CLASS OF '28 TO HOLD REUNION

The final meeting of the reunion committee of the Class of June, 1928, Hoboken High School, (formerly known as A. J. Demarest High School) was held in the home of Peter DePalma, Morris Plains, N.J.

All relatives and friends of the graduates were contacted and Chairman Edward M. DeFazio reported almost complete run-down on graduates. Very few remained unlocated.

The reunion dinner is scheduled for Union Club, Saturday, June 1, at 7:30 P.M. and will be attended by forty men and women directly or indirectly related to the graduating class of June 1928.

Every effort is being made to entertain the graduates who will be present. Souvenirs will be given for those who travel furthest and those who have most children and grandchildren.

Peter DePalma and his "Rhythm Boys" will provide the music.

A most enjoyable evening is anticipated by Mr. DeFazio and his co-chairmen Peter DePalma and James Kilduff.

A public service will follow at 7 p.m. under the direction of Major Eccleston and Mrs. William Ramage, and Mr. and Mrs. William Brandt of Trenton.

Rev. Francis X. Coyle, former curate of Our Lady of Grace Parish Hoboken, and Hoboken Department of Safety chaplain, will be feted tonight at School 9.

The dinner will be sponsored by Our Lady of Grace Holy Name Society. Father Coyle is now assigned to a parish in Springfield. Patrolman Walter Sogliuzzo and Thomas Connors, principal of School 9, are co-chairmen for the affair.

The dinner is limited to 300 guests, a large segment of which is expected to represent the Hoboken Police & Fire Departments.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Rodriguez of 808 Willow Ave., Hoboken, are the proud parents of a son born at Margaret Hague Hospital on May 24.

MARRIAGE CUSTOMS AROUND THE WORLD

There'll be about 1 1/2 million weddings in the United States this year and, as usual, June is the most popular month for the altar-bound.

Why June has become the traditional month of weddings and roses probably relates to the transportation difficulties in early America, too much snow in the winter to get to a wedding celebration. Spring and fall were bad times, too, because folks were busy with planting or harvesting.

Another influencing factor may have been that June is named after the Roman goddess, JUNO. The Greeks had a different name for this dame--HERA. Anyway, the point is that Juno (or Hera) was the goddess of womanhood, of marriage and of maternity. She was usually represented as a matronly type, but nonetheless beautiful. The peacock, the cuckoo and the pomegranate were sacred to her. Homer spoke of her as the "white-armed goddess" and the "ox-eyed queen"--all of which adds up to the kind of deity every prospective bride ought to have on her side.

These and many other interesting observations about the origins of wedding customs are culled from Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia. Here are some more:

For instance, the engagement ring represents the very old custom of a gift to the girl desired in marriage. The diamond ring originated in Italy where the diamond was believed to be a "flame of love." In ancient Egypt, the ring was a symbol of eternity. It also symbolized the "captive bride" whose hands were tied to prevent her from escaping. Anglo-Saxons wore the ring on the right hand until the wedding when it was transferred to the left.

Another custom credited to ancient Egypt is throwing old shoes or tying them to the bridal car. In the land of the pyramids, the father handed the bride's sandal to the groom, symbolizing a transfer of authority.

Mohammedans, back in the middle ages, used orange blossoms in their ceremonies, as the orange was their most prolific fruit. Today orange blossoms symbolize the hope that the wedded couple will be blessed with children.

Throwing rice carries the same wish... but in ancient times it was also a way to "protect" the marriage from evil gods.

Since the sun was a god in many early societies, it was believed that if a bride-to-be gazed on the sun she would be certain to have children. This may explain the old saying, "Happy is the bride the sun shines on."

Even though her wedding day is her happiest day, the bride is supposed to cry, symbolizing the dismay of the bride of olden times captured by force. The capture is also reflected in the custom of the groom carrying the bride over the threshold of their new home.

