Birch Hill approved for adult community

Plan for 285 age-restricted units must now get approval from Marlboro

BY SUE M. MORGAN
Staff Writer

A developer who wants to construct an upscale age-restricted community on the site of the Birch Hill entertainment complex has cleared the first hurdle toward realizing that vision and must now seek approval from Marlboro Township officials.

East Brunswick-based Kara Homes received two use variances last Thursday from the Old Bridge Zoning Board of Adjustment to build Birch Hill Estates, a 285-unit age-restricted community, on the 55-acre site now occupied by a nightclub, swimming pool, picnic grounds and other recreational facilities. The site is located between Route 9 southbound, and Texas and Marlboro roads.

One of the two use variances granted by the board's 6-1 decision will allow for the age-restricted community in the township's commercial office industrial (COI) zone. The other use variance will allow for the density of the units, which the board determined is not to exceed five units per acre.

Also, the applicant's agreement to provide water and sewer connections now lacking at the Birch Hill site and near several homes along Texas and Marlboro Roads was another condition of use variance approvals.

The developer expects to have a preliminary and final site plan ready for submission to the board within 30 to 45 days, said Robert McGowan, an executive vice president and attorney for Kara Homes. At about the same time, the developer also expects to submit a use variance application to zoning officials in neighboring Marlboro Township, Monmouth County, McGowan said.

Because 5 of the 55 acres on the Birch Hill site are located in Marlboro, the developer must also receive use variances and site plan approval from that township as well. Other approvals must also come from the both Middlesex and Monmouth counties, McGowan has said.

The Old Bridge board approved the use variance for the density based on an agreement between the applicant and the township that the total number of units would not exceed five units per acre. That agreement was reached even though the township, unlike some neighboring towns, does not have a planned adult retirement community zoning

5 candidates offer variety of views and backgrounds

Residents will decide who will fill 3 seats on school board Tues.

BY SUE M. MORGAN
Staff Writer

Five residents including the current school board vice president, two other incumbents and a former board president are vying for three seats on the nine-member Old Bridge Board of Education.

In addition, a young newcomer, himself a graduate of the school district, will make a bid for his first term on the board during Tuesday's election.

The incumbent candidates are board Vice President Annette Tunyla Hopman and longtime members Ellen McDermott and Albert DiRocco Jr.

Frank R. Weber, who has been involved with the school district as either a citizen or a board member since 1987, is hoping voters will return him to the board. Weber, who lost his seat in last year's election, has spent seven of the last 10 years as a board member and served as its president in 2000-01.

The newcomer, John Allen, a 2001 graduate of Old Bridge High School, is no stranger to the board either. Presently a student at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, Allen served as the board's student representative during his senior year of high school.

Most of the candidates agreed that the implementation of a $66 million construction referendum, approved by voters in September 2001, remains a top priority.

While working as a district paraprofessional aide some years ago, Hopman decided to run for the board. The parent of three district graduates and grandparent of an infant girl, Hopman, 51, is seeking her second consecutive term.

"My main reason for running was because of the kids," Hopman recalled. "I felt I could be more of a voice as a board member than I could as an employee."

Once elected, Hopman sat on a board advisory committee that helped to secure a three-year $1 million grant to hire three elementary school guidance counselors in October 2001.

If elected to a second term, Hopman said, she would like to continue working toward enhancing security at all schools and maintaining the evacuation plans now in place at each school.

Continuing the trend of increasing testing scores and bringing emerging computer technology into the schools are also top priorities on Hopman's list.

Their views

Q.

Why have you decided to run again for the Sayreville Board of Education?

Kevin E. Ciak

During my tenure as a board member, I have seen our district make tremendous progress in the areas of technology and curriculum. I am running to continue our tradition of offering a quality educational program in one of the most efficiently run districts in the state. We have come a long way over the last decade, but there is still much to be done to improve our curriculum, reduce class sizes, and address the funding issues that school districts across the state face.

Danny DiPoalo

I want to continue the progress we have made to our schools in the areas of technology, curriculum and the lowering of class sizes. I also want to make sure that we continue to spend taxpayer money wisely and efficiently. I want to make sure that our children receive the education they need to succeed in the future.

Jack Myatt

I am running for the Board of Education to lend a new voice to shake things up amongst the board, who have been together far too long. Continuity can be good because it leads to teamwork and everyone on the same page, or it can be bad when the fight and desire of the individual is not brought to light due to not wanting to buck the ship. My feeling is that the sparkle in this board is dimming, and the children and taxpayers need a new firecracker that is ready to ignite a spark.

Q.

As a board member, what issues or programs are you interested in further examining? Do you see any room for improvement in any areas of the district's curriculum and programs?

Kevin E. Ciak

In my next term, the board needs to work on reducing class sizes throughout the district. Smaller class sizes promote academic achievement. The district should also explore high school course offerings in the area of technology that give students the ability to attain certification in technology-related areas which are useful in industry. We also need to strengthen our focus in teaching our students life skills such as interview techniques, business skills, etc. Given our current world situation, we need to continue our development and refinement of our emergency management plans to maintain the safety of our students.

Danny DiPoalo

There will always be room for improvement. We are currently in the process of revamping our whole curriculum to bring them in line with the state standards that our children are required to learn. Also, by using such things as test scores we can make further changes where improvements are needed. I have always been an advocate for children and will make sure that they have the right tools, resources and qualified staff to prepare them.

Jack Myatt

With the new budget, Sayreville's taxes have risen, and I believe it is from years of short-term "thinking in the box." If the board had looked at the long-term and raised taxes ever so slightly each year, the budget figure of $331 for this year's taxes would not be so high. Another big issue affecting Sayreville is overcrowding. In the 1970s and 1980s, the board closed various schools with the view that people moving to the town would be past the school-rearing age. Again, here is another short-term idea that did not last long-term.

Q.

Given the continued freeze on state aid for schools, do you feel the Board of Education is doing enough to tighten the budget and limit the impact on taxpayers? Do you feel that students are still receiving adequate programs and resources?

Kevin E. Ciak

When your school district ranks last in the state among districts of its size and demographics in terms of per-pupil spending, it is easy to prove that the board is doing an excellent job at limiting the impact on taxpayers. Students are receiving adequate resources as a large portion of our budget is allocated directly to the classroom. Boards of Education throughout the state need to take a more aggressive role in encouraging our legislators to reform the property tax system in this state, which is the root of our financial problems.

Danny DiPoalo

As with almost everything we do, we can always do more to help both our children and our taxpayers. Sayreville continues to be one of the most efficient districts in the state. As a taxpayer, I want to make sure our money is spent wisely and for our children. We need to continue to seek grants and use other resources, such as shared services with the borough, where proper, to limit the impact. We also need to continue to put pressure on our elected officials to have developers pay their fair share toward school costs.

Jack Myatt

Educators in Sayreville, along with educators across the nation, are going through rough times. We have to take care of our piece of the pie and give our children the best education that they deserve to compete against other areas. We need to stay up to date with the technology and with the curriculum. We need to get the best education possible for the children of Sayreville while finding a way that the taxpayers of Sayreville do not suffer. It is not easy, and it will not get any easier. I just want to be a part of the solution.

Municipal budget focus of hearing

BY JENNIFER DOME
Staff Writer

SAYREVILLE — Borough residents will have a chance to voice their opinion on the proposed municipal budget during the public meeting scheduled for April 14.

The Borough Council will hold the public hearing at 7:30 p.m. in Borough Hall, Main Street.

The $37,833,129 package, which was increased by more than $950,000 over last year's budget, carries a 4.5-cent tax rate increase for borough taxpayers. The 74-cent municipal tax rate means that the owner of property assessed at the borough average of $138,000 will pay approximately $62 more this year.

Borough Chief Financial Officer Wayne Kronowski told council members that the increase is largely due to an increase in insurance costs for the borough's operations.

A full-time building inspector, a computer technician for all borough departments, and a part-time clerk for the police department will be hired under the proposed budget.

Also included in the proposed budget are 12 new police vehicles and four new police officers, although eight new officers were proposed to the council during initial discussions. Kronowski said that one of the new officers will replace a retiree, and a COPS in Schools grant will balance the cost of the other police officers.

Added to the proposed budget during final discussions were two additional employees for the department of public works. One employee will work with the road department, while the other joins the parks department, according to Kronowski.

Council will vote on redevelopment plan

Sayreville council has been split on issue involving power conversion plant

BY JENNIFER DOME
Staff Writer

SAYREVILLE — A redevelopment plan that calls for a power conversion plant and senior housing near River Road could be approved by the Borough Council at its public meeting Monday.

The council must vote to approve or deny the plan presented by the borough Planning Board, which would permit the proposed Neptune Regional Transmissions System (RTS), a senior housing development and open space to be included on the 86-acre tract.

The council has in the past been split on the issue. In a Jan. 27 vote to rezone the property, Democrats Phyllis Batko, Dennis Grobely and Thomas Marcinczyk voted against a resolution to rezone it for redevelopment. Democratic Council President Thomas Pollando and Republican councilmen Frank Makransky and John Melillo voted in favor of the rezoning. Republican Kennedy O'Brien broke the tie, approving the resolution.

At an agenda meeting Monday, Batko questioned other council members about the redevelopment plan, asking for several points to be clarified in a recommendation presented to the council by the Planning Board.

One item Batko said she was concerned with is the access road to the proposed power conversion plant. According to the councilwoman, the designs show the road stopping at the Neptune RTS building. However, according to Batko, the representatives of the plant have said the road would continue as a thoroughfare and become a bypass for Main Street.

Batko was also concerned with the number of senior housing units that could be built on the area of the property located behind the borough's senior center on Main Street. Batko said that while senior housing is needed in the borough, she feels preserving open space is also important.

"Why should we put out a plan that's sloppy? Why can't we do it right?" Batko said when some council members wondered why she was questioning the details of the plan.

Pollando, who also sits on the Planning Board, said the redevelopment plan is just preliminary. The Neptune RTS project, the senior housing and other components of the plan are only suggestions of what could become of the redevelopment area.

The Sayreville Economic Redevelopment Agency (SERA), which owns the 86 acres and requested that the council rezone the area for redevelopment, is in preliminary discussions to sell 12 acres of the land to Neptune RTS.

After hearing from representatives Neptune Regional Transmissions System (RTS) at a previous meeting, the Planning Board on Jan. 15 decided that the land met the criteria for the council to designate it as a redevelopment zone.

Now that the council has officially resolved that the area should be rezoned Neptune RTS can make an official presentation to the Planning Board, according to the borough's chief financial officer and acting business administrator, Wayne Kronowski.

All Planning Board members voted in favor of deeming the land appropriate for redevelopment after viewing the borough engineer's study, except for Donald Newton who abstained since he had not received a copy of the report.

At a past Borough Council meeting SERA commissioner and Planning Board member Michael D'Addio said that while SERA is in preliminary discussions to sell 12 acres of the land to Neptune RTS, no final decisions have been made. He added that Neptune will use only three acres of the land for the power conversion plant, and as part of the negotiations with SERA, the company will dedicate nine acres for open space.

The proposed plant would convert power in the form of alternating current into direct current, which would be transported to New York City and Long Island, N.Y., Neptune RTS officials have said. Borough Engineer David Samuel of CME Associates said that the lines needed are already present, and the company would install undersea cables to transport the current.

