

Honesty-Affidavit Regulation Is Passed By Planning Board

The Planning Board Wednesday night passed by a 4-3-1 vote a measure requiring all board members to sign an affidavit denying any personal or financial connection with persons filing for a major subdivision on which the individual board member votes.

Board members opposing the measure were Lyle Hagmann, new chairman of the group, Frank Jones, and Charles Scora. Supporters were Democratic board members, Michael Peacos, the new mayor; Mayo Sisler, new committeeman; Henry Ness, new appointee of the administration, and Wendell W. Forbes, out-going chairman. Passing his vote was Al Milchanoski.

LYNES called the regulation "absurd" and said he would resign "since it reflects on the integrity of the Planning Board."

Hagmann declared the measure was unnecessary, since the intent is present in the oath of office taken by each member of the board.

Peacos said that he saw nothing wrong with it.

NEW OFFICERS were voted on at the beginning of the meeting. Hagmann was unopposed for chairman, and Forbes, who has served as head of the board for several years, was elected vice chairman. Fred L. Bascom was re-elected secretary.

Suggested ordinance changes were presented. A proposed new measure calls for the recently created light industrial zone on both sides of the East-West Freeway to be increased to 1,500 feet deep. The zone had been 1,000 feet.

Other changes are as follows: Agricultural-residential zone, increase minimum lot size with water and sewer facilities from 100 by 100 feet to 100 by 200 feet; agriculture zone, increase minimum square footage from 50,000 to 100,000 and increase the frontage from 200 feet to 250 feet, and residential A and B, increase the lot sizes from 100 by 100 by 200 feet.

AMONG THE other recommended changes were those which would require proof of financial responsibility from developers before they are granted major subdivisions and prohibit great latitude in setting surety bonds.

In other business the board received an application from Socony Construction Corp. of Newark for a sub-division of 204 acres off Easton Avenue. The firm wants to out the property into 613 building lots.

The board postponed action on a subdivision asked by Dr. Helen Jennings of New York City, a former township resident. She owns 10 acres of land off Bennett Lane and wants to divide the tract into thirds.

Committee Approves Two Zoning Law Amendments

Township Talk

The April primary may be rather crowded with township candidates. Rumors have it that Eleanor Hinrichsen is considering candidacy on an independent ticket and is hoping to get the Civic Betterment Association to back her.

Removed as desiring to be her running mates are Steve Shiwa who was defeated in last year's race for the Democratic candidacy, and Karl Doktorich of 42 Juliet Ave.

Should this gossiped tid-bit prove true the Democratic and Republican parties may have to make room on the ballot for independent candidates come April.

It is with much regret that we look upon the announced resignation of Police Chief Ed F. Voorhees. Filling the shoes of this great law enforcement officer and man of admirable character is going to be a tough job for the Township Committee.

But there are hopes that the chief will not really leave us, for he said that he has requested the committee permit him to retain membership in the police department on a non-salary basis. As Chief Voorhees remarked, "Once a cop, always a cop." And a good cop he's been!

The Township Committee last night adopted two amendments to the zoning code which had been informally approved the previous night by the Planning Board.

The first ordinance provides for increases in the minimum size of building lots and in the size of homes which can be built.

The second measure requires a developer to prove financial responsibility if he has to build new roads in his development, prohibits "dummy" corporations from receiving subdivisions and strengthens requirements for performance bonds. It also requires Planning Board members to sign affidavits that they have no personal or financial connection with the applicant.

...REPUBLICAN. Committeemen James G. Maher and Casimiro Calvo passed their vote on both measures introduced by the Democrats.

Voting for the amendments were Democrats Michael Peacos, Michael Lisi and Mayo Sisler.

A public hearing will be held on the second measure Feb. 13. The first amendment was referred to the Planning Board for a formal recommendation.

MAHER ARGUED that a person would have to be an "executive" to afford homes built on the lot sizes proposed.

Sisler replied Community Planners had approved the change in lot sizes. Peacos said the proposed regulations could "go a long way toward helping Franklin Township get on its feet again."

A note of mystery was injected into the proceedings when no one could say what had happened to the letter of resignation Police Chief Ed Voorhees said he gave the committee.

