Township Committee Gives 'Honesty Affidavit' Approval

Support of Proposed Zoning Amendments Urged by Peacos

The proposed zoning amendments introduced at last night's township committee meeting need the support of citizens who want to see Franklin Township develop in an orderly way, Mayor Michael Peacos told the RECORD today. "It is absolutely the minimum," he said "to bring our present ordinance into proper focus and protect us from over-development until the master plan is ready."

"Along with Mayo Sister and Henry Ness of the Planning Board," Peacos said, I attended the State Planning Conference in Trenton last week. We listened to planning experts from New York, Philadelphia, Washington and other places, and one thing they all agreed on was the necessity for preserving open spaces in the process of suburban development. I feel that this is needed not only for controlled and planned growth, but for the preservation of our sense of proportion and values," stated the mayor.

PEACOS SAID that he feels we are now paying the prices for mistakes in the past. "Some of our past and present officials were guided by selfish motive," he said and some were misguided by others with selfish motives. This type of leadership and thinking has brought our good taxpayers almost to the point of desperation," said Peacos, "unless we check this onslaught of the developers which was made possible by last year's downgrading of some of our choice agricultural lands, our children will scorn us for depriving them of their birthright, a proper education and the right to live in the place they call home," he continued.

Peacos stressed that the charge that poor people are being discouraged from moving into Franklin is ridiculous. "Neither the poor people who are already here nor the ones who want to come can afford to live here unless we do something to hold down the taxes," he pointed out.

"IF WE are to attract industry, we must be able to present a sound financial picture. As I have said many times, industry isn't going to move into Franklin just for the privilege of paying our taxes. Indiscriminate rezoning of large tracts to accommodate land developers and speculators with no consideration for providing industrial sites certainly not a step in the right direction," Peacos remarked.

"Our growth in the future cannot and will not be stopped," he concluded, "but this growth must be in the best interest of the community. Franklin Township is big business, and the citizens are the stockholders. Your municipal officials, as directors, must guarantee the citizens a fair return on their investment," he said. I urge the citizens to come out to municipal meetings and see for themselves what is going on, to ask questions and express their views," Peacos added.

Two Fires Blaze Through Freezing Temperatures

Two house fires blazed through freezing temperatures in the township this week. Fire caused damage estimated at $5000 Saturday in the home of Thomas Donato, off Route 27, and a blaze Monday damaged a two-story frame house in Middlebush owned by Mr. and Mrs. Aniello Sparaco of Trenton.

The $5,000 fire was attributed by firemen to faulty wiring. The blaze broke out between the ceiling of the first story and the floor of the attic. The house is a one-story structure with a finished attic.

FIREMEN were able to bring the Donato house fire under control within a half hour. Fire, smoke and water damaged furnishings and clothing. Fighting the blaze were the Community and East Franklin Fire companies.

The Middlebush house fire was attributed by Fire Chief John Tollen of the Middlebush Volunteer Fire Department to an overheat chimney in the unoccupied dwelling. The fire was started while members of the Sparaco family were making repairs prior to renting the house. Floors and ceilings near the fireplace were damaged.

International Night Slated

International Night will be the theme of the Princeton High School PTA meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. "Travel and Teenagers" will be the topic of a panel discussion for pupils and parents.

In the future, each member of the Planning Board will be required to sign an affidavit swearing he has no personal or financial interest in applications for major subdivisions before the board before he is permitted to vote on the application.

The controversial regulation was among three amendments to the land subdivision ordinance adopted by the Township Committee last night after a public hearing.

More than 100 persons attended the hearing, at which former Magistrate Vernon D. Hagmann attacked the regulation.

HAGMANN TOLD the committee he hoped residents had more faith in the Planning Board than its members had in each other.

Since the board members and other municipal officials had already been "inoculated for honesty" when they took their oath of office, Hagmann liked the affidavits to "booster shots."

Hagmann said that if this regulation is considered necessary, then all municipal officials should be bound by a similar measure.

Mayor Michael Peacos said he saw nothing wrong with the affidavit, and said he could not see why any board member should object in signing an affidavit. He likened arguments against the regulation to actions of persons "hiding behind the Fifth Amendment."

Committee Chairman Mayor Sister told Hagmann that the amendment was adopted because some board members in the past had voted on applications in which they were personally involved.