After negotiations with SERA, Neptune RTS, which is based in Maine, has offered $2.25 million for the land, SERA attorney Roger J. McLaughlin, of McLaughlin, Bennett, Gelson & Cramer, said.

The agency would accept $400,000 a year for 30 years in lieu of taxes, O'Brien said. At the end of the 30 years, the company would begin paying regular taxes on the property. In order to use the Payment in Lieu of Taxes (PILOT) program, the area must be designated as a redevelopment zone, O'Brien said.

He also has said that deeming the area for redevelopment allows SERA to negotiate for a higher selling price.

The River Road Redevelopment Plan will be voted on by the council at the April 14 public meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the borough hall, Main Street.

"Our technology is far more advanced than it ever has been," Hopman said. "We need to make sure our kids are getting the best technology education we can offer them."

Hopman also suggested that the district hire a grant writer to apply for funding for both academic and athletic programs.

"There are millions of dollars out there," Hopman pointed out. "We need to get someone in to get grants for education and athletics."

Such an expense could be shared with the municipality, Hopman suggested.

To save on transporting students with disciplinary problems to specialized schools outside of Old Bridge, Hopman believes the district should offer programs geared to those students.

Additional substance awareness coordinators to complement two already in place are a necessity in the district's middle and high schools, Hopman said.

"If those people are not there, I don't know what we'll do," Hopman said. "These two people need to educate our children about drug abuse."

This year, voters will be asked to approve a ballot question that would authorize the board to spend $106,000 to hire two more substance awareness coordinators. If approved, a coordinator would be placed at each of the district's two middle schools and two high school campuses, district officials have said.

"One needs to be placed in each school," said Hopman, who resides in the Southwood neighborhood and works as a claims coordinator for University Radiology Group in East Brunswick.

After 30 years on the board, McDermott has decided to run for her 11th consecutive term.

"I enjoy it," said McDermott. Since attending her first PTA meeting in 1961, McDermott has been active in public education. All of her 10 adult children graduated from the district, she said.

Now 64, McDermott is a lifetime member of the McDivitt Elementary School PTA, who wants present and future students to receive the same quality education that her own children did.

"My goal is to see that everyone has an opportunity to get a good education," McDermott said.

"I don't want to see some of the things we've worked so hard to get together go astray," she said. "We fought long and hard to get equal opportunities for all of our kids."

Graduates of the district's schools have gone on to some of the highest-rated colleges and universities, including Ivy League schools, McDermott noted. Some have become doctors, lawyers and engineers, she added.

In short, McDermott wants to show taxpayers that public school students are getting a quality education and have the academic abilities and accomplishments to show for it.

"[Graduates] have come back and made us proud," she said.

McDermott is especially eager to see the two existing high school campuses become consolidated into one campus as expected in 2005.

That project includes the conversion of Carl Sandburg Middle School into a ninth-grade wing attached to the Old Bridge High School east campus. District plans call for the latter building to house 10th through 12th grades.

"We need to continue the job of getting all of the high school kids in one location," she said.

McDermott works as a field assessor for the township tax assessor's office. A resident of Amboy Road for 54 years, she formerly sold real estate for 20 years.

DiRocco, 63, who is known as a staunch advocate of athletics and substance abuse prevention programs, said that serving on the board allows him to give back to the community.

A retired Old Bridge Township police lieutenant, DiRocco lists the implementation of the school resource officers (SRO) program three years ago among his accomplishments. The SROs have been there to assist students with a variety of security issues and have successfully built a rapport with them, DiRocco said.

"There's no question about what the resource officers do for the safety and comfort of our schools," DiRocco said. "The kids get to see that cops are human beings."

A second ballot question will ask voters to spend $420,000 to continue the SRO program. DiRocco hopes that voters will approve that question, as well as the one to add two more substance awareness coordinators.

"The counselors are a must as well. There are too many cases to be handled by two counselors," DiRocco said.

"There is a drug problem that exists in the school system," he said. "We need to combat this with education and therapy."

To that end, DiRocco has brought in David Toma, a renowned substance abuse prevention speaker, to address the middle school students about the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse. Toma visits the schools every two years.

DiRocco has also initiated the "Heroes Program," in which high school athletes visit fifth-grade students to speak to them about avoiding drugs and alcohol.

As chairman of the district's athletics committee, DiRocco is in part known for his enthusiastic delivery of updates on the schools' sports teams, which he presents at monthly meetings.

Ellen McDermott

A domestic violence awareness program in the middle schools has also been started under his guidance, he noted.

DiRocco was first elected to the board four years ago to fill an unexpired term. He is now running for his second consecutive term.

A 40-year resident of the Cliffwood Beach section, the Perth Amboy native remains active in area Little League organizations. His two adult daughters and a grandson have graduated from the district.

Weber, 59, remains committed to ensuring that the construction referendum comes to fruition as planned.

"I want to be part of the process to make sure that the referendum that voters voted on will be delivered," said the account executive with Weichert Insurance Agency of Morris Plains.

Three current board members, including Hopman, have immediate family members working for the district, Weber pointed out. With that in mind, he believes the time has come for the board to institute an anti-nepotism policy.

Hopman's husband Barry has been employed as a computer maintenance technician in the district since November. Because Barry Hopman is not a union worker, he is not guaranteed employment after June, according to board President Gail Kubicke.

Kubicke's daughter and the wife of board member Frank Piccillo are also employed by the district as teachers.

There is no state law prohibiting school boards from hiring relatives, Weber ac-knowledgeable. However, concerned residents have told him that they are not pleased with the board practice, he said.

"It sets up appearances of impropriety and conflict of interest," Weber said. "It's a bad public relations move."

Keeping tax increases down and containing the costs of education are also part of Weber's platform.

"We certainly want all board members to try to do something for cost containment," he said.

Acknowledging that the school district has the teaching talent and staff to increase state proficiency test scores, Weber said he believes that the board should meet with districts such as South Plainfield and Piscataway that have successfully raised those scores.

"Let's find out what other schools are doing to improve education," he said.

The parent of a sixth-grader at Sandburg Middle School, Weber is the only candidate who now has children enrolled in the school district. His three adult children graduated from the system.

Speaking about senior citizens and the school budget election, Weber, a Central Park resident, reminds them that today's students need education to prepare to serve their elders in the future.

"It is the community's responsibility to provide the best level of education for tomorrow's health care and service providers," he said.

Allen, 20, also hopes to persuade seniors to approve district budgets by engaging them in programs where they can meet current students.

Presently, high school students enrolled in psychology classes participate in an intergenerational program at the George J. Bush Center for fellowship and the sharing of interests, Allen said, adding that he would like to see similar programs.

"The students get to learn from the seniors and the seniors get involved with the younger people," Allen said.

Likewise, Allen would like the community at large to see that their school tax dollars are well invested by starting programs where taxpayers and students would share both academic and extracurricular activities.

"We should be sending the students into the community and bringing the community into the schools," he said.

Having spent all of his 12 years of formal education in the district's schools, and because he has only been out of those classrooms for two years, Allen said he believes he has a firsthand view of what district students experience every day.

"I hope to bring a new and different perspective to the board," Allen said. "I firmly believe that the board is missing a very important component, the perspective of a student."

"I know better than most people what goes on in the schools because I spent my entire 12 years of education there," he added.

A staunch proponent of hiring two additional substance abuse counselors and of maintaining the school resource officer program, Allen stressed the importance of continuing to educate middle school and high school students about the dangers of drugs and alcohol.

"Prevention, medication and intervention are the sure-fire way to prevent substance abuse," he said.

Like Hopman, Allen would like to see the board approach the township about sharing the costs of a grant writer. The benefits of any additional funding for programs would far outweigh the costs, he said.

Allen said he has consistently found time around his college schedule to attend board meetings as a concerned citizen. As a result, he said, he does not believe that the assignments and examinations associated with college life will interfere with his ability to sit on the board.

"A student's schedule is negotiable. I can choose my classes to go around [board meetings]," said Allen, a political science and economics major.

"As a student it is even easier to be on the board than it is for someone working full time," he said. "I will be able to devote the time I want to it."

Voters will also be asked to approve the board's $104.3 million budget for the 2003-04 school year. The budget includes a 12-cent tax hike that would raise property taxes to $2.17 per $100 of assessed valuation.

If the budget is approved, school taxes on a township home assessed at the average of $144,000 would increase by $172.80 — from $2,952 to $3,124.80 — during the 2003-04 academic year.

Our View

Say yes to SACs and SROs

If parents, grandparents and guardians of students in Old Bridge's public schools care about the children's well-being and safety, they should put their money where their mouth is and approve not only the proposed 2003-04 Board of Education budget on Tuesday but also two ballot questions that address quality-of-life issues in the Carl Sandburg and Jonas Salk middle schools and at Old Bridge High School.

One question asks taxpayers to spend $106,000 to hire two more substance awareness coordinators (SACs) to educate students about the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse. Broken down, $100,000 will pay the two coordinators' salaries and $6,000 will be for instructional materials, officials have said.

In the words of Assistant Superintendent for Business Dr. R. Gregory Quirk, the coordinators' primary focus will be preventing drug abuse. If two more coordinators are hired, they would join two others already working at the middle and high schools. According to officials, those coordinators have successfully guided many adolescents through the peer pressure and temptations that are part of growing up and trying to appear "cool."

The cost to taxpayers for this education: one-fifth of one cent.

For nearly three years, an armed, uniformed township police officer known as a school resource officer (SRO) has patrolled each of the middle school and high school campuses courtesy of the "COPS in Schools" federal grant received by the district in 2001.

The SROs also visit classrooms to educate students about drugs, alcohol, gangs and other social issues. Students, parents, and faculty have praised the work of the four SROs and asked the school board and administration to let them continue patrolling the hallways and playing fields and sharing their firsthand knowledge of the real world.

Voters can make that happen by approving the second ballot question to spend $420,000 to fund the salaries of five SROs for the 10 months of the 2003-04 school year. During that time, the officers remain on the township's payroll, but are paid by the district instead.

The cost to taxpayers for the five SROs: two-thirds of 1 cent.

As more families move into Old Bridge and enrollment in all of the districts' schools increases, it only follows that a growing student body needs all the guidance it can get.

Growing up is not getting any easier in Old Bridge or anywhere else, but parents and the community as a whole can ease the process by giving the kids the support they need.

Proposal gives away open space for free

I write as a resident and taxpayer of Sayreville to raise my voice in opposition to the Neptune project as it is currently proposed.

The Neptune project entails a designation of a larger area as an "area in need of redevelopment." Under the current criteria applied to that determination, almost any open space in Sayreville could qualify and be deemed an area "in need of redevelopment." The total area is a block of about 87 acres of never-developed woodlands and marsh located behind the Sayreville Senior Center, roughly between River Road and Quaid Avenue. The parcel is "owned" by the Sayreville Economic Redevelopment Agency (SERA).

The questions an elected official must ask in weighing this application for development are: "Where am I placing my priority? Is preserving open space a priority to which I am truly dedicating myself, or is it one to which I only give lip service at election time?"

By making the determination to support this application for development of what is currently open space, the O'Brien administration is coming down squarely on the side of chasing ratables for short-term tax relief at the cost of open space. Current proposals being floated are for the use of 12 acres for the Neptune site and another significant portion of that open space for residential housing. For my money, there is no more valuable use of this 87-acre parcel than as the open space it already is.

