2 custodians to lose tenure
Supervisor to retire, no disciplinary action planned

by JOLYN GARNER

Miami Township Board of Education meeting on the Board of Education Monday night.
Board members instructed auxiliary Richard Dillman to continue with tenure charges against 2 high school custodians.

The custodians, Frank Vendemia and Anthony Lauro, along with custodial supervisor Carmen DeMarco, were called to meeting.
Students Superintendent Joseph Abate and the board of Education February 8 to accept DeMarco’s retirement, effective June 24.

DeMarco, in his role in the theft, will not face criminal charges, but will be required to pay back any of the money he may have actually received. Furthermore, Abate stated the board had a private investigator after becoming aware the employees were being paid their jobs even though their tenure is terminated.

Abate said the board had a private investigator after becoming aware the employees were being paid their jobs even though their tenure is terminated.

The investigation confirmed those accusations, among that the board was accused of pocketing much of the $600 in the “black book” which the board sold.

The response appears to be less than accurate. DeMarco will also collect his retirement benefits, including those from when he was employed by the Lyndhurst School District. Russo is also making strides in the fight against illegal dumping.

Red Star Red Army Chorus to perform at MSU

Direct from Russia, the 48-member Red Star Red Army Chorus and Dance ensemble will perform at Morristown State University’s Memorial Auditorium on Sunday, March 8 at 8 p.m as part of the university’s Gussi Summer series.

Enjoying its fourth tour of America, the troupe under the direction of Col. Anzjull Badzhik provides entertainment that is uniquely Russian choreographic style and moves in seconds from a barely audible spoken word to music and dance. The stage comes alive with instrumentation who consistently assure, bass cellos whose profound sonorities seem to rise from beneath the stage, dancers who leap like kangaroos and glide like geese, all executed in stunning costumes of many colors.

Standard ticket is $25; tickets for students, MSU faculty, staff, alumni and children are $12.50. For further information or to order tickets, call the MSU Box Office at (973) 655-5112.

“Kids get arthritis, too” theme of Juvenile arthritis awareness week

March 3-9 is Juvenile Arthritis Awareness Week, and during this week the Arthritis Foundation is launching a nationwide educational campaign to tell Gull. America, the troupe under the direction of Col. Anzjull Badzhik Badzhik.

According to the Foundation, if a child avoids using a particular limb, shows signs of stiffness, or complains about aching joints, it may not be just a growing pain. It may be arthritis.

Juvenile arthritis (JA) is a painful, sometimes debilitating condition that affects as many as 285,000 American children. It can strike boys and girls, and young and old. Early recognition and proper support, and their families, can help to calm these young victims and, at the same time, help to prevent the serious errors that may occur in later years.

"People don’t recognize this arthritis in any young adults, much less children," said Dayan, MD, Senior Vice President, Medical Affairs, for the Arthritis Foundation. "But, the fact is that no one is immune to it. Many young people and their families must cope with the significant impact of daily arthritis pain. And although growing up is tough, growing up with arthritis is even tougher."

According to Cona, a child who has arthritis might find dressing clothes, throwing a ball, opening a door, even waking up difficult or impossible. Along with the pain, arthritis brings fatigue. Some children may have difficulties at school with time consuming activities of a field trip. Arthritis can be worse on some days than on others. Flaring up when least expected.

Using the Interne Kids Care Guides, too, the Arthritis Foundation’s week long awareness efforts will focus on elementary, junior high, and high school by offering a variety of programs, including lesson plans for teachers and an educational coloring book and videos for younger children.

"Sometimes it’s difficult for parents, teachers, and schoolmates to come to grips with the special challenges faced by young people who have arthritis," Cona said. "But these problems are very real and very painful even if there are no noticeable signs of illness. In many ways, it is harder for the young child who may be unable to keep up with his or her peers."

The good news is that the outlook for children with JA is optimistic. Even though there is no cure. Early diagnosis and proper treatment can go a long way in preventing significant disability in later years.

For a free booklet about JA entitled Arthritis in Children, contact the Arthritis Foundation, New Jersey Chapter, at (908) 231-4300 or (609) 482-0600.

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE FOR RESIDENTS OF JERSEY CITY, HOBBOKEN, LYNDHURST, WEST CALDWELL, SECAUCUS AND WEHAWKEN:

Work to Improve Water Supply System May Result in Temporary Inconvenience

On Monday, March 2 United Water Jersey City will shut down the water supply aqueduct for the City of Jersey City to perform a detailed inspection of the 100-year old tunnel system. The aqueduct will be closed for about two weeks to allow engineering teams the opportunity to inspect the tunnel, ensure its integrity and develop a plan to improve water quality and properly maintain the aqueduct system in the 21st century.

We’ve made arrangements with other water suppliers in the area (North District Water Supply Commission, Newark and Passaic Valley Water Commission) to supply the City and its customers with water during the shutdown. You may experience some discolored water during the two weeks that the tunnel is shut down for inspection.

We expect the residents in the communities of Jersey City, Hoboken, Lyndhurst, West Caldwell, Secaucus and Weehawken may experience discolored water during the shutdown. We’re sorry for the temporary inconveniences this may impose but remember that the improvements are permanent.

We’re asking all customers to conserve water during this two week period. That means using water only for essential purposes such as showering, bathroom uses and cooking. You may want to begin filling containers with water before the aqueduct shutdown to use for cooking and drinking. We’re also asking you to take quicker showers in the mornings and wash only full loads of clothes and dishes at night.

Please keep in mind that discolored water poses no health threat. However, you may want to let it run clear before using for drinking, cooking or washing clothes.

