Police: Where are our new officers?

Only 103 of what police say are a required 116 officers are on force

BY SUE M. MORGAN
Staff Writer

Citing matters of public safety and stating that there are not enough officers to answer all the calls coming into headquarters, Old Bridge police supervisors and two Democratic Township Council members are insisting that Mayor Barbara Cannon expedite the hiring of new police officers.

However, Township Business Administrator Alayne Shepler, who as the township's public safety director is responsible for hiring new police officers, said at Monday night's council meeting that police administrators have not provided her with an updated list from which she could begin choosing potential job candidates to begin training.

However, following an executive-session meeting with the administration, the governing body and Police Department heads, Police Chief Jerry Palumbo told Council President Reggie Butler that his department will submit a list of the top 16 candidates to Shepler by the end of June.

Shepler said that once she receives that list, complete with results of physical examinations and test scores, she can begin choosing the candidates for police academy training beginning in July. Candidates with the highest scores would be sent for training first, she said.

"I can't hire without a list," Shepler said.

According to Police Capt. William Cerra, who oversees the police budget, there is a dire need to hire and train additional police officers due to several leaves of absence and expected retirements within the department.

Cerra said he needs 116 officers to provide the level of public safety required to patrol the township. The township budget, as adopted by the council Dec. 27, six months into the fiscal year, allows for the hiring of 12 police officers to bring the department total to 116.

In addition, an ordinance put forth by Councilman Edward Testino and approved by the council in January mandated that the department consist of 116 sworn police officers.

However, in spite of that ordinance, only 103 sworn officers are currently on the force, Cerra told the council. After subtracting six officers on disability leave, one on military leave, one on unpaid suspension leave, four assigned to patrolling public schools and five chiefs who do not go on calls, Cerra said, there are only 86 officers left to perform other police functions.

Those functions include patrol, traffic and safety, the detective bureau, narcotics, identification and recently the beach patrol, Cerra explained.

In addition, Cerra said three other officers are expected to retire by the end of the year. Consequently, even if the officers on leave and patrolling the schools were added into the numbers, he would be left with 100 officers, leaving a need for 16 more.

Cerra blamed Cannon's administration, and particularly Shepler, for not moving forward on hiring

Future will start June 20 for 340 Sayreville grads

BY JENNIFER DOME
Staff Writer

Tassels will be placed from right to left June 20 when 340 Sayreville War Memorial High School students graduate and say goodbye to their high school days.

The ceremony will begin at 6 p.m. at the high school football field. In case of inclement weather, commencement will be moved into the school gymnasium.

Principal James Brown said he believes this year's graduates have connected with one another perhaps more than those in any other class, due to their reaction to the tragic, life-changing events that took place during the second week of the school year.

"They went through the Sept. 11 tragedy, and in a lot of regards that set the theme for the year," Brown said.

Throughout the year, the students have encompassed patriotic themes at many school-related events, from in-class projects to the homecoming celebration, the principal said. One of the highlights was the recent American flag made by students of all grades at the school as part of a project coordinated by the Student Council. The flag was sent to a Sayreville graduate now serving in the U.S. Air Force in Afghanistan.

"The school pulled together with the leadership of the student council," Brown said.

This year's valedictorian is 18-year-old Jamie Jarusiewicz. During her high school years, Jarusiewicz was a member of the school math club, the National Honor Society, the Mathematics Honor Society and the French Honor Society. She served two years as the French club secretary, played varsity field hockey and was co-captain of the swim team.

Jarusiewicz said she may receive college credit for four advanced-placement courses she took while at Sayreville.

Garnering a weighted grade-point average of 4.48, she took AP courses in biology, mathematics, English and U.S. history.

Jarusiewicz said she will attend Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., in the fall and will major in

Burglary suspect arrested after asking cop directions

BY SUE M. MORGAN
Staff Writer

OLD BRIDGE — A man who asked an off-duty police officer for directions to a Laurence Harbor home was later arrested by that police officer and charged with burglarizing that same home.

According to police reports, Silvio Dafonseca, 44, was arrested at 3:46 p.m. Monday at his Union Beach home by Old Bridge Police Sgt. Charles Spinola, the officer who reportedly had guided him to the targeted home in Laurence Harbor.

Dafonseca, who police said is also known as Silvio Fonseca, is believed to have broken into the Ocean Avenue house while its owner was not home between 1:30 and 1:42 p.m. Saturday.

The homeowner later reported that $650 in cash and a gold Seiko watch, reportedly valued at $250, were missing from his bedroom dresser when he returned home later that afternoon.

According to police reports, Spinola, who lives in Laurence Harbor, observed Dafonseca driving a 1993 white Chevrolet Lumina on Shoreland Circle at approximately 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Dafonseca, the lone occupant of the Lumina, stopped when he saw Spinola standing on Shoreland Circle and asked for directions to the Ocean Avenue residence, police said. Spinola reported that he believed Dafonseca was acting suspiciously at the time and told him that he had just passed the Ocean Avenue home before stopping to ask directions.

According to Spinola's account, Dafonseca then backed up until he reached the Ocean Avenue home. Spinola then watched Dafonseca as he reportedly walked to the rear door of the house and rang the doorbell.

When no one answered the door, Dafonseca walked out to Shoreland Circle, Spinola stated.

At that time, Spinola was interrupted by a telephone call inside his house. After taking the call, Spinola reportedly walked over to the Ocean Avenue home that Dafonseca had visited but did not find the suspect. He did, however, find the front door ajar, according to police.

At that time, the homeowner reportedly returned home and spoke with Spinola. Upon checking inside, the homeowner found the cash and gold watch missing.

Having taken down the tag number of the Lumina and contacted on-duty police officers, Spinola traced the vehicle to Dafonseca's address, police said. Dafonseca was arrested at home the following day.

The suspect was transported to the Middlesex County Adult Correction Center in North Brunswick in lieu of $25,000 bail.

New officers?

the officers. Speaking before the council, he cited the township's form of government in which the mayor appoints department heads to direct particular functions.

"The law indicates that the mayor appoints department heads," Cerra said. "The director of public safety does the hiring. It is Alayne who hires."

After the executive session, Shepler indicated that she needed the list in order to hire candidates. The list would provide her with each candidate's physical examination results, written and verbal test scores in rank order, college points and background check clearances, she said.

However, citing concerns that Shepler could use personal information to disqualify candidates or for political reasons, Cerra replied that he did not want the business administrator to have the list.

"I don't see why she [Shepler] has to have that information," Cerra said. "That's how we end up in court."

After urging from Butler, Palumbo, Cerra's supervisor, agreed to provide Shepler with the list showing the top 16 candidates by the end of the month. In turn, Shepler said she will use the list to begin selecting candidates for the police academy. Those candidates will be selected in order of test score ranking, she said.

However, after the meeting, Shepler emphasized that the number of trainees will be determined by the mayor's analysis of the budget. The township's financial ability to sustain the officers after hiring will affect how many trainees are chosen from the list of 16, she said.

"The mayor will say how many will go based on our budget," Shepler explained.

Expressing a concern for public safety, Testino had originally asked for an update of the police hiring situation during the meeting. He warned that the township might lose the places in the police academy if new officer trainees are not sent to classes by next month.

"We're going to lose those slots in the police academy," Testino pointed out. "We need to find out where we stand on police hiring."

Testino also noted that with the advent of the summer season, additional police patrols will be needed along the Laurence Harbor beachfront.

His concerns were echoed by Ward 1 Councilman Joseph Hoff, whose constituency includes Laurence Harbor.

"It's a matter of public safety." Hoff said. "We're committed to police patrolling along the waterfront."

Shepler, in reply to Hoff, explained that she had sent a memo to Palumbo on May 29, requesting a copy of the most current list. In return, she received a memo from the chief refusing to provide her the list.

"I received a memo saying that he doesn't want to submit the names," Shepler explained. "I have never received the list to date."

Shepler also took exception to any belief on the chief's behalf that she would use personal information to disqualify otherwise qualified candidates.

"I would never deign to ask personal information," Shepler said. "I ask basic questions."

The list of candidates she has now is nearly two years old and expires in October, she said.

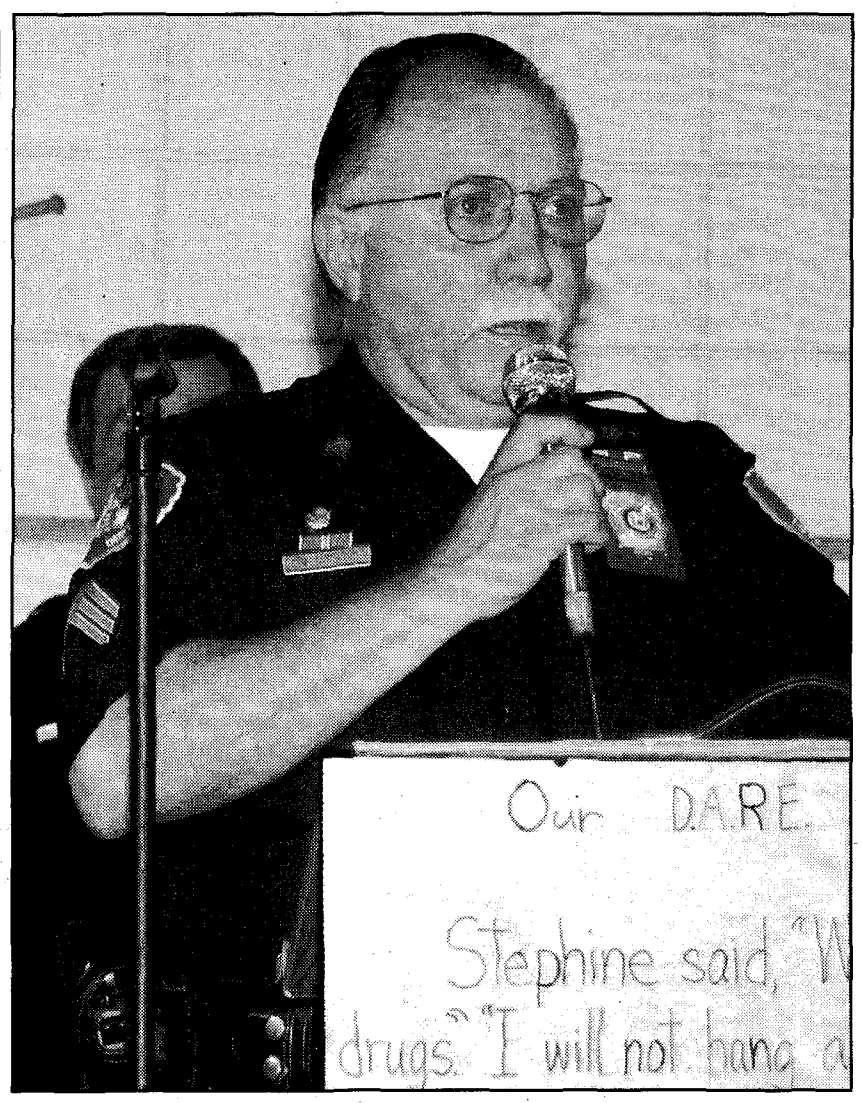

In the past, Cerra accused the administration of deliberately delaying the hiring of additional police officers.

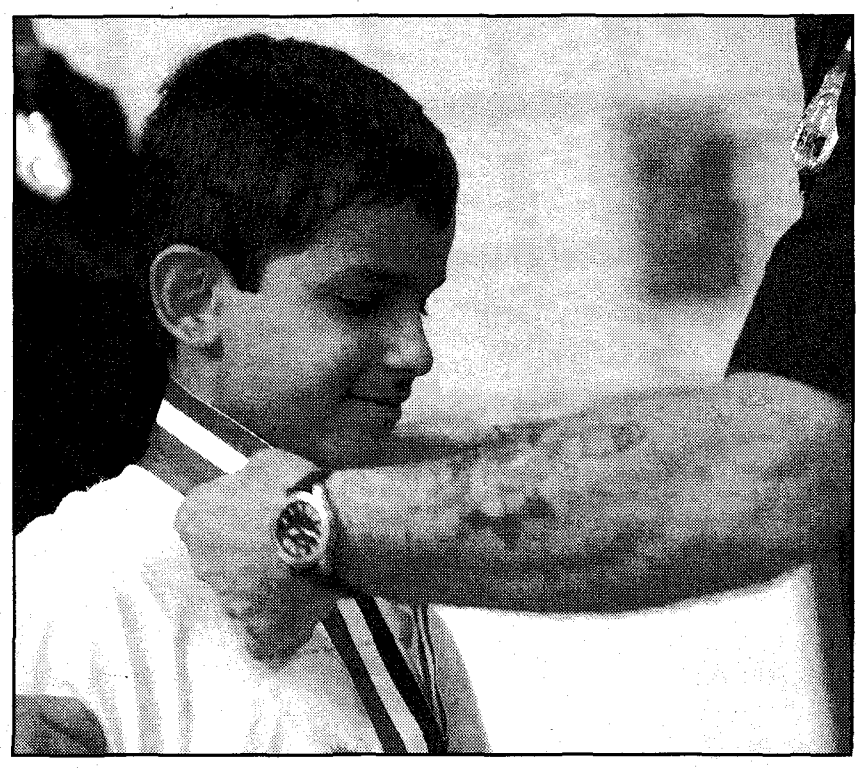

Cannon has said, however, that it is uncertain whether the budget will be able to sustain the officers beyond the current fiscal year which ends June 30. Even now, she said the administration is still trying to determine if the township can afford to hire and keep the new police officers.

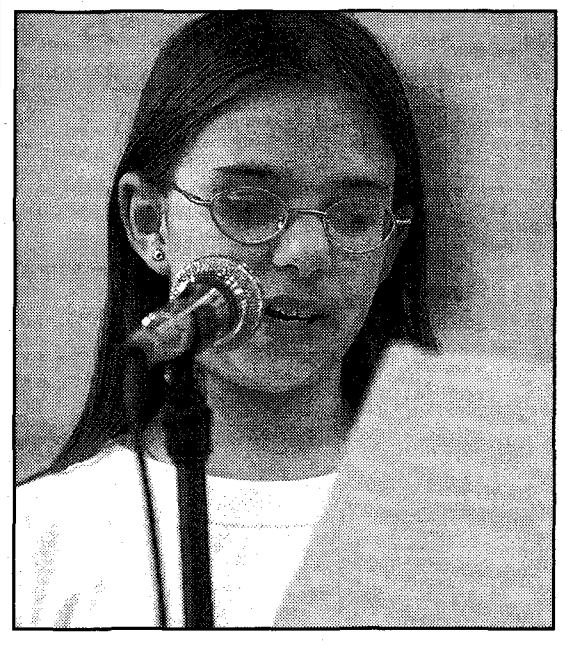

"We are still wrestling with a very tight, difficult budget," Cannon said after the meeting. "It is the most difficult budget I've ever seen."

"We understand that public safety is of paramount importance," Cannon went on. "We are making decisions that are going to eliminate other expenses for the police department."

Cannon pointed out that because police academy training does not begin until July, there is still time to hire.However, during the meeting, Testino and police officials pointed out that even if trainees began their school at the academy next month, they would not be able to join the force after finishing their studies in December.

Human bones uncovered during pool construction

BY JENNIFER DOME
Staff Writer

SAYREVILLE — While beginning work on the construction of an in-ground swimming pool last Saturday, a landscaping company uncovered human bones in dirt that had been delivered by a Monmouth County contractor.

According to Sayreville Police Detective Ken Kelly, police received a report of the findings from David Sollacio of Absolute Pond Landscaping, Stirling, Morris County, at 10:22 a.m. June 8. Sollacio, who was installing the pool at the Strek Drive home, told police that he and his employees observed what appeared to be human bones and pieces of clothing while they were raking through the three loads of fill.

The fill had been delivered from Petruzzelli General Contractors, located in the Morganville section of Marlboro Township, Monmouth County, Kelly said.

In addition to the police, the Middlesex County Medical Examiner's Office and the Middlesex County Prosecutor's Office responded to the scene where five pieces of human bones, including one part of a lower leg, and five articles of clothing were unearthed, according to Kelly.

According to Assistant Monmouth County Prosecutor Pete Warshaw, the bones appear to be those of one person.

The bones and materials were taken by the medical examiner. The preliminary investigation revealed that the items came from a cemetery or a private grave area, Kelly said.

He said that it is common for contracting companies to get fill from cemeteries that have excess dirt. While the police have narrowed down the possible cemeteries where the bones and clothing may have come from to three, Kelly said he was uncertain of their exact location.

The borough police department and the prosecutor's office are continuing to investigate the incident, he said.

Board to review plans for 72 and 22 homes

OLD BRIDGE — An additional 72 single-family homes could be added to the Woodhaven Village development if the Planning Board ultimately approves a revised application presented June 5.

The board heard the beginning of testimony from representatives of Sunny Trails, an affiliate of Woodhaven Village Inc. However, because of the board's 11 p.m. curfew, testimony was continued to a future date.

If the application is approved, the homes would be constructed on half-acre lots located off Englishtown Road and Colorado Boulevard, north of the Barclay Brook, according to representatives of Sunny Trails.

The project would also include three open space lots and a storm water basin, Sunny Trails representatives stated.

A second housing application to construct Farm View Acres, a 22 single-family home development with two detention basins along Disbrow, Cheesequake and Morristown roads, was continued until July 2. The project's developer, Robertson Douglas Inc., was not in attendance last week.

In other action, the 11 Planning Board members present unanimously denied a use variance application by Cornell Disposal to construct a garage and maintenance shop on its property along Old Waterworks Road near Bordentown Avenue.

Prior to voting, board members cited the applicant's plan to construct the shop on an undersized lot as a major reason to deny the application. Environmental concerns, particularly with wastewater run-off from the lot, were also cited as a basis for denial.

biochemistry. She said her current plans are to use her degree in the pharmaceutical research field.

The valedictorian's speech on graduation day will touch on her belief in the notion that what you put into something is what you get out of it.

She said she believes that Sept. 11 has made the students in her graduating class more grateful for what they have.

"I'm excited to be graduating, even though it's sad to be leaving friends," Jarusiewicz said.

The class of 2002 salutatorian, who will speak after Jarusiewicz at graduation, is Daniel Fiorentino.

With a weighted GPA of approximately 4.4, Fiorentino is a member of the math club, the Future Business Leaders of America and the Talented and Gifted program. Fiorentino has also been a member of both the Spanish and the math honor societies, as well as the film and video society. He played soccer on the high school's varsity team and ran track during his sophomore year.

Fiorentino, 18, also excelled in his AP classes in biology, mathematics, English, U.S. history and Spanish. Fiorentino said he believes he will be getting college credit for several of those courses as well.

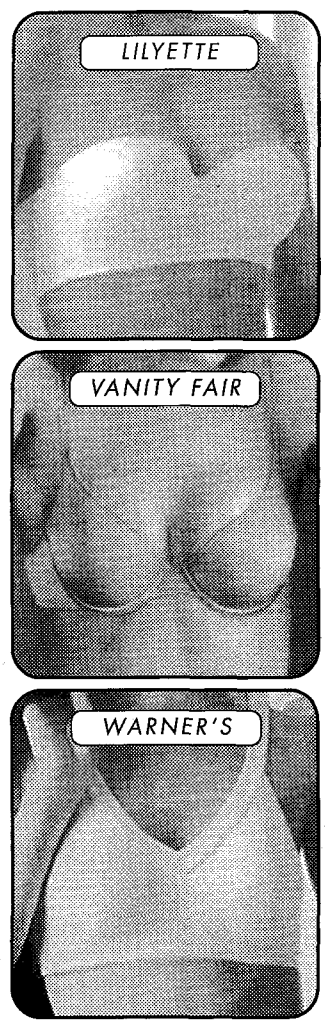

With his interests set on either business or science, he will begin college in the fall at the College of New Jersey, Ewing.

"This is a turning point in all our lives, and things will never be the same," Fiorentino said of his upcoming graduation.

He said the class of 2002 differs from others in that the students are less competitive with one another, and they get along very well.

He indicated that his speech June 20 will focus on the future, highlighting the many paths his classmates have from which to choose as they set out in the world beyond the walls of Sayreville War Memorial High School.

Effect of Amtrak shutdown unclear

Carrier will have to halt service unless it gets $200 million loan

BY CHARLES W. KIM
Staff Writer

It is not clear if NJ Transit trains will continue running on the Northeast Corridor Line should Amtrak fail to obtain a $200 million bridge loan.

Amtrak President David Gunn announced last week that the national rail carrier must obtain the loan in the next three weeks or be forced to shut down operations nationwide.

The effect such a shutdown would have on the thousands of New Jersey commuters, however, remains unclear.

