Head Of School

Lila B. Lohr

Dear Class of 2000,

Having just spent a lovely evening having dinner with a group of the Class of 2000 at my home,

I was reminded, yet again, of how much we are all enjoying having you lead the school. Many of you are remarkably articulate in describing your appreciation of your teachers and your school. You will miss the strong teacher-student connections that have always characterized a PDS education, but you also feel prepared and eager to move on and embrace a new environment.

We will remember Richard Fox and how stunned we were by his tragic death. Your support of each other and willingness to reflect on how we interact with each other allowed all of us to keep growing and find strength in the connections that bind us.

Allow me to speak for the entire community when I say thank you and congratulations. We will miss you; we will remember your many individual talents; we will remember your collective spirit and good will. We are confident that you leave us prepared and able to make your part of the world a better place.

Fondly,

Lila Lohr

Class of 2000 Dedicates this book to: Mr. Jacobson

There is a certain silence that befalls an auditorium at the conclusion of a piece of music. The performers breathe a sigh of release, the audience claps, and for more than thirty years, Mr. J smiles his familiar quiet glimmer. For him, everything is worth it for that one proud moment of satisfaction. And before he acknowledges the audience, he simply nods his head to his fellow performers. It's a slight nod, but it carries his heart with it. It's a nod filled with thank you's, filled with happiness.

Princeton Day School has always been a home for Mr. J's love of music. From his calm supportive suggestions for a beginning pianist to his sophisticated humorous anecdotes that precede a Madrigal's selection, Mr. J has passed on his love of music to young musicians for years. Mr. Jacobson brings music to a higher level, because for him, music is more than notes on a page. Music is challenging and powerful, but most importantly, music is just plain fun. There will always be a warm place in PDS' heart for Mr. J.

Love,

The Class of 2000

Thank You Harvey

"That's it, detention!"

We'd hear you say that often at class meetings, Harvey. And then you'd laugh as we laughed, because you weren't some tyrannical, over-bearing dean.

*I've come this far to freedom and I won't turn back. I'm climbing to the highway from my old dirt track. I'm coming and I'm growing. And I'll reap what I am sowing...
I've seen the daylight breaking high above the bough. I've found my destination and
I've made my vow;
So whether you abhor me
Or deride me or ignore me,
Mighty mountains loom before me and won't stop me now.*

You do look, my son, in a moved sort,
As if you were dismay'd: be cheerful, sir.
Our revels now are ended. These our actors,
As I foretold you, were all spirits and
Are melted into air, into thin air:
And, like the baseless fabric of this vision,
The cloud-capp'd towers, the gorgeous globe itself,
And all which it inherit, shall dissolve
And, like this insubstantial pageant faded,
Leave not a rack behind. We are such stuff
As dreams are made on, and our little life
Is rounded with a sleep. Sir, I am vex'd;
Bear with my weakness; my brain is troubled:
Be not disturb'd with my infirmity:
If you be pleased, retire into my cell
And there repose: a turn or two I'll walk,
To still my beating mind.

Comes the Dawn

*After a while you learn the subtle difference
Between holding a hand and chaining a soul.
And you learn that love doesn't mean leaning,
And company doesn't mean security.
And you begin to learn that kisses aren't contracts,
And presents aren't promises.
And you begin to accept your defeats
With your head up and your eyes open
With the grace of a woman,
Not the grief of a child.
And you learn to build all your roads today,
Because tomorrow's ground
Is too uncertain for plans
And futures have a way
Of falling down in mid-flight.
After a while you learn
That even sunshine burns
If you get too much.
So you plant your own garden,
And decorate your own soul,
Instead of waiting for someone
To bring you flowers.
And you learn that you really can endure,
That you really are strong,
And you really do have worth.
And you learn to learn.
With every good-bye you learn.*