Maher brought the question up. Peacos and Lisi said they didn't have the letter. Sisler and Calvo said nothing. After the meeting, Sisler and Lisi admitted they had "seen" the letter, but joined Peacos in saying the letter had not been "officially" received.

VOORHEES, however, insisted he had submitted the resignation. He did not say to whom he gave it.

The Committee held off payment of a $2,500 voucher covering reappraisal work done by the Realty Appraisal Co. of West New York after a contract was completed.

SISLER QUESTIONED payment of the bill, asking who had authorized it. Maher said he had approved the work after consulting with Tax Assessor Stephen C. Reid. Sisler said the additional work should have been done by Reid.

Maher asked for a legal opinion from Township Attorney Arthur Meredith and the Committee voted to withhold payment.

The Committee authorized $1,500 in the temporary budget for the Charter Study Commission.

The Committee elected Sisler as its chairman, and named Mrs. Alice Hageman as tax searcher and John Hanson as health officer.

Fleckenstein Elected Head Of Zoning Bd.

Frank Fleckenstein was named chairman of the Board of Adjustment Wednesday night at the board's organization meeting in Township Hall, Middlebush.

Elected vice chairman was Robert Hart. Fred L. Bascom will serve as secretary, and Mrs. Mercer D. Smith as clerk.

RALPH Mayo, New Brunswick lawyer, was nominated as counsel to the board by Thomas Brady newly appointed member. The question of Mayo's salary was brought up, and the only figure discussed was $50 a meeting. Alex Katchen declared that he thought this figure was too high. The board decided to discuss with the Township Committee what salary Mayo should receive.

Board member William MacKenzie presented a set of recommendations which he felt would tend to block lengthy delays in processing applications and in general help bring about a smoother operation of the board.

The recommendations accepted by the board were a regulation which requires that applications be filed 20 days before the date set for a hearing by the board, and a suggestion that some type of recording device be obtained to record hearings and other matters coming before the group.

MacKENZIE said that the compulsory 20-day application date will give the board members sufficient time to study applications before they are presented at a public meeting.

Democrats Slate Victory Dinner

Final plans for the Democrats victory dinner were announced by Joseph M. Klintin, chairman of the affair, which will be held at the Fair Hills Inn on Feb. 2.

Arthur S. Meredith, county Democratic chairman and new Franklin Township attorney will be toastmaster. The invocation and benediction will be given by the Rev. Andrew Beck of the Ukrainian Orthodox Center in Franklin Township.

THE DINNER, which celebrates the local Democrats' victory at the polls in November—placing Michael Peacos and Mayo A. Sisler on the Township Committee and William B. Hughes in the assessor's post—will feature entertainment rather than politics, Klintin said.

Members of the Women's Democratic Club will give a musical skit written by Mrs. Harold Napasz. There will be dancing with Tom Del Casale's orchestra.

The affair will begin with cocktails at 5:20 p.m. and dinner at 6:00 p.m.

Accused Bookmaker Held In $1000 Bail for Grand Jury

539 Total Arrests Made During '57

A total of nine arrests for felonies, 136 arrests under township ordinances or the state statutes covering misdemeanors, and 394 motor vehicle arrests were reported by Police Chief Ed F. Voorhees for the year of 1957.

Four of the felony arrests were of a statutory nature and two were the result of fatal motor vehicle accidents, there remains only one crime of violence, one sexual crime, and one crime of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

CHIEF Voorhees declared that this was "an unusually good record for a municipality of this size." He added, "I doubt if we will ever better it or even match it in the future."

Of the arrests under township ordinances and misdemeanors, 88 were for disorderly person charges and 17 for dog ordinance violations.

Motor Vehicle arrests included 150 for speeding, 86 for careless driving, 12 for reckless driving, four for hit run and three for drunken driving.

TOWNSHIP police last year spent a total of 40,801 hours on duty, including 11,217 on patrol, 651 on investigation and other duties, and 9,988 regulating school traffic.

A total of 187,315 miles were logged on police cars, 216 warnings

Domingos Prelo of 1731 W. 4th St., Dunellen, charged with bookmaking, was held under $1,000 bail for Grand Jury action Monday night in Municipal Court.

