

Farmers Heatedly Oppose Proposed Development

Officials Aiming 'To Keep Poor People In Township'

The three Democratic elected officials of the township were guest speakers at the meeting of the Democratic Municipal Committee, held Tuesday night at Fairlawn. It was the first time Mayor Michael Peacos and Committeeman Mayo S. Sisler spoke to the organization since they took office on Jan. 1.

Peacos told the group that he and his colleagues were trying to work out a land subdivision and zoning ordinance that would be a stop-gap until the township's master plan, now on the drawing boards, could be implemented.

In the public pre-budget hearing last Tuesday evening, he said that the previous administration had taken $225,000 out of surplus last year to hold taxes down, and that hence the present committee could only use half that sum.

Sisler said it was important to hold off developers in the industrial zones when the new east-west highway is to come so the sites will be attractive to industry.

Sisler discussed the road program and explained increased items in the road budget for the coming year. He said that it had been necessary to raise the pay of drivers and laborers to meet that paid by surrounding municipalities. He said that he had been advised by suppliers of road materials that he should anticipate a 10 per cent increase in cost of their products.

Strong opposition arose against the application of Sacony Construction Inc. of Newark for preliminary approval for subdivision of 513 lots off Cedar Grove Lane Wednesday night at a meeting of the Planning Board.

Jack Cohen, representing Sacony Inc., told the board the firm intends to build a housing development on the property, with homes selling at $17,000.

FARMERS and other residents complained of consequences which they charged would result from a housing development. Isidor Rubin of Davidson Ave., a farmer, complained he would eventually be forced off his farm if the development came in. He pointed out problems would arise when farmers fertilized their fields in back of the proposed development.

Another objection arose from a spectator who complained more taxes for schools would result if more residents with children came into the township.

After hearing complaints for two hours, the board decided to table the matter and take it up again in two weeks.

IN OTHER action the committee heard a report of the treasurer, Joseph Ganlin, summing up the receipts and expenditures for 1957, and passed a resolution commending Ganlin for his work.

Petitions for reelection were passed out to all committeemen and women, and members from each district also took petitions to circulate for Joseph M. Kinlin for the nomination for Township Committeeman.

Guests at the meeting were Kinlin, Joseph Tagliarini, president of the Men's Democratic Club, and Dante A. Pilon, former president of the Men's Club.

Signal System To Be Tested

Beginning tomorrow, all emergency sirens will be tested weekly on Saturdays between 8 and 9:15 a.m. A new electronic signal system, used to call fires and first aid units and warn residents of air raids or other disasters, is being readied for operation Feb. 22.

Committeeman James G. Mohr, chairman of the police and public safety committee, said the system cost approximately $4,000. Pressing one button on the switchboard will blow sirens at any of the fire companies or first aid squads.

HAGMANN read a letter from Community Planning Associates Inc. of Princeton advising the board to recommend to the Township Committee that the proposed Jan. 8 amendments to the zoning code not be approved. The firm is engaged in drawing up a master plan for the township.

The amendment is an ordinance providing for substantial increases in the minimum size of building lots and increasing the size of homes which could be built.

Robert G. Strong, principal planner of the firm, said in the letter that the amendment contained "a number of serious defects" and he doubted whether "these defects can be remedied without waiting for the comprehensive revision of the ordinance, scheduled to be undertaken in the master plan program."

STRONG added that he felt the proposed amendment, "if adopted, would adversely affect the progress and continuity of the planning program."

Peacos said that the proposed zoning change was agreed upon by Strong at a Township Committee meeting. "Now," he re-

Township Talk

It looked as Mayor Michael Peacos and Committeeman Mayo Sisler, members of the Planning Board, were going to walk out on the board's meeting Wednesday night when an argument cropped up over an excited resident's right to speak.

Isidor Rubin of Davidson Ave., a township farmer, came before the board to oppose the application of Sacony Construction Inc. of Newark for preliminary approval for subdivision of 513 lots off Cedar Grove Lane. With excitement building up, Rubin complained to the board that if the development is allowed in, he would eventually be forced off his farm.

Dr. Lyle Hagmann, chairman of the board, told Rubin he was out of order and cut him off when the farmer became excited. Immediately, Peacos objected to Hagmann's action and called it dictatorial. A loud applause arose from the audience. Sisler threatened that he would not be "part of a board who will not let the people speak."

Hagmann turned to Attorney Arthur Meredith to ask his legal opinion. Meredith advised the chairman that complaints, though they may not be pertinent to legal matters, should not necessarily be overruled from the discussion. Rubin was then allowed by Hagmann to continue.