You can hide 'neath your covers
 And study your pain
 Make crosses from your lovers
 Throw roses in the rain
 Waste your summer praying in vain
 For a savior to rise from these streets
 Well now I'm no hero
 That's understood
 All the redemption I can offer, girl
 Is beneath this dirty hood
 With a chance to make it good somehow
 Hey what else can we do now?
 Except roll down the window
 And let the wind blow
 Back your hair
 Well the night's busting open
 These two lanes will take us anywhere
 We got one last chance to make it real
 To trade in these wings on some wheels
 Climb in back
 Heaven's waiting on down the tracks
 Oh come take my hand
 Riding out tonight to case the promised land
 Oh Thunder Road, oh Thunder Road
 Oh Thunder Road
 Lying out there like a killer in the sun
 Hey I know it's late we can make it if we run
 Oh Thunder Road, sit tight take hold

so i said "let's forget about these days and just try to build some solid ground maybe someday we could stand up straight with our faces in the wind and scream to the world"
we were at some boating dock somewhere at the waterfront staring across the channel
a steamer blared its horn and i wished i could say everything right like do you want to go for a ride?

i looked to your face and saw the sun reflecting off your skin and i breathed in water smells the skyline filled with shipping yards and the factories had me dreaming of waking up am i dreaming? is this really me?

because i've never felt so not lonely and if this could be real right now then every day for the rest of my life i will search for moments full of you

but let's hope tomorrow won't cave in cause i'm looking for someone to change me
and you always make me feel so tall
i always want to be this tall cause maybe i'll be original and sometimes things you say just make me think in different ways so this is my way of saying

i could be the one who's dragged home at night away from my hopeless daydreams you and me will forge some future because we don't want to be waiting for something

Where You Go When You Die

BETTER TO BE KIND,
SCIENTISTS BELIEVE

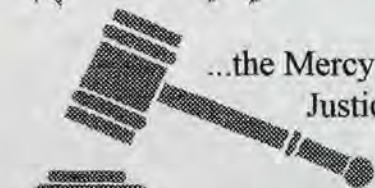

I believe Hell is a huge banquet hall, with gold table-settings, and all the wonderful food imaginable. My section of the table would have pasta, lasagna, pizza, and Philly Cheesesteaks. And the Prisoners can eat whatever they please, with no consequence. There's one catch - actually two, I suppose - they can't bend their elbows, and they can't scarf, that is to say, eat without hands. As you can imagine, it is very difficult to feed yourself with non-bending arms - try it - impossible, even. So they starve, for eternity. Heaven is the same. Same banquet, same arm dysfunction, same no-scarfing restriction. But in Heaven, the blessed do not starve, for they feed each other. So they enjoy the feast. I believe which set of dead we act like, in life, will decide who we join in the afterlife. If we do not help our neighbors - for the failure to love is the greatest sin - we will go to hell, and starve. But if we share what we have, and help each other, we can enter into His Kingdom. Merry Christmas.

A Thank You From the Editor

Unusual as it may be, I feel an obligation to thank those people without whom I might not have seen the end of my senior year at PDS. I want to thank Miss Manno, Margaret, and Father Dan for their patient, sure-handed, understanding, and seemingly unconditional support and guidance. I also would like to thank Mr. Tucker, for a second chance which has meant more to me than any first chance I ever got. And finally, thanks, Mom, for giving me everything I've ever had. If my transgressions this year are seen as a test of my relationships, you all passed with flying colors. Thanks.

The Peace of Wild Things

When despair for the world grows in me and I wake in the night at the least sound in fear of what my life and my children's lives may be,
I go and lie down where the wood drake rests in his beauty on the water, and the great heron feeds.
I come into the peace of wild things who do not tax their lives with forethought of grief. I come into the presence of still water.
And I feel above me the day-blind stars waiting with their light. For a time
I rest in the grace of the world, and am free.

Lets get cosmic.

Down-stairs we came out through the first-floor dining-room to the street. A waiter went for a taxi. It was hot and bright. Up the street was a little square with trees and grass where there were taxis parked. A taxi came up the street, the waiter hanging out at the side. I tipped him and told the driver where to drive, and got in beside Brett. The driver started up the street. I settled back. Brett moved close to me. We sat close against each other. I put my arm around her and she rested against me comfortably. It was very hot and bright, and the houses looked sharply white. We turned out unto the Gran Via.

"Oh, Jake," Brett said, "we could have had such a good time together."

Ahead was a mounted policeman in khaki directing traffic. He raised his baton. The car slowed suddenly pressing Brett against me.

