MATAWAN REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL

Atlantic Avenue

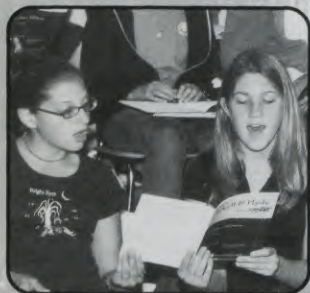

Aberdeen, New Jersey 07747

2003

Class of 2003

Presents...

Tricia and Jessica singing in chorus.

"Hmm...I wonder if this will be on the test..."

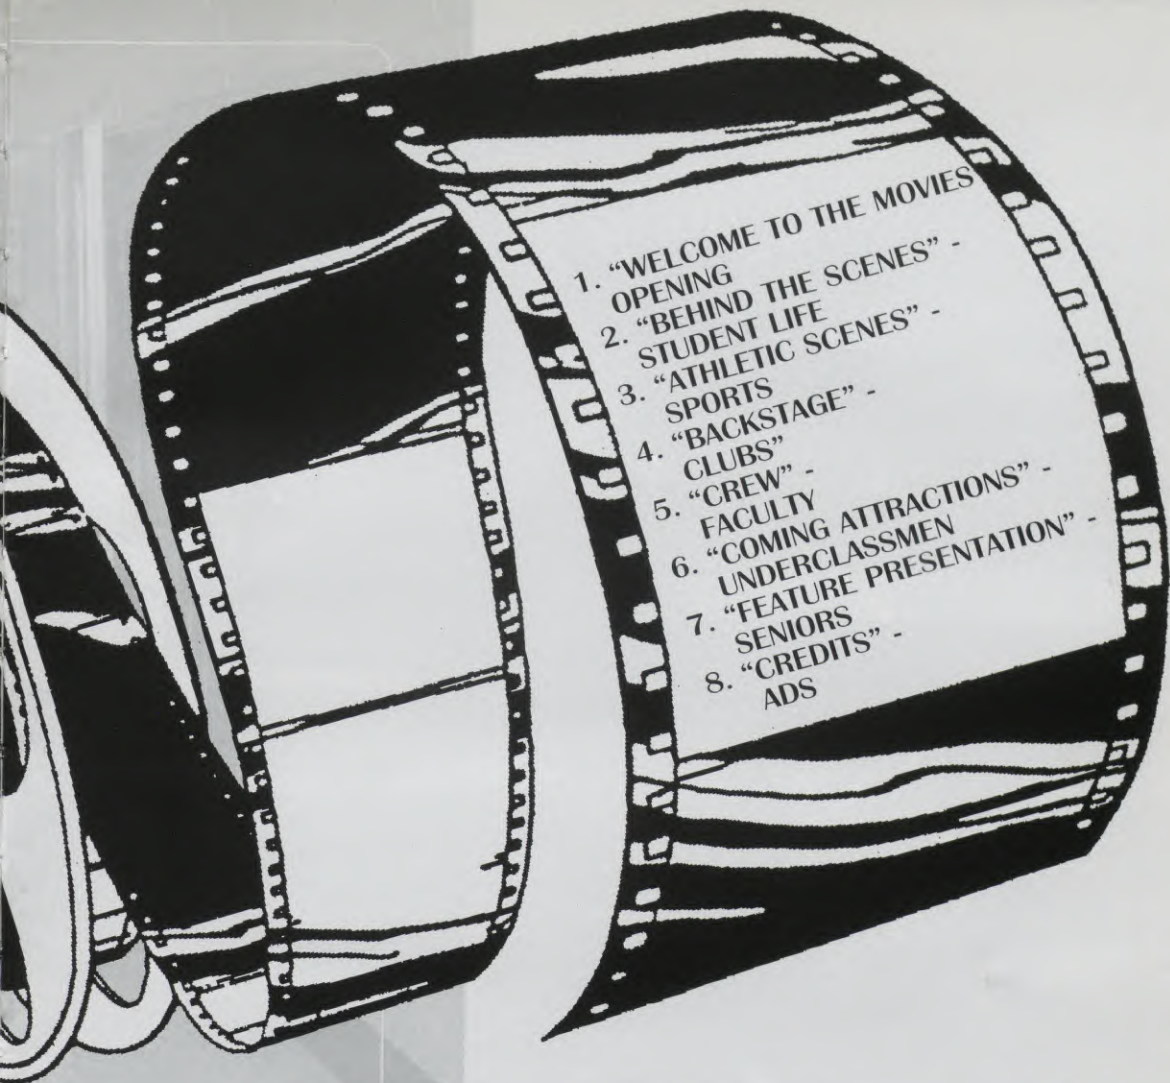

Joe smiles for the camera.

