4 SCORE AND 10

Mrs. Lois M. Sperry Confessing to 90 Years Celebrating Her Birthday.

ENJOYING EXCELLENT HEALTH.

Mrs. Claypool, Aged 90, Mrs. Powelson, Aged 88, and Mrs. Sperry, Living Within a Block of Each Other.

Whether North Plainfield is going to beat all records for longevity or not does not seem to bother the inhabitants at all, especially those residents of Fairview avenue who have something worth while to boast of. The reason? Well, Mrs. Lois M. Sperry, who lives with her granddaughter, Mrs. E. S. Stevens, at 65 Fairview avenue, is celebrating today her ninety-third birthday and is enjoying the very best of health to say nothing of joyous anticipations of meeting her grandson, Rev. John Burton, of Highwood Park, who also will celebrate his natal advent today.

Mrs. Stevens has prepared a little jollification for the day which will include a visit of Mrs. Sperry's descendants and other members of the family, but it will all be a nice social time without any special frills.

As to the reason for pride on the part of the borough—There are several old ladies living on the same street and they are all bright and happy and time has apparently made no further in-roads on her happy life than to make them feel that time is as nothing compared with happiness and pure content. Mrs. Marie B. Claypool, young at 90, and Mrs. Joseph S. Powelson, passed 88, are still counted among the young old people living within a block of each other on the same street.

Mrs. Sperry was teaching school at the age of fifteen and her pupils in the northern part of New York State were often older than she was and as to the pay, well, seventy-five cents per week and "board around" was the way they did it in those days.

The average longevity of Plainfield's citizens according to Health Officer O'Brien is fifty-eight years, which is one of the highest in the Eastern States.

The Daily Press extends hearty congratulations to Mrs. Sperry as well as to the other Fairview avenue residents of splendid old age.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS.

The annual meeting of the Seventh-Day Baptist Sabbath School to receive reports for the year and to elect officers will be held on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

The class for teachers training and Bible study will meet in the pastor's study at 7 o'clock on Sunday evening. "What the Teacher Ought to Be," is the subject for discussion.

Mrs. Nathan Lewis will lead the prayer meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society at 4:00 p. m. Sabbath day, the topic being "Missions in the United States (West)."

"Children in Other Lands" will be the topic for the Junior Society of Christian Endeavor at its meeting tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, and the leader will be Miss Violet Truell Johnson.

The pastor, Rev. Edwin Shaw, will speak upon the theme, "Jesus, the Center," using the text, "And the eyes of all—were fastened on him." The service begins at half past ten o'clock in the morning.

The topic for the prayer meeting this evening at 8 o'clock will be "Our Mission Work in South America."

The Sabbath school will conduct the quarterly review on the topical plan tomorrow, special subjects being treated by representatives of the several classes, under the direction of the superintendent, Mrs. O. S. Rogers.

Mrs. Edwin Shaw entertained about fifteen women at a thimble party on Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Will Thomas, who soon will remove to Alfred, N. Y.

SETTING FIRE LOSS ON MT. ST. MARY COLLEGE.

Among the fire insurance policies held by the Sisters of Mercy on Mount St. Mary College was one for $20,000 in the Boston Fire Insurance Co. and another of the London and Lancashire Co. for $5,000, for both of which Roger Murray, of this city, is the agent. Both policies were paid in full yesterday, the usual one per cent. discount not being retained.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF ELIAS M. BARTLES

The funeral services of Elias M. Bartles, aged eighty-four years, one of the best known residents of Hunterdon county, and father of Mrs. Floyd T. Woodhull, of West Front street, will be held at his late home in German Valley tomorrow noon. Mr. Bartles died on Wednesday, following a stroke of apoplexy on Monday, and he never regained consciousness after the stroke.

Mr. Bartles was born in the vicinity of German Valley and lived there practically all his life. For many years he was connected with the Jersey Central Railroad and afterwards engaged in the lumber business at German Valley, where he was very successful. He acquired vast property interests not only in Hunterdon county, but elsewhere and up to the time of his death owned three of the finest farms in Hunterdon county.

Mr. Bartles was well-known in this city, where he was a frequent visitor. Several years ago he suffered from blindness and underwent three operations in this city, getting considerable relief. He never fully regained his sight, although he was able to get about to some extent. Mr. Bartles was a member of the Lutheran church at German Valley. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Floyd T. Woodhull, of this city, and Mrs. James R. Cortright, of Newark.

MINISTER'S HORSES IN LIVELY RUNAWAY

There was a lively runaway on Arlington avenue, this morning, when a team of horses belonging to Rev. George Bowers, of Warrenville, which was attached to a stage used to carry children from Warrenville to the North Plainfield school, became frightened in the yard of the Consumers' Coal Company. The horses, which were left alone for a few minutes, bolted out of the yard and ran at break-neck speed through Arlington avenue.

Just before reaching Ninth street, the motorman of an eastbound trolley car saw the team coming towards him and he made a bold attempt to stop the animals, but failed. Running up on the curb in an effort to pass the trolley the horses and wagon crashed into an electric light pole, breaking the harness, the pole and platform of the wagon. The team was uninjured. Further damage was prevented by the crew of the trolley car.

BRITTON C. CLAYTON, AGED 79 YRS., DEAD

Britton C. Clayton, aged seventy-nine years, father of Mrs. David S. Dunavan, of this city, died last night at his home, 746 Woodland avenue, of diabetes with which he had been ill a long time. Mr. Clayton was a former resident of Freehold, where he was well-known. Several years ago he and his wife removed to this city. Mrs. Britton died about three months ago. Mr. Clayton was a member of the Methodist church.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. David S. Dunavan and Miss Mary Clayton, the latter living at home, and a married daughter in Asbury Park. The funeral will be held at the late home Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock and the burial will be in Freehold.

Entertained Elizabeth Council.

Franklin Council, No. 41, J. O. U. A. M., entertained Elizabeth Council, J. O. U. A. M., of Elizabeth, last night, when the initiatory team of the latter council conferred degrees on four candidates, three from this city and one from Elizabeth.

The work was performed in a highly satisfactory manner, the visiting team being considered one of the best in the State. After the work Franklin Council served refreshments and there was a social hour. The Elizabeth members made the trip to and from this city in a special trolley car.

Funeral of Michael J. Day.

The funeral of Michael Joseph Day was held at St. Mary's church yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, with a solemn requiem mass for the repose of his soul. Miss Mary Lannon assisted the children's choir and rendered two solos, "Pie Jesu," and "Come Unto Me," most effectively. The bearers were P. J. Reville, John Moran, Gilbert Johnson, M. Kane, Edward Connors and Frank Connors. The burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

—Ritz Ice cream, 8 flavors.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR UNION MASS MEETING

At the meeting of the Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union, held last evening in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, it was decided to hold the next mass meeting on Thursday, March 4. The meeting will be in charge of the executive committee of the union and will prepare for the International C. E. convention which is to be held at Atlantic City July 6-12.

Following a suggestion of President Frank Stewart, the plan of awarding the banner for attendance at mass meetings will be discontinued and at the big May meeting the society having the highest percentage of active and associate members present will have the privilege of choosing from their number a delegate to the international convention whose travelling expenses will be paid by the local union. A special congress meeting will be held next Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. to plan for the mass meeting.

DEMONSTRATIONS OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The second and perhaps the better of the two demonstrations of class work in physical education was given in the local High School last evening before an audience which literally packed the auditorium. It was a demonstration which amply afforded the people of this city an opportunity to see the splendid work being accomplished by Miss Addie Parker Jackson in the physical training of the pupils of the public schools of the city. It is safe to say that no exhibition of physical prowess of equal merit has been witnessed before in this city.

The demonstration was presented in two parts and was different from former presentations of physical culture in that the regular school work was shown instead of special work specially practiced for the occasion. The first half of the program included pupils up to the highest grammar grades in various evolutions accompanied by music. The second part consisted of work by the High School pupils.

The former consisted of classroom exercises showing correct position and the exercise of the muscles of respiration and locomotion besides giving an accurate idea of the relationship between mind and body. Pupils from the Irving School demonstrated the value of learning how to resist "school-room deformity." Chairs and desks, such as are used in the schools aided materially in showing the better methods introduced by Miss Jackson.

In the High School pupils there came a revelation for the parents. The absolute correctness of the various poses, actions and execution of maneuvers caused at times gasps of wonderment and surprise. Swedish gymnastics, Danish wand drills and other difficult numbers were given with a freedom from awkwardness which spoke volumes for the system. The girls were not one whit behind their sterner brothers, giving splendid accounts of themselves in every department. The whole exhibition provoked the applause of the entire audience.