Peacos and Sisler seem to be sticking to their campaign promises to represent the people of Franklin.

Much credit goes to Board of Education members Leonard Bardsley and Arthur Westneat and Dr. James Lynch for all the time they put in at P.T.A. meetings during the past two weeks to carefully explain to residents all expenditure in the proposed budget. Proposed expenditures were painstaking gone over and many parents' question were answered.

Now is a good time to urge all residents to vote in the school election Tuesday. Educational needs are great in the township, and education of our children is the concern of everyone.

School Board Election Polls Opens Tuesday

Voters will be asked to elect three out of four Board of Education candidates, each for a three-year term, and decide upon the $1,484,305 school budget Tuesday. Polls will be open from 2 to 9 p.m.

Running for the board are incumbent board members J. Frederick Seyfarth Jr. and Norman Fisher, and Mrs. Frank L. Weissenborn and Mrs. Veronica Brzoska.

THE COUNTY Board of Elections has reported that 7,217 voters are eligible to vote in Tuesday's election.

- Polling places are:
- District 1—Phillips School.
 - District 2—Second District Fire House, Elizabeth Avenue.
 - District 3—East Millstone Volunteer Fire Company Station, Market Street.
 - District 4—Hamilton School.
 - District 5—Community Volunteer Fire Company, Amwell Road.
 - District 6—Kingsin School.
 - District 7—Pine Grove Manor School.
 - District 8—Middlebush School.

3 Attend State Planning Parley

Mayor Michael Peacos, Committeeman Mayo Sisler and Henry Ness of the local planning board attended the Annual State Planning Conference in Trenton Thursday. The all-day meeting was held at the Stacy-Trent Hotel and those attending heard Governor Robert Meyner and planning experts from New York and Washington.

"IT IS necessary to prevent over-development, so that when we get the master plan it will not be too late to determine how low-cost home sites, industrial sites, parks, playgrounds and other areas of the township can be worked in," said Peacos. He urged citizens to come out to municipal meeting, bring their friends, and observe for themselves what is going on. Peacos reported that in the 31 days of January he attended 41 official meetings.

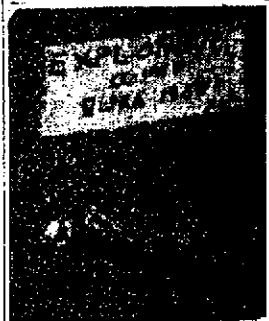

Sisler, who recently announced his candidacy for freeholder, said that he had done so because Franklin's problems were so time up with county problems that he believed he could help with both.

Backing up the statements of Peacos about zoning, Sisler said, "We aren't trying to keep the poor people out of Franklin, we're trying to keep the poor people in the township. If we don't get industry soon, people aren't going to be able to afford to live here because of the taxes."

SISLER, who is chairman of the Finance committee of the township committee, explained items in the budget which had been gone over

Cubs Meet at Home

Cub Scouts of Den 6, Pack 100, Franklin Park, met Tuesday at the home of their den mother, Mrs. Louis Loeb of Amwell Rd. Theme of the month is decorations to be used for the Blue and Gold Dinner to be held at Phillips School Saturday, March 1.

THE EXPLORER flies high (in miniature) above a sixth grade classroom in Franklin Park School. Alpha—1958 is the satellite's official name.

THE WORLD AROUND US—A portion of the solar system is pictured scientifically by a class at Franklin Park School as part of their space project.

Unit Changeover Plan is Halted

The Industrial Development Commission has learned that there is no legislation enabling its being transformed into an authority a change which was considered in an effort to induce industry into the township.

However, Township Attorney Arthur Meredith told the organization that there are ways in which the commission legally could sell township land outside of public auction.

Lawrence Gerber, an associate member of the commission, said that construction of the proposed East-West Freeway, water lines, and railroads would make Franklin a favorable location for industry.

PTA Host to B of E Candidates

A meeting of the Elizabeth School PTA was held Wednesday night, attended by 125 persons. The group, in addition to commemorating Founders' Day, was host to four Board of Education candidates.

The PTA heard from Norman R. Fisher and Frederick Seyfarth Jr., incumbents, and Mrs. Frank Weisenborn and Mrs. Veronica Brzoska.

HARRY Marilyn, principal, was the moderator. Leonard Bardsley, retiring board member, discussed the school budget.

