For all of the years that we have been at PDS, you have always been there to help us. For some of you have been a dear friend, for others, an always benevolent figure of authority. Your honesty, fair judgement, and rare ability to treat us as your equals while still retaining your "native dignity" has given us a deep and lasting respect for you.

Not only have you carried out your duties as headmaster, but you have also been generous with a much more valuable commodity than your ability to run this school; you have given of yourself. You have shared with us your warmth of spirit, your affection, and your love, and although we may not always have shown it, that love is returned.

Thank you and good luck.

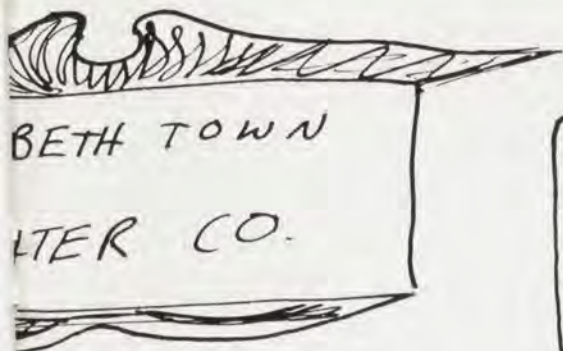

A black and white photograph of a woman with dark hair, wearing a light-colored, wide-brimmed hat and a light-colored, short-sleeved top. She is leaning her arms on a wooden fence post and smiling at the camera. The fence is made of vertical wooden slats. In the background, there are dense trees and foliage. The overall mood is relaxed and nostalgic.

Lovers and madmen have such seething brains,
Such shaping fantasies, that apprehend
More than cool reason ever comprehends.
The lunatic, the lover, and the poet
Are of imagination all compact: —
One sees more devils than vast hell can hold, —
That is the madman: the lover, all as frantic,
Sees Helen's beauty in a brow of Egypt:
The poet's eye, in a fine frenzy rolling,
Doth glance from heaven to earth, from earth to heaven;
And, as imagination bodies forth
The forms of things unknown, the poet's pen
Turns them to shapes, and gives to airy nothing
A local habitation and a name.
That, if it would but apprehend some joy,
It comprehends some bringer of that joy.

For the anarchist, freedom is not an abstract philosophical concept, but the vital concrete possibility for every human being to bring to full development all the powers, capacities, and talents with which nature has endowed him, and turn them to social account. The less this natural development of man is influenced by ecclesiastical or political guardianship, the more effective and harmonious will human personality become, the more it will become the measure of the intellectual culture of the society in which it has grown.

I listen to the wind
To the wind of my soul.
Where I'll end up, well, I think
Only God really knows.
I've sat upon the setting sun
But never, never, never, never,
I never wanted water once,
No never, never, never.

I listen to the words, but
They fall far below.
I let my music take me where
My heart wants to go.
I swam upon the Devil's lake
But never, never, never, never,
I'll never make that same mistake,
No never, never, never.

So, you think you can tell
Heaven from Hell, blue skies from pain.
Can you tell the green fields
From a cold steel rain, a smile
From a veil? Do you think you can tell?
Did they get you to trade
Your heroes for ghosts,
Hot ashes for trees,
Hot air for a cool breeze,
Cold comfort for change?
Did you exchange
The walk-on part of your war
For a lead role in your cage?

Nature's first green is gold,
Her hardest hue to hold.
Her early leaf's a flower,
But only so an hour.
Then leaf subsides to leaf.
So Eden sank to grief,
So dawn goes down today.
Nothing gold can stay.

Robert Frost

The Greatest waste
Of our
Natural resources
Is the Amount of People who Never achieve their Potential.
Get out
Of that
Slow lane;
Shift
Into that Fast lane.
If you think
You can't
You won't.
If you think
You can
There's a
Good chance
You will.
When you climb high
And look around you see Many valleys below. But Looking back up shows that
There are still heights you
Have not achieved.
Aim low; Boaring.
Aim high; Soaring.

Women are supposed to be very calm generally, but women feel just as men feel; They need exercise for their faculties and a field for their efforts as much as their brothers do; They suffer from too rigid a restraint, too absolute a stagnation, precisely as men would suffer, and it is narrow-minded in their more privileged fellow-creatures to say that they ought to confine themselves to making Pudding and knitting Stockings.

Why doesn't time teach us the oldest secrets of the ages? Why don't we learn how to leave people without feeling like we have extinguished some light inside us? This is the hardest trick of all to learn; once we have left not to look back with longing. Once this happens you start hating today when there is nothing wrong with it. We make ourselves miserable by living our lives in the past and by sinking into hazy greenness of older summers when the thickness of the grass tickled our younger feet and laughing was the easiest pastime.