PEACOS SAID this amendment "has teeth in it" which could be used against such officials.

After several questions from the audience on why affidavits were limited to major subdivisions, Sister agreed that the same procedure

Twp. Committee

ure should be used for all subdivisions. He started to revise the regulation, but then decided to let the measure stand for the present after one man commented that board members would be "doing nothing but signing papers."

Robert Strong of Community Planning Associates Inc. of Princeton, who had been critical of the original proposed ordinance, said the most recent revision "would not adversely affect the master plan" now being drawn up by the firm.

Strong said the firm may recommend at a later date some revisions of measures now being considered by the committee. The latest proposals, less strict than the original measures, are now being studied by the Planning Board.

Panelist Reviews Book

HENRY'S LUCKY COOK

By Jayne Mayfield

HENRY sipped his second cup of coffee, leaving half of his hotcake swimming in syrup on his plate; even a loving heart could demand no more of a shrieking stomach. He thought longingly of his mother's cooking, then swallowed the thought with the last of his coffee. Linda would learn, given time. They hadn't been married six months yet.

Linda looked mighty sweet in the morning, fresh and neat, like a doll, in her gingham dress and frilly apron. He could wait for her to learn the housewifely arts—like cooking.

That's what Henry thought when he kissed his wife, goodbye that morning.

The picture changed about five that afternoon when Mr. King announced in his hearty, fat man's voice: "I'm opening my cabin at Lake Jalsberewich this weekend boys. Mrs. King and I would like you all to join us for a potluck dinner." Reaching in his pocket King pulled out several strips of paper. "As usual, we will draw for the dishes each of us will furnish. Mrs. King feels that's the fairest and most interesting way."

Henry closed his eyes praying that his slip would name something simple—like potato salad—even he could manage that. He figured while Smithers, Tuttle and Jones casually reached for their slips. They should worry, they had all been married a long time—their wives could cook.

Henry hastily read his slip, his heart sinking. "Cloverleaf rolls." Linda would never in this world manage those.

Linda, however, was more optimistic. "Anybody can do it, goose! All you have to do is read the directions that come with the flour. Don't you worry, honey, I'll make them so light and fine they'll surely float away. Come on now, let's eat."

Thursday passed, Friday passed, nothing happened. Henry was busy during the day, waiting on customers in the store, and had little time to think. He liked his job. He liked the men he worked with. He even liked his boss. But he loved his wife, and was proud of her deainty blond beauty. He wanted his fellow workers to envy him, not pity him because she couldn't cook.

The woman too. He could almost hear them gossiping among themselves. "Poor Henry, such a pretty wife, but an awful cook! Did I tell you about the rolls she brought in to the potluck? My dear, you'll never believe it—but we just couldn't eat them. Imagine!"

Sunday arrived, bright and clear, and had to be faced. "Here's the rolls, honey, put them in the car, will you? Be careful now! Don't mush the top, there's a cake too—a lovely chocolate cake."

Oh gosh! She hadn't been satisfied with bungling rolls, but had to try her hand at a cake too. Henry was angry enough not to care if he did hurt her feelings—until he looked at her. She was so utterly unaware of anything wrong; so happy to be going "To meet Mrs. Boss, and all."

The other women were already setting food and plates on a long table by the lake shore when Henry and Linda arrived. He led Linda up to Mrs. King. Introduced them and hurriedly joined the men playing horseshoes. But, of course, he had to return when the men were called to the table.

Henry looked dazed when Mrs. King beamed on him. "My these rolls are delicious! You're a lucky man, Henry, having such a pretty wife who can cook like this." Henry was sure she was merely being kind until he tried a roll himself. It was light, just brown enough, faintly crusty—and good.

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLD TIMERS

From A. M. Watts, Chester, Vermont: I remember going to school in September, 1883, three months after I was five years old. In those days we had two school houses in our village of Teonats Harbor on the coast of Maine, one for the "Little School" and the other for the "Big School."

There was no compulsory school attendance law. Children could start going to the "Little School" as soon as they were able to learn anything and could continue going to the "Big School" as long as the teacher was able to teach them anything.

There were no grades in the school as today. We began in the A. B. C. Class, continued in the Primer Class, then the First Reader, Second Reader, etc., till about ten or eleven years of age we entered the "Big School."