Leonard Hammond, legislative and education chairman, announced the polling districts for the election, which will be held Tuesday.

Marilyn introduced Frederick Ostrogon, physical education instructor, who outlined the school system's physical education program.

MRS. JOSEPH Van Middleborough announced the group is willing to sponsor a Scout troop in the area. A membership report listed 230 members of the PTA unit.

A panel discussion on "Supervision of Instruction at Home and in the Classroom" will be held at the next meeting, March 17.

Colder the Better, Study Shows

Research conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture shows the lower the temperature at which frozen foods are kept the longer they keep their color, flavor and nutritional value.

If you pay for top quality, you want to hold it until the food is on the table, says Mrs. Irene H. Wolgamot, extension foods and nutrition specialist of Rutgers University, adding that all frozen foods should be kept at zero or colder.

SUCCESSIVE exposures to warm air, such as those resulting from opening the freeze door too often, add up to accumulated quality loss. Even when food feels solid, damage may be taking place at 15 to 25 degrees.

For example, frozen peach slices kept fine at zero but browned in 50 days at 10 degrees and in 24 hours at 30 degrees. Strawberries lose 95 percent of their vitamin C when held at 30 degrees for a month. Flavor changes at this temperature took place in 24 to 48 hours.

Frozen turkeys and chickens sometimes darkened when held at 20 to 25 degrees for only one to two weeks.

Employment Dips During December

Employment in the industrial area of Middlesex and Somerset counties went down by 700 jobs during December because of layoffs in practically all industry groups. Acting Labor and Industry Commissioner, George S. Pfau announced. The employment level of 139,300 was 7,600 below that for December, 1956, he added.

...MANUFACTURING employment dropped by 500 during the month, to a total of 82,600, with both the durable and non-durable goods industries contributing to the decline. The former group reported a loss of 400 jobs, to a total of 45,800, while the latter group went down by 100, to a level of 37,000. Non-manufacturing industries of the twin-county area showed a net loss of 200 jobs during the month, bringing the total down to 78,600 which was 4,000 less than for the corresponding month of 1956. The hiring of 800 persons for work in retail shops during the Christmas season was not sufficiently great to offset the loss of jobs in the construction industry and other non-manufacturing groups. AVERAGE weekly earnings of production workers of the area increased by 40 cents during December to $87.51. Over the year, however, average weekly earnings have gone down by 71 cents.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mollie Malvern La Mar, Elmo, Missouri: I was born March 16, 1869 and I wonder how many can remember the yoke—a piece of lumber hallowed to fit two draught oxen together. I can remember the yoke that hung on the side of the first horse my parents loved in when they came to Green township in 1829.

After they sold or traded the oxen, the yoke still hung on the side of the log house. Later they built a bigger house. When I grew older, I loved to hear my parents tell of the hardships they had endured in bringing all their belongings in that one covered wagon. And, I remember my father riding up to the house and calling to mother to come and see what he had brought. Of course, we all went, discovering he had a young deer across the saddle of his horse.

I remember when my older brothers went to school and our maternal grandfather was their teacher. He lived to be 82 years old and taught for 50 years. He also taught music, both vocal and instrumental, and how we loved for him to come and see us. I was the 6th child and only girl in a family of eight children and am the only one living now.

National Guard Musters to Honor Col. Washington

When the Army National Guard lines up for roll call on Feb. 22 this year it will not only be honoring a one-time Virginia militia man, Colonel George Washington, but will be carrying on a tradition antedating the birth of the first president.

In Colonial days it was the custom for all able-bodied men to assemble annually on the village green for roll call and inspection of arms.

AS THE COUNTRY grew, militia units became more formal military organizations, some of which even had uniforms and engaged in periodic training.

Today's Army National Guard, a descendant of the first musketooting militia of 1636, has fought in every U.S. conflict since.

As organized today into 21 Infantry and six armored divisions, plus numerous smaller combat and combat support units, its 400,000 men, if called to active duty, would not only increase the Army's ranks by 40 per cent, but would add valuable combat experience to the fighting force.

FOR APPROXIMATELY 80 per cent of the Army Guard's officers saw combat in World War II, Korea, or both, as did a large proportion of the non-coms.

Today's Army Guard members no "raw recruits," for after enlistment all Guardsmen are required to take six months of active duty training if they have had no previous military experience.

Where once the Guard and Regular Army fought shoulder to shoulder with musket and machine gun, today they are training missile to missile. During 1957 the Army National Guard became the first civilian component to be assigned an active role in guided missiles.