"We can't comment on the impact [a shutdown] would have on commuter services," said Amtrak spokesman Bill Schulz Monday. "We are right now focused on securing a loan and insuring that Amtrak services continue."

Schulz said that Amtrak owns the corridor and the operating system for the line, including the switches and radio system. He would not disclose the details of Amtrak's agreement with NJ Transit for use of the line.

The line runs through several eastern states and includes stops at Princeton Junction and New Brunswick.

Amtrak spokeswoman Karina VanVeen said June 6 that she didn't think service would be interrupted.

"We don't think the shutdown will occur," she said.

According to VanVeen, the corporation has obtained bridge loans like this one in previous years.

"We have done this before," she said.

NJ Transit Executive Director George Warrington was not available to comment on the issue, but spokeswoman Penny Bassett Hackett said Monday that service will likely continue for the thousands of New Jersey commuters using the line.

"NJ Transit is committed to providing service on the Northeast Corridor Line for its customers," Bassett Hackett said.

Bassett Hackett said that while Amtrak owns and operates the line, NJ Transit will continue to provide service.

"We don't want to worry customers," Bassett Hackett said.

However, a federal government official speaking on condition of anonymity said Tuesday that NJ Transit trains would also be stopped if Amtrak closed down.

"If Amtrak shuts down, NJ Transit shuts down [on the corridor]," the official said.

The official said that service would have to be stopped because the system is owned by Amtrak.

"It is not just the rails but the switching and dispatch," the official said.

U.S. Rep. Rush Holt (D-12), a supporter of Amtrak, agreed with that assessment.

"I don't see any way that NJ Transit would not be badly affected by a shutdown of Amtrak," Holt said.

In his role on the budget committee, Holt has offered amendments to make sure Amtrack gets the funds it needs.

"We are dependent on Amtrak in the long term to maintain our transportation infrastructure," said Holt. "In the short term, we depend on them for dispatching."

Holt said that it should be a priority for the country to support Amtrak.

"Last fall showed us the importance of a diverse transportation system," Holt said.

Holt also said that it would be a loss if

Amtrak had to close its doors.

"It would be a sad state of affairs for America. We must support Amtrak," Holt said.

Holt, who uses the line to get to and from Washington, D.C., said that a shutdown would affect his commute.

"I don't know how I would get to work," Holt said.

Bassett Hackett said that NJ Transit has an agreement in place with Amtrak, but would not give out the details of that agreement.

"We don't want to go into that level of detail," she said.

Warrington was the former head of Amtrak until his appointment to the top post of NJ Transit by Gov. James McGreevey earlier this year.

Gunn took the reins of the financially strapped carrier in May, replacing Warrington, who moved to the top post at NJ Transit.

According to a published report, Gunn announced the $200 million shortfall to employees on June 5.

The corporation is planning to use a $1.2 billion federal appropriation as collateral for the loan. That money is slated to enter its coffers when the new fiscal year starts Oct. 1, according to the report.

Gunn also said he would like to consolidate Amtrak's three operating divisions to move it into "a traditional railroad structure."

Currently each division, Amtrak West, Intercity and Northeast Corridor, act as separate business units, according to Amtrak.

Gunn is also asking for sweeping organizational changes, specifically to consolidate the number of vice presidents from 84 to only 20.

O.B. student produces video on DWI; gets it on NBC-TV

BY SUE M. MORGAN
Staff Writer

OLD BRIDGE — After producing an award-winning public service video that recently aired on WNBC television, an Old Bridge High School TV production student has donated his $500 prize money to the school district.

Thomas Small, 17, a junior at the high school's west campus, recently placed third in the PSA (Public Service Address) Driving While Intoxicated Video Contest sponsored by the Middlesex County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Small's 30-second video, Drunk Driving, emphasizes the dangers of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. It is aimed specifically at teen-agers and young adults faced with the temptation to drink alcohol at social activities and especially during the current prom and graduation season.

Small, a production student of teacher Walter Reed, produced the video entirely inside the school's studio at the east campus, according to a press release from the district.

The Board of Education recognized Small's accomplishment at its May 21 meeting, and he was presented with an engraved plaque by Old Bridge High School Principal Dr. Christopher Traficante.

While presenting the award, Traficante mentioned that Small and the other award winners were honored at a reception attended by Walter Perez, a reporter with WNBC-TV, Channel 4, New York. The video was aired on NBC's Saturday edition of the Today show on May 29.

Small's video is scheduled to be shown on local Cable Channel 71 later this spring, Traficante said.

According to information provided by the district, it was Small's idea to donate the $500 award to the high school designating it for the television production lab. Traficante announced at the board meeting that the award money will be used to purchase more video production equipment, in keeping with Small's wishes.

Small, who said he aspires to be a video editor after attending college, hopes his video will help prevent tragic accidents involving alcohol.

"I [made this video] to influence teenagers and other young people so they will not drink before going out and driving," he said.

Public is owed answers in light of transit troubles

We really don't know.

Last week, Amtrak president David Gunn announced that the financially strapped national carrier may shut down its total operations if a loan for $200 million is not secured in three weeks.

Amtrak owns not only the tracks, but the operation system for the Northeast Corridor Line, which is one of the busiest lines in the country.

NJ Transit uses that line, also owned by Amtrak, to transport many thousands of commuters into New York each day.

Word of a possible shutdown led Greater Media Newspapers to ask both Amtrak and NJ Transit just what would happen in that case.

The answers were not exactly forthcoming.

NJ Transit spokeswoman Penny Bassett Hackett said NJ Transit is committed to providing service for the line's customers.

Amtrak spokesman Bill Schulz said the national carrier "could not comment on commuter service" affected by such a shutdown, but referred to the NJ Transit comment.

It is only common sense that if Amtrak owns both the tracks and operating system of this frequently traveled line, NJ Transit commuters would somehow be affected by any shutdown of the owning entity.

Neither side would go on the record and disclose just what the actual agreement is between Amtrak and NJ Transit.

We wonder why.

George Warrington, the executive director for NJ Transit, formerly headed Amtrak. Surely, he would know exactly what the agreement was between the two entities. He, however, was unavailable to answer our questions.

Instead of straight talk, we have gotten bureaucratic double speak and outright evasion from these quasi-public agencies.

This is a cause for concern.

The federal government has already appropriated some $1.2 billion for Amtrak, due and payable Oct. 1 when the fiscal year for the federal budget begins.

That mass transit corporation will likely get the loan, and riders will likely not see a disruption of service.

Only a fool would not give Amtrak a $200 million loan against the $1.2 billion in funds appropriated by our representatives in Washington, D.C.

In fact, Schulz said Monday that the corporation has obtained bridge loans like this in the past, as recently as last year.

But the question as to the continuation of service in the event of an Amtrak financial collapse still remains.

Neither agency is willing to disclose the terms of its agreement to the public, which funds its enterprise with federal and state tax dollars.

We should, at least, know with a reasonable certainty that service for thousands of New Jersey commuters will continue if Amtrak goes belly-up.

Many of us in Central New Jersey depend on this mass transit system for our very livelihoods.

We deserve a straight answer.

Who owns the line and the system?

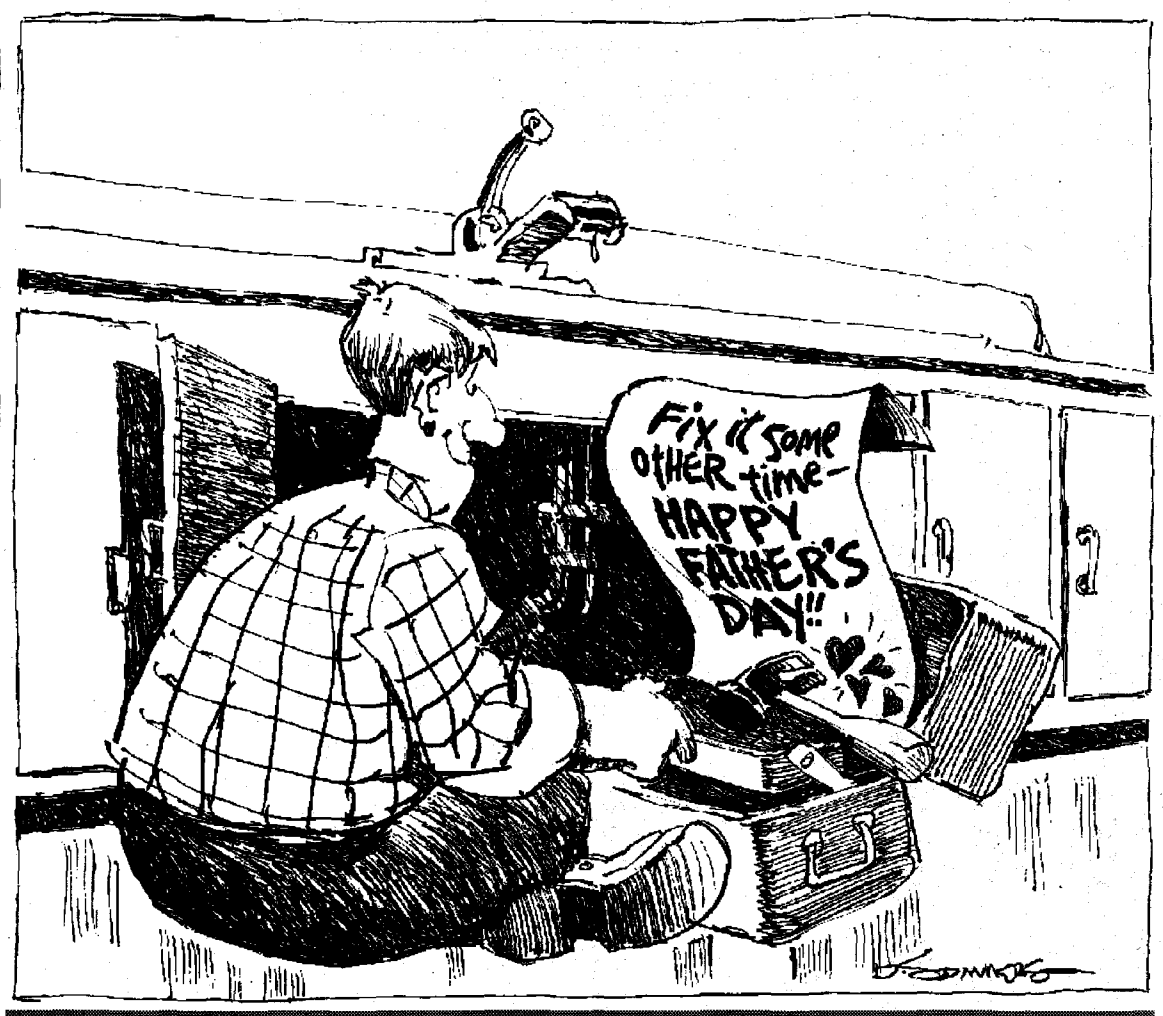

Will NJ Transit trains continue to run despite Amtrak's financial standing?

Who will be running the switches and radio system if Amtrak is shut down?

Both of these mass transit agencies, charged with a noble purpose, should come clean and answer our questions simply.

We are paying the freight for their existence; we are owed that much.

Tell us what the deal is.

Fallon was a dedicated and inspirational public official

I would like to reflect upon the recent passing of T. Gilbert Fallon of Old Bridge.

Gil, as he was known by all, was a former deputy mayor of the municipality as well as a former municipal chairman of the Democratic Party, and currently was a member of the Municipal Utilities Authority and sat as a member of the Economic Development Corporation.

I personally knew Gil for 38 years and found him to be an inspiration because he was a true Renaissance man. He was well-read and well-versed in every field of endeavor and believed in "good government." In this day and age, many people talk about "good government," but Gil Fallon lived it.

In the entire time that he was involved in the political field, never once was there a breath or taint of corruption concerning him or his leadership. During his tenure as an Old Bridge deputy mayor and Township Council member, the municipality thrived, and the innovations brought forth by Gil and his colleagues at that time are still in effect today. The municipal complex, the ice skating facility, the tennis facility, the tenant affairs commissioner and the senior affairs coordinator were all ideas brought about through the guidance and counsel of Gil Fallon.

In the last few years, though racked with pain from many complications arising from illnesses too numerous to list, he still was the mentor of most of the Democratic council members and was my daily sounding board. Even though he believed in partisan politics, he was respected by people of all political persuasions as evidenced by the grand turnout at his wake.

I believe that T. Gilbert Fallon symbolized all that is good about American politics, and he is a role model for others to follow.

First-year kindergarten teacher is too good for O.B. to lose

Once again, we're at that point in the school year where the first-year teachers don't know if they will be employed in September.

The members of the school board will tell you they don't have enough enrollment as of yet, but then they ask for a property tax increase due to the district's incredible expansion.

The people profiting from this expansion, namely the builders, should be held accountable, and the tax burden should not fall entirely upon the shoulders of property owners — but that's another fight.

I'm writing because of the possibility of losing one of the finest kindergarten teachers at James A. McDivitt School in Old Bridge.

She is Kathleen McDade. She is kind and compassionate and a credit to her profession. It has been an honor and a privilege for my daughter to start off her education with such a fine teacher.

However, McDivitt School is in danger of losing such a fine teacher because of supposed under-enrollment.

McDivitt would be foolish to lose this terrific teacher, and I do not stand alone in my opinion that they should do whatever possible to hold on to her.

I have another child who has not yet entered kindergarten, and

I would very much want her to have the benefit of starting off her education with Ms. McDade.

Family bids liquor store goodbye after 27 years

BY JENNIFER DOME
Staff Writer

SAYREVILLE — Two of the borough's longtime business owners retired last week after 27 years as owners of Sayreville Bridge Liquors, Washington Road.

Betty and Salvatore Scavone, 54 and 55, respectively, moved to the borough in July 1975 after deciding to locate their packaged goods store there. According to Betty Scavone, before they finalized their decision, they wanted to make sure the borough would be a good place to raise children and send them to school.

After careful research, the Scavones decided that Sayreville was the place for them. And all these years later, she said owning a business and a home in the same borough has worked out beautifully for their family.

"Owning a business and living in a town ... I found it to be the most well-rounded lifestyle," she said.

Though she raised her family on Washington Road, only a couple of miles from the store, she said the proximity did not stop her from being late to work every morning.

"I was late every morning, but it's an advantage when you know the boss well," she said with a laugh.

Her two sons and three daughters all went through the public school system in Sayreville, she said. The eldest, Dave, 38, is married with one child and works as a police officer in East Brunswick. Stan, 37, is also married with one child and works for Disney World in Orlando, Fla. April, 30, is a schoolteacher at Wilson School in the borough and, with her husband Anthony Magistro who is a borough police officer, has a daughter. The Scavones' fourth child, Sally Jo, is 25 and works in Woodbridge, while the youngest in the family, Christine, 23, works for Catholic Charities in Newark.

"It [the store] became our home away from home. I think my husband and I and our family grew closer because of it," she said.

The children have always been involved in their parents' business. Whether that meant lifting boxes and working behind the counter, or just hanging out and doing their homework, the children were always at the store while growing up, Betty said.

"I know owning a package store is a delicate subject," Betty said, "but we were a family business."

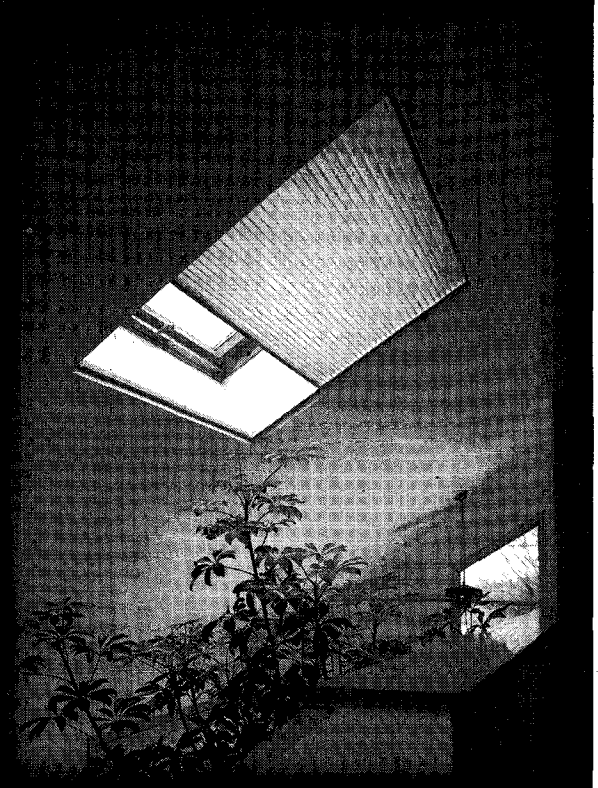

Betty Scavone said she and Salvatore were careful to run a good business. They watched as the drinking age dipped down to 18 and then went back up again to 21, she said. They have seen businesses and their owners in the borough come and go, but they, and their quality of service, stayed the same, she said.

She said owning the store has enhanced the couple's relationship with the community. For many years, Bridge Liquors has been a sponsor of a borough Little League team, she said. As parents, the Scavones were also avid supporters of their children's athletic and other extracurricular activities.

One of her most prized memories is of the sympathy that local residents showed after she went into the hospital a couple years ago. More than 200 residents sent cards expressing their concern for her well-

Friendly son of Old Bridge helps plan Irish Festival

Promoting his heritage is a labor of love for O.B.'s Jim Collender

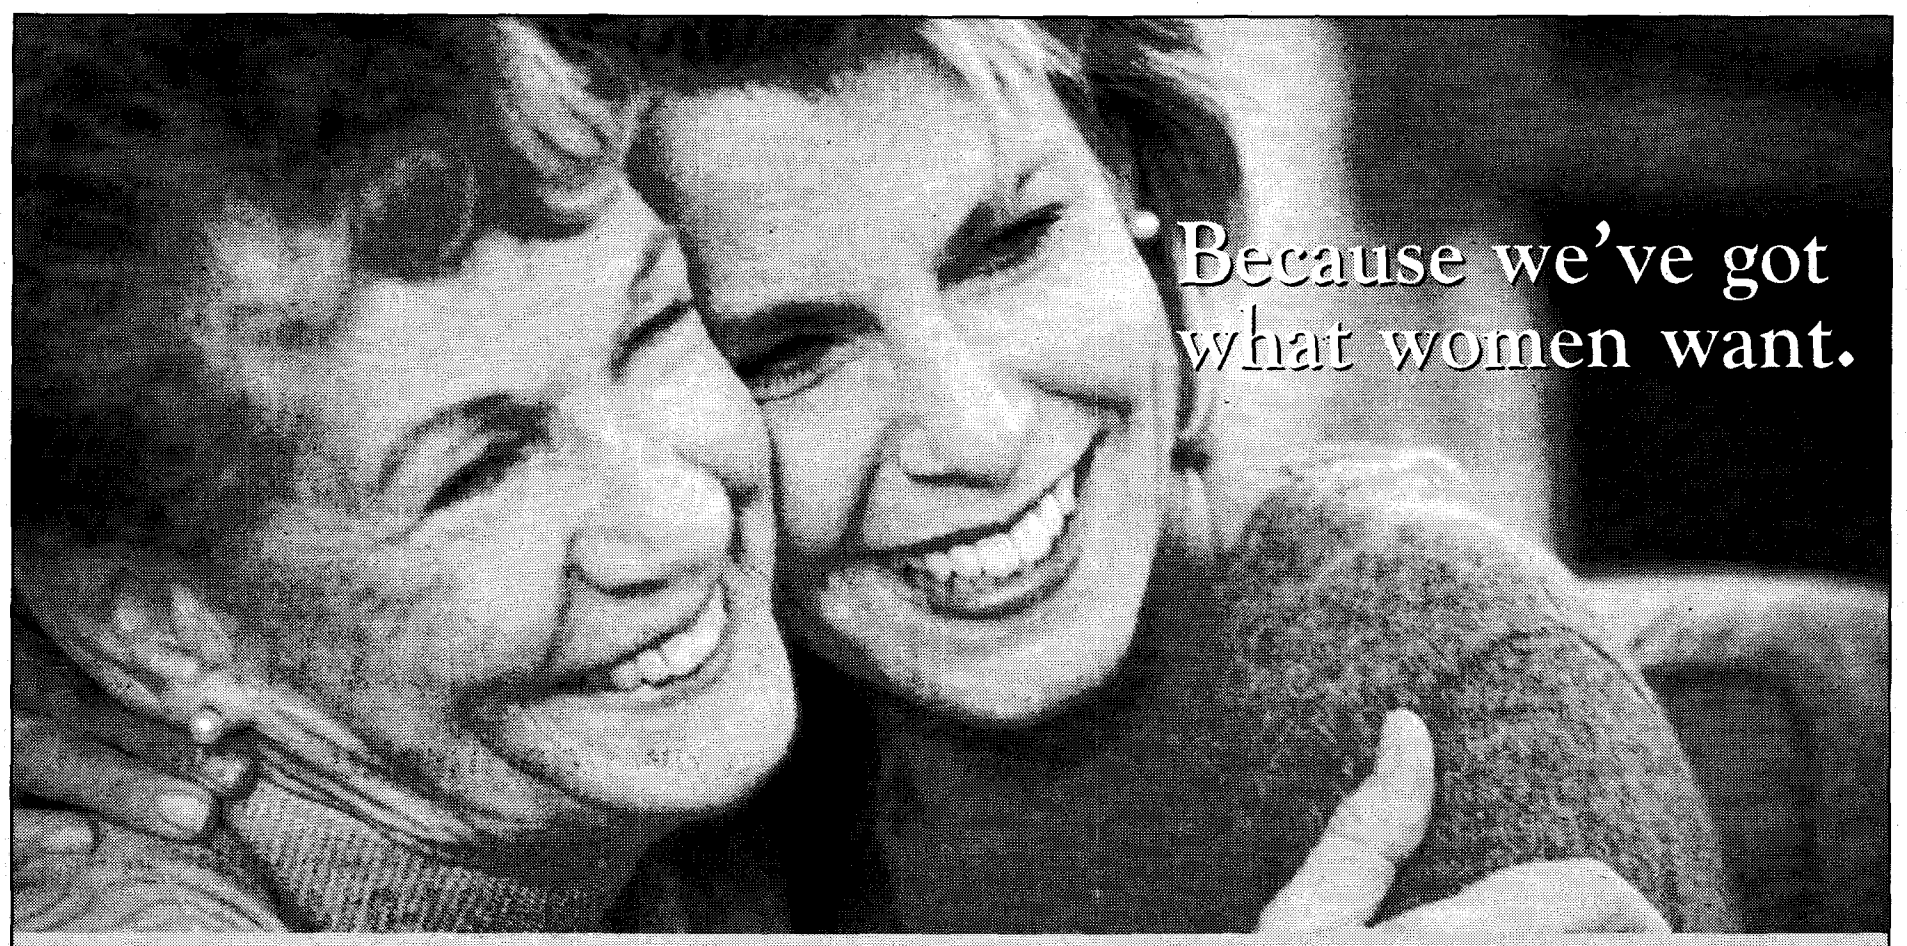

BY SUE M. MORGAN
Staff Writer

OLD BRIDGE — Bagpipers, step dancers and maybe even some leprechauns will soon be coming back to the PNC Bank Arts Center in Holmdel, Monmouth County, for a traditional yearly celebration of all things Irish.