If you have a question about this project, please call our customer service representative at 1-800-575-4333. Thank you for your patience and cooperation as we work to serve you better.

Clara Maass Medical Center, an affiliate of the Saint Barnabas Health Care System, has a variety of volunteer positions available within the Medical Center.

Volunteers are needed on mornings, afternoons and evenings for shifts for four to five hours. Duties include patient escort, making beds, clerical support and providing assistance to families. Individuals should be mature, compassionate, sensitive, and able to work under stressful conditions.

• Patient Transport - Volunteers are needed four to six hours a week to serve as drivers to transport patients between buildings within the Medical Center.

Years ago, doing the family wash was no quick trip to the laundromat

Vagabonding
by Sarah Lipton

When I think of what hard work doing the family wash was years ago, I don’t know how women did it.

When I was a little girl, my mother used to do the wash in the basement. She would bring in a washboard, and put it into the water. Then the blankets would be folded and put away.

Nowadays, washing clothes is a lot easier. We have automatic washing machines that make the process much faster.

But it’s not just about washing clothes. It’s also about handling the water. Back then, women had to be very careful not to spill water. Nowadays, we have automatic dishwashers and washing machines that take care of all that.

One thing that hasn’t changed is the smell of the laundry. Back then, women used to hang the clothes on a line to dry. Nowadays, we have dryers that make the clothes smell fresh.

In conclusion, doing the family wash used to be a lot more work, but it’s still an important part of our daily routine. We should always be grateful for the conveniences that modern technology has brought us.

The workshop will address the following questions:

1. What are the benefits and drawbacks of using automatic washing machines?
2. How can we reduce water waste when doing the laundry?
3. What are some eco-friendly laundry products that we can use?

If you’re interested in learning more about the history of doing the family wash, you can contact your local museum or historical society. They may have more information about this topic.

Contact us at 1-866-944-4000 or visit www.historical.com to learn more about doing the family wash.

A falling star

Most Americans supported the idea four years ago that a Special Prosecutor should be appointed to investigate the President's involvement in the Whitewater scandal. The President, then the Governor of Arkansas, was to be replaced by Mr. Starr with merely the stature of a reporter for a supermarket tabloid.

With the lofty goal of seeking the truth, Ken Starr has disgraced his office and the institution he represents at a time when we all want for New Jersey:

- Development and Redevelopment
- Open Space
- Environmental Protection
- Tourism
- The Future

Our future, and our people. And you're hopeful about the LANDS. And unless you don't own a car, you've been that used to be rolling meadows or quiet woodlands. And to call home.

EDITORIAL

With or without help from our parents, we know how to raise money for the school budget. But you are also a bit concerned about the political environment that surrounds our children. And you think that the parents should have more involvement in their children's education. And you think that the parents should have more involvement in their children's education.

You don't believe in diabetes

Bergen County maintains Moody’s triple “A” rating

Moody’s Investors Service — one of the nation’s premier bond rating agencies — has once again issued the agency has issued the financial integrity of the county’s triple “A” rating for Bergen County government. This marks the 3rd consecutive year that the agency has issued the highest rating for the County of Bergen.

County Executive William "Pat"uddington explained that he was especially pleased with hearing the strong endorsement of the County’s plan to have a private partnership program to renovate the county complex at Bergen Pines.

County Hospital

"This county is working to ensure that an independent Wall Street agency like Moody’s Investors Service recognizes the strong economic position of the county’s government by providing a positive endorsement of the county’s financial integrity. This endorsement places the county in a stronger position to weather the financial stresses of the future," said Mr. Uddington.

The report stated, "Moody’s believes that the county’s decision to issue the county’s second bond issue in order to retire existing general obligation bonds and to establish a stable financial ratio and is a stabilizing credit factor."

"Commenting on the county’s strong economic environment the report noted, "the county’s employment opportunities are steadily increasing and the unemployment rate is declining and remains below state and national levels."

The report also referenced the fact that since 1995, the amount raised from transaction has declined by 70%.

With early prospective bond sale, the agency maintains the financial strength and financial soundness of the county. A strong credit rating helps to promote fiscal stability and financial soundness of the county’s bonds. The county can avoid the cost of having a government agency to issue bonds and at the same time, assists in lowering taxes for residents and businesses alike.

PROCLAMATION

Whereas, the Veteran of Foreign War have held a contest amongst the students of Rutherford Regional High School entitled "Voice of Democracy," and

Whereas, the purpose of this contest is to teach young adults the great importance of democracy plays in their society, and

Whereas, the Veteran of Foreign War have carefully reviewed and selected the entry that they believe represent the most outstanding composition written as the lesson of democracy in the United States of America; and

Whereas, these three individuals have been selected to represent the community and excellent insight regarding the effects and importance of democracy has on our society; and

Whereas, the Veteran of Foreign War have decided after careful review that Marie F. Manzella, 974, and Donna Parch are the rightful entry that best describes the attributes of democracy both as an individual concept and group concept; and

Whereas, the Governing Body of the Borough of Carlstadt is desirous of acknowledging the achievements of these individuals for their insightful and interesting essays covering the"Voice of Democracy;"故此, by proclamation, that the mayor and borough council of the Borough of Carlstadt are desirous of joining with the Veteran of Foreign War in honoring them during their belated but important achievement by recognizing that each essay be read into the record, and that they be chronicled in the history of Carlstadt and be memorialized as examples of the importance of Democracy in our society; and

Be it Further Proclaimed, that an official copy of the citation, together with the essay, be presented to each recipient and published in the official Borough paper as testament of their achievements.