Cello

The tightened horsehair, white with rosin, pulls the arched brazilwood, reducing its curve. The maple body rests angled between open knees on fourteen inches of rubber-capped steel. Three digits crawl around the black handle, reaching for mother-of-pearl, while the fourth points on tarnished silver coil. The opposite shoulder lifts calloused pads topped by shaven nails that press taught strings vibrating into ebony. The stubborn cords resist at first, cutting deeper grooves into the already ridged fingertips. Painted threads gouge a right angle between the carved bridged and jutting fingerboard, slightly closer to the latter. Fine dust sprinkles gently onto the polished belly. Muscles tighten; chords follow. --Richard Fox

"We will miss you Richard!!"
- PDS Class of 2000

I love it when it rains. I love it when it suddenly feels like dusk, and everything becomes a shadow, and the back yard looks fragmented through the droplets sticking to the screen. The rain bouncing off the roof calms me and drowns out the ticking of the kitchen clock, and I feel timeless. The house freezes. The cat sits on the vent, his ears no longer twitching at the slightest sound. There are no more footsteps, and opening doors are silent.

Sometimes I sit out on the deck, and the water rolls down the curved red rim of my hat. It beats on the old wooden table. --Richard

Remember Me

Although I'm gone for you to see,
Look in the sky, in heaven I'll be.
I'll watch you from through the stars,
I want you to know I'm not that far.

Remember the memories that we share,
Cherish them, they seem so rare.
I know you miss me and
your love for me is true,
Always remembers that I love you too.

Here in heaven we are one team,
I'll be waiting for you, but now...
I'll be in your dreams.

—Sarah Payne

Richard Remembered

Richard, I'll never forget those lazy 4th-grade afternoons we wasted away practicing cello. And, wow, just a few months ago we had lunch together and talked about your summer trip to China, and then went on about college and... everything. I miss you Richard, I really really do. Thank you for gracing me with your presence in the short time you were on this earth - I feel very fortunate to have grown up with you by my side. The memories I have of the times we spent together will never fade away. I'll cherish them forever.

—Nabil

Richard was the type of person who would take the time to help other people out when they were in need. His kindness towards other people truly reflected his special, warm personality.

—Christina Lee

His personality reflected his eclectic taste in music; whether it was Jethro Tull or Dire Straits, he respected each individual for who they were and what they could offer to the world.

—Kyle Lieberman

Richard, they asked me to say something about you, and here is what I say: we all miss you. I know the whole AP Physics class does, although they don't say it, but the last worksheet that you handed in and your last quiz disappeared from the note rack, where I was keeping them.... Love,

—Ms. Grigorescu

Richard was an exceptional scholar and easily one of my best physics students of my ten-year teaching career. He had a genuine interest in understanding the workings of the physical universe. I miss you...

—Anthony Lapinski

Never have I seen this class come together like we did for Richard. It's a tribute to our class, yes, but more so a tribute to Richard, and the Class of 2000 is definitely not the same without him.

—Matt McGowan

Richard was always his real self. He presented who he was and did not feel the need to accommodate to what others might want or expect him to be.

—Steve Lawrence

Richard was a great friend. I will miss him, and I will always remember him.

—Steven Saar

He was the first friend I had at PDS and without him I wouldn't have survived the first few years here. He was a great kid who had a kind heart and was capable of so much good - he actually enjoyed community service! We won't be able to graduate together or meet at reunions and trade pictures of our kids, but I will never forget what a great friend he's been. Goodbye, Richard.

Happy Birthday, Princeton Day School

Neither Halloween Challenge nor Thanksgiving were the reasons that the entire PDS community gathered in the gym on the morning of October 1, 1999. PDS was brought together for another reason: to celebrate its birthday!

It had been 100 years earlier, on October 2, 1899, that May

Margaret Fine founded a school in Princeton, called Miss Fine's School, to prepare young women for college. In May of 1964, it merged with Princeton Country Day School to become the school we all know today, Princeton Day School.

Since PDS could trace its history back 100 years, 1999 marked its Centennial celebration. Preparations for the Centennial had been long in the planning for the past two years. As the days counted down to October 2, banners that read "Celebrating our Century" were put up all over campus and numerous articles welcoming the public to the events PDS lunch.

