EDISON — Dr. A. Peter Capparelli has been accorded many honors in the course of his life.

But the topper came Sunday when a new wing at John F. Kennedy Medical Center was dedicated as the Capparelli Pavilion.

"This is the greatest," said Capparelli of the decision of the medical center trustees to place his name on the wing that contains 46 medical and surgical beds and is the culmination of a two-year $38 million expansion program.

According to Michael T. Kornett, president and chief operating officer, the necessary certificates of occupancy were scheduled to be received Monday from both the state and township and patients immediately would begin occupying the additional beds.

The third floor of the new wing atop the center's Robert Wood Johnson Jr. Rehabilitation Institute will contain 11 additional critical care beds and increase the capacity of that facility, which incorporates both the intensive care and cardiac care units, to 30 beds.

Kornett said expansion of this unit, which currently has an occupancy rate of 110 percent and higher, is scheduled for completion in March.

The new addition increases the center's capacity to nearly 1,000 beds, including 563 for medical and surgical patients, and makes it the largest hospital system in New Jersey.

Almost 300 people turned out for Sunday's ceremony to honor Capparelli, a founder of the medical center, a former president of the board of trustees and the current board secretary.

Among those speaking at a program in the Johnson Institute auditorium were Dr. Molly Joel Coye, state commissioner of health; D. Kathryn Fern, executive director of the New Jersey Health Care Facilities Financing Authority; Louis Scibetta, president of the New Jersey Hospital Association; Elaine Santowasso, president of the center auxiliary, and Mayor Anthony M. Yelencsics, chairman of the medical center trustees and also a founder of JFK.

Mrs. Santowasso revealed that the auxiliary, which has raised $3 million for the medical center since its founding more than 25 years ago, has just made a pledge of $2 million, which, according to Kornett, is the first "commitment of that size" ever to be made by a New Jersey hospital auxiliary.

Board asks alarms for all schools

EDISON — Concerned about the increasing vandalism of school property and the amount of damage that is being caused, the Board of Education has decided that all of the district's buildings should be equipped with complete burglar alarm systems.

According to Dan Michaud, assistant business administrator, six of the district's 17 schools presently have full alarms and the remaining 11 have partial systems.

In these schools, he said, the areas that are alarmed are those in which the potential for costly damage is the greatest because of the value of the equipment.

Business administrator N. Robert Post told the board at last week's agenda session a quotation received from ADT, the district's present security company, placed the cost of putting full alarms in the 11 schools at $110,712. In addition, there would be an annual cost of $60,533 for monitoring the additional alarms.

The district presently is paying $46,000 a year to ADT to monitor the existing burglar alarm systems.

However, Michaud informed the board that the district realizes a savings of $95,000 a year in its fire and liability insurance premiums for coverage of those schools with complete alarms and will receive a 5 percent reduction in premium charges for each additional school that is similarly protected.

Bohn said resigning

EDISON — William Bohn will resign as a member of the Planning Board before the end of the year.

Reports that the controversial board member will be quitting were circulated and confirmed after Wednesday night's Township Council meeting.

During the public portion of the meeting, Burton Gimelstob of Churchill Road read a statement in which he referred to "questionable ethics" and asked that the council adopt a resolution calling for Bohn to leave his

'Coward' remark rankles mayor, might run again

EDISON — Mayor Anthony M. Yelencsics said Tuesday he has not ruled out the possibility of running for what would be his seventh non-consecutive term.

Yelencsics was responding to questions about a comment made after Monday night's Township Council meeting when, goaded by administration critic Burton Gimelstob, he said he would seek another four-year term.

"If you don't run on your record, you're a coward," said Gimelstob, a resident of Churchill Road.

On Tuesday, Gimelstob said that his remark, which he repeated several times Monday night, was made in a political context and was not intended as an assessment of Yelencsics' personal courage.

The mayor, a Marine Corps captain tank commander who served four years during World War II and was hit three times by Japanese bullets in the Battle of Shurrey Canyon on Okinawa, obviously was disturbed by Gimelstob's use of the word "coward." "I've never been called a coward in my life," said Yelencsics on Tuesday when asked if his response that he would run could be taken seriously.

"I told him that I am not a coward," he added. "I don't like to be called that."

Yelencsics also said he has never "run away" from a fight and if Gimelstob and other critics of his administration want him to prove that by seeking a seventh term, he might consider being "available."

"I haven't talked to anyone about running again but if they keep hounding me, I will," he said.

And if he does, Yelencsics said, he has no intention of losing.

"I've never lost," he declared.

Board approves trips by bands

EDISON — The district's two high school bands are going to be permitted to participate in festivals and other competitions held outside the "northeast corridor."

This is the geographic area to which school trips presently are limited by Board of Education policy.

However, the board agreed at last week's agenda session to relax its policy for the bands after deciding to include funds in the 1989-90 school budget to cover the premiums for increased liability insurance coverage.

A detailed proposal for trips to be made every other year by the Edison and John P. Stevens bands to more faraway places has been under study for several months by the board's curriculum committee.

The proposal provides that funds for such trips shall be raised by the organization involved.

The last remaining obstacle to giving approval to the request was the question of whether the district's liability insurance is sufficient should the board be sued as a result of one of the excursions.

Because of ever-mounting premium charges, the district now has liability coverage of $11 million as

Metuchen teachers irked over stalled negotiations

METUCHEN — Officers of the Metuchen Education Association and approximately 100 teachers appeared before the Board of Education Tuesday night to protest "the lack of progress" on two outstanding contract issues.

A two-year contract, which was signed in September, did not include the 1988-89 salary guide for club advisers and coaches or the teacher salary guide for 1989-90.

The MEA contends the board's negotiating team, which is now composed of Charles Canary, Vincent Bonica and Byron Sondergard, with dragging its feet. The current members of the committee were named after contract negotiations were conducted by a committee composed of Alfred Passantino, Joseph Sprunger and Bonica.

"Staff morale and our relationship with the board have plummeted to depths not previously witnessed in Metuchen," said Mrs. Scott. "We are bewildered and frustrated. We are fearful that if this unfortunate situation is not ameliorated immediately, our children's education will be seriously affected."

In a statement read to the board, Mrs. Scott pointed out that when the current contract was signed in September, negotiations relating to the co-curricular salaries and the 1989-90 guide were continued "to allow the orderly opening of school."

"Our members agreed to this arrangement in good faith," she continued, "trusting our word that negotiations on the two open items would be continued and completed promptly."

However, according to Mrs. Scott, since the change in the makeup of the negotiating committee, there has been a failure to respond to the MEA's "sincere, good-faith attempts to settle the issues."

The board committee, Mrs. Scott charged, has ignored, "for all practical

Lamkie sworn as fire deputy; captains named

EDISON — Captain Albert Lamkie will be sworn in this morning as acting deputy chief of the Edison Fire Department and four lieutenants will be promoted to captain.

They are Ralph Ambrosio, George Campbell, James Montayne and Fred Vickery.

Lamkie succeeds Deputy Fire Chief Robert P. Grand-Jean and will serve in an acting capacity until Grand-Jean, who is now on terminal leave, officially retires.

These appointments as well as a number of promotions of firefighters to the rank of lieutenant are being contested by Local 1164 of the Edison Firefighters Association, which wants seniority used as the basis for advancement.

However, a recent ruling by an arbitrator of the state Public Employees Relations Commission upheld the township's use of education, experience, training and skills as determining factors with seniority

Edison learning lesson on leaves

EDISON — Mayor Anthony M. Yelencsics has instructed the Department of Public Works that he wants a better system for collecting leaves next fall.

Yelencsics told the Township Council at Monday night's agenda session that there has been a deluge of complaints about this year's leaf collection from unhappy residents and he has directed the DPW to establish "ground rules" for next year.

It was pointed out by the mayor that this was the first year Edison was forced to conduct separate pickups of bagged leaves because of the state ban against placing them in landfills.

In the past, bagged leaves were collected with the regular garbage and hauled off to the dump.

DPW forces also scooped or vacuumed up leaves from gutters in past years and carted them to the landfill. According to Yelencsics, scooping or vacuuming were employed this year only when accumulation of leaves created potential problems like blocking catchbasins.

One lesson the township learned this year, according to Yelencsics, is not to use plastic bags.

At the beginning of the leaf season, the DPW laid in a supply of 100,000 30-gallon bags and sold them to residents at cost.

Yelencsics said the leaf-collecting crews were slowed down because of the need to slit open the bags and empty the contents into their trucks because the plastic bags are not ac-

Seniors get help with job search

EDISON — Praful Shah is a 58-year-old emigre from the State of Gujarat in India, where he had pursued a career in personnel and administrative management for 25 years.

The Piscataway office of Wells Fargo Guard and Investigative Services is a company that has to devote considerable effort in this tight New Jersey labor market to recruit qualified employees.

Shah and Wells Fargo were brought together last April by Project Resources, a service of the Division of Community Education of Middlesex County College. Project Resources' twofold mission is to help those over 55 years of age who want to return to the work force and to provide a pool of dependable employees for employers faced with a diminishing labor supply.

Spadaro resigns seat on council

EDISON —George Spadaro submitted his resignation Wednesday as a member of the Township Council, effective December 31.

GEORGE SPADARO

Spadaro was elected in November of 1987 as an assemblyman from the 18th Legislative District but has continued to serve simultaneously as a member of the local governing body. He presently has one year left in his second term and his replacement will be required to run for election in the 1989 municipal elections. Mayor Anthony M. Yelencsics, who also is Edison Democratic chairman, said Wednesday that no choice has been made of a successor to Spadaro. He said he has consulted township attorney Peter DeSarno about the procedure to be followed in filling Spadaro's seat on the seven-member council and is seeking recommendations for a replacement who must be of the same party. It has been reported that the search for a new council member is concentrated in the north end of the township. In recent years that has been the area of greatest growth and because of the large number of new voters living there, it is considered politically desirable to increase its representation. At present, six of the seven council members live in the older south end of the township.

Edison's Christmas tree to be lighted on Sunday

EDISON — For the first time, a ceremony will be held to light the township's Christmas tree. On Sunday at 6:30 p.m., a 30-foot tree decorated by local residents will be lit at the Stelton Community Center, 328 Plainfield Avenue. Musical accompaniment will be provided by the Stelton Baptist Church choir. Anyone in Edison who wants to help decorate the Christmas tree may call 287-0900, Ext. 312, or bring ornaments to the ceremony. The program is sponsored by the Edison Recreation and Parks Department.

Air test slated at Edison High

EDISON — Although the source of a smoky odor in the health office area at Edison High School appears to have been tracked down, a test of air quality at the school is going to be conducted anyway. The Board of Education at its agenda meeting last week agreed to engage Princeton Testing Labs at a cost of $2,500 to conduct the test although some board members indicated they thought it was an unnecessary expenditure. Dr. Joseph Kreskey, deputy superintendent of schools, informed the board it had been determined by the school custodial staff that the odor about which complaints were received from both faculty and students had come from the nearby automotive shop.

According to Kreskey, two cars were in the shop bay but only one was attached to the venting system that is designed to carry off exhaust fumes. Using the technique employed in most service stations, a hose was attached to the exhaust pipe of the second car, snaked under the bay door and the fumes from this engine were carried outside. However, Kreskey explained, because of the wind direction, the fumes were wafted to the air vent for the health office and sucked in. "He just used the old-fashioned way of venting the shop," said Kreskey of the shop teacher. When Kreskey recommended that the test of air quality be conducted regardless, Nancy Levin questioned why it was necessary to incur such a "horrendous" expense if the cause of the odor had been determined.

Agreeing was Ralph Bayard, who also thought it was an unnecessary expenditure. "Has anybody gotten sick yet?" he asked. "Has anybody died yet we don't know about?"

Kreskey responded that the problem had raised "a level of anxiety" on the part of staff and students and suggested that in view of current public sensitivity about pollution it would be wise to have the test made. Although "personally convinced" that the quality of air in the school is acceptable, Kreskey said it is sometimes necessary to take such action "to put concerns to rest." Charles Andreasen, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, was more to the point. If the air is not tested, he said, a faculty grievance probably will be filed, the board and administration will be subject to a lot of "aggravation" and probably wind up having to have the air tested anyway.

Kreskey added it also was possible that the auto engine exhaust was "only one factor" and there might be "a design problem" with the new school wing that is causing pollution to be sucked in by way of the boiler vents when atmospheric conditions result in air inversion.

If this were the case, he said, it might be necessary to raise the stacks or cap them.

However, Paul Hilf pointed out that the new wing was in use last winter and there had been no problems then with the stacks.

"True, Paul's right," observed Kreskey. "We went all through last year and didn't have one complaint."

Man kidnapped, locked in trunk

EDISON — The 67-year-old owner of Econ-O-Print at 7 Kilmer Road was kidnapped at gunpoint December 8 and abandoned in the trunk of his Cadillac in Irvington after being robbed of his wallet and wristwatch. The case continues under investigation by Detective Lieutenant George Zsido and Detective Sergeants Rocco Promutico and William Petroff.

Captain Andrew Nagy, Edison Police Department detective bureau commander, said the suspect who confronted the victim, Joseph Kelpner of Marlboro, in his place of business at approximately 6 p.m. is a black male about 6'3" who was wearing a black ski mask and dark jacket. According to Nagy, Kelpner was rescued from the trunk of his abandoned Cadillac by Irvington police, who heard him banging on the lid a short time after his kidnapper left the scene.

Nagy said the street on which the Cadillac was found is patrolled frequently by Irvington police because it is known as a spot where stolen cars are abandoned.

According to Kelpner, after taking his wallet and watch and locking him back in the trunk, his abductor inquired through the closed lid for his home telephone number so he could inform his wife of his whereabouts.

The victim told police that he had locked up his print shop and was walking out with an employee when he remembered he had forgot to bring the mail and returned to the shop while the employee left in his own car.

Kelpner, Nagy said, left his key ring, which included his car keys, in the front door lock and went into his office, where he answered a telephone call from home, and was looking into the shop area when he saw the masked intruder, who pointed a gun in his face.

According to Nagy, the suspect grabbed Kelpner at the back of the neck with his left hand and pushed him back into the office, causing a trash can to upset. Nagy said the suspect also ripped the telephone connection from the wall but it remained operational, causing the burglar alarm for the premises to be activated.

He said that when Patrolmen Anthony Pacella and Gary Ruffo arrived at the scene, they found a side door unlocked and entered the building, where they found everything in order until entering the office and finding the upset trash container and the telephone on the floor.

Prior to their arrival, Nagy said, the suspect had led Kelpner out of the building and to the rear of the building, where the Cadillac now was parked with the trunk lid open. The suspect, according to Nagy, ordered Kelpner to climb into the trunk, slammed the lid shut and drove off.

Kelpner told police that after a ride that lasted about a half-hour, he heard two men talking, the trunk was opened and the man who abducted him instructed the victim to hand over his money. Kelpner gave him his wallet, which contained an undetermined amount of cash, and the suspect also took his wristwatch. Before leaving, he again closed the trunk with Kelpner still inside.

Faces charge of deception

METUCHEN — Christopher Burns, 40, a carpenter from Staten Island, was arrested December 10 and charged with theft by deception.

Police said that on eight occasions he purchased goods from SGS Building Supply Co. at 55 Liberty Street and charged the purchases to a former employer, GM Construction of Avenel.

The total value of the goods Burns received was $1,806.99, according to Patrolman John Franklin.

Dryer fire damages Nancy Circle house

EDISON — Sections of a one-family house at 23 Nancy Circle were damaged Monday morning by a fire that started in the area of a dryer in the first-floor laundry room.

William Benson, 32, son of the owner, Richard Benson, suffered facial burns when he attempted to extinguish the fire while the Fire Department was being called. He was treated at the scene and taken to Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital by Edison First Aid Squad No. 1.

Fire Captain Robert Coleman reported that when apparatus arrived in response to the 8:08 a.m. alarm, flames and smoke were coming from the rear of the residence and the fire had spread to the second floor.

Richard Benson told Coleman he was in the kitchen when he smelled smoke, went into the laundry room and saw flames coming from underneath the gas-operated dryer. He said the smoke alarm was activated simultaneously with his discovery of the fire.

According to Coleman, the laundry room, bathroom, kitchen and exterior rear soffit and the side of the house were damaged.

He reported that while firefighters were attacking the fire, the inside gas meter broke and was burning. It was necessary to vent the roof and open windows to remove gas from the house, he said.

Public Service Electric & Gas Co. and Edison Water Co. crews were called to the scene to shut off utilities and the Department of Public Works sanded down the road in front of the house, which is in the Piscataway-town section of South Edison.

After the fire was extinguished family members were escorted inside to remove personal items.

Trucks 1 and 2, Engines 4 and 6, Rescue Unit 1 and Cars 3 and 7 responded to the alarm and were at the scene until 11:33 a.m.

Coleman said the cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

A lighted window

There's nothing like a blast of cold weather with single-digit temperatures to give the word "shelter" a visceral meaning. For the last couple of days people venturing out of doors have felt the cold wrapping its fingers around their bones. It's the kind of cold that makes heavy overcoats feel like diaphanous nighties, and makes the lights glimpsed through the windows of houses and offices seem all the more warm and inviting.

There are, of course, many people who don't have a lighted window acting as their beacon home, people for whom the recent arctic temperatures pose not simply a threat to their comfort but to their very lives. For whatever reason, they require more assistance getting through this season than the rest of us, and while there are organizations willing to lend that assistance, the organizations themselves could use a hand.

Yes, it's one of those corny Christmas exhortations to go out and help others. But like many cornball statements, this is one that needs to be repeated. There are many groups in this area that could use an extra pair of hands for a couple of hours, whether to deliver supplies or to dole out food on a soup line. This is a busy time of year for everybody. But sometimes it's amazing to see how easily a free hour or two can be found. By finding that time, you might find something else as well — the spirit celebrated by the Christmas carols you hear in the stores on your way home, toward that lighted window.

A child's Christmas in Jersey

BY MIKE DEAK

All merry Christmases were alike then.

In the town where I grew up (and am still growing up) comfort and joy were absolutes during the holiday season. Pouting - my natural state of emotion - stopped at the threat of a lump of coal in the Christmas stocking. My eyes ached with longing as I improved my reading skills by studying the Sears Christmas catalog as if it was a cabala of toy mysticism. At night, when my throat was raw from singing carols all day at school, I watched the snow - pieces of a white dream - skid through the warm glow of the lights that outlined our back porch. It was warm in bed and sleep came like a saving angel to pass the anxious time before Christmas morning.

Remembering those child's Christmases in New Jersey is at once both a pleasant and sad task. It is pleasant because, well, I was fortunate to have Christmases that resembled a Norman Rockwell ideal - the family was harmonious (except for arguments over whether the turkey was done) and the setting was seeped with the mystery and beauty of the season (was that a holy star or an isolated streetlight that hung in the distance over the church's live creche?) It is sad because it is a memory of what we have lost, not just the world of childhood wonder, but the meaningfulness (secular or not), purity, sentiment and benevolence of the season. The cards with which we deal most in the holiday season now do not bear greetings of good cheer, but the dire credit statements of cold January. Like members of a cargo cult, we go about our commercialistic ritual without thinking about what we are doing or the meaning of the season. I sometimes think we would all be better off if we returned to the practices of childhood and made patholders for each other and cards with crayons and construction paper. I can hope that everyone, like myself, will be prompted by childhood memories to review seriously our value systems, see how they have changed since the days of relative innocence, and make the necessary adjustments.

Your Opinion

Housing stand assailed

To the Editor:

The very least we should be able to expect from our elected officials is that they have some idea of the cost to taxpayers of resolutions that they pass.

At the December 5 meeting of the mayor and council, when asked what the estimated cost to Metuchen taxpayers was for resolution 88-153, which is the "voluntary" compliance for the Council on Affordable (not to taxpayers) Housing quota (Mount Laurel), neither the mayor nor any one of the five council members present had the vaguest idea. Undaunted, and with the full support of the mayor, they proceeded to vote unanimously, 5-0, to pass the resolution.

Just to give you an idea of the many, many millions of dollars involved, to quote the mayor: One-bedroom townhouses with an "open market value of $120,000 and above" would be available for $28,300. Property taxes, if the mayor and council have their way, would be based on the $28,300, not the "$120,000 and above" that others would pay tax on. This subsidy would go on for 30 years. The remaining taxpayers would be forced to make up the difference.

The income qualifications to be eligible must be well in excess of poverty levels and can be well in excess of $40,000 per year. The day after one moves in they could make a million dollars a year and still be eligible for the subsidy, including the 30-year tax abatement.