It seems illogical and incongruous to me that at the same time we are taxing our residents and collecting a fund for the sole dedicated purpose of purchasing land to preserve as open space, we are making 87 acres of contiguous open space available for development. There are other sites in town for this project that are not woodlands. Clearly those voting for the Neptune development have prioritized the hope of securing a ratable over the preservation of open space and the prevention of overdevelopment. I do not see this as a partisan Democrat vs. Republican issue — both positions in this matter are legitimate points of view and expressions of differing philosophies as to the appropriate priorities for our town. I value preserving open space at this site beyond the value of the proposed ratable.

Guest Column

Paul A. De Sarno

However, even if the priority embraced by the Borough Council is to obtain a ratable at the expense of the open space, I still find fault with the proposed agreement. Building lots in Sayreville for a 1/4-acre lot are currently going for $120,000-$130,000 each. It is reported that SERA is selling 12 acres to Neptune for $2.3 million, of which only a small portion (back taxes) will actually be realized by the borough of Sayreville, with the rest going into SERA's coffers. The market value of the land, at that rate, is approaching $6 million, so it is obvious we are selling our open space on the cheap.

But don't we need ratables? In this case, what Neptune Corp. will receive is a sweetheart deal agreed to by the same unelected SERA commissioners who each enjoyed a free "fact-finding" trip to Europe on Neptune's tab. The deal is for Sayreville to receive a payment in lieu of taxes frozen in the amount of $400,000 for the next 30 years.

While the $400,000 goes directly to the bottom line of Sayreville's municipal budget to be spent, none of that money goes to the school board or to the county to help offset property taxes. So as the years pass and your property taxes go up, Neptune can rest assured that its property taxes will remain fixed. The net effect for the citizens of Sayreville is that we will have given it away for free.

Neptune has publicly stated on numerous occasions how perfect this site is for its needs. The corporation should pay a premium for the perfect site rather than getting the site for virtually nothing and a tax break to boot. It has also threatened to go to South Amboy, but that site is an industrial brownfield, not open space.

The numbers simply do not add up to a good deal for the residents of Sayreville. Where will we replace this open space and at what cost?

The cost of purchasing land, whether for preservation or for development, is well beyond the capacity of the taxpayers to finance as was aptly demonstrated by the recent court rulings regarding the $32-million down payment price for the National Lead redevelopment area. Why is the price of open space so dear when Sayreville is the buyer and so cheap when Sayreville is the seller?

In conclusion, I urge the members of the Borough Council to think long and hard about the development of this parcel of open space before allowing Neptune to go ahead, and if they choose development over preservation, that they insist on getting full fair value for the land and full fair payment of taxes from the Neptune Corp.

Letters

Writer questions sincerity of developer's comments

The letter to the editor from Joe Riggs of Hovnanian ("N.J. Developer Sees Need for Redevelopment Legislation," Suburban, April 3) is about as genuine as a pig in a poke.

Here's the real skinny on why Hovnanian wants reform. In 2002 Hovnanian was worth $2 billion and its stock increased 40 percent. Greed as a motivator? You tell me.

If Hovnanian feels New Jersey must build more and more homes, is it willing to set aside some of that $2 billion to offset the cost of educating all the New Yorkers' kids they bring into this state?

Mr. Riggs was interviewed in the real estate section of a local newspaper and announced that Hovnanian's newest housing development in New Jersey was complete and homes will cost $400,000. Now there's affordable housing for the low- to middle-income, right? Hovnanian sells homes that only those with two incomes can purchase.

Ask Mr. Riggs how much his commission is out of the $400,000 from each home he sells. Ask him how much of the 150 permits he claims are "costing homeowners" are accepted and approved with lightning speed by local politicians whose campaigns Hovnanian financed.

Sorry, Riggs, your bleeding heart for housing reform is phony. If you really want housing reform, you'd be building homes that single-income people can afford, not the ostentatious "McMansions" with 34 windows and cookie-cutter peak roofs that developers have glutted New Jersey with in the past five years. By the way, those homes are as pretentious as your plea for housing reform.

New Jersey was the Garden State. Now it's been laid waste by greedy land developers. Count on it. If they thought the state Department of Environmental Protection would allow it, they'd build on wetlands, the Pine Barrens and any other piece of acreage they salivate over like prime rib.

Residents seek remedies as shellfish beds reopen

Discussions continue on how to help residents affected by sewage spill

BY JENNIFER DOME
Staff Writer

SAYREVILLE — Michel Passman isn't sure who he can trust. After gallons of raw sewage from a sewer main break on March 2 flooded the neighborhood where his Sixth Street home is located, Passman has been skeptical about the concessions offered to him and his neighbors by the borough and the Middlesex County Utilities Authority (MCUA).

"The smoke and mirrors don't sit well with me," Passman said Monday.

MCUA spokesman Tony Cicatiello said the authority is discussing topsoil replacement options with the borough and with the residents affected by the sewer line rupture.

The authority has already agreed to remove damaged topsoil and replace it with new topsoil, but Cicatiello said he is uncertain when this process will begin.

"We are going to go forward with the program for that," he said.

Fluctuations in the weather have deterred the topsoil replacement process, but the MCUA is discussing the replacement project with the borough's Department of Public Works, Cicatiello said.

Another matter being discussed between the MCUA and the residents deals with compensation for residents' vehicles damaged because of the sewage flood, Cicatiello said.

"We plan to repay them for their inconvenience," Cicatiello said.

The process of dealing with attorneys and insurance companies is taking longer than is desired, but the MCUA is trying to minimize further inconveniences to the residents, he said.

"I'm waiting to hear what they will do [that is] of a permanent nature," Passman said.

While he, too, has heard that the MCUA has agreed to replace the topsoil, Passman said he is concerned with the sewage that seeped further into the ground.

According to Passman, he and the other residents of Sixth Street and Boehmurst Avenue, which was also flooded when the sewer line broke, want reassurance that the fecal coliform levels won't be hazardous when warmer weather comes.

At a Borough Council public meeting in March, residents asked the council to hire an independent firm to study the effects of the sewage spill on their homes and yards. Passman said that he has not heard from the borough on this matter, but that Mayor Kennedy O'Brien did stop by his home last week to see how things were going.

Passman said that besides the levels of fecal coliform, he is also upset with the cracks in the neighborhood's sidewalks. He is worried about possible structural damage that homes may have experienced during construction work on the broken pipeline as well.

The 102-inch main break spilled more than 570 million gallons of raw sewage into the Raritan River after the flood was diverted from the Boehmurst Avenue and Sixth Street area. Since then, the MCUA has applied lime to the affected residential yards to help diminish the presence of bacteria to normal levels.

MCUA officials have assured the residents that the levels of bacteria are being tested and will continue to be tested.

An extensive discussion took place between residents, borough officials and MCUA officials over the validity of samplings to test bacteria levels in the soil at a March 10 public meeting. Borough officials and residents questioned how accurate the samples were since they were only taken from the top 2 inches of soil in the affected area.

 ronmental consultant from Najarian Associates, said that the largest amount of contaminants will be found in the surface soil since the bacteria levels decrease as they break down in the soil. He said that while the bacteria levels are higher than those found in unaffected areas, tests have shown that the levels are decreasing, whether from the two applications of lime that the MCUA has applied or from natural processes.

Besides addressing the concerns of local residents, the MCUA is also working to provide some relief to the shellfish industry, which was prohibited from harvesting in the Raritan and Sandy Hook bays and the Navesink and Shrewsbury rivers for almost a month.

The state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) reopened more than 6,000 acres of shellfish beds on Saturday in the Shrewsbury and Navesink rivers and Sandy Hook Bay.

However, the Raritan Bay remains closed to shellfishers since the results of metal testing are expected back in approximately two weeks, according to a DEP press release.

"Sandy Hook Bay contains some of the state's most productive shellfish areas, so we expedited the testing of those beds in order to help the baymen idled by last month's sewage spill," DEP Commissioner Bradley M. Campbell said in the release. "We are reopening these beds based on testing that shows clams in these waters meet federal safety guidelines that are the most protective of public health."

While the shellfishers were banned from the four bodies of water, the MCUA imported clean salt water from the Barnegat Bay, Ocean County, to help clambers clean their shellfish at the Highlands and Sea Bright clam depuration plants.

Many area clambers worked in Barnegat Bay or on the Manasquan River while they could not clam in more local waters.

In order for the shellfish beds to be reopened, five consecutive sampling results must show that fecal coliform levels are below the FDA's health-based standard of 88 parts per 100 milliliters. Tests must also reveal that metal levels are within the FDA guidelines and that levels of viral indicators are acceptable as well.

Eugene Blvd. residents will get speed humps

BY JENNIFER DOME
Staff Writer

SAYREVILLE — The Borough Council voted to move forward with the installation of speed humps on Eugene Boulevard after the results of a survey about the devices were given to nearby residents.

According to borough officials, the majority of Eugene Boulevard residents said they were in favor of installing temporary speed humps, which will serve as a test to see if the devices help to slow down drivers on their street. However, residents of nearby streets who answered the survey were against installing the speed humps, borough officials said.

Councilman Thomas Marcinczyk said that the reason the council chose to purchase temporary speed humps was to see if the devices will help stop speeding and to determine if they produce an adverse reaction. If the speed humps create a problem they can always be removed, the councilman said.

The council will allow the police department's Traffic Safety Bureau, which administered the survey, to determine where the speed humps should be placed on Eugene Boulevard.

Borough Chief Financial Officer and acting Business Administrator Wayne Kronowski said he is uncertain when the temporary speed humps will be installed.

Speed humps are an elongated version of speed bumps and reach farther across the roadway, according to Eugene Boulevard resident Michael Brodziak, who has been working with the council and other residents to get these devices installed. A speed hump rises gradually and falls back down more smoothly than a speed bump.

The Borough Council allocated no more than $15,000 for the temporary speed humps, which will first be tested on Eugene Boulevard. The speed humps may be tested on other streets throughout the borough in the future, according to borough officials.

The vote to allocate funding was taken in December, with four council members approving and Councilman John Melillo voting against it. Then-Councilman Vincent Zarcaro abstained. Melillo has said that he voted against the speed hump resolution because the cost of the temporary version was too high.

In August, the Borough Council was considering a resolution to provide five permanent speed humps for Eugene Boulevard. However, the council decided unanimously to table the resolution until further research into the safety of speed humps could be completed.

Resident and borough Emergency Squad volunteer Mary Novak presented a letter to the council in August requesting that the squad be considered before the speed humps are installed. According to Novak, the speed humps could potentially stall the squad's response time and may cause pain to their patients.

The permanent speed humps, which would cost approximately $1,200 each, would have been used on Eugene Boulevard as a trial street, borough officials said.

Councilman Thomas Pollando has said that while there has been controversy over where to install the devices, or if they are even safe, there is no way to know for certain unless they are tested.

Police arrest man after fight at Kmart checkout

BY SUE M. MORGAN
Staff Writer

OLD BRIDGE — An argument that ensued when a female customer allegedly pushed ahead of a man in a checkout line at Kmart on Route 9 Sunday night resulted in a violent altercation and the subsequent arrest of the woman's boyfriend.