The Centennial Follies' performance, a celebration of 100 years of performing arts, was perhaps the most anticipated event during the Centennial weekend. Several alumni appeared on the McAneny Stage, including Sandy Maxwell '32, Jeff Kurtz '98, Stuart and Petie Oliphant Duncan '51, and Jean Stephens '52.

Eighteen Upper School students culminated their "six-week tap intensive" course, taught by Broadway choreographer Jim Ruttman during The Centennial Follies. They danced an impressive tap performance to the opening number of the musical 42nd Street. Afterwards, senior Ashley Logan delivered two solos from Andrew Lloyd Webber's Sunset Boulevard.

Indeed, new faces and old faces combined to help make October 2 one of the most festive days in PDS history. In the words of Princeton Township Mayor Phyllis Marchand, who also helped celebrate as she gathered with the entire PDS community in the Upper Gym on October 1: "I, Phyllis L. Marchand, Mayor of the Township of Princeton, County of Mercer, State of New Jersey, do hereby congratulate the Princeton Day School on 100 years of academic excellence and offer to those that have worked so faithfully and given so generously to the students, the best wishes of the Township Committee and Princeton community as you enter a new era and begin the new millennium.

Happy Birthday!" – Sapna Thottathil

PDS SPORTS

For the first time in six years, Boys Varsity Soccer enjoyed a winning record this year of 10-7-1, under the leadership of captains Charlie Denby, Andrew Miller, and Nick Sardar. The offensive successes of Denby, Miller, and Mike Battaglia, as well as Zack Faigen's exceptional goal-keeping contributed to the success. The game was tough, bringing a rigorous season that really brought the players together. The team was very young, but senior leadership helped the newer players develop into future leaders, beginning a legacy of success. The future looks bright for the Boys Soccer team, as nine of this year's eleven starters will return next year.

The Princeton Day Girls soccer team saw a lot of fresh faces this year. The team had a successful season with the new addition of goalie Christina Marshall and seniors. The team had big wins like Mo-Beard Academy, goals in each cruising pass of the Prep A the team faced Peddie, whom year in the though they fell to the Falcons once again, the girls played out a hard fought game. The future looks very bright for the Panthers, with the strong group of juniors and sophomores returning to avenge Peddie once again. The season next year will reflect the hard work and the dedication the girls put in this year. -Christina Lee

Field Hockey

The 1999 PDS girls field hockey team enjoyed a fabulous season of spirit and dedication. They began with an inexperienced team-- having lost nine seniors-- but, through raw talent and hard work, they built a strong team with a promising chance at the semi-finals at a fifth consecutive Prep A title. Even after the disappointment of losing in the semi-finals at arch-rival Lawrenceville's home field, no one could deny that the team had come farther and achieved more than anyone had expected.

The team was lead by five seniors: powerhouse attacker Abby Kelton, leading scorer Emily O'Hara--named All-American--formidable midfielders Lila Cruikshank and Mandy Helwig, and stalwart defender Page Smucker. Their leadership and infectious love of the sport will be missed, but the field hockey program will enjoy the return of twelve strong juniors to lead next year's season.

Boys Basketball

Intensity, hard work, and mental toughness are the recipe for success for the PDS boys' basketball team. Each day, the boys were trained to improve their communication and teamwork skills, as this year, following the loss of three far-and-away players, they must depend on cohesive strategy to win games. Coach Alan Taback said of this year's team, "our biggest asset was our heart." Though other assets were found in key players like seniors Pierre McLean, Rob Farina, and Charlie Denby, as well as juniors Eric Skaar and Wilson Weed. The team was in a tough spot, having to defend the Prep A title won last year. In a very close tournament, this year, the Panthers unfortunately lost their title, but learned much in the process. Commented Taback, "Sure there are times when we fight and bicker, but that is a good thing, we learn from that." Surely, this knowledge will lead the team, which ended the season with a winning record, to another title next year. — Steve Chiavarone

Over winter break, the team travelled to New Milford, Connecticut, and in the first round of the tournament there, lost to rival New York team Rye in a 3-2 upset which went through overtime and a shootout. Game two pitted the Panthers against host Canterbury, over whom the team came away with an easy 12-0 victory, in which Sara Peach, Tyler Bracken, and Alex Warren lead in scoring. Overcoming many injuries and sicknesses, the team enjoyed a greatly successful year which all hope will set a precedent for years to come.