RECENT CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The following gifts have been acknowledged by the Board of Directors of the Plainfield Public Library and Reading Room:

A set of the proceedings of the New York Historical Society, given by William Abbe, of Webster place; miscellaneous literature, including French and English books, given by Miss Haviland, of East Second street, and also a large donation of books on various subjects by Joseph E. Morse, Franklin place.

Will Report for Duty.

Adjutant General Wilbur F. Sadler, Jr., at Trenton, yesterday, issued an order instructing several officers to report for duty April 5, following the receipt of the long-expected invitation from the war department of the national government for officers of the National Guard to attend the manoeuvres in Texas. No officers of the Second or Fifty Infantry have been ordered away, because colonels are to be elected the first two weeks in April.

Tieman Horn a Major.

Tieman Horn, formerly of this city, a graduate of the Plainfield High School, the Military Academy at West Point, and who has been connected with the regular army since leaving the academy, has been promoted from a captaincy to the position of major and is at present located at Fort Worth, Texas.

P. C. C. DUES RAISED

Active Member to Pay $35 a Year But Jr. Associates Not Abolished.

MEANS INCREASED REVENUE.

They Fight Shy of Making Price For Dinner Higher—Many Members Express Their Views.

The Plainfield Country Club, at a special meeting at the Hartridge Auditorium, last night, voted to increase the dues of active members from $30 to $35 a year, but defeated the proposed amendment to abolish the junior associate class. The vote on the latter proposition was 48 for and 47 against and not being two-thirds of the number voting, was lost. The proposed amendment to increase the dues of active members $5 a year was carried by a vote of 77 to 21.

The lively interest shown in the proposed action of the club was evidenced by the fact that more than one hundred members were present and the proposition to abolish the junior associate class called forth a spirited debate. Nearly all favored a raise in the active member's dues, realizing that the club should have an additional income, but, as stated by President Calkins, the local golf club is the only one having a junior associate class, there was a strong sentiment in favor of retaining the class here and it was so decided.

President Leighton Calkins presided and after the secretary, George S. Clay, read the call for the meeting, which was signed by twenty-seven members, he briefly outlined the purpose. He said that the proposed amendments were not administrative measures, but had been suggested by club members in general.

It was explained by Mr. Calkins that the floating debt of the club had been paid, but that it was felt that more attention should be given this year to the athletic side. He admitted that the social interests of the club had been cared for during the past two years to the detriment of the athletic and it was felt that more should be done for the members who join for the athletic features.

Among the improvements desired are a large dressing room for the women, an enlarged men's locker room, an enlargement of the west piazza, additional tennis courts with greater facilities, an extension of the course to the regulation length, and in addition something must be done to give the club an adequate water supply, the present equipment being worn out. The water proposition alone, Mr. Calkins said, would mean an outlay of approximately from $2,000 to $5,000. The club has $4,000 in treasury bonds, which was explained, would about take care of the water question.

Admitting that the club cannot exist without the social features, Mr. Calkins asserted that it would be possible to run the organization on the present income. Referring to upkeep, he declared that the fair greens are almost bare now, that they were in better condition eight years ago than at present and they must have attention. Good house service had been maintained under the direction of a first-class superintendent, but it was an established fact that the more people cared for in the club restaurant, the more money the club loses.

Mr. Calkins stated that the officers of the club had estimated that by increasing the dues of active members from $30 to $35 and abolishing the junior associate class, thereby placing the women in the associate class with dues at $12 a year, would net the club a total increase of about $2,000, which is needed for betterments. This would be allowing a falling off in the membership of about fifteen or twenty per cent. by reason of the change.

A. H. Atterbury said that although he regretted to do so he did not favor dropping the junior associate class, which was largely responsible for making the club a family one, and he thought the prospect of losing members by the proposed change to be most unfortunate.

S. D. Lounsbury spoke strongly in favor of all the amendments, stating that there is not a club in the country today giving its members as much for the price as the Plainfield Country Club, and he believed that the members should be willing to stand the extra amount. E. J. Patterson also spoke favorably to the amendments. T. M. Day said that he thought that by raising the dues of the active members, which would net the club an increase revenue of about $1,800, together with $800 the club could save this year by reason of not being obliged to pay a floating debt, would be sufficient.

Someone suggested that the price

AMBASSADOR HILL DELIVERS A LECTURE

Ambassador David Hill, who recently returned from his post of duty in Berlin, delivered the first of a series of lectures at Columbia University, New York, yesterday, in the course of which he said: "Statesmen sometimes enjoy immunity because they die, but nations survive, and inevitably reap the results of their misbehavior." Dr. Hill's next Carpenter Lecture at Columbia University will be given in Earl Hall on Monday, the subject being "The State As a Promoter of General Welfare."

Ambassador Hill is a graduate of the Plainfield High School and a former resident of this city. His father, Rev. David J. Hill, was pastor of the Baptist church, in this city, and there are many of the older residents who remember the ambassador to Germany when he lived in Plainfield.

COMPLAINANT FAILED TO APPEAR IN COURT

Because the principal witness against them failed to appear in court this morning, Charles Machen and Warren McCauley, both of Scotch Plains, who were arrested on Monday afternoon, were released and the complaint against them dismissed. In dismissing the case, Judge DeMeza declared that the attitude of complainants who make charges and then refuse to give their testimony was one that is well calculated to raise the ire of the court. "It is too bad that such things should occur," he said, "there is no way of administering justice in a case like this where testimony is wanting to corroborate the complaint entered on the police docket."

According to the police record Mrs. R. F. R. Huntsman, of East Front street, telephoned a complaint to police headquarters on Monday afternoon, declaring that the two accused men were drunk and were beating their horses. Patrolman Vanderweg and Driver Gorman were despatched to the scene and returned with the two men as prisoners. They were locked up and according to Vanderweg both were intoxicated. When arraigned on Tuesday morning the men were held in $100 bonds for a hearing this morning.

When the case was called Machen and McCauley produced one witness, Peter Emmons, of the East End, who swore that neither of the accused was drunk on the day in question. He knew all about it because he happened along just after their wagon lost a wheel and assisted them in repairing the wagon. Emmons declared that neither of the men showed evidence of intoxication. When witnesses for the city were called for there was no response. Detective Sergeant Flynn, in answer to a question by the court, said he had tried to serve a subpoena upon the chief witness, but had been unable to gain admittance to the house yesterday.

Mrs. Huntsman, when seen today, said that she was in New York all day yesterday and that her servants quarters was sent to extinguish this blaze and the men hardly had time to recover their breath when someone with a predisposition to make smoke out of steam rang in an alarm from box 12. Steam from an exhaust pipe was escaping and the department had a run for exercise.

HARVARD MEN TO DINE; MCCOY AS TOASTMASTER.

Jerseymen of prominence will be present at the annual dinner of the Harvard Club of New Jersey, to be held tomorrow night at the quarters of the Essex Club, in Park place, Newark. The president of the club, Congressman Walter I. McCoy, of South Orange, will preside as toastmaster and will introduce as the principal speaker Professor W. B. Munroe, of Harvard. He will talk especially on the new entrance requirements. Another noted speaker will be Dr. Austin Scott, formerly president of Rutgers College, in New Brunswick.

New Plainfield Concern.

MANY MOURN FOR MRS. WM. F. TOWNLEY

Accompanied by a large number of mourners the remains of Mrs. William Townley, wife of Captain William Townley, of the fire department, were followed to St. Mary's cemetery this morning and many a sympathetic tear was shed for the departed one who had exhibited such splendid bravery. Mrs. Townley had shown a fortitude which is seldom exhibited and refused to succumb to an affliction which has caused much sorrow in her family. Knowing that she was doomed she bravely bore up against the disease which finally conquered her and for her splendid show of faith is revered today among her friends.

The service was held this morning at St. Mary's church, Father Hogan singing the mass, assisted by Fathers Bogan and Sciolla. The interment was in St. Mary's cemetery and the pallbearers were Charles, Edward and John Townley, John Hopewell, Thomas and David Doyle.

Among the distinguished friends of the family were ex-Chief Charles Purroy, of New York, and Mrs. Purroy, who were intimately acquainted with Captain Townley and his family. Many handsome floral tributes were received with notes of sympathy for the bereaved husband.