No, it's not a belated St. Patrick's Day party. It's the much-anticipated 32nd annual New Jersey Irish Festival, to be held June 23 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

This year, Old Bridge has its own connection to the festival in township resident James "Jim" Collender. As the festival's co-chairman, Collender heads the committee charged with putting together the day-long celebration, which includes Irish music performed by a variety of acts, step-dancing exhibitions, a children's play area, displays highlighting the history and culture of the Emerald Isle, food, and other cultural attractions.

"There are plenty of activities for the young and old," Collender said, noting that one of the arts center's parking lots will be dedicated to a children's playland.

Collender, whose roots go back to County Cork, Ireland, has served on the New Jersey Irish Festival's organizing council for 10 years. During that time, he has coordinated the piping and drumming competition and the marching display of more than a dozen pipe bands.

James "Jim" Collender

This year, the festival organizers named Collender co-chairman under General Chairman Michael J. Donovan of Linden.

As is tradition, Collender will serve as general chairman next year, according to a news release from the festival's organizers.

A native of Hicksville, N.Y., Collender grew up in East Brunswick and graduated from DeVry Technical Institute, North Brunswick.

When he is not traveling to Ireland or marching with the Pipe and Drum Band of the Order of the Friendly Sons of the Shillelagh in Old Bridge, Collender works as an application engineer for Brother International in Bridgewater, Somerset County.

Through the Friendly Sons, Collender became involved with the staging of the annual festival as well as other activities celebrating the Irish heritage. He presided over the Friendly Sons for one year, and is also a member of the Belmar St. Patrick's Day Parade Committee.

Add to that his frequent trips to Ireland and it becomes apparent that his heritage keeps Collender pretty busy — he noted that he's been to Ireland to visit friends twice already this year.

"I've been there about 15 to 20 times total in my life," Collender said.

Billed by organizers as "New Jersey's oldest and largest Irish Festival," the event, one of several ethnic festivals sponsored by the N.J. Highway Authority and the Garden State Cultural Center, has been held annually at the arts center since 1971.

This year, the traditional bagpipe competition featuring more than a dozen pipe bands will open the festival at 9 a.m. Organizing that competition has been Collender's specialty in his years of service.

Following the competition, a Mass for peace and justice in Ireland will be celebrated inside the amphitheater at 10:30 a.m. Several Irish-themed bands, including the Willie Lynch Trio, Blackthorn, the Whole Shabang, Off Kilter and Gael Force, will perform in two large tents starting at noon.

Bobby Byrne, an Irish singer who is well-known throughout New Jersey, will also present his variety show featuring Irish ballads and novelty tunes. Dancers from two Irish step-dancing schools will also hoof on stage.

The children's play area will feature pony rides and clowns. A food court and an Irish shopping village round out the event's offerings, press materials state.

While the festival principally celebrates the heritage of Irish natives and descendants, Collender emphasized that everyone, regardless of background, is welcome to come and enjoy.

"It's great to be able to have this day every year for everyone to come out," he said.

Collender pointed out that the funds raised by this festival, as well as all other ethnic festivals, help to fund the arts center's free entertainment programs for senior citizens and schoolchildren.

Tickets can be purchased in advance for $10, or for $12 at the gate. Children under 10 are admitted free. Tickets can be ordered in advance by calling (732) 785-9039.

More information is available on the festival's Web site at www.njirishfest.com.

3 youths charged in vandalism at O.B.'s Madison Park School

BY SUE M. MORGAN
Staff Writer

OLD BRIDGE — Police have arrested and charged three juveniles with vandalizing the Madison Park School Friday night.

According to police reports, three male juveniles — including two 15-year-olds and one 12-year-old — were arrested at approximately 11:08 p.m. Friday after police responded to a report of three suspects spray-painting eight windows and a brick wall at the school, located on Harvard Road, earlier that night. All of the suspects are reported to be residents of the Parlin section of the township. One of the 15-year-olds and the 12-year-old are brothers, police reports indicate.

The two brothers were taken into police custody while they were walking separate paths in the vicinity of the school, according to police. A school custodian who witnessed the spray-painting reportedly identified the two brothers as the suspects.

Both suspects were found to be in possession of nozzles matching three empty bottles of green spray paint found at the crime scene, police said. Upon searching the 12-year-old boy, police said they also found a plastic bag containing marijuana.

The third suspect, reported to be a friend of the brothers, was later arrested at his home in the presence of his parents, reports state.

The three juveniles were transported to headquarters, where each was charged with criminal mischief. The youngest suspect was also charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance. All three were released to the custody of their parents after processing Saturday at approximately 12:30 a.m.

The spray-painting at the elementary school is the second incident of reported vandalism in the Madison Park neighborhood. Sometime between May 11 and May 14, unknown suspects spray-painted several equipment trailers at Cougar Field, located off Cheesequake Road. The field serves as the home base of the Raritan Bay Cougars, an organization affiliated with Central Jersey Pop Warner Football and Cheerleading.

Police have not charged any suspects in the Cougar Field vandalism.

C.I.T. Program: Is It For Your 12 To 15 Year Old?

Why have Teen Leadership Programs, sometimes called (CIT) Counselor-In-Training become so popular? Teens feel they are too old to be day campers, but want the opportunity for challenging work that is fun. Luckily, there is a program created just for 12 to 15 year olds - a special program designed exclusively for the needs and responsibilities of the early teen years.

Country Roads in Manalapan was the first day camp in the area to start this teen program, twenty-five years ago. Most C.I.T. programs involve teens working with campers. But all work and no play is no way to spend a fun summer. Country Roads provides a completely unique program - one that recognizes teens also need to enjoy fun activities with friends while they gain leadership skills in communication and responsibility.

They do this by having teens train on site with campers for 20 days (where they can choose a group, coach, or specialist) and travel off-site to 19 exciting day trips, such as waterparks, Chelsea Pier, Rain Forest Cafe, Hershey Park and many more. There is no other teen program that does this. Teens are special at Country Roads. They have their own clubhouse, Prom, late night D.J. Parties, and receive free season passes to Great Adventure and Hurricane Harbor.

Director Katrina Gabriel says, "Our teens feel connected and appreciated; they are part of our team. They make their own decisions and we help support them. We enjoy guiding their wonderful energy and enthusiasm. They become terrific counselors. In fact, we hire all of our junior counselors right from this program."

A social Leadership program helps an early teen feel important during those "in between years", giving them confidence as they help younger campers build their self-esteem and at the same time make great new friends.

There are Leadership Workshops the teens rave about: from stand-up comedy lessons by the NY Improv, and Sports Clinics on how to coach children to choreographing their own show. Personal trainers run dynamic fitness and nutrition workshops and psychologists run clubs teaching teens strategies for caring for and having fun with campers. They can also take our lifeguard-in-training course and earn their CPR/1st Aid certifications. You will see your teen grow this summer in so many ways!

Flood control for river would cost $62.5M

Study reports 1,000-plus structures are at risk

BY JENNIFER DOME
Staff Writer

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers released a study last week that outlines solutions to flooding problems that have periodically occurred on the South River.

According to Peter Blum of the Army Corps, the study lays out a flood control and ecological restoration project for the South River, which is the first major tributary of the Raritan River. Without the solutions that the study discusses, more than 1,000 structures along the river bank could be damaged in the event of severe flooding from hurricanes or other storms, Blum said.

The corps report will be presented to planning boards in the boroughs of South River and Sayreville in the near future, Blum said. These two boroughs border the river where the damage has occurred in the past.

One example the corps used in its study of the area was a nor'easter that hit the area in March 1993. According to an executive summary provided by the corps, the storm resulted in approximately $17 million in damages.

Therefore, after years of studying the conditions of the South River and the Raritan River basin, the corps has determined that installing 21-and-a-half foot levees and flood walls along the eastern and western banks of the lower South River would result in sufficient flood control.

The levees would be comprised of earth, Blum said, with a clay material that makes them impenetrable. The flood walls, made of concrete, will fit into tight spaces where the levees can't be installed, he said.

The project would also include a storm surge barrier north of the Veterans Memorial Bridge in combination with the levees and flood walls that would be installed in the lower areas.

According to the corps summary, the total cost for the hurricane and storm damage reduction project is $62.5 million. Another $50.5 million will be spent on ecosystem restoration of the South River in order to avoid or minimize environmental impact, the summary states.

Almost half of the 1,278 acres along the Old South River and the Washington Canal are comprised of "common reeds," the corps summary states. The goal of the corps is to improve the available habitat by converting some of the area into "wetland scrub-shrub and salt marsh."

According to the corps study, the "restoration plans will add large areas of more desirable wetland communities and increase the study area's biodiversity."

These projects will be paid for by the state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) and by the federal government. The DEP will absorb 35 percent of the cost, while the federal government will cover 65 percent.

U.S. Congressman Frank Pallone Jr. (D-6), who called for the study to begin after the 1993 storms, said that he is proud of the agency's effort to produce solutions and provide a restoration plan.

"This project will not only protect local homes and businesses from flooding from the South River, but will improve the environment in the affected area. It is for these reasons I support this proposal and will work to ensure the necessary federal funds are made available to complete this project," Pallone said.

VERONICA YANKOWSKI

Betty and Salvatore Scavone recently retired from their business of 27 years, Sayreville Bridge Liquors, located on Washington Road.

being, she said.

Scavone said she believes that, while the borough has expanded, the traditions of Sayreville seep through all the changes that are made and offer a small-town feeling that many people are looking for. She said that the borough is still chosen as a place for people to move to because of this atmosphere.

"It's still a small-town feeling, but we're a big town now," she said.

The tradition of Sayreville Bridge Liquors will remain with the new owners, another husband-and-wife team, she said. The new owners asked the Scavones if they could keep the name since it is one that all residents, including those from other communities, recognize.

Betty Scavone said that she and her husband don't have any definite plans yet for their retirement. However, they do intend to travel and spend time with their family.

Although she said she knows some friendships they have made through their business will fade, she believes many will carry on despite their retirement from the business.

"I think it's good for everyone," she said about the retirement.

Salk takes highest honors at festival in Pennsylvania

OLD BRIDGE — The Jonas Salk Middle School Band and Select Chorus took home first- and second-place trophies in the May 31 Festival in the Parks competition in Hershey, Pa.

Eighty-eight Salk students in grades six through eight performed against middle schools from New York and other states.

Under the direction of Frank Batsch, the school's jazz and concert bands both took first-place trophies.

The jazz band played "Minnie the Moocher" and "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy," while the concert band performed "The Civil War" and "Invicta."

"These were complicated pieces of music that showcased our bands' capabilities," Batsch said. "They competed deftly against other middle schools. They sounded magnificent and judges recognized that effort."

Chris Hilfman directed the Select Chorus, made up of 44 male and female students, accompanied by Charles Mannino on the school's concert grand piano. Singing two judged pieces — "When You Believe," which featured the solo voice of Rebecca Cruz, and "Get Happy" — the chorus took second place.

"These children are ambassadors for public education and the arts," Hilfman said.

This was the third year Salk competed in the program. The school won first-place trophies in both 2000 and 2001.

The groups were able to attend the festival through parental contributions and aggressive fund raising.

"We at Salk are delighted that their hard work has paid off," Salk Principal Kenneth Popovich said. "We'll display their trophies proudly in our school.

SPOTLIGHT ON:
ALLERGIES

Michael B. Sherman, M.D.
Board Certified, Pediatric and Adult Allergy, Asthma, and Immunology

SAFE IMMUNOTHERAPY

Immunotherapy offers patients effective and safe relief from the symptoms of asthma, hay fever, and insect venom allergy. While side effects are rare, some patients do experience mild reactions. In extremely rare instances, potentially fatal anaphylactic episodes may occur. To ensure patients receive the safest immunotherapy treatment, only a specially trained allergist, immunologist, or doctor should prescribe and administer allergy shots. Patients should be considered good candidates for immunotherapy and should always be asked about current medications prior to an immunotherapy treatment. Acutely ill patients should not receive shots until the have recuperated. Immunotherapy should be administered in facilities that are properly equipped to handle adverse reactions, and patients should remain at the facility for 20 minutes following a procedure.

Today's allergists prescribe a variety of different treatments depending on the patient's lifestyle and personal needs. For personalized assistance in controlling your allergies or asthma, call us at ALLERGY & ASTHMA CENTER, P.C. We are located in Hazlet at 1 Bethany Rd., Bldg. 2, Ste. 27. The phone number there is (732) 739-8787. We also have a location in Marlboro at 22 North Main St. (Route 79), and the phone number there is (732) 303-8787. We accept most medical insurance policies here and would be happy to help you process any and all insurance forms in our office.

P.S. Ask your allergist whether immunotherapy is a viable treatment option for your symptoms.

Resident accused of sexual assault

SOUTH RIVER — Police arrested a borough resident on charges of sexual assault and endangering the welfare of a child Sunday at Krauszer's on Main Street.

According to Barbara Stolte of the Middlesex County Prosecutor's Office, Kausik Nath, 25, was working at the convenience store Sunday when a 10-year-old boy entered the premises. The boy reportedly told authorities that while he was getting a soda, Nath approached him and kissed him on the cheek. The suspect then allegedly proceeded to rub against the boy's back while holding his arms, Stolte said.

The child then ran out of the store, and his mother later notified the police of the allegations.

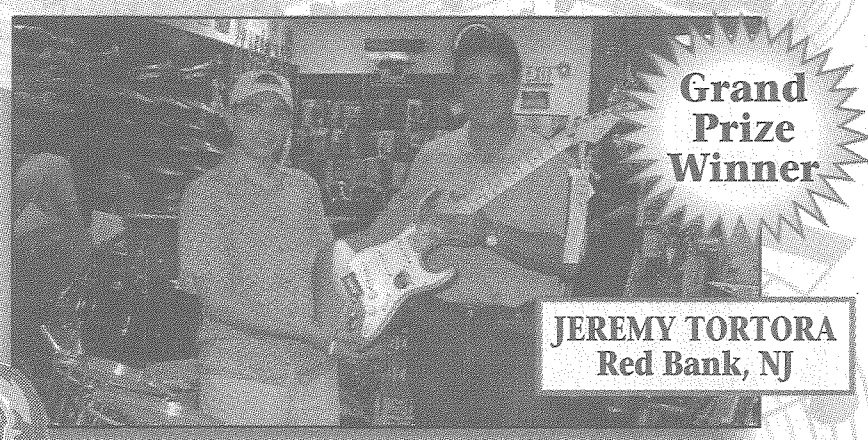

Nath, who resides on Main Street, was apprehended by police 11 a.m. Sunday, and transported to the Middlesex County Adult Correction Center, North Brunswick, in lieu of $75,000 bail. As of Monday, Nath had not posted bail and was still being held.

A conviction on a sexual assault charge in the second degree could result in a sentence of five to 10 years in prison, Stolte said. The third degree charge of endangering the welfare of a child could lead to three to five years, she said.

Lancers end historic season with Parochial A title

St. John Vianney girls knock off state's top-ranked team

BY WARREN RAPPLEYEA
Staff Writer

Winning has long been a trademark of the St. John Vianney High School softball team, Holmdel, but this year the Lancers outdid themselves.

With a 1-0 triumph over No. 1 Immaculate Heart of Westwood Saturday for the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association Parochial A title, the Lancers became the first Shore Conference softball team to win division (A North), county (Monmouth), conference, sectional and state championships in the same campaign. The win was Vianney's 15th in a row and a team record 28th on the year. It also assured them the state's top ranking at season's end. Not bad for a team that began the year ranked 16th in the state and was not favored to win its division.

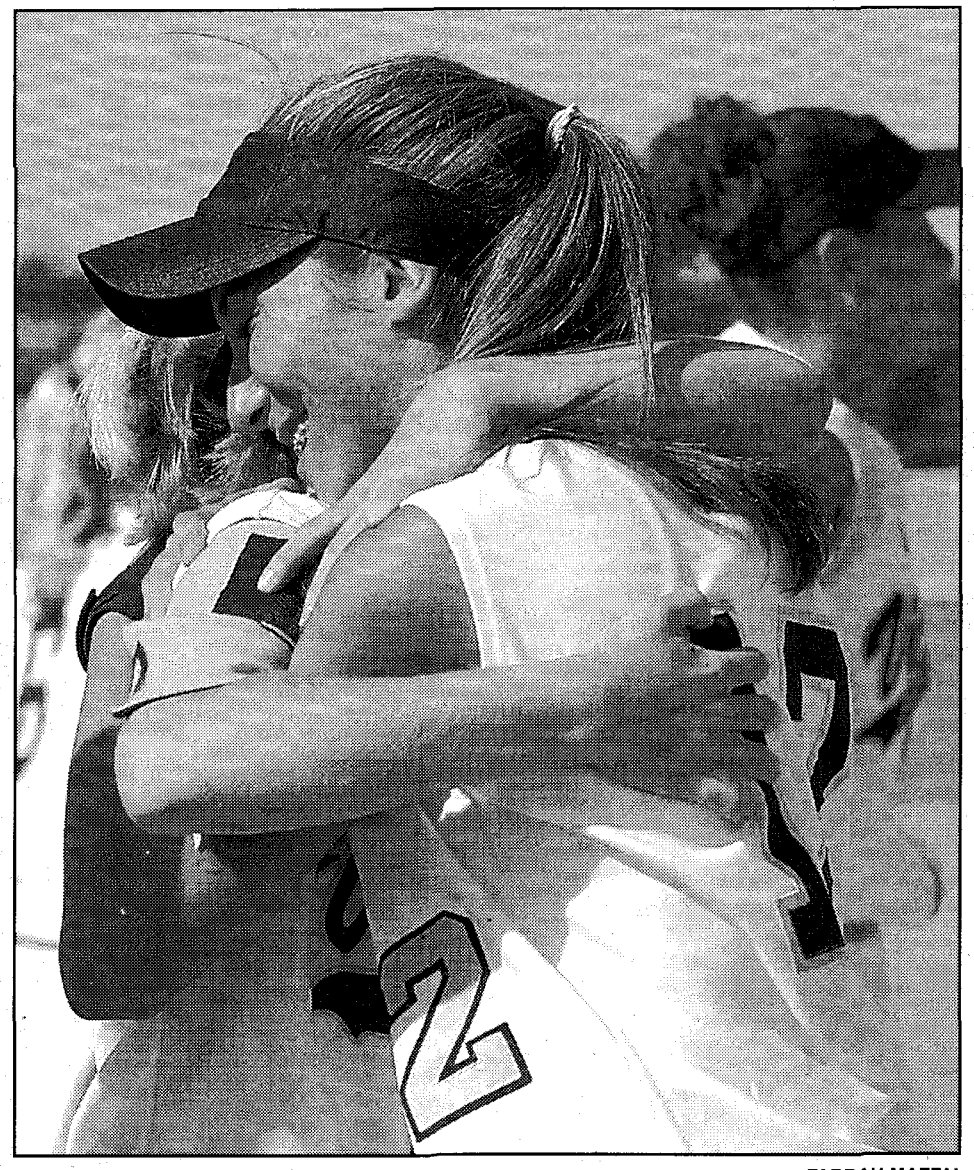

"If you had an all-star team of players from around the state you still couldn't expect to do this," Vianney coach Aado Kommendant said. "It's an incredible accomplishment for our girls to do something that's never been done before."