The volleyball team started off with many of its members playing on varsity for the first time. There were only two returning varsity members and this made for a shakey start to the season. However, after losing a few games, the team grew from losses and began to win later games. seniors

Lead by seniors, Allison DiBianca, Nemrata Amin and Phillipa Allebon, the team pulled together many times and fought back to win the second or third game. At the end of the season the record was 6-11. Because there were so many younger members this year, the team holds much potential for the upcoming years. --Allison DiBianca

This year's varsity squash squad completed a dynamic spiritual journey begun four long years ago. The team faced strong varsity opponents this year after last year's 12-2 rompfest of a season. This fitting marks a farewell to dedicated, and Andrew Nabil Laoudji, Andrew passionate adieu to love so well. In highlights of the nal team banquet in which tears were shed freely and all hearts beat in unison to the beat of "Can You Feel the Love Tonight?" It is this kind of emotion that will lead next year's squad to succeed in a similar manner, despite the vacancies in their hearts. It was a truly triumphant season of big wins, big power, and big love. --James Pinto

Jazz Workshop

The Jazz Workshop continued entertaining this year, guided in its quest to bring the once unstoppable style of music to as many listeners as possible. It did so this year by playing publicly at forums such as the Centennial Symposium in October and also through its branch-off, the Jazz Club, a very intimate group of musicians who played at lunchtime in the Theater Lobby.

Liberty Club

co-Heads:

William Caulin X
Michael Fragoso X

The Liberty Club, started just this year, might more definitively be called the Conservative Club. Meetings, as well as discussion in the club's PDSnet conference have focused on the issues facing America, and more specifically on the Conservative view of these.

Math Club

Head:

Steven Saar XII

The Math Club, new this year, gained fame and attention as the group who works out their problems with pencils, calculators, and good humor. First made known by a series of very witty announcements by Head Steven Saar, this club was open to all geeks, nerds, and bookworms - and eventually even dorks were allowed to join as well.

Lounging seductively in front is bushy junior idol Jacob Goldston. In the seated row are senior Math Club Founder and Head Steven Saar, Jared Lander XII, and Adam Befeler XII. Behind them are Faculty advisor Parish Hawkings, Scott Addams XII, Frank YLee XII, and Robert Crawley XII.

Madrigals

Under the continued direction of Mr. Frank P. Jacobson, the Madrigal singers continued to impress audiences this year with their masterful renditions of a wide range of music, including the type for which the group is named. In their performances at the Thanksgiving Assembly and Candlelight, students heard the exquisite sound which this year once again brought home a bit of Toronto gold.

Student Committee on Admissions

co-Heads:

Dalya Levin XII

Matthew McGowan XII

The SCA is an integral part of the admissions process, giving tours to visiting families. Former Director of Admissions Kathy Jamieson once noted, "I can't number how many families have remarked to me on how useful the student guides were in making their decision."

PDS SysOps

PDSnet System Operators

System Administrator
(resident pdsnet deity):
Steve Bailey

The SysOps are a self-perpetuating group of students whose function is to see that the Declaration of Electronic Integrity is upheld on the Princeton Day School Network. Each is assigned to an area which they must patrol, limiting inappropriate comments.

Tech Crew

Stage Manager:
Ben Brickner XII

Sometimes working into wee hours of morning, braving sawdust and hot lights, the PDS PAPTC builds and lights and maneuvers the sets the actors bring to life. From the heights of the catwalks to the depths of "the pit," the techies are to blame when a show is perfect. Though proficient at work with bright lights, their motto is, "We do our best work in the dark."

CONCERT CHOIR

The Concert Choir trains hard twice every week of the year, preparing for performances at the Thanksgiving Assembly, Candlelight, and several festivals and competitions throughout the year. Sometimes joined by the Madrigal Singers in their performances, the Concert Choir is, in itself, a distinguished musical ensemble which continues to win accolades for PDS.