A large fleet of coasting vessels sailed out of our harbor every spring and hauled up in the fall for the winter. The boys generally began going to sea mostly as cooks on the vessels when they were in their teens, but went to school in the winter when the vessels were hauled up. To make room for them, the first and second year children had to drop out of the public school and continue their studies in a private school, as I did during two winters.

From The Mailbag

Dear Editor:

An intelligent parent takes a long, critical look at the young man who is seriously courting his daughter. This critical look goes beyond the carefully groomed appearance, the shiny car, the gifts of the young man; it goes into the future. The parent weighs the young man in terms of long range effect on his daughter. If the parent feels that in the long run the marriage would be an unhappy one, he endeavors to persuade his daughter to wait for a better prospect.

The Fathers of the Community, Messrs. Michael Peacos and Maya Sleser, are taking a long, critical look at the developers who are waging the band of Franklin Township. They look beyond the apparent gifts of water and sewage and look hard at the long range effect of these gifts on Franklin. They have found that to accept the suitor and his gifts is to bankrupt the township. They are asking the community to wait, to make haste slowly.

The ordinance which has been proposed to the Planning Board by Peacos and Sleser is a brake on that which will enable the community to make haste slowly. To develop at a rate which is ordered, not hazardous, it will permit community growth at a rate which will not bankrupt the township. It will permit the gradual expansion of the vital community services, such as the fire department, police department, health department, roads, and never to be overlooked—SCHOOLS, to meet the gradual expansion of the population.

Like any brake, the friction as it is applied is going to burn something or someone. The big question is, who will be burned. You will be able to tell by the screams at any Planning Board meeting, upon whom the pinch is the lightest. At the last Planning Board meeting, the hall was filled almost to capacity with people who wanted to see the brakes applied. The people who screamed in protest were the big time developers.

Unfortunately, nothing can be done to stop the developers who are now seeking to build under our ordinance. In use a polite word, subdivision ordinance. We can delay somewhat, but under the present ordinance, we cannot prevent.

The most logical way to prevent the cancer of over-development from growing is to cut it out at its roots, the present subdivision ordinance. Change the subdivision ordinance to one that will STOP GAP, the expansion until our $32,000 master plan is finished. Let's not pour $32,000 down the drain. Let's wait for the master plan. Let's plug the leak before we are inundated—bankrupt.

If you are the type of person who would want to protect your daughter from an unhappy future, you understand the desire of Mayor Peacos to protect the Township of Franklin from the same eventualities.

I say support Peacos and Sleser on their proposed ordinance for the sake of Franklin Township.

Sincerely,
Joseph M. Kiffin
44 Roberts Rd.

Dear Editor:

Franklin Township voters must be scratching their heads in surprise these days. Most of them, I'm sure, thought they voted in a new administration last November, new not just in names and faces, but in ideas and plans. Everything started off fine, to be sure. The ten-year delay in establishing sensible zoning laws, probably the most serious of the past blunders, seemed about to be corrected. A solidly conceived zoning amendment was introduced, and although, as expected, the opposition predicted calamity, one nevertheless could almost hear the sigh of relief from the average taxpayer.

Now suddenly the rusty voices from the past all like they are running the show again—the Planning Board votes unanimously against the amendment—various lost and confused souls who should know better seem to be getting cold feet—and an old consultant or two confuses the issue further 'by hanging horses in mid stream.

Must we remind ourselves again of the basic issues at hand? We certainly have enough evidence before our eyes that this business about the right to live and build where one chooses is a meaningless mokescreen, a bottomless trap leading only to bankruptcy. The more important fact is that a township whose only tax ratables are from low and middle income home owners can never meet its responsibilities toward these home owners on such matters as schools, police, fire protection, roads, etc., without imposing an exorbitant tax rate. Is it not virtually a fraud to let a prospective homeowner buy or build under the false pretense that he will be paying taxes proportional to a $15,000-$20,000 home, when in fact he soon will be taxed as if he owned a $30,000-$40,000 white elephant?

Let us not be swayed by the false prophets who were repudiated at the polls last November, nor by those who voted only for a change in face but not in form. Neither of these groups offer the township anything constructive. The platform pledges that he will win the election still offer the best path to stability, and the only valid criticism that can be directed against this zoning amendment is that it may be too little and too late.

Yours truly,
Harold S. Weiss