Centuries ago in France the bride threw her garter and the girl who caught it was believed to be the next bride. Today the bride is some what more subdued and throws her bouquet--but the bridesmaids still scramble to make the catch.

In ancient times, according to Compton's, the date of the wedding was often chosen at some phase of the moon when the gods were presumed to be favorable. This practice, with the custom of eating honey at the marriage feast, may be the origin of the word honeymoon.

Sometimes the marriage ceremony involved guarantees. The veil over the bride's face may have indicated that she had been secluded from men, and her white robe was a warrant of her purity. Even now it is thought bad luck for the groom to see the bride before the ceremony on their wedding day.

Another widespread custom is for the bride to wear "something old, something new, something borrowed, and something blue." In ancient Israel, the bride's robe had a blue border signifying purity, fidelity and love.

High-caste Brahmans in India believe a girl should marry at puberty. Usually the child bride remains with her family until she is 15 or 16. Marriage celebrations in India are so elaborate, Compton's points out that "the expense of the affair and of the bride's dowry frequently drives the father to the moneylender." Many American fathers can testify that this rural event is not exclusive with India.

Japanese tradition requires the bride to wear a veil over her elaborate hairdo called a "honnor-er." Jealousy is thought to beish when it is removed.

Boating Tips...

The boater's most common use for line is tying up to a dock. To do the job like a real sailor, learn these two simple hitches. suggest Mercury outboard authorities: use the upper knot--the illustration to tie up to a cleat. Pass the line around the cleat under both horns, then diagonally across the top of the cleat and under the first horn. Tuck the loose end under the line, where it passes across the top. The more pull by the boat, the greater the holding power of the hitch--yet it can be loosened easily by tugging at the free end. Use the other knot, the clove hitch, to tie up to posts or piles. It consists of two loops with the free end tucked under. Don't use this hitch for permanent fastening, since it may eventually slip.

SHOWING THE FLAG

A fine old custom seems to have pretty well vanished from the land. It is that of "showing the flag" -- not only from the roofs of public and business buildings, but from the porches of private homes, the humble no less than the opulent. Then, on festive occasions, red-white-and-blue bunting was used as a decoration. Few of us have seen bunting in many years.

There was a sense of pride in country behind all this. The flag was thought of as the symbol of many things -- of a free people; of a world power; of a land of opportunity, whatever the faults and ills might be; of the rights and obligations of both the individual citizen and the body politic alike.

Old customs, fallen largely into disuse, can be revived and given new life and breath. The country will observe Flag Week during June 10-15 period. It would be good if flags flew everywhere, in the old way, and if bunting graced the speakers' tables and platforms and rostrums. These flags will be blown, so to speak, by the winds of unpredictable change -- but as they banner out, they will stand for the permanence of a nation based on the dignity and freedom of man, on the implacable resolution of a people to stand for what they believe to be right, no matter what may come.

"THE WORLD IN WHICH WE WHIRL"

The editor of the Germantown, Pennsylvania, Courier tells of a little lesson he was recently given in "How changing is the world in which we whirl. . . ."

He dropped in on a jeweler friend to ask what had happened to the dollar watch -- the famous "turnip" of a past age. It was a good watch, too, and it went on ticking away indefinitely so long as over-eager boys didn't take it apart to see what made it work.

Well, the jeweler had the dollar watch. Only now the price tag is $6.50, plus 65 cents federal tax and 26 cents state tax. So the taxes alone total almost as much as the watch used to cost.

As the editor says at the end, "Let's quit this nostalgia right now." And there's no particular moral to be drawn -- except that the old and revered dollar watch is an excellent symbol of the inflation that is drowning us.

A CREEPING THING

The Denver, Colo., Mining Record says: "The advent of socialism in this country will not come with the deliberate knowledge of the people. Like the inflation that we now endure, socialism will make its appearance as a creeping thing, using many disguises and subterfuges. . . ."