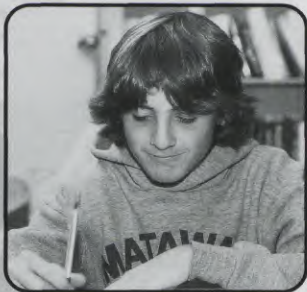

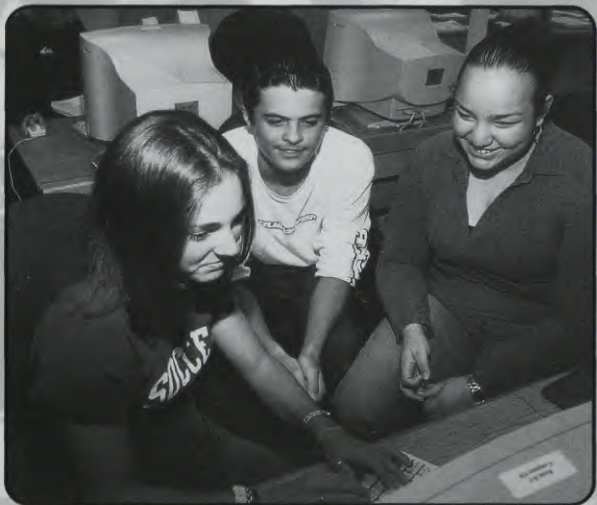

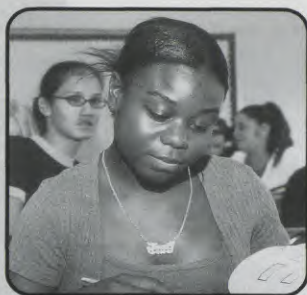

Alyson creates a masterpiece in art class.

As a kid, high school seems like the epitome of adolescent life. It all starts as we watch TV or movies, or maybe we hear stories from an older sibling. Regardless of the source of information we know that high school is the place to be. These fantasies and stories serve as our first basis of information as to what high school will be all about.

As we grow up, though, we realize that high school is not an episode of 'Saved by the Bell', although it may seem to go by that fast. Our days are filled with classes and assignments in addition to all the fun activities that we used to watch students do on TV. But it's these moments, in school and spending time with friends, that will serve as memories for years to come.

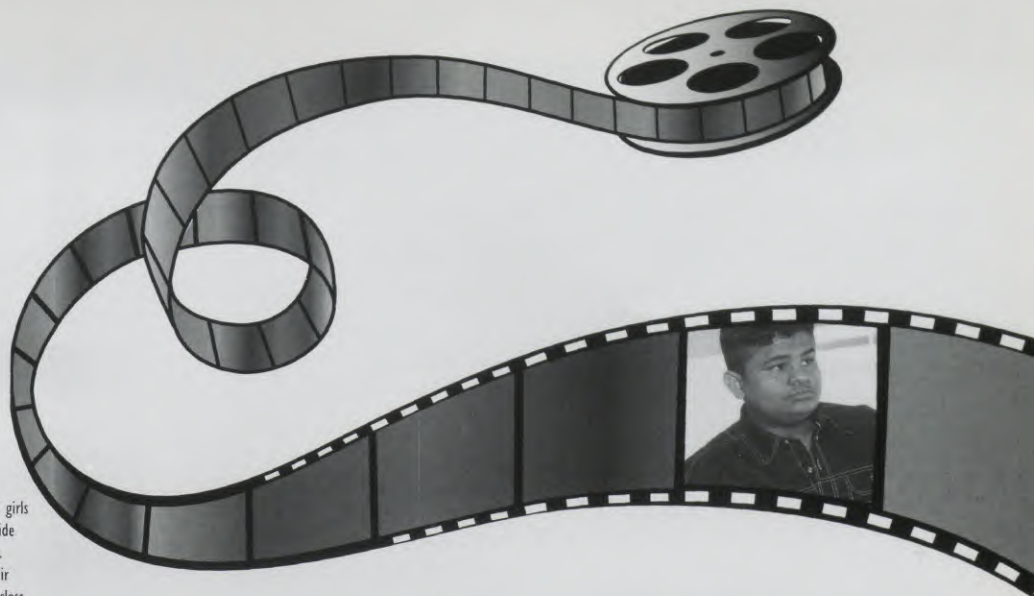

Amber, Catherine, Sara, and Heather pose for the camera.