An agent of the state Division of Alcoholic Beverages Control accused the Dunellen man of taking a track bet at the Cedar Bar on Elizabeth St., near South Bound Brook, on Dec. 11.

EIGHTEEN-year-old Roger Allan McFall of Sharon, Pa., a sailor, stationed at Lakehurst, received a five-day term in the county jail, lost his driver's license for two years, and was fined $50 for "drag racing" on Cooper Avenue, in a section that is heavily populated.

A reckless driving charge was brought against McFall by Officer Walter Adams, who lives on the street where the race was held.

Adams said he was sitting in the living room of his home when he heard a commotion outside. He testified that a large, group of young people were on the street watching the race. Of the two drivers who participated in the race, Adams said he was only able to apprehend McFall.

MAGISTRATE George Shamy dismissed alleged careless driving charges against three motorists. The drivers were Andrew Lazar of DeMott Rd., John DeAngelis of 47 Jefferson Ave., and Samuel Zanchlere of New Brunswick.

Schmidt Presents Immigration Study

Dr. Hubert G. Schmidt, Middlebush, presented a paper on his study of immigration from the Midlands counties in England to New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania in the two decades after the Revolution at the annual meeting of the American Historical Association, held in New York this week.

Dr. Schmidt, who is associate professor of history at the Newark College of Arts and Sciences of Rutgers, has for several years been doing research on the farmers and artisans who came to this country during the early years of the Republic. He has investigated sources in England and traced the story of how the people lived and conducted their farms and businesses.

HIS FIELD is American economic history, and he has done special work in agricultural history.

Dr. Schmidt's paper will be part of a book he is preparing on the subject.

Dog License Fee Hiked 75c; New Charge Is $2.25

An increase in the fee for a township dog license for this year has been announced by the office of the township clerk. A license now costs $2.25. Last year's charge was $1.50.

TELL US YOUR PROBLEM

AND LET US HELP YOU TO SOLVE IT BY OUR OWN METHOD.

BY JOHN and JANE STRICKLAND

PROBLEM:
Little Things

A YOUNG man of my acquaintance who was graduated from college this year had been assured during his senior year that there would be no trouble in getting a job if his grades had been good, and if he enjoyed a good personal reputation. Well, his grades were good and he had a lot of friends.

Representatives of several big companies called at the college before he left the campus. They interviewed him, along with a score of others who were getting degrees that year. His name went down in the little black book and he was invited to make a call at the company office.

But September 1st found him looking for a way to earn a living. He was troubled and he asked himself why? He didn't stop there, but went to an intimate friend of four years standing who had been assigned a very fine position as Assistant Personnel Manager for one of the Big Industries. He asked this friend why?

"How can I tell what went through their minds?" asked the friend.

"But you have a job where you size up prospective employees. How would you size me up?"

The friend looked him over.

"Thank," he said. "In the position I hold, I am supposed to be able to take in certain qualifications at a glance. Let's imagine you are now applying for a job."

"Shoot," encouraged the determined applicant.

"Well, first, I'd note that your shoes are dirty, really dirty; I'd note that your hair needs cutting; it isn't bad, but it suggests that you aren't too particular about your appearance; I'd criticize your posture; your look as if you'd humped over a desk for years maybe in trying to make good grades that could prove a stumbling block. And here's something very important; you seem a lot more interested in yourself than you are in work." And he added, "Would you yourself give a job to a man who had all these undesirable characteristics?"

"Anything else?"—soberly now.

"That's enough for one interview," he was told.

Needless to say, a young man interested enough to ask why would correct these faults. And he did.

He got the next job for which he applied—and kept it.

Proving Ground Deer Population Gets Out of Hand

ABERDEEN PROVING GROUND, Md.—Authorities here are finding nature hard to discourage.

The deer population—an estimated 3500—on this military reservation is four times what it should be for the available forage, despite the best-laid schemes for humane conservation applied since 1953 by military officials and by state game wardens.

In their ever-widening search for food, the deer leave the uninhabited areas to seek forage on surrounding farms and along roadways and airstrips on the post. This results not only in substantial crop loss, but in serious hazard to life and property. Many accidents involving automobiles and at least one involving an airplane have been caused by the errant deer.

