INTRODUCTION.

THE familiar quotation from Shakespeare, "What's in a name?" was first spoken in a light and superficial way, long before the days of City Directories. The lovely Juliet, who is reported as using the expression, would never have asked such a question, if her time had been occupied for 120 days and nights in getting up a Directory, instead of random love talk to Romeo.

It is the emphatic opinion of the compiler of this book that there is a great deal in names, a deal of labor, time and patience. The work of preparing a directory would not have been so arduous, if the immediate ancestors of the present generation in this locality, had simply designated numerals for every child born, instead of assigning to them such perplexing names.

But the task is done, and the five thousand names of different persons in the City and Borough are carefully recorded, and as accurately arranged as possible. The few errors and omissions are such as necessarily occur from frequent changes, happening during the period of four months required in getting a directory ready for the public.

The designation of new street numbers to buildings in the City limits has been done with care, while in the Borough, only the names of the streets could be given to residents, the work of numbering the houses not being completed at the time of going to press.

It is hoped the Directory, with its street guide, and appendix of useful information, will be of valuable service to the citizens, for whom only a limited edition has been issued.