Whether we are learning about computers or simply telling secrets in class, Matawan students know how to make the best out of their days. The lessons we learn in and out of school will stay with us for years to come.

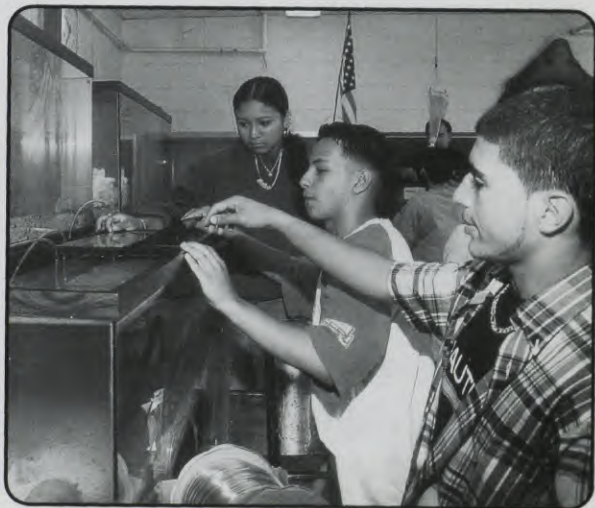

1. Hitting the books.
2. Lunch room antics.
3. Miranda takes a break from studying to look around.
4. Ryan concentrates on his work.

1. This happy group of girls show their Matawan pride with thier smiling faces.
2. Students tend to their fish-tank for a science class.

"LIGHTS- CAMERA- ACTION"

Lauren plays the clarinet during band practise.

Two students helping each other study.

Dan reads along in class.

Amanda enjoys The Crucible in English Class.

"This class is really interesting."

"I wonder if the teacher is going to collect last night's homework."

"I've always wanted to be in pictures."

Ian seems to be quite the artist.

"If I don't move maybe the photographer won't see my pen."

School is awesome because it gives you an opportunity to experience many things. You get an education, make lots of friends, and play sports or join clubs. ”

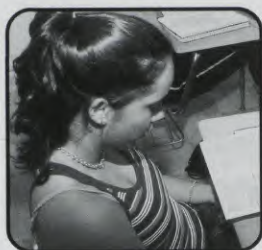

-Amanda Weiner, Class of 2005

"SCENE / TAKE 1"

There's really nothing to say that could sum up an actual high school experience. That is most likely because high school is different for everyone. It's what you make of it and, if done correctly, it can turn out to be the best four years of your life.

Dave concentrates hard in math.

Jen reads along during class.

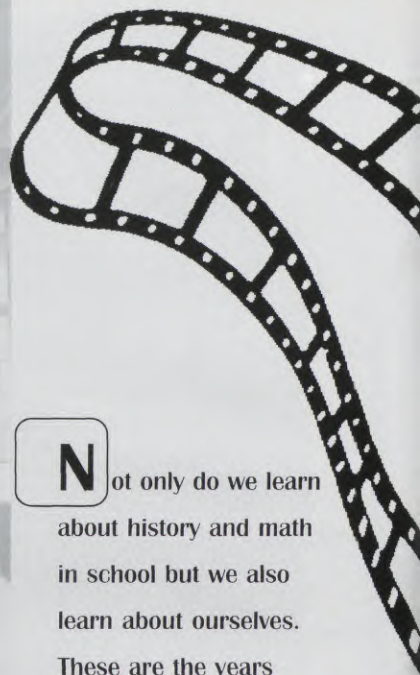

Kristen taking good notes.