Senior pitcher Jackie Adelfio was outstanding on the mound in her final varsity game. She weathered jams in first and fifth innings to help the Lancers overcome the previously undefeated Blue Eagles. Adelfio, who struck out 11, also drove home Jessica Vreeland with the game's only run on a fourth-inning single.

St. John Vianney's Jennifer Trace (r) hugs teammate Lauren Taub following the Lancers' 1-0 win over top-ranked Immaculate Heart Academy, Westwood, in the Parochial A championship game at Toms River North High School Saturday.

"I went to the mound in the first inning, and Jackie told me 'it's not fun if we don't make it interesting,' " Kommendant said. "When I went back in the fifth I told them the same thing."

The Blue Eagles had a runner on third base with just one out in the fifth, but Adelfio struck out the next two batters to end the inning.

The win came on the heels of Vianney's 4-0 victory over Point Pleasant Borough in the finals of the Shore Conference Tournament June 5. A four-run third inning, highlighted by Jennifer Trace's RBI single was all Adelfio needed.

The day before, Vianney defeated rival Red Bank Catholic in a 3-2 nail-biter in the Parochial A sectional championship game. Adelfio was sterling throughout, at one time retiring 12 straight hitters and striking out 14 for the game.

"I've never seen a pitcher like Jackie [Adelfio] and I don't know that we will again," Kommendant said. "She was outstanding in every way."

Adelfio was 23-3 overall with an 0.33 ERA. In 167.1 innings she struck out 263 batters and only walked 14. At the plate she hit .360 with 19 RBIs.

The Lancers' other senior starter, shortstop Suzanne Gorczynski, batted .363 with 19 RBIs and 22 runs scored. In addition, versatile reserve Kelly Foglia will graduate.

The bulk of Kommendant's team will return. They include first baseman Candice Ruffler, a .267 hitter who drove home 10 runs; Trace, the second baseman who hit .274 and scored 14 times; and DH Lauren Taub, a .320 hitter who only played 11 games due to a shoulder injury. All three are juniors.

Vreeland, the right fielder, hit .294 and tied Gorczynski for the team lead in runs with 22, and fellow sophomore Tina Philburn, who batted .280.

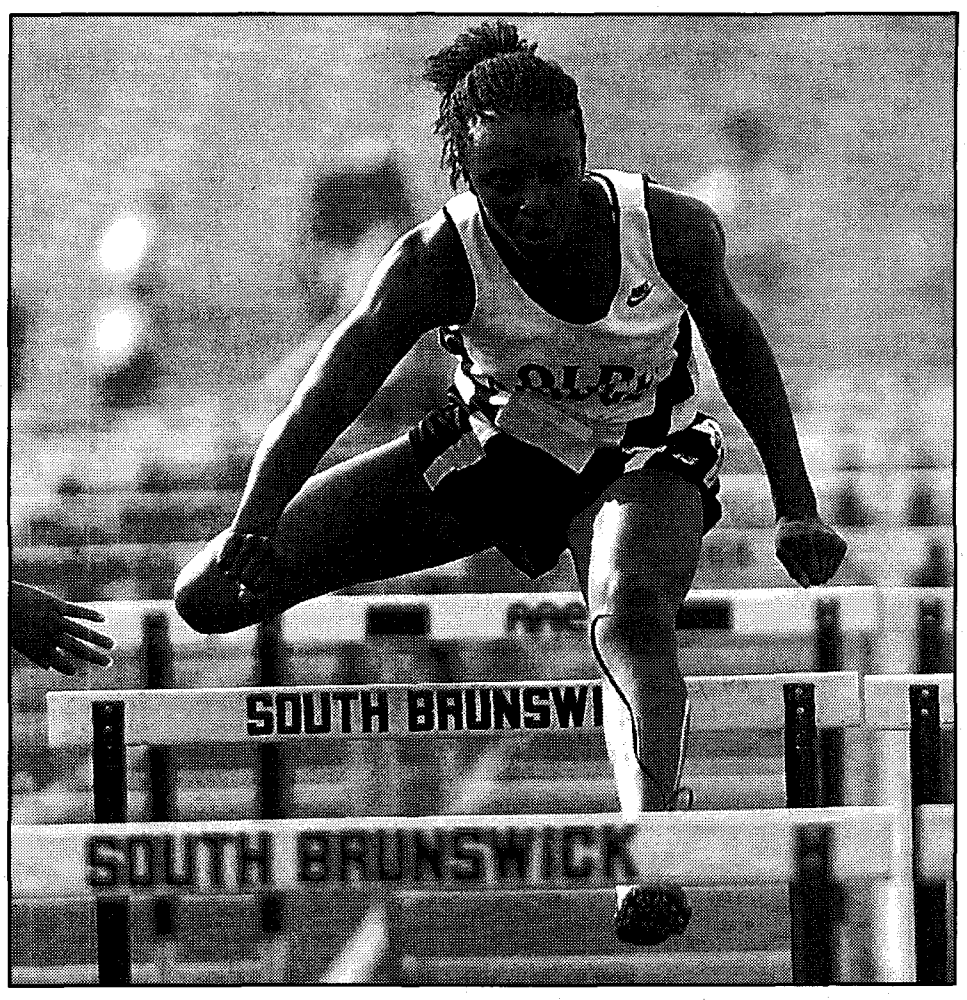

Three freshmen also played key roles this year. Third baseman Tricia Riengle led the team in batting with a .415 mark and also topped the Lancers with 27 RBIs. Lauren Incorvai, the catcher, batted .325 with 20 RBIs, and showed a good eye by drawing 13 walks. Center fielder Kacie Galbraith proved an excellent defensive player and hit .316.

Sophomore Christina Lenn and freshmen Stephanie Kinnick, Jaime Topino and Katie Ziola also saw some action for the Lancers during the season.

"I call this team the 'get-along gang,' " Kommendant said. "I've always had teams that worked well together, but I've never had one where everyone got along so well. Their team unity is tremendous. That's why they accomplished what they did."

VERONICA YANKOWSKI
Old Bridge's Kim Henry competes in 100 hurdles at the Meet of Champions at South Brunswick High School on June 5. Henry took second in the event.

Henry, Maguire among the top finishers at MOC

BY DOUG McKENZIE
Staff Writer

A pair of familiar faces were among the top performers at the Meet of Champions at South Brunswick High School June 5.

Anyone who has followed the season of the Old Bridge girls' track team can tell you what an instrumental part senior Kim Henry has played in their success. Her excellence in a handful of events helped lead the Knights to a dominant campaign, maintaining their stranglehold on the Greater Middlesex Conference's top spot along the way.

But Henry only competed in a pair of events June 5 in hopes of taking home an individual state championship.

Her day began in the long jump, where she expected to compete for the best distance of the day. When she was through, she'd traveled 17-1 1/2, good enough for eighth place in the event. Phillipsburg's Kelsi Russell won the event, jumping 19-0 1/2.

Though not exactly ecstatic about her eighth-place finish, Henry had her eyes set on her next event, the 100-meter hurdles, where she was among the favorites. Her seed time of 14.07 was just ahead of Mount St. Mary's Allison Nesbitt, who had a 14.4 seed time.

After her heat race, where Henry cruised at the end, wanting only to qualify, she seemed poised to earn her title.

"I'm right were I want to be," she said. "I wasn't trying to win; I just wanted to advance and be ready for the final."

Once that final came, Henry and Nesbitt were neck and neck coming to the line, with Nesbitt edging out the victory, 14.32-14.56.

Following the race, Henry, smiling as always, wasn't sure what to blame the loss on.

"I'm a little disappointed, because I thought I'd run better than a 14.3," she said. "I've run a 13.8 and was hoping for something like that today.

"I can't blame it on anything like the weather or anything, because everyone had to compete in the same conditions. I guess I just peaked too soon this year. I ran my best time last week."

Henry, gracious in defeat, did add that just competing at the MOC was rewarding in its own right, a sentiment shared by Monroe's Ashley Maguire.

Maguire, a junior who has established herself as the GMC's top 800 runner, came into the final as one of the favorites. She was seeded second, behind defending MOC-champ Amanda Trotter of Red Bank Regional, and was looking to have a solid showing in this highly competitive race.

In the end, it was Glen Rock's Kim Mineo stealing the show, edging past Trotter in the final few meters to win in 2:12.21.

As for Maguire, she used her trademark late surge around the final turn to secure a fourth place finish in 2:13.88, tying the Middlesex County record held by Highland Park's Judy Ruff.

Following the race, Maguire was pleased with her fourth-place finish.

"I'm happy with it, although I was seeded second," she said. "I ran my hardest, and ran a good time.

"This meet is the greatest," she added. "You see all the people you want to be like, and you're running with them. It's so gratifying just to be able to compete here."

With another year at Monroe, Maguire hopes to get another chance to compete at the MOC next year, where she will likely see many of the same faces. Among the top 10 seeds in this year's 800, only Red Bank's Katie Kingsbery is graduating. And among the top six finishers, none were seniors.

Old Bridge's Tim Paule also had a good showing at the MOC, taking sixth in the 800 in 1:56.19.

Meanwhile, in the wheelchair events, Old Bridge's Jaclyn Daya took third in the 400 (1:07.97) and the 1,600 (5:01.34).

Hovnanian is the contract purchaser of undeveloped portions of a development known as Oakwoode at Madison situated within Old Bridge Township generally located on Trans Old Bridge Road, Spring Valley Road and a proposed Point of Wood Drive. ("Property"). The owner of the property which is the subject of the litigation was Lennar Northeast V, L.P., however, Lennar has conveyed and transferred all of its rights, title and interests to or in the Property to K-Land No. 56, L.L.C.

K. Hovnanian filed an Action in Lieu of Prerogative Writ against the Township of Old Bridge and the Planning Board, which, among other things, challenged the Planning Board=s denial and processing of Hovnanian=s previous applications seeking approval of an Amended General Development Plan; preliminary and final subdivision and preliminary and final site plan (APrior Applications@). K. Hovnanian=s Prior Applications sought approval to build a total of 425 homes (including 22 Affordable Housing Units pursuant to the New Jersey Fair Housing Act) which would have reduced the total homes within this development from the current GDP approval of 1,738 to 821 homes. Old Bridge Township has denied the allegations in the complaint. Old Bridge also has filed its own counter action against both K. Hovnanian and the owner of the property by which Old Bridge is challenging the approval and development rights under the current General Development Plan approval.

The Superior Court of New Jersey immediately directed all parties to enter into mediation in order to attempt to resolve the issues in the above-captioned matter. As a result of the mediation process, the various parties have mutually recognized the likely expense and length of continued proceedings through trial and appeals. The parties have taken into account the risk and expenses of continued litigation of the claims; considered the general risk associated with complex actions such as this, and evaluated the possible impact of ongoing litigation upon them and upon the ability of the respective parties in the litigation to obtain any recovery from one another. The parties have entered into a Conditional Stipulation of Settlement and are currently examining the possibility of settling and resolving the above litigation.

The purpose of the subject Court hearing is to enable the Court to review the potential settlement terms and give opportunity for interested persons to comment upon and about the potential settlement after which, the Court will render its decision as to whether to approve the settlement.

Approval of the Conditional Stipulation of Settlement by the Superior Court would obligate K. Hovnanian to provide Affordable Housing Units on property known as Oakwoode at Madison, sufficient in number to fulfill and satisfy the current fair share obligation of Old Bridge Township pursuant to its present Substantive Certification granted by the Council on Affordable Housing.

In the present lawsuit, K. Hovnanian claims that as a site contained in the approved 1997 Old Bridge fair share plan and C.O.A.H. resolution, the Oakwoode at Madison property was, is and continues to be entitled to all protections, rights, accommodations and treatment as a Mount Laurel site selected by Old Bridge Township and approved by C.O.A.H. and which was an integral basis upon which Old Bridge received substantive certification.

There was earlier litigation against Old Bridge pertaining to this subject property and development which resulted in a prior Settlement Agreement between and among Old Bridge, K. Hovnanian=s predecessors, the Urban League of Greater New Brunswick, and others. As a result of that earlier litigation, a Settlement Agreement was reached and approved by Resolution adopted on May 23, 1977 by Township Council (at that time, Old Bridge was known as Madison Township but since changed its name to Old Bridge). The case was ultimately decided by the New Jersey Supreme Court in Oakwoode at Madison, Inc. v. Madison Tp., 72 N.J. 481(1977). The proposed settlement contained in the Conditional Stipulation of Settlement will be an amendment to the Settlement entered in this previous litigation.

There is zoning in place for 228 Affordable Housing Units on the Property which have not yet been built. Pursuant to the current Substantive Certification received by Old Bridge, it is projected that Old Bridge has a surplus of 229 Affordable Housing Units.

The parties have agreed to settle the case upon the following terms, among others contained in the Conditional Stipulation:

1. K. Hovnanian has submitted applications for a development plan that cannot exceed 386 new residential homes, with a minimum of 200 single-family homes, and maximum of 186 multifamily homes. Included within the 386 homes are 38 Affordable Housing units that must satisfy all requirements of C.O.A.H. so as to allow Old Bridge Township to receive at least 38 credits towards its present fair share affordable housing obligation.

2. Old Bridge Township, if the Settlement is approved by the Court, will thereafter amend its Fair Share Plan to reflect the change in its inclusionary zoning reduction for Oakwoode at Old Bridge from 228 to 38 and file same with C.O.A.H.

3. The full text of the proposed agreement including a map of the designated site may be examined and copied during regular business hours at the Old Bridge Township clerk=s office, or by appointment at the offices of any of the following attorneys:

So powerful are you in obtaining every need of body and soul, our Holy Mother Church proclaims you a "prodigy of miracles, the greatest Saint of modern times." Now I fervently beseech you to answer my petition (mention here) and carry out your promise of doing good upon earth of letting fall from heaven a shower of roses, henceforth, Dear Little Flower, I will fulfill your plea to be made known everywhere and I will never cease to lead others to Jesus through you. Amen.

PRAYER TO ST. JUDE
Oh Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near Kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return, I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. Say three Our Fathers, three Hail Marys and Glorias. Publication must be promised. St. Jude pray for us all who invoke your aid. Amen. This Novena has never been known to fail. This Novena must be said for nine consecutive days. Thanks.

PRAYER TO THE BLESSED VIRGIN
(Never known to fail). O most Beautiful Flower of Mt. Carmel, Fruitful Vine, Splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God. Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. Oh Star of the Sea, help me, and show me herein You are my Mother. Oh Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech You from the bottom of my heart to succor me in my necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand Your power. O Mary conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to Thee (3 times). Holy Mary, I place this cause in your hands (3 times). Say this prayer for three consecutive days. You must publish it, and it will be granted to You.

UNFAILING PRAYER TO ST. ANTHONY
Holy St. Anthony gentlest of saints, your love for God and charity for his creatures made you worthy when on earth to possess miraculous powers. Miracles waited on your word which you were ever ready to speak for those in trouble or anxiety. Encouraged by this thought, I implore to obtain for me (request). The answer to my prayer may require a miracle, even so, you are the saint of miracles. Oh gentle and loving St. Anthony, whose heart was ever full of human sympathy, whisper my petition into the ears of the sweet infant Jesus, who loved to be folded in your arms; and the gratitude of my heart will be yours.

Creating a pleasingly personal wedding

Frank Sinatra's theme song, "I Did It My Way," could be the background music for many weddings this season.

More couples are expected to depart from tradition to create weddings shaped by their own individuality.

This trend may be expressed in simple individualized gestures such as handmade wedding invitations or wedding favors that express a favorite pastime.

Bridal bouquet styles are changing, with a move toward more natural garden bouquets.

Or some couples may plan theme weddings, with wedding attire, flowers, linens, invitations, food, entertainment and favors coordinated to carry out a specific theme.

The motif may be based on a special interest or a piece of personal history. It may express an ethnic or historical orientation, such as a Renaissance wedding.

In New York, a bride and groom memorialized their first meeting in an Asian restaurant with an Asian-themed wedding, complete with Asian buffet.

A California wedding featured a "pirate" theme. The bride wore a red brocade wench-style gown and carried a royal scepter of dark red roses.

Fresh flowers remain at the heart of the event. According to Florist magazine, the flowers are the second most important wedding element, after the bride's gown, and they consume about 10 percent of the wedding budget. Flowers can help establish a theme, such as sunflowers for a Western wedding, or evoke a mood, such as orchids and lilies for a tropical ambiance. The pirate wedding featured centerpieces of treasure chests overflowing with exotic flowers.

While the tradition of the white wedding gown will not see much change this season, the bride's bouquet is evolving into a more colorful complement.

Bouquets of cream, blush and champagne are still a strong preference, but some brides are requesting bouquets of rich color, such as red roses, or bouquets with variations of one color.

Tones of pink, from pale to deep rose, golden yellow and hydrangea green are favorite choices this year, says Christopher Norwood, a floral designer in Little Rock, Ark.