Michael L. Jewett, 42, of Raritan Street in the Cliffwood section of Aberdeen, was arrested at 9:20 p.m. Sunday in the store's parking lot by Officer Vincent Galgano after he was apprehended by Sayreville police in the vacated Home Depot parking lot further north on Route 9.

Jewett was charged with aggravated assault on a 36-year old Woodbridge Township man, who police said sustained multiple lacerations and a broken nose in the 8:53 p.m. incident.

According to reports, the alleged victim told police that as he was waiting in a check-out line, a female, later identified as Jewett's girlfriend, cut in front of him and placed her duffel bag on the counter in front of his purchases.

The man reportedly advised the woman that he was ahead of her in line. When the woman would not yield, a verbal exchange began between the two, according to police reports which incorporated statements from witnesses.

Jewett, who had been waiting nearby for his girlfriend, then came over to the check-out line and confronted the alleged victim, punching him several times, according to the police report. After the victim fell on the floor, the 6-foot-1-inch-tall, 280-pound Jewett kicked him, according to police and witness reports.

After the suspect left the store and got into a waiting Mitsubishi, a store employee took down the vehicle's license plate number. Police traced the registration to Jewett's girlfriend, a South River resident.

Sayreville police, who had been notified of the suspect's escape, apprehended Jewett as his girlfriend drove through the empty Home Depot lot. The vacated store is located in Old Bridge near the Sayreville border.

Jewett's girlfriend has not been charged in connection with the incident.

Jewett was taken back to the Kmart by Old Bridge Police Officer Thomas Montagna, where Galgano handcuffed him and took him into custody.

Upon reaching police headquarters, Jewett was found to have outstanding warrants for $1,410 from Shrewsbury, Monmouth County, $1,500 from Woodbridge, and $300 from Newark. His bail was set at $15,000 as of Sunday night.

The alleged victim was treated at the scene for lacerations by first aid squad members and subsequently transported to Raritan Bay Medical Center, Perth Amboy division.

Parties name candidates for '03 municipal election

BY JENNIFER DOME
Staff Writer

SAYREVILLE — The local Democratic and Republican parties have announced the candidates they will run for two seats on the Borough Council and the position of mayor.

The Republican Party nominated Mayor Kennedy O'Brien to run for another four-year term as chief administrator of the borough.

Although both Democratic Councilman Thomas Marcinczyk and former Democratic Councilwoman Mary Novak were screened before the Democratic Party on April 2, it will be Marcinczyk who will go up against O'Brien.

The party members voted 34-25 in favor of running Marcinczyk for mayor.

The council seats belonging to Phyllis Batko and John Melillo are also up for reelection in November, and while the two ran together on the Republican ticket three years ago, they will represent different parties this time around.

Melillo will be on the Republican slate for the council along with Stanley Drwal, a resident of Bissett Street.

Batko, who defected to the Democratic Party last year, will run for election with Hector DeFino of Colombia Place.

Receiving the nomination from the Democratic Party was not easy for Batko.

According to the councilwoman, she believed she had met the criteria to screen for the candidacy under the party's bylaws. However, she said she was later told during a candidate's night March 30 that she could not participate in the event and could not screen before the party.

As a result, Batko went to the state Superior Court in New Brunswick and was granted an order that allowed her to screen for the nomination.

"The judge said that the bylaws were quite clear and that I met the criteria to screen," Batko said.

"I believe that everyone should be afforded the opportunity to participate in this process," Batko added.

Democratic Party Chairman John Wisniewski, an assemblyman with the 19th legislative district, said he had no comment on the screening process.

The Borough Council is presently made up of four Democrats and two Republicans, in addition to the Republican mayor.

Family of Navy reservist overwhelmed by support

Wife of Old Bridge man now serving in Kuwait due to give birth in May

BY SUE M. MORGAN
Staff Writer

OLD BRIDGE — Seven-year-old Taylor Mitchell treasures her child-size T-shirt from the Hard Rock Cafe in Kuwait City, and a stuffed camel, both gifts from her father who is now serving with the U.S. Navy Reserve.

Taylor's brother, Scott Jr., 5, eagerly explained how servicemen hide inside a man-made bunker of sandbags when they suspect they could be attacked.

His mother, Barbara, showed him a photograph sent home by his father of the sandbag bunkers.

"Take cover!" Scott excitedly shouted, imitating an actual attack in the desert.

The children's father, Scott Mitchell, a U.S. Navy reservist ranked as an AO2 (aviation ordnance 2nd class), has asked Scott Jr. to watch over Barbara while he is away for an undetermined amount of time in Kuwait.

"Keep mommy safe," Scott Jr. said, repeating his father's directions.

Scott Jr., Taylor, their teenage sister Morgan, and even the family's black Labrador retriever, Marino, have all risen to the occasion of protecting their mother.

Barbara, who is proud of her children's resilience, wants her neighbors, family members and friends to know that she is eternally grateful for all the assistance they have provided, from helping out around the house to running the kids around to their numerous activities.

Morgan, 17, an Old Bridge High School junior, is now preparing for her prom, which will be held tomorrow night. Taylor, a second-grader at Grissom Elementary School, will receive First Communion at St. Thomas the Apostle Roman Catholic Church on May 4. Scott Jr. will graduate from Tiny Tykes preschool later this spring.

All three children are involved in various sporting activities through the Old Bridge Rams and Cheesequake Baseball Association.

Perhaps most life-altering, Barbara is expected to give birth to a fourth child on May 22, and hopes that Scott can be present for that event.

"I keep praying that he may be able to come home for the baby's birth," said Barbara, who wears a small yellow ribbon on her blouse.

Scott, whose reserve unit is stationed at the Earle Weapons Station in Colts Neck, has been in Kuwait since Jan. 3. The Mitchell family last gathered together, as a cherished photograph shows, in Yorktown, Va., where they spent a post-Christmas vacation.

After that visit, Scott, 39, boarded a chartered bus that took him and other members of the Atlantic Ordnance Command, Detachment Earle Navy, away to prepare for Operation Iraqi Freedom. The operation was launched by American and British forces on March 19.

Through satellite telephone calls and letters, Barbara and the children know that Scott and his command, known in military terms as the Landordcom Expeditionary Force (LEF), are living at "Camp Patriot"

in Kuwait.

Soon after his arrival, Scott sent home photographs showing the huge tent that now serves as his temporary quarters, other members of his command at work, and a truck he drives through the desert.

Scott is not engaged in actual combat, but loads and unloads rockets and other ordnance onto trucks that are driven through the desert by U.S. Marines, Barbara explained.

Back at home, Scott is employed as a Conrail locomotive engineer and as a real estate agent for Gabrielle Realty in Milltown.

Cards and letters to Barbara and all the children have arrived on an ongoing basis, even if they have been somewhat delayed.

"The mail is held for six weeks," Barbara explained.

Taylor said she enjoys reading her father's cards over and over again.

"I miss you," Taylor read from one. "Be good."

On Sunday, Taylor returned from Ohio where she participated in a junior cheer-

The time has come to take a hard look at the future of Education in Old Bridge Schools.

For the past thirty two years I have worked to improve the quality of education in this township of Old Bridge. Because of myself and many other dedicated Board of Education Members that I have had the pleasure to work with, we have created a school environment where children can come and learn in secure clean well staffed buildings. Where the latest technology is available to assist them and to allow them to access the world. We have been able to boast of our Graduates who have been accepted in the most prestigious Universities and Academies and have met success in all fields of endeavor. They have gone on to become Doctors, Lawyers, NASA Engineers, Scientists, corporate Business Leaders, they are successful on television and the Motion Picture Industry as actors, musicians and Rock-Stars. There is hardly an Automotive Garage or hair salon that is not either owned or has employees who received their education in our comprehensive High School. I have worked unrelentingly to try to make our schools the best possible despite the fact that over the past three decades we lost nearly a third of the aid we were formerly receiving. I'm angry that this will make the third year we are at the same level of state aid even though our enrollment continues to grow through circumstances beyond our control. I am seeking an eleventh term because I believe I have exhibited my devotion to education and I pledge that I will do whatever is humanly possible to contain spending and make achievement rate increase my primary goal. I will provide the resources necessary for success ie; well qualified, committed teachers with the tools to get the job done and not waste our precious resources on political patronage and nepotism. Over the past three plus decades I have served on the local Board of Education and as President and Vice President, I have chaired all Committees and many state Committees, was Middlesex County Board of Education, Vice President. I serve as a Member of the Representative Assembly of the Educational Services Commission and have earned the certification as Master Board member. I have committed the better part of my life to the improvement of education in Old Bridge and have come a long way but, we must continue to focus on making sure no child is left behind. I would truly appreciate your consideration on April 15th. My ballot position is #1.

leading competition with her squad, the Comet All-Stars. Because Barbara had to remain at home, Taylor's aunt and her mother's sister, Denise, escorted her to the competition. The squad took second place, and Taylor made sure she told her father later that night.

"Dad said, 'Whoa!'" Taylor recalled happily.

Though Scott does not have access to the Internet or e-mail, Taylor said she has called him approximately every two days via a satellite telephone.

"He can't call me," she said.

On Valentine's Day, Scott had access to a telephone for 15 minutes, Barbara said. He called home and then called Old Bridge Florist to order flowers to be delivered to his family. After placing his order, Scott passed the telephone to a few of the other men in his command, said Barbara. Several of those men also reside in Middlesex County or in Staten Island, N.Y. They, too, ordered flowers for delivery to their families, Barbara said.

In addition to the T-shirts, stuffed animals and other souvenirs Scott has sent home, Barbara and the three children have received gold dog tag-type pendants, each engraved with their names.

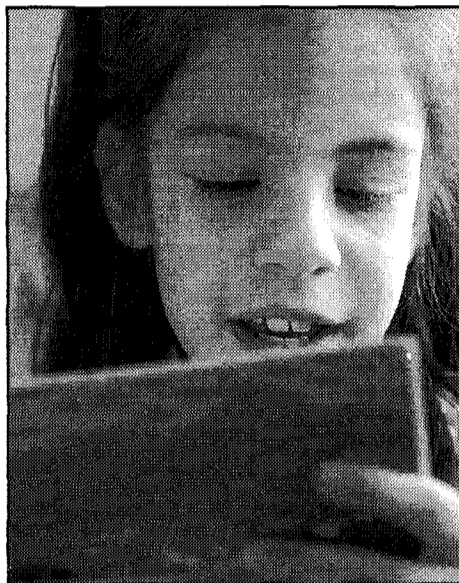

Barbara's necklace is engraved with the words "Barbara and Scott."

"He's a keeper," she noted.

Neighbors, relatives and the children's schoolmates and teachers have rallied ordinance in place, Zoning Board Director Kiran Desai said.

"In the absence of the proper zoning for active adult housing, this board has come to the conclusion that five units per acre should be the guideline for this type of development," Desai said before casting his affirmative vote.

However, board member Jim Galante, who cast the sole dissenting vote, disagreed with his colleagues.

"I feel [this development] is a little too dense for this area," Galante said.

Of the 285 age-restricted units, 180 will be three-story townhouses and the remaining 105 will be mid-rise houses, according to John Truhan, a civil engineer and licensed professional planner who has testified on behalf of Kara Homes.

A 7,500-square-foot recreational center, as well as a swimming pool, a putting green, and two tennis courts are also included in the plans, Truhan said.