AGGRIEVED HUSBAND SEARCHES FOR CHILD

Professor Sheppard, of Yale University, who recently obtained an order from the Connecticut court for the custody of his 2-year-old son Kent, who is with his mother, will have to look for the child in some other place than Cranford. While in Cranford the Sheppards' suit for divorce created considerable gossip.

Mrs. Ruth Badgely Sheppard left Cranford with her 2-year-old son the day before Thanksgiving and has not been seen there since. She told neighbors that she was going out of the State with the child which her husband was anxious to take away from her. The Badgely home on Elizabeth avenue in that place, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. Badgely, parents of Mrs. Sheppard, has been closed for the winter and yesterday afternoon three Newark vans moved all of the furniture out of the house, under the direction of Mr. Badgely, who locked the place and left town on a New York train.

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING FOR FIREMEN

A curious combination of circumstances kept the fire laddies on the jump this morning. A phone message at 8:45 o'clock called the department to extinguish a grass fire in the rear of F. T. Woodhull's home on West Front street.

But unfortunately the company assigned to answer calls from that particular box was struggling with a sick horse. Apparatus from headquarters was sent to extinguish this blaze and the men hardly had time to recover their breath when someone with a predisposition to make smoke out of steam rang in an alarm from box 12. Steam from an exhaust pipe was escaping and the department had a run for exercise.

Miss Leahy's Reception.

Miss Sadie Leahy, of East Fifth street, tendered a reception to a number of her young friends one evening this week. The time was enjoyably spent in games and dancing. Music and other entertainment were furnished by three of the guests, Joseph Denny, Edwin Dahl and James Moore, of New York. Among those present were the Misses Tiny O'Neill, Carrie Roland and Emily Guerin, of Westfield; Kathryn Langton, of Rahway; Lucy Hathaway, Anna Doyle, Florence Buckley, Florence Hogan, Chita Pella, C. Leahy, M. Leahy and others.

Wanted For Desertion.

Henry Peavey, of Trenton, arrested yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct, was arraigned this morning before Judge De Meza in the city court and remanded for a day. According to a telegram from the chief of police of Trenton, Peavey is wanted in that city on a charge of desertion.

Endeavor Social.

MRS. S. GINNA DEAD

Widow of Stephen A. Ginna Succumbs to Grip and Heart Trouble.

HIGHLY ESTEEMED RESIDENT.

Deeply Interested in Church and Charity Work—Two Children Survive.

Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell Ginna, widow of Stephen A. Ginna, who for many years was a prominent resident of this city, died at 4:30 o'clock yesterday at her home, 1107 Watchung avenue, following an illness with grip and heart trouble which developed on Tuesday last. Owing to advanced age, Mrs. Ginna was unable to withstand the attack and suffered great weakness from the heart.

Mrs. Ginna was the daughter of the late Daniel D. Tompkins and Phoebe Baldwin Tompkins, and was born where Llewellyn Park is now located in the Oranges. For many years she resided with her parents at Tompkins Cove, N. Y., which place was named for her father, who was a man of much prominence and influence throughout that section.

Mrs. Ginna had been a resident of Plainfield about forty years, removing here a few years after her marriage, and the Ginna residence on Watchung avenue is one of the handsonest in the city. His large conservatory containing some of the rarest specimens of flowers, had for years been of the greatest interest to lovers of flowers as well as horticulturists not only in this city but throughout this part of the State. Mr. Ginna devoted a great deal of time to the development of rare flowers and took great delight in having his friends visit the conservatory.

Although Mrs. Ginna lived more or less of a quiet life, she was deeply interested in religious and charitable work, especially the Children's Home. She was a devout Christian and a faithful member of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. She was continually giving of her large means to charity, and it has been said that no worthy cause ever suffered when she was sought for aid, and that she was always generous in her benefactions. Mr. Ginna died six years ago last January. For several terms he was an honored member of the Common Council.

Mrs. Ginna is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Erickson Perkins, of Rochester, N. Y., and one son, Daniel F. Ginna, of this city, who was a former member of the Common Council and is owner of the Woodbrook Farms.

The funeral will be held at the late home, 1107 Watchung avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelle, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, will officiate. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

3 YOUTHFUL THIEVES ARE AGAIN REMANDED.

William, August and John Garrison, the three alleged thieves who were arrested on Wednesday charged with breaking and entering the store of Lawrence Kerwin, on West Third street, were arraigned before Judge William G. DeMeza, in the city court this morning and remanded until tomorrow when a further examination will be held.

One of the youngsters admitted this morning to having taken candy, pie and eggs, the latter, he declared, he broke and sucked.

Brute as Husband.

Mrs. Mary McCass, of West Third street, appeared against her husband James, in the city court this morning charging him with drunkenness and striking her, besides using vile language to her and their three children. After giving him some sound advice, Judge DeMeza dismissed the case.

The Liquor Calendar.

Drunkenness was the charge against Henry Lewis, colored, and Henry Drake, this morning. Both pleaded guilty to the charge. Lewis was fined $3 and sentence in Drake's case was suspended.

500 Club to Dance.

The Five Hundred Club will give a private dance in Sebring's Hall, Monday night. The committee in charge comprises W. F. Moore, A. L. Seals, Barton Davis and Harry B. Joseph.

First Hunt April 1.

The Watchung Hunt Club will inaugurate its hunts on Saturday afternoon, April 1, when the riding members will meet the hounds at the Plainfield Country Club.

INVESTIGATION ABOUT OVER.

What will probably be the last session of the Westfield Council Investigating Committee was held Wednesday night. Councilman J. G. Casey explained some of his former testimony regarding furnishing the town with disinfectants.

E. S. Randolph was called to explain how he had secured building permits. He said that the permits charged to him had been taken out in the name of the persons to whom he had sold the houses, which accounted for the fact that the inspector had not issued permits to him.

Ex-Mayor A. L. Alpers was called, but only reiterated some of his former testimony.

When the testimony is written the committee will make report to the Council and any further action will be in the hands of the Council as a whole.

T. S. Armstrong, the druggist, is detained at his home with an ulcerated tooth.

Miss Helen Armstrong, of Duer street, who has been quite ill for many weeks, is convalescing and able to be about the house.

four of the thirteen hits credited to the Hilltoppers.

The Montgomery Southern League Club defeated the Philadelphia Nationals Wednesday at Montgomery by a score of 8 to 7. The Phillies put up a big holler all through the game because Umpire Barr was said to be favoring the home team. With the score a tie, Philadelphia managed to secure a tally in the ninth session. Montgomery went Doolin's crowd one better by sending two men over the plate before a batter had been retired.

The Philadelphia Athletic Yanni-gans took a fall out of the Regulars Wednesday at Savannah, Ga., and won out 5 to 0. The Yanni-gans had the services of Catcher Jack Lapp and Pitchers Coombs, Bender and Morgan. Derrick, who held down third base for the winning nine, slammed out two singles and a double.

The Athletics left Savannah Wednesday night on their return north and will stop at Columbia and Charleston, S. C., on the way to Philadelphia. Three games will be played at Charleston, and the champions will reach Columbia next Monday.

Charley Comiskey paid $2,500 for Matty McIntyre because the left-handed outfielder was such a demon slugger against Chicago's pitchers. McIntyre hits left-handed, but in spite of this fact he invariably clouted the White Sox southpaws all over the lot. Commy figures Matty worth the money just to get him away from the enemy.

The Boston club has received the signed contract of Pitcher Arthur Butler, the Fall River recruit.

The Giants open the season at the Polo Grounds on Saturday, April 8, with the Yale team as opponents.

Manager Bresnahan, of the Cardinals, is reported as having selected Jackson, Tenn., as the spring training place for his team.

The Chicago Americans defeated the San Antonio (Texas League) team again yesterday, 8 to 2. Metz and Brewer, of San Antonio, and Collins, of Chicago, made home runs.

ELKS' BOWLING LEAGUE.

Jersey City Elks captured two games out of three in a league bowling match on the Newark Elks' alleys last night. The affair was interesting and there was much good pinning. In the first game the locals were twenty-four pins to the good, but in the next the visitors jumped to 980 and won easily. In the final affair there was a battle royal, the Jersey City five, with 966, winning by twenty-one pins. The scores:

SPORTS News and Notes

BASEBALL.

Bill Armour, former manager of the Cleveland Americans, says some of the best batters are weak on balls that split the plate waist high. A ball over the middle of the plate would naturally seem easy to hit, but Armour says most batters hit better when the ball comes over the inside or outside corner.