Blinded and burned we begin an ascent that seems endless. Eager to escape this hostile inferno, we still must abide by the rules of a diver, returning to the surface at prescribed pace. I want to remove an experience to a dark subway corridor.
Lighting a match; revealing schoolgirl ink-scrails on my hand,
I see what I feared.
Illumination turns him to an etched shadow
On a billboarded, graffitied wall;
Dark coldness invades my bodily warmth,
Leaves my chest empty.
I know what happens now —
Penetration and pain.
I've heard of this in brassy print,
In hushed whispers;
They never tell of the invasion.
Girl-hands blend with the spattered wall,
Bodies muffled in uncaring desolation.
So this is it, the end of childhood!
The end of the tunnel seems as far away
As the end of that innocence.
Run toward the shard of light,
I emerge, changed yet still a child.
An ambulance flashes brightly past.
Are there more like me?

Sometimes I find
That I have caroused
The night long with words
And come the morning
Can move my leaden
Hand and mind no more.
No entreaties
Can penetrate
The stupor that surrounds me
As I stare — heavy-lidded,
Drained after my nightlong
Word revelry.

Tidal Wave

Dark sky, rolling thunder
 Streaks of lightning race through the air.
 The sea is in constant commotion.
 Rising, rising,
 A monster from the sea,
 Snatching everything with its greedy fingers.
 Hovering like a shadow,
 Over a panic-stricken village.
 Roaring like a lion,
 It reaches its climax,
 Hitting the earth with such force
 That the ground trembles with fear.
 The pirate with his loot
 Slithers back into the ocean.

He Went Hiking

The hyena slipped
    (as the child screamed)
Along the edge of the bend,
    of the night,
    of the cliff.

There was no cool dawn
    on White Face Mountain
    after the Wyoming night.
A tumbleweed somewhere blew in the desert,
Anchorless in the middle of the sea.

The hyena made a strange, human, crying sound.
The woman heard it and stirred uneasily.

And he went hiking.

Daddy's Song
(The Songs The Night Sings)

Once the days used to be clear,
Futures assured.
But now a shift taking place,
A haze of disbelief,
It's time to continue on.
Silvered eyes,
Leaving in the glittering wake
Never forgotten friends and moments,
Another lifetime.

On an unchecked onrushing wave,
Memories
In golden hues and dark hazes.
Melancholy pictures,
People, places, and true smiles,
Flooding,
Never to be stopped,
But the remembered
Cheer you on.

And the supreme accomplishment,
A beginning,
Forged into a kingdom,
Ruling,
Releasing the future's hopes,
Winning,
But forced away before completion,
A decision not wanted
But forced.
Sadness.
Tears.

So the paths diverge,
And so one hears the past
In the songs the night sings.

Have a good senior year.

Blech — It is very hard to sum up a friendship full of corny jokes and lousy expressions, so I won't try. Instead I want to wish you good luck in college with both academics and woman. And try to think of the word relationship when doing so. Bob — There is one similarity between us that I know you will agree to. When we came to PDS in 9th grade, we had no intention of running, and now that we are leaving, the same applies. Don't forget the spaghetti and beer. Tracy — Well you beautiful babe (I really am trying to refrain from the jokes), it's going to be hard not having you as a helper but I hope you will remember me and all the early sat. mornings when you are on your college yearbook staff. Jaako — I hope you enjoyed this year, because if you didn't, then I'll send Mr. Host over to Finland to teach you Calculus. Louise — I never knew whether you took my kidding seriously or not, but I really did mean well. So get used to it and we'll be good friends. Lindsay, Molly, Lea-lea, Debby, and Laura. You all made my time at PDS a lot of fun. Cam and Henry — Don't forget your old pal fishbones when you're successful and famous, and I'm only an ordinary family man. Jeff H. — Keep up the Squash and Photography. Roger — Hay, I had to call you a GOPHER somewhere so I decided this would be the best place. Without your wild imagination, I don't think the LINK staff would have completed the book. Stephanie — I would write you a letter with economic and religious words in it but I don't have enough space. Good luck Steph. Antonia — I know we've had our disagreements, but overall, I think we made a damn good team. Mr. Bing — I'm surprised that you have not yet proposed something to the effect that an advisor has the right to drop an advisee. But anyway, I have had a really good time at PDS thanks to your friendship and support. However, you should try next time to pick your advisees more carefully.