As for the law! There are 567 municipalities in New Jersey. Of those, approximately 200 have filed with COAH. Most of those have large tracts of vacant land. Approximately 365 mayors, councils and municipal attorneys don't have the same posture as in Metuchen. Put another way, when one excludes the municipalities with large tracts of vacant land who have filed, over 80 percent of the municipalities would seem to disagree with our elected officials.

During various elections, each of our elected officials at that meeting have made appeals to senior citizens on fixed incomes, young people, various minorities, volunteer groups, less fortunate, etc. Don't they know that each of these groups pay taxes! To pass such a resolution, which undoubtedly could be the most expensive in the history of Metuchen, without knowing the cost, shows nothing but a callous disregard for these groups and every taxpayer in Metuchen, whether property owner or renter. Their actions can only be described as the actions of a group of big-spending ideologues.

May I suggest that this letter be cut out and clipped to the November page of your 1989 calendar so that their actions will be considered at election time if, indeed, they are future candidates. It will, however, take three years to rid us of them all. So move it in November, 1989 to November, 1990, etc.

The five council people voting for the resolution were Pam Brown, Tim Cunha, John DeFoe, Jim Dudley and Ed O'Brien, all with the full support of Mayor John Wiley. It is difficult to imagine that anyone could be less concerned with the interests of Metuchenites.

Now that human beings have effected comfortable garments that can be worn on space missions — both in and out of the orbiting spacecraft — it's time somebody designed a coat that can be worn in and out of a car, in New Jersey, in winter.

As everyone knows, any outer garment that keeps the chill off as you go out to your car in the morning, start it up, and drive off becomes unbearable after the heater gets going.

You've got to get out of that suffocating coat right away, or die.

It is impossible to take off a heavy coat while driving. At least one hand must be used to steer, and two hands are needed to get out of the sleeves.

Turn off the heat? It won't work. Once a car heats up and warms up a person inside a coat, there is no quick way to cool off other than to remove the coat. Besides, you need the heater to work the defroster so you can see where you're driving while you slowly roast to death.

Taking off your coat at a red light isn't the answer. There's not enough time, and you end up with one sleeve out and the garment wrapped around your head as the light turns green.

In the blind panicky struggle to get free and start up simultaneously, you can easily lurch left into incoming traffic and suffer a head-on with a guy who's trying to get out of an

Of All Things

Dereck Williamson

Icelandic sweater.

"Two Hospitalized As Drivers Tangle In Heavy Garments"

A naive person who hasn't experienced morning traffic on major highways around here might think that a logical move would be to pull off on the shoulder, get out of the car, and remove the coat.

That could be a fatal mistake. Passing traffic will instantly sweep away your coat, your door, and possibly you as well.

The alternative to roasting is freezing. The under-dressed winter driving method involves more courage at the start — you take a deep breath, rush out without a coat to the car and pray that the interior will heat up on the road before you perish.

With the possible exception of ice-fishing in the wind, nothing is colder than sitting in a car on a winter morning. Although scientific supporting data is scanty, any commuter will tell you that a car that stands out all night gets 10 degrees colder than the surrounding atmosphere.

Turning on the heater too soon just blows icy air over your legs, and hastens the inevitable.

"Coatless Driver Waiting at Light Gets Hypothermia"

Warming up the car at home would seem an ideal solution. But practical considerations, and custom, prevent this practice.

No commuter ever gets out to the car early enough to warm it up. It's always too late, even if a modern car could be warmed up before automatic controls race the engine to death.

Nobody warms up a car nowadays. There was a time in the distant past when wives, late getting ready to go out, used car-warming as a way to get nagging husbands out of the way. "Go warm up the car, Fred; I'll be ready in a minute."

Husbands would start the car and sit in it for half an hour. This led to the invention of the car radio.

Unfortunately, we appear to be no closer to the invention of the thermally adjustable car coat, and it looks like this winter will be the same old story:

"Drivers With Red, Blue Faces Suffer On the Way to Work"

Grab bag with the Grinch

Credit for this week's column must be extended to "that old master of Christmas himself, Soupy Sales."

This year we are going to have a Christmas grab bag. That's right, just you and me. Kind of a special little tradition that we'll keep just between the two of us and one that I'm sure will help bring us even closer together.

For those of you who don't fully understand the concept behind a grab bag, allow me to explain. A grab bag is a way of expressing holiday concern for people about whom you don't really care enough to go out and buy a real present. It is necessitated by the belief that at Christmas people, to whom you wouldn't normally give the time of day, deserve a present that they don't really want and for which they will express their undying gratitude.

Since it would be foolish to buy tens or even hundreds of such presents, the names of all those who feel obligated are placed into a hat, bin, dumpster or other appropriately-sized receptacle and then drawn individually by those participating. Since the name that one receives is supposed to be held secret, one normally unfolds the small square of paper, clutches it to his chest prior to furtively stealing a glance. Then they smile, exclaim "Oh good!" and pretend that he has more than even a slight idea of who he has drawn while he struggles to remember whether "Jerry" is the male or female spelling of the name.

In smaller companies or organizations where one has the advantage of knowing his peers well enough to dislike them openly, the drawing usually takes place individually. Under these circumstances a drawer, for a few dollars extra, can draw and redraw until he comes up with the name that he really wanted in the first place. Of course, the two greatest outcasts in the organization are asked to draw last and next-to-last, respectively, and end up with one another.

The rules for purchasing the present, as one might expect, vary slightly from organization to organization. However, they usually include the following:

Life on the Soft Shoulder

1. The amount set to be spent on a present is never sufficient to purchase one. Therefore, you are expected to spend at least twice the set amount and expect the same from your unknown partner.
2. Your unknown partner will always find a present for you which costs just under the set amount of money.
3. Whatever you purchase for your partner will be the wrong size, of a material to which the person is allergic, or an item that elicits a muffled gag when opened publicly.

None of the above should overly concern you, however, since in a recent poll it was determined that fully 87 percent of all grab bag gifts are left behind at the office party and become the rightful property of the evening-shift custodians.

Now here is the part you've all been waiting for. We are about to have the drawing for this year's grab bag. Let's see, I think I'll draw first.

You see, I've compiled a list of the names of all of you, my close and personal friends, and I've folded the little pieces of paper up so that there will be no cheating.

I'm reaching down into the pile and . . . let's see. Here, I've got one. Oh, and it's the one that I really wanted. Now what had we set as the purchase price? $20. Far too little for this lucky person's gift. No, I think I'll be generous and spend at least twice as much.

Now for the hard part. You see, I have to pick a name for you and it's really not fair if I see it. So I'll just hold it up and not look. Here we go. Way, way down deep into the pile. Mix them around and here's the name I've chosen for you:

JOHN KAZMARK

I hope you saw it and wrote it down somewhere. Now, I've given a lot of thought to the way we can exchange, and I know a lot of you are busy. So I'll be sure to drop my present off at my grab bag partner's house, and to save you the time of running around, why don't you just send your partner's present to me in care of this newspaper.

Be sure to give me the name of the person you drew and I'll be sure to get them the present just in time for Christmas. I just know how lucky they are, because I've always thought of you as one of my most generous friends.

Zoning destroys rights

To the Editor:

There was a time in America when zoning regulations and "master plans" would have been quickly dismissed as unconstitutional, as violating the Bill of Rights of the Constitution ("nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation").

When the government sets off parcels of land and tells the owners what they may not do with such parcels, this has the effect of reducing the value of that land. In other words, the government takes part of the value of the land. Of course, zoning has other bad effects as well. Because they cause land to be used in a manner that is less than maximally efficient, zoning regulations raise housing costs. This affects everybody but causes the greatest hardships for our least affluent citizens.

It is a shame that the Edison Township Council apparently wants to continue this violation of people's rights with its new master plan. Worse, they seem to be taking direct aim at those people who most need inexpensive housing. However, it was even a bigger disappointment to me to find that the editors of the Review apparently find these actions acceptable as long as the zoning does not eliminate all use of the property (Our Opinion, December 2).

The editors should realize that we don't lose our rights all at once; rather, we allow them to be gradually eroded. Because you now find "zoning" acceptable, you give the council the ammunition it needs to take the next step: to make a plot of land virtually unusable without compensating the owners. Such extreme forms of "zoning" have already occurred elsewhere in New Jersey and will occur in Edison as well, unless people come to see "zoning" and "master plans" for what they really are: the immoral and unconstitutional taking of private property without just compensation.

Sorry about parade

To the Editor:

We, the Christmas committee of the 37th annual Christmas parade in Metuchen, regret the decision we felt necessary to make after having the postpone the originally scheduled parade on November 27.

Many hours had been put into planning the parade. On Sunday morning the field had been set up for the march-off. Everything was ready and the rain began. A quick decision had to be made.

On the rain date many units had committed to the Woodbridge Christmas parade and despite the fact that many would be disappointted, we decided to cancel for this year.

We apologize to the many youngsters, their parents and adults who had given to much time and effort.

In an attempt to try to compensate in some small way, we arranged for a brass ensemble to stroll the streets of downtown Metuchen tomorrow with their Christmas music. Santa has also promised to be on hand and will be there to greet his young friends between noon and 2 p.m.

Condos mean traffic

To the Editor:

I noted in your December 9 issue that a proposal to build 72 new condos on the vacated EFCO tract, located on Central Avenue, will be under review with the Planning Board by the time your next issue reaches the stands.

It also did not go unnoticed that the borough engineer is already expressing concerns about the ability of the existing sewer system to cope with the added burden. Be that as it may, as I pointed out in an earlier letter to the editor, if this replacement of a commercial ratable with high density residential ratables goes through, the taxpayers of Metuchen can expect their taxes to continue to rise, as usual, but now they will rise at a faster rate.

Also of special interest in the article was the last paragraph where, with regard to the rezoning of the EFCO tract from commercial use to residential use, it is stated that "residential rather than commercial or industrial use would have less traffic impact." Does someone really believe that dumping a minimum of 72 additional automobiles, assuming an average of one commuting auto per condo, during both the morning and evening rush hours, onto what is probably the busiest thoroughfare in Metuchen, is going to have less traffic impact than would a company, like EFCO, that has fewer than 30 employees?

Obviously, the traffic impact from a commercial or industrial user would depend greatly on the nature of the commerce or industry, and it is difficult to conceive of a commercial user that would have a more adverse impact on the traffic on Central Avenue than would the addition of 72 condos.

anyone; even I have forgotten the words to all those lyrics I had memorized by the age of eight. How can you go caroling in those monstrous suburban developments that blight the landscape and dilute the once strong community spirit? Besides, no one has enough time to go caroling in the demands and cost of our lives in the 1980s chew up our energy. It is this lost that shames me the most. In those precious moments when we sang before our neighbors' homes, we were no longer the boy down the street, the plumber, the housewife; instead, in that moment of harmony, we were the messengers of a different world, of a place of peace, love and brotherhood, where good will is exchanged freely and children and adults alike are allowed the luxury of wonder and the belief in something that is not real.

We may never never again reach that moment of perfect balance and inexpressible harmony, but that does not mean we should not stop trying and caroling.

Facts are wrong

To the Editor:

I would like to point out that at the December 5 Metuchen Borough Council meeting, as reported in last week's issue of the Review, Democrat Councilman Timothy Cunha was in error in agreeing with Republican John Strelecki that the occupants of affordable housing units will be enjoying all borough services but paying only a fraction of the taxes of other property owners.

Mr. Strelecki is an avowed opponent of council-initiated efforts to provide Metuchen's fair share of 118 affordable housing units as established by the Council on Affordable Housing.

Anyone who has paid attention to the "affordable housing/ Mount Laurel decisions" issue should know that, as decided by the New Jersey Tax Court, affordable housing units are not entitled to lower property taxes.

At least one member of Metuchen's Borough Council has obviously not done his homework on the subject of affordable housing. Owners of affordable housing units must pay local property taxes based on their full assessment, just like all other non-exempt property owners. Affordable housing units must be assessed for local property tax purposes with no regard to their being affordable units and with no regard to any sale or deed restrictions on the affordable units. That's not just a fact; it's the law!

Building hit after accident

EDISON — After an accident at 8 a.m. last Friday at Route 27 and Taft Avenue, a 1988 Dodge driven by Patricia E. Meier of Kendall Park jumped the curb, struck a stop sign and the Bennett Bros. building at 1609 Route 27, damaging a window of the building.

Both Meier and the other driver, Christine Kwiatek of South Amboy, were taken to Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital.

Kwiatek told Patrolman Alex Varady she was driving her 1985 Chrysler south in the right lane of the highway when the Dodge pulled out of Taft Avenue and into her path of travel.

According to Varady, Meier reported she was westbound on Taft, attempting to cross the highway, and although she saw two vehicles approaching in the southbound lanes she thought she had enough time to make it across.

The Edison Fire Department was called to the scene.

New apparatus for Metuchen

METUCHEN — Pierce Manufacturing of Wisconsin is the lowest of two bidders on supplying a new pumper truck for the Metuchen Fire Department.

The Pierce bid, which has been accepted by the Borough Council, is $188,223.

The other bidder was Federated Fire Services of South Plainfield, which submitted a figure of $199,070.

According to Fire Chief William Russell, the new apparatus will replace a 1970 Mack pumper. Delivery is scheduled for the latter part of 1989.

Bits o' Breezes

by M. Charbell

Imagine spending the season of Christmas in a town that consists of one 2 1/2-mile sidewalk, one road that leads in and out of town, one market that sells fresh produce, spices and pharmacy-type items, one post office (with one telephone), one place where you can purchase ice, and a form of hardware store.

No other stores. No 7-Elevens or malls, no specialty shops or Radio Shacks, no Rickels or A&Ps.

It's my guess that most Americans would be aghast and say that Christmas would be impossible under those conditions. Visiting Placencia in the country of Belize was like experiencing a fantasy for me.

I've often fantasized through the month of December about a place in this world that actually celebrated Christmas in a noncommercial style, but I never dreamed the place existed anywhere. I recognize it's not everyone's fantasy, but Placencia sure felt good to me.

I asked Dorothy, who ran the bed-and-breakfast where we bunked, if they celebrated Christmas and what it was like.

"Of course we celebrate Christmas," she smiled. "It's the best. We all love it."

Dorothy is 67 years old and her husband Herbert is 75. They have 15 children (all living, but not all in Placencia), 43 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren at last count.

Christmas is as much of a community celebration as it is a family affair. The one church in town, which everyone attends, is Anglican (Episcopal). The children attend one school and spend much of December preparing for Christmas by making ornaments of paper and natural local products. You'd be amazed at all the things you can make with coconuts and wood.

In front of Dorothy's house is a large and lush Norwegian pine tree, which the family decorates in an ongoing fashion with homemade ornaments. The women cook and bake, and they also sew. It's a warm climate and shirts and smocks make great gifts.

The celebrating begins on Christmas Eve as the village people begin visiting. Everyone visits everyone. Outside of Dorothy's kitchen window, you can see a huge homemade picnic table under a canopy of wood. She said they decorate the area and light it with torches. This is where Dorothy and her daughters set out much food and share it with all the friends who will be by.

The church service is at midnight, and they then catch a few hours of sleep. On Christmas morning they share gifts with their family — simple gifts, handmade and from the heart.

The day is full of merriment, visiting, singing and dancing. Everyone knows one another and as they walk through town on the one sidewalk, they exchange smiles, handshakes, peace wishes and homemade goodies. Like the cookies called "Honey Bows." And here's the simple recipe: 2 cups flour (they use coconut flour) 1/4 tsp. salt 3 eggs 1/2 tsp. vanilla Mix all together like pastry. Roll out and cut into 6-inch strips. Tie in bows and deep-fry in oil (they use coconut oil) until brown, then drain on a towel. Dip them in honey when you eat them.

Christmas in Placencia. How sweet it is!

Guild planning Radio City trip

EDISON — The Parent Teacher Guild of Bishop Ahr High School is planning a trip to the Christmas show at Radio City Music Hall on Monday, December 26.

Buses will leave at 11 a.m. from the high school, Tingley Lane and New Dover Road, with return set for about 5 p.m. Cost is $38 per person, including round-trip bus fare and tickets.

For more information, call Fran Perlin at 494-6354.

Senior adults trip to Trump

EDISON — The Senior Adult Club at the Jewish Community Center has lined up a trip to Trump Plaza hotel and casino on Monday, December 26.

Cost is $12, with each person getting back $17.50 in coins, a $5 food voucher and a $5 voucher toward a future trip. All must sign up in advance; for more information, call the JCC at 494-3232.

'Musicale' set for EHS Tuesday

EDISON — The Edison High School music department will hold a holiday "musicale" Tuesday in the EHS auditorium, beginning at 8 p.m.

Groups to perform include the string ensemble, treble choir, a capella choir, concert choir, brass choir, symphonic band and wind ensemble. The treble and concert choirs will be accompanied by Maria Ruiz.

Featured soloists will be Sandy Nazzaro, violin; Paula Stone, Stancie Herold and Shellyann Rose, sopranos; Natalie Rodriguez, alto; Duane Cannon, tenor; Gary Pinsky and Phillip Gilliam, baritones.

Admission is free and the public is invited to attend.

Y will be keeping busy during Christmas week

METUCHEN — A lot of things may slow down during Christmas week, but the YMCA of Metuchen-Edison has plenty scheduled then.

Parents may bring their tots to a swimming program on Tuesday, December 27; Wednesday, December 28; and Thursday, December 29. Hours will be 9:30 to 10:15 a.m. for toddlers 6 to 36 months, and 10:15 to 11 a.m. for preschoolers 3 to 5 years old. Pre-registration is required and all tots must be accompanied by a parent.

Holiday Fun Days for children 5 through 12 years old are planned on December 27, 29 and 30. Each day's program will run from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and include swimming, gym, games, outdoor activities and a snack. Openings are limited; children should bring a bathing suit, towel and bag lunch, and wear sneakers and play clothes.

During Christmas week, registration will begin for all of the Y's winter programs which begin on Tuesday, January 3. These include a new Saturday-morning series for boys and girls ages 5 through 12.

For more information, registration details and fees, call 548-2044 or stop in at the Y, 65 High Street.

Clubland's culmination to 1988

Jimmy Stewart and Edmund Gwenn are all over the TV, Der Bingle's all over the Muzak system at the local shopping zigurat, my daily commute takes me past the prominently displayed buttocks of a plastic reindeer, and the coins in the cups of homeless guys in the subways — hands shaking more as a reaction to the temperature than as a sonic advertisement of the temporary peace of mind they're selling, the only thing they have left to sell ("Be a Point of Light! Feel virtuous for five minutes! Only a quarter!") — tintinnabulate like cheap Taiwanese jingle bells. It must be getting close to Christmas. It's time to sum up the year, to anoint the deserving and disjoint the unnerving; here's Clubland's second annual 10 Best List (or maybe 10 Best List-Turbo, since I can't resist the impulse to tack on a passel of near-misses, special categories and gratuitous insults at the end).

1988 has been a strange year. Plenty of promising new artists have appeared, but nobody that's really revolutionary; a lot of the most surprising moves have been by old hands, and some of the sharpest newcomers have staked out positions inside well-established traditions. This doesn't necessarily mean that the music is getting conservative, either stylistically (the rising tide of "world beat," in particular, continues seeping in from outside the defined borders of Western pop, though not as fast as a lot of wishful one-worlder critics keep hoping it will) or politically. The commitment of ultra-visible like Bruce Springsteen, Peter Gabriel and U2 to sincere leftish root-for-the-good-guys populism seems more substantial and longer-lived than we might have guessed from the first days of pop-star charity, though it doesn't always have the best effect on their music (see below on U2); for better or worse, this is a facet of the industry that's beginning to look permanent. (Maybe it'll acquire a genre name of its own: "Amnesty pop" or "acid conscience.") But among newer acts, except for a handful of angry bizzaros on the borders of the culture, like Public Enemy — or on the borders of the law, like media scapegoats Missing Foundation — everyone seems to be conducting business as usual, picking out a field and playing by its rules. Metal had its Guns N' Roses, its Soundgarden; power pop had its Christians, its Jack Rubies; blue-eyed soul had its Hothouse Flowers and, at accelerated speed, its Blue Hippos.