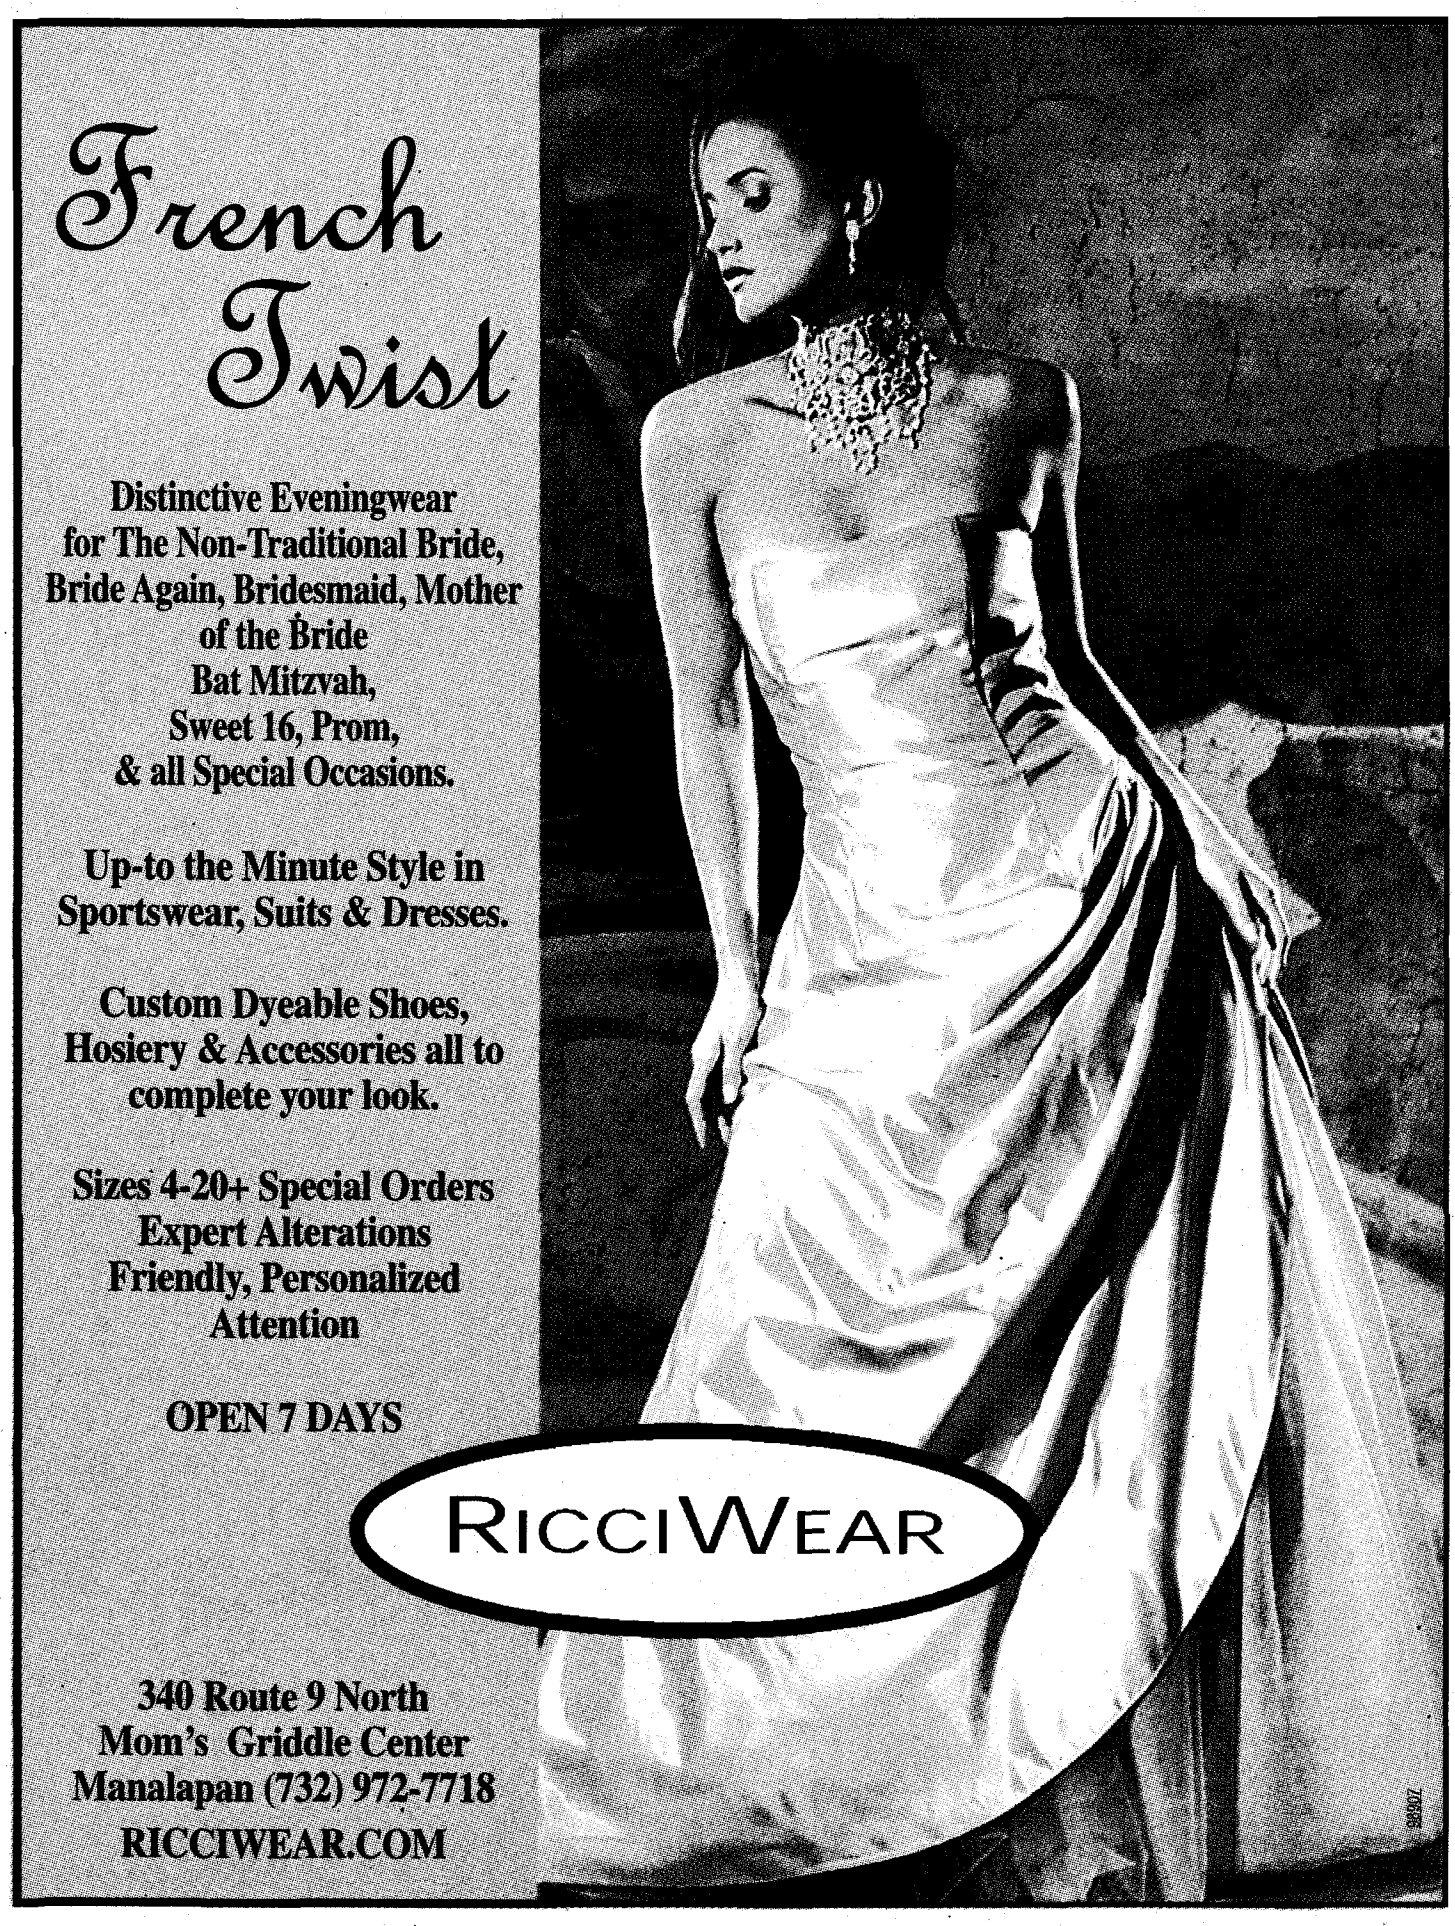

The favorite flower choice continues to be roses-spray roses, garden roses and unique varieties. In California, commercial rose growers have developed a vast assortment of "boutique" roses with a wealth of choices among color, flower form and even fragrances to help brides come closer to the bouquet of their dreams.

Bouquet style is also changing. There is a move away from tight clumps of flowers toward looser, more natural, garden bouquets with a mixture of colors and types of flowers.

California-grown specialty flowers such as sweet peas, stock, freesia, lisianthus, and delphinium, along with fresh herbs and wispy grasses, enhance this look.

Bouvardia, snapdragon, astilbe and gerbera are choices that add bright color.

Today's weddings are limited only by the imagination. For more information on your dream flowers, visit the California Cut Flower Commission's Web site at www.ccfc.org. You can also write to the CCFC and request its free "Easy Steps to Flower Arranging" brochure. Simply send an SASE to Easy Steps, CCFC, 73 Hangar Way, Watsonville, CA 95076.

Precious jewelry leaves everlasting memories

The wedding day is one of the most memorable of a couple's life together. Tales of their meeting, their engagement, the planning of their wedding and the actual day are told to their children and passed down through generations. The bride's jewelry, starting with her engagement ring, is as much a part of the wedding tradition as the ensuing oral history. Jewelry made from precious metals and precious gemstones are heirlooms, tangible reminders of the love behind the vows.

Long before the march down the aisle, fine jewelry enters the picture in the shape of the diamond engagement ring. Recently, more and more women are becoming involved in the process of selecting an engagement ring, and they're able to offer their soon-to-be fiancés well-thought out opinions. One Web site, www.adiamondisforever.com, addresses both the knowledge and aesthetic sensibility involved in choosing an engagement ring. Not only does the site have a comprehensive guide to the "four C's" — cut, color, clarity, and carat — it also contains an interactive "Design Your Own Engagement Ring" program, which allows couples to create their ideal engagement ring.

Elizabeth Florence, executive director of the Jewelry Information Center (JIC), a nonprofit trade association based in New York City, urges potential diamond buyers to add a fifth C to their list of requirements — confidence in one's jeweler. "Shopping at a jeweler who is a member of a professional trade association, like Jewelers of America (JA), assures couples that their jeweler maintains high ethical standards and is provided with ongoing education."

On her big day, a bride wants everything to be perfect. Nothing enhances the natural glow of a bride like the luster of cultured pearls. "Beautiful cultured pearl jewelry is available in a variety of styles and prices," notes Florence. "From delicate freshwater to pearls from the South Seas, stunning in size and luster, pearls never go out of style and can be worn by the bride for years and years to come." The more traditional bride may opt for a cultured pearl choker or an elegant triple-strand collar, and a more modern type may decide on a pearl drop pendant dangling on a delicate platinum or gold chain. Cultured pearl studs are a classic way to add a subtle touch to a bride's look, while more daring, shoulder-sweeping drop earrings present a bolder expression of individuality.

The luster of fine jewelry enhances a bride's natural radiance, and can be passed down through generations as a lasting memento of love.

Fine jewelry continues to play an important role even after the bride's attire has been established. Colored gemstones can be a great way to complement the bridesmaids' dresses and can serve as a thank you for participating in this special day. Some colored gemstones, like blue topaz and amethyst, are accessibly priced so brides won't break their budgets with these thoughtful gifts. A pendant or a gold locket with an inscription of the date of the wedding is an instant heirloom that any bridesmaid will cherish, and inscribed gold cufflinks or watches will help the groomsmen look dapper on the day of the wedding and for years to come.

Memories of one's wedding last for years. With fine jewelry, even after the dress is put away and the guests have all gone home, there will be a precious reminder of the brilliance of the special day. A piece of fine jewelry worn on one's wedding day can emerge from the photo albums and videos to be worn and cherished for generations to come.

Marriage, family values are new 'trend' in uncertain times

Let's face it: The world changed on Sept. 11. Yet despite the uncertain present and a future full of unknowns, it seems that the eternal optimism and family values of this country remain strongly rooted. In fact, they seem to be blooming.

"In times of stress and crises, people often draw closer to one another for comfort and consolation," says Nick Stinnett, professor of marriage and family studies at the University of Alabama. Emotions tend to run higher and are felt more strongly during a tragedy. Most people tend to develop a heightened awareness of the importance of family, friends and others for whom they feel these powerful emotions.

It's natural to want to get back to the basics after our foundations have been shaken. Perhaps, unfortunate as those events were, they were a wake-up call to get people to re-evaluate what is most important and what they want most in life. And perhaps that's why reports are showing that the majority of people are waking up to the most basic of all priorities: life, family and home.

Since Sept. 11, dating services across the country have reported marked increases in business. Studies conducted by Global Strategy Group Inc. of New York tell that upward of 46 percent of singles in that city alone are now more interested in serious love relationships.

And you know what they say — first comes love, then comes ...

"Marriage," says Nicole Carlson, spokeswoman for Wedding.Orders.com, an online wedding planning, shopping and referral site. "Our site has seen such an increase in traffic and orders of wedding invitations and accessories, it's become very clear that more people are planning and celebrating weddings in full force."

She's right, according to other well-known names in the bridal business. "Engagements in America have shot up enormously," says Gary Ralfe, managing director of De Beers jewelers, the world's largest diamond company, pointing to the increase in diamond engagement ring sales. Chet Hazzard, president of Vera Wang bridal fashions, has also proclaimed that business has been booming in recent months as brides and their attendants purchase gowns and dresses. Other research validates that couples are indeed very serious about getting married — in fact, more marriage licenses are being issued across the country than last year at this time.

As back-to-basics as this trend may seem, America is the land of innovation, and there's a new twist to today's definition of tradition. "While we're seeing brides asking questions about how to incorporate family and traditions into their weddings, and then ordering the products that help them do this, they're definitely not talking about going back to the way things were," Carlson says of brides ordering from Wedding.Orders.com. "In fact, we're seeing them creating new ways of doing things, with great importance placed upon individuality, diversity and personal flair."

It is this search for ways to plan personal, intimate and unique celebrations that Carlson says is the current trend, and it shows no sign of changing. "Couples are constantly redefining weddings. They seem to place more importance on their wedding being a celebration of individual love than on fussiness, formalities or old-fashioned, outdated etiquette. They are celebrating who they are, right now."

Couples are also changing the way they go about planning weddings. In a word, they want convenience: Carlson says they're trying to balance creating a beautiful, personal celebration and dealing with the stresses of living and operating in a very modern world. Demanding careers, far-flung families, budget constraints and generally busy schedules can make wedding planning seem overwhelming.

"I think that's why a huge percentage of our orders are being placed online, more than ever before," she says. "A site like Wedding.Orders.com can give busy couples everything they need, all in one location. We have done all the legwork and have gathered together a base of established, respected companies they can link to immediately. They can request free catalogs, find lots of information and planning advice, shop for invitations and accessories, make price comparisons and actually place their order in significantly less time than it would take to find a reputable dealer and visit dozens of stores."

It does indeed seem that there is a trend emerging. While part of it deals with a return to the traditions and values themselves, it is also evident in the way we go about incorporating them into our modern way of life. "People want the same feelings and comforts they got from the old way of doing things and they're finding new, wonderful ways to build these into their lives," says Carlson.

And, it seems, into their life-affirming celebrations.

It's time to celebrate — hints for party planning

There are many milestones in life that are deserving of a celebration. But parties require much planning. There are many things to take into consideration, some of which you may not have even thought of.

• When choosing a party site, consider whether the facility is large enough to accommodate your guest list. If you'll have dancing, is there room for a dance floor?

• Get everything in writing. Will the reception site provide linens, table skirting, microphone and/or microphone hookups, dance floor, table centerpieces, etc.?

• Menu for your affair can be as simple as cake and punch or as elaborate as a formal dinner. You also have the choice of offering an hors d'oeuvres or buffet reception. All options depend on the degree of formality and your budget.

• Consider some of the following special touches that you may want to add to your party — an ice sculpture for your buffet table, a balloon arch for a dramatic entry, and personalized candy favors for your guests as momentos.

• Some of your guests may be health conscious. Try to offer some fresh, low-fat selections in addition to the richer fare. Choosing in-season foods will be easier on your budget.

To guide you along during the planning of your affair, here is a checklist for organizing your party:

HALLMARC PHOTOGRAPHERS

Attention to detail will assure an enjoyable, memorable affair.

- ❑ Reserve site.
- ❑ Sign agreement and pay deposit.
- ❑ Decide style, theme and decorations.
- ❑ Hire a caterer.
- ❑ Plan menu.
- ❑ Determine if alcohol will be served. If so, will it be open bar, limited bar or cash bar?
- ❑ Determine the sequence of events with your DJ, band, or master of ceremonies
- ❑ Determine seating arrangements.
- ❑ Order or make favors for guests.
- ❑ Give final guest count to reception site or caterer.

Newest bridal fashion trend — buying online

These days brides are using the Web for more than just planning their weddings; they are staying online to purchase their bridal gown, veil, bridesmaids' dresses, flower girl's dress, shoes, accessories and invitations. While this trend may surprise some, those in the know are not surprised at all.

Today's bride is Web savvy, having grown up in the world of video games and cyberspace. She and her fiancé are probably paying for most or all of their wedding costs — approximately 65 percent of engaged couples are. The bride, her parents and her bridesmaids are more likely than not living in different locations. It is no wonder that brides are shopping for and buying their wedding apparel online.

What should a bride know about purchasing online? Rachel Ambler, president of BrideSave.com, a full-service online bridal store, advises brides to demand the best from an online store. According to Ambler, the 10 requirements for a good online store are:

• Fast and friendly response. Great customer service starts with a great attitude. Fast and friendly responses to e-mails and telephone calls are a must. Your online store should offer personal consultations with trained bridal consultants. Only purchase from an online store that offers great customer service.

• Broad product selection. You should be able to choose from a variety of designers, styles and price ranges. Make sure that the online bridal store is an authorized dealer for the designers it sells.

• Online purchasing. While many bridal stores have Web sites, very few offer online purchasing. A good online store should offer you the convenience of online purchasing so you are able to purchase what you want when you want.

• An up-to-date, current Web site. An online store should update information on a daily basis, continuously adding new gowns and eliminating those that are discontinued.

• Easy searching. You should be able to easily find the item, style or designer you are looking for and have convenient access to different departments in the online store.

• Product information. A picture of the gown isn't enough. Your online bridal store should provide you with accurate product information like designers, size charts, and fabric and color charts that can help you make the right purchase.

• Guaranteed delivery time. Any bridal store should give you a guaranteed delivery time and should back that delivery date with a commitment.

• Shipping quality. You should require your online store to carefully inspect every item shipped. Sometimes there are imperfections in the gown, and a good online store will catch those imperfections and remedy the situation with the designer before it ships the gown to you.

• Clear return and cancellation policies. Your online store should clearly provide you information on its return and cancellation policies. Be sure to read those policies before you buy.

• No hidden charges. The price shown may not be the true price of the gown after you learn about hidden charges. Many online stores tell you about their added on charges for shipping, handling, insurance, etc. after you purchase. Confirm the total cost before you buy.

How do you find a great online bridal store? Ambler recommends that you talk to others who have shopped online for wedding apparel and visit popular online message boards like theknot.com and WeddingChannel.com to see what experiences other brides have had purchasing online. The books Bridal Bargains and Cyberbride by Allen and Denise Fields are also good resources for brides contemplating buying online. Also, visit BrideSave.com on the Internet.

Hallmarc Photographers help keep special memories alive

BY ANITA STRATOS
Correspondent

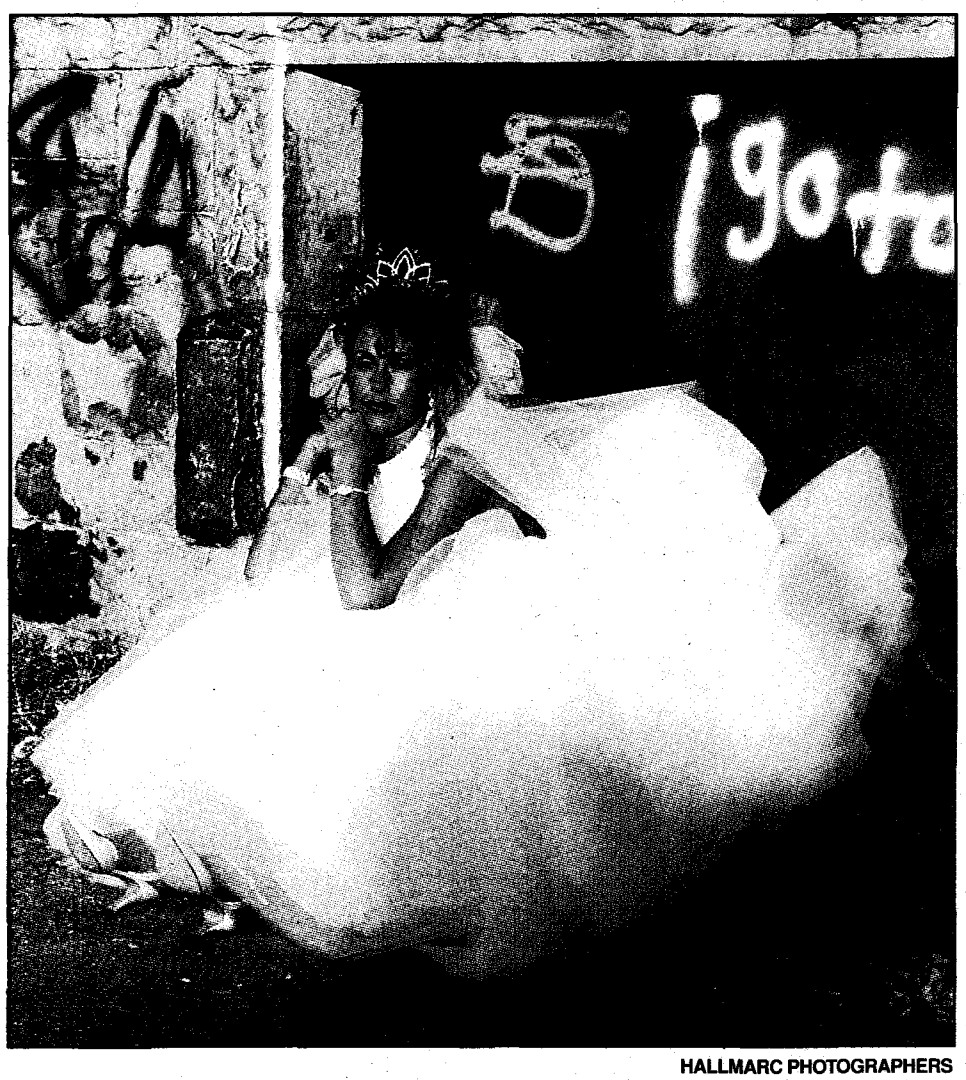

Your special day is finally here. You've planned and prepared right down to the last detail to make sure it's absolutely perfect. There's only one way to make those few fleeting hours last a lifetime, and that's with photography that captures more than just images. To keep the memories of the day alive, you need pictures that reflect the joys and ambiance of the entire event — that's the kind of creative photography you'll get from Hallmarc Photographers and Video in Manalapan.