In accordance with the federal government's guidelines for age-restricted housing, prospective buyers and residents would have to be at least 55 years old, according to McGowan. No one under age 19 would be permitted to live in the complex and none of the units will be available for rental, he added.

Unit prices in the community would range from $220,000 for the smaller condominiums to $300,000 for the townhouses. There will be no "affordable housing" units in the community, though the developer will make a donation to help the township meet its state Coalition on Affordable Housing (COAH) requirements, McGowan has said.

If constructed, Birch Hill Estates would have an assessed value of $95 million, amounting to a $3 million tax benefit, according to Roy Deboer, a Monroe Township-based planner who testified before the board Thursday night.

Sale of the property by Birch Hill's owner, longtime nightclub impresario Art Stock, is dependent upon the applicant's receipt of all required approvals from both Old Bridge and Marlboro, as well as Middlesex and Monmouth counties and other entities, McGowan has noted.

Stock put the property, including its 32-year-old nightclub, up for sale in January 2001.

The nightclub has been operating without a liquor license since September 2001, and holds many all-ages concerts. The state division of Alcoholic Beverage Control (ABC) revoked the license due to Stock's 1990 horse-racing fraud conviction.

Although some township officials had said they would prefer to see a light industrial or office complex on the site, McGowan previously told the board that such a project would generate $44 million in tax revenue, less than half of the expected tax benefit of the age-restricted community.

Joe Sarno, a licensed real estate broker with the firm of Cushman & Wakefield, who also appeared as an expert witness on the applicant's behalf, stated during a January hearing that the site lacks visibility from Route 9 and would be difficult for employees and clients to identify from the road.

Similar competing commercial development and a lack of demand for office space in the real estate market would also hinder any chance of commercial uses succeeding at the Birch Hill site, Sarno has said.

around the Mitchells ever since Scott left for duty. From shoveling snow, cutting grass and making home repairs to placing yellow ribbons around the neighborhood, the community has stepped up, Barbara said.

"Our neighbors watch out for us," Barbara said. "Everyone has been wonderful."

Taylor's teachers and classmates at Grissom Elementary School have sent cards and letters to Scott, as have Scott Jr.'s classmates and teachers at Tiny Tykes.

In addition, Taylor's Brownie troop drew pictures and sent letters to the men in Scott's unit. Barbara, a Girl Scout troop leader, remembered how the young girls reacted when their letters were answered.

"The kids were thrilled because [the letters] came from Taylor's dad," she said.

Barbara's troop co-leader, Sue Karpiak, even organized a surprise baby shower with the assistance of several of the Brownies.

Morgan's teachers and schoolmates have also been available to talk with her about the void left by her father's temporary absence.

"My friends at school have helped so much," Morgan said.

Bob Waitt, a counselor at the high school, has continuously checked with Morgan and the family as a whole, Barbara said.

"I can't say enough about him," she said.

Parents and teammates from the Old Bridge Rams organization and the Cheesequake Baseball Association have helped transport the children to games and other events, Barbara said.

"They said, 'If you need anything, just call.'"

In Kuwait, Scott was pleased to hear of the community's outpouring of generosity and support for his family, and he wants to publicly thank them, Barbara said.

Whenever Scott does return, Morgan promised to have plenty of photographs from her prom at the Garden Manor in Aberdeen.

"The prom has been everything I've been expecting," Morgan said. "I wish my dad was here for it."

Even though Taylor's First Communion will go off as planned, the little girl decided not to have a party following the church ceremony unless her father was able to attend, her mother said.

"She doesn't want to have a party without daddy," Barbara said.

The Navy has also provided ongoing support to the Mitchells and other families of servicemen and -women who are on active duty, Barbara said.

Even though Barbara would rather have Scott at home, she said she sees the war as necessary. The troops are doing what they have to do and are doing it well, she said.

At Earle, Barbara has often stood by as other Navy families sent loved ones off to duty. That experience has always been heart-wrenching, she said. Now she knows, personally, what that experience.

"You feel for everyone and you feel for the soldiers because no one expects to go to war," she said.

The family on a whole has seen that unfortunate circumstances can bring out the best in a community.

"We've even heard from people we don't know," Barbara said. "We have wonderful neighbors, friends and family in this community."

Sohor's involvement in race for mayor now uncertain

BY SUE M. MORGAN
Staff Writer

OLD BRIDGE — Despite an earlier announcement, Planning Board Chairman Roman Sohor did not file a nominating petition to run for mayor by the 4 p.m. deadline on Monday.

Most municipal offices did close at 2 p.m. Monday due to the unexpected April snowstorm, but Township Clerk Rose-Marie Saracino remained at work until 4 p.m. just in case Sohor or any other candidate interested in filing a nominating petition should brave the elements to do so.

At press time, efforts to reach Sohor, who is retired, for this story were unsuccessful.

If Sohor, who announced his candidacy on March 18, has abandoned his plans to run for mayor, he has not told Ward 5

Councilman Richard Greene, who expected to face him in the June primary for the Republican nomination.

Greene, the local party's choice for mayor, told the Suburban Tuesday night that he also had tried to reach Sohor by telephone but could not.

Uncertain why Sohor did not file a nominating petition, Greene said he wished his expected challenger well and expressed hope that he would stand behind him and the three candidates the party has endorsed for township council.

"I would hope that in not filing [a petition], it is a sign that he is willing to support the ticket that was approved by the Republican Party," Greene said.

"I hope he'll continue to support the Republican Party and the ticket selected so that the party will be victorious in November," he said.

Greene expressed doubt that Sohor could be considering a run as an independent candidate.

"It would be more advantageous to him to support the Republican Party," he said.

Greene could now run uncontested for the Republican nomination.

The winner of the June primary is also expected to run against the sole Democratic candidate, Middlesex County Treasurer and former two-term Democratic county freeholder James T. "Jim" Phillips.

The candidates are seeking to succeed outgoing Mayor Barbara Cannon, who announced on March 11 that she would not seek a fourth consecutive term.

Cannon, a Republican, has previously stated her own personal support of Sohor, a former Ward 2 councilman who lost his seat in 2001.

Upon announcing his decision to run, Sohor had expressed a desire to continue some of the initiatives first brought forward by the 12-year Cannon administration.

Three Republican newcomers, Amelia Mannino-Pellicone, Robert Sucarato and Peter Trabucco, are expected to challenge incumbent Democrat councilmen Dennis Maher and Edward Testino and Economic Development Corp. Chairman Patrick M. Gillespie for three at-large council seats. The council is dominated by Democrats, 7-2.

Gillespie joined the race after a third incumbent, Council Vice President Lawrence Redmond, dropped out of the race citing family obligations.

EYESITE

By Robert M. Scharfman, M.D., F.A.A.O.

FREE LASIK SEMINAR

The latest techniques in vision correction utilize wave front imaging technology to customize the laser treatment to the individual. These systems shine tiny lights into the eye and analyze the reflection. Utilizing advanced mathematical analysis of these reflections, a computer can then guide the laser to microscopically reshape the front surface of the eye to provide the highest quality vision. Though we routinely consider 20/20 vision normal, it is possible to end up with better than 20/20 vision. In fact, we know based upon the spacing of the photoreceptors inside the eye that is theoretically possible to see 20/10 or twice what we consider normal vision.

We will be holding a Laser Vision Correction seminar on April 30th at 6:30 pm at the Raritan Bay Medical Center in Old Bridge, in Auxiliary Hall B. At the seminar you can learn more about the procedure and its benefits. Space is limited so call us, Atlantic Medical Eye Care at (732) 607-0555 to reserve your spot. Or visit us on the web at www.NULASIKMD.com.

SPRING HOME & GARDEN

Have a kitchen that is functional and beautiful

Manufacturers' Direct Kitchen Cabinets will help you with this goal

BY JO-ANN LAMON RECCOPPA
Correspondent

The heart of every home is its kitchen, but ugly, outdated styles and designs can make the heart of your home the least inviting room in the house. When it's time to remodel, you'll need to draw on years of experience and expert installation. Let Manufacturers' Direct Kitchen Cabinets, at 1314 Englishtown Road in Old Bridge, transform that drab kitchen to one that will make you proud.

With more than 30 years of experience selling and installing new kitchen cabinets, Bob Plesniak knows there's more to creating beautiful kitchens than meets the eye.

"The process isn't just ripping out the old and replacing it with the new," he explains. "After basic measurements, you have to consider your needs, as well as your preferences in changing the design and layout, cabinet style, color, molding and hardware. Add to that the seemingly endless choices in durable, attractive materials for counter tops and back splashes, and the process can seem overwhelming at times."

But with Manufacturers' Direct expert advice and fine workmanship, the process can go smoothly.

Manufacturers' Direct sells and installs quality cabinets from dependable manufacturers such as Custom Wood Products, Hanssem, Medallion and Diamond. The designs range from homey rustic to sophisticated Metropolitan. All offer an endless variety of options, accessories, and modifications that can be tailored to meet your exact needs, making your kitchen as functional as it is beautiful.

"The choices are so diverse that there is a perfect combination to suit any taste," says Plesniak.

With wood being the most popular choice, there are many options and styles from which to choose — maple, oak, cherry, hickory, or options such as natural, country, ivory, or even mahogany. Raised insert panels, rails, and beaded molding all add to the feel of a new kitchen. Those who want low-maintenance will love thermofoil, which keeps its sleek good looks for years using easy, regular household cleaners.

Countertops are stunning and highly durable in Corian, Style Stone, and granite, in a wide range of colors. For granite, you get to pick the actual slab your counter will be cut from, getting a shade that is uniquely your own. Laminated Formica is also available, for those who want great looks while still maintaining the household budget.

Because Manufacturers' Direct is a family-owned and -operated business, every job, regardless of size or cost, is important. Their reputation rests on satisfied customers, and has for many years.

To learn more about the transformation Manufacturers' Direct Kitchen Cabinets can perform in your kitchen, call (732) 723-9440, or stop by the showroom. Hours are Tuesday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Newest ceiling fans offer function and form

Ceiling fans have long been a home improvement favorite. They help reduce the need for air conditioning and can maximize a higher air conditioning temperature by circulating the air in warm weather. In cooler temperatures, reversible fan motors can help push warm air down from ceilings, making heating more efficient.

However, not long ago, homeowners had a limited number of choices when it came to ceiling fans. Do you remember those old-fashioned, usually white or oak and brass style ceiling fans? Light kits, if available, usually resembled gangly spider legs tipped by spotlights.

The good news is that today, ceiling fans are no longer just functional elements in a room, but a statement of style. Now available with an array of new options in technology and incorporating elements from the latest trends in home fashion into their overall design, today's ceiling fans have become true decorative accessories to a room's décor, and may actually help anchor a room's theme. The Monte Carlo Fan Co., for example, brings trends from the furniture and home accessories industries into the home with innovative ceiling fan styles and the latest technology to help homeowners create a look within their home that speaks of their personal style.

The company offers a range of styles, from exotic hand-painted animal prints to natural rattans, and like them, there are other decorative and quality manufacturers creating fans with detail not only in the fan blade, but carried right onto the motor housing to create a well-designed fixture.