During National Electrical Week, write to your parents, friends and neighbors about the many advantages of the electric profession.

From The Mailbag

Dear Editor:

The proposed revisions of the Franklin Township zoning ordinance have resulted in much discussion. People seem to be concerned about "keeping people out of Franklin Township" and "what about these poor people who might want to build here, they won't be able to afford that kind of house." It's rather amusing to me since all during the latter part of 1957 the officials were rather deluged with requests to "tighten up our zoning" and "do something to control these developers."

I believe the Township Committee and the Planning Board are responsible first and foremost for the present residents of Franklin—not those "who might want to build here."

Franklin Township is almost all residential, and the heavy financial burden for providing the necessary services that go hand in hand with increased population is falling on the homeowner.

People probably are more concerned about developments because in a matter of weeks a row of houses will appear side by side. The individually constructed houses are here in quantity, also; they're harder to count. If the Township has no control over the private builders, then I misunderstand the reason and purpose of the zoning and building restrictions, planning inspector, building inspector, zoning officer.

I think Franklin Township has been extremely fortunate in the matter of housing developments. For example, Inglebush Estates numbers 49; there are about 40 houses in Carol Manor; and about 85 in Hollywood Homes. Things are changing—for about a year now the specter of a large development has loomed over the Township. The company presently has preliminary approval for a land subdivision for 400-700 homes under our present zoning ordinances, and there have been several newspaper references to a metropolitan city of 2,000 homes. Another company has just recently filed an application with our Planning Board for a land subdivision for 513 homes.

Certainly developments will provide streets, water lines, and sewer systems—not for the present residents of the township. For those people who will become residents by moving into that development, I wonder how the residents of Skillman's Lane benefited from the streets, sewers, etc., in Franklin Hills.

The township must assume the maintenance and repair of these facilities. The more miles of streets in the township—paved or dirt—means an increase in the Road Department personnel, equipment, and materials. The same applies to extension of sewer and water facilities. More trucks going farther mean more gas. Increased population means additional police personnel—and more police cars; increased garbage collection. Franklin is still without a paid, full-time fire department; how much longer can this vital part of a community be postponed. Consider the effect of increased homes on the Tax Collector's office. More tax accounts will result in more tax bills to be sent—additional printing, postage, stationery costs—more files—eventually more clerical personnel, who need desks and chairs and typewriters—and office space.

I haven't mentioned schools, yet. Our current school bond indebtedness is $1,795,000, and the amount due to be raised by local taxation for the school year 1958-59 is $1,097,401. Our schools are just about filled to capacity, and again we must face the problems of overcrowded classes, double sessions and/or new schools.

Of course, there is always the hope of rescue by the knight in shining armor Sir Industry, but industry is just as concerned about taxes as the homeowner, and industry evidently is reluctant to locate in a heavily residential community which awaits it eagerly hands outstretched—with a tax bill.

Fred Bascom, township clerk, made the now classic remark that a house must be worth $40,000 to pay for itself in taxes. I don't think the majority of homes in Franklin—whether individual or in a development—come near that price tag. It's probably a good indication of modest incomes.

This is Franklin Township as I see it. Maybe it's not a bad idea to keep some people out, before a lot of the present residents are taxed out.

Community Planning Approaches Listed by University Speaker

Prof. Richard Frost of the Woodrow Wilson School of Public Affairs of Princeton University discussed community planning before a meeting of the Georgetown Improvement Association Saturday night.

Approaches to good planning were outlined as follows:

- 1.—DETERMINE the present physical, economic and social character of the community.
- 2.—Determine with extensive public participation the future characteristics of the community. A good and workable master plan.

Founders Day Program Slated

The East Millstone PTA will hold their annual Founders Day program, Feb. 19 at 8 p.m. in the East Millstone School.

Mrs. William Bird who was one of the first PTA presidents will discuss early days of the local PTA and their work.

Past presidents and all members, past and present are welcome to attend. Mrs. Harold Smith, president, will preside.

Farmers Oppose

(Continued from Page 1) marked, "we receive this letter completely reversing his position." Peacos commented, "All I know is that we're paying Community Planners $32,000 to draw up a master plan and now this. . . ." He added, "I think our money is going down the drain." The proposed amendment was unanimously rejected by the board.

Pastor to Talk on Trip To Dutch West Indies

Dr. Milton J. Hoffman, pastor of the E. M. Reformed Church, will give an illustrated lecture with slides on his recent trip to "The Dutch West Indies," March 7 at 8 p.m. in the E. M. Reformed Church.