STARTING in 1953, more than 200 deer have been trapped each year and released in other parts of the state. When this failed to reduce the herd to a size consistent with available forage, permission was given in 1955 by the Maryland State Game and Inland Fish Commission for an annual four-week

Operating Staff Of Sewer Named

The names of the men who will operate the $30 million Haritan Valley trunk sewer have been announced.

The actual operation will be directed Chief Engineer Sol Seid of New Brunswick. The overall business of the system will be handled by Chester A. Lydoker, executive director, of Middlesex Borough.

Named to the staff of the system are:

William Koptonak of East Brunswick, treatment plant superintendent; Andrew Radel of New Brunswick, Samuel J. Capano of Bound Brook and Bernard C. Mo-Menamini of Middlesex Borough, shift supervisors.

Plant operators—James Stillwell, Irving Fenkel, James Higgins, Samuel H. Cohn, Leo Ludwig, Edward Brockman, Anthony Lucetta, George Christina and William hunting program. During this month properly licensed hunters who are employed by or assigned to APG are authorized to take one deer each using specified equipment only and firing from one of about 50 designated locations.

These safety controls are necessary because of the variable test firing scheduled at the Proving Ground and because few hunting areas on the post are free of high explosive duds.

Paulson, all of New Brunswick; John Fee of South River; Alex Martin and Bernard Hart of Plainfield, and Thomas Barrett of Sayreville.

Robert Madama of New Brunswick, foreman-mechanic; Ruben Goldblatt of New Brunswick, mechanical; Arthur Kennedy of Sayreville, electrical, and Arthur Pittman of New Brunswick, general maintenance.

Dr. Myrton C. Raud of East Brunswick, chief chemist; Robert Rowe of New Brunswick and John Howley of South Amboy, laboratory technicians; Rosslyn Alexander of Highland Park, bacteriologist; David Mayerowitz of New Brunswick and William D. Shau of Highland Park, sampling men.

Robert Guenther of Plainfield, pumping station superintendent; Peter Brockman and Walter Morris of New Brunswick, Charles Hodapp of Spotswood and Stanley Witkowski of South River, pumping station operators; John of Sayreville, mechanical maintenance and John W. Mooney of New Brunswick, electrical maintenance. John Moran of New Brunswick, foreman of sewer line maintenance; Martin Connaughton of Middlesex Borough and Raymond Styles of South River, maintenance men. # Trunk Sewer Ready Monday

The Middlesex County trunk sewer, after one false start, is scheduled to begin operation Monday.

At that time, according to Chester Lydecker, executive director of the Middlesex County Sewerage Authority, Peter Schweitzer, Inc., of Spotswood and Anheuser-Busch, Inc., of East Brunswick, will cut into the trunk line.

THE TRUNK SEWER system is also slated to begin handling the sewage of New Brunswick and the Plainfield Joint Meeting at the same time.

THE BOROUGHS of South River and Sayreville will also cut into the trunk line next week—if not on Monday, then shortly thereafter.

Lydecker said yesterday that only shakedown tests on the line remained to be performed before the 30 million system goes into operation. He said construction of the line has been completed and all known defects corrected.

The 23-mile line was scheduled to begin operation Jan. 2, but the start was delayed when defects in the line were discovered in East Brunswick. It was also learned at the time that several sections of pipe still had to be laid.

COMMANDING OFFICER

By Ralph Blanchard

OUTSIDE, the darkening winter afternoon was suddenly silent as the last of the squadron's aircraft taxied in and shut down, and a few weary pilots scrambled toward their hangars. It was a peaceful Friday, cold and festive, and Americans everywhere were hurrying to their homes.

Only the implements of war were left. The implements, and men like Commander Scagliotti, who still nurtured old memories of less peaceful days. Who were at war within.

Scagliotti, the commanding officer, leaned heavily back in his chair and listened to the silence settling over the world. His lips twisted into a grim smile and his dark eyes fixed angrily on a young boy, who stood nervously before his desk. The boy, not twenty yet, shifted his weight, and fearfully clenched a white, sailor hat.

