A Matter of Expense

By Richard Hill Whedon

When the federal highway is completed in the near future, the transportation element of the Cape may be greatly improved. The 12-mile long bridge which will span the width of the Cape is expected to be ready for use in 1943. The new route is expected to reduce travel time and costs by providing a more direct and efficient means of transportation. The bridge is designed to accommodate two-way traffic and should greatly enhance the accessibility of the Cape for both residents and visitors.

The bridge, which will connect the towns of Eastham and Orleans, is currently under construction. The project is being carried out by a team of experienced engineers and contractors who are working hard to ensure the successful completion of the bridge. The construction is expected to be completed by late 1943, and the bridge is scheduled to be opened to the public thereafter.

As the project progresses, the local community is expected to benefit greatly from the improved transportation infrastructure. With the bridge in place, travel time and costs will be significantly reduced, allowing for greater accessibility to the Cape's attractions and natural beauty. The bridge is expected to attract more visitors to the area, boosting the local economy and creating new opportunities for local businesses.

In conclusion, the construction of the federal highway bridge is a significant step forward for the Cape. The bridge is expected to revolutionize transportation in the region, providing a more efficient and direct route for both residents and visitors. With its completion, the Cape will be better connected, opening up new opportunities for growth and development.

The Senator further reminds us that those who thus advocate an invasion of North America are engaged in the very dangerous business of trying to high-house America.

The farm bloc is so afraid that they will make a little propaganda noise and then suddenly fall silent, that they are neither doing their duty nor helping our civilization.

Lady Astor had the right idea when she said that she would never sit on the same bench with a British Communist, but would consider it an honor to sit on that bench with a Russian soldier who was fighting for his homeland.

Who of us individually is making the sacrifice of any of our boys in the revolving jungles of the South Pacific for our civilization? Are our boys who go down to the sea in submarines, cargo boats, battleships, and are they the ones who are willing to wait until they get back and see the realization of our civilization?