If there's any pattern to all these random data, I'd guess what we're viewing is the gradual decoupling of rock's appeal to youth from its sense of adventure. The proliferation of independent labels that followed punk has hardened into a sub-industry that's dedicated to college radio and college crowds but isn't that much wilder than the major labels; the symbolic passing of the quintessential undergrad band, R.E.M., from their birth-label I.R.S. to the Warner conglomerate seems to certify the function of the indies as a well-organized minor league for the corporations, and plenty of younger bands are only too happy to sign on. You can walk into any youth-oriented bar and overdose on hipness without getting the sense that the records are really changing anything. The really strange work getting done out there is getting done by people who have paid substantial dues, from Elliott Sharp and the rest of the downtown decon squad to veteran bands like Pere Ubu. In this respect, independent rock is becoming more like jazz, something that takes a degree of maturity and discipline, and less like punk — less of a spontaneous racket made by noble savages in the garage.

With all that out of the way, here are the winners of a one-man poll. Alphabetically, of course; it's hard enough to pick 10, let alone rank the suckers.

THE CLUBLAND TOP TEN FOR 1988

AGITPOP

Open Seasons (Twin/Tone)

The third album by this trio of clang-bang specialists from the Poughkeepsie area is a welcome exception to the goes-down-easy psychedelia of most younger postpunkers. John DeVries isn't constructing a semblance of anger; he's genuinely angry, genuinely obsessed even when his obsession is something as familiar as a foundering affair ("Girl But Not a Friend"). Without compromising a stroke of their jittery, hypersyncopated percussion attack, they've learned to write (and execute) terrific hooks for guitar and vocals; their new material collapses the borders of noise-punk and twang-punk, and the result is formidable. The two most hardened musical cynics I know were driven to pogoing ecstasy while watching Agitpop perform.

CAMPER VAN BEETHOVEN Our Beloved Revolutionary Sweetheart (Virgin)

If you know these guys only from their well-publicized single "Take the Skinheads Bowling" you'd probably get the idea they're a novelty band, something about as serious as the Dead Milkmen but with slightly cleaner minds. "Wrong, bowling-shoe breath," as Carnac the Magnificent would say: behind that jokey name lurks a hydra-headed avant-hyphenated musical monster, capable of driving unsuspecting Anglos up the wall with Arabian and Gypsy microtonal melodies one minute, bombarding you with surprising pop hooks the next, stripping down to acoustic folk humility the next, then stretching out into gettar mind-warp the next. They have all the chops and all the ideas you'd expect from people who frequently moonlight as a backup group for Dr. Eugene Chadbourne, as in fact they do. Camper Van proves (paceZappa-phobes) that your sense of humor doesn't always have to be at war with all your other musical senses.

THE FEELIES

It's Only Life (Coyote)

For a band that's existed for nearly a decade, given the world one of its (the world's, that is) better drummers (Anton Fier), been in videos and movies by Jonathan Demme, and attracted one of the indie world's fiercest reputations as a live act, it seems strange that this is only their third record. How long had Elvis Costello been around by the time he'd put out three albums, anyway, about a week and a half? But that's the way the Feelies work: they're patient, unhurried, as reliable as the tides. Glenn Mercer's vocals, once half-spoken disturbed mutterings and half-hiccupped cries of glee, are now melodic and assured, with well-rounded backup choral help from Bill Million and Brenda Sauter; the Mercer-Million guitar interplay is as deft as ever, and the rhythmic accelerations will make you perk up, break into dance, and spill your drink. Moving into bigger studios, they wisely resisted the temptation to snazz up the sound; instead, they've used their known strength — careful developments of simple repeated ideas — to build a record of warmth and power.

JOHN HIATT

Slow Turning (A&M)

Here's a repeater from last year's list; if he keeps writing songs like "Tennessee Plates" and "Slow Turning" and recording them once a year, he may wind up as an annual fixture. People have frequently called him too clever by half (and not always perverse and unthinking people, the type who refuse to recognize the divinity of Elvis Costello); here, though, as on last year's Bring the Family, he shows the kind of maturity you gradually develop by retaining both your clever cynicism and your critical intelligence for a long time. There's enough hillbilly in Hiatt to treasure absurd, fatalistic and self-destructive behavior — his characters shoot up bank machines and steal cars from the Graceland garage, when they're not keeping busy being nice to their kids — but he doesn't limit himself to the burn-myself-up-and-let-God-sort-me-out perspective of the purer sort of hick. He sings his guts out, getting far more from a car-exhaust voice than nature ever intended it to produce, and his band the Goners are as solid as ancient redwood.

THE MEKONS

So Good It Hurts (Twin/Tone)

They're phasing out the borrowed country-and-Western element that made Fear and Whiskey as riveting as its title (and Honky-Tonkin as postmod-recombinant as its title); in its place come reconstituted reggae and collodial calypso. It doesn't matter much which folk styles the Mekons borrow, though, since only a few of them can really play; the result is always a boozy garage jam featuring what sounds like hundreds of guitarists, letting off all the steam they've built up by reading a heavy load of Adorno and E.P. Thompson. Anybody who thinks alienated grad-school lefties wouldn't know a good time if it kicked them in the Nietzsche should pay some attention here: the Mekons may not be virtuosos, but they're adept at converting analysis into opposition and opposition into anarchic celebration. Among Mekons who do know their instruments pretty well, vocalist Sally Timms and violinist Susie Honeyman add grace and mystery; among those who don't, Jon Langford and Tom Greenhalgh attack their guitars and mikes with enough spirit to whip their limitations, and that's what punk rock was about in the first place.

PERE UBU

The Tenement Year (Enigma)

There have been plenty of band reunions lately, some of which are pretty good ideas (a reborn Little Feat, with the irreplaceable Lowell George replaced by Craig Fuller of Pure Prairie League, whose vocal imitation of the late Fat Man in the Bathtub is nearly perfect) and some of which should be capital crimes (I didn't even like Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young the first time around). This one, though, came off perfectly. It may in fact be the only time in history that a reborn band sounds better than it ever did before it broke up. The last David Thomas project, the Wooden Birds, was almost Ubu anyway, sporting four members from the band's late-70's heyday, and with the return of drummer R. Scott Krauss they've revived a dormant monster. Thomas is as loopy and as committed as ever; new guitarist Jim Jones fits into the soaring, lurching sound as if he'd been there all along (which he was, but as a roadie); the percussive clatter from Krauss and Chris Cutler supports the other guys' excursions without providing too much order. Best of all, they're back to writing great rock hooks, the best thing an arty industrial band can do.

SONIC YOUTH

Daydream Nation (Enigma/Blast First)

The secret's out: Thurston Moore can sing. All the time he seemed to be treating his vocals as goofy afterthoughts, he was just kidding us — or establishing the Sonics' credentials as a no-frills noise band, building up a hardcore pigbucker following so they'd maximize the shock when they turned around and put out a double LP loaded with hooks. There have been hints before, like the graceful parallel vocals by Moore and Kim Gordon on "Cotton Crown" from 1987's Sister album, but Daydream realizes the band's pop possibilities in ways nobody in the East Village would have dreamed of. They're usually known as the "noise Beatles," a texture band or an energy band rather than a songwriting band, but they've taken a radical step here and moved to a level where nobody has to handicap their compositional skills. Gordon's image as a punked-out sex goddess is intact (best vocal lines in this area not repeatable in this paper), Moore's death-defying guitar-grunge battles with Lee Ranaldo are still escalating, and the warped ex-Catholic sensibility is still strong; while expanding their fun factor and reaching out to a crowd that isn't entirely dressed in black, they've retained their harsh identity. Major step; major group, now.

TALKING HEADS

Naked (Sire)

After a couple of so-so records marked by hesitant attempts to sound like Just Folks, rock's best-known intellectuals bounce back and reclaim their trippy identity. They're still raiding indigenous styles (zouk, calypso, soca and juju are the colonies of choice this time around), but they're blending them into their own futurist sound like they did in their last peak period, the post-Eno early 80's, and the result is high-grade recombinant dance-worthy fun. David Byrne's creative paranoia is in full bloom, as he turns his wary eye toward subjects he's productively uncomfortable with: assassinations, elections, biology and various imperials of the body and spirit. The best track, "Nothing but Flowers," turns tree-hugger naivete inside out and pulls the classic Heads maneuver of making your mind nervous while inducing your feet to tap; the video for this song, by the way, projects Harper's Index-style statistics among the lyrical fragments — a prime Byrnian/Brechtian alienation device, and the MTV crowd could stand some serious alienation.

THE TRAVELING WILBURYS (Warner Bros.)

Yes, there's a certain Late Lamented Roy Orbison Factor involved here, but this record would probably make the list without it. The unlikely combination — five fairly unblendable voices, five guitarists — loosens up all these guys, bringing out the best work most of them have done for a good long time. There's an engaging offhandedness every time the big out-of-key chorus cranks up, and the band (thanks mainly to drummer Jim Keltner) lumbers along amiably like an old-fashioned locomotive. Saint Roy of the Dark Space (that's Lefty Wilbury to you) gives one of his scary-pure performances on "Not Alone Any More," belting out the kind of operatic lead that's always suggested his extraterrestrial origin; Lucky "Bob Dylan" Wilbury turns an ostensible Springsteen parody, "Tweeter and the Monkey Man," into proof that there's still some real Dylan hidden in there somewhere. It's also refreshing to see George Harrison, a.k.a. Nelson Wilbury, moving comfortable into the role of Most Active Surviving Beatle.

WIRE

A Bell Is a Cup Until It Is Struck (Enigma)

Another top-10 repeater: the guys who made punk safe for artiness (or was it the other way around?) continue to reinvent the two-chord dance drone. The tension between Colin Newman's effortless tenor and Graham Lewis' guttural baritone makes "Kidney Binges" the single of the year — never mind the impenetrable lyrics, Newman insinuates a wild mixture of menace and regret into the dense butcher-shop imagery, and Lewis barely controls his anguish during the brilliant wordless vocal coda. Tapping an apparently endless supply of simple, anthemic repeating melodies and shimmering electronic treatments, Wire generates some of the best late-night driving music ever written; if your car speakers are as cheery as mine, you'll miss some pretty spectacular production effects, but the solution is easy: listen to it at home until you've got its huge, atmospheric sound ingrained in your bones, and the parts that your car noises muffle up will magically reappear.

Close calls

Ambitious Lovers: Greed (Virgin). As professional as a mob hit, as sexy as Rio after dark; like Moore, Arto Lindsay reveals unexpected voice.

Steve Earle: Copperhead Road (Uni). A step up toward rock and roll from a guy who's already shown how well he knows country; title song's a new kind of outlaw anthem, one I'd call a healthy idea.

Full Time Men: Your Face My Fist (Coyote). The indie version of the Wilburys. Flestones and semi-famous friends getting drunk and disorderly; best Flestones romp since Roman Gods.

Game Theory: Lolita Nation and Two Steps From the Middle Ages (Enigma). Former one-man lab project becomes full-blooded, adventurous band; going coed also helps loosen up resident genius' perspective.

Nick Lowe: Pinker and Prouder Than Previous (Columbia). Still the eternal wiseguy, but as subtle a wiseguy as he's ever been; understated arrangements bring out his creepier side, which has always been his best side.

Mahlathini: The Lion of Soweto (Earthworks). Absolutely the coolest voice anywhere, cutting through the murky recording like a hacksaw through a chain; mbaqanga rhythms great for long highway trips.

Public Enemy: It Takes a Nation of Millions to Hold Us Back (Def Jam). Even if they are Farrakhan fans, they're smart, articulate, independent and furious; "Night of the Living Baseheads" and "She Watch Channel Zero?" double-cover the dominant forms of urban brain damage without giving ground to Nancy Reagan or Allan Bloom.

Sugarcubes: Life's Too Good (Elektra). Nothing's as irresistible as a teenage-looking acid queen singing with an Icelandic accent; there's also a good spooky band at work.

Also-rans, foul plays and so on

ROOKIES OF THE YEAR

Living Colour, Vivid (Epic); Hothouse Flowers, People (London); The Christians (Island); Blue Hippos, Forty-Forty (Twin/Tone); Ziggy Marley and the Melody Makers, Conscious Party (Virgin); Michelle Shocked, Short Sharp Shocked (Mercury); Jack Rubies, Fascinatin' Vacation (TVT); Rosie Flores (Reprise).

SOMEBODY LOAD UP THE HOWITZER

Debbie Gibson, Kylie Minogue and Tiffany, the unholy trinity of teen bubblegum, and their male-model equivalents Bon Jovi and Johnny Hates Jazz. Some overly theoretical type once scribbled that Tiffany was actually an important artist because she represented a new social phenomenon: the shopping mall as "the only public place dominated by teenage girls." Sure, and mazes are "dominated" by lab rats and Auschwitz was "dominated" by Jews and gypsies. Let your kids hear all the speed-metal and acid house they want and they'll get sick of it, but hand 'em plastic and set 'em loose in malls and they'll be trained as airheaded fad-worshipping det junkies for life. This stuff is genuine poison, the more so because it looks innocuous. It's easy to choke to death on white bread.

NECROPHILIA-MANIA, or BEST NEW RECORDS BY DEAD BANDS

SOMEBODY LOAD UP THE HOWITZER, PART II

U2's "Bono Vox" Hewson, a pompous jerk who often drags down a good band and attempts throughout much of Rattle and Hum to place himself in an American folk-blues tradition that he doesn't understand. The resulting seams don't show too badly when Bono and the band do this on their own material (e.g., the Bo Diddley beat on "Desire," their best single in years) but when Bono arrogates to himself the right to add lyrics to a Bob Dylan song — and then comes up with something as sorry as "All I have is a red guitar/Three chords and the truth" — it's time to reach for the heavy artillery. This sort of thing makes U2 appear preposterous and poisons every good cause the band picks up on.

Princeton Ballet hosted by MCC

EDISON — For the fifth consecutive season, the Middlesex County College Division of Community Education will host the Princeton Ballet performance of Tchaikovsky's The Nutcracker.

A company of 80 dancers will present a two-act production of the holiday classic in the college's Performing Arts Center. Performances will be Friday at 7:30 p.m., Saturday at 2:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. and Sunday at 1 p.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Tickets for all performances are $14 and can be ordered by calling the college Division of Community Education at 906-2556. The college will accept VISA and MasterCard orders.

Kids sought for 'Oliver'

PISCATAWAY — Boys are girls between the ages of 7 and 12 are being sought for an upcoming production Oliver, the musical based on Charles Dickens' Oliver Twist, to be co-produced by the Act One Players and the Piscataway Cultural Arts Commission.

Tryouts will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. in Fran's World of Dance, 174 Stelton Road, above the Carvel Ice Cream store in New Market.

Children should prepare a song to sing and bring a cassette tape for accompaniment. Those auditioning for the roles of Oliver Twist, the Artful Dodger and Bet should try to sing something from the show.

There are also a few male roles open, including the villain Bill Sikes. Those auditioning for these roles should also come on Saturday.

For more information, call 968-8907 or 968-7620.

'Social Security' casting call

METUCHEN — Auditions for the Forum Theatre production of Andrew Bergman's play Social Security will be held Monday and Tuesday from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. at the theater, 314 Main Street.

Actors are asked to prepare one contemporary comic monologue no longer than two minutes. Rehearsals begin Jan 9 and the production will run from Feb. 3 to Feb. 26.

For more information, call 548-4670.

Georgia O'Keeffe on their minds

NORTH BRUNSWICK — A bus trip to view the Georgia O'Keeffe exhibit at the Metropolitan Museum of Art leaves Saturday, Jan. 21.

Sponsored by the Artists' League of Central New Jersey, the bus trip leaves from the K mart on Route 18 in East Brunswick at 9 a.m.

The O'Keeffe exhibit includes more than 100 works, including the famous Jack-in-the-Pulpit No. III and many of her cityscapes and abstractions in pastel, oil and watercolor.

The $30 admission fee ($25 for league members) covers museum admission as well as the round trip cost. For more information call 985-5839 in the evening.

Clown performs holiday show

PISCATAWAY — Poco the Clown will entertain children of all ages with magic, juggling, unicycling and other surprises at a Dec. 16 Children's Holiday Show.

The free performance starts at 7 p.m. in the Susan B. Anthony Building of Piscataway High School, Behmer Road.

For more information, call 968-7620 after 4 p.m.

Agency gifts for homeless

METUCHEN —Weichert Realtors at Central and Middlesex avenues will distribute gifts to residents of the Oznam Shelter at Roosevelt Park December 19.

Already more than 150 gifts for the homeless families are sitting under the tree in the agency office and members of the public are invited to help increase the number.

The presents need not be wrapped. Members of the agency sales shop will perform that task and label them for appropriate recipients.

The agency's holiday gift committee also would welcome contributions of food for a holiday party at which the gifts will be distributed.

The campaign to bring holiday cheer to shelter residents was organized by sales associates Annmarie Howley and Georgia Crozier and Alice Peterpaul of the processing department.

Daniel Day-Lewis and Juliette Binoche in The Unbearable Lightness of Being.

Bounced Czechs, malign monkeys

ARIA (1988) In which 10 directors get to provide quirky visuals for bits of famous and not so famous operas, with results that should give pause to their respective admirers. Julien Temple offers a man and wife unknowingly pursuing separate adulteries at the same motel, set to excerpts from Rigoletto (a lot of Verdi in this film). Jean-Luc Godard offers a typically self-parodic bit set to Lully's Armide in which lustful waitresses wipe down tables and fantasize about swabbing oblivious bodybuilders. Some of the segments would be considered lame if used as perfume ads: Derek Jarman's take on Charpentier's Louise, Bruce Beresford's teen porn visualization of the Lute Song from Korngold's Die Totenstadt. The only passable entry is Franc Roddam's updated Tristan and Isolde, which places the "Liebestod" in Las Vegas and offers the littlest Fonda, Bridget, as one of the doomed lovers. It all ends with John Hurt lip-synching to a scratchy recording of Caruso singing "Vesti La Giubba." Strictly a curio. Academy Entertainment.

THE DEVIL AND DANIEL WEBSTER (1941) A vastly entertaining, superbly made adaptation of Stephen

Vincent Benet's famous story, highlighted by Walter Huston's performance as Mr. Scratch, the demonic visitor who buys up the soul of a dirt-poor New Hampshire farmer, and Edward Arnold's as the man who argues him out of the contract. The treatment, which sometimes brings to mind a big budget Twilight Zone episode, capitalized on the innovations in Citizen Kane, another RKO production: Joseph August's cinematography and Vernon L. Walker's special effects are often startlingly good (the lighting of the square dance is a lesson in achieving maximum creepiness from limited means) and Bernard Herrmann's score deserved its Oscar. Great fun. With James Craig, Anne Shirley, Jane Darwell and Simone Simon. Screenplay by Benet and Dan Tetheroh; directed by William Dieterle. Embassy Home Entertainment.

MONKEY SHINES (1988) One of the niftier horror flicks in recent memory, written and directed with admirable restraint by George Romero of the blood-drenched Night of the Living Dead series. The plot (drawn from Michael Stewart's novel) turns on a young man paralyzed from the neck down who is given ven a trained capuchin monkey to perform small tasks — only in this case the monkey's intelligence has been artificially boosted, with predictably creepy results. Romero exploits every opportunity and invents a few new ones; he even keeps the genre to a minimum until the very end. With Jason Beghe, John Pandolfi, Kate McNeil and Joyce Van Patten. Orion Home Video.

Vidiocy

A NIGHTMARE ON ELM STREET 4: THE DREAM MASTER (1988) The original Nightmare was a moment of deranged inspiration for Wes Craven; of the three progressively dopier sequels, this one offers the most style and nasty humor. With Robert Englund as the razor-gloved Freddy Krueger and a cast of forgettable teens. Media Home Video.

STORMY MONDAY (1988) A lightweight but very watchable modern film noir, shot in stylish color and set in Newcastle, where even the coal miners are having a hard time. Tommy Lee Jones is the ugly American tycoon trying to buy up everything in sight. Sting is the funky but chic nightclub owner who won't back down and Melanie Griffith and Sean Bean are the lovers caught between them. Not one for the ages but maybe one for the weekend. With James Cosmo, Mark Long and Brian Lewis. Written and directed by Mike Figgis. Paramount Video.

THE UNBEARABLE LIGHTNESS OF BEING (1988) In adapting The Right Stuff Phil Kaufman had to work with too much material; in this nervy but botched attempt to bring Milan Kundera's discursive 1984 novel to the screen, he has too little — too little that is filmable, at any rate. The central triangle — a philandering surgeon, his free-spirited mistress and the wife he falls in love with despite himself, all living in Czechoslovakia just before Soviet tanks crushed Alexander Dubcek's "socialism with a human face" — is carefully drawn but the chewy essence of the novel — Kundera's philosophical musings — is gone. There is a superbly edited sequence showing the Soviet invasion, a scene or two that echoes the novel's dryly humorous tone and some nice footage of Lena Olin running around in black underwear and a bowler hat. The rest comes perilously close to the "kitsch" Kundera scorns in his writing. With Daniel Day-Lewis, Juliette Binoche, Lena Olin, Derek deLint and Erland Josephson. Screenplay by Jean-Claude Carriere and Philip Kaufman; directed by Kaufman. Orion Home Video.