"That's all you have to say?" Scagliotti demanded.

"Yes, sir, that's all. I'm sorry." "You're sorry!" The commanding officer swung his chair around and gazed out into the winter. "Sorry!" He laughed bitterly and told the boy to leave. The last flickering rays of light reflected dully on a small scar that creased the officer's cheek.

Scagliotti turned back to the desk and glanced over some papers. One concerned the boy. "A minor infraction," he heard himself saying, but quickly thought, "I must have discipline." The word seared his mind. Discipline. He shut his eyes momentarily, folded the report on the boy and tucked it into his coat. As he stood to leave, a small note dropped, almost unnoticed, to the floor.

He picked it up and read the few words. "Good Lord," he said aloud, "What does he expect of me—a nursemaid?" He started to throw the note away, and lived for his apartment where he leaved alone, but instead he glanced again at the words.

"Why don't you stop by and see him for a few minutes?" It would do him good." It was a short, scribbled note.

Across the road from his car was the Naval Hospital. Scagliotti hesitated, shook his head in disgust, then wearily walked toward the big building. It was quiet like all hospitals. He nodded to an older man in white.

"Got my note, I see." "The boy's in that room over there," the doctor pointed. "I'll see you later. Right now they need me upstairs."

A small, frail boy lay in the center of the big, white bed, with frightened eyes, as the heavy-set man approached. In one hand was a boy-worn model airplane, which the child held tightly.

"Hi." The boy swallowed hard and answered, "Hi."

For a moment, the lonely man was not at war. And, stranger, and for even a briefer moment, Scagliotti was not the war-trained pilot, the officer, trained in war and games of war. It was like a wind that passed almost before he realized its presence.

"I've gotta go now, son," he heard himself later saying to the boy, and hesitantly asked, "Would you like me to stop by again sometime?"

The boy smiled softly in return and eagerness filled his eyes along with moisture. Scagliotti looked behind him to be sure they were still alone and swiftly unpinned his aviator's wings and fastened them to the small boy's pajamas.

He turned and walked down the hospital corridors. A strange sensation passed through his consciousness, almost a warmth—a warmth that even the cold winter wind was unable to chill, as he stepped through the main door of the hospital.

Reaching into his coat pocket, he removed the folded report. It was only a minor infraction, he convinced himself. I'll give him a lecture and let it go this time. And in a final gesture, he shredded the paper.

EASY DOES IT

BY HELEN HALE

THE first time or two that you launder new blue jeans, wash them separately from other items. They're not generally colorfast, and you can avoid getting the color on other clothing.

To clean satin-finish stainless appliances, wipe the surfaces with mild suds and water and dry. If you want to make them sparkle, wipe with mineral oil on a damp cloth.

THIS WEEK'S RECIPE

Walnut Cookies
(Makes 4 dozen)

- 1/2 cup butter or substitute
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 1/4 cups sifted flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Cream together butter and sugar. Add egg and vanilla, beating thoroughly. Sift together flour and salt and blend in creamed mixture. Stir in walnuts. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderately hot (375°F.) oven about 10 minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool.

will save the foil plates in which come pastry, T.V. dinners and rolls. They wash readily and can be used for putting up the same kind of items when you're readying food for your own freezer.

Overwashing is never good for clothes no matter what kind of machine is used. Prolonged washing action may actually redeposit soil on the clothes.

Washing boots in the machine? If you don't have the latest appliance which swirls out the sediment, then rinse the boots before washing to remove dirt, sand and other foreign particles.

TV continues to move westward from New York to Hollywood. "Studio One" was the first of the big ones and now the report is that "The Big Record" will be moving to the movie capital soon. Other top shows are eyeing Hollywood as a permanent base, too. Incidentally, Studio One plans to adopt a big name policy when it anchors in Hollywood. Elvis Presley was lambasted by the Hollywood critics on his two personal appearances there. It was the opinion of reviewers that his performance was "lewdicrous."

Reports continue that "Strike It Rich," long on the always and TV channels, may soon bite the dust. There'll be no television of the Los Angeles Dodgers games next year unless it is Pay-TV. Bob Hope thinks the hour variety show has had it. He has his writers working on a new format for him next year. Meanwhile, he is sponsorless this year due to his appearance on a rival firm's show. Vincent Price, a TV fiend, has 10 sets in his 22-room home, which ought to set some sort of record.