"Batters who take a long swing, like Lajoie and Stovall, are more likely to hit wide balls than balls that cut the plate. Larry isn't weak on balls over the middle of the plate, like hitters of his type. He can hit anything," said Armour.

"The hitters who step away from the plate are best on balls over the inside corner. The batters who hit balls over the middle are the fellows who chop instead of swinging.

"Willie Keeler was the greatest chop hitter. He used a short bat, gripped it far from the handle, and poked the ball. Chop hitters seldom make long drives."

Fred Snodgrass, the Giant outfielder, who led the National League batters for a long time last season, is weak on balls that split the plate. He hits best when the ball is over the outside corner. Pitchers shoot for the middle with Snodgrass up.

George Stovall has a style of his own. He is a stiff-arm hitter. All his long hits are made on balls over the outside corner. He misses balls over the middle of the plate. They look so easy the batter pays too much attention to getting strength into the swing, and not enough to meeting the ball squarely.

A slow ball over the middle of the plate waist high, is the hardest to hit of all foolers. Batters often fail to judge the speed of a slow ball.

According to reports from Hot Springs, Ark., Slow Joe Doyle, the pitcher, who will make a bid for a steady job with the Providence Grays the coming summer, is showing excellent form and rounding into great condition. If Doyle's arm has recovered from the injury which cut short his career of usefulness in the big leagues, he will be one of the best fingers on Barrow's circuit. Doyle hurt his arm two years ago while pitching to Sam Crawford, of the Detroit Tigers. Something snapped in his arm and it fell limp to his side. The injury to Doyle is but one of many. Addie Joss took a similar chance last year and is paying the penalty.

A heavy rain soaked the diamond at Marlinton, early Wednesday morning and a practise game was impossible for the Giants. McGraw took all his men out in the afternoon, however, and made them go through an hour's work of tossing the ball. Bugs Raymond was so ambitious that he not only fielded for an hour, but wound it up with a run Plainfield, N. J., March 24, 1911.

EX NIHILO NIHI FIT.

Excluding the confessional there are very few places in this mundane sphere where the weaknesses of man can be so frequently shown as in an editorial sanctum. When a citizen thinks that he has a grievance or out of sheer devilment wants to get a whack at somebody, if he hasn't got "sand"—and too many have not —he runs to a newspaper office and demands to know why the journal doesn't "rip" another fellow "up the back." Of course he mentions the fact, in a whisper, to leave his name out of it. Even public officials, sworn to see that city affairs are run properly, and ministers of the Gospel, whose office it is to preach righteousness, are not free from this evil.
 As the Rahway News-Herald sets forth in its "pitchfork" column:
 "The office of a newspaper which is known to have the courage to express its opinions on matters of public interest is besieged with complaints of citizens who have a grievance, but who invariably depart with the request: 'Now don't use my name —give 'em rats, but let me out of it.' To be sure, that's what a newspaper is for! It should take all the responsibility and all the blame for appearing as a critic of public affairs." If an editor would follow the advice of the majority of such "disinterested" men of pronounced civic virtue, his newspaper plant would either be decorated with a sheriff's sign, if it was not burned down, or the editor himself would enjoy a long rest in a cell at public expense.

TWO YEARS IN PRISON FOR SHOOTING WOMAN.

Judge Case, of Somerville, sitting for Judge Atwater Wednesday sentenced Arthur B. Matthews, a Rosselie youth, to State prison for two years on an indictment charging him with assaulting with intent to kill Mrs. Albert Johnson, of Westfield avenue, Roselle Park. The same sentence was imposed on two other indictments, but the sentences are to run concurrently. Matthews, it was claimed, shot at and slightly wounded Mrs. Harry Rodgers, a young woman with whom he was infatuated and who is alleged to have spurned his advances. Mr. Johnson was shot through the shoulder upon going to Mrs. Rodgers' assistance.
 Mrs. Johnson was threatened on the same occasion. The shooting took place in Westfield avenue, Roselle Park, on the night of December 29, 1910.

THE FORUM.

Warren Township School Meeting.
 Editor, The Daily Press:

My attention has been called to an article in your paper of the twenty-second inst., headed "Warren Township Elects Four School Trustees," which states that Joel and Horace Codington and John Borman were chosen in evidence trying to elect their candidates but failed.

Now for myself I want to say that this is one of those canards made up out of the whole cloth, for I took little or no interest in it, other than being present, and as for Joel Codington and John Borman I do not believe that they did. There was no opposition, no routing, no excitement. The vote on the appropriation was 59 for $2,600 and 59 for $2,000.

As for the election of members of the board, there was none, legally, in my opinion.
 While I do not know who furnished the information for the article in your paper, it is so full of exaggeration and hyperbole that it savors of one of our familiar figures known in both business and political circles as "Crooked" Henry. I do not blame the newspaper, but I do blame the man who gave the false information.
 HORACE CODINGTON.

MISSIONARIES GATHER IN LARGE NUMBERS.

As this paper goes to press Trinity Reformed church is rapidly filling with attendants upon the preliminary meeting to the great missionary jubilee.
 Forty-five churches are represented in the gathering representing all denominations. Mrs. Frederick G.
 Mead is in charge.

Central Lodge, A. O. U. W., Affair.

At the regular meeting of Central Lodge, A. O. U. W., last evening, it is said that one of the most enjoyable social events of the season was held. The evening was given up to sociability after the business meeting and a large number of members was present. Amendments to the by-laws suggested at the convention last December were discussed and the meeting was followed by a smoker and a jolly good time. The order is in a prosperous financial condition.

Commissioners of Deed.

The following Plainfielders received their commissions as commissioners of deed from the Secretary of State, yesterday: Dr. Albert Pittis,
 H. H. Howard, W. L. Hetfield, Jr.,
 V. W. Nash, Jr., Frank J. Hubbard,
 B. Frank Coriell, A. E. Crone and Miss L. M. Striker.

 ville.

YOUNG MANLEY BREAKS SWIMMING RECORD

The swimming tournament which has been in progress at the Y. M. C.
 A. for sometime, is attracting considerable interest. Physical Director T. G. Whitaker has been giving special attention to this sport and is developing some good swimmers.
 Last night Alfred Manley broke the local association record of 31 seconds for forty-six yards, covering the distance in 29 seconds. Last night's results in the senior department follow:

	Elapsed Time	Handicap	Actual Time
Manley	29	0	29
Fritts	35	7	34
Sanford	43	9	31
Newmiller	52	12	40
Thompson	56	13	43
Dunham	60	12	48

These points were scored: Manley 7, Thompson 5, Sanford 5, Fritts 7, Newmiller, 3, Dunham 3. Points to date: Manley 10, Sanford 10, Fritts 8, Newmiller 8, Thompson 8, Dunham 8, Hansen 3, Johnson 3, A-Jell 3. On March 30, there will be a 65-yard swim, handicap. Tonight the boys' swimming team will go to Montclair and take part in the Boys' State meet.

Weather One Year Ago.

Edward Willis, of South avenue, who keeps a record of the weather, in commenting on the present unusual cold snap, says that one year ago tomorrow Plainfielders were enjoying summer heat and a year ago March 29 the thermometer was 82 degrees. Just after that there was a cold snap. At 8 o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 20 degrees.

Jersey Central's Denial.

The rumor that the Pennsylvania Railroad had offered for sale its terminal facilities, docks and other appurtenances to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, was denied at the offices of the Central in New York this afternoon. An official of the company said the report was a "delayed" report from Philadelphia, or in other words a "slowdown" message.

Linen Shower for Bride-Elect.

A linen shower was given last night by some friends in honor of Miss Mabel Cecelia Peterson, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A.
 Peterson, of Berckman street. Her marriage to Daniel Luke Pierce, of Newark, for which invitations have been issued, takes place on Thursday, April 6.

Not "Fitless Publicity."

The Elizabeth publicity committee held a meeting last night in the Elzabeth Board of Trade rooms. Representatives of the press were not admitted.

BILLS THROUGH SENATE.

With many signs of weariness and yet with considerable good nature the members of the Senate stayed in session Wednesday night until 10 o'clock and disposed of a mass of business. Several of the Senators went home in the afternoon so no partisan matters were taken up, and most of the bills that did pass just managed to get enough votes to put them through.

The Senate will convene again next Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Among the matters disposed of were:

House 293, authorizing Hudson county to construct a short-cut highway from Union Hill to Weehawken.
 House 306, placing the six stablemen in the Newark fire department on the rolls as firemen.
 House 334, amends the East Orange charter.