These new design influences are not limited only to the form of the fan, but to its function as well. Blade sweep, which impacts air movement, varies from 34-inch to 60-inch depending on the manufacturer. Blade sweep variations make it easier to select a fan based on the size of the room. And, whether you have a high, low or slanted ceiling, there is a fan out there for you. Do you have an outdoor patio or screened-in porch? There are plenty of attractive outdoor fans to suit your needs, like the Peninsula from Monte Carlo Fan Co. The fan features blades in woven rattan in three variations of color and metal finish.

Incorporating elements from the latest home fashion trends into their overall design, ceiling fans are no longer just functional elements in a room, but a statement in style.

There are also a range of lighting options available including leaded Tiffany styles, arts and crafts geometrics, Victorian frosted glass, and tulip shapes, to retro blue and warm and creamy cappuccino. You can add a light kit to increase the illumination of a room and let personal style shine through.

Redmond out; Gillespie in

BY SUE M. MORGAN

OLD BRIDGE — Undaunted by Councilman Lawrence Redmond's decision to withdraw his bid for re-election to the Township Council, the local Democratic Party has placed its support behind Economic Development Corp. Chairman Patrick M. Gillespie to run in the incumbent's place.

Gillespie, who previously served for four years as a councilman in the 1990s, screened to run for the at-large seat in front of the township's Democratic Party Thursday night at a quickly assembled meeting at the George J. Bush Senior Center. Gillespie's own decision to run for council came within hours of Redmond's calls to party leaders stating that he would leave the race.

Redmond, currently the council's vice president, told the Suburban on Friday that a desire to spend more time with his family prompted him to end his candidacy.

The councilman's wife, Karen, and two children, Lawrence Jr., 10, and Mary Ellen, 5, are involved in a myriad of school and community activities, Redmond said.

In short, while he has enjoyed being a councilman for the past four years, Redmond wants to be available to participate in his family's many activities, he explained.

"Being a councilman takes a lot of time," Redmond said.

"If I can't give 100 percent [to being a councilman], then I would be doing the

Voter polls conducted since he first declared his candidacy on March 24 had been favorable, he pointed out.

"I believe I was electable," he said.

Nonetheless, the duties of serving on council took considerable time away from home, Redmond stated.

"[Serving on council] takes a lot of your time," Redmond said. "When it takes you away from your family that much, it takes its toll."

A maintenance manager for Old Bridge Chemicals, Redmond, 53, noted that he will remain active in the Democratic Party and the community as a whole even after his term ends on Dec. 31.

Redmond is pleased that Gillespie has stepped up to the plate and plans to support his successor.

"I certainly support Pat," Redmond said. "I wish him luck in the primary election. I know he'll be a great candidate."

Gillespie, 36, will run for the council alongside two other Democratic incumbents, Councilmen Dennis Maher and Edward Testino. Both Maher and Testino are seeking a third consecutive term.

A lifelong Old Bridge resident who won his first election to council at the age of 25, Gillespie is now employed as a senior policy analyst for the state Senate in Trenton. He also serves as a commissioner on the township's housing authority.

As was the case in the 1990s, the township, and the rest of the country, have fallen on difficult economic times again.

"I served on the council before in tough times," Gillespie said. "We're in tough times again."

"I have a lot to offer," he continued. "I'm committed to doing something about the issues of importance to Old Bridge voters."

Those issues of most interest to local voters include holding the line on government spending, controlling suburban sprawl and overdevelopment, and bringing new, clean ratables into the township to offset the residential tax burden, he said.

Old Bridge will have a new mayor next year, given that present Mayor Barbara Cannon, a Republican, has decided not to run for re-election to a fourth consecutive term.

As of now, Ward 5 Councilman Richard Greene is seeking the Republican nomination for mayor. It was not clear at press time if Planning Board Chairman Roman Sohor would also run.

On the Democrat side, the party has stood behind its sole candidate, Middlesex County Treasurer James T. "Jim" Phillips.

Whichever way the mayoral election goes, Gillespie believes the Township Council should use the change in leadership to its advantage.

"I think we have an opportunity to chart a new course for the town," Gillespie said. "It's important that we have people who can work together."

Gillespie believes he has managed to work successfully over the years with both Democrats and Republicans, including Cannon.

Gillespie previously chaired the township's Democratic Party and unsuccessfully ran for a 13th District state Assembly seat in both 1995 and 1999. Yet on both of those tries, Gillespie had strong support in the township, which is part of the staunchly Republican district dominated by Monmouth County's Bayshore region.

"I've been a proven vote-getter three times now," Gillespie said.

Gillespie, Maher and Testino are expected to run against three Republican newcomers, Amelia Mannino-Pellicone, Robert Sugarato and Peter Trabucco.

Gillespie holds a bachelor of arts degree in political science from Siena College, near Albany, N.Y. He is married with three daughters.

Superintendent tells council school budget is bare bones

BY JENNIFER DOME
Staff Writer

SAYREVILLE — Residents will vote Tuesday on the school district's budget with a 24-cent tax increase, as well as a separate question that tacks on an additional 4 cents.

The increase from $1.79 to $2.03 per $100 of assessed value means the owner of property assessed at the borough average of $138,000 will pay an additional $331 under the proposed base budget.

Superintendent of Schools Dennis Fyffe presented the proposed budget to members of the Borough Council at Monday's agenda meeting.

"For the first time in years we're spending what is mandated for a thorough and efficient education," Fyffe said, referring to the state requirement that guides the amount of money districts should spend per pupil.

This year the Board of Education was not able to use surplus funds to balance the tax increase, Fyffe said. Therefore, if borough residents vote down the budget on April 15, the council will not be able to use the surplus funds to lower the tax rate.

If residents vote against the separate question, which includes $960,500 for capital improvements, the district will not be able to complete any of the projects listed in the question, Fyffe said. If residents vote down the base budget, which totals just under $60 million, the Borough Council will have to review the budget and make cuts, or vote to pass the budget as the district has proposed.

"Dennis, I think this is going to be a hard sell this year on the budget," Mayor Kennedy O'Brien told Fyffe at Monday's agenda meeting.

Fyffe said that a large chunk of the original budget was cut by the school board already, and that after the initial cuts, board members asked him to find another $1 million to cut as well. The only option he had at that point was to eliminate 13 teaching positions, he said. He said that cutting the positions would result in increased class sizes, something he and the board felt would pose a hardship on the students' educational experience.

School board President Kevin Ciak said that in an effort to save money, the board considered making the district's full-day kindergarten program a separate question on the ballot. This would have allowed taxpayers a choice between full-day and half-day kindergarten, a difference of $450,000, Ciak said.

However, the board decided to include full-day kindergarten in the base budget, as it has for years, because the program is too important for the children, Ciak said.

The second question would up the tax increase by 4 cents, resulting in an additional $55 for the owner of property assessed at the borough average. Capital improvement projects covered in the separate question include $75,000 to replace the visitor bleachers and expand the press box at the high school athletic field off Washington Road. The district also wants to spend $290,500 to replace carpeting at the high school and floors at the middle school on Washington Road, Wilson School on Dane Street and Eisenhower School on Ernston Road.

Besides flooring replacements at four of the district's six schools, the largest projects in the second question include $225,000 to replace a boiler at Eisenhower and $175,000 for a new roof at Wilson. Lavatories will be upgraded at Emma L. Arleth School on Washington Road, Eisenhower, and the high school for a total of $115,000, and the girl's locker room at the middle school will be improved for $60,000 if voters approve the second question.

The facilities budget also calls for $20,000 of improvements at Arleth School, namely resurfacing a parking lot.

Voters can cast their votes on the base budget and separate question, as well as on the Board of Education candidates, between 7 a.m. and 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Old Bridge boys pick up right where they left off

Flurry of local teams earn top finishes at GMC Coaches Invitational

BY DOUG MCKENZIE
Staff Writer

The local high school track and field season got off to a fast start last weekend with the Greater Middlesex Coaches Invitational at Frank Jost Field in South Plainfield.

The meet offered the first glimpse at this year's top local athletes, with some familiar names heading the list of top finishers.

The Old Bridge boys entered the season as the top-ranked boys' team once again, with a slew of talented athletes returning from last year's championship squad. On Saturday, they served notice that they have every intention of defending their title, as they dominated the Division II boys' competition, recording six wins in the nine track events.

In the 4x100 relay, the foursome of Kenny Goode, Brandon Nolen, Dave DePalma and Anthony DePalma scorched the competition, winning by four seconds over second-place Sayreville (43.1-47.1). East Brunswick took third in the event.

The foursome came back to win the 4x200, posting a time of 1:29.7, nearly five seconds in front of second-place South Plainfield.

In the 4x400, Scott Gordon and Ron Green got into the action, teaming with the DePalma brothers to win the event in 3:26.9, nearly six seconds in front of second-place South Plainfield. East Brunswick took fourth in the event (3:42.5).

Old Bridge also showed its strength in the distance events, starting with the 4x1,600, where Rich Lafergola, Ryan Bennett, Pat Bennett and Chris DeLeon ran away with the race, crossing the line in 18:50.2. South Brunswick was second in 19:35.9, followed by East Brunswick (20:30.7). Lafergola, Gordon, DeLeon and Ryan Bennett then teamed up to win the distance medley (11:10.58), beating second-place St. Joseph's of Metuchen by just three seconds. East Brunswick was fourth in the event.

The Knights' final win came in the sprint medley, where Joel Scarano, Paul Portalatin, Justin Conklin and Ken Pascale finished a second ahead of Manalapan, and over eight seconds ahead of third-place East Brunswick.

Although the Knights were dominant in winning six track events, they made their presence felt in some of the remaining events as well, taking third in the 4x800, and second in the shot put and javelin. It was a strong start for the GMC's top team, and will likely serve as a premonition of things to come this season.

While East Brunswick spent much of the day chasing the Old Bridge stand-outs, the Bears captured a couple of wins of their own, starting with the 4x800 relay, where Alex Shatskov, the GMC's top cross country runner this past fall, teamed with Cliff Gerber, Ryan Williams and Lucas Welsh to win the event in 8:21.5, over 16 seconds ahead of second-place Manalapan.

The Bears' second win of the day came in the shot put, where James Correa and Juan Bsitran combined for a distance of 90-1 to beat Old Bridge's tandem by nearly 5 feet.

Sayreville's lone win on the day came in the javelin, where Matt Bodak and Steve Aich easily topped the field with a combined distance of 320-5. Old Bridge was second with a distance of 274-3.

While the Old Bridge boys dominated the Division II competition, Matawan and J.F. Kennedy of Iselin topped the field in the Division I competition, taking turns winning all 15 events. For the day, Matawan was the big winner, winning 10 events to JFK's five.

The Old Bridge girls' team also entered Saturday's competition as the top-ranked team in the GMC, but it was South Brunswick that stole the show at South Plainfield, winning the Division II competition on the strength of five first-place finishes (4x100, 4x200, shuttle hurdles, high jump and long jump).

But the Lady Knights did nothing to diminish their expectations this season, winning a pair of events and getting top finishes in several others.

The Knights' first win came in the 4x800, where Stephanie Zotolli, Danielle Haggiag, Stephanie Lafergola and Kaitlyn Regan won in 10:19.2, well ahead of second-place Edison (10:52.6).

Regan, Zotolli and Lafergola then came back to team with Mara McInerney to win the 4x1,600 in 22:50.9, nearly two minutes ahead of second-place East Brunswick (24:47.3).

Though those were the only two wins on the day for Old Bridge, the Knights also took home second-place finishes in the 4x200 and shot put, and third-place finishes in the 4x100, javelin and discus.