When you schedule an initial consultation at Hallmarc, you'll meet with owner/director Lewis Marc, whose 30 years of professional experience in photography shows in his expert handling of every last detail. Marc begins by matching each client with the staff photographer/assistant team that is best suited for the particular event, assuring that nothing is overlooked. Marc never hires freelance photographers, and his staff of professional photographers and assistants are not only experts in their craft, but also in the social aspects of the specific affair. Besides their extensive experience and unique creativity, Marc's photographers always expect the unexpected and have been known to save the day on many occasions, whether it's lending their bow ties to family members who have forgotten theirs or simply knowing how to affix boutonnieres and corsages properly.

"Weddings, Bar/Bat Mitzvahs, or any other special occasions aren't storybook events — things happen," Marc said. "People can let it ruin their day or they can move through it. Our photographers put a positive perspective on these things; nothing will fluster them."

Hallmarc Photographers use studio backgrounds as infrequently as possible, preferring natural backgrounds for portraits such as beaches, parks, or other more unusual venues that make powerful statements. In addition to using places chosen by the couple or family, these photographers can also envision pairing the couple or family with seemingly unrelated settings. Recently, one Hallmarc photographer, en route with the bridal party to the wedding reception, did an impromptu shoot of the wedding party set against an abandoned warehouse. The beauty of the wedding party, juxtaposed with the moodiness of the deserted warehouse's unusual architecture, created a rare, unparalleled moment in time that the couple will cherish forever.

Marc's photographers prefer to interfere as little as possible during the course of the actual event. Wherever possible, as in the case of Bar/Bat Mitzvahs, they will take as many portraits as they can during the week prior to the celebration, thereby alleviating additional disruptions to the party and making sure the portraits are done properly. This type of consideration is just part of what puts Hallmarc a notch above the rest.

Many clients like to have a videographer as well as a photographer at their affair in order to record every special moment. Hallmarc's videographers and photographers work as a team to make sure that every angle is covered and that the focus of the day is the couple or the person, not the photographer or videographer.

Marc will only book as many parties as he has photographers on any given day, guaranteeing that no photographer has another engagement to rush off to. In addition, on the off chance that a photographer becomes ill and unable to attend an event, Marc himself is the backup photographer and will take his place. Clients can also feel confident that there are no hidden charges for "upgrades" once their photographs are finished; whatever price has been agreed upon prior to the event is the final charge. Upgrades are not necessary since Marc uses only the best albums, and "extras" have already been discussed and provided for.

HALLMARC PHOTOGRAPHERS

Hallmarc Photographers prefers to take portrait photographs for Bar/Bat Mitzvahs a week prior to the celebration so as not to take the subjects away from their party.

Hallmarc offers lots of different possibilities, including the latest in photographic chic — black and white pictures with color tinting. This technique allows for highly dramatized accents in the finished pictures. No matter what type of photography or special effect is used, Marc's photographers always make their subjects look like models.

Since Marc doesn't work with "packages" as many photographers do, each order is custom-tailored to the specific client's needs. Marc's flexibility also helps clients who need to work within a limited budget, sometimes offering hourly rates when the photographer doesn't need to stay for an entire event.

Hallmarc is the recommended photography studio for many local caterers including the Grand Marquis and Excelsior. When you're planning a Sweet 16, an anniversary party, graduation party, wedding, or any other event, think of the photographers who have been "indoctrinated in the Hallmarc way, where quality comes first." Hallmarc Photographers and Video is located in Towne Pointe shopping center at 357 Route 9 south in Manalapan; call them at (732) 972-8008 and visit the Web site at www.hallmarc.com.

Only the best on your big day with Flowers by Mininsohn

BY CLARE MARIE CELANO
Staff Writer

Paying attention to detail may very well make the difference between a nice wedding and a spectacular one, and if you entrust your wedding flowers to Pearl Mininsohn of Flowers by Mininsohn, spectacular is what you'll get.

After all, President Lyndon Johnson's daughter Lucy did.

A series of events led Mininsohn to offer her talents and design expertise to the White House florist staff in 1966 for the presidential wedding.

They said yes and subsequently, Mininsohn was later invited back to the White House during the Ford and Nixon administrations to assist the White House florist staff with Christmas décor.

The owner of the florist business, located in Lakewood, said she's a stickler for detail, and at least seven or eight books full of photos and several design boards displaying her work show the results of that effort.

Mininsohn has been in the floral business for 43 years, 28 of those years being spent in the Lakewood location. She said she began her floral designing career in a small building, also in Lakewood. Her business has grown so much and consequently now occupies a 3,500-square-foot building.

In her own words, the owner and operator of the business good naturedly remarked, "I've come a long way baby."

And indeed she has.

Samples of her floral designs for weddings and other social occasions sit on shelves around the shop. Fresh flowers in varied arrangements, potted greenery, and freshly designed garden patio plantings are also in plentiful supply.

There are numerous area florists who can probably fill your request for any number of occasions, but they would have a tough time competing with Mininsohn's protocol and policy on flower arrangements for weddings.

In fact, people who are familiar with her floral designs and her reputation have booked weddings three years in advance.

"The public is our most important product," Mininsohn said. "Whether they are buying a single flower or booking a wedding, each customer is considered special. They are all our most important asset."

Mininsohn said that she may spend a little more on buying her flowers but the results are "petal perfect" blossoms. She said she refuses to cut corners.

"We don't buy flowers from the city anymore," she said. Instead, she has her flowers delivered by more local suppliers, some on a daily basis. They arrive fresh and she and her staff keep them that way.

"If they are not perfect," she explained, "back they go." The florist said she won't accept any flowers that are not up to her standards, and if they happen to be wilting the next day, they find themselves on a truck back to wherever they came from.

"Everything I buy is scrutinized mercilessly," Mininsohn commented. "I put too much money into labor to create what we do here to waste it on flowers that aren't the best."

Her scrutiny and attention to detailed perfection carries throughout all her work. Designing flowers for a wedding is a perfect example. When you are planning a wedding, Mininsohn will sit with you for approximately an hour and a half. With a detailed form, she will discuss and record everything about the wedding, from the color of your gown and your attendants' gowns, including the fabrics, the design and the decorative accents on the gowns, to the size and stature of each member of the wedding party.

Mininsohn not only records every minute detail, she sketches the bride's gown and the attendants' as well in pencil, paying attention to beading placement, any appliqués, or any other unusual details on the gowns.

Why? Perfection, balance and symmetry. A bride needs a bouquet that will flatter her based on her size and stature as well as the design of her dress. The same goes for her attendants.

"A girl who is 5 feet 2 inches will need a bouquet in a size coordinated to her size and stature. You don't give a girl who is very tall the same style bouquet as one who is tiny and petite. It just doesn't work," she said. She also requires swatches of each gown. She doesn't take any chances with color mismatch.

"Your eyes play tricks on you," she said. "I'm a stickler for color coordination and a swatch is critical to that coordination." She explained that there are so many variances in color shades and she wants every bride to be completely satisfied and happy with her flower designs.

Price and location are not problems for the florist. She said she will accommodate any price range, and has traveled as far as Newark and southern New Jersey, as well as Washington, DC., to present her artistic flower designs.

Mininsohn florists will make your wedding flowers traditional, trendy, or anything in between. You give her your color scheme and your choice of flowers, explain what you'd like, and your ideas will eventually find themselves recreated in flowers by the artistry and craftsmanship of Mininsohn and her staff. She employs the use of flowers as a painter would use a palette and brush and the results are custom-crafted splendor.

Many brides continue to choose traditional flowers such as white lilies, white roses, white deodrobium as well as stephanotis as a background for the bouquet, but others, according to the florist, are choosing a more trendy look by adding some color to their traditionally white bouquets.

"More and more, we see brides today adding some color to their own bouquets," she said. "Often, after everything is over you find that a little touch of color brings everything to life."

Mininsohn also explained that wildflowers are a popular choice for brides in the summer, although many of those blossoms are now available all year long. With Hawaii, South America, California and tropical imports, there is seldom a need to wait for these flowers.

If you want to create flowers to coordinate with your drapes or any other accessory in your home, Mininsohn can create flower arrangements to your specifications. Her painting skills really come into play when you view, in one of many books, some of the designs she's created for special occasions. The album is filled with floral renderings of just about anything you can think of. She has photos of items like a McDonald's sign, a guitar, a diamondand even a Harley Davidson emblem crafted from brown flowers.

Gift giving can also be made easier. Besides the traditional flower baskets, you can order baskets filled with gourmet goodies like fresh, seasonal fruits, a smattering of gourmet chocolates, cookies, crackers and jellies. Plush toys and china collectibles line shelves, draped with white wedding tulle and topped with large pink bows.

A sample of her silk flower offerings will allow you to visualize the tangible results of her artistry if your imagination skills are a little under the weather. If the merchandise alone is not sufficient to sell you on this lovely place, Mininsohn herself will. Her personal attention to customers is genuine and her love of her work shows through in the presentation of herself, which is so much a part of what you sign up for.

"We ask our customers to tell us what it is they are looking for. We feel the interpretation and then put it into flowers," Mininsohn explained. "Our personal touch is what makes the difference."

"I'm concerned and I care. My staff is truly talented and dedicated but I guess that old saying still holds true, 'I'd rather do it myself,' " she added laughing good-naturedly.

For more information, call Flowers by Mininsohn at (800) 45-PEARL or (732) 363-4002. The shop is located at 216 River Ave. (Route 9), Lakewood.

One of the most important decisions to make when planning a celebration is to hire a band or DJ that will keep your guests on their feet.

Choosing entertainment for your party is important

It's been said that music can make or break a party. When choosing the entertainment for your celebration, consider the style of your party. There are many different options, including DJs, live bands and soloists.

Regardless of what type of entertainment you choose, make sure they are experienced, professional and that they have earned your trust and confidence to make the day special. They should be able to provide references and/or a video of their performance.

Your entertainment should be able to provide back-up equipment, a copy of their insurance, a written contract specifying the time of the performance, and their rates.

Here is a check list to follow when choosing your music entertainment:

❑ Determine if you will hire a band or a DJ.

❑ Check with the party site for any music restrictions.

❑ Select the band or DJ, sign an agreement, and pay the deposit.

❑ Will the band or DJ provide any special effects? If so, include these in the agreement.

❑ Inform the band or DJ of the date, time and location of the party.

❑ Inquire if the band or DJ has any special needs (electrical, space, etc.). Help to coordinate this with the party site.

❑ Make music selections.

❑ Determine the sequence of events with the band leader or DJ. Will they act as the master of ceremonies?

❑ Pay the balance.

Royal Family Shoes are fitting for every occasion

BY JO-ANN LAMON RECCOPPA
Correspondent

Few scenes are more fetching than an angelic child decked out in party garb.

Religious occasions and celebrations, weddings, those first days of school, and fancy dress parties all call for kids to wear their very best. The right shoes can make or break an adorable outfit, and the wrong fit can ruin even the most joyous occasion.

"Children, especially, require an exact fit for stride and balance, and far too many shoe stores leave something as essential as the proper fit up to the parents," says Sam Bikel, who manages Royal Family Shoes, Grebow Shopping Plaza, 6750 Route 9 south, Howell. "Most parents can only guess at length and width, and often end up purchasing shoes for their children that can do more harm than good."

FARRAH MAFFAI

Little Summer's sandals from Royal Family Shoes will go nicely with her new sundress.

Proper fit and durable, attractive shoes are top priorities at Royal Family Shoes. The vast selection of sizes and fashions for both girls and boys assures parents their children will not only be stylish, but they will be wearing the finest quality shoes that are best for small, growing feet.

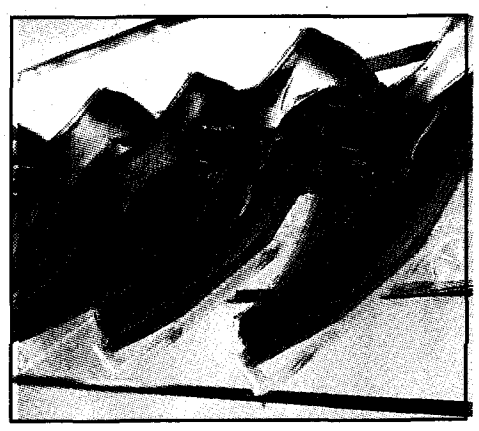

The best, of course, is the exclusive Boutaccelli line, handmade in Italy and available at only a few select locations here in the United States. The quality of Boutaccelli shoes is unsurpassed, and because of their Italian design, you can be sure these styles are the height of fashion — well, kiddie fashion, that is. The shoes are made according to European sizing, but are easily converted to American sizes — from tiny, adorable styles for infants and toddlers, to bigger kids, up to and including teens.

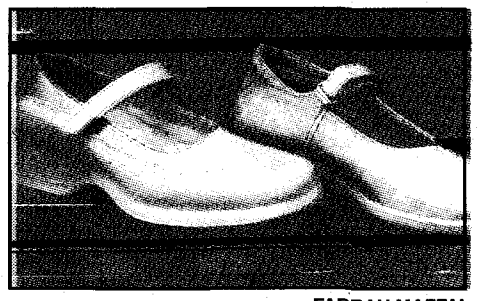

Dress shoes are just part of the Royal Family Shoes story. Sporty and casual shoes are best-sellers, especially the unique, lightweight Boutaccelli sport shoe — so flexible and durable that kids (as well as adults), will feel like they're walking on air. These may very well be the most comfortable shoe you or your child will ever wear, and Royal Family Shoes has many repeat customers for this particular line.

An entire section of the store is reserved for clearance items, and great bargains in every size and style shoe can be found here at a fraction of the original price. Also on hand are slippers and shoe care products, including insoles.

Of course, because Royal Family Shoes caters mainly to children, there are whimsical play stations set up throughout the store, and kid-size chairs for the wee ones to sit in while being measured by the knowledgeable, courteous staff.

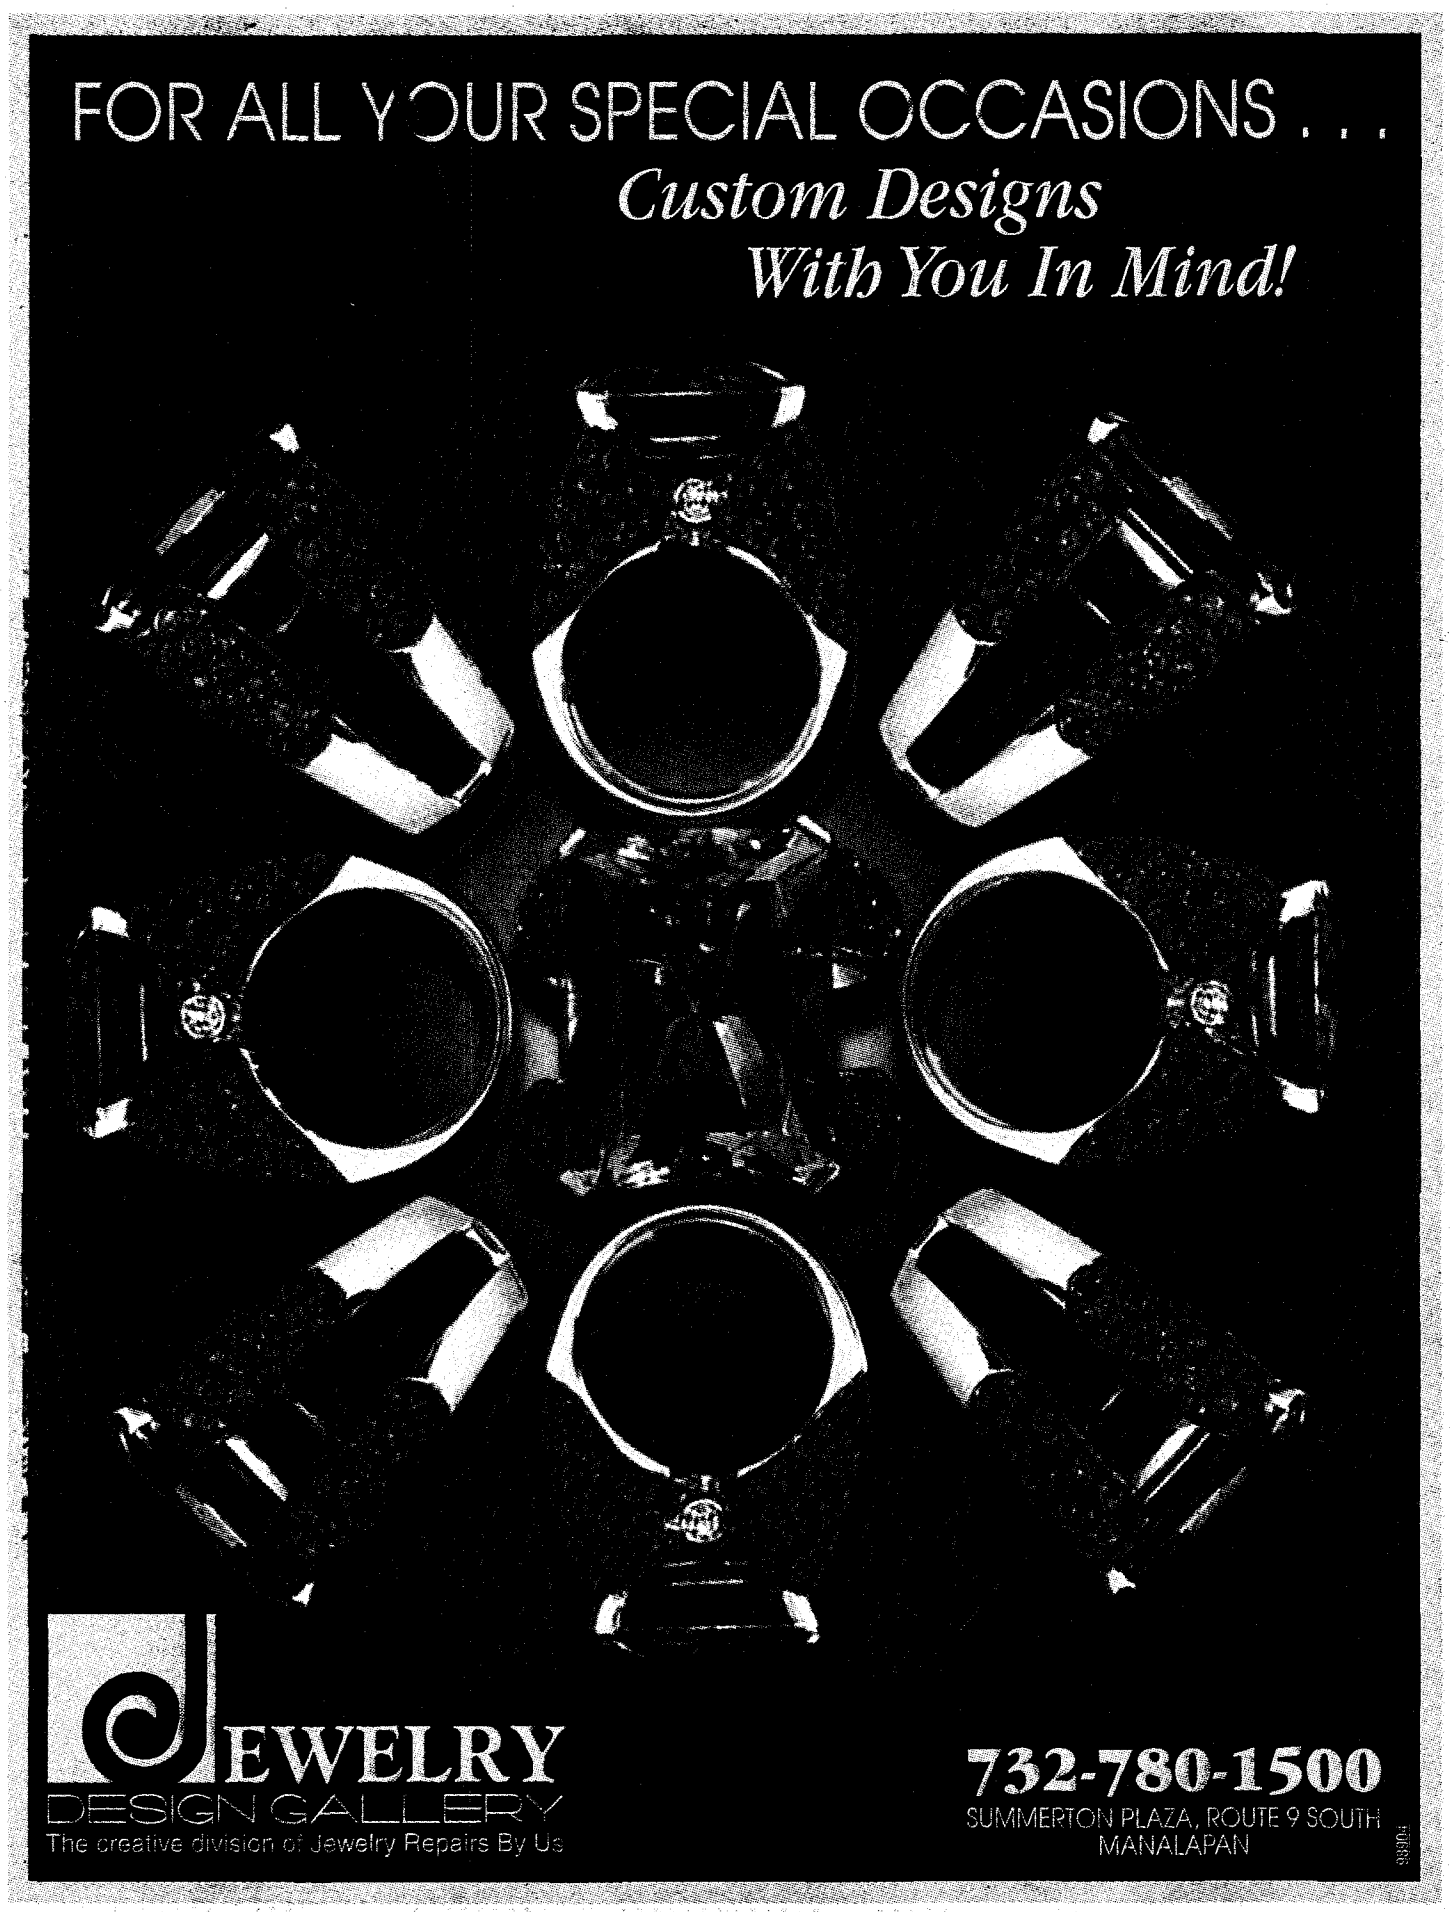

To learn more about the exclusive line of Boutaccelli shoes, call Royal Family Shoes at (732) 961-2222.