Senate 209, increases the amount to be spent by first-class counties on hospitals for contagious diseases.
 House 300, annexing Tuxedo Park to South Orange village.

House 80, one of the series to abolish the office of register of deeds in Bergen, Mercer and Middlesex counties.

Senate 207, regulating the receipt and disbursement of State moneys.
 Among other bills passed in the Senate in the afternoon were:

Senate 139, allowing the New Jersey reformatory commissioners to judge unruly inmates as incorrigi-ble.

Senate 164, allows certain acknowledgments to be taken before notaries public as well as before commissioners of deeds.

Senate 118, provides for the renewal of worn out water mains in first-class cities (applies to Hudson).
 Senate 174 (Osborne), provides that reduction in the size of the board of chosen freeholders shall not affect any civil service employe.

Senate 172, increasing to ten days notice to be given in sales in bulk cases.

Senate 181, enabling Hudson county to meet a deficiency in its appropriations for courts.

Senate 206, provides for transfer of incorrigible inmates of Rahway Reformatory to State Prison, upon authority of the Commissioner of Charities and Corrections.

House 264, allows boards of health in second-class cities to send its health officer to medical conventions.

Senate 212, incorporates the borough of Port Norris, Cumberland county.

House 368, makes it unlawful to have in one's possession lobsters less than eight inches in length.
 Senate 171, incorporates the borough of Mantoloking, Ocean county.
 Senate 176, validates certain drainage bonds in Bergen county.

William G. Besler, vice president and general manager of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, left yesterday with his wife and children for a two-weeks' stay in Bermuda.

DRY CLEANING TALK
 Number 3
THE IMITATORS
 Many little pressing tailor shops claim to do Dry Cleaning. These are the magicians. These the people who simply take in your clothes, brush out the dust, remove such spots as they can, pressing fairly well. Your clothing is then sent home and after a few days the spots reappear. You naturally condemn Dry Cleaning, when in truth your garments have only been sponged and pressed.
 You should send your clothes here. We dust them properly, having the right equipment. Then we put your garments in just the right bath for their special needs, depending upon condition, texture, etc. Drying and airing after cleaning is accomplished here under the most sanitary and perfect conditions.
 Send your next work to us—if you appreciate quality.

have a series of photographs.
The Russell Sage Foundation will send a model exhibit covering the work of a large and small charity organization society.
There will be a psychological clinic in operation, in charge of Prof. E. R. Johnstone, superintendent of the training school for feeble-minded children at Vineland, and Dr. H. H. Goddard, of the same institution.
The Visiting Nurse's association of Newark will exhibit its work.
There will also be exhibits from the following institutions, consisting of photographic views and industrial work: State Home for the Care and Training of Feeble-Minded Women at Vineland; New Jersey State Village for Epileptics at Skillman; New Jersey State Hospital at Trenton; New Jersey State Reformatory at Rahway; New Jersey State Home for Boys at Jamesburg, and the New Jersey State Home for Girls at Trenton.
In connection with the exhibition there will be each day during the conference stereopticon illustrations of the work of the public playgrounds, tuberculosis commissions, tenement house commissions, public baths, open-air schools and the shade tree commission of Newark.
At the Tuesday afternoon meeting April 4, when the topic for discussion will be "Home in the Country," the first and principal address will be by Willett M. Hays, assistant secretary of agriculture, Washington, D. C. He will speak upon "Country Life."

for dinner at the club, which is now $1.25, he raised, but Mr. Clay replied that if the rate was increased to $1.50 he would not want to be a member of the house committee. The questions were further discussed by E. B. Shoemaker, H. R. Mungler and Messrs. Buckley, Dunn and Corey, treating it in its different phases.
The question to abolish the junior associate class was considered first, this causing the greatest discussion, and then a vote was taken as to increasing the dues of active members, which was decided without much argument. Otherwise the club fees will remain as heretofore.

STATE CONFERENCE OF CHARITIES AND CORRECTION.

The following exhibitions will be made at the State Conference of Charities and Correction to be held in Princeton April 2, 3 and 4:
The New Jersey Tenement House Commission will exhibit living conditions in a number of cities of the State by photographs, many of them taken especially for this conference.
New Jersey Children's Home will send a small exhibition illustrating its work—the receiving and placing of children in private homes, system of records, etc.

THE MAKING AND DOCTORING OF GEMS.

As the demand has grown for gems and ornamental stones, efforts have been made to enlarge the supply artificially. Defective specimens receive special treatment, inferior stones are dyed, numerous imitations are made and now genuine stones are produced in the laboratory—the artificial ruby being practically identical in composition with the natural.
Flaws in gem stones are removed—defective rubies, for instance, being packed in reduced iron and then heated to a high degree. Smoky quartz is made clear by a similar method, and the color in the carnelian and pink topaz is also due to high temperature.
Some stones are dyed as a regular industry. Chalcedony consists of layers of silica of different degrees of porosity and it is converted into chryx by soaking several days in honey and water at about ninety-eight degrees C., and then placing in strong sulphuric acid to carbonize the sugar absorbed.
Natural brilliancy is imparted by treating with oil. Blue stones are obtained by the use of potassium ferrocyanide and ferric chloride, or copper sulphate and ammonia and other tints result from suitable reagents.
Were Harmonized.
In his late visit to Ohio "Nick" Longworth met his old colored friend Moses Carson, who lives near Columbus, and said: "How is it now, Uncle Mose?"
"All cool as a cucumber since de'lection—one Captain Roosevelt, from Dakota, I think, come here and spoke all kinds ob pollyticks, an' since dat all de decent Publicans am dead shore harmonized wid de Demy-cracks," said Uncle Mose.—National Monthly.
Will Hold Annual Supper.

ICELAND IN SUMMER.

When the Shown of Sunset Greets the Golden Glow of Sunrise.

Iceland! The name itself is a barrier to tourist travel. But let the tourist ignore prejudice and embark at Copenhagen or Leith and he will find a delightful voyage over a smiling summer sea if he should go during June, July or August. He will be hardly more than two days out of sight of land—the far-reaching rockbound coast of Scotland or the snow-crowned peaks of Iceland—but the journey across will occupy about four days. For his amusement the dolphins will tumble, the whales will spout, the seal will swim and the sea birds will fly, and there will be glorious sunrises and sunsets, with hardly more than two hours of night intervening. When he finally reaches Iceland he will see the sun set about 11:40 o'clock and rise again shortly after 12 o'clock, the golden glow of the sunset mingling with the golden glow of the sunrise.

All these delights cannot be assured to the winter traveler to Iceland. In fact, he will be obliged to keep his lamp burning until 10:30 in the morning and then light it again at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.—Mrs. W. F. Crafts in Christian Herald.

A VOLCANIC MONUMENT.

Wonderful Old Balancing Rock Near Portland, Ore.

One of the most remarkable rocks in the world is that known as the "balancing rock," which stands on the bank of the Willamette river a short distance above the city of Portland, Ore. Rising from a broad base is a small column roughly round in shape. Just above this is a huge mass of rock bearing a tree on the summit, the total height of rock and column being about a hundred feet.

Although a great deal larger and heavier than the pillar on which it stands, the big rock is very accurately balanced. For how many centuries this odd freak has stood not even the wisest scientists are able to determine, but it has evidently been there for a very long period.

The entire rock is of a volcanic nature, and the most singular thing about it is the fact that the knob and pillar are entirely disjointed from one another. Wind and weather no doubt are slowly wearing the "balancing rock" away, but the process is so imperceptible that, falling some unforeseen catastrophe, the monument will probably endure for many centuries.—Wide World Magazine.

Making Up an Actor.

In making up an amateur actor should remember that as little paint as possible should be used, for, while it is easy to disguise by a thick mask of pigment, the heavier the makeup the more difficult it is to convey sensitive emotional variations by the changing expression of the face. If it is possible to arrange one's own hair in a way suitable to the character so much the better, for, though it may in no way seem more real than a wig, it will prove infinitely more comfortable. When the actor looks as much like the part as he possibly can without the aid of artificial disguise he begins to apply nose paste, paint and powder, obliterating one characteristic and accentuating another, painting the eyebrows out and redrawing them, changing the color of the skin, putting shadows around the eyes and sinister lines running from the nostrils. He adds a roughly shaped beard or mustache of crape hair if the character demands it.—Harper's Weekly.

Wonderful Hats.