JOURNEY TO THE STARS

By JAMES P. GRAZIOSO

Before men can go on interplanetary flights nuclear engines must be developed so that a long acceleration can take place and develop a tremendous speed. It would be impossible to put enough chemical fuel into a rocket for such a trip because the weight requirement would demand a colossal thrust. A nuclear engine, used in the upper stages, would make possible a much lighter vehicle and require a small thrust to achieve a great velocity.

In preparation for future trips to Mars, Venus and Jupiter, a nuclear rocket program is being carried jointly by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Atomic Energy Commission. This program includes three projects (Kiwi, Nerva and Rift) and an advance research and technology program aimed at providing the technology for improved propulsion systems.

The Kiwi project is being carried out by the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory and is designed to develop technology for the first generation nuclear rocket reactor based on uranium-loaded, graphite fuel elements. This program is already well advanced and test runs have been made and design modifications have been made based on the tests.

The research under the Nerva project, development of flight engines for nuclear rocket powered upper-stage vehicles, is proceeding under a space nuclear propulsion office contract to the Aerojet General Corporation. A principal sub-contractor, Westinghouse Electric Corporation, is responsible for the nuclear portion of the work; namely, the development of the reactor for inclusion in the Nerva engine based on the Kiwi concept. This program is coming along very well. Design work has been completed, many of the reactor components have been procured and various tests on some of the sub-sections of the engine have been made. Agreement between the Air Force and NASA has been executed for the utilization of the Air Force Nuclear Aerospace Research Facility which is operated by the Fort Worth Division of General Dynamics Corporation.

The development project for flight testing a NERVA powered nuclear vehicle has been termed RIFT and is the sole responsibility of NASA. In June 1962, a contract was awarded to the Lockheed Missiles and Space Company for the first phase of design and development of the RIFT stage. The level of effort is paced by the progress made in the KIWI and NERVA projects and is confined to those areas at this time.

While these projects are being developed, NASA and AEC are participating in an advanced research and technology programs to provide base technology for the design and development of future generations of nuclear rocket engines and to support current projects. The Atomic Energy Commission have initiated work in advancing the technology of graphite systems directed toward problems of restarting engines, of long operation periods, high power levels, reliability, and other essential characteristics for operational rocket engines, and a program for study, evaluation, and research on nongraphite reactor concepts.

NASA, with the help of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which was largely responsible for the success of the Mariner 11 Venus probe, is performing research directed toward evaluation of advanced concepts and technology related to vehicles and mission application.

So while the manned landing on the moon is in progress, work is going on in the planning, designing and solution of problems involved in landing men on Mars and sending manned probes to Venus and Jupiter. Meanwhile thousands of jobs are being created every month which in turn brings added income to thousands of others in supporting fields.

Deadline for reservations for the annual play day of Hudson County Bar Assn. is June 14, it was announced by chairman Lester Miller, Union City lawyer. The affair will be held June 20 at the Edgewood Country Club, River Vale... A. F. Gueckenberger is chairman of the 75th anniversary celebration of the Hudson County Food Merchants Assn. dinner-dance slated for Oct. 27 at the Union Club, Hoboken... Charles Schwartz of Swanwick VFW Post, West New York, has been elected Hudson County Commander to succeed Joseph Kreber, of Bright-Burroughs Post, Jersey City...

The Rev. Leonard Gerard Cruoglio, 332a Fifth St., Jersey City, was ordained a priest at recent ceremonies in Immaculate Conception Cathedral, Camden... Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Christopher Baruth, 20 Arcadia Rd., Hackensack, on the birth of a son, David Corey.

Louis E. Ulrich, 16, a senior at St. Michael's High School, Union City, has been accepted as a freshman at Rutgers State University in Newark. He is the youngest senior in the graduating class of June 1963. He enrolled for a five year engineering program in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Ulrich was born in West New York and attended Public School No. 3. He is photographic editor of the school year book and the only senior on the prom committee. Last year he had a featured part in St. Michael's Operetta production, "Brigadoon."