Soprano: Amarylis Bernacet IX, Emily Butler XI, Anita Deshpande IX, Sarah Elmaleh X, Katie Fanok IX, Melissa Guttman XI, Elyse Kotzker IX, Gina Piscopo X, and Joy Woffindin XI. Alto: Summer Headley XI, Tracey Spinner XII, Laura Spritzer IX, Jessica Tamayo X, and Somy Thottathil IX. Tenor: James Bird, IX, Matt Hendrickson IX, Peter Hugick IX, and Andrew Larsen IX. Bass: Gerald Eugene XII, Adam Befeler XII, and Robert Crawley XII. Those who also sing in Madrigals have been excluded.

Orchestra

The Orchestra, a class in the Upper School, brings together a myriad of Talented students whose proficiency is augmented in performance by the talents of faculty and parents as well. With several talented freshman in this year's orchestra, the group can look forward to continued success even after the loss of its long-time senior members. In competitions, the Orchestra has continued to represent PDS remarkably.

Violin: Christina Lee XII, Gerald Eugene XII, Nate Smith X, Priya Radhakishnan IX, and Amarylis Bernacet IX. Viola: Freshmen Justin Revelle and Jesse Stephens. Cello: Freshmen Jason Koplow and Stefan Herniak. Bass: Jerry Kemper XII, and Darren Bloom IX. Flute: Phillippa Allebon XII, Namrata Amin XII, and Jessica Schilke X. Clarinet: Rebecca Bramlett X, Aparna Thambidurai IX, Fred Kemper IX, and Catherine Tomasulo IX. Sax: Rohit Jenveja IX. Trombone: Dimi Kotsinonos XII. Keyboard: Allison McGowan IX. Timpani: Erin McCaffrey XII.

Thanks also to everyone who wrote articles for us - especially to Sapna and Ashley Logan. I would also like to thank Mrs. H and her photojournalism class for all the hard work they put in. Thank you, Matt Bockol, for fixing all of the computer problems the staff encountered, and to the seniors who provided Link with many pictures. Taj and Julia, I am grateful that you guys provided us with wonderful pictures at the last minute when we needed your help. A special thanks also goes out to Mrs. Shapiro, who has contributed a great deal of her time to the yearbook. We would finally like to thank Ms. Gerlock for all the help and assistance you gave the staff throughout the production of this yearbook. - Christina S. Lee*

Congratulations Steph!

OH!
THE PLACES YOU'LL GO!

You'll be on your way up! You'll be seeing great sights!
You'll join the high fliers who soar to high heights.

You won't lag behind, because you'll have the speed.
You'll pass the whole gang and you'll soon take the lead.
Wherever you fly, you'll be best of the best.
Wherever you go, you will top all the rest.
Dr. Seuss

"But no," says the Once-ler,
Now that you're here, the word of the Lorax seems perfectly clear.
UNLESS someone like you cares a whole awful lot,
Nothing is going to get better. It's not.

"So... Catch!" calls the Once-ler. He lets something fall.
"It's a Truffula Seed. It's the last one of all!
You're in charge of the last of the Truffula Seeds.
Plant a new Truffula. Treat it with Care.
Give it clean water. And feed it fresh with air.
Go to a forest. Protect it from axes that hack.
The the Lorax and all his friends may come back."

Through the years, we have always known how lucky we are, and how special you are, and your years at PDS have shown us that there is none better than you. You continue to prove how great a son, as well as brother, you are. Congratulations on your graduation from PDS. You have excelled in the classroom, in the PDS community, and of course on the ice, as one of the captains of the hockey team. We're very confident you'll do the same at college. We love you, and will always be there for you.

Lila Boyce Lohr

A Leader Reminiscent of Miss Fine Herself, Mrs. Lohr Ushered Princeton Day School into its Second Century Upon a Wave of Increased Spirit, Community Involvement, and School Pride.

Dear Mrs. Lohr,

Students come and go every year at PDS, leaving an indelible mark on friends and perhaps a few teachers.

Faculty pass through more slowly, inspiring forever the students they teach before moving on.

A Head of School like you, whose guidance has forever changed an entire institution, comes around only once in a blue moon, and we all pray the blessing never has to end.