The Sayreville Bombers took home three first-place finishes, starting with the 3x400 hurdles team of Laura Fiorentino, Jen Kotsy and Megan Miller, who won the event in 3:51.1, over eight seconds ahead of second-place East Brunswick (3:59.9). Sayreville also got wins from Nicole Vassallo and Amy Bodak, who threw a combined distance of 197-10 in the javelin to beat out Bloomfield (180-11), and Jessica Tirpak and Tracy Clark, who won the shot put with a combined distance of 64-7.

East Brunswick's girls got a pair of wins as well, starting with the distance medley, where Christine Tischio, Christine Buszcak, Chrissy Sollecito and Roxanne Ingram won in 14:22.9, well ahead of second-place Sayreville (15:09.9). The Bears also won a gold medal in the 4x400, where Brittany Hohn, Brooke Kahn, Sophia White and Christine Burzlesak won in 4:31.3.

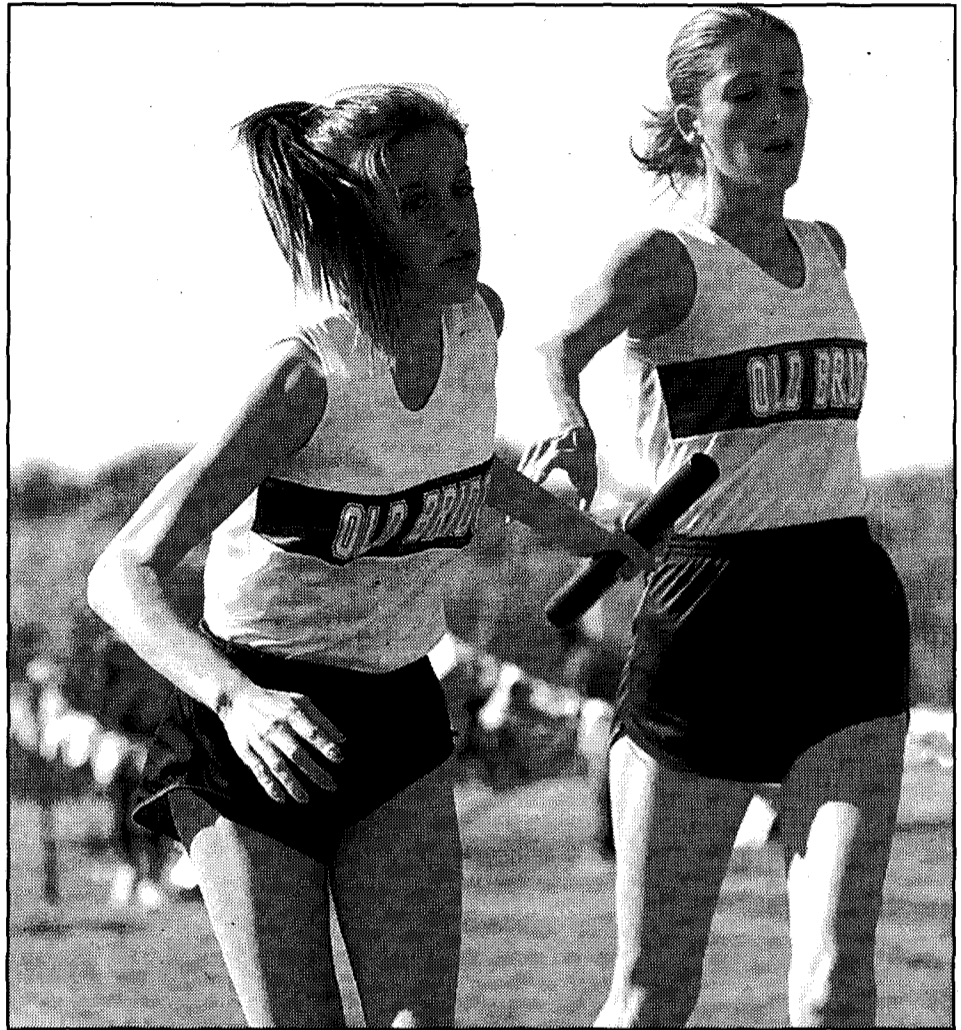

The Bears also took second in the 4x100, 4x1,600, shuttle hurdles and 3x400 hurdles.

In Division I competition, both the Spotswood Chargers and Monroe Falcons enjoyed successful outings, as Monroe claimed two gold medals, while Spotswood earned one first-place and a trio of top three finishes.

Monroe's wins came in the sprint medley, where Meghan Farrell, Ashley Theinart, Kristi Magid and Nova Roman crossed the line in 4:38.5 (five seconds in front of second-place Matawan), and in the distance medley, where Liz Segarra teamed with Theinart, Farrell and Roman to win in 13:36.6, nearly two full minutes in front of second-place Highland Park (15:24.3).

Monroe also did well in a pair of field events, taking second in the javelin and third in the discus.

As for Spotswood, their lone win came in the 4x800, where Kathy DeVries, Tracy

JERRY WOLKOWITZ

Old Bridge's Danielle Haggiag and Mara McInerney helped the Knights win the 4x1,600 relay at Saturday's GMC Coaches Invitational at South Plainfield High School, and will be key components to the Knights' season this year as they look to make their No. 1 ranking in the conference stand up.

Evans, Nicole Lopresti and Theresa Litchman won in 12:59.8. Spotswood also scored second-place finishes in the 4x100, 4x400 and shot put, and a third-place finish in the 3x400 hurdles.

This weekend, a number of local teams will travel to Matawan to participate in the Huskie Relays, one of the biggest early-season events on the track and field schedule.

Spotswood team has some high hopes for this spring

The appalling April weather has cut down on court time, but so far the Spotswood High School boys' tennis team has managed to squeeze in two matches, losing to Middlesex in the opener and defeating Dunellen last Thursday.

"We have an experienced team," said coach Gary Floyd, whose Chargers went 5-11 overall last spring. "We've only lost two starters from last year."

The first singles player is junior Kyle Feldenkneiss, who has been taking lessons regularly, and it shows.

"He's really got every shot," said Floyd, "nice ground strokes, and a real strong serve."

The other singles entries are also juniors. Brendan Cyrus has come on like gangbusters, moving up to No. 2 from second doubles. A hockey goalie, large and athletic, Cyrus is extremely competitive, according to his coach.

At third singles, Steve Draikiwicz has been solid, also benefiting from lessons.

"Our first doubles team could be our strength," said Floyd.

That would be senior Bryan Nesi and sophomore Miles Vidreiro.

"Bryan has the biggest serve on the team, a real textbook serve, and Miles is the best athlete we have," said Floyd.

At second doubles, junior Chris Dumbreski teams with sophomore Mike Golias, while sophomores Jeff Smith and Tom Piersanti come off the bench.

The Chargers are scheduled to next face Highland Park, tomorrow, weather permitting.

Once the Chargers get to return to the court, their coach is confident that the squad will win its share of matches this season.

"I'm real optimistic. We could have a nice team," said Floyd.

Knights hoping to rekindle last year's late-season fire

Old Bridge returns a number of talented players from 10-14 squad

BY WARREN RAPPLEYEA
Staff Writer

Old Bridge High School baseball coach Fred Cole is hoping his team's strong finish last season will carry over into this year's campaign.

Several key players are back for Knights, who got off to a 2-9 start, but recovered to win eight of their last 13 contests. Cole expects his team to be strong up the middle, with plenty of pitching, a top-notch catcher, and good defense.

"This is a very committed group of kids, they work hard and they're great to coach," Cole said. "Many of them were here last year and they never gave up, and they could have. They showed a lot of character and set a good tone for this year."

Co-captains Gerard Haran and Dan Zeffiro are the Knights leaders. Haran, a three-year starter, is an outstanding defensive backstop with a shotgun arm. Bound for The College of New Jersey in Ewing, Haran hit a healthy .375 and drove home 21 runs last season.

Zeffiro, who will attend Kean College in Union, is the ace of the pitching staff. Cole noted that Zeffiro was a much better pitcher than his 4-3 record might indicate.

Cifrodella, who batted .320 with 15 RBIs last spring, will be at first base when he's not pitching.

Jay McDermott, a senior who hit .277, will bat lead-off and play second base, while newcomer Marvin Hyer is the short-stop.

Mike Walsh and John Pancetti, two solid hitters, will share third base, but Cole will keep both bats in the lineup with the DH and Walsh will play first base when Cifrodella pitches.

Versatile Paul Christian and Chris Ostrander provide infield depth, and Ostrander will back up Haran behind the dish.

Zeffiro, also a good hitter, will hold down one outfield spot. Nick Del Vecchio, a .393 hitter as a part-timer last season, and Charlie Krueer, a lefty who bats third in the order, are the other starters. Bird, Mark Medina and Steve Mantani will also see action in the outfield.

Cole, whose team lost its opener to Piscataway, expects the Knights to contend for a berth in the NJSIAA Central Jersey Group IV playoffs and to make its mark in the Greater Middlesex Conference's (GMC) Red Division.

"The Red Division is a tremendous league and most of the teams have great pitching," Cole said. "So do we. I expect that we'll win our share of games."

Though Old Bridge is not currently ranked in the GMC's top 10, the Knights are on the bubble, and could easily join the list of elite teams with a fast start, once the weather breaks. However, the Knights will need to play solid baseball from the start, as their schedule is loaded with many of the conference's top teams, including Red Division foes South Brunswick, East Brunswick, Piscataway and St. Joseph of Metuchen.

New-look Falcons should be a tough out this year

BY RICHARD JEROME
Staff Writer

Through all the rain- and snow-outs so far this spring, the Monroe Township baseball team is 0-1-1, after a 4-2 opening-day loss to Colts Neck and an 8-8 tie with North Brunswick.

Despite their limited appearances on the field this season, one thing is obvious — the Falcons definitely have a new look.

"We graduated seven seniors, all of them starters," said coach Greg Beyer, whose team went 10-11 last season.

But there is some veteran talent back, notably all-Division shortstop Steve Rumolo, a senior captain.

"He hit .365 last year for us with several home runs," said Beyer. "He's a heady player who will be playing for Centenary College next year."

Center fielder Andrew Hollander, another senior, is a fine defensive ballplayer, while junior Craig Mazor, the second baseman, hit .370 last year. He's a speedy runner and good contact hitter at the top of the lineup, who had to DH in the first two games because of a fractured arm sustained during wrestling season.

Senior pitcher Chris Dunn, a control specialist with a good curve and change-up, heads the mound staff, along with junior fastballer Scott Modzelewski.

Nick Herbstman, a senior, will also do some pitching, although he's primarily a power-hitting outfielder.

Junior Jeffrey Jimenez, an outfielder-pitcher, is fast on the bases and boasts a strong arm.

Behind the plate, junior Bobby Stern gives the Falcons some strength.

"He's an excellent defensive catcher with a quick release," said Beyer, who is assisted by Jim Griffin, Gary Snyder and Ron Herrick. "And we also have Frankie Steinhauser, who should be a real good hitter."

Manning first base, Drew Callan has power from the middle of the lineup, while infielder Ryan Kelly, a junior, hit over .300 as a starter toward the end of last year. He has a strong arm and could do some relief pitching, while also hitting at the top of the order.