For the past four years he has been teaching Sunday School in Our Lady of Leberia Roman Catholic Church, West New York, and is a member of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine.

He is a member of the Tempests Band, playing clarinet and saxophone and his hobbies are reading, dancing and music.

He lives at home with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ulrich, 573-54th St., West New York and his brother Harold Jr., age 21, a June graduate of Stevens Tech.

MR. SNITCH . . .
HE'S HERE HE'S THERE
HE'S EVERYWHERE

THE MERRY bus driver keeps all his women passengers in a gay mood while they ride his bus to all points between Hackensack and Jersey City. His quips and comments are so laugh-provoking he should be writing the scripts for some of our jaded comedians. Yet, when one passenger made a crack about one of his quips, he came back with, "What do you expect for your quarter, Bing Crosby?" It was a happy trip - the world needs more folks with a sense of humor.

CHILDLESS, both worked and saved most of their money for the day when they would retire. They did without most of the comforts of life and all the luxuries over the years. Now both have reached retirement age and plan a world tour. The wife is trying hard to give the enthusiasm expected. It will not be a gay trip for her. She has been told her husband has only a few months to live and it is quite possible he may die on the trip but she is taking that chance rather than let him learn the truth.

HIS WIFE OBJECTED to his drinking and believed him when he said he was off the stuff and was sticking to iced tea. One afternoon a few of the wife's friends dropped in. Seeing her husband's tea in the refrigerator, she served it. Hubby, on arriving home from work found them all "high" on the tea which was straight bourbon. She hasn't complained about hubby's drinking since.

THIS KID lived like a king as a teenager. He demanded and got everything he wanted from his doting parents but gave nothing in return. He didn't even take out the garbage or walk the dog. Now he is married - to a shrew - who gets breakfast in bed and has him run ragged waiting on her and paying her bills. She is so extravagant he has to "moonlight" to meet the tab. And his parents, old and worn, still get no help from him even though they went broke to put him through college.

HE WAS a member of the Ambulance Corps, also was a businessman. One night he was on an emergency call - a woman who had attempted suicide. Help had come in time and the woman

Only 1 person in 300 has a phone like this

This telephone is made for the hard of hearing; it has a volume control built into the receiver. There are many other items we make for handicapped persons, such as an artificial larynx for those with impaired speech—and special school-to-home teaching equipment for shut-ins. The call for these services isn't big. But if the need is there, we make them available. They make it possible to extend to everyone the good phone service all of us enjoy. NEW JERSEY BELL

RED CROSS TO CONDUCT FOLLOW UP CAMPAIGN

W. Lloyd Van Keuren, chapter chairman and Harry J. Leber, chairman for Members and funds of North Hudson Chapter, American Red Cross, presented certificates of appreciation to the 1963 fund leaders Wednesday night at a dinner meeting held in the Italian Community Center.

Joseph R. Romano, fund chairman, received special recognition for his leadership. Frank R. Oliver, managing editor of Hudson Dispatch, who is the chapter's chairman of public information, also received a certificate for his efforts in publicizing the committee's activities.

In thanking the fund leaders on behalf of the chapter, Van Keuren pointed out the importance of having a strong Red Cross in these days of critical world tensions and said that Red Cross receives no government subsidy and must raise its funds to maintain its many services from the voluntary contributions of the American people. He hoped that the people of North Hudson will give generously so the chapter can continue its services without curtailment.

In accepting the certificate, Romano commended the members of the fund committee for their efforts. He reported about 40 percent of the quota had been collected. He said a follow-up campaign has been started to secure maximum collections. Enough money must be raised to meet the financial requirements of the chapter.

Leber, in urging increased support said that Red Cross stands for neighborly help wherever there is human need. It has provided the organizational leadership as well as essential funds for disaster relief, services to the Armed Forces and veterans and training programs in first aid and other activities. The increase in need for Red Cross services requires more funds and a greater number of active volunteers. He asked for increased giving so that Red Cross will be ready to meet all emergencies.