All you desire in jewelry can be found at Design Gallery

BY CLARE MARIE CELANO
Staff Writer

It's elegant. It's chic. It's dazzling — and it's right in your own neighborhood — it's Jewelry Repairs By Us.

The jewelry showroom in Manalapan features fine jewelry, much of which is either imported from Italy or created by skilled diamond crafters right on the premises. It also features one-of-a-kind pieces you're not likely to find on anyone else's neck, wrist or finger.

Owner of the jewelry store, Drew Cowit, has been operating retail jewelry stores in New Jersey for 18 years, and has run Jewelry Repairs By Us for 12 years. But he's had plenty of time to perfect his craft, having grown up in the industry with his father, who's been in the jewelry business for more than 45 years.

Cowit said his father's business started small, when he repaired jewelry for retail stores in New Jersey, New York and Connecticut.

"We went retail by accident," Cowit explained. He said that the business was built from the ground up by word of mouth, with a little help from advertising.

"A satisfied customer tells 10 of their friends," Cowit revealed, "and so does a dissatisfied one," he added.

Walking through the jewelry store, your eyes cannot miss the fact that something about the baubles here are a bit different.

Yes, they shine. Yes they sparkle. But the majority of the pieces glitter in a very distinct way. Many of Cowit's pieces are what he terms "limited" pieces. Take his collection of diamond necklaces, perfect for the mother of the bride or anyone who wants to "dazzle" and make a grand entrance wherever she's going. His designs, many imported from Italy, are delicate and almost reminiscent of lace and will decorate mom without detracting from the bride on her special day.

Cowit advocates simple yet elegant for the mother of the bride. "Nothing flashy," in his words, because the bride must be the center of attention.

"We can make an incredibly dazzling necklace, possibly diamonds dropping off a choker necklace or, for the more conservative bride, a simple, classy diamond solitaire necklace or a strand of beautiful pearls with a special diamond clasp if she'll be wearing her hair up that day," Cowit suggested.

For the mother of a young person having a Bar or Bat Mitzvah, however, the tables are turned and mom gets to dazzle on this special night. Cowit said a special diamond necklace or bracelet is a popular choice with his customers.

Many of Cowit's diamond pieces exhibit an almost gossamer quality and look. Women aspiring to find their inner goddess may see something that may just help them achieve that look. Fine, delicately crafted necklaces and bracelets with diamonds exquisitely dropping from the base of the piece exude classic elegance.

"We follow the Italian designers," Cowit said. "Everyone does," he added. Designs first shown in Italy will appear in America within six months, and according to Cowit this year's designs are free-flowing and light-looking. Jewelry Repairs By Us will buy many of these imports, but if there's something you really want but you don't see, he can create it for you.

Unlike many retail jewelry stores, Cowit employs a "model maker" who can create just about anything.

"Bring in a picture and he can basically build anything you want," Cowit said. First, he sketches the piece, then creates a wax mold. After the model is approved by the customer, it is cast in platinum or gold. The final step is done by a diamond setter, who will put the piece together and craft the final product.

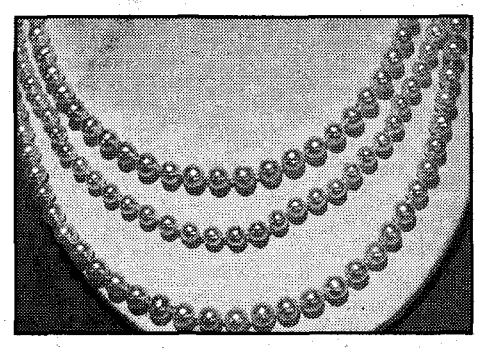

Cowit's main goal is to see that all the customers he serves, a number which is now hovering around 35,000 nationwide, are happy with their purchases.

"Whether you are a $12,000 customer or a $2 customer, we give you the same service," he added.

FARRAH MAFFAI

At Jewelry Design Center, Manalapan, find the perfect gift for any special day. The young woman turning "sweet 16" will love a diamond heart pendant. And every bride desires a strand of classic pearls to wear down the aisle.

From precious rubies, emeralds and diamonds to semi-precious gems like sapphires of pink, blue and yellow, tourmalines of every color and citrines as well as tzaverite, a beautiful shade of green, Cowit has an incredible selection of beautiful jewelry.

Choose a "stackable" ring or bracelet made up of several delicately crafted bands set with tiny semi-precious stones. Pick several different colors for what Cowit calls a "fun and funky look."

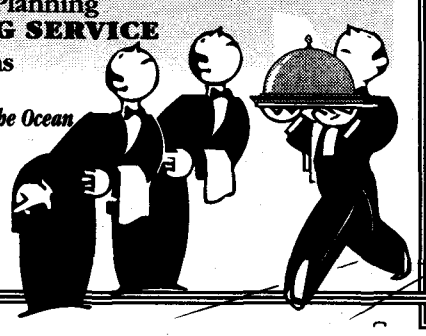

Or stick with the basics if you prefer. Black and white diamonds are a very popular choice right now. Have them set in rings, necklaces or bracelets for a traditional, elegant look.

"We make wearable jewelry for every day or for a special Saturday night," he said.

And when you're buying an engagement diamond, be assured that you're getting the best. According to the owner, all his diamond engagement rings are certified by the Gemological Institute of American (GIA) and come with papers to prove it.

According to Cowit, there are 54,000 jewelers in the United States. Of those, approximately only one-tenth have any gemological training. Cowit is one of those. He receives all his diamond and colored stone certificates from GIA.

If you're looking for a gift for your youngster for their special day, Jewelry Repairs By Us can accommodate anything on your list. And, if you don't have something special in mind, Cowit and his staff can help you choose something just right.

For a young lady having a Bat Mitzvah, the store carries various religious charms and symbols such as Chai or Mezuzah and various styles of the Star of David. According to Cowit, white gold is very popular with everyone these days. He suggests for girls name plate necklaces or name rings. These pieces can be made up with or without stones. And for the young man having a Bar Mitzvah, a watch, special ring or religious symbol is also a popular choice.

Unique, custom-made pieces can be purchased at Jewelry Design Gallery.

For your sweet 16, the jewelry store has a plethora of bracelets, pendants and earrings as well, in up-to-date patterns that are "in" with today's youth.

He also carries a wonderful line of colorful, fun goodies like fabric choker necklaces. The cord chokers, made up of twisted satin fabrics, come in wonderful colors. Pick yours and add a fun looking or elegant pendant to drop from it. Mix and match cords to complement your clothing. On display in the showroom are several delicate crafted pendants in various shapes and set with colored stones. This fun, chic look is a surefire way to dress up an outfit.

Cowit said that he's planning to expand his line of fashion patterns in necklaces and rings.

"We want to offer the jewelry wearer the option of an antique, romantic or modern look," the jeweler explained.

Because Cowit's business has grown and because his custom work has established such a widespread reputation, the business has evolved into more of a design gallery.

"Our original name, Jewelry Repairs By Us, which the public is familiar with since 1984, has now evolved into a more modern, fresher name as Jewelry Design Gallery. We pride ourselves on our ability to offer our customers fine jewelry for everyday and special occasions, accompanied by honest, knowledgeable and professional service," he said.

Cowit said that it's rare in the jewelry business to gain national recognition within a few years but that his business has done just that. He revealed that he has more than 35,000 customers spread across the United States. And, with the help of some national advertising in publications such as Vogue, In Style and Town and Country, in addition to the continuing "word of mouth" advertising that has always been the mainstay of his business, Cowlit's customer roster continues to expand year after year.

The jewelry store also has a jewelry replacement division that specializes in the replacement of lost or stolen jewelry. The store has recently joined Continental Jewelry Replacement, a national affiliation of jewelers who work with insurance companies. Cowit said that losing a favorite piece of jewelry is often an emotional experience, and that the jewelry replacement division provides a service through which the insured is treated with respect and understanding. He will even make home visits if necessary.

The name may be evolving but the quality, service and merchandise remains the same — incomparable, personal and impeccable. The Jewelry Design Gallery showroom is open Tuesday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The store is open seven days a week during the winter holidays. Cowit also has a second location of Jewelry Repairs By Us in East Windsor that has been in operation for the last eight years. For more information, call the Manalapan location at (732) 780-1500 or the East Windsor location at (609) 371-1800.

Get a discount on the gown of your dreams

After the initial excitement about your engagement comes the reality check: Getting married is going to be expensive. Worst of all, the dress of your dreams is out of your price range. Don't panic; once you get past the sticker shock there are steps you can take to make sure you have the perfect wedding at the price that's right for you.

The average wedding now costs nearly $20,000, according to Denise and Alan Fields, nationally known "wedding watchdogs" who have appeared on Today, Oprah, Dateline NBC, Weddings of a Lifetime, and just recently, Good Morning America. But, as they point out in their book Bridal Bargains, just because you want a reasonable price on the wedding gown of your dreams doesn't mean you have to sacrifice the advice and service of a personal consultant.

One way to get the best of both worlds is through Discount Bridal Service Inc., a personal buying service for brides. Discount Bridal Service (DBS) is a national network of dealers that offer 20 to 40 percent discounts on almost all nationally advertised bridal attire.

Once the bride-to-be has found the gown or gowns she wants, she simply contacts a local DBS dealer who then orders the gown, recommends a local seamstress, and has it shipped wherever the bride elects. All gowns go through a 25-point inspection process, but the local dealer is available should any problem arise. Because DBS dealers do not work from expensive shops with inventory and other overhead expenses, savings on first-quality gowns can be passed on to the bride — just the one who needs the savings in light of all the wedding expenses.

DBS was started in 1985 by people with extensive experience in the retail bridal market. Its belief was that brides should have the opportunity of working on a personal basis with caring and knowledgeable people when ordering bridal attire at discounted prices. With access to more than 90 percent of the bridal manufacturing market, nearly any gown a bride-to-be has seen in a salon or in a wedding magazine can be ordered through a DBS dealer. Industry insiders all say that while they may not like the fact that their gowns are discounted, DBS has a very credible reputation and is well known for its excellent service.

Discount Bridal Service can get your dream wedding gown for you at 20 to 40 percent discounts.

"The majority of my business comes from referrals," says Debra Goldwater, a DBS dealer and area director in California. "Brides will send their friends, their bridesmaids and others who are in their weddings to me when it's time. I think it's a great testimonial to the savings and personal service DBS offers."

Goldwater says DBS dealers can offer one-on-one service that brides can't get online or in a salon, and during a busy and stressful time, that can be invaluable. "We become better than a best friend to them," she says. "We can provide in-depth information, recommendations and an objective viewpoint that, sometimes, best friends just can't provide."

Many DBS dealers also provide other services including veils, invitations, tuxedos, jewelry, shoes, bridal accessories, wedding consulting and other bridal-related merchandise. These products and services are also discounted. So working through a qualified DBS dealer can save time as well as money.

Be informed on the trends in honeymoon planning

For many couples, planning a honeymoon is just as important as planning the wedding itself. Regardless of where you plan to go on your honeymoon, there are some things you should do and some new ideas you should take advantage of in order to make the honeymoon the kind of experience you want it to be.

First, you must decide on a budget. If money is not an issue for you, bon voyage! However, if you're like most couples getting married, you're already paying for more than you anticipated. Establish a budget and use it as a guide. You may also want to consider using a honeymoon bridal registry like the free one provided by TheHoneymoon.com. Honeymoon registries allow wedding guests to contribute toward specific elements of your honeymoon. Things like shore excursions, parasailing, spa services and tours all make great wedding gifts. These are becoming more popular as couples getting married nowadays often have many of the basic household necessities that comprise a traditional gift registry.

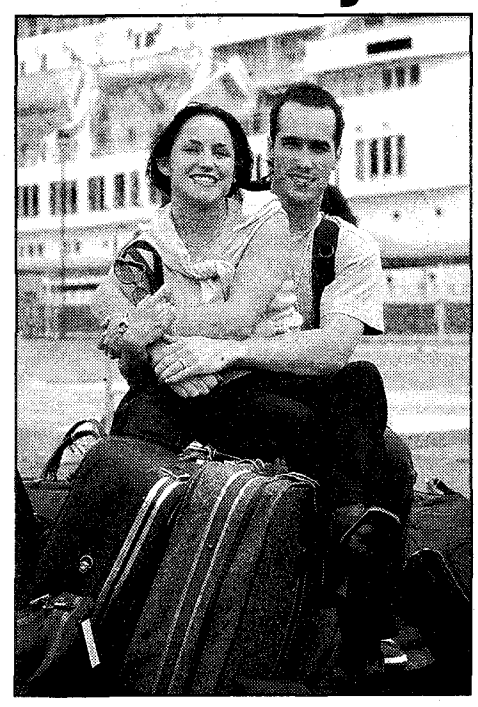

After deciding on a budget, figure out where you would like to go. If you and your spouse-to-be want the same type of honeymoon experience — no problem. However, if one of you wants adventure and the other wants to relax in the sun, you need to compromise. There are destinations that can satisfy you both; you just need to do some research. Of course, it is also important that your destination fits your budget.

Once you have a destination in mind, decide whether you want an all-inclusive package or whether you would prefer to be on your own a little more. For those with tight budgets, an all-inclusive honeymoon has the advantage of one all-inclusive package price. This includes most activities at both all-inclusive resorts and on cruises. However, there are usually things that are not included for which you will need to pay. Again, these make great gift items for your honeymoon registry. If the idea of an all-inclusive honeymoon with multiple destinations excites you, then a cruise may be the dream honeymoon for you.

If you wish to be on your own to take in more of the surrounding area and culture, then you have a lot of options at your disposal. Do you want a big hotel, or a small hotel with history and character? If you like to experience the world through your taste buds, you'll want a variety of gastronomic adventures. In other words, if you don't want to be confined to a preset menu of activities and dining experiences, then you may be better off creating your own travel package.

Of course, the honeymoon takes on a whole new meaning when you decide to do a "destination wedding." These are becoming very popular as more couples decide to forego the average $20,000 wedding price tag in addition to the honeymoon expense. These are especially popular with second marriages. It's easier to get married in some countries than others, so check with a reliable information source first.

Your final step is booking and paying for this trip. Many honeymoon suppliers offer specials for early booking, which may or may not include airfare. Many packages that include airfare can offer significant savings because these suppliers buy airline seats in bulk at a discount and then package hotel and sometimes car rentals, to give you significant value. Usually these packages need to be purchased from a travel agent or from businesses like TheHoneymoon.com, which combine travel agent services, the convenience of the Internet, honeymoon registry, personal wedding Web pages, and honeymoon information all at your fingertips — all from the convenience of your home or office.

A cruise is a great honeymoon choice for those who want an all-inclusive vacation with multiple destinations.

Top 10 honeymoon hot spots

Here's a look at the top 10 destinations for honeymooners, according to a recent travel agent survey, courtesy of About.com.

1. Hawaii. Aloha, baby. Welcome to paradise.

2. Jamaica. Warm, sunny and welcoming. Perfect for honeymooners.

3. Mexico. So close, it's a great value south of the border and muy simpático.

4. Tahiti. Hey, it worked for The Bounty's Fletcher Christian. Travel here for an exotic, once-in-a-lifetime thrill.

5. Florida. It's sunny, rich in culture and attractions, and, overall, pretty inexpensive.

6. United Kingdom. From hot, happening London to the famed countryside, Britain's many virtues consistently beckon lovers from around the world.

7. Italy. Venice, Rome, Tuscany, Florence, you can't beat it.

8. Bermuda. Gorgeous pink sands, transportation via mopeds and not too much to do at night, which is just fine with many honeymooners.

9. France. Ah, l'amour. Take a trip to the country that invented the stuff.

10. St. Lucia. This island is one of the lushest in the Caribbean, combining French-Creole warmth and hospitality with English sophistication. Bon voyage!

Unwrap the mystery of diamond buying

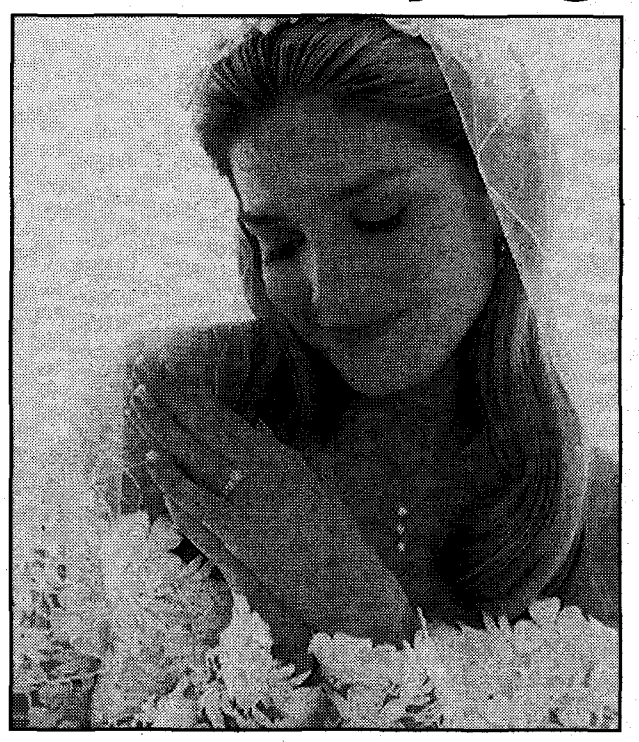

If you're thinking of buying that special someone a diamond — the ultimate symbol of love and romance — shop wisely. This rare gemstone is not only a beautiful gift, but also a treasured heirloom and should be treated as such.

The first rule when choosing a diamond is to make sure it is accompanied by a grading report issued by the nonprofit Gemological Institute of America (GIA), regarded worldwide as the hallmark of integrity, reliability and consistency. As creators of the four C's (carat weight, cut, clarity and color), the international standard of grading diamonds, GIA has served the gem and jewelry industry and protected the public trust for more than 70 years.

The GIA Gem Trade Laboratory employs more than 400 laboratory staff, the core of whom is a team of the most highly trained diamond graders, gemologists and research scientists in the world. Using state-of-the-art technology and meticulous procedures, GIA's laboratory staff evaluates the unique quality factors that affect each diamond's value. These properties are then detailed on GIA's grading reports, which are considered by the jewelry industry to be the most precise and trustworthy available.

Thomas C. Yonelunas, chief executive officer of the GIA Gem Trade Laboratory, reminds consumers that it is imperative to have an understanding of the four C's before buying a diamond.

