COMMITTEE STILL WORKING

COUNCIL INVESTIGATING SUBJECT OF TELEPHONE SYSTEMS.

No Report Until November Session—Much to be Done Before Report is Framed.

The special committee from the Council which was appointed to inquire into and investigate the several telephone systems in use in this county, with a view to settling the question as to whether Plainfield should have competitive systems, is making steady progress. Mr. Tolles, who is chairman of the committee, was in hopes that a report would be ready for the October meeting of the Council, but it has been determined that inasmuch as there is so much work to be done in connection with the investigation, it will be impossible and the report will probably not be presented before the November meeting.

COMMITTEE STILL WORKING

The committee has been looking into every known telephone system of any standing and the investigation has been conducted along impartial lines, and is not a matter of bias or prejudice on the matter. A meeting of an informal character was held last night, when the work thus far accomplished was gone over. No one was present at the special committee and the talk was strictly of an informal nature.

LOCAL TOUCH TO STORY.

A Coastie Here of Character Portrayed in Miss Gertrude Atherton's "Conqueror."

The latter's father, Benjamin Church, was the first and second in charge of the building of the Croton aqueduct in New York and also engineer of Jerome Park reservoir as well as being consulting engineer on other large works. The marriage took place between Anne Barr and Alexander Hamilton has been in the possession of the Church family for many years and are now in the possession of the late Mrs. Benjamin Church, who is a resident of this city.

Work Being Rushed on a Building Intended for Use of Trolley Employees.

Structures to be finished by Tonight—Similar Building Already Completed in Elizabeth—No Trouble Anticipated Here.

Evidence tending to show that the question among the conductors and motormen employed by the Public Service Corporation in Newark, Elizabeth, Jersey City and the Orange is now a calm which comes before a storm, is apparent from the attitude shown by the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway Company during the last few days. The company seems to be preparing for a big strike and while the employees in this city affirm that there is absolutely no danger of a breakdown in Plainfield, it appears that the company intends making this city the headquarters for reinforcements for other cities.

GOODY DRABSTELL LEAGUE DISCUSSED

Scheme to Organize With Four or Five Clubs for Next Season.

GOOD MATERIAL HERE FOR A FIRST CLASS TEAM.

Elizabeth, Rahway, Westfield and Scotch Plains Considered as Members of a League—The Advantages to be Derived.

Although the present baseball season has not closed, next season's prospects are already being discussed in baseball circles and it seems to be the opinion of a majority of the lovers of the game in this city, at least, that one first-class team should represent the town in the National game. During the past few days there has been considerable talk about the advisability of forming a four or five-club league to include Plainfield, Scotch Plains, Westfield, Rahway and Elizabeth. It is believed that such a league would not only be a good thing financially, but would tend to increase the interest in the game considerably.

DAME FASHION'S MOODS.

The Modes of the Season Are Based on Common Sense.

So far this season fashion has appeared to take a common sense view of things in general and to choose out of what we have been wearing all that is useful, pretty and becoming...

The volle gowns will soon be thought too transparent for the season, but the waists of most pleasing fabric will be seen often. THE NEW WOMAN

She Is in the Lead

HAVE been reading a brief outline of the life of William Brewster. I have never lived by a woman. A politician and famous career it would have been even for a man. The woman was Brewster's mother. A naturalist, a miner, army guide-like, unfortunately, gambler and whiskey drinker, it is said. Had she left off the last two things in her career as Colonel Cody has become in his. She was not very old when she died. Terry, R. D., only about fifty-one. Yet the true story of her life would outstrip in romance, in deeds of daring, strength and skill any modern fiction tale of adventure that could be written. Mrs. Burke was born in Princeton, Mo., but when the nearest sail of a girl with her father, the Missouri man, she became very well. She feared nothing dead or alive. She wore a man's buckskin suit, with knife and revolver tucked in her own coat. She had fought Indian battle she saved the life of Captain Egan of the United States army in 1872. He gave her the name of "Buff Bill" because that designation you have often read of her. She acted as scout for General Crook in his Indian campaign, carrying the dispatches to him. She was on desperate rides, taking risks that few men would have dared. Another of her feats was the capture of Jack Miller, the murderer of the late Bill Crook. William Hickox, whom she seems to have cared for with all a strong woman's devotion, she obtained advantage last-great, though unfortunately placed. At length there was no more in her life to do or to be done. She died in 1902. Her husband was a man of letters and a great scholar. She was a woman of letters and a great scholar. She was a woman of letters and a great scholar.