Switch-hitting sophomore A.J. Morabito can play third base, shortstop and second.

In the outfield, freshman Jarrod Jimenez, playing right, had the strongest spring at the plate for SHS and continued bashing the ball in the first two games of the regular season, going 5-for-7 with two doubles.

Other outfielders include sophomore Anthony Viani in left, a good defender, as is senior John Gubitosi. Sophomore Ron Cmura, coming off the bench, may shuttle between the varsity and jayvee teams.

Monroe's next scheduled outing, weather permitting is a Saturday twin bill against Highland Park and Perth Amboy.

The Falcons have moved to the GMC's White Division this year after playing in the Blue Division last year. Carteret also moved to the White Division, while Edison's Bishop Ahr switched to the Blue.

Lady Lancers set to defend their titles on the diamond

Last season's 28-3 campaign a tough act to follow

BY WARREN RAPPLEYEA
Staff Writer

The St. John Vianney High School softball team has picked right up where it left off last season when it won the NJSIAA state Parochial A championship.

The Lancers also won the Shore Conference Class B North crown as well as the overall conference title, the Monmouth County tourney and the Parochial A South championship while compiling a 28-3 record.

SJV opened last week against Middletown South, another B North power. The two teams battled for 11 innings before the Lancers prevailed, 2-1. Center fielder Kacie Galbraith, after hitting into a force play, stole second and then third, and scored the winning run as the throw went into the outfield.

Sophomore pitcher Tricia Riengle went the distance, striking out 27 Middletown South hitters along the way. Riengle, who was 5-0 last year, is now 2-0 after tossing a one-hit shutout, with seven K's, against Holmdel on Saturday.

That's not good news for the Lancers' opponents. SJV lost ace pitcher Jackie Adelfio (23-3, 0.33 ERA), last year's state Player of the Year, to graduation, but the emergence of Riengle has quickly plugged that hole.

In addition, the Lancers lost only one other starter, shortstop Suzanne Gorczynski (.363, 19 RBIs), so the bulk of coach Aado Kommendant's lineup is intact.

Lauren Incorvai, a sophomore who batted .325 with 20 RBIs, splits the catching and DH duties with Tina Philburn, a .280 hitter who drove home 10 runs a year ago.

Candice Ruffler (.267) is back at first base, and fellow senior Jennifer Trace (.274) has moved to shortstop from second base. Sophomore Jaime Tupino is the new second baseman, and freshmen Lauren Galladay earned the starting nod at third, where Riengle played last season.

Senior Lauren Taub (.320) is the left fielder and Jessica Vreeland (.294 with a team leading 22 runs) is the right fielder. The fleet Galbraith, who patrols center field, batted .316 last spring.

In reserve are sophomore Amanda D'Alessio, who had a hit and drew three walks against Holmdel, and freshmen Danielle Adelfio and Amanda Rooney, who delivered a pair of hits in the Holmdel win.

"While we do have some young players, this is an experienced team that has been tested in just about every way last year," Kommendant said. "They know what it takes to win, they can come back when they're behind, and they thrive on pressure."

However, the early dominance of Riengle has caused an unexpected slip in the usually excellent Lancer defense, the coach said.

"We've been caught flat-footed quite a bit, and that has to stop," the coach said. "They can't just expect Tricia [Riengle] to strike everyone out."

St. John's defense should be tested this weekend when Kommendant's team hosts the "Lancer Joust," a tournament that also includes top-flight teams like Mount St. Dominic, Hillsborough and Whippany. The action begins Saturday at 10:30 a.m.

Bombers off to solid start with 7-1 win over Colonia

Sayreville girls hope to find more offense this season

BY WARREN RAPPLEYEA
Staff Writer

The Sayreville War Memorial High School softball team opened the season with a 7-1 victory over Colonia, a good sign as the Bombers look to best last season's victory total of five.

Junior Lauren Karbowski went the distance, tossing a three-hitter to pick up the win. Freshman catcher Jessica Nicola went 2-for-4 in her first varsity game.

"The girls have been very supportive of each other and they're starting to come together as a team," first-year coach Lynn Taylor said.

Defensively Sayreville looks to be strong; hitting, however, is something of a question mark.

In recent years the Bombers' inability to hit with any consistency has hampered their efforts.

Center fielder Julia Switzer batted .319 last year, and Taylor is hoping that outfielder Melissa Braun, .275; second baseman Shantai Dixon, .250; third baseman Danielle Martin, .243; and shortstop Lynn Olender, .241; provide additional punch at the plate.

The return of senior outfielder Gabby Vargas, who missed most of last season with a broken wrist, should also help.

Other members of the team include first baseman Shea Terzino, second baseman Colleen Fisher, and outfielders Robin Bennett, Nicole DeRisi, Gina Makowski and Stephanie Marshall.

Taylor added that Karbowski has improved her control and is working well with Nicola. Theresa Holon, who has worked on her speed, is the Bombers other pitcher.

"We're obviously looking to be more successful than last season," Taylor said.

"I think we have a lot of talent; it just has to gel. If it does, we can be a pretty good team. Our goal is to make the state [Group III] playoffs," he continued.

The Rockets' record stands at 2-0-1 for the spring season.

Solid play in the midfield and defense by Alyssa Amabile, Sarah Barnes, Dani Hogan, Brianna Heatai, Chelsea Nelthropp, Alyssa Stetson, Emily Roshetar, Shawna Rodgers, Jordan Nolan and Rachel Harning kept Ocean Township from mounting any serious challenges to goalkeeper Emma Murray, who picked up the shutout win for the Lady Blue Devils.

'Pipe Dreams' artwork on display at E.B. mall

"Pipe Dreams," an international art exhibit featuring works done with recycled materials, is on display through the end of April at Brunswick Square Mall, Route 18 south, East Brunswick.

The exhibit, which is offered courtesy of the Visual Arts League of East Brunswick, is a collection of works by artists and schoolchildren from New Jersey, various other states, New Zealand, Russia, Japan, India and France. A piece created by children from East Brunswick's Camp Daisy is included in the collection.

The show previously was displayed at Lincoln Center's Avery Fisher Hall, New York City, and most recently was seen at Paul Robeson School, New Brunswick.

"Pipe Dreams New Jersey" began two years ago as a low-budget community project with five students in Freda Rhodes' classes at Paul Robeson School. It has grown into an international collaboration created through the Internet, bringing together artworks by international and regional artists and schoolchildren. The project merges with New Zealand artist Henry Sunderland's project, "The Great Pipe Dream," which was created by New Zealand schoolchildren.

For more information, call the Visual Arts League at (732) 254-7611 or visit www.valweb.org.

TODAY'S REAL ESTATE

by Pat Dineen and Justine Dineen

YOU HAD THEM AT "HELLO"

According to some real estate professionals, more than half of all homes are sold before buyers even get out of their cars. This favorable first impression is called "curb appeal." Sellers should understand that if prospective buyers find the outside of a home attractive, there is a very good chance that they are going to want to see what is inside. On the other hand, if prospective buyers are turned off by an exterior that is not presentable, there may be very little that anyone can do to pry them from their seats to take a tour of the home. With this in mind, sellers should make every effort to freshen their homes' facades and landscaping.

We all tend to overlook problems with our own property because we find them "charming" or "homey." Professional real estate agents can serve as impartial judges of your property, advising you to highlight the attributes they know buyers seek, and downplay or fix the problems. For advice you can trust, call ERA DINEEN REALTY, located at 3 Parlin Drive, Parlin. As members of the Middlesex & Monmouth MLS, we assure you that when you list with us, you get the widest possible exposure. In fact, we will advertise your house in magazines and on the Internet everyday until it sells! We invite you to contact any one of our real estate professionals at (732) 613-9300.

Looking for motivated success oriented persons for a rewarding career in real estate. Call Pat Dineen at (732) 613-9300 for a confidential interview.

Monthly payments are for 30-year conventional fixed rate mortgages as detailed below. Ask about: Lower Downpayments • Lower Monthly Payments • Other Options

For purchase prices up to $403,375 monthly mortgage payments (principal + interest) quoted in our ads are to qualified buyers, based upon a 20% downpayment and a conventional 30-year fixed rate loan at 5.25% with 3 points, A.P.R. 5.575%. As an example, a $100,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $552.20. For purchase prices from $403,375 to $840,000, the monthly payments are to qualified buyers based upon a 20% downpayment and calculated at 5.5% with 3 points on a "Jumbo" 30-year fixed rate mortgage with an A.P.R. of 5.788%. An example of a $500,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $2838.95. Figures herein are approximate and do not include property taxes, hazard insurance, or homeowners association dues for a condominium purchase. The approval will establish the boundary of freshwater wetlands on the above property and the permit will authorize the applicant to conduct regulated activities on the property.

The applicant is requesting approval for a Letter of Interpretation (LOI) and a Statewide General Permit No. 7 (GP7). A LOI establishes the official boundary line of any regulated freshwater wetlands, open waters, or transition areas on the property, and if freshwater wetlands are present, identifies their resource value. This particular application requests approval of the expansion of existing pavement, buildings, or other structures and is located adjacent to the following blocks and lots: Block 10.01, Lots 7, 14 & 15; Block 335.01, Lots 1 & 2; Block 336, Lots 3, 5, 6, 14, 15, 15.01, & 16 To 23; Block 336.04, Lots 5 To 9; Block 384, Lots 75 & 76; Block 387, Lots 1 & 2; Block 393, Lots 1 To 5, 5.01, 6 & 7; Block 394, Lots 41 To 43; Block 407, Lots 69 To 93 & 95 To 97; Block 411.03, Lots 8 To 11; Block 411.04, Lots 1, 2, & 4 To 10; Block 411.05, Lots 1.01, 1.02, 1.03 & 2 To 12; Block 412, Lots 1 To 3 & 5; Block 412.01, Lots 1 To 32; Block 412.02, Lots 1 To 30; Block 412.03, Lot 1; Block 426, Lot 1.01; Block 429, Lots 12 To 27; Block 438, Lot 1; Block 447.06, Lots 13 To 21, 21.01, 22, & 24; Block 449, Lots 6.01 To 6.06, 6.08 To 6.10, 6.16, 10.02, & 10.11; Block 451, Lots 1.08 To 1.10, 1.24, & 1.021; Block 452, Lots 1 & 2; Block 454, Lots 1 & 1.01.

The rules governing freshwater wetlands permits and approvals are found in the NJDEP's Freshwater Wetlands Protection Act rules at N.J.A.C. 7:7A. You can view or download these rules on the NJDEP Land Use Regulation Program website at www.state.nj.us/dep/landuse, or you can find a copy of these rules in the county law library in your county courthouse. If you would like to inspect a copy of the application, it is on file at the Sayreville Borough Clerk's Office, or call the NJDEP at (609) 777-0456 to make an appointment to see the application at the NJDEP offices in Trenton during normal business hours.

The NJDEP welcomes any comments you may have on the application. Comments should be submitted to the NJDEP in writing within 15 days after publication of this notice. Please submit any comments you have in writing, along with a copy of this letter, to: New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection, Land Use Regulation Program, Attn: Middlesex County Section Chief, P.O. Box 439, Trenton, New Jersey 08625.

When the NJDEP has decided whether or not the application qualifies for approval under the Freshwater Wetlands Protection Act rules, NJDEP will notify the Sayreville borough clerk of their final decision on the application.
