"We are a full service barber shop, a full service hair salon. We do all services. We want to offer our customers a high quality service. We are very proud of our work and we hope you will come in and give us a try."
DiGaetano favors temporarily halting area code change
Assembly Majority Leader Paul DiGaetano (R-36) and Assembly Speaker Pro Temp, Nick Felice (R-40) have asked Herbert Tate, president of the Board of Public Utilities (BPU), to temporarily halt any further action designating new area codes in the state.

Concerned about the proposed change, DiGaetano said, "This action will undoubtedly impose excessive, and perhaps unnecessary, inconvenience, confusion and costs upon both residential and commercial users." Echoing the Majority Leader's comments, Felice said, "We should consider other options before creating what might be an avoidable nuisance to the public."

DiGaetano and Felice presented three alternatives to the BPU's proposal which include designating new area codes in all cellular telephone, beeper, fax and other data lines. Adding one to three digits to those numbers would be another option. The legislators' third proposal would require that all direct dial beepers utilize a central electronic switch system. In his comments to the BPU, DiGaetano said, "While we understand your concern and are sympathetic with our state's telephone users, we are confident that since New York currently utilizes similar practices, we can work with our state's Congressional delegation to secure FCC approval here in New Jersey."

"We believe that exploding these least intrusive approaches would better serve our state's telephone users, while appropriately addressing the congestion needs to alleviate the user's perceived telephone number shortage," said DiGaetano.

To further discuss options, DiGaetano and Felice have requested a meeting with Tate and other BPU Commissioners regarding the proposed area code changes.

RHS three National Merit finalists

William D. Bauman, principal, proudly announced that three Rutherford High students have qualified as semifinalists in the National Merit Scholarship program. The semifinalists, Sarah Fogarty, Lauren McCann, and Jason Rynd, entered the merit program by taking the 1995 PSAT/NMSQT which serves as a national screening of over one million eligible participants. In each state, a select number of students (about 16,000 in New Jersey) were chosen as National Merit semifinalists. Sarah, Lauren, and Jason are among the top 20% of over one million students who entered the Merit Program.

RHS seniors showered with awards

Barbara Jone, Guidance director at Rutherford High, proudly announced the achievements of various RHS seniors. The awards recognize their high academic standards in the classroom and competitive exams. Lauren McCann will receive the National Merit Scholarship, which is awarded at the University of Rochester in Rochester, NY. She has also been awarded the Rensselaer Medal for distinguishing herself in mathematics and science. The honor and recognition come with a stipend to enter a competition for a Rensselaer Medal Scholarship, which is worth $5,000.

Here are Vagabonding's recipes

Maple-Bourbon Cheesecake (serves 10)

For the Thanksgiving Treat:

Cheesecake:
- 1/2 cup (125 ml) sour cream
- 1/3 cup (20 ml) maple syrup
- 2 tablespoons whole-grain mustard
- 1/3 cup (80 ml) melted butter

In a small bowl, stir together mustard, maple syrup, butter and salt. Spray a large skillet with vegetable oil spray.

Cut pork into 12 slices and flat:
- 2 tables dears onion powder
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons whole-grain mustard
- 1/4 cup (50 ml) maple syrup
- 2 tablespoons whole-grain mustard
- 1/4 cup (50 ml) melted butter

Even if she did not have the money to buy them, she always taught their children about love and kindness. She never stopped doing this.

I was able to better serve them because I was able to do this.

When my mother heard the sound of the fire engine coming, she raced downstairs to berate him. All she could say was "Him!"

No more negative ads

The public is sick and tired of negative political ads.

Candidates have the right to get their point across, but the public does not deserve the tactics that are forced upon us.

Slick, agency-produced ads spewing insults are not what campaigns should be about. There are limits on campaign contributions and there should be regulations on the campaign ads.

The candidates should face the public, face the issues, and not hide behind a sales pitch slick enough to sell a snowball to an eskimo.

Lyndhurst should provide places for teens

Lyndhurst Library celebrates children's Book Week

November 18-24 is "Children's Book Week" and Lyndhurst Public Library will be marking the 75th anniversary of this celebration. The entire library will participate in the annual celebration with a special focus on children's books.

"Children's Book Week" and the Lyndhurst Public Library will be offering a special promotion to help celebrate this special time and encourage reading. Children and families can take advantage of this special offer by returning overdue items during the week, January 18-24. Children's Room: 804-2400. Return at the Children's Room or drive up at the front door.

"Children's Book Week" will be celebrated throughout the week with activities and events for children of all ages. The library will feature a special display of children's books, including new and classic titles. The Children's Room will also host a special storytime each day, featuring different stories and authors.

Additionally, the library will host a special event on Saturday, November 25, from 10:00-12:00, where children can participate in a special craft activity. This event will include a variety of creative projects and fun activities, designed to inspire children's love of reading and storytelling.

"Children's Book Week" is an ideal time to celebrate the joy of reading and the creative power of books. The Lyndhurst Public Library invites everyone to join in the celebration and enjoy the many exciting activities and events planned throughout the week.

Broad National enjoys large gains.

Broad National Development Corporation (NASDAQ:BNDC) reported October 14 net income of $23,300,000 or 50 cents per fully diluted common share for the first nine months of 1996, a 3.1% improvement over the $23,300,000 or 50 cents per fully diluted common share earned in the first nine months of 1995.

For the quarter ended September 30, the company reported net income of $11,265,000 or 25 cents per fully diluted common share, compared to net income of $7,395,000 or 16 cents per fully diluted common share earned in the third quarter of 1995. The 51.9% improvement over the $7,395,000 or 16 cents per fully diluted common share earned in the third quarter of 1995 is believed to reflect the 10% stock dividend declared September 20, 1996 restated to reflect the 10% stock dividend declared September 20, 1996.

Karp said non-interest income of $440,000 for the first nine months of 1996 was $21,000 higher than the $419,000 reported in the comparable period 1995. The non-interest expense of $147,000,000 for the first nine months of 1996 was $2,000 higher than the comparable period 1995. Karp attributed the improvement in non-interest income to the results of the bankwide reengineering project begun at the end of the second quarter of this year.

Karp said the project will continue through the end of this year and that the bank will absorb all remaining costs and expenses associated with it during the fourth quarter of 1996.

The 51.9% improvement over the $7,395,000 or 16 cents per fully diluted common share earned in the third quarter of 1995 is believed to reflect the 10% stock dividend declared September 20, 1996 restated to reflect the 10% stock dividend declared September 20, 1996.

Karp said non-interest income of $440,000 for the first nine months of 1996 was $21,000 higher than the $419,000 reported in the comparable period 1995. The non-interest expense of $147,000,000 for the first nine months of 1996 was $2,000 higher than the comparable period 1995. Karp attributed the improvement in non-interest income to the results of the bankwide reengineering project begun at the end of the second quarter of this year.

Karp said the project will continue through the end of this year and that the bank will absorb all remaining costs and expenses associated with it during the fourth quarter of 1996.