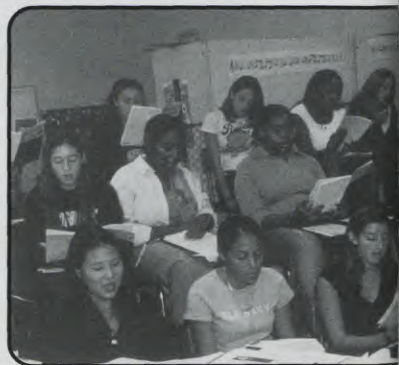

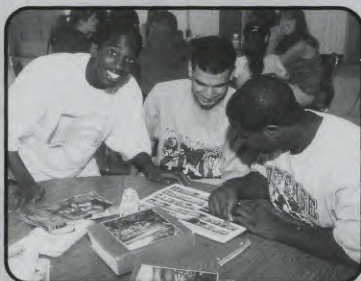

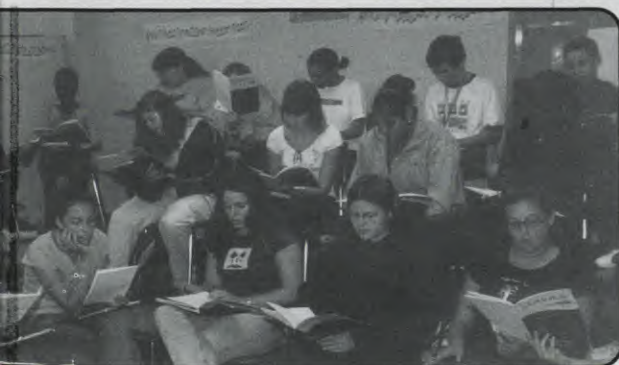

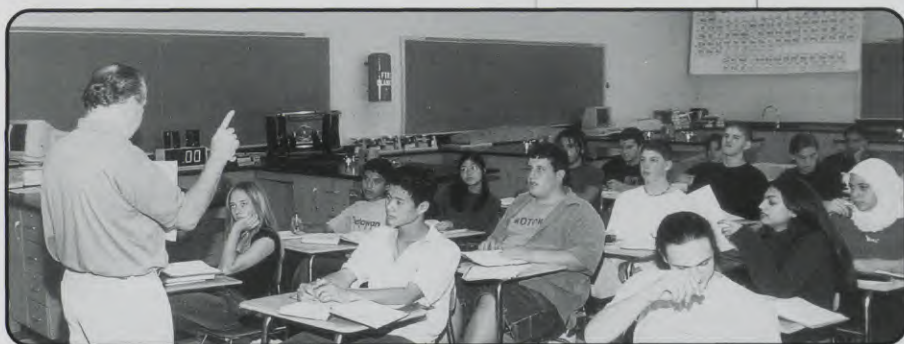

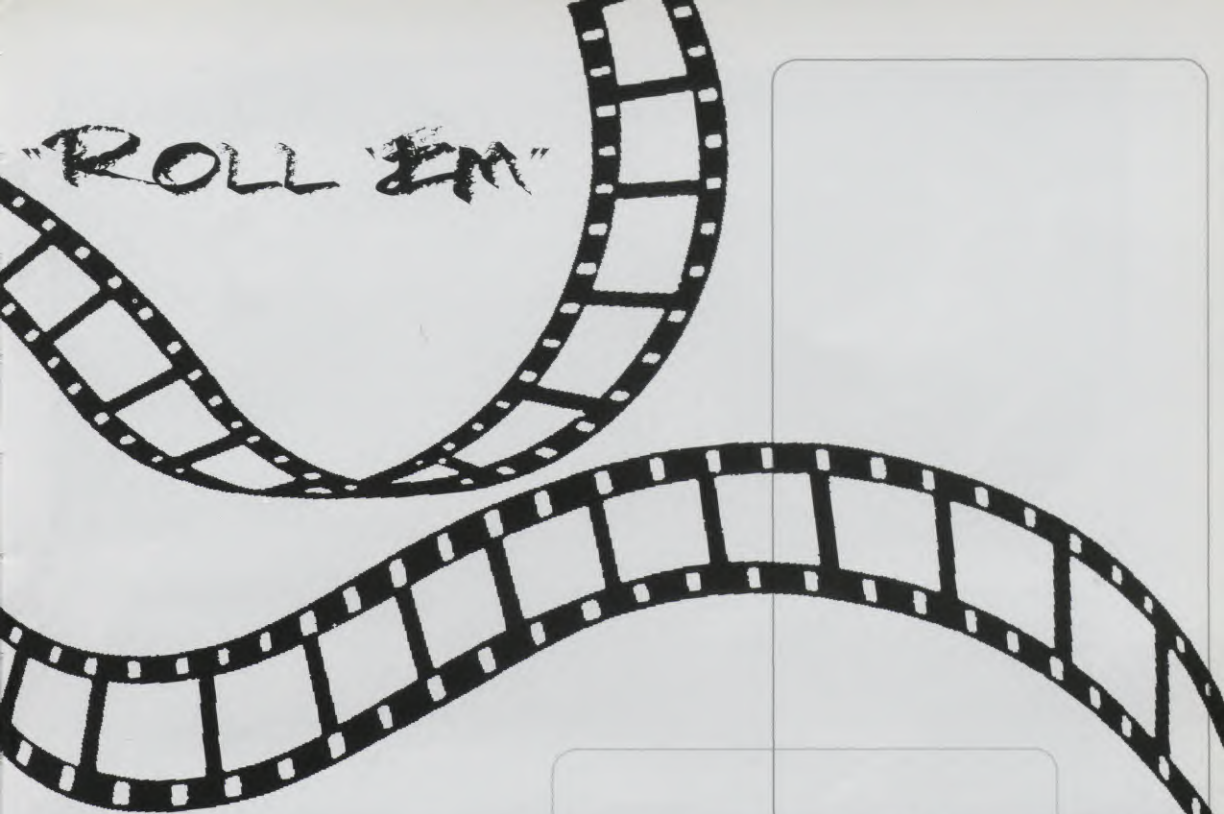

Marissa happily pays attention to her lesson.