WHITE MISCHIEF (1988) An adaptation of James Fox's book about a colony of British aristocrats who sat out the early years of World War II in Kenya, passing the time with wife-swapping, drugs and adultery; one of them added murder to the list by shooting Lord Erroll, the reigning stud. As directed by Michael Radford (1984) the whole thing is very sleek, sleazy and chilly, chiefly notable for some good performances and the presence of Greta Scacchi as the victim's last conquest. A well-made film, but the cold viewpoint and the unpalatable characters make it something of a trial to sit through. With Joss Ackland, Sarah Miles, John Hurt, Charles Dance and Geraldine Chaplin. Nelson Entertainment.

WILLOW (1988) A tomboy princess, an earnest young man seeking his destiny, a soldier of fortune with a heart of gold, a couple of wisecracking pixies who tag along, a lot of special effects — Star Wars producer George Lucas offers the mixture as before in this special effects epic about a munchkin saving a magical baby from an evil sorceress. The visual tricks are as clean and convincing as only Industrial Light & Magic can make them, and Warwick Davis is often surprisingly effective as the diminutive hero, but the whole enterprise is notably lacking in soul (to say nothing of originality) and the thrill-a-minute pace is a little too mechanically brutal for younger viewers. Fortunately, Willow didn't move many tickets (or dolls or drinking glasses), thus sparing us the possibility of a sequel. With Val Kilmer, Joanne Whalley, Warwick Davis, Billy Barty and Jean Marsh. Screenplay by Bob Dolman, from a story by George Lucas; directed by Ron Howard. Columbia Pictures Home Video.

CAROLING, CAROLING
PISCATAWAY — The public is invited to go door-to-door singing Christmas carols. The group will meet Tuesday at 6:45 p.m. at Westergard Library, 20 Murray Avenue.

Beautiful 'Elegy' from so-so NJSO

NEW JERSEY SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Hugo Wolff, conductor
Count Basie Theatre, Red Bank
Leonard Bernstein: Fancy Free;
John Corigliano: Concerto for Clarinet and Orchestra; Beethoven: Symphony No. 4 in B-flat major, Op. 60.

The Friday performance of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra was not a program calculated to stir anticipation in the listener's heart. It didn't disappoint, but neither did it surprise.

First, Bernstein's Fancy Free. If this were not the great Bernstein would we still be listening to such a derivative score from any other 25-year-old? After Gershwin and Copland had thoroughly mined the idiom of American popular music there wasn't very much of an original nature left for this ballet vehicle, composed in 1943 for Jerome Robbins. As a ballet it would probably be more interesting. In concert form it is overlong and ultimately boring.

The orchestra took its time getting into the score; actually, the impressive pizzicato passages sounded under-rehearsed. The prominent piano part, featuring blues and boogie riffs, was well-done, lending an air of decadence suitable to the story. The New Jersey Symphony has now made the proper obeisance to the 70th birthday celebrations of Leonard Bernstein.

Richard Stoltzman is a clarinet virtuoso whose performance of the Corigliano piece enhanced every device used by the composer to display the instrument's possibilities. From the shimmering unaccompanied clarinet opening in the first movement, to the controlled pianissimo ending of the second movement and into the pyrotechnics of the third movement, it was apparent we were hearing a soloist in supreme control of his instrument.

This score was composed in 1977 and much of it already sounds terribly dated. The first movement begins like background music for a horror movie, but there are nice effects with clustered low brass and very high violin writing. There were trills and leaps all up and down the registers of the instruments and a moderate amount of pitch "bending" (a slight sliding down and up again, reminiscent of singers who can't find the pitch). The movement builds to a thundering climax of percussion and brass, then ends quietly.

The third movement is an antiphonal toccata with five French horns, two trumpets and two clarinets positioned in the balcony and along the side aisles. The composer writes that this is his solution "to the balance problems created by using this full orchestra in a wind concerto." This movement contains interesting rhythmic elements until a paucity of imagination or whatever creates a sort of dementia in which the sawing of strings, blowing of winds and pounding of percussion, alternated with dramatic entrances of the antiphonal instruments, causes one to remember why the name of that London mental hospital, Bedlam, entered the vernacular.

Naturally, the audience loves this sort of thing when the conductor turns around to cue brasses in the balcony. People swivel their necks to follow the action, then at intermission they can discuss how exciting it all was. What really happened was that half the audience was stirred from somnolence.

Musical matters

Doris LaMar

Cynicism aside now, the real genius of this work is its second movement. Why is it that 20th century composers who allow their fast movements to disintegrate into kinetic frenzy can write slow movements of exquisite beauty? This "Elegy" was written in memory of the composer's father, who was for 23 years concertmaster of the New York Philharmonic. The composer writes: "The 'Elegy' begins with a long, unaccompanied line for the violins. The lower strings enter, and a mood of sustained lyricism introduces the solo clarinet. The prevailing feeling is that of desolation. I deliberately avoided an emotional climax in the 'Elegy,' feeling that by sustaining the same mood throughout the music would achieve a heightened intensity." He was correct about the mood and intensity, for this is quite simply a masterful composition.

There is an extended detour for violin and clarinet in which Peter Winograd, guest concertmaster in place of the NJSO's Christopher Collins Lee, played superbly, and also did in the solo violin passages of Fancy Free. As for Stoltzman, he possesses such incredible tonal and dynamic control that when the clarinet ends ever so softly at the end of its range, the effect is magical. One would have to go a long way to hear finer clarinet playing.

After the rattle-dazzle of the Corigliano last movement it was a relief to turn to Beethoven after the intermission. Strangely, both conductor and orchestra seemed to take until the third movement "Scherzo" to breathe life into the Fourth Symphony. Although nothing was really "wrong" with the performance, though the second movement (to cite one particular) felt as though it would never end. I should note that Wolff now likes to move the second violins to his right, exchanging places with the violas, in performance of Mozart and now of Beethoven. This is a wonderful plan enabling the five-and-take antiphonal writing for the firsts and seconds to be heard clearly.

Submissions sought by arts group

RED BANK — Visual artists who work in a wide range of media are invited to submit works for the Monmouth County Arts Council's 10th annual juried art exhibit, slated to open Jan. 29.

Entry forms in all categories — painting, drawing, sculpture, photography and multimedia — can be obtained either in person or by writing the council at 99 Monmouth Street, Red Bank, 07701.

The council has set aside a total of $1,200 in award money.

The juror for the exhibition, Allison Weld, was recently appointed assistant curator at the N.J. State Museum in Trenton. Her special responsibility is the museum's "Contemporary Art Series." Prior to joining the museum, Ms. Weld was curator of the Robeson Gallery at Rutgers University.

This weekly column is devoted to sharing with you, our readers the different kinds of delightful, delicious cuisine in our area.

Rackley's
1776 So. Washington Ave.
Piscataway, N.J. 08854
463-1000

Rackley's diners can't help but notice the peach and brass decor and a very open, light, airy feeling highlighted by cactus plants placed throughout.

Lunch was busy, but the efficiency of the operation was fascinating. Each waiter or waitress has a pocket-size computer. As soon as we ordered our drinks and food the waitress punched them in her computer and it was immediately relayed to the bar and kitchen. She explained to us that by the time she got to the bar the drinks would be ready and waiting.

I had to try Rackley's famous ribs in BBQ sauce, $7.95. My friend had the reuben rack, $5.95, choice corned brisket smothered with sauerkraut, Swiss cheese and Rackley's special dressing. We also decided to share a quarter brick of onions, $1.75. All the entrees include cole slaw and choice of BBQ pork and beans, slab potatoes or baked potatoes.

Jonathan Triebwasser developed the famous sauce for the ribs. Jonathan is a native of Westchester County and worked in Kansas City for several years. A graduate of the Culinary Institute of America, Jonathan was an executive chef at Forsgate Country Club in Jamesburg before he became chef for a corporation that also owns the Madison Suites Hotel in Somerset.

According to owner Bruce Matzel, there's a lot more to Rackley's than striking decor and ribs — there are 52 items on the menu.

Rackley's also offers banquet facilities, take out orders and delivery service. All major credit cards are welcome.

This column is designed to acquaint our readers with dining spots in the area. It is not intended as a critique.

Dim 'Sunrise'; 'Naked Gun' fun

Tequila Sunrise, sorry to say, is a drag. "Sorry" because Robert Towne, the writer and director, scripted Chinatown, the best American film of the '70s and arguably one of the best this country has yet produced. Mind you, I don't buy the line on Towne as Hollywood's best scenarist: his other screenwriting projects — Shampoo, The Last Detail, Greystoke — have been trash, respectively pretentious, fake-hardnosed sentimental and incoherent — while Personal Best, his first outing as a writer and director, left me completely cold. Much of Towne's reputation rests on his uncredited script-doctoring and his unfilmed but near-legendary sequel to Chinatown; many of his screenplays (notably Greystoke) have been fumbled by inept directors. With all the grief Towne has suffered, it would be good to announce his self-created masterwork is at hand, but the worst thing about Tequila Sunrise is that it proves Towne can wreak as much havoc on his own work as the least sympathetic hack.

What you get in Tequila Sunrise is a Los Angeles drug runner (Mel Gibson) who says he's getting out of the business, a narcotics cop (Kurt Russell) who's trying not to bust him and a restaurant owner (Michelle Pfeiffer) who beds down with both of them. There is a rambling, murky plot about a Mexican kingpin coming to Los Angeles to conclude some long-neglected and completely unspecified business with Gibson, the urgency of which is never explained despite the fact that it places both men in extreme jeopardy. There are a number of important plot twists and several betrayals, all rendered incomprehensible by Towne's muddled, elliptical dialogue and inexpressive acting by all three principals.

One of the pleasures of Chinatown was its careful social observation, its well-drawn sense of time and place. Tequila Sunrise seems to take place on Mars. Russell has risen to the top of his division even though its known throughout the force that he's boss' buddy with a notorious pusher. Is he a good cop or a bad one? Why would a guy as nice as Gibson seem to be involved in the drug trade, and what has prompted him to retire? A thriller can offer any number of twists and turns so long as it plays fair and gives the viewer basic information. Tequila Sunrise leaves you in the dark from start to finish; the reversals leave you bored and indifferent. There is a lot of talk about food, and alert moviegoers will leave the theater with the names of some savory pasta dishes burning in their minds, but for the most part Tequila Sunrise is strictly a trip to Burger King.

Little need be said about The Naked Gun other than that if you liked Airplane! and Top Secret! you will also like this new brainchild of Jim Abrahams and David and Jerry Zucker, aided by Pat Proft. The movie resurrects Police Squad!, the trio's short-lived attempt to bring their kamikaze-style anything-for-a-laugh kamikaze approach to TV. It still works fine for all of us who ever laughed at Mad magazine: the silly jokes, atrocious puns and outrageous sight gags come at you so relentlessly that the occasional bummers are quickly swept past by the current. When so many comedies must hoard their few good jokes and parcel them out a yock at a time — Scrooged is a good example — a flick that upends a whole truckload of goodies on your head is not to be scoffed at.

Whole lotta fun at the Forum

There's a whole lot of foot stompin' music and fancy dancin' down at the Forum Theatre in Metuchen, 'cause that's where they've got The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas.

Director Peter Loewy has successfully put together another big musical, this time a bawdy country-style extravaganza about a real-life downhome bordello that existed for nearly a century in the little town of La Grange, Texas.

The book by Texans Larry King and Peter Masterson glorifies life at the Chicken Ranch, a so-called "boarding house" where Miss Mona and her girls make their guests "feel at home without feeling at home, if you know what I mean." But a villainous TV "watchdog" reporter, moralist Melvin P. Thorpe, throws a wrench into the works by exposing the Chicken Ranch and creating a political stir. The play is loosely based on real events and follows the trials and tribulations of Miss Mona, her friends and her foes as she's finally forced to close her doors.

Playing the classy, no-nonsense Miss Mona is Vicki Tripodo, who molds a convincing image of herself as a sensitive woman who hides beneath a tough veneer. Opposite Tripodo is Jerry Cullity as rough-talking Sheriff Ed Earl Dodd, the hot-headed kawman with a soft spot in his heart for Mona and the girls. Despite Ed Earl's quick temper and dubious approach to law enforcement, Cullity's character is decidedly sympathetic. The villain, however — the self-righteous Melvin P. Thorpe — is appropriately obnoxious as played by one energetic Mark Pinheiro.

More than anything else, it's Carol Mali's music and lyrics that make this the best little Best Little Whorehouse around. With Larry Rothweiler heading up the Rio Grande Band on stage there's a down-home country sound that's downright catchy. And the talented cast follows through with some rich harmonies and wonderful solos. There's Jewel (Cleo), who's jumpin' and jivin' about "Twenty-four Hours of Lovin'," and Doatsey Mae (Eileen Tepper) who's crooning about her dreams of a different life. The funniest number is by the Governor (Paul Whelihan), who tickles the audience with his lively singing and fancy footwork in his political "Sidestep."

No less impressive than this show's music is its dancing, choreographed by June Tartaglia. The male chorus of football's Texas Aggies pull off an incredibly athletic dance in anticipation of a night at the whorehouse while the girls, known as the Anglettes, do a wonderfully witty spoof on big league cheerleaders. Mona's scantily-clad girls hold their own too with their lively and seductive moves.

The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas made it as a Broadway hit in the late '70s and soon after as a big screen vehicle for Dolly Parton and Burt Reynolds. On stage at the Forum, it's a sexy, spirited show — funny and sad and totally entertaining.

Shah, according to Michael F. Nigro, Project Resources' employment recruitment specialist, is proof positive of how Project Resources' programs can result in a perfect match between employer and employee even when the employee may be entering a field totally different from the one in which he or she was involved for many years.

Shah, a resident of Dayton Drive, is assigned by Wells Fargo as one of its 25 security officers who staff the world center for AT&T technology on Valley Road in Berkeley Heights.

Clad in gray slacks, maroon ties and blue blazers with the Wells Fargo crest on the breast pocket, the security officers at the technology center blend unobtrusively into the impressive surroundings of glass-enclosed elevators ascending toward a soaring glass roof and a lobby with visitor waiting area around a pool into which fountains of water cascade.

"A lot of times people hear 'security guard' and they think 300 pounds, you have to carry a stick," commented Denise Ortiz, marketing services coordinator for Wells Fargo's Piscataway office.

But such is not the case in staffing a facility such as AT&T, where not heft but the ability to project the desired image is the prime requisite.

Wells Fargo is one of 500 companies that have become part of Project Resources' "job bank" since it was established in 1987 at MCC with state funding as a pilot program and, according to Ms. Ortiz, her company has discovered that what Nigro prefers to describe as "mature workers" have a high degree of "dependability and reliability."

"That's very important in the security field," she said, describing Shah as "a perfect testimonial" to this.

Shah's work ethic also includes loyalty to his employer so long as he accepts his pay check: "If we have a grudge and we don't like the job get another job. That's what I believe."

Shah, who lives in Edison with his wife and four grown children, was persuaded to become a permanent resident of the United States by a younger brother who had emigrated 20 years earlier and who has his own business.

Although he credits his brother with supporting him both emotionally and financially in making the transition to a new life in a new country, Shah found it necessary to seek employment. But because of a number of factors, including a lack of skills with modern day equipment such as computers and word processors, he did not want a job in what had been his field of employment for a quarter-century in India.

His search for work took him to a variety of potential employers and during one period he accepted a job as a materials handler.

"At certain places I was overqualified and certain places I was underqualified," said Shah. "At certain places I didn't care to work."

Last April, reported Shah, an avid newspaper reader, he saw an advertisement in a local paper for Project Resources and immediately made an appointment. Within a short time, he was put in touch with Wells Fargo.

"One thing we try to do," explained Nigro, "is to match the desire and proficiency of the individual with the job."

In this instance, it obviously was the perfect match.

"I enjoy coming to work," said Shah, who had no reservations about living up to Wells Fargo's expectations when he accepted his position.

"If you have an aptitude to learn, you will," he said.

Shah singles out "powers of observation with investigating eyes and public relations" as being the most important qualifications for performing his duties, which involve making certain that no one gets beyond the entry doors without the required employee ID or visitor badge and that nothing illicit is carried in or out of the building.

According to Nigro, in its two years of operations, Project Resources has had 550 "mature workers" avail themselves of its various services, which include guidance, advisement, workshops, training or retraining and support of the individual's job-seeking efforts.

Among them, he reported, are people who were actually afraid to look for a job because they had spent all of their working years in the employ of one company and had never experienced the need to seek new employment.

According to Ms. Ortiz, in the past six months, Wells Fargo has become "more aggressive in targeting the older workers" and her advice to them is to not limit their view of the types of job opportunities that are available to people who want to re-enter the working world.

More information about Project Resources is available by calling its office at Middlesex County College, 906-2554.

cal purposes, a study of co-curricular positions requested by the board in 1987 and has presented salary proposals that "any reasonable person would consider insubstantial."

She also accused the committee with "refusing" to negotiate the 1989-90 teacher salary guide.

According to Mrs. Scott, the board negotiators already have cancelled three meetings and a new date, which was supposed to be made known on Monday, still has not been scheduled.

Currently, teachers receive from $350 to $3,000 for co-curricular activities ranging from coaching to supervising clubs.

Sondergard said the additional co-curricular pay would boost the salaries of these teachers above the average of industrial workers' salaries.

According to Sondergard, the board negotiating team is working on the co-curricular guide first and then will tackle the general salary guide because it will not go into effect until the start of the new school years on July 1.

Canary, chairman of the negotiation team, said the team was "well prepared" and was "ready and able to negotiate."

Board president Eileen Dyas emphasized the board is not stalling and said that past negotiations have been spread over about the same period of time. Member of the board committee, according to Mrs. Dyas, were forced to miss certain meeting because of "business obligations."

She added, however, that the board is as "unhappy" as the MEA that the negotiating team is unable to meet of a regular weekly basis and observed that the previous committee of which Passantino was chairman had a "different approach."

The board's negotiators can meet only when the chairman is present and Mrs. Dyas said she could not act as an ex-officio member if Canary could not make the meeting.

Mel Wolock, co-chairman of the MEA's negotiation team, responded that the "words sound good but the deeds don't match at all." He said if the members of the board's committee were engaged elsewhere the board should either pick another time for the meetings or "change the personnel" of the committee.

Edison learns a lesson cepted at the Kilmer Leaf Composting Facility in Piscataway.

He has recommended, Yelencsics said, that next year biodegradable paper bags, which can be dumped intact at the composting facility, be used.

Another problem, according to the mayor, was the lack of a definite schedule for collecting leaves, which resulted in people putting out bags after the DPW truck already had been through their neighborhood.

"There's going to be a lot of hell until they're all picked up but we're on our way," he said, adding that DPW forces have been working overtime to keep up with the workload.

"What happened this year was a lesson in labor lost," commented Councilman John Hogan. "It took just an enormous amount of time."

Hogan said he personally observed how DPW crews were bogged down because of the need to cut open each plastic bag and empty the leaves into the truck.

During a visit to the Kilmer Leaf Composting Facility, he continued, he observed DPW crews from Piscataway, where biodegradable bags were used, drive in and just dump their unbagged cargo.

"They just emptied their trucks and went on their merry way," reported Hogan.

"That's exactly what I'm talking about," Yelencsics responded. "But you can't do it with plastic bags."

'Coward'

Monday's night's incident was the second time in less than a week in which a meeting of the governing body ended with unpleasantness.

After a special meeting the previous Wednesday, township engineer William Lund and Jeffrey Warsh, another administration critic, had an exchange of words that ended in a shoving match and caused normally unflappable council president Henry Cackowski to lose his temper at Warsh.

"Yelencsics' third consecutive four-year term expires next year and the political plans of the 67-year-old mayor who has been experiencing some health problems is a topic of growing speculation on the part of township officials, employees and other observers of the local political scene.

In addition to being chief executive under the township's strong mayor form of government, Yelencsics also is chairman of the Edison Democratic Organization.

Tire thieves strike again

METUCHEN — Eight vans were entered and their spare tires and jacks were stolen while they were parked at the Suburban Dodge parking lot at 85 Central Avenue between 9:30 p.m. December 6 and 2:20 p.m. December 7.