Refreshments will be served in the chapel by the Women's League of the church. An offering will be taken and given to the league, of which Mrs. Milton J. Hoffman is president.

JOSEPH H. LICHTMANN

Heart Fund Head Asks for Helpers

Joseph H. Lichtmann of Middlebush, 1958 Heart Fund Chairman for this township, today made an appeal for workers for the door-to-door drive to be held Heart Sunday, Feb. 23.

In accepting the appointment from Peter P. Lusardi, county chairman, Lichtmann expressed confidence in the people of Franklin to rally to support a worthy cause, both with their time and contributions.

Lichtmann, a local businessman lives at Buffa Dr. He has two children.

The Heart Fund Drive, annual fund-raising effort of Somerset County Heart Association takes place in February, culminated with the door-to-door solicitation on Heart Sunday. Volunteers are asked to contact Lichtmann at VI 4-9921.

he said, is both general and flexible.

3.—Implementation of the objectives with an effective and coordinated set of maps, zoning and subdivision ordinances, building codes and sanitary codes.

THE GROUP voted to write letters to the telephone company, Public Service, freeholders and Township Committee to protest "indiscriminate hacking" of trees along the roadside.

Dr. James Lynch and Arthur S. Westcott Jr. discussed the school budget. The group also heard from school board candidates Norman R. Fisher, Frederick Seyfarth Jr. and Mrs. Frank Weisenborn. Mrs. Veronica Brozka, the fourth candidate, was unable to attend.

The meeting was held in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Alan Boydon, Old Georgetown Rd. The next meeting of the group will be held March 1.

250 Dems Celebrate Win

Two hundred and fifty jubilant Democrats celebrated Sunday night their first complete local victory at the polls in living memory. The party, held at Far Hills Inn was in honor of the election of Mayor Michael Peacos and Mayo S. Sisler to the Township Committee and William B. Hughes to the post of assessor.

Arthur S. Meredith, Democratic county chairman and new municipal attorney, was toastmaster of the affair, which was short on politics and long on entertainment, featuring a floor show by some of the women who had participated in the campaign.

MRS. HAROLD Napear, municipal treasurer, wrote the skit which was narrated by Joseph M. Kinlin, chairman of the committee which planned the dinner. Municipal Chairman Frank Willard was seen in an unfamiliar role as he sang a comic song, "Lament of a Mayor," and the chorus did a conga line among the tables while leading the crowd in a song salute to Committeeman Sisler, who has just announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Somerset County freeholder.

Meredith introduced the new municipal officials, Mrs. Napear Board of Adjustment Attorney Ralph Mayo Building Inspector Ben. F. Stanton and Zoning Officer Eugene S. Griggs Jr. Also, Ralph Thomson, now of Deans, one of the "old timers" who came back for the dinner. Thompson was a Democratic candidate for Assemblyman in 1941, running on the ticket with Meredith's grandfather.

Peacos and Sisler each spoke briefly, thanking their supporters for help during the campaign and renewing campaign pledges for a program of progress in the township.

SISLER assured the crowd that his candidacy for the post of freeholder would not interfere with his work for the township, and said that he believed that Franklin needed representation at the county level. He charged that Somerset County has been dominated for the past 60 years by "small-thinking individuals," and said that planning at the county and local levels must be coordinated. He said that the charge that takes in Franklin had increased 100 per cent was erroneous, but that it is true that we are paying for the mistakes of the past. "Don't blame the Democrats, but look back and see the cause," Sisler said.

Peacos, first Democratic mayor in the history of the township, told his hearers that there is a rocky road ahead for the new township administration, that many obstacles have already come up, and asked that the people bear with the Township Committee. "Give us a chance and don't prejudice us," said Peacos. He said his only ambition is to "make Franklin a better place to live."

In the chorus line, Mrs. Alex Narula was "the fighting doorbell," Mrs. L. W. Boyce "the girl from South Franklin," Mrs. Thomas R. Reilly, "the shady lamp," Mrs. Frank Weisenborn "the Middlebush egghead," and Mrs. Harry Yanchyshyn "the holy sole." Mrs. George Winette accompanied on the piano, and the show was directed by Mrs. Malcolm Sandler.

ASSISTING Kinlin on the committee which staged the dinner were Thomas S. Reilly, Mrs. Ida Mae Williams, Mrs. Morgan Upton, William Frenck, Joseph Budd, and Mrs. R. B. Farnham.