On one occasion Lincoln was presented with two fine hats, each by a different hatmaker, neither knowing that the other had made such a contribution. In the course of events they called upon the president, and it so happened that both called at the same time. When both found themselves in the presence of the executive they asked how he had liked the hats they had sent him, and, taking advantage of the opportunity of securing a statement of superiority of one or the other make, the president was asked to state his preference. To many men such a question would be very embarrassing, but to Lincoln not at all. He took the hat, one in each hand, and then replied gravely, but with a mischievous twinkle in his keen eyes: "Gentlemen, your hats do mutually surpass each other!"

An Honored Pig.

A four footed discoverer is honored in the town hall of Laneburg, Prussia. It is a memorial to a pig that breathed its last 300 years ago. This consists of a handsome glass case enclosing a ham in excellent preservation, and underneath a black marble tablet with the following inscription in gold letters: "Passersby, here you behold the mortal remains of the pig which acquired for itself imperishable glory by the discovery of the salt springs of Laneburg."

Harvest Time.

Teacher—Now, Earlie, tell us when is the harvest season? Earlie—From November to March. Teacher—Why, Earlie, I am surprised that you should name such barren months. Who told you they were the harvest season? Earlie—Pa. He's a plumber.—Milwaukee News.

Both Recovering.

Friend—Ah, doctor, how did you make out with that cranky patient of yours? Doctor—Oh, we're both on the road to recovery. He's able to be about and I am suing for my bill.—Exchange.

Nature fits all her children with something to do.—Lowell.

Special Display of Our Famous $5.00 Hats

Our $5.00 trimmed hats are the talk of the trade—manufacturers and retailers alike. Every one wonders how it is possible to make up the exquisite and exclusive styles we do at this price and every one marvels at the quality of our $5.00 hats—the trimmings—the linings and the shapes themselves. There is no secret about our famous "fives"—we know how to buy our materials and we have trimmers who do nothing else but devise new and original styles. We import the most beautiful Parisian models at fabulous prices and duplicate them exactly. We copy the styles of the most exclusive Fifth Avenue shops and we create new and wonderful models of our own. There are large hats in our $5.00 assortment and there are plenty of close fitting toques. The Helmet hat is included and so is the "Maude Adams" sailor—one of the very newest and cleverest Spring hat ideas. There are too many styles to attempt a description, but every style is a perfect gem. A new and particularly fetching collection on view Saturday

L. BAMBERGER & CO. NEWARK N. J.

The Moonrakers. "In the English county of Wiltshire," said a customs official, "the natives are called 'moonrakers.' There's a Wiltshire story, over a century old, about some rustics who were found one night raking away in a pond at the reflection of the moon, which they took for a cheese. "That's a very good story, a very funny skit on the men of Wiltshire, but ask a Wiltshire man about it and with a contented chuckle he will say: "Oh, yes, people tell us how they give the name of 'moonrakers' to us Wiltshire people because a parcel of stoups one night tried to rake the gladder of the moon out of the brook, takin' it for a thin cheese. But that's the wrong end of the story. It's altogether the wrong end. Them chaps as was doin' this was smugglers and they was fishin' up some kegs of brandy and only pretended to rake out a cheese. The policeman as axed 'em what they was about had a good laugh at 'em, but, by Harry! they had a better laugh at him when they got home with the stuff!"

The Tough Chicken. There are several ways of transforming a venerable fowl into a respectable family piece de resistance. In fact, by the following method such fowls have been made as tender as spring chickens. Let the bird, after drawing, seasoning and stuffing, simmer until over half done. Then place it in the oven with a piece of pork laid over its breast. Pour the liquor over and around the roast in the pan. Finish the cooking in a very hot oven, basting frequently with the drippings. When ready to serve skim off any superfluous fat that may be in the pan before preparing the gravy. The pork prevents the fowl from becoming dry, and if a small onion is also added it will have a more savory flavor. The simmering lessens its toughness. In fact, slow simmering is just the thing for any tough meat, but it should simmer, not boil. Boiling will toughen the tenderness of meat.

A Death Lure. According to tradition, Kenneth, the secondary king of Scotland, was alleged to his death in a most novel manner. Kenneth had slain a son and brother of Fennella, who to be avenged ordered Wiltus, a famous silversmith, to construct a death dealing statue of silver. In its right hand the statue held a basin and in the left hand an apple of pure gold, both set with diamonds and other precious stones. To touch the apple was to defy death, it being so arranged that any one guilty of such vandalism would be immediately riddled by poisoned arrows shot from openings in the body of the statue. Kenneth was invited to inspect the wonder, and, as Fennella had hoped, he tried to pluck the precious imitation fruit. When his hand touched the apple he was wounded by the arrows and died where he fell.

Animal Life on Venus. "There are many physical reasons for thinking that if any other planet besides the earth is inhabited it is probably Venus," says Professor Pickering. "It is about the same size as the earth, and its density is about the same. The force of gravity upon its surface is only slightly less than that on the earth. The temperature on Venus is probably the same as in our own tropics, and the dense atmosphere may be of a composition such as enveloped the earth when in the carboniferous period. As to the existence of intelligent life, the question is still open. If it is ever established that the planet Venus is inhabited it will be a surprising thing if the same were proved conclusively of any other planet, owing to the similarity in many respects of Venus and the earth."

A Cotton Legend. Cotton was the theme of one of the most fabulous nature stories on its first introduction into Europe. Travelers related that in Tartary there grew a shrub and that when its ripe fruit was cut open within was a little Beasts in fiesche, in bone and blade as though it were a little Lamb with outer wool. The flesh of this "vegetable lamb" was eaten, ran the story, and the wool made into cloth. The basis of the legend is the way in which the cotton seed ripens and bursts, showing the white fluffy raw cotton, which closely resembles wool. Raw cotton is still called "cotton wool."

A Hint. Teacher—I have been trying for some time to get the room so quiet that we could hear a pin drop. I have dropped the pin several times, but you have been making so much noise that it has been impossible to hear it. What do you think we had better do, children? Reddy Backrow—The dumbbell to it next time, teacher.—Brooklyn Life.

A Reversion. "Matrimony," said a modern benedict the other day, "produces remarkable revolutions. Here am I, for instance, in a few short months changed from a sighing lover to a being snoring illustrated Bits.

The Time to Think. A man who is really thoughtful about the family name should begin to think about it quite awhile before he comes to him to enter the name of his father on the police blotter.—Atlantic Monthly.

Words That Count. Mind, who don't you get the word to Wily? Have you any more words? Edith. Yes, but Wily has us.—The Theatre American.

Distinction. I have been told that the best of a man's mind is...

In the Millinery Mirror

The latest fashions in hats in European capitals, as well as in the Metropolis are reflected accurately in the hats on view in our Millinery Salon.

Our trimmers, experts not only in copying the best of the foreign ideas, merge their own thoughts with those of the Parisians and evolve hats that have a distinctive character and that set a standard for Hahne & Co. millinery difficult to approach.

This skill in trimming enters into not only the higher priced hats running from say $50 to $100, but is seen in the most modestly priced of our specialty lines.

Take, for instance, the hats we sell at $4.75. It is truly wonderful what beautiful hats can be produced at this price. They have much of the style of the higher-priced hats and often are taken to be hats that cost double the money. Many new ones will be ready at $4.75 tomorrow, fresh from our millinery gardens.

Pluck them while they may be had. At $7.75 we specialize hats that are still more beautifully trimmed than the $4.75, having a little more distinctive character and trimmings of a finer sort.

At $9.95 a still better line of hats, beautifully trimmed with finer materials and in a variety of shapes and color effects, most pleasing, indeed.

Untrimmed Hats, of Black and Burnt Chip, that should sell at $1.95, will be priced Saturday at only .....95c

If you choose to pay $12.50 to $14 for a hat you will find a wide variety to choose from, and you can secure hats full of originality and beauty.

Children's Hats, ready to wear, many beautiful styles to choose from, the popular mushroom being predominant, here at from 65c to $4.95.

Flowers including pretty rosebuds and gorgeous hydrangeas will be specialized tomorrow at only 39c.

Sweet Peas and Rosebud Clusters, special priced for Saturday only 33c.

Buttercup and Blossom Wreaths—fine for children's hats—a complete trimming in themselves; Saturday at only 69c.

These on Bargain Table No. 19.

A Trio of Tailored Suits That We Parade With Pride

Whichever collection of suits you elect to choose from, depend upon it, you will get a suit that will outclass any in style, in quality of material and in finish that you can buy elsewhere in Newark at the price.