The crime was almost a duplicate of one which took place at Boro Motors, 909 Middlesex Avenue, between December 1 and 2, when eight vans also were entered and their spare tires taken.

At Suburban Dodge, five 1989 Dodge Ram vans, whose rear doors were unlocked, had had their spare tires and jacks removed. Later in the day it was discovered that the driver's side vent windows of three other vans were smashed and the spares and tires were missing.

Alarms for schools

Post and Michaud were instructed to comb through current expense appropriations and balances in outstanding annual capital improvement bond issues to find out if they can come up with enough money to undertake installation of the additional alarms as soon as possible.

Post pointed out that the quote was obtained from ADT to get "a ball-park figure" of how much the new equipment and the monitoring will cost and it will be necessary to go out for bids once the funds are on hand.

It was the consensus of the board that it wants to get going on the alarms as soon as possible and not wait until funds for that purpose are included in the 1989-90 school budget, which does not become operational until next July 1.

Paul Hilf pointed out that this would mean going through the entire summer and the usual onslaught of warm weather vandalism without the new alarms. It was his recommendation that Post and Michaud look into getting the money together now from whatever source possible.

If this cannot be done, suggested board president John White, then the alarms should be installed in stages as the cash becomes available.

Hilf said that while the vandalism the district has experienced lately has caused damage to property and equipment, it has not resulted in any academic disruption.

But something could happen that would make it necessary to curtail the academic program or close a school altogether, he warned.

"There could come a day when you're not going to open the school," agreed Dr. Joseph Kreskey, deputy superintendent of schools, adding that the type of vandalism inflicted of late has become "so dramatic."

The most recent case of vandalism involved two separate incidents in October and again in November at Woodrow Wilson Middle School.

The board was told that equipment that was salvagable has been repaired and replacements are on order for equipment that was beyond repair. It also was reported that the total amount of damage still is being tallied.

The same youths are believed responsible for both school break-ins and running amok in the science laboratories, home economics rooms and in classrooms.

During his monthly report on vandalism, Charles Andreasen, chairman of buildings and grounds, told the board that 24 hours after a six-foot-high chain link fence was installed in November at Washington Elementary School, sections were torn down and the gate was damaged.

The fence and gate were repaired, according to Andreasen, and just the previous weekend a 300-foot section against was torn down.

Andreasen said the fence was put up to keep cars from driving on the school playing field and reaching adjacent woods, which were described by Andreasen as a place used by teenagers for drinking parties.

Since the most recent damage to the fence, according to Andreasen, school maintenance personnel have

Bohn reported leaving

board post and to forward a copy to Mayor Anthony M. Yelencsics.

If the mayor is "sensitive" to the feelings of the residents of Edison, Gimelstob said, he will ask Bohn to give up his seat.

However, Bohn's resignation apparently already was in the works.

Bohn has been the subject of criticism since late in 1987 when it was revealed that while serving as chairman of the Planning Board he had business relationships with developers who appear before the board.

Although Bohn absented himself from the meeting room when applications in which he had an interest were on the table, he never stated the reason and it generally was assumed that he was merely taking a breather during the course of the board's usually long and detailed hearings.

When his involvement did become known, he stepped down as chairman in January but continued to sit as a member.

It also was revealed recently by a citizens group, Save Our Swamp, that Bohn was a partner in a group that sold land in East Brunswick to developer Samuel Halpern, a principal in the proposed Edison Tyler contacted nearby homeowners and asked them to call police immediately if they see or hear anything going on.

Woods townhouse, garden apartment and one-family home development in the Dismal Swamp.

As a result, the Planning Board has offered to conduct a new hearing on the project, which also came before the board when Bohn was chairman.

Edison Tyler Woods is the subject of a law suit brought by S.O.S. and the organization was given approval by Superior Court Judge Norris Harding to probe more deeply into a potential conflict of interest on Bohn's part. S.O.S. is seeking to have the original Edison Tyler Woods approval thrown out and the application made the subject of a new hearings at which the state's strict new wetlands laws will be applied.

Although's Bohn's activities as a developer in Edison never have been publicly discussed by the governing body, individual members have been privately critical of the situation and it was one of the main underlying reasons behind the council's adoption early this year of a stronger code of ethics.

Bohn, who is principal of Thomas Jefferson Middle School, is recognized as an expert on state planning procedures and the board's most knowledgeable member.

Trips by bands

compared to the $30 million in coverage it once carried. The decision at last week's session was to increase the coverage to $21 million at an additional premium of $16,000 based on current rates.

On the recommendation of Paul Hilf, it also will be required that all trips by school groups must be made by regulated common carriers, which, by law, must have their own liability insurance.

Hilf said he wanted to preclude the possibility of charter trips and carriers with no insurance coverage.

It also was stipulated, on the recommendation of Ralph Bayard, that no students shall be deprived of the opportunity to make the trip because he or she cannot finance the individual share that might be needed over and above the funds raised by the group's collective efforts.

The decision to permit the two bands to take part in events in Florida, California and points in between was described as "a pilot program" by Dr. Joseph Kreskey, deputy superintendent of schools, who pointed out that the board still reserves the right to review and approve or reject similar travel requests by other school organizations.

It was predicted by Nancy Levin that such requests will "snowball."

Although he indicated that he will go along with the formal decision to approve the band trips, board president John White said he wanted to "refresh" the board on why the decision was made to cut back on extended excursions and eliminate one-day class field trips altogether.

It was the board's opinion at that time, he recalled, that too much time was being spent on non-academic activities and it was time "to get the kids back in the classroom."

Kreskey added that another factor was a ruling by the state that the district and not the students had to pay the cost of class field trips.

"So we took a hard look at the educational value and decided it was not that valuable," according to Kreskey.

But Kreskey suggested that a band taking part in a competition was a different situation.

"I'm not questioning that but how are you going to say 'no' to the zoo?" asked White.

Saying he realized there probably will be a growing number of requests for approving student trips, Kreskey pointed out there is a difference between class field trips and travel by students groups that are going to an event at which they will perform or in which they will participate.

Mrs. Levin agreed that a distinction can be made between non-participatory and participatory activities involving such organizations as the band, Model United Nations teams and debating clubs.

White responded that he continued to have reservations about loss of classroom time and the affect on academic performance but he was told by Kreskey that most trips are scheduled to incorporate a weekend or other scheduled holidays or school recesses.

Capparelli's name on new JFK wing

director of health until retiring last June, was in fine fettle as he recalled his own recent four-day stay in the medical center.

"It's the damndest place to get out of once you're in here," said Yelencsics, who told of finding himself occupying a bed after visiting his doctor one night for what he considered a routine matter.

"By that time the press had me in a morgue somewhere," he quipped.

"For this award you're going to have to give a donation," he told Capparelli before becoming more serious about the accomplishments of his longtime colleague.

"In Dr. Capparelli we have the one single person who does just a little bit more," said the mayor, adding that since his retirement Capparelli has been devoting almost full time to hospital business.

Yelencsics also paid tribute to the volunteers who aid the medical center and its employees "who will do anything for this hospital."

He also pledged that despite its growth, JFK will continue its mission as a community hospital and he attested to the financial health of the institution.

"We are actually financially very, very sound," he said.

This also was alluded to by Dr. Coye in her address.

Among the measurements of a hospital's soundness, she said, is community support, of which there is "strong evidence" in the case of JFK: the utilization of its beds and how it is viewed by "the financial world."

According to Dr. Coye, a bed utilization rate of over 90 percent is proof that the center's medical staff is an active one that is continuously perfecting its skills and that revenue is being produced to support the center.

Among the financial world, Dr. Coye told the audience, John F.

Kennedy is recognized for its "solid excellence" and for being a hospital system of which all of New Jersey can be proud.

"You have achieved something wonderful in this state in a relatively short period of time," she said of the 26-year-old center.

Ms. Fern, whose agency supervises the financing of new hospital construction in New Jersey, reported that along with Overlook Hospital in Summit and the Medical Center at Princeton, Kennedy is one of only three hospitals in the state whose bonds have an A plus rating.

Kennedy Medical Center, she said, has "a track record of operational efficiencies and accomplishments."

The medical center was described by Kornett as Dr. Capparelli's "consuming passion."

"When God made Pete," he said, "he overdid him with energy, loyalty and dedication and then injected him with a sense of purpose."

Dr. Capparelli responded that "to be recognized by your peers is one of the greatest honors that anyone can receive."

"I'm deeply moved by this action," he added.

He has often asked himself, he said, why in the past quarter century he has given more than 50,000 hours to the center and raised over $10 million for it.

"I love this medical center for what it represents," was his answer.

He also paid tribute to Mayor Yelencsics as one who "shared the vision" that led to the establishment of JFK.

The ceremony concluded with the presentation of a plaque and personal gifts to Capparelli and his wife, Virginia, and a tour of the Capparelli Pavilion, which encompasses 29,000 square feet. Adjacent to the patient area are 10,000 square feet of office space for hospital personnel.

Returning talent boosts Edison mat hopes

BY JOE KING
EDISON — As the cold air settles in, most people are searching for some sort of headgear to warm their head's.
However, high school wrestlers have already found their headgear as they prepare for the upcoming wrestling season.
Edison coach Ken Pagach is entering his 25th year at the helm and is optimistic of his teams' chances this year.
"I have a majority of kids returning, said Pagach. "I am cautiously optimistic and pushing for a good season.

"We need good coaching, luck and experience," Pagach added. "We also need to go injury free."
Pounding the mats for the Eagles this year will be Scott Disbrow at 103, Dave Iacobone at 112 and Joe Duhigg will be competing at the 119 weight class.
Grappling at 125 will be Harold Parra, while Bob Murphy will carry the load at 130. The 135 level is still up for grabs and so is the 140 weight class. The 145 area will be handled by John Guarino while the 152 weight class is still up for grabs. The 160 class will be the responsibility of Scott O'Hara and Chris Lau will wrestle at the 170 class.

Sports

The two remaining weights, 189 and heavyweight are still being contested for the Eagles. "One or two injuries could desimate our line-up, so we have to stay healthy," Pagach said. "We have a tough schedule this year against some of the best team in the county."

For second year coach John Mineo and his J.P. Stevens Hawks, things are looking much better then their 1-13 record of a year ago.
"The guys are working hard and it looks good," Mineo said. "We have twelve returning starters who feel that they are a lot better than 1-13."
"We have the same line-up with a few younger guys that beat the varsity wrestlers from last season,"

Mineo added.
With only one spot still up for grabs, Mineo sees his team shaping up in this order.
At 103 is Scott Blaess, 112- Neil Schloss, 119- Rob Gelman, 125- Mike Iacono, 130- Mike Perrotti, 135- Jim Walzer, 140- wrestle off, 145- Mike Braine, 152- Rich Ambis, 160- Jesse McRay, 170- Dave Grasshorn, 189- Hosam Bayoumy and at heavy-weight is Jeff Hayes.
"We got better as the season went on," Mineo said. "A lot of kids went to camps and I can see they got better."
"It is tough because we have no junior high or recreation wrestling program," Mineo added. "The kids need more self-confidence because wrestling is 90 percent mental."
First year coach Len Vaccaro will be trying to improve on Metuchens' respectable season of a year ago where they sported an over .500 record.

"It looks pretty good for us so far," Vaccaro said. "The numbers are small but the quality is there."
"We are looking forward to a winning season," Vaccaro added. "We need a smooth transition from one coach to another."
Helping to make that transition will be a mixture of upper and lower classmen.
At 103 will be Eric Vaelesquez if he can gain the weight while Will Rance will handle the 112 weight class. The rest of the Bulldogs are Brad Robinson at 119 or 125, and Bill Moyle will trounce the mats at 130 or 135. Jeff Bell will wrestle at 140 or 145 while Jim Primich will handle 152. At 189 is Tom Bearsly, and at the heavyweight

St. Joe's, Bishop Ahr poised for new season

By BILL GRANIERI
The 1988-89 boys high school basketball season is upon us, and two schools stationed right up the street from one another — St. Joseph's of Metuchen and Bishop Ahr of Edison — are ready to do battle this year.
The Falcons of St. Joe's, who were 21-5 and Red Division co-champions in the Greater Middlesex Conference last winter, will have a new look in that Bill Kuchar, the very successful coach who took his team to consecutive county finals in 1982, '83 and '84, will not be at courtside this year. The man replacing him is Mike Austin.

Although the Falcons are a young team, Austin feels that with leadership from the seniors, hard work at practice and his brand of aggressive play, he can help continue the proud tradition of St. Joe's basketball.
Some of the key players whom

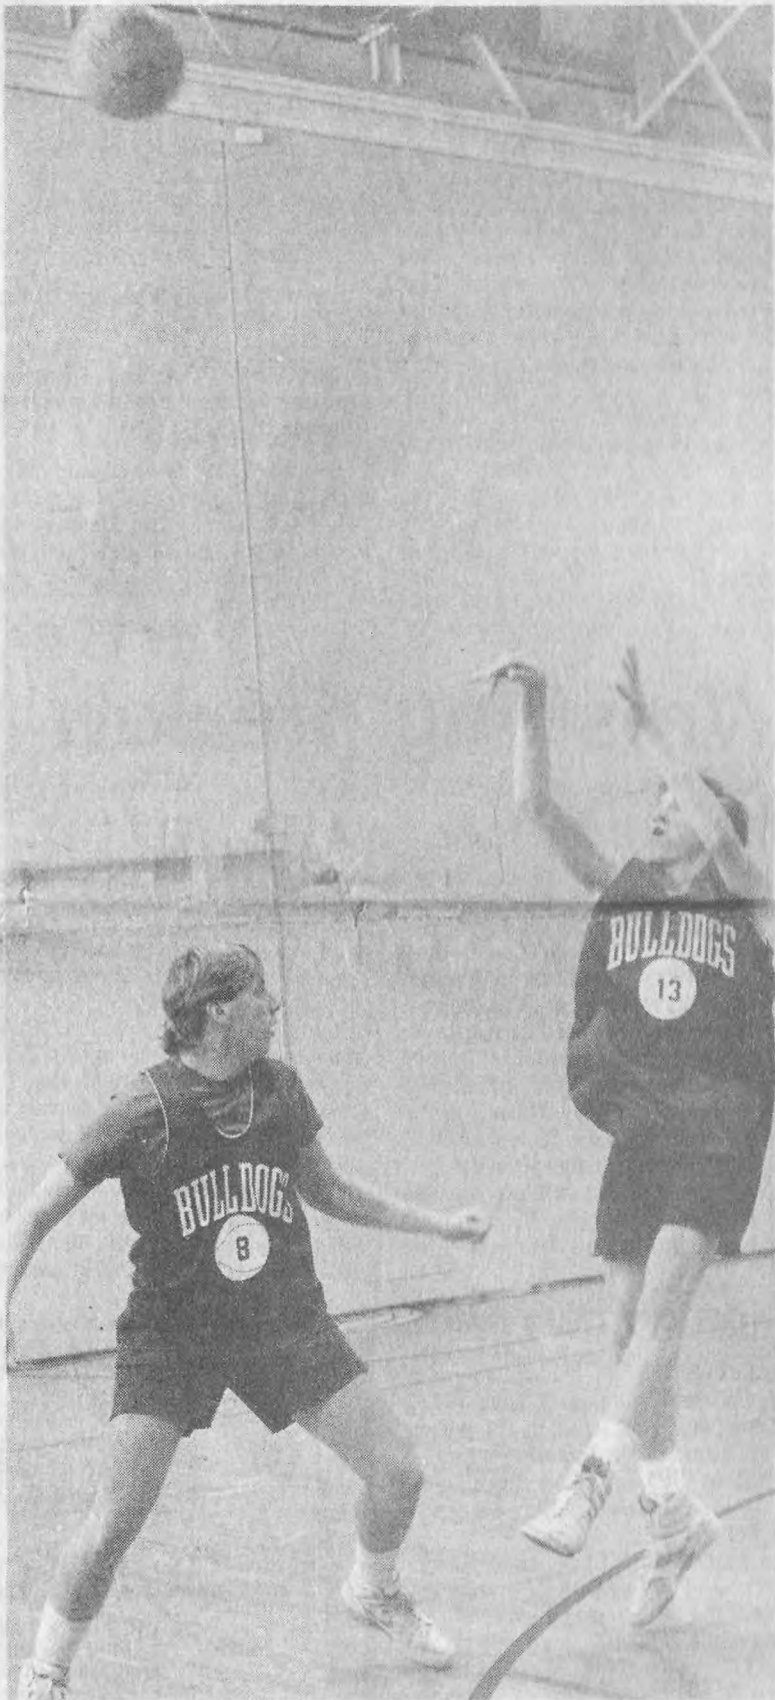

Austin feels can continue the tradition of Larry Bornheimer and Gary Witts (who played briefly with the NBA's Washington Bullets) will be Doug Alonzo, Paul Labasko and Sean Devlin.
That trio will be counted upon to keep St. Joe's competitive with the likes of East Brunswick, J.P. Stevens, Perth Amboy and long-time rival Woodbridge in the GMC.
On the other hand, BISHOP AHR, coming off a 4-17 season, is looking for its first winning campaign since 1981-82, when the Trojans won the county tournament and defeated arch-rival St. Joe's.
Second-year head coach Bill Leahy is very optimistic about the team's chances.
"The kids have worked extremely hard," commented Leahy. "If we play solid defense and don't turn the ball over, we can compete on a consistent basis."
Although the team's record doesn't indicate how well it played at times last winter, Leahy feels he does have the bricks to build a winner. He's looking for big efforts from Joe Gumina and John Lynn.
Bishop Ahr will be tested early in the season by teams like Cedar Ridge, J.F. Kennedy of Iselin and South River.
So there it is — two schools, two coaches. One will try to keep a proud tradition going, another will try to get one started. Can they succeed? Only time will tell. The proof, as always, will be in the hoops.

TONY NEWSOM, a J.P. Stevens High senior, sharpens up his foul-shooting skills.

It could be a pleasant year for J.P. Stevens

By JOE KING
EDISON — Youth will be the name of the game for Edison High School and Metuchen High School when it comes to boys basketball this year.
However, the Hawks of J.P. Stevens will be sporting a team with four of its five starters from last year.
The Hawks only lose was Rocky Pravato who will be replaced by Tony Newsom who has already signed with Niagara University for a full scholarship.
"Tony will play relaxed and confident," said head coach Vince Ciraulo. "We look okay so far and we have four starters back. But we are going to have a different look."
With Newsom at one guard, Bill Zatorski, an excellent three-point shooter according to Ciraulo will fill the second guard spot. Stevens will go with a three guard look as they use Scott Lane to fill in the third guard position.
At center will be George Bowen who is an excellent leaper and great defensive player according to Ciraulo.
The forward spot will be filled by Mike Packard while Billy Thomas will contribute off the bench.
"WCTC has ranked us second behind Bridgewater-West but I am not supportive of the polls," Ciraulo said. "We will take it one game at a time because we have a tough schedule. We have to go out and play up to our potential."
Over at Edison, first year coach Lou Figueroa will be looking to improve on a 2-19 record of last year.
"The kids are real young, but they have been working hard and anything can happen," Figueroa said. "I have ten players and they will all start at some point in the season."
While no position has yet been secured, Figueroa has chosen Keith Hahn and Steve DeBrito as the teams co-captains.
"The kids feel that they can be competitive with any team they face," Figueroa said. "We have to work hard and play hard mentally and physically as well as play consistent ball all game." For Larry Mokar and the Metuchen Bulldogs things couldn't be any tougher that trying to top a 29-4 season, capped with the Central Jersey Group I championship.
"We have all new players, except for Larry Spigner," Mokar said. "He (Spigner) can move well inside and was the player of the year in the county last year."
Pounding the floor along Spigner will be Dennis O'Leary at center, Mike Hausser at forward, Tony Orlando at the other guard spot and Scott Scordo at the second forward position.
"It is a lot better than I thought but

MIKE HAUSSEER of Metuchen High launches a shot over teammate Dennis O'Leary as the Bulldogs prepare for their season-opener.

we are behind in a few things because of the inexperience," Mokar said. "It will affect us early and we hope for progress as the year goes on to play more and more as a team.

"Once they understand my system and get to know each other on the court we will be okay," Mokar added.