Among the invited guests were the Mayors of North Hudson municipalities, Commissioner John J. O'Connor of Union City, George Coomber, asst. director of disaster services for national Red Cross and members of fund advisory committee and chapter officers.

Those presented certificates were: Frank Pezzolla and Mrs. Frances Melliflore, Guttenberg chairman; Edward Pesin, North Bergen chairman; Councilman Herman C. Pope and Miss Anne V. Kleese, Secaucus chairman; James Acinapura, Union City chairman; Arthur J. Bonn, Weehawken chairman and Thomas Cappadona, West New York chairman. The following leaders in the industrial division also received awards: George A. Goeller, Joseph R. Malik, George E. Wolsieffer, Jr., Samuel L. Cohen, Anthony Coviello and David Prugh. The 1963 planning and advisory committee members and honorary chairmen also received awards.

ST. ANTHONY'S Carnival in Union City, got underway on Monday night with a rousing parade and exciting music by the famous St. Patrick's Cadets. Father Thomas Petrillo, moderator of the entire event, is shown as he alights from new 1963 automobile, one of the many awards being made at the carnival. Father was greeted on the carnival grounds by Carl Mirasola, general chairman. Thousands were on hand for the opening including Mayor William V. Musto. The carnival, located at Eighth St. and Central Ave., looked like one of the huge entertainment grounds. Professional recording artists, The Young Lads and Johnny Saint and The Angels, will be on hand on Friday, May 31, to kick-off "Teenage Night" and to introduce their new recordings. St. Anthony's looks for its biggest success of the year because of the many, many thousands who attended. The carnival will continue through June 3.

ROAD REPAIR NEAR COMPLETION

Fairview Mayor Louis Battaglia said this week that, with the spreading and leveling of the first layer of crushed stone on Fairview Ave., west of the Broad Ave. cutoff, he hoped for the completion of the improvement by next week. The roadway, a controversy between North Bergen and Fairview officials for two years, since the road is within Fairview borough, and used 99 per cent for getting in and out of the "neck" section of North Bergen, finally became an improvement project after the State Highway Commission took over the bulk of its cost.

The repair of the road, a distance of about 500 feet, was contracted to the Giovanni Asphalt Co. of Emerson, who was lowest bidder at $13,496.50.

HUDSON-BERGEN LIONS TO SEND DELEGATES TO DISTRICT CONVENTION

Delegates from the eight Lions Clubs in Hudson County, including Hudson City, Hoboken, North Bergen, Harrison, Bayonne, Kearny, Jersey City and North Hudson, will join representatives of other Northern New Jersey clubs in District 16-A for the 42nd annual Lions State Convention June 6 to 9 at Atlantic City, particularly to elect their next district governor.

The convention will also feature an address by Curtis D. Lovill, president of Lions International, U.S. Senator Harrison A. Williams and David Davies, executive director of the New Jersey Tercentenary Commission.

The election session for District 16-A will be held Saturday, June 8 with two candidates, Joseph R. Butwinski of Paramus and George E. Sandquist of North Arlington, vying for the top post in the Northern New Jersey District.

Candidate Butwinski, a charter member of the Paramus Lions Club, is currently serving as a deputy district governor; he also served as zone chairman and has held the office of president and all other offices in his club. He holds an 11 year perfect attendance record in his club as well as at zone and district meetings.

Active in civic, fraternal and municipal affairs, Butwinski, who operates his own real estate and insurance business, is a member of the Paramus Chamber of Commerce and the Paramus Elks Club. He helped organize the Paramus Boys Club, the Little League, the Babe Ruth League and Central Bergen Baseball League. He formed a Drum and Bugle Corps for the Boys Club.

Butwinski was born to Polish parents in Kingston, Pa., on December 4, 1911, the first son of a miner's family of six girls and two boys. He is married to the former Agnes Mendecky, and they have two children, Joseph 15 and Michael 12; they have been residents of Paramus for 13 years.