First Up for notice today are the Smart Suits of Serge and Novelty Stripes. These are plainly tailored, have the natty short coats, which are nicely lined; gored skirts; may be had in black, navy and gray; suits that should fetch easily $19.50; marked for tomorrow's selling at only .....$12.98

Fine Tailored Suits, of French Serge, for small, medium and extra large women, strictly tailored medium short coats, handsomely lined with self color; notched collar; panel gored or strap-plaited skirts with or without button trimming; in black and shades; value $ 98, special at $17.98.

Handsome Tailored Suits of Fine French Serge or Novelty Mixtures; short coats, with notched, circular or shawl or sailor collars; smartly trimmed with silk braid or satin; finely lined; new panel or plain gored skirt; suits that would be good value at $35; specialized for Saturday $25.75.

Dresses of beautiful satin foulards and dainty chiffon taffetas, in plain hairline or polka dot effects, with exquisite lace yokes and collars or in the much favored low-neck styles; braid or combination trimming, with deep border effects; long or kimono sleeves; skirt panel gored or plaited; sizes for small medium and extra large women; and just think we are going to give you your choice of these dresses tomorrow at only $10.75.

500 Handsome Lingerie Waists

An offering of importance to all inclined to economy—a goodly lot of beautiful white waists in a variety of designs that will win instant favor and make them go like hot cakes—Dutch Neck Styles; edged with fine valenciennes laces; richly trimmed with heavy lace inserts front and back; with the fashionable kimono sleeves; full range of sizes; waists you'd gladly pay a couple dollars for any time, to be offered tomorrow, at only.....98c silk lace yokes; in black and various shades; good value for $6.75; special at.....$3.49

Fine Marquessette Waists—Hand embroidered in coral, Copenhagen or lavender; high or low neck; some combination trimmed; all sizes; very special at each.....$5.98

Handsome Waists—Of Messaline and silk finished Voile; plain or novelty stripe effects; also chiffons lined with silk Persian; high or low neck; circular Messaline collar or satin trimmed; cuffs to match; in black and navy; value $2.98; special at.....$1.98

Handsome Waists of Chiffon or Marquessette from .....$7.98 to $29.98

White Madras and Chambray Waists, in stripes, checks or solid colors; high or low neck styles; with or without sailor collars; all sizes; good value at 98c; priced for Saturday only .....49c

Dressy Spring Coats 250 at Manufacturer's Cost

This is good coat news for women and misses, for it concerns a goodly lot of very smart and extremely dressy styles of Spring Coats, all of them made by skilled tailors.
These coats are made with sailor, shawl and notched collars giving you wide choice. They are of French Serge, Shepherd Plaids and very Novel and Fancy Mixtures in tans and grays and black satins, trimmed with shepherd plaids, satins, pongees, braids and embroideries.

The prices fixed for Saturday give you values such as we are positive no other Newark store will approach, namely—$8.50, $10.50, $16.50 and $19.50.

THE VALUE OF INITIALS.

Nothing gives so distinctive a touch as initials. Whether in silver stationery, handkerchiefs and household linen, a monogram or initials enhance the value of a gift.

There is much difference in engraving, so it pays to get your silver or jewelry where you know artistic marking is done.

Letter and note paper for formal correspondence is invariably marked. Most women have several dies, one with their address for business and ordinary correspondence, the other with monogram or crest for personal notes.

Just now the letters woven into circles, diamonds or oblongs and placed at the upper left-hand corner of note paper or card are extremely popular. Conservative women remain true to the three-block initials, rather small, placed in centre of paper at left hand corner.

The hostess who entertains frequently has her monogram or crest stamped on gilt or silver-edged place cards, which are kept always on hand for emergencies. The die from one's monogram paper can be used, the stamping being done in gold or silver unless to match a special decoration.

A 25-cent handkerchief will take quite a new air if the initials of the owner are embroidered on it. The lettering for ordinary ones is in small, plain letters across one corner; for more elaborate ones a monogram or initials inside a medallion is preferred.

Bureau covers, table scarfs, line pillow slips and centerpieces which can be picked up cheaply at white sales will look vastly better if marked with initials.

Bolster rolls of plain linen are better looking if they have three five-inch initials worked in the middle. They should be heavily padded to stand in bold relief.

PRUNE SOUFFLE.

Remove the pits from a large cupful of stewed prunes and chop fine. Add the whites of three eggs and a cup of sugar beaten to a stiff froth. Mix well, turn into a buttered dish and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven. Serve with whipped cream. If it is desired to cook this in individual cups, butter the cups, fill only two-thirds full, to allow for puffing up of the eggs, and set the cups in a pan of water to bake. Some like a dash of cinnamon in this.

Take one pint of stewed prunes, one-third pint thick cream, whites of six eggs and raspberry or loganberry jelly. After thoroughly draining the prunes, pit them and rub them through a colander; avoid rubbing the skins through as much as possible. Beat the white of the eggs to a stiff froth; then by degrees beat this into sifted prunes. If not sweet enough to suit the taste add a teaspoonful of sugar.

The delicacy of this dish depends largely upon the thoroughness with which the ingredients are beaten together. When well beaten together pour into a glass dish. Whip the cream and spread evenly over the top of pudding, then fleck the whipped cream with bits of the jelly. Serve with cream, or, if preferred, with a custard made from the yolks of six eggs.

The yolks of the eggs may be used for boiled custard, which is richer when made entirely from yolks than when made from yolks and whites together.

DANGER OF OVER-EXPANSION.

A safe business is one that has grown healthily from year to year; its ramifications, like the roots of the tree, having spread in all directions. If sales fall in one part of the country, those from other parts may be relied on to nourish the business and keep it alive. Strength and prestige should come from age in a business, and on the other hand, one that has grown by leaps and bounds is likely to lack strength for the same reasons that apply to the trees. While it flourishes under favorable conditions it lacks foothold and balance to weather's hard storms.

Probably the greatest temptation a business man encounters is to expand his business rapidly to meet expected demands. He realizes that he must go forward or backward, that he cannot stand still. Growth being generally regarded as synonymous with progress, it is perfectly natural to expand rapidly under favorable conditions. But the conservative business men when tempted to expand rapidly will consider carefully what the prospects are of surviving a period of hard times. It is better to turn away some business than to expand to such proportions that on bad season will ruin a business that has taken years to build up. "Make haste slowly" is still a good adage—Machinery.

STATE NEWS BRIEFS

The Friends' High School at Moorestown is closed owing to an epidemic of mumps.

Extensive interior improvements will be made at St. Mary's Hall, Burlington, during the Easter vacation.

Caught under the trucks of a train he was about to board at Haddonfield Wednesday, John H. Stevenson, a seventeen-year-old messenger of the Pennsylvania Railroad, had his right leg badly torn. He was taken to Cooper Hospital, Camden.

Isaiah F. Barnes, of Bridgeton, died Wednesday at the age of sixty-three years. He was for many years prominent in Bridgeton's Republican politics. He is survived by a widow and a brother, Rev. Charles H. Barnes, who is a member of the New Jersey Methodist Conference.

By a vote of four to four Salem City Council Wednesday night refused to grant any liquor licenses, and as a result after 11 o'clock tonight all saloons will be closed. The nearest saloon then will be seven miles away, and the roads in that direction are not the best.

When arraigned before Recorder Stackhouse in Camden Wednesday, William Dixon, charged with robbing his employer, William Horag, 510 South street, offered to return the money and pay the costs of prosecution. The recorder said it was not within his power to effect a settlement, and held Dixon in $500 bail. He had stolen $25.

The shad fishing season was officially opened at Burlington Wednesday, after a delay of a fortnight, owing to the prolonged cold weather. Louis Wade and Cotton Burr made the first cast, using a new 110-fathom net. Motor boats will be used almost exclusively in operating the big drifting seines this year, and by the end of the week a score of crews will be working in every tide.

Claiming that with a mystic lodestone he could convert borrowed capital into fifty times the original sum, Henry Williams, said by county detectives to be a slick negro swindler, victimized several Burlington negroes who were willing to lend him from $1 to $5 each to see his charm work. Arrested at the railroad station, Williams was disarmed of a razor and a dirk. He was held on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Attired in the flimsiest of summer apparel, two maids romped out on the Atlantic City strand Wednesday at noon, and to the amazement of a crowd that quickly lined the railing of the boardwalk, plunged bodily into the surf. The bathers paddled about for a time as if they were thoroughly enjoying the experience, and after emerging from the cold water they started on a run for St. James place, first having donned sweaters and coats.