Wardlaw girls win tourney title

By ALLAN CONOVER
EDISON — While Kerry Sullivan is the key to the girls basketball fortunes at the Wardlaw-Hartridge School, she also has a little help from her friends.
Limited to just one field goal during Saturday's game against Morristown-Beard, Sullivan received some valuable support from senior guard Lauren Malfitano and Lisa Horowitz as the Lady Rams earned a 32-22 victory in the championship battle of their own Wardlaw-Hartridge Tournament.
Sullivan, a 6-foot senior center who was named the tourney MVP, didn't have a big game offensively but she still hauled down 13 rebounds and blocked seven shots. In the tourney opener the Scotch Plains resident totaled 13 points and nine bounds.
"There's no question Kerry is our main focus on offense," commented Wardlaw head coach Alan Everhart, "and most of the teams know that from last year. So they concentrate on her defensively. Morristown-Beard did a real solid job against her, but she did miss some inside shots, too."

So, while Sullivan was having problems getting loose down low against M-B, Malfitano came through with 12 points and Horowitz added eight.
"Malfitano just had an excellent game," said Everhart, whose team is now 2-1. "That's the best she's ever played for me. And Horowitz helped take up the slack, too. I was very pleased about that."
Wardlaw came out pressing full-court, forced three quick turnovers and soon had a 6-0 lead. But M-B hurt the home team with a press of its own late in the second quarter and pulled into a 12-all deadlock by halftime.

The Lady Rams, however, took command in the third stanza, outscoring M-B 8-3, with Malfitano scoring six of those points.
"We had a nice start, then a shaky second period," said Everhart. "Their press bothered us. But we settled down in the third quarter. Our defense was excellent."
In Friday's tourney opener, Wardlaw trimmed Gill-St. Bernard's 39-23 as Sullivan tallied 13 points and freshman Val Pate came off the bench to add another 13.
Wardlaw was in command from the outset, building a six-point advantage by the end of the first quarter and holding a 22-10 cushion at halftime.
Now on holiday break, the Lady Rams won't be in action again until Tuesday, Jan. 3, when they host Pingry of Bernards Township at 3:45 p.m.

Metuchen Y wins

METUCHEN — The girls 'B' swim team from the Metuchen-Edison YMCA recently opened its dual-meet season with a 131-68 victory over Summit.
Triple winners for Metuchen were Chrissy Tattoli, Eileen Hawkins and Ingrid Winters, all of whom won two individual events as well as participate in relay victories.

Playing at TSC

EWING — Trenton State College forward Janet Mehes, a resident of Edison, averaged 8.4 points per game in the Lady Lions' first five outings. Mehes is 19-for-33 from the floor and 4-for-6 from the foul line. She's pulled down 34 rebounds, blocked four shots and came up with six steals. TSC had a 1-4 record.

EDISON HIGH'S David Iacabone, top, and Scott Pisbrow maneuver for position as they prepare for the upcoming wrestling campaign.

Falcons' hard work pays off

By MILLICENT KAPLAN
METUCHEN — Members of the St. Joseph's High School swim team wake every day at 5 a.m. for their daily two-hour pool practice. It's just part of the price for going after yet another state championship.

"We have no secret formula for success and no gimmicks," said St. Joe's head coach John Scheirman, who's guided the Falcons to 10 straight titles. "We just go to the max level at race pace at every practice. We're good because we're all working hard."

Scheirman, who's been at St. Joe's 13 years, is also blessed with the dynamic talent of Olympic hopeful John Kennedy, a Middlesex resident who's now a senior.

Kennedy splashed his way to success at this year's Olympic Trials and finished 21st in the 200-meter freestyle event in 1:51.6. Kennedy's best events are the 100, 200 and 400 free races.

"He's a hard worker and never misses a practice," said Scheirman. "He'll win every time. He may only expect to find some competition near the season's end in the Eastern Prep Championships."

Scheirman's other All-America

freestyler is senior Gus Bahr, who last year swam a 49.2 split time in the 400 free relay. And Bahr's younger brother, Sebastian, now a sophomore, swims a speedy 50 free sprint at 22.6 seconds.

Powerful Pat Kilcooley can scoop up a 56.0 in the 100 butterfly. And senior Derek Szot can slice through the water in 57.0 in the 100 backstroke.

The versatility of junior Lance DeLuca in the breaststroke and individual medley is also impressive. The IM is comprised of all four official strokes — butterfly, back, breast and free.

Assistant junior varsity coach John Kohutanyecz, a St. Joe's alumnus, is back for his sixth season and has been working hard with 12 new freshman swimmers.

Assistant coach Br. Aldric Smith, the swim team's founder, brings two solid decades of coaching experience to the sport.

And rookie assisant diving coach Dave Connery starts his first, hopefully splashless, season with four divers, including talented soph Elliott Harris.

But St. Joe's has entered this season without eight graduated standouts and the Falcons lost their dual opener to the Peddie School of Hightstown. Still, they haven't lost a regular scholastic meet since 1978.

"We graduated too many kids last year," said Scheirman. "This year we'll be looking for help from the juniors and sophomores."

Other improved PR's from up-and-coming swimmers could also add to the team's depth.

Of the 40 St. Joe's swimmers, 25 swim additional evening practices of a second 7,000 yards on their own at local clubs and YMCAs. This brings their total daily yardage to about 14,000 — or eight miles — and four hours in the pool, while yet maintaining the standards of academic excellence at St. Joe's.

Maybe that's what Scheirman means when he says, "We're good because we work hard."

St. Joe's evened its dual-meet record at 1-1 Tuesday when the Falcons slipped past always-strong Lawrenceville Prep 89-82.

Kennedy and Bahr were triple winners, Kennedy taking the 200 IM and 500 free, Bahr the 100 and 200 free and both swimming on the first-place 400 free relay squad which also included Mike Anderson and Kilcooley.

Harris prevailed in the diving competition.

Wrestling preview

there is a wrestle-off.

"We seem to be gelling well right now," Vaccaro said. "We have a mutual respect for each other and I feel the kids are adjusting."

St. Joe's head coach Don Bryner has the luxury of a senior dominated team for his fourth year at the helm.

"We have got a good strong team and a lot of kids are seniors," Bryner said. "It looks good and I think we are going to have a good year."

"All the kids have been to camps and they all have better attitudes."

While the Falcons will have trouble in the higher weights, Bryner feels that his team will be strongest in the middle.

At the top of the team will be Jim Santoro at 103 with Steve Saunders grappling at 112. At 119 will be Frank Micale and after that Bryner has a problem filling the 125 and 130 classes. In the 135 weight class will be Val Arminio while Peter Pawlick competes at the 140 level.

Rounding out the squad is Peter Aguayo at 145, with co-captain Peter Graybar at 152 and Bill Burke, the other co-captain at 160. However, after that Bryner has another problem filling the rest of the weights.

"My kids know the moves and how to work them," Bryner said. "This will be the year to prove something and I think we are going to be good."

Montgomery wins

METUCHEN — David Montgomery of the Metuchen-Edison YMCA earned a gold medal in the age 6-and-under 25-yard freestyle and a silver in the backstroke during a recent mini-meet at the Fanwood-Scotch Plains Y.

Christina Martinez (6-and-under back) and Craig Dolan (7-and-under) were the other medal-winners for Metuchen-Edison.

Also competing were Lauren Krulik, Dierdre Fenton, Jeremy Klaas, Theresa Kendziora, Timmy Kenyon, James Giarritano, Micala Campbell and Craig Horvath.

Winners for Edison swim club

LODI — Jennifer Krychowecky and Shaun Lyons of the Edison Aquatic Club based at Middlesex County College were winners in Sunday's 'C Meet' at the Lodi Boys Club. Thirteen teams participated.

Krychowecky, a Piscataway resident, competed in the age 13-14 group and took first place in the 100-yard butterfly in 1:19.88 and was runnerup in the 100 backstroke in 1:19.25.

Lyons, who lives in Edison, won the 50 butterfly in the age 10-and-under group in 42.84 seconds and was fourth in the 100 backstroke (1:34.70).

Andrea Grumet (age 13-14) was second in the 100 butterfly (1:21.76) and fourth in the 100 backstroke and 200 breaststroke.

The team is coached by Ron Den-nick.

Theft of the radio from a 1980 Ford owned by Ilene Hirschfeld of Vithrop Road was reported December 5. The vehicle had been left for repairs at Freedman Tire on Route 27, according to Patrolman Adam Tietchen, who reported the car's transmission pin was broken as well. A slim-jim may have been used to enter the vehicle.

A 1984 Buick owned by Jacqueline Mathis of Newark was recovered December 5 in the front lot of B & L Tire on Plainfield Avenue. Patrolman Edwin Kronsdorfer said the car was stolen in Newark two days earlier and the steering column also received damage.

A 1988 Chevrolet station wagon that had been reported stolen on October 31 was returned December 5 to Budget Rent-A-Car on Route 1. The car had been loaned by the renter to another person who forgot to return the vehicle on time, according to Patrolman Andrew Bruno, who was advised all rental charges were paid.

An empty Budd trailer was found December 5 at Baxter Laboratories on Division Boulevard. Patrolman Andrew Bruno said the trailer, which was reported stolen in Linden, turned out to have been misplaced.

Maryjane Maiba of Fox Road reported December 5 that the right-side tires of her 1977 Dodge van had been punctured. The van was parked on the roadway across from the victim's residence. Patrolmen George Berrue and Brian Parente were told.

A Fuzzbuster radar detector was reported stolen December 5 from a 1986 Lincoln owned by Edward Tomao, which was parked in his Hayes Street driveway. Patrolmen Alan Varady and Fred Lacik said there were no signs of forced entry.

Harvey E. Close, 18, of Roselle, was arrested on a charge of shoplifting December 5 at Macy's in Menlo Park Mall. He was observed taking a pair of men's winter gloves worth $16, according to Patrolmen Wayne Seich and Leonard Mitchell.

A rear vent window of a 1987 Volvo leased by Robert Marinelli of Brielle was smashed December 5 in the parking lot of Childcraft on Kilmer Road. Investigating were Patrolmen Richard Buck and Steven Young.

A 1981 Plymouth driven by Peter A. Thompson of Peak Road was found in the center concrete divider of Woodbridge Avenue, near the Route 287 overpass, December 5 after it was struck by a 1985 Nissan operated by Vladimir Jankovich of Old Bridge. According to Patrolman Timmie Brown, Jankovich said an unknown vehicle caused him to lose control of the Nissan and strike the Plymouth as both were southbound.

Sabera Merchant of Lavender Drive reported December 5 that her 1983 Oldsmobile was in the left lane of Wood Avenue at Route 27 December 5 when it was struck by a Chevrolet van with Louisiana plates whose driver was changing lanes. She told Patrolmen Gregory Formica and Douglas Deak that she and the other driver met up at the Metropark but the operator of the van, described as a white female with blonde hair and approximately 35 years of age, was unable to produce any identification. When Merchant said she was going to notify police, the van driver took off. According to Formica and Deak, the registration for the van came back for a Franklin, La., man.

Chandrakant H. Patel of Linden was backing up his 1988 Toyota on the shoulder of Oak Tree Road December 5 and struck a 1987 Dodge Ram truck driven by Elizabeth A. Kelly of Leo Street, who was completing a left turn on Milbrook Road. Patrolman Walter Dzuban said that Patel acknowledged the mishap was his fault.

A deer suddenly appeared in the roadway at 5:45 p.m. December 5 as Marilyn A. Porcelli of South Plainfield was driving her 1986 Plymouth west on Inman Avenue in the vicinity of Inman Grove Center. She told Patrolman George Spearnock her car struck the animal but it ran off.

Benjamin A. Dubling of Beech Street was driving south on Woodbridge Avenue December 5 when he looked down at the floor. When he looked back at the road, a 1981 Chevrolet pickup truck was stopped in front of him and he hit it. The driver of the pickup, Herbert A. Besthelson of New Brunswick, told Patrolman Thomas Marino he was making a right turn into B&M Lumber with his truck's turn signal in operation when he was struck.

An attempt was made December 6 to pry open the door of the Boyce residence on Koster Boulevard. According to Patrolman Andrew Bruno, the dead-bolt lock was damaged.

The owner of One Stop Camera and Video on Woodbridge Avenue complained December 6 that a customer had failed to return three videos which were rented on November 16. Patrolman Andrew Bruno was advised the rental was for two days.

Jewelry was reported taken December 6 from a dresser drawer in the Gidge residence on Edison Glen Terrace. According to Patrolman Joseph Esposito, the burglar entered through the front door.

A silver Corvette that was stolen from Menlo Park Mall was abandoned December 6 with the engine running in front of the Ford Motor Co. plant on Route 1 South. The driver's window was broken and steering column was damaged, according to Patrolman George Spearnock, who reported three Hispanic men were seen fleeing from the scene in a second vehicle that is believed to have been stolen from the mall parking lot at the same time as the Corvette.

Mark Vitale of Phillip Drive found the passenger door window of his 1987 Saab broken December 6 while the car was parked at his office on Route 27. An attempt was made to steal the radio from the dashboard, Patrolmen James Smith and Brian Parente were told.

The front door of the Grier residence on Rivendell Way was pried open December 6 and an MGA make VCR valued at $300 was taken. Pry marks also were found on an adjacent apartment door, according to Patrolman Michael Promutico, although nothing appeared to have been stolen from that unit.

George Ulaisajevic of Colts Neck reported December 6 that his wallet had been lifted from his jacket the previous day at his office on Thornhill Street. The wallet contained credit cards, a driver's license, personal papers and a car key. Patrolmen Joseph Perrotte and George Berrue were informed.

Evan J. Schatzman of Garden Street said his 1981 Ford was struck in the rear December 6 as he came to a stop on Nelson Street at Gaskill Avenue. However, the other driver, Susan A. Haydu of Oakland Avenue, who was traveling behind Schatzman, claimed the Ford backed into her 1988 Dodge. According to Patrolman Timmie Brown, a witness to the accident verified Haydu's account. The witness also told Brown that even though Haydu repeatedly blew her horn to warn of her presence, the Ford continued to back up.

Lynn R. Garcia of Village Drive reported December 6 that her 1987 Mazda pickup truck received hit-run damage. Patrolman Robert Toth reported the vehicle was in the parking lot of the owner's apartment when it was struck.

Police are looking for an older model red Pontiac with damage to the front and left side that was involved in a hit-run accident December 6 on Reading Road. According to Patrolman Salvatore Filanino, the female driver of the Pontiac exited from the Durham Woods apartments on the wrong side of the divided roadway and struck a 1987 Plymouth driven by Leith G. Rasquinha of Passaic.

A 1983 Toyota driven by Soon S. Kim of Warwick Road became wedged December 6 between a detour sign on Oak Tree Road and the bumper of a 1983 Volvo she was attempting to pass on the right. Francisco Rivera of Elizabeth, the operator of the Volvo, told Patrolman Michael Promutico he was southbound at a slow rate of speed because of construction work when Kim started to pass him on the right. According to Promutico, Kim said she thought Rivera was going to make a left turn.

Robert A. Dick of Evergreen Road was ticketed by Patrolman Anthony Vitello for being an unlicensed driver after an accident December 6 at Route 27 and Elizabeth Avenue. Vitello reported that Dick's 1986 Hyundai was traveling south on Route 27 when it collided with a 1975 Oldsmobile operated by Surescha Jinwaka of Jersey City, who was pulling out of Elizabeth.

Three sets of 50 white Christmas lights were stolen December 7 from shrubbery in the front yard of the Polivra residence on Miko Road. According to Patrolman Thomas Kenney, the same type of incident occurred at that location last year.

An empty Fruehauf trailer belonging to Transamerica Trailer Services of Piscataway was reported stolen December 7. The theft occurred between November 1 and 16 from WCI on Route 27, according to Patrolman Robert Toth. The trailer may have either a New Jersey or Tennessee license plate.

Theft of $600 in receipts was reported December 7 by the manager of the Tropic Isle store in Oakwood Plaza. Patrolman Andrew Bruno was advised the money had been in envelopes on a desk in the rear office and there was no sign of forced entry.

Diane Dalton Plasse of 99 Mount Pleasant Avenue, was arrested on shoplifting charges December 7 at Marshall's in Oakwood Plaza. According to Patrolmen George Berrue and Michael Promutico, the suspect was observed stuffing a necklace, earrings and necktie into her pants pocket.

A new 1989 Mack truck which had not yet been registered was recovered December 7 at the Ramada Inn on Woodbridge Avenue and returned to the owner, Penske Truck Leasing, of Gourmet Lane. Patrolmen Joseph Tauriello and Michael Muldowney reported the truck had been removed from the Penske premises two days earlier and there was no apparent damage to the truck.

Tessie Christopoulos of Wilk Road entered a dressing room at Macy's in Menlo Park Mall December 7 and discovered her black pocketbook was missing. It contained a driver's license, social security and credit cards, plus a wallet with about $50 and two sets of car keys. Patrolmen Thomas Marino and Brian Parente were told the bag's strap may have been cut by the thief.

A woman entered Flowers by Maria on Route 27 December 7, picked out two silk floral arrangements and a grave and attempted to pay for them with a Visa card. The clerk ran the card through a computer and found the card had been stolen. When she phoned the bank to confirm the theft, the suspect drove off with the flowers and left the Visa card on the counter. According to Patrolmen Thomas Marino and Brian Parente, the value of the merchandise was $252.28.

A 1985 Oldsmobile owned by Anthony Martins of Lydia Lane was stolen December 7 from Menlo Park Mall. Patrolmen Thomas Marino and Brian Parente were advised the car had been locked.

A man who attempted to steal an Emerson TV from the Shop-Rite in Oak Tree Center December 7 fled when he was confronted by a security guard. According to Patrolman Adam Tietchen, the would-be thief left in a silver color Cadillac.

A 1982 Mercury driven by Gregory A. Kubinak of Tyroler Court was struck by a hit-run vehicle December 7 as Kubinak drove through the intersection of Route 27 and Talmadge Road while southbound on the highway. Kubinak told Patrolman John Dauber the other vehicle, a 1981 Ford van, cut a sharp left turn from the highway onto Talmadge and struck the left rear of his Mercury. The registration for the van was traced to a Neptune resident.

A 1985 Chevrolet driven by Richard A. Baylis pulled out of his driveway on Talmadge Road December 7 to turn left and collided with a 1977 Oldsmobile operated by Clifford G. Buchman of Karen Place. The accident took place at 8:10 p.m. and Baylis told Patrolman Anthony Vitello the Olds' headlights were not on.

A 1986 Jeep wagon owned by Alfred H. Boettger received hit-run damage December 7 while parked outside his house on Ovington Avenue. Patrolman Salvatore Filanino said there was no evidence at the scene to indicate the type of vehicle that caused the damage to the left front fender of the Jeep.

Junghoan Shin of Irvington pulled his 1985 Toyota out of the Realty World parking lot onto Wood Avenue December 7 and collided with a 1981 Mercury, owned by Jeanne Sunflower, at the intersection of Sunflower and Talmadge.

George Spearnock reported the Mercury was passing traffic stopped in the right lane when the accident took place.

Michelle Joyce of Wilk Road discovered December 8 that all four tires on her 1980 Chevrolet had been slashed. Patrolmen Leonard Mitchell and Thomas DeChirico were told the incident occurred outside Macy's in Menlo Park Mall.

A 13-year-old Edison girl was taken to John F. Kennedy Medical Center for a head X-ray after she was assaulted December 8 at a school bus stop on Pierson Avenue by another Herbert Hoover Middle School female student. According to Patrolmen Richard Buck and William Revill, the victim reported she was grabbed by the hair and her head knocked against the sidewalk by her assailant, who had made threats against her the previous day. However, the alleged assailant later told police that a fight erupted after she was struck in the head first.

A Maxon radar detector, eight cassette tapes, all four wheelcovers and about $4 in change were reported stolen December 8 from a 1988 Pontiac owned by Karen Randolph of Glenville Road. She told Patrolmen Thomas DeChirico and Leonard Mitchell that the theft occurred in her driveway.

The cellar window of the Szegal residence on Fishel Road West was smashed with an unknown object December 8. Patrolmen Anthony Marcantunone and Alexander Glimsky investigated.

A tire on a 1977 Chrysler owned by Jeffrey Fezza of Avenel was punctured December 8 in the parking lot of Revlon on Route 27. According to Patrolman Joseph Esposito, a former employee entered the plant and was told to leave, but instead of doing so went to the victim's car, where a security guard observed the suspect cutting the tire.

Reynaldo A. Romero, 37, of New Brunswick, was arrested December 8 on theft charges at Pathmark in Wick Plaza. According to Patrolmen Anthony Pacella and Gary Ruffo, the suspect was seen putting 12 cartons of cigarettes into a brown paper bag.