Candidate Sandquist, charter member and first president of the North Arlington Lions Club, is currently serving as deputy district governor in the South Bergen Region of District 16-A; he also served as zone chairman. He is a Lions Key member and has maintained 100% attendance since his club was formed in 1951. He has served on various club and district committees, and has been a leader in the eye-bank movement to assist in corneal transplants.

Sandquist, who operates his own insurance agency, has been active in municipal, church and civic affairs. He is a member of the Juvenile Conference Committee of North Arlington and chairman of the Adult Evening School program.

Needlecraft News

by Nancy Baxter

HAVE you noticed that lately there's been a trend toward the feminine look in hats, dresses, accessories and home furnishings. These designs aren't just smart or fashionable — they have something that fashions haven't had for quite a long time. They're beautiful! And, they make the women who wear them look beautiful too.

CUSTOM MADE LOOK

There's been a great return to the gentlewomanly arts, you know. I'm speaking of those arts that give dresses, tablecloths — just about everything, in fact — a real, precious custom-made look. In addition, they offer all the satisfaction and relaxation of a truly creative activity. This factor is particularly important in this machine age of ours. We read continually of women who are searching for new ways to express themselves and their own individuality. Needlecraft has turned out to be a wonderfully satisfying way of doing just that, while relaxing you at the same time. And — it's easy. If you don't believe me, try a hand at it yourself. A good first project might be a pair of gloves like those pictured here.

DELICATE BUT STURDY

The delicacy of these gloves makes them the ideal complement for all your summer cottons. But, though they appear fragile, they're deceptive. The stitch in which they're crocheted makes them sturdy enough to survive many months of wear. Chain four loops are used to make the body of the gloves. Look closely, though, and you will notice an interesting contrast. A shell type design appears on two fingers and the cuffs.

126 Fifth Grade Pupils Visit Fish Hatcheries

On Wednesday, May 22, one hundred twenty-six fifth grade students from Clarendon and Huber Street Schools visited the State Fish Hatcheries and State Game Farm on a Science Field Trip.

One of the largest fish hatcheries in the United States is located in Hackettstown, and is operated by the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development Division of Fish and Game. There are 300 ponds of various sizes and three hatchery buildings, containing 128 troughs. These ponds, if placed end to end, would reach nearly 10 miles. It takes between 5 and 6 million gallons of water a day to operate the ponds.

The purpose of the hatchery is to raise fish with which to stock the streams and lakes of New Jersey. A yearly average of over 500,000 trout, averaging 9 1/2 to 10 inches are stocked annually in about 750 miles of streams and 50 lakes. A large number of fingerling and adult bass and adult bluegill sunfish are stocked annually in the lakes throughout the State that are open to the public.

At noon the children enjoyed a picnic lunch in Stephens State Park, an attractive 231 acre park two miles north of Hackettstown. In the afternoon the group visited the Rockport Game Farm. More than 50,000 pheasants are raised here annually. Highlight of the afternoon was a visit to the breeding house where the students observed the hatching of pheasant eggs in incubators. Other animals at the farm were peacocks, deer, rabbits, wood ducks, Canadian geese, wild turkeys and guinea hens.

Tozer Took Part In Project Mercury

Raymond H. Tozer, electrician's mate fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Tozer of 704 Golden av., Secaucus, was in the Pacific aboard the destroyer tender USS Piedmont, while she was part of the Project Mercury recovery force this month.

The Piedmont was part of a huge network of ships and shore stations spread across the Pacific for the re-entry of Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper after his 22 orbits of the earth.

The Air Force major was picked up without incident by the aircraft carrier USS Kearsarge.

The Piedmont serviced the 12 destroyers assigned to the recovery force. She is equipped to handle most major repairs on destroyers without benefit of shipyards.

TWO WOMEN, long time friends, were shopping together. One, whose husband was very ill, stopped at a china ware counter and was looking at cereal bowls. She said she had none. About to give the saleslady two bowls she was asked by her friend, "Why buy two? Wait and see if your husband gets out of the hospital." And the bowls were only 29¢ each.