It is a field of labor a prophet and hero might be grateful for. Negro women today are making better use of their God-given talents than ever before. Mrs. Washington says of her colored sisters, "There is a noble foundation of womanly pride in the hearts of our colored women, but some of them, somewhere, we shall stand equal to any body of women, for we accept the theory that we are inferior only in opportunity, not in ability."

Ellis Wheeler Wilcox is of opinion that the woman of the future will be nowhere else, and she adds the significant prophecy, "From her will come the great leader of whom the world has dreamed. It is not likely that she will be hereafter many great single leaders either among men or women. That age is probably the age of the masses. The whole feminine sex is gradually developing the powerful, splendid qualities that only the few, even among men, have ever possessed. It is the woman of strong, glorious, perfected woman will move forward all together, and the rest of the sex will be with them. It is this that is what the world is waiting for."

In a coal mine one morning no men appeared to go to work. Investigation showed that the evening before, when work ceased for the day, the company and the men had been hoisted up to the surface of the earth ahead of the company's miners. "After miles in maners for men" did not suit the mining men and they were hoisted up. Men have their little feelings, too. It seems, as well as feelings. -

One of the best of the times is that so many girls take a real interest in political questions. -

How to tell what your clothes are too tight? Breathe in all the air you can hold, lift your arms over your head and clasp your hands. If you cannot do this without your clothes being tight, the feeling of being bound, then your garments are injuriously close fitting. They are tighter than skin tight, for the skin permits you to make all motions freely. -

SCHOOL BOARD'S DOINGS

AUTHORITIES IN NORTH PLAINFIELD HOLD SHORT SESSION.

Discussion of Plans for the New School—Horrow Key—Order Bills Paid.

Sites were discussed last Monday for the proposed new school building in the First Ward, at the regular meeting of the Board of Education. It was the consensus of opinion of the members of the Board that a new school should be built and that the new structure should not be limited to four rooms. It is probable that the new school building will be rushed through to completion as soon as possible.

After the regular business had been concluded the Board went into executive session. The matter of selecting a site was discussed and estimates received on the various locations. Nothing definite was done in the matter and another meeting will be held Monday evening when further action will be taken.

The President and Clerk were authorized to draw warrants for the payment of bills amounting to $8,304.36, divided as follows: General fund, $6,882.37; manual training, $540.20; and library, $880.88. It was carried that the amount of $9,000 be borrowed on the sum of $100,000. Mr. Woodard was reading the minutes A. V. D. Home and suggested that the wording of a minute be changed. The minute referred to was that of a resolution offered at a previous meeting that the building of four rooms be erected. The word "four room" was ordered stricken from the record.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 6—Comment by Rev. A. H. Doyle.

ONLY TEN OF MANY CASES GIVING OUT OF WESTFIELD WRECK REMAIN.

Westfield was over. Schools have been closed. Most people have gone back to their homes.

Out of the large number of claims resulting from the Westfield wreck on January 17, only ten remain for settlement.

It is considered rather remarkable that for the large number of claims arising from the accident a settlement of so many should have been effected in the comparatively short time, and with so few law suits.

BASEMENT AS SCHOOL ROOM

TEMPORARY ACCOMMODATIONS FOR PUPILS OF WATCHUNG SCHOOL.

Absolutely Proof Against Dampness—Plans of the School Board.

Considerable comment has been made about the accommodation of children in North Plainfield who have been seeking admission into the schools there for a season of the past year.

The fact that the pupils have had to be placed in a basement of a school building, shows how important it is that a new building should be built as soon as possible.

Every revival of devotional piety or ethical righteousness must be based on substantial and fresh knowledge of the Scriptures.

Thoughtful Plainfielders.

That the Plainfield commuters are appreciative, is shown by the recent action in presenting a memorial to the Board of Education.

WORK ON IMPROVED
A Successful Demonstration
Made With Tar Preparation
on Macadam Roads.

IMPROVEMENT CLAIMED
ROAD BUILDERS PRESENT WHEN EX-PERIMENT IS MADE.

No Dust and No Mud Features of The Prepared Highway—Tried on
Westfield Street—To Be Tested
Here—What Experts Say.

As an experiment and to demonstrate the value of the treatment of roads with a preparation of tar, an application of this material was made on one thousand feet of roadway in Westfield Friday afternoon, which was witnessed by well-known experts in road building from New York and New Jersey. It is claimed by the company which tried the experiment, and by the engineers who saw it, that the ideal macadam roadway has been secured. It is said that a road treated with tar will be free from dust in dry weather, and in wet weather and frost in winter. The tests made yesterday demonstrate that the scheme theoretically is perfect and the question as to whether it will bear the test of time remains to be answered. The town of Westfield intends to make a thorough test of the road so treated, and if it proves to be so good that it will be on the streets and roads leading into that place which probably be treated in that manner.