Dolores Marinucci of Merrywood Drive made a left turn from Plainfield Avenue onto Brunswick Avenue December 8 and clipped the right rear fender of a 1987 Toyota driven by Marc B. Stoltz of Rivendell Way with her 1980 Chrysler. Stoltz said that the traffic light was amber when Marinucci made her turn but she told Patrolman Anthony Vitello it turned amber as she was turning.

Debra Valeriani of Meeker Avenue was stopped in the cut of the Woodbridge Avenue median at Silverlake Avenue December 8 when a large truck that was in front of her was unable to negotiate the turn and backed into her 1988 Chevrolet even though she blew her horn to warn the driver. She told Patrolman Walter Dzuban the driver got out of the truck to ask if she was all right and then got back in the cab, presumably to get his credentials. However, he drove off. Valeriani reported. The truck was traced to Pitney Bowes Credit Corp. in East Rutherford, according to Dzuban.

Lauren D. Kronmeyer of Fleet Avenue exited from the jughandle at Route 1 North and Old Post Road December 8 and struck the rear of a 1986 Ford driven by Thomas H. Jensen of Morganville with her 1985 Chevrolet. According to Patrolman Anthony Vitello, Kronmeyer said she was looking at another vehicle to see whether it would stop when she hit the Ford.

A 17-year-old Edison juvenile was arrested December 9 on Plainfield Avenue and charged with theft, burglary and receiving stolen property. Patrolmen John Vaticano and Gary Ruffo discovered the suspect underneath a trailer after a search of a trailer park behind the Chengtu Restaurant on Route 1 South. The suspect was found with a screwdriver which was allegedly used to remove a JVC cassette stereo from a 1987 Porsche owned by Michael Perrella of Jersey City. According to police, the stereo was found behind a rear wheel of the trailer and the Porsche had its window and molding broken and glove compartment damaged.

Allen Marenus of Curtis Avenue discovered a small hole in his front window December 9 but had no idea of how it may have been caused. According to Patrolman Joseph Vasta, the victim's daughter had heard a noise at about 10:30 p.m.

The driver's side window was broken and interior damaged in a 1987 GMC pickup truck owned by James Higgins of Reed Street December 9. According to Patrolmen John Vaticano and Gary Ruffo, the truck was parked at the Community Presbyterian Church on Glenville Road and a man who was observed near the truck denied causing the damage.

Patrolmen Kenneth Dessoir was dispatched to two reports of windows shattered December 9. Patrick McKenna of Schubert Avenue complained that his front storm door window was broken when a BB gun was fired at his home. The driver's side window of a 1988 Chrysler owned by Marie Frontera was broken outside her Clive Hills Road residence.

A Gucci handbag valued at $300 and belonging to Deborah Corr of Somerset was stolen December 9 from her office on Thornhill Street. The handbag contained a Gucci wallet worth $150, plus $50 in cash, a driver's license, Social Security, bank and credit cards, car registration, a checkbook and keys, according to Patrolman Michael Burzinski.

A member of Edison First Aid Squad No. 1 discovered December 9 that a garbage truck had dumped a large amount of hydraulic fluid on the driveway of the squad building on Lakeview Boulevard. According to Patrolman Michael Kelly, the fluid apparently had leaked while the garbage truck was being loaded.

An Alpine FM/AM cassette stereo valued at $600 was reported stolen December 9 from a 1985 Audi owned by John Miltenis of Reading Road. He told Patrolman Michael Burzinski that the car had been parked and locked outside his residence and that both door locks had to be repaired.

Ted Jusinski reported December 9 the theft of a JVC VCR and remote control from the den of his Rivendell Way residence. Pry marks were found on the front door latch, according to Patrolman Robert Toth.

Peter Fresco of Dobson Road told police December 9 that a leased 1988 GMC van had been broken into outside his residence. Taken were a black vinyl briefcase with contracts and service invoices, plus numerous tools, all used in the victim's work with a heating and air conditioning firm. A Radio Shack radar detector also was removed from the van. According to Patrolman Charles Bell, a vent window was smashed to gain entry.

A 17-year-old Franklin juvenile was arrested December 9 on shoplifting charges at Macy's in Menlo Park Mall. He was observed removing price tags from a coat valued at $145, according to Patrolmen Steven Young and William Revill.

A 1985 Pontiac owned by David Bridgman of Ten Eyck Road was reported stolen December 9, but recovered two hours later on Marlin Avenue East by the victim. Patrolmen Thomas Turkus and Michael Muldowney reported the car could not be driven because of damage to the steering column.

An officer of Temecon Group International Inc., National Road, told police December 9 that a truck driver had yet to deliver freight which had been loaded in Edison on November 2. The goods were to have been delivered to two companies in Miami, Fla., according to Patrolman Charles Bell, who was given the value of the shipments as $3,000 and $1,500.

Five bulbs and three light casings were found on December 9 to have been broken off a menorah on the front lawn of Temple Emanu-El on James Street. Patrolmen Richard Buck and Joseph Tauriello said the damage was discovered by a custodian.

Mary Barclay discovered December 9 that a beer bottle had been thrown at her 1979 Buick and the rear window smashed. The incident occurred in front of her Mt. Pleasant Avenue residence. Patrolmen Michael Muldowney and Thomas Turkus were told.

Michael Sanservino, 72, of Judson Street, was taken to John F. Kennedy Medical Center by Edison First Aid Squad No. 1 after he was struck by a car December 9 on Parsonage Road. According to Patrolman Matthew Freeman, Joseph A. Abbruscata of Fords said he was exiting the Rickel Home Center parking lot in his 1986 Nissan and was making a left turn to head toward Route 1 and didn't see Sanservino, who was crossing toward Menlo Park Mall.

David E. Baker of Merrywood Drive was stopped for a red light on New Durham Road at the Route 287 exit ramps December 9 when his 1986 Volkswagen was rear-ended by a 1986 Chevrolet driven by Thomas Terry Jr. of North Brunswick. Terry was charged with careless driving by Patrolman Thomas Kenney.

A 1977 Cadillac owned by Robert A. Strasbourger of York Drive was struck by a hit-run vehicle December 9 in the Kilmer Plaza parking lot. Witnesses who observed the incident provided Patrolman John Vaticano with a license plate number for the other vehicle, which was traced to a Toms River man.

Grove Avenue and New Dover Road was the scene December 9 of a collision involving a 1985 Mitsubishi driven by Lisa R. Colyer of McKinley Avenue and a 1985 Cadillac operated by Byung Ok Lee of Mary Ellen Drive. According to Patrolman David Yanvary, Colyer said she was westbound on New Dover and after activating her signal started to turn left onto Grove when Lee pulled out of Grove and struck her car. Lee told Yanvary that she had stopped for the stop sign on Grove but didn't see the other vehicle before proceeding into the intersection.

Cleonce A. Hausser of James Street attempted to exit from the Colonial Village parking lot through a break in traffic December 9 and cross Route 27 to enter the Parsonage Diner parking lot when her 1989 Mitsubishi was involved in an accident with a 1982 Volkswagen operated north on 27 by Robert I. Fazio of East Brunswick. Fazio told Patrolman Timmie Brown he was intending to turn left onto James Street but about 75 feet before the intersection, his VW was struck by the Mitsubishi.

Similar circumstances contributed to another accident at the same spot on December 9. Patrolman Walter Dzuban reported that Kadiatu B. Kamara of Rivendell Way pulled out of the Colonial Village parking lot in an attempt to turn left on Route 27 and collided with a 1986 Mercury driven north on the highway by Ella M. Summers of New Brunswick, who was planning to turn left into the diner parking lot.

David B. Bennett of Iselin pulled his 1987 GMC out of Meridian Road to turn left on Oak Tree Road December 9 and collided with a 1977 Ford driven south on Oak Tree by Lance P. Grushewsky of Lenexa Avenue. The accident took place at 6:20 p.m. and, according to Patrolman Timmie Brown, Bennett didn't see the Ford approaching because its headlights were not on.

Elizabeth F. Kuhn of Patch Place was attempting to make a U-turn through the center divider of Raritan Center Parkway December 9 when her 1985 Toyota collided with a 1988 Mazda driven by James K. Connors of Berkeley Heights. According to Patrolman Walter Dzuban, Connors said he was northbound in the left lane when, without warning, the Toyota turned in front of him. Kuhn told Dzuban she had just exited from the Baxter Co. driveway and saw no approaching traffic before attempting to make the U-turn.

Frances M. Galibardi of Apple Street was exiting from the Woodbridge Avenue ramp onto Route 1 South December 9 when her 1985 Buick struck a 1984 Buick that was parked curbside on the ramp. The driver of this vehicle, Pamela B. Scheff of Kendall Park, told Patrolman John Gullfoyle she was exchanging information with another driver with whom she had just had an accident.

John C. Boyle of Merker Drive attempted to turn left from Parsanage Road into a parking lot December 9, resulting in a collision between his 1987 Mercury and a 1988 Dodge driven in the opposite direction by Angelo J. DeLorenzo of Menlo Park Terrace. Boyle, according to Patrolman John Luminello, said he didn't see the Dodge approaching in the curbside lane.

A 1988 Pontiac driven by Sue Ann Caruso of Tinton Falls was starting to pull away from the light on Grandview Avenue at Route 1 December 9 when it was struck in the right side by a 1985 Chevrolet operated by Huej-Na W. Tsay of Hall Avenue. Patrolman John Luminello noted that although there is only one traffic lane at this point, Tsay created a second lane by pulling to the right of the Pontiac.

The windshield of a 1977 Pontiac owned by Myron Gelber of Winfield was shattered with a baseball bat December 10. Patrolman Kenneth Dessoir said the car had been parked on Janina Court.

An undetermined amount of women's clothing was stolen December 10 from the Fashion Plus store in Tano Mall. According to Patrolman Kenneth Dessoir, two men and a woman, all of Indian or South American descent, had come into the store just before closing time and began to browse around. When employees heard a commotion in the back of the store, they saw the browsers flee out the back door with clothing from a layaway rack. The suspects also made off with a long wool coat, house and car keys and white leather gloves belonging to a Fashion Plus employee and a leather coat with a fur collar belonging to another employee. According to Dessoir, the suspects drove off in a two-door white car, possibly onto Route 1 South, to which one of the suspects reportedly asked for directions.

Marian Diaz of Queens, N.Y., parked her 1983 Dodge in a fire zone at Tano Mall December 10 and left the engine running while she checked on her sister in a clothing store. When she returned, Patrolman Kenneth Dessoir reported, she found the Dodge was gone.

A 1987 Oldsmobile owned by Jim Kerigan of Port Murray was recovered December 10 at Menlo Park Mall with the key in the ignition. Patrolman Thomas DeChirico said the car, which had been reported stolen in South Bound Brook three days earlier, apparently was involved in an accident and the entire left side was damaged. Found inside the vehicle were two jackets, a sweatshirt, sweatpants, T-shirt and can of Barbasol shaving cream.

An unidentified woman was taken into custody December 10 at Pathmark in Wick Plaza and charged with shoplifting. According to Patrolmen Brian Perrotte and Thomas Marino, she attempted to conceal two cartons of Newport cigarettes under her coat.

Another instance where license plates turned out to be stolen was reported December 10 by a New Brunswick woman. Patrolmen Michael Promutico and Adam Tietchen said that on November 22, 1986, she had traded in a 1984 Toyota at Open Road Honda on Route 1 North with the understanding that the plates would be turned in. The victim explained that the plates were showing up on a number of different vehicles in New York and she was receiving all types of summonses for violations she did not commit.

A 42-year-old Edison man who allegedly attempted suicide at his residence December 10 was taken to Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital by Edison First Aid Squad No. 2. According to Patrolmen Adam Tietchen and Michael Promutico, the victim reportedly drank a bottle of vodka and took some Dorexin pills.

A computer system valued at about $1,000 was reported stolen December 10 from a building at the U.S. Army Reserve center on Kilmer Road. Taken were a Zenith computer, dot matrix printer, Zenith 13-inch color monitor and modem, according to Patrolmen Adam Tietchen and Michael Promutico, who were told a window was broken to gain entry.

A 29-year-old township woman was taken to John F. Kennedy Medical Center by Edison First Aid Squad No. 2 December 10 after she allegedly placed a 9-inch butcher knife at her throat and threatened to take her own life. At the scene were Patrolmen Leonard Mitchell and David Yanvary.

The passenger window of a 1984 Nissan owned by Stephen Curry was smashed December 10 in the parking lot outside his College Drive residence. Nothing was taken from the vehicle, according to Patrolmen Joseph Perrotte and Thomas Marino.

Two front windows were cracked December 10 at Ray Catena Motor Car Corp. on Route 1. Patrolmen Stephen Miller and John Spielman were examining the premises at 2:45 a.m. while on patrol and were speaking with a security officer when they heard the sound of glass being shattered. The officers saw no activity of a suspicious nature in the vicinity of the building and the cause of the damage is undetermined.

An attempt was made December 10 to steal a 1971 Chevrolet owned by Eddie Hayes of Elizabeth while it was parked and locked on Leslie Street. Patrolmen George Berre and Brian Parente said the top cap was pulled off the ignition switch and a screw inserted where the ignition key would go. Also found on the front seat were two screwdrivers, a Phillips screwdriver, vise-grip pliers, regular pliers and a slap hammer, none of which the victim said belonged to him.

Debra Post of Grove Avenue reported the theft of a Christmas ornament in the form of a soldier from her front lawn December 10. According to Patrolmen Donald Jeffrey and John Peach, she heard a car in front of her house at about 1:47 a.m.

The alarm was sounded December 10 when a rock was hurled through the front door window of Thrift Drug in Inman Grove Center. About 20 cartons of cigarettes were found missing from the store, according to Patrolmen Wayne Seich and Bruce Polkowitz.

Mark A. Risley, 23, of Sayreville, was arrested December 10 after he allegedly became verbally abusive toward Patrolmen Donald Jeffrey and John Peach at the Edison Bowl-a-Mat on Oak Tree Road. According to Jeffrey and Peach, they had been dispatched to the bowling alley at about 3:15 a.m. on a report of a stolen vehicle. It was a 1987 Nissan owned by Donna Bulwin of Iselin that the officers found up against a curb in the next parking lot of Krauszer's. When the officers returned to the bowling alley after finding the car to question Bulwin, Risley reportedly became aggressive toward the officers.

A 1986 Toyota owned by Frank Yanick was broken into December 10 in his Wood Avenue driveway and a Bell radio detector valued at $90 stolen from the vehicle. According to Patrolmen Wayne Seich and Bruce Polkowitz, a passenger window was smashed to gain entry.

A 1983 Dodge owned by Christine Stetko of Milltown was stolen December 10 after it had been left in front of 1045 Grove Avenue with the engine running and the key in the ignition. According to Patrolmen Wayne Seich and Donald Jeffrey, the car was found a short time later at Lyle Place and Beaver Street, where it had struck a PSE&G pole. A witness told the officers that two black males fled from the vehicle.

Patrolmen John Vaticano and William A. Revill were dispatched to Greenwich Road December 10 to mediate a dispute between two neighbors over a fence. The complainant told the officers that the fence she had erected on her property had been torn down by the man next door. The neighbor claimed the fence had been put on his property. Vaticano and Revill suggested that a survey be made to settle the problem and that both parties attempt to resolve the dispute through legal channels rather than by direct confrontation.

A 1978 Ford driven by Sulochana Shah of Sherry Court became hung up on a PSE&G guy wire December 10 when she made a right turn out of the BP station at Wood Avenue and Oak Tree Road. According to Patrolman Joseph Vasta, Shah said she was forced to cut a sharp turn because a truck in the gas pump area was in her way.

Four people were taken to John F. Kennedy Medical Center December 10 after a three-car rear-end at Oak Tree Road and Wood Avenue. They were Valerie Randolph of Piscataway, the driver of the car in the middle, and three of her passengers. Patrolman Richard Dutka reported Randolph's 1986 Volkswagen was struck by a 1977 Chevrolet driven by David C. Yavorsky of Port Reading and pushed into a 1984 Pontiac operated by Elizabeth A. Miller of Greenwich Road, who was stopped at a red light.

A 1976 Oldsmobile driven by Eva B. Tilley of Dayton Drive and a 1984 Honda operated by John A. Antosiewicz of Franklin Park collided December 10 as Tilley was making a left turn from Dayton onto Oak Tree Road and Antosiewicz was turning left from Oak Tree onto Dayton. Patrolmen John Guilfoyle and Charles Bell investigated.

Lawrence Roman of Fox Road was turning his 1987 Dodge wagon left onto Vinial Street from Route 27 December 10 as a 1986 Plymouth driven by Joseph P. Koval of Route 1 was turning left from Vinial onto the highway. Patrolmen Joseph Perrotte and Thomas Marino investigated the collision that ensued.

A GMC pickup driven by Dorothy E. Close of Old Post Road ran into a fire hydrant on Woodbridge Avenue near Raritan Center Parkway at 3:48 a.m. December 10. She told Patrolmen Dewitt Giles and Wayne Miller she apparently dozed off.

A Sharp 14-inch color TV was taken in a burglary December 11 of the Carr apartment at 1045 Grove Avenue. Patrolman Andy Nagy reported the rear window had been smashed and the apartment ransacked. The victim said the premises had been burglarized in the same manner last year.

Karin Kuan of Kendall Park reported the theft of her pocketbook December 11 from the Dragon Palace restaurant in Oakwood Plaza. According to Patrolman Andy Nagy, three people walked in and ordered take-out food using a Visa card for payment. Kuan went to the kitchen to pick up the order and when she returned, she found the suspects had left and her pocketbook missing from a shelf behind the counter. The handbag contained a checkbook, credit cards and $40 in cash.

John Miltenis of Reading Road discovered December 11 that a bracket for an AM/FM radio had been stolen from his leased 1985 Audi. The vehicle had been parked and locked in front of his residence. Patrolman Thomas Kapcsandi was told.

Two township men were arrested December 11 after Patrolmen Thomas Bryan and Alan Engel were dispatched to a report of a domestic dispute. Leo A. Tompko, 40, of 28 Moryan Road, was charged with assault after he allegedly punched and kicked his 73-year-old father. A 17-year-old juvenile was taken into custody after he reportedly became unruly and ripped the telephones out of the wall. Police said both suspects appeared to be intoxicated or under the influence of another substance.

George F. Wells, 21, whose last known address was Victory Court, Metuchen, was arrested December 11 at the Red Hot Bar on Woodbridge Avenue and charged with simple assault. According to Patrolmen Brian Parente and George Berrue, a man from St. Petersburg, Fla., had left a friend's apartment at about 7:30 a.m. and walked into the bar's parking lot, where Wells accused him of looking at his girlfriend and allegedly threw a bottle at the victim, who suffered a head wound. A search of Wells turned up two cans of beer in his jacket pocket, according to police, who said he had a strong odor of alcohol on his breath. The victim declined medical attention for his head injury.

A General Electric microwave oven was taken from an Amman Road residence in a burglary reported December 11. Patrolmen Brian Parente and George Berrue said the sliding door in the rear of the house was pried open, possibly with a screwdriver.

The manager of the Menlo Park Car Wash on Lafayette Road discovered December 11 that burglars had entered a garage by lifting a steel plate that covered an outside pit. According to Patrolmen Thomas DeChirico and John Guilfoyle, nothing appeared to be missing except the steel plate.

A Pioneer AM/FM stereo cassette player, Cobra radar detector and black vinyl case with 40 cassette tapes were reported stolen December 11 from a 1988 Volkswagen owned by John Dalton of College Park, Md. Patrolman Charles Bell said the VW was parked on Hidden Hollow Court and the driver's window was smashed to gain entry.

Another radar detector reported stolen December 11 was a Whistler model from a 1982 Volkswagen owned by Robert Doto, which was parked on the side of his Palm Court residence. Patrolmen Alan Varady and Fred Lacik said the passenger window had been smashed.

Michael Wurst Jr. came home from work December 11 and discovered his boat and trailer in the middle of Sinclair Road near his home. According to Patrolman Charles Bell, the trailer had been in the victim's driveway with the ball hitch secured by a padlock. A taillight assembly for the trailer

Youth struck on Route 1

EDISON — Christopher King, 16, of Morse Street, was spun into the concrete divider Saturday afternoon when he was struck by a hit-run vehicle as he crossed Route 1 at Plainfield Avenue.

He did not require hospital treatment, according to Patrolman John Dauber.

King told Dauber that after starting across the highway from the Mack building when the light for Route 1 turned red, he had reached the center of the road when a vehicle that was eastbound on Plainfield Avenue made a left turn and struck him.

According to Dauber, King said that before being hit he heard the engine of the vehicle accelerate rapidly as if the driver purposely wanted to hit him. King was struck on the left side and spun into the divider and the vehicle continued north on the highway.