SHE IS TRYING to break off her engagement. Not because she doesn't love her fiancé but because she has just learned that her father is not dead but is doing a life sentence for killing her mother. Her aunt who had brought her up had kept the truth from her but she worked in a newspaper office and had found the old clippings in the morgue. What she doesn't know is that her fiancé also knows and doesn't care. He is waiting for her to tell him.

WHEN they lived in an apartment, they didn't give a hang what they did. The rooms were a mess when they moved out. But the home they bought is "off limits" to most of their old friends. They used to have late drinking parties in the apartment but now that they own their pad they don't want so much as a door knob smudged.

New Jersey Has 1,395 Local Governments

Although small in area, New Jersey ranks 20th among the 50 states in number of local governments, with 1,395. This information, contained in a recent comprehensive report by the United States Bureau of the Census shows that on January 1 of this year, New Jersey had 21 counties, 567 municipalities, 512 independent school districts and 295 special districts including authorities. An additional 73 Chapter 6 school districts and county vocational schools were not included in the total.

Computed on the basis of number of local governments per county, New Jersey is tied with New York for fifth place in the "high" average category of 45 or more, behind Pennsylvania, Delaware, California and South Dakota.

Review of municipal government characteristics reveals that over one-third (207) of New Jersey's municipalities have populations under 3,000. On an area basis, over 170 municipalities have two square miles or less, while 75 of these have one square mile or under. There are over one hundred school systems with fewer than 600 pupils.

Consideration of the large number of governmental units, the State's rank of forty-sixth in area and second in population density, has led to questions of whether New Jersey actually needs all the units of government which have been created, and whether certain governmental services could, in many instances, be provided more efficiently over larger service areas.

New Jersey's Local Government Board in its recent Fifteenth Report repeated its belief that "substantial economies could eventually be brought about by the consolidation of municipalities."

The New Jersey Taxpayers Association has long advocated promotion of larger service areas by consolidating functions between two or more governmental units by joint service agreements and by outright mergers.

"Such efforts, of necessity, must be preceded by thorough study," said the Association. "However, if the constant rise in property taxes is to be stemmed, the search for efficiency and economy must be broadened to include serious and objective review of the present pattern of local governmental units."

Eugene Torpay Wins Annapolis Appointment

One of Hudson County's outstanding high school football players of the 1961 season, Eugene B. Torpay of 15 Glenwood Avenue, Jersey City has won an appointment to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis through participation in the Naval Reserve program at the U.S. Naval Reserve Training Center in Jersey City.

Torpay, a 1962 graduate of St. Peter's Preparatory School, enlisted as a seaman in U.S. Naval Reserve Surface Division 3-19 (L) at the local Training Center last June. The program, under which he qualified for appointment to Annapolis by the Secretary of the Navy, requires scholastically qualified candidates to participate satisfactorily and efficiently in a drilling unit of the Naval Reserve for at least one year prior to their entrance to the Naval Academy.

An all Hudson County and all Metropolitan end in 1961, Torpay also was recipient of a Naval Academy Foundation Scholarship, under which he did post-graduate work at Columbian Preparatory School in Washington, D. C., during part of the past year.

In congratulating Seaman Recruit Torpay and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Torpay, Commander Alvin Masterson Jr., USNR Commanding Officer of the U.S. Naval Reserve Training Center in Jersey City, pointed out that over 150 appointments to Annapolis are available annually to scholastically qualified high school graduates, who enlist in the U.S. Naval Reserve and serve at least one year of satisfactory service prior to July 1 of the year of their entrance to the Naval Academy.

Torpay, 18, is the oldest of four children. His brother, William, attends St. Peter's Preparatory School, and a second brother, Brian is a student at St. Aedan's Grammar School. His sister, Margaret Mary, is in the primary grades at St. Peter's and St. Paul's School.