In its hundred years (though 141 years' worth of Heads of School), PDS has been blessed with five truly amazing Heads of School, of whom you, Mrs. Lohr, are one. Most recently, Doug McClure's enthusiasm and love for the school made the merger work in the first few difficult transition years. You also have helped us transition—into an age of technology—and have enabled PDS to remain as prominent as Miss Fine created her school to be.

Shortly before the merger became a reality, MFS had enjoyed twenty years with Miss Shirley Davis, whose strong leadership and business savvy combined with her love of education to pull the school out of the clutches of the great depression. Few students know, Mrs. Lohr, that you eliminated a debt PDS had acquired when you took office, but we all know you to be as savvy in business and pleasure as Miss Davis.

Mrs. Lohr, here caddying for a parent at the annual PDS Open, managed to combine with regularity business and fun. Like the founder, Mrs. Lohr is a keen businesswoman, but first a phenomenal educator.

Lila Boyce Lohr: Head of Princeton Day School, 1995-2000.

In the first few years of her tenure, Miss Davis enjoyed working with James Howard Murch, one of our school's founders. The first Head of PCD, Mr. Murch turned an up-start venture by a group of local professors and businessmen into a premiere school for boys in this area. Your administration, Mrs. Lohr, has similarly seen this school take the lead, with student and faculty applications booming, and the community support which was held as such a virtue by this school's greatest leader...

May Margaret Fine started it all in 1899, when she opened Miss Fine's School for girls. An avant garde idea at the time, Miss Fine knew that girls deserved the same educational opportunities as boys, and could achieve the same heights if offered the same support. Miss Fine began a tradition that we still hold a century later of educational excellence above all else. So it is fitting, Mrs. Lohr, that you were here to preside over the Centennial, as you have given the school a new beginning, secured its place as a leader, and left a mark as profound as that left by Miss Fine herself - your love will never be forgotten.

A million times, thank you.

A thousand times, we are in your eternal debt.

A hundred times, you've inspired, amused and amazed.

Once and forever, We Love You.

—Matthew McGowan, '00

1961 - 2000

Gary Lott
PDS History, 1961-2000

Dear Mr. Lott,

For thirty-nine years, you have instilled in your students a love of history and a passion for life not to be found elsewhere. As a football and softball coach, you've inspired your players to put the most into their game, and as a set builder, you have been a part of countless hours of enjoyment by Performing Arts Program patrons. As a Mock Trial coach, you've molded your students into aggressive, convincing witnesses and fast-on-their-feet attorneys.

Your service to PDS, and PCD before it has demonstrated the exemplary loyalty and dedication most institutions can only hope to receive from their employees. And you've been more than an employee — coach, comrade, mentor, joker, teacher, friend. Your presence is felt by all at PDS, and your undying love of the craft of teaching — obvious in your new syllabus every year — has inspired, exhilarated, and moved us all for thirty-nine years. Happy retirement.

*— One Whom You've Taught
More Than Just History*

Gary Lott has been teaching American history to PCD and PDS students for almost forty years. In the photo at right, he is shown in class with Michael Schragger '92.

Stephen Lawrence

1974 - 2000

Steve Lawrence
PDS English, 1974-2000

Dear Mr. Lawrence,

Students learn to dread it as soon as they reach Upper School — the tenth grade research paper. Less fun than a root canal, and sometimes more painful. You, however, made mine go by as naturally as a simple adjustment to the braces I still had in tenth grade.

There were deadlines, and they came faster than they seemed, as deadlines do, but your guidance made it possible to meet them. I knew that, no matter how many others there were in my class (and I think there were sixteen in that class), each of our papers, when it was the one you were thinking about, was the only one in the world.

Your guidance through that paper has made me into the fine writer I now consider myself to be. Your masterful commandment of Hamlet propelled me into the Shakespeare course I am currently loving.

You've worked with great teachers like Anne Shephard, and are among them as a man who has taught the soul for twenty-six years.

— One Bettered by Your Teaching, Molded by Your Experience

For nearly three decades, Steve Lawrence has has fascinated class after class of aspiring scholars with his tales of life, love, and everything in between.