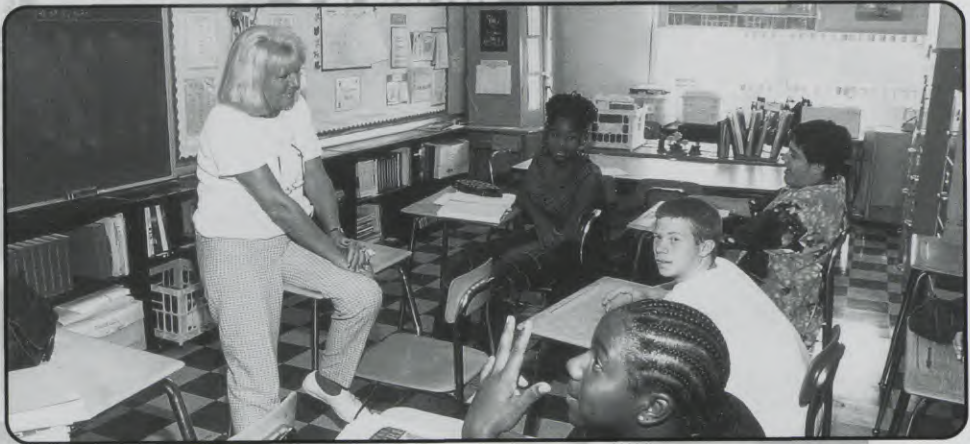

Not only do we learn about history and math in school but we also learn about ourselves. These are the years when we develop our personalities and begin to mature into the men and women we will become.

