described a brochure explaining the advantages of the township for industrial development and praised Robert Smoek and the McCann, Ericson Agency of New York for their efforts in making the brochure.

Katchen also reported that advertisements had been placed in the Wall Street Journal to point out the desirability of the township for location of industry. The commission was instrumental in bringing the Seaboard Supply Company, now under construction on Somerset Street, to Franklin, said Katchen.

The directors of CBA congratulated the commissioners on their efforts "in the herculean task of opening the door to industry" in the township, and particularly mentioned the small $4,000 budget with which the commission has to work.

PTA Mulls Over Year's Activities

The executive board of Kingston P.T.A. on Laurel Ave. met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. A. S. Westneat, president. Possible projects and programming for the year were discussed.

The board will meet at the home of the treasurer, Mrs. Haakon Hendricksen of Griggstown, Tuesday at 8 p.m. Anyone interested in working with the parents and teachers during the coming year is invited to attend and learn what P.T.A. can do for the school and community.

The regular P.T.A. meeting will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 1 at 8 p.m.

Township Talk

any well qualified person would devote full time to a job paying only $3,000. Other townships, however, have found able and well qualified men to work only part time on a board of tax assessors. Thoughtful citizens are urging that the recent property appraisal in Franklin be kept up to date by an efficient board of tax assessors.

The Township Committee last week postponed a final decision on the Lassara Bakery application for a variance recommended by the Board of Adjustment despite heated protest from residents of the area and others interested in the strict enforcement of zoning regulations. As the postponement was announced, many in the audience of nearly 100 people were heard to grumble that the committee didn't have the nerve to rule on the question before such a large audience.

Tom Brady, a member of the Civic Betterment Association and a persistent and convincing proponent of strict zoning enforcement, said they would probably wait for a blizzard with only two people in the audience to make the decision. Tom swears he'll be there, however, if it takes a pack of huskies pulling a dog sled.

Last Saturday the Newark Star Ledger saw fit to print derogatory remarks allegedly made by County Prosecutor Leon Gerofsky, and later denied by him, concerning Franklin's outstanding Police Chief Ed Voorhees. So often we tend to forget great debt we owe to men of the high calibre of Chief Voorhees in their devotion to public service, until such a spurious, and perhaps politically inspired, attack as that in the Ledger comes to our attention.

So many people have praised the chief's handling of delicate matters and his long devotion to Franklin, though the praise hasn't found its way to print. We thought perhaps, you'd like to pay him tribute, as we do.