The ideal country road is one which, in dry weather, is free from dust and in wet weather free from mud. The present approach to such a road has so far been macadamized road, carefully sprinkled. Now they test the roads with a preparation of tar. It is an improvement over the macadam road in California, that of porous grade patrolling the surface of the roads, to secure dustless highways, because the composition acts as a binder as well as a means of keeping the dust down. It is also an improvement over the macadam road in that it does not become brittle and loses, to some extent, its adhesive properties. As prepared by the Barnes Company, the tar acts as a binder, keeping on the water and sand, and the fine sand on the surface, and the fine sand in perfect bond and makes a smooth surface with just the required resiliency to it to prevent injury to horse's hoofs.

This road on which the experiment now has been in progress for two months. The top dressing was carefully brushed away, leaving exposed the road or body. On this the preparation of tar was sprinkled and allowed to remain for an hour. The top dressing was then put back on the layer of tar and on top of the gravel the finer sweepings, including the dust, was sprinkled. This was done by a machine which was allowed to "set." One thousand feet were thus treated. When the operation was completed there was no evidence of the granulation of the tar from the top of the road, although the top dressing could not be swept by the foot so loose dirt.

Each particle of gravel was held fast in position thus preventing the road from heaving through the surface beneath and bearing less on uneven in the roadway. When a steel tired wagon passes over the smooth cast little particle of dust is swept away by the tar although none of the tar clings to the wheels or to the horse's hoofs. It will not injure rubber tires as the three run on top dressing and sand. To test the claim that the dust is raised on the road thus treated a large automobile, driven at full speed along the finished stretch, failed to stir any dust whatever, although when it returned to the road where the underlying cloud of dust arose and that the automobile from view. This was considered a thorough test for the new process, but the laying of preparation had not been finally settled.

It is claimed by the company that the cost of treating a road which has already been laid is about $650 a mile. It is said that it is laid it will keep the dust down and it will keep the road free of the mud and keep for seven years, depending on how the road is treated. The road will be laid in sections, and the length of time after application. Prominent road engineers were present as well as members of the Union County Board of Freeholders. Some of those present were Herman W. Henshaw, president of the Hubbard, director of the Union County Board of Freeholders, and other members of that board; Benjamin King, chairman of the road committee; H. R. Byrse, clerk; John Farrell, E. K. Adams, Henry Krosco, C. A. Smith, W. W. Connelly, Arthur N. Pearson, chairman of the road, sewer and water committee of the Westfield Common Council, engineer of the township, Harry C. VanKamberg, of this city and Street Commissioner Andrew J. Gavett, of this city. All seemed well impressed with the theory of the new scheme but desired to see the road way after it has undergone a test of time before voicing an opinion.

Dr. Merkel, however, declared: "I believe the system to be a good one and can see no reason why it should not do what the company claims. I think it should be thoroughly tried into the roadbed after the layer of gravel has been put on and then allowed to thoroughly soak into the ground. It would make the road water proof and where you have a road water proof you have a road free from dust and mud. It is claimed that it would have experimental made on some of the driveways in the Bronx Park and if it proves to do what is claimed for it, we will have all the roads in the Park treated in that manner."

Mr. Beerbower, the engineer, said: "I doubt very much if it will do as well on a road which has already been built. If it is put on the gravel while being laid there is a new roadbed it would not only make the road dust and water proof but it would make it almost permanent. The plan is a good one and it is an improvement over the California process and the European plan system."

Street Commissioner Andrew J. Gavett said when asked his opinion of the new scheme: "The plan is a good one and I believe it will do what is claimed for it. An experiment will be made on Watchung avenue, in Plainfield, in fact we have been thinking of making these experiments for some time. We have had a roadbed test will be made shortly in Plainfield so that it can be watched and the effects of time upon it carefully noted."