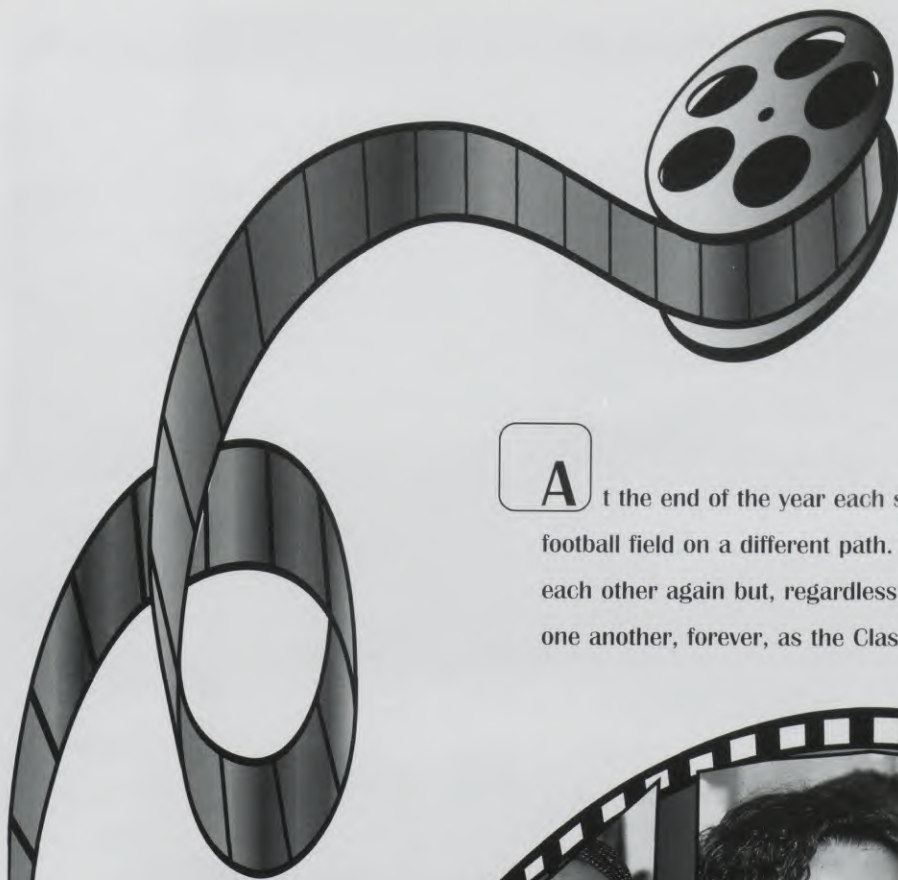

Clockwise from top left:

1. Mr. Dougherty teaches his students all about Physics.
2. Learning a lot in the classroom.
3. "Say cheese!"
4. "Me gusta la clase de espanol."
5. The chorus sings lively during class.

A t the end of the year each senior will walk off the football field on a different path. Some may never see each other again but, regardless, they will all remember one another, forever, as the Class of 2003.

To the Class of 2003:

We, as educators, and you, as students, have each done our part. Now we stand at a gateway on the other side of which is the world with all that it offers and all that it demands. As you say farewell to us, you say hello to tomorrow.

Grab hold of that tomorrow, and using what you have learned in the past, build it into a bright and shining future. It is the hope of everyone here that your pathway may be straight and true and that your destination may be golden with happiness and alive with promise.

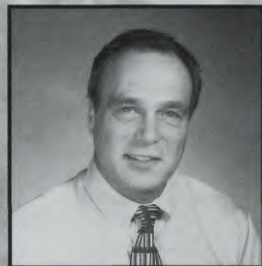

Luck, success and happiness.

yearbook: a school publication that is compiled usually by a graduating class and that serves as a record of the year's activities

Okay. That's what Webster had to say but obviously he has never actually put a yearbook together. It's obvious because, if he had, he would have included things in the definition about fun and hard work and most of all laughing. (Plus, although we don't like to admit it, not just the graduating class does all the work.)

If you've ever walked past the yearbook office after school it probably didn't seem like much was getting done. But, between making lists on the chalkboard, looking through pictures, eating our pretzels and animal crackers, and pretty much anything else you can think of we made a yearbook.*

Although there are only six people pictured on this page more people helped get everything done. So, thank-you freshmen (for all the folding and such), sophomores (for coming to help another year), juniors (for the sports and everything else), and seniors. Oh yeah, and Mrs. Fajardo (Like I could forget!) because without her, there wouldn't be a yearbook. And not just because there wouldn't be an advisor but, because she brings something to the staff that cannot be replaced.

So now back to the six people you see above and really, without just one of us so much would have been different. Eileen is so talented and took control of the cover and all the art involved. Linda, between her long phone talks with Brian, typed like an animal to get the senior section and clubs done. Kristina and Kelli probably had the most fun jobs out of everyone which is good because they're fun people. Of course it was hard to get any work done with Kim around (JUST KIDDING); it wasn't her fault she had to wait to do ads. So then there's me, Jessica, and it's hard to say what I brought to the group other than "copy" but hopefully there's something more than that.

So in a nutshell that's Yearbook 2003. I hope you enjoy the book as much as we enjoyed making it. Finally, I just want to wish good luck to next year's staff; I know you'll do great.

P.S.

(If I forgot anything or anyone I'm sorry 😊).

*Of course we couldn't get by without our visits from Masaaki