It was described as a Blazer that was elevated with a lift-kit.

How To Take The Right Steps In Choosing A Health Plan.

The best way to evaluate a health plan is to experience it. So the Rutgers Community Health Plan—RCHP—invites you to follow these simple steps:

1. Call RCHP. Arrange for a guided tour of the nearest of our seven Health Centers located throughout Central and Northern New Jersey.
2. Take the tour. See why our locally-managed group model HMO can give you better, more complete coverage—with no claim forms, no deductibles, and few or no copayments.

Check out our modern medical facilities—with labs, x-ray facilities and most of the primary care services you and your family will ever need—all under one roof. Meet our professional staff and get a first-hand feeling for the quality of personal care our multi-specialty group practice provides, from internal medicine and pediatrics to orthopedics.

Hear how RCHP cares for you when you're well with routine exams and eye care, and with wellness programs like Weight-AwaySM and Smoking Cessation. And how we tie in with other specialty physician groups and the area's finest hospitals—The Medical Center at Princeton, Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital, St. Peter's Medical Center and the Overlook Hospital—to complement our own excellent care.

You'll find out what makes RCHP different. And better.

3. Make up your own mind. Take the first step today. Take a walk through our health plan. Call 1-800-233-RCHP.

Our Plan Is To Care For You.

RCHP
Rutgers Community Health Plan

There are RCHP Health Centers in New Brunswick, Somerset, Edison, Princeton, Lawrenceville, Union and Mountainside.

Seniors to pay more for pool

METUCHEN — The membership fee for senior citizens who want to join the Metuchen Municipal Pool is being increased from $3 to $15.

The Borough Council is scheduled to approve the new fee at its December 19 meeting and it will go into effect January 19.

The rate increase is necessary because of higher administrative costs for the pool program.

According to Councilwoman Pam Brown, senior citizens queried about the $15 fee indicated they could afford it but they expressed concern about those who may not be able to.

She said seniors who may find the higher fee a problem should contact the Municipal Pool Commission about working out an adjustment.

Councilman John DeFoe pointed out the senior rate applies to Metuchen residents only and those from out-of-town are assessed a higher fixed fee.

"The assumption is they are being taken care of by their hometown," he said.

Fiero flips on its roof

METUCHEN — A 1986 Pontiac Fiero driven by Shawn Forker, 25, of Oriole Street, Edison, flipped, landed on its roof and slid for a distance of 25 feet December 8 on South Main Street.

The driver was not injured but the car was totaled.

Forker, according to Patrolman Kenneth Bergen, said he was northbound at approximately 11 p.m. and was approaching Lincoln Avenue when a southbound vehicle appeared in the northbound lane and he was forced to swerve to the right.

According to Bergen, the Pontiac struck a legally parked 1967 Ford Mustang owned by Scott Chepke of Morgantown, W. Va., and struck a tree before overturning and sliding down the road on its roof.

Bergen noted the accident took place in a zone with a speed limit of 35 miles an hour. No tickets were issued.

Builder complains delay has cost time and money

METUCHEN — Andrew D'Zuro appeared before the Borough Council last week to complain that a delay by the borough in reviewing paperwork for a senior citizens complex he plans to construct at 110 South Main Street has cost him money and put the project on hold.

When D'Zuro received approval for the eight-unit project between Myrtle Avenue and Orchard Street, he was instructed by the Zoning Board of Adjustment that the master deed and proposed bylaws for the condominiums had to be submitted to the borough attorney.

D'Zuro told the council he turned the documents over to borough attorney Gerry Baranoff on September 9 but has yet to hear back.

The delay, according to D'Zuro, has cost him a half of a percentage point in obtaining construction funds and he cannot get a bank loan without an approved deed.

Seven injured in collision

EDISON — Seven people were injured Monday morning when the 1984 Volvo station wagon in which they were riding was involved in a crash at Pine Street and Heathcote Avenue.

They all were taken to John F. Kennedy Medical Center by Edison First Aid Squad No. 1.

The injured were the driver of the Volvo, Grace M. Wu, 33, of 77 Rodak Circle, and Susan Wu, 9; Jeffrey Wu, 7, and Gregory Wu, 3, all of 77 Rodak; Victor Perntg, 8, of 93 Rodak, and Jason Yang, 9, and Jeffrey Yang, 7, both of 97 Rodak.

The other driver, Ruth M. Grant, 71, of 51 Grove Avenue, Metuchen, was not hurt. She was ticketed by Patrolman Salvatore Filannino for running a stop sign and operating a vehicle with unsafe tires.

Wu told Filannino she was driving on Pine at about 20 miles an hour and as she entered the intersection Grant's 1980 Plymouth van came through the stop sign on Heathcote without stopping or slowing down.

Grant told Filannino she was momentarily blinded by the glare of the sun and didn't see the stop sign.

TOWNSHIP OF EDISON
0.443-88 AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE ACQUISITION AND INSTALLATION OF AN ENHANCED COMPUTER SYSTEM FOR THE POLICE DEPARTMENT, IN AND FOR THE TOWNSHIP OF EDISON, IN THE COUNTY OF MIDDLESEX, NEW JERSEY, APPROPRIATING $280,000 THEREOF AND AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $280,000 BONDS OR NOTES TO FINANCE THE COSTS THEREOF.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OF THE TOWNSHIP OF EDISON, IN THE COUNTY OF MIDDLESEX, NEW JERSEY:

SECTION 1. That pursuant to applicable statutes there is hereby authorized the acquisition and installation of an enhanced computer system for the Police Department of the Township of Edison, Middlesex County, New Jersey.

SECTION 2. It is hereby determined and declared by this Municipal Council as follows:
A. That the Capital Budget of the Township as submitted and approved by this Municipal Council includes the improvements described in Section 1 above.

B. That the maximum estimated amount of bonds or notes to be issued for the purposes stated in Section 1 hereof is $280,000.

C. That the estimated maximum amount of money to be raised from all sources including the down payment described in Paragraph B below is $280,000.

D. That an appropriation was contained in a budget or budgets of the Township heretofore adopted, and there is now available in said appropriation the sum of $5,000, which said sum is hereby appropriated as a down payment for the purposes stated in Section 1 hereof.

E. That said sum of $5,000 including said down payment and said pledge of the Township referred to above, be and the same is hereby appropriated for the purposes stated in Section 1 hereof.

SECTION 3. That there is hereby authorized the issuance of negotiable serial bonds of the Township of Edison, in the County of Middlesex, New Jersey, in an aggregate principal amount of not exceeding $280,000, pursuant to the Local Bond Law, constituting Chapter 2 of Title 40A of the Revised Statutes of New Jersey (the "Local Bond Law"), for the purpose of financing the cost of the improvements described in Section 1 hereof. The form, rate or rates of interest and all other details of said bonds not prescribed herein shall be determined by subsequent resolution or resolutions adopted pursuant to law.

SECTION 4. That pending the issuance of the permanent bonds authorized in Section 3 hereof there is hereby authorized the issuance of bond anticipation notes of the Township of Edison, in the County of Middlesex, New Jersey, in an aggregate principal amount of not exceeding $280,000 pursuant to the Local Bond Law. The form, method of sale, maturities, rate or rates of interest and all other details of said notes not prescribed herein shall be determined by subsequent resolution or resolutions adopted pursuant to law.

SECTION 5. That if the Township shall receive any grants or moneys from the United States of America or the State of New Jersey, or any agencies thereof, for the purposes provided for in this ordinance, the amount of bonds or notes so authorized herein shall be reduced by the amount of such grants or moneys received before the issuance of such bonds or notes and in the event that any of such grants or moneys are received after the issuance of such bonds or notes, such grants or moneys shall be applied to the payment of principal or of interest on said bonds or notes.

SECTION 6. It is hereby found, determined and declared by this Municipal Council as follows:
A. That the bonds issued pursuant to this ordinance shall bear interest at such rate or rates as shall be determined hereafter, not exceeding the maximum rate provided by law.

B. That the period of usefulness of the improvements or property described in Section 1 hereof, for which the obligations authorized by this ordinance are to be issued, within the limitations of said Local Bond Law is fifteen (15) years.

SECTION 7. That the Supplemental Debt Statement required by the Local Bond Law has been duly prepared and filed in the office of the Township Clerk prior to the passage of this ordinance on first reading, and a complete executed duplicate thereof has been filed in the office of the Director of the Division of Local Government Services in the Department of Community Affairs of the State of New Jersey prior to the passage of this ordinance on final reading. Such statement shows that the gross debt of the County as defined in the Local Bond Law is increased by the authorization of the bonds and notes provided in this ordinance by $280,000, and the obligations authorized herein shall be within all debt limitations prescribed by the Local Bond Law.

SECTION 8. That the total amount of the proceeds of the bonds or notes authorized by this ordinance which may be expended for interest on the obligations to finance such improvements, engineering and inspection costs, legal expenses, the cost of the issuance of the obligations authorized by this ordinance and other matters specified in Sections 40A:2-20 of the Revised Statutes of New Jersey is not exceeding $5,000.

SECTION 9. That the Township covenants to maintain the exclusion from gross income under Section 103(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 of the interest on obligations issued hereunder.

SECTION 10. As long as any of the bonds or notes authorized herein are outstanding the full faith and credit of the Township of Edison, in the County of Middlesex, New Jersey, shall be pledged for the payment of the principal of and interest on all of the bonds and/or notes issued pursuant to this ordinance and appropriations shall be annually maintained in the budget and taxes shall be levied annually for such principal and interest on all of the taxable property within said Township without limit as to rate or amount.

SECTION 11. This ordinance shall take effect twenty days after the first publication thereof after final passage by the same provided by law.

Attest:
Henry Cackowski
President of Council

Adelaide M. Searfoss
Township Clerk

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the above Ordinance was duly passed on first reading by the Municipal Council of the Township of Edison, County of Middlesex, New Jersey on the 14th day of December, 1988, and that said Ordinance will be considered for final adoption at a meeting of the said Municipal Council to be held in the Council Chamber of the Municipal Building on the 28th day of December, 1988, at 8:00 o'clock P.M., at which time and place a public hearing will be held prior to final passage of said Ordinance and all interested persons will be given an opportunity to be heard concerning the same.

That there is hereby authorized the issuance of negotiable serial bonds of the Township of Edison, in the County of Middlesex, New Jersey, in an aggregate principal amount of not exceeding $280,000, pursuant to the Local Bond Law, constituting Chapter 2 of Title 40A of the Revised Statutes of New Jersey (the "Local Bond Law"), for the purpose of financing the cost of the improvements described in Section 1 hereof. The form, rate or rates of interest and all other details of said bonds not prescribed herein shall be determined by subsequent resolution or resolutions adopted pursuant to law.

SECTION 4. That pending the issuance of the permanent bonds authorized in Section 3 hereof there is hereby authorized the issuance of bond anticipation notes of the Township of Edison, in the County of Middlesex, New Jersey, in an aggregate principal amount of not exceeding $280,000 pursuant to the Local Bond Law. The form, method of sale, maturities, rate or rates of interest and all other details of said notes not prescribed herein shall be determined by subsequent resolution or resolutions adopted pursuant to law.

SECTION 5. That if the Township shall receive any grants or moneys from the United States of America or the State of New Jersey, or any agencies thereof, for the purposes provided for in this ordinance, the amount of bonds or notes so authorized herein shall be reduced by the amount of such grants or moneys received before the issuance of such bonds or notes and in the event that any of such grants or moneys are received after the issuance of such bonds or notes, such grants or moneys shall be applied to the payment of principal or of interest on said bonds or notes.

SECTION 6. It is hereby found, determined and declared by this Municipal Council as follows:
A. That the bonds issued pursuant to this ordinance shall bear interest at such rate or rates as shall be determined hereafter, not exceeding the maximum rate provided by law.

B. That the period of usefulness of the improvements or property described in Section 1 hereof, for which the obligations authorized by this ordinance are to be issued, within the limitations of said Local Bond Law is forty (40) years.

SECTION 7. That the Supplemental Debt Statement required by the Local Bond Law has been duly prepared and filed in the office of the Township Clerk prior to the passage of this ordinance on first reading, and a complete executed duplicate thereof has been filed in the office of the Director of the Division of Local Government Services in the Department of Community Affairs of the State of New Jersey prior to the passage of this ordinance on final reading. Such statement shows that the gross debt of the County as defined in the Local Bond Law is increased by the authorization of the bonds and notes provided in this ordinance by $280,000, and the obligations authorized herein shall be within all debt limitations prescribed by the Local Bond Law.

SECTION 8. That the total amount of the proceeds of the bonds or notes authorized by this ordinance which may be expended for interest on the obligations to finance such improvements, engineering and inspection costs, legal expenses, the cost of the issuance of the obligations authorized by this ordinance and other matters specified in Sections 40A:2-20 of the Revised Statutes of New Jersey is not exceeding $30,000.

SECTION 9. That the Township covenants to maintain the exclusion from gross income under Section 103(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 of the interest on obligations issued hereunder.

SECTION 10. As long as any of the bonds or notes authorized herein are outstanding the full faith and credit of the Township of Edison, in the County of Middlesex, New Jersey, shall be pledged for the payment of the principal of and interest on all of the bonds and/or notes issued pursuant to this ordinance and appropriations shall be annually maintained in the budget of taxes shall be levied annually for such principal and interest on all of the taxable property within said Township without limit as to rate or amount.

SECTION 11. This ordinance shall take effect twenty days after the first publication thereof after final passage in the manner provided by law.

Two separate accidents result in five tickets

EDISON — A 17-year-old township driver was issued a total of five summonses December 7 as the result of two separate accidents, one in Metuchen and the other in Edison.

William F. Cooper of Grandview Avenue was charged with drunk driving and leaving the scene of an accident by Metuchen Sergeant Russell Gehrum after the 1978 Dodge he was operating struck a Public Service Electric & Gas Co. pole on Brunswick Avenue at 1:15 a.m.

At 7:45 a.m., the entire side of a 1983 Ford pickup truck was found smashed in while it was parked on Brookville Road in Edison.

According to Patrolman Richard Buck, the pickup, owned by Campbell Supply Co. Inc. of Perth Amboy, had been pushed over the curb, which also caused damage to the wheels and tires on the passenger side and damage to the undercarriage.

According to Buck, debris found at the scene included a license plate that a lookout showed belonged to a 1978 Dodge owned by Cooper's mother.

A visit to the Grandview Avenue residence elicited no response but on a return visit, Buck found Cooper, who reportedly admitted hitting the pickup.

Brinkerhoff can mean your “dream home” in Far Hills

Whether you'll be riding to the hounds with the neighbors or just entertaining in grand style, the lifestyle of an English country gentleman can be yours at this exceptional home community now under construction in Far Hills.

Just one of The Brinkerhoff collection of fine homes, the English Country Manor retains an air of dignity as it rests in seclusion among natural surroundings. The use of old age traditions displays perfection throughout this 7,000 square foot estate.

Brinkerhoff homes have earned the reputation for solid construction and their knowledge of woodworking has filled the mansion with rich textured interiors and detailed trim. Luxury is the cornerstone of the Manor.

As part of the Brinkerhoff tradition, each of the more than 16 rooms displays masterful detail and workmanship. Most noteworthy are the ornate oak carvings on the staircase and the first-floor living rooms graced by beautiful fireplaces with distinctive mantels.

You'll find the latest in luxury amenities abounding throughout this home. The magnificent master bath suite is complete with a whirlpool tub, dressing room and separate room with a glass enclosed shower. The master bedroom has a private sitting room with a fireplace, perfect for early morning coffee or a nightcap before retiring. Each of the four family sized bedrooms has its own bath and there is a 644 square-foot activity room with separate bath that could be used for the staff quarters.

With this Brinkerhoff home still under construction, many features may be added to fit your lifestyle. Options include the finishing of the third floor with circular stair leading from the second floor. The activity room or the staff quarters could be divided into two rooms and an additional sunken hot tub might be placed in the sunroom.

The Brinkerhoff English Country Manor home on 10 acres of land is offered at $1,950,000. The estates and an additional 37 acres are available at $3,800,000. Far Hills, only 50 minutes to Manhattan and less from Newark airport, is central to New Jersey's main highways including Routes 287 and 78.

The Manor by Brinkerhoff is marketed by Schlott Realtors. For more information, contact Marge Mueller in the Bernardsville Office, 111 Morristown Road, at 766-2900.

The Enclave brings a new level of luxury to North Edison

As one of the Northeast's most successful residential real estate developers, the Karnell Group has distinguished itself as a builder of affordable, quality homes. Now, at The Enclave, their new townhome development in North Edison, the Karnell Group is offering luxurious living with prices that make the value almost unbeatable.

“We're offering home buyers more than just exceptionally luxurious homes,” says Robert Karnell, Chief Executive Officer of the Karnell Group. “We're giving them the most dramatic and contemporary designs they've ever seen. And we've situated the community so it adjoins a picturesque 17-acre nature preserve and set it off with a traditional estate wall. This gives residents the true feeling of privilege and prestige, while providing them with the exclusivity they desire ... all in a serene, natural setting.”

The Enclave's 86 townhomes offer the ultimate in privacy and luxury. The 2 and 3 bedroom designs measure up to 2,831 square feet, making the townhomes comparable in size to many private homes in the area. The custom-designed interiors are unusually opulent, with two-story entrance foyers, ceramic tiled baths with whirlpool tubs, customized, fully-applianced kitchens, formal dining rooms, private patios and 1 and 2-car garages.

“We wanted The Enclave to offer the best of everything,” Karnell says, “and the people of New Jersey have responded most positively. They especially like the idea of living in a luxurious new home, without paying a luxury price.” Opening prices for these homes are still in effect and range from $274,990 to $349,990.

Residents will also be pampered when it comes to recreational activities. There will be a private swimming pool with sundecks, all-weather tennis courts, a 20-station health trail, an equipped exercise room and saunas, a formal garden area and a lavish, Palladian-style community clubhouse with a fireplace lounge.

But just as important as the grand design of the community is the Karnell Group's commitment to the preservation of the natural landscape. The firm has built an enviable reputation in the past for environmental sensitivity. The company's other well-known communities include Sturbridge and Yorktown Square in Piscataway; The Harbour Club in Sayreville; Marlboro Greens in Marlboro; and the Woodlands, Timberline and Woodbrooke Corners in Edison.

Located less than 50 minutes from Manhattan, The Enclave is conveniently close to Metro Park Train Station in Edison, making it an easy commute. The sales office and designer models are open daily. For more information or to schedule an appointment call (201) 549-4990.

Burgdorff adds condo management division

Jean Burgdorff, president of Burgdorff Realtors, has announced the addition of a Condominium Management Division to the firm's broad based residential services.

The Division was purchased from Cronheim Management Services, a Chatham-based firm owned by Robert Cronheim. The new division will be located at 1 Academy Street, New Providence, adjacent to the Condo Center, Burgdorff's sales and marketing office for condominiums.

Key people from the Cronheim condo organization will join Burgdorff, including Judy Morris, an experienced property manager appointed director by Burgdorff, Lila Aronson Nussbaum, another experienced manager, and Jean Hanly, administrative assistant.

“Today, condominium living represents a significant and growing lifestyle of our clientele. A management division is a natural extension of our services to their particular needs,” Jean Burgdorff said.

The Condo Management Division will work with boards of condo associations and their delegates to enhance property values, protect investments and furnish effective business administration. It offers hands-on personal management of the fiscal, physical and administrative needs of condo associations and their communities.

Burgdorff's Division will pay their bills, collect fees, personally respond to calls from home owners regarding commonly owned property — in short, everything the board of the association is held responsible for by its by-laws.

Through state of the art software, Burgdorff will be able to offer accurate and timely billing, proper and professional representation of an association's financial position and budget preparation, three critical needs. Ruth Schoch, who has held a number of positions for Burgdorff, will be executive director, handling financial and software responsibilities.

“Burgdorff is committed to the same kind of excellence in property management that has been its standard in other residential services,” Jean Burgdorff said. “We invite condominium associations to consider our services.”

Burgdorff's Condo Center, an entirely separate entity established four years ago also at 1 Academy St., New Providence, pioneered the concept of an office dedicated exclusively to the needs of condominium buyers, sellers, investors and renters. Its unparalleled success led to the opening of a second location in Bedminster. The Condo Center has won numerous awards.

Burgdorff Realtors has 36 offices and 500 salespeople serving New Jersey and Pennsylvania. The firm was founded 30 years ago and has built its growth on high standards of ethics, professionalism and service.

Each office independently Owned and Operated.