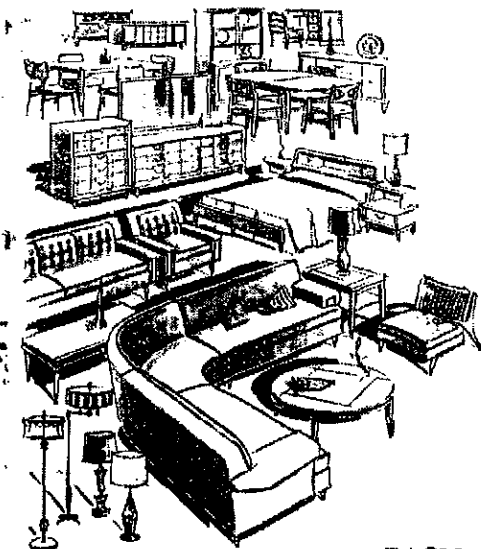

PLATTER CHATTER

CAPITOL: Polkas are the vogue again and Ron Goodwin swings with "Swedish Polka." He does a nice job on his own tune, "Linger Lovers" on the flip side. The Four Freshmen sound great with that favorite, "Granada," backed by "How Can I Begin to Tell?" Good disc. Stan Freberg continues his hilarious lampoonings with a take-off on Lawrence Welk that is a must. It takes up both sides, is called "Wun'erful, Wun'erful" and it is indeed "Wun'erful, Wun'erful."

MERCURY: David Carrell, noted for his outstanding instrumentals, revives a beautiful oldie that should easily follow the path of "Fascination." It's "The Sky Song" and it's a double-threat entry.

Chief Voorhees Announces Resignation

Police Chief Ed F. Voorhees, who has been enforcing law in the township for more than 20 years, Wednesday announced that he submitted a letter of resignation to the Township Committee before New Year's day.

Voorhees thanked the Democrats, who now control the Township Committee, for the confidence they showed in him by offering him the full time chief's position "with a salary comparable to salaries in much larger departments."

THE CHIEF, who is chief watch engineer for the Calco Division of American Cyanamid in Bound Brook, said that the financial sacrifice in accepting the police job would be too great.

However, Voorhees said he would remain on the job until the Township Committee had decided on a new man to fill the vacancy. The committee has not indicated when the position will be filled.

Voorhees revealed that he had been offered an alternative of remaining on the job on his own terms. But he explained that he would not wish to remain in the chief position part time since the police department is well on the way to becoming a full time operation.

THE CHIEF added, "My resignation was submitted without fear, threats or promises, regardless of rumors to the contrary." He said that he will leave the office "humble and grateful" for the many friendships acquired through the years.

But Voorhees apparently does not desire to leave the police department completely. He said that he has asked the Township Committee that he be permitted to retain membership in the department on a non-salary basis.

When the committee plans revisions of the department, he will continue to serve and assist in the reorganization, as requested by the committee, Voorhees stated.

VOORHEES became a constable, a non-paying position, in 1937, and chief of the fledgling police department established three years later. He has been a law enforcement officer ever since.

The Growth Pattern in New Jersey continues strong

What happened in New Jersey in 1957?

Industry kept right on growing, commercial establishments kept on expanding, and residential areas continued to show a year of healthy growth.

It was a dynamic year of growth in New Jersey, where 50 of the top 73 "Blue-Chip" companies in America are active. We have every reason to believe that this growth will continue into 1958 — plant site inquiries so indicate.

To meet this growth, Public Service continues to enlarge its facilities. We have expended over $500,000,000 in the last five years, and at the present time we are constructing three major electric generating stations.

Parents Hear Talk On Sex Education

Dr. Frederick Perl, guest speaker, spoke on the topic of sex education for younger children Wednesday evening before 100 parents at the monthly meeting of the Elizabeth Avenue School.

An enlightened and intelligent approach by parents and teachers early in life is necessary to provide them with the kind of sex education parents wish them to have.