For the fourth time within about two years the suit of Mrs. Amelia Sparks and others against Charles Ross and others was begun in the Camden Circuit Court Wednesday, and it is expected that the case will occupy the attention of Judge Cole the remainder of the week. A fortune is involved in the outcome of the suit, which was instituted to learn whether Edmund B. Ross was lawfully married to Mary Cavanaugh, by whom there were nine children, the only surviving ones being Charles Ross and Jennie R. Thornton.

GOLF.

Considering the soft nature of the ground, Dave Honeyman, professional at the Forest Hill Field Club, is playing fine golf these days. In a four-ball match recently the Scot reeled off a 73, coming home like a wizard in 31. Honeyman's most spectacular play came at the 300-yard seventeenth hole, which he made in 2. A drive of 250 yards and a beautifully played mashie shot did the trick. It is the first time this hole has been made in 2.

Provided present plans do not fall through, the first junior tournament under the auspices of the Metropolitan Golf Association will be decided in the fall. The Plainfield Country Club, which will entertain the boys, favors a date toward the latter part of September, in the belief that the youngsters would have the advantage of the summer's vacation for practice. However, the final selection will be left to the association, and whatever time is set will be agreeable to the Plainfield club.

If the junior meeting is deferred until the autumn it is not unlikely that the boys will find the course slightly changed. Land secured by the club some time ago is now nearing a point when it can be put into commission. This extra property will add fully five hundred yards to the total.

One of the new holes will be 580 yards, another 485, and two more slightly in excess of a quarter of a mile. The outward and homeward journeys will be nearly alike in distance—about three thousand yards.

Comedy of the better sort, music that has more charm than to merely soothe the savage beast, comedians who understand their business, and high grade vaudeville specialties, contributed by real headliners, are promised in the revised edition of "McFadden's Flats," the foremost of all comedy productions, which will be seen at the Plainfield theatre, Thursday, March 30, matinee and night. From all accounts there is not a dull or monotonous moment in the entire offering, which without doubt is one of the most up to date and enduring entertainment on the boards today. The production has been augmented with an enlarged chorus of thirty bewitching and clever young ladies who know how to wear stunning gowns in befitting style and grace; new scenery, elaborate stage and electrical effects and song hits of the tuneful, catchy variety.

The Diva's Ruby
By F. Marion Crawford
Author of "Baracina," "Aretusa," etc.
Illustrations by A. Wall

Copyright, 1911, by F. Marion Crawford.

The hours passed, and the sun rose higher in the sky and struck deeper into the shady well, till he was almost overhead, and there was scarcely any shadow left. It became very hot and stifling, because the passage through which the air had entered with the water was shut up. Then the traveler took off his loose jacket, and opened his flannel shirt at the neck, and turned up his sleeves for coolness, and he crept backwards into the hollow where the ruby mine was, to shelter himself from the sun. But Baraka edged away to the very foot of the cliff, where there remained a belt of shade, even at noon; and as she sat there she took the hem of her one garment in her hands and slowly fanned her little feet. Neither he nor she had spoken for many hours, and she could see that in the recess of the rock he was sitting as before, with his forehead against his hands that were clasped on his knees, in the attitude and bearing of despair.

He began to be thirsty now, in the heat. If he had not known that there was no water he could easily have done without it through a long day, but knowledge that there was none, and that he was never to drink again, parched his life and his throat and his tongue till it felt like a dried fig in his mouth. He did not feel hunger, and indeed he had a little food in a wallet he carried; but he could not have eaten without water, and it did not occur to him that Baraka might be hungry. Perhaps, even if he had known that she was, he would not have given her of what he had; he would have kept it for himself. What was the life of a wild hill-girl compared with his? But the vulture was watching him, as well as Baraka, and would not move from its pinnacle till the end, though days might pass.

Baraka was not thirsty yet, because she had drunk her fill in the morning, and was not used to drink often; it was enough that she could look at the man she loved, for the end would come soon enough without thinking about it. All day long the traveler, crouched in the hollow of the ruby cave, and Baraka watched him from her place; when it grew dark the vulture on the pinnacle of rock thrust its ugly head under its wing. As soon as Baraka could not see any more she curled herself up on the white sand like a little wild animal and went to sleep, though she was thirsty.

It was dawn when she awoke, and her linen garment was damp with the dew, so that the touch of it refreshed her. The traveler had come out and was lying prone on the sand, his face buried against his arm, as soldiers sleep in a bivouac. She could not tell whether he was asleep or not, but she knew that he could not see her, and she cautiously sucked the dew from her garment, drawing it up to her mouth and squeezing it between her lips.

It was little enough refreshment, but it was something, and she was not afraid, which made a difference. Just as she had drawn the edge of her shift down and round her ankles again, the man turned on his side suddenly, and then rose to his feet. For an instant he glared at her, and she saw that his blue eyes were bloodshot and burning; then he picked up the heavy camel bag, and began to make his way round what had been the beach of the pool, towards the passage through which they had entered, and which was now a dry cave, wide below, narrow at the top, and between six or seven feet high. He trod carefully and tried his way, for he feared the quicksand, but he knew that there was none in the passage, since he had walked through the water and had felt the way hard under his feet. In a few moments he disappeared under the rock.

Baraka knew what he meant to do; he was going to try to dig through the dam at the entrance to let the water

We WANT COMPETITION of the Right Sort, Not the Following Kind!

A Mrs. S— after selecting her outfit and learning the total cost from our plainly marked price tags, said she preferred to make comparisons elsewhere before ordering, to which we readily agreed, for it's a thing we always URGE!

On getting another store's prices (where they were marked in private signs) she found ours were far less, and SAID so. The salesman promptly dropped to our figures—AND GOT THE ORDER.

Here, where there's but ONE PLAINLY MARKED PRICE ON EVERY ITEM, such an "accommodating" and sudden price drop would be impossible—here, when you read the price tag, you KNOW it's already at lowest point, for ALL prices are made and REMAIN on the SAME UNIFORMLY SMALL PROFIT BASIS. We don't HAVE to run a "leader" here and there for an hour, or a day, to catch trade, as ALL lines are equally good values EVERY day in the year!

All we want is HONEST competition that meet OUR plainly marked prices WITH prices you can READ!

ISN'T THAT FAIR?

in, even if he could not get out; but she did not move, for in that narrow place and in the dark she could not have helped him. She sat and waited. By and by he would come out, drenched with sweat and yet parching with thirst, and he would glare at her horribly again; perhaps he would be mad when he came out and would kill her because she had brought him there.

After some time she heard a very faint sound overhead, and when she looked up the vulture was gone from his pinnacle. She wondered at this, and her eyes searched every point and crevice of the rock as far as she could see, for she knew that the evil bird could only have been frightened away; and though it fears neither bird nor beast, but only man, she could not believe that any human being could find a foothold near to where it had perched.

For some seconds, perhaps for a whole minute, she saw nothing, though she gazed up steadily, then she saw that a small patch of snowy white was moving slowly on the face of the cliff, at some distance above the place where the vulture had been. She bent her brows in the effort to see more by straining her sight, and meanwhile the patch descended faster than it seemed possible that a man could climb down that perilous steep. Yet it was a man, she knew from the first, and soon she saw him plainly, in his loose shirt and white turban, and with a long gun slung across his back. Nearer still, and he was down to the jutting pinnacle where the vulture had sat, and she saw his black beard; still nearer by a few feet and she knew him, and then her glance darted to the mouth of the cave, at the other end of which the man she loved was toiling desperately alone in the dark to pierce the dam of earth and stones. It was only a glance, in a second of time, but when she looked up the black-bearded man had already made another step downwards. Baraka measured the distance. If he spoke loud now she could understand him. She knew him well, and she knew why he had come, with his long gun. He was her father's brother's son, to whom she was betrothed; he was Saad, and he was risking his life to come down and kill her and the man whom she had led to the ruby mines for love's sake.

He would come down till he was within easy range, and then he would wait till he had a fair chance at them, when they were standing still, and she knew that he was a dead shot. The traveler's revolver could never carry as far as the long gun, Baraka was sure, and Saad could come quite near with safety, since he seemed able to climb down the face of a flat rock where there was not foothold for a cat. He was still descending, he was getting very near; if the traveler were not warned he might come out of the cave unsuspectingly and Saad would shoot him. Saad would wish to shoot him first, because of his revolver, and then he would kill Baraka at his leisure. If he fired at her first the traveler would have a chance at him while he was reloading his old gun. She understood why he had not killed her yet, if indeed he wanted to, for it was barely possible that he loved her enough to take her alive.