"Should it prove satisfactory, you would advise the board of Plainfield treated in this manner" he was asked. "If it will do what is claimed—that is keep away the dust, the softening of the treatment will be adopted in the Common Council." Mr. Pearson, of the Westfield Council, said that he had been making a special study of good roads and when he was in Plainfield he had seen the new scheme, and he had seen it in the field, came to him and told him of the new process which had been tried successfully in a short street in Brooklyn, and he decided to have the same here. He said that it will be laid in sections, and the length of time after application. Prominent road engineers were present as well as members of the Union County Board of Freeholders. WORKERS TRIAL.
Intend to Meet Their Fate
Without Showing Fear.
DO NOT WISH TO SEE STEPHEN

Mr. Van Wormer is Prostrated by Refusal of Governor Odell to Inquire and Report on the Case. PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Mrs. Estella Van Wormer, stepmother of the three brothers who are to be hanged tomorrow in the electric chair at Dannemora, was told upon her arrival at Dannemora that her stepsons had requested that she should not be allowed to visit their cells, as they knew, as she knew in their cells in the death house, that it was not because they did not wish to see the woman who has been their mother that they have ever known and who has stood by them through thick and thin, for it required all the courage the young men could muster to take the stand they took after a long talk with Warden Devo and Rev. Father Belanger, their spiritual adviser, but only because they were afraid that the ordeal of the farewell would completely upturn them. The thought expressed in the minds of Willis, Burton and Frederick Van Wormer is that they must not weaken or even appear to weaken. Resulting from the fact that they have entertained six hours, they intend to meet their fate with fortitude. They appear to regard any evidence of fear as even disgraceful than death in the electric chair.

Mrs. Van Wormer was on the verge of leaving the institution when she reached Plattsburg after her attempt to plead with Governor Odell at Albany. During the hour's ride from Plattsburg to Dannemora Mrs. Van Wormer said: "I think Governor Odell's action in refusing to inquire into the case is a poor and unwise one. I would like to see the bodies of my sons removed to Kinderhook, but if I could not do that I would like to see them in Kinderhook. I know I could arrange for their interment there. I hope and pray that some way can be found to remove the bodies of my sons to my home in Columbia county, so that I can visit their graves. I expect to see them as soon as I reach the shore and I will stay all night and visit them again."

Mrs. Van Wormer was so overcome by her emotion that she broke down and cried like a child. At Dannemora station she was met by Father Belanger, the venerable pastor of St. Joseph's church, where she was met by Warden Devo. After Van Wormer was then told by Father Belanger of the request of her sons that she should not visit them and of the reasons why it seemed best to them that she should remain away. At first she was overwhelmed at the thought that she could never see her boys again, and it seemed as though she would not be able to get through the ordeal. Finally regained control of her emotions and was soon convinced by Warden Devo and Father Belanger that it was for the best. She remained at the parish home until train time and then returned to this city. She took the train for Plattsburg and will endeavor to arrange to have the bodies of her sons sent to her at that place. If she cannot arrange to have the bodies of her sons sent to her as buried, as provided by law, in quicklime in the prison burying ground.

Father Belanger and Warden Devo visited the boys and found them calm and prepared to die. The question of what shall go first to the chair is still undecided, but the probability remains so until the very last minute. It is intended that if any one of the three dies before the other two, that it will be taken first. If all three are apparently equal to the ordeal Fred's, the youngest brother, plan may be adopted. Fred is the one who has the most to lose, Belanger that he is ready to go first and second. The three brothers are declared by Prison Physician Ransom to be in the prime of their condition and they eat and sleep fairly well. State Electrician Davis will arrive at Dannemora and will make an unusually thorough examination of the entire electrical apparatus.

Since Governor Odell's refusal to interfere in their behalf the three young men have been getting a great deal of help from people in all parts of the country, mostly from ministers, assisting them in their preparation to meet their fate. They are to be brave and to trust in God's mercy.

MAYOR A FIRE FIGHTER
MR. SMALLEY CLIMBS ROOF AND EXTINGUISHES BLAZE.
Fire at George F. White's in Willow Avenue—Loss Trifling—False Rumors.
Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, was called to the scene of a fire at the home of George F. White at 41 Willow avenue, Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. A spark falling from a chimney set fire to the wooden shingles on the roof and the fire spread to the structure was abated. A pedestrian saw the smoke curling up from the roof and on examining closer saw flames. He rushed to Mayor Smalley's house near the corner of the fire. A telephone message was sent to the Warren Engine Company but before the firemen arrived, Mayor Smalley had climbed to the roof with an extinguisher and had extinguished the fire. No damage had been done. Yoorhes has made new applications in the Court of Chancery as the receiver for the Republic Savings and Loan Association for the relief of several investors who are about to lose their homes through the foreclosure of mortgages. There are a number of Plainfielders interested in this concern. Mr. Yoorhes, it will be remembered, succeeded recently in having the court approve the settlement of one of these claims in a case where a poor man had paid more money into the association through dues, fines and interest, than the amount of the original mortgage. Nevertheless the association could have sold the property under foreclosure proceedings. It was suggested by the former Governor that the best way out of the difficulty was to accept a small payment covering the cost of the sale and the court approved of this.