Thanks to all and Good Luck,
 Jamie

Congratulations to the LINK staff for their “record of the best and happiest moments of the happiest and best minds!”*

To the class of '82,

We hope that this yearbook will help you remember all of the good times at P.D.S.

Your faithful LINK staff.

Mrs. Cragg,

Without your unending support and dedication we never would have made it. Thanks for everything.

The Link staff.

Mr. Bailey —

Color, the class of '82, and the lake — when put together, they make a beautiful ingredient in the Link.

The Link staff.

Mr. Gilps: Through your direction, your guidance, your loyalty and your friendship, you have made the past four years of my life "fun city." I love you very much — M.

Suzie & Leslie: Remember, "College means mileage."

Leslie: You make me laugh and you make me smile. You are such a "Red rubber ball." I love you and I'll miss you.

Suzie: I'm glad you were around to talk to, to compare notes with, and to help solve my problems. I hope I could do the same for you because you made stealing cheese and crackers fun. I love you and I'll miss you.

Lindsay: I quit playing tennis and I hope friends will do for a long, long time. Love M.

Charlie: I love you too.

John: See you at U.S.C. or Ithaca or B.U. — wherever we end up, I still want to see you. Love, M.

Steve: knowing you
knowing me,
you shot deep,
you hit dark
and pierced the soul
which rests beneath.
you left behind
an open door,
through falls
light and love
and never will it close
I love you, M.

Henry:

You always knew how to wear a mortarboard. Congratulations to you and the entire class of '82!

Your family
 Mother, Dad, and Lynn

Mom and Dad — You've put up with me for a long time, and I'm sure I haven't made it an easy job. Even though I've disagreed with some of your decisions, you guys are the best there are. You've given me support when I've needed it and a pretty free rein. I love you both. Good luck in Sewickley, and I will come home sometimes . . . promise. Pete — I've been kind of a schmuck every so often, but don't let it make you think that you're not the "best thing." No one could ever get a better brother. Take Sewickley by storm, buddy. You'll always be the best friend I've got. Charlie — There are only a few things I can say: Halloween, Black Nights Forever! You are the oldest and closest friend I've got. I'll come back sometimes so plan some good parties! Lindsay — the cabin, Wakeman, the "best thing", architecture, Lowenbrau in Lebanon, cases in Quebec. See you around friend. Susan St. — I'm still around if you'd like to talk. Debbie L. — Blue! Sue St. — I'm glad you were my co-leader. It's nice to know you now. Mr. Griffiee and all my other Perr Groupers — Thanks for being friends. And Mr. McCaughan — I know I didn't see you often, but your help was invaluable when I needed it. To all you others who know who you are — thanks, and keep the theatre lobby alive!

Rodent —

A sunrise.
Warmth and color
And beauty.
A beginning.
Growing, changing,
Brighter.
Climbing higher,
Dazzling arrays
Like soaring balloons.
Never stopping.

I see it all before me
When summer's sunsets arrive.
It's not our end
But as eager awaiting
Of tomorrow's start.

Thank you. The rest is private. I'll miss you! Love Palooka

Antonia: "You must do the thing you think you cannot do. Life was meant to be lived, and curiosity must be kept alive. One must never, for whatever reason, turn his back on life." Remember eating smothered hotdogs on hot summer days, 'talking of our men' and gulping gallons of Tab and the train ride to Boston and then really to Boston. Chocolate Reeses blend-ins. Sarah + Rah Sa. Sipping tea and coffee at the Nassau Inn, smoking Dunhills and Sakronis. If I were Lauren Bacall . . . Shut up! Talking in the dark at 2am with my poor mother trying to sleep. Tips at the Wat room and cocoa at 3. The dip. Naum: Pigging out at Victor's and doing soda runs. Do you want a coke? The Sherman Tank of radio. You're drinking Dr. Pepper? WPRB, sniffing tobacco at Skirnos, the all weather station. Thanks for knowing what to say when my paintings were rejected. Mrs. Sheperd: You are everything a great teacher should be and I shall miss you terribly because of it. Thank you for all Gabbling during conferences. What is my education without you? Mr. McClure: "Exigi monumentum acre perennius". "Si monumentum requiris circumspecte." Chris: I still want your blazer. Thank you for the usage of your jacket to get to colross in the snow and for being a true friend to Antonia. Naomi: Well, we've been through heaven and hell and everywhere inbetween so many times and we still seem to manage to remain intact. See you in a Soho loft building in four years.