"To the untrained eye, many diamonds look alike. But in fact, every polished diamond has its own unique set of characteristics that distinguishes it from other diamonds in the marketplace," said Yonelunas. "The GIA Diamond Grading Report contains a complete quality analysis of each diamond, including the four C's. Understanding these features is a consumer's best bet when it comes to making an educated diamond purchase."

Each of the four C's is rated differently and is determined as follows:

Carat weight: A diamond is weighed in metric carats; one carat is just over seven-thousandths of an ounce. Diamonds are normally weighed to the thousandth of a carat and then rounded to the nearest hundredth.

Cut: Most people think cut refers to a diamond's shape, but regardless of shape, a well-cut diamond is bright, fiery and shimmers with light. Well-balanced proportions and a high polish will create magnificent brilliance, fire and scintillation.

Clarity: Diamonds have distinctive internal features called inclusions and subtle surface irregularities called blemishes. The degree to which these marks affect the appearance of a diamond will determine its clarity grade. The GIA Clarity Scale ranges from flawless, under 10-power magnification, to included. Flawless and internally flawless diamonds are very rare and therefore more valuable.

Color: Most diamonds range from colorless to light yellow and are graded for their relative lack of color. The less color, the higher the value. The GIA Color Scale ranges from D, which is absolutely colorless, all the way to Z, which includes diamonds that are light yellow and brown in color.

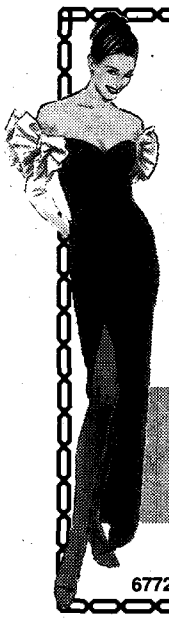

To learn more about buying a diamond, check out GIA's free, interactive "How to Buy a Diamond" tutorial, which is featured online at www.gia.edu.

Helpful hints for hiring photographer, videographer

Nothing captures the memories of a special occasion, be it a Bar Mitzvah, wedding or anniversary party, more completely than a professional, quality video and beautiful photographs. From recording the small intimate details to being able to relive the entire day over and over, many people opt for a video as a complement to their photo package.

Photographers and videographers will have techniques and styles all their own. Therefore, when choosing these professionals, find ones who will highlight the events that are the most important to you. You'll want service that is professional, creative and artistic. Here are some questions to ask your prospective photographer and videographer to determine if he or she is the one for you.

Important questions

- What type of lighting will you use?
- How will you be dressed at the affair?
- Do you have sample videos/photographs I can see?
- How long have you been in business?
- What packages do you offer?
- Do you use professional quality equipment, accessories and supplies?
- How many cameras do you use?
- Do you have back-up equipment comparable in quality to your main gear?
- What are your guarantees and liabilities?
- Do you have a written contract?
- Are you unobtrusive?
- Will the shoot interfere with the proceedings in any way?
- How much do you charge for additional hours beyond the agreed contract?
- Do you work together (the photographer and videographer) to ensure mutual cooperation?
- Are you there throughout the entire party?

When choosing a photographer and videographer for your special affair, make sure they are aware of the highlights of the event that are most important to you.

- Will you go to a location (like the beach or a park) without additional charge?
- How much are additional copies of the tapes or photographs?
- Do you have references whom I can call?

To guide you along during the planning of your affair, here is a to-do checklist for organizing your photography and videography:

Photography

- ❑ Select photographer.
- ❑ Sign agreement and pay deposit.
- ❑ Inform photographer of date, time and location of affair.
- ❑ Schedule sitting for formal portraits.
- ❑ Notify photographer of any restrictions the ceremony site and/or party site have in regard to photography.
- ❑ Give photographer a list of photos you'd like taken.
- ❑ Notify photographer of the sequence of events for the party.
- ❑ Pay balance.

Videography

- ❑ Select videographer.
- ❑ Sign agreement and pay deposit.
- ❑ Inform videographer of date, time and location of affair.
- ❑ Notify videographer of any restrictions the ceremony site and/or party site has in regard to videography.
- ❑ Give videographer any special music and childhood photographs you would like included on your video, if you are purchasing an edited tape.
- ❑ Pay balance.

Caputo's has baked goods for special days and every day

BY ANITA STRATOS
Correspondent

VERONICA YANKOWSKI

Be a hit at your next party with a cookie tray from Caputo's Bakery in Long Branch.

Mention Caputo's Bakery to anyone living in the Long Branch area and you'll hear a rapturous "Oh, they make the best ...!" Fill in the blank with anything Caputo's offers, because people have their own personal favorites and everything in the shop is wonderful.

Currently owned by the father/son team of Jack and Joe Caputo, Caputo's Bakery is practically legendary in Long Branch, having first opened for business there 42 years ago. The business was originally started by Jack's uncle in 1923, when he came to America from Italy (where the Caputos were well-known for their outstanding breads and pastries) and opened the first Caputo's Bakery in Brooklyn, N.Y. Eventually the family made its way to the Jersey shore area, and Long Branch became the lucky home of these extraordinary pastries and breads.

"I've been working in my father's business since I was 9 or 10 years old," recalls Joe. "My family has always baked breads on weekends at home. The bakery is part of me and my family."

One of the remarkable things about Caputo's is that all of the Italian pastries are made from scratch and by hand in the shop — something only done in a handful of bakeries in the state. But Jack and Joe wouldn't settle for anything less; in fact, Jack even takes the time to make those fantastic sfoglitellas (better known as "clamshells") by hand, a fading art in the new millennium.

You'll see and taste these high standards in everything at Caputo's. While you can walk in and find excellent Italian bread, French baguettes, semoli-na, and Sicilian breads on a regular basis, Caputo's also makes specialty items for annual celebrations, like Irish soda bread on St. Patrick's Day. St. Joseph's Day, an Italian holiday that has become somewhat obscure in recent years, isn't forgotten here, as the Caputos turn out their highly anticipated and enormous cream-filled zeppolas for the occasion. For Christmas and Easter, traditional fig cookies draw customers from out of state just for these wonderful Italian delicacies.

And oh, all those heavenly Italian pastries and cookies that you'll find here every day of the week. The filled-to-order cannolis are enough to bring anyone back for more, but there's also a huge assortment of beautifully created cookies, from almond and anisette to seven-layer and pine nut — one is more tempting than the next. If you want to be the hit of the next party, order a cookie tray from Caputo's; it can be ready for you in 24 hours.

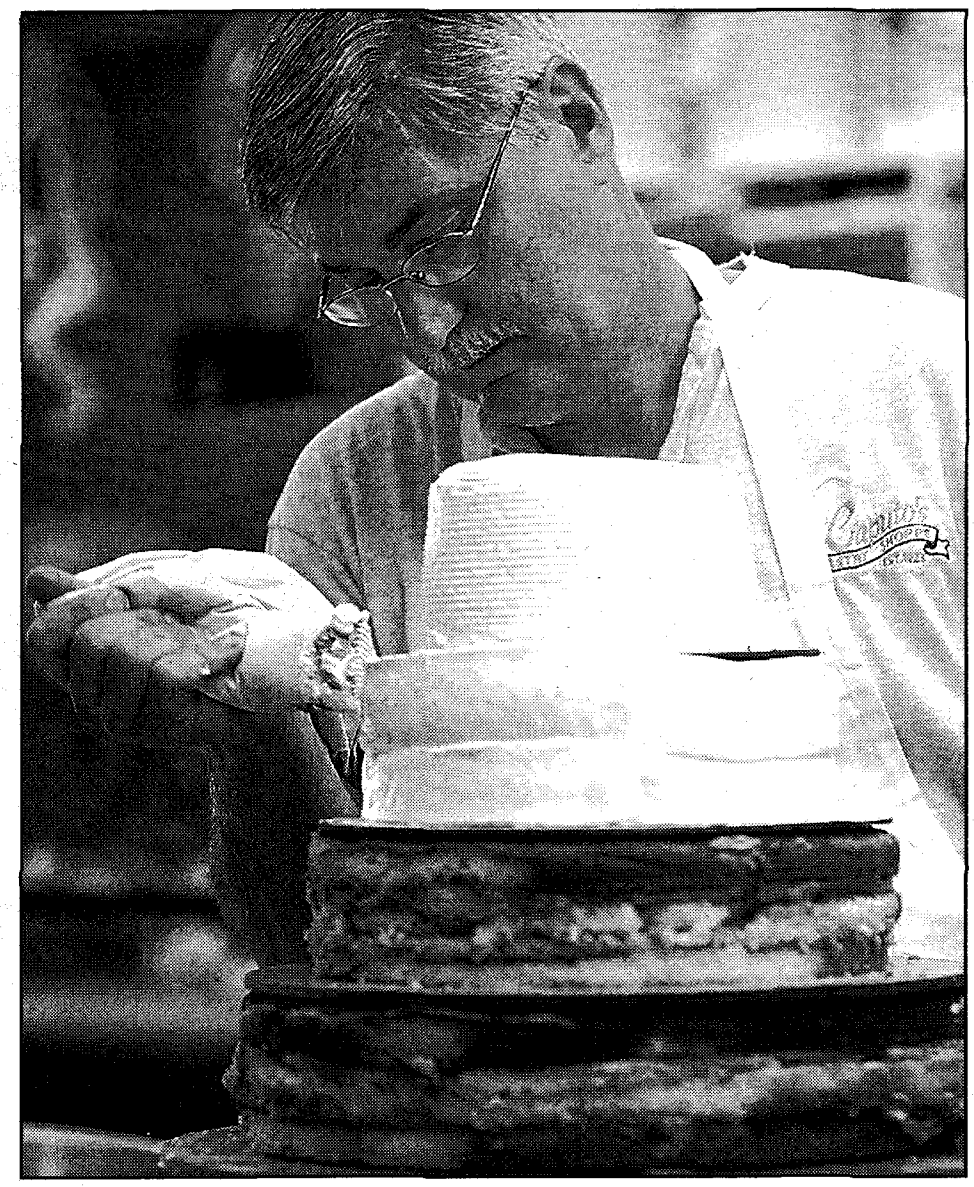

There are also plenty of impressive cakes beckoning from the showcases. Caputo's carrot cake is extremely popular, and the New York-style cheesecake is delicious. But they also offer lots of other great selections, like Italian rum cake and Black Forest cake. If you prefer Italian cheesecake, you can call an order in any time. And if you want to have a nice-sized sampling, you might want to go for the miniature pastries in just about any flavor you can imagine.

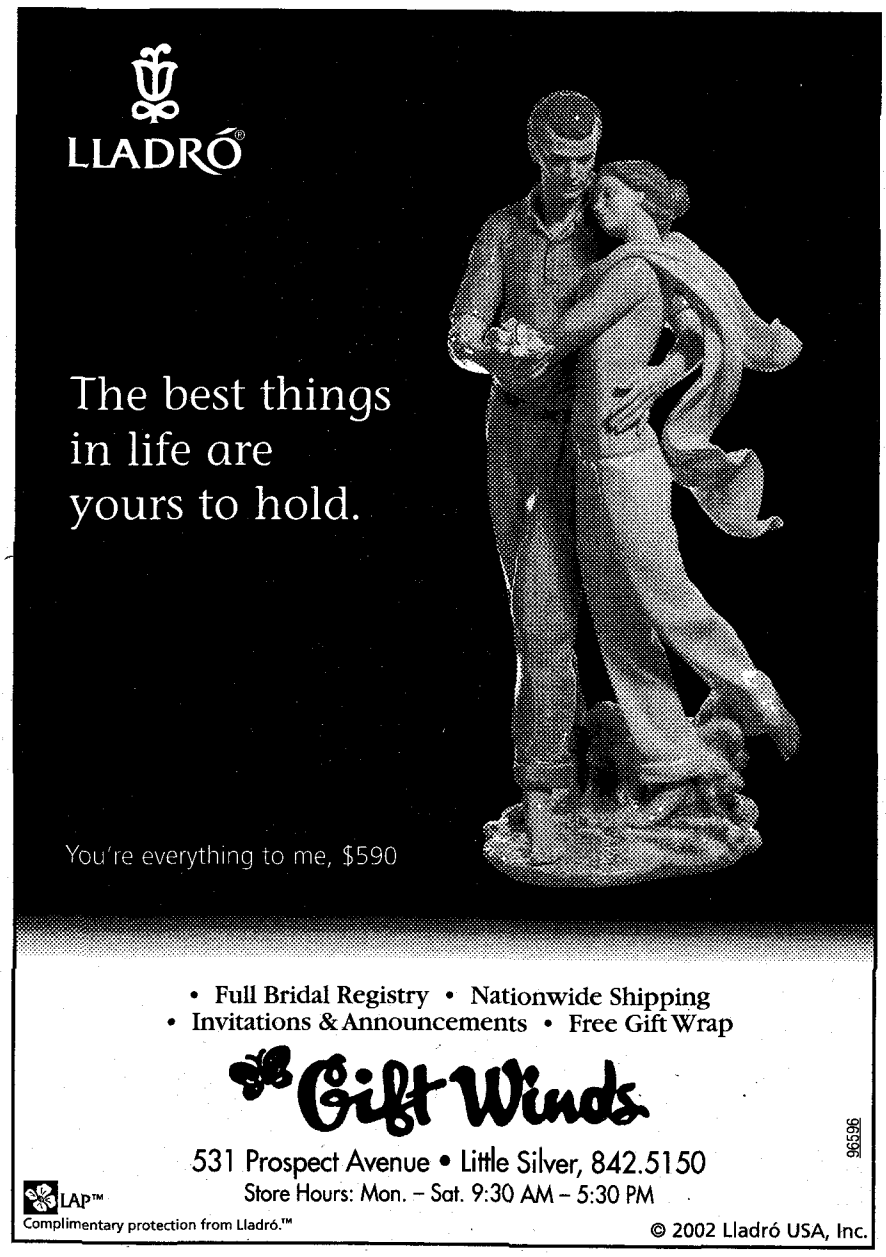

Got a special occasion coming up? Caputo's makes specialty cakes for any and every occasion, whether it's a wedding, communion, christening, or birthday. Joe will personally sit down with customers to help them decide on cake flavors, styles, and decorations. One very popular cake decoration right now is the photo image. Bring in a photo or picture of anyone or anything — your child, a cartoon character, a house — and Joe will transform the picture into a perfect edible likeness made from sugar that will decorate the top of the cake in a very personal way. This is a favorite choice particularly for first birthday parties and children's parties. Any decorative icing work (flowers, leaves, etc.) is hand done by Jack, whose passion for this art shows in every exquisite cake.

Caputo's Bakery is located in the Ursula Plaza at 444 Ocean Blvd. in Long Branch. Stop by even if you just want a break in your busy day. Sip some coffee and enjoy a pastry at one of their indoor or outdoor (in warm weather) tables. Early birds can sweeten their mornings with Danish, buns and seasonal muffins. Caputo's is open seven days a week, Monday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Thursday from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., Friday and Saturday from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Sunday from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. For more information, call (732) 222-3838.

Get pampered at Spa Five Hundred

BY JO-ANN LAMON RECCOPPA
Correspondent

Looking great on the outside starts beneath the special makeup and fancy clothes. Life's extraordinary occasions call for something more than superficial beauty.

At Spa Five Hundred, 500 Prospect Ave. in Little Silver, both the body and the spirit are nurtured, to have you looking and feeling your absolute best.

Pampering is emphasized at the spa, with soothing music, restful candles, and fragrant oils and essences that permeate the relaxing, attractive facility.

Services such as facials, massage, waxing, meditation classes, far-infrared soft heat sauna, foot and hand paraffin treatment, and expert brow shaping will generate both inner and outer radiance.

The skin, especially, is where the dramatic results of a Spa Five Hundred session will first be noticed, simply because your face is the first thing the world observes. Facials, particularly the soothing, long-lasting Hydralessence face session (deep hydration that is ideal for weather-weary or dry skin), and the Alpha Vital, which gently rids dull, tired skin with aromatic essential oils and organic AHA/BHA from fruits, plants, and trees, transforms lusterless skin to youthful and glowing skin.

The basics for being picture perfect are taken quite seriously at Spa Five Hundred, with eyebrow shaping and tweezing, and waxing/temporary hair removal from the face, chin, legs, feet, arms, underarms, bikini area, back, and underarms.

A visit to Spa Five Hundred is perfect for combating those prewedding jitters.

"The stress of a wedding or an important function builds until nerves are frazzled," explains Melina Melone, who heads the knowledgeable staff at Spa Five Hundred. "Facials, massages, saunas, and herbal wraps act as stress-busters, alleviating the tension that goes hand in hand with special occasions."

JERRY WOLKOWITZ

A visit to Spa Five Hundred, Little Silver, before your special day will leave you feeling and looking your best.

Swedish massage eases muscle tension, and magnetic rollout massage promotes relaxation in the entire body. The far-infrared soft heat sauna (also known as radiant heat) is a form of energy that heats your body directly without heating the air in between, promoting detoxification of heavy metals and toxins, and boosting both immune and cardiovascular systems. An added benefit of the soft heat sauna is the relaxation it provides — physically and mentally.

For the very latest in anti-aging, Spa Five Hundred has its own fountain of youth in a device called the Time Machine. Yes, it does resemble something H.G. Wells might have had in mind to travel through time— a cocooned contrivance that uses soft light pulses to move energy-carrying photons into your body. Benefits of the Time Machine are many: stress reduction, softened facial lines, increased energy, improved libido, and increased production of collagen (for skin contour and elasticity) — all intended to slow the aging process.

Spa Five Hundred gift packages are perfect for brides, grooms, busy executives, stressed-out parents, and high-strung, prom-focused teens.

Starting for as little as $56, packages include the Teen Time mini-facial and expert brow shaping package, the Back to Back Swedish Massage with magnetic back rollout and soothing soft heat sauna, and the Stress Buster — which includes a hot stone massage, soft heat sauna, and pulsed light relaxation treatment (Time Machine). For extra pampering, consider giving a most welcome gift – a Deluxe Day of Beauty (classic European facial, customized Swedish massage, herbal wrap, soft heat sauna, and a Time Machine session), or a Day of Pampering, which includes a classic European facial, Swedish massage, Reiki energy treatment, and a hand and foot paraffin treatment.

Call Melone and the experienced staff of Spa Five Hundred at (732) 530-5030, and schedule some time to unwind.

Planning the perfect baby shower

Many mothers-to-be credit their friends and family members for help in navigating the obstacles and sharing the joys of pregnancy. These women often treasure one particular ritual that serves as both a practical lesson in newborn preparation, as well as a time-honored rite of passage: the baby shower.

"Showers are about celebrating life-changing events," explains Jennifer Jenkins, author of The Everything Baby Shower Book and host of a recent chat event on BabyCenter.com. "It can be great fun and doesn't need to be a lot of work, yet can be so memorable for everyone."

In fact, showers are nothing new and have been enjoyed by women all over the world for centuries. Despite the cultural differences you'll find in individual countries, the common theme of welcoming a new baby into the world and supporting the new mother through a selection of special foods, games and gifts remains as popular as ever.

"My friends and family threw me a surprise baby shower that was just a wonderful way to be together and enjoy the special event at hand while gaining some very practical advice and support," says Lisa Parker, a 32-year-old Baltimore native and first-time mother.

Baby showers are an important rite of passage for mothers-to-be.

To make sure your baby shower doesn't end up as a washout, follow some simple guidelines. According to Jenkins, a surprise is always a good option. To keep the new mother guessing, allow her to think you're planning a party on a designated day, yet secretly arrange for guests to show up on an alternate day.

Another key priority is the mother's comfort and needs. Presents needn't be extravagant to be appreciated. A gift certificate for a manicure and pedicure is a great way to pamper the guest of honor. If you really want to score points, however, consider practical ideas as well.

First-time mothers will particularly appreciate you taking care of important details they may not have thought of. A fully stocked baby medicine supply kit, such as Johnson's Baby Relief Kit, complete with an assortment of newborn-appropriate therapeutic essentials like cold medicine and gas relief products, is always a good choice.

If putting together your own basket of individual items seems like too much of an effort, check out some of the ready-made gift sets now available. A popular choice is the Johnson's Soothing Bedtime Gift Set, a charming collection of everything a mother needs to establish a successful bedtime routine-including baby toiletries, a cuddly bear, a storybook, a bedtime guide to parent and baby interaction, and a CD of lullabies — all presented in a baby's keepsake box.

Another popular option is to buy a gift from wherever the mother is registered. Jenkins suggests invitees check with the hostess about where the mother is registered, since volunteering this information on the shower invitation is considered a no-no.

Just remember, a baby shower is the perfect way to shower a mother with love, support and advice-along with some great gifts. So enjoy!
